Pitt JP Ordered Resign By Superior Court Judge

H. Worth Anderson of Greenville was ordered this morning by Superior Court Judge Joseph W. Parker to resign his office as a Justice of the Peace for Pitt County.

Judge Parker's order was a portion of conditions under which five 30-day jail sentences were suspended for Anderson who was on trial for issuing five worthless checks to county officials.

Anderson had been charged with issuing five checks, amounting to $16.50, to Clerk of Court D. T. House, Jr., County Auditor H. Reginald Gray and the Pitt County Sheriff's Office.

Bidault Drafts A Program; But Chances Shrink

PARIS (AP)—Premier-designate Georges Bidault drafted his program today, although his chances of being approved by Parliament Thursday grew slimmer every hour.

Even the 175 votes he could count on yesterday seemed slipping away, and he was not gathering any more.

The powerful Socialists have decided they will vote against him. His own party—the Catholic Popular Republican Movement—is meeting this afternoon to make its decision.

A majority of this left-of-center party opposes Bidault's conservative policy for North Africa and is unlikely to back him.

The middle-of-the-road Radical Socialists were hinting they might go against Bidault, too. Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France was trying to persuade them that they should make resumption of the U. S.—British good offices mission in the Tunisian dispute a condition for support.

He was thus left with the moderate conservatives, the Gaullist Social Republicans, and, perhaps, the extreme right Poujadists.

If Bidault was ruffled by all this, he did not show it. He conferred with outgoing Premier Felix Gaillard and other political leaders.

His decision to include Jacques Soustelle, a Gaullist and former governor general of Algeria, as resident cabinet minister in Algiers sharpened the Socialist opposition against him.

The Pitt County Grand Jury recommended yesterday that the Pitt County Board of Education take "positive action" to teach school children to take precautions when leaving stopped school buses.

The recommendation was included in the jury's report to Judge Joseph W. Parker, presiding at one-week mixed term of Superior Court. The report also showed that the Grand Jury had received 22 bills of indictment from Solicitor Robert D. Rouse, Jr., returned 21 of them as True Bills and returned the other without any action because of a lack of witnesses.

In its recommendation regarding safety on school buses, the Grand Jury said, "It is the personal observation of the members of the Grand Jury that most children leaving stopped school buses on the highway are not taking any precaution to prevent being struck by a passing car, while crossing the highway from behind and in front of the school buses.

For present and future safety, we feel that this is a dangerous habit to allow children to continue.

"It is the recommendation of the Grand Jury that positive action be taken by the Pitt County Board of Education to teach the children to take the same precaution they would if they were not protected by our 'Stop for all School Buses' Law."

True bills which were returned by the jury include: Thomas Rushman Andrews, speeding; Jimmy C. Evans, speeding; Ellis Howard, Horace Lee Duffy, Harvey Ray Crandle, Thurman Lee Corey, Willie James Taft, Willie Phillips and Thomas Blount, robbery.

Tom Howard, assault with intent to commit rape; Thomas J. Ritter, larceny (auto); Thomas Joseph Ritter, first-degree burglary; Paul Manning and Edith Suggs, crime against nature; State Hill, J. C. larceny.

William "Little Bud" House and Margaret Clark, forgery and uttering a forged check; Lloyd Ballance, abandonment and non-support; Johnnie Johnson, manslaughter; and Willie Arthur Lane, robbery.

FARMVILLE — A construction worker at American Cyanamid Corporation's Formica Division Flakeboard plant here was electrocuted this morning.

The dead man was identified as J. H. Simmons of Nebo, N. C. He was an employee of Rea Construction Company of Charlotte, one of several construction firms on the multi-million dollar project.

Farmville Policeman Carl C. Tanner said Simmons died after a cable he was holding came in contact with a high-voltage wire and caused severe burns on the construction worker's hands, side and stomach.

The cable was attached to the boom of a crane which was being used to place pipe on the project.

Simmons was pronounced dead on arrival at the Fitzgerald Clinic in Farmville.

Tanner quoted other workers as saying that Simmons was handling the crane's cable and was signaling to crane operator Eugene Alphonse when the boom struck the high-voltage wire, main line to the project from Carolina Power and Light Company's Farmville facilities.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson assisted in the investigation, for Coroner Griffin H. Rouse.

The accident was the first serious incident on the project since construction began last Fall.

LEGAL, OR NO? LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—State law provides no alcoholic beverages can be sold while polls are open. But this year there's only one candidate—and he's unopposed. So there'll be no election. County officials say they'll probably ask the state attorney general for a ruling on whether liquor can be sold on election day.

LOS ANGELES, Nev. (AP)—In Washington, D. C., the Civil Aeronautics Board discussed the problem of air space control. At the same time, on the Nevada desert, the wreckage of an airliner gave dramatic evidence of the problem.

The United Air Lines DC7, carrying 47 persons, collided with an Air Force F100 on an instrument training mission near Las Vegas yesterday at 21,000 feet. It was a clear day.

Two men were in the F100. All aboard both planes perished.

On the airliner were a number of prominent businessmen. Also aboard was an inventor whose creation was designed to help prevent the thing that killed him. The airliner was bound from

Jordan Disclaims Any Deal Declares He Isn't Keeping Seat Warm For Hodges; May Run In 1960

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy argued today that modern weapons and war techniques require the Pentagon organization changes proposed by President Eisenhower.

Carrying the fight for the administration Defense Department proposals to a House committee whose leaders are openly opposed to it, McElroy said in prepared testimony.

"It would be tragic indeed if in the moment of crisis we should be found wanting because of an attempt to graft the weapons of modern warfare onto an outmoded organization structure."

McElroy repeatedly invoked the name of Eisenhower in urging the House Armed Services committee to accept the reorganization plan. He told the group that "we believe that most of the concerns that have been expressed about the President's proposals will disappear when we have together studied the specific legislation and its adequacy to meet these needs."

McElroy said the program "is the President's plan."

He pointed out Eisenhower's qualifications in the field, from a lifetime of personal experience, peace and war.

In advance of McElroy's appearance Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) pledged that the committee will consider the proposals "seriously, objectively and in detail."

Vinson is one of the leading opponents of the general proposal. "This committee has always given careful consideration to recommendations of the President," Vinson said. "In this instance, as in the past, the committee will consider the President's recommendations seriously, objectively and in detail and with full awareness of the constitutional responsibility of the Congress."

In general, Eisenhower's proposals would give the defense secretary more authority over the individual services—army, navy and air—and other members of the committee have criticized sharply in the past.

There appeared little likelihood the House committee would approve Eisenhower's plan without major changes.

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—North Carolina's new U. S. senator, B. Everett Jordan, declared today that he has no idea of going to Washington to keep a Senate seat warm for Gov. Hodges.

"I have no idea of going up there just for a short stay," said Jordan when asked about newspaper criticism that Gov. Hodges appointed him with the idea that Jordan would step aside in the 1960 campaign and leave the way open for Hodges to seek the senatorship.

Jordan said 1960 is a long time off and many things can happen, but "my intentions now are to stay, if I can."

Jordan also denied that there was any deal between him and Hodges, and while he was about it he denied he had ever knowingly made a campaign contribution to a Republican candidate.

Jordan was in Roanoke attending the annual convention of the National Hosiery Manufacturers Assn. when reached by telephone.

Asked about whether he planned to run for re-election to the Senate in 1960, Jordan said: "Two years is a long time, and you have to consider a lot of things. I may not be suited for the job and I may not be physically able, but my intentions are to stay if I can. I have no idea of going up there just for a short stay."

Asked about editorial criticism that in appointing Jordan, the governor was leaving the way open to run himself in 1960, Jordan replied: "I think that is absolutely wrong. That was not discussed in any shape, form or fashion. It certainly was not considered by me, and I don't think it was considered by him. It wasn't even mentioned."

Jordan also was questioned about published reports which said that records in the secretary of state's office show that in 1940 a B. Everett Jordan of Saxapahaw made a $100 contribution in support of the presidential campaign of Republican Wendell Wilkie. The records show the contribution was made to the North Carolina Democratic for Wilkie.

"I never knowingly made any contribution to Wilkie or any other Republican in my life," said Jordan. "I probably gave it to some Democrat and he probably used it that way."

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Facing defeat, the Soviet Union has given up a fight to have the U. N. Security Council demand a halt to arctic flights toward the Soviet frontier by U. S. hydrogen bombers.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev withdrew a resolution claiming the American flights risked nuclear war. Nine of the other 10 countries on the Council had spoken against it in a six-hour debate.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said the flights of the U. S. Strategic Air Command were practice to keep up its deterrent strength and "could not possibly be the accidental causes of war."

He asserted the flights would continue.

Britain, Canada, Nationalist China, Colombia, France, Iraq, Japan and Panama sided with the United States. The other Council member, Sweden, kept silent.

After Lodge—the Council president for April—proposed that the Council dispose of the Soviet resolution before adjournment, Sobolev twice failed with motions to gain time by adjourning the debate overnight. Only Sweden voted with the Soviet Union.

Then he withdrew his resolution to censure the United States, protesting that Lodge had sidestepped free discussion.

"The simple fact was that the Soviet Union did not have enough votes to push its proposal through," Lodge said.

Truman Spurs On All-Out Assault Against GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats went gunning for the Eisenhower administration today with accusations that it is claiming credit for peace where there is no peace and robbing the citizen to pay off the financier.

Harry S. Truman hurled the robbery charge last night. The jaunty former President said the recession is no accident, an administration high-interest policy is its basic cause, and "Shylock was a gentleman compared to our Republican interest-happy government."

A 1958 campaign conference of Democratic women from over the nation, 2,000 strong, assembled for three days of speeches and workshop sessions to whip up pep and strategy for this fall's congressional elections.

In the same forum, Sen. Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader in the Senate, said Americans would be righting in Red China now if Democrats hadn't restrained Republican enthusiasm for it, yet the administration is trying to sell the people the idea there is peace in the Far East.

In the Middle East, the Senator said, the administration has "toyed with autocratic and dictatorial movements and nations, while it overlooks with almost snobbish disdain countries like Lebanon and Israel which are struggling to keep the concept of freedom alive."

Truman said the administration has been "misusing its power over the money supply" to redistribute the national income in the wrong direction.

"The Treasury has juggled around its short-term and long-term issues, and its types of issues, so as to rob the ordinary citizen to pay off political obligations to the gigantic financiers," Truman said.

Interest rates have been raised least, he said, on such things as Savings Bonds "bought or held by average American families."

