Primaries Today For Four States

Biggest Spotlight Is On California, Where Knowland Campaigning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Four states held primary elections today. The biggest spotlight was beamed on California, where Sen. William F. Knowland faced an important popularity test with home state voters.

Leaders of both major parties were watching California's Republican and Democratic primaries for governor for signs of trends that might have bearing on the 1960 presidential race.

Knowland, who is giving up his role of Senate Republican leader to seek the governorship, admittedly faced a tough battle for ballots with Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, his Democratic opponent.

Under California's unique cross-filing system, both were listed under Republican and Democratic labels. But it was unlikely that either would score a grand-slam victory.

Other primary races were being held in Montana, South Dakota and Alabama. Three candidates for governor were being chosen along with two for the Senate and 34 for House seats. The Alabama primary was of the run-off variety and involved the two top vote getters from a field of 14 that were in the original gubernatorial primary May 6.

Dr. William G. Murray, 54-year-old college economics professor, won the Republican nomination for governor in Iowa's primary yesterday. He defeated Lt. Gov. William Nicholas, who was seeking the nomination for the third time. Murray will oppose Democratic Gov. Herschel Loveless in November. Loveless had no opposition for renomination.

Atty. Gen. John Patterson and Circuit Judge George Wallace were the opponents in Alabama's runoff primary. A major issue arose in the final days with charges that Patterson had the support of a Ku Klux Klan leader. Patterson acknowledged knowing Grand Dragon Robert Shelton, but said he was not aware of his relationship with the Klan. Control of the State Democratic Executive Committee was at stake in a side election in Alabama. The big issue was whether the party would continue to be controlled by a loyalist faction which favors supporting the national party nominees in presidential elections.

Accuses Public Of Indifference To Red Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American people were accused today of thinking more about how to keep up with the Russians in space technology and the cold war.

Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex) expressed that view as the House opened debate on the biggest money bill before congress—$38,315,611,000 for the nation's armed forces during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Mahon, chairman of the Defense Appropriations subcommittee, which screened the bill, said in a speech prepared for the House: "Our emotions and our resolves have run the whole gamut from the peak of awareness and urgency, to the humdrum plane of complacency."

Urging approval of the big spending measure, Mahon said the nation lacks the degree of determination and singleness of purpose which are required to meet the rugged challenge.

DeGaulle Gets Full Power, Begins Action On Algeria

PARIS (AP)—Premier Charles de Gaulle, armed with all the broad powers he demanded of Parliament, turned his attention today to Algeria and the army running it in his name.

De Gaulle summoned Gen. Raoul Salan, the French troop commander, from Algiers for consultation. Salan has been ruling Algeria openly in the name of the rebellious French there. An escort waiting at the airport whisked him off to see De Gaulle.

After thus asserting his authority over the army, De Gaulle called in Robert Lacoste, resident minister in Algeria who has a big following among the rebellious French colonists there. De Gaulle will go to Algeria tomorrow.

De Gaulle installed himself in the Hotel Matignon, official residence of French premiers, within minutes after the Senate early this morning finished legislative action on bills granting De Gaulle sweeping powers.

The last measure, authorizing De Gaulle to write a new constitution strengthening the executive, breezed through the Senate 256-30. The Premier will draft the constitution in consultation with a parliamentary committee and submit it to the people.

The Senate vote completed action within 48 hours on the three-part emergency program demanded by De Gaulle as his price for taking the helm of France in its hour of crisis.

The army-dominated junta ruling Algeria professed to be in the dark about Salan's trip and even about De Gaulle's visit to the rebellious North African territory.

While De Gaulle set himself a blistering pace, the French National Assembly prepared to vote itself the vacation De Gaulle insisted upon.

Just what form the adjournment would take was a technical problem but the measure already passed literally left the Assembly with nothing to do. The adjournment is actually scheduled for only five months—until the regular session begins Oct. 7.

De Gaulle's special powers extend by law six months from the date they are published in the official journal probably tomorrow. That would overlap the return of the Assembly but it could be discussing the next year's budget.

The Senate debate was brief, and confined chiefly to Communist objections.

Immediately after the Senate action De Gaulle was driven in his black Citroen sedan for the first time to the Left Bank mansion known as the Hotel Matignon, the official residence of France's Premier. This bore out earlier reports that he would not move into the Matignon until Parliament had completed action on his emergency program.

Commissioners Get First Look At Budget Requests For 1958-1959

By JIMMY ELLIS Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners yesterday afternoon got their first look at budget requests from county departments and agencies for 1958-1959 fiscal year operations.

The requests total $1,557,032.76. Each of the individual requests contained in the 14 funds in the total budget is subject to review by the board which is expected to begin a series of special meetings next week for study of the requests. Final action on the budget is not expected before the first of July.

The proposed budget and other financial matters occupied most of the commissioner's afternoon session. One of the financial issues discussed, the monthly report from Tax Collector and Supervisor R. S. Moye, revealed that the county tax office collected $1,142,150.61 between July 1, 1957 and May 25 of this year. The total is $75,723.86 more than the Tax Department's collections for a similar period during the 1956-1957 fiscal year.

Moye pointed out that the collection total also includes $31,255 taken in by the department during May. Biggest portion of the May collections were 1957 taxes, which were $28,352.65.

The other financial matter discussed was approval of a contract with George Cherry of Potosi to renovate kennels at the county dog pound for $1,764.46. The work will include 12 pens which will be four feet wide, 16 feet long and six feet high. The pens will include a top cover and concrete block walls, three feet high, to separate the pens.

Also approved, subject to findings by the county attorney, was a permit for the Greenville County Club to hold a fireworks display.

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The body of a man who died in the Pamlico at Whitchard's Beach Sunday was reported found around 9:15 this morning.

A group of Greenville men who had begun dragging for the body of Thurmond Hall, 25, found the body floating on the water's surface near the spot where he went under.

Those in the search party included T-Sgt. James R. Carri, J.D. Stocks, Joe Ward and Raymond Buck.

Buck said the body was located about 90 yards off an island in the sound and about 75 yards off the point.

Near-Capacity Crowd For Eppes Graduation Rites

By EVERETTE PARKER Reflector Staff Writer

Amid tears, laughter and applause 47 seniors received their diplomas from the C. M. Eppes High School last night.

A near-capacity crowd attended the graduation ceremonies held for the second year in the Eppes Gymnasium.

Dr. E. B. Aycock, Chairman of the Greenville City School Board, awarded diplomas to the 47 graduates, the fourth largest class ever to graduate from the Eppes School. He was assisted by Professor W. H. Davenport.

Professor Davenport presided over the ceremonies. Prior to the presentation of the diplomas, the Girls' Chorus, the school's band and Mixed Chorus rendered musical selections and two members of the graduating class delivered commencement addresses.

City Superintendent of Schools J. H. Rose spoke briefly to the group as did Dr. Aycock. Professor Davenport was honored by the Greenville Ministerial Alliance and Mrs. Nina W. Cherry, retired member of the Fleming Street School faculty, was also recognized for 40 years of service.

Miss Gloria Nimmo and Miss Doris Teel used for their commencement talks the theme "We Are A Fortunate Generation."

Using the topic "Each Individual Counts," Miss Nimmo told the crowd that, "The boy or girl growing up in today's world faces a much brighter future than he or she had even five years ago."

"In a complex world where communication media are multiplying and growing more powerful each day, the pressures toward conformity in thought, in word and action are almost irresistible. With the ever growing pressures, the individual has increasing difficulty in believing himself someone with something worthwhile to say," she said.

"We live in an age of automation, which tends to threaten individual personality. But we live, also in an age of awareness, for our effort to provide universal education is based on the ethical principle that each individual is of unique worth."

Miss Nimmo went on to say, "Our system of universal education provides a means of developing individual capacities. It strengthens the stamina and value of the individual and possesses a far greater potential for future development of America's strength than has yet been realized."

"American belief in the dignity of the individual must not be diluted by contemporary anxieties, but must be guided by idealism and spiritual vitality in which lie the hope of free men everywhere."

Miss Doris Teel, speaking on the topic "Unlimited Opportunities," pointed out this country has realized that strength lies in the education of its youth.

ROSE PRESENTS CERTIFICATE TO MRS. CHERRY . . . for 40 years of teaching service.

She pointed out that the American public has unleashed its purse-strings to provide deserving boys and girls with educational opportunities who otherwise would drop by the wayside. "It would be impossible to enumerate on the various types of scholarships, loans and grants," Miss Teel explained. "I will say that it would be hard to find an American college or university without some type of student aid."

The speaker went on to recognize many of the opportunities available to the high school graduate of today that years ago were nonexistent.

"Yes," she declared, "our chances for success today are unlimited. But he who would avail himself of them must have a positive purpose in life for he must gain the respect of all men. He must work."

"Wherever one works or whatever he does, with or without a college degree, if he gives more than is expected of him, he will climb to assignments of increasing responsibility and to the rewards of life."

"We are truly a fortunate generation," she said in closing.

Scholarships Superintendent Rose announced that several new scholarships have been donated by Greenville businessmen to be used by Eppes graduates.

Cited were the Home Savings and Loan Association Scholarship consisting of $200 for four years, the $200 State Bank and Trust Company Scholarship and the Sam White Scholarship in the amount of $200.

Following a tribute to the graduating class, Rose recognized Miss Esther Sneed and Miss Beulah Weeks, winners of the J. S. Ficklen Scholarships awarded last year for the first time. In addition he recognized Howard Pritchard, Eppes graduate who was valedictorian of his class at Shaw University in Raleigh this year.

Rose also lauded the late Lonnie Barnhill who had nine children to graduate from the Eppes school. Barnhill, janitor at the Fleming Street School, died last fall.

Speaking briefly to the graduates, Dr. Aycock stated, "You must do the best you can with the equipment you have. Be true to yourself."

Rev. J. A. Nimmo, president of the Greenville Ministerial Alliance, presented a Bible to Professor Davenport, "on behalf of your fine service to our people."

In accepting the gift Professor Davenport stated, "I am deeply grateful for the 31 years I have been with you."

"I've tried to be a good boy and will try to be an even better boy in the future."

Mexican Airline Plane Crashes With 45 Aboard

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Mexican airliner with 45 persons aboard crashed against a mountain peak near Guadalajara last night. The wreckage, found today, showed no signs of life.

The plane was a Constellation of the Aeronaes de Mexico. It was on a flight from Tijuana, at the California border, to Mexico City.

Some of the 22 passengers who boarded at Tijuana were Americans.

