

Airliner's Plunge Is Fatal For All Forty-Seven Persons Aboard

Pet Shop Again Wiped Out By Fire

ASSISTANT CHIEF JASPER JONES . . . looks over cages containing dead animals.

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP)—A Capital Airlines Viscount plane crashed and burned in a spring snow fall last night, killing all 47 persons aboard. The four-engine plane slammed into a muddy field about 2,300 feet short of a runway of the Tri-City Airport. The airport serves Midland, Saginaw and Bay City.

Bodies were scattered across a wide area. Charred bodies were found in the shattered wreckage.

Warner Law, owner of the farm on which the plane crashed, said: "There was no chance of anyone getting out. The plane came in hard. It didn't fall. It ran into the ground."

Control tower officials said it was windy and snow was falling as the plane approached for a landing at 11:15 p.m. Visibility was three miles with a 900-foot ceiling.

Nelson Girardin, who had stopped at the airport administration building with his family to watch the plane land, said one minute the plane's lights were barely visible through the rain and snow; the next minute they abruptly headed earthward. A second later there was a blinding flash of orange flame spurring nearly 100 feet in the air, followed by a muffled explosion, he said.

Girardin said the plane apparently landed almost squarely on its nose, then flipped over, a flaming mass of wreckage.

There was some confusion whether the plane exploded and crashed, or crashed and exploded. Ronald A. Wenzel, 24, living at Feeland, 10 miles distant, said he saw an explosion.

Capital Airlines headquarters at Washington said it had no information on an explosion before the crash. The Civil Aeronautics Administration said in Detroit any announcement as to the cause of the crash would follow an investigation and would be made either by the Civil Aeronautics Board or by Capital.

Police, sheriff's deputies and firemen from nearby communities battled through mud and water to reach the plane. One fire engine bogged down before reaching the scene.

Airline officials said three crew members and 44 passengers were aboard the plane, Capital Flight 67 from Newark, N.J., to Chicago via Detroit, Flint and Saginaw, Mich.

The crew members were identified as Capt. W. J. Hull, 44, Washington Township, N.J.; Earle M. Binckley, 27, Levittown, N.Y.; and hostess Ruth Denecke, 27, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Civil aeronautics authorities said a four-man team was en route to investigate the crash. At least 16 of the dead were from Michigan.

One of the victims was Mrs. Ralph Schweitzer, wife of the newly appointed general manager of the Grand Rapids Herald.

Mrs. Schweitzer, 41, was en route from Flint to Bay City where the Schweitzers had lived prior to his appointment April 1. Schweitzer was en route from Grand Rapids to the airport by car when the plane crashed.

Rebel circles predicted Castro might strike this week. But in the western province of Pinar del Rio the rebels issued bulletins telling workers to say on the job "until you are further advised."

Castro claims he has only to give the word to send 50,000 young revolutionaries surging into the streets in a shooting war. As time passed with no action, however, the rebel chief's own sympathizers began to grumble.

Batista himself appeared unperurbed. Strolling about his farm, he told newsmen that if Castro is seized alive, "there will be a fair trial."

"The army strategy is not to go barging into the mountains and killing a lot of innocent people," he declared, "but to isolate the rebels in groups and capture them all."

"There are many problems to be worked out in going into the area and clearing them out, such as evacuating farm families," he added.

Although Castro was still at large, the vaunted total war he was supposed to have begun two days ago still had not materialized.

The army said that while it was pursuing the two main Castro-led groups, other troops were clashing with rebel units attacking transport and communications in western and north-central Oriente province.

Thirty or more rebels have been reported killed since Sunday morning. Nearly 100 have been listed as killed in Oriente since April 1. The army has reported only a handful of casualties on its side.

Passenger Dies As Car Hits Light Poles, Inquest Called

By EVERETTE PARKER, Reflector Staff Writer

A local Negro man was killed and another was injured when the automobile in which they were riding went out of control and crashed into two light poles on Evans Street Extension early yesterday afternoon.

The dead man was identified as Woodrow Wilkes, 32, of 510 Vance Street. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pitt Memorial Hospital minutes after the mishap occurred. According to Coroner Griffin H. Rouse, Wilkes died as a result of head injuries, a broken neck and extensive internal injuries.

The fatality was the first on local streets since March 2, 1957. A 70-year-old Negro woman suffered fatal injuries on that date when struck by an automobile at the intersection of Fifth Street and McKinley Avenue.

Sam King, 28-year-old Negro of 1808 South Railroad Street, has been identified as the other occupant of the automobile injured in yesterday's single-car collision. King reportedly sustained a broken bone in his right leg and has been admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment.

According to city police who investigated the mishap, the wrecked automobile was being operated by Johnnie J. Johnson, 34-year-old Negro of 404 West 13th Street. Johnson and another occupant of the car, William Armwood, 22-year-old Negro of 1911 South Pitt Street, escaped without injury. Coroner Rouse was sitting in the noted Wilkes was sitting in the right front seat and King in the right rear, the side of the automobile which initially struck the two light poles, belonging to the Greenville Utilities Commission.

Driver Charged Johnson has been charged with careless and reckless driving and manslaughter in connection with Wilkes' death. He has been released under a $1,000 bond on the manslaughter charge and $200 for careless and reckless driving pending a Coroner's Inquest. Coroner Rouse stated this morning that an inquest will be held tomorrow night in the city courtroom at 7:30 p.m.

Police quoted Johnson as saying he applied his brakes and swerved to the right to avoid a collision with another automobile coming out of a side street.

Minor Flooding To Follow Rain

RALEIGH (AP)—An early-spring downpour, which dumped an inch and a quarter of rain on most Tar Heel river basins yesterday, was expected to cause minor flooding on the Cape Fear and Neuse Rivers.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Raleigh reported that near bankfull stages were expected on the Upper Roanoke, where the rainfall was not as heavy, and on the Tar. The Weather Bureau said no flooding of serious conditions would result from the rainfall.

Building contracts for the first two months of 1958 totaled $60,874,000, down 25 per cent from the same period in 1957, said the firm.

Cuban Army Says Big Castro Force Has Been Routed

HAVANA (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista's army today claimed it had whipped one big contingent of Fidel Castro's rebels and was pursuing it and another major rebel band in the mountains of eastern Cuba.

The army also claimed it had shot down a foreign C46 transport plane bringing arms to be dropped to Castro. The announcement said the plane crashed and burned and the crew was killed.

The country where the plane originated and the identities of the plane crew were not announced.

The general staff said its forces had defeated a large rebel outfit headed by Raul Castro, the rebel chief's brother, operating along the northern coast of Oriente province.

The rebel group was reported scattered, forced back into the Sierra Maestra and isolated. The army had said Saturday it had isolated Fidel Castro and another big group of rebels in the mountains, but rebel sources shrugged this off. They said Castro had been "sealed off" in the Sierra Maestra since he began his revolt 16 months ago.

Batista, visited by newsmen at his heavily guarded farm outside Havana, said the army's strategy was to decimate the rebel ranks bit by bit.

"The army strategy is not to go barging into the mountains and killing a lot of innocent people," he declared, "but to isolate the rebels in groups and capture them all."

"There are many problems to be worked out in going into the area and clearing them out, such as evacuating farm families," he added.

Minimum Supports On Leaf Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today the 1958 crop of flue-cured and burley tobacco will be supported at rates averaging not less than 54.2 and 55 cents a pound, respectively.

These rates are designed to reflect 90 per cent of parity at the beginning of the marketing seasons. They compare with 50.8 and 51.7 cents for the 1957 crops.

The new rates will be adjusted upward should the parity price increase in the meantime, so as to reflect the full 90 per cent.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

The average minimum support rates for other types this year compared with last year, respectively, included:

Virginia fire-cured, type 21, 38.8 and 38.8 cents a pound; Kentucky-Tennessee fire-cured, types 22-23, 38.8 and 38.8 dark air-cured, types 35-36, 34.5 and 34.5; Virginia sun cured, type 37, 34.5 and 34.5; Maryland, type 32, 50.6 and 49; Connecticut broadleaf cigar binder, type 51, 55.7 and 53.8; Connecticut Havana seed cigar binder, type 52, 47.5 and 48.8; Ohio filler, types 42-44, 23.2 and 23.2; New York and Pennsylvania Havana seed filler and binder, type 53, 25.1 and 23.3; Southern Wisconsin cigar filler and binder, type 54, 25.1 and 23.3; and Northern Wisconsin cigar filler and binder, type 55, 30.7 and 29.9.

Fire Again Takes Lives Of Animals

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor

A pet shop was wiped out for the second time within a year early this morning as a fire sent death-dealing smoke fumes throughout the building.

The fire was discovered early this morning in the rear of Bill and Joe's Pet Shop of Albermarle Ave.

Flames were beaten down by firemen before they got out of hand but not before the heavy smoke had killed a parrot, some puppies and other animals, and birds.

Rare tropical fish kept by the store in several aquariums were still swimming after the building had been cleared of smoke but, W. W. Brickhouse, one of the operators of the shop, said they would all die.

Brickhouse and Joe Garris are co-owners of the shop.

The fire broke out in a rear storage room of the structure. It burned along the wall and into the ceiling before it was brought under control by firemen using boost-er lines.

Fire fighters pulled several bundles of newspapers from the rear door in fighting the blaze.

Will Introduce New Symphony By Shostakovich

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Leopold Stokowski will introduce Dmitri Shostakovich's new symphony to the Western Hemisphere tonight at the Houston Music Hall.

The symphony, Shostakovich's 11th, was a work sought after by all the major conductors of the West. Rights to it were secured through Stokowski's long connection with the Soviet composer.

