Flakeboard Plant Stocking Up For Coming Work

FORESTER GENE PERKINS AND WOODPILE . . . At Farmville's New Flakeboard Plant.

Flakeboard Plant. Officials Hoping To Run Off First Sample Next Week

FARMVILLE — One day next week, a transplanted Ohioan hopes to put his hands on the first piece of Flakeboard ever produced in North Carolina.

When Canning does have the plant turned over to him by Cyanamid's Engineering and Construction Division, he'll have his hands full.

Prospects now call for the plant to have an annual production of 40,000,000 square feet of three-quarter inch Flakeboard. To put that much board, the production facilities will use 171 cords of wood per day, a river of oil to fire drying machines and 100 people manning to do, at least as far as to man three eight-hour shifts during a five-day work-week.

Fifty-nine employees are already on the company payroll, enrolled in training programs being conducted by area deputies assigned

Two Homes Are Robbed In Night

Greenville's night prowler struck again last night robbing two homes and failing in attempts to break into the homes of Sheriff Rufel W. Tyson and Police Lt. W. E. Peterson.

The incidents last night brought to eight the number of robberies and attempted robberies of local homes in the past 13 days.

Local police are intensifying their search for the prowler today and have called State Bureau of Investigation Agent Clyde Fenness of Washington.

Victims of robbery last night were Mrs. Ludie M. Midyette, 1065 East Third Street, and Cecil Bilbro, 300 Library Street.

Mrs. Midyette filed a complaint around 1 o'clock this morning informing police that someone had entered her home and stole a pocketbook containing $18 in cash. She stated the pocketbook was located on a bureau in her bedroom.

According to Mrs. Midyette she saw a figure enter the door to her bedroom but assumed that it was a member of her family.

Entrance to the house was gained through a rear screen door found out by investigating officers this morning.

Bilbro told officers that a pocketbook was taken from a pair of pants hanging on a chair in his bedroom. He was quoted as saying he did not hear anyone enter his home during the night. The robbery was not discovered until this morning.

The chair was located near a window. Police are of the opinion that the individual involved raised the window and reached in and took the billfold without entering the house. No evidence of an entry could be found and nothing else was reported missing.

Sheriff Tyson stated this morning that he discovered that someone tried to enter his home last night. He said his first note about 87 per cent complete the production phases still have to be checked, tested and corrected.

the break-in attempt after finding a back porch screen cut and the door open around 11:45 p.m.

The attempt was apparently the first of the series.

Tyson said he and a police detective conducted an on-the-spot investigation but were unable to track the prowler at the time.

The prowler reportedly returned to the Tyson residence a short time later when the sheriff left to take the detective back to the police station. Mrs. Tyson stated she heard and saw a man outside her living room window.

Returning home Tyson received a call that an attempt had been made to enter the home of Lt. Peterson who lives next door on South Jarvis Street.

Mrs. Peterson called police, informing them that a man was outside her house trying to get in. She stated she heard a scratching sound outside and saw a man standing by the window.

This took place shortly after midnight.

The two breakings and two attempted breakings all entered within a three-block radius of each other. According to investigating officers the pattern was the same in each case.

Later during the early morning hours a police officer fired in the air near an Evans Street business establishment attempting to apprehend a suspicious subject. He got away.

No connection has been established between the two as yet, according to Police Chief S. G. Gibbs.

Two local homes were robbed on the night of June 1. In addition, attempts were made to enter two other houses in the same general locale.

"We are doing everything in our power to apprehend the party or parties involved in these breakings," Police Chief Gibbs stated this morning.

Red China Frees 2 U.S. Priests From Prison

HONG KONG (AP) — Peiping radio announced the release today of the last two American Catholic priests imprisoned in Communist China.

The Rev. Joseph P. McCormack of the Marvknoll Seminary, Ossining, N. Y., and the Rev. John P. Wagner of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Army from New Britain, Conn., Chicago, Ill., were released at an Army employe, from Lynn, Mass.

A third American Catholic priest, Bishop James Edward Walsh of Cumberland Md., is still in Shanghai. He has been held under various forms of house arrest and detention but never been imprisoned as far as is known.

Bishop Walsh long has been reported free to leave China if he

Heavy Fighting Erupts In Beirut; Showdown Battle

BEIRUT (AP) — Heavy fighting erupted today inside Beirut, it looked like a showdown battle between government and rebel forces.

It was by far the worst battle in the capital since the rebellion began in Lebanon 36 days ago.

At least three big battles were being fought between security forces and insurgents who are trying to overthrow the pro-Western government of President Camille Chamoun.

One of the battles was raging around The Associated Press office in the Zerif district on the edge of a Moslem quarter. The fighters were blasting away with pistols, rifles, machineguns and mortars.

The most intensive firing occurred in the area between The Associated Press office and The Presidential Palace, about 300 yards away.

Another big battle was being fought about 300 yards in the opposite direction, in the Moslem quarter of Basta, the barricaded sector used as rebel headquarters.

The third battle was raging on the city's outskirts for Ramel Prison.

It was not immediately known which side had launched the first attack.

But, with U.N. observers moving into Lebanon, it could be a desperate insurgent attempt to bring down the government.

It also could be a government offensive to wipe out insurgents holed up in the Basta district. The government outlawed the three rebel political parties yesterday.

Fighting on the outskirts of the city started when insurgents tried to capture Ramel Prison, located midway between the city and the airport. First reports said that insurgents fought their way into the prison yard. But before they could release any prisoners, security forces attacked and were reported driving them away.

Fighting broke out as noontime

Political Furor Swells, But Adams Maintains Silence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles Potter of Michigan said today Sherman Adams "has lost his usefulness to the administration" unless he can account more fully for expensive favors from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

But despite a swelling political furor over President Eisenhower's top aide it seemed likely that no further explanation would be forthcoming for the time being.

Under persistent questioning by newsmen, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty yesterday refused to go beyond Adams' written explanation Thursday to a House subcommittee that earlier produced evidence Goldfine paid some $2,000 in Boston hotel bills for Adams over a four-year period.

Adams and Hagerty repeated that Eisenhower has complete confidence in Adams and has no intention of firing him.

Meanwhile, Goldfine was involved in two other developments.

The New York Herald Tribune reported Goldfine was under investigation by the Criminal Division of the Justice Department, which it said has subpoenaed certain books and records of the New England millionaire. A spokesman for the Justice Department declined to comment on the report.

Sen. Frederick G. Payne (R-Maine) said he received a vicuna coat from Goldfine some time ago. He described Goldfine as a "long and close friend" who had never asked any favors. Payne said his family had exchanged gifts with the Goldfines at Christmas time.