The four-engine craft made a stop at Guadalajara and took off for Mexico City at 10:01 p.m. It crashed against San Agustine Peak, 10 miles from Guadalajara. The last radio contact was with Guadalajara airport at 10:15 p.m. The Guadalajara airport is at 6,000 feet altitude and the peak 7,500.

The wreckage was sighted by search planes carrying officials of the Mexican airline, flying out of Mexico City.

Search parties with ambulances, doctors and nurses moved in on the area. It was expected to take this party several hours to get into the area.

It was raining at the time of the crash. Some residents of Guadalajara said they heard an explosion at about the time of the crash.

Guadalajara, Mexico's second city, is 290 miles northwest of Mexico City.

A group of Venters' legislative friends swapped notes this week-end at a meeting hosted by Rep. Cloyd Philpott, Lexington furniture manufacturer.

Philpott said were 30 or more lawmakers in the group which met at his High Rock Lake cabin. "We're well pleased with the way things are turning out," he said.

Venters was present to shake hands and renew acquaintance with the legislators.

Rep. Addison Hewlett Jr. of New Hanover also is regarded as in the running for the speakership.

Call SBI Agent To Assist Police

Clyde Fentress, State Bureau Agent from Washington, has been called in to assist local police in their investigation of the series of break-ins and attempted break-ins here early Sunday morning.

No arrests have been made in connection with the case thus far. Police Chief S. G. Gibbs stated this morning that every effort is being made to apprehend the parties involved.

Book Clubbers Hear Review

BETHEL—Telling of the medical missionary's experiences in an Arabian location, Mrs. W. C. Latham reviewed "My Arabian Days and Nights" by Eleanor F. Calverley at the Sallie Tucker Book Club meeting Friday.
 After mentioning the types of costumes worn by the Arabians and the problems the doctors encountered in overcoming poverty and ignorance, she said, "The last part of the book deals with a marvelous advancement that comes about due to the discovery of oil and the fact that the ruler is willing to use the benefits for general improvements."
 Mrs. William C. Whitehurst Jr., hostess, welcomed members and guests, Mrs. Bill Johnson, Mrs. Roscoe Everett, Mrs. James H. Barnhill, Mrs. L. J. Whitehurst Jr., and Mrs. D. O. Speir.
 Arrangements of mixed summer flowers were placed in the living room and in the dining room the table was covered with a three-tiered server featuring an artistic arrangement of yellow daisies and mums interspersed with white baby's breath. Punch and party dainties were served.
 Before leaving, Mrs. C. W. Everett extended an invitation to an open house honoring the club members' husbands. This is to take place at the W. R. Hunnicutt cottage on Broad Creek.

Library Equipped With Films, Projector

By ANNE SINGLETON
 Reflector Woman's Editor
 Sheppard Memorial Library's expansion into film service has proven quite successful.
 "It is an additional service which I feel has interested people who have not previously used the library," pointed out Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian.
 Through the recent purchase of a movie projector and membership in a public library film plan, the personnel at the library are now equipped to lend films and show them at adult group meetings in Pitt County.

For Groups Only
 It is a rule of the library that these films are for the benefit of groups planning programs and cannot be borrowed for personal or individual use.
 A wide range of adult films are constantly housed at the library and other films may be ordered through the library from the Bureau of Audio Visual Education, Chapel Hill.
 Every six weeks a new set of films arrive at the library. Miss Copeland stressed, "Persons wishing to borrow films should reserve them in advance in order to be sure of their availability."
 Since these films are lent only for the showing, they must be returned promptly to the library in order that a large number of persons may benefit from them.
 Projector Used If Films Are In order to insure the effectiveness of this new library service, several rules concerning the use of the projector have been made.
 Miss Copeland said, "The projector may be lent to public groups only and it is to be used only in projecting films borrowed from the library."
 "It is for use only when operated by a library operator," she added. At the present time three members of the library staff and a high school boy are approved library operators.
 The final rule governing the projector is that when it is used in the county, the county organization must pay the transportation of the operator. The library pays for all other phases of this program.
 Groups are also invited to meet in the library auditorium for film showings, if they desire.
 "From the standpoint that the film service is new this year, I believe it is being used as more people learn of its services," commented Miss Copeland.
 Clubs or groups needing programs for this summer may find the films a perfect answer.

Bride-To-Be Entertained

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. John Grimes of Robersonville and her daughter, Mrs. Harold Garland of Rocky Mount, entertained Miss Jean Cargile and her wedding party at a luncheon Saturday morning at the Wilson Hotel.
 For this occasion, mixed summer flowers decorated the hotel lobby, the living room and the den. A pink color scheme was used in the dining room where the appointed table was covered with lace cloth centered with a large arrangement of pink rosebuds flanked by crystal candelholders holding lighted tapers.
 The hostesses presented the guest of honor a pink rosebud corsage to compliment her lavender dress. The bride-to-be also received a piece of crystal in her chosen pattern.
 Miss Cargile and Joseph Herbyman Westington of Winterville will be married June 15 at 4:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church, Parmele. The couple will make their home in Winterville where his house is now under construction.
 She is a graduate of East Carolina College, Greenville, and last year she was a member of the Robersonville school faculty.

Not Related To The Liability Law

North Carolina should understand clearly that there is no connection between the 20 per cent increase in automobile liability insurance being asked by companies and the compulsory liability insurance bill which was passed by the 1957 General Assembly.

Insurance companies have asked the 20 per cent rate increase based on experience during the years of 1955 and 1958. The compulsory liability insurance law did not become effective until February of this year; therefore it could have no direct bearing on the question which is now before Insurance Commissioner Gold.

The compulsory liability insurance law is a good law and in time will prove its worth to the people of North Carolina. Though it has been in effect only a few months so far, its impact already is being felt in the protection it is affording the people of this state.

In our estimation the one thing that can make the law unpopular in North Carolina is a series of major rate increases for liability insurance now that the law is in effect. Owners of motor vehicles in North Carolina have no choice but to purchase liability insurance. Therefore they will be more acutely interested in what liability insurance costs them than was the case when they could buy it or not as they saw fit. If liability insurance becomes too high, there will be a demand for removing the compulsory insurance law.

Toting Up The Budget Needs

By LYNN NISBET

CAPITAL — The advisory budget commission will be asked to approve and recommend that the General Assembly appropriate more than $100 million for capital improvements at the several State institutions and for additional departmental office space.

Preliminary reports of need filed with the property control division of the Department of Administration already aggregate more than $90 million and several large items have not been reported. Colleges and hospitals, as usual will require most of the building money. The colleges are asking for some $65 million, with two institutions still to hear from. Needs of the University at Chapel Hill approximate $28 million, and State College around $25 million. Mental hospitals will need around $9 million.

The budget needs are being compiled in different manner from previous years. Each department and institution has been asked to make its requests on basis of facilities required, rather than in dollar amounts. The property control division engineers then estimate the cost of the proposed buildings and equipment. Budget officials and members of the Legislature will have before them for consideration not only the dollar item, but a detailed description of what the money is intended to provide. This will enable them to accord priority to most needed projects, in event there isn't money enough for all.

The Advisory Budget Commission will visit the State properties during July and personally inspect the needs. When the item of a new science building comes up, for example, the budget folks will be shown where the building will be situated on the campus, a diagram of its layout and other facts upon which to base judgment.

SOUND — Different approach also will be made in presenting the operation budgets of the agencies, departments and institutions. Two budgets will be presented. One to hold the line, to continue the service program currently offered; another to take care of anticipated or desired expansion of activities.

This would seem to be a logical and sound method of presenting budget requests. Administrators of colleges, hospitals and other institutions should not be concerned about dollars. Their concern should be for adequate facilities to do the job assigned them. The college has no need for million dollars; it does desperately need a new laboratory. The hospital could not use a ton of silver coins, but must have more beds or operating rooms to serve the needs of its patients.

Under the new budget present-

Commissioner Gold has a difficult task before him. He must be fair with the insurance companies in fixing rate for auto liability insurance. Yet he must also protect the people of North Carolina from exorbitant rates. We doubt the companies expect to receive the full 20 per cent rate increase they are now asking in spite of the fact they have a mass of figures to support their request. It will be up to the Insurance Commissioner to determine now and in the future what rate adjustments are necessary.

Any adjustment made on the current request, however, cannot be blamed on the new compulsory insurance law. And certainly the law which is proving its worth to the people of the state should not be criticized for any auto liability insurance increase granted in conjunction with the current hearings.

An Important Post That Requires Filling

For almost 10 months now, since the death of Dr. Walter C. Humbert, Pitt County's Health Department has been without the services of a full-time director.

During that period the county's Board of Health has been seeking a replacement to fill the position occupied by the late Dr. Humbert. So far they have not succeeded in getting the county a new health officer.

We are aware of the shortage of qualified public health doctors to fill the position as head of Pitt County's Health Department. We are likewise aware of the fact that the Board of Health and the Board of Commissioners have been working on the problem.

At the same time, if the calibre of the county's health department is not to deteriorate, it must have an active, full-time director. The county cannot expect to continue its Health Department indefinitely without a qualified director at its head. It seems to us that 10 months should have provided time for the county to seek out and hire a qualified physician for the post.

The Board of Health and the Board of County Commissioners should intensify their efforts to fill this important position in the Health Department.

DeGaulle Faces No Easy Chore

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) —

At this moment the self-assured Charles de Gaulle's head is high and his stride strident. Nevertheless, he is like a man walking barefooted through a field of broken bottles.

The French air cleared momentarily when he became premier Sunday.

But what may seem to De Gaulle today to be direct and simple solutions for the ills of France may before he's through turn into tortured dilemmas both for him and for his country.

French acceptance of him, on his terms, was a desperate compromise to avoid civil war. He was rammed down the country's throat by a rebellious army.

That he had to be taken on faith in a hurry, both as to intention and as to judgment. Although his announced purpose is to preserve the republic — and all he's done has been clothed in legality — he nevertheless has blessed the military chiefs who forced him upon France.

For something like this — merger of a strongman — seemed inevitable. If not De Gaulle, eventually it would have been someone else or the army. French government — or, its parliamentary system — had become a farce and a disgrace.

He almost certainly will have to make political compromises to get some of what he wants. But he is not noted for compromise. And opposition to his acceptance in the first place, while in a minority, is still intense.

Position to him starting out. As he goes about reforms at home, it is likely the opposition will increase and not diminish. This will be a good test of his faith in democratic practices to get things done.

There is the fear — and there has been since the beginning — that once in power he will rely less on democratic processes and more on dictatorship, although he has no indication he despises the authoritarian role.