Along with a high interest policy, he contended, administration tax, budgetary, farm and other policies "have put the squeeze on the people for the benefit of the privileged few."

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, urged the Democratic women to help pile up so big a Democratic majority in Congress this fall "it can put an end to government by veto."

Under Eisenhower, he continued, there are vetoes almost every week of bills Democrats are pushing through to try to help the economic situation.

Spokesmen for the proposed organizations have asked all citizens of Pitt County who are in favor of or opposed to the United Fund idea to be present at tonight's meeting.

E. E. Rawl, Sr., of Greenville, a member of the organization committee for the local United Fund, said earlier this week, "The existing committee strongly urges every interested person either in favor of or opposed to a United Fund organization for Pitt County to attend the meeting Tuesday."

"More especially do we urge the presidents and officers of all agencies that might become a part of a Pitt County United Fund to be present at the meeting."

A slate of 30 directors will be offered tonight for a proposed United Fund organization for Pitt County.

The slate will be presented by a nominating committee at a public meeting at 8 o'clock in the courtroom of City Hall. The group will include one proposed director for each voting precinct in the county.

Proposals for establishing a United Fund were given unanimous approval by city and county civic leaders a week ago. The approval came at a public meeting of about 50 persons who heard reports showing advantages of United Fund organizations in other North Carolina areas.

Miss Bland, Jim Faucette Reign At County 4-H Health Coronation

Miss Sandra Bland of Chicod and Jim Faucette of Grimesland reigned as senior King and Queen of Health at the County 4-H Health Coronation and Dress Revue last night at West Greenville School.

Junior Health King and Queen were Miss Wanda Grimes of Grimesland and David Nelson of Farmville. The reigning kings and queens were crowned by Miss Julia Fisher, supervisor of nurses at the Pitt County Health Department.

Each of the winners was also presented health awards by George Cox, president of the Pitt County Farm Bureau.

The Dress Revue Awards were given by Mrs. Edna Rook of Belk-Tyler Co. to Miss Gene Davenport, first place in the senior girls division, and Miss Rosella Tripp, second; and Miss Farmie Moore, third. Miss Davenport will represent Pitt County at the state 4-H contest July in Raleigh.

Junior dress revue winners were Miss Andrea Whichard, Miss Harriet Turner, and Miss Rosella Fleming.

Winners were also announced by Mrs. Rook in the Junior 4-H apron contest. They were Miss Brenda Kay Hart, Miss Maxine Allen, and Miss Margaret Nelson.

Miss Margaret Stevens, assistant home demonstration agent, acted as narrator during the dress revue. Judges were Miss Shirley Buchanan and Miss Nancy Willis.

A skit presented by Miss Maxine Allen and Miss Kelly Hudson of Falkland was held prior to the revue.

Acting as Sewing Box Judge, Mrs. Lillie Little, home agent, announced Miss Harriet Turner as winner and Miss Beckie Kite and Miss Betty Lou Norville as second and third place winners.

Larry Dilda of the Farmville Senior Club presided over the affair which attracted approximately 300 persons. Miss Joyce Jackson opened the meeting by leading the group in singing "America." During the talent show, solos were sung by Miss Nesa Page and Miss Joyce Jackson of the Winterville-Greenville Club. Tommy Harris of the Belvoir Junior Club rendered a piano solo.

Others appearing on the program were Miss Janice Whitaker,

Miss Patsy Lewis, Miss Debbie Lane Turner, Miss Alice Pollard, Miss Patsy Jo Teel, and Miss Becky Harris of the Belvoir Junior Club who sang.

Pianists for the evening were Alice Garris of the Winterville-Greenville 4-H Club and Tommy Harris.

Mrs. C. Don Langston was in charge of the decorations which consisted of massive arrangements of spring flowers flanking the King's and Queen's thrones.

Ushers were Wayne Jackson, Winterville-Greenville Club, Curtis Hardee, Dennis Hardee, and Bill Little of the Grimesland 4-H Club.

Fashion Festival Friday Night

The Summer Fashion Festival which is being sponsored by the Credit Women's Breakfast Club will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at McGinnis Auditorium on the East Carolina College campus.

Summer fashions of 1958 for the children, men and women will be shown by 16 of the Greenville merchants. Entertainment and door prizes will be presented.

Anyone wishing to purchase tickets can contact any member of the club or call Miss Barbara Dail of Jane's Shop, 3360, or Mrs. Emma Lee Schmidt of Worsley's Fine Shoes, 3907. Tickets will also be on sale at the door Friday night.

Proceeds of the fashion show will go toward the East Carolina College Scholarship Fund which is a project of the club. The models participating are as follows as announced by each merchant: Belk-Tyler Co., Ann Rooks, Linda Whichard, Edna Stokes; Blount-Harvey, Bill Taylor, Johnnie Simpson, Kay Berry, Betty Lane Evans and Marietta Northrop; Brody's, Camilla Henderson, Mavis Edwards, and Jane Blue; Coffman's, Charlie White and Bill Wallace; Diana Shops, Florence Harrell, Nora Willis and Connie Modyette.

"Eastern Carolina's Shopping Center"

30 Years Ago Today

Gulford C. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith of this city and former cashier of the Bank of Grimesland, left today for Charleston, W. Va. to be associated in the Smith and Brooks Wholesale Sanitary Supply Co. Mrs. Smith will remain in Greenville for a short time as the guest of her mother, Mrs. R. T. Burnette, before going to West Virginia to make her home.

The Pitt County E.C.T.C. Alumna Association met Saturday at the teachers' dormitory at the college with Miss Bonnie Howard acting as hostess. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Gus Forbes. After the business hour attention was diverted to the social part of the program which was given by some college girls. Later a delicious ice course was served.

N. C. Symphony To Play At EC

The North Carolina Symphony will play a special concert at East Carolina April 29 at 8 p.m. in the Wright Auditorium. The program will be sponsored by the College Entertainment Committee as one of its attractions for the 1957-1958 school term.

Soloist will be soprano Helen Boatwright. She and the 60-man Symphony, under the direction of Benjamin Swalin, will present a varied program of music selected to please every taste.

The Orchestra will open the concert with Reznick's Overture to Donna Diana, and Chausson's Symphony in B flat major.

After a brief intermission, Miss Boatwright will sing Handel's "If God Be For Us, Who Can Be Against Us," from the Messiah; Mozart's "Batti, Batti," from the opera Don Giovanni; and "Tschalkowsky's "The Letter Scene," from the opera Eugene Oregin.

The North Carolina Symphony will then conclude the program with Sibelius' Swan of Tuonela, and excerpts from Stravinsky's ballet suite The Firebird.

Miss Boatwright began singing in the family choir before she could read. Her first public appearance was at the age of 14 as soprano soloist in a performance of Haydn's "The Creation" in her home town of Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

When she was 18, she won a scholarship at Oberlin Conservatory, from which she received the master's degree. Since then her career has included programs throughout the United States, Mexico, and Canada.

This year marks the thirteenth consecutive season that the North Carolina Symphony has traveled approximately 10,000 miles by bus to play over 100 concerts each year. Its vast program of bringing music to the people of the state, in small rural areas as well as in large cities, and its policy of playing more than half its concerts each year free for school children have brought the State Symphony nationwide recognition and praise. Already this season, the 25-man Little Symphony has played 68 concerts to approximately 70,000 adults and children. The East Carolina College concert is one of 39 to be played by the full 60-piece orchestra this season.

Largely responsible for the success of the North Carolina Symphony is its director, Benjamin Swalin. Through his excellent musicianship, tireless energy, and daring ideal of music for all the people, he has built the North Carolina Symphony into one of the nation's outstanding musical organizations.

Junior High PTA Meet Thursday

The Greenville Junior High School P.T.A. will hold its regular meeting in the school library Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

There will be a short business session followed by the installation of new officers.

Board members have been requested by Mrs. M. P. Bailey, president, to meet in the school office at 7 p.m. Thursday preceding the regular meeting.

Ann Joyner Honored With Birthday Dance

By JANICE LAUGHTER
Friday night, a birthday dance was held at Eastern Pines Community Building in honor of Ann Hardee Joyner.

A floor show was held at intermission. Roger Collins, Burney Morris, and Jimmy Jenkins sang "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," "Everyday," and "My Blue Heaven," accompanied by Jimmy Eatman at the piano.

Acting as master of ceremonies was Charles Forbes. A comical skit was presented by Dianna Sumrell and J. G. Proctor as "Elvis." A decorative floral arrangement of daffodils, used as the centerpiece, brightened the refreshment table.

Refreshments served were party snacks, cheese bits, olives, pickles, potato chips, and soft drinks.

A door-to-door cake sale was held this past weekend by the Jr. High students to raise money for the equipment of the baseball team. The cake sale was sponsored by the Junior High Student Council.

Mrs. Frances Tyson's seventh grade gave a chapel program on April 18. The devotion was read by Charles Vincent, followed by a prayer and two other songs sung by the seventh grade glee club under the direction of Miss Beatrice Chauncey. Major John Conglan, assisted by his daughter, Betsy, showed and explained films on his travels of Europe.

Congratulations are in order for Coach Milton Reece and his wife, a former Junior High teacher, for their new addition to the family. The entire Junior High is happy over the new arrival, Stacy Ann.

Mrs. Ann Brooks seventh grade went to Williamsburg, Va. on April 18-19. Among the places visited by the group were the Craft Shops, the Royal Palace, and some of the famous homes. Also included in the tour was a visit to Jamestown. While there the group went aboard the "Susan Constant."

Church Women Hold Study

"Meet Dr. Luke" is the subject of the intensive Bible study of the Women of Presbyterian Churches this year.

Last night the Rev. George Nickels, pastor of the Holywood and Chicod Presbyterian churches, gave the first of the one and one-half hour sessions in this study calling attention to "Luke, the Man" as a physician, historian, author, missionary, a Gentle in outlook and concern, and a musician.

Mrs. Harding Sugg, chairman of Spiritual Growth, introduced the speaker to the assembly which included guests from the surrounding Presbyterian churches.

In the concluding session on Thursday evening of this week at 8:00 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Nickels will take up the book itself as the group studies the early manhood and ministry of Christ.

Card of Thanks
We wish to extend our thanks to our friends and relatives for their sympathy and assistance and for the flowers at time of the death of our mother and wife, Mrs. Venie Tripp Rowe. God bless you all.

Local Girl Selected To Be EC Newspaper Editor

Miss Kathryn Johnson . . . assuming duties as "East Carolinian" editor.

