Every Child Must Know He Is Loved

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

The other day I was having lunch in a small restaurant. In the booth opposite was a young mother and her two children, a little girl about 18 months old and a little boy about three. I was struck by the difference in the way this mother treated her two children. I am sure it was quite unconscious on her part. The little girl, it seemed, could do no wrong, but the little boy could do no right.

"Don't bite that straw, Billy. I won't let you have any more if you can't suck it properly. You know how to do it."

The straw of Billy's milkshake got flatter and flatter. Mother angrily grabbed the glass from him and put it on the table. Billy didn't put up any fuss, he turned his attention to his hamburger.

Favoritism
Mother had an arm around the little girl. "Another bite, Lisa, darling," the mother cooed. Lisa turned her head, opened her mouth for the bite, but her little chubby hands dove into the mashed potatoes on her plate.

"All right, sweetie, have it that way if you like." And mother beamed approval.

Meanwhile Billy was busy. Mother turned to him and her whole manner changed.

"Billy," she yelled, "put that pepper down, you know you're not allowed to have pepper!"

Billy went right on peppering his hamburger. Mother pulled her arm away from Lisa, knocking over a glass of milk, flounced toward Billy and said angrily: "Why can't you ever behave—can't you see I'm busy with Lisa?"

Billy sat back on the bench, put his thumb in his mouth and sulked. And so it went from beaming approval of Lisa to angry condemnation of poor little Billy. Not only the words but the tone of voice and the facial expression changed completely as this mother paid attention first to one child and then to the other.

What did the children get out of this attitude on the part of their mother? It is really pretty obvious. Billy felt rejected and unloved. Nothing he did was any good. He was much too young to put it into words but he wasn't too young to feel. He was anxious about his place in the world, he was afraid and lonesome.

Love Needed
To a little child the most important thing in life is to feel secure with his parents, to feel that he is loved just the way he is. This doesn't mean he'll have a smug self-confidence and want always to stay as he is. Quite the contrary he has an inner push that makes him want to grow and develop and change, but he also needs the deep down security of knowing that in the eyes and heart of his protecting parents he's a pretty good guy. That feeling gives him the confidence to try new things and to grow up normally.

"It is rumored that Deacon Joff has a number of acquisitions to his ball club," a sport lover observed today. He is said to have left town the latter part of the week and returned with sufficient material to strengthen the weak spots which have been largely responsible for the loss of so many games recently. If he brought back men capable of vigorous use of the willow then we may expect to see the rating in standing of club increase daily. But if they should be fielders—without ability to hit the old apple, his efforts will have been in vain."

Housekeeping Hard Work, Finds Ex-Miss Truman

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Housework," said Margaret Truman Daniel, "is very hard work—particularly if you are not used to it."

At least, added the daughter of the former President, she was not used to it when she and her husband, E. Clifton Daniel Jr., moved into their East Side duplex apartment more than a year ago.

"There seemed to be a million details to think about—from dusting to shopping—and they had to be fitted in the day," she said. "But you get through it somehow and you learn."

Margaret had the housework situation pretty well in hand recently when she took over the housekeeper's job, with some help from a cleaning woman, for a short period. "The worst," she admitted, "was probably the cooking. I like to do the cooking some of the time—but it gets to be a hard job when you do it day in and day out."

The Daniels, since their marriage in 1956 and the birth of their son, Clifton Truman Daniel, last June, have slipped quietly into the world of the city's cliff dwellers. Daniel is a few minutes away from his newspaper office and his working day runs from about 10 to 7.

Margaret, while primarily occupied in bringing up her blue-eyed, brown-haired boy and making her husband comfortable, also has found time to pursue enjoyably her pre-marriage interests.

She still is under contract with the National Broadcasting Company. Last fall she put in a couple of weeks acting in television from Los Angeles. She's made some guest appearances on shows, and on the week of May 19 will do the guest narration for an NBC daytime serial called Modern Romances.

In addition, she keeps up with her singing, works regularly with a coach and is making some records.

"But I don't do any more concert tours," she said. "That's over. I think it is a good idea to keep your voice in shape, but that is very different from tours, when you have to keep yourself steady at concert pitch. Acting is much easier on you, physically."

Margaret has solved easily the familiar problem of the wife who works.

"Our home is the private part of our life," she explained. "After all, it is my husband's home, and there we do things the way he wants them done. Of course, I have some responsibilities in connection with my work—but that all happens outside our home and is arranged so that it doesn't interfere."

Their son is usually cared for by a nurse, except on her day off when Margaret takes over for the day. With other small children and their nurses, the youngster spends hours on nice days in the park nearby. This summer, the family has leased a house for two months in a suburb a 40-minute train ride from town, and Margaret is looking forward to the change.

"But," she added, "I don't want to move to the country for keeps. I came from the country to the big city, and here's where I like it best."

The Daniels take particular pains to preserve the privacy which is an important part of their lives. Usually, when Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Truman visit their daughter and her family, they stay at a hotel near the apartment—mostly so that the reporters and photographers who cluster around the former President will not interfere with the normal course of the Daniels' life.

Margaret finds time to meet friends for an occasional luncheon and she and her husband lead an active social life which includes some theatre-going. From time to time Margaret accompanies her husband on trips—"A lot of Republicans went on the wagon when they saw me turn up at the Republican convention in San Francisco; they didn't believe it."

Neither of the Daniels spends much time wondering whether or not their son will ever become President.

"Naturally," said Margaret, "he can be anything he wants to be. The chances that any American boy will grow up to be President are numerically very small."

Don't Try To Change A Man

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

If your man adores wide open spaces, don't try to wean him away. It won't work anyway. It's better that you learn to like his green pastures, says singer and movie actor Guy Mitchell, an outdoor man, and proud owner of a 17,000-acre ranch outside Tucson, Ariz.

"An easy way to lose a man," he says, "is to insist he give up a life he loves. Even if you are shy about sports, riding a horse, for instance, try to learn anyway. Admit you are a beginner, let your boy take the lead rope, and he'll feel like a knight."

It's a good idea, though, not to take lessons from a boy you like. "You'll think every valid criticism is a personal affront," says Mitchell, who found out by trying to teach his own wife.

On the other hand, don't try to impress your friend, if you are a neophyte, by asking for a spirited horse at the riding stables. He'll know the differences, and you'll just be miserable riding over your head.

"The first-time rider would do well not to ride a horse from public stables," he says. "It's better to ride a horse that a friend owns, or one at a dude ranch. Don't hesitate to be lady-like, asking for the mounting block, etc."

Every guy pictures himself as an adventurer, says Mitchell, and women should go along with the idea to help prove he is a hero. "So you don't like moose hunting, and he does," says Mitchell, "stay in camp and read a book."

Two tables were set up for bridge and one set up for hearts. The high score prize winner of bridge was Mrs. R. B. Ayers while high score prize for hearts was won by Mrs. Rudy Hughes.

The party was held at Mrs. Sam Keel's home on Bethel-Oak City Highway Tuesday night.