But his worst trouble may come from the army and the extreme right if he feels he is making too much compromise with the left or if he offers an Algerian solution contrary to their desires.

Thus he can expect from the army and the right a scrutiny as intense as the one focused on him by the left. But the effect of his solutions won't be limited to France alone.

For example, if his answer on Algeria pleases the army but infuriates the Moslem world, the West will be faced with the prospect of seeing all North Africa turn to communism or neutralism.

There is so much puzzlement about the French future under De Gaulle that the West can only guess what's next and hope for the best.

Demand for scientists continues strong, but employers are getting choosy. The emphasis in recruiting advertisements seems to be turning away from the cradle-to-grave security approach which played up the "team" appeal. Fortune says this excerpt from a Sylvania ad shows "a refreshing change of pace": "You Don't Get Lost in a 'Team' at Sylvania. You don't have to submerge your individual abilities and character."

The shortage of teachers continues, especially for the lower grades. About 95,000 are needed. Salesmen and mathematicians are needed. Manufacturing offers fewer opportunities than insurance, banking, and retail trade. All surveys agree on the shortage of good accountants.

As for summer jobs, the word is: "Try everybody, starting with your relatives, your friends, and their friends. Then hit the local merchants."

Factory jobs are just about out — few employers are hiring summer replacements while grown men with families are unemployed. But just about as plentiful as ever are lower-paying summer jobs — camp counselors, playground supervisors, harvest workers, highway workers, food handlers. With the better jobs drying up, applications for these have just about doubled — after all, about 13.5 million youngsters in this country are between the ages of 15 and 20.

A tempered optimism comes from the U.S. Department of Labor. In an open letter to 470,000 collegians who will receive degrees this June, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell on May 17 promised a "generally favorable" job outlook despite recession. But he made it clear that recruiters from private industry are not repeating last year's locust-like descent on the campuses. Businesses are being "most more selective" in hiring.

Private surveys, by and large, are gloomier. In its annual forecast, April 30, Northwestern National Life Insurance Company put job offerings this year at one-fourth to one-half so numerous as last year's. The prediction is based on a sampling of more than 100 colleges and universities.

An earlier survey by the Wall Street Journal of 40 companies showed that two-thirds planned to hire fewer college graduates than in 1957. More recently, a N.Y. Herald Tribune campus study came up with the startling conclusion that job-hunters face their toughest year since 1949.

About 390,000 of the graduating students will be receiving bachelors' degrees. Higher degrees will go to another 80,000. Their impact on the labor market is going to cause the usual rise in unemployment. But government statisticians privately suggest that this may be partially offset by the siphoning off from the labor force of the youngsters who ordinarily would be looking for summer jobs. It

Never Alone Again

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk scrawls of a Pavement Plato: The stars will never look the same to us again.

In troubled times in the past a man has always been able to walk out into the night, turn his face skyward to the stars and tell himself, "Up there is quiet, peace, serenity." Somehow, in his own loneliness, the lonely sky has always comforted him.

But never again — never, never, never!

Dr. Harlow Shapley, retired director of the Harvard College Observatory, has destroyed forever our cherished myth that the sky was either lonely or serene.

Lonely? Why it turns out that the heaven is more crowded than a beehive, or a ball park during a free Sunday doubleheader.

Dr. Shapley, who rates the earth as a lowly mudball circling around a third rate star — our sun — estimates there may be 100 quadrillion stars in the known universe.

But, hold on. There's worse to come. Man has long speculated there may be forms of life on one or two of our neighboring planets.

This is a piker's view to Dr. Shapley. He figures that if even only one out of every trillion stars in the universe has conditions roughly similar to those of our sun, then there may be 100 million planetary systems with life on them.

We don't know how this possibility affects you, but we do know how it has affected us. Ever since reading Dr. Shapley's estimate we have been dreaming, not of seeing flying saucers, but whole flying U.S.-tries.

The heavens may house vaaster griefs than any we have known — but may get to know later.

A hundred million different planets may have different kinds of life in a hundred million different stages.

Some may have people much as ourselves, occupying themselves as they whirl through space with such diversions as children, mortgages, bingo and wars.

Some may have people even more advanced than ourselves, people who have lost the art of locomotion altogether, but developed two heads so they can think through their problems better.

Personally when we go out alone at night now here's what we do. We close our eyes, turn up our face, cup our hands to our mouth and holler, "Halloo, up there! Halloo!"

So far, we are glad to report, we have had no answer.

But we have lost our old fine feeling of fellowship with the stars. They have become strangers forever.

There is the fear — and there has been since the beginning — that once in power he will rely less on democratic processes and more on dictatorship, although he has no indication he despises the authoritarian role.

But his worst trouble may come from the army and the extreme right if he feels he is making too much compromise with the left or if he offers an Algerian solution contrary to their desires.

So You Meet Adventure

You are on a newspaper staff, and on this particular Sunday the family has been invited on a boating-fishing outing at Morehead City.

The occasion is an uncommon success. The weather ideal, the companionship good, and the fish don't disturb your other pre-occupations to any great extent.

Comes afternoon, and the boat is beached for youngsters to romp on the sand and grown-ups to walk or fish as they please.

Then you meet Adventure. Adventure, in this instance, is represented by a two-masted sailing craft of a type known as a "Bermuda smac."

It has an auxiliary engine aboard but the wind is its chief reliance. The boat is tied to a wharf immediately astern of a 1,000-ton Coast Guard ship.

You squat on the wharf to better see the low rakish hull and gesture toward it. "That's real South Seas story material there," you say to your wife.

And that's just what it looks like; something fresh from the Tahiti run.

On the deck a deeply-tanned little man is stowing away scraps of canvas apparently left over from cutting and fitting a new set of sails for the smac. He's wearing some ragged khaki pants cut off near the knees, an old sports shirt and sandals.

"Care to sign on?" he asks with a grin.

"Love to," you respond. "But I couldn't be much help."

He laughs, and remarks something about a trip in the next couple weeks down to Cuba.

That's the point at which your wife nudges you and whispers "there's your column material . . . you're always talking about nothing to write about, and you aren't even taking notes".

From out of nowhere she produces a pencil and an empty cigarette packet that can be used to write on, and you're in business. (It pays to have the wife along on such occasions.)

Questions and answers disclose the following:

(1) the friendly sailor is Commander Arthur Sheppard, USCG, and skipper of the big Coast Guard ship "Conifer" tied up at the wharf;

(2) he (and a dog) are going to sail that smack alone, to Key West and thence on to Cuba.

(3) the trip should take about ten days and departure date is July 7th.

You ask him about the Conifer, and Cmdr. Sheppard says she's one of about thirty such all-purpose ships built for the Coast Guard and he has skippered eleven of them. She is used for towing, ice-breaking, anti-submarine warfare and . . . well, you name it, she can do it.

His sailing boat? Well, he only recently bought it from an R. A. Thompson of Kinston. Thought he had plenty of time to prepare for his trip to Cuba, but his orders came through sooner than expected. Now he had a lot of work to do and to familiarize himself with how she handled.

"If you'd like to see the Conifer," he says, "just tell the Quartermaster I said you could look around."

So the children and the rest of the little party go aboard the Coast Guard ship where a crewman escorts you from a view of the engine room, wardrooms, the bridge, to the mess room and, but the narrow passageways and steeply-inclined ladders remind you again that space is at a premium.

Back on the wharf, one more brief jaunt to Cmdr. Sheppard with a couple of new questions, a warm "thank you" from everybody, and back to the boat waiting on the beach.

An experienced man of the sea (27 years of Coast Guard duty) and a dog sailing alone to Cuba. That is Adventure.

You wonder vaguely when somebody mentions the story of Melvin West, but dismiss the implications immediately.

In training, experience and competence there is just no comparison. Arthur Sheppard knows the sea as you know the route between your office and home.

Wouldn't it be great to go along and help stand a watch or two, feel the slanting deck, trail your toes in the foaming wake?

Such daydreams are easy to come by, but that's all they are: daydreams.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE MARVEL OF IT!

Life on this North American continent under free institutions! The like of it has never been offered any generation of human beings.

Oh, to be sure, we have the atomic and H-bombs, and we have used the former and may use the latter or have it used on us. We have killed more people in battle since the year 1900 than ever before. We still have ravaging diseases. There is plenty of injustice in the world, corruption even in these free countries.

And the people have the upper hand and make their own laws and enforce them. There is still weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth. There is hunger. There is unfairness.

But, after all is said and done, to be living today in the United States or Canada constitutes the greatest privilege that the human mind ever conceived of enjoying. Read history and learn what men have had to take at the hands of kings, despots, and nobles. Oh yes, we have communism today, and in countries across with it there is as much tyranny as the world has ever seen. But that—thank God—is not Canada or the United States or free countries anywhere.

How do you suppose it happened that you and I were lucky enough to make this. We might have been born in Russia, or China, or in the jungle somewhere. To think of it—we were born here.

swimming pools, psychiatry for unhappy wives and so on through the night.

A third reason is the fact that prices of labor and materials are rising. And a fourth is that it is costing states more to match Federal grants. Between 1946 and 1956, Federal payments to states rose from $800,000,000 to $3 billion.

With the proportionate rises in state spending, during the same time state payments to localities rose more than 200 per cent to $6.5 billion.

There is no indication that any of these causes will abate in our lifetimes.

State Tax Bite Keeps Growing

By ELMER ROESSNER

While there is still a lot of agitation for a cut in Federal taxes (which won't happen), taxes levied by states are rising.

States are now spending four times as much as they did in 1946, according to a Tax Foundation study. Much of the increase was wrung from taxpayers. Some came from bond issues and some came from Federal government handouts but, in the end, taxes on the people were larger.

Taxes are rising this year in many states and the Tax Foundation tosses in the prediction that they will rise again next year, which is only a little better than predicting tomorrow will be Wednesday.

MORE INCOME TAXES
Of budgets, submitted to 17 state legislatures this year, 11 call for higher taxes. The Federation of Tax Administrators reports. In several of the remaining states, budgets are being balanced by appropriating cash reserves.

States are turning more and more to income taxes. Governors in New Jersey and West Virginia have recommended new income taxes. In Colorado and

New York, discontinuances of temporary rate cuts was necessary. In Maryland, a higher income tax was recommended; in Rhode Island, a higher corporate tax. Kansas, South Carolina and Massachusetts legislatures were asked to make changes in the laws that would increase or accelerate income tax collections.

In other states there were boosts in sales taxes, cigarette taxes and liquor levies. The Federation found only one proposal for a tax cut: an increase in the personal tax credit allowed Kentucky income tax payers.