Editors of student publications at East Carolina for 1954-1955 have been announced by Dr. James H. Tucker, chairman of the Publications Board of the college.

Adolphus L. Spain, junior from Washington, N. C., will head the staff of the college yearbook the "Buccaneer." During the present school term, as associate editor he has worked closely with Editor I. K. Williamson of Princeton, N. C., on the special Golden Anniversary edition of the annual, scheduled to appear in May as the college observes its fiftieth birthday.

Kathryn Johnson, Greenville sophomore, will be editor of the weekly newspaper the "East Carolinian." At present she is serving as a managing editor of the publication.

Bryan Harrison of Asheville, junior at the college, was reappointed as editor of East Carolina's newest student publication, a literary magazine entitled "The Rebel." The first issue of the magazine, edited by Harrison and Billy Arnold of Greenville, has gone to press and will soon be ready for distribution.

Forming Community 4-H Club

A group of boys and girls met at the home of Mrs. Alton Moore Friday afternoon to organize a community 4-H club with Mrs. Moore as the adult 4-H leader.

Officers were elected as follows: Andrea Dawn Wooten, president; Charles Phillips, vice president; Mary Pollard, secretary-treasurer; Bennett Dilda, song leader; and Johnny Phillips, reporter.

After a short recreation period, the meeting adjourned with the repeating of the 4-H club pledge.

Mrs. Langston Assists With Demonstration

When the Renston-Nobles Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Norman Savage Wednesday afternoon for their monthly meeting, Mrs. Lois Freeman, assisted by Mrs. C. D. Langston, gave the demonstration "Dress for the Occasion." Mrs. Langston modeled a suit suitable for church wear, showing the right and wrong accessories to accompany it.

Mrs. Brantley Speight, president, opened the meeting by the group singing "Fairrest Lord Jesus." During the business session, Mrs. Speight appointed a committee to make plans for a special activity for National Home Demonstration Club Week May 4-10.

Mrs. Freeman announced the Farm Bureau wanted to work more closely with Home Demonstration Club women and were giving a supper on May 8 for three officers from each club.

Two new members, Mrs. Garth Everette and Mrs. Rick Jackson, were welcomed to the club. Reports were given by the health, home, beautification and family life leaders.

The hostess, Mrs. Savage, served open face sandwiches, potato chips and soft drinks.

A Face-Lifting, If We All Join In

A city is what its people make it.

There may be banks, schools, retail firms, industries, well-paved streets, adequate utilities service, an abundance of homes; but unless the overall picture is pleasing to the eye, there is no great source of pride to its inhabitants in showing off their community to visitors.

Nor can the chance passerby assess the attractions of a town or city by the intangible qualities of the services it offers; he looks to the outward signs of pride and civic consciousness.

So, any city which may have an abundance of good services and consumer goods readily available,

Sense Of Loss In Scott's Death

By LYNN NISBET
TEARS AND GOSSIP — Strong men with gnarled hands and lined faces were not ashamed of tears as they saw the rose-decked casket containing the body of their personal and political friend, Kerr Scott, covered with the soil which he loved so well.

Among the thousands who came from far and near there were many who did not agree with the political philosophy of the Governor and Senator, but who had sincere affection for the man. They grieved less, but their sense of loss was very real.

And there were some who came for other reasons. Nobody who has followed the course of North Carolina history for the past decade can doubt that the death of Kerr Scott will have immediate and far-reaching impact upon the political life of the state.

Within the past twelve years five United States Senators and one Governor have died in office. They represented terrific loss unprecedented in the history of North Carolina or any other state. Some of the others may have wielded as much political influence, but the time of Senator Scott's death and the peculiar conditions prevailing in state politics, gave it very special significance and occasioned more concern about total impact.

FREELIMINARY — It has been pretty well recognized that the 1958 campaign and the 1959 General Assembly are preliminary to the big battle in 1960 when a United States Senator, a Governor and all executive officials must be elected. Whether admitted or not, and often well behind the scenes, the influence of Kerr Scott was paramount in most of the maneuvering for position by people who hoped to gain political prestige by being on one side or the other.

Support of or opposition to important legislative programs was in some instances being determined by which faction it would help. The lines were being formed for a fight between the Scott crowd and the Hodges folks. An interesting sidelight on this situation is that the positions of both may have been made more difficult by Scott's death. His following was more personal than organizational. He had no lieutenant ready to take over leadership. Already there are whispers that this or that man may seek to seize the reins — and will be resisted by others.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
ONLY AS A GIFT

"Money never brings happiness, does it?" asked the youngster of his father. "No," replied the parent, "It's not the money but the interest on the money."

Happiness? Money — interest as well as principal — can enable us to avoid many of life's unpleasant circumstances. But the experience of the race — an experience so convincing that no one with any wisdom would think of disagreeing with its conclusions — is that money never purchased a single moment of happiness, nor ever can. For anyone who had been held down in life and has had to endure frustration and pain, the coming of money into the orbit of his existence gives him the exhilarating feeling of having sloughed off many of life's most annoying burdens. But when the emancipated one begins to long for happiness, he discovers that money never confers happiness; for happiness is something that cannot be bought. It has to be won.

Happiness is the sense of peace and power which grows up in one's life as the result of right actions, right thoughts, and faithfully performed duties. Happiness is a spiritual matter, not a financial one. Therefore it cannot be bought, seized, or secured by hard work.

Happiness is a bestowal — and it is a hand other than ours which bestows it.

can remain indistinguishable from slum areas or at best the epitome of mediocrity.

In the weeks ahead Greenville hopes to achieve a small face-lifting operation in its Clean Up-Paint Up drive. Nothing drastic, just touching up some weathered places with paint; removing a few stray cobwebs; maybe sweeping off the walk.

Perhaps that is over-simplifying the case. What the sponsors hope for, of course, is a bit of improving the appearance of every home, every business place . . . even the vacant lots . . . in the community. If such an ambition were to be fulfilled it would immeasurably add to the attractiveness of any community.

Time Is Running Out On French 'System'

For a country with so many problems, the ailing political life of France is approaching the state of hopelessness.

It would almost seem the French claim of "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity" for all has fed the virus of their deadly disease.

No policy of action can be adopted, for remedial action proposed by one segment can expect to be opposed by several splinter groups. The result is that no one political party has been able to accomplish anything; and even the practice of compromise has its limitations, for one may compromise on a plan with four political parties only to be torpedoed by a united front briefly adopted by rival groups.

The rest of the world has been watching the deterioration of a great nation and wondering how far it must go before the highly "individualized" Frenchmen wake up to what is happening.

There's something about the political picture of France that resembles the instability of the Spanish Republic shortly before Franco instituted his civil war. Not that we expect such a complete disaster for France; but there must be a growing dissatisfaction with things as they are, and a time for stern measures does appear inevitable.

There's A Place For You In United Fund

This is a reminder:

If by now you are personally weary of a new campaign for funds starting every other week, all for worthwhile endeavors, and

If you too have sometimes vaguely wished all the many such campaigns were put under one roof to bring order out of the chaos of giving, and

If you too think there could be a great economy of effort in fund-raising by channeling the many such campaigns into one, all-out drive, then

There's a place waiting for you tonight at the organizational meeting for a Pitt County United Fund.

Ezra Pound And His Teachings

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty years ago Ezra Pound was fired from his teaching job at Wabash College for being too much the bohemian. It was a time of sterility, soothing syrup and bleak puritanism in American literature.

He protested and wanted to correct it. To do it, he left the America he grew up in and went to Europe. He spent the rest of his life there calling the mass of Americans dolts.

Last week in federal court he heard a judge dismiss a treason charge against him because doctors said he was hopelessly insane — although not the kind to hurt anyone.

Photographers wanted a picture. He posed with his collar open, his shirttails sticking out, a beat-up black felt hat on his head and a yellow scarf around his neck. He was still the bohemian, but dilapidated now, and terribly tired-looking at 72.

What had happened in those 50 years? He had become a famous poet; a tremendous good and creative force in literature; a benefactor to many artists; and, the government charged, a traitor because he broadcast Fascist propaganda from Italy during World War II.

English literature is the greater for his having been alive. The debt to him is no so much for his own poetry — moments of brilliance amid acres of obscurity and incoherence — as for his creative influence.

He meant his great work to be his cantos. He worked on them for decades. An epic on the hu-

Stylish Model Look

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The average husband, thumbing through his wife's style gazettes, is convinced that most fashion models are human beanpoles in need of a blood transfusion.

One of his constant fears is that his wife, wearing the same clothes, will come home looking that way, too—that is, rather like a basketball center in skirts.

Somehow word got around recently that the new sack look would change all this. The rumor spread that fashion models now would look less like a vertical clothes line and more like, well, Marilyn Monroe.

We have checked this rumor with Mrs. Roz O'Rourke Foy, an authority in such matters, and she says she can't understand how such a falsehood ever got started.

"A fashion model definitely still must be slim," said Mrs. Foy, who with her husband, Bill Foy, a former photographer, operates a model agency that stocks 50 of the town's leading gazettes.

"She can't be voluptuous—along Marilyn Monroe's lines. Marilyn Monroe indeed! Why, she'd definitely flop as a fashion model. There's simply too much of her. No doubt of it!

"Marilyn is too abundant. So is Anita Eckberg. So is Jayne Mansfield. In the world of fashion, they're regarded as freaks of nature."

Mrs. Foy, who regards fashion models as willow, gets her Irish up if someone in her hearing refers to them as strolling thermometers, or implies that an extra inch or so of padding in the right place wouldn't do them any harm.

"As a matter of fact," she said definitely, "if there is a trend it is this: bosoms are on the way out (of the fashion picture), and legs are back in."

"Good legs are tremendously important. A girl with bad legs is just out of luck."

"The ideal measurements for a fashion model, I'd say, are 34-inch bust, 23-inch waist, and 34-inch hips. But of course she should wear a corset to pull her in about two inches at the waist, in the same manner as the surcingle on a horse."

A girl with these measurements, Mrs. Foy feels, is much closer to most men's ideal than a Monroe. Certainly in a free world she is entitled to her opinion.

She did offer one crumb of hope. A fellow who takes a fashion model out on a date doesn't have to worry so much about low bridges.

"On the average, I would say they aren't quite so tall," she acknowledged. "Years ago 5 feet 8½ seemed to be the standard. Now the most popular size is between 5 feet 5½ and 5 feet 7½. But it is probably only because the taller girls are in short supply."

Really top models always seem to be in short supply, she added, explaining:

"It takes at least five years for a girl to become a really polished model."

