Eisenhower Urges Khrushchev To Join In Arctic Area Proposals

Sees Chance For Alternate Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) virtually conceded defeat today in his fight to broaden a pension-welfare fund bill into general labor legislation. Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said he expected the Senate would complete action on the bill today after votes on a series of amendments to expand the measure. But he made it clear at a news conference that he doesn't expect any of the amendments to be accepted.

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today urged Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to join with the United States and other Western Allies in an international disarmament inspection program for the Arctic area. In a new note to the Kremlin leader, the President also appealed anew to the Soviet Union to have its technical experts work with the United States in an effort to determine which nuclear test ban controls are necessary to open the way toward general disarmament. Khrushchev had rejected that Eisenhower proposal in a letter to the President last week.

Technical experts to studying what specific nuclear test ban controls are necessary if there is to be a dependable and agreed disarmament program. The Soviet Union has announced it is halting tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons and has called on the United States to do the same. Khrushchev says the Soviet Union is reserving the right to resume tests if this country does not order a ban. Eisenhower labeled the Soviet announcement a propaganda gimmick. He wrote Khrushchev anew that the United States wants any test ban coupled with a mutual agreement to halt production of fissionable materials for military purposes.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Bishop Ralph Spaulding Cushman of Raleigh, assisted by the Rev. Robert H. Gibbons Jr. of St. Georges, Delaware.

Prior to the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Jane Fuller, soloist, of Greenville and Mrs. Gerald Foster, organist, of Wilmington, Delaware.

Selections by Mrs. Foster were: "Romance," by Rubinstein, "Serenade," by Schubert, "Claire de Lune," by Debussy, "Still wie die Nacht," by Bohm, "Reveries," by Debussy, and "O Perfect Love," by Gurney, softly played during the ceremony.

Miss Fuller sang "Beloved, It Is Morn," by Aylward, "The Pledge," by Black, "If God Left Only You," by Densmore, and "A Wedding Benediction," by Lovelace. The traditional wedding marches from "Lohengrin" by Wagner and from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by Mendelssohn were played as processional and recessional.

Within the chancel of the church were seven branched candelabras holding burning cathedral candles. On either side and in the center tall wedding baskets holding white gladioli and greenery were placed. The baskets were banked with emerald greens and other wedding greenery. Pews for the families were marked with white satin bows.

The bridal couple knelt on the satin pillow used by the bridegroom's parents at their wedding. Pinned to the pillow were tiny sweetheart roses and fern.

Her wedding veil of cathedral length was attached to a pearl-studded crown. She carried a satin-covered Bible topped with a white hybrid orchid. Valley lilies tied with white satin ribbons extended from the Bible. Her only jewelry was pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Need To Preserve History Stressed By Miss Carraway

By ANNE SINGLETON
Reflector Woman's Editor

"It is necessary to preserve the best of the past and study the past to use in the future because through history we can develop good citizenship," said Mrs. Gertrude Carraway.

Speaking at the Fine Arts Festival Luncheon Saturday at the college, Miss Carraway stressed the importance of historic tradition and the fine arts as "inspirations for the future."

She pointed out that there are about 7,000 restorations in every state in the United States today. According to Miss Carraway, these restorations are economic assets and stimulating assets for the future of the state, nation, and world.

"We have spent three million dollars in North Carolina on the restoration of the first state capital—Tryon's Palace," explained the speaker, who is director of restoration of the Palace.

Following Inventory

By following an inventory prepared by the late Royal Governor William Tryon, the restoration committee has been able to transform and follow as closely as possible the reproduction of this Palace "which North Carolina should be justly proud of."

"We are furnishing it as Governor Tryon would have had it in 1770 and we have found the finest examples of furniture, china, bric-a-brac, paintings, and literature" to make it one of the most authentic restorations in the nation, pointed out Miss Carraway.

The Palace is supposed to be the most beautiful building in North or South America. "It is pure English built in the style of a London town house," she said.

The success the restoration committee has met in their collection of books was also noted by Miss Carraway. "We have already accumulated 400 copies of books we know Governor Tryon had in his library," exclaimed this outstanding woman. Be One Of Four Buildings Another outstanding pointed out was that the Palace will be one of four buildings in the United States which has a coat of arms on the front door. A small coat of arms is also evident on an inside door.

Experts have remarked that the fireplace equipment and paintings in the Palace are of the highest quality, mentioned the speaker.

"Every one of the arts—music, literature, painting—will be represented in the Palace," said Miss Carraway.

"At the present time we are being delayed by the 18th century flower garden and the draperies which are not ready," explained Miss Carraway. She added, "But, as soon as we can put the finishing touches to the Palace, each of you is extended a cordial invitation to visit Tryon's Palace in New Bern."

Symbolic Movement

When introducing the guest speaker, Dr. Robert Lee Humber noted, "The restoration of Tryon's Palace is the most symbolic movement in the state now, and the moving spirit in the enterprise is Miss Carraway."

Dr. J. D. Messick gave the welcome and invocation and gave special recognition to members of the Athenium Book Club, End of Century Book Club, Round Table Book Club, Sans Souci Book Club, Clio Book Club, Shiloh Book Club, and a Farmville club who met as groups at the luncheon.

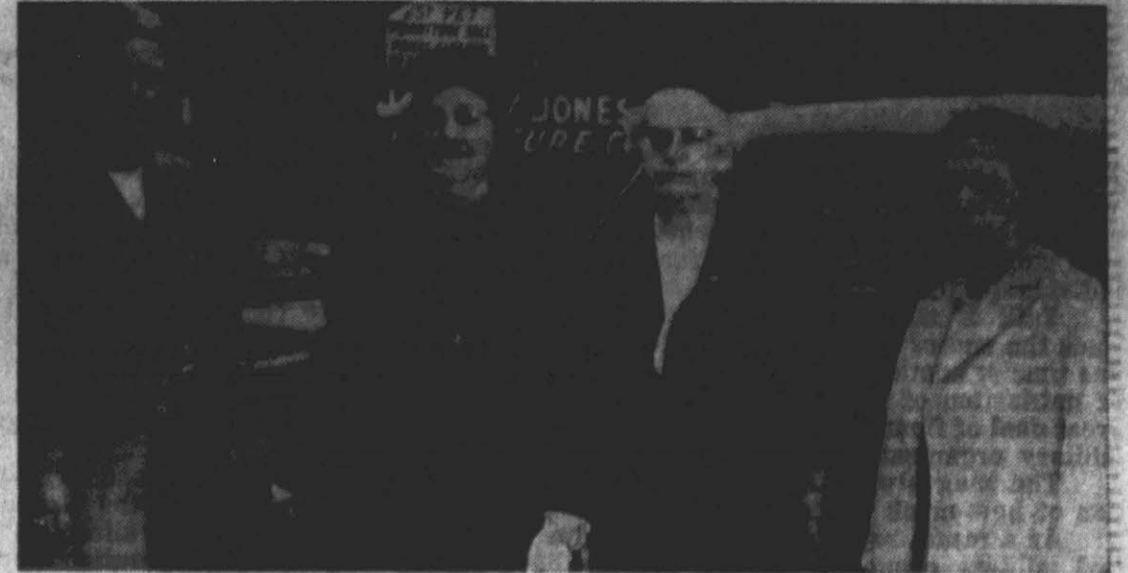

Dr. Messick also commented on the array of spring hats which were in as much evidence as the interest the audience displayed in the restoration of Tryon's Palace.

Following the dinner, presided over by Mrs. J. C. Galloway, president of the Woman's Club, Paul Hickfang, accompanied by his wife, sang several selections. Approximately 165 men and women attended this luncheon which was co-sponsored by the East Carolina Art Society and the Woman's Club.

30 Years Ago Today

April 28, 1928

Spring is here, summer is just around the corner, the kids will soon be playing out of doors entirely and the big question is, "Where are they going to play?" One of Greenville's long felt needs is a park, but apparently we are getting no nearer one as the years pass. Of course, a park will cost money and there are those who always feel that we cannot afford to spend more money, but other cities that have put their money in parks and playgrounds have found it a good investment. Until we make provision along this line we cannot truly claim that we have reached the stage of a modern progressive city.

A Greater Degree Of Unification

President Eisenhower and his Defense Secretary McElroy seem determined to make the new move toward military unification work...just as determined as some top brass and some members of Congress are that unification will not go so far as to eliminate the individual military branches.

Talk of military unification has been going on since the end of World War II. Most officials have at one time or another conceded that a reasonable degree of unification of the armed forces could eliminate a great deal of financial waste in supporting the nation's military organization.

The snag always has centered around the question of how much unification.

As a result, repeated efforts toward a really unified military command for this country have gained little headway. Rivalries between the services have continued unabated. For the most part the individual branches of the military have continued their independent courses much as they have over a long period of years.

That is not to say there has not been cooperation. There has indeed been cooperation between the branches of military. But each has sought to remain its own boss, unwilling to become subordinate to another. Each has retained its own champions in Congress to see that it is not overlooked when it comes to appropriations or Congressional favoritism.

The very nature of the changing times since World War II has necessitated closer cooperation and coordination between operations of the various services. Yet efforts in this direction, it seems to us, has lagged behind that which is required.

In its latest move for greater unification, the administration has indicated its principal objective is more centralization of authority within the military organization. Certainly this fact must be accomplished before other elements of unification can come about.

The administration has pointed in the right direction and is pushing its program in spite of stiff opposition.

We do not need an all-powerful military command patterned after the German plan; but we do need sufficiently centralized authority to assure a greater degree of cooperation and coordination among the branches of our military structure.

Until more progress is made toward unification of our military branches, how can we expect the degree of cooperation and coordination between these services to reach the desired level?

Big Game Hunters In The Industrial Field

Hunting industries, like hunting other big game, is a project that requires a good bit of careful planning, determination and adequate artillery.

Unlike the traditional big game hunt, the quest for industry often pays off long after the hunters have returned to their base camp.

Fortunate for North Carolina, this state has a good many big guns in its industrial hunting expeditions. Led by Gov. Hodges, the hunters have acquainted hundreds of industry officials with the advantages this state offers for plant locations. Instead of bringing home the bacon in terms of new plants and new jobs, these industrial hunters for North Carolina are planting in the minds of industrial executives throughout the nation the seeds that in time will mature into more jobs, larger payrolls and ultimately a higher per capita income for the Tar Heel State.

Fruits of their hunts often are not apparent until months or perhaps years after an expedition.

It remains a fact, however, that North Carolina's industrial hunters are building a solid foundation for the state's industrial growth. They are telling the story of North Carolina's industrial potential to those who are familiar with it. And the story is having an impact on the state's economic growth.

Factual Reports Versus Opinions

Business factual reports, on the whole, continue unfavorable. Opinions on the business outlook, however, appear to be swinging more to the favorable side.

On the factual side the following recent developments are worth noting:

1. Industrial production, as measured by the Federal Reserve Board index, declined in March another two points to 128. This index is in physical terms and uses 1947-49 as equal to 100. Last August, just before the present recession began, the index was 145. Between January and February the decline was three points, from 133 to 130. A two-point decline, therefore, is a slight improvement. One of the major factors in the decline was the continued weakness in automobile production, which in turn held steel output at a low level.

2. A preliminary estimate of gross national product, which is the monetary value of all goods and services produced in the nation, places the figure for the first quarter at $424 billion. This compares with a high of $440 billion in the third quarter and $432.6 billion in the fourth quarter of last year. This preliminary estimate is that of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. It may be revised later, but the chances are that the revision will not be of significance insofar as the total amount is concerned. The figure of $424 billion is exactly that which had been privately forecast for some weeks, and hence is not a surprise.

3. During the first quarter of 1958, the rate of annual inflation declined at an annual rate of 7.5 billion. This was more than double the rate of decline in the fourth quarter, and appreciably higher than had been expected. It can be argued, of course, that since this rate of working-off of inventories can not be continued indefinitely, such a sharp drop means we are getting close to an upturn.

4. Housing starts in March were at an annual rate of 880,000, as compared with 890,000 in February, and 1,030,000 in January. It had been hoped that the March figure would show an improvement. Three factors are offered in explanation of the further slight dip: (A) bad weather which made outside work difficult; (B) delay in getting applications for mortgages processed; and (C) the fact that there has not yet been enough time for the latest government moves to assist housing to have had an effect.

5. Congress continues to enact spending bills of almost every conceivable kind. On the basis of what has already been passed, plus an unquestioned falling off of revenues to the government from taxes — plus the complete lack of any tendency for economy by the Congress — it is predicted that there will be a federal deficit for this fiscal year of about $3 billion, and that the deficit next year, even without tax reduction, may run $8 billion to $10 billion.

6. The Federal Reserve Board has just taken two steps further to ease money rates and increase the volume of lending: (A) It approved a reduction of the discount rate of five Federal Reserve Banks (this is the charge Reserve banks make for loans

Points Seldom Noted

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — A great hullabaloo is being raised about the need for space in our colleges to take care of all our young people of college age. To insist that college education become universal would be to lower our educational standards to the level of mediocrity. In the present world struggle of the survival of the fittest, we need to turn out from our colleges something considerably better than mediocre teachers, scientists, and businessmen. The colleges need something to work with in the first place; the large numbers of purposeless, immature high school graduates who find their way into our colleges have no business there!

EDUCATORS MUST SET THEIR OWN HOUSES IN ORDER

What I am about to say will stir considerable controversy. Frequently I am asked if I do not think the large numbers who flunk out of college do not constitute a great national waste of manpower. The real waste is for colleges to continue to use funds for more buildings to house more and more incompetents who are bound to flunk out; or who, if they don't flunk, will drag down the level of performance. The problem which confronts us is one of intellectual honesty. It begins with secondary school headmasters who, with tongue in cheek, recommend for admission to college individuals whom they must know are not qualified for college.

Many college directors of admissions will tell you, in confidence, that the supply of fitted students is far from abundant. I could give cases in which principals have made parents, pupils, and college officials believe the young people were something they really were not. Many colleges with obviously abstruse recommendations; then left them for the college authorities to flunk out and send home. I am told that a certain prep school guarantees your son's admission to the college of his choice, or your money back. What that school does not guarantee is to keep the son in college!