The living room was decorated with artistic arrangements of roses and also purple and white tris. The dining room table was centered with pink peonies and the china used in serving was designed also with pink peonies.

At the end of the bridge and hearts game, Mrs. Carlos Womack, Mrs. Herbert Brown, Mrs. J. C. Williamson and Mrs. A. J. Crane joined the group for refreshments which consisted of a chicken salad plate, sweet course and iced tea.

Miss Williamson, the honoree, was presented a corsage of pink roses and she received a plate and vegetable dish in her chosen dinner ware from the hostesses.

Goodbyes were said to Mrs. Whitehurst, Mrs. Hunnicutt and Mrs. Keel.

Appointive Plan Is On The Rocks

It is a foregone conclusion now that the proposal that North Carolina's Superior Court judges and Supreme Court justices be appointed rather than elected will reach the legislature.

Advanced tentatively by a committee of the State Bar Association studying reorganization of the state's courts system, the proposal never became a real resolution. A trial balloon was sent up by the committee and quickly shot down by public opinion and outspoken opposition by top state leaders including the governor.

Other proposals tentatively advanced by the committee have been much better received and indeed seem to contain much more merit than the proposal for appointing judges. North Carolina's court system needs revamping, particularly on the lower court level. Through a more uniform system of lower courts, the state's judicial process could be speeded considerably and at the same time afford Tar Heels a better administration of justice.

First and foremost the state needs to do away with the magistrate courts as they are now constituted. In the place of JP courts in which judges are paid according to the number of convictions and almost anyone who wants to can become a magistrate, a uniform system of courts should be set up. The number of these courts should be limited, their judges more carefully selected, their operations more closely supervised, and their justification more clearly defined.

Good magistrate courts in a community serve a definite constructive purpose in the administration of justice. But there are so many magistrate courts in North Carolina which do not serve a constructive purpose that the system as now constituted is of questionable value.

City and county recorder's courts should likewise be standardized in North Carolina. The present conglomeration of laws and special acts under which this particular group of courts is authorized almost defy clarification except by completely rewriting the laws and special acts into one piece of legislation which will standardize this group of courts.

Although the Bar Association Committee has made tentative proposals concerning these two divisions of the judicial system of North Carolina, these proposals have been largely overlooked by the public in the clamor raised over the proposal that higher court judges be appointed rather than elected.

The committee studying the state's judicial system can render a real service to the state by concentrating on standardizing the lower courts. Other streamlining and revamping at higher levels may be indicated at a later date. For consideration of the 1959 General Assembly, however, it is our opinion that the study committee should confine its recommendations to matters of revamping the JP courts and local government courts of the state.

Reorganization of these courts will in itself be a matter of major concern to the people of the state and a major problem for the legislature. If suitable legislation for their reorganization can be passed by the 1959 General Assembly the state will have made a major stride in improving its judicial system.

Shrubs, Bushes Grow Into Traffic Hazards

Have you noticed how the spring rains, hot days and warm nights have made the shrubbery, grass and weeds shoot up around town the past few weeks.

We have noticed it throughout the residential areas of Greenville. Particularly have we noticed it at intersections.

Many Stop signs and Yield Right of Way signs that were clearly visible when no leaves were on the bushes are now becoming hidden behind green foliage. Bushes that were unnoticed at intersections during the winter months are now becoming major obstacles to motorists' attempts to look out for oncoming traffic.

In many instances the pretty shrubs, bushes and weeds are becoming real traffic hazards. The police department should make a careful check of the intersections in residential districts throughout the city. Summer growth which is blocking the motorist's view at intersections should be removed or cut back to eliminate the hazards which exist.

Pretty shrubs and trees at street intersections add a lot to the city's appearance. But we wouldn't trade all of them in Greenville for the life of a youngster on a bicycle or a kid chasing a runaway ball.

New Labor Act Is Less Likely

By RALPH ROBEY

There will be a labor bill of some kind introduced in the Senate in this session of congress. At present, odds are heavily against the House taking comparable action.

The reason for saying that a bill will be introduced in the Senate is that one was promised by Majority Leader Johnson. He made this promise in connection with his successful fight against amendments offered by Minority Leader Knowland to the Welfare-pension Fund bill which was passed by the Senate and is now in the hands of the House Labor Committee. The same promise has also been made by Senator Kennedy, chairman of a sub-committee of the Senate Labor Committee. This sub-committee has been holding hearings on what such a bill should include.

The hearings have ranged over a wide field. Unfortunately the bill which will be introduced in the Senate, is not like to touch on the really basic problems of the labor situation as it exists today. These problems are reasonably clear and distinct. Among the more important are:

1. The monopoly power of labor or union bosses is evidence in practically all of our mass production industries, as well as various other places. This power amounts to complete and absolute control over the immediate economic life of workers and, as a result, union leaders can shut down any of the companies in one of these industries, or the industry as a whole, can throw the workers out of their jobs; and can force an employer — or the employers — either to accede to demands or take a strike which may be competitively and perhaps financially ruinous.

2. The power of union bosses rests upon a combination of court decisions and compulsory membership in their unions. Court decisions have been to the effect that labor unions do not come under the restrictions of anti-trust laws. Unions, therefore, are free to do things which would be illegal for management. Compulsory membership is sanctioned by law only in the sense that it permits an employer to make a contract which may provide for a union shop. A far sadder thing is that in some closed shop contracts is illegal, although there are some in

Opinions In Brief

"Canadian railroads have the same problem as U. S. rails—feet her bedding. Rail unions insist on assigning more men to trains than management regards as necessary. Far-sighted union leaders have gone along with technological improvements in industry, confident they will provide more and better jobs in the long run. Certainly more jobs will not be created by rules freezing unneeded employees in obsolete tasks."—Daily Olympian, Olympia, Wash.

"Today over one-half of our high schools have no courses in chemistry and physics. And we have already noted the tragic results from neglect of basic mathematics. Instead, the curriculum has been heavily loaded with social aims, vocational and adjustment courses."—Rep. Ralph Gwinn, of New York.

Hedges Against Future

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass. — Because of the increased government expenditures for missiles, etc., there is much talk about more inflation coming. If Congress would accept the recommendations of the Hoover Commission, there would be no need of increasing the budget. We could save enough on unnecessary and wasteful spending to offset any increase in defense outlays. However, as all the Congressmen are up for re-election this year, there is little chance of their making these recommended savings.

LAND AS A HEDGE
A careful study of different forms of investment teaches me that raw land on dry ground ten miles or less from a small city or town has the best record as an inflation hedge. To secure such at the right price, it should be purchased before it is thought of for development. However, even then, with roads, electricity, and sewage, it gives one real security. This may be more important than profit. Such land or small farms just outside a town limit should be excellent hedges.

If you do not want to be bothered with the taxes and care of such land which you do not expect to occupy but are to hold for speculation, your broker will name some land companies whose stocks are listed on a stock exchange. In fact, some railroads are worth more as land companies than as railroads. Some Canadian mining companies with valuable underground deposits of ore should also be good hedges against inflation if bought at low depreciated prices. They are off now about 50 per cent. — suffering from the big boom of a few years ago.