COLLECT AT SOURCE
States are making sure of getting their bite. Another authority, Commerce Clearing House, reports that employers are now required to withhold income taxes from employees' pay checks . . . in 18 of the 31 states which impose income taxes. The District of Columbia also requires withholdings. In five more states, taxes are withheld from earnings of nonresidents.

A projection of trends in the last 12 years indicates that eventually every state will impose income and sales taxes, and that every one will increase levies on liquor and cigarettes. In addition, more and cleverer ways to extract money from the citizenry will be devised.

The few exceptions may be states that dodge income taxes to lure wealthy residents, or which hold down on sales taxes to attract tourists. Blessings here will probably be offset by more and higher income and sales taxes levied by cities.

WHY THE RISE?
There are many reasons why states want higher taxes, outside of the fact that bureaucrats and politicians like to build up staffs and sponsor public works that will echo their name in the halls of history.

One is the rapid growth in population and, worse, the fact that it increases fastest in urban areas. While state incomes rise with the number of wage earners, there is always a painful bulge because the newest citizens earn nothing and they require educational, health and myriad other services.

Another is the fact that citizens demand more services, especially of the kind that others pay for, such as public housing, swimming pools, psychiatry for unhappy wives and so on through the night.

A third reason is the fact that prices of labor and materials are rising. And a fourth is that it is costing states more to match Federal grants. Between 1946 and 1956, Federal payments to states rose from $800,000,000 to $3 billion.

With the proportionate rises in state spending, during the same time state payments to localities rose more than 200 per cent to $6.5 billion.

Jackson-Goff Wed; To Live Here

AYDEN—Miss Lella May Goff, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. John Lewis Goff of Ayden, and Troy Rhyne Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Troy Jackson of Grifton, were united in marriage May 17 in a candlelight ceremony at four o'clock in the Ayden Christian Church.

The bride's father officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Virginia Belle Cooper, organist, and John L. Goff Jr., brother of the bride, of Gastonia, who sang "I Love Thee," "O Perfect Love," and "The Wedding Prayer," as the benediction.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, James Warren Goff of Williamston, wore the same gown used by her sister in her wedding. The gown was a Joel original of Burmill satin featuring a marquisette yoke, satin bertha and molded bodice. Long sleeves ended with calla points over the hand and her full skirt with knife pleating over the hips fell into a circular train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a coronet of lace and seed pearls. A string of pearls, gift of the bridegroom, was the bride's only jewelry. The bride carried a white Bible topped with a white cymbidium orchid showered with satin streamers and lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Maurice S. Moore Jr. of Hopewell, Va. attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore an original of blue taffeta and nylon sheer featuring a bouffant torso silhouette with a scoop neckline. She wore short white gloves, matching hat fashioned of nylon and tulle, and carried a bouquet of French carnations and tulle. Bridesmaids were Miss Ann Davis Peel of Williamston, Miss Betty Tabor of Narrows, Va., and Miss Connie Dunn of Ayden. They wore gowns of identical style and color to that of the matron of honor with gloves and matching hats.

Honorary bridesmaids attending were Miss Shirley Moseley of Ayden, Miss Maeana Willard of Williamston and Raleigh, Miss Martha Ann Bowers of Norlina, and Mrs. Michael H. Johnson of Hamilton.

Clifton Jackson attended his son as best man. Ushers were Robert Tripp, Von Mac Baldwin, Gerald C. Jackson, uncle of the bridegroom, and Maurice S. Moore Jr.

Mrs. James Warren Goff and Mrs. John L. Goff Jr. were the mistresses of ceremonies.

Mrs. Goff chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of embroidered pink linen with beige accessories. Her flowers were matching cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a lace and satin dress of pencil blue with blue accessories. Her corsage was of cymbidium orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony the Christian Women's Fellowship of the church entertained in the Brunson Hall for the bridal couple, members of the wedding party, out-of-town guests and friends.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left for a southern wedding trip. For traveling the bride chose an original dress suit of black shantung with matching hat and white accessories. She wore an orchid corsage lifted from her Bible. After returning from their wedding trip the bride and bridegroom will be at home in Greenville, where both are in school at East Carolina College. The bride attended Atlantic Christian College for two years, where she was a member of Phi Sigma Tau Sorority. The bridegroom has attended Campbell College.

Students Busy With End-Of-School Fun

By JANICE LAUGHTER

This past weekend found the eighth grade celebrating the close of school. To help celebrate this, on Friday afternoon a swimming party and picnic were held by Robert Youngblood's class. Supper was served by the mothers.

On Saturday Mrs. Catherine Byrd's class traveled to Melvin Hoot's cottage at Island View Shores. Students participated in a day of swimming, boating, water skiing and sunning.

The same day Mrs. Evelyn Boyette's class went to Hawkins Beach for the day. Water sports and a picnic were held by the class.

Many of the students have planned trips to the beach, out of town, or are going to camp this summer.

Pictures Taken, Displayed
Friday, pictures were taken of all of the school organizations. They were displayed in the library on Monday afternoon and Tuesday. Students who wished to buy pictures reported after school. These pictures will be displayed in the halls in the future.

Tuesday evening, Mrs. Frances Tyson's seventh grade class visited the home of Ted Ashworth. Through a telescope which Ashworth built himself, the class saw the moon and Jupiter with four of its moons. Sara Oakley, Virginia Guice, and Robert Johnston have been appointed to be on the traffic committee at Rose High.

Correction

A correction has been made pertaining to last week's article on Judy Tripp's party. Also serving as hostesses were Rose Clark, Virginia Guice, and Jayne Willis.

Ex Libris Club Names Officers

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. A. Pitt Roberson was named the new president of the Ex Libris Club when the group met for their final meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Edgar Johnson.

Other new officers presented by the nominating committee were: Mrs. John Tyler, vice-president; Mrs. Leo Everett, secretary; and Mrs. Claude T. Smith were also elected to serve on the Year Book Committee and Mrs. Charlie Gray and Mrs. Otis Woodlark were selected for the Program Committee. "The City of Golden Gate," was the program topic given by Mrs. Nathan Roberson. The program was continued by Mrs. J. Calvin Smith giving highlights of her visit with her son, Dr. Chandler Smith, in San Francisco. A sweet course was served by the hostess before books were returned and the club adjourned for the summer.

30 Years Ago Today

June 3, 1928

East Carolina Teachers College has closed for the present session and the exodus of students was completed yesterday. Greenville will miss the several hundred young women comprising the student body. Most people in this section of the state already realize the importance of this institution. It is gaining quite a reputation in the educational field, and it is natural to conclude that growth in the future will be as great as in the past. The demand for more efficient teachers is quite pronounced in all parts of the country. With its rating the East Carolina Teachers College is able to meet this demand in a way that is gaining recognition for those who leave its doors each session.

This Is 150th Birthday Of Confederacy's Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the 150th anniversary of the birth of a president who is not recognized by the U. S. government.

Jefferson Davis was his name and his presidency was the Confederate States of America.

The government took note in only one small way of Davis' birth June 3, 1868, in Todd County, Ky. A modest exhibit of his writings and papers was put on display at the Library of Congress.

It won't be that way for another president next year when the sesquicentennial of Abraham Lincoln is observed. Big plans are afoot for a full year's program to celebrate the 150th birthday of the man whose place Davis might have taken had the rebels defeated the Union in the War Between the States.

Despite being on opposite sides, there were some amazing parallels in the lives of Davis and Lincoln.

Both were from families that migrated southward from the North.

Both were born in log cabins in the same state — only 120 miles apart.

Both met with tragedy in love. Lincoln through the death of a sweetheart and Davis with the death of his young wife of three months.

Both had political setbacks but came back to reach new heights of success.

Of course, there were many dissimilarities too.

Davis got his start largely through an older brother, who made a fortune as a cotton planter in Mississippi. Lincoln had much more of a struggle establishing himself on his own.

Davis was never a man of robust health and had a facial neuralgia that sometimes blinded him. Lincoln was as strong as an ox.

The two were worlds apart in political philosophy. Davis, a Democrat, was an early believer in the right of states to secede from the Union. Lincoln believed the Union must be preserved at all costs.

Their lives ended differently too. Lincoln was cut down by an assassin's bullet five days after Lee's surrender at Appomattox. Davis lingered on until 1889, using most of his time to write a two-volume edition of his noble failure — the rise and fall of the Confederate government.

Honorary Degree For Humber From UNC

Pitt County's Democratic nominee for state senate Robert Lee Humber was among five persons who received honorary degrees from the University of North Carolina last night.

Dr. Humber, president of the State Art Society, received the doctor of laws degree in recognition of his contribution to the cultural development of North Carolina.

Dr. Humber graduated from Wake Forest College, he was a Rhodes Scholar and received his bachelor of Letters degree from Oxford University.

After ten years in France as an international lawyer and business executive, he returned to his native state.

Turning his energies to the cause of fine arts, he led the movement to secure funds from the General Assembly to make possible the acceptance of a handsome gift from the S.H. Kress Foundation and to bring about the creation of the North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh.

Humber's citation read: "With gratitude for a distinctive contribution to the cultural development of North Carolina, the University of the State is honored to confer on him the degree of Doctor of Laws."

Honorary degrees also went to Congressman Carl Durham, Robert M. Lester of Chapel Hill, an executive of the Carnegie Corporation's Southern Fellowship Supreme Court Associate Justice R. Hunt Parker; and Professor John A. Wheeler, atomic physicist of Princeton University.

Seawell Asserts Disliked Rulings Must Be Obeyed

PEMBROKE, N. C. (AP) — If North Carolina should close public schools to preserve segregation "we would cut our own throats," Atty. Gen. Malcolm B. Seawell said yesterday.

The U. S. Supreme Court decision that the right to attend public schools may not be made on the basis of race has the force of law and must be obeyed, Seawell declared in a commencement address at Pembroke State College.

"... We cannot select the laws which we will obey and breach those laws which we do not like," he reminded.

"I do not like the action of the Supreme Court of the United States in the segregation case but I know that, when that court speaks, its words become the law and remain the law until that court changes its mind or until the people change the law," Seawell asserted.

The college where Seawell spoke was established for Indians and until a few years ago was in effect, a segregated institution. In recent years, however, its doors have been opened to white students.

Seawell, Superior Court judge and solicitor for this area before he became attorney general, noted that Pembroke's enrollment has climbed from 150 to 350 in the past four years. Prospects for future growth are bright, he added.

Many changes are in store for citizens of the South in the new era of industrial growth, the attorney general reminded. "Some we welcome—others we may not like. But whether we like them or not, they are going to be," he said.

