CASTRO SOUNDS CALL FOR ARMED UPRISING

Strike Is Beginning In Havana

HAVANA (AP)—Rebels seized Cuba's largest radio and TV stations today and broadcast an appeal for sympathizers to rise in arms and fight against the government of President Fulgencio Batista.

The rebels called for an immediate general strike. Soon afterward workers in the telephone company and other utilities began leaving their jobs and communications were crippled.

Shooting began at 11:30 a. m. in the waterfront district near the Banco Continental. This is the San Isidro district in the old part of Havana.

The firing rapidly spread to other sections of the city.

Rebel forces also seized an arms shop.

Most banks in Havana closed and in others employees suddenly quit work.

Most of the heart of the city appeared to be calm and there was no sign of rebel activity around the presidential palace or key government buildings.

In the American-owned First National City Bank about half the employees walked out.

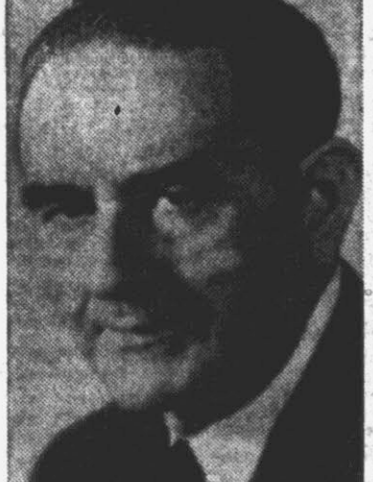

Two heavy bomb explosions occurred at noon.

Rebels set fire to the headquarters of radio station CMQ, one of the largest in Latin America. The building also houses the CMQ TV station. The building is situated near the Hotel Nacional in the western part of the city.

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro declared today that his rebels, battling reinforced government forces in Oriente province, desperately need more guns and ammunition.

Castro said in a bulletin from his Sierra Maestra headquarters that his guerrillas are poorly fed and badly armed but will wage total war until the tyranny of Batista is overthrown.

Heart Attack

BURLINGTON, N. C. (AP) Sen. Kerr Scott, North Carolina's junior senator, suffered a heart attack today and was hospitalized at Alamance General Hospital here.

Dr. G. W. Blair of Burlington said Scott, a former governor and commissioner of agriculture, was not in shock. He added that there had been no failure of the heart.

Routinely, hospital attendants placed the 200-pound tobacco-chewing and smoking patient under an oxygen tent.

Eisenhower Says No Crisis Steps Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he sees no need for any emergency anti-recession action—such as a tax cut—at this time.

Commenting on the latest unemployment figures, the President told a news conference he believes there are real grounds to conclude that the economy is on the up-grade.

The government announced yesterday that unemployment increased by about 25,000 in the month which ended in mid-March. There were much larger increases during the preceding several months.

March is normally a month when employment climbs as the weather moderates and permits outdoor work.

The first question put to Eisenhower at the conference was a request for his views regarding a possible tax cut.

In reply, Eisenhower first noted that Secretary of the Treasury Anderson has promised to consult with Democratic as well as Republican congressional leaders before the administration takes any tax action.

Then the president went on to say he sees nothing in the unemployment figures that brings the situation to a critical point and requires a decision on taxes at the moment.

It was Eisenhower's third meeting with newsmen in as many weeks—and the first time he has held news conferences three weeks in a row since last August.

The discussion ranged over many topics:

DEFENSE—Eisenhower said vigorously that he doesn't care how many in Congress may oppose his defense reorganization plan—he intends to fight for it with every means at his command.

That will include, he added, going to the nation on television just as frequently as the TV networks will grant him time, if that should become necessary.

Eisenhower also said it makes no sense at all for anyone to fear that the reorganization plan would concentrate so much power in the hands of the secretary of defense as to make him a czar.

Among safeguards against any such development, he said, are the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Congress itself, and the National Guard organizations.

Eisenhower predicted the reorganization plan will, as he put it, so swimmingly once it is well understood.

CONGRESS—The President said that Congress, now at the halfway mark in the session, still has not acted on certain legislation which he regards as vital.

He listed what he termed critical appropriation bills, including the defense spending measure; extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act for five years; and the administration's $3,942,000,000 foreign aid program.

any Socialist country," he said. "I tell them from here that all the Socialist countries and the forces of the U.S.S.R. are ready at any moment to unite and give their help and a well-deserved answer to provocations."

Capitalists can sleep quietly as long as the workers in their own countries will let them. We choose the way of Marx, Engels and Lenin and we advise them not to poke their noses — or as we Russians say, their pigs' snout — into our Socialist garden."

Khushchev charged Western journalists with distorting his statement at Stalinvaros Saturday that if a revolt came to Hungary again, the Hungarian Communists should not count on the Soviets for help.

Khushchev insisted he meant that the Hungarian Reds should run their show in such a way that there would be no new uprisings.

Khushchev warned the West against trying to start uprisings in Communist lands on the assumption that the Soviet Union would not step in.

"If the enemies of the working class or provocateurs try to make a push or a counterrevolution in any Socialist country," he said.

Red Army WILL Crush Dissidents

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—According to Western newsmen of twisting his words, Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared the U.S.S.R. will help stamp out any revolt that might hit Hungary or its Communist neighbors.

The Soviet boss, whose tank ledions crushed Hungary's 1956 uprising, spelled out the Kremlin's position yesterday before 40,000 Hungarians at the coal-mining center of Tatabanya, one of the last rebel strongholds to fall 18 months ago.

Khushchev charged Western journalists with distorting his statement at Stalinvaros Saturday that if a revolt came to Hungary again, the Hungarian Communists should not count on the Soviets for help.

Khushchev insisted he meant that the Hungarian Reds should run their show in such a way that there would be no new uprisings.

Driver Held For Grand Jury Action

Johnnie J. Johnson, 34-year-old Negro of 404 West 13th Street, has been bound over for Grand Jury action in the death of Woodrow Wilkes.

Wilkes 32-year-old Negro of 510 Vance Street was killed in an auto accident here early Sunday afternoon. Johnson, identified as the driver of the wrecked automobile, has been charged with manslaughter.

Following an inquiry last night, a Coroner's Jury recommended that the local man be bound over to the next criminal term of Pitt County Superior Court. He was released under a $1,000 bond.

The fatal accident occurred on Evans Street Extension early Sunday afternoon. Wilkes, asleep in the right front seat of the car, suffered head injuries, a broken neck and extensive internal injuries. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

According to the testimony of Patrolman Glen Cannon who investigated the accident, Johnson's 1952 auto skidded 171 feet, struck two light poles and traveled 13 feet beyond the point of impact. He stated that the skid marks indicated the car turned completely around on the slippery asphalt street.

Johnson reportedly told investigating officers that he applied his brakes to avoid striking another automobile coming out of a side street and lost control of his vehicle. Sam King 28-year-old Negro of 1808 South Railroad Street and William Armwood 22-year-old Negro of 1911 South Pitt Street, both of whom were passengers in the death car, testified they saw an automobile coming out of the dirt street and identified it as a "black Chevrolet." They said the car did not stop after making a right turn and heading south on Evans Street.

B. C. Wiggins of 1505 Evans Street, who lives across the street from where the mishap took place, testified that he heard a loud noise and came out of his house seconds later and only saw the wrecked automobile. Police have been unable to locate the second car in question or its driver.

Patrolman Cannon stated it was raining at the time of the accident and that the street was slippery. He noted the tires on the rear of Johnson's car were slick.

Secretary Of Navy Takes Pride In 'Reorganization'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thomas S. Gates Jr., who rounded out his first year as secretary of the Navy April 1, pointed with pride today to what he termed the "new Gates plan."

To football fans the Gates plan was the name applied to a demerol of the gridiron game at the University of Pennsylvania in the mid-1930s.

That was when Gates' father, the late Thomas S. Gates Sr., was president of the university.

"Today my colleagues call the reorganization of the Navy in my first eight months in office the new Gates plan," Gates said in an interview.

That reorganization has seen substantial changes in America's powerful sea forces. The aircraft carrier has become the capital ship of the Navy, the last of the battleships is in mothballs and priority has been given to construction of nuclear-powered submarines and missile experimentation.

Gates envisions the Navy of the future as being largely underwater, with missiles launched from nuclear-powered undersea craft.

"Construction of 27 nuclear submarines has been authorized," he said, but noted that the transition is being accomplished in an orderly manner.

The Navy must be prepared for anything from a cold war to a general war to a limited war, he said.

High priority, Gates said, also is being given to antisubmarine warfare because of the Soviet concentration on undersea craft.

The old battleship, long the pride of the fleet, has lost its usefulness, Gates believes.

"The cruiser has proved to be a better launching platform for missiles," Gates said, "and is less expensive to maintain."

Gates, born April 10, 1906, will be 52 tomorrow. Tall and apparently physically fit, he looks forward to the day when he will leave his job as secretary.

"It's been an interesting, hard experience," said Gates, "but it is not a life I would want to live forever."

Gates came to Washington as undersecretary of the Navy in 1953 and with nearly five years behind him believes he has had adequate experience.

Costly Item

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is buying single-engine jet fighter planes costing $9,900,000 each—more than the most expensive Air Force bomber built, the B52.

The high cost of the FSU3 supersonic all-weather fighter was given in recently released testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee.

Rear Adm. R. E. Dixon, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, said the cost is that high partly because only a few are involved in the initial order. It should drop by about two thirds later, he said.

The Air Force estimates its B52 heavy bomber costs eight million dollars; an F106 jet fighter, $2,870,000; an F102 jet fighter, $1,285,000.

Dixon's testimony shows that the Navy program calls for 18 FSU3s, with five to be procured with fiscal 1958 funds.

Resigning

CECIL REGISTER

Assistant Farm Agent Resigns

Assistant County Farm Agent Cecil Register tendered his resignation to the Pitt County Board of Commissioners yesterday afternoon.

Register is leaving the Pitt County Farm Agent's office to accept employment with the North Carolina Department of Agriculture in Raleigh.

His resignation, which was accepted "with regret" by the commissioners, is effective April 30.

"My work in Pitt County has been very enjoyable and I appreciate the fine cooperation of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners and the people in the county," Register said in offering his resignation.

"During my stay here I have gained a wealth of experience and friends. Both of them will have a great effect on my future. I thank you again for your fine spirit of cooperation and for making my stay in Pitt County so wonderful."

Register joined the local county agent's office Aug. 1, 1955. He has been working with county 4-H Clubs.

The 26-year-old Register is a native of Wallace and a 1955 graduate of N.C. State College.

WRONG NUMBER

CLEVELAND (AP)—"Sorry, wrong number" was the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.'s explanation for a $15,754 telephone bill sent to the city dog pound. Dog Warden A. Rhoden said the dogs couldn't use the phone that much. Ohio Bell rechecked, found the bill, about normal, should have gone to the police department.

Pitt ABC Sales Continue Tumble

Sales in Pitt County's nine ABC stores continued to tumble during March, according to a report to day from Supervisor George C. Elks.

Elks said March, 1958, sales were $98,910.25, nearly $5,000 less than March, 1957, sales of $103,478.75. The supervisor added that fiscal year sales through March were $76,219.25. Sales for a similar period in the 1956-1957 fiscal year were $1,071,323.75. Sales for this year represent a decrease of $85,104.50 from last year's sales.

ABC Board Chairman J. W. Joyner had noted the decreases yesterday in his monthly report to the Pitt County Board of Commissioners. He added, however, that the board's primary objectives were law enforcement and control, and that there were "no complaints" at the present time.

Two File For County Offices

Two persons filed yesterday for county offices subject to the May 31 Democratic Primary.

Jack M. Collins became a candidate and Levi Wilson filed for the constableness of Grimesland Township. The two men paid their filing fees to D. S. Spain, Jr., chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections.

Hodges Sees 'Staggering' Reactor Possibilities

RALEIGH (AP)—The possibilities offered by a nuclear testing reactor, which will be built in the Wadesboro-Rockingham area, "stagger the imagination," Gov. Hodges says.