PARENTS MUST BECOME MASTERS IN THEIR HOUSES

A college education for sons and daughters is eagerly sought today by many parents more as a mark of social accomplishment than for the learning the degree should represent. One college dean has said this about the attitude of parents whose children flunk: "The amazing reaction many times is: 'But my son just can't flunk; what will the neighbors think?'" Inferior educational preparation for college, or in college, cannot be cured just by raising teachers' salaries and building new buildings. First, there must be a rekindling of the will to learn—something parents have a lot more to do with than they think. Second, colleges must make of education a privilege, not a right. Perhaps Sputnik No. one will prove to have been our great educational Pearl Harbor, a jolt into the realization that for self-defense we had better become intellectually honest with one another.

YOUNG PEOPLE MUST SET UP SOUND VALUE GOALS

I wish thoughtful young people had more of an opportunity to speak out without fear of incriminating themselves with their teachers. One young man recently wrote a plaintive letter to the editor of a large city newspaper. In it he made a plea to the school committee of that city to stop wasting the time of talented students. He said that good teachers spend too much time with children who do not want to learn. His plea was to throw out the non-learners, to group homogeneously the bright children who want to learn, and to discipline severely those who would make a joke out of school.

Our young people must become very familiar with the fact that the "cold war" is a struggle of intellect. They must know why our schools must raise their standards, from the elementary

Oh Captain!

By HAL BOYLE

It Could Be Nice Place

NEW YORK (AP) — He was a typical guy from out of town, a fellow who wouldn't be noticed here.

He was small but well developed. His three ears were within hearing distance. His eyes—all four of them—though narrow and dark, had an air of utter simplicity.

The antennae that protruded from his forehead were borne with a boyish air, one tilted as if eager to hear from a world he never had heard from, one bent to feel the world he knew. His eyes, though green and protruding, seemed ordinary for a Monday in Manhattan. Those who noticed he had four arms during the subway crush tended to admire them and overlooked his other head.

Fortunately, his first reports back from his stranded flying saucer were recorded.

They follow: "The place called the earth is warm and habitable. At the hour of landing it was populated.

"The inhabitants range from large aggressive two-legged creatures who call themselves men to small aggressive creatures whom men call insects. The insects have six legs, and a vocabulary of their own, which this expedition is not momentarily able to understand.

"Earth seems to be involved in a time of struggle. They all have their rituals, the men and the insects, and they all seem to have their goals. The goal between the insects, and the men seems to be the same: extermination. Whether they have two or six legs, they are bent on destroying each other. "There appears no area of agreement. Some men fight other men, some insects fight other insects, all men fight all insects, some insects fight all men.

"It is a desperate place. The contending people argue whether one man wins against each other. They all assume that their war against each other is more important than their war against the insects.

"The insects attack all men, also many of their own kind, and they utilize their mandibles for food rather than discussion. They would rather digest than discourse.

"The people seem to feel that if they can just whip each other, they can then handle the insects. The insects rarely fight back. They fasten and feed.

"To summarize: earth is roughly spheroid, turns on an axis, slants, which determines its weather, is available for exploration.

Political assessment: positive. It could be made a nice rest resort by a higher power."

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE DEVINE PLAN

The Bible makes it plain that man is a fallen creature. Confronted at the beginning with the choice of learning through obedience or through experience, man chose to learn through experience. The tragic and bloody pages of history and the frustrations, sorrows, and despair of multitudes have been the result of this choice.

The so-called plan of salvation, therefore, is an attempt to restore man to something of the perfection from which he fell. He can never be restored entirely to perfection. The saved man continues as a sinner, even after his salvation takes place; but now he is a sinner fighting his sin, whereas in the unregenerate days he was a sinner yielding to his sin and cherishing it.

Christianity, at one and the same time, is both difficult to understand and easy. It is difficult because it deals with unseen realities about the essential nature of which we know little. It is easy to understand — so easy in fact, that a child can understand it — because it offers salvation to the sinner without his deserving to be saved.

The restoration of the sinner, souls. The ravages of past sins therefore, is the object of God's attempt to save men's souls. The ravages of past sins must be mended and healed. Equally important, the soul of the saved man must be reinforced and equipped with spiritual powers which will enable him to live a righteous life in the future.

Other Editors Saying --- Include All In United Fund

(Kinston Free Press)

United Community Fund leaders here have conferred with representatives of the Heart Fund, Cancer Society, the Crippled Children's Fund, the National Society for Infantile Paralysis and other non-member groups. The purpose is to encourage more agency participation in the Lenoir County United Fund.

The meeting sounded out the agency representation on views relative to United Fund participation. Most of these non-member agencies have held off in the past because of state or national reluctance to become a part of the United Fund. Yet local leaders and local canvassers do the work of these groups, just as they do for the United Fund. As far as the donors are concerned, it is generally the same ones who support all the agencies.

The health and research agencies have maintained that their educational campaigns, which coincide with the drives for funds, is the key to their success, hence they do not want to lose their identity in the general United Fund campaign. In many communities, however, these educational efforts have been successful merged with the United Fund and the latter's secretary has actually helped to make the work even more universal in scope.

As we understand it, the current effort to enlist the agencies conducting drives against dreaded diseases will be continued on the state and national levels. Many local groups have found it possible to set up independent chapters and to operate with the United Fund to mutual advantage. This is being encouraged, where national and state chapters are most adamant.

The important thing is that all benevolent and charitable agencies in the Fund, as well as the major oneshere which are not now included, are seeking to serve the general welfare. They need each other. One truly united fund would be welcomed by donors, workers and campaign leaders.

It is good that this new effort to reach that objective is now in progress and that it is meeting with favorable reaction among non-member groups.

A Day Of Business Look-Aheads

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here are more business look-aheads, based on analyses of developing situations and fortified by inquiries and other means: New merger wave. Some of those mergers you heard talked about a year or so ago may be revived, and many new ones may develop. This time it is not tax situations, but the fact that some weaker companies have been taking a beating in recent months. Mergers may save some of the assets — and face.

More proxy fights. They will start for similar reasons. Stockholders, dissatisfied with present earnings, will be less reluctant to sign proxies, giving reorganizers opportunities.

Mothproof wool. Chemists have developed a method of impregnating wool fibers with a colorless, odorless insecticide. Introduced during the dyeing process, the chemical can be "locked in" the fibers, giving wool clothing, carpets, etc., permanent resistance to moths and carpet beetles. Treated fabrics may be on the market late this year.

A gas turbine tractor. One is under development and has shown promises in tests. It's big, powerful and, while the initial cost may be high, eventual economy may result.

Easier money. Banks may be more willing to lend you money at rates you can afford — always assuming you have good security. Recent cuts in the Federal Reserve discount rates will soon be reflected in local business loans. Rates on personal loans, however, are likely to remain at present levels to offset a possible rise in delinquencies.

A rise in steel production. That's an easy prediction, because it can scarcely go much lower, now around 50 per cent of rated capacity. But many users have been living off inventory and are approaching the point at which they must increase orders.

NEW RISE IN IDLE A June rise in unemployment.

However, it will be largely technical. In June, thousands of graduates, plus thousands of undergrads seeking summer income, will pour on to the labor market. The number of undergrads will be especially high, because in families in which the breadwinner is out of work, youngsters and wives will be seeking employment. Thus, one laid-off worker can mean three, four or more persons listed as unemployed.

Plenty of honey. While severe winter killed off many colonies, supplies of packaged bees for beekeepers are adequate. One reason is that production of new colonies has increased in recent years because many keepers kill off colonies at the onset of winter, finding it cheaper to buy new colonies than to keep old ones until spring.

Crash treatment for auto salesmen. Auto manufacturers are becoming more distressed by the lack of hard salesmanship by dealers' men. A Newsweek survey tends to confirm suspicions that many are merely order-takers. You can expect salesmen's contests, retreat courses for salesmen and some strong hints that some franchises may be lost unless the dealer gets his men back on the old sales-call routine.

OLD PROMOTER INVENTS A WORD FOR TODAY

The Old Promoter dropped in again today and talked endlessly while we tried to get out a bright, scintillating, cogent column. At last he said, "I see, like most other people, you've got troubles?"

"Got what?" we demanded. "Troubles," he said. "It's a word I invented for the times, especially for businessmen. It means a combination of troubles and problems."

"We have a word for you," we replied. "It's 'exit' — meaning get out of here and let us write the new products department." Mumbling about man's inhumanity to man, he departed.

Chicago Art Institute Refuses To Exhibit Churchill Paintings

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (AP)—The Art Institute of Chicago declines to exhibit Winston Churchill's handiworks in oil, and the hue and cry falls on its director, Daniel Catton Rich.

Controversy is an old story to Rich, 54, a high priest in the art world. He adheres to the masters and significant works as a purist who believes that only time can determine the mettle of a master craftsman.

Rich was placed in the middle when the institute's 23 trustees, members of the staff and he turned thumbs down on an exhibit of Churchill's 35 oil paintings.

President Eisenhower had urged Churchill to assemble a team for an American exhibit.

The Churchill art has drawn moderate to large crowds at other museums in this country.

Now the Chicago Historical Society has opened its doors to the exhibit by an invitation from Andrew McNally III, its president.

Although this puts Daniel Catton Rich smack into the lion's den of art controversy, it's where he knows his way around.

When he says the institute has certain professional standards, he can point to the parade of the world's art treasures that have been displayed since 1939 when the "Masterspieces of Italian Art" attracted 265,679 visitors.

The Vincent Van Gogh exhibit of works gathered from many museums around the world was a high point among 14 outstanding exhibits since then. Works by Paul Cezanne, Henri Matisse, Toulouse-Lautrec and Pablo Picasso have been shown.

One of Rich's most controversial displays of recent years, 1954, stemmed from the 16th exhibit of American art that gave birth to "collage." The canvas shows a woman sitting with arms folded on the back of a chair.

Created by Corrado Marca-Relli, a New Yorker, it is a composition of tape and black paint glued to the canvas. It won the $2,000 purchase prize and now is the property of the museum.

While everyone laughed, Rich went about his usual poker-faced tranquility.

Regarding the trustees' rejection of the Churchill exhibit, Rich says, "I wouldn't say they refused it. They're just not showing it."

Daniel Catton Rich was born in South Bend, Ind. He and his wife Bertha have four children, all near college age.

He came to the art institute in 1927, edited its bulletin for 12 years, served as assistant curator of painting and sculpture and became director of the institute in 1945.

Missiles Slated Play Major Role In Air Defense

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force estimates that by the middle 1960s about 60 per cent of the air defense units will be missile units, with manned aircraft accounting for only 40 per cent.

The prediction came today in published testimony by Lt. Gen. G. S. Irvine, Air Force deputy chief of staff for material, before a House Military Appropriations subcommittee.

"The over-all combat force is presently equipped with approximately 70 per cent manned aircraft units and 1 per cent missile units," he said. "It is anticipated that in the mid-1960s the combat force will be equipped with approximately 65 per cent manned aircraft units and 35 per cent missile units."

"The Air Force does not contemplate phasing the aircraft out of the force structure in the foreseeable future."

Other Air Force officials also expressed, in their testimony, the belief that missiles never will supplant manned aircraft completely, even in the long-range strategic bombardment field. Even when the intercontinental ballistic missiles are perfected, these officials contend, a mixed force for strategic attack will be best using ICBMs, guided missiles and bombers for purposes of overwhelming an enemy's defense. Manned bombers would be used to pick out precision targets which could not be located with ballistic missiles.

The published testimony also contained these points:

1. The Air Force believes that with an appropriation of between 16 and 20 million dollars it can hit the moon with rockets sometime this year.

2. The cost of the nuclear bomber project has been revised downward from 250 to 150 million dollars because of a change in design. The other 100 million may be needed for a special airfield for the bomber's testing.

3. The Dynasoar missile-plane project upon which the Air Force is working will produce a man-carrying vehicle which can dart up into the edge of space at a speed of 17,000 miles per hour and circle the world.

VISIT CAVERNS—Stokes-Pactolus High School seniors of Stokes, N. C., under the sponsorship of Mr. G. V. Lewis, chaperone, pay a visit to Luray Caverns in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Shown in the depths of the earth in the Palace of Splendors Room of Luray Caverns, the students were told how this natural wonder was formed millions of years ago by an underground river.

Stock Market Showing Only A Mild Reaction

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Why does bad news have so little effect these days on the stock market?

Bethlehem Steel reported it didn't earn enough in the first three months of this year to cover its dividend rate. But the price of the stock scarcely wobbled.

Chrysler reported a net loss and cut its dividend. The price of its stock dropped $2 but then rallied a bit and there was no rush to unload.

Some see in this and in many recent like instances evidence that traders some time ago foresaw the bad news and revalued the stocks at that time.

Others see in the market's stubborn refusal to respond to bad news a sign that stock traders generally—and these include some of the big investing institutions—have decided that the business slump which the stock market foretold in its plunge last summer and fall is bottoming out and that an upturn will be coming along in due course. The prospect of more inflation plays a big part in this.

Although last week saw a flood of corporate profit and loss statements that leaned heavily to the bad side, stock prices as a whole shrugged the news off. The Associated Press stock price index opened the week at 165 and closed at 167, high for this year.

Because it is so basic the steel industry got particular attention. With one minor exception all of the 20 companies to report so far have shown declines in earnings from the first three months of 1957. Combined their profits this year are off 66 per cent. The largest U.S. Steel, reports tomorrow.

What stock traders paid attention to wasn't the expected drop in earnings but that Bethlehem Steel paid its usual dividend despite the profit slump because it was confident of a rebound which its officials say should start in the late summer and fall.

Chief cloud on this prospect is the wage hike due July 1. A basic seven cents an hour raise with various extras, including possible cost of living boosts, could bring the total to around 20 cents an hour. Some steelmen say this should be translated into a $10 a ton price hike if the profit line is to be held. Skeptics wonder if steel users will be in a position this summer to pay it.

Earnings of 14 companies producing other metals and 26 metal-working firms almost universally report lower earnings. Combined their profits this year are running 47 per cent behind the previous year. But expectations of better times a few months hence have sustained trading in most of their shares of late.