Commissioned At State College

Seven students of the Greenville area were among the 114 young men to receive commissions in joint Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC exercises at State College, Raleigh, Saturday.

Army cadets were: Teddy Gray Allen, Farmville; Paul Williamson Bailey, Everetts; J. C. Bright, Maclefield; Charles Elliot Johnson, Robersonville; James Linwood Knowles Jr., Jamesville; William Clyde Roberson Jr., Williamston; William Morgan Whitehurst, Robersonville.

Vanguard Effort To Be Continued

By C. YATES McDANIEL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite four failures in five attempts, the Navy will continue trying to blast Vanguard satellites into orbit.

This is the blunt answer given at the Pentagon to inquiries as to why the Vanguard project isn't dropped in favor of more satellite launchings with the Army's Jupiter-C rocket combine.

The Defense Department says its reasons for sticking with Vanguards are that they are the best vehicles available — when they work—and that the country requires a greater return on the millions invested in the program.

The Navy, administering the Vanguard project for the U. S. contribution to the International Geophysical Year program, already has poured at least 110 million dollars into development and preliminary testing.

Six or seven additional Vanguards with fully instrumented satellite spheres, each costing about one million dollars, already have been made or are under construction.

Dr. Werner von Braun, the Army's rocket specialist, has described the Vanguard as a sophisticated rocket combination for earth orbiting satellites. In simple language, this means that the three-stage rocket and its specially designed 21 1/2-pound moon are exceedingly complicated, which is one reason why it has been so difficult to make them work.

But when a Vanguard rocket works, as one did in getting a tiny satellite into orbit on St. Patrick's Day, it is far more efficient than the Jupiter-C as a moon launcher. It takes 2,200 pounds of fuel and hardware to orbit one pound of payload instruments with a Jupiter-C rocket combine. The Vanguard lifts one pound of instruments into space with only 1,000 pounds of fuel and hardware.

The grapefruit-sized satellite launched by the Navy on March 17 worked so well that a nearly ideal orbit was achieved, leading scientists to prophesy a 200-year life for its tiny satellite.

Bee-leaguered In Headquarters

BLOOMFIELD, N. J. (AP) — Police were bee-leaguered in their own headquarters here yesterday. A swarm of bees buzzed around the entrance for an hour.

The lawmen deputized Paul Schindler, a professional beekeeper.

He lured the queen into a hive. The swarm then re-formed and took the straight and narrow right after her.

Teen-er League Baseball Season Opens Here Tonight

1957 ACTION—Above is a scene from 1957 Teen-er League play at Guy Smith Stadium. Night games will be played—as last year—four times a week featuring the State Bank, Guaranty Bank, Home Builders, and College View Cleaners teams. First game of the season is slated to begin tonight. A double header will be played tomorrow night.

STATE PLAYOFFS—For the past two seasons, the VFW Teen-er League State Playoffs have been held in Greenville. Above is a photo of Gastonia at bat. The Gastonia club has copped the state crown for the past two years in a row. Last year, Greenville's Teen-er Loop All-Stars finished runners-up to the champs.

Benefit Dinner And Double Header Wed.

The opening of the 1958 Greenville Teen-er League baseball season scheduled to take place last night at Guy Smith Stadium was postponed due to wet grounds. Recreation Department official W. C. James has announced that the opening will be observed tonight unless rain intervenes again.

Gametime tonight will be at 7:30. The contest will take place on the main field at the stadium, there will be no charge, and plenty of seats will be available in the roofed grandstand.

Greenville is preparing for what is expected to be the most promising Teen-er League season since its establishment here three years ago. In that short period of time, Greenville has become a major spot in North Carolina Teen-er League ball in more than one way.

For the past two seasons, the State Championship has been played at East Carolina's baseball field and Guy Smith Stadium. The best teams in the state have congregated here, bringing fans, business and publicity to Greenville, for the North Carolina playoffs. The State Director for Teen-er League stated on his last visit to Greenville that "this is the perfect site for the playoffs. The fields are good, the people are cooperative. We hope to keep the playoffs here."

It is by far—according to an concerned who will comment on it—the most promising season yet. Some foresee a playoff between Greenville and Gastonia again for the state crown.

The four Greenville teams this year will be the same as last year: State Bank, Guaranty Bank, College View Cleaners and Laundry, Home Builders. These four clubs supplied last year's runner-up team in the state playoff.

Only two of last year's four coaches will be back to handle the teams this summer. Terry Nobles will still have control of the Home Builders and Carlton Sonny James will still instruct the College View club.

Newcomers among the coaches rank will be Charlie Bland and Billy Dunn who will handle State Bank, and Billy Brady and Milton Reece who will work with Guaranty Bank. Dunn and Bland were the two young men who last year led the Greenville Little League All-Stars to the state championship and then carried them to the regionals at Rome, Georgia. Brady is a student at East Carolina College and Reece is a coach at the junior high school who this year directed his school's Phantomite baseball team to an undefeated season.

Benefit Dinner Since the league has chosen not to charge for admittance to Teen-er League ball games, there are only limited means of financing the 1958 baseball program. One of those ways is to appeal to the local fans through a benefit.

Tomorrow night, a benefit dinner will be sponsored by the league from 5:00 to 7:00 at Guy Smith Stadium (tickets are being sold by players and officials) and a double header is also on schedule. The first ball game will begin at 6:30 and the second will follow immediately after the first. All supporters and fans are invited to attend.

As of the present, the only information released about any of the teams as units, is that all four had large turnouts when practice began. For a time there was talk of adding another club to the group, however that was not done. According to officials, all four clubs have good material, both rookie and seasoned.

Ward Isn't So Rusty After All

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Harvie Ward Jr., isn't as rusty at his golf game as he had thought. The two-time National Amateur golf champion, returning to competition yesterday after a three-year suspension, was among three Northern California qualifiers for the U.S. Open tournament with a 36-hole total of 142.

Cincinnati whipped Pittsburgh 8-2 in the only National League game scheduled.

Harshman has allowed only 13 earned runs in his four defeats, but the Orioles have scored only seven.

Roy Sievers, cracking Goose Goslin's all-time Washington home run record of 127, tagged Harshman for his eighth homer of the season in the fourth.

Harshman gave up seven hits and walked three while striking out 11 for a total of 50, just three shy of league leader Bob Turley of New York.

Three home runs, two by Hank Bauer and the other by Mickey Mantle, gave Ford all the edge he needed while winning his fourth in a row from the White Sox since last July. Whitey gave up seven hits, walked four and struck out 10 for a 6-2 record with his first shutout since May 28, 1956.

Pepsi-Cola, Lions Command LL Action

NORTH STATE LEAGUE
Lions	4
Jaycees	3
VFW	2
Kiwanis	1

TAR HEEL LEAGUE
Pepsi-Cola	4
Elks	2
Moose	2
Exchange	1

Editor's Note: Yesterday's North State game between the Lions and the Kiwanis was rained out.

With nine of the Little League's first half (18 games) already in the record books and only nine more to go before the beginning of the second division play, Pepsi-Cola and the Lions hold commanding leads in their respective loops.

Coach R. B. Starling's scrapping Lions have a 4-1 record in the North State circuit, far and away the best mark in that division. The nearest competitor is the Jaycee club, with a 3-2 mark. The VFW follows with a 2-3 slate and the defending champion of the league, the Kiwanis team, is settled in bottom place with a 1-4 record.

The Lions have compiled their mark by whipping the Jaycees by scores of 1-0 and 3-0 and the VFW by scores of 6-1 and 6-2. Their only loss has come at the hands of the Kiwanis, 7-4.

Though in second place because of their two losses to the Lions, the Jaycees have been impressive in their three victories thus far. They have downed the Kiwanis 9-1 and 16-2, and have dumped the VFW 5-2.

Big Lead

In the Tar Heel League, the Pepsi-Cola outfit has an even more commanding grip on the situation than do the Lions in their circuit. The Pepsi team has an identical 4-1 mark, but their nearest competitor is the Elks with only a 500 mark of 2-2.

Coach Clint Prewett's Pepsi-Cola boys have been quite impressive in individual ball games as well as in overall won-lost statistics. They have drummed down the Exchange club 2-1 and 16-1, and blasted the Moose 14-0. Their only loss has been a 1-0 loss to the Moose.

Frank Harper, a veteran from last year's Pepsi-Cola club and also a veteran of the State Championship Greenville All-Stars, has been Coach Prewett's leading win man so far. He has hurried three of his club's four victories. Billy Cannon notched the fourth and was credited with the only loss.

Yesterday's Stars

HITTING: Joe Nuxhall, Redlegs—Rapped three hits in three trips, one a double, drove in two runs and scored twice in 8-2 victory over Pirates, who didn't get a run off the veteran southpaw until the ninth.

PITCHING: Whitey Ford, Yankees—Struck out 10, tying American League record with six consecutive strikeouts, and beat the White Sox 3-0 with a seven-hitter.

Youngsters May Be Hot In US Open June 12

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The U. S. Open Golf Championship is no kiddie car tournament, but four youngsters who bear watching will tee off with some of the deadliest sharpshooters in the game when the event opens at Tulsa June 12.

None of the four has much of a chance of winning this year. All lack tournament experience. But in years to come they could become the new Sam Sneads and Ben Hogans.

Here they are:

Jack Nicklaus, an 18-year-old freshman at Ohio State, led the qualifiers at Cincinnati by firing a 66-70—136 over two courses yesterday.

Deane Beman, a 20-year-old swinger from Bethesda, Md., fired a 75-71—146 to tie John O'Donnell for the top spot among the Baltimore qualifiers.

A sophomore at the University of Maryland, he already has played in two Opens and last year's National Amateur.

Gene Francis, also 20, had a 73-69—142 to deadlock professional Bernie Riviere for the No. 1 position at Glen Cove, N. Y. Francis is the star of the Purdue University team.

Jim Tom Blair III, who led the qualifiers at Kansas City with a 72-69—141, carries an illustrious name into the tournament. He is the son of Gov. James Blair of Missouri.

In addition to the four amateurs, a young professional, Bobby Goetz, posted the lowest score of the nation's qualifiers with a 67-67—134 at Tulsa. Goetz, captain of the Oklahoma State U. golf team last year, turned pro only a few months ago.

They were the best of the new prospects among the 144 golfers who qualified at 28 sites around the country. Seventeen players were exempt from qualifying and one, Ted Makalena, qualified at Honolulu last week.