Stokowski, first conductor in the United States to perform Shostakovich and for years the only one, will soon go to the Soviet Union to conduct.

The Shostakovich 11th, in G minor, is subtitled "1905." It was commissioned for the 40th anniversary of the Russian Revolution in Moscow in October.

The work portrays a number of revolutionary episodes the composer desired to illustrate and liberally employs old revolutionary songs.

Most Senate and House members, home for an extended Easter vacation, will be able to sound out public opinion on tax reduction and other proposals for reversing the recession.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), who favors trimming both income and excise (sales) levies, forecast the senators and representatives will return next Monday anxious to start cutting taxes.

"The quickest and most effective way of fighting the recession is through a tax cut of about six billion dollars," Douglas said.

But Sen. Mansfield of Montana, acting Senate Democratic leader, said he detected a "definite trend away from tax reductions, although I personally think the right kind" of cuts would give the economy a needed lift.

Financier Bernard Baruch's opposition to tax reduction appeared to have had considerable influence on congressional thinking. He proposed going in the other direction — boosting taxes if necessary to pay for emergency antirecession measures.

Mansfield said he thinks the views of Baruch and Secretary of the Treasury Anderson have had a lot to do with what Mansfield said is a cooling of Republican and Democratic ardor for tax slashing. Anderson is known to favor go-cautiously course.

Sen. Ives (R-NY) cited Baruch's testimony in opposing tax cuts at this time. Both Ives and Sen. Javits (R-NY) said cuts could be inflationary and would not do much to swell purchasing power.

"A tax cut of a kind being talked about," Javits said, "would give the individual somewhere between $40 and $70 to put in his pocket this year. Now he isn't going to go out and buy a house or a car with that small amount . . . Ives said a temporary income tax cut would not put more money in circulation because, he said, most people would save the amount they gain, not spend it.

Congressional Attitude On Tax Cut In Balance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional sentiment may be veering away from cutting taxes. The balance on the issue could be tipped either way by what congressmen learn in talks with voters.

Most Senate and House members, home for an extended Easter vacation, will be able to sound out public opinion on tax reduction and other proposals for reversing the recession.

"If we're going to have a tax cut," Ives said, "I think it should be a tax cut which will stimulate business and employment."

By this, he said he meant a drop in excise taxes.

Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) said his proposal to repeal a 3 per cent excise tax on freight would be "the quickest way to bring about a general price cut on nearly all of our consumer goods, and attack the recession head on."

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and he are on record for a tax cut if and when it is necessary.

"Certainly there is no indication right now that it is necessary," Mitchell added.

The labor secretary noted that March employment figures are due out tomorrow. He said, "I think I can safely predict that employment for March will show a higher figure than that of February, and that unemployment will not change much from February."

The official figures for February showed 5,200,000 persons out of work. Mitchell said 62 million workers now have jobs.

Trapped Youngsters Are Killed By Train

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Horridly picnickers saw a speeding train plow through five children trapped on a lofty railroad trestle yesterday. All five died.

A sixth youngster raced to safety at one end of the mile-long viaduct moments ahead of the passenger train, the Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited.

Engineer J. W. Euforth jammed on the emergency brakes in vain while scores of the 300 persons gathered for Easter picnics screamed for the four girls and one boy to jump.

The youngsters were caught about a fourth of a mile out on the bridge past a curve hiding the train's approach. At that point the viaduct towers 40 feet above the brushy bed of the Medina River.

Among those gathered below to eat their noon meal in a park were about 50 relatives of the children. The park is on the river banks at McDonna, 15 miles southwest of here in South Texas.

Three children of Mrs. Paula Garza, San Antonio, and two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Ramirez, Laredo, Tex., were killed. Ramirez is Mrs. Garza's brother.

The dead: Diana Garza, 11; Louis Garza, 12; Laura Garza, 16; Anna Maria Ramirez, 13; and Norma Ramirez, 15. Norma died at a hospital several hours later. The others were killed outright.

Manuel Ramirez, 12, scrambled off one end of the trestle seconds ahead of the train.

"Several people yelled at the children when we saw the train coming," said Derly Gutierrez, 27, a cousin from Corpus Christi, Tex.

"I shouted to them to jump — to get off the bridge. They were panicky. They started running — they didn't know what to do."

Engineer Euforth said the train was traveling 61 m.p.h. as it rounded the curve.

"The kids didn't have a chance," he said. "There was no place for them to go. . . . As I straightened out I saw those kids on the track. I went into full emergency procedure at once. I must have gone one half to three quarters of a mile out on the viaduct."

Ramirez brought his family here last Friday for a reunion at the Garza home, and other relatives joined them for the outing in the park.

With Farm Women

By VIRGINIA M. NANCE
(Items this week on: McDowell, Randolph, Gaston, Macon and Pitt Counties)

Gardening Hints
Home Demonstration Club women in McDowell County certainly know now the meaning of the old adage, "It's the little things that count."

In this particular case they applied the adage to their study of gardening. According to Home Agent Mrs. Bobby G. English, garden leaders in the various clubs provided their club members recently with hints on gardening—placing special emphasis on the "little things that mean a lot."
Most of the hints they included in their demonstrations were slanted toward the local situation. Leaders urged club women to relocate their gardens in order to assure a good garden in case of a dry season. They pointed out that for the past four years, McDowell County has experienced very dry mid-summers, so an ideal location for gardens would be near a stream where they would stay damp or be irrigated if necessary. Small seeds are often covered too deeply. "A good rule of thumb is to place the seed the depth of three times the diameter of the seed," leaders told club women.

Delegate Describes Travels
Nancy Jean Kearns, one of North Carolina's 1957 International Farm Youth Exchange delegates, who served as an ambassador of good will, has begun her series of talks telling of her experiences during her six-month stay in Israel.

After returning to the states in February, she resumed her studies at the Woman's College in Greensboro, but she's had a busy schedule away from school as well as on campus. In February alone, Nancy made talks to seven groups, and Home Agent Rose Badgett, Randolph County, reports that requests are coming in almost daily from other groups who would like to hear her.

One of the purposes of the IFYE program is to provide an opportunity for some young person to live in another country and return to tell of his or her experiences, and Nancy is certainly doing her share of the telling so that fellow citizens can gain a greater understanding of the peoples of the world. She's using many of the 600 slides and pictures she made on her assignment to illustrate her talks, Miss Badgett says.

They're On Their Way
The enthusiastic and hardworking Gaston County Young Men and Women's club is well on its way to Camp Manteo this summer to attend the annual YMW conference, according to reports from Mrs. Rebecca Hovis, assistant home agent.
Mrs. Hovis says that many hours of hard work are behind the club members' activities to raise enough money to help on expenses for the trip.

The club sponsored two ham sandwich luncheons with each member doing his share making cakes, selling tickets, and preparing and serving the luncheons. More than 1,000 plates were served to eager buyers at only 50 cents each, yielding a profit of $317.

"This story began," explained Mrs. Hovis, "when the YMW members at their January meeting decided that they would like to take a large delegation to the state conference this summer. Because it's such a long way to Manteo from Gastonia, they discussed means of making money so that they could cut the expense for each member."
Increasing Interest
Mrs. Jessie D. Cabe, Macon assistant home agent, has noted an "increasing interest in the 4-H clothing project this year." She says that more and more club girls are learning the correct procedure for keeping long-time 4-H record books. Interest, too, is increasing among the parents of club members.

Fathey Corbin, member of the Franklin 4-H Club, is one of the girls who's busy "sewing all the days" now. Her mother writes that "Patsy" interests began when she heard about other club members receiving recognition and awards for their accomplishments in 4-H club work. Her willingness to accept with pleasure the increased responsibilities of home, community, and school makes me grateful for our adult workers in the 4-H Club program."

Home Business Center
Home Demonstration club women in Pitt County feel that having a demonstration on the "Home Business Center" was a most appropriate way to begin a new year. Mrs. Lillie B. Little, home agent, says that as a result of the emphasis on this important subject, club women are showing much more interest in keeping accurate farm and home records—and what better time is there to do this than at the very beginning of the year when you're making a fresh start on the year's business records?

Mrs. Ruel Dilda, of the Fountain Club, says, "We have been keeping one of the North Carolina Family Living Account Books for years and find it the very best we have used."

Mrs. Alton Moore of the same club said at the conclusion of their meeting, "I have been sitting here planning how I can get my husband's desk out of the dining room and set up a real business center. And I think that a built-in center at one end of our kitchen is just the place for it."

The characteristic taste of an orange, or any fruit, is due to the volatile materials it emits as "smell."

Two large spans of the river bridge at Washington collapsed this morning, resulting in the injury of one man and the submerging of two trailers attached to a large truck of the Rapid Transit Company when they plunged into 15 feet of water below. The truck did not go clean through the bridge but remained suspended in a perilous position. A truck belonging to a Washington baking concern is also said to have crashed into the river. While every effort was being made to repair the wrecked spans, indications today were that the bridge would not be opened to traffic before tomorrow.

Costume Ball Tickets On Sale

Wearing a floral silk afternoon dress, Miss Smith was complimented with a miniature carnation corsage. The hostess and host also presented the Rev. Owen with a boutonniere.

Greeting the 40 guests were the hostess, host, and honored couple. The bride's table was centered with an all-white arrangement of snapdragons, gladioli, and feverfew. Pastel floral arrangements centered each of the auxiliary tables.

Dick Stallings of Rocky Mount furnished music during the dinner hour at the Hammond organ. Miss Smith and the Rev. Owen were remembered with a white George Washington bedspread as an honor gift.