CASH IN THE BANK
Personally, I like best now putting my savings in the bank at 3 1/2 per cent interest. Of course, your broker may tell you such bank deposits are poor hedges against inflation. It is true that the purchasing power of a bank account for food, clothing, and shelter will decline as the cost of living increases. Therefore, I would not want to leave my funds in a bank account too long. But such a loss of interest or decline in purchasing power, over a few years, is not notable compared with the possible decline in stock prices during said period.

When people ask me the best fertilizer for an orange grove I always say: "The footprints of the owner." Hence, I believe that the best of all possible land purchases for an inflation hedge is land adjoining what you now own. This you can watch and make more valuable. Of course, you would not buy land anywhere that you did not first see. There is much land outdoors; and no reader will see anyone get a monopoly of it. In short, I believe inflation is slowly coming as it always has been; but it is nothing to get panicky about.

TURN ON THE POWER

Do you realize that the ancient religions of Asia are experiencing a revival?

Maybe you think Christianity is the only missionary religion. There are evidences that Hinduism, Buddhism, and Mohammedanism are bestirring themselves as they have not done in centuries. About thirteen hundred years ago, Mohammedanism started its missionary swing across the world. In just one hundred years, it had conquered all of southwestern Asia, the Near East, most of Africa, and had penetrated into France. It couldn't possibly happen again. Well, we hope not.

It took the army of Charles Martel to turn the hordes back from ravaging Europe. But we have learned today that ideas can be stopped ultimately by nothing but other and better ideas. A weak, watered-down Christianity, a Christianity that goes along with commercial im-

Do You See Inflationary Period?

By ELMER ROESSNER
If you believe — as I do — that there will be progressive inflation from now on, and if you can use a home — you're nuts!

If you don't buy one you're nuts! Inflation has cut the purchasing power of the dollar almost exactly in half since 1937. At that rate, the buck will be worth two bits in 1979. Because the rate of inflation varies, its value may be more or less than 25 cents.

If you put present and future savings in banks or bonds, you probably won't lose. If recent history repeats, the interest will just about make up the loss of buying power caused by inflation.

If you put your savings into insurance, the returns will depend on the type of policy, but the chances are that the buying power of your equity will shrink. You will, however, have the protection of insurance.

Other Editors Saying--- Anti-U.S. Demonstration

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

The U. S. government is probably wondering by now just what it takes to make friends abroad. This nation has poured out material aid and technical advice to the "have-not" nations of the world. It has provided medical assistance and drugs in times of disaster to these overseas nations, and it has bolstered their defenses against the inroads of communism. It has sought to be friendly with them all, and in no instance has it attempted to force its will or doctrines upon the government of another country.

Yet today the U. S. finds itself in a position where it is despised possibly more than at any time in the history of the nation. What has brought this about? Surely Communist propaganda has not yet succeeded to this extent. Then what is behind this deterioration of American prestige abroad?

Recent events in two areas of the world have served to point up the seriousness of the situation. In Latin America Vice President Nixon has been the butt of ridicule, assault and insult. Reports from the area have suggested these vile attacks are Communist-inspired. True, the Reds have probably been busy trying to make the Vice President's trip a diplomatic failure, but it is difficult to place all the blame on the Communists.

It is understandable that Algerians and Tunisians have strong nationalist feelings, that they wish to be completely free of French interference. How does the U. S. fit into this picture? For some reason demonstrators in Algiers feel the U. S. has influenced French policy in North Africa, and therefore feel the U. S. must share responsibility for the situation.

But this does not account for the difficulty in Latin America. Officials in that area feel they have not received their share of foreign aid. This aid business had good intentions behind it when it began, but it has created jealousy and greed among nations participating (or not participating) in it. Perhaps the good realized from the program has been overbalanced by the bad. Only history will show in proper perspective whether we were right or not, in this lavish project.

Wonder how many are studying physics and chemistry? That the residents of New Orleans eat more veal per capita than those of any other American city . . . and the most veal resistant city is Huntington, W. Va.

That in the 17th Century a Russian Czar ordered that any woman caught smoking be flogged or paraded through the streets with the stem of her pipe stuck through her nose.

That the squirrel's name comes from two Greek words which literally mean, he who holds his tail over his back to shade himself.

That it was Cyril Connolly who observed, the true index of a man's character is the health of his wife.

There is also the possibility that real estate prices generally may drop, as they have many times in the past. But such downturns, even extending over several years, are of little importance when property is held for the long term. In fact, on these dips it may be possible to get a new mortgage at a lower rate.

BRITISH POLL PUBLIC ON CODED MAIL ADDRESSES
The British — whose regular mail is often faster than our special delivery — are working on a new idea. They are making a public opinion survey to find out if people would be willing to add code letters to the addresses. Under the plan, each of 1,800 postal districts would have its own code.

UAW Contracts In Final Stages

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiations between the United Auto Workers and the industry's Big Three entered the final fortnight drive today before current contracts expire. The union resumed bargaining on all three fronts — General Motors, Chrysler and Ford. The UAW gave an explanation of a meeting at the summit last Tuesday with top officials of Ford. But the union denied the conference had anything to do with current contract negotiations. Ken Bannon, the UAW's Ford Department director, said UAW President Walter Reuther got together with Ford President Henry Ford II. Other top-level officials from both sides also attended. Bannon said the conference dealt with "procedural matters related to the expiration (June 1) of the current contract in the event a new agreement has not been reached by that time." Bannon did not expand on his statement. Ford made no comment. The summit meeting was described as attended by Bannon, Gene Prato, chairman of the union's national Ford bargaining committee; Ford Board Chairman Ernest Bech; and Ford Vice President John Bugas as well as Reuther. An unconfirmed report prior to the union explanation said Reuther sought the conference at Ford in an effort to win concessions that could be used in bargaining with General Motors and Chrysler.

Cocky, Unrepentant Young Killer Says 'I Want To Die'

By JERRY MARTIN
POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP) — "I want to die, man. I'm fed up with it all," said Barton Kay Kirkham, 21, a cocky killer scheduled to hang June 7. If his death sentence isn't commuted at a final hearing June 4, the 200-pound youth will die on the gallows for killing grocery clerk David Frame, 50, in a $50 holdup in Salt Lake City in August 1956. Mrs. Ruth Webster was also slain in the holdup, but Kirkham was tried only on the Frame killing. Kirkham has refused to appeal for clemency.

"I don't want life. My parents are the ones who want me commuted. They think you can be rehabilitated in prison . . . but rehabilitation comes from within." The stubble-haired youth wore a fixed smile and seemed unaware that he was wringing his hands during an interview at Utah State Prison. Despite an occasional lapse into bop talk, his conversation showed evidence of the reading he has done in his 16 months in death row — medical journals, psychiatric texts and legal briefs on his case. "I guess I'm just a rebel," he said, grinning.