Plans for the 12 million dollar test reactor laboratory were hailed yesterday by Hodges as one of the most important announcements made in North Carolina in the last few years.

Industrial Testing Reactors Inc., a newly formed North Carolina corporation, announced plans to build the reactor on the Yadkin-Pee Dee River near Wadesboro and Rockingham.

The reactor would be used as a commercial laboratory for testing materials. Hodges said it would "be the only one of its kind I know of anywhere."

Rep. Carl T. Durham of Chapel Hill, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, described the reactor "as a great basic research tool."

Plans for the project were announced by Gov. Hodges at a special news conference, which was attended by Rep. Durham, officials of the firm, Rep. A. Paul Kitchin of Wadesboro, John Graham of Winston-Salem and a delegation from Wadesboro. Graham is a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

At Rockingham, the Chamber of Commerce hailed the reactor plans as "a tremendous economic boost." Mayor Thomas B. Hunter said, "this is wonderful news for our community. It will be an economic shot in the arm for us."

Officials said construction is expected to begin within 90 days. The target date for the reactor to go into operation is April 1, 1960. The announcement said it ultimately may provide employment for as many as 500 persons with an annual payroll of more than a million dollars.

Haywood Robbins, Charlotte attorney and a spokesman for the firm, emphasized that the reactor would not produce power or anything else. It would serve as a testing materials laboratory.

Robbins said "construction of the engineering test reactor will provide a unique facility in North Carolina which will pave the way for bringing a new type of industrial development to the state."

"From the national standpoint," he added, "it will provide a valuable new research and development facility that will give vital assistance to the defense and security of our country. The reactor will also serve to advance our efforts to develop peaceful applications of atomic energy."

the test reactor. Edwin L. Jones of Charlotte, president of J. A. Jones, said companies leasing space at the facility are expected to make investments of their own in addition to his company's investment.

Jones explained at the news conference that many sites for the reactor were examined. He said "We had to stay near industry because industry must use it. It had to be near universities, and it is... and it had to be an isolated spot" but "near to good towns for its staff" to live.

"It is hard to believe," he added, "that we could locate a site that would have all the advantages this one does."

Although the reactor will be 85 miles from the Durham-Chapel Hill-Raleigh area, which comprises the Research Triangle, Hodges said it would be helpful in developing the state's Research Triangle.

Five Complaints On Assessments

Five complaints about tax assessments were registered with the Pitt County Board of Equalization and Review yesterday afternoon.

The meeting was the first full meeting for the board which had convened and recessed March 24. Members of the board are also members of the Board of County Commissioners.

Complaints registered yesterday were by Dr. Paul E. Jones of Farmville, John B. Dennis of Ayden, and Vance S. Harrington, D. A. Evans and Plato Evans, all of Greenville. Board members will investigate each of the complaints.

Rosier Financial Report Is Heard By Utilities Board

Greenville Utilities business manager Larry Brown had a rosy financial report for Utilities commission last night to offset the red figures of last November.

Brown's report showed that the Utilities Commission had a net revenue of $34,673.51 for March after meeting expenses, retiring $8,416.66 in bonds and turning over $12,500 to the city.

It was at the December meeting that commissioners learned the Utilities had shown a net loss of $6,612.54 for November after all obligations had been met.

Net revenue was back in the black the following month, however. The figure for December stood at $22,926.68. January took a drop although the operation was still on the plus side. Net revenue for that month was $2,462.59.

Things picked up in February and the figure stood at $15,856.68. The net revenue figure took a big jump in March. Brown said it was one of the best months in Greenville Utilities history.

His report showed the water department had an income of $17,790.88, expenses of $13,892.75 and a net revenue of $3,898.13.

The city electric department's income was $130,940.70; expenses, $88,058.73 and net revenue, $32,881.97.

Rural electric's income was $39,192.92, expenses, $29,429.79 and net revenue, $9,763.13.

Gas department's income was $26,716.76, expenses, $17,579.82 and net revenue, $9,136.94.

$153,327.89 as of March 1 to $210,182.10 on April 1.

Brown also reported that six electric customers were added in March, 14 sewer taps were made, 12 water taps made and 32 new gas services were added.

Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloxam told the commissioners that a lower price had been obtained for coal under terms of a recently-executed contract.

Coal, which is used to fire the big boilers that furnish steam for the turbines at the plant, will now cost the commission $5.22 per ton. It had been costing $5.35 per ton.

It was the second reduction of coal prices in recent months. The price was reduced from $5.45 per ton in December.

Bloxam reported that the cooking school planned by the Utilities will be held April 29 and 30 and May 1.

A connecting water line link is being installed on Dickinson Ave. at the same time work is underway in the area by the telephone company. Ditches opened by the telephone company are also being used for the water line project, he said.

Bloxam also noted that the gas leak survey is complete and "all leaks of any consequence have been repaired."

"It was the best report on gas leaks and gas loss we've ever had," he declared.

Ten Appointments Made By Board Of Education

Ten appointments to local district school committees were made yesterday by the Pitt County Board of Education.

The appointments involve changes in nine committees. Each of the new appointees will serve three-year terms, with the exception of one for the Farmville District Committee.

In the Farmville District (District 11), Emerson Smith was named to fill the unexpired term of W. A. Allen, who resigned, and will serve for one year. Another change in the Farmville committee, which will involve a full three-year term, has Mrs. Carroll D. Oglesby succeeding Mrs. Ted Albritton.

Other changes made by the board included: District 1, Belvoir-Falkland, Louis Gaynor to succeed Mrs. Levi Wooten; District 2, Bethel, Robert P. Michaels to succeed D. W. Alexander; District 3, Stokes, John Lloyd Corey to succeed John H. Cherry; District 6, Chocod, L. Henry Hudson to succeed Furley V. Gaskins; District 7, Grifton, Sam Nelson to succeed Wiley Gaskins; District 8, Ayden, William T. Moore to succeed Mrs. Wilbur Worthington; District 10, Arthur, Mark Smith Jr. to succeed J. W. Sutton; and District 12, Fountain, R. D. Jefferson to succeed E. B. Beasley Jr.

There were no vacancies this year on the Winterville (District 9) Committee and no action was taken on vacancies on committees for District 4, Fictolus, and District 5, Grimesland.

Six Local Delegates To Be At Convention

The North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its 56th annual convention at Charlotte Hotel, Charlotte, April 15-17. The theme of the convention will be "Knowledge is Power; Let Us Be Large in Thought, in Word, in Deed."

The meeting will get underway Tuesday morning when the Board of Directors will assemble at 10:30 a.m., with special luncheons following.

At 2 p.m. a business session will officially open the convention. Tuesday evening will be District Evening at which time Mrs. B. P. Rogers, president of District Fifteen, will make her report along with the other 15 district presidents.

Wednesday will include a business session in the morning, an "Art Tea" in the afternoon, and the evening will be a Festival of Fine Arts, featuring departments and the presentation of awards.

There will be the election of officers, workshops and other business on Thursday with the annual banquet closing the convention Thursday evening. At this time special awards will be given and officers will be installed.

There will be outstanding speakers on the convention program. Mrs. Rogers stated, "All 23 clubs in District 15 will send delegates and some clubs will be receiving state awards."

Elected delegates from Greenville who will attend the convention are Mrs. Ed Ricks, Mrs. J. C. Galloway Jr., Mrs. Tige Gardner and Mrs. J. A. Piver from the Senior Woman's Club and Mrs. Gordon Goodman and Mrs. James F. Davenport Jr. from the Junior Woman's Club.

Housewives Can Stop Current Recession

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The American housewife who holds the family pursestrings, say the economists, can stop the current recession in its tracks—by keeping her nerve, her temper and her head in a difficult period.

Many factors combine today to affect adversely the nation's complicated economy: production cuts, rising food costs, housing costs, expansion slowdowns, unemployment.

"But if you add to that an arbitrary personal refusal to spend money, this can send the economy into a tailspin," says economist Leo Cherna of the Research Institute. "The very worst thing that could happen now is for the American family to be panicked into saving beyond its normal saving."

Statistics indicate, at least to the economists, that housewives and breadwinners so far have been maintaining normal habits in that huge area called "consumer spending." Sharp drops have been noted, however, in some special fields, notably automobile purchases.

And although the diagnosticians differ among themselves on the recession's cause, and differ even more in their opinions on the cure, they are generally agreed that money hoarding—the widespread development of a fear of buying—can be disastrous.

"The primary thing about the current slump is not to get pessimistic, to keep one's confidence up," says an economist who is also a housewife. She is Jo Bingham, executive of the Government Finance Department of the National Assn. of Manufacturers and in private life the wife of a Connecticut businessman.

"Psychology is one of the largest factors in a boom or in a depression," she says, adding this word of caution: "But I think that any housewife will feel as I feel—that being pressed into buying just means higher prices. The 'buy more' pitch just leads to 'buy more inflation.'"

"Every buyer should shop for the best purchase," she continues, "and every woman should try to get the most for her money. It isn't necessary to go on a buying spree to ward off the worst. Just don't get scared and stop normal buying—keep on trying to get the best product for the best price."

A different theory on the cause of the economy's troubles comes from psychologist Ernest Dichter, who heads an organization whose specialty is "motivational research" or digging for the motives behind the actions of people. Dr. Dichter agrees heartily that recessions as well as boom times are psychological. But he thinks much of the current slump has been wrought by consumers—housewives and breadwinners—who are not so much scared as irritated.

"Several of our studies have revealed that consumers actually welcome signs of a recession," Dichter recently told a meeting of sales executives. "This is a period in which the consumer is putting the manufacturer on the spot. He wants to find out how much he has been overcharged or whether he has been treated with fairness in the past. If prices are indiscriminately slashed, there is a grave danger that the consumer will become more than ever convinced that he was being cheated during a period of prosperity. He will hold out and wait for the moment when he really has the manufacturer over a barrel—a moment when prices hit rock bottom. What is needed, then, is not merely a reduction of prices, but even more a better communication between the advertiser and the consumer, an explanation of price policies."

A Few Fine Arts Characters Who Will Attend Ball

A COSTUME BALL, FUN FOR ALL . . . will be the theme of the first Fine Arts costume ball to be held in Greenville. Wright Auditorium, college campus, will be decorated in a Fine Arts motif Friday night for the gala event which will be held from 9 p.m. until midnight. FOUNTAIN—The Union Baptist Church near Rocky Mount was the scene of a double ring ceremony Sunday at 3 o'clock when Miss Shelby Jean Pridgen became the bride of Loyd Wilton Owens.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Pridgen of Rocky Mount, Route 4, and Mr. Owens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owens of Fountain.

The Rev. Carl Melton officiated at the ceremony.

The bride wore a full skirt sleeveless dress of pale blue, white accessories, and a lavender orchid at her shoulder.

The bride's mother wore a striped navy blue dress, white accessories, and her corsage was red carnations.

The bridegroom is employed by the Fountain Motor Company and they are at home in Fountain.

Want Husband? Look To Subs

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor

Girls looking for good husbands should visit the U.S. submarine base at New London, Conn., and if possible get invited aboard one of the undersea fleet.

I was one of the fortunate few invited recently to board the Bang SS 385, based at New London, and observe operations during an afternoon's maneuvers in Long Island Sound. The program included luncheon served underwater and five dives, observed from various vantage points of the ship.

Under the expert command of Lt. Cmdr. Stuart Savage, Jr., the Bang submerged, cruised and surfaced with fine precision, while the young officers and crewmen proudly put the ship through her paces. These things were impressive, but since I didn't understand all the complicated electronics which controlled them, I was more interested in the mechanics of cooking and keeping house in the cramped quarters of the submarine, each compartment of which is far more compact than the smallest efficiency apartment—and, I might add, 10 times as efficient.

When a cook can prepare luncheon for 10 served in a wardrobe barely big enough for a medium-sized table, cooking in a galley about three feet wide and six feet long—that's efficiency.