Guests attending from Greenville were Mr. and Mrs. Conner Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and family, Mrs. David Dunbar, grandmother of the bride-elect, and Janet Waters Cox.

The Bishop and Mrs. Ralph S. Cushman, Dr. and Mrs. Howard P. Powell, and Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Clegh of Raleigh also attended the buffet.

Miss Davenport was selected as East Carolina's fashion representative in a contest sponsored by the East Carolinian, campus newspaper.

She has submitted photographs of herself to the editors of Glamour, who will select ten winners from students entered in the national competition. These ten young women will be guests of the magazine in New York in June and will take part in a college fashion show sponsored by Glamour.

Miss Davenport, a junior at East Carolina, is specializing in work in the business department. She was recently elected as a college marshal for the 1958-1959 term.

A Potential Contribution To N. C.

A prime target of the committee studying reorganization of the state's judicial system is the hodge-podge of JP courts which exist in communities throughout North Carolina.

The JP courts have long been a thorn in the side of North Carolina's judicial system. There are some Justices of the Peace in North Carolina that contribute a genuine service to the state through their operation of their courts. There are others, however, whose conduct of their courts is a disgrace to any so-called system of court justice. The JPs who over the years have composed this latter group has given the entire JP system a black eye.

The sooner the system can be entirely revamped, the sooner North Carolina's system of courts can move to a higher plane.

One fundamental problem in the JP system is the fact that Justices of the Peace are not paid for the number of cases tried before their courts, but for the number of convictions in their courts. The fee or commission system under which these courts operate is not in the interest of justice. Another problem is the manner in which a magistrate may be selected, and the number of JP courts permitted under the antiquated laws which still govern this particular segment of the state's judicial system.

If the Committee on Improving and Expediting the Administration of Justice achieves nothing more from its present study than a complete revision of the JP court system in North Carolina, it will have contributed a great deal to the state.

All Bootlegging Isn't In Booze

By LYNN NISBET

BOOTLEGGING—From time to time State agencies find it necessary to warn against "bootleg" salesmen of insurance, securities and certain types of bargain merchandise. State laws prohibit personal solicitation in many instances, but there is no State control over mail solicitation. Purchasers of insurance policies or stocks and bonds from companies or agents not approved by the appropriate State authority have no protection in event the policies or securities prove worthless, or of less value than claimed. If any citizen wants to take the chance, there is no law against his buying bogus stuff by mail. The purchaser is not relieved from prosecution for possession of items that are illegal per se in this state.

It is contrary to law for any State agency or institution (including public schools) to buy materials or supplies except on contracts established by the purchase and contract division of the Department of Administration. Here again the State has no control over mail solicitation of business, but unlike the private citizen, the purchasing agent spending tax money violates the law if he buys on the open market.

The department has recently sent to all officials having purchasing responsibilities a copy of a letter written to an out-of-state mail solicitor advising that such solicitation violates the State law. The would-be seller is further warned that continued efforts of that kind may jeopardize the position of the company in future bidding for State contracts.

TWO SIDED—The division of purchase and contract has to watch both doors. While some vendors seek to slip in the front door and sell materials direct to institutions without going through the State purchasing office, sundry purchasers not authorized to do so are trying to get in through the back door and take advantage of State credit and discounts for quantity contract purchases County and municipal governments have been trying for years to buy heavy equipment and quantity supplies through the State division.

County and municipal governments derive their revenue from the same citizens who pay taxes to the State, and there is justification for efforts to save money by obtaining goods at lower prices.

Dealers and manufacturers, who pay taxes to both State and local governmental units, insist they are entitled to reasonable profit on equipment and materials sold.

PRISON ENTERPRISES—At about this point enters the "conflict of interest" between the newly established Prison Enterprises and privately operated business. The prison department is trying desperately to achieve the dual objective of keeping prisoners employed and to make the prisons as nearly self-supporting as possible. To do this the prison administration is branching out into new ventures of manufacturing and processing. And there is nothing that prisoners can do—on farms and roads, in forests and factories—that does not compete to some extent with free labor. Prison administrators recognize this fact, but justify operations on two major grounds. First, prison processed goods are not offered for sale on the open market; secondly, and in some respects more important, productive employment is absolutely necessary to maintain discipline and to rehabilitate prisoners so they will not be continuing menace after their release.

BIGGEST CITY—The 1957 General Assembly extended, or authorized extension by popular vote, the corporate limits of many cities and towns in North Carolina. Most widely publicized and politically significant were the extensions of Charlotte and Greensboro. Aside from local political impact these corporate enlargements posed the question of what is the biggest city in North Carolina. Unquestionably Charlotte with a population now estimated at close to 200,000 and shooting for a quarter million in 1960, has the most people. Mayor George Roach of Greensboro told the group at the Better Breakfast kick-off last week that Greensboro with 49.2 square miles (more than 31,000 acres) is the biggest city in the Carolinas on area basis, and is the second largest in North Carolina in population. Raleigh has extended limits greatly since the 1950 census and may well exceed 100,000 by 1960. Winston-Salem has broadened its borders somewhat less extravagantly, and unless further extensions are made will have to yield second place to Greensboro in 1960 count. Asheville has not extended limits, but the 1959 Legislature is expected to take care of that, bringing into the city a lot of territory east of the Beasatcher tunnel.

People now living, can remember when Wilmington was the biggest city in North Carolina. A lot of folks can remember the rivalry between Charlotte and Greensboro 50 years ago, and when the 1910 census showed Charlotte ahead the papers there chanted "Hush, little Greensboro, don't you cry. You'll be a city bye and bye."

County and municipal governments derive their revenue from the same citizens who pay taxes to the State, and there is justification for efforts to save money by obtaining goods at lower prices.

Dealers and manufacturers, who pay taxes to both State and local governmental units, insist they are entitled to reasonable profit on equipment and materials sold.

Twin School Woes

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Do you realize that school enrollments have increased this year for the 13th year in a row; and that right now one out of every four persons is attending school or college? This is why two national problems are reaching crisis proportions: (1) classroom space; and (2) the teacher shortage. How is your community solving these problems?

CLASSROOMS AND MONEY

Already operating expenses of our public schools are consuming about 50 per cent of the budget in the average New England town; and I imagine this is typical of other areas across the country. School building committees simply cannot continue to spend the taxpayers' money as freely in the next ten years, for already in this slight recession home owners are finding their tax load more than they can bear.

In 1952, we were short some 312,000 classrooms. The figure probably approaches 500,000 today, despite all the building already completed. How are we going to pay for these needed new schoolrooms? May I be bold enough to suggest that we cannot—at least not in the fashion we have been accustomed to in the past? There must be some changes made. Let me ask you, could you afford a custom-built automobile at, perhaps, $20,000? Your town can no more afford a custom-built school!

If our federal government officials really want to help in this crisis, they will stop talking subsidies for education and, instead, lead in designing prefabricated schoolhouses that could be mass produced—basic schoolhouses that rooms could be added to or subtracted from, and which could be moved elsewhere as occasion demands. Communities are going to have to "put the horse back in front of the cart," first asking how much they can afford for a schoolhouse; then sending their building committee out to buy the best they can afford.

A NEW LOOK IN EDUCATION NEEDED

To have the average elementary school lying idle for three months and to have the average high school catering to but a few summer pupils compared with the total it might serve is poor economics. In many privately endowed institutions of higher learning today, the seats are never allowed to cool off. Space is at a premium, and they know how to use it!

I can hear the hue and cry from parents in your town already when we talk about running school continuously, perhaps staggering vacations, and even operating Saturdays. All sorts of reasons are going to be given by a five-day, one-session, nine-month program is a very sacred thing... but the only sacred thing about it is that we have always done it that way!

TEACHERS AND MONEY

Teachers will probably oppose any chance in routine. After all, one of the compensations of teaching is a long vacation. They will probably say that a longer day or week is psychologically unsound for both teachers and pupils. My own college administrators say that this is not necessarily so. Furthermore, if teachers would accept an 11-month job responsibility, a longer work day, and a longer work week like all other professional people, they could readily become more productive and their incomes would be raised. School Committees could also help make much better teachers by cutting out a lot of the extracurricular nonsense.

I do not forget that children cannot be put on an educational production line and have their education added like parts to a car. Education is a process

The Status Quo Isn't Enough For Any Town

There is not a community in the country which might not learn a lesson from the little farming town of Harrietta, Michigan.

A resident of that community has called attention of state officials to the fact Harrietta has not held a town election in three years even though the law provides for the election of town officials every year. Explaining the reason for the lack of elections, a member of the town council put it this way:

"What's the use? The same old bunch is always re-elected. If anyone wanted an election they could sure get one—if we had the money."

The last election held in the town was three years ago and only 20 of the 58 eligible voters bothered to go to the polls. Furthermore, all officials of the town have been in office for some 20 years.

On top of that, the councilman said, it costs about $200 to hold an election in the town, and the annual general fund budget of the village is only $158.

When a town, large or small, gets into the condition that Harrietta is in, the people have no one to blame but themselves. May be the people of Harrietta want their little town to die on the vine. May be they are so self-satisfied they have failed to realize that things have changed with the passing decades—even if Harrietta hasn't changed.

So long as the people of Harrietta are content with the status quo, they can be sure they will have nothing better. So long as the people of any community have a little interest in their village or city—which ever it might be—they are reluctant to bother with having an election, it is unlikely they have enough interest in the community to bother with anything else of lasting value.

The progressiveness of any community is determined by the progressiveness of its individual citizens. The ability of any community to become a better community is limited only by the determination of its citizens to make it a better community.

How many Harrietts—large and small—are there today in North Carolina?