A flock of the big names will be among those missing at tee-off time, having failed to make the grade. Among them were two former Open champions—Sam Parks Jr., the 1935 winner, and Tony Manero, the 1936 victor.

The other three ex-champions who had to go through the preliminaries did make it. They included Gene Sarazen, 1922 and 1932 winner; Lee Worsham, who came out on top in 1947; and Lloyd Mangrum, who triumphed in 1946.

Harshman Has Lost Four In Row But Keeps Trying

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Jack Harshman, Baltimore's big left-hander, is the only pitcher in the American League with six consecutive complete games at the moment—yet he's lost four in a row, half of 'em because of unearned runs.

You'd think he'd break curfew, or push an ump or something. The corseid southpaw (he has a bad back) who won his first five decisions, was knocked off again last night at Washington when the Senators scored an unearned run in the 10th for a 2-1 decision.

That dropped Harshman's record to 5-4 and plunked the Orioles back into the cellar while the Senators tied idle Detroit for sixth.

A southpaw with a streak also figured in the only other American League game scheduled last night, with Whitey Ford tying an AL record with six consecutive strikeouts while winning his fifth straight and his first shutout in two years as the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-0.

It was the third straight success for the Yanks, upping their lead to seven games over Kansas City, while dumping the Sox to fourth and extending their scoreless inning string to 22.

Cincinnati whipped Pittsburgh 8-2 in the only National League game scheduled.

Harshman has allowed only 13 earned runs in his four defeats, but the Orioles have scored only seven.

Roy Sievers, cracking Goose Goslin's all-time Washington home run record of 127, tagged Harshman for his eighth homer of the season in the fourth.

Harshman gave up seven hits and walked three while striking out 11 for a total of 50, just three shy of league leader Bob Turley of New York.

Three home runs, two by Hank Bauer and the other by Mickey Mantle, gave Ford all the edge he needed while winning his fourth in a row from the White Sox since last July. Whitey gave up seven hits, walked four and struck out 10 for a 6-2 record with his first shutout since May 28, 1956.

There will be 30 hours of instruction given in each class. Classes cost 15 dollars.

Two swimming classes scheduled for this summer at East Carolina College are still open for registration. Those interested should write or call the physical Education Department of the school.

The courses open are listed below:

(1) Monday and Wednesday nights from 7:00-9:00, a class for girls and women, 15 years and over. From June 2 through July 9.

(2) Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7:00-9:00, a class for girls and boys, men and women 15 years and over. From June 3 through July 10.

Only one game was scheduled in the NL yesterday, and the Redlegs took it 8-2 from Pittsburgh.

In the American League, the New York Yankees took a seven-game lead on Whitey Ford's 3-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox, and Washington beat Baltimore 2-1 in 10 innings in the only game scheduled.

Joe Nuxhall was practically the whole show for the Redlegs as they slipped past the Chicago Cubs into fourth place. The 29-year-old lefty blanked the Pirates on four hits until the ninth, struck out eight, walked none and drove in two runs, scored two with three hits and a fly ball.

Don Hoak homered, Johnny Temple tripled and Steve Bilko and Nuxhall doubled in the Redlegs' 10-hit attack against starter-loser R. G. Smith and a pair of relievers. Nuxhall, now 2-2, lost his shutout bid with two out in the ninth when Frank Thomas swatted his second double, scoring Bob Skinner and Ted Kluszewski, who had singled. Smith is 0-2.

It's Brooks Lawrence (1-3) for the Redlegs against the Dodgers tonight at Los Angeles, while the Giants have picked Ruben Gomez (5-3) to break Lew Burdette's jinx. The Milwaukee right-hander (4-3) has won eight in a row from the Giants since Sept. 16, 1954.

In the other NL games, it's Pittsburgh at St. Louis tonight with Vern Law (5-3) facing Larry Jackson (3-2), and Philadelphia at Chicago in a day game, Curt Simmons (4-5) vs. Taylor Phillips (3-0).

The folks in Los Angeles went to the polls today to decide whether the City Council made a fair deal with Dodger owner Walter O'Malley. If yes, things look good for O'Malley in his pursuit of a legitimate ball yard in the Chavez Ravine. If no, then the Dodgers don't have land for a park and National League President Warren Giles has to decide whether to go through with his threat to hoist the Dodgers out of Los Angeles.

Meanwhile, back at the pennant race, the Dodgers were far back. Ten games, to be exact, but they got a big boost in morale—and ballot box hopes—when some 7,500 fans showed up to welcome them back from an 8-9 swing through the East.

Tonight in Los Angeles, the Cincinnati Redlegs make their first appearance in the Coliseum. At San Francisco, the first place Giants put their one-game lead on the line in the first West Coast appearance of the season by the world champion Milwaukee Braves.

More Westerns On Next Season's TV

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Will the nation become gun shy? There seems to be no end to the quantity of Westerns being pressed on the American public. This was the year of the horse opera in TV, and next season will be more so.

Virtually all of the Westerns have been renewed, and naturally so, since they have dominated the audience ratings. And a new supply of gunslingers is being brought up for reinforcement. It is reported there will be 36 Western series on the home tube next fall.

But all these free horse operas aren't deterring the movie makers. It will be a bang-up year for the Western in theaters too. Gary Cooper just finished on oater and is starting another, "Hanging Tree." John Wayne is making "Rio Bravo," and Joel McCrea is hoping through "The Bat Master's Story."

Don Murray, who has already traveled "From Hell to Texas," will next prowl "These Thousand Hills." Nunnally Johnson is seeking Frank Sinatra and Marion Brando for "Brothers of the Flaming Arrow."

Brando himself is planning a couple of Westerns. Gregory Peck produced a gigantic, "The Big Country." Fred MacMurray finds it's a "Good Day for a Hanging." Kirk Douglas, Burt Lancaster and Glenn Ford are again heading out West.

This will continue until the public starts singing, "Lay That Pistol Down."

Bette Davis and Gary Merrill have rented a Beverly Hills home and will pursue their acting careers more strenuously. No more the easy life at their Portland, Maine, hideout.

After renting the house, Bette took off for a couple of movies in Europe and Gary returned to Maine to help Gov. Muskie campaign for the Senate. . . . Esther Williams and Jeff Chandler are making no effort to hide their romance. They were a two-some at Arthur Cameron's wine-tasting bash. . . .

Marie McDonald's comeback continues. After playing Las Vegas and Dallas, she reports to Paramount to costar with Jerry Lewis in "Geeha Boy," her first movie in seven years.

Clean-Up Detail For Litterbugs

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Highway Patrolman Arthur Spendlove decided against issuing a ticket when he saw a beer can sail from the window of a passing car. Instead, he ordered the four adults inside to clear refuse from a two-mile section of the highway. He said they drove off with their floorboards covered with bottles and cans.

The litterbugs were lucky at that: Utah's antilittering law classifies the offense as a misdemeanor, not subject to a fine up to $250.

Start Drafting Labor Remedies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Working against time, the Senate Labor subcommittee starts drafting today a bill aimed at corruption and abuse of power in labor unions.

What it will contain remained a question as senators sought to reconcile conflict in views on a variety of proposals in advance of the June 10 deadline they set for themselves.

Chairman John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) refused to disclose in advance the terms of a suggested compromise worked out by the subcommittee staff as a starting point.

The drive for an effective labor reform bill is a sequel to hearings by the Senate Rackets Committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), of which Kennedy is a member.

The June 10 deadline was pledged when Republican senators led by Sen. William F. Knowland (Calif.), Senate GOP leader, waged an unsuccessful fight to write some far-reaching anticorruption provisions into a bill proposing new safeguards for union welfare and pension funds. The Senate passed this bill April 28 after beating down the Republican amendments. The Eisenhower administration, Kennedy, McClellan and several other senators have put in sharply differing proposals for labor reform.

Guards Stood By At Wedding Of Their Prisoner

MONROE, Wash. (AP)—George Edward Collins and Katherine Meyers were married yesterday in a quiet church ceremony which their two children missed but prison guards did not.

Collins is a convicted kidnaper, serving up to 10 years at the Monroe State Reformatory. His bride is on probation for her part in the kidnaping last winter of an 8-year-old Edmonds, Wash., boy. The youngster escaped from Collins unharmed.

Both newlyweds are 31. Mrs. Collins had said she would bring their year-old daughter and 2-week-old son to the ceremony, but left them home. Only members of Collins' immediate family, news-men and the guards—dressed in dark blue business suits—were present.

No Joint Return While Waiting

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Don't expect benefits of a joint income tax return if you're awaiting a final divorce decree, the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled.

The court said a $7,256 deficiency assessment against Mrs. Kenneth T. Sullivan of Montgomery County, Md., had to be paid even though the couple's 1951 return was filed while their final divorce decree was still pending.

Jobless Claims In Texas Down

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—For the third straight week the number of Texas jobless filing claims has declined.

The Texas Employment Commission said yesterday 81,913 persons filed for unemployment compensation during the week ending May 29 compared with 83,099 the previous week. For the week ending May 14 the total was 86,528.

The totals were still about 2 1/2 times as high as a year ago when unemployment claims for the similar period were 33,620.

Last Rites Set For Mrs. D. S. Powell

BETHEL — Mrs. Ella Estelle Powell, 85, died at a private home Monday. She was born in Washington County. She was the widow of David S. Powell. She was a member of Parmer Methodist Church, Ladies Aid Society and was its president for 10 years. She was a member of the W.C.T.U. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frank E. Moses of High Point, Mrs. J. G. Rodgers of Greensboro; two sons, L. G. Powell of Charlotte, Guy E. Powell of Parmer; six grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. John Fisher of Roanoke Rapids.

Funeral services will be held in Parmer Methodist Church Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. with burial in Bethel Cemetery.

Funeral Wednesday For Francis Hardy

Francis Hardy, 58, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital at 9:30 Monday morning. He had been ill for several months and critically ill the past 15 days.

Funeral services will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Walter B. Nobles, Free Will Baptist minister of Winterville. Burial will be in the Hardy cemetery near Chocowin.

Mr. Hardy, son of the late William A. and Mary Mills Hardy, spent his life in Pitt and Beaufort counties. His wife, Mrs. Pearl Smith Hardy, died in 1929.

Surviving are three sons, Henry Hardy of Chocowin, William M. Hardy of Knoxville, Tenn., and Thomas Hardy, U.S. Air Force, now stationed in Tacoma, Wash.; a daughter, Mrs. Max Flough of Meadville, Pa., a number of grandchildren, and five sisters: Mrs. Alice Bright and Mrs. Frank Bright of Ayden, Mrs. Duck Mills of Greenville, Mrs. Glenn Mills of Chocowin, and Mrs. Annie Williams of Portsmouth, Va.