Seamen aboard the submarine sleep in bunks stacked three deep from deck to overhead, and all their gear must be stored in one small locker and a duffle bag. Is anything out of place? Not even a stray sock. The men are spruce in clean denims, smoothly shaven, trimly barbered—and they never throw cigarette ashes on the deck.

A man trained to such neatness and organization should make a model husband for any deserving girl.

Kathleen House, Gray Installed

ROBERSONVILLE—On Monday night Kathleen House and Charlie Gray were installed as Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron of Stonewall Chapter 244, Order of Eastern Star.

The meeting was opened in ritualistic form followed by the introduction and welcome of the guests for the evening.

Kathleen House, Worthy Matron for 1957-'58, made a short speech of appreciation and thanks for the cooperation of the members and a successful year. In her hour or an appropriate song set to the tune of "Always" was sung by the chapter. She was then given an arm bouquet. Betty Taylor presented the jewel and a similar presentation was made by Heber Baker to John Warren. Alida Tyler presented the gift to the chapter.

The meeting was then turned over to the installing officers from Williamston: Vernon J. Spivey, past grand patron, Esther H. Spivey, Clyde Harrison, Barbara McRae, Mildred Gurganus and Mary Bonner Gurganus.

Officers installed were: Betty Taylor, associate matron; Heber Baker, associate patron; Genora Andrews, secretary; Lina Taylor, treasurer; Mayfield Burton, conductress; Kathleen Jenkins, associate conductress; Gertrude Fulcher, chaplain; Grace Taylor, marshal; Ethel Little, organist; Thelma Gray, Adah; Lydia Alexander, Ruth; Alida Tyler, Esther; Lillian Baker, Martha; Olga Langley, elects; Rosa Carraway, warder; and Nettie Parker, sentinel.

At the close of the ceremony a reception was held in the social hall which was decorated with jonquils and a variety of early spring flowers like those used in the chapter room.

The refreshment table was overlaid with lace, centered with a large arrangement of mixed flowers flanked by candelabras holding lighted tapers. Kathleen House poured the punch. Pimento-cheese sandwiches, sand tarts, frosted cakes, mints and nuts were passed.

Mr. President, It's Time To Decide

Where does President Eisenhower stand on this matter of public spending to stem the tide of recession?

If more Americans knew the answer to that question, fewer Americans would be fumbling for an answer to their own questions about the nation's and their own economic future.

President Eisenhower has proposed a number of huge spending programs that have been sent to Congress. He has intimated there will be other suggestions on this matter of pump-priming from his office from time to time.

In addition to that, President Eisenhower has cautioned against too much federal pump-priming, too many inflation-producing acts on the part of the federal government. On the matter of a tax cut, the President has yet to make his position known to the people of the country. He has carefully balanced on the fence waiting, he said, for further developments and further study.

If the President, with all the experts he has to advise him, can't decide whether a tax cut now is good or bad for the nation's economy, how is the average citizen going to know the answer to such a question?

To be sure he does not want to make the wrong decision for the nation. But is a wrong decision worse than no decision at all on the part of the man who heads the nation's affairs?

There have been an abundance of cautious, carefully guarded statements from the White House in recent months on the nation's economic situation. It seems to us the time has come for President Eisenhower to speak out firmly, clearly and decisively with positive recommendations for coping with the economic conditions which now exist.

Citizens of the United States are looking for positive leadership in this matter. If it is to be had, the Chief Executive must provide it.

We have wandered long enough in the valley of indecision. It is time the President pointed to the trail we should follow back up the mountain.

Major Contributor To N.C. Agriculture

North Carolina agriculture has lost one of its most prominent leaders in the death of Jasper E. Winslow of Greenville.

For more than 50 years prior to his death here yesterday Jasper Winslow had been interested in the agricultural progress of North Carolina, and particularly the eastern part of the state where he made his home. For the greater part of the past half century, he occupied a prominent role of leadership in agricultural progress of the state.

As one of the architects of the tobacco acreage control and price support program, and as one of the moving forces behind the formation of North Carolina's Farm Bureau Federation, Mr. Winslow made lasting contributions to the welfare of agriculture in this state.

Over a long period of years he was an outspoken advocate of better organization among farmers, improved farming practices and diversification of agriculture in North Carolina. He was never reluctant to assume a place of leadership when it came to improving the lot of the farmer. He never hesitated to speak out for and support new ideas he felt were in the interest of the farmers of the state.

Jasper Winslow afforded North Carolina's agriculture forceful, positive leadership which over the years has contributed in no small measure to bettering the lot of Tar Heel farmers. His contribution to building a better North Carolina and a better Pitt County through an improved agricultural economy will not soon be forgotten.

Nikita's Boasts Part Of 'Game'

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cockey Nikita Khrushchev is doing his best to make Americans feel inferior. Ten years ago—if he had talked the way he's talking now—he'd have been laughed at. Not now.

In those 10 years the Soviet Union has given such a stunning demonstration of its scientific and industrial progress that Premier Khrushchev's boasts have to be listened to with respect.

Only a few months ago—in a TV interview filmed in Moscow for display in this country—Khrushchev told Americans: "Someday your grandchildren will live under socialism."

His latest jibe at Americans came Monday during his tour of Hungary. He said Americans are good people but destined for second place in the race for world economic leadership.

He said: "Now there are only two countries that compete with one another economically, the Soviet Union and the United States of America. England, France, Germany and the so-called advanced capitalist countries have been left far behind."

And he added that in a short time the U.S.S.R. will take the lead.

While the Soviet successes have been a good to this country to do better, each new Khrushchev boast, followed by a new sign of Soviet progress, cannot but have some effect on American allies abroad.

Ten years ago, when this country still had a monopoly on the atomic bomb and was the undisputed industrial and scientific leader of the world, West Europeans had no reason to doubt their best bet was to line up with the United States.

But since then the Soviets have developed the atomic and hydrogen bombs, demonstrated additionally their tremendous scientific and industrial progress by shooting missile-powered satellites aloft, and expanded economically.

In those 10 years too, the Red Chinese took over all of mainland China and the Communists grabbed off half of Viet Nam. Therefore Khrushchev's boasts now force the West to listen.

Khrushchev has said other things to shake the West's confidence in itself. "We shall bury you," he told Western diplomats at a reception.

He told West German Chancellor Adenauer: "We Communists will rule the world."

He gave a chilling answer to anyone who thought the Soviets might abandon communism in their search for prosperity. He told correspondents in Yugoslavia: "If anyone believes our smiles involve abandoning the teaching of Marx, Engels and Lenin, he deceives himself badly. Those who wait for that will wait until the shrimp learns to whistle."

He's doing his boasting now—about the coming superiority of the Soviet economy—at a time when the United States is in a recession, with nearly 5,200,000 unemployed, and American allies wondering whether it will get worse.

Wald Avoids Trends

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Movie producer Jerry Wald, who likes to feel the public pulse, claims he knows what is the third most interesting thing in the world — to most people.

The answer may surprise you. It is sex.

"I polled 8,000 librarians all around the world," he said, "and asked them what was the theme of the books people asked for most often."

"The No. 1 theme turned out to be survival. The second favorite theme was security. Sex was third."

"Pictures that show sex for sex's sake, or violence for violence's sake — they are no good anymore. They have no future," is Wald's conclusion.

The portly producer, who looks like a modern Buddha, that is, like Buddha lived in Hollywood, says the film business has undergone a big change in the last year.

"You have to lift a picture now to the level of your audience," said Wald.

"They are more help. They are better educated, entertainment-wise, than any other generation in our history."

"It is no longer enough merely to find a vehicle for a star to amble through. You no longer make a Gable picture, an Errol Flynn picture, a Tyrone Power picture. People today are interested in the subject matter first — then the star."

"Two years ago they asked, 'Who's hot?' Now they ask, 'What's it about?'"

Here are some more observations by Wald, an ex-newspaper gossip columnist who, at 45, is ranked as one of the smartest film executives:

"The greater danger in the entertainment field is to be become a hitchhiker, who tries to copy yesterday's hit."

"I keep a schedule of other producers' films on my desk. When I see a trend developing, I head in the other direction, I like to get off the main highway."

"Television has a monopoly on mediocrity today. It is being wrecked by the guys in the empty gray flannel suits. They are not parrots. We used to have guys like that in the movie business. We lost them. Perhaps they all went into TV."

"But TV has my sympathy. We turn out 500 hours of entertainment a year. They have to turn out 30,000 hours. How can it be good?"

"One of the problems we have in Hollywood is the need for more girls who look good in dresses, who can wear clothes and walk in them with an air of elegance. You'd be amazed how few can."

"Only one in 10 patrons go to a movie alone. It's the women we have to please. A man doesn't usually go to a movie. He is brought to it by his wife, mother or friend — and she picks the picture."

"Any actor or actress who tries to get ahead by looking like a current star doesn't have a chance. You have to be original. Only the originals last — and they have to fight to do it. Bette Davis is an example. She wouldn't let them make her look like everybody else. She fought hard to stay original — and she did."

"Is the picture business washed up? How can any business that still does two billion dollars a year at the boxoffice be washed up? We talk ourselves into panics and self-induced paralysis."

"We're the only industry which, when it does something bad, tries to blame it on the audience. The people who make motor cars don't do that."

"Whatever is wrong with our business isn't the public's fault. It's ours."

News Story Duplicated

There was a story out of Raleigh the other day about a family which was stranded there without bus fare to Wilmington. A Raleigh organization assisted the family and sent it on the way.

The ink was hardly dry on the Raleigh story before the same thing happened in Greenville.

Strangely enough, this family had left Wilmington. They were on their way to Portsmouth where, they said, there were relatives who would give the father a job.

The local American Legion was called and that organization purchased bus tickets for the family of eight.

Late Monday afternoon they were on a bus headed for Portsmouth.

A rash of false alarms plagued firemen Monday after an early morning blaze in a local pet shop.

Things were quiet until after lunch Monday and then the false alarms began.

The first one came from a box at Howell and Garland Sts. around 2:15 p.m.

The firemen hardly had time to return to their stations before a second false alarm came in—this one from Fifth and Rotary Ave.

The third false fire call came Monday night at 8:30 when someone turned in an alarm from the Five Points box in the center of Greenville.

The danger of false alarms have been pointed out again and again but apparently such warnings fall on deaf ears of certain individuals.

Current indications are that the House Rules Committee will consider the Alaska bill on March 27th. Prompt approval should be forthcoming in order that early action may be taken on the House floor where the support of Speaker Rayburn should assist materially in its passage.

There are groups—here and abroad—who are tired of the fight for ideals. They want to appease the Communists—by accepting the present enslavement of the captive countries as irrevocable.—David Lawrence.

Other Editors Saying--- Alaska's Statehood Case

(Albany (Ga.) Herald)

At a time when Russia frowns across the Bering Strait at the northernmost frontier of the United States, it is of supreme importance that Alaska be a strong point of American defense. This is not exclusively, nor even most importantly, a matter of physical armament. It requires, rather, that Alaska be sound and vigorous, militarily, economically and politically, that it share in the main currents of American life.

In the cold war, the best garisons are not those who wear uniforms; they are citizens with the full rights of citizenship, promoting the prosperity of their communities and aware of their responsibilities. Such rights as Alaskans have enjoyed under the territorial government are, to be sure, far superior to those which any subject of a Communist dictatorship is granted by his masters. But American freedom should not be exemplified in a crucial region by half measures. As an example of the intrinsic dynamism of the American way, if for no other reason, Alaska should be admitted to statehood.

Current indications are that the House Rules Committee will consider the Alaska bill on March 27th. Prompt approval should be forthcoming in order that early action may be taken on the House floor where the support of Speaker Rayburn should assist materially in its passage.

The Senate, too, is supposed to be passage-minded. We hope so. For as a State, represented in Congress and able to vote for Presidents, Alaska could attract a larger population, work more freely to develop the riches of its huge area, help to dispel the ignorance which has hampered its growth. Too many Americans are still only vaguely aware of the potentialities of Alaska; its semi-dependent status has fostered an impression of wild wastelands, romantic but exotic. To bring Alaska into the familiar political pattern of the American States will adjust this viewpoint, allow a more realistic appraisal of Alaska's value and encourage the investment of capital, skills and human hopes.