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
MEN ARE MORE REMARKABLE

About twenty years ago F. L. Lucas wrote, "Men remain more remarkable than anything men have made." This is a good thought to remember in these times of hydrogen bombs, guided missiles, and automation.

It is a good thing to remember, because men and women need to be very conscious of their dignity and worth as human beings—and of the dignity and worth of other people as well. The modern world often tries to make us forget our individual importance. We are poured simultaneously by the thousands in and out of factories, crushed into subways, piled hundreds of feet into the air on top of each other in apartment houses. At fixed intervals we are herded into paying our taxes, registering our cars, voting, and other mass activities.

Nothing restores and maintains human dignity better or more truly than religion. Men are more remarkable than what men have made for one reason: men were made by God. It is this fact alone that gives us value and importance. Our divine origin and destiny set us apart from all else, living or inanimate, large or small.

Whoever you are, whatever you do, wherever you are, never forget this fact. You are not a cog in a great machine, a grain of sand in a vast desert. You are a unique individual. You are a child of God.

Tax Reduction Decision At Hand

By RALPH ROBESY

In the near future, perhaps in a matter of days, a decision will be made on (a) whether we are to have a tax bill out of this session of the Congress, and (b) if we are, what kind it will be.

Recently there have been scores of tax reduction proposals. Among them are:

1. Increase per capita exemptions from the present $600 to $700. This is the AFL-CIO proposal and it has strong support in other quarters. It would cost about $3 billion and relieve between four and five million persons from all income-tax liability. Some 85 percent of the tax savings involved would go to those with taxable incomes of less than $10,000. It also has been proposed that this exemption be increased by $200. That, of course, would be just about twice as expensive in terms of revenues and would erase twice as many persons from the tax-rolls.
2. Split the first bracket of taxable income, which is $2,000, and reduce the rate on the first $1000 from the present 20 percent to 10 percent. This would not free anyone of tax liability but would cost about $7 billion. Ninety percent of this benefit would go to those with taxable incomes of less than $10,000.
3. Reduce all income-tax rates by, say, 10 percent. This would not free any present income-tax payers of tax liability. With a 10 percent reduction the cost in revenues would be about $3.7 billion. If the reduction was higher the loss of revenue would be increased proportionately.
4. Reduce the withholding rate by some designated percentage for a specified period. One suggestion is a fifty percent reduction for six months. This would reduce revenues by about $7.2 billion and practically all the savings would be in the lower income brackets.
5. Reduce personal income taxes by 20 percent until the end of next March. The estimated cost of this proposal is $7.5 billion. It was suggested by the Committee for Economic Development.

Each of these five proposals, and there have been many others, have two things in common:

first they are designed to provide an increase of purchasing power; second, they are limited to reductions in personal income taxes.

Each of these proposals, in other words, is based upon the assumption that what we need is more buying by the public, not more investment.

Up to now the Administration has expressed no preference for any one of these proposals. In fact there are strong differences of opinion within the Administration as to whether there should be any tax legislation. Vice President Nixon is in favor of such legislation; Secretary of the Treasury Anderson still insists upon waiting until more data on the business trend is available.

Which of these groups will win out in the end is an open question. It will depend partly, perhaps largely, upon what Members of Congress hear when they are home for the Easter holidays.

It is hoped the decision will be for tax rate reform. This would cost less in revenue losses than almost any of the other proposals. Further, since it would be presumably permanent, it would have a far greater psychological effect upon taxpayers, consumers and investors than could be obtained by any temporary abatement or reduction of taxes.

You Might Never Know --

NEW YORK (AP)— Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That a government study on the life expectancy of household appliances found that a new refrigerator or electric range lasts an average of 15 years, a new washing machine 9 to 10 years.

That Harry S. Truman was the first U. S. President to travel by submarine.

That Delaware is the only state in the union that doesn't have natural caves.

That the National Laugh Foundation has picked this wisecrack by Bob Hope as the funniest of the year: "In Russia they have a television set in every hotel room. But instead of you watching it, it watches you."

That Baltimore has more non-unionists per capita than any other American city.

That about 75 per cent of your body muscles is water. In my case the figure is about 95 per cent.

That the big-bosom boom may be receding. Candy Jones Conover, who books many of the lovelets for TV commercials, says most ad agencies no longer want girls who breast the tape at more than 34 to 35 inches.

That if you are lazy, you need to be reminded of what Richard Braithwaite, 17th century English author, said about sloth: "It maketh of men, women: of women, beasts; and of beasts, monsters."

That the Great Salt Lake in Utah isn't altogether lifeless. According to the Fisherman Magazine, a salinity shrimp can live in it.

That the expression "good-bye" is a contraction of the old farewell wish, "God be with you."

That it's no wonder turtles are in no hurry and never ask each other "what's new?" After all, they've been on the earth for 200 million years. To them man is an upstart.

Opinions In Brief

A Dram Of Business Predictions

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here is another dram of business predictions, distilled from analyses of developing trends: Tighter consumer credit. So far this year time payments have held up well, but there are some lags. As a consequence, dealers will tend to weaken prices for these items. In addition, the recent cut in aluminum prices may not be the last; some producers think the cut was not deep enough to restore buying.

ON BRIGHTER SIDES

A stered boom. Listeners are showing an increased interest in music recorded through two microphones scientifically placed and this interest will be heightened when compatible records get into commercial production later this year. Compatible records can be played on double-pickup phonographs or on the silly old-one-needle kind. Meanwhile, the stereophonic ("solid sound") idea is spreading and seems to be outstripping binaural ("two ear") music in popular attention.

More vibration. Vibrating machines have been around for years, but now they seem to be catching on in a big way. Many new devices are coming on the market; customers can get their feet, scalps, thighs, spines and other parts vibrated. They are supposed to relax you, pep you up, make you thin, add weight and many other things. In any event, a rising number of people seem determined to get all-shook up electrically and dealers can count on an upturn in sales.

Speed up of recession remedies. Congressmen, exposed to voters during their current Easter vacation, are under criticism and on their return April 15 are likely to hurry curative bills along. That week they'll get the March unemployment figures, which will probably show only a small change, and that change up.

SHORTAGES AND PRICES

Fats will cost more. The Indonesian civil war has cut into exports of copra, one of the world's chief sources of fats. This was the medium of the trend of all vegetable oils and, to a lesser degree, animal fats.

Plentiful pork. Department of Agriculture surveys confirm earlier estimates that the pig crop will be 6 per cent greater than last year. While this may not bring pork prices down, it will prevent them from rising as much as beef prices which, because of smaller production, may rise.

Tarter orange juice. Effects of the Florida freeze last winter will be felt for most of the year in the East. Not only will the price of orange juice and concentrate keep up, because of the shortage, but the sugar content will be down. To make matters worse (or better if you sell), demand for these products keeps on rising.

Generally higher food prices. Despite the recession, costlier food will be the rule this year. The freeze gave prices a tough start and growers elsewhere are planning smaller plantings—the smallest acreage total since 1917. With plantings the lowest in forty years, prices may be the highest in that time.

More Social Security. A new drive to increase Social Security benefits will get under way in Congress soon. The strongest arguments of proponents will be that, despite the recession, the cost of living has continued to rise. Therefore, they say, costs will keep going up under any circumstances, and retired people will have to have constantly larger payments.

OLD PROMOTER MAY HAVE SOMETHING THERE

The Old Promoter, becoming for a visit today, laughed when he spotted my wastebasket full of income tax calculations. "April 15 is the one day I envy the Russians," I said. "I hear that the maximum income tax in Russia is 13 per cent." The old one chuckled. "You aren't so bad off, son," he said. "In Russia a man doesn't even get 13 per cent of what he earns."

Hollywood Can Be Dull, So Underworld Figure Enters

HOLLYWOOD — The slaying of Johnny Stompanato by Lana Turner's 14-year-old daughter must have most of Hollywood — and the world — asking today: How can a known underworld figure become the boy friend of a top movie star?

"It's all my fault. It's all my fault," one close friend quoted Lana on her daughter Cheryl's predicament.

Four times married and divorced, with numerous boy friends in between, the 38-year-old actress saw in handsome Johnny excitement and new kicks.

It may be hard for people unfamiliar with the town to comprehend, but Hollywood can be dull for movie queens.

Many a beautiful doll has to sit at home nights for the simple reason there is a drastic shortage of eligible men.

Sexy Barbara Nichols, an unmarried actress who came here from New York, summed it up: "Sure, I'd like to get married, but every interesting man I've met out here is either married or spoken for."

Even such an international beauty as Zsa Zsa Gabor has been escorted to recent Hollywood functions by her press agent. One publicist man reveals that one of the biggest chores of his job is lining up dates for clients world famous for their beauty.

Lana met the 32-year-old Stompanato soon after her rift with Lex Barker, former screen Tarzan who was her latest husband.

Beverly Hills Police Chief Clinton Anderson quoted her: "My first contact with John was a telephone call I received from him about a year ago. I didn't recall ever having met him or having seen him before, but he mentioned mutual friends."

"After that he called at intervals for two or three weeks, wanting to come over for a drink or a chat. He kept pestering, and I finally accepted a date with him."

Los Angeles police intelligence reports on known underworld figures say this about Stompanato: "He acquaints himself with females of wealth. He courts them, and after he is deeply involved, borrows money and never repays the loan."

Meeting Stompanato was easy for Lana. Getting rid of him was not.

That's what led to the violent arguments climaxed Friday night in the stabbing.

Cheryl, fearful for her mother's life after hearing threats from Stompanato, strode up to him and rammed a brand-new kitchen knife, razor sharp, into his right side.