In a letter to subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) Adams acknowledged he had been an hotel guest of Goldfine in Boston and Plymouth, Mass. Describing Goldfine as an old friend, Adams said he had thought Goldfine kept the hotel rooms on a permanent basis.

Although saying he had contacted two federal regulator agen-

Behind DeGaulle

ALGIERS (AP)—Gen. Kaoul Salan indicated today all is well now between Premier Charles de Gaulle's government in Paris and the French insurgents ruling troubled Algeria.

The general, a big question mark in the feud between Paris and Algiers, praised De Gaulle's TV address last night and the Junta's motion backing it up.

"They have solved all the problems," he said.

This apparently meant Salan is falling in behind De Gaulle. Since the May 13 insurrection here it never was completely clear whose side Salan was on. He acted as President Rene Coty's representative here but took his stand with the revolutionary Junta. De Gaulle named him his personal delegate here, but it still never was certain he was supporting De Gaulle to the hilt.

City Installing ReflectORIZED Street Signs In Subdivisions

ReflectORIZED street signs are now being installed in the city's newer subdivisions, City Manager Leonard Bloxam said today.

Installation of the signs is a part of an overall project to place new street markers through the city.

The street signs will be changed over a period of years to spread out the cost of the project.

Bloxam said at the present time the new signs are being placed in the following subdivisions: Englewood, Elmhurst, College Court, Coghil, Oakmont, Drexelbrook, Forest Hills and Sheridan Place.

Some of the subdivision streets had been marked previously but on an improvised basis. Bloxam pointed out. The subdivisions were chosen for beginning the project because of post office regulations requiring that streets be marked before mail delivery can be made.

The bright green and white signs show up clearly during daylight hours. The reflectORIZED surfaces are designed to shine brightly in car lights at night to allow easy reading.

Bloxam said blanks for the markers are purchased along with the fittings. The reflectORIZED lettering is bought separately and

Woman Located Her Stolen Car

ATLANTA (AP) — An Atlanta woman purchased a new car yesterday and drove to the courthouse to buy a license plate. When she came out the car was gone.

Mrs. Lewis M. Lewis and police searched for more than an hour without success. Waiting at a corner for a taxi she saw the new car approaching and ran out in front of it. The car stopped and bystanders helped her hold the driver.

Patrolman E. C. Mitchell said William G. Hamilton 44, of Monroe, Ga., was jailed for suspicion of auto theft.

Mrs. Lewis tossed the new license plate in the new car and headed for home.

crowds were making their way home for lunch. Pedestrians scattered for cover. Shoppers slammed closed on homes and buildings. Motorists abandoned their automobiles and took shelter.

In banning the opposition parties yesterday, Premier Sami Solh accused them of undermining the security of this east Mediterranean republic — the playground of the Middle East.

Lebanon went to the U.N. Security Council last week and obtained U.N. observers to watch its borders against arms smugglers and infiltrators from the United Arab Republic. Lebanon has charged that the U.A.R. was aiding the insurrection against President Chamoun. Both the U.A.R. and the rebels deny charges.

But Arab sources have reported that Egyptians and Syrians of the U.A.R. are directing rebel forces in the Basta Moslem quarter of Beirut.

Although hundreds of persons have been killed in street and mountain warfare since May 10, Solh has been hesitant about taking a firm stand against the predominantly Moslem opposition.

He has been fearful of splitting open this half-Moslem, half-Christian nation. The Lebanese army, most of whose officers are Christians, has been thrown into the battle only in recent days after police forces proved unable to end fighting which has virtually paralyzed this commercial nation.

Outlawing the rebel parties was a continuation of the firm policy adopted with use of the army and an appeal to the U.N. Security Council to stop alleged U.A.R. intervention.

The rebel parties are the National and the National Council parties, plus the largest, the Socialist Progressive of Druse tribal chief Kamal Jumblatt.

The Security Council has ordered an observation group to seal Lebanon's borders against alleged U.A.R. interference.

On cases involving Goldfine, Adams said insinuations that he had sought or obtained favored treatment for his friend were unwarranted and unfair.

Hagerty, who said Adams had knocked the favored treatment allegations "like a socked hat," refused to say whether Adams reported, had accepted a $700 vicuna coat or a $2,400 Oriental rug from Goldfine. Adams' letter said nothing about a coat or a rug. He has been unavailable to newsmen.

Subcommittee Counsel Robert W. Lishman said he has no evidence Adams received such gifts from the wealthy Boston industrialist.

Meanwhile, the House subcommittee checked the influence on federal regulatory agencies for Adams over a four-year period.

Adams and Hagerty repeated that Eisenhower has complete confidence in Adams and has no intention of firing him.

Rep. Peter F. Mack (D-Ill.), who has called for Adams' resignation, said there is no special need now for the Harris subcommittee to concentrate on what further favors Adams may have received.

"He has already admitted to receiving quite substantial gifts," said Mack, a subcommittee member. Mack said the point is to show that Adams intervened from his important White House job to help Goldfine — a point Mack contended is already indicated by the record.

Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, decried Adams' acceptance of Goldfine's hotel hospitality in Boston.

"This seems to indicate that some people can get favors through the President's office, and some can't," Stevenson said. "I have heard pious preaching by signs should last for many years.

Cost of the first phase of the project has been about $1,500, Bloxam said. It will cost an estimated $10,000 to $12,000 to install such signs throughout the city.

For this first phase of the program Public Works Superintendent Kenneth Beatty said 200 signs are being installed on 50 street corners.

In another economic development, the Labor Department reported that unemployment among workers insured for jobless benefits dropped during the week ending May 31 by 65,300 to the lowest level since Jan. 4.

It was the seventh consecutive week the department has reported a decline and brought the total of insured unemployment down to 2,827,600.

Sees Challenge In TV For Spreading Faith

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—The fact that there are 42 million TV sets in America is a big challenge to the Rev. W. Carlisle Walton Jr. "If we can come into the home with good religious telecasts, we can make a tremendous religious impact upon the people of our land," he says.

The Rev. Mr. Walton, pastor of Raleigh's Longview Methodist church, was named recently to the new post of director of television ministry development of the Methodist Church's Television, Radio and Film Commission with headquarters in Nashville, Tenn.

The Rev. Mr. Walton has dabbled in the field as a member of the commission for the past four years, so he has some ideas of what religious television should seek to accomplish.

"Religious television," he says,

"is a projection of a pastor from the pulpit for the church and an attempt to reach the un-churches."

"The significant thing is this: there are about 50 million homes with about 42 million television sets in the United States. Each runs about six hours a day.

"That, coupled with the fact that a picture is worth a thousand words, promises a great future for religious television. Actually, the sky's the limit."

To accomplish its purpose, the Rev. Mr. Walton believes, religious television must make the viewer identify himself with the persons on the screen.

