N. C. Tax Take This Fiscal Year May Approach Early Estimates

Currie Says Collections See Good Chance Of Meeting Budget Plans

RALEIGH (AP) — With a big assist from the state's income tax...

Currie reported to Gov. Hodges there is a good chance the state's general fund tax collections for this fiscal year will approximate the estimates made by the Legislature in preparing the budget for this fiscal year.

Currie reported income tax payments received during April totaled $33,295,753 for an increase of $592,427 over April of 1957.

The income tax payments included $32,174,957 from individuals and $1,065,893 from corporations.

Currie pointed out that so far this year there has been an increase of more than 7,000 in the number of individuals paying income taxes.

He reported to the governor that in May and June tax collection patterns of previous years are repeated.

Currie added, a careful analysis of general fund collection patterns "lead me to believe that this fund may closely approximate the legislative estimates."

Currie also reported that April sales tax collections which reflected March business activity totaled $5,627,649 for a slight gain of $28,776 over April, 1957, collections.

In March, Currie had told the governor it was conceivable that general fund collections could fall 4 1/2 million dollars short of meeting estimates.

State Health Director Sees Many Diseases In Retreat

ASHEVILLE (AP) — North Carolina's health director today reviewed results of 10 years of health work and found his department beset with many serious problems but with records showing heavy reduction of many diseases.

Three major overall public health adjustments have occurred during the decade, Dr. J. W. R. Norton, state health officer, said in his annual report, before the annual convention of the North Carolina Medical Society and a meeting of the State Board of Health.

He listed these adjustments as: (1) administrative reorganization in 1950 reducing the divisions from 14 to seven with water pollution control, the eighth, added in 1957;

(2) recodification revision of public health laws by the 1957 General Assembly, and (3) combined budget (federal, state, local) increased from $2,684,274 for fiscal 1948 to $10,960,027 for fiscal 1958.

In that period the state staff has increased from 246 to 380, and local employees from 878 to 1,186.

Dr. Norton asserted that "in many ways we find ourselves now faced with a situation similar to that presented a half century ago by communicable diseases rampant in communities unprepared for the crowding conditions."

"Today an equally intolerable situation exists in our deaths, our crippling and staggering economic burden from diseases of the heart and blood vessels, cancer, arthritis, obesity, diabetes, nephritis, accidents and mental disorders. Most viral infections are unresponsive to prevent miracle drugs and staphylococcal and other serious disorders may follow the use of some."

The health director declared that "coordinated, intelligent, and unselfish teamwork was effective against the common infections. Progress was slower than it need be now since we can now avoid some of our earlier mistakes. It should not be considered heresy to consider teamwork desirable against our present intolerable situation with degenerative diseases, accidents and mental disorders.

Fee-for-service private practice will retain its relative freedom far more effectively through again welcoming intelligent teamwork than by striking blindly at friend and foe alike as third party encroachers."

In the 10-year period, Dr. Norton reported: Only four cases of smallpox have occurred in the state, three cases in 1948 and one case (transient, exposure unknown) in 1953.

Typhoid fever has shown a consistent annual decline from 56 cases reported in 1948 to 23 in 1957. Malaria has declined from 147 cases of local origin in 1948 to 48 in 1953 and none in 1957.

Diphtheria has declined from 485 cases reported in 1948 to 49 cases in 1957.

Tuberculosis deaths have declined each year from a total of 1,128 in 1948 to 234 in 1957, a decrease of 80 per cent. (In the 10 years, 2,656,234 persons have been chest X-rayed for detection of tuberculosis).

The continuation of an intensified venereal program was responsible for a consistent annual decline through 1953 when an all-time low of 3,682 cases were reported. The over-all decline of infectious syphilis during the 10-year period was from 7,313 cases reported in 1948 to 5,440 cases reported in 1957, an average annual decrease of 873 cases for the period.

Temperatures will average three to five degrees below normal and rainfall one-half to one inch Thursday through Monday. Somewhat warmer until weekend, then cooler. Rain in east portion tonight and over state during the weekend.

WITNESS DROPS DEAD WASHINGTON (AP) — Sidney Lewis, described as a New York City publishing house official, fell dead of a heart attack in the Senate Office Building today. He was there to testify before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Highway Commission members point out, have no authority to change the list in any way. Roles of the commissioners in the new plan is limited, in a sense, to an advisory capacity. They can recommend what percentage of available funds, in their county, might be used for paving and what portion can be set aside for improvements to unpaved roads. In all cases, the recommendations have to be in writing.

Petitions for adding or deleting roads on the state system also have to be approved by the county boards. In the case of additions, the petitions are prepared by residents of the area served by the road. In the case of deletions, the State Highway Commission petitions the county boards. In either case can the local group act without the state approval.

Success of the plan in Pitt County was pointed out today by Chairman Woodrow Wooten of the Board of Commissioners. "Our relations with division officials are nothing but the best," he said. "We are very well satisfied with the program as it is being carried out here."

"We have had fine cooperation from highway personnel recently. They request our opinion on matters affecting roads in the county, and they always consider our thoughts when determining final action. The highway personnel keep us informed about the roads program and have not missed any opportunity to explain their procedures before undertaking any works."

Ground rules for paving rural secondary roads were set out by the State Highway Commission shortly after it was reorganized and took office last July. Under the plan, roads which carry 50 or more vehicles each day were rated for possible paving according to the public service rendered by each road in the county.

The roads were rated and given points in accordance with the number of occupied dwellings, schools, churches and commercial establishments; on the basis of public service characteristics such as mail routes and school bus routes; and on the basis of an average 24-hour annual traffic count.

After the ratings, the roads were listed in order of importance on a paving priority list, which will be followed by the highway commission in determining how to allocate funds as they become available. County commissioners, State

Rivers Up Over Banks After Rain

RALEIGH (AP) — Rivers were pushed out of their banks and roads washed out in some sections today in the wake of flooding spring rains.

The Weather Bureau promised a gradual ending today of showers which poured as much as five inches of rain in some places yesterday. However, some rainfall was expected in the eastern part of the state during the morning.

The downpour appeared likely to send the Neuse and Tar rivers out of their banks at a number of points. A complete assessment of the damage to roads was expected to await a thorough check by engineers. However, a State Highway Department spokesman said the rain seemed certain to add to damage from severe winter weather.

Water covered a number of county roads and was across some main highways in a number of Eastern North Carolina locations yesterday. There were wash-outs reported on several county roads in Halifax and Northampton counties.

A section of U.S. 301, a north-south artery, was under a foot of water south of Pleasant Hill in Northampton County late yesterday. One-way traffic was maintained, with equipment on hand to pull out stalled motorists.

W. N. Spruill of Ahoskie, first Highway Division engineer, also reported N.C. 195 under two feet of water near Margaretsville, and closed in traffic between Garysburg and Boykins, Va. County road running east off U.S. 501 about three miles south of the Virginia line was washed out and barricaded, he added.

Three county roads were washed out in the vicinity of Weldon, where upwards of five inches of rain fell. Water was across roads in a number of other sections, although no other serious interruptions of traffic was reported.

ILLNESS DELAYS SCHOOL CASE RALEIGH (AP) — The illness of Federal Judge Don Gilliam, under treatment in a Baltimore hospital, has caused an indefinite postponement in trial of a Raleigh school segregation case.

Judge Gilliam had set for next Monday the suit filed by Joseph Hiram Holt, a Negro youth seeking to enter a white Raleigh high school. However, the Tarboro jurist has been ill for several weeks and now is in Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Md.

Western Big Three Ready To Take Some Of NATO Partners To Summit Talk

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The Western Big Three announced today they are willing to take some of their NATO partners into East-West summit talks.

A joint statement by the United States, Britain and France singled out Italy as a possible partner in a future meeting at the top with the Soviet Union.

The statement was issued at Christiansborg Palace where the 15 foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were preparing a communique expressing their firm resolve not to let the Soviet Union dictate the ground rules for a meeting at the summit.

The joint statement said: "The three countries conducting the preliminary diplomatic contacts with the Soviet Union indicated that they did not consider that they would necessarily be the only Western nations to take part in a possible conference of foreign ministers or in a possible summit conference. Other countries, as for instance Italy, might then be included."

The three-power Western declaration represented a shift from the previous Allied line that future summit talks should be conducted on the old Four-power basis that has prevailed since World War II.

The Soviets sought to break the four-power framework by suggesting East-West parity at the summit with the inclusion of Communist Czechoslovakia and Poland.

The Soviets also have suggested including a larger number of powers at a top-level meeting. These would include such uncommitted nations as India, Egypt or Sweden.

The Western nations so far have resisted any attempt to put East-West talks on a one-for-one basis. Today's move by the Big Three apparently was designed to meet any Soviet drive in that direction.

At a private meeting this morning, the ministers heard: 1. Foreign Minister Josef Luns of the Netherlands says Communists may be on the verge of seizing power in Indonesia.

2. U.S. Secretary of State Dulles outlined U.S. policy in releasing Egyptian funds frozen in the United States since President Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal. The funds were released after Nasser's government agreed to compensate stockholders of the seized Suez Canal.

The 15 NATO foreign ministers went into the final chapter of their three-day session in full agreement that German reunification, disarmament, the status of East European Soviet satellites—all issues ruled out by the Kremlin—must be discussed if and when the world leaders meet.

Secretary of State Dulles won endorsement of his view that a top-level meeting would be useless without thorough preparation and some assurance of action on the essential causes of East-West tension.

The new harmony differed sharply from the tenor of last December's NATO meeting. At that time his European colleagues forced Dulles to concede the possibility of summit talks as the price for their okay on building

U.S. nuclear bases on the Continent.

There was no longer any talk in NATO circles of a 1958 headline for a summit parley. Most diplomats at the current meeting felt Moscow's tactics have killed chances of a get-together before next year. The feeling now is general that there is no rush to the summit, and the ministers agree that the West must quickly build up its defense without waiting to talk with Nikita Khrushchev.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, who flew here from Moscow to report on the latest Soviet position, talked for more than three hours last night with Dulles. British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Jean L. Lov, head of the European Affairs Section of the French Foreign Ministry.

Two Rescued As Boat Overturns

Two men narrowly escaped drowning in Tar River near the Grimesland Bridge yesterday afternoon when they were pulled from the river by a Greenville man.