A post-mortem showed that the knife blade had penetrated the liver, aorta and portal vein, causing a massive hemorrhage. The youngster, described by Anderson as frozen with fear, calmly pulled out the eight-inch blade and laid it on a nearby coffee table.

Carmine Stompanato, the victim's older brother, arrived to take the body back to Woodstock, Ill., for burial. Ex-gambler Mickey Cohen, for whom the younger Stompanato once worked as a bodyguard, expects to fly back for the burial.

Meanwhile, Cheryl remained in Juvenile Hall pending a hearing tomorrow in Santa Monica Superior Court.

Jerry Giesler, famed filmland attorney retained by Lana, said he will argue that the slaying was justifiable homicide and that thus no trial is necessary.

Police disclosed two items found on Stompanato's body.

One was a photograph of Miss Turner inscribed in Spanish: "Para Juanito, Mi amor y mi vida. Lanita." Translation: "For Johnny. My love and my life, Lana."

The other, from Stompanato's wallet, was a plastic container holding a lock of blond hair. Written on an envelope which held the container was: "Johnny, with the love of Lana."

Police quoted Miss Turner as saying Stompanato had "taken" her for several thousand dollars, not counting the tabs she picked up for him.

They said she gave this further account:

She sent a considerable sum of money and a ticket to Stompanato so he could join her in London, where she had gone to make a picture last year.

Stompanato gave her a large part of the money to keep for him after he arrived in London. Later, when he asked for the money, she refused to return it to him.

He wanted the entire sum to convince Scotland Yard officers he was a substantial person, she said.

Scotland Yard detectives in London said Saturday they advised Stompanato to leave Britain for reportedly threatening Lana's life. He was on his way home within a few hours, they said.

Susan Hayward Happy In Georgia Hills Life

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Susan Hayward says she has found happiness in the Georgia Hills—so much so that she intends to quit films when her present contracts expire.

Retirement reports from film stars are always suspect, so I questioned her further, and she replied, "It's absolutely true. I'd quit today if I hadn't made some contracts before I was married."

She's here to smash "The Barbara Graham Story" for her old boss, Walter Wanger. Then she'll do a western with Jeff Chandler. She still has six pictures to make for 20th Century-Fox in the next five years.

She has found the good life in Carrollton, Ga., 50 miles from Atlanta. Her husband, Washington lawyer Eaton Chalkley, settled in Carrollton four years ago and took her there as his bride. She has been delighted with Southern life.

"Miss Hollywood? Not on your life!" she said. "There are no agents, no phone calls telling you there's a great script you should read. You'd be surprised how unimportant the movie world seems when you get away from it."

"There are all kinds of things to do," she said. "We ride over our 200 acres. We have hills and streams and pine forests and pools, which I love."

"There's no one to talk show business to, but I'm not complaining. There's a college (West Georgia) in the town, so we don't lack for intellectual stimulus. Atlanta is only 50 miles away. . . ."

The townspeople accept her as Mrs. Chalkley, not as a movie star, she added. She recalled one storekeeper who puled at her accent.

"Are you from England," he asked.

"No, I'm from a place called Brooklyn," she told him.

"Where's that?"

"That's up North."

"Oh, I see. Well, I knew you weren't from anywhere around here."

Susan said her 13-year-old twins are in a military academy near Atlanta. She had them in public schools but withdrew them when she left for Hollywood because of talk that the schools would be closed in the segregation row.

Fifty Dog Bites For Postmen

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dogs have been taking quite a bite out of Baltimore's post office business.

Acting Postmaster William Laukaitis said 50 cases of dog bites reported during the 12 months ended March 1 cost 106 hours in lost working time.

"Some bites were relatively innocuous teething exercises by promising young things which had not yet learned how to act in polite society," he said. "Others were vigorous partakings of the victims' breeches by confirmed misanthropes who don't give a darn for public servants and want the neighborhood to know it."

Party-Giver Is Now In Solitary

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — The Cache County jailer thought something was amiss when four prisoners began calling in loud voices for maid service.

Sheriff's officers found windows had been broken in the second-floor section of the jail and a wooden partition had been ripped down.

Someone had smuggled whisky to the four inmates and they enjoyed a brief party.

Sheriff Wesley Malmberg said the chief party giver, identified as 21-year-old Michael Nielsen, is now in solitary confinement.

Gavin Says U. S. Must Do Better

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C. (AP)—Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, former Army chief of research and development who retired last week, says the Russian bid to halt tests of nuclear weapons is only propaganda, but brilliant propaganda.

At the same time, Gavin declared, the United States must do a lot better in order to match the Soviets in the race to conquer outer space.

In a weekend interview, Gavin noted that the Russians have launched a 1,100-pound satellite, while the largest placed in orbit by the United States has been 34 pounds. "You can put men into the big ones," he added.

Gavin reached his decision to retire when he appeared before a congressional committee and gave testimony critical of the Army missile program.

His first step to demonstrate his feeling that he could "do the Army more good from without than within" will be a book which he is preparing for publication on June 1, Gavin said.

The former paratrooper is living here with his wife and four daughters for the months of April and May. He will go to Boston June 1 to take a job with an industrial research firm.

The Senate Preparedness Committee heard Gavin testify that the Army's missile development program had been held back deliberately.

ECC At South Carolina Today; Will Play 5 Games In 6 Days

Parris Island, The Citadel, Western Carolina Are Next

Beginning The Big Grind

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

SOUTH CAROLINA — Starting this afternoon, East Carolina will jump into the 1958 baseball season with both feet, playing five ball games in six days.

The long drive starts today when the Bucs take on the Atlantic Coast Conference's University of South Carolina here. It will mark the first meeting between the Pirates and the Gamecocks in baseball.

Following today's game, the Bucs will journey to Parris Island for a contest with the Marines on Tuesday. Wednesday Coach Jim Mallory's ball club moves down to the Citadel for the third game. The South Carolina tour for the Greenville team Thursday will be an off day, but Friday and Saturday the Bucs will play host to Western Carolina at Greenville in their first North State Conference appearances.

In Conference
In Conference, Elon, the defending champion, has already jumped into the lead again. The Christians have a 2-0 record thus far and are not scheduled to play another league opponent this week. Should ECC emerge from the trip to South Carolina with enough strength left to down Western Carolina twice in the Friday and Saturday matches, the Bucs can tie Elon for the loop lead.

The only other conference teams which have accumulated North State cards thus far have been High Point (1-1), Atlantic Christian (0-1), and Lenoir Rhyne (0-1). Appalachian, Catawba, ECC, Guilford, and Western Carolina have not yet moved into the conference standings.

Baker To Start
Ben Baker, sophomore lefthander from Zebulon who opened East Carolina's initial game against Delaware in Greenville last week, will pitch for the Pirates against South Carolina today. The Delaware club shelled Baker out of the game with 1 2-3 innings and went on to thump the Pirates 4-1. Three other ECC games have been stopped by rain or darkness since the season began, therefore leaving them with only that 4-1 loss to their credit.

Mallory plans to use Baker today and Marlon Talton, a freshman from Pikeville, as his battery-mate. The rest of the lineup is not certain, for Mallory was contemplating several lineup switches following the Delaware tilt. The probable lineup will find either Jimmy Martin, Jerry Warren or Gary Pierce at first base, Albert Vaughn at second, Jerry Stewart at shortstop, Bucky Reep at third, Tommy Nance in leftfield, Tommy Land in center, and either Johnny Jones or Jerry Whillips in rightfield.

Veteran righthander Leonard Lilley is slated to go against Parris Island tomorrow afternoon. An experienced hurler with a variety of stuff, Lilley was one of Mallory's top mounds in 1957.

Though no one has been named as starter for ECC on Wednesday against the Citadel, it is expected that Mallory will use either veteran Shelley, or freshman sensation Mitchell Moon. Neither of them crans George Williams or Bruce has seen action as yet. Williams, as a freshman last year, set himself up as one of the fastest pitchers in the North State league and is expected to work a lot for Mallory this year. He is a righthander, a sophomore, from Camden. Shelley has done most of his work as a relief man. Moon is a highly-touted schoolboy hurler from Virginia.

Hitting Woes
Mallory's lineup in the game this afternoon—and probably in the ones following—will depend upon how his club is hitting. Against Delaware, the lanky mentor made several last-minute switches to get more righthanded hitters in the lineup against Ken left Al Neigher. The switches didn't pay off, for the Bucs managed only three hits.

The lineup switch was not the only reason for the lack of Pirate hitting, however. Several of the boys slated for starting duty who did start, didn't come through. The expected power men, Talton, Nance, Pierce and one or two others failed to hit. Tommy Land cracked a double and Jerry Stewart got two singles. Both are veterans.

Therein lies Mallory's problem: His team is young and it is potentially strong. On paper, the Bucs have one of the most powerfully hitting groups assembled in the North State Conference, but that "young" tag upsets the cart. As Mallory stated earlier in the year, "When you've got a bunch of young, inexperienced ball players, you just can't predict how they're going to play. It'll take a lot of work and a lot of actual playing to loosen some of them up." Thus far, the Bucs have had little of either, due to bad weather. When they met Delaware, they had less than 10 days of actual practice.

About WCC
By the time ECC gets back to Greenville for the two games with Western Carolina, the Bucs will have had a lot of that "actual playing" and hard work, Mallory was referring to. It could be that the Pirates will pick up momentum along the way and move against the Catamounts at their peak. Or, it may well develop that the terrific road pace may take something out of them.

Western Carolina, with what is regarded one of their strongest teams in the past five seasons, will journey to Greenville well-rested. The Catamounts battle Union this afternoon and will have the rest of the week off until Friday.