The principal danger in this statehood effort is in the attempt to tie the case of Hawaii to the Alaska measure. This is unwarranted. There is no necessary connection between the two; Hawaii must be considered on its own merits. Truly, in our judgment, the Alaskan matter is sharp and clear. Virtually all of the opposition in Congress to Alaska's entry has been based on political considerations—the fact that as a State it would have two Senators, like all the rest, despite the disparity between its present population and that of Pennsylvania, for example, or Florida. But if statehood will increase Alaska's citizenry, it would be a mistake to hamper the growth of an important portion of America because of a situation which may well be temporary and which, in any event, was expressly provided in the Constitution to balance the political power of large and small States.

Shifts in population have before this made many of the arguments used against the acquisition of territories by the United States ludicrous. It used to be said, for instance, that Oregon was worthless because of the "fabled and invincible sterility; with a backbone of snow-covered and (for most of their length) impassable mountains" separating that region from the East. Time proved the folly of this judgment. Given courage and imagination in Congress, time can do the same for Alaska.

Opinions In Brief

"Obviously, the nation has millions of citizens who read carelessly, with resulting confusion as to facts, figures, ratios and relationships. There are educators in the United States today who assert that education is largely a matter of acquiring the habit of intelligent reading. The columns of a daily newspaper, for example, take on a new significance if one understands the background and implications of events.—North Georgia Tribune, Canton, Ga.

"There are groups—here and abroad—who are tired of the fight for ideals. They want to appease the Communists—by accepting the present enslavement of the captive countries as irrevocable.—David Lawrence.

Quote . . .

"A story in the Tribune says that while there are many students still awaiting the college graduate, this year's students may not receive quite the same high salary offers as have been made by corporations during the past few years. That could be very humiliating—a young man having to start out on less money than his father is making.—The Tulsa Tribune.

Retailing Secrets May Be Useful

By ELMER ROESSNER

Ford may not tell Chrysler, but C.W. Barnett, of the Hochschild Kohn home furnishings chain in Baltimore, has no hesitancy in telling operational secrets to other retailers.

At the recent home-furnishings conference of the National Retail Merchants Association in New York, Mr. Barnett shared a lot of ideas. Because they may be useful in other fields, and because they will suggest still further attacks on retailing problems, they are reported here:

Outdoor shops for garden supplies, lawn furniture and play equipment are "tremendously popular" and worth stealing parking space for; a garden shop may be worth the parking space of a dozen cars.

Garden shop space is valuable in winter; Hochschild Kohn uses theirs as a pen for reindeer and for Santa Claus.

PREPARE FOR CHRISTMAS

Stores must plan for extra space for toys at Christmas. One store places its toy section next to its auditorium and spreads into it in November.

A trim-the-home shop is much more profitable than a millinery department at Christmas. Move hats into the ready-to-wear department for the holidays.

Bicycles are important at Christmas, though not so during the rest of the year. So expand lines, even if it means squeezing other departments.

Hassocks are good Christmas items and worth cutting into space for drapery fabrics by the yard.

Lamps and candles sell well at Christmas; it may be worth while to take shades off the floor during the holidays, carrying a few wanted styles in the stockroom to make more room for lamps and candles.

(These Christmas ideas are very timely, of course, because this is the time of year good merchandisers start Christmas planning.)

THE NEVER-OUT LIST

Branch and small stores have not room to carry everything, but there are certain items a customer has a right to expect. The Hochschild Kohn firm maintains a "never out" list and buyers are responsible to see that items on it are always on hand. In-store shoppers make surprise checks to make sure basic items are always available.

Don't forget eyeball control. That's a term for the practice of requiring buyers to visit branches and to see whether stocks are adequate or whether overstock is piling up. It's more effective than studying figures.

In branch stores where lines must necessarily be short, train salespersons to suggest other items when the article asked for is not in stock.

Mr. Barnett also urged surveys when opening a new branch. His organization decided one neighborhood was a bit old-fashioned and intended to stock traditional furniture heavily. A survey showed that while most of the homes were furnished with traditional pieces, women were planning to replace them eventually with modern.

The survey also showed that 62 per cent of the bedrooms had double beds, indicating the need for heavy stocks of double-sized bedding, spreads and sheets.

CONSOLATION FOR PARENTS OF UNCOUTH CHILDREN

Prizes for the most beautiful baby are subject to income taxes, it may be inferred from a new Internal Revenue Service ruling.

Ruling 58-127 does not immediately concern baby contests; it grew from an essay contest in which the winning parent received a check payable to his child. Taxable said the IRS, citing the law that exempts only scholarship and fellowship grants. Under those circumstances, baby and bingo prizes must be taxable.

Billboard Issue Got Top Billing

By LYNN NISBET

BILLBOARDS — More publicity was given to the proposal to ban billboards from roadways along the interstate highway system than to many more important features of the highway construction bill which was enacted into law by the Congress last week. Much of the discussion tended to confuse rather than clarify the issue.

The ancient bugaboo of State's rights came in for attention and was accorded some recognition in that laws banning the billboards must be enacted by State legislatures. States that agree to ban them will get a little bit bigger cut of the Federal money for highways.

Also there came in the right of a private property owner to use his land as he wishes, as contrasted with the conflicting right of the people to clear vision for scenic beauties along the route. Still another phase of the problem received very little attention in congressional debate, although in some respects it might be the most significant of all. That is the question of governmental censorship of advertising media.

As enacted, the Federal law would seem to take care of the State's right, since authoritative action is vested in State legislatures. While there is room for wide divergence of opinion on merits of the particular issue, the right of a property owner has always been restricted when it contravenes public good. The sovereign State can take private property for public use almost any time anywhere. Urban renewal laws even permit the sovereign State to delegate the powers of eminent domain to municipalities to take private property from one owner and turn it over to another private owner. Furthermore, zoning laws which empower governmental units to determine types of buildings and uses made of them have been sustained by courts at all levels.

CENSORSHIP? — Government control of publicity media is not new, either for dissemination of news or paid advertising. FCC exercises close control over radio and television, and from the beginning of national history the postoffice department has wielded a big stick over newspapers. Postal laws forbid many types of advertising and decree the percentage of space which may be devoted to paid advertising in any newspaper edition mailed under second class rates. Newspapers also are required to make periodic reports showing ownership and indebtedness—how much and to whom owed.

In view of the governmental reins on magazines and newspapers, radio and television, there would seem nothing very horrible in some government restrictions on location of billboards. It is, however, one more step toward government control of publicity media.

A lot of people in North Carolina were surprised when both Senators Ervin and Scott voted against the billboard restrictions. The position was more out of character for Senator Scott, but constituents who remember he voted for the natural gas bill some three years ago know that he has his own methods of reaching conclusions. Certainly there is a good deal more involved here than just a clear view of scenery for travelers along the super highways.

CONGRESSMEN — Every once in a while someone asks about the age and tenure of members of the Tarheel delegation in the Congress. Here is the record, as culled from the Congressional Directory and the North Carolina Manual:

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., born September 27, 1896, and entered the Senate on June 11, 1954, appointed to succeed Sen. Clyde Hoey, deceased.

Sen. W. Kerr Scott, born April 17, 1898, and entered the Senate in January, 1955.

Rep. Herbert C. Bonner, born May 16, 1891, and entered Congress in January, 1941, after many years as secretary to Rep. Lindsay Warren.

Rep. L.H. Fountain, born April 23, 1913, and entered Congress in January, 1953.

Rep. W. Kerr Scott, born October 15, 1905, entered Congress in January, 1957.

Rep. H.Q. Alexander, born August 7, 1911, entered Congress in January, 1953.

Rep. Charles Raper Jonas, born December 9, 1904, entered Congress in January, 1953.

Rep. Basil L. Whitener, born May 14, 1915, entered Congress in January, 1957.

Rep. George A. Shuford, born September 5, 1895, and entered Congress in January, 1953.

Indonesia Again Asks U.S. Arms

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia today countered the State Department's criticism of its arms deal with the Communists with a new request to buy 120 million dollars worth of American small arms, planes and warships.

Foreign Minister Subandrio called U. S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones and renewed the arms request after State Department spokesman Lincoln White in Washington criticized the Jakarta government's deal to buy small arms, jet fighters and bombers from Yugoslavia, Poland, Czechoslovakia.

White's statement aroused indignation in Indonesian official circles.

White expressed U. S. regret at the purchase of arms from the Reds "for possible use in killing Indonesians who openly oppose the growing influence of communism in Indonesia." This made it clear that the State Department thought the arms would be used against rebels in Central Sumatra.

A military informant insisted that the arms being obtained from the three Red countries were part of a program to modernize the country's armed forces and were not intended for use against the insurgents.

Atomic Tanker Design Readied

TOKYO (AP)—One of Japan's top builders of cargo vessels has completed a design and scale model for Japan's first atomic-powered tanker.

The drawings, a 7-foot scale model of the hull and a cutaway model of the reactor, are on display here and in Hiroshima, the A-bomb city. The vessel is a project for the distant future.

A spokesman for Hitachi Shipbuilding and Engineering Co. described the tanker as vessel of 65,000 tons, powered by a water pressure-type atomic engine generating 20,000 horsepower. It will be fueled for about 2 years and 3 months by 10 tons of 3 per cent condensed oxidized uranium.

Armor Plate Now Labeled 'Scrap'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The end of the battleship era found the Navy with 45,000 tons of high-grade steel armor plate on hand.

Most of this nickel-alloyed steel, carried on the books at 25 million dollars, now will be sold as scrap.

A House Appropriations subcommittee heard about the steel during closed sessions last month and made the record public yesterday.

The Navy decommissioned its last battleship, USS Wisconsin early this year.

Witnesses for the Navy Bureau of Ordnance said the Navy, presently converting to missiles, now buys no ammunition for guns larger than five-inch caliber. The battleships had 16-inch rifles.

Marines Rally In Ninth To Clip Pirates By 2-1

Hurler Holds ECC To Only Two Hits

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. — The Parris Island Marines staged a ninth-inning rally here yesterday to knock East Carolina down, 2-1. The loss was ECC's second in three games, all against major non-conference opposition.

Pacing the team at present in batting are Tommy Land and Stewart, both veterans who have not previously been regarded as good hitters in the past.

Problems

Ben Baker, Wendell sophomore hurler for the Pirates, kept the Marines under wraps until the eighth inning. Then, Gates walked, Terrell sacrificed him to second, and he moved to third on an infield out by Petros. Shortstop Ray then singled and Gates came across with the tying run.

MALLORY . . . Hits, anyone?

The contest was a pitcher's game on both sides. Baker, Coach Jim Mallory's top hurler, had a shutout going for seven innings. He gave up only five hits. Ollie Powers, who went the distance for Parris Island, limited the Pirates to two hits, both in the first inning.

State, Clemson Playing Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina State and Clemson put their young and unblemished Atlantic Coast Conference baseball records in the balance today.

State (1-0) plays at South Carolina (0-1) while Clemson (2-0) is host to North Carolina's Tar Heels in their ACC season opener.

Meanwhile, Duke's Blue Devils, sporting a 3-0 ACC mark so far, have rung up a fair bid to retain their league crown.

The Blue Devils claimed their third triumph in yesterday's only game to count in the ACC standings, beating Virginia 5-4. Duke's previous victories were 3-2 over South Carolina and 4-3 over Maryland.

None of its three opponents rank high in current ACC contention—Virginia 0-3, Maryland 0-2 and South Carolina 0-1. This fact, plus Duke's far-from-shining overall 4-6 record, gave the Blue Devils little reason for comfort before the Deacons enlarge a 2-1 lead with an eight-run seventh inning.

Virginia outhit Duke, 10 safeties to nine, but fumbled in the seventh frame with a walk and two infield errors to allow an unearned run. It broke a 4-4 tie. Veteran southpaw Dick Burton took the win, while right-hander Herb Beach took the loss.