Steel's customers have been hurting—indeed that's the prime reason for the drop in steel production and profits. Most makers of machinery and tools show lower earnings of an average of 40 per cent and makers of home appliances report a like slump.

Most auto companies have felt the profit pinch—which couldn't come as a surprise to any stock trader or anyone else. With General Motors yet to be heard from, auto earnings are down 94 per cent from last year. Chrysler playing the big role in the drop.

But Chrysler has had such sharp swings in sales and profits in recent years that the stock market is inured to its being either a glamor boy or a sad sack.

And with the auto industry there is always next year. The stock market seems to be saying it believes 1959 will be better than 1958.

Miniature Train Startles Police

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Startled police halted a stray locomotive towing a small string of miniature railroad cars along a downtown street.

They identified the tuxedo-clad engineer as John O. Spice, 27, a Midland, Tex., Geologist. Splice sold officers he and a feminine companion, in evening dress, took the rolling stock from a parking lot after leaving a party.

The train is used during the day to take customers from the parking lot to a department store.

Spice was booked on a charge of operating an unregistered vehicle on a public road.

STIRRING MEETING
NAUGATUCK, Conn. (AP)—It has since been suggested he should have used a paring knife but when Mayor Adam T. Mengacci recently found himself without a gavel to open public hearing on the municipal budget he used a large wooden stirring spoon.

Arm Of Cardinal Stritch Amputated

ROME (AP)—The right arm of Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, was amputated just above the elbow today to check a blood clot. The 70-year-old prelate's condition was described as very good.

The 35-minute operation was performed by Dr. Pietro Valdoni, famed Italian surgeon who saved the life of Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti after an attempt to kill him 10 years ago.

Two Chicago physicians assisted in the surgery on the veteran churchman who was stricken aboard ship en route to take up his new duties as pro-prefect of the Vatican's worldwide mission activities. They were Dr. Ralph Bergen and Dr. John Keeley.

Dr. Filippo Rocchi of the Vatican medical staff, who also assisted, said the cardinal awoke soon after the operation and said he "was feeling fine and did not suffer any pain." Rocchi said the churchman probably would remain in the hospital about two weeks.

Pope Pius XII, who had sent his blessing and had been praying for his colleague, was notified at once of the success of the operation. The pontiff expressed his happiness at the news.

Shortly before the cardinal went under the knife, he was visited by the pontiff's personal physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi.

The cardinal, whose hand and lower forearm had been darkened and left lifeless by his ailment, was given the last rites of the church before the operation. It was emphasized that they were administered to provide spiritual fortification, not because his life was in danger.

A veteran church relic, the arm of St. Francis Xavier, was placed against the cardinal's stricken flesh last night and then kept in his room throughout the night before the amputation.

The cardinal was afflicted with a clot in the major artery of his arm which developed suddenly on the last two days of his voyage to Rome. Upon his arrival in Naples Friday, he was weak and pale and already had lost the use of his limb.

Priests attending the ailing prelate said he had remained in good spirits right up until the operation. He talked and joked with Magr. John Kelly and the Rev. John Banahan, two members of his party from Chicago, until he dozed off under the preoperative sedatives.

Predict Action If Spending Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—The heads of the nation's 12 Federal Reserve banks say "vigorous steps in the form of prompt-acting governmental measures would be indicated" if consumer spending is cut back substantially this spring.

Under such conditions, they said, "a substantial but temporary reduction in broadly based taxes would be most effective and appropriate." They spoke of cuts in personal income and corporation taxes and excise (sales) levies.

They also said that in any government public works program the stress should be on projects "that have been started and can readily be accelerated, or on projects that are past the planning stage and can be put into motion rapidly."

At the same time, they said, "The great danger in a public works program is that it will only attain substantial momentum after the greatest need has passed, and may then accentuate inflationary tendencies..."

The reserve bank presidents discussed anti-recession remedies in a joint reply to a questionnaire from Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Consumer spending was described as a key factor in the economic situation. The bank chiefs called it "the largest single element in the national economy."

Pravda Claims Big Three Block Summit Talks

LONDON (AP)—Pravda today accused the Western Big Three of blocking the Soviet-proposed summit talks.

In an article broadcast by Moscow radio, the Soviet Communist party organ declared there was "no other explanation for the demand of the three governments that the U.S.S.R. foreign minister should hold a preliminary exchange of views with the three Western ambassadors simultaneously."

"It is quite obvious," Pravda added, "that by putting forward these proposals the Western powers want all three states of the North Atlantic Alliance to participate on the one hand and only one state from the Warsaw Treaty Organization on the other. But what parity can there be under such conditions?"

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko proposed Saturday that Poland and Czechoslovakia join the ambassadors talks.

Proof Enough It Is Escape Proof

LEBANON, Ky. (AP)—The screened-in back seat of the city's police cruiser must be escape proof.

Patrolman James Violette and Dorsey Shouse, owner of a machine shop, climbed into the cage and made several adjustments—and discovered they were trapped.

There was no way to remove the screen from the rear and the back doors had no inside handles. A passer-by finally heard their shouts and released them.

Alienation Of Cat's Affection

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The shag rug that was her favorite resting place looked inviting to Miss Snuggles even though the Siamese cat spotted it reposing in an electrical dryer.

She hopped in for a snooze that was short-circuited by her owner, Mrs. Harvey Brown. Mrs. Brown turned on the dryer while checking her electrical current.

Now Miss Snuggles doesn't go near the shag rug.

grades up. Our colleges and universities should hold their admissions standards high, barring those who cannot qualify and flunking those who are looking for a four-year loaf on father. More selective admissions policies and a tightening of standards would find many colleges with much less of a teacher and building shortage problem than they now appear to have. It is not necessarily more money that our schools need.

Rebuilding Process Now Confronts Lana

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—And now Lana Turner starts to put together the pieces of her life.

That life was shattered on the ghimmarish Good Friday night when her daughter, Cheryl, 14, stabbed to death Lana's lover, Johnny Stompanato, at the climax of a savage quarrel.

Last Thursday, a judge cleared Cheryl of murder charges, but placed her in the care of her grandmother for two months. Thus the judge avoided for a time the decision of who gets custody of the troubled child—her mother, her father, Steve Crane, her grandmother or the State of California. What will the answer be?

No one knows, not even the judge. In juvenile cases, the child is of prime importance. What is best for the child is generally decided. But the fact that Cheryl has been given to her maternal grandmother would indicate that Lana has a good chance of regaining custody of her daughter.

Mrs. Mildred Turner, a frail, frightened woman, herself a victim of tragedy—her own husband was murdered—is close to her daughter. Lana has long supported Mrs. Turner, and they have always lived together or nearby.

If, as it seems very possible, Lana should resume custody of Cheryl, what then?

As guardian of Cheryl, she would have to lead an exemplary life. That means avoiding the bright lights and headlines which have followed Lana since she was "The Sweater Girl" at 16. It won't be easy to do.

For one thing, Lana finds herself in a unique position for her—without a man.

Lana has always had a man around. In her frank autobiography, she listed some of them: Victor Mature, Greg Bautzer, Tony Martin, Peter Lawford, Tyrone Power, Turhan Bey, Howard Hughes and Bob Hutton. Not to mention her four husbands: Artie Shaw, Steve Crane, Bob Topping and Lex Barker.

In the autobiography—which she later regretted and fired the press agent who suggested it—she said: "I think men are exciting and the gal who denies that men are exciting is either a lady with no corpuscles or a statue."

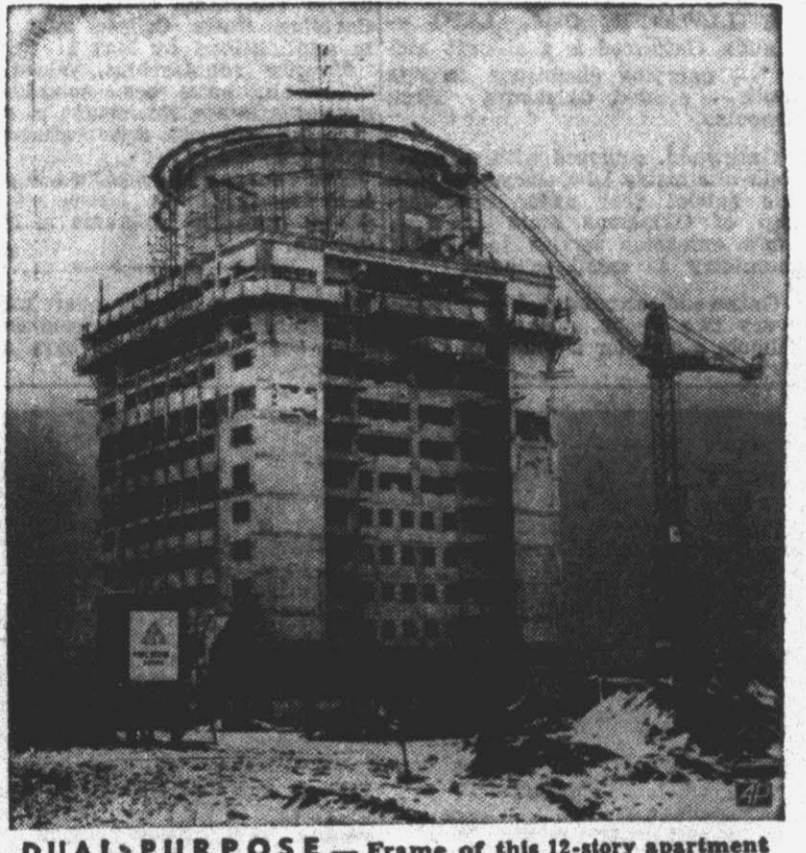

What happens now? A date will mean headlines and endanger custody of her daughter.

What happens, it's apparent that life will have no end of problems for Lana in the future.

Nixon On Tour In South America

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Vice President Richard Nixon today inaugurates an eight-nation tour of South America with a two-day visit to Uruguay—one of the Soviet Union's best potential customers in this hemisphere.

Nixon's arrival coincided with a turn to the Kremlin by this nation of 2½ million persons which, although agriculturally rich, is in the throes of an economic crisis.

Because of a drastic cutback in the Atlantic dollar-short Uruguay now is dickering with the Soviet Union for 10 tankerloads of petroleum and 2,000 tons of cotton. U.S. oil suppliers have been told Uruguay will be unable to pay dollars for oil before 1960. Payment to the Soviets will be made through sales of Uruguayan wool and meat.

Leaving Washington yesterday, Nixon told reporters that economic problems head the list for his 18-day good will sweep through Uruguay, Argentina, Paraguay, Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia and Venezuela.

The trip is built around the inauguration May 1 of Argentine President Arturo Frondizi. Nixon goes to Buenos Aires Wednesday. Argentina also has been dickering with the Soviet bloc because it has a dollar shortage.

En route to Montevideo, Nixon and his party stopped off briefly in Port of Spain, Trinidad, where he hailed the new Federation of the West Indies as the challenging opening of a new era.

Boss Of Bronx Youth Gang Is Accused In Gun Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—The leader of a Bronx youth gang is accused of the shotgun slaying of a rival youthful mobster.

Kicking and screaming after he was seized by detectives at a Bronx street corner, Ramon Serra, 30, was hauled to a police station, where he was charged last night with homicide.

Detectives accused Serra, president of the Egyptian Crews, as he tried to keep a stillwalk menacing with his 1958-1959 12-gauge friend.

The girl, Alice Bayron, had been seized by police to him.

Serra made a feeble effort to reach a Billy himself automatic pistol, which he had in his belt, before surrendering.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Daniel W. Sullivan said he would ask a first-degree murder indictment.

Serra, who wore a star earring in his left earlobe, gave police this account of how he killed Michael Ramos, 17, in a Bronx candy store Saturday night:

"I asked him if he was looking for me and he gave me a bad look. He looked at me from my head to my toes and I shot him."

Ramos had visits in three youth gangs. He had testified for the prosecution during the recent trial of seven gang members, charged in the killing of Mitchell Farmer, a 17-year-old youth. But Deputy Police Inspector John W. Halk said: "There is definitely no connection between the (Ramos) death and the Farmer case."

Detectives said the Ramos slaying stemmed from the shotgun wounding two weeks ago of Carlos Candelario, 17, of the Bronx.

Candelario, a member of Serra's gang, was gravely wounded in a gang dispute. Henry Retorico, 15, member of one of Ramos' gangs, has been accused of the shooting.

Detectives said Ramos asked Serra that there be no retaliation for the shooting.

"I didn't go for that jazz," Serra, a handler at a banana company, was quoted as saying.

Police said he told them: "It was all a mistake. My finger tightened on the trigger and it went off."

Asked if he was sorry, Serra said, "Yeah."

Perplexity Over Stealing In U.S.

The victim, Mrs. Agnes F. Schaeper, said she came to the United States in 1956 after service with American counter-intelligence in Europe.

Detectives said Ramos asked Serra that there be no retaliation for the shooting.