Models make from $25 an hour up to $50 or more and, theoretically at least, can earn up to $50,000 a year. Oddly enough, the greatest occupational disease of fashion models isn't the wrinkles of age—it's sore feet.

"They have to stand up as long as a salesgirl," said Mrs. Foy. "and many just can't bear up under the foot punishment. Their shoes become torture chambers."

"Yet I know some models who are still making a good living at 45, although I'm sure they'd die rather than admit they're that old."

What eventually happens to fashion models?

"What eventually happens to everybody?" replied Mrs. Foy, reasonably enough.

All Kinds Of Recession Remedies

By ELMER ROESSNER
This has been the most prescribed for recession in history. More plans for tonics, remedies and cures have been proposed than were offered during the big bust of the early thirties, it seems.

Here is a quick run-down of proposals which have received widest attention:

Cut all income taxes. This would give all the taxed more spending power. Those whose taxes are withheld would immediately get a few more dollars a week to spend the country out of the recession.

Cut income taxes retroactively. This would give every taxpayer a lump sum refund.

Cut income taxes on small incomes. This, it is argued, would aid those most needing it.

TAXES FAVORITE TARGET
Increase individual tax exemptions. This, too, would aid those most needing it.

Increase Social Security payments. Ditto.

Cut excise taxes on autos and appliances, providing cuts were passed along to consumers.

No Work And All Play

Those sun-struck Sunday afternoons that dangle midway between our sparkling days of spring and the dazzling heat of summer are a treasure in themselves.

Like this last Sunday. The hours that followed the mid-day meal were ideally suited for mapping, riding, strolling in the park, visiting, playing . . . anything but being in a hurry.

It was an interlude to be lived purely for the moment; forgetful of yesterdays and tomorrows that frequently bedevil humankind. The ideal Sunday afternoon etches a vivid memory of hours when life is worth living.

Remember it? The warm sun riding high toward the West? The cooling breeze that ruffled leaves and grass?

The languorous atmosphere that drowned all cares, leaving only smiles in the heart?

For some, the day posed an invitation for boating and scores accepted it. Still others took to the highway to see again the fertile land burgeoning with life and aglow with the bright new green of a growing season.

Some families found anew pleasure in the city's parks; leaving them with the awareness that future Sunday afternoons would be marked by visits to recapture that fleeting sense of contentment.

There were running, shouting

Opinions In Brief

"A foremost authority has suggested that we in the United States spend less time denouncing Communism and more time selling capitalism. It is a good suggestion, particularly by educators. While the Communists have been propagandizing the results and achievements of Communism (and there have been some), we have been falling short in this field—as far as capitalism is concerned." —Plain Dealer, McClure, Pa.

Other Editors Saying--- Defense Reorganization

(The Wilson Times)
President Eisenhower took the reorganization of the Defense department directly to the people. He is ready to fight and fight hard for the program, for it is in the field in which he knows he is best qualified and has been most successful.

The fight would not be as hard if it had taken place before we got three satellites into orbit. You recall there was a cloud of discontent over the nation. Investigations were in progress and each brought out the inter-service rivalries that were constantly going on, and the duplication and waste that was taking place.

Then there was real sentiment for civilian authority rather than a single military dictator. The plan the president outlined calls for greater civilian control.

But the program is based on the knowledge that "separate ground, sea and air warfare is gone forever. If we ever again should be involved in war, we will fight it in all elements with all services and at one single concentrated effort," the President said.

The solution must start at the top. The problem goes beyond the Pentagon and the top brass. Service loyalties and rivalries seep down through the men in uniform into Congress, into industries which have large stakes in the branches of the service they serve.

The plan outlined by the President makes the Secretary of Defense in control and places the Joint Chiefs of Staff under his office and allows the defense secretary a professional staff of his own to aid in analyzing and interpreting the military.

The President has firmly stated that he has "neither the intent nor the desire to merge or abolish the traditional services." He does plan that they no longer be administered as completely independent of each other.

The hardest fight is to come over the recommendation that Congress make appropriations to the Defense department not to the separate services. Congress will not easily relinquish its power to appropriate when and where it thinks the funds most needed. Congress knows the appropriating of funds is its most effective means of control.

Mr. McElroy, Secretary of Defense, should have allayed Congress' fears in his speech at the National Press club on April 10. Then he said he would not suggest that Congress appropriate large sums to the secretary. "Our objective is simply to have a reasonable flexibility which will permit us in time of sudden technological breakthrough and rapid shifts in priorities to transfer funds for less insistent projects to more vital ones."

Another vital point he made was that defense funds never be upped for the purpose of recession fighting.

When Mr. McElroy assured congress that "whatever transfer authority is granted would be used only under a system of notification to the appropriation committees of Congress, he went a long way toward securing the success of the administration's Pentagon modernization.

The program should be studied by everyone. The administration's plan certainly points in the right direction.

President Eisenhower knows the situation. He speaks with authority, the world acknowledges his success as a General and military leader.

The Daily Times is ready to accept the Eisenhower plan, confident the President has only the nation's interest at heart.

Rotarians Back Proposal For Semi-Pro League

Greenville's Rotary Club last night gave its endorsement to a proposed semi-pro baseball league being formed by four cities in Eastern North Carolina. The league would be composed of teams from Greenville, Rocky Mount, New Bern and Kinston. Ty Wagner, local businessman and former major league baseball player, and Jim Mallory, baseball coach at East Carolina College, explained the proposed semi-pro league would be limited to players from colleges and junior colleges in North Carolina. Team members for each of the four teams would be selected through a draft procedure, Mallory said. In explaining the operation of the league, the EOC coach estimated the cost for each team for the season will be $10,000. Each team would play a 60-game schedule, half of which would be played at home. All would be night games, he said. A standard admission price of 50 cents per person would be observed throughout the season. "We feel this will be a good program for Greenville and will bring good semi-pro baseball back to Eastern North Carolina," Mallory told his audience. The Rotary Club endorsed the proposal that Greenville place a team in the league. Two new members of the local Rotary Club were introduced at last night's meeting. They are Don Calloway and Judson H. Blount Jr. During a brief business session the club unanimously adopted resolutions of respect to the late Jasper E. Winslow, one of the charter members and past president of the Greenville Rotary Club.

Industry Is Prodded Into New Basic Research Despite Costs

NEW YORK (AP)—Industry is being prodded today — even in the face of its cost-cutting drive — to pour more money into basic research for its own and the nation's needs. It is already pouring about four billion dollars a year into industrial research, but the lion's share of that is for applied research. That is, its scientists seek to develop new products or new processes that eventually will pour billions into the till through increased sales. The lag here in basic research came to the fore dramatically when the Soviets launched their Sputniks. President Eisenhower has called for more scientific pioneering, which means more basic research. At a meeting sponsored by the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science speakers said total research spending by government, universities and industry was growing but basic research was taking an increasingly smaller share. But industrial leaders say that industry already is stepping up its long-term research projects. E. V. Murphree, president of panies operate. Scientists employed in the laboratories of stockholder owned corporations try hard to get some sort of foreseeable connection between the research projects and the goal of any productive enterprise: profit. Esso Research and Engineering Co., says that about 20 per cent of his company's research effort could be classified as basic research. He thinks that about 800 million dollars of basic research a year is being carried out in the nation's industrial laboratories. And corporations are subsidizing millions of dollars worth of university and institutional research. One example: the Stanford Research Institute at Menlo Park, Calif., reports that in 1957 it undertook contract research amounting to nearly 15 million dollars, with half for the government and half for business, industry, foundations and individuals. The basic research that corporations pay for naturally tends to be in the fields in which the company has a long-term research project. NEVADA, Mo. "I just about died when I found out about it," said C. P. Rider, who lives four miles north of Nevada on U. S. 71. Rider drove with a load of grain to Nevada, unaware that the boy had crawled on the right fender and was hanging onto the door handle. Motorists at the edge of town saw the boy, followed Rider and stopped him. One Of Hitler's Pals Will Attend Harvard Gathering

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—One of Hitler's former pals is going back to Harvard University next year for the 50th anniversary of his class of 1909. He is Dr. Ernst (Putzi) Hanfstaengl, Hitler's self-described "court jester" and onetime foreign press chief. Intervued at his Munich home, Hanfstaengl, now 71, recalled: "I loved Harvard, but I almost got kicked out one day. The dean asked why I had chosen Harvard, and I replied: 'Because it's near the Boston Symphony and because it has a good rowing team.' "I used to think the Americans lust for world domination stemmed from an abnormal sex life. "Woman after woman told me that Hitler wasn't a real man—he was a neuter." Then why did Hitler have Eva Braun as a mistress? "It wasn't a normal relationship," Putzi replied. "His relationship with Eva was a failure, and that was why he kept it a secret."

UNDEFEATED—Billy Hollowell, John Savage, John West are undefeated singles performers on ECC tennis team.

ECC Tennis Team Blanks High Point 7-0 Monday

Coach Bill McDonald's East Carolina tennis team shifted into high gear here yesterday to blank the High Point Panthers 7-0, and rack up their sixth net victory of the season against only two losses.

In North State Conference play, the Pirates notched their third win against no defeats and are currently pacing the circle.

Every man on the East Carolina team notched a victory yesterday on College Courts before a small crowd of spectators. Winning singles for the Bucs were Maurice Everette, John West, Billy Hollowell, Lawrence Brown. Doubles winners for the Pirates were Hollowell and Savage, Everette and West.

East Carolina has posted victories over Guilford, William and Mary, Geneva College, Cherry Point, High Point, Elon. They have dropped tilts to The Citadel and North Carolina State.

EVERY DAY THIS WEEK

In perhaps their toughest stretch of the year, the Bucs will be playing matches every day this week. Today, they meet High Point again here, tomorrow it's Atlantic Christian here, Thursday it's Elon here. On Friday, the Bucs go to ACC and then journey to Burlington for another tilt with Elon on Saturday.

The Bucs still have three undefeated singles performers on the club: Sophomores John West, John Savage and Billy Hollowell.

SUMMARY:

Everette defeated Wicker, 6-0, 7-5; West defeated Swearingen, 7-5, 6-2; Hollowell defeated Paxton, 6-2, 6-2; Brown defeated Stillman, 6-3, 6-4; Hollowell-Savage defeated Swearingen-Adams, 1-6, 6-0, 6-3; Everette-West defeated Paxton-Wicker, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3.

Rose Baseball Team Playing At Kinston

This week will be a busy one for Rose High School athletics, beginning tonight with a baseball game in Kinston. The undefeated Panthers journey to K-Too for a Northeastern Conference contest under the lights at Grainger Stadium.