If this is done adeptly, he says, it can focus immediacy and authenticity on theory and make the concepts of religious teaching live and breathe for the viewers.

The Methodist TV commission currently is planning a new television series of 13 installments to be called "Talk Back." It is scheduled for release in October.

The first part of the program will be devoted to dramatizations of minor crises faced almost daily by typical American families.

Then local panels will analyze the dramatic situations and discuss two similar Methodist series, called "The Pastor" and "The Way," already have chalked up 300 hours of showing time on stations throughout the country.

"The time that has been given free of charge for these two programs would cost about 14 million dollars if they were regular commercial shows," says the Rev. Mr. Walton.

First Presbyterian Announcements

"Forward, March!" is the title of the sermon to be delivered by Mr. Richard R. Gammon at the 10 o'clock service in the sanctuary at the First Presbyterian Church.

Featured soloist will be Mr. Paul Hickfang who will sing "The Twenty-Third Psalm," by Malotte.

Members and friends of this church are cordially invited to attend a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Gammon and family, Sunday afternoon, 4:30-6:00 o'clock, in Fellowship Hall.

Vacation Church School, under the direction of Mrs. Dink James, has enjoyed a most successful week. The attendance for the first four days averaged 112 for pupils and teachers. Parents are invited to attend open house on Tuesday between 10:00 and 11:00 a. m. to see the children's work, and also join them for the short worship service in the Sanctuary at 11 o'clock, at which time Mr. Gammon gives a short message.

Thirty-five members of the Men's Bible Class enjoyed a delightful steak supper at Elm Street Park Wednesday evening. The affair was a climax to an attendance contest over the past two months. C. K. Beatty and Withers Harvey were the chiefs.

The Men of the First Presbyterian are reminded of the Synod of North Carolina Men's Conference to be held in Montreat, June 20-22.

Nursery service are available to parents of small children, and the nursery will be staffed Sunday by members of Circle 6, Mrs. Walter Cox, Chairman.

Little Man... Big Problem

Buddy was going to the circus today, but he woke up with the sniffles this morning and the whole thing had to be called off!

While grown-ups learn to shrug off disappointments like that, it isn't easy for a child. Buddy's mother will soon come to the rescue with a special taffy pull or a favorite story-reading session, and that will help cushion the blow.

But there will be times when Buddy will have to stand up to far greater tests than this, and when he will have to take far greater disappointments in stride. That's one of the reasons his mother has started taking him to Church and Church School. It isn't that the Church serves as a cushion in times of stress... rather, it stands as a pillar of strength, lending support to all who come within it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Anxious And Ready For Trip

Two Greenville Girls Leaving Sunday For Annual Girls' State

Julia Anthony and Joanne Eagles representing the local American Legion Auxiliary, are leaving tomorrow to participate in the annual Girls' State in Greensboro which is sponsored by the State Auxiliary.

For a week these girls and about 300 other girls from all over North Carolina will have the privilege of learning how their government works and their responsibilities as citizens in a democracy. Girls' State offers them an opportunity to live together as self-governing citizens.

Each girl will be given a chance to become an official on the city, county or state level. They will learn how laws are made and how the average citizen fits into the picture.

"We hope to help the girls grasp the meaning of some of the responsibilities which they must assume as American citizens when they become adults," states Mrs. C. A. Bowen, chairman of the local Girls' State committee.

"This training for young citizens from our Girls' State may well be the deciding factor that assures the continued success of our democracy against the growing challenge of the future," Mrs. Bowen adds.

Mrs. Rives Is WCTU Hostess

BETHEL—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in the home of Mrs. H. L. Rives Monday with the president, Mrs. R. S. Whitley, presiding.

After the theme song, "Onward Christian Soldiers," Mrs. J. P. Harris led in prayer.

Miss Athelen Rollins, secretary, read the minutes and stated that the Union had nine old members and a new one, Miss Mary Burton.

In her financial report, Miss Rollins reported a total of $86.75 had been sent to the State Treasurer of the North Carolina WCTU.

Mrs. J. L. Gurganus, district president, gave a program on "Flower Missions Department." Her scripture reading was Psalms 106:6 and Matthew 20:26-28 with thoughts based on serving.

"But whoever will be great among you, let him be your minister, and whoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant."

She closed her remarks by reading a poem, "Don't Judge Too Hard." Mrs. M. T. Whitehurst read an article entitled "Poor Mrs. McGee," by Lola Wells Kiker, and "Sweet Smelling Flowers."

Mrs. W. R. Bullock was appointed leader of a new department "Facts and News Service." Mrs. Harris, Christian Citizenship leader, will have charge of the July program.

Motion was made to adjourn. The meeting was dismissed with Aaronic Benediction. The hostess served delicious strawberry shortcake.

The addition of seasoned butter sauces, grated or shredded cheese, sautéed mushrooms or nuts, sour cream or cream sauces can make a vegetable dish the highlight of the meal.

Pitt—Starts Sunday

Natalie Wood is the star of Herman Wouk's great novel, "Marjorie Morningstar."

Julia is the daughter of Mrs. P. T. Anthony and will be a senior at Junius H. Rose High School next year. She is a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and was president of the Junior Altar Guild this year.

Joanne was active this past year in the Future Homemakers of America and the Young Women's Auxiliary at the Immanuel Baptist Church. Joanne was one of the varsity cheerleaders this year, and she will be a senior at J.H.R. next year.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Eagles. "I feel that I need to know more about our government," comments Julia.

"I was really honored and thrilled to have the chance to go, and I hope that I will be a good representative for Greenville," says Joanne.

30 Years Ago Today

June 14, 1928

Misses Margaret and Mary Effie Patrick were hostesses at an enjoyable theatre party Thursday evening in honor of their guests, Miss Nell Dudley of Greenville, Miss Elizabeth Denny James and Francis Denny of Wilson. From the theatre the guests were invited to their home in College View, where dancing was enjoyed. A tempting ice course was served.

Misses Frances Quinn of Kinston, Ellen Broadhurst of Smithfield and Mary Borden of Goldsboro are guests of Miss Louisa Hooker.

MESH GARMENTS Girdles and foundation garments of all types—from wisps to substantial corsets—are obtainable this season in cool, easily-laundered mesh fabrics. These give longer wear, and keep their fit better, if sided nightly to remove perspiration and to "snug-up" the fabric and elastic.

MRS. CLIFTON ALDRIDGE . . . the former Muriel Bland, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gray Bland, 1307 Glen Arthur Avenue, who announce her marriage to Clifton Aldridge of LaGrange. The wedding took place June 7 in Dillon, S. O. The couple plans to reside in Greenville.

Paradise Success Salad Heralds Dairy Month

Here's the ideal salad for that buffet supper you're planning during June, traditional Dairy Month. It's easy to prepare, delightful to see, and delicious to eat—a combination of canned pears and cottage cheese.