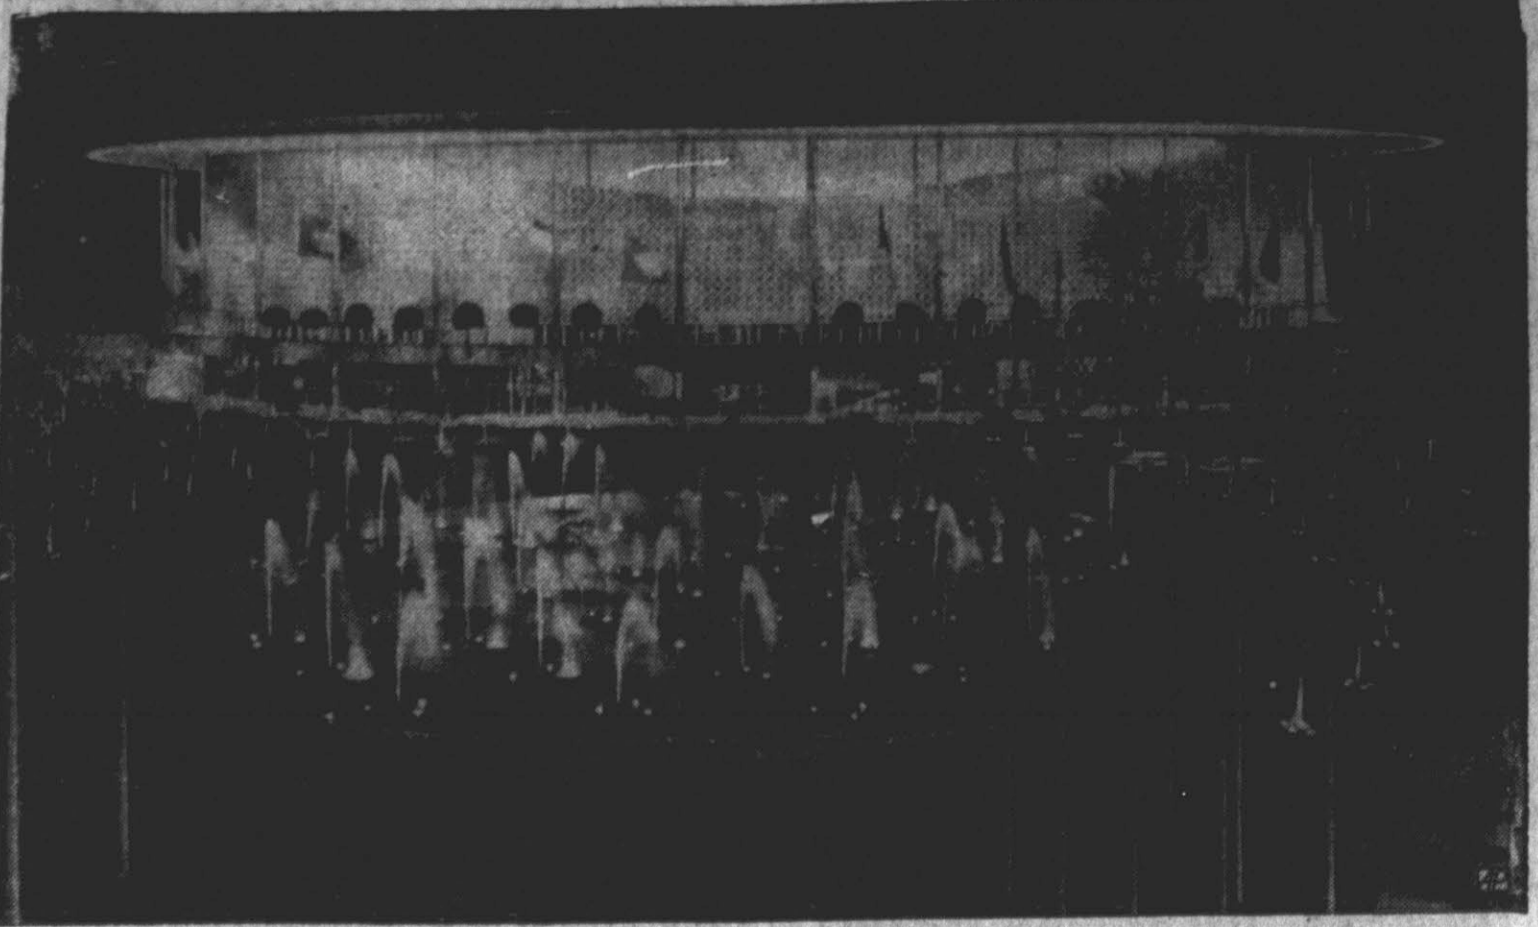

"I didn't go for that jazz," Serra, a handler at a banana company, was quoted as saying.

Police said he told them: "It was all a mistake. My finger tightened on the trigger and it went off."

Some 23 Thousand Hear Billy Graham Talk

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Twenty-three thousand people overflowed the Cow Palace Sunday to hear Billy Graham, opening his West Coast crusade, exhorting the ages as one trying tranquilizers instead of God.

"We are taking tranquilizer pills to quiet us, sleeping pills to put us to sleep, benzedrine to wake us in the morning and aspirin in between," the North Carolina evangelist told 18,000 jamming the stock pavilion's 30,100 square feet.

"Our generation needs God more than any generation in history . . . Psychiatrists are doing such a big business that they are going to each other for help."

Graham said it again outside the pavilion in a condensed sermon for 5,000 who couldn't get in. Another 2,000 cars were turned away by police at the gates. At one time, officers said, cars were lined up three abreast for six miles trying to get to this West-show or to entertain you." Graham said.

"You have been listening to the voice of the diplomat, the scientist, the psychiatrist, the sociologist and the military commander. It is time you listened to the voice of Almighty God."

Bucs Dump High Point 13-2, Playing Catawba Today

High Point, Duke Here Wednesday

East Carolina was knocked out of the lead position in the North Carolina State Conference baseball race last Friday when Elon dumped the Bucs 5-4. Saturday night, the Bucs blasted High Point 13-2 to serve notice on the rest of the loop that they were not to be counted out. But the damaged had been done.

The lop-sided victory over High Point gave the Bucs a 5-1 North State Record, but defending champion Elon had also tied Catawba 4-4 and whipped High Point and Guilford to push its mark to 8-1. Catawba, which has been among the top three throughout the early season, is still in the third slot with a 3-1 record.

AT CATAWBA TODAY Today, the Pirates battle Catawba at Salisbury in a game that could possibly eliminate one or the other of the two teams from the race. Coach Jim Mallory is expected to start Bruce Shelley against the Indians.

Expected to be in the eBuc lineup this afternoon at Salisbury are Ben Baker and Marion Talton at the batteries; Jimmy Martin at first base; Al Vaughn at second base; Jerry Stewart at shortstop; Bucky Reep at third base; Tommy Nance left field; Bill Altam or Tommy Land in centerfield; Johnny Jones in rightfield.

Wednesday will be a big day for the Pirates in Greenville. On Wednesday afternoon, the Bucs will tangle with High Point again at College Field, and then will play host to Duke University at Guy Smith Stadium on Wednesday night.

When Mallory left Friday on his road trip to Elon High Point and Catawba, he said that he would not know who his Wednesday starters would be until he found out how his pitchers did on the trip. If Shelley can handle the Catawba situation this afternoon, Mallory will be able to pick from Baker, Lilley, and Williams for his two Wednesday tilts. There is also a possibility that the coach will try to use Mitchell Moon, a freshman mound ace who has yet to see action.

ABOUT DUKE The largest Greenville crowd of the season is expected to jam Guy Smith Stadium Wednesday night to witness the EEC-Duke encounter. It will mark the first time the Duke club has played against the Pirates in Greenville.

Coach Ace Parker's Blue Devils won the Atlantic Coast Conference title in 1957 and led the league throughout the early part of this season. They are currently ranked third behind North Carolina and Clemson in the race, now.

Parker has many friends in Greenville. In 1935-36, the Ace played baseball in the Old Coastal Plain Amateur league at Greenville, along with a host of other Eastern North Carolinians. An interesting note about that old league ballplayers, including such standouts as Charlie Keller, Jim Tabor, Chubby Dean, Billy Hitchcock, Wayne Ambler, and Parker himself. Other players who made a place for themselves in the coaching ranks who were in the loop were Carolina's Jim Tatum and Walter Rapp.

HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL Parker has been quite successful at Duke since that time. HeH took over the reins at Duke as Head Baseball coach five years ago and has claimed three ACC titles since then.

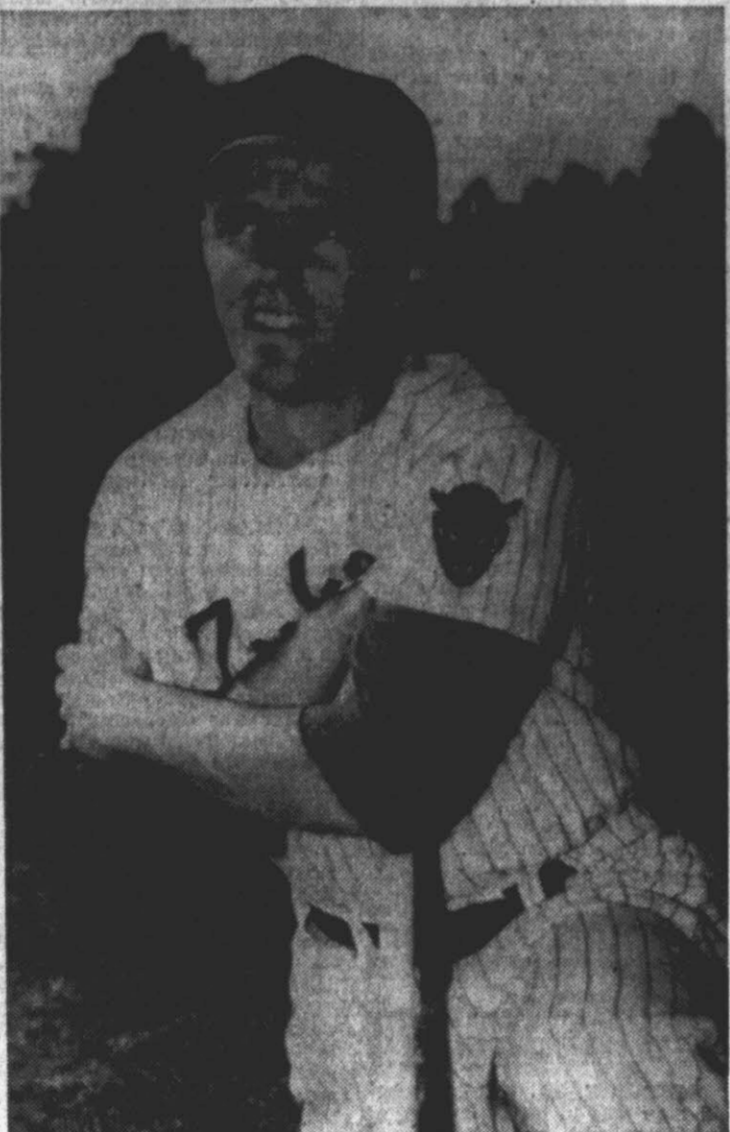

It was Duke University which played the first game of baseball ever played in Guy Smith Stadium. The Blue Dukes played Wake Forest in the dedication contest which opened the stadium almost twenty years ago. They have not played there since.

And so, it will be something of a homecoming for Parker and the Devils, Wednesday night.

UNC Isn't Handy With A Bat, But--

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Hickory, shillelagh, club, the ash—call it what you will, the North Carolina Tar Heels just aren't very handy in swinging it at incoming baseballs.

As last week's Atlantic Coast Conference games ended, North Carolina's team batting average for all games this season was .221. Yet the Tar Heels today are on top of the ACC with a fighting chance to stay there through the seven games remaining on their schedule.

In putting together a 5-1 conference record North Carolina has scored only 23 runs, or an average of less than four a game. But Tar Heel pitchers have held the opposition to an average of two. In all games, the squad is 13-5 and has averaged 5.5 runs a game to the opponents' 3.9.

Duke, 6-2 in the conference, is still a threat but has not been a consistent winner any time this season. Erskine was at South Carolina for a double-header today in the only games involving an ACC team. The rest of the week's schedule:

Tuesday—North Carolina at North Carolina State, Georgia Tech at Clemson, Duke at Wake Forest (night). Wednesday—Duke at East Carolina, The Citadel at South Carolina, Maryland at Virginia. Thursday—Maryland at N.C. State, Clemson at Duke, South Carolina at Newberry. Friday—Maryland at North Carolina, South Carolina at N.C. State, Clemson at Duke, Virginia at Wake Forest. Saturday—South Carolina at Duke, Maryland at Wake Forest, Clemson at N.C. State, Virginia at North Carolina.

Johnny Podres went all the way for Los Angeles, spacing 10 Cardinals hits for his third straight victory. Four double plays helped him immeasurably. In other weekend games Danville beat Raleigh 12-4, Durham edged Greensboro 2-1, Winston-Salem blanked Burlington 3-0, and the Hi-Toms defeated Wilson 1-0.

Says Detroit Has Improved By 25%

Despite Detroit's wretched spring showing, Manager Jack Tighe stoutly maintains his Tigers are at least 25 per cent improved over last year. Why? "Among other things," he said, "we have a much better bench. Last year our bench was a joke. The guys used to hide when I'd be looking for a pinch hitter. This year they march up and down in front of me so I can see them."

No one could blame the bald-headed little guy if he gloated a bit after his Tigers' 9-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians Sunday.

Playing with four reserves in the starting lineup, the Tigers assaulted six Cleveland pitchers for 14 hits as they ended the Indians' four-game winning streak and climbed into a fourth-place tie with the Tribesmen.

In the only other league action, Boston crawled out of the cellar, beating Washington for the first time this season, 7-5.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs snapped San Francisco's four-game winning streak 5-4, but the Giants stayed in first place as Jack Sanford pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-2 success over Milwaukee.

The Los Angeles Dodgers walloped St. Louis 10-3. The limping Tigers, having dropped two straight to Cleveland, took the field with reserves Mill Bolling at shortstop, Gail Harris at first base, Gus Zernial in left field and Tim Thompson behind the plate. Harris walloped three hits, including a double, and drove in a run. Bolling rapped two hits, and Zernial got two and drove in two runs. Thompson didn't hit but he handled Billy Hoelt well as the left-hander chalked up his second triumph without a defeat.

The Tigers broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth when pinch hitter Lou Skizas walked and raced to third on Harvey Kuenn's double. Singles by Zernial and Harris scored both.

Dave Sisler picked up Boston's victory but he needed help from Murray Wall when the Senators racked him up for all five of their runs. The Red Sox already had amassed seven runs off starter Russ Kemmerer and Bud Beyerly. Wall put down the big rally by Washington. Frank Malone homered and singled for the winners. Other games were rained out.