The eldest of five children raised in the Mormon faith, Kirkham said he turned from the church and quit school in the 11th grade. After 18 months in the Air Force, he went AWOL, committed a robbery in Colorado and was given an undesirable discharge while serving nine months in a reformatory. "I was out five weeks on parole when I shot those people," he said. His rebellion extends into prison. After letting his hair and beard grow for 13 months, he recently shaved his head and face bald to irk prison officials who ordered his hair trimmed. His execution will be Utah's first hanging in 46 years. "I chose hanging instead of the firing squad because of the publicity . . . the novelty . . . to put the state to more inconvenience," he said. Kirkham spends his last days listening to radio music, reading books and scanning newspaper clippings about his case which he keeps pinned to the wall of his cell. Is he scared? "Not particularly. When you live with the thought of dying so long, you get used to it. I may get shook up at the last minute, but I don't think so."

Britons Uneasy About DeGaulle In The Saddle

LONDON (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle once more is giving the British the uneasy feeling he did during World War II. He is respected as a patriot who rallied the Free French forces to the side of the Allies during the Nazi occupation. His courage and determination are admired. Yet British are wary about the prospect of his return to power in France. De Gaulle is still a paradox. He frequently irritated Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt by his demands. Sir Winston years later wrote: "He (De Gaulle) felt it essential to his position before the French people that he should maintain a proud and haughty demeanor towards 'perfidious Albion.'" "He had to be rude to the British to prove to the French eyes that he was not a British puppet. He certainly carried out this policy with perseverance."

The Englishman closest to De Gaulle in the days when Britain was fighting for her own life as well as France's was Maj. Gen. Sir Edward Spears. Spears, who headed the British mission with the Free French, sizes up De Gaulle this way in a newspaper article: "He is a man of untarnished honor, devoid of meanness in his private life. Yet in his dealings with international affairs he is capable of duplicity in what he considers a game without rules. "When negotiating, he is hard and shrewd. He does not hesitate to browbeat and intimidate an opponent if he can." Yet the British general said if the present French government falls, "the sooner De Gaulle takes over the better."

Dr. Milton Tobias told a group of nutrition experts that a study of 1,100 third-graders showed many were too tired—because of dietary deficiencies—to stay in school. He added that delinquency problems of the future could be avoided by making the child physically and mentally fit through proper diet. "If he comes to power, he will certainly seek, while suppressing communism in France, to use the Soviets as a balancing force against the Anglo-Americans, as he did during the war," he said.

U. S. Holding Its Own At Brussels, Says Art

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Art Linkletter, first American entertainer to return from the Brussels Worlds Fair, says we're holding our own against the free-spending Russians. Though the Russian exhibit is much bigger and clottier, the United States entry is doing as good a job, he remarked. The Russian building is overpowering in its size," said Linkletter. There are displays of tremendous machinery and propaganda slogans everywhere. It is effective in its way. But I think our building does a fine job. There have been some complaints about what has been selected, but that's natural. American means something different to every American. We haven't tried to overpower the Fair visitors. For instance, in the middle of the building is a fashion show. There have been complaints about the food we are serving—hot dogs, hamburgers, cheese cake, etc. But I see nothing wrong with that. Why should we have a swank restaurant, as the other nations do? We couldn't outdo them in excellence of food. Nor could we serve as many people as we're doing now." Linkletter spent three days at the Fair, filming segments for his "People are Funny" and "Houseparty" TV shows. But he's no sketchy viewer of fairs. Art helped stage the San Francisco and San Diego Worlds Fairs, assisted with those at Houston, Dallas and Cleveland. So I know what I'm talking about," he said. I viewed the Brussels Fair with an eye toward ease of handling a volume of visitors, etc. And I must say that the Belgians have done a fantastic job. It is one of the best operated fairs I have ever seen." It would be a crying shame, he added, if the whole thing is torn down as scheduled at the end of the exposition. The buildings could be permanent attractions," he said. We have the only big theater in the Fair, and it is a magnificent place. It could be a real showplace for years to come."

Jaycees Elect State Officers

RALEIGH (AP) — Marvin B. Koonce Jr., of Raleigh is the new president of the North Carolina Junior Chamber of Commerce. Jack Sharpe Jr. of Kannapolis. Koonce was elected Saturday at the closing business session of the Jaycees' annual convention here. Edward D. Champion of Raleigh was elected secretary and James H. Bennett of Cary was named treasurer. Thirteen vice presidents were elected: Dick Davis, Asheville; Blake Watts, Hickory; Clyde Tomlin, Spindale; Herb Brenner, Winston-Salem; Max Whitley, Spencer; Dewey H. Huffines Jr., Reidsville; C. J. Arnold, Hamlet; Hall Smith, Durham; Elwood Mixon, Rocky Mount; Warren I. Twiddy, Edenton; Fred Poore, Washington; Ellis Harrell, Kinston; and Al Sharpe, Lumberton. Marshall T. Spears Jr., of Durham was named general legal counsel. Wilmington and Winston-Salem pulled down the most awards in the list of district winners of various Jaycee projects. Winston-Salem, in District 11, received seven first place awards for civic and cultural development, community safety, international relations, membership, personnel and leadership training, profit making project, youth welfare activities, and public affairs. Wilmington, in District 1, won five first place awards: civic and cultural improvement, community safety, international relations, public relations mimeographed, trade promotion, and project of the year.

Russian Motion Picture Wins Big Film Award

CANNES, France (AP) — The new Soviet cultural offensive has won the Soviet Union her first top international film award. The Moscow offering, "When Storms Fly," took the Golden Palm at the Cannes Festival. The film, a nonpolitical romance of war-separated lovers, won the unanimous nod of a jury headed by French playwright Marcel Achard for its "artistic and humanitarian qualities." Director Charles Vidor was the American representative. The only U. S. winner of a festival award was Paul Newman named top actor for his performance in the American film version of Nobel Prize-winning William Faulkner's "Long Hot Summer." Newman is now in Hollywood. The female acting award was divided among women taking part in the Swedish entry "At the Threshold of Life"—a story of childbirth.

Foot Patrolmen To Have Radios

NEW YORK (AP) — Within a month, foot patrolmen in Central Park will have pocket-size transistor radios to help in a new drive on crime. At first, receiving sets only will be issued to these officers. If experiments prove successful, tiny radio transmitters will be provided for two-way communication. The receiver weighs only nine ounces and can be carried in a case affixed to a patrolman's belt.

Begin Building New Feed Mill

BETHEL — Construction of a modern feed mill has begun on a piece of property on the Roberstonville-Bethel Highway. The Tri-County Feed Mills, Inc. which will be associated with the Purina-Ralston Co. of St. Louis Mo., will construct a building to be used for the manufacture of the checker-mix brand, either in a custom mix for the farmer or as a complete feed. D. E. Perry, a resident of Bethel is to manage the mill. Plans are to have it completed and in limited operation in approximately two and a half months. Perry stated that the mill's primary purpose will be to assist the farmers with their hogs and chicken business. The mill is to be one of the most modern in Eastern North Carolina and will be set up to handle bag and bulk feed. Present plans call for furnishing receiving tanks to the farmer free of charge. Four grain tanks 48 feet high are to be installed in order to give the farmer a modern grain station.