Georgia Tech caught fire in the fifth inning, scoring five runs to break up a 1-1 ballgame with Clemson's Tigers. Tech took the 8-1 victory on 11 hits. The Tigers emerged with a 6-2 overall record.

Meanwhile, the Georgia Bulldogs took advantage of three Tar Heel errors and three walks to push five runs across in the seventh inning and take the 10-5 win.

Casper Joins Greensboro Open Golfers

GREENSBORO (AP)—Billy Casper has dealt himself into the 1958 Greater Greensboro Open tournament, which gets going here tomorrow.

Casper telephoned officials of the $15,000, 72-hole event yesterday he was leaving from Miami, Fla., and would arrive today to get in practice rounds along with Casper, of Apple Valley, Calif., ranks second to Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., as the season's top money winner and just above Venturi. Palmer replaced Casper at the head of the money list by winning the Masters tournament last weekend at Augusta, Ga., and pocketing $11,250.

But Palmer won't be here, owing to other commitments. The Starmount Forest Country Club proved a tough course yesterday for the practicing pros.

Most stayed close to the 35-36-71 par on the 6,700-yard course, which was made tougher by recent rain. The defending champ Canadian Stan Leonard, and veteran Jim Turnea, admitted to coming a stroke or two under par. Leonard showed top form in holing out a full 4 - iron second shot for an eagle duce on the par-four sixth hole.

Among late arrivals was Porky Oliver, winner of the Houston Open.

Also in the field are veterans Art Wall, Doug Ford, Julius Boros, Billy Maxwell, Mike Souchak and Howie Johnson, who beat out Palmer in the recent Wilmington, N.C., Azalea Open.

Heafner Didn't Pick Venturi-He Was Right

By KEN ALYTA

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Clayton Heafner, the one-time "Candy Kid" of the pro golfing circuit, was an observer who didn't pick Ken Venturi to win the recent Masters tournament.

After each of the first two rounds when Venturi clung to his slender lead Heafner insisted the young Californian wouldn't win this time.

"I tell you the pressure on him is terrific," Heafner remarked. "When so many pros and writers picked him to win in the pre-tournament polls they put an awful pressure on him. That's something you take to bed with you every night, too," he added.

"I was amazed when I heard he'd shot a 68 in the first round. There's no question about it Venturi is an outstanding player, but this is not his Masters year."

Heafner conceded that Venturi should win the Augusta classic within the next few years, but he just couldn't see him battling the field, the course and that pressure successfully last week end.

1949 when Cary Middlecoff shot 286 at Medinah, Ill., Clayton and Sam Snead finished at 287. Two years later Ben Hogan's 287 was good enough at Birmingham, Mich. Heafner was second at 289.

Referring to Heafner's candy play employment, Jimmy Demaret calls him an "ex-candy mechanic—he used to screw the nuts in the peanut brittle."

Walter Burkemo and Billy Casper are two of the huskiest golfers on tour, but they have misgivings about being paired with George Bayer, the 6-5, 240-pound long driver from California. Burkemo played his first two rounds with Bayer in the recent Azalea Open at Wilmington. "Man I was worn out trying to stay with that guy's drives," Wall moaned to Casper.

The understanding Billy commented, "Every time I see him hit the ball I cringe."

Dave Smith, the Gastonia amateur, has his own small plane which he flies about the Carolinas to keep golfing dates. He often flies to the Dunes Beach and Golf Club at Myrtle Beach.

Says Dave, "People of the Carolinas are among the most fortunate in the country. They have two such outstanding courses as Pinehurst No. 2 and the Dunes in their area."

No Long Balls, But A .432 BA

By ED CORRIGAN The Associated Press

Bespectacled Clint Courtney may not haul the Washington Senators out of the American League basement this year, but he certainly appears set to do himself proud.

The Senators have many weaknesses, but catching is not one of them. In fact, Courtney, who hit .300 or better twice since coming to the majors in 1951, had to share the Senator catching duties with Lou Berberet last year.

At the moment, though, Courtney is the No. 1 man. With a .432 batting average, he is Washington's leading spring hitter.

Courtney's big trouble is that he does not hit a long ball. He had half a dozen home runs last year, and that was his fattest production.

Machen, Folley Battling In Phantom Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ambitious heavyweights Eddie Machen and Zora Folley, the No. 1 and No. 2 title contenders, battle tonight at the Cow Palace with their expected big prize still a phantom in the future.

Both hoped when they signed for the 12-rounder that the winner would get a shot at champion Floyd Patterson.

The National Boxing Assn. says it hopes so too, but the champ's manager Gus D'Amato says the undefeated Machen forfeited his chance to fight for the title by refusing a previous offer and says "no comment" when asked about Folley.

Machen of Redding, Calif., unbeaten in 24 fights, has stopped 16 foes. Folley, from Chandler, Ariz., with a 39-2-1 record, hasn't been defeated in 17 straight fights and lists 25 knockouts. The Californian is the 2-1 wagering favorite.

The two Negro boxers resemble each other in physical characteristics and each expects to enter the ring at about 195 pounds. Machen is 5-11 and Folley an inch taller. The reach of each is 75 inches with a normal chest of 42.

He raced for the plate on Phil Paine's bunt, and collided with catcher Rube Walker. He jammed his knee in the pileup and might be out for a week, and thus miss the opener against Cincinnati.

Mickey Vernon got the big blow in the Cleveland Indians 11-7 triumph over the San Francisco Giants at Corpus Christi, Tex. He slammed a bases-loaded home run in the first inning.

In other games, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the New York Yankees 3-2 at Charlotte, N.C.; the Chicago White Sox defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 at Wichita, Kan.; the Chicago Cubs decided the Baltimore Orioles 6-5 at Scottsdale, Ariz., and Mexico City of the Mexican League turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 in a night game south of the border.

Whitey Ford became the first New York pitcher to go all the way but it was for a losing cause. Harry Anderson hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning, scoring Chico Fernandez, and that was the ball game.

The White Sox loaded the bases in the seventh inning. Card first baseman Irv Noren dropped a double play ball permitting the tying and winning run to score. The Cubs scored the winning run in the 10th inning against the Orioles on Bobby Adams' double and Dale Long's single. Pedro Ramirez, a 28-year-old Mexico City pitcher, held the Pirates in check except for a three-run homer by catcher Danny Kravitz in the ninth.

Celtics, Hawks Crown Tonight Clash For NBA

BOSTON (AP)—The injury-plagued Boston Celtics and the healthy St. Louis Hawks, all even at two games apiece, meet in the vital fifth contest tonight in their best of seven series for the National Basketball Assn. championship.

The Celtics, crippled by the loss of Big Bill Russell and minor injuries to other key players, hope determination and hustle will pay off as in the fourth game at St. Louis Saturday.

The Hawks, stung by their home court loss, mapped a more relaxed style of play. "We were pressing too much so as not to make mistakes and the Celtics couldn't do anything wrong in the last game," St. Louis Coach Alex Hannum said. "We'll be a different team tonight."

Russell, the 6-10 former All American, has been declared through for the playoffs because of an ankle injury suffered in the third game at St. Louis.

His top replacement, veteran Arnie Risen, was ailing with a sinus attack. Risen missed a 90-minute practice yesterday, but is counted upon to carry a heavy load tonight.

Bob Cousy still is shaking off the effects of a collision in Saturday's game, while backcourt mate Bill Sharman was limping from an ankle injury.

Relations Are Still Peaceful

LONDON (AP)—Although there are divergent opinions on whether Olympic Games tickets should be taxed to help the International Amateur Athletic Federation, relations between that body and the International Olympic Committee are apparently peaceful.

What had been reported as an international feud is apparently just a tempest in a teapot. Donald Pain, IAAF secretary, said there had been no suggestion that the financially hard-pressed federation should set up a rival to the Olympic Games. He did say, however, that the IAAF had approached the IOC for a small percentage of Olympic Games receipts.

His statement came after reports that IAAF had threatened to set up its own track and field championships every two years sandwiched around but in competition with the Olympics.

In Chicago, Avery Brundage, IOC president, said he had not heard of the reported IAAF revolt, but added, "I am unalterably opposed to such a tax, or small surcharge, although I am aware that the IAAF needs some assistance."

East Carolina's undefeated tennis team, winner of two matches thus far this season, play host to William and Mary netters today at College Courts.

Matches were set to begin at 2:00. Thus far, the Bucs, under new coach Bill McDonald, have defeated Wake Forest 8 1/2-2 and Guilford 6-1. The Guilford match was important in that it was a North State Conference match and Guilford was ranked by pre-season predictions as one of the teams to beat in the loop.

The Guilford tilt was played at Guilford, a seven-match affair. East Carolina copped all five singles and one of the doubles trials. They dropped a final doubles match to the Quakers.

Winning singles matches were Maurice Everette, John West, John Savage, Billy Hollowell, and Lawrence Brown. The ECC duo of Hollowell-Savage whipped Guilford's Washburn and Askins in a contest that lasted over two and a half hours. The team of Hamm and Draper of Guilford topped Everette and West in ECC's only loss.

The singles wins by ECC against Guilford continued a two-match win streak by the Pirates, who are yet unbeaten in singles competition this year.

William and Mary, one of the highly-ranked teams of the South-eastern Conference, will bring a 1-1 record to College Courts with them this afternoon.

A sidelight on the Guilford singles: Everette, who is the North State Conference's defending Singles champion, cut another notch off the state record of 52 wins in four years. Everette's win at Guilford was his 50th.

Union Truck Drivers Drop Strike Support

NEW YORK (AP)—Union truck drivers in New York City have withdrawn their support of technicians on strike against the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The walkout of television and radio engineers, cameramen and other technicians went into its third day today.

The technicians got the Teamsters backing long enough to keep some scenery and props from some television shows.

John J. O'Rourke, president of Joint Council 16 of the Teamsters Union, said during the day that the Teamsters would respect picket lines thrown up by striking CBS employees.

Last night, at a meeting of the local unions affiliated with the Joint Council, a temporary decision was made to drop this support and to take the matter up again if the striking technicians formally request Teamster support.

Some programs went on without a full complement of scenery and props, CBS said, however, that its programing improved "vastly" over Monday. Makeshift crews of supervisory and executive personnel are handling cameras, microphones and other technical equipment.

The strike also involves the CBS radio network, but its operations have not been hampered.

A live Red Skeleton program set for last night from Hollywood was canceled and a kinescope of an earlier Skelton show was substituted—the only program not to go on as scheduled. CBS promised "a normal program schedule" on TV today.

The network has canceled the live presentation of two shows tomorrow night. Climax will offer a filmed repeat. Playhouse 90 will present a filmed drama not previously televised. Both programs originate in Hollywood.

About 1,300 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers are on strike in eight cities. Eight hundred of the strikers work in New York. The rest are in Hollywood, San Francisco, Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Boston and Hartford, Conn.

The union says the major issue in the strike is job security. A CBS spokesman has called the walkout "an economic strike for exorbitant wage demands."

The previous wage scale had a base weekly wage of up to $175 for some classifications. CBS has said it offered a base rate of $185 a week, representing a 6.5 percent wage increase. It said the union asked for twice that.

Negotiations came to a halt Friday in Washington.

Little Mother Has Quadruplets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 5-foot-1, 102-pound mother gave birth to quadruplets yesterday. One was stillborn.

The surviving babies—all boys—were reported doing fine. They were placed in an incubator. They weighed 2 pounds 3 1/2 ounces; 2 pounds 4 ounces; and 2 pounds.

The births were the first for 19-year-old Gladys McGraw, wife of Ian McGraw, 22, an employee of a janitorial service.

"I'm really surprised," said McGraw, a native of Scotland. "You might say I'm in a state of shock."

Divorce Granted Esther Williams

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The 12-year-marriage of Esther Williams and Ben Gage has ended in divorce.

The actress, 34, obtained her decree yesterday on testimony that Gage, 42, kept late hours and made her nervous.

Under a court-approved settlement, Miss Williams was given custody of their children, Benjamin, 8, Kimball, 7, and Susan, 4, and all community property except Gage's interest in a jointly owned manufacturing firm.