Canned bartlett pears and cottage cheese have long been favorite foods with busy homemakers, for they are both wonderful alone, served together, or in combination with many other foods. Low in calories, high in nutrition, and with the delicate flavor and creamy texture that combines well with stronger flavors and colors, it is no surprise to find these two high on the list of favorites for year-round service.

In fact, pears are a natural to serve with all the foods featured during Dairy Month. A refreshing sundae of canned bartlett pear halves topped with scoops of rich ice cream and your favorite topping is always a hit with young and old; milk desserts such as custard with

Social Notes

Misses Henrietta MacKinnon Taylor of Ayden and Harriet Sloop of Statesville, students of Queens College, Charlotte, and Miss Sandra Stewart, student of Duke University, Durham, left Friday for Atlantic Beach to attend "The Zeta Psi Fraternity" house party.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ingle and children of Jacksonville, Fla. will arrive today to visit Mrs. Ingle's mother, Mrs. Frank Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Snuggs and children of Thomasville, Ga. are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hellen.

Lt. Commander and Mrs. W. C. Garvin and children of Norfolk, Va. will arrive today for a visit with Mrs. Garvin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Owens, 2409 East Fourth St.

Couples Play Bridge BETHEL—Mrs. J. L. Gurganus Sr. was winner of high score award for the women while Wade Ward was awarded high prize for the men Thursday night when Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Andrews Jr. entertained at bridge in their home on North James Street.

During the progressions the guests were served ice drinks and at the conclusion of the game, the host and hostess served a salad course.

Mrs. J. H. Sawyer and Mrs. N. C. Brooks, aunts of Miss Pauline Bell, were co-hostesses at a cake cutting at Memorial Baptist Church following the wedding rehearsal of the Roberson-Bell ceremony last night.

A color scheme of pink and white with greenery was used in the decorations in the church parlor.

Covering the bride's table was a lace cloth, topped with a mixed floral arrangement and silver candleholders with white tapers flanking on either side.

Emerges filled with pink roses and gypsophelia were placed throughout the parlor.

Mrs. E. L. Greene and Mrs. James Sawyer Jr., cousins of the bride-to-be, assisted in serving the three-tiered cake after the traditional first slice had been cut by the prospective bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Sawyer poured punch during the social hour.

Salted nuts and mints were served buffet style.

Approximately 60 guests were present.

WINTERVILLE—On Wednesday night, Mrs. H. H. Weathington and daughter, Mrs. Brown Manning, entertained at the Winterville Community Building, honoring Miss Jean Cargile of Parmele, bride-elect.

Using candlelight in the reception room, the mantel was decorated with a miniature bride and groom encircled by a wedding ring and bells, also evergreen showered with gypsophelia. On the piano was a motif of feverfew and evergreen. The service windows, at the back of the reception room, were decorated with a bride doll in a frame of ivy and lilies showered with gypsophelia.

The guests were received by Mrs. George Wingate and introduced to the receiving line, consisting of Mrs. H. H. Weathington, Miss Jean Cargile, Mr. J. H. Weathington and Mrs. Cargile, mother of the bride-elect.

The guests were then received at the refreshment table by Mrs. Fred Cargile of Greenville, who served them with bridal cakes. Mrs. Gorman Stokes of Ayden presided at the punch bowl and served lime ice.

Mrs. W. A. Weathington Sr., Miss Regina Bullock and Miss Joy Jackson assisted in serving salted nuts, mints and nutty fingers.

HD Club Holds Floral Contest

BETHEL—Wednesday afternoon the Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Russell James in her home on Bethel-Tarboro Highway.

The house was decorated with floral arrangements prepared by the members of the club in a contest.

The Arts and Craft Leader, Mrs. J. C. Williamson Sr., assisted by Mrs. C. E. Brown and Mrs. F. S. Powell, were judges for the contest.

Mrs. Russell James was awarded first prize for an arrangement of gardenias and flaming torch. Mrs. J. C. James won second prize on a magnolia arrangement and third prize went to Mrs. J. A. Edmondson. She used a sea shell filled with an artistic arrangement of mock orange and pomegranate. Seventeen arrangements were on display.

Mrs. Russell James and Mrs. J. A. Edmondson were joint hostesses.

Mrs. W. R. Bullock gave the devotionals after which "America the Beautiful" was sung by the group.

Reports were heard from the leaders. Mrs. Maude Harris, the educational leader, reported on the 20 books that had been read by the members of the recently organized H. D. Book Club. Mrs. R. B. Edmondson, publicity leader, emphasized the importance of news items as a club record.

Mrs. W. R. Bullock, president, conducted a short business session.

The Foods and Nutrition leader, Mrs. R. R. Whitehurst, gave a demonstration on "Ice Cream in Many Ways." She prepared several toppings for the ice cream which was served to the guests along with coconut cake and nuts.

The meeting adjourned with the club collection.

Invited guests for the occasion were Mrs. F. S. Powell and Mrs. Eddie Mathews.

Not All Hound's Teeth Are Clean

How clean is a hound's tooth? From our experience (and we've looked at a lot of hounds and seen a lot of hound's teeth) it all depends upon the particular hound and which one of his teeth you're talking about.

Back in 1952 President Eisenhower was talking about the Democratic administration and pledged he would make the federal government as clean as a hound's tooth. Most folks figured he meant a hound's tooth that was pretty, shiny and snow white.

But of course he could have been talking about one of those hound's teeth which became a little brown around the gums as the years wear on, or one that gets a little off-white and speckled with tiny dark spots when the hound or his master doesn't keep a close watch on them.

There seems to be no question about whether Presidential Aide Sherman Adams was within his rights as an individual when he accepted gifts from a Boston industrialist and then contacted federal agencies with whom the industrialist was having trouble.

There is a grave moral question about such actions on the part of the aide to the President.

We'll accept Adams' statement that he brought no pressure, in the general sense of the term, on any federal agency in behalf of his friend, Bernard Goldfine. The very fact that he, as aide to the President, contacted these federal agencies on behalf of Goldfine, however, was in a very real sense applying pressure—subtle as it might have been—for favoritism for Goldfine. When the boss's right-hand man indicates an interest in a matter which doesn't personally involve him, it is not difficult for a subordinate to get the point. The very contact in itself often could be sufficient to bring about the desired result without otherwise exerting any "pressure."

When a man assumes the responsibilities of a high office such as that occupied by Adams, he likewise assumes the obligations to conduct himself in a manner which can in no wise reflect upon the office or what it represents. As a private citizen it may be perfectly all right for him to accept certain favors from certain people. As an official in a position of public trust these same favors accepted from these same people may be altogether wrong.

President Eisenhower may not dismiss Sherman Adams. Yet we do not see how the administration can rationalize the moral issue involved in the situation which has now come to light.