COACH MALLORY ... Problems, problems.

Citadel-Davidson Games May Have Title Overtones

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An early season showdown for top honors in the Southern Conference baseball race may be in store this weekend with The Citadel's surprising Bulldogs visit Davidson's equally surprising Wildcats for a two-game set.

Davidson, 3-0 in league play after a 9-1 decision over William and Mary last Monday, and The Citadel, 1-0 after a 13-inning 9-8 decision Saturday over Virginia Tech, are the only teams undefeated inside the league who have played any conference games.

There could be a foulup of sorts, however, today with Richmond's Spiders making their league debut at home against The Citadel. A Richmond victory would take some of the showdown aspect off the Friday-Saturday series in which the Bulldogs tackle the Wildcats.

Richmond could edge into the picture by beating The Citadel today and then winning Saturday over George Washington when the defending champion Colonialists make their league debut.

Joe Chelaflo's double in the 13th sent home the winning run Saturday in The Citadel's triumph over Virginia Tech, which still is looking for its first victory.

Saturday's only other activity for conference teams saw George Washington absorb a 16-4 drubbing at the hands of Lafayette.

The Citadel's engagement at Richmond was the only conference game on today's schedule, which also included four non-league clashes—Davidson at Georgia Teachers, Furman at Jacksonville University, Ohio State at Virginia Tech and West Virginia meeting Notre Dame in the Florida State tourney.

Other league games during the week will have William and Mary at Washington and Lee Friday and at Virginia Tech Saturday.

The schedule for conference teams after today:

Tuesday — Davidson at Mercer (2); VMI at Quantico Marines; West Virginia vs. Wisconsin in Florida State tourney.

Wednesday — East Carolina at The Citadel; Furman at Georgia Teachers; VMI at Quantico Marines; West Virginia vs. Florida State in Florida State tourney.

Thursday — Furman at Parris Island Marines; George Washington at Maryland; Canisius at Richmond; West Virginia vs. Notre Dame in Florida State tourney.

Friday — The Citadel at Davidson; William and Mary at Washington and Lee; Furman at Parris Island Marines; VMI at Hampden-Sydney.

Saturday — The Citadel at Davidson; George Washington at Richmond; William and Mary at Virginia Tech; Furman at Georgia Teachers; Waynesburg at West Virginia.

Machen Rated 2-1 Over Z. Folley

Undefeated Eddie Machen is a 2-1 favorite to beat Zora Folley Wednesday night when the two top heavyweight contenders collide in a television 12-rounder at San Francisco.

The winner will be in a strong position for a title shot against heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Machen, 25, is the No. 1 contender. The Redding, Calif., puncher has a 24-0 record, including 16 knockouts. Folley, 27, Chandler, Ariz., is No. 2. Winner of 17 straight, he has a 33-2-1 record, including 24 kayos.

They don't figure in the welterweight ratings but New Yorkers Peter Schmidt and Tony DiBiase should put on a lively scrap tonight at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. It's a return 10-rounder. DiBiase, 22, won a disputed, split decision over Schmidt, 24, in the same arena March 10.

Du Mont will telecast at 10 p.m. EST.

Lightweight Larry Boardman, making a successful comeback at 22, seeks his fourth straight victory and revenge at Boston Friday night. The Connecticut contender meets Johnny Bussio, 23-year-old New Yorker, in a return television 10-rounder at Mechanics Hall. Bussio outboxed his harder-hitter rival in Boston last June 28.

Snead won the initial Greater Greensboro in 1938 and has captured five more since. During the years, Snead has played 68 rounds in the tournament, averaging 70.31 strokes. He has won $16,826 here.

Adolph Rupp, coach of Kentucky's national champions, agreed to be the basketball instructor several weeks ago.

Clippers Were Victims Of A Comeback

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The Charlotte Clippers, who made a valiant comeback in their semifinal championship playoff series, were themselves victims of a comeback in the finals of the Eastern Hockey League playoff.

The Washington Presidents, who trailed 3-1 in the best-of-seven final series when they came to town last week, capped their rally Saturday night with a 5-2 victory to take the 1958 title.

Charlotte would have had its second straight championship had the Clippers won.

Detroit Keeps On Rolling Along--- 6 Straight Losses

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The plight of the Detroit Tigers is getting desperate.

Despite threats of fines and reprimands by Manager Jack Tighe, the Tigers go right on losing.

Despite the addition of Billy Martin, supposed to inject the needed hustle in the club, the Tigers keep on losing.

Despite the vote of confidence awarded Tighe by the board of directors, the Tigers keep on losing.

They now have lost six straight exhibition games. In their last four, including yesterday's 3-0 loss at the hands of the rampaging Boston Red Sox at Sarasota, the Bengals have scored just four runs.

Their over-all record stands at 6-17.

Sox right-handers Frank Sullivan and Tom Brewer held the Tigers to five hits. It was Boston's 11th victory in 12 starts.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, unbeaten in their previous seven, suffered an 8-3 defeat at Nashville, Tenn., from the Washington Senators. Brooks Lawrence was the victim. Hal Griggs held off the Redlegs until the seventh, when he was rescued by Truman Cleveland.

Luther Lassiter Loses Billiards Crown To Moore

CHICAGO (AP)—Luther Lassiter of Elizabeth City, N.C., who won the national pocket billiards championship two years ago, has been dethroned by the man who was runner-up to him then.

Jim Moore of Albuquerque, N.M., won the title here Saturday night, defeating Lassiter 3,000-2,634 in a match that lasted 10 days.

Moore next will meet Willie Mosconi, the world champion.

Lassiter led Moore early in the match here but dropped behind as it moved toward the 3,000-point goal.

found himself in the unusual position of heading for the showers before he could retire a batter. It happened at Fort Worth, Tex., where the Dodgers licked the Milwaukee Braves 11-5.

Burdette, who had given up just one hit in seven previous innings, started for the Braves and promptly was rocked by four singles, a walk and a couple of errors. Out he went. By the time the inning was over, the Dodgers had scored six runs and the game was out of reach of the world champions.

In other action, the Philadelphia Phillies topped the New York Yankees 3-2 at Columbia, S.C.; the San Francisco Giants edged the Cleveland Indians, 9-7 at San Antonio; the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Kansas City A's 5-2 at Fort Myers, Fla.; the Chicago White Sox halted the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 at Houston, and the Baltimore Orioles turned back the Chicago Cubs 7-3 at Scottsdale, Ariz.

The Phillies scored all their runs on homers. Dave Philley connected in the 12th for the winning run. Stan Lopata hit a two-run homer.

Bob Schmidt singled home Whitey Lockman for San Francisco's winning run in the 10th.

Roberto Clemente of the Pirates blasted a grand-slam homer in the eighth to wipe out a 2-1 Kansas City lead.

Dick Donovan pitched seven scoreless innings and hit a homer for the White Sox. The Orioles got 15 hits off five Cub pitchers.

Arnold Palmer Sweeps To Masters Open Win With Blazing 284

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—"I get my relaxation from golf by practicing," said Arnold Palmer.

"I am in this game to win championships — the Masters, the Open, the PGA. Money is not the biggest factor. I want to be the best."

This was the new Masters golf champion taking — a thick-shouldered young man of 28 from the coal and steel area of western Pennsylvania.

Palmer, son of a Latrobe, Pa., professional, won the 22nd Masters over the Augusta National course yesterday in a close, dramatic stretch run. He had a 72-hole score of 284.

Defending champion Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y., and Fred Hawkings, El Paso, Tex., missed birdie putts on the final green and finished in a tie for second place at 285.

Ken Venturi, San Francisco, leader through the first two rounds, three-putted three consecutive holes on the back nine to wind up at 286, tied with Canada's Stan Leonard.

Sam Snead, Cary Middlecoff, Bo Wininger, Art Wall, Al Mengert and amateur Billy Maxwell all saw their hopes explode after making a bottle of it until the last holes.

"Palmer reminds me a lot of Snead," said Ford. "He whales the devil out of the ball. He is always on the offensive. I think he will be a great player for years to come."

Two 3's on his card provided the difference between defeat and victory. On the short 12th hole, he imbedded his drive into a bank back of the green.

An official said he must play the ball. Palmer insisted he was entitled to a free drop. He played two balls—the first one for a 5, a provisional one for a 3. Later the rules committee upheld Palmer's 3.

The other 3 came on the next hole, a dogleg 13th measuring 475 yards. A fierce three-wood second shot sent the ball hooking slightly to the green and his putter sank from 18 feet for an eagle.

Palmer said his next tournament appearance would be in the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas three weeks hence. Then he'll follow the tour to the National Open at Tulsa, Okla., in mid-June.

Although reared in a steel community, Palmer is college bred and father-coached.

As a youngster, he won junior tournaments in Western Pennsylvania. As a collegian at Wake Forest, he twice was medalist in the National Intercollegiate tournament. At 25, he won the 1954 National Amateur title and shortly afterwards turned pro.

He has been a workhorse on the tour, seldom missing a tournament. Last year he won four events—Houston, Asheba, at Wilmington, N.C., Akron Rubber City and San Diego. He played 19 rounds in 28 days before coming to the Masters for just one day of practice.

"I was dog tired," he said, "but I thrive on work. And it's not hard to get up for this one."

ACC Race Gets Into Full Swing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Atlantic Coast Conference baseball races blossoms into full bloom this week with 20 games scheduled. The top contest should come Thursday when North Carolina State's unbeaten Wolfpack trots to Clemson to battle the Tigers.

State's 4-0 record does not include any ACC rivals. The Tigers have a 6-1 overall record marred only by a close loss to Michigan State and a 2-0 conference mark.