Light Vote Prospects Is Possible Stassen Brake

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The prospect of a light vote may hamper Harold Stassen's chances of winning the Republican nomination for governor on an independent ticket in Pennsylvania's primary election tomorrow. A light vote in a Pennsylvania primary traditionally favors candidates backed by state political organizations. Stassen is running against the Republican organization candidate, Arthur T. McGonigle of Reading, head of one of the largest pretzel firms in the country. Williams S. Livengood Jr., former state secretary of internal affairs, also is making an independent bid for the GOP gubernatorial nomination. Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence, 68, is the Democratic organization candidate for governor. His chief opposition is Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, running on an independent ticket. Rep. Hugh Scott (R) of Philadelphia is running with McGonigle for the U. S. Senate seat being vacated by the retirement of Sen. Edward Martin (R) next January. Weldon B. Heyburn, former state auditor general, is Stassen's running mate for the Senate. Heyburn has been inactive since he suffered a slight stroke at the beginning of the campaign. Livengood is running alone. Gov. George Leader is the Democratic state party choice for the Senate nomination. Clarence P. Bowers, Reading battery manufacturer, is opposing him on the Furman ticket. Stassen, 51, was governor of Minnesota three times. An issue during a listless campaign has been his Pennsylvania residence. He also was President Eisenhower's disarmament aide and in 1956 he strongly opposed Vice President Nixon's bid for renomination at the Republican National Convention. The state GOP leadership looks favorably on Nixon as a 1960 presidential candidate and a Republican governor would wield great influence over the direction the Pennsylvania delegation takes in 1960. McGonigle, also 51, was tapped by the state leadership as a new face to spark a GOP rally from defeats in the 1954 gubernatorial election and the 1956 senatorial election. He has never run for political office before.

Many Pitt Farms Need Lime, Says County Agent

Many of the soils in Pitt County need lime, County Agent S. C. Winchester said today. "The only way a farmer can tell if his soil needs lime is to have a soil test made," the farm agent declared. Plants growing in the soil remove calcium and leave hydrogen in its place which makes the soil acid. In addition, calcium is lost by leaching. Thus over a period of years the soil can become very acid. Winchester pointed out several reasons acid soils should be limed. "As the soil becomes acid, certain elements such as aluminum become soluble and if present in too large amounts are toxic to plants," the farm agent said. "By liming acid soils these toxic substances are neutralized. If a soil is very acid there may not be enough calcium and magnesium present for good plant growth. Adding dolomitic lime to an acid soil provides calcium and magnesium. It also has been found that if the soil is very acid, plants often don't get enough phosphorus. By liming the soil, phosphorus availability is increased." Soils also contain many bacteria and micro-organisms which are beneficial to plant growth. The organisms grow best when the soil is not too acid, he said. "Only by getting your soil tested can the farmer find out whether he needs lime and if so how much to apply," the farm agent reiterated.

Tried, But No Boom Resulted

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — When you want to do it, sometimes you can't. That was the case at Patterson Air Force Base here yesterday during a display of military equipment in connection with Armed Forces Day. With an estimated crowd of 120,000 persons watching, an Air Force jet pilot tried to create a sonic boom, usually resulting from a plane exceeding the speed of sound. The military generally tries to avoid such booms because of property damage they may cause and also adverse public opinion. A TP100F jet dived at 900 m.p.h. It pulled up sharply. Boom. But no boom.

NO SACKS
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — There'll be no sacks for the WACS. "Hattie Carnegie designed our uniforms in 1950 to fit," says Lt. Col. Hattilu W. Addison, chief of recruiting for the Women's Army Corps. "We have dress blues and taupe and in the next two years we're getting greens. But chemises and trapezes—never!"

Illness Fatal To Elmer Davis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elmer Davis, long-time radio-TV news analyst, died yesterday of the effects of a stroke he suffered two months ago. He was 68. Davis, a white-haired Hoosier, had been relatively inactive since a heart attack five years ago. He interrupted his radio-TV news work during World War II to serve as chief of the government's Office of War Information. In addition, he wrote novels, short stories and essays, and worked for the New York Times for 10 years. Davis classed himself as a liberal and he helped found the Americans for Democratic Action in 1947. That organization was winding up its 11th annual convention here when Davis died at George Washington University Hospital. Oceanographers call a seismic sea wave a "tsunami," which is the Japanese word for "harbor wave."

VFW Upsets Defending North State Champs Saturday

Upstart VFW Team Tumbles Kiwanis Club By 7-2 Score

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

An upstart VFW Little League team opened their 1958 season in the North State loop with an upset victory over the defending champion Kiwanis team, 7-2, Saturday at Elm Street Park.

The VFW club whacked out 10 basehits and took advantage of four Kiwanis errors to run up their lead early and dominate the whole game.

Saturday's game rounded out the first full circle of play for the North State loop, with each of the league's four teams having played once. The VFW and the Lions are heading the loop at present with equal 1-0 marks and the Kiwanis and Jays have 0-1 records.

Rousing Start
The VFW outfit, coached by Merrill Eynum and J. A. Joyner, showed no fear of the defending league champions from the very opening inning Saturday and sharply began to build up a decisive lead.

They pushed to one run in the first inning, another in the second, two more in the fourth, and capped off the afternoon with three more runs in the sixth and last inning.

The Kiwanians scored one run in the fourth and their other in the sixth.

Both teams hit well, although the winners chopped out five more than their foes. The game was perhaps the biggest afternoon of the young season for the batters, with boys from both teams blasting out several extra-base knocks.

For the VFW, rightfielder Exum connected for two hits, one of them a stinging triple. Black added two more; the first baseman, Johnston, contributed a pair of singles; Nethercutt added two more; Christopher and Owens collected singles.

On the Kiwanis side of the ledger, five different players collected hits, with Ashby and Ross cracking doubles. Henderson, Nichols, and Jordan tapped out singles.

Though it would seem that hitting dominated the ball game, the pitchers turned in impressive performances for both sides. Christopher was the winning hurler, limiting the Kiwanians to five hits and striking out seven batters. Henderson was the loser and though he was tapped for 10 hits, he also fanned seven. Christopher issued two bases on balls and Henderson allowed five. Between them, they threw away nine wild pitches.

Despite the abundance of sharp hitting in the game, there were an unusually large total of runners left stranded on the bases for both teams. The VFW outfit left nine men stranded and the Kiwanis club had seven which they couldn't bring around.

Pitching
Scoring for the winning VFW outfit was quick and effective in stunning the Kiwanis team. Exum, the first batter in the game for the winners, scored. He led off with a walk, advanced on a single by Blalock, and came in on a long ball by Johnston. It was 1-0.

In the second inning, Owens was the first batter for the VFW and he scored, too. He singled, advanced on a pair of wild pitches, and later scored on a single by Blalock. It was 2-0.