Bar Ass'n Probes Congested Dockets Cause

CHARLOTTE (AP) — In the fall of 1957 there were 6,178 criminal cases awaiting trial in Superior Court in 96 of North Carolina's 100 counties. Some of these had been on the docket for longer than six years.

This evidence of congestion in the criminal courts of the state's 21 judicial districts is presented in the third major research report prepared for a North Carolina Bar Assn. Committee studying the state's judicial system.

Of this total of pending criminal cases, 1,809 were felonies and 4,370 misdemeanors. The number varied from a high of 877 in one judicial district to a low of 121 in another. The length of time the cases had been on the docket varied from three months or less to more than six years, and 51 felony cases and 85 misdemeanor cases were from four to five years old.

This report, made public today, is the result of a comprehensive project in which the staff of the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill and 42 practicing attorneys conducted a top-to-bottom survey of the administration of justice on the criminal side. Other major reports, previously issued, are a history of North Carolina courts and a study of civil courts.

Willing To Work If Jobs Around

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma City youngsters apparently are willing to work — if they can just find the jobs.

One youth is going to advertise in the Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman and Oklahoma City Times "I will do anything legal for cash. Desperate."

He's one of some 200 youngsters under 16 who have taken advantage of the newspapers' offer to run their want ads free next Saturday and Sunday.

The newspapers are making the space available — with a 20-word limit — to help youths find summer jobs.

One injured but willing 9-year-old sent in this ad: "Will mow lawns have power mower. Start last of June as my right arm is broken. Cast will be off."

Another wrote: "I will swap anything to see in person the St. Louis Cardinals, the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Yankees."

superior court solicitors should be full-time officials.

Jury trials were used in only a small percentage of the case units disposed of in the superior courts in 1956. The great majority of the cases, 82 per cent required little more than the imposition of punishment or formal entries striking the cases from the pending docket.

The Institute found that the inferior criminal or recorder-type courts relieve the superior courts of a tremendous caseload of misdemeanor cases which are not within the jurisdiction of justices of the peace or mayors' courts. The report said that if 17 lower courts in 11 counties had had jury trial facilities in 1956, at least 813 cases would not have been summarily transferred from these courts to the Superior Court dockets upon the requests of defendants for jury trial.

It also was concluded that a saving of about 17 one-week terms of superior court time would have been effected if every county in North Carolina had had below the superior court a court with jurisdiction over all misdemeanors committed anywhere in the county.

The criminal business of justices of the peace is discussed in a portion of the report. Estimating that 940 justices of the peace were active in trying criminal cases in the fiscal year 1956-57, the report said that usual trial jurisdiction of these officers extends to only four offenses: minor motor vehicle cases, public drunkenness, worthless checks, and simple assaults.

In felony cases, the fees charged by justices of the peace in preliminary hearings ranged from a low fee or no fee to $5.25 and the average was $3.50. In misdemeanor cases, fees in preliminary hearings varied from $1.75 to $4.25 with some magistrates saying they charged no fee. In only four counties was there uniformity in the amount charged for issuing arrest warrants.

The Institute found that the inferior criminal or recorder-type courts relieve the superior courts of a tremendous caseload of misdemeanor cases which are not within the jurisdiction of justices of the peace or mayors' courts. The report said that if 17 lower courts in 11 counties had had jury trial facilities in 1956, at least 813 cases would not have been summarily transferred from these courts to the Superior Court dockets upon the requests of defendants for jury trial.

Saudi Arabia In Financial And Political Troubles

Editor's Note—William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst, is making one of his periodic visits to the Middle East. This time he has been one of the few American reporters in recent years to get into Saudi Arabia.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
JIDDAH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — A burgeoning social revolution has plunged Saudi Arabia into a deep political and financial crisis. It has an important bearing on the future of Middle East politics.

The pattern of the monarchy is already changing.

But the emerging leaders, once captivated by notions of pan-Arab nationalism, are casting speculative glances northward. The violent events in Lebanon could worsen their money troubles at any moment.

The lavish waste of money by this country's innumerable royal princes has finally caught up with the rulers of the backward desert kingdom.

And now that the rulers are struggling — with some promise of success — to stave off financial chaos, events in Lebanon are threatening the outlet of the oil pipeline at Sidon. If that should be shut off, there would be sharp repercussions here.

Crown Prince Faisal, astute brother of King Saud, suddenly has taken a strong grip on the reins. For all practical purposes he seems to be governing Saudi Arabia.

Once considered pro-Nasser and bitterly anti-American, Faisal has made a noticeable shift in his attitude toward Arab politics. Deeply involved in straitening out the financial mess here, he has climbed on the political fence.

The Saudi situation has been so critical, there has been a total ban on the entry of foreign journalists — even Arab correspondents.

I had a valid visa issued before the ban and entered with no trouble. But both Saudis and foreigners were surprised to see me here. The Saudis forbade me to visit Riyadh, the royal capital where Faisal has been having it out with the Cabinet.

The Arabian-American Oil Co. center at Dhahran also was closed to me because King Saud, there for hospital treatment, was receiving his ministers.

In Jiddah, the other Saudi capital, it is difficult to escape the sense of crisis revolving about the nation's money problems.

The country obviously is going to need help, and in this immense, cruel land of blazing sand and baffling Bedouins may lie America's last big chance in the Middle East.

Either Saudi Arabia becomes a bastion of U. S. friendship in this dangerously disturbed area, or it will be caught up in violent tides of an unreasoning, self-destructing anti-Westernism fed by fear, frustration and resentment.

Intelligent American initiative still can wean this infant revolution from its appetite for Nasser's brand of violent pan-Arabism. Saudi Arabia's restless "Young Turks" are ready to listen.

On the edge of financial chaos generated by years of mismanagement and reckless squandering, Saudi Arabia has come face to face with some harsh facts of life. Government reform has become nothing less than a matter of survival, and Faisal has moved with determination. Apparently he read the riot act to the Cabinet, the King's own advisers and the swarms of princes.

The shocking waste of the country's oil riches had to be stopped. Faisal sacked the chief royal adviser and several others. He issued rigid new rules governing ministers and monetary problems.

What the Saudis are about to do, they must do for themselves. But they are in desperate need of help — sympathetic and patient help.

If they can get it in a manner permitting them to retain their self-respect and independence, these normally gentle and peaceable people will remain friends of the United States in a strategic area where friends are difficult to find.

If help is not forthcoming, or if it is offered in a manner which can be interpreted as an affront to their dignity, the Saudis may well be snatched up in the Middle East political madhouse.

Army Rocket In Successful Test

WHITE SANDS RANGE, N.M. (AP) — Army troops last night successfully tested the combat readiness of the Redstone missile, an Army announcement said.

Troops of the 40th Field Artillery Missile Group launched the intermediate range missile under tactical conditions on the desert sands at the nation's largest overland rocket and missile testing center.

The Army said the firing marked the first time a Redstone missile was launched inland. Officials would not say how far the missile went or where it went.

The Redstone was the basic missile used in launching the Explorer earth satellite. It has a range of 200 to 250 miles and previously has been launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The Cape Canaveral launching also was handled by troops of the 40th Group — which as little as 18 months ago had on its rolls the last mule pack company in the U. S. Army.

The Redstone was programmed at less than its full range in last night's firing, the Army said.

In the firing light-weight erection equipment was substituted for the giant crane or service tower used at Cape Canaveral.

Maiden Flight For New Plane

EDWARDS, Calif. (AP) — The Navy's push-button fighter, the F8U3, has won its wings.

It roared into the air over the Mojave Desert yesterday in a 48-minute maiden flight. Chance Young, its maker, said the performance was a secret, but termed the Crusader III capable of twice the speed of sound (760 m.p.h. at ground level).

The push buttons are part of an advanced automatic flight control system in the F8U3. The pilot need only push various buttons to climb at a desired rate of speed and angle, to cruise and follow pre-set headings.

Actress Suing Over Bit Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gloria Grahame asks $100,000 damages from 20th Century-Fox, claiming the studio tried to make her play a bit role.

The actress, who won an Academy Award in 1952, said the role was so small that her standing as an actress would have been injured had she played it.

Last November the studio sued her for $12,500. Fox said this sum was paid her in 1955 to play a role in "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing." The studio said she took the pay, then refused to play the part, and did not return the money.

Her action, brought yesterday, was a cross-complaint to the studio's suit.

East Carolina College Opens Summer School

East Carolina College opened its 1958 summer school Monday morning with indications of an enrollment topping that of similar periods in past years. Registration for late arrivals will continue through Thursday, June 5, at 4:30 p.m.

Also included in the summer program of the college are a series of courses to be taught at Wilmington and extension classes offered at Camp Lejeune and at the Marine Air Station in Edenton.

Class work in sixteen departments of instruction began here Tuesday morning at 8 a.m. In addition to regular classes, fifteen clinics and workshops covering a wide area of interest in education, and seven one-day conferences are expected to bring a large number of teachers, school officials, and others to the campus during the summer session.

Approximately 120 high school graduates spend Monday morning and afternoon at the college taking college entrance tests. A number of these students plan to enter East Carolina this summer; others are taking the tests to establish their eligibility to enroll for the fall quarter.

In addition to classes being taught on the campus this summer, five courses are being offered at a branch summer session in Wilmington. Students there registered Monday for classes in driver education, improvement of reading, art education in the grammar grades, geography in Africa, and teaching music in the elementary school.

Extension courses, either now in progress or scheduled to begin immediately, are also being offered by East Carolina College this summer, according to Dr. Ralph Brimley, director of public relations and foundations at the college. Five of these courses, taught at Camp Lejeune, are in the fields of psychology, English, algebra, American history, and guidance. Two courses now in progress at the Marine Air Station, Edenton, are in algebra and freshman English.

Will Confer On Guidance Of Talented Young People

Guidance for talented young people will provide the theme for a conference to be held June 13 at East Carolina College. Dr. Frank G. Fuller of the college education department, coordinator of the program, has announced the program for the day.

"Within recent months," Dr. Fuller stated, "much attention has been directed to the plight of talented youngsters in our schools, and because of this a conference on gifted youth was held on the East Carolina campus on April 26, 1958." As a follow-up of this program, the annual summer guidance conference at the college will center attention on the needs and problems of the superior student.

Dr. Clinton R. Prewett, director of the department of psychology at East Carolina College, will open the program with a discussion of "Identification of Talented Youth." Dr. Fuller will talk on "Occupational and Educational Guidance of Talented Youth." Dr. Joseph D. Franzoni, psychiatrist and director of the Pitt County Mental Health Clinic, will analyze "Problems of Talented Youth."