Wake Forest (4-2) and North Carolina (5-3) make their conference debuts this week. Duke, 1957 champion, won its only conference game, but stands 2-5 against all opposition.

Virginia and South Carolina, plagued by rain thus far, have 0-1 conference and 0-2 overall records. Maryland is 0-1 in the ACC and 0-4 overall.

Clemson blasted Maryland Saturday, rolling up a 6-2 victory. It was Harold Stowe's third win. Bailey Hendley downed Virginia 10-1 on five hits Friday.

Ohio University's Mickey Urban shackled Duke batters on just four hits and the Bobcats romped over the Blue Devils 9-0. South Carolina, rained out of a game with Maryland Friday, was rained out of a Virginia contest Saturday.

The week's schedule:
Monday — Maryland at Duke, Virginia at N.C. State, North Carolina at Georgia, East Carolina at South Carolina, Wake Forest vs. Hunter Air Force Base at Parris Island, S.C. (exhibition).

Tuesday — Virginia at Duke, Clemson at Georgia Tech, North Carolina at Georgia, Wake Forest at South Carolina (does not count in ACC standings because only two games a season are regularly scheduled between any two teams).

Wednesday — N.C. State at South Carolina, North Carolina at Clemson.

Thursday — Wake Forest at Duke, North Carolina at South Carolina, N.C. State at Clemson, George Washington at Maryland.

Friday — Canisius at Virginia, Maryland at Johns Hopkins.

Saturday — Wake Forest at N.C. State, Newberry at South Carolina, Canisius at North Carolina.

Bill Hollowell was probably the biggest surprise last season. The Kinston product came on strong at the end of the season and advanced to the North State final with Everett. He was termed as "the most improved player on the club," by former tutor Ray Martinez.

Savage and Katsias are the other returning lettermen. Both were instrumental in building the fine records last season. Katsias may see limited action this season because of the demand upon his time as president of the ECC Student Government Association.

Last season, East Carolina's scheduling difficulties deprived it of the North State crown. The Bucs were undefeated, but High Point refused to play ECC, and, therefore, won the trophy.

Nathan Leopold Learns New Job In Full Privacy

CASTANER, Puerto Rico (U)—Nathan Leopold is learning the techniques of his $10-a-month laboratory job in the hospital here and using most of his spare time to answer his mail. One hospital official said the paroled Chicago slayer has received 2,900 letters in three weeks from all over the United States. He intends to answer every letter. This little settlement, high in the hills 80 miles from San Juan, seems to be granting Leopold privacy. He appealed for privacy when he was released from prison in Illinois March 13 after serving 3 1/2 years of a life sentence for the 1924 slaying of Bobby Franks. The village has accepted him with scant curiosity. "You could say it was more or less the same curiosity usually shown in a small town toward any new arrival from another town," an official of the Church of the Brethren Hospital said.

Common Bread Molds Used In Cosmic Studies

By HENDRIX CHANDLER TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (U)—Common bread mold may prove whether man can withstand the battering of cosmic rays in space flight without dooming himself or his future children. Cosmic rays—high energy bits and pieces of atomic debris—are a major threat in space flight. Can they—through genetic damage during space travel—shorten the life of future generations? Will they create deformity in children yet unborn? To find the answers, the U.S. Air Force began experiments four years ago. In a dozen high altitude balloon flights ordinary bread mold has been hoisted over much of the shielding atmosphere of earth to face the heavy cosmic ray bombardment. Now, a young Florida State University scientist says we are still a few years away from final conclusions. On the project from the start, Dr. A. G. DeBusk, a geneticist, is certain that bread mold can supply the answers. That's because, as far as the hereditary system is concerned, cells of bread mold and of human beings have the same basic chemical materials. Tests made in previous balloon flights, says Dr. DeBusk, indicate considerable damage to the living cell and its genetic system from relatively light cosmic radiation. This month or in early May Dr. DeBusk will pack 18 test tubes of bread mold and fly to Minneapolis for the most extensive balloon tests yet. Minnesota was selected because there are greater concentrations of cosmic rays in that northern area. Twelve test tubes will be carried by unmanned balloon 20 miles high, where it is expected that the bread mold will get a fairly good shot of primary cosmic radiation. A hundred million cells of the mold can be exposed at one time in the 12 test tubes. One mutation—or damaged cell—in a million can be detected. Six test tubes will be kept on the ground for com-

B Vitamins Are Hopeful Lung Cancer Treatment

By RENNIE TAYLOR AP Science Reporter SAN FRANCISCO (U)—If smoking causes lung cancer there may be a way of treating or even preventing it with one of the B vitamins. Tests on mice already are under way here. The first results will be reported probably in June. If they are favorable, there still will be a long jump from mouse to man, but it will be worth a good try. This first hopeful turn in the long controversial story of cigaretias and lung cancer came in a meeting of cancer researchers and science writers here. The meeting was one of several across the country sponsored by the American Cancer Society. Dr. Benjamin F. Freedlander and a colleague, Frederic A. French, disclosed they were testing the ability of a chemical known as 3-acetyl pyridine, or 3-AP for short, to cause a type of lung malignancy in mice. And at the same time they are testing the ability of niacin to prevent or counteract any cancerous process which may be started by 3-AP. There is no proof yet that 3-AP causes cancer but Dr. Freedlander reported circumstantial evidence which puts it under suspicion. The steps at the chain of circumstances were these: Dr. Freedlander as well as researchers elsewhere determined that 3-AP and niacin are closely related chemically; that mice fed 3-AP develop pellagra, which can be cured with niacin; that the liver and spleen of a laboratory mouse can convert a certain amount of 3-AP into niacin; and that 3-AP can displace niacin in mouse cancers, thereby robbing the malignancies of an essential growth factor. Additionally, Dr. Freedlander demonstrated that mice kept on a niacin-deficient diet and given a cancer-causing chemical developed twice as many malignant growths as mice which got a normal diet plus the cancer chemical. These were the premises which led to the current experiment to test the possible cancer-causing powers of 3-AP and the ability of niacin to reverse or prevent them. Some cigarette smokers already are taking niacin on the strength of the information so far developed. Dr. Freedlander said there was no indication yet that it would do any good but added that there is no reason to believe it would be harmful. The work is being done at San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital and is supported by the Tobacco Industry Research Committee.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

Three suspended jail sentences were ordered for a 48-year-old Winterville man convicted in Greenville Police Court Friday. Frank Parker drew a 90-day term for driving drunk, a consecutive 60-day sentence for assault on police and a 90-day concurrent term for temporary larceny of a truck. The charges were drawn after Parker stole a truck Thursday and was involved in two accidents. Judge Charles Whedbee suspended the sentences for driving drunk and assault upon payment of $100 and costs, payment of $155 to Ivey Coward Company of Greenville, and on condition that Parker does not operate a motor vehicle for 12 months. The sentence for temporary larceny was suspended upon payment of $50, costs deducted. Parker was charged after investigating officers said he stole a truck from Ivey Coward Company, drove it down Clark Street where he struck a parked automobile, and then backed the truck into the porch of a house on Bonner's Lane. Damage resulting from the incident were estimated at $600 by officers. Other judgments which were returned by the court included: Francis Jenkins, Negro, Washington, N.C., speeding, costs; Clifford J. CHAPTER 12

Precisely at eight o'clock Price Regan, shaved, bathed, and then smelling of Cologne water, rang the bell of the Madden house.

He was surprised when Madden opened the door and said genially, "Good evening, Price. Laura will be ready in a few minutes."

Madden shut the door and led the way along the hall, saying, "Come on back to the study while you're waiting for Laura."

The parlor in the front of the house had been expensively furnished for Laura's mother.

Now, when Madden threw the door of the study open and motioned for Price to step past him, Price stood absolutely still, shocked into immobility.

on his thin face. He wanted to give the impression he was a spectator, not a participant, but Price knew that if he actually thought that, he was fooling no one but himself.

Price stepped inside, nodding a greeting. The cowmen nodded back, making no effort to hide their hostility.

Madden moved to the table, motioning to the decanter that was there. He asked, "You'll have a drink, won't you Price?"

"Not tonight," Price said, and added by way of explanation, "I'll be with Laura in a few minutes."

Madden paused uncertain as to the next move. Price stood stiffly by the door, gaze touching Cole Weston, then moving to the others.

The Mohawk brothers were identical twins with coarse dark hair, hawk noses, saltbait ears, and swarthy skin.

The weakest of the four was Red Sanders, but the weakness was not a lack of physical courage. Rather, the way Price judged him, it was a willingness to live and let live, a reluctance to take the kind of direct action that Cole Weston advocated.

These four made up what Cole Weston called the Cowmen's Council.

el. In the past they had been able, with Madden's help, to make their collective will the law on Elk River regardless of what the former deputies in Saddle Rock thought or did.

The seconds ribboned out until Madden showed his embarrassment. It was evident he didn't know quite how to approach this, but finally he cleared his throat.

Madden cleared his throat again, and added hastily, "We carry a good deal of influence with the legislature, Cole especially. We're sure that the next session will cut Elk River Valley off from Tremaine county and organize it as a separate county. Like I told you this morning, you'd be our first sheriff. We were just discussing it. We agreed you'd make a damned good one."

Price grinned. This wasn't what they'd been discussing at all. He said, "That's right kind of you."

Madden took a step back from the table, his hands shoved into his pants pockets. "There's this other thing we talked about this morning. You know, Cronin. You've got to get rid of him."

Weston gave Madden a bare half-inch nod. "I told you that you'd waste our time, Barry."