And so we are back to the hound's tooth. How clean it is depends upon the hound you're talking about and which of his teeth.

Brought An Impetus To Needed Attention

The ghost of at least one recommendation of the committee on improving North Carolina's courts should not come back to haunt the state.

At its convention at Myrtle Beach, the State Bar Association officially buried the proposal that Superior Court judges and Supreme Court justices be appointed rather than elected. For all practical purposes the proposal was dead before the Bar Association took its action this week. By the action of the Bar Association, however, the proposal should not be resurrected to haunt consideration of other measures that will improve operations of the state's courts.

North Carolina's courts need streamlining and need reforms. Particularly is this true in the lower courts throughout North Carolina. With the controversial issue of appointing rather than electing judges now out of the way for good, attention can be turned to the major problems without distraction.

The committee on revamping the courts has done a creditable job of surveying the needs of North Carolina's courts and proposing measures to meet these needs. Its reports on the courts have brought to public attention many shortcomings which otherwise may have gone unnoticed indefinitely. They provided the impetus that has stimulated widespread consideration of the court systems as now constituted. This consideration will in time bring about the reforms that are needed in the state's court system.

If the state will give its full attention to practical methods of revamping its lower courts we will in time see a marked improvement in the operation of the system of inferior courts.

Position Due Odd Position

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Release of nine Americans, taken prisoner when their Army helicopter landed in red-run East Germany, is being delayed because of this country's weird relationship with the Communist world.

It goes like this: The United States and other Western nations do not recognize the Communist government of East Germany. This country, allied with West Germany, wants German reunification under free elections.

The Western Allies argue that in accordance with the American — British — French — Russian postwar agreement on Germany, all their dealings with East Germany must be done with the Soviet Union.

When the nine Americans and their helicopter strayed into East Germany June 7 and landed there, this country, instead of appealing to the East Germans for their release, appealed to the Russians.

On June 9 the Russian Embassy in East Berlin refused to step into the case, saying the problem was under the jurisdiction of the East German government. This was one more needle to force American recognition of the German Communists.

The next day, June 10, at his news conference Secretary of State Dulles said the United States would deal with the East German Reds, if necessary, to obtain the nine men's release.

Dulles said: "When it comes to getting Americans out of a country, we don't stand on ceremony, you deal with the kidnappers." But he added: Dealing with the East Germans in this case still wouldn't mean this country recognized the East German government.

On June 11 the East German Communists promised a quick release for the nine Americans if the United States acted in a "normal and reasonable" manner although they didn't explain what those two words meant. They'd negotiat, they

How To Handle Girls

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — It has come to my attention lately that some men are having trouble with women — and don't know why.

In my lifetime, taking it as it goes, it has appeared to me that there are only two ways to deal with women, girls and widows:

1. Go outdoors and point out the stars to them.
2. Stay indoors and tell them about the stars.

Women have a strange sense of truth. They can be sharp as a tack in a business operation, but they are eternally vulnerable to flattery. They will even consciously pay for it to bolster their ego.

An honest man can look at himself in the mirror and know he is not desirable. It is the rare, rare woman who can do this. No woman, though her face could startle a nervous rooster into laying an egg, is without a conviction of personal beauty.

A man hesitates to be handsome. A woman demands to be pretty. And in a way she can be. The desirable and thinking of herself as desirable, she can enforce this concept of at least partial loveliness.

The ugliest woman has a passion to be admired and desired, not for her character but for her physical charm. The whole art of dealing with women is one of perpetual adoration, emphasized by departure. Put your best girl on a pedestal, then walk away from her. The rest of her life she will gratefully pursue you with both of her clay feet.

Never turn back.

Novelist Evan Hunter, a young man with a gift for controversy, is winning fame and fortune by playing God.

"You have to do that when you are at the typewriter," he said. "And you have to be an egotist." "You can have your own insecurities and doubts when you're not writing. But when you're in that room with just yourself, the machine and the paper — you have to play God. You have to feel in control, and you have to believe people want to hear what you have to say."

"If you begin to doubt this, you can't write." Few doubts seem to have assailed Hunter. At 31, prolific beyond his years, he has produced 173 stories, some 30 novels and three plays, written under his own name and at least four pseudonyms. Total output has been more than three million words.

"I'm not really happy unless I am writing," said Hunter, who is dark-haired, blue-eyed, and stands a slender 6 feet. "I feel guilty."

Even a former schoolteacher, he is equally adept at writing science fiction, mysteries, sport stories and children's books. His main recognition has come from pulp magazines.

In 1954 he wrote a literary storm with "The Blackboard Jungle" an 80,000-word portrayal of teen-age savagery in the schoolroom. He turned out the book in exactly two months. It has sold more than two million copies.

"I sold the movie rights for only $35,000," he said ruefully, "and the picture earned more than eight million dollars."

Hollywood paid $150,000 for his latest book, "Strangers When We Meet." This novel, which he had the lid of the coffin of suburbia, already has gone into a second printing, and has drawn both huzzahs and brickbats from commuters.

Hunter sturdily defends his attack against the conformity which he feels blights the lives of thousands of American families living in new suburban housing developments.

Hunter himself has escaped that "60-by-100 foot green coffin" he complains about. He lives with his wife and three sons in a 10-room house on a four-acre estate beyond the suburbs.

There he methodically turns out 5,000 words or so daily, and never waits for inspiration. "I don't believe there is any such thing," he said. "Inspiration is a kind of myth promoted by pseudo-artists who live in Greenwich Village. If writing is your profession, you sit down and write whether you are inspired or not."

By ELMER ROESSNER
You'll get a Federal tax hike before you get a cut.

Republican and Democratic leaderships in Congress have been shying away from an income tax reduction as a sort of a booster shot for the economy. While they may tinker with some of the excises, they have drawn the line against any suspension or forgiveness of income levies.

The compelling reason is that the government is going to need more, not less, revenue. They will have to increase taxes next year or give the people another shot of inflation. And inflation is a tax, too, levied on insurance buyers, savers, pensioners, annuitants and others without much political power.

Where $10 billion? Congressional leaders are opposed to a recession-dosing tax cut because it would make any future increase seem larger. They face this fact: the increases in Federal payrolls, in

Crueler, Colder World

You may have noticed it. There is a movement in America today of harshness, of meanness, of cruelty.

It isn't really a sudden thing. It has been slow. It is part of this nation's growth. The national personality has become realistic and with it has come a certain cynicism, a tendency to scoff at the sentimental, the tender.

It is apparent in everything about you. There is a springing up of "cruelty jokes" that poke fun at the injured, the afflicted. Books and stories have become harder, of a tougher fiber, showing despair, sadism, disbelief, suffering. Movies have become more realistic and tough and sometimes cruel.