W. O. Moore, local Texaco distributor, rescued the men after he saw their boat overturn.

Moore said he was putting out a drift net near the bridge when he noticed a boat with three men in it several hundred yards from where he was fishing. Moments later, he said, he saw the men floundering in the water where the boat had overturned.

A white man in the ill-fated boat made his way to shore, Moore said. Moore left his net and raced his own boat to the spot where two Negro men from the overturned boat were in the water.

He pulled one man out of the water, but the other man went under. With a paddle, Moore reached into the water where the second man had gone down. The man underwater grabbed the paddle and Moore pulled him to safety.

The oil distributor said he did not learn the names of the two Negro men he rescued.

Hodges Flies To Address Meet RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Hodges flew to Washington this morning to address the seventh Highway Transportation Congress.

Between 300 and 400 top transportation authorities were expected for the annual three-day forum sponsored by the National Highway Users Conference.

The conference had asked the governor for an outline of North Carolina's Highway Commission reorganization.

Moye Is Named To Board Of Directors

J. Howard Moye, vice-president and trust officer of Guaranty Bank and Trust Company since January 1951, has been named to the company's Board of Directors.

His election was announced yesterday.

A native of Greenville, Moye has been connected with the bank since June 1930. He was a teller until 1937 when he was named trust officer, the position which was combined with a vice-presidency in 1951.

Moye attended Virginia Military Institute and graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1928. He attended Rutgers University's Graduate School of Banking from 1937 to 1939 for further study of trust business and investments, and his thesis dealing with development of a branch trust system in an agricultural section is now in the library of the American Bankers Association and the Rutgers University Library.

Since Moye became trust officer for the bank, its trust department has expanded from three or four accounts in 1937 to 570 accounts of six-and-three-quarters million dollars.

Moye entered the National Guard as a private in 1934 and was a first lieutenant when called to active duty with the Army in September 1940. He served in the Field Artillery and as a member of the Inspector General's Corps during World War II and was released from active duty in November 1945 as a lieutenant colonel. His overseas duty included an assignment in the Philippine Islands.

In Greenville, Moye is a member of the First Presbyterian Church where he has served as treasurer and chairman of the Board of Deacons, and is now an Elder and a Trustee of the church. He is also a Mason, a member of Scottish and York rites, and a Shriner. He is past commander of American Legion Post 39 and past Chief of Gare of 40 and 8.

The Exchange Club selected him as its president in 1957 and he is one of the founders and directors of Sentinel Life Insurance Company. He is also a director of Greenville Spinners, Inc., and chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

Moye is married to the former Mamie Lancaster of Louisburg. They have two daughters, Mamie Jean Moye and Martha Lee Moye.

County Board Has Warm Feeling For Highway Commission

Boards of Commissioners have the power to select roads in their county for paving. This is very definitely not the case.

Makepeace pointed out further that all paving on rural secondary roads will be done on the basis of paving priority lists now posted in every county court house in the state, including the Pitt County Court House. The lists are part of the commission's plan to give the commissioners more information concerning secondary road policies and, also, to give them an opportunity of working with Highway Commission engineers in determining additions to the state highway system, deletion of roads from the system, and budget matters.

"Despite the new plan, which was ordered by the 1957 General Assembly, the Highway Commission still has final authority in all secondary road matters.

Success of the plan in Pitt County was pointed out today by Chairman Woodrow Woot

11 New Provisional Members Welcomed In Service League

At the regular monthly meeting of the Greenville Service League Monday at Elm Street Park, the following new provisional members were welcomed into the League: Mrs. Milton C. Williamson, Mrs. J. H. Tucker, Mrs. Marion Gardner, Mrs. S. Sewell, Mrs. George S. Coffman, Mrs. Louis Clark, Mrs. John L. Watters, Mrs. Clarence Tugwell, Mrs. Charles P. Adams, Mrs. W. H. Chance Jr. and Mrs. Tom Rowlette.

Mrs. George Lautares in introducing and welcoming the provisionals explained the meaning of Service League Seal.

She said, "In the months to follow you will become familiar with the Service League seal. It has as its center a woman's hand holding high a lighted torch. Its rays of light radiate into all points of the compass—a torch to light the way to service. The compass is in the form of a star—a star of hope and faith signifying the work of the Service League which is broad in scope, its interests leading in many directions.

"The torch is symbolic of life, love and divinity. Of such is the work of the Service League. May the rewards of serving your fellowmen in love, patience and wisdom be a constant source of true joy."

Mrs. Tom Rowlette responded for the provisional members. Mrs. Dick Evans gave a message on being good neighbors to people in all walks of life.

Bridge Party Success
Mrs. Ed Parkinson, finance chairman, reported a most successful bridge party and thanked Mrs. William Corbett Jr. and all who helped to make it a success.

It was announced that three layettes were delivered during the month. Mrs. Ercell Webb, layette chairman, asked that all who had any sewing out to please finish and return to her.

"The Lending Chest reported five wheel chairs were in use. Emergency Charity Chairman Mrs. Eugene West helped six worthy families, she pointed out. Mrs. Dick Evans stated that two patients, both children, were helped by the Laughinghouse Hospital Bed Fund.

Mrs. James T. Little, Coffee Shop chairman, reported a good month. She announced that Hospital Day would be held May 12 with Open House from 2-9 p.m. Workers were secured for the Hospital Day activities. A letter of appreciation from Roanoke Rapids Hospital Guild was read by Mrs. Little. She, members of Coffee Shop Committee and League members helped the Guild there start a Coffee Shop in their hospital.

Members were reminded of the annual meeting and luncheon which will be held on May 21. The meeting will be held at 11 a.m. at Elm Street Park with the luncheon at St. James Methodist Church at 1 p.m.

Slate of Officers Accepted
The nominating committee submitted the following slate of officers for the coming year which was unanimously accepted:

President, Mrs. George Lautares; first vice-president, Mrs. Carl Wader; and second vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Corbett.
Mrs. Michael Luskin announced that the Sidewalk Show would be held at Sheppard Memorial Library on May 8. Sculpture, pottery, art works, etc., will be on display and lunch will be served on the grounds. In case of rain the show will be held at the armory.

FT. LAUDERDALE, FLA.—Mrs. Murray Severance, the Treasury Department's new "Mrs. U. S. Savings Bonds," is congratulated by Trailways bus hostess Ernestine Shackelford of Norfolk, Va. following an Inaugural Ball in her honor at the Governor's Club Hotel. Mrs. Severance, Nashville housewife and mother of two, is competing as "Mrs. Tennessee" in the Mrs. America national finals being held here through May 13. Mrs. Shackelford is the daughter of Mrs. J. W. Tripp of Forbes Street, Greenville.

30 Years Ago Today

May 7, 1928

Memorial Day will be appropriately celebrated in Greenville Saturday when the remnants of Bryn-A-Mare Camp of the Confederacy gather here for their annual reunion. As usual the occasion will be featured by many touching scenes, especially when the veterans—old and bent and gray—gather at the cemetery and decorate the graves of their departed comrades. The principal address of the day will be delivered by J. C. Lanier, Mayor of Greenville. J. H. Rose will be master of ceremonies.

Changes In Status Of Women Is Told To AAUW By Humber

In a speech before the American Association of University Women Monday night, Dr. Robert Lee Humber discussed the change that has taken place in the status of women and in the role played by them in public affairs in the last four decades, with special reference to the part taken by the AAUW in the change.

Humber was speaking on invitation from the legislative committee of the branch and was presented by Mrs. Katherine White, a member of the committee, who characterized him as a Rhodes scholar, a highly successful international lawyer, and a patron of the arts.

Before the talk, Dr. Elizabeth Utterback, president of the Greenville branch of AAUW, conducted a short business meeting, the highlight of which was the presentation to Miss Barbara Harris, E.C.C. senior in music, the $650 scholarship check from the AAUW Foreign Scholarship Fund. Mrs. Austin Perry, chairman of the Foreign Scholarship Fund, presented the check, and Miss Harris responded with an expression of her appreciation.

Also, the branch voted to contribute $100 to the fund, to start building it up again for future use.

In his talk, Humber pointed out the contrast between a woman's role in public affairs at the beginning of World War I and her role today, saying that there is a wide difference between the general information of the constituents of a legislator then and now, and attributing much of the change to the work of the AAUW and of leaders as Susan B. Anthony. "Miss Anthony led people to realize," he said, "that women had a part to play in the public life of the day. Today the legislative program of AAUW is not restricted to support for legislation on the family or children, but is all-embracing, including support of laws designed to bring about a better society for both men and women."

He pointed out that in 1933 North Carolina embarked on a state-wide system of public education to correct inequalities in educational opportunities for its children. Now Federal aid to education to correct such inequalities on national basis is in the limelight. These matters, he said, have been of concern to the AAUW.

Then, referring to the repeated request of the State Department of Education to the General Assembly of North Carolina for a state art supervisor, Humber expressed gratitude for the support given the measure by the AAUW.

He explained how valuable a contribution such a supervisor for the state could make in stimulating the creative side of children, especially if there were also an education curator appointed for the Art Museum to work with the supervisor in carrying art to the schools in the form of prints of great painting and art talks to encourage the children to visit and re-visit the museum.

"If North Carolina is to be one of the states to make a great contribution to the culture of the country in the next 25 years, as has been predicted," he said, "we must broaden the base of our culture, and such groups as the AAUW can help make this possible."

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Harry Billica, Mrs. Ouida Deber, Mrs. Robert Fennell, Miss Mary Thomas Smith, and Mrs. Katherine White.

Tea Honors Bride Of May

BETHEL—Miss Norma Williamson of Bethel, bride-elect of May 24, was honored at an informal tea Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. S. Gray and Mrs. L. L. Ardrey in Clinton.

Upon arrival the honoree was complimented with a corsage of pink iris and lily of the valley.

Mrs. M. O. MacQueen of Clinton greeted guests and presented them to the receiving line consisting of the hostesses and Miss Williamson, Mrs. J. C. Williamson Sr., and Mrs. H. R. Brown of Bethel.