It will be the first meeting of the season between the two clubs and Coach Bo Farley's club will be putting its 4-0 record on the line against the Red Devils. The hosts possess a 4-1 Northeastern Conference mark and are regarded as the major obstacle for the Panthers in their quest for the loop title this year.

Expected to pitch for the Greenville team tonight will be Merrill Eynum, a husky righthander. Eynum has notched two of the G-Men's four wins thus far, and is one of the club's leading hitters, as well.

Don Civils, the Kinston pitching ace who has a 3-0 season's pitching mark thus far, is the probable Kinston starter.

Expected to make up the Phantom lineup tonight will be Mack Roebuck behind the plate, Dick Evans at first base, Randy Bass at second, Billy Cox at shortstop, Walker Allen at third, and John Harrison, Bobby Edwards and Joe Moye in the outfield.

Game time is 8:00. On the track scene, Greenville will play host to Goldsboro's AAA endermen at Guy Smith Stadium Thursday afternoon. Robert Hower will be back in action Friday at Kinston in another conference match. In yesterday's tilt, Dallas Clark picked up three points and Buddy Murray collected 1 1/2.

Auburn Faces Dim Future After Stiff NCAA Ruling

By ED TUNSTALL NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Stunned Auburn, shackled with another three-year probation sentence for football recruiting violations, today faced prospects of a bleak athletic future with teams all dressed up in success and no where to go.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. slapped the three-year ban — one of the severest in the groups history — at a meeting yesterday and dealt Seattle University and Southern Methodist lesser penalties. Seattle drew probation for two years and Southern Methodist was given a less stringent one-year term.

Auburn, No. 1 football team in the nation last year and rated a prime contender for national honors again this fall, was about to complete a three-year probationary period when the hammer fell. The action yesterday covers all Auburn athletic teams and renders them ineligible for NCAA title events as well as mid-season and post-season tournaments until Sept. 1, 1961.

Seattle's basketball teams are ineligible for NCAA events, mid-season and post-season games until Sept. 1, 1960. The probation given SMU does not bar the Mustangs from bowl games and other tournaments, but the school's athletic program and practices will be under close scrutiny until Sept. 1, 1959.

John Castellani, Seattle basketball coach and athletic director, resigned after the NCAA action was announced, but he denied any pressure was applied on him to quit because of the probation all of the school's athletic director of the NCAA, said the discipline given Auburn was the third toughest penalty ever administered by the group. Only the four-year probation given North Carolina State in the Jackie Moreland case and Kentucky in basketball recruiting cases were more severe.

The Auburn case, Byers said, involved a prospective student athlete being offered "illicit financial aid... for the benefit of himself and his family."

Byers said the Seattle case involved the head coach offering two prospective athletes financial aid. The probation given SMU, Byers said, should not be considered "major." The penalty arose out of the school obtaining a summer job for a football player whom the NCAA said was not qualified for the position.

Lopez Has Starters But No Good Enders

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox may have the best pitching in the American League with a staff that has seven starters, but what Manager Al Lopez could use at the moment is a starter who can finish.

The staff that led the AL in complete games with 59 last season, behind Billy Pierce (16), Dick Donovan (15) and Jim Wilson (12), and picked up strong-armed Early Wynn over the winter, has not been able to get a complete game in six starts this season. Pierce, Donovan, Wilson, Wynn and young Bill Fischer all have tumbled.

What's worse, they've won only two of the six with a whopping 5.01 earned run average that has cost them three of four games decided by one run.

Donovan blew a four-hit shutout in the last two innings for a 2-1 Detroit victory yesterday.

The New York Yankees won their fifth straight, defeating Boston 4-1. Kansas City, in second place 1 1/2 games back of the Yanks, collected eight runs on two hits in the eighth and beat Cleveland 9-4.

Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 4-2 in 14 innings last night in the only National League game played.

White Sox hitters were no help to Donovan. They got just three hits off Frank Lary in his eighth inning, scoring without a hit when he walked two and hit two in the sixth. Vito Valentinetti won in relief.

The Red Sox lost their fourth straight, although getting 10 hits and six walks. Don Larsen, who hit a two-run homer in the second off loser Willard Nixon, won his second. Ted Williams, who singled for his first hit in 10 at-bats this season in the fifth, hit his 457th home run in the seventh off Bob Grim. Whitey Ford wrapped it up with clutch relief.

Five walks, a single and Frank House's grand-slam homer gave the A's their big eighth against rookie Jim (Mudcat) Grant and losing reliever Steve Ridzik.

The Chicago Cubs, on their usual fast spring run, lead the National League tour into the promised land that lies behind the short screen in the Los Angeles Coliseum tonight.

Thus far, three games have been played in the Pines Bowl with the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants producing an average of four homers a game. Eight of the 12 have fallen behind the 42-foot-high, 140-foot-long screen jokingly referred to as a barrier.

Now come the other six clubs, the outsiders, to have at it with Ernie Banks, the Cubs' righthanded power man, all warmed up after hitting his first two home runs of the season over the weekend in Chicago.

As a lull before the storm, the only game played last night in the National League was homerless. The Cincinnati Redlegs beat Philadelphia 4-2 in a rain-interrupted 14 innings.

A walk and singles by Don Hoak and pinchhitter Bob Thurman broke up a 2-2 tie for the Redlegs in the 14th and they added a cushion run on a pair of errors by Philly shortstop Roy Smalley.

Hal Jeffcoat won his first in relief of rookie Bob Kelly and Tom Acker. Kelly faced only four men and gave up a run. Acker then allowed just one run on four hits and six walks, while striking out six, before giving way to Jeffcoat in the 11th.

Jim Hearn was the loser as the third of four Phillie pitchers who gave up 15 hits and eight walks. Hoak had three hits, one a double.

Bruce Shelley Will Pitch For Pirates

The baseball game scheduled for Wednesday night between East Carolina and Atlantic Christian at Guy Smith Stadium has been changed to a Wednesday afternoon tilt.

It was announced yesterday afternoon that schedule conflicts at East Carolina will rule out the night game. Plans are now to play the contest at 3:00 Wednesday afternoon at College Field.

The game will be the second meeting of the two clubs. East Carolina whipped the Bulldogs earlier, winning 6-3 behind the effective pitching of righthander George Williams. The Bulldogs are 1-3.

Coach Jim Mallory's crew is in the process of healing wounds opened last Saturday night when the University of North Carolina dumped them 12-3 under the lights at Guy Smith Stadium. In that one, ECC committed four errors, their high of the season, and the Tarheels tapped three Buc hurlers for 12 hits.

Undeclared Coach Mallory's club will be putting an unblemished mark on the line tomorrow afternoon when they tackle the Bulldogs, and the Lean Mentor is anxious that his club will play a much-improved game over Saturday's tilt.

The Bucs go into tomorrow's game with the only undefeated team in the North State Conference. The Pirates have a 3-0 record. Elon and Catawba are close in the race and a Buc victory over ACC would mean a lot, according to Mallory. He stated yesterday that "This week of play will make or break us in the conference, now."

Elon is in second place with a 5-1 mark and Catawba follows with a 3-1.

Shelley Pitching Bruce Shelley, a lefthander from Mullins, South Carolina, has been named as the starting ECC pitcher tomorrow afternoon. Shelley has a 1-0 record thus far this year and has been used primarily as a relief man. This game will mark his first starting assignment.

Hitting continues to be a problem for Coach Mallory's outfit. They enter the ACC contest without a single 300 hitter. John Jones, another South Carolinian, is perhaps the closest to the 300 mark. He drove in two ECC runs against UNC Saturday night, and was the only Buc batter to collect more than one baseknock.

On Friday, the club journeys to Elon for what may be the biggest battle of the conference this season. On the following day, they will move over to tackle High Point, there.

Rep Back Spitfire third baseman Bucky Reep, senior and co-captain of the Bucs who missed Saturday night's ball game due to a bad finger injury, is expected to be back in the lineup tomorrow afternoon. Reep split a finger in the first ACC game, when an incoming ball smashed into his hand.

Marion Talton, big 190 pound freshman catcher who has been playing in rightfield during the past two games due to a bone chip in one hand (which has hindered his catching activity) is expected to be behind the plate again, either tomorrow or Friday.

The rest of the club will be Jim Martin at first base, Al Vaughn at second, Jerry Stewart at shortstop, Tommy Nance in leftfield, Jones in centerfield, and either Bill Altman or Jerry Phillips in rightfield. That is, should Talton be put behind the plate again, Mallory is expected to replace him in the outfield with the latter two boys in the above list. There is also a possibility that Tommy Land will break back into the lineup in the outfield, although Mallory has made no definite announcements on this.

Wages For Some On A Soviet Farm

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

On at least one collective farm in the Soviet Union the farmers are getting regular wages, just like factory workers.

If they want foodstuffs from the farm's production, they must pay in cash.

This experimental system of payment of collective farmers is a radical change from the system in general use in the U.S.S.R.

It's used on the Bolshevik farm of the Sumy region, 400 miles south of Moscow, and possibly on some other individual farms.

Collective farmers until recently were paid only once a year and mostly in produce.

When the crop was gathered in the fall, deductions were made for the heavy state taxes and compulsory deliveries and for the farm's own needs for seed, insurance, and capital. The part of the crop that remained plus a part of the money received by the farm for sale of produce to state agencies then was divided among collective farm members on the basis of the labor days each had worked. A labor day is a unit of measurement, defined by the government, of the quality and quantity of farm work.

A typical farmer might get under this system a few rubles, a couple of pounds of grain and, say four pounds of potatoes plus some other produce for each labor day he put in. The Soviets give the ruble an arbitrary value of 25 cents, but its purchasing power is less.

Recently this once-a-year system has been generally modified to permit advances on the year-end payments at quarterly or even monthly intervals during the year. The Bolshevik farm was on this system of monthly advances through 1956. With the beginning of 1957 it went over to payment at monthly intervals in cash only on the basis of a regular table of expected wages and salaries.

At this farm a milkmaid averages 1,100-1,200 rubles a month, hog breeders 1,000-1,100, and ordinary field workers 500-700. The collective farm chairman gets only 1,200 a month, but collects bonus money at the end of the year if the farm fulfills its plan.

These earnings compare with the average for Soviet wage and salary earnings in industry and elsewhere of about 700 rubles a month. The experiment in monthly wages at the Bolshevik farm is described in the Soviet magazine Economic Questions, which says it brought higher productivity of farm labor and increases in farm production.