On television the trend can be traced by the evolution of the comedian. Today people laugh at the unpolite, satirical jokes of Jonathan Winters and the cynical, neurotic humor of Oscar Levant. Groucho Marx makes people laugh with his insults and bit-lingering remarks.

People no longer want to see the soft-soap "Need" programs in which the kind-hearted master of ceremonies hands out gifts and money to the broken, poverty-ridden, afflicted contestants. These shows are passing away.

Before long, there will be a new kind of quiz show to satisfy the new national personality. It will be a sadistic, cruel, blood-thirsty little program which will do something like this: ANNOUNCER: Welcome to TWENTY ONE LASHES, ladies and gentlemen.

Here is your genial master of ceremonies, Jack Bury.

BURY: Thank you, John. Who's our first contestant?

ANNOUNCER: Mrs. Ronald Quigg. Jack, she's from Canton, Ohio.

BURY: Hello, Mrs. Quigg. What do you do for a living?

MRS. QUIGG: I'm on relief, Jack. My husband died last week and left me with sixteen kids and a mortgage and no money or food and I've got cancer of the knee and irritated tonsils.

BURY: Well, that's the breaks, Mrs. Quigg. You know our rules: You step into this wooden box with the iron spikes in the doors and if you miss the question the doors slam shut on you and stab you to death.

(she steps inside.) BURY: Your question is: What was the death rate of African pygmies under the age of nine years in the Belgian Congo in 1919? Sorry, your time is up. (doors slam and squash her.)

Attendant off camera holds up APPLAUSE sign. (The audience applauds.) ANNOUNCER: And now a word from our sponsor, Trendex Lawn

Mowers, the mower with the razor-sharp blade.

Dad, here is a new, inexpensive way to keep neighbors, trespassers, salesmen, children, dogs off your property. Just crank up the hefty Trendex power mower, jump on the cushioned seat and run over them. You can cut up your grass and your neighbors at the same time. (film demonstration inserted here.)

BURY: And now, John, who is our next contestant?

ANNOUNCER: A gentleman from Rhode Island, Alfred Cousins. Welcome to TWENTY ONE LASHES.

BURY: How are you, Mr. Cousins? What do you do for a living?

COUSINS: I'm a garbage man.

Been one for sixty years. BURY: How old are you, sir?

COUSINS: I'm a hundred and one, Jack.

BURY: Here is your question, sir: What is the terminal—Oh, I'm sorry, Mr. Cousins. Our time is up. You didn't answer. You will receive twenty-one lashes with a red hot poker. (attendee holds up card, audience applauds)

ANNOUNCER: And now, Jack, for our tv audience, a treat that is new, different. We now have our cameras trained on our studio audience. Watch carefully. Before show time tonight, we had all the seats wired with five thousand volts.

You are about to see — live from Hollywood — mass electrocution. Now!

Other Editors Saying --- At Least, Learn Rules

(Amarillo Globe-Times)

Annually at this time, when summer vacations begin, we exhort, plead, advise — verily, we pray that motorists will observe the rules of the road and return home alive and unscathed. This year we will try a new approach. We will assume that you are going to have an accident.

Certainly as one reads the astronomical figures of death and injuries on American highways it seems that all motorists must eventually come to one or the other. Therefore, we will pass along a few hints on how to act at time of disaster. These tips on how to keep your wits about you were prepared by the State Bar of Texas as a part of its series, "It's The Law in Texas."

They are: Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.

Render aid. If anyone is injured: Render first aid. Stop bleeding. Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.

Protect the scene from further damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicles.

Call an officer. Policemen, highway patrolmen, sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.

Gather information . . . write it down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess — be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver — and he must do the same.

Be careful what you say. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may later learn that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.

See your doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.

Consult your lawyer immediately. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.

Inform your insurance company promptly. Failure to do so may void your policy.

Report the accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages exceed $25.

"Oh, sure!" we said. "Have a cigar?"

He took one and continued. "I was reminded of that fact when the gas man and the electrician man both dropped in last week. The gas man was careful to turn off the light in the basement after he was through. The electrician man didn't. I was about to get angry; then I realized that any electric meter reader who turns off lights is biting the hand that stuffs his pay envelope."

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
"TELL HIM THANKS"
A little boy, son of a prominent family, was dying of an incurable disease in a London hospital. At first the doctors thought there was some hope for him, and the boy cherished the hope himself. Then at last it became apparent that he must die. His mother kept putting off the day she must tell him, for the lad, in addition to being a dear son, was a youngster who wanted very much to live. At last the woman who mopped the floors said to the mother: "This is too much for you. Let me tell him."

So this humble woman went to the boy's room and said, "Andy, God made you. He loves you. He sent his Son to die for you. He is going to take you to live with him forever." The boy stared in astonishment at the woman with whom he always had a cheerful and bantering chat every time she tidied up the room. "Say that again," he said softly. And the woman said: "Andy, God made you. He loves you. He sent his Son to die for you. He is going to take you to live with him forever." Andy smiled. "Tell Him lots of thanks."

New Tax Hike Before Any Cut

armed forces pay, in missile development, in highway and other aid programs, and in almost every other area of government spending may mean a budget of almost $80 billion in the year beginning July 1.

Tax collections, under present rates, may yield about $10 billion less. If the boom had continued, collections might have been higher. But alas, Alas, alas. It's too early to tell how Congress will resolve this dilemma. But the chances are it will grab the old needle and give the people another shot of inflation.

After they have recovered from that form of tax, income and other levies will eventually be increased.

OTHER FORECASTS
Here are more look-aheads in business.

Oil recovery. Things will look up for the oil industry. Despite the drop in auto sales, there are still more cars than ever on the road and plenty of vacation spending. Oil companies will find a larger market than ever this summer.

Row in rugs. Some manufacturers are complaining that competitors are using waste nylon in rugs. The matter may flare up in association meetings this summer, or in advertised warnings to the public.
Lumber recovery. The lumber business, hit over the head with 2-by-4's in the housing drop, is coming back. New home building and other demands for lumber promise to fatten demand.

ON THE FOOD FRONT
Lower coffee prices. Despite efforts of Latin Americans to peg prices and limit coffee exports, a lot seems to be pouring over the barriers. This will tend to weaken coffee prices here.
Smaller candy bars. Size of candy bars will soon be shaved. Rising costs of material and labor are squeezing manufacturers. While the five-cent bar may never disappear — no more than the penny candy ever vanished — the 10-cent bar may soon be-

Foundation Day
This afternoon the Greenville Little League will celebrate Foundation Day, along with 4500 clubs around the world. A doubleheader is scheduled for this afternoon with the Pepsi-Cola meeting the Elks and the Jaycees facing the FFW.