The conference will begin at 9 a.m. in the auditorium of the Joyner Memorial Library on the campus. Counselors, directors of guidance programs, teachers, school officials, and others who are interested are invited to be present.

SOME SLIPS DON'T SHOW

By Ed Stanley Gardner

CHAPTER 25

Lois Marlow was waiting for me at the restaurant. She was wearing the same low-cut dark gown which showed nice curves, and her smile was very, very cordial. "Hello, Donald," she said. "I was afraid you were going to stand me up."

"Not me," I told her. "Where's my hat?"

"In the checkroom, of course." She handed me a hat check. "It's going to cost you a twenty-five cent tip to get it back, but the girl at the hat-check counter is wearing very short shorts, has very beautiful legs and it will be worth while."

"Do we eat here?" I asked.

"It depends on your expense account."

"How expensive is it?"

"Very."

"How hungry are you?"

"Very."

"We eat here," I said.

"I have already put in a table reservation in your name," she said. "The table will be ready in about twenty minutes. We'll have time for drinks at the bar."

"Let's go," I told her.

She selected a secluded corner in the cocktail lounge, slid into the leather-covered seat, helped herself to a pretzel from the bowl on the table, and batted her eyes at me.

"I think you're wonderful," she said.

"Go on."

"Isn't that enough?"

"No."

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTETH at any drug counter.

Report Plans To Invite DeGaulle

PARIS (AP)—The newspaper Figaro said today that President Eisenhower plans to invite French Premier Charles de Gaulle to take part in the talks he will have next week with British Prime Minister Macmillan.

The paper's Washington correspondent said its information came from an "excellent source" in the U. S. capital and that the object of the talks would be to coordinate American, British and French policy in view of the possibility of negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Macmillan is coming to the United States late this week to speak at De Pauw University in Greencastle, Ind., and to talk in Washington with Eisenhower next Monday and Tuesday.

"What was that?" she asked. "He insisted on keeping a diary." I could see that I had dealt her a shattering blow.

Donald is going to see Lois' face turn white with surprise. "She was watching me with eyes that seemed to be as big as the opening of the cocktail glass she was holding in her hand," he says, continuing the story here tomorrow.

Report Plans To Invite DeGaulle

CHEERFUL THOUGHT

IRON RIVER, Mich. (AP)—The Junior Chamber of Commerce, trying to take the pain out of parking meters, plans to mount pots of flowers on metal arms fastened to the meters.

Fresh garden flowers will be planted in the pots two or three times during the summer. In the fall and winter, the merchants will cheer motorists with artificial plants in the pots.

Wedding Bells Mean Wedding Gifts!

Hear those bells? They signal the opening of the wedding season. And maybe you're trying to figure out a wedding-gift problem or two right now.

Here's a suggestion that gets more popular each year... a gift that the bride and groom will enjoy for years to keep memories alive. You guessed it... a Kodak camera!

A favorite beginner's camera is the Brownie Starflash. With a flick of the button, its built-in flash lets the bride and groom take pictures anytime, indoors or out. And its price is a low $8.95!

If you want to spend a little more for your gift, choose the Kodak Pony II Camera, a surprisingly inexpensive 35mm camera that makes color slides as well as snaps. Or for a really deluxe gift, you might consider one of the luxuriously appointed Kodak Signet Cameras. And then (I saved it till last), there's a brilliant new wedding-gift idea this season. The Kodak Movie Camera Gift Kit contains a deluxe-model Brownie Movie Camera specially finished in bridal white, two rolls of film, and a booklet on making wedding movies. It comes in special wedding-gift wrap.

Whatever you decided to spend, there's a Kodak camera suitable for every bride and groom. So quit worrying—see us instead.

P.S. Speaking of gifts: Dad's Day is just around the corner. Have you thought about a new camera?

Growing Concern In South America's Richest Land

By LARRY ALLEN CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — the six million persons who live in this richest land in South America want it to stay that way. Many of them say this depends in part upon what happens in Washington.

This was one of the cardinal causes assigned here for the mobbing of Vice President and Mrs. Nixon upon their arrival here May 13.

Americans have invested over three billion dollars in this land. They feel today that on the whole they are liked and respected. But Americans often find themselves treated with coolness or indifference.

year ago the income was three millions. The military-civilian junta which took over the government last Jan. 23 found big debts but a fiscal surplus of over 766 million dollars in the treasury.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed its drive into higher ground for 1953 in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks rose from fractions to about a point. Here and there were wider moves to the plus or minus side.

Steels wavered in their uprush of yesterday on news of a sharp recovery in production. U. S. Steel fluctuated between slight gains and losses. Other major steelmakers leaned to the upside.

Coppers, helped by a renewed boost in the custom smelter price, moved up solidly. Oils were up a little. The meat packing issues became rejuvenated and added fractions.

Some losses appeared among air and chemicals. Leading falls and utilities were ahead on average but industrial issues were the chief gainers.

International Shoe cut its dividend to 45 from 60 cents and the stock dropped close to 4 points. Union Carbide was more than 2 points higher for a while then cut its gain to less than 2. Analysts said that short covering was a big factor in its advance.

American Tobacco gained around a point while Lorillard dropped more than that, shaving its loss in later trades.

Wilson and Armour each picked up fractions. Winn Dixie and Rayonier were also in demand and fractionally higher. Servel was active and firm.

Youngstown Sheet, up about a point, was the best of the major steels. The others were steady at best.

Allied chemical rose about a point. American Cyanamid took a similar loss. Du Pont dropped a fraction.

Gulf Oil and Texas Co. rose about a point each and Royal Dutch a major fraction. General Motors was firm. Ford was off a little.

Anaconda, Kennecott and Phelps Dodge all rose fractionally. International Nickel added about a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 50 cents to $171.60 with the industrials up 90 cents, the rails up 50 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

They Married Off The Mythical Pupil

By FRANK FRAWLEY

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A formal military wedding on the Jordan High School campus has united George Osgood Klinkus and a pretty sophomore coed. George, probably the best known student in the school, wore a mask. The ceremony concluded, the young couple marched under a bridge of crossed sabers in the best military tradition.

There was no honeymoon. There never will be. Actually, George Osgood Klinkus doesn't exist. He's a living gag on the Jordan campus.

He was enrolled more than a year ago. The administration may not like him, and certain faculty members have fallen prey to the conspiracy involved, but George is officially tolerated in the interest of student morale.

George has taken some of the standardized examinations. What really happened? A student filled out an extra exam paper for George. Sometimes, ironically enough, George's test grade was better than his proxy's.

The nonexistent George has a complete set of records in the office of the registrar. Once he was expelled for smoking. It was hard to convince some teachers that George really doesn't exist. They had seen his name on the absence rolls from time to time. Some teacher had to go along with the gag at the start, of course. She helped with the enrollment. A joke is a joke, even in the serious pursuit of knowledge, and Principal Milton Sager says this joke hasn't gotten out of hand.

"George Osgood Klinkus isn't going to be graduated with this senior class," Sager said. "There have been a few rumors to that effect. This joke always has been within bounds and it will stay within them. It has caused some teachers some trouble, but I don't think anyone has taken this thing seriously."

When the high school papers came off the presses last week it announced that George had been suspended. It said he was "indefinitely absent — TEM." It explained he was to be married.

The ROTC unit stood by as Bob Bragole, post chaplain, recited the vows for George and 15-year-old Ann Metheisen, who was attired in a beautiful white formal gown, with a white veil. The witnesses couldn't keep from laughing because of George's grotesque mask and because he wore so many medals that his ROTC uniform sagged.

Says Principal Sager: "I'd be happy to attend George Osgood Klinkus' funeral."

N. C. Prison Guard Fired For Peddling Happy Pills

RALEIGH (AP) — Peddling happy pills to a prisoner has cost Guard Harvey Speight his job at Central Prison.

Speight got his walking papers yesterday, soon after Justice of the Peace H. A. Bland gave him a 30-day suspended sentence for violation of a law against bartering or trading with prison inmates.

Prisons Director W. F. Bailey expressed disappointment with the sentence. "We'll never get this stuff stopped if the courts don't get aware of the problem and do something about it," he declared.

An investigation of traffic in the pills within the prison has been started by Central Prison Warden Kenneth Bailey, the prisons director said. Convicts involved will be disciplined, he added.

SBI Agent W. W. Melvin said Speight admitted selling a drug known as dexamy to a prisoner. The agent said the guard had bought the pills in lots of 200 for $10 and sold them for $24. A pharmacist said dexamy, a stimulant for the central nervous system, gives users a million dollar feeling of "no troubles and no worries," although a feeling of depression follows when the effects wear off.

Speight told Judge Bland he was supporting six children and suffering from diabetes. SBI Agent Melvin said Bland apparently took into consideration when he gave Speight the 30-day suspended sentence and taxed him with costs.

Melvin said an employee of the State Division of Purchase and Contract, who has since submitted his resignation, had admitted getting prescriptions for dexamy filled for another convict who worked in the division's mailing room.

President Meets With Nat'l Security Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower met with the National Security Council for an hour and a half today — Possibly for policy discussions in advance of next week's visit here by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

As usual, presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen there was nothing he could say about the purpose of the meeting or what was discussed.

The French political crisis and possible suspension of U. S. and British nuclear tests are prime topics for the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks, which start next Monday.

The Security Council, the nation's top policy body, normally meets Thursdays. The White House gave no reason for changing the time of its meeting, but there was speculation that its work would be directed toward the Macmillan meetings.

Eisenhower reportedly is being urged by some of his advisers to make at least a tentative decision, before Macmillan's arrival, favoring a two-year suspension of U. S. nuclear tests to be effective after the present series in the Pacific is ended.

Both Secretary of State Dulles and Dr. James R. Killian Jr., Eisenhower's scientific adviser, have recommended such a course. On the other hand, Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission has argued for continued testing unless there is broad agreement with the Soviet Union on a disarmament program.

Eisenhower approved in an hour long conference with Dulles a new letter to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. In it he agreed to inclusion of Polish and Czech scientists in proposed scientific talks on ways of supervising any East-West agreement to halt tests. There is no such agreement yet.

The letter probably will be dispatched late this week after clearance with Britain and France and other NATO allies.

Dulles gave the tipoff on the President's answer by saying, "We have no objection to the Soviet Union including on its side experts of other nationalities provided the people are qualified, as I assume they will be. The task is technical, not political."