Phantomites Begin Season

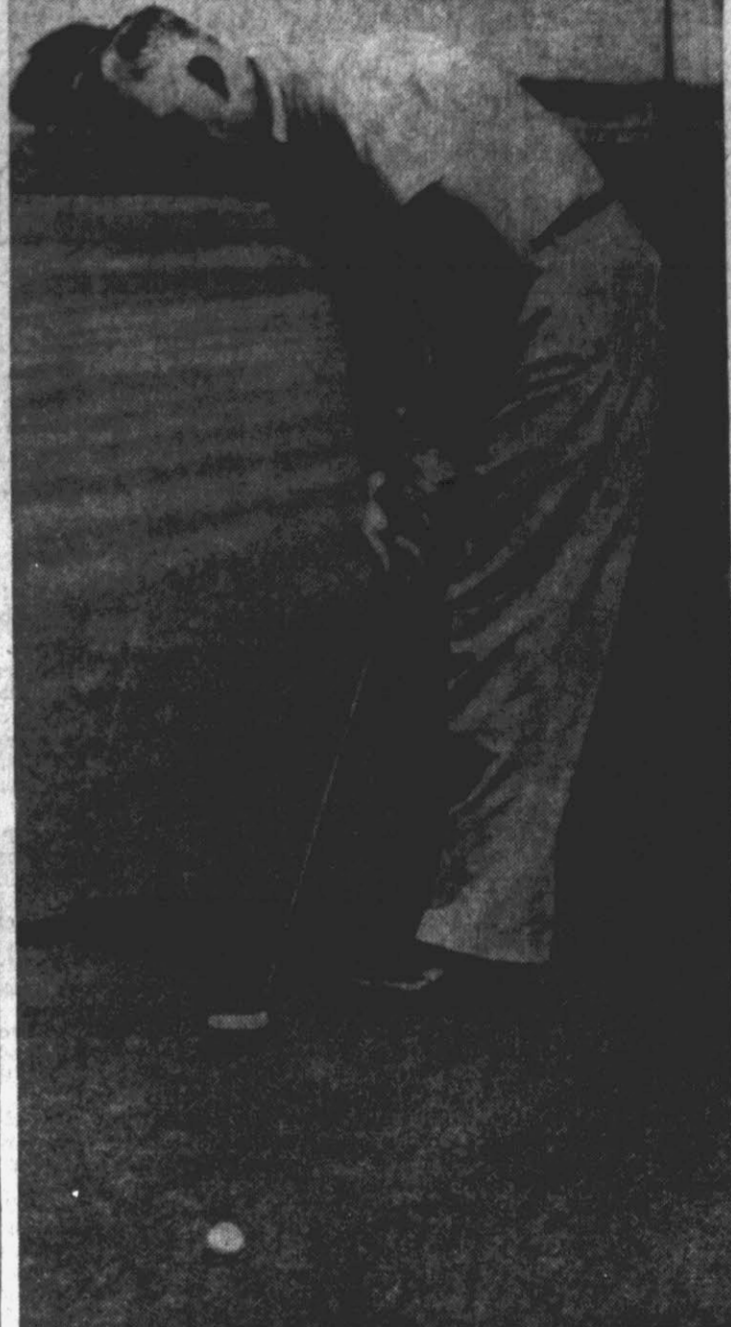

Coach Milton Reece's Junior high school Phantomite baseball team will open its season tomorrow afternoon at Guy Smith Stadium against Chico, at 4:00. At present, Reece has his club lined up for four contests, including tomorrow's; they are with Falkland (there, May 2), Chico (there, May 8) and Falkland (here May 9).

Pam Pack Here Tomorrow

Greenville's Rose High School Phantomites, leading the Northeastern Conference baseball race with a 5-1 record, will play host to Washington at Brookgreen Field tomorrow afternoon. The Phants, who dropped their first game this past weekend at New Bern, have defeated Washington once in an earlier game at Washington. Expected to pitch tomorrow for Coach Boley Farley's club will be Merrill Bynum (3-0).

Pairings for the five flights of the tournament are posted on the bulletin at the local Country Club. There will be five flights, with 32 players in the championship flight and 16 players each in the other four. First round losers of the championship flight will mace up the first flight. First round matches will be played through Sunday, May 3. Succeeding matches will be played each week following. Donald Conley Jr., a student at North Carolina State College and a Greenville native, is the tournament's defending champion. A junior tournament is also being played as a sidelight to the major tourney. The tournament includes boys of 16 years of age and under. East Germany's Teachers Flee

BERLIN (AP)—The stepped-up campaign to communize East Germany's schools and universities has started a mass flight of scientists and teachers to the west. More than 60 scientists escaped to West Germany in the first 100 days of this year. There were about 25 in all 1957. Scientists and teachers in other fields now are seeking political asylum in West Berlin's refugee centers at the rate of several a day. East Germany's Stalinist regime touched off the exodus with its sweeping effort to purge Western influences from the educational system. Previously technical schools were allowed to carry on pretty much in the traditional manner as long as they kept turning out trained manpower. Many teachers have chosen to flee westward rather than bow to demands that they become Communists, abandon religious affiliations, and pressure students into supporting the satellite regime. Refugees say the Reds have failed to buy the loyalties of many professors despite large salaries and comforts lavished on them. Salaries paid scientists and teachers in East Germany average well above those in West Germany. The Free Jurists, a West Berlin intelligence agency, says the Stalinist regime still needs teachers and scientists so badly that it has held off arresting known anti-Communists.

Unreliable Backers Seen Asking Ike Endorse Them

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently will be asked to campaign this fall for some Senate and House Republicans who have given his legislative program considerably less than 100 per cent support. Chairmen of the Senate and House GOP campaign committees are understood to be working now on arrangements they hope will lead to active participation by the President in the battle for control of Congress. The two chairmen—Sen. Schoepel (R-Kan.) and Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.)—have made it plain that they do not consider all-out backing for Eisenhower's legislative proposals as a prerequisite for their committees' help to candidates. But campaign leaders are reported to feel that strategically placed and spaced visits by Eisenhower to doubtful territory will add political zest to their uphill battle. From a practical standpoint, they realize that even those GOP candidates who have disagreed openly with the President on his handling of the economic recession are likely to be swept along on whatever political tide is running at election time. If Eisenhower's calculations that there will be a business upturn and a drop in unemployment by fall are correct—and Schoepel is betting they are—most Republican candidates probably will be emphasizing that the GOP President refused to be panicked by Democratic demands for more massive and costly measures against the recession. If the economy is stagnant or still sliding, few political strategists believe individual Republicans who called for more spending or tax cutting can escape the political consequences of what then is likely to be regarded as the administration's bad guess. On the other hand, Democrats generally feel they have little to lose by advocating much more drastic anti-recession measures than Eisenhower thus far has been willing to undertake. If the economy comes out of the doldrums, these Democrats feel they are in the position to say that recovery would have been swifter if their advice had been followed. If the trend still is down next fall, they are prepared to blame all Republicans along with Eisenhower.

Husky-Voiced Singers Damaging Vocal Cords

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The husky, low-pitched, sexy voice now so much in demand in popular music is ruining a lot of vocal cords, says a Stanford University throat specialist. Yelling and cheer leading also are playing their parts and should be abolished, he asserted. The damage comes from repeatedly putting too much tension on the cords, Dr. Paul J. Moses of San Francisco told the California Medical Assn. A woman singer with a normal soprano voice, for instance, puts added strain on the inner vocal cords when she drops into the lower register and does part of her singing by allowing air to escape from her throat to accent the huskiness, Dr. Moses said. Singing, he asserted, is not a matter of breathing but a stimulation of the cords by a part of the brain. In natural singing the cords are closed and no air escapes, he said. But in the throaty renditions requiring the escape of air the cords have to open. This produces a strain which can cause the growth of nodes or small lumps of tissue on the cords, Dr. Moses said. These nodes can be removed surgically but there is no certainty that the cords can be restored to their original shape and effectiveness, the specialist asserted. Psychological factors can cause rapid changes in voice pitch and can influence greatly the performance of a singer, Dr. Moses said. Variations in gland functioning also can be a big influence. The pitch of a woman's voice goes down during pregnancy and some women sing better during their menstrual periods, he asserted. Even a cold can cause some people's singing voice to improve in quality, he said.

Somebody Goofed At Spelling Bee

BALTIMORE (AP)—Somebody goofed at the spelling bee—and it wasn't only the losing contestants. Part way through the Sunpapers contest it was discovered the word list being used contained at least four misspelled words. Young Stephen Nichols spelled "ophthalmologist" correctly but was called down on the basis of the incorrect list. It showed the word began "oph--" etc. When the error was discovered Stephen was reinstated and went on to win the Baltimore County title.

Holding Suspect In Two Slayings

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (AP)—A 41-year-old man was in police custody today for questioning about the mysterious slayings of two men and the wounding of a woman. Arthur G. Schuck of nearby Baden was taken into custody a short while after William Engel, 44, Ambridge, and Vincent Quigley, 34, Economy, were shot to death and Miss Angelina Pugliano, 33, Fair Oaks, was wounded. The three were shot in ambush as their car backed into a driveway a few doors from Quigley's home in Economy about 25 miles northwest of Pittsburgh. Dist. Atty. Richard Steward said he had information indicating the shooting was a case of mistaken identity, but he declined to elaborate. Police said Schuck appeared to be in a stupor and refused to answer questions. Engel, part owner of a machinery parts firm, and Miss Pugliano, his date, were believed to have been taking Quigley home when the shooting occurred. Steward said the gunman was waiting in a car when Engel's car approached. As Engel backed into a driveway to turn around, Steward said, the gunman fired five shots at close range. Because of an increasing number of traffic fatalities, automobiles in Sweden are now being equipped more and more with safety belts.

British Savings Grow Tenfold

LONDON (AP)—The government may have its financial headaches, but Britishe's savings have grown tenfold since 1950—in the face of ever increasing prices. Eight years ago families here were putting away only 4 shillings (56 cents) a week on the average. Last year they saved 42 shillings ($5.38) every week. Britain's official economic survey for 1958 revealed there was a balance of personal savings last year of more than $4,480,000,000, representing between 10 and 11 per cent of personal income after taxes.

Trouble With Driving, Spelling

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP)—Not only do college students who come into Municipal Judge Edward G. McClain's court have trouble with driving, but with their spelling, too. The judge says checks in payment of traffic fines have turned up with the name of the court spelled in these ways: "Municipel, Maniciple, Miniuscule, Manisable and Minisissable."

erning their respective trades. Each proposal shall be accompanied by cash deposit or certified check drawn on some bank or trust company insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation of an equal amount to not less than 5% of the proposal or in lieu thereof. A bidder may submit a bid bond in the amount of 5% of the bid executed by a surety company licensed under the laws of North Carolina. Said deposit shall be retained by the owner as liquidated damages in the event of failure of the successful bidder to execute the contract within ten (10) days after the award or to give satisfactory surety as required by law (General Statute of North Carolina C 143, Article 8-5-129). Performance bond will be required for one hundred per cent (100%) of the contract price. Payment will be made on the basis of ninety-five per cent (95%) of the monthly estimates and final payment made upon completion and acceptance of the work. No bid may be withdrawn after the schedule closing time for the receipt of bids for a period of thirty (30) days. The owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive informalities. F. Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

Judge Charles H. Whedbee and Solicitor Eli Bloom disposed of 16 cases in Municipal Recorder's Court Friday. Fourteen of them involved violations of motor vehicle and traffic laws. Five defendants were up for failure to have city automobile license tags.

Failure to have city auto license tags: George N. Bowkley, 113 Coatsche Street, Lloyd W. Strawn, 1601 East Fourth Street, Nancy T. Fleming, Beaumont Road, Ruth H. Clifton, Colonial Heights, each paid $5; Ernest Watson, Negro, 210 East Second, and Rosa Warren, Negro, 215 East Second Street, in the last two cases judgment was continued on payment of $5.

Council Brown Jr., 1106-B Jones Street, no operator's license, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs; Albert Hopkins, Negro, R-1, Stokes, no brakes, prayer for judgment continued on payment, and he is not to drive with out good brakes. For careless and reckless driving, the court gave Hopkins 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. He is not to drive for two weeks, and the court assigned him to attend the Driver Training Clinic.

Speeding: Charles L. Bland, Bethel, Kenneth R. Beacham, Hampton, Va., and William H. Taylor, Chocowinity, and Needham W. Bradshaw, Portsmouth, Va., each paid costs.

James F. Webb, address unknown to police, failure to stop at a stop sign, prayer for judgment continued on payment of $10. Drunk: Johnny Moe, 107 Dudley Street, and Ella Ruth Barrow, 1304 Railroad Street, each 30 days in jail or pay $16.

UAW Seeks Reduced Car Prices, --Benefits

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers were expected to offer the auto industry a three-month contract extension today in return for a cut in car prices and a boost in unemployment benefits.

The reported plan, to be served on General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp., would extend present contracts from the end of next month until Sept. 8.

In return, the auto builders would be asked to slash car prices by an unspecified amount and increase supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) from the present 60 to 65 per cent of worker take-home pay to 80 per cent.

Some 450,000 of the UAW's 1,250,000 members now are laid off.

If the industry accepts the contract extension, the current pacts would run out just as it was ready to introduce its 1959 models. Observers said this would give the UAW a bargaining advantage since so many UAW members now are laid off and a strike at this time to back up contract demands would do little more than help the industry cut production of an already overstocked market.

A General Motors spokesman, told of the reported offer, said: "The way it reads I don't think we'd go for it." Ford and Chrysler declined comment.

Find 'Probable Cause' In Case

Charged with the larceny of a truck over the weekend, William Ralph Myers 22-year-old Negro of 1505-B Fleming Street has been bound over to the next term of Pitt County Superior Court.

Myers was given a preliminary hearing this morning before Judge Charles H. Whedbee who found probable cause and ordered him held for Grand Jury action. He was released under a $300 bond.

In addition to the larceny charge, the defendant was charged with careless and reckless driving, no operators license and leaving the scene of an accident, failing to report same. These charges came about as a result of an accident on West Third Street involving the truck reportedly stolen by Myers.

Judge Whedbee sentenced Myers to 30 days in jail on each charge of careless and reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Another 30-day jail sentence was handed down on the no operators license charge to run concurrent with the initial sentence. The defendant appealed to Pitt Superior Court.