Today's title will also mark the finish of the first half of season play in both the Tar Heel and North State loops. The winners of the half-time crowns have already been decided on the strength of standings. The Jones capped the North State prize with an 8-1 record and Pepsi-Cola won the Tar Heel title.

"New" Bolt Tries To Keep His Lead

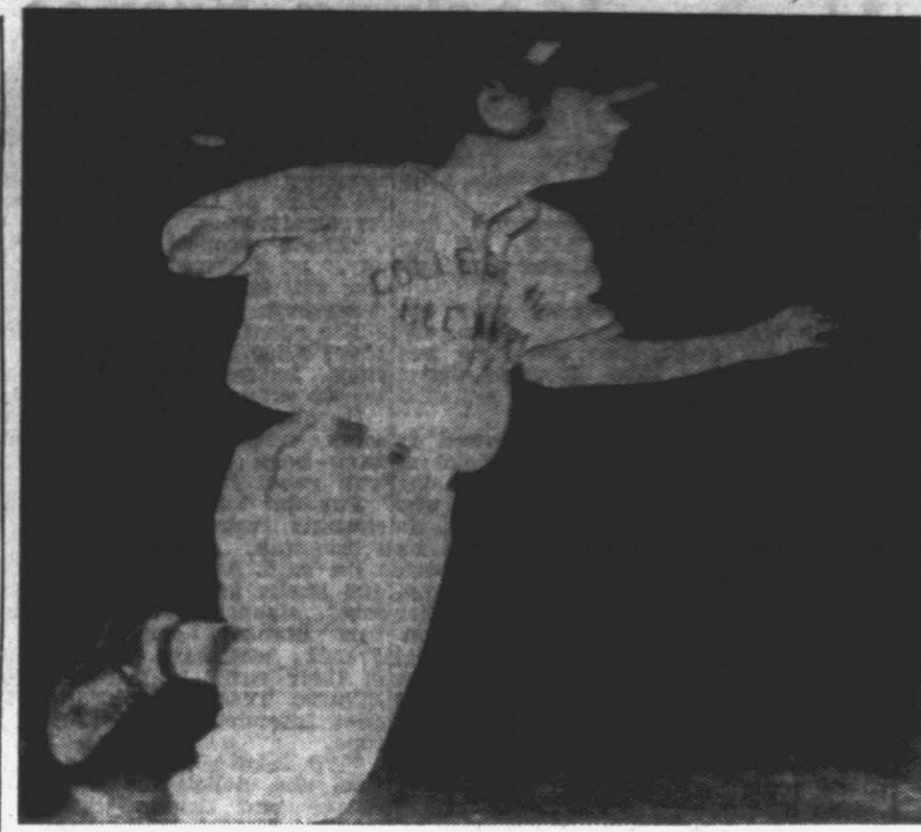

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

TULSA, Okla. — Fighting twin plagues of appetite and anger, the "new" Tommy Bolt today set out to hold his lead in the National Open golf championship against the men whose names were banded about a few days ago as likely winners oiled on from the sidelines.

Bolt could have had a much more comfortable lead if it hadn't been for that 18th hole. He got off what looked like a good drive and hooked it to the right, but it landed in the rough. He hit an iron out into the fairway, another that was a Gene Littler and three were put from the lower edge of the green.

Tom Brewer, now 35, won the 13th Boston attack with a seven-hitter.

All-Stars Top Graniteers, 10-3

First Loss Of Season For League Leaders

The Industrial League All-Stars handed the Graniteers their first loss of the season last night at Guy Smith Stadium, defeating them 10-3.

Carolina Dairy pitcher Bill Altman was responsible for the victory as pitcher for the All-Stars. He gave up only three hits to the usually-fiercious Graniteers.

The All-Stars tapped previously-unbeaten Dan Gordon for nine hits in picking up their 10 runs. The leading slugger for the winning team were Bob Howell, shortstop, who had two for four; Manning, centerfielder who had two for two; and Bob Stanley, rightfielder, who had a homerun in the fourth inning with two men on base.

Getting the Graniteer hits were Heidenrich, Phillips, and Hardee. The ball game was a pleasure tilt, not counting in the regular Industrial League standings. In regular-season play, the Graniteers wrapped up the first half championship with an 8-0 record. Second half play begins Monday night.

Last night's activity began with a series of door prizes and field prizes, including prizes for base-running, throwing hitting. Among the winners were Boyd of Carolina Dairy, baserunning; Bass of Quality Oil for leftfield throw; Stanley of Coffman's for rightfield throw; Terry of Carolina Dairy for first-to-third toss; Bobby Conway of Graniteers for third-to-first toss; Bob Dash of Carolina Dairy for catcher's throw and Bill Altman of Carolina Dairy for pitcher's throw.

Boston Beginning To Roll; Joey Jay Good For Braves

By ED WILKS

Jackie Jensen and Dick Gernert have been slugging the home runs, and Frank Malzone has been batting with the bat, but look who's finally started to hit for the bustling Boston Red Sox — a guy named Ted Williams.

The Big Guy, who last year won the batting crown at an unlikely 39 with an equally unlikely .388 average, has been having it tough so far. But last night he cracked a pair of singles, drove in two runs and scored one while reaching his percentage high — .295 — of the season as the Red Sox lightened their grip on second place with a 9-3 victory over Kansas City.

That left Boston eight games behind the American League leading New York Yankees, who were beaten 4-2 by the Detroit Tigers. Cleveland defeated fourth place Washington 10-1, and Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox ended a 5-1 tie at 14 innings because of a Baltimore curfew.

In the National League, the first place Milwaukee Braves retained a 1 1/2 game edge by beating St. Louis 2-0 in a game held to six innings by rain. The second place San Francisco ended its losing string at five with a 6-1 victory over Philadelphia. Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 5-4. Cincinnati and the Chicago Cubs were tied by rain.

In the American League, the Detroit Tigers shaved New York's lead to eight games by beating Cleveland 4-2. Boston rapped Kansas City 9-3. Cleveland walloped Washington 10-1. The Chicago White Sox and Baltimore played a 5-5, 14-inning tie ended by a Baltimore curfew.

East Carolina May Fill W&L Post In SC

By ED WILKS

GREENVILLE, N.C. (AP) — If Southern Conference officials wish to keep conference membership at 10 schools after Washington & Lee withdraws, they need look no further than East Carolina College.

ECC has been trying for five or six years to get Southern Conference membership, and in recent years has presented its case at conference meetings.

Washington & Lee is withdrawing from the Southern effective July 1, according to announcement made yesterday. There was no immediate word whether another school would be admitted to take its place.

East Carolina, member of the North State Conference, won golf, tennis and track championships in the conference this year. It also fields teams in football, baseball, basketball and swimming.