In the fourth inning, both teams tallied again. The VFW scored twice, with Blalock and Calloway coming across, and the Kiwanians managed to get an unearned run on two wild pitches and an error. It was 4-1.

In the sixth frame, a triple by Exum, a single by Nethercutt, two walks, and an error accounted for three more VFW runs. Nichols scored again for the Kiwanis team, on a wild throw. It was over at 7-2.

Today
According to the Little League schedule, released before the season began, the VFW will play again today, facing the Lions. Game time is set for 3:30, and will bring together the two undefeated clubs in the loop. On Friday of last week, a switch was made in the schedule which may or may not affect today's play. If it does, the Tar Heel League will feature a game between the Exchange and Elks at 3:30.

In the Tar Heel loop, all four clubs have also played once. Undeclared thus far, with 1-0 records, are the Pepsi-Cola and Exchange clubs. The Moose and Elks have 0-1 marks.

Meet Was Almost Finished When Gilbert Broke Mark

By PHIL CORNER
RALEIGH (AP) — The Carolinas AAU track meet was almost over when two lanky Negro youths—poised on the starting blocks for the 220-yard low hurdles—engaged in the following dialogue:
"All right baby, let's go," said Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem Teachers College. "I dare you to beat me, retorted teammate Fran Washington."
A whistle blew, a gun cracked, and exactly 22.1 seconds later the world had a new record in the difficult hurdles event.
Gilbert, of Linden, N.J., and

Washington ran side by side all the way. Washington slowed when he nipped the final hurdle and Gilbert threw out his left shoulder to cut the tape a split second to the good.
Winston-Salem coach Wilbur Ross, himself a former hurdler, called it the greatest hurdles race in history. Both he and Gilbert were insistent upon giving most of the credit to the fleet Washington.
Gilbert, Washington and the rest of their Winston-Salem mates successfully defended the meet championship before 3,000 fans during the colorful carnival here Saturday night.

But all was not hoopla and handshakes during the all-day program. It also had its moment of heartbreak.
This came in the 100-yard dash—about 20 yards from the finish—when Duke's Dave Sime pulled up lame with a muscle spasm.
Sime was first off the blocks and running slightly ahead of North Carolina College's Vance Robinson when he suddenly slackened his speed and finally stopped, almost falling in the middle of the track.
Because of the good start and the constant pressure applied by Robinson, some veteran track observers thought Sime headed for another masterful dash. He has tied the world's record of 9.3 seconds four times—twice on the track here.

Robinson won the event in the creditable time of 9.5 seconds.
Sime's coach, Bob Chambers, called the injury a slight muscle spasm. He took his famous pupil into the locker room, immediately withdrawing him from further meet competition.
Chambers said yesterday his ace would be out for at least two weeks. He added that Sime would remain in Duke Hospital for at least a couple of days.
In all, five meet records fell, with Gilbert racking up two. His brilliant showing in the low hurdles topped the world's record of 22.2 set by Sime in 1956. The old meet mark of 22.9 was set by Lee Calhoun of North Carolina College in 1956.
A few minutes earlier, Gilbert, who raced after an all-night plane trip from the west coast, took the 120-yard high hurdle event in 13.7—the fastest time for that event anywhere in the world this year. The old meet record of 13.8 was set by Calhoun in 1956.
North Carolina College teammates combined to tally up the other three new records. They finished second to Winston-Salem in the meet with 40 points.
Walter Johnson erased the old 440-yard dash standard in 48 seconds flat. This topped the old mark of 48.3 set in 1956 by Camp Lejeune's Raleigh Wright.
In the high jump, Charles McCullough went 6 feet-5 1/2 inches to eclipse the old mark of 6 feet, 5 inches set in 1949 by Joe Corpening of North Carolina and tied in 1957 by Richard Richardson of Ft. Bragg.
The North Carolina College mile relay team of Robinson, Ken Riley, Walter Johnson and James Lane broke the other record. They turned the course in 3:13.3 to top the old record of 3:16.2 set by the same school last year.

Most boxing fans go for the free-swinging, slambang fighters who provide plenty of action. Young Mickey Crawford of Saginaw, Mich., is one of the few class boxers to make a hit with the paying as well as video-viewing customers in recent days.
The 24-year-old welterweight contender has built up a good following with his clever moves and fast, accurate punching. He can take a punch too.
Winner of three straight this year, Crawford is a 3-1 favorite to stretch the streak to four tonight at the expense of aggressive Andy (Figaro) Figueroa of New York at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.
Crawford whipped Gil Turner in his last outing at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 28. His record is 21-2. Figueroa has a 19-10-3 record. Du Mont will telecast at 10 p. m., EDT.

Slugging Mickey Crawford Fights Clemson, UNC Figaro Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The 1958 Atlantic Coast Conference baseball championship will be decided tonight at Gastonia, N.C., and it looks like a third meeting for two scrappy pitchers.
Clemson and University of North Carolina, tied with 11-3 conference records, clash on the neutral field at 8 p.m.
Tiger coach Bill Wilhelm has announced he will send southpaw Harold Stowe to the mound. Stowe pitched April 9 when Clemson squeezed UNC 2-1.
Tar Heel coach Walter Rabb hasn't announced a choice from three top pitchers, but it may be Wayne Young, who hurled April 25 when the Tar Heels pinched the Tigers 2-1.
Stowe and Young were on the mound when their respective team went down to defeat. Each pitcher went all the way in both games.
The winner of tonight's games will represent the ACC June 5 when the District 3 National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament opens at Gastonia. The tournament pits the champions of the ACC, Southern and Southeastern conferences plus one at-large team.
Third-place Duke trailed by three games with a 7-5 record. Wake Forest squeezed into the first division with a 7-6 record.
Maryland defeated Virginia 9-5 Saturday.
The other four teams finished in this order: North Carolina State, 6-7; Virginia, 4-9; Maryland 4-10; and South Carolina, 4-12.

Another Frenchman, Lahouari Godhi, a Parisian by way of Algeria, makes his second American start against New York's Johnny Busso at Madison Square Garden Friday night. It's a TV fight.

East, West Teams Getting Set For All-Star Fracas

Yankees Pulling Away From Loop

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press
Bring back the old split season. That's what the American League ought to be yelling today as they look at the fast-widening gap between the streaking New York Yankees and the rest of the field.
Six straight Yankee victories and 10 in their last 11 games put Casey Stengel's gang almost out of telescope range with a 19-5 season record. Only one other club is playing better than .500 ball—Kansas City. That A's pulled into second place with a 13-12 won-lost record but they're struggling, 6 1/2 games back.

Unless somebody can trip the Yanks on their first Western trip, this pace could kill off interest in the league.
The Yanks knocked over Washington twice Sunday, 5-2 for Sal Maglie and 3-0 behind Bob Turley. Duke Maas boosted the A's into second place with a 2-0 two-hitter against his former Detroit mates.
Dick Gerner, hit two home runs and Jackie Jensen a tremendous three-run 450-foot drive in Boston's 8-4 victory over Baltimore. Cleveland swept a pair from Chicago 7-4 and 10-6, winning the first in the 11th on Rookie Carroll Hardy's three-run homer.