Guests were directed into the dining room to an appointed table covered with a cloth of linen and hand-made lace and centered with an arrangement of pink azaleas in a four-tiered silver container which ingeniously formed a bell shape.

Of local interest in the living room was a mass arrangement of pink azaleas on the mantle. The home was decorated throughout with spring flowers.

Miss Lucy Blue of Sanford and Clinton, a college classmate of Miss Williamson's, served punch. Assisting in serving were Mrs. W. J. Calhoun, Mrs. H. T. Lowe, and Mr. A. D. Royall of Clinton. The guests helped themselves to bridal cakes and other dainties.

Good byes were said by Mrs. MacQueen, Mrs. Gray, and Mrs. Ardrey.

U.S. Position Proves Good Policy

Will there be a summit conference between East and West?

When will such a conference be held?

What contribution toward reducing international tension would result from such a conference?

Those questions have been asked time and again during the past six months. So far no one has been able to come up with an answer satisfactory to himself or anyone else.

Now it begins to appear that the Kremlin—in spite of its repeated demands for such a conference—is backing away from any such meeting. In doing so it is backing into a corner of its own making.

Many months ago the United States said it would be willing to join with Russia in a summit conference any time it felt the Kremlin was sincere in its desire that such a conference contribute to the easing of international tensions. The President made it clear, however, that the United States would enter into no conference in which the primary Russian aim is to use the conference for a propaganda forum.

It now appears that other nations are recognizing the fact that Russia's demands for a summit conference in recent months were more for propaganda purposes than for anything else. Soviet rejection of the U. S. arctic inspection proposal before the U.N. Security Council is the latest of the moves which suggest the Kremlin is still unwilling to make any reasonable agreements on limitations of nuclear weapons, inspections and other concrete steps toward lessening world tension.

In short, Russia still appears to want a summit conference only for its own propaganda purposes.

The United States should continue to seek a summit conference with Soviet officials. But it should not abandon its position that evidence of Russian good faith should be a prerequisite to such a conference.

Now Let's Build With All Reasonable Haste

Pitt County now has in hand funds for construction of the long anticipated Mental Health Wing at the local health department building. The matter of getting the building constructed and ready for use should be pushed with all reasonable haste.

For almost two years now the need for such a facility has been apparent. It has been more than a year since the General Assembly recognized officially the state's responsibility in the matter by appropriating $30,000 toward the construction of the building. This amount has been matched by the required $10,000 in county funds to assure construction.

Since its very beginning the work of the Pitt County Mental Health Clinic has attracted attention throughout North Carolina and beyond. The demands upon its facilities have surpassed even the most optimistic ideas of those who were instrumental in founding the clinic.

Without adequate facilities with which to work, the clinic cannot possibly render its potential service to the people of Pitt and surrounding counties.

Construction of the mental health wing at the health department building will furnish the clinic the physical plant it needs to carry out its important work. The sooner the facility is ready for use, the greater contribution the clinic will be able to make to the people it is designed to serve.

Now that funds are available for construction of the facility it would be a mistake to let the matter drag.

Fast Results In Russian System

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you were born and raised in a backward or recently liberated country, which would seem to hold out to you a good life faster: the American way of living or the Communist?

One of this country's greatest and most critical problems—in giving aid and encouragement to the backward and liberated nations—is in persuading them to take the Western road.

Over the weekend President Eisenhower emphasized the importance to the United States of non-Communist countries everywhere. "There is not a person in the United States that is not affected every single day by what happens in Africa, in Far Asia, in Europe and all of South America. We are no longer independent economic units."

Allen Dulles, the best informed American on what the Soviets are up to, recently stuck his finger into the middle of the problem in a talk to the 46th annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Dulles is the brother of Secretary of State Dulles. As head of the Central Intelligence Agency he has agents all over the world reporting back on Communist activities everywhere.

He said: "For some reason the recently liberated countries seem to feel that the Kremlin has found a new and magic formula for quick industrialization which is a hallmark of becoming a modern state."

In this country, with its long tradition and practice of democracy and its gradually modified form of capitalism, people have no trouble choosing between the freedom and fruit of democracy

Give Them Time

By CARROLL ARIMOND

CHICAGO (AP) — The high school class of 1927 reassembled in Milwaukee the other night to count gray hairs, compare waistlines and exchange lies such as, "You haven't changed a bit."

Reunions are good ideas for less obvious reasons. They help keep today's headlines in perspective. On occasion they must make social scientists feel unsocial, unscientific or both.

Teen-agers of 1927, as today, beveled and bewildered their elders who chuck-chucked at their behavior and forecast they'll never amount to much. They weren't called fancy names like juvenile delinquents or miscreants. They were just hell raisers.

We all raised our share of hell in varying degrees. The biggest shareholder of the class of 1927 was Ben who prided his devilry right into graduation night.

Ben planted an alarm clock inside the grand piano in the school auditorium. No wartime submarine commander ever set a torpedo time fuse more accurately. Just as our distinguished speaker was sending us out into the cruel world on a string of platitudes, the clock sang out with its best dollar chime.

Later, when Ben served as a missionary on an Indian reservation in South Dakota, some of us observed that the Custer massacre finally was being avenged.

And what is Ben doing now? Benjamin V. DeLahunt is making a nice serene living selling Bibles.

Our reunion speaker—that is the only one accorded a modicum of silence—was Red, a name that hangs on although gray has replaced most of the auburn of his thatch.

And what is Red doing now? The Very Rev. Edward J. O'Donnell, S.J., is the president of Marquette University, the largest Catholic university in the United States, if not the world.

Frank, with whom I once played a clumsy bass to his debt treble in a piano recital duet, spent his teens driving a truck.

What is Frank doing now? Frank D. Kelly is the corporate secretary of the Milwaukee Journal Co., whose papers he used to trudge to newsstands and carrier stations back in the '20s.

By simple projection Al should be doing time somewhere for forgery. At the reunion he whipped out a pen and wrote on the table-cloth the signature of the school principal. It looked as perfect as it did on the phony excuse slips we'd set up to escape "Al" from a short synonym for disciplinary detention.

What's Al doing now? Alfred F. Braun is a sales manager for the Wisconsin Telephone Co., specializing in large installations.

By the time John took his degree in business administration it was 1931 and there was little left to administrate.

In good times and bad people get sick, John observed. So he enrolled in the medical school.

What's John doing now? Dr. John S. Hirschboeck has coupled his business and scientific training and is dean of the medical school in Red's university.

And what am I doing? I'm yawning over today's paper with those black headlines over stories about our awful teen-agers, and writing:

"Don't count these kids out yet. Give 'em at least until 1989."

Smooth Despite Crowd

East Carolina College began its second fifty years with a bang last weekend.

For on the college campus a pageant was presented Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon to show the progress of the institution from the day ground was broken in 1908 until the present.

Back for the occasion were people who have played important parts in the progress of the college through the years.

Thousands of man hours went into the production.

I know, for I had the pleasure of taking two very small parts in the pageant. Although my parts were minor, I attended three rehearsals. In addition better than four hours were required for the actual performance Saturday night and another four hours Sunday.

For Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert, who directed the pageant and his assistant directors, hundreds of hours must have been required in preparation for the pageant.

For the college students who participated in the orchestra and chorus, the practice time in addition to their regular studies must have been tremendous.

There were also townspeople and alumni who took major roles in the pageant. They, too, must have spent a considerable amount of time preparing for the pageant.

Yet, I believe all the more than 600 persons who participated would say, as I do, it was worth it.

For a production utilizing so many people and so many changes of scenery the 50th anniversary pageant was an amazingly smooth performance.

Even though some of us were amateurs at such things, the professional guidance offered by the directors and others of the college staff kept things running smoothly.

And as usual, the music offered for the occasion by the orchestra, chorus and other college musicians was superb.

The performance of the college musicians proved once again what many people firmly believe.

The college Music Department is rapidly becoming one which will demand national attention.

One group also overlooked at such performances were the stage hands and technicians. In this rapidly moving production, the college boy stage hands worked particularly hard.

Lighting, always an important part of any performance was well handled.

It was a great day for the college as the pageant highlighted the 50th anniversary of the turning of the first spade of dirt.

It is to be hoped that progress equal to that of the first 50 years will be seen during the next half century.

Other Editors Saying--- Will Bob Scott Follow?

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

Top-placed Branch Head boys put the finger on Robert Scott to continue the Scott family tradition of public service.

They say that Kerr Scott, in his last illness, said to the son who runs the 2,300-acre Scott dairy farm in Alamance: "I want you to carry on." Whether such a conversation was so directly put cannot be stated, but there is evidence the Senator leaned that way.

In the Kerr Scott will it is provided that the rich farm so long in the family shall in line of succession go to Robert.

The original Robert Scott, of Alamance and that same farm, put his finger on Kerr Scott and lit the fires in his heart that saw him a successful State Commissioner of Agriculture, a "let-in-some-fresh-air" governor and a U. S. Senator who was exciting national attention, even from Northern editors.

Today's Bob Scott is the father of four children. What is his public service record?

Today's Bob Scott spent a number of months with U. S. forces in Korea. When he came home he elected to follow the example of his father; he looked to the good earth of Alamance first.

Dairying was not enough. The farm expanded into poultry and livestock. Estimates are that about a third of the Scott farm income now comes from poultry. This is a relatively new farm industry in North Carolina but already bids fair to become the number one cash source to N.C. farmers in a few years.

Scott, today's Bob Scott, has been identified prominently with go-forward movements in the poultry industry. When U. S. Poultry Association was formed a year ago in Washington, he was elected its president. The Association, which could become one of the most important farm groups in the nation, has its headquarters in Greensboro.

Young Scott is starting much as his grandfather and his father did. He is working with the Grange. He has served as master of his local Grange and accompanied his father, Senator Scott, on thousands of miles of journeying up and down North Carolina. Bob Scott already is known among the Tar Heel farms and villages.

As speculation on Bob Scott's continuing the family tradition grew, what apparently is a true report not high on printed page to light. A group of close associates of Kerr Scott talked informally prior to the funeral. They named a committee of three to confer and arrange to see Governor Hodges on filling the Senate vacancy. The committee was told to study the matter carefully; and if it seemed wise to ask Hodges to name Mrs. Scott to fill out the unexpired term of her husband. Those seeking this courtesy for "Miss Mary" pointed to a precedent for such appointments. The committee, however, talked at length and decided not to take the case to the Governor.