It appears to be one further step in the long-term Kremlin drive to separate Russian peasants from the soil and transform them into rural wage laborers who are dependent on and subservient to the state.

Argue Supreme Court's Ruling Has Precedence

GREENSBORO (AP) — Legally speaking, the U.S. Supreme Court's school desegregation rulings take precedence over North Carolina's pupil assignment law, say lawyers for Negroes who seek school integration in Montgomery and Caswell counties.

The lawyers filed in Middle District Federal Court yesterday a brief on their views asked by Judge Edwin M. Stanley.

They contended that desegregation should first be ordered in the two counties. Then, they argued, if a pupil had a grievance he could seek relief under the Pupil Assignment Act. But as the original basis for assignment, they declared the law does not afford adequate relief because "initial segregation is unconstitutional."

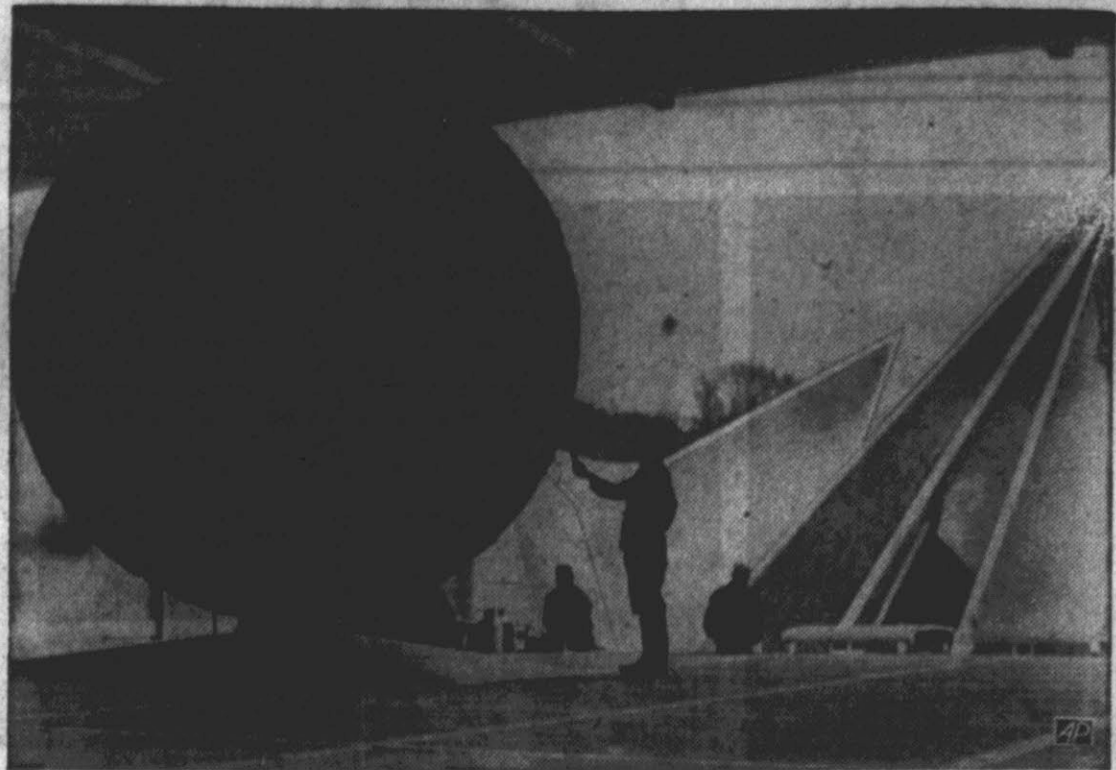

In an earlier, similar case, Carson vs. Old Fort, the late Judge John J. Parker held that actions under the pupil assignment law must be filed on an individual basis—not as class or group actions.

The Negroes' attorneys argued that this ruling does not mean the courts cannot act against a statute that upholds "an avowed racial standard." In answer to allegations that they had not sought relief under state law, they declared that the law does not provide, to begin with, the remedy the Negroes seek.

"Some method of pupil assignment is necessary in every school system," the Negroes' brief said. But it suggested that objective, non-racial standards for assignment would be geographical zoning, intelligence grouping, freedom of choice or "other reasonable criteria."

The "very general" assignment standards of the North Carolina law, the Negroes' attorneys argued, do not eliminate the possibility that individual school boards might impose racial standards.

Under the Pupil Assignment Act, 11 Negro pupils were admitted last fall to previously all-white schools in Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Charlotte.

Reports Some Newspapers In Economic Squeeze; Costs Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Many American newspapers are caught in an economic squeeze because rising costs are not being matched with additional income, William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., said today.

This crisis, he added, can be met only by increased productivity, which in turn depends on enlightened management and labor leadership.

Dwight, publisher of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram, made the remarks in a prepared address of welcome at an ANPA session to publishers with newspapers having circulations of 10,000 to 50,000 a day.

Sessions of the ANPA are part of Newspaper Week, held in New York every spring.

Dwight called upon the publishers to "discard temporary expediency thinking" and to take a positive and realistic look to the future.

Publishers will continue to press their crusade to protect the people's right to know, Dwight said, despite consideration by the government of interference with advertising and the thwarting of access to news.

At the same time, two other discussions groups, representing newspapers with circulations under 10,000 and over 50,000, were meeting.

Edward J. Hughes, of the Westchester (N.Y.) Newspapers, told the 10,000-to-50,000 group: "The lesson of history is that, if economic freedom be lost or destroyed, all other freedoms, including those of the mind and spirit, soon perish. Through greater efficiency, we are fully justified in seeking greater prosperity so that the press may be free to fight for all the freedoms of all Americans."

ANPA Vice President D. Tennant Bryan, of the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch & News Leader, said publishers are acting a situation in which costs are continuing to rise while revenues are static or going down.

This, he said, is having a dramatic impact on the net profit. Bryan and Joyce A. Swan, of the Minneapolis (Minn.) Star & Tribune, addressed the group representing papers with circulations over 50,000.

Mark Ferree of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers and ANPA treasurer, told the publishers of papers with circulations under 10,000 that small newspapers are close to their readers and know well the community's needs.

Close knowledge of community needs, he said, leads to better newspapers, devoted to the welfare of the greatest number of people.

Robert M. Spedel, of the Visalia (Calif.) Times-Delta, said financial strength of newspapers results primarily from growth and re-evaluation. This strength, he said, helps the publisher to withstand concerted pressure from advertiser and other groups.

All Routine 'Til She Stepped In

BELTON, Mo. (AP) — The City Council meeting moved along serenely last night until Mrs. Tillie M. Quick, Belton's first woman Council member, demanded that the mayor, the superintendent of public works and an alderman resign.

She charged that the three had done business with the city (pop. 1,258) illegally.

Mrs. Quick said she asked last week for the resignations of Mayor William V. Powell, Alderman Fred Folk and J. Maurice Robey, public works superintendent.

She said Powell, a building contractor, did a $1,889 remodeling job on the City Hall; that Robey has a $70,000 insurance policy on the City Hall and sewage disposal plant; and that Folk, an implement dealer, has done repair work on city equipment.

"I gave you until tonight," she said. "I thought it could be done quietly. If it can't be, then this whole matter will be investigated."

Mrs. Quick said she would ask Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton what to do next.

Mayor Powell adjourned the meeting abruptly. Both he and Folk said they wanted to consult a lawyer.

Powell told a reporter he took the remodeling contract only because no one else would bid on it. As for repair work done by Folk, Powell said: "Why should we go to Kansas City or Harrisonville to buy tractor parts when we can get them as cheap or cheaper from Fred Folk without making the trip?"

Automation Said Failing Promise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two labor union officials contended today that automated factories have not produced the expanded employment and lower prices they said experts had promised.

Albert Whitehouse, director of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department, and Elmer J. Maloy, industrial engineering chief of the United Steelworkers, said automation so far has proved to be the bane rather than the boon of the American worker.

Both blamed the recession at least in part on new automatic machines, many of them guided electronically, that have provided increased industrial capacity with fewer workers.

Both advanced these views in talks prepared for a daylong conference on automation problems called by the AFL-CIO's IUD for some 200 union members.

"It's time to point out that automation and other major technological change have failed to bring automatically those things promised so blithely," Whitehouse said, adding: "Where are the great numbers of more highly skilled jobs? Where are the lower prices? Where are the jobs for everybody that were virtually guaranteed to us?"

"Some of us have been kidding ourselves about the purpose of technology under our enterprise system, and probably under any other system. The purpose of better machinery is to cut labor costs by eliminating jobs."

Tito Strikes Back At Critics In Soviet Bloc

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito struck back at his critics in the Soviet bloc today, accusing them of "shortsightedness and tactlessness toward our country."

In obvious reply to the Moscow-ordered boycott of the Yugoslav Communist Party Congress, Tito called on "these comrades to abandon finally such absurd tendencies which are only harmful and which prevent proper development of our relations."

The 1,700 delegates to the first Party Congress since 1952 gave Tito a roaring, 10-minute ovation as he strode to the rostrum for the opening of the six-day meeting. Wearing a dark blue suit, the Yugoslav chief stood beneath huge portraits of Lenin, Marx and Engels.

Tito made no specific mention of the boycott by all East European and most West European Communist parties. But there was no doubt his criticism was directed at the newest Soviet snub, which stirred speculation that Yugoslav-Soviet relations might be heading for a new nosedive like the 1948 one.

Moscow ordered that only observers be sent to Ljubljana—not official delegations—in retaliation for Tito's maintaining that communism must develop independently according to local conditions and not according to the Kremlin's dictates.

Knifed Self In Producing 'Scare'

DETROIT (AP) — Gerald Campbell, 14, wanted to startle his classmates at Von Steuben Elementary School. As a result, he's in the hospital with a deep knife wound in his chest.

The youth slipped a quarter-inch blade under his shop apron during a woodworking class, picked up a carving knife and called, "Watch!"

He swung the blade at the hidden board. The piece of wood split and the knife plunged into his chest.

He is reported in serious condition.

Child Is Plucked From Mother By Texas Tornado

MIDLOTHIAN, Tex. (AP)—Writing erratically, a tornado smashed farm houses, injured 11 persons and snatched a small boy from his mother's arms late yesterday.

Gary Froning, a chubby 2-year-old, was sucked from his collapsing home and whirled 50 yards into a pasture as the twister slashed back and forth across a dozen miles square.

Although debris fell all around him, the youngster suffered only a cut chin.