Majesty Of Law Fails To Awe

ALPINE, N.J. (AP)—The majesty of the law hasn't awed the merry women drivers of Alpine lately. But Police Chief William Cacace intends to raise his voice.

The Borough Council last night authorized the purchase of a loud-speaker for the police car. Said Cacace: "It often happens that when a policeman pulls alongside with his siren wailing, the lady driver merely waves back at him and proceeds merrily on her way."

Spiegel's Secret Is In The Scripts

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How does Sam Spiegel do it?

The question was a natural one after the chunky producer walked off with his second Oscar in four years. He won for "On the Waterfront" in 1953, "The Bridge on the River Kwai" in 1957.

To find out the answer, I tracked Spiegel down in a rare moment of sitting still. He was in his office at Columbia Studios, surrounded by the seven Oscars won by "Kwai."

"If I have any secret of success, it is in preparing a script," he commented. "That, and finding the right people for the picture. And if the script is good enough, you can get the right people."

Spiegel demonstrated: Alec Guinness didn't want to do "Kwai," changed his mind when he saw the script.

William Holden and Cary Grant vied to do the role of the American in the film, even though both realized it was the secondary part. How did the producer decide between the two film giants?

It was easy—Bill decided faster," he said. "I sent both of them the script. Bill called me in New York right away and said he'd do it. Cary said he wanted me to come out to California and discuss a few scenes he was concerned about. I took Bill."

It's an old Spiegel trick to tailor his scripts so they will prove irresistible to stars. Marlon Brando first turned down "On the Waterfront." Spiegel reworked the script for a year.

"I invited Marlon to my hotel on a Friday night and gave him the script to read," the producer recalled. "When he finished, we talked about it until early morning. The next day, contracts were started and five days later, we started shooting."

Another Spiegel trick is using real locales — Africa, the Jersey waterfront, Ceylon.

"They said I was crazy to go all the way to Africa for 'The African Queen,'" he said. "After all, it was mostly two people in a boat; that could have been shot on a process stage in Hollywood. But I knew it wouldn't seem like Africa if I did that. I got a special quality by shooting it on the spot."

There's an added factor here. By avoiding the crushing overhead of a Hollywood studio, he figures he can save a million dollars in costs per picture.

Ike And Queen May Be At Event

MONTREAL (AP)— Canadians are talking about the possibility that President Eisenhower and Queen Elizabeth II will meet at the St. Lawrence Seaway when it opens next April.

The Queen already has promised to come to the opening, and it is believed that the President also will be on hand.

A likely meeting place is Cornwall Island, in the river's International Rapids section. The four-mile island lies in Canadian waters but a new high-level bridge is to link it with the United States just 1,200 feet away.

The two heads of state may clasp hands at the midway point. The seaway is a joint effort of Canada and the United States.

Since the seaway is a maritime endeavor that will turn the Great Lakes into the world's eighth sea, the Queen may sail to Canada aboard the royal yacht Britannia and travel to the heart of North America.

Canada is building five locks. The two other locks are in the U.S. half of the river between Cornwall, Ont., and Massena, N.Y.

Together as one navigation system, the locks and canals open a new era in water transportation. The seaway's governing depth is 27 feet. The present canal route is limited to vessels with 14-foot draft.

LANA TURNER AT HEARING—Stephen Crane, ex-husband of actress Lana Turner, leans past Lana to speak to her mother, Mrs. Mildred Turner, at Juvenile Hall in Hollywood where their daughter, Cheryl, 14, was ordered held in custody. Cheryl stabbed her mother's boy friend, Johnny Stompanato, during a violent quarrel between him and Miss Turner. A formal hearing will be held April 24 to determine the girl's status. (AP Wirephoto)

If The Joke Is Familiar, Ancients Told It First

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)— When things were bleak in ancient Greece, and laughter was the best medicine, the Greeks had the words for it. With variations, we are laughing at the same words today.

There are no records to indicate whether ancient Greek after-dinner speakers began their talks, "A funny thing happened to me on the way to the Parthenon . . ."

But there are records of ancient Greek jokes, and these are collected in a new book written by Dr. Albert Rapp, professor of classical languages at the University of Tennessee.

"The ancient Greeks and Joe Miller" was printed in a special limited edition for the Roxburgh Club of San Francisco.

"If you were to read the stories of this joke book, your immediate surprise would probably be to meet that very familiar and nowadays threadbare character, the absent-minded professor," Rapp observed.

Aristotle may have asked Plato if he'd heard the one about the professor who was invited to a wedding banquet. When it came time to leave, he said to the groom: "Good luck, and may you have many more."

A stock character of Greek jesters was the braggart. For instance: "A braggart, walking in the market place, saw his servant, who had just come in from the country. The braggart called out: 'Hello! How goes it on my sheep ranch?' The servant replied: 'One sheep is lying down, asleep. The other is standing up.'"

And this one about gabby barbers. Quoth the bard: "A wit was asked once by a chattering barber: 'How shall I cut your hair?' The wit replied: 'In silence.'"

'Lanita' Silent On Love Letters

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lana Turner was mum today on publication of her torrid love letters to Johnny Stompanato, handsome underworld figure slain by the actress' daughter. Six letters, published yesterday in a copyrighted article in the Herald-Express, began with such endearing salutations as "Daddy darling" and "Dearest precious heart." Her attorney said it would be unethical for Miss Turner to issue statements of any kind while her daughter Cheryl, 14, faces a Juvenile Court hearing. Cheryl stabbed Stompanato to death last Friday night during a fiery quarrel between the 30-year-old actress and her curly-haired boy friend. Portions of the letters written last fall and winter while Miss Turner was on a film assignment in Europe: From Copenhagen, Sept. 19, 1957 — "My dearest darling love... All I want to write and say is that I love you, G—. It was so wonderful to hear your voice again Daddy! Already it seems like months we've been apart... Anyway, sweet love, remember how much you mean to me — and please, please, please (be careful)... I have so many things whirling around in my brain to write to you — but bear with me precious love, the next letter has to be better and longer — I promise! Until then — keep your arms around me so close — and kiss me as I do you a thousand times — so keep well beloved! Because I do worry so — try to eat and sleep — for me? Please, love you — love you — love you (Italian for kisses) (signed) Lanita." From London, Sept. 26, 1957 — "Daddy darling —... How very lonely I am — and only for you I don't really give a damn about anything else... I'm sitting upstairs with 'our' records on — and wouldn't you know it, it's raining. I miss you and need you so... I want to love, whatever will my brain do here without YOU? Exist? Yes, but nothing, nothing else... Beloved, I do love you terribly, the very same 'Mutual' love that you feel — I am your woman and I need you, my MAN! To love and be loved by you — don't ever ever doubt or forget that!... There's so much to say — but it's easier when you're holding me 'all thru the night' — all my love (signed) Lanita." From London — Oct. 3, 1957 — "Dearest precious heart —... Love and lover — sweetheart — please keep well because I need you so — and so you will always

Money Is Stolen But Trip Unhurt

SCOTLAND NECK, N.C. (AP) — The robbery of more than $2,700 from the Scotland Neck High School safe won't keep the senior class from beginning its six-day trip to Washington and New York tomorrow. As state and local police investigated the theft, the 40 seniors learned that surplus money in other departments of the school would be available for the journey. The thieves made off with $2,752.49 in cash and endorsed checks in the robbery which was discovered when school opened yesterday. More than $1,600 was saved by the seniors to finance their trip. Principal W. C. Gay said two agents of the State Bureau of Investigation examined the safe yesterday and discovered a few fingerprints. He said the thieves apparently entered the building through a window. The lock of the door to Gay's office was smashed, but the safe was not forced or damaged. Scotland Neck police, meanwhile, were questioning local residents with criminal records for previous breaking and entering infractions. Gay said school officials told him the seniors would be able to use surplus money from other departments of the school to make the trip. Also called was Cohen, who told reporters: "Lana and Crane have shown no decency at all in this terrible accident. They wouldn't even tell Johnny's brother how he died... They didn't even offer to pay for the funeral — even if they did it for a grandstand play." In Chicago, Stompanato's brother Carmine, a barber, said he wants Miss Turner to take a lie detector test. "Maybe if Miss Turner agrees to the lie test, we can find out what really happened," he said. Carmine said he found it difficult to believe that his brother, a husky ex-combat Marine, could be stabbed by a 14-year-old girl. Carmine said he believed his brother was asleep when he was killed. Police Chief Clinton Anderson of Beverly Hills said there is little to be gained by the inquiry. He said the facts of Stompanato's death are already well known. "Just window dressing," Anderson said.

Memorial Rites Held For Dogs And Zoo Inmates

TOKYO (AP) — A memorial service was held today for 15 Japanese dogs left at the South Pole and for 116 animals that died in Japanese zoos last year. The service was held on the occasion of Hana-Matsuri, the flower festival commemorating the birth of Gautama Buddha. The festival was observed at Buddhist temples throughout Japan. At the service at Tokyo's Ueno Zoo, Dr. Takeshi Nagata, leader of Japan's antarctic expedition, sobbingly told some 3,000 animal lovers it had been an "extremely difficult decision" to leave the dogs behind when Japanese scientists abandoned the antarctic base at Ongul Island last February. Ice packs prevented a Japanese and an American icebreaker reaching the base and the personnel had to be taken out by helicopter.

New Civil Rights Act Has Little Progress To Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress made history last year by passing the first civil rights act since the Reconstruction era, but as of today there is little concrete to show for it. The Civil Rights Commission created by the act is still largely a paper organization. Gordon M. Tiffany, nominated for the key job of staff director, has yet to be confirmed by the Senate. Also still waiting for Senate confirmation is W. Wilson White, nominated to be an assistant attorney general in charge of a Civil Rights Division in the Justice Department. This post also was provided for by last year's act. The third principal feature of the act was the authority given the Justice Department to seek federal court injunctions to protect voting rights. So far no use has been made of this new power. There has been no major election since the law was passed. The new six-member bipartisan Civil Rights Commission has only two years from last Sept. 9, the day President Eisenhower signed the act, to complete its work. The commission, armed with subpoena powers, is directed to investigate sworn charges of the denial of voting rights because of race, creed or color and to study laws and practices relating to civil rights in general. Numerous circumstances have contributed to the delays. The commissioners, three northerners and three southerners, finally were sworn in on Jan. 8. Their nominations, submitted to the Senate shortly after Congress

Says Pacific Is 'Contaminated'

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese scientist said today almost all the western half of the north Pacific has been contaminated by radioactive fallout from the big U.S. H-bomb blast at Bikini in 1954. Speaking for a three-scientist team, Prof. Yasuo Miyake of Tokyo's University of Education told the Japan Oceanography Society it was estimated waters in the area west of Hawaii to Japan show a level of man-made radioactive contamination about 10 times that of the Atlantic. Miyake claimed the radioactivity is showing no sign of decreasing with the passage of time. He said the contaminated waters reach Japan a year after American nuclear weapon tests are conducted at Bikini Atoll. Miyake and two other scientists — Miss Kazuko Sawahashi of the Weather Research Institute and Kazuhisa Kameda of the Atomic Research Institute — conducted an exhaustive survey of radiation distribution in Pacific waters resulting from the 1954 blasts. Miyake said their report is based on findings of a Japanese observation mission in 1954, surveys by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission in 1955 and results of a joint Japan-U.S.-Canada study on north Pacific waters the same year.

Changes Tale Of Socking Spouse

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Did Shelley Winters sock her husband Anthony Franciosa with a perfume bottle? The actress yesterday told police she did and then, a few hours later, she said Franciosa backed into the bottle. Franciosa, nursing a sore ear, agreed with his wife's version; while letting the dog out Sunday evening he backed into a shelf and the perfumed bottle toppled and bonked him on the ear. Miss Winters originally told officers she threw the bottle at Franciosa when he yelled at her daughter Vittoria, 5. Vittoria's governess Mrs. Kathryn McCaskill said that from another room she heard a violent argument and then the tinkling of glass.