This sort of talk is mixed in with the question now asked most often in the stores and filling stations of North Carolina. The Branch Headers ask "where can we turn now?"

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

THIS TOPS THEM ALL

The widow of one of my very good friends has, in spite of 86 years, preserved her vigor to a remarkable degree. She goes early each summer to her cottage in Canada, and within a few minutes after her arrival she is diving off an elevated diving board into thirty feet of water.

Recently she suffered a congestion in one of her legs caused by a clot. The condition became worse with the passing time, and it was necessary at last to amputate above the knee. As she was coming out of the anesthetic, this doughty old warrior asked her surgeon whether it would be necessary for her to remove her artificial limb when she went swimming.

This type of character is what holds the world together. This is the spirit which gives tone and stability to our national life. It was this sort of spirit which clothed Continental soldiers to endure Valley Forge. This was the spirit which made the war between the states the most courageously contested struggle that had ever been waged in history.

This was the spirit that made both World Wars outstanding for heroism and solid moral character.

Best of all, this is the spirit which abides silently in the hearts of our people—scattered over a vast domain of cities, villages, and countryside.

This is the kind of spirit that makes greatness greater, goodness better, courage supreme.

Salesmen Rap The Home Office

By ELMER ROESSNER

One of the easy explanations of the recession is that salesmen aren't selling. Buying power has been high for more than 15 years; in many fields selling has been largely a matter of taking orders, and the art of selling has declined.

But salesmen have gripes, some of which certainly reduce their effectiveness.

Charles L. Lapp, professor of marketing at Washington University and author of "Successful Selling Strategies," has directed the questioning of 50 salesmen in each of nine fields. Each was asked, "What is your major gripe with your selling job?"

The answers indicated that sales managers and other employers are as much to blame for the current lag in selling as are the salesmen themselves.

WHAT BOTHERS THEM

Here are the five principal gripes of each group:

1. House-to-house salesmen: Uncertainty of salary. Customers' fear of house-to-house salesmen. Night work. Poor supervision. Low ratio of sales to calls.

2. Route salesmen: Too many stops with low sales return. Not enough promotion by the company. Territories either too large or too small. Delays in loading, and poor maintenance of trucks. New outlets difficult to obtain.

3. Industrial salesmen for units under $100: Sales are based mainly on price competition; after being sold on a product, a customer will buy from a competitor. Sales are too small. Quotas are too large. Poor delivery from factory. Poor training.

4. Industrial salesmen for units over $100: Credit manager sets up a too-tight credit policy. Too much time is wasted waiting to see purchasing agents. Price cutting, among competitors. Too much paper work. Poor communication with home office.

SELLING SERVICES AND SECURITIES

5. Salesmen of intangibles: Too much night work. Poor commission return. Difficulties encountered in selling something from which a buyer does not receive an immediate return. Poor training. Too many reports.

6. Salesmen for industrial distributors: Too much product information to learn. Too much time spent on reports. Severe price competition. Territory too large. Poor training and too little contact with sales manager.

7. Salesmen for consumer product distributors: Must carry too large a stock. Sales fluctuate according to season. Too many credit restrictions. Severe price competition. Buyers demand too much service.

8. Soft goods manufacturers' salesmen: Competition too tough and based on price. Poor factory deliveries. Territory too large. Must keep learning new styles. Suggestions not received favorably by management.

9. Durable goods manufacturers' salesmen: Too much time spent traveling. Takes too much time to make a sale. Have to sell more than one person in a store. Not enough company advertising. Lack of repeat sales.

Many of these gripes seem to prompt the rejoinder, "Well get in there and do something about it!" However, many of the complaints can be remedied only by management.

JAPANESE, TOO, SWITCH CIGARETTE BRANDS

There has been a considerable shift of cigarette brand popularity in Japan as well as in the United States.

Shensel cigarettes remain the best sold brand, although sales are off 10 per cent since 1955, the Foreign Agricultural Service reports. Golden Bats, which were in No. 2 place two years ago, are now third, while Ikols, which were in third place in 1955 are fifth now, and Peace cigarettes, fourth in 1955, dropped to fifth place in 1956 but returned to fourth place last year. Peaces and Hikaris, and three other brands, Fuji, Hope and Pearl, contain U. S. leaf. Cigarettes are a government monopoly in Japan.

Honored Mother Hungry Bandit Sidesteps Credit Faints 'On Job'

By ROBERT FARRINGTON

NEW YORK (AP)—A little Southern lady, who quietly has devoted her life to helping others in a small town, is the American Mother of the Year.

Mrs. May Roper Coker of Hartsville, S.C., was thrilled at the honor, but not quite sure the American Mothers Committee hasn't mistaken her for someone else.

She sidesteps credit for raising eight children and deprecates any fuss over her many civic activities and personal charities.

"Miss May," as they call her back home, is a cultured, educated woman. She is 67. More than 40 years ago, she forsook the social glitter of Washington to become the wife of a plant pioneer in a little farm community.

Her father was a well-to-do former Cabinet officer, Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper, who served six years in the Franklin Roosevelt administration (1933-39). Long before that, in 1915, she married into one of the prominent families of the Carolinas.

"Miss May" was reared in Washington, where her father was assistant postmaster general and commissioner of internal revenue before becoming secretary of commerce.

While still a college girl, she worked with children on Washington playgrounds during the summer months.

When she was 24, she met and married David R. Coker, a widower with five children and a man with a dream. Coker believed he could improve the lot of farmers by giving them better seed. He took his bride to Hartsville, where visitors came from all over the world to see his experiments and their applications on local farms.

"Miss May," too, believed strongly then and now in social improvement. She followed her husband's experiments and taught classes in vegetable and flower growing to farm hands and mill workers.

Miss Coker was born in Gooen, N.C. Oct. 10, 1890, and has been a friend to white and Negro all her life. She says she is troubled by the current integration problems of the South.

Characteristically, hers is a soft answer: "None of these problems (racial matters) are going to be settled by force or ignorance or prejudice," she says.

Her husband died nearly 20 years ago.

He had fainted — from hunger. It happened in a branch of the Bank of America, the biggest bank in America.

Police came from the station house a block away and hauled him out on a stretcher.

In his pocket was no gun to back up his threatening robbery note. There was only 2 cents.

He said he was Timothy J. Mahoney, 49, an ex-Army sergeant. He had lost his job in a Feather River Canyon resort.

He had checked into an Oroville hotel. Police said they found remnants of six practice notes he had written and torn up before presenting the robbery note to Mrs. Thelander.

Police hauled him to the local hospital. They fed him and he felt better.

They left him there for the FBI.

Heart Attack Victim Made Full Comeback On The Job

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK (AP)—Every newsroom has its favorite drama. This is ours.

On April 25, 1955, Reiman (Pat) Morin, special correspondent for the Associated Press, who had covered most of the big ones in war and peace, was hit by a heart attack. He was convinced he was through.

On May 5, 1958, Pat Morin won a Pulitzer Prize for his coverage of the integration violence in Little Rock, Ark. It was one of the biggest, most complex, most emotional stories of the year and the decade. Also, one of the most strenuous.

Pat Morin's comeback was complete.

The word is used advisedly for he had never been away, except in his own mind.

Three years ago, he recovered physically from his heart attack. After four months, he returned to his desk and to a warm welcome. But Pat was suspicious. He couldn't shake loose the dark feeling that he was being shelved; that, far from the electric excitement of the big, breaking news stories, he would be given only the quiet easy assignments, the leisurely background stories, the relaxed features.

A starting pitcher for many years, Pat Morin was now certain he'd only be used in batting practice.

"Everyone at the office was very solicitous when I got back," he recalls. "Gradually, I got the feeling I was being wrapped in cotton wool. I remember there was talk of sending me up to New England to cover the floods but someone thought that would involve too much jumping around. So they gave me an assignment right here in New York."

"In 1952, I had covered the political campaign trains, always one of the most tiring assignments. In 1956, I covered a couple of primaries, did some analytical pieces but never got near a campaign train. I began to wonder whether I'd ever get a fast-breaking story again."

Since joining the AP in 1934, Pat had covered many fast-breaking stories—in Los Angeles, in New York, London, Algiers, Tokyo, Cairo, New Delhi, Italy and Korea. Came Pearl Harbor and he was interned by the Japanese. Released in 1942, he covered the war in Europe. Came the peace, and he headed AP bureaus in Paris and Washington. Came the Korean War, and he was back on the fighting front, this time among the rice paddies, where he won his first Pulitzer Prize.

He became the kind of correspondent for which they coined the word "roving." In a given year, he traveled more than 40,000 miles, at home and abroad. He covered the coronation of a queen in Westminster Abbey and the inauguration of a president in Washington—the execution of the Rosenberg, presidential campaign trains, strikes, crimes, trials.

All these were strenuous assignments but in 1955, after a heart attack at 47, Pat Morin thought he'd never be benched as an armchair reporter.

"I had doubts on two counts. Frankly, I myself wondered if I could again take on a physically demanding story. Also, I doubted the office would give me one."

Both doubts were removed in Little Rock last year, between Sept. 10 and Oct. 1. For days, he was on his feet hours on end, fighting through crowds, rushing to phones, dictating and writing far into the night, sleeping little most nights, not at all some nights.

Now and then, he slipped into a grocery store near the Little Rock high school to make notes on a napkin, to grab a cup of coffee and gulp down some pills and drops. The pills were to counteract the fat deficiency in his diet. The drops were to strengthen his heart muscle.

"Actually," Pat recalls, "I don't think I thought about my heart attack except once, after working all night. I wondered whether I was pushing my luck too far. But my health remained fine."

"Little Rock, for me, was getting over a mountainous hump. That's why the Pulitzer Prize was doubly sweet."

Found Ignorance Of U.S. Views

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Vice President Nixon says he has found on his South American tour a woeful lack of understanding of U. S. economic problems.

Government officials know the score but "we must reach the people," Nixon told a news conference last night, he advocated increasing exchanges of students and specialists between the United States and Latin America and tailoring U. S. information programs to clear up misunderstandings.