"Now let's not jump the gun. . . . Madden began, "I'll make myself clear to all of you. Price broke in. "I think you're right about Cronin. He refuses to explain where he got his calves and he's proddy as hell. Acts like he wants a fight, but that's not the point. My job is to find sound evidence that he's either been stealing or receiving stolen property. If he's been receiving it, who's doing the stealing?"

Good Advice By A Hubcap Thief

DALLAS (AP)—Police figure H. E. Greenwell got some pretty good advice from a thief who stole the four hubcaps off his car. They disappeared two weeks ago, and an insurance adjuster already had replaced them before Greenwell discovered a paper sack in his yard. Inside were the hubcaps and this note: "Surprise! To prevent the occurrence (sic) of visits such as mine in the future, may I suggest: 1. Keep your car in the garage. 2. Keep doors, windows and glove compartments locked. 3. Gas can be stolen easily and silently."

Pair Robbed By Coldhearted Man

DALLAS (AP)—Food store clerks Martin Campbell, 36, and Charles Ataway, 21, told police a coldhearted gunman robbed them. Displaying a snub-nosed pistol, he forced the two to fill a paper bag with an undetermined amount of cash. Then he ordered them to remove their pants and herded them into a freezer vault. The shivering pair let themselves out a few minutes later. They found their knotted trousers in another vault.

The U. S. Army Transportation Corps operates a trackless freight train high above the Arctic Circle. It has a 29.5 ton "locomotive" equipped with tires ten feet high and four feet wide.

Learned Lesson For Next Year

TULSA (AP)—The Tulsa Junior Chamber of Commerce staged its first Easter egg hunt yesterday and learned something about next year's hunt. The members hid some 5,500 eggs in a city park and sat back waiting for the hunt at 3 p.m. A larger than expected crowd estimated by the Oklahoma highway patrol at 10,000 persons arrived by 2:30 p.m. At 2:40 an unidentified youngster gave a loud blast on a toy police whistle. Five minutes later, after a wild scramble, the Easter egg hunt was over. One overwhelmed Jaycee said next year a police siren will start the hunt. In Korea the word nurimbengi means "slow poke."

House Set Afire By 3 Blind Mice

BOSTON (AP)—David A. Rockwood was burning leaves in his backyard when he discovered a nest of mice. He doused them with kerosene. It blinded three of them. The three blinded mice ran through the fire, then with their bodies ablaze they hid under the porch, setting fire to the house. Damage: $1,300 according to firemen.

Juvenile Gangs Require Arson As 'Initiation'

DENVER (AP)—Juvenile gangs in Colorado have a new and fearful initiation ritual: arson.

Western Railroad trestle in February. It caused $50,000 damage and disrupted rail traffic for hours.

"That was one of the big ones," Crawford said. "And the youngsters admitted they wanted to become members of a gang."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and other industrials were clipped for losses as the stock market continued to retreat in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Leading rail shares also backed away on a broad front. Losses of key stocks throughout the list ran from fractions to more than a point.

Some tobacco and selected issues in various groups bucked the downturn.

A sharp selling burst at the opening made the ticker tape a minute late for a period of two minutes. First hour volume was over a half million shares. Then trading came in alternate spurts of activity separated by quiet spells.

Volume hit 940,000 shares by noon. The decline continued an eight-day stretch of generally lower prices. Fear of lower first quarter earnings reports was a factor.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem opened on sizable blocks. "Big steel" and Youngstown Sheet and Tube advanced. Republic Steel was off a point. Bethlehem dropped a major fraction.

Kennecott and Alcoa also dropped more than a point each. Chrysler was off around a point. General Motors and Standard Oil (New Jersey) lost fractions. Du Pont and American Smelting were steady. American Telephone showed little change.

Santa Fe, Illinois Central, Southern Railway, Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio and New York Central all dropped fractions.

Lorillard was steady at the start, then was off slightly as Wall Street guessed about first quarter earnings due tomorrow. The stock has enjoyed a prolonged advance on good prospects. American Tobacco once was up better than 2 for a while in continued response to news of a new cigarette filter. It pared the gain. Liggett & Myers rose a major fraction. Merchant Calculator gained nearly 3 while Smith-Corona dropped a bit on word of the proposed merger of the two.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 60 cents to $158.90 with the industrials down 90 cents, the rails down $1.00 and the utilities down 10 cents.

Would Rule Out Unanimity Need In Jury Verdict

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A committee studying the improvement of justice in North Carolina recommends getting rid of the idea that everyone on a lower court jury has to agree before a verdict is reached.

The committee, in a first draft of recommendations released over the weekend, calls for a system of district courts as local trial courts. It recommends that juries in these district courts may consist of as few as six persons. And it suggests that in civil cases the agreement of five-sixths of the jurors be sufficient.

The group recommends a unified, statewide system of courts, with administrative authority vested in the State Supreme Court.

The single court system would have three divisions: appellate, trial division of general jurisdiction, consisting of the present Superior Courts; and local court division, consisting of all existing trial courts other than Superior Courts.

This local division would be broken down into district courts, with at least one in each county, and into magistrate's courts, taking the place of the present Justice of the peace system.

The committee criticizes the present JP system. It says: "Under the existing JP system, the income of the Justice of the peace is directly related not only to the volume of his business, but also to the character of his judicial. If he finds a defendant in a criminal case not guilty, the justice receives no fee for his services. Under the proposed plan for a properly administered court system for the state, the magistrate's pay would be on some other basis, so that the outcome of his cases would have no bearing on his income."

The committee does not criticize all Justices of the peace, but rather the JP institution itself.

The group, headed by State Sen. J. Spencer Bell of Charlotte, is known officially as the North Carolina Bar Assn.'s Committee on Improving and Expediting the Administration of Justice.

It's first recommendations are court administration, structure and jurisdiction. Other recommendations will be made later this month on selection and tenure of judges, practice and procedure, and the jury system.

Reservoirs Full, Watch Kept On California Skies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Full reservoirs and the largest mountain snow pack ever recorded caused northern and central Californians to watch the sky apprehensively today.

As weathermen predicted no heavy rain in the immediate future, the director of the state disaster office for the 16 north coast counties warned that "the next 24 hours will be the most critical."

William Ward Jr. explained that because reservoirs are full, "we have lost the flood control factor." No more runoff can be held back now by dams.

Added to that are the already soggy ground and the weakened levees along the Sacramento-San Joaquin River system which drains the Central Valley through San Francisco Bay. An inch of rain fell during a weekend storm between Eureka in the north and Santa Maria in central California.

A sudden jump in temperature also could cause trouble because of heavy snow hanging on the sides of mountains. At Norden near Donner Summit in the Sierra Nevada, the pack was 269

Leopard's Attack Is Just One Interlude In WHO Campaign

By FRANK CAREY AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—"The leopard got up and charged me. I held my gun in front of me and we went down, the cat falling off me."

"The cat was on me two or three times more, and each time I kicked it off. . . . As the leopard started to come on again, I grabbed my revolver and shot it four times. Finish."

"I was clawed around the right side of the head and the left jaw; bitten along the left arm and on the right leg. . . . My wounds are mostly healed now and I am very happy to be alive."

Epistle of a big game hunter? Not at all. The writer is a sanitation engineer for the World Health Organization, a man accustomed to struggling with even dealer fies. The leopard episode was just a melodramatic interlude in the steady warfare against malaria in the tiny Asian kingdom of Nepal, between India and Red China.

WHO celebrates its 10th anniversary today as an 88-nation organization striving for "the attainment of all peoples of the highest possible levels of health."

WHO—an agency of the United Nations—coordinates international health work and assists governments in strengthening their health services.

The organization works to prevent infectious diseases, to train health workers, improve sanitary conditions in more than 100 countries, warn of outbreaks of epidemic disease anywhere in the world and recommend international standards for drugs and vaccines.

What is WHO's record?

Says Director General M. G. Candau: the member nations' action "has already brought a number of benefits to all. Rapid pooling of information and experience makes it simpler to contend with diseases like influenza and poliomyelitis, to meet the threat to mental health that grows from modern conditions to life, to adapt medical education to changing needs, and to study emerging problems like that of the hereditary effect of radiations."

WHO officials cite these examples of world health progress in which their organization played a significant part:

1. A phenomenal decline in mortality throughout the world, attributable mainly to advances in sanitation and disease control.
2. There has been a decline in pestilential diseases such as cholera, typhus, smallpox, plague, relapsing fever and yellow fever. In fact, cholera now is a problem only in India and Pakistan.
3. Yellow fever declined about 90 per cent between 1950 and 1955.
4. Whereas malaria, up to 1949, attacked 300 million people throughout much of the world each year, killing three million, these totals have been cut 30 per cent by 10 years of antimalaria campaigns.
5. The disease, however, still presents a huge international problem, says WHO.
6. Tuberculosis is killing relatively fewer people each year, but still remains the greatest killer of all infectious and parasitic diseases.

Arrest Suspect As 'Peeping Tom'

City police arrested Clinton E. Gilbert, 20-year-old Negro of 831 Fleming Street, late Saturday night on a peeping tom charge.

Gilbert was picked up around 10 p.m., following a complaint filed by Mrs. Frances Jones Mills of 205 Grand Avenue. Mrs. Mills told officers she saw the defendant peeping into her house and that he ran after being discovered.

He was released under a $100 bond.

Found Bootleg In The Stew Pot

A stew pot "full" of illicit whiskey resulted in the arrest of a local Negro man Saturday night.

Pitt County ABC officers arrested John Ivey Green, 51, of 1601 South Pitt Street late Saturday night after reportedly finding three pints of "white lightning" in a stew pot in his home. Green was released and recognized to appear in city court on April 14.