Wild Throw, And Dart Hit Child

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gary Fisher, 8, and a playmate were throwing a steel-pointed dart at a target when a toss went wide. The dart stabbed a quarter-inch deep into Gary's skull just below the hairline. "There wasn't any pain," Gary said. His mother couldn't pull the dart out. She took him to a hospital, where the dart was removed. There was no brain damage, a physician said.

Net 5 Persons In Bootleg Hunt

DOBSON, N.C. (AP) — Surry County authorities, trying to trace the source of poisonous moonshine, intensified a search today that so far has netted five persons on bootleg charges. The hunt began last weekend with the alcohol poisoning death of farmer Clinton William White, 48, of Dobson. Two other farmers — Wesley Gillespie, 46, of Dobson and George Fox Nichols, 43, of Mount Airy — were hospitalized from wood alcohol poisoning. Arrested yesterday and charged with possessing and transporting non-tax-paid liquor for sale were Ralph Stanley and Gilbert Gillespie of Dobson and Bill Miller of Mount Airy. Andy White and Monroe Snow of Dobson were charged on the possession count. All five posted $500 bonds. Meanwhile, Surry Sheriff Neal Thompson said samples of liquor the victims drank and about 60 gallons of liquor seized from the arrested five are being analyzed at Winston-Salem's Baptist Hospital. A partial report is expected by the weekend, Thompson said.

Helicopter Picks Up Marooned 5

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Five men marooned in the High Sierra since Saturday were rescued yesterday by helicopter. The copter also brought out the body of Peter Gring, Santa Barbara helicopter pilot who crashed March 26 while trying to salvage two choppers which had crashed. The five rescued men—all in good condition—are James Flynn, 26, pilot of a helicopter that crashed Saturday at the 10,300-foot level, and four hydrographers who were running a snow survey for Southern California Edison Co. They are William Matthews, Paul Wiley, Howard Spano and Donald Rose.

CHAPTER 14

Usually Bruce Jarvis was permitted to sleep later on Sunday, but not this Sunday morning Lizzie Potter shook him awake with the sun barely up. "Get dressed. I've got a chore for you to do."

Bruce burrowed deeper into the covers, his first thought one of dismay. He hadn't run away last night. Lizzie yanked the blankets off him and gave him a slap on the rump. "Get up or I'll whop you good."

He sat up, rubbing his eyes and yawning, and looked at Lizzie, who was still wearing her nightgown, her hair down her back in long braids. How he hated her! Six years of being a slave, and he'd never had a kind word.

"Hitch up the wagon and go to the store," Lizzie said. "I need a sack of sugar. I aimed to get it last night, but I was so mad at Walt Cronin when I left the store that I clean forgot it."

Bruce pulled on his pants. "Walt ain't gonna like it, me getting him up this early."

"Get him up anyhow," Lizzie snapped. "Have him put it on tick."

Cronin wouldn't like that, either, but there wasn't any sense in telling Lizzie. She'd cuss Cronin and maybe slap Bruce and he could be sure of only one thing. He wouldn't get any money.

He pulled on his socks and shoes, and picked up his battered hat. He went out into the sharp morning air and harnessed up the team. In an hour or so it would be warm and in another hour so downright hot he couldn't stand it, but now it was just plain cold. He wished he'd brought his coat. Well, it wasn't worth going back for. He'd just get a tongue lashing from Lizzie.

He stepped into the seat and drove out of the yard, Lizzie coming to the door to watch. She sure was a driving woman, he thought. He admired Jean for having enough courage to silence her mother.

But Bruce had not been able either to silence Lizzie or to develop an immunity, so for him escape was the only solution. He looked forward to it with relief, but the pleasure of anticipation was balanced by the knowledge he might never see Susie again.

So he drove along, daydreaming about her kisses and how it had been last night. There was still this afternoon. He'd tell her he loved her. He'd promise to send for her. Or come back as soon as he had a little money.

When Bruce reached the store, he drove around to the back because Cronin slept in a small lean-to room and he'd still be in bed.

Bruce tied the lines around the brake handle and got down. The air had warmed up in just the time it had taken him to drive to the store.

He pounded on Cronin's door, hoping he'd be asked to stay for breakfast and knowing he wouldn't. By the time he got back, the Potters would have had their breakfast and he wouldn't get enough inside him to satisfy him.

He rapped on the door again, and he heard Cronin's sleepy, "What do you want?"

"It's Bruce Jarvis, Lizzie sent me to get a sack of sugar," Silence. Maybe Cronin had gone back to sleep. Bruce hammered on the door again. "I'm sorry, Walt, but you know how Lizzie is. I can't go back till I get that sugar."

Cronin opened the door. He yawned and stretched, and knuckled his eyes, and then sat down on the side of the bed and yawned again.

"Yeah, sonny, I know how Lizzie is. I sure feel sorry for you. I can't think of nothing worse than living with that old bat."

He pulled on his pants and boots. "Come on, boy, I'll get your sugar and you can get out of here and I'll go back to bed."

He led the way through a door into the storeroom. Several sacks of sugar were piled against the wall. Cronin looked at them and then at Bruce. "I suppose she wants a whole sack. Did you fetch any money?"

"No."

Bruce hesitated, thinking that Sam was the one settler on the Yellow Cat who had been reasonably successful at staying clear of the stealing that gave the rest a living. If it had been Frank Evans or George Farnum or any of the others, he could have said there'd be a calf along in a few days, but he couldn't say that about Sam, so he said, "Lizzie told me to have you put it on tick."

"Put it on tick," Cronin mimicked. "I suppose she thinks I'm in the charity business. You tell her I won't get to the county seat for supplies for a month. I can't spare a full sack." He went into the store, nodding for Bruce to follow. "I've got part of a sack that'll have to do her."

Bruce followed as far as the gun rack and stood there admiring the rifles and shotguns and six-shooters. Cronin found a sack of sugar that was less than half full, and carried it to where Bruce stood.

"How do you like that 32-40?" Cronin asked. "It ain't a real big gun, but it shoots mighty good."

Bruce picked it up and ran a hand lovingly down the barrel. "It's a beauty, Walt. It sure is."

"How'd you like to have it?" "Aw, you're joshing, Walt. I have no money."

"I know you don't," Cronin said. "Getting money out of Lizzie Potter is nigh impossible, but I wasn't joshing. How old are you?"

"Going on seventeen."

"You tied down to the Potters in any way? Kinfolks or anything?"

"No," Bruce answered bitterly. "I just work my butt off for 'em."

"That's the way I figured it. I'll tell you what, Bruce. I'm gonna be in the cattle business in a big way before long, and I'll need help with it. If you want to work for me, I'll give you room'n board and ten dollars a month." He nodded at the Winchester. "I'll throw that in just to make you feel good."

For a moment Bruce was too choked up to say anything. He had trouble breathing. This was too good to be true. He'd be down here at the store where things happened and not working himself to death on the Potters' farm. He'd be a cowboy, helping Cronin handle his cattle. Then he thought, I'll be able to see Susie when I want to. Every Saturday night and maybe during the week.

"Gosh, Walt I . . ."

"Don't promise me nothing till you think it over," Cronin said. "There's gonna be trouble. I've been getting under some hides or that stinking deputy wouldn't have been here yesterday. That's all right. It's what I want. I hate every damned cattleman there is. I came here to fight 'em, and if you work for me, you'll be in the same boat I'm in."

"I ain't afraid of the cattle-men," Bruce swallowed, thinking of Lizzie Potter and what she'd say. He blurted, "I ain't afraid of anybody but Lizzie."

"She can't hurt you except with her tongue," Cronin slapped him on the back. "Then it's a deal, boy. You take the sugar and go tell Lizzie. Leave the wagon with 'em. You can walk back to the store. No, I'll let you take that little sorrel mare Tie her on behind the wagon."

He stopped, head cocked. Then Bruce heard the horses coming on the road from down the river. Cronin ran to a window and looked out. Wheeling, he ran back, grabbed the rifle out of Bruce's hands and began shoving shells into the magazine.

"Get into the back room," he film music."

Decisions . . . Decisions!

Someone said 1958 was going to be a year of decision. The year is only a few months old and already the decisions seem to be piling up.

Take last Sunday, for instance. If you were one of the many who took Easter pictures, there are decisions facing you. Which pictures are you going to get enlarged? Which ones need extra prints for far-away friends and family? These decisions may not be monumental but they have to be made.

There's an easy way to solve the problem. Jump in your car, walk or hitch a ride with a neighbor, and bring those films to us! It doesn't make any difference whether they're in black-and-white or color, regular snaps or slides, we'll process them for you quickly . . . and carefully. Then you can show the pictures to the "experts" in your family and decide which ones you'd like enlarged and which ones require extra prints. We'll be glad to handle it for you from start to finish. Decisions? Ha!

Critics Display Mixed Reaction To Symphony

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Critics had mixed feelings last night at the first performance in the Western Hemisphere of Dimitri Shostakovich's new symphony. The Houston Symphony Orchestra, under direction of Leopold Stokowski, played the symphony before 3,000 persons.

Ann Holmes of the Houston Chronicle said, "Though its battle scenes are spectacular and the work takes its place beside Tschalkowsky's '1812 Overture,' there are moments when the 11th seems too literal and suggests said. "Take the sugar with you. Hide in a corner and stay there no matter what happens. I'm gonna get me some big game in about two minutes."

"Terror was in Bruce as he stared at the body, swinging a little in the hot wind that blew up the valley—" the story continues here tomorrow.

PLYMOUTH... TODAY'S BEST BUY... TOMORROW'S BEST TRADE

You get more for your money in a new Plymouth! Regardless of model or price, you get a full 118-inch wheelbase . . . a revolutionary new suspension system—Torsion-Aire—that gives you the world's most level ride . . . Total-Contact Brakes that stop you faster, smoother, with 30% less lining wear . . . modern Silver Dart styling that will still be beautiful years from now . . . plus dozens more. Remember: the other two low-price cars charge from $125 to $140 extra for their top rides, and don't offer Plymouth's other great features at any price! Plymouth is today's best buy!

When trade-in time comes, Plymouth will still be the only 1958 car in the low-price "3" with Torsion-Aire Ride, Total-Contact Brakes and all those other features that put it so far out in front. Naturally, it will bring you a higher price than less modern cars! That's why we say the new Plymouth is tomorrow's best trade! See your Plymouth dealer and make the best deal of your life!

BRAVE DOG
STURGIS, Sask. Riley, a Dalmatian owned by Keith Hushagen, promptly showed the infant in the ditch when a youngster wandered into the path of a truck on the highway. Shortly afterwards, Riley awoke his master in time to extinguish the flames when an oil heater exploded.

The opera, "Falstaff," is a musical version made by Verdi from Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor."

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market kept a narrow edge to the upside early this afternoon as it continued a technical rebound. Trading was moderate. Key stocks rose fractions to around a point. There was a good scattering of losers. Initial dealings were fairly active as the market followed through from yesterday's rally which broke a string of nine sessions of a general decline. The best early gains were pared as turnover slackened.

Reports of lower prices for various metals, the outlook for lower automobile assemblies this year and the latest figures on rising unemployment did little to change the economic background. Lukens Steel was a feature sinking about 3 points following declaration of a 50-cent dividend compared with the previous payment of 75 cents. Early trading in this stock was active, then dealings slowed.

The major steel shares were on the upside. Autos were unchanged to higher. Leading rails leaned higher. Oil and building materials gained a bit. Aircrafts, chemicals, rubbers and nonferrous metals were mixed.

Western Union fell about a point as the company reported first quarter earnings were more than 30 per cent below the like period a year ago. Lorillard recovered from yesterday's setback of 1 1/2 points and rose a major fraction. Polaroid made a similar gain. Youngstown Sheet, ahead around a point, was about the best performer among the big steelmakers. U.S. Steel and Bethlehem rose fractionally while Republic Steel was firm.