In the National League, the San Francisco Giants took over first place with a double victory at Chicago 7-3 and 4-0.
Cincinnati knocked Milwaukee out of the lead 11-7. Philadelphia made it a clean sweep of their four-game set with Pittsburgh, downing the Pirates 6-4 and 6-2. St. Louis chased Los Angeles 6-5 in the first game but the Dodgers got even with a 4-0 shutout by Carl Erskine.

Turley's shutout was his fourth in six winning starts, all complete games. His earned run average dropped to 0.83 per nine-inning game over a stretch of 54 innings.

Maglie slugged a three-run homer, the first in the American League, in the opener. Ryne Duren balled him out ninth-inning trouble. Mickey Mantle also homered.
Detroit's only hits off Maas were a single by Charlie Maxwell and a pinch triple by Charlie Lau. Paul Foytack was the loser, yielding both runs in the second.

Gerner drove in four Boston runs with his two homers and a double while Jensen added three singles to his long homer. Frank Sullivan was the winner over Billy Loos.
Rookie Carroll Hardy was sent up to bat for Roger Maris in the 11th at Cleveland when Chicago changed from a right-hander to lefty Bill Pierce. Gary Geiger and Minnie Minoso were on base when he drove Pierce's pitch into the left field stands. Ray Narjeski was the winner over Jim Wilson. The Indians came back to take the second after spotting the Sox four runs in the first inning with Don Mossi taking the decision.

Giants Take League Lead

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press
The time has come to take seriously the dashing play of the San Francisco Giants.
Johnny Antonelli and Stu Miller pitched the Giants into the National League lead yesterday with back-to-back complete games in Chicago. Left-handed Johnny held the Cubs to five hits in the 7-3 opener and slow ball Miller, who failed to finish a game in 13 starts a year ago, threw a three-hitter, 4-0, in the second game.

Cincinnati's 11-7 blackjacket job on Milwaukee left the Giants on top by one full game but only two percentage points.
Philadelphia may have exploited the Pittsburgh bubble, completing a four-game series sweep by knocking off the Pirates 6-4 and 6-2. Jack Sanford, 1957 Rookie of the Year, and Ray Semproch, who may be a 1958 candidate, did the pitching job. Semproch went all the way but Sanford needed help from Dick Farrell.
Carl Erskine stopped the Los Angeles spin for at least one game when he shut out St. Louis 4-0 to gain an even split for the Dodgers. The Cardinals won the first game

6-5 on Ken Boyer's grand-slam homer, their 10th victory in 11 games.
Danny O'Connell, Willie Kirkland and Jim Davenport were the big men for the Giants at Chicago. O'Connell had two triples in the first game and a single, double and triple in the second. Kirkland drove in three runs in the first game with a single and triple and added two more singles in the second. Davenport had three hits, including a pair of doubles, in the second.
Antonelli held the Cubs hitless for five innings until pinch hitter Bobby Adams slammed a triple to open the sixth. The Cubs hit only six balls out of the infield on Miller's slow stuff.
George Crowe and Dee Fondy hit home runs for Cincinnati, where Bob Purkey finally sneaked in with a 13-hitter. Lew Burdette was chased by the Redlegs. Purkey gave up two homers to Joe Adcock and one each to Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews.

A beaming controversy flared in the fourth when Frank Robinson was hit by Milwaukee's Dick Littlefield. The pitcher was warned. A similar rhubarb had developed Saturday night when two Braves were hit by pitched balls.
Boyer homered for the Cardinals in the first inning of the first game off Fred Kipp after fouling eight pitchers on a 3-2 count. Rube Walker and Johnny Roseboro homered for the Dodgers in the first game. Gil Hodges and Charlie Neal in the second.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

When Barclay Fisher materializes in the Cool & Lam detective agency, the partners experience divergent sensations. Bertha Cool sees money ahead; Donald Lam, trouble. They're both right.

Fisher fears he was indiscreet at a business convention in San Francisco. After too much champagne, Fisher woke up in a strange apartment (presumably that of Miss Lois Marlow) and went home with a nagging conscience.

It was two weeks after the incident that Fisher brought Cool & Lam an ominous letter indicative of blackmail. It was sent by a man named George Cadott, who professed to be Lois' fiance. Fisher is fearful of his wife Minerva's finding out more than he himself knows about his champagne blackout.

Donald traced Lois Marlow and then surprised her by dropping the name George Cadott. Cadott, she said, has unfounded suspicions of her conduct. Cadott apparently found out about Barclay Fisher's visit from Cadott's cousin-in-law, Horace Dutton, and the latter's new wife.

Lois tried to conceal Cadott's hiding place from Donald. So Donald contacted Horace Dutton anonymously, pretending an interest in Dutton's modernistic paintings. Dutton was so impressed by Donald's views that he phoned Cadott, thus enabling Donald to eavesdrop on where the cousin is hiding out and obtain his assumed name — George Chalmers.

Donald, paid a surprise visit by the impatient Barclay Fisher. Fisher takes him on a visit to Cadott's hide-out, a motel. Donald enters Cadott's cabin alone and finds the man dead by gunshot.

Continue the story as told by Donald:

That's right. We've changed our minds. "I don't see why." "You don't have to know everything," I told him. As a matter of fact, you've embarrassed me by coming up here. "I had to be on the firing line. I want to know what's going on. I can't stand that horrible suspense of waiting. Tell me, Lam, do you suppose the guy has made good his threat and has written Minerva already?" "I don't know."

We've got to get to him. We've got to reach him, Lam. We've got to stop him.

I think I've stopped him," I said.

How?"

I went to Lois Marlow and told her who I was and that I was on the job."

And you think she told him?"

Otherwise why did he dash over here and register under an assumed name?"

Yes, that's right," Fisher conceded.

So, I told him, I'm driving you back to the Oakland Airport. You're taking the first plane back."

But that isn't what I want. I want to be with you. I came up here to join you."

You're going back," I told him. "You're in the way. You're hampering the work I have to do."

I can't leave from Oakland, I'll have to go over to the hotel to get my bag."

All right," I told him. You go to the hotel and get your bag. Then you take the first plane south."

Fisher looked at me suspiciously. You seem to have changed a lot of your plans all of a sudden."

I can't leave from Oakland, I'll have to go over to the hotel to get my bag."

All right," I told him. You go to the hotel and get your bag. Then you take the first plane south."

Fisher looked at me suspiciously. You seem to have changed a lot of your plans all of a sudden."

That's right, I told him. When you get to know me better, you'll find that's a peculiarity I have."

I didn't know just how much time I had, but knew that minutes were precious. I felt that probably an hour was the outside limit. Then some maid would discover Cadott's body, they'd check the registration certificate on the automobile, and police would be swarming all over the place.

The third key in the key container I'd picked up at the motel worked the door of Cadott's apartment. I went in.