The wreck involving the stolen truck owned by Mable Oler Lang, Negro woman of 1210 Davenport, and a parked automobile owned by Lewis Hem. Baker of 203 Millbrook Street, took place at 6:35 a. m. yesterday. Baker's car was parked in the Carolina Dairy's Service Department's lot on West Third Street.

Damage to the front and left side of the car was estimated to be $800. Investigating officers reported $400 damage to the front of the stolen pickup truck.

Myers, who denied stealing the truck, suffered lacerations of the head and a fractured collar bone. He was arrested last night by city police near his Fleming Street home.

GREENVILLE UTILITIES COMMISSION

Electricity Today's Biggest Bargain

Cooking School Will Open Doors Here Tuesday

Open To The Public; No Admission Price

Greenville's first Cooking School in a number of years will open its doors Tuesday to an estimated 300 ladies who will attend during the three-day school.

Sponsored by Greenville Utilities Commission and local appliance dealers and merchants, the cooking school will be conducted Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the National Guard Armory here.

A two-hour demonstration of cooking and use of household appliances will be conducted each of the three days by home economists of Virginia Power and Light Company.

"The cooking school is designed to bring to the attention of the general public efficient and effective cooking with electricity and to point out the improved efficiency of new electric appliances for the home," said Leonard Bloxam, superintendent of Greenville Utilities.

"The school is open to all the public. There will be no admission charge and no advanced registration is required," Bloxam stated. "We hope the people will respond to the program and we feel it will be interesting, instructing and worthwhile for all who attend."

The school will be conducted for whites on Tuesday and Wednesday and for Negroes on Thursday.

MISS HILDA APPLE

a number of free gifts will be presented those attending the school. One major appliance will be presented each day to some person attending the cooking school. In addition there will be small appliances, food baskets and other gifts presented to participants during each session of the cooking school. Free refreshments will be served each day.

Local appliance dealers and merchants will have individual booths at the cooking school displaying and demonstrating their merchandise. Approximately 25 appliance dealers and merchants are participating in the sponsorship of the school.

Miss Hilda Apple and Mrs. Sylvia Matthews, home economists for Virginia Electric Power Company and experts in use of home appliances, will conduct the cooking school assisted by members of the Home Economics Department of East Carolina College.

During each of the two-hour sessions of the cooking school, the home economists will prepare a variety of complete meals using the various cooking methods offered by electric ranges. During the sessions also Miss Apple and Mrs. Matthews will demonstrate proper useage home laundry equipment, other major home appliances and small appliances for the kitchen and the home.

"There are many ladies in this area who have not had the opportunity in recent years to attend a cooking school," Bloxam said. "Through the cooperation of the Greenville Utilities Commission and local appliance dealers and merchants, this school is being made available. We hope as many as possible of the ladies of Pitt County will take advantage of this opportunity. With sufficient response at this first cooperative cooking school, we hope to make it an annual event.

Bloxam said preparations have been made to accommodate some three hundred participants at each of the three sessions of the cooking school.

"It takes only two hours to attend one of the sessions of the cooking school," Bloxam said, "and we are sure every lady who attends will be delighted with the demonstrations, information and program planned for the school."

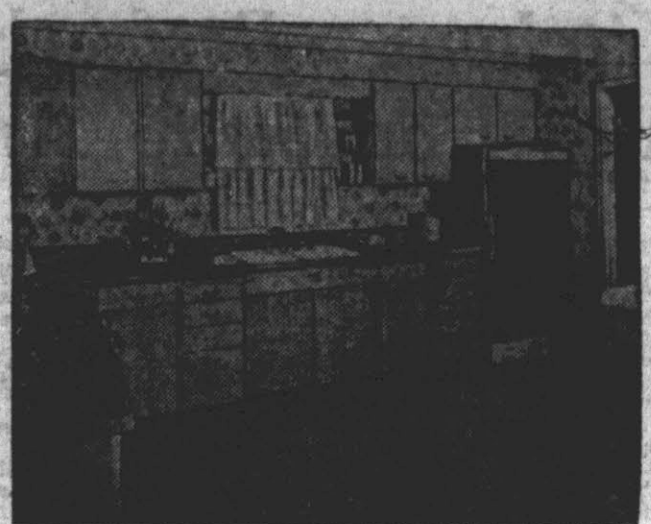

VEGETABLE COOKERY

Deep skillets with dome-type covers make perfect vegetable cookers. Because the covers fit tightly, they help retain moisture during the cooking, and only a small amount of water need be used. Broccoli and asparagus stalks may be laid flat in such a skillet, and if their fibrous outer covering has been pared off, tops and bottoms of the vegetables will cook in the same time.

Fit Any Need

FOR YOUR KITCHEN—New or old, you can select component cooking units for every kitchen floor plan and every need. Versatile arrangements can be achieved by new "stack-on" ovens mounted on base cabinets. Companion two-and-four burner cooking range tops and griddles can be flush-mounted to cabinets in conventional arrangements or as separate units to suit your fancy.

A FINE FURNITURE FINISH enhances the practical aspects of these kitchen installations. Natural wood finishes for the kitchen are increasing in popularity! Here a natural fruit-wood finish is a perfect foil for any color or special decor. Inside surfaces of cabinet doors are protected also by this rich durable finish, so that no beauty is lost when the doors are open.

MRS. SYLVIA MATTHEWS

The Tuesday session of the cooking school will be held from 10 a.m. until noon; the Wednesday session from 2 to 4 p.m. and the Thursday session from 2 to 4 p.m.

Bloxam explained that anyone may attend one or more sessions of the cooking school.

In addition to the demonstrations in cooking and use of electrical appliances planned each day,

Easier Than Ever To Have A 'Dream Kitchen'

Kitchens -- Perfectly Suited To Any Housewife Are Waiting

By LAWRENCE GRALLA

Editor, Kitchen Business Magazine
How many times have you heard the phrase "dream kitchen"?

That's how many housewives describe the spacious, modern, convenient and perfectly decorated kitchens they've seen in magazines, new homes and showrooms.

Too many of us are accustomed to using the term "dream kitchen" with the thought that we can always hope and dream to own one, but probably never will.

That type of thinking is outdated. It's now easier than ever to plan your own complete new kitchen, perfectly suited to your own living habits and requirements, to have it installed with professional perfection to assure lasting dependability, and to arrange payments over a long period of time with no money down.

Your First Question

Naturally, your first question is: "Who can I get to do all this for me?" The answer is: Your local kitchen dealer. You'll find him listed in the yellow pages of your local phone book. He'll give you plenty of free help and advice all along the way, and after you've made your decision and are ready to convert your "dream kitchen" into reality, he'll arrange the whole job so that you don't have to bother with signing contracts with many different tradesmen to have your new kitchen completed.

Here is a review of the services you may expect from your kitchen dealer.

First, he has one or several displays of completely equipped kitchens, to help give you ideas on better storage, cooking facilities, color combinations and layout for your new kitchen. At no obligation, he will spend minutes or hours showing you through the displays and fully demonstrating such features as decorator-correct color combinations, a variety of wall and base cabinets for all storage needs; built-in cooking equipment; automatic disposers that shred food waste and flush it down the sink drain; easy-to-clean work surfaces that require a minimum of maintenance; dishwashers that end forever that after-dinner drudgery.

Second, he will offer — again at no obligation — to measure and make a complete inspection of your existing kitchen. At this time he will question you on your needs, use of kitchen, size of family, and anything else that may have a bearing on what your modernized kitchen should include.

Will Show Plan

Third, he will make and show you a scale plan — or possibly a drawing — of what your remodeled kitchen should look like. He'll explain what's included, and how he has tried to combine sound, step-saving kitchen planning with your own individual preferences and tastes.

Until you accept and are fully satisfied with this plan, you are not obligated in any way.

If you decide to go ahead, you will be surprised at the simple financing terms available. Your kitchen dealer will explain to you one or more plans by which, if you wish, you pay no money down, and stretch the payments to as long as 36 months, beginning after installation and approval of your kitchen.

The size of your payment will depend, naturally, on the type and amount of equipment you select for your new kitchen, but you'll find the dealer quite co-operative in modifying his plans to fit your budget perfectly. Many dealers will sell and install a low-cost "starter kitchen" consisting of sink and cabinets, based on plans which enable you to add equipment as you desire at later dates.

Once you do approve layout and specifications for your modernized kitchen, the dealer has another service for you. If you wish, he'll handle the whole job for you, making full arrangements for plumbing, carpentry, plastering, wiring, tile setting, and counter tops. Thus you can rest assured that one firm has responsibility and authority to coordinate the whole job according to plan and avoid any errors or lengthy disruption of your household during the remodeling process.

Check Up Call

Another service rendered by good steel kitchen dealers is the call-back to your home after the new kitchen is complete, to see whether everything is functioning properly, whether you're fully utilizing the many work-saving and time-saving features of your kitchen, and to answer any questions you may still have.

So don't wait any longer for that "dream kitchen." Your steel kitchen dealer will give you all the help you need to make it a reality now.

KEYSTONE OF THE DREAM KITCHEN is the modern cabinet sink. Replace your old sink with a new cabinet model to put increased efficiency into your existing kitchen and make the room so much more pleasant to work in.

New Detergents For The Difficult Stains

Early this year an entirely new class of laundry and household cleaning product made its appearance — the heavy-duty liquid detergent. The new liquid synthetic detergents are safe for all laundry but will remove difficult stains better than powder products. According to manufacturers, the new liquids also have the ability to restore nylon lingerie, yet are effective for household tasks like cleaning walls and stoves.

Manufacturers urge that particular attention be paid to instructions. For example, most of them point out that too much of any product interferes with proper washing, strains washing machine motors and is difficult to rinse out, leaving clothes dull looking and stiff feeling.

Kitchen, Laundry Being Combined In New Homes

Is your home laundry where you want it to be?

A majority of laundries today are still in the basement, but the trend is toward the combined kitchen-laundry in new or remodeled homes.

With modern appliances, cooking and laundry can be done at the same time and in the same room while the lady of the house is busy at still other tasks.

The new matched washers and dryers placed side by side give added counter top working space in the kitchen. And the colors can match the other appliances, carrying out your decorating scheme to the letter.

Beauty and Efficiency

Now that water heaters are coming in new chapes and matching colors, the laundry center as part of the kitchen can be a definite addition beauty-wise, as well as for efficiency. It's a good idea to have the water heater close to machines using the hottest water to prevent loss of heat as the water travels.

If you're planning a new kitchen, it's easy to work in your laundry. If you're remodeling an old kitchen, you may have a space problem. The new washer-dryer combinations are a big help for cramped quarters.

It pays to spend time thinking of just where you want your laundry. You can lose the time and energy the machines save you if they're installed without a thought to the convenience of the arrangement.

Keep in mind that the ideal home laundry should be divided into four work centers:

There Are Four

1. Preparation center: Basic equipment here should include a sorting table, mending basket, soaking sink and benches.

2. Washing center: Be sure this is near a source of plenty of hot water. Wash tubs, washing machine, soaps and detergents, bluing and starch are essential.

3. Drying center: The automatic dryer eliminates the need for outdoor and indoor drying space.

4. Ironing center: Plan this area so you can be seated while ironing, to eliminate fatigue. An automatic ironer saves time and labor.

LAUNDRY-ROOM LUXURIOUSNESS!—A wonderful work area is this laundry center arrangement that features new, pull-out laundry hampers with plenty of work surface and close-at-hand storage convenience. The snack and play bar is a standard top, built over cabinets that have wood doors on steel bases.

Offering New Tips On Barbecue Chicken

North Carolina homemakers who are interested in learning new and savory ways to prepare barbecue chicken will find Wednesday afternoon's Cooking School a real treat.

Mrs. Sylvia Matthews, home economist from the VEPC, will be demonstrating ways to serve barbecue chicken and how to prepare a tantalizing sauce when the School is held at the National Guard Armory from 2-4 p.m.

A host of other appealing desserts and meals will also be demonstrated by this home economist, who will show how to create meals from the oven, surface, broiler, deep well, refrigerator, and freezer.

Tips on how to season green beans, prepare stuffed head lettuce, fix corn in tomato cups, and serve broiled fish with lemon butter will be just a few of the "easy to prepare" menus to be demonstrated.

During the surface meal, Mrs. Matthews will prepare stuffed green peppers, and pork chops teamed with rice will be a feature of the deep well meal.

An array of dessert including Upside Down Cake, Baked Alaska Angel Cake with Mallow Filling, and Chocolate Fudge Cake will not only be prepared but also served to the audience along with the other meals prepared during the afternoon.

Following the demonstration, a major electric appliance as well as other gifts will be presented to lucky members of the audience who attend the Greenville Cooking School which is open and free of charge to women of Pitt County.

Everything Doesn't Have To Be Done At One Time In Modernizing A Kitchen

From the financial point of view, one of the best things about kitchen modernizing projects is that "everything doesn't have to be done at once."

Thus, if the current state of the budget will not permit an overall remodeling job, there are many individual improvements that can be made at relatively small cost. Each will make its own immediate contribution to the homemaker's convenience and well-being, and at the same time, be an important step toward the ultimate realization of her "dream kitchen."

Just re-covering the counter surfaces can often work wonders in perking up the appearance and stepping up the efficiency of the kitchen. Most commonly used materials are ceramic tile, linoleum, plastics, stainless steel or wood.

Equally pleasing results can be obtained by re-doing the flooring or the walls.

In choosing a new floor covering, make sure that it is both dirt and grease-resistant. Linoleum, rubber tile, asphalt tile and vinyl plastics are all good.

When it comes to new wall coverings, you can choose tiling, thin gauge linoleum or washable wallpaper. To give your kitchen a refreshing "new look."

Color Works Wonders

Even a fresh paint job, can change the whole appearance of your kitchen, if you use colors judiciously. Darker shades bring walls "closer," pale tones "push" them out, make the room look more spacious. Whites, grays, blues and greens are cool and restful. Reds, yellows, pink and beige are warm and cheerful.

The introduction of more adequate and convenient cabinet space need not await the complete "re-doing" of the kitchen. On the unit-by-unit replacement plan, you can start your improvement program at once, with the assurance that when the project is completed, the overall effect will be one of perfect harmony and functional coordination.