Nixon commented on the first half of his 18-day trip before flying today to Lima, Peru.

"There is a feeling in many capitals that U. S. loan programs and aid programs have not given as much assistance proportionally to Latin America as they should," he said.

The feeling exists, he continued, that there should be no limit on what Washington does for Latin America in the way of loans and stabilization of raw material prices. Nixon said U. S. officials should "step up across-the-table discussions so that the realities of the situation are laid on the table."

Many Latin Americans feel U. S. insistence that private capital must play a leading part in economic development is unrealistic and unworkable, Nixon continued.

The United States is not trying to force its system on other governments, he explained, but there is a sincere U. S. belief that this "is the only effective way the economic resources of those countries can be developed."

Big Dramatic Anthologies Being Dropped From TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Advertisers who determine so much about the nature of television, are turning cool to live anthology dramatic series. For example:

Kraft Television Theater (NBC) which makes its 11th anniversary on the air tonight, will disappear from the home screen next September.

Studio One (CBS, Monday nights), which completes nine years on television next week, also will be discontinued next September.

Matinee Theater (NBC, weekdays) will be shelved within a month.

A this writing trade sources say that Climax (CBS-TV, Thursday nights) either will be discontinued or drop to an alternate week basis next season.

What will take their places? Two half-hour programs will succeed Kraft Theater. One will star Milton Berle. The other probably will be a Western. Studio One will be replaced by a weekly film program produced by Desilu Productions, Inc. It will be a series of musicals, comedies, westerns, dramas and you name it.

Matinee Theater which finally bowed to flagging sponsor interest, is expected to be succeeded by two half-hour soap operas.

It would be easy to shed a few bitter tears over the death of so much live television drama, for there is no question that live drama is generally superior to film on the home screen. But fretting over the matter will not change the fact that next season will see relatively little of it on television.

The trend does not mean that the viewing public is tired of live drama or the networks opposed to it. Rather, it simply means that a variety of advertisers for a variety of reasons choose to spend their TV advertising dollars on other types of programs.

It's a forceful example of the great power advertisers wield over the nature of the television programs you watch.

ECC Captures NS Tennis And Golf Championships

Hollowell And Savage Win Doubles Title

GREENSBORO—East Carolina's doubles team of Billy Hollowell and John Savage defeated the No. 1 seeded Guilford team yesterday in light rain to capture the North State Doubles Championship here yesterday afternoon. They completed the match moments before a downpour.

For the two ECC netters, it was something of a mild upset. Guilford's Jordan Washburn and Jimmy Askins, ranked No. 1, have long been the league's most respected pair.

Hollowell and Savage turned them back, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2, just before the bottom fell out of the Greensboro sky.

Everette Playing

The rain halted the singles championship match in progress at the same time. East Carolina's Maurice Everette and High Point's Bill Hugel were scrapping for that title. Everette is seeking his third straight conference Singles title and Hugel is the No. 2 seeded player.

That match will be played today, providing the rain will hold off long enough. The best two-out-of-three set finals will be completed this afternoon at two o'clock at Sedgfield Courts.

In the doubles, the second-ranked duo of Hollowell and Savage conquered Bill Mills and Al Weidenhouse of Appalachian 6-0, 6-1, in the morning and then overcame the stiff opposition of the Quakers in the afternoon. Washburn and Askins had beaten the Elon team of Jack Kester and Jim Bennett 6-1, 6-2, earlier.

Everette downed teammate John West 7-5, 6-3 in reaching the finals of the singles while Hugel overcame third-seeded John McCabe of Western Carolina 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, in the semi-finals.

Brown, Dupas Battle For Title Tonight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Lean Joe Brown, whose fists pack an explosiveness that doesn't coincide with his physical stature, gives young Ralph Dupas his chance to take away the world's lightweight championship here tonight.

A crowd approaching 11,000 and a gate that may reach $60,000 are in prospect, which would make it the largest draw for a fight in Texas history.

There was a slight lag in ticket sales in the New Orleans area, from where the two fighters come, because the bout will be nationally televised (ABC) starting at 9 p. m. EST and go into New Orleans. Houston will be blacked out.

Brown said he would be at about 134½. Dupas, who reportedly has been having trouble making the weight, expects to hit the beams at 135 straight up.

It's the alleged weight problem that has caused Brown to predict he'll win by a knockout long before the 15-round limit is reached. He says Dupas, who has been fighting middleweights and welters, will come into the ring weakened.

Dupas, 22, has had 84 fights. Brown, 31, who won the lightweight championship Aug. 21, 1956 from Wallace (Bud) Smith, hasn't lost a fight in almost three years and has 31 knockouts in his string. The winner here is to meet Kenny Lane, the No. 1 contender. Dupas, rated No. 2, got the fight with Brown through such an agreement.

Phantomites Play Here Tomorrow

Coach Milton Reece's Junior High School Phantomites put their quick 2-0 record on the line tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 against the seventh and eighth graders of Chicod.

Reece's club whipped the Chicod club badly at Chicod last week in their season's opener.

Expected to start on the mound for the Phantomites tomorrow afternoon is Guy Smith at the catcher's position; Bernie Morris at first; Kroghle Andersen at second; Dalton Owens at shortstop; Billy Neal James at third; Alan McArthur, Jimmy Jenkins, Russell Fields in the outfield.

of them were on the 1957 All-Star Little League outfit which won the state title and went on to Rome, Georgia to compete in the district finals.

In their two games thus far, the Phantomites have racked up a total of 24 runs, as against only seven by opposing clubs.

Reece's lineup tomorrow will include Jimmy Smith at the catcher's position; Bernie Morris at first; Kroghle Andersen at second; Dalton Owens at shortstop; Billy Neal James at third; Alan McArthur, Jimmy Jenkins, Russell Fields in the outfield.

USAC Planning Large Events

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The formation of a professional road racing (sports car) division of the U.S. Automobile Club today opened the way for grand prix racing all over the country with the top drivers from all over the world competing.

The USAC, which also controls the Indianapolis 500 race, announced its new division here last night.

Observers pointed out that the action probably will turn out to be one of the most important in U.S. auto racing circles in decades. Top drivers like Carroll Shelby of Dallas, Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., and Paul O'Shea of Rye, N.Y., are expected to join the new outfit.

Since the end of the World War II, sports car racing has been under the direction of the Sports Car Club of America, but now the old amateur-pro argument has caused the new setup.

The SCCA is an amateur outfit and wants to, main so. It has a membership of about 10,000 and a competition list of about 1,000 drivers. It is so amateur that a driver can't even accept a sandwich as expenses.

Thomas W. Binford, president of the USAC, explained that many of the drivers asked the SCCA to form a professional division more than a year ago, but that it declined.

"So you can see we are not competing with amateur clubs," he said. "In fact, we will invite the amateurs to drive in our races."

He also pointed out that most of the road courses for sports cars cost between $250,000 and $1,500,000, and that the way things were going, the public wasn't supporting them. The two biggest are Riverside Internatio. Speedway in Riverside, Calif., and Virginia International Raceway in Danville, Va. Spectators didn't like the idea of seeing one or two top stars leading a parade around a course, according to track owners, and were staying away in droves.

"It is not our thought in any way to change the character of sports car racing as presently conducted," Binford added. "We recognize the distinctive features of both track and road racing."

He said the USCA had applied to the Federation Internationale de Automobile for approval of its sports car program. If the international organization approves—and there is no reason to believe it won't—then the top drivers from all over the world can make the U.S. a regular stopping off place instead of a once-a-year shot at Sebring, Fla., Binford indicated.

Speaker Can't Recall 3,000th

NEW YORK (AP)—When Stan Musial collects his 3,000th base hit in a week or so, they'll probably stop the game and present the ball to him in an appropriate ceremony.

Undoubtedly it will rest forevermore in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown or on the Musial mantelpiece.

Things weren't always like that. Tris Speaker, one of the seven men to hit safely 3,000 or more times in the majors, is here with the Cleveland Indians. Happy to see Musial closing in on the 3,000 mark, Speaker admits he can't even remember when he did it.

"I couldn't tell you when I hit it or where or who the pitcher was," said Speaker, to a patting coach with the Tribe. "It didn't seem so important to get that hit in those days. Not so much was said about it."

Speaker works with the younger players on the Cleveland club, trying to improve their hitting. "You can't teach anybody how to hit," he said. "But you can take the tools they have and try to improve them and correct their faults."

Speaker finished his great career in 1928 with a total of 3,515 hits and a lifetime average of .344 for a seat in the Hall of Fame. The only man with more hits was Ty Cobb with 4,191. Others in the group: Nap Lajoie (3,251), Paul Waner (3,152), Honus Wagner (3,430), Eddie Collins (3,313) and Cap Anson (3,091).

Buccaneers Cop Team Trophy With Top Score

GREENSBORO—Coach Howard Porter's East Carolina golf team rolled to the team championship of the North State Conference tournament here yesterday afternoon at the Sarmount Forest Country Club.

The team compiled a total of 652 points to outlast the other six teams in the tournament. Trailblazers were Elon at 656, Lenoir Rhyne with 659, Guilford with 664, Catawba with 688, High Point with 690, and Appalachian with 706.

Jim Ward, a High Point College junior from Jamestown, won the individual crown with a 79 yesterday for 18 holes to go with his earlier 74, giving him a total of 153.

Ward edged Elon's Bobby Loy by a single stroke as Loy carded a 78 on the final day, missing by the margin of one stroke of catching the new champion.

As it was, Loy forced Ward into a comeback on the final nine holes, the Elon golfer having forged into a three-stroke margin at the turn. However, Ward who had soared to a 43 going out, settled down for a par 36 on the back nine.

Ward succeeds Pat Brady of Guilford as the North State champion, and the new titleholder gives Brady at least partial credit for the victory.

"I was doing terrible on the front nine," he said, "and at the ninth hole Brady told me to keep my head down, that I was looking up." East Carolina's Wayne Workman nabbed third place in the finish with a 78, 78 and a 156 total. The other ECC players to place were Ira Land with a 163, Paul Goodwin with a 164, and Howard Beal with a 169.

Kid Southpaw Finally Makes Good With SF

By ED WILKS

Mike McCormick, the kid south paw almost every major league club wanted when he was an American Legion whiz in Los Angeles, finally has come into his own with the San Francisco Giants.