General Motors was about unchanged. Chrysler was steady. Ford rose a bit. Small gains were posted for American Telephone, Baltimore & Ohio, Standard Oil (New Jersey), International Nickel, American Can, Douglas Aircraft and Radio Corp., Du Pont, Kennecott and Boeing were small losers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 20 cents to $160.50 with the industrials up 40 cents, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Rites Thursday For Mrs. Maude Jimison

Mrs. Maude Riggs Jimison died at Pitt Memorial Hospital at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon following several years of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 o'clock Thursday morning by the pastor, the Rev. John Drake, and burial will be in Willowdale Cemetery in Goldsboro. The body will remain at the Wilkerson Funeral Home until the funeral hour.

Mrs. Jimison was born and reared in the western part of Virginia and taught school in that state. After serving with the Welfare Department in Charlotte, she became probation supervisor in North Carolina. She later became Director of Dobs Farm in Kinston before becoming Director of Recreation at Camp Butler. She then became Superintendent of the Woman's Prison in North Carolina and was retired due to ill health. She had made her home in Greenville for the past 10 years with Miss Eloise Ellington on Summit Street. She was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Surviving are a grandson, Tom B. Jimison III of Kinston, and a sister, Mrs. W. B. Gilly of New Smyrna Beach, Florida.

Funeral Thursday For Jasper Winslow

Funeral services for Mr. J. E. Winslow, 76, will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Thursday morning at 11 o'clock by the Rev. W. M. Howard, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Mr. Winslow died at his home, 414 W. Fifth Street in Greenville, Tuesday morning at nine o'clock after suffering a heart attack.

Mr. Winslow had spent all his adult life in Greenville and was well-known throughout the state as one of the organizers of the Farm Bureau Federation and served as president for ten years. He was a member and director of the Flee-Cured Stabilization Corp., a director of Tobacco Associates, Inc., member and past president of the Greenville Rotary Club, past member of the Greenville City School Board, member of the Greenville Masonic Lodge, No. 284, A.F.&A.M., and the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Effie Small Winslow; two sons, Norman J. Winslow of Washington and Hugh C. Winslow of Greenville; three daughters, Mrs. Daniel R. Taylor and Mrs. Joseph M. Taff, both of Greenville, and Mrs. Edward Vann of Rocky Mount; 18 grandchildren; one great grandchild; four sisters, Mrs. James Sandusky and Mrs. Irwin Westfall of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Joseph C. Russell of Albuquerque, N. M.; and Mrs. William Tateman of Platte City, Mo.; and a brother, Lloyd Winslow of Moran, Kansas. The family requests that no flowers be sent.

New Eagle Scout For Pitt In Court Of Honor

In ceremonies, staged at last night's countywide Scout Court of Honor here, Erskine Duff, Jr. received the Eagle Scout award.

A member of Troop 30 sponsored by the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, the local Scout is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Duff of 807 East Third Street. He is the second Scout to receive the coveted award in the Pitt District this year.

The award was presented by Charles H. Whedbee. Others participating in the ceremony were: Scout Executive Carl Knott, Scoutmaster William Goodson and J.B. Kittrell, Sr. and Scouts David Edwards, Dale Gidley, Jr., Roger Collins, John Behr, Jr. and William Stancel.

Jimmy Pratt of Ayden Explorer Post 334 received the Life rank award, presented by the Rev. J. Malloy Owen III. Charles Bissette presented a Star rank award to

J. D. Behr, Jr., member of Explorer Post 340.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins presented Second Class rank awards. First Class rank awards were made by Dr. Edward J. Carter and M. E. Cavendish handled the presentation of Merit Badges.

The attendance award was won by Explorer Post 340, sponsored by the St. James Methodist Church, with 85.7 per cent of its members present. Troop 336, sponsored by the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, won the Advancement trophy. According to Knott, who made the presentation of both awards, the troop amassed a total of 305 advancement points during the past grading period.

Whedbee, who is Court of Honor Chairman for the Pitt District, presided over last night's event. He announced that the next District Court of Honor will be held September 9 at 8 p. m.

Waldrop Sees Potential Dynamite For The Future

J. Herbert Waldrop, president of Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, told Greenville Rotarians Monday night "there is potential dynamite" in all anti-recession moves being taken by the federal government.

"Do we want to see our government continue to ride on inflation and debt after years of the greatest prosperity in our history?" he asked his audience.

By 1961, the speaker said, the nation may again be faced with the problem of holding back an inflation spiral by the use of anti-inflation measures. Elements in the present economic situation suggest that recession factors and continued prosperity factors will tend to counteract each other as the year wears on, Waldrop asserted.

Recession factors can be measured, he said, in the fact that goods on hand are being used up at a rate of $5 billion a year, industries are cutting back production by another $5 billion annually and consumer spending is being reduced by $3 billions. These recession factors will be off-set, he suggested, by the fact that government spending is being increased by $4 billions, consumer spending will increase by some $6 billion and business must increase its production by $5 billion to take care of demands.

Minor Damage In Two-Car Crash

Minor damage was received by two vehicles involved in a collision here yesterday afternoon, police report.

Involved in the collision were: Herbert R. Lewis, 68, of Greenville Rt. 1 and Hilliard Murriel 58-year-old Negro of 905 Cherry Street. Neither driver was injured.

Damage to both vehicles, and a pickup truck, was estimated to be $125. No charges were made by investigating officers.

Will Hold Post At Chicago Meet

Efforts to obtain funds for the construction were difficult, at times, despite unanimous support of local groups and the Pitt County delegation to the General Assembly. The Assembly approved the state appropriation only after Representatives Walter B. Jones and Frank Wooten and Senator Paul E. Jones had shown that the Mental Health Service was giving assistance to persons from 22 Eastern North Carolina counties.

When the state funds were voted, Dr. Humbert began work on obtaining the necessary local funds to comply with General Assembly provisions that they would be supplemented by $10,000 raised in Pitt County. After Dr. Humbert's death in August, supporters of the project headed by Representative Jones, established a fund in memory of the Health Director and has raised $1,301.50 when the commissioners acted yesterday.

The county's construction will include $7,130 in unexpended salary appropriations, including the unexpended portion of Dr. Humbert's salary appropriation and an unused

FARMVILLE — James Henry Bundy, a Senior at Farmville High School, has been appointed Chief Sergeant-at-Arms for the Key Club International Convention to be held in Chicago in July.

The appointment was made and announced today by William P. Crowell of Dallas, Texas, president of Key Club International. Crowell said the appointment was based on Bundy's "fine record" as Governor of the Carolinas District of Key Club International.

Bundy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam D. Bundy, presided over the recent Twelfth Annual Convention of the Carolinas District in Charleston, S. C. He was Governor of the District for the year preceding the convention.

An interesting parallel to young Bundy's appointment is that his father, principal of Farmville High School, served as Chief Sergeant-at-Arms for the 1957 Kiwanis International Convention in Chicago.

What was once described as "an opportunity to have something far greater in Eastern North Carolina" was practically guaranteed yesterday.

The promise of the guarantee came from the Pitt County Board of Commissioners who appropriated $10,000 to supplement a $30,000 state appropriation for construction of a mental health wing at the Pitt County Health Department.

The "opportunity" tag was placed on the project by the late Dr. Walter C. Humbert in November, 1954, when he asked the commissioners for their support in seeking financial aid from the 1957 North Carolina General Assembly.

At the time he met with the commissioners, Dr. Humbert, who died in August, 1957, said of the ten-month-old Mental Health Service and its clinics, "The response to the service has been far greater than anticipated and it has been such that we have to think of expansion now."

"This is the first rural mental health unit in the United States to operate on a full-time basis and the U. S. Public Health Service is looking for such a place to train people in rural mental health work."

"Construction of a mental health wing at the Health Department would be, we think, an opportunity for something far greater in Eastern North Carolina."

The commissioners gave their unanimous support to Dr. Humbert's suggestion and also gave unanimous support yesterday to a proposal to use unexpended Health Department salary appropriations to provide the county's share of construction funds.

Proposed plans for the mental health wing, drawn by Dudley Lee Shoe, Greenville architect, call for the new construction to be located to the rear of the existing Health Department building. The wing would contain a proposed 2,905 square feet, 700 more than original estimates, including a reception room, eight offices, work rooms for two clerks, a conference room, two examination rooms, and a playroom for children receiving treatment from the psychologist.

Construction of the wing will be of the same type used in the present Health Department building and the new facilities would be connected to the main building by a covered walkway. Dimensions of the addition would be 89 feet, six inches by 32 feet, four inches.

In addition to the wing itself, preliminary plans call for addition of 21 paved parking spaces to present parking facilities at the Health center.

Efforts to obtain funds for the construction were difficult, at times, despite unanimous support of local groups and the Pitt County delegation to the General Assembly. The Assembly approved the state appropriation only after Representatives Walter B. Jones and Frank Wooten and Senator Paul E. Jones had shown that the Mental Health Service was giving assistance to persons from 22 Eastern North Carolina counties.

When the state funds were voted, Dr. Humbert began work on obtaining the necessary local funds to comply with General Assembly provisions that they would be supplemented by $10,000 raised in Pitt County. After Dr. Humbert's death in August, supporters of the project headed by Representative Jones, established a fund in memory of the Health Director and has raised $1,301.50 when the commissioners acted yesterday.

The county's construction will include $7,130 in unexpended salary appropriations, including the unexpended portion of Dr. Humbert's salary appropriation and an unused portion of a salary appropriation for a sanitarium. That amount, $7,130, will be supplemented by an appropriation of $2,170 from the county's General Fund.

Money raised in the memorial fund drive will be used to supplement local and state appropriations for construction.

A resolution requesting the commissioners to provide the local funds was passed March 12 by the Pitt County Board of Health. Representative Jones met with commissioners yesterday morning to review procedures necessary for the county to receive the state appropriation.

The Board of Health, in action last fall, also gave unanimous support to a resolution to name the Health Department facilities "The Dr. Walter C. Humbert Health Center" when the mental health wing is completed.

Spring Rally For Men Of Presbytery Thursday

More than two hundred and forty men are expected to gather at the First Presbyterian Church Thursday evening for the annual Spring Rally of the Men of Albemarle Presbytery.

The Rev. Robert Turner of Charlotte, Regional Director of Christian Education for the Synod of North Carolina, Presbyterian, U.S., will be the guest speaker and he will be introduced by F. Badger Johnson, Jr. president of the Men of Albemarle Presbytery.

Registration will begin promptly at 6:00 p. m., and all the men of the host church are urged to be at the church by 5:45 p. m.

Following the registration, a dinner will be served by the Women of the First Presbyterian Church, with Mrs. Roy Coburn and Mrs. Blanton Little serving as co-chairmen.

After the dinner the men will adjourn to the Church Sanctuary for the program of the evening. In addition to the address by Rev. Turner, the program will include a solo by Paul Hickfang, introduction of district chairmen, reports, election of officers and the Charge to the incoming officers by the Rev. Tom M. Davis.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Julia Simmons

Mrs. Julia W. Simmons, 73, died at 12:03 Tuesday morning at Pitt Memorial Hospital after three months of illness. Funeral services were held at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 by her pastor, the Rev. W. M. Howard. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Simmons, a native of Craven County, had lived in Greenville for the past 20 years. She was a member of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Surviving are two sons, Carl and Earl Simmons, both of Greenville; two granddaughters, Betty Ann and Georgie Simmons, both of Greenville; and a brother, George Simmons of Kinston.

Issue Call For Bids On 3 Cars

Pitt County Commissioners yesterday issued a first call for bids to provide three new automobiles for the Sheriff's Department.

Bids for the cars will be received until May 5 when the commissioners meet again. According to County Auditor H. Reginald Gray, automobile dealers will be requested to file bids on a straight purchase basis and also a trade-in basis.

Cars which are to be replaced are three of the five automobiles presently assigned to the Sheriff's Department. The 1956 model vehicles have been in service since August, 1956, when the county adopted a policy of providing county-owned cars for various departments.

Other business conducted by the board in yesterday afternoon's session included approval of jury lists for the May 19 and May 26 terms of Superior Court. Forty-eight names were drawn for the May 19 Mixed Term and 40 names were drawn for the May 26 Civil Term.