Wall and base cabinet units can be arranged in many different ways to create a kitchen "individualized" to your own needs and tastes.

Modern Appliances

One or more modern appliances may go a long way toward making your "life in the kitchen" less burdensome and more pleasant.

Typical of the way in which a single new appliance can transform a whole kitchen in a "refrigerator center" that combines the wall refrigerator with cabinets, base cabinets (or even another major appliance) in a single free-standing unit. This you can use in many different ways in your kitchen: as a modern room divider, recessed in an alcove or set against a wall.

GIANT MIRROR WASHED

The simplest method of washing mirrors, known to all homemakers, was the one used recently to clean the 200-inch mirror in the Palomar Observatory telescope.

For two days, workmen applied detergent suds, rinsed, and polished with chamois. The only difference from home mirrors: the one at the observatory had a three year accumulation of dirt!

NEW HAM SANDWICH

Well-seasoned cole slaw, along with cold sliced ham, makes a delicious and different filling for a sandwich. Serve for lunch with deviled eggs.

"Keep Your Family In Hot Water With A Jackson Big Capacity Water Heater"

WITH HOUSEHOLD DEMANDS GREATER THAN EVER BEFORE, EVERY HOME NEEDS A LARGE WATER HEATER.

On the modern morning in the modern house, in just 45 minutes, three members of the family consume 48 gallons of hot water. Mother won't even compete with two children and dad. She'll just schedule the laundry for later in the day—when each load will knock off 22 gallons of the hot stuff. Even the water-hating younger brother will trickle ten gallons away before he reaches the breakfast table on a school morning. In 1940, a 20-gallon water heater could supply the average family. By 1950, home-owners were installing 30-gallon sizes. In 1956, over a quarter of the family water heaters sold were models with 40-gallon tanks. Today's families boast more small children than any of the past decades. More children mean more hot water. And if dad decides to wash the car with heated water, he'll drain a whopping 35 gallons out of the system.

Install a Jackson Water Heater, the finest water heater money can buy. . . . Automatic safety features, heavy steel tank, steel jacket in glistening baked on enamel, heavy gauge steel base and legs, 2 inch fiberglass insulation, glass lined and galvanized models, 10 to 100 gallon capacity.

Four Meals Scheduled To Be Shown Tuesday

Four meals and two easy-to-fix desserts will be demonstrated Tuesday at the Cooking School by Miss Hilda Apple, home economist for the Virginia Electric and Power Company.

This demonstration will be held from 10 a.m.-12 noon at the National Guard Armory on the corner of Evans and Second Street and is open to all interested women.

During the morning she will prepare and give tips on serving oven, skillet, and broiled meals. Using an electric refrigerator, Miss Apple will discuss refrigerator desserts such as Bing Cherry Ring and Ice Cream Pie.

Features of the oven meal will include tips on serving barbecued meat rolls, baked potato halves, oven broccoli, apple crisp delight, and French bread. The entire oven-cooked meal will be demonstrated at the cooking school and served to the audience during the morning session as well as the other prepared foods.

Other ways to prepare meals will be demonstrated when Miss Apple fixes Spanish Chicken in a skillet and broiled lamb patties.

Deepwell cooking by Miss Apple will feature a "meal in one." By steaming a whole head of cauliflower, whole green beans, sliced carrots, and potatoes in a deep well cooker a magic "easy to prepare" dinner will be demonstrated. This Vegetable Medley will be topped with a Fiesta Cheese Sauce.

An added attraction, will be the drawing for a major electric appliance and other gifts to be presented to lucky women at Tuesday's demonstration.

A STAINLESS STEEL SINK will blend perfectly with any color scheme; it is as easy to keep clean as washing a glass. There's no chance that it will chip or crack; rust or stain. This double sink unit is a popular item in kitchen improvement plans.

Automation Beyond Belief

If you plan to make it a better life with an all-electric kitchen, you're switching on the current to better living for your whole family.

There's automation beyond belief. There's beauty, too — and thrift.

Do you know just what you're getting in an electric kitchen? Designers and engineers have improved today's electric kitchen appliances so greatly that they are far ahead of what went into kitchens just a few years ago.

Take electric ranges. They offer clean, fast, dependable automatic cooking. New built-in models lend themselves to aesthetic kitchen design — a much wanted feature in today's homes. The oven can be installed in one location and the surface units in another, wherever most efficient and desirable.

Many New Features

Electric ranges now come with many other hitherto unheard-of features — such as ovens in which baking and broiling can be done at the same time, ovens equipped with rotisseries in addition to their automatic, controlled-heat features, surface units that fold back into the wall when not in use, ovens that can be raised or lowered mechanically to suit the height of the users.

There are remarkable innovations too in electric refrigerators: models which are installed on the wall and sectional models where the refrigerator and freezer section, in separate units, may be installed waist-high at counter level, mounted atop each other or beneath a work surface.

In addition, electric refrigerators now offer sliding and turning shelves for easy access to foods, built-in water and fruit-juice dispensers and other handy items.

For all the household utilities requiring hot water — and the figure is practically astronomical — there's the electric water heater. It supplies all the hot water you need, with safety, dependability and economy. It's easy to install and may be placed wherever is most convenient.

Coming in various shapes, sizes and colors, the water heater is an attractive — and necessary — addition to your kitchen or laundry center.

Speaking of laundry, the trend is toward making the laundry a part of the kitchen. Some kitchens combine a range, dishwasher, a food waste disposer and a combination washer-dryer, all under one seamless stainless-steel counter top. In others, the washer-dryer and hot water heater are placed side by side to give extra counter space.

They Are Time Savers

Washers and dryers come separately or as a unit — attractive, easily operated time-savers for the busy housewife.

When you think over just what your new electric kitchen will mean to you and your family in happier, healthier, better living, you'll be glad you made your kitchen electric.

New Electric Range Makes Cooking Fun

With a new electric range, cooking can be the most effortless fun you've ever had.

Probably the only work you'll have to do is the task of deciding which of the exciting new range features to try first.

Here are some of them:

Thermostatically controlled surface cooking units. A "sensing" element "feels" the temperature of the utensil resting on it, and heat is raised or lowered automatically to conform to temperature on pre-set dial. Cooks perfectly and makes pot watching a thing of the past.

Elevator oven. It rises 15 inches above the 36-inch-high work surface at the touch of a switch. It may be stopped at any height, lowered or raised from any position at which it is stopped.

Removable Rotisserie

Vertical broiler. Food is broiled on both sides at once. (A conventional broiler is ready for use when desired.)

Smoke - dispelling oven filter. Smoke and fumes are drawn off even when the oven door is open during the cooking process.

Removable oven rotisserie rack. Roast or fowl are locked into place, can be carried to work surface for carving and serving.

Automatic meat thermometer. It turns oven off and signal light on when desired internal temperature of meat is reached.

Other features include: griddles built into the range top; portable griddles for use on any unit, plug-in griddles, swing-out broilers, adjustable broiler pans controlled by a lever which moves from side to side to lower or raise the pan without having to remove it, interval timers to ring a bell when the food is cooked, clocks and timers which turn the fuel off at pre-set times in the oven or on top of the range, ranges with controls mounted on the back panel instead of the range front.

To get the best performance from her electric range the housewife should be sure to have it installed by an expert. The range should be absolutely level.

Keep These in Mind

Manufacturer's instruction book should be kept in a convenient spot and referred to before calling in a repairman. Often problems can be cleared up with a single tip from the direction book.

Utensils are an important factor in the performance of a range. For topstove cooking, use pots and pans that have flat bottoms and tight-fitting covers.

Keep these few things in mind, and you'll know why the National Electrical Manufacturers Association says, "With an electric range, you'll feel like a guest in your own home."

Offers Garbage Disposer Tips

Tips on the most effective use of garbage disposers are given by Mrs. Sylvia White, director of consumer relations for Waste King Corporation.

1. Before installing a disposer, have your sink drainage pipes thoroughly cleaned.
2. Turn on the cold water tap before you begin using the disposer and let the water run until you have shut off the unit.
3. Always use the cold, instead of hot, water tap.
4. Do not put abrasives such as glass or metal into the disposer.
5. Mix your food waste when possible. As different types of textures rub against each other, they liquify more quickly and quietly.
6. When introducing a large amount of food waste, feed it in a steady flow.
7. If unit overheats thermostatic controls shut it off automatically. Wait three to five minutes, then push reset button.

Most Homes Lack In Plentiful Lighting

Four out of five American homes are woefully in need of improvement, on the score of illumination, according to the American Home Lighting Institute, trade association of fixture manufacturers and distributors.

Because proper lighting has such an important bearing on comfort, beauty and safety (to say nothing of preserving good vision), it might well rate high priority in any program of home modernization.

For many years, bathroom lighting has probably been the most neglected of any room in the home, according to the Institute, which points out that the man and woman of the house can actually improve their appearance by using more effective lighting to shave and make-up.

Minimum lighting standards call for one fixture on both sides of the bathroom mirror. For general lighting, they call for one fixture located above the mirror or on the ceiling.

Stall showers should be equipped with a waterproofed ceiling fixture with the switch far enough away to prevent use while standing in the stall.

Each of these fixtures should accommodate one 20 watt fluorescent bulb; or, if incandescent lighting is used, one 60 watt bulb, or two 40 watt bulbs. Modern bathroom fixtures are available in enough styles and shades to fit the decor of any bathroom.

Adequate lighting standards for other rooms as set forth by the Institute are as follows:

Living Room: At least one ceiling fixture should be provided. In addition, center fixtures in corners, or valance, or cornice lighting above windows are suggested.

Bedroom: There should be a ceiling fixture in each bedroom, to provide the overhead light necessary for safety.

Kitchen: A center ceiling fixture is necessary to throw light into cabinets and drawers. Fixtures should also be provided over the range, sink and counters.

Closets: Each closet should have a ceiling or wall fixture. Ideally, this should be controlled by a switch that turns on the light when the door is opened.

Halls and Stairways: A ceiling fixture is called for in every hall, along with a fixture at the foot and head of stairways.

Basement: Separate fixtures are indicated for laundry, furnace, storage and workbench areas.

Exterior: Lights should be provided by front, rear and side doors.

Garage: A center ceiling fixture is essential.

Attic: Each enclosed space should have one fixture.

For convenience, fixtures should be controlled by wall switches at room entrances. In rooms where entrances are more than 10 feet apart, multiple-control switches should be provided. These are switches located in different parts of the room controlling the same fixture, whereby you can light the way ahead of you.

For some people, installation of new fixtures is a do-it-yourself project, provided outlets are available. Other lighting projects require the services of an electrician.

In replacing old fashioned fixtures with modern ones, be sure to turn off the main switch or remove the fuse before starting the work.

FREEZE LEFTOVERS

It's a good idea to cook double or triple portions of your favorite recipes so you can freeze whatever is left over for later meals.

Floor coverings best for use in the kitchen are linoleum, plastic, vinyl and wood if it's treated with penetrating oil sealer.

Sound-Proof Your Washer

AP Newsfeatures

Automatic washing machines, often noisy while in operation, can be "sound conditioned" with little trouble and expense. It's a comparatively easy task for the home handyman.

The entire job can be done in about 15 minutes and at a cost of about two dollars.

The only materials needed are about 30 square feet of insulating glass fiber and a can of adhesive.

Add a pair of scissors, a putty knife and a screwdriver and you're ready to go to work. The step by step procedure is shown in the accompanying photographs.

THE FIRST STEP in sound conditioning an automatic washer is to remove the screws from the bottom of the panel and pull out the panel from fasteners located beneath the cover, upper right. The fiber glass insulating material is cut to size to fit the inside of the panel, lower left. Adhesive is applied to the inside of the panel, center. Insulating material in one inch thickness absorbs up to 75 per cent of the noise from a washer. Adhesive also should be applied to the side panels. The insulation is then pressed into place on the sides and into place on the removed panel, lower right. Replace the panel and the job is finished. Other noise appliances, such as clothes dryers and dish washers, may be similarly sound conditioned.

Refrigerators Have Come A Long Way

Modern electric refrigerators combine mechanical perfection with convenient, ample storage to give the housewife food preservation beyond her fondest hopes.

There's beauty, too, with attractive styles and colors to harmonize with any decor.

Every year, new features are added or old tried-and-true features rearranged to provide greater health and happiness for the whole family.

New designing has given the refrigerator greater flexibility as kitchen furniture. It can be free-standing, built-in or stacked-on. It can, in short, be placed anywhere.

Many homemakers like their refrigerators set flush in the wall for a more spacious kitchen. Sectional models of refrigerator and freezer units may be placed side by side at counter level, mounted on top of each other or put beneath a work surface.

A combination refrigerator-freezer can provide adequate space for both refrigeration and frozen foods in the space formerly needed for the refrigerator alone.

This is made possible by technological improvements, such as more effective insulation resulting in thinner cabinet walls.

Sizes range from small models for one or two persons to the huge installations for large families or people who live in the suburbs and don't shop too often.

Most manufacturers offer important features like automatic defrosting, choice of color and freezer compartment in the refrigerator. In most of them, too, you can usually find butter-keepers, egg racks, vegetable crisper, roll-out and swing-down baskets and shelves. The freezing unit may be in the bottom, to make more frequently used items easier to reach.

There are all sorts of accessories like cold-water dispensers which operate without opening the door, twin juice fountains and ice-ejector assemblies where the ice tray is inserted into a server bin below.

There are sliding and turning shelves for easy access to foods and door compartments which store large quantities of foods.

Read The Direction Book

You're protecting your investment when you take the time to learn how to care for your electric range.

Reading the direction book that comes with your new range will help you get more for your money in terms of long-time serviceability. Manufacturers have put considerable time and effort into making direction books that are easy to understand and follow.

They believe in their products and they want their customers to stay sold. That's why they want you to get the most from your electric range.