The big teen-ager was signed for $65,000 in 1956.

Last night he gave up just three infield singles for his first major league shutout, a 7-0 job that tripped Pittsburgh out of a share of the National League lead.

He walked one, fanned four. The Pirates didn't get a hit off the 19-year-old lefty until Roberto Clemente opened the fifth with a single to deep short. The Giants counted five runs in the first off loser Bennie Daniels and George Perez.

The Chicago Cubs gained a full share of first as Glen Hobbie pitched his first shutout in pro ball, a four-hitter that beat Cincinnati 4-0. Milwaukee took second with a 12-8 fling at St. Louis. Los Angeles moved past Philadelphia into sixth with a 7-6 victory over the Phils in 14 innings.

Hobbie, a 22-year-old right-hander who served mostly in relief in three years of minor league ball, got a 3-0 lead in the first. Bobby Thomson tagged loser Joe Nuxhall for a two-on homer. Hobbie's fast ball and curve took it from there, giving up nothing but singles while striking out seven.

A two-out single off the left field screen gave the Dodgers the edge at Los Angeles with Don Drysdale, the expected ace who lost his first five decisions, finally winning one in relief. Charlie Neal walked after catcher Stan Lopata had dropped his pop foul, and scooted home from first with the winning, unearned run. Dick Farrell was the loser.

The Braves blew most of a 7-0 lead built in the first two innings, but after the Cardinals had closed to 7-6 in the eighth, Milwaukee cashed five in the ninth. Bob Buhl, backed by three-RBI performances from Bob Hazle and Frank Torre, won his fourth with relief help.

ACC Looking For Weather Break

Atlantic Coast Conference baseball looked for a break in the weather today to get its rain-plagued schedule rolling for the week.

On tap in today's only league encounter is third-place Duke (6-4) second-place North Carolina (8-2), which needs a win to tighten up its pennant bid against ACC-leader Clemson (10-2).

Also scheduled is South Carolina at The Citadel of the Southern Conference. Rain washed out the league schedule for the second straight day yesterday. However, Clemson tentatively rescheduled its game with Furman of the Southern Conference for tomorrow. North Carolina State meets Wake Forest at Asheboro, N.C., tomorrow.

Rain Kills Another ECC Ballgame

BOONE — Rain invaded Boone again yesterday afternoon to keep East Carolina and Appalachian idle for the second straight day.

The two clubs were scheduled to play a two-day series Monday and Tuesday in a pair of important North State Conference baseball tilts.

The Pirates move on to Guilford this afternoon for another loop game which may also be affected by heavy rain which has been falling in that area of the state for the past three days.

Coach Mallory, whose club is resting in the league's second position with a 7-1 mark and anxious to improve, will then return to Greenville for a game with Lenoir Rhyne and will then meet Elon Saturday night.

Mallory is expected to use either George Williams, Ben Baker or Bruce Shelley today against Guilford if the game is played. His hurlers have had plenty of time to rest. Assistant Coach Earl Smith, who stayed behind this weekend with hurler Leonard Lilley, was expected to make the journey to Guilford today with the hurler, in case Mallory decides to use him. No reason has been given for Lilley's stay in Greenville.

Elon, the No. 1 team in the league standings at present with a 9-1 record, journeys to Appalachian tonight for a contest that is not expected to be played due to rain again.

When Elon and ECC clash at Guy Smith Stadium in Greenville Saturday night, some observers feel that it will be for the conference championship. Such would have been the case if rain had not interfered and both ECC and Elon had won all their other games this week. However, the rain has injected complications which may take an extra two or three days to clear up. It is possible that the rained-out games may have to be played next week in order to clean up the standings.

Nevertheless, unless ECC loses either today to Guilford or Friday to Lenoir Rhyne, and unless Elon loses at Appalachian, the Saturday night game will still be the championship game—in effect. For they are the two top clubs and either one of the other will wind up with the championship. Therefore, the winner of Saturday's game will more than likely be that champion, regardless of what is done later.

At the game, Coach Jim Mallory will be honored by Greenville fans in a special Appreciation Night award, for his outstanding contribution to baseball in the area. Fans will make the presentations at quarter to eight. Game time is at eight o'clock.

College View Cleaners and Laundry, a Greenville firm, has bought out sponsorship of the game and has 3,000 tickets to give away without obligation to any and all who will go into the establishment and merely ask for them. Tickets will also be available at the gate—at a price.

Remembers Slaying As A Dream, Cases Heard In Pleads Guilty And Draws Life City Police Court

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP)—James Stanley Allison Jr. remembers it as a fragment of a dream according to police testimony. But he pleaded guilty, nonetheless, yesterday and received a life prison term for the murder of a high school girl.

The facts as developed in Henderson Superior Court were these:

Lula Belle Robinson, 18, was found strangled to death March 17 in a boarding house room across from the one occupied by the 35-year-old married filling station attendant.

A note found beside her body and written on a receipt made out to Allison said:

"I told her I wanted to die from the way things have been going and she said she wanted to go with me. She was a sweet girl but I done just what she asked me to do. I didn't rape her. I just didn't have any desire to."

A medical examination of the Flat Rock high school senior, also a part-time waitress, found she had been raped.

The bed in Allison's room was bloody, and when he surrendered 10 days later, his arm showed a left wrist slash.

Allison told officers of a dream: A girl coming down the hall... "Hi, there," she says, and walks into his room to talk and sits on his bed. That was all he remembered.

He said he had been introduced to the girl March 16 at her place of work, a dairy bar, and later did some drinking that fogged his mind. The next morning he awoke to find his left wrist bloody.

He said three women in the hall told him of the death and he left the rooming house, took a cab to see his brother and then went to the Mountain Home section and an abandoned house on a rock cliff for 10 days.

This testimony was developed by Agent Claude Davis of the State Bureau of Investigation.

Allison submitted his guilty plea through his attorney and did not testify.

Superior Court Judge James C. Farthing of Lenoir passed sentence for the slaying. He also sentenced Allison to 30 years in prison on a charge of second degree burglary in another incident to which Allison pleaded guilty.

He was accused of breaking into a rooming house where he formerly lived shortly after the girl was slain. Judge Farthing said the life term would become effective after the burglary sentence was completed.

Auto Maker Says Car Prices Still Going Up

DETROIT (AP)—George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., says, "The car buyers of the nation need to know that the outlook is for higher car prices—not lower car prices."

Romney said the wage demands of the United Auto Workers and other unions are to blame.

The AMC executive made the statement in attacking a proposal by Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) that federal excise taxes on cars be cut on condition the manufacturers cut prices.

Romney said, "Well-meaning but impractical proposals such as the one just made by Sen. Douglas are retarding the nation's return to full economic health and growth... It is time for the country to stop ducking some of its real problems."

Romney's statement disclosed that AMC is standing pat on its proposal to the UAW for a two-year freeze on wages and fringe benefits. The company claims its wage costs average several cents higher than at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The UAW has rejected the AMC proposal. It has presented AMC the same demands made upon the Big Three.

The union has rejected Big Three proposals for a two-year renewal of the wage formula in the present contract. This would give workers an annual productivity increase of at least 6 cents an hour plus cost of living allowances.

Romney said the prospect for higher car prices "is increased by the auto union's insistence upon further wage increases this year, and any proposal that ignores the impact of rising wages on costs and prices, is devoid of economic balance and practicality."

By-Passed, Raps Chosen Director

RALEIGH (AP)—Selection of a new executive director for the Eastern Carolina Regional Housing Authority has been attacked by a man passed over for the job.

C. P. Hancock of Havelock said yesterday he will seek a meeting with Gov. Hodges to discuss the authority's action in hiring A. P. Winfrey Jr. of Clinton.

Hancock, operator of a privately owned military housing development at Havelock, charged that some authority members were "acting as stooges for Emmett Powell." Hancock said he was trying to arrange an appointment with the governor for Friday.

Meanwhile, Winfrey strongly denied any business dealings with Powell, a Clinton resident who resigned under fire as the regional authority's executive director. An investigating committee found a conflict of interest in Powell's dealings with the authority on the proposed sale of Seymour Johnson Homes at Goldsboro.

"I have never had any dealings with Mr. Powell, none whatsoever, I mean in any respect," said Winfrey, twice mayor of Clinton.

Winfrey said he is in the process of withdrawing from his auto business and will be prepared to take over the job in a few days.

The authority met in Goldsboro on Monday and selected Winfrey on an 8-3 vote. Before the vote, Hancock had been eliminated after the subject of his health was raised.

However, Hancock said he could present a doctor's statement to show himself physically fit for the job. He said he had recovered from a heart attack and an operation which sent him to the hospital for 11 weeks in 1956.

A Ton Of Silver Dollars Will Help Celebration

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (AP)—Business is booming in Mount Carmel's main industrial plant and the town, to the tune of a ton of silver dollars to be paid workers, is going to celebrate.

Union-management teamwork in the signing of a new long-term contract was cited by Eugene Powers, plant manager, as making possible expansion of the plant and increased production. He said he believes the contract is the first of its type negotiated between company and union.

"The contract gave us a stable basis for progress," Powers said. "We've been able to hire 230 new employees and add a whole new line of products."

The contract with the company, Thordarson-Meisner Co., was signed last August and becomes effective May 14.

"It was a simple renewal of the previous three-year contract," Powers said. "The union agreed to give up an opportunity for wage increases over the next five years on the company's promise to expand and keep everyone working."

Workers now earn from $1.30 to $2.30 hourly.

When the contract was signed by the union, the International Assn. of Machinists, Local 2042, the plant employed 175 persons in the manufacture of electronic equipment. Today 405 are on the payroll.

"Sales are up 20 per cent over the three million dollars of last year," Powers said.

To celebrate the beginning of the new contract, Mount Carmel, a Wabash River town of 10,000, has designated next week as Thordarson-Meisner Co. Week.

Plant workers will be paid in silver dollars — 27,000 of them weighing more than a ton. Merchants have agreed to give $1.10 value for each silver dollar.

President Turns Down Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has declined to lend his name to a proposed nationwide sales campaign aimed at pumping more consumer dollars into the economy.

Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain (R-Mich.) suggested in an April 15 letter to Eisenhower that he support a "President's Sale." Chamberlain specifically mentioned automobiles but did not say the campaign should be limited to this field.

In his reply, Eisenhower wrote Chamberlain "I am inclined against giving special endorsement to a particular sales venture." He added he will continue "preaching the general importance of consumer purchasing."

Asian Flu Shots Now Under Study

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Johns Hopkins University professor said last night that preliminary findings show vaccination for Asian influenza to be 40 to 65 per cent effective in a large field study made last fall.

The project involving approximately 3,000 persons was described as the largest controlled field study of the flu vaccine ever made on a so-called open population. Studies elsewhere have been with special groups such as students or institutional inmates.

Dr. Raymond Seltzer, assistant professor of epidemiology in the Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health emphasized that his report offered only an initial analysis of data and many months of work are needed for a complete evaluation.

The world's earliest known coins were lumps of silver stamped with marks of Lydian kings in the 7th Century B.C.

Today's Speedy Jets Versatile, Deadly Weapons

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—Remember those predictions a few years back that jet aircraft would be too fast for such tasks as pinpointing bombing, strafing and target photography?

Forget them. Today's Air Force jet fighters are supersonic. But they don't take a back seat to their old-fashioned propeller cousins when it comes to intricate versatility.

This was demonstrated with a dramatic flair yesterday before some 6,000 military and civilian guests attending a fire power demonstration.

Here's a sample of what the Air Force showed it can do with its newest planes and weapons:

An F104 devastated ground targets with the six-barrel M61, the 30mm modernized Gatling gun that fires 6,000 rounds a minute.

Another F104 Starfighter launched a Sidewinder missile at an ancient airplane on the ground, equipped with a bank of ordinary light bulbs to simulate the heat of warm engines.

The Sidewinder, packing an infrared gadget that seeks heat, shot out in the general direction of the target, sensed the heat, corrected its course and zoned in on the parked plane.

In perhaps the most striking feat, an F100 fired a target rocket, paused until the target streaked out well in front, then launched a Sidewinder. The Sidewinder took after the flame-sputtering rocket like a racing hound after a rabbit and blasted it apart, high out in front of the startled crowd.

Facilities Now Available For Delinquent Boys

MAXTON, N.C. (AP)—Facilities were available today for confinement of members of a band of delinquent boys who have been on a burglary rampage here for the past six months.

State commissioner of Correction Blaine M. Madison, deeming the situation an extreme emergency, granted local officials permission to use the Morrison Training School for Negro Boys at Hoffman.

The commissioner permitted the immediate use of the school even though he said it has been running beyond its budget and capacity.

The youngsters, all Negroes, range in age from nine to 13. Three of them were on the waiting list for admission to Morrison, but had remained in the custody of relatives.

They have kept the town on edge with a lengthy series of break-ins at stores and homes here.

Search Ended As Body Is Found

KERNERSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A widespread search for Patricia Ann Tillman, 21, ended here yesterday when Police Chief D. M. Sykes found her body in an unused upstairs room in the heart of this community.

Miss Tillman had been missing since Sunday, prompting dragging operations in a nearby lake and a probe of wooded areas.

Coroner V. M. Long attributed her death to an overdose of barbiturate drugs and termed it suicide.

No Major Upset Scored As Primaries Are Staged

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Party candidates were tapped for a variety of offices in primary elections yesterday in Ohio, Indiana and Alabama. There were no major upsets.

Gov. C. William O'Neill was nominated by the Republicans for another run in Ohio, while Democrats picked Michael DiSalle, who carried the party's banner in 1956 when he was defeated by O'Neill.

Indiana's House contests saw all 11 of the state's congressmen nominated for new terms.

In Alabama, Atty. Gen. John Patterson showed the way in a 14-man field seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. But he faces a runoff primary next month because of a failure to win by a majority. His opponent will be Judge George Wallace.

O'Neill won the Republican gubernatorial primary in Ohio over Charles P. Taft, a brother of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. Taft entered the race last January after O'Neill suffered a heart attack. Declaring himself a standby candidate, Taft nevertheless stayed in the race after O'Neill said he had recovered.

Taft said he was surprised and pleased at the vote given him. Returns from 11,521 of the state's 12,459 polling places gave Taft, onetime Cincinnati mayor, 186,042 votes to 324,054 for O'Neill.

Observers interpreted Taft's showing largely as an anti-O'Neill vote among Republicans.

It bodied the likelihood that O'Neill will face a tougher fight from DiSalle in November than he had in 1956, when he trounced the former federal price stabilizer by 427,000 votes.

DiSalle led all the way to score an easy triumph in the seven-man

Democratic primary. With 11,521 polling places reporting, he rolled up 226,580 votes to 107,125 for Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, his closest opponent.

Sen. John W. Bricker was nominated for another term without opposition in the GOP primary. The Democratic senatorial nominee, Stephen M. Young, likewise had no opposition.

Patterson held an 87,291 to 70,369 lead over Wallace on the basis of returns from 1,640 of Alabama's 3,261 precincts. Both men, like all others in the races, were pledged to continue segregated schools.

A sharp fight over a state Democratic loyalty oath was still in doubt in contests for election to the party's Executive Committee. The outcome might determine whether the state — traditionally Democratic — supports the national Democratic ticket in 1960 or leaves the door open to back an independent or third party candidate.

Committee candidates favoring an independent wait-and-see role for 1960 were in front in districts comprising Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery. Results from

SOME SLIPS DON'T SHOW

By A.A. FAIR (Eric Stanley Gardner)

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

When nervous, knuckle-cracking Barclay Fisher materializes in the private detective agency of Cool & Lam, the agency's partners experience widely divergent sensations. Bertha Cool sees money ahead; Donald Lam, trouble. They're both right.

Fisher, a devoted family man, fears he was indiscreet at a business convention in San Francisco. The reason he doesn't know for sure is that there was so much champagne. Fisher had reached the state of blissful unremembering. Next morning, he woke up in a strange apartment (presumably that of Miss Lois Marlow) and went home with a nagging conscience.

It was two weeks after the incident that Fisher brought an ominous letter indicative of blackmail to Cool & Lam. Donald is telling the story.

CHAPTER 2

The Envelope Barclay Fisher handed me was postmarked San Francisco, and was addressed to Barclay Fisher, President, Fisher Investment Company, complete with street address and zone number. The letter that it contained said:

Men of your type are responsible for more heartbreak, for more delinquency and more deterioration of character than any other factor in our civilization today. Lois Marlow would be a sober, industrious worker if it weren't for men of your type. She is a friendly girl. She wants company and companionship. You men get her intoxicated so that she has a warped appraisal of moral values and then go on your way, smug with the feeling that you have turned out to be a devil with the women. You have no real interest in her. All you care about is the good time of the moment. I presume you are married. I certainly intend to find out.

You are going to hear from me again.

George Cadott handed the letter to Bertha. "I've seen it, Donald," she said, making a gesture of refusal. Barclay Fisher said, "It's terrible, simply terrible. I could never explain to Minerva."

"Minerva's your wife?" I asked. He nodded mournfully. "This thing has me all broken up, Lam."

"Who is this George Cadott?"

"I don't know. I've never heard of him in my life."

"All right," I said. "You were friendly with Lois. How friendly?"

"I tell you I don't know. I was intoxicated. I passed out."

"You were in her room?"

"I was in some woman's apartment, probably hers."

"Tell me about it."

"The last I can remember is when I began to get terribly thirsty. My throat was burning and the champagne cooled my throat. Then there were soft hands stroking my forehead and then darkness. When I awakened it was morning. I was in an apartment, sleeping on the couch. My outer clothing had been removed and there was a blanket over me. The adjoining room was a bedroom. The door was open."

"What did you do?"

"I got up and looked around. I had a terrific throbbing headache. I looked in the other room. I wanted a drink of water. I saw a woman sleeping."

"This Lois Marlow?"

"I don't know for certain. Her back was turned and she was covered up. . . . I didn't want to disturb her. I found the bathroom and a drink of water."

"Then what did you do?"

"My clothes were on a chair. I got into the rest of my clothes and left the apartment. I found myself in surroundings that were entirely strange. I remember I was on the third floor. I went down to the street and took a taxi to my hotel."

"Anybody see you leaving this apartment?" I asked.

"Unfortunately, yes."

"Who was it?"

"I don't know. A man was coming down the corridor and well, I guess he must have been acquainted with the woman in the apartment. He stopped short when he saw me open the apartment door and come out."

"What did he say?" I asked.

"Nothing."

"You must have given Lois Marlow a card, one of your business cards."

"I don't know. What makes you think I did?"

"This address," I said. "He must have taken your name from the card, and then written you this letter. When did you get it?"

"Yesterday afternoon."

"When was this convention?"

"Two weeks ago."

"All right," I said. "He evidently got the card you left with Miss Marlow. He saw you come out of the apartment. He's known who you were for ten days. Why did he wait?"

"I don't know," Fisher said.

"I know," I told him. "He was looking you up. He was finding out just how well fixed you are financially. They're getting ready to put the bite on you and they want to know just how big a bite they can take."

"They?" he asked.

"Sure," I said. "He and Lois

are working together."

"Oh, no! I'm certain they're not! Lois is a very nice girl, and I feel so much like a heel about the entire thing, Mr. Lam."

"What is it?"

"I think Lois was genuinely fond of me. I — She was attracted. A man can tell when a woman is attracted to him. And I didn't tell her I was married."

"Did you tell her you weren't married?"

"I . . ." He squirmed and twisted in the chair, then finally blurted, "I tell you, Mr. Lam, I can't remember all that happened."

"I said, 'All right. There are two things you can do. You can either pay up blackmail or you can fight. If you pay up, there'll be a period after they put the first bite on you before they put on the second bite. After that, they'll keep putting the screws on you as long as you're frightened. If you fight, you're taking a chance that the whole thing may come out in the open. What do you want to do?'"

"I don't want to do either, Mr. Lam. I don't want to pay, and I don't want to — Oh, I wish I had never seen San Francisco!"

"Forget it!" I told him. "That's done! You can't undo it. Now then, you're married. Tell me about your wife."

"Minerva is probably the most wonderful woman in the world."