I don't know what it is about the male animal living alone that contaminates a room, but I've noticed it time and time again. An apartment occupied solely by a man has a peculiar, strong, musty odor that can only partially be accounted for by stale cigarette smoke and ash trays full of cigarette butts.

Cadott's apartment had this odor.

I gave it a quick once-over. There were books on metaphysics, a book entitled The Wheel of Fate, a book entitled The Philosophy of the Far East, another Atomement and Karma.

The desk was locked. I inspected the keys in the key container, and didn't have much trouble. There was only one key the size of the lock on the desk drawer.

I opened the desk. Here everything was in apple-pie order. He had a filing drawer containing alphabetical files, another drawer containing carbon paper, stationery, envelopes and stamps. A portable typewriter was standing open on the desk.

I pulled out the file marked "F" and, sure enough, found a carbon copy of the letter he'd written Fisher. Then I found something that stopped me cold. It was the carbon copy of a letter written two days before to Mrs. Marclay Fisher at the home address, and was marked Private, Personal and Confidential.

I read the carbon copy carefully. It spilled the beans.

It said:

Dear Mrs. Fisher: Please understand that I am not a busybody. I am a man who has dedicated his life to making this a better world in which to live.

Lois Marlow who lives in the Wisteria Apartments in this city is essentially a good girl, but she is a pleasure-loving, frivolous, and has not as yet learned to appreciate the eternal verities.

I have been working with her trying to make her realize that, as one sows, so must he reap. The law of Karma is inflexible. Our accounts are balanced in the scales of eternity.

Five years ago I married Lois. She was a lovely, innocent girl. We didn't get along. She went to Reno, and divorced me.

Since then she has steadily cheapened herself. She thinks only of frivolity and gaiety. She is drifting through life with a mature body and the soul-mind of an adolescent.

I think too much of her to allow this to continue.

The reason I am writing you about her is that your husband met her when he was up here attending a convention. I feel morally bound to protect Lois from herself.

Under ordinary circumstances I would not think of holding him solely responsible, but since my investigation shows he has accepted the responsibility of being father to an orphaned girl, my sense of justice requires that I ask the authorities to investigate his moral fitness to play the role he has assumed.

I can now prove that Carl Jensen, a big manufacturer, deliberately uses sex in salesmanship. Young women are paid to sell themselves so that Jensen can sell Thrustmore motors.

I have given this man Jensen one warning. I shall give him no more. The man is a moral liability to society.

Your husband has, moreover, tempted another to sin.

Let Justice be done.

Very truly yours,
George Cadott

FORGOT SOMETHING

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Thieves stuffed a load of stolen auto accessories into the back of a stolen pickup truck and drove off. Making a turn, the rear of the truck came loose, sailed the other way, and with accessories inside, was later recovered. Police said it hadn't been bolted to the front.

CHAPTER 12

Barclay Fisher had walked some fifty feet down the court trying to look as though he had never seen me before in his life.

I walked rapidly, caught up with Fisher, and said, "Come on."

What did he say, Lam?" Fisher asked.

Cadott isn't in," I said. I have an idea the guy is uptown putting through some long-distance telephone calls."

He isn't in?"

I couldn't see him," I said. I just opened the door and stepped inside. I didn't walk around any."

Oh," Fisher said. He wasn't in bed, then?"

The bed hasn't been slept in. It hasn't? No!"

That's right."

But his car's there, isn't it?"

I think so."

Well, he can't have walked very far. Hadn't we better check the registration to be sure?"

No, I have the license number. It's his license. I don't think there's any question but what it's his car."

Well, what are we going to do?"

We're going back."

I don't get it," Fisher said. We came all the way over here to talk to the guy, and now you say we're going back."

Retrieve Jupiter Nose Cone After High Flight In Space

By JACK KING

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Jupiter intermediate range missile—a project the Army almost lost five months ago—apparently is the first ballistic weapon to solve the re-entry challenge.

Army rocket men at the nation's missile test center agreed the re-entry success was due to an almost perfect shot of the mighty Jupiter shortly after midnight yesterday.

Some 4 1/2 hours after the launching the huge nose cone—the first full-sized warhead ever mounted on a Jupiter IRBM—was plucked out of the Atlantic by a frigate and the crew of a Navy auxiliary submarine rescue ship.

First reports indicated the re-entry test was a complete success. The precious nose cone was taken to Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., where Army scientists will study its intricate instruments to learn the secrets of re-entering the earth's atmosphere without burnout after a cruise through space.

It was the first time a full-scale ballistic missile nose cone has been recovered intact. The only other recovery came last Aug. 9 when a four-foot nose cone was retrieved from the sea.

This is the same Jupiter the Defense Department ordered the Army to drop last December. Later, however, it was decided that the Army should continue with development and production of the weapon.

Most details of the missile's latest performance are classified. But it was reported unofficially that the Jupiter was fired at a range of just over 1,600 miles.

The launching ran like clockwork. The 69-foot missile lifted away with a mighty roar and billows of white flame.

It was seen as a tiny yellow dot in the sky for almost three minutes. Then engine burnout occurred and the rocket began its free flight through space.

The Jupiter, now in mass production by Chrysler Corp. and expected to be operational with troops late this year, was designed for a range of 1,500 miles.

Health Education Program Adopted

A seven-point health education program for the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association has been adopted by the association's Health Education Committee, it was announced today.

The program, to continue through 1958, was planned by committee members with assistance from Miss Addie M. Darden, field consultant of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association. Points which will be included in the overall program include (1) continuation of use of the film, "Are You Positive," in meetings with civic and home demonstration clubs; (2) increasing health education in schools by using films, furnishing posters and other materials, and speaking to school groups as often as possible; (3) promoting the Co-ford Project in the schools, a project sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association for school newsmen; (4) continuation of health education workshops for parents and teachers in the Negro schools, with special efforts to include white schools in the program; (5) awarding a scholarship to a Negro teacher for the annual Health Education Workshop at North Carolina College in Durham; (6) participating in a television cooperative to buy educational materials for television stations in this area; and (7) preparation of a local newsletter for local directors and other interested persons.

Members of the local Health Education Committee are Miss Lela Higgs of Greenville, chairman; Miss Tabitha De Visconti, Farmville; Mrs. Harry Stillman, Ayden; Mrs. Tom Gower, Grifton; and Mrs. Milton Clarke, executive director.

Relief Specialist Arrives Today

A disaster relief specialist from the American Red Cross' Southeastern area office in Atlanta arrived in Greenville today to assist local Red Cross personnel in providing emergency relief items for victims of last week's Tar River flood.

Miss Helen Stacy will remain in the county through Friday to work with local disaster personnel in accepting applications for Red Cross assistance, according to George Wilkinson, disaster chairman of the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Applications for aid should be filed in the Red Cross office, on the third floor of City Hall, before Friday, Wilkinson said.

Miss Stacy and other Red Cross personnel have estimated that 35 families, all in the Meadowbrook section, were affected by the flood. Flood victims who are not able to replace damaged property through their own resources will be eligible for Red Cross assistance, Miss Stacy said.