The tornado, which swept across the farm area south and east of this central Texas town, apparently scored a direct hit on the four-room frame home of George Froning, six miles southeast of Midlothian.

"It was raining so hard you couldn't see, but we didn't know anything about a tornado coming because of the noise from hail pounding on the tin roof of our sun room," Froning said.

"Then a window blew in, and my wife and I grabbed the children."

Mrs. Froning pushed the little boy to the floor and lay across his body protectively.

"All I could think of was that little in my arms," she said. "Then I felt the wind lifting us, and I couldn't hold onto him any longer."

Froning and his daughter Gloria, 7, were in the kitchen. She crawled under a table, and that saved her life.

After the storm passed on, Froning picked himself up 100 feet west of where only the foundation of the house remained. He had a head cut.

His wife landed a few feet from the dwelling. Her left arm was gashed.

Retain Slogan Another 3 Years

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan has decided to keep the "Water Wonderland" slogan on its auto license plates for another three years.

The state was considering changing the slogan recently and scores of citizens sent letters suggesting new slogans.

A Royal Oak man, disgruntled by the recession and its effects on the state's economy, proposed: "Michigan, Land of the Unemployed."

Boy Marked 20 Of His Neighbors For Death

REXBURG, Idaho (AP)—Troubled Tommy Brophy, 15, a poetry-writing youth who had 20 neighbors marked for murder, sat in a cell today awaiting perhaps the security he has never known. The high school sophomore was given 32 years in prison yesterday for killing his mother last February. He must serve at least a third of it. "It is difficult to understand you," said Judge Willard Burton as Tommy wept quietly during the sentencing. "You are a quite, nice-looking boy, but beneath the surface there is a storm raging. . . . You have become a menace to society, and this society which you have not trusted cannot trust you." Tommy twice blasted Mrs. Nellie Mae Hinckley, 36, with a shotgun, then fired a rifle bullet into her head. He was convicted of second-degree murder despite his plea of temporary insanity. The bright, brooding youth—he has an IQ of 128—was described by psychiatrists at his trial as an impulse-ridden boy with a persecution complex, caused partly by his troubled home life. After his parents divorced when he was 3, Tommy lived in three foster homes, a school, then with two stepmothers, his father, and finally—starting in 1956—with his mother and stepfather here. The doctors said Tommy now sleeps under the cot in his cell, a blanket draped over the side of the cot, the cell light burning. They said he has always been afraid. Psychologist David Eichhorn said Tommy "feared father images and felt rejected by mother images." Among Tommy's effects police found papers detailing plots to kill 20 neighbors. Other items told how Tommy shot cats at night and once left a cat's paws on a neighbor's doorstep. Other papers were poems—one written to 13-year-old Barbara Weatherston, Tommy's girl friend who testified he once tried to strangle her.

costs; Willie Mae Morning, Negro, Robersonville, paid costs.

Ed Hooks, Negro, R-4, Belvoir, paid $16 for indecent exposure.

Moses Howard, Negro, 1497 Fleming Street, paid $10 for not stopping at a stop sign.

John E. Singleton, 113 East 13th Street, passing at an intersection, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs, and clean up debris from wreck within one hour. Singleton was not guilty of failure to keep proper lookout.

Robert Bullomy, Negro, 608 Bonner's Lane, paid costs.

Victor Baker, Negro, Tarboro, failure to comply with operator's license restrictions, paid costs.

Willie J. Harris, Negro, 117 West First Street, no operator's license, case not pressed. For driving after his driver's license was revoked, the court gave him 30 days on the roads.

Jacob D. Helms, 407 Contentnea Street, failure to keep proper lookout, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs, and clean up debris caused by wreck.

Amateurs Build Own Submarine

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP) — An 18-foot submarine built from a discarded water tank made four public dives without mishap. The sub was built by Ray Bass, a plumbing inspector, and Pete Hargraves, a welding shop operator, as a hobby. The sub dives by flooding two attached tanks. Oxygen is forced into the flooded tanks to rise. If someone cranks it hard enough, a hand-operated screw will give about 3 miles an hour.

Suggests Thousands Of Hysterectomies

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thousands of American women over 40 years of age should undergo hysterectomy for their own well-being, says a group of specialists in the treatment of diseases associated with child bearing. This operation, in which the womb is removed, often is the only effective way of dealing with organic disease and other troubles, but it is being criticized because of ignorance and misinformation, they assert. "The afternoon tea table is the chief source of opposition to this procedure," said Dr. Allan C. Barnes, professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Western Reserve University Medical School at Cleveland. "The typical tea table," he added, "is made up of the pregnant woman, the married but never pregnant one, the unmarried woman and the one who has one child. The talk goes around the table to the left. Each woman scares the other." Dr. Barnes took part in a panel

Batting From 4 Sides Of The Plate: Buttons

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'll never say never again," said Red Buttons. He and another man were walking through Manhattan's lower East Side from the hall where Buttons is rehearsing for the lead in "Hansel and Gretel," which will come to the home screen via NBC-TV next Sunday. "Wait a minute," Buttons paused on 2nd Avenue and pointed east to the crowded tenements which line 5th Street. "I was born down that street. Sometimes, when I was at my lowest ebb a couple of years ago, I used to drive down here from uptown late at night and tell myself, 'At least I'm not here.'" At that time Buttons had plummeted after a swift ascent to the heights as a television comedian. Today Buttons is widely sought after. The turning point came when he received an Oscar for best performance of the year by a supporting actor for his role in "Sayonara." The man walking to lunch with Buttons remarked that he was a far more relaxed fellow than when they had talked two years ago.

"You have what happened to me happen to you and you'll be relaxed too," Buttons replied. "The fuzz is out. I've grown up a lot. I've had a lot of time to think and I know more about myself and the world than I ever did before." What are his plans after "Hansel and Gretel"? "I'm playing by ear," he said. "You don't make plans in this business. If I have a chance at a good movie, I'll do it. Or a good television show, I'll do it. The same for Broadway and cafes. I'm batting from four sides of the plate."

Four Painters Fall From Bridge

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) — A scaffolding under a new Missouri River bridge broke yesterday, dropping four painters 60 feet into the river and leaving two others clinging to the bridge. Ronald Gagnon, 32, St. Louis, and Martin Nail, 20, St. Charles, made their way to shore. John Norton and Chester Gregory, both of St. Louis, were missing. William Mowrey, 46, East Alton, Ill., and John W. Schneider, Augusta, Mo., jumped for the bridge girders when they heard cables snap. 2,306,000 hours of service were given by Red Cross volunteers in 176 Veterans Administration hospitals in the U. S. during 1957.

Declares Movies 'Saved' By TV

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charles Brackett, a 20th Century-Fox writer-producer, claims TV is the best thing that ever happened to motion pictures because "it saved the movie industry from sitting on its status quo." Brackett, speaking to the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers, said the advent of TV forced motion picture producers to refine old techniques so they could meet modern conditions.

THE LONE DEPUTY

Strange. Price Regan thought grimly, that in his talk with Weston nothing had been said of Cronin's hanging or the murder of Sam and Lizzie Potter. He had a strong feeling that if he had mentioned either, he would not have left the Rocking C alive.

Still, he had no way of knowing what went on inside Cole Weston's head, now that he had gone this far. But one thing was sure. Weston had to remove a deputy he could not control, and he knew beyond any doubt by this time that he could not control Price Regan.

Price was dead tired when he reached town, worn down both physically and emotionally. He put his horse away in the livery stable, not seeing De Long. The night man had come on.

Price wanted to go to bed, but there was too much to do. He had to tell Jean Potter what had happened. He had put it off as long as he could, for he knew it would be one of the hardest things he'd ever been forced to do.

When he rang the Madden doorbell, it occurred to him that he was living in a strange cycle of recurring events. This was the third time in a little over twenty-four hours that he'd stood here expecting Barry Madden to open the door and tell him he wasn't welcome.

But it was Laura who opened the door to him. For just a moment she peered into the darkness, the bracket lamp on the wall throwing her shadow past him across the porch, then she saw who it was and cried, "Price!"

She fled into his arms and he held her for a moment, feeling that he wasn't alone as long as he had her love.

She drew his face down and kissed him, then she said, "We've been crazy with worry. Did you find Bruce Jarvis?"

"No, but I've got to see Jean. Is she here?"

"Of course she's here. I wouldn't let her go anywhere. Barney De Long came and said maybe she ought to go stay with Rose, but I wouldn't let her." She pulled Price into the hall where she could see him, her eyes searching her face.

Then she said, "I'm worried about Daddy almost as much as I am about you. What's going to happen to him?"

"I don't know," Price said. "He's picked his side."

She shivered as if she were cold, although the hall still held the stagnant heat of the day. She said, "I've quarreled with him about Jean staying here. I told him that if she left, I'd leave, too. He's nervous. Price, I've never seen him like this. I think he's afraid."

"He's got reason to be," Price said. "Let me talk to Jean."

Laura opened the door into the parlor. Jean stood looking expectantly at him, as if she had been waiting for him to come. She was wearing a clean, starched gingham dress. One of Laura's, Price thought. Laura had given her a pair of shoes, too. Once more he was impressed with the fact that she was an uncommonly pretty girl who deserved a far better life than she'd had out there on the Yellow Cat.

"Bruce?" Jean asked. "Did you find him?"

"No, but maybe some of your neighbors will. I'll try again in the morning." He motioned for her to sit down on the couch, wishing there was some way to make his task easier. He sat beside her, saying gently, "I've got bad news for you. Both of your parents were shot and killed today. I don't know who did it, but we'll find out."

She was very pale, but she didn't faint or become hysterical. She simply looked at him, her hands tightly fisted on her lap, then she said, "I've had a terrible feeling ever since - left home. I should have stayed."

He shook his head. "You couldn't have helped. You'd have been killed, too. Now I want you to stay here inside this house. I don't know if you're in danger or not, but I can't want to take any chances. I could put you in jail for your own safety, but I won't if you promise to stay here."

"I promise," she said automatically, as if she didn't really know what she was promising. "Mr. Regan, ever since I was a little girl I can't remember anything but moving around, being pushed by men like Cole Weston. Ma said we'd never move again. If she was killed, she said her blood would soak into the ground. Maybe she knew what was going to happen."

Price rose. There was nothing more he could say or do. She was suffering the shock that sudden, terrible death brings to those who are left. The full sense of loss would come to her later.

She looked up at him. "Mr. Regan, I can't stay here. I'll have to go to the funeral."

"Your neighbors took care of it today."