"Okay," I said. "Go home and tell your wife the whole story. Tell her that the only thing that happened is that you let some babe who was on the make get you plastered with champagne, and you now find out it's a blackmail racket. That way you save five hundred bucks."

Bertha Cool glared at me.

"You don't understand Minerva," Barclay Fisher protested. "Minerva is wonderful! She's understanding. She's sympathetic. She's the best woman in the world. Everyone knows that. But she could never, never, never understand infidelity."

"There wasn't any infidelity," I said.

He remained quiet.

"Was there?" I asked.

"Since I don't know all that happened, my assurance would probably be far from convincing. I take it, Mr. Lam, you are unmarried?"

"That's right."

"I thought so."

"What would your wife do if she found out about it?"

"She would never leave me and take the child."

"The last I can remember is when I began to get terribly thirsty. My throat was burning and the champagne cooled my throat. Then there were soft hands stroking my forehead and then darkness. When I awakened it was morning. I was in an apartment, sleeping on the couch. My outer clothing had been removed and there was a blanket over me. The adjoining room was a bedroom. # ECC Honor Students For Winter Quarter Revealed

Three lists of students at East Carolina who have received official recognition from the college because of their excellent records in academic work during the winter quarter of the present school year have been announced. Included on the lists are the names of 678 students.

Fifty-three students who made the grade of 1.0 on each subject taken, the highest mark given at the college, received top honors for scholastic achievement in an "All 1's" List. The Dean's List of 171 students and the Honor Roll of 454 students include the names of those whose work was considered worthy of special mention and commendation.

The Dean's List, issued by Vice President and Dean of Instruction Leo W. Jenkins of the college, is composed of undergraduates who made at least two and one half quality points per credit hour on all work taken, with no grade below three. The work completed by these students was well above average.

Pitt County is represented on the honors lists as follows:

All 1's: Mrs. Lois Ann Z. Garren—Greenville, Sheila D. Allen—Farmville, Henry B. Creech—Greenville, Mary W. Griffith—Ayden, Mrs. Mildred T. McGrath—Greenville, L. Marian Fickett—Farmville, Friscilla S. Sutton—Ayden, Ruth L. Tucker—Grimesland.

May Collect In '59 For Cabbage

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—T. S. Wong has a good chance to collect—in 1959—$62.37 for a load of cabbage he sold in 1943.

The State Bureau of Market Enforcement collected the money from the purchaser in 1946. But someone filed the check with Wong's records.

In 1952, when the error was discovered, the check was outdated. The Department of Finance sent new claims for Wong to the state agriculture office in Los Angeles. There, an employe assigned to handle the claim put the papers in a desk, where they weren't discovered until after his death last November.

Wong then wasn't found until February. Yesterday the Board of Control approved the claim.

But now Wong must wait until 1959 for the next session of the Legislature to approve the claim.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1—They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. New, large economy size saves money. Get Doan's Pills today!

NEW FLIT. BUG-PROOFS FOR WEEKS

Leaves an invisible film that stays deadly to bugs.

Kills more roaches, ants, spiders, silverfish and other crawling pests than many so-called "all-purpose" insecticides, because it's a tailor-made for a fast, sure kill!

In handy push-button containers or economical pints and quarts.

It's so nice to have FLIT around the house!

ANOTHER DEPENDABLE ESSO PRODUCT

Quick, Henry, the FLIT! Sold almost everywhere.

Irked, So The Housewives Act

DETROIT (AP)—Irked at the ripe smell coming from a smoldering trash heap at a nearby refuse dump, housewives in suburban Warren took what a spokesman called "direct action" yesterday.

The ladies, about a dozen in all, set up a row of chairs across the entrance to the dump and sat through the day, unmoved by police entreaties and the coaxing of would-be dump users.

A group leader said previous efforts to control fires at the dump had failed and when one kept burning for four days in a row she and her neighbors decided to do something about it.

SAGE ADVICE LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Ten-month-old Steve Styers was romping in his play pen when the family puppy got inside and started licking his face. Outraged, Steve began crying and his 2-year-old brother Jimbert advised: "Well, just lick him back and he'll let you alone."

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved irregularly in active dealings early this afternoon. Most key stocks showed fractional changes.

The market was holding fairly well at its 1958 peak reached after a drive in which new average highs for the year were established on five straight sessions.

The opening was vigorous and the ticker tape fell behind the pace as a good number of large opening blocks were traded. It was the third straight day the tape had been late. Initial prices were slightly higher. As prices became mixed, trading moderated but the rate was still ahead of yesterday's 3,000,000-share level.

American Motors continued strong, adding another fraction following news that the company is again increasing production and hiring more workers.

Adding Up Huge Farmville Commencement Mythical Toll Of Mock Attack

FARMVILLE — George Joseph Cannon has been named valedictorian of Farmville High School's Senior Class which will graduate May 22.

Cannon is the son of Mr. Nassif Cannon of Farmville. He ranked just ahead of salutatorian Wanda Lee Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Bell.

The two scholastic leaders will receive diplomas with other members of the class at graduation exercises which will feature an address by the Rev. William Burkette Raper, president of Mount Olive Junior College. The Rev. Douglas Aldrich, pastor of the Forest Hills Baptist Church in Raleigh, will preach the commencement sermon on May 18.

Commencement marshals, named today by Principal Sam D. Bundy, include six Juniors, seven Sophomores and 20 Freshmen, all selected on the basis of their academic records. Co-chiefs will be Richard Dunn and Glays Beaman of the Junior Class.

Other marshals are Pat Bergeron, Sylvia Cobb, Linda Dail and Jackie Nolen of the Junior Class; Lil Dilda, Anne Palmer Hodges, Bobby Lee Joyner, Caroline Lewis, Elbert Mayo, Earl Tyson and Rod Williams of the Sophomore Class; and Gina Allen, Westley Ange, Otis Brock, Nassif Cannon, Jr., Donnie Lee Carraway, Linda Chesson, Maxine Dail, Ethel Jane Hobgood, Noel Lang, Eva Mae Lewis, Robert May, Johnny Mewborn, J.Y. Monk III, Ben Moore, Monty Pickett, Sandra Smith, Sarah Smith, Eddie Thomas, Billy Walker and Elaine Walston of the Freshman Class.

Laube To Act As Concert Speaker

A featured number of the concert to be presented in the McGinnis auditorium Thursday night by the East Carolina College Concert Band. The time is 8 p.m.

Mr. Laube will read the Gettysburg Address as the Concert Band, directed by Herbert L. Carter of the faculty, plays "Abe Lincoln, Gettysburg, 1863." The selection is by Don Gillis, a leading American composer for television and motion pictures.

Mr. Laube, an ex-Marine, entered East Carolina as a student after he left service and has completed work toward a degree with a major in music. He has been a soloist in East Carolina productions of Handel's "The Messiah" and has been heard on other programs at the college and in the city. In the recent presentation of "East Carolina's Spade," Golden Anniversary pageant of the college, he played the role of Governor Clyde Hoey, who spoke at the dedication of the Flanagan Building.

Other numbers to be presented by the band include the finale from Tschalkowski's Fourth Symphony, "Flag of Stars" by Gordon Jacob, folk songs by Ralph Vaughan Williams, and a group of stirring marches.

The public is invited to attend the program.

Health Coronation Program Scheduled At Eppes Hi Tonite

The annual Negro 4-H Health Coronation Program will be held at Eppes High School tonight at 8 o'clock in cooperation with the Pitt County Board of Health.

Selection of Senior and Junior Health Kings and Queens will feature the program. Other numbers on the program will be a Health Skit, crowning of the Kings and Queens, with 4-H boys and girls forming a court of honor. Participants are expected to be at the school at 7:30.

The annual Coronation Program is held in connection with observance of National Home Demonstration Week. Mrs. Amelia S. Capehart stated.

The South Ayden High School Band will furnish music and a dress revue by Junior and Senior 4-H Club girls will be held. The public is invited.

Colored News

Les Gaylenettes Social Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Studie Hansley, 607 Cententnae St., Thursday at 8 p.m. Mrs. Thelma Jones is president.

All parents interested in their boys playing baseball this summer are requested to have them report at the South Greenville Recreation Center Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Spring practice will begin next Monday afternoon after school. The promoters feel that it is the responsibility of the citizens to continue the boys teams and to provide materials needed for the park.

Materials needed for the park: 320 feet of wire for fence, 30 treated posts, 250 blocks for dugouts, a bundle of shingles, 64 feet of rough 2 by 6 timbers, 400 feet of rough boards, and 400 feet of siding. Any citizen willing to donate some of these materials should contact any of the following: Mrs. Mary Jenkins, 1313 S. Railroad St.; J. N. White, 1117 W. Fifth St. or Dial 5448; Russell Early, 401 Bonner's Lane, or Dial 5128; Mr. Dupree, at Star Barber Shop, 900 Dickinson Ave., and James Foreman, 1114-B S. Pitt St.

The Layman's League of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church will sponsor a musical program of music Sunday night. The public is invited.

In Memoriam
The family of Mrs. Martha Kane Whitehurst wishes to thank both white and colored friends for their gifts for flowers, food and use of automobiles during her illness and at her death.

Winds Demolish Tobacco Barns

ANGIER, N. C. (AP) — Tobacco barns demolished by tornado winds last night left another problem for farmers in a Harnett County community south of Angier.

The winds whipped out of a rain and hail storm which lashed across the state.

Although property damage appeared heavy, there were no reports of injuries in the damaging winds which struck a section between Angier and Barkersville community. Tobacco barns were scattered across fields and high-way, some utility poles were down trees were uprooted, and there were reports of tin roofs lifted from some farm homes.

A section of one rural road was blocked by debris.

Court Orders Transfusion

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—An infant, given a blood transfusion ordered by the court over the religious objections of his parents, was reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital today.

The 6-day-old son of Willard and Darleen Siems, members of Jehovah's Witnesses, was given the transfusion Sunday. Doctors had said the infant was born with a blood condition which could cause death or permanent brain damage.

The doctors told the Siems couple an immediate blood transfusion was necessary but they refused to grant permission, contending it violated God's law.

County Judge Charles G. Seidel granted permission for the operation after the physicians said the boy's blood was deteriorating to a critical point.