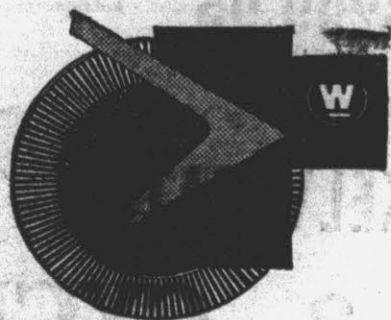

The most important single rule is maintenance on a regular basis.

Clean up spilled food and boil-overs as soon as possible. Attend to having repairs made by a qualified electrician promptly.

Electric ranges aren't much of a chore to clean when given regular care after each meal or as spills occur during cooking. When cleaning enameled surfaces while the range is hot, use a paper towel or dry cloth. A damp cloth might crack the enamel.

When the range is cool, wash with a sudsy cloth and finish with a clean damp cloth. A mild household cleaner may be used for stubborn spots.

For cleaning around the push buttons, try cotton-tipped swabs.

No Complete Substitute For Domestic Help

'The Old Way' Has Seen Great Changes

By HUGH SCHUTTE

ATLANTA (AP) — "I'd swap all these," a Deep South housewife declared recently waving her hand at dishwasher, washing machine, dryer, ironer and other electric gadgets, "for one good old-fashioned maid."

That is the story in Atlanta — and apparently all over the South — where domestic help has been abundant but now is very difficult to find.

The domestic in the South traditionally has been Negro. The few white persons working in someone else's home have been practical nurses — and they expected to have the heavier chores done by Negroes.

Began During War

The change began with World War I when domestics went into the commercial work or lived on the allotments of their soldier husbands and fathers. Since then more and greater educational opportunities have advanced the change. And higher wages for men have allowed women who formerly supplemented the family income with domestic work to stay at home. The recession has had no measurable effect.

Southern women, reared to expect domestic help, now are doing their own chores more and more. Of course, the washing machine has replaced the scrubboard and boiling pot and the dryer has eliminated the clothes line.

But despite all of the labor-saving devices there still is a great demand here for cooks and maids.

Prior to World War II cooks and maids in the South were working a six-day week for $10. And they quite often arrived right after breakfast and stayed to clean up the kitchen after dinner. Those working by the day received about $2 and carfare and worked from 8 a.m. to 5 or 6 p.m.

Even immediately after the war there still was a good supply of domestics but the price of hiring one had climbed to $15-$17.50 a week for a cook-maid to live on the premises and $4 and carfare for the day workers.

In the next 10 years the pattern began an even greater change. Although there was a migration from rural to urban areas due to farm mechanization, there was a great falling off in the number of applicants for domestic work.

No figures are available, but Mrs. Marie Mallet of the Georgia Labor Department said those who formerly would have gone into domestic work apparently were going into factory employment. She pointed out that there has been a large increase in the number of Negro women employed in the food processing and garment industries.

Disappearing Domestics

Miss Ira Jarrell, superintendent of Atlanta Public Schools, said domestic workers are disappearing "like the American buffalo and men teachers."

She said the school system for years had a division at the Carver Vocational School especially for the training of domestic workers. For lack of students, it no longer exists.

Another special course to train cooks and chefs, Miss Jarrell said, now is attended almost exclusively by men who will go into club or restaurant work.

There still are thousands of domestic workers, but Jack Moore, owner of a Negro employment agency, estimates that they are only 50 per cent of their former number. On a recent day he had 19 calls for maids and was able to fill only two requests.

Moore attributes the change to

Mouth-Watering Treats Set For Thursday Class

There will be mouth-watering treats in store for ladies who attend the Thursday session of the Greenville Cooking School which has been designated for Negroes.

The session will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the National Guard Armory, Evans and Second Streets in Greenville.

Miss Hilda Apple, home economist with Virginia Electric Power Company, who will conduct the Thursday session of the school, plans to prepare for the audience an oven meal of baked stuffed fish, beets, succotash and lemon pie; a meal from the deep well cooker, a meal from the refrigerator, a meal from the freezer, a skillet meal and, a broiler meal . . . all during the two-hour session.

In addition she will demonstrate the use and care of other electric home appliances.

How does she do all these things in just two hours?

Well, that's the secret of the adept home economist who has her electric kitchen at her finger tips.

The deep well cooker meal will be built around cabbage rolls and steamed rice. From the skillet Miss Apple will prepare a Mexican lunch, a complete meal in itself. The broiler meal will have ham as meat course, supplemented by pineapple slices, sweet potato puffs in orange shells, and limas pimiento.

From the refrigerator Miss Apple will prepare a congealed cottage salad, and from the freezer a frozen limeade pie.

Rising Use Of Electricity In The Home, But 8 Of 10 Homes Today Inadequately Wired

The average American home is using four times the amount of electricity it did 25 years ago and three times as much as it did 14 years ago. Yet eight out of 10 homes in America were wired long before this greatly increased demand occurred.

The home electric system that was originally designed for operating a dozen 60 watt bulbs, is now being called upon to provide electric power for a multiplicity of appliances, some of which, alone, may well take the entire load of incoming electric power. In addition to old wiring problems many owners of relatively new homes are discovering that their electric systems are almost as obsolete as those in antiquated houses.

To understand what has happened to the average electric system, it is necessary to know a little bit about how it works. Home wiring systems are in two parts. The first is the service entrance which brings electricity from company power lines to your house. The power throughout your home.

Service Entrance

The service entrance consists of the wires coming from the power lines to your house, the meter, the switch and fuse box. The amount of electricity which can be brought into your home at any one time is determined by the capacity of the service entrance wires and equipment.

The second part of your electric system which distributes electricity from the service entrance throughout your home is composed of branch circuits and outlets.

The number of branch circuits and the size of the wires in the circuits determine how efficiently electricity can operate your lights and appliances. If your system doesn't have enough branch circuits of proper size wires to accommodate all of your electrical equipment it becomes overloaded.

Like Water System

Your electric system works on the same principal as your water system. Pressure induces flow in both instances. Small wires restrict the flow of electricity just as small pipes restrict the flow of water. The size of your wiring is therefore important to the efficiency of your system. In addition, many modern appliances need so much "house power" that they should be on separate circuits of their own.

Amperes and volts are indicated on the table of your main switch box and by multiplying them you will have the amount of wattage in your electric system.

It is a simple matter to get a "house power" rating that will show you if your wiring is adequate. Most electrical contractors will check your system and give you a free estimate if rewiring is needed.

Labors Day And Night

Next to the housewife, the hardest-working occupant of any home is the water heater.

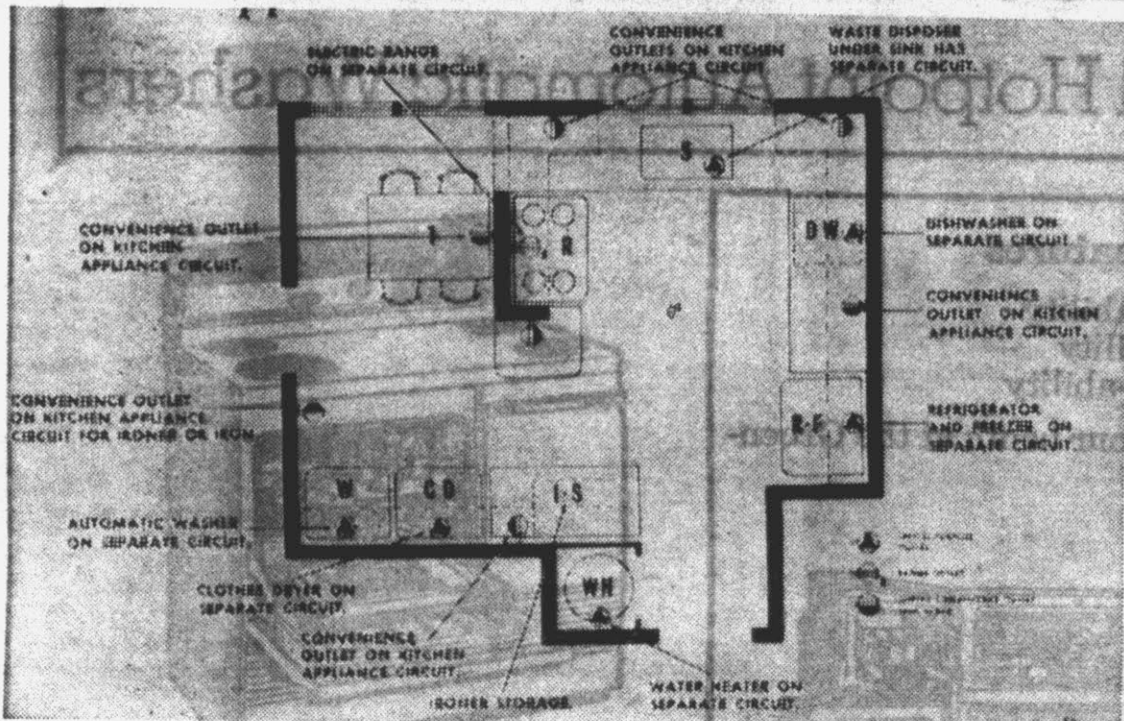

Day and night it labors away, producing hot water for hundreds of personal and household uses. If you have one of the new electric water heaters, you're in luck.

It has complete thermal insulation — top, bottom and sides. This reduces operation costs and avoids heating up the area in which it is installed.

And you can install your water heater anywhere because there is no flue or vent connection needed.

A counter-high model can be placed right next to the dishwasher, sink or clothes washer where much hot water is used. This is a practical spot for the heater, incidentally, because the water will stay hotter if it doesn't have to travel so far through the pipes to get where it's going.

Electric water heaters are available with quick recovery heating units. These supply hot water after draw-off at a faster rate and so provide increased hot water service from the same size tank.

WIRE NEEDS—Here is a diagram of a typical modern home, with adequate wiring for all facilities in the kitchen and laundry areas and breakfast room, recommended by the National Adequate Wiring Bureau. By referring to it, you will see what is needed to operate your appliances. It is a good idea to get a Housepower rating on your home from an electrical contractor or a representative of your light and power company before adding electrical appliances.

Freezers Are Home-Owned Grocery Store

Time, Money And Effort Can Be Saved

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have a grocery store in your own home, ready to serve you 24 hours a day every day of the year?

It certainly would — particularly during this busy season — and anyone can have such a "store," with a chest or upright freezer.

The freezer "store" keeps your food bills down; stocks a wide variety of foods both in and out of season, and ensures wholesome meals for your family with a minimum of preparation.

Since freezers stock anywhere up to 900 pounds of food, you can buy in great quantities. This, of course, means infrequent shopping trips and greatly reduced food costs to you. No longer need you throw out left-overs since freezers keep today's food fresh and healthful for a period of weeks and months.

You're in for a host of compliments from your family because your freezer allows you to serve special dishes and a greater variety of food generally than you could possibly handle without the help of a freezer.

Treats Off Season

Strawberries in December are only one of innumerable seasonal foods you'll be able to serve anytime during the year, again thanks to your freezer.

If unexpected company used to throw you into a tizzy, force frantic visits to the food store, and shake your confidence in yourself as a housewife, your freezer will be an especially welcome addition to the home. Let the whole neighborhood drop in without notice now, and you're the epitome of calmness, satisfied with the knowledge you can handle any emergency on the food front.

Remember when even company you expected caused concern because there was insufficient room for the fancy dishes you were planning to serve? Well, a freezer takes care of that problem too. As an owner of a freezer, you can expect a reputation as an exceptional hostess — and you'll deserve it.

Wonderful in Summer

A freezer is an awfully good friend in meal preparation, too. Come summertime you'll be extra thankful that a freezer lets you serve delicious, man-sized meals, which require only a brief reheating.

The secret is to select the cool early hours of a morning to cook three or four roasts with the same heat. Wrap the roasts, then store them in your freezer, and your cooking is just about done for the week. The old war cry about having to spend entire days cooking over a hot stove won't be valid any more.

The same way of cooking four or five vegetables at a time can save hours, in addition to reducing the use of gas or electricity.

If your family appreciates baked goods you can save yourself future time and trouble by baking a half dozen pies at a time, storing in your freezer what you don't use immediately. Except for cream or custard pies, most pies will keep for two or three months, if you store them at zero temperature.

Safe, Easy Way

With a freezer, there's no longer a need for time-consuming canning to preserve your foods. Every day we hear of more foods being prepared in frozen form for the extra enjoyment of freezer owners. Virtually any food can be frozen successfully.

Freezing is a safe, easy way to preserve fruit and vegetables, meat, fish, poultry, game and baked or pre-baked foods. It will keep all the original flavor, color and nutritive value, providing there is proper wrapping.

A freezer means a lot of things — fewer shopping trips, decreased food bills and more efficient house-keeping are some. But most important, a freezer means freedom from drudgery for you, and happier meals and leisure time for you and your entire family.

THE OLD SYSTEM"

Early air conditioning "systems" installed by ancient Egyptian pharaohs and Roman nobles consisted of using slaves to bring blocks of ice and snow from mountain ranges to be placed on palace roof-tops.

'Housepower' Keynotes Modern Living

MODERN ELECTRICAL LIVING begins with a full quota of housepower — enough outlets and switches to carry the electricity needed to properly operate today's many appliances. Four out of five of today's homes still have low housepower. Many new electrical appliances have been added, but little thought has been given to the necessity for adequate electrical wiring. Ask your electrical contractor to take an inventory of your home's wiring. You, too, may need more housepower.

An Old Chore Eased

Lots of smart housewives who want to stay young find that owning an electric washer-dryer combination is just about as effective as having a weekly facial.

Instead of the back-breaking washday chores they used to suffer through every Blue Monday, they now load in the weekly wash, add detergent, push a button — and go off to shop, to visit or see a movie.

Refreshed from the outing, they return to find clean, dry clothes waiting for them.

The time they used to spend hanging the wash out on the line and then watching to see if it would rain or blow up a duststorm — now all that precious time is theirs to spend on better living. Some homemakers load the washer at night and find the dry clothes ready when they get up in the morning.

The electric washer-dryer combinations wash, rinse and fluff-dry (or damp-dry) in one continuous operation. Some even choose the correct amount of water necessary to wash each load efficiently.

You can get separate washer and dryer units, too, if you prefer.