She bowed her head and the tears came. Price moved to the door, and as he opened it he saw that Laura had sat down beside Jean and put her arm around the other girl. Price stepped into the hall and closed the door. Then he saw that Barry Madden was waiting for him.

"Come back to the study, Price," Madden said. "I want to talk to you."

It was a peremptory order, given in the typical Madden manner. Price hesitated, noticing that Madden was nervous, as Laura had said. Price had never seen him this way before. He was pale, his pulse leaping in his temples, and even his hands were trembling.

"No use, Barry," Price said. "I can't do anything for you. You were the only one who could have helped yourself, and now it looks to me like you've waited too long."

"I don't expect you to do anything for me," Madden said harshly. "If you won't come back to the study, I'll tell you here. You're not marrying Laura. You're going to drop this whole business before it ruins me and all of us. Pack your things and leave town on the morning stage. I'll accept your resignation as marshal here and now?"

"Do you really think I'll do that?" Price asked.

"You have no choice. You'll resign, or I'll call a meeting of the town council tomorrow and we'll fire you. Then I'll go to the county seat and have Ralph Carew recall you. Meanwhile stay away from Laura."

"Barry, you can't be as stupid as you're talking. You're not like Cole Weston. You've got good decency in you."

Flushing, Madden said, "Good night," and turned away.

Price caught his arm. "In case you don't know what happened today, I'll tell you. Five people have been killed, and I'm convinced Cole Weston was responsible for every murder. That's your side, Barry, the side you picked."

He walked out, leaving Madden standing in the hall. He went to the hotel, wondering how much Madden had known, and how far he would go, now that he did know. There was still something he couldn't put his finger on, something that was behind Madden's blind following of Cole Weston. It wasn't loyalty or devotion or friendship or any of the things that ordinarily prompt one man to back another.

Any way Price looked at this situation, it seemed a strange and unnatural alliance, with both men being impelled to dominate as they were. No, there was something else, and he was convinced that Laura didn't fully understand what it was.

When he stepped into the hotel lobby, the clerk said, "That woman Barney De Long brought in. She's in Room 10. Says she wants to see you."

"He wanted to cry. He could see no future no hope. Everything had been destroyed today . . . Continue the story here tomorrow."

FAIR WEATHER FUN — Paul Wobbe, six, and his teacher, Sister Mary Zita, play a game of marbles in Topeka, Kansas, as warm weather signals the advent of outdoor play.

Hurry, hurry . . . right this way! When the carnival pitchman says, "Step right up, folks . . . step up and see the greatest . . . the most unbelievable . . . the most sensational . . ." you can't help but get excited. We're the same way.

And we'd like to steal some of the pitchman's thunder to tell you about the Kodak Camera Carnival now going on in our store. It's the most exciting camera show ever!

You've probably heard about it on the Ed Sullivan TV Show and on The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet, or seen it advertised in your favorite magazines. It's a complete show to let you "step right up" and see the many wonderful Kodak cameras for spring-time picture-taking.

And here's the good part. If you've been thinking of buying your first camera or even "retiring" an old one—you couldn't pick a better time. The Kodak Camera Carnival is loaded with such wonderful "buys" as the Brownie Star Cameras . . . those easy to operate, inexpensive to buy, and economical to use cameras. And if you're ready to move up into new worlds of picture-taking, it's high time you saw the latest Kodak 35mm cameras and movie cameras.

So, hurry, hurry! Come in soon to our Camera Carnival and let us show you the newest for spring-time picture-taking.

Dose Of Strap Is His Own Remedy

DECATUR, Ga. (AP) — John C. Cragg, 38-year-old principal of Southwest DeKalb High School, has his own, old-fashioned preventive for juvenile delinquency.

It is a two-inch-wide leather strap which he uses on boys of any grade when he feels their misconduct deserves it. The dosage usually is 10 licks and the offender is given his choice of accepting suspension in lieu of the whipping but few ever take that way out, Cragg says.

He estimates that not more than one per cent of approximately 1,800 students ever feel the strap but "every one of them knows I have one." Cragg believes that the leather has "straightened out many a would-be delinquent" and says many whom he has whipped have later thanked him for it.

to prove Mercury the Performance Champion for 1958

OUTPERFORMS EVERY CAR IN AMERICA, REGARDLESS OF PRICE!

Mercury, with up to 360 hp, tops every other car in America for power-per-pound! That's why Mercury is 1958's Performance Champion. It's a champion in size, too — is bigger all around than any other car in its field.

BUY WITH CONFIDENCE. Your Mercury dealer is a man of integrity. When he quotes a price, there's no padding—no hidden charge.

LUXURY-CAR CRAFTSMANSHIP and prestige on a small-car budget. Big M prices start below 42 models of the "low-price 3." Take a 10-minute road test in a Big M today.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market dipped irregularly early this afternoon in fairly active trading. Key stocks declined fractions to around a point. A good scattering of gains were shown in about the same range. The market was a bit higher at the opening then lapsed into irregularity and finally into a generally lower pattern. Profit taking was apparent after a string of three vigorous daily advances.

Rails, coppers, oils and other industrials took losses. U.S. Steel was strong and other steels made belated improvement. Airlines had a sudden spurt to the upside after trading about unchanged. Airline shares were aroused from lethargy without any spot news to spurt them.

U.S. Steel and Republic Steel added major fractions. Youngstown Sheet was firm. Bethlehem was off a fraction. Eastern Air Lines and United Air Lines rose about a point, while American Airlines gained a fraction.

American Motors continued active and was up a major fraction, riding on glowing prospects for the Rambler car. Consolidated Edison boosted the dividend and the stock was up around 2. American Telephone gained a fraction.

Kennecott topped about a point. Anaconda, Phelps Dodge and International Nickel lost fractions. Leading rails, which have climbed to new 1958 highs along with the general market average, were clipped for fractional losses. U.S. Gypsum fell about a point.

Ford was down a major fraction following news of lower earnings and Chrysler took a similar loss. Aircrafts were mixed. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 10 cents to $165.70 with the industrials down 20 cents, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

The contest is divided in two divisions. Division I will continue through October with monthly judgments. Categories in the division are: vacant lot, safety and fire prevention cleaning, home landscaping, house improvement, alleys, service stations and highway beautification.

Division II will continue through May and awards will be presented at the June 12 meeting of the City Council.

Categories in division II include:

Investigating 2 Recent Thefts

Local police have been called on to investigate two recent thefts.

H. L. Ormond of 1704 East Fifth Street has reported that someone stole a lawn mower from his home sometime last week. Value of the stolen machine has been placed at $25.

Officers are also investigating the theft of a tire from a pickup truck parked on Library Street. According to the vehicle's owner, Alfred F. Kennedy Jr. of 200 South Library Street, the tire and wheel were stolen Tuesday night.

Will Ask Federal Aid For Damages

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP)—A Brunswick County meeting preliminary to requesting federal storm damage assistance is scheduled here today.

Municipalities and beach communities are to give information leading to a hoped-for U.S. Army Engineers survey of the area.

Local Cameraman Wins Honors In TV Movie News

Roy Hardee of television station WNCN won third place in the television movie spot news division of the Southern Photography Short Course contest last week.

The award winners were announced at the conclusion of the course in Chapel Hill Saturday night.

The contest included entrants from throughout the 11-state area served by the Southern Short Course.

Hardee won the only television award given in North Carolina. His winning entry was movies of a huge forest fire which struck in the Stumpy Point area last year. Hardee took pictures of the fire from a plane which flew over the big forest reserve.

'Gratified' Over New Credit Unit

At last night's monthly meeting of the Greenville Merchants Association's Board of Directors, President J. D. McGlohon, Jr. reported that the operation of the organization's new Credit-Collection Division "has been gratifying."

McGlohon announced that collection accounts amounting to $17,533.50 have been placed with the Division. This department began operating officially on April 1.

William Deavours, reporting for the Public Relations Committee, stated all arrangements have been completed for the Newcomers Party. The party is scheduled to be held Wednesday night at the Moose Lodge, beginning at 7:30. Approximately 215 newcomers have been invited. Deavours noted.

The Board of Directors recommended that all members of the Merchants Association cooperate in publicizing East Carolina College's Fiftieth Anniversary, including a pageant May 3 and 4.

Music Arts was introduced as a new member of the Association. Attention was called to the program of the North Carolina Merchants Association's annual convention to be held in Raleigh, May 18-20. Secretary Mrs. Cora Powell was directed to attend, representing the local organization. Several other merchants have announced plans to attend.

According to President McGlohon, the next meeting of the Board will be held Thursday, May 22, instead of Monday, May 20. The change was made due to a schedule conflict with the Raleigh convention, McGlohon said.

Drove Away In The Wrong Car

A case of mistaken identity here early last night "cost" one local woman a few minutes of anxiety and another woman an extra trip to Farmville.

The whole incident revolved around an automobile missing from a parking lot at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

It all started when Mrs. Louise Harding of 1601 West Fifth Street called the Police Department and reported that someone had stolen her automobile and was headed in the direction of Farmville.

Before authorities could get their investigation underway another call was received, this one from Farmville. Mrs. Leonard Crawford of 222 Pineview Street reported that she had driven the "wrong" car away from the parking lot and wished to report same.

She stated she had come to Greenville to get an automobile belonging to another woman. According to Mrs. Crawford the mistake was discovered when she arrived back in Farmville.

A short time later the vehicle was returned, making its owner happy. Mrs. Crawford, a "little red-faced" and the Police relieved.

All because a "strange" key fit into a "strange" switch!

Rites Saturday For Mrs. Clyde Daniels

ROBERSONVILLE — Funeral services for Mrs. Clyde Jordan Daniels, 59, who died at her home last Thursday night, were held at the First Baptist Church Saturday. The Rev. Ralph Ferguson, and the Rev. N. B. Hill, Methodist minister, officiated. Burial was in the Robersonville cemetery.

Mrs. Daniels was a native of Oak City. After her marriage in 1917 the family lived near Robersonville, moving to Robersonville in 1952. She was a member of the First Baptist Church and served several years as treasurer.

Surviving are a foster daughter, Mrs. Dennis Alexander Jr. of Stokes; one sister, Mrs. W. M. Wynne of Robersonville; four half-sisters, Mrs. W. D. Burkett of Aoshkie, Mrs. Eugene Barnes of Lewiston, Mrs. C. D. Coburn of Williamsburg, Va., and Mrs. J. W. Rayfield of Hampton, Va., and two half-brothers, Jerry Jordan of Norfolk, Va., and Bertram Jordan of Lewiston.