Founded in 1907, it had 3,947 students this year. President is Dr. J. D. Messick. ECC has a new 2,500-seat gymnasium for basketball and a 6,000-seat football stadium.

The Carolina Dairy softball team will play host to Tarboro Mills softballers tonight at Guy Smith Stadium for two ball games.

The first game will start at 7:30 and the second will begin immediately following the first.

Gilbert Drops Out Of Races

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Record-breaking low hurdler, Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem, N. C., Teachers College withdrew from the NCAA track championships yesterday with a pulled muscle after qualifying for semifinals in both the 120 highs and the 220 yard lows.

"I aggravated a pulled thigh muscle I suffered in the NAIA championships last Saturday," Gilbert said.

"This was just a sort of trial and I found the leg wouldn't respond to work, so I decided to drop out."

Gilbert recently bettered the world record with 22.1 in the low hurdles.

Zupo Looking Good At Wilson

If last night's performance was any indication, Wilson can expect big things from Frank Zupo, $65,000 bonus catcher from San Francisco.

Zupo made an auspicious Carolina League debut by cracking a three-run homer in the eighth to help give the Wilson Tobs win 11-3 over Danville. It was the Tobs' fourth straight win.

Zupo, down from Knoxville of the Sally League, got three hits as Wilson clubbed two Danville pitchers for 13 hits.

High Point, Thomasville and Danville continued neck-and-neck for first place. The Hi-Toms failed to gain ground, dropping a 4-2 decision to Greensboro as the winner scored a pair of runs in the fifth and eighth innings. Greensboro's Don Thompson held the Hi-Toms to seven hits.

Raleigh catcher Bob Tillman pulled a Frank Merriwell stunt as Raleigh edged the Burlington Indians, 4-3. With Raleigh trailing 3-1, Tillman banged a homer in the bottom of the ninth and was aboard to win the game. His blow spoiled a five-hit pitching effort by lefty Steven Hamilton.

The largest crowd of the Carolina League season, 2,976 turned out at Durham as the Bulls defeated Winston-Salem 3-1 behind the effective nine-hit pitching of Johnny Aeb. Dick Patton homered for the Bulls in the seventh.

Larry Roberts Hurts His 3rd Win This Week

STANDINGS

Home Builders	4	1
State Bank	3	1
College View	1	3
Guaranty Bank	1	4

Home Builders moved into the Teen-er League lead last night with a 4-1 record after tripping College View 2-1 in a tight contest at Guy Smith Stadium.

The emergence of the Home Builders into the league's first position marks the first time this season that the State Bankers have been ousted from that slot.

Larry Roberts, sharp-burling righthander, came into the game as pitcher for the Home Builders in the bottom of the sixth inning and receives credit for the victory. It marked Roberts' third victory for the week. He went seven innings against Guaranty Bank on Monday 4-1 record, a 4-0 win and came in to hurl four against Guaranty Bank Wednesday to earn an 18-4 win and went for two innings last night.

Last night he fanned three batters and walked two.

Going into the seventh inning last night the game was tied at 1-1. Jack Foley was hurling for the Home Builders and Kenny Joyner was on the mound for College View. Moyer scored on an error in the third inning for the College View club and the Home Builder run came in the fifth on an error. Roberts was the scorer.

In the seventh inning, Joyner got into trouble when Leo Starling got on base on an error by the second baseman. Starling worried the pitcher with constant threats to steal and finally did scurry into second base. He then stole third base to put the scoring winning run in a threatening position.

Joyner then retired the next batter and walked Roberts to the next batter, struck out. Thus, there were two outs and runners on first and third with Foley at bat. Joyner unleashed a wild pitch and Starling came home on a slide with the victory run.

Home Builders managed to take the lead in the standings last night due to their 2-1 victory and a protested game between the State Bankers and College View club.

College View 5-4 defeated College View 5-4 on Monday but College View coaches protested a play by the SCB pitcher. They claimed the hurler committed a balk.

League officials took the protest into consideration and found that the pitcher had committed a balk. They ruled that the game between the two clubs will be continued the next time.

League President H. N. Felton stated last night that "When they play again in a regularly-scheduled game, they will first play off that protested game beginning at the point in the game when the balk was committed. I believe it was in the sixth inning when it happened. Then, after that game is finished off, they will begin their other game."

Last night, the losing team picked up five hits against Foley and Roberts, with Harper, Sauve, Jenkins, Allen, and Stocks collecting them.

The winners managed to get only one hit off Joyner. That one was a single by Starling in the sixth.

ASC Office Is Well Up On Its Crop-Measuring Work

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector City Editor

Pitt's ASC this year has a new office manager, a new system for supervising its field personnel, and a new instrument for measuring acreage. As a result the crop measuring program is far ahead of previous years.

ASC Office Manager Walter Hasty said measuring of acreage for allotted crops was finished yesterday, a good deal ahead of the completion date last year.

The early completion date has brought smiles of satisfaction to the faces of ASC personnel but an even greater source of satisfaction is the fact that complaints on the accuracy of measurements are only running two per cent of the total number.

ASC Compliance Supervisor Frank Parker says he can remember years when complaints were received from as many as 20 per cent of the farms on which allotted crops are measured.

"Farmers seem to be happy with the measurements we are getting," Hasty says.

"We certainly anticipate re-measuring and disposing of excess well in advance of harvesting."

Hasty gives much of the credit for the accuracy this year to new German-made instrument which is being used for the first time.

How It Works

To understand how the instrument works it is necessary to know the system ASC uses for measuring crop land.

Every farm in Pitt County is visited by one of the ASC's reporters in less than a month's time in order that crop allotment fields may be designated on an aerial photograph.

The reporter goes to the field with the farmer and then carefully scales the field on an air map.

Then the air map finds its way back to the ASC office. That's where the new instrument—the Planimeter—comes in.

Girls hired by the ASC for the month or so during which crops are being measured are trained to operate the devices. The double arm instrument is placed on the map with one arm pinned in a stationary position.

A tiny wheel set in the other arm is moved carefully around the boundaries of the fields designated by the reporters. After the arm has made a complete cycle around the field the measurement can be read from a gauge and the number of acres in the field computed.

The operators do this after the first cycle. But to avoid error the instrument is moved around the field twice more and the resulting figure divided by three. This is compared with the original cycle figure and if they are the same the final figure is considered correct.

"We're really impressed with the accuracy of this instrument," Hasty says of the Planimeter.

To illustrate its accuracy he computed a ground measurement made on a tobacco field and compared it with the answer given by the Planimeter.

Both worked out to be 4.26 acres. From the Planimeter the computations go to another clerk who figures any wasted space in the field and subtracts it from the total acreage.

Then the figures are posted on cards and mailed to the farmer. Finally the figures are placed in a permanent record and filed away for future reference.

The new instrument replaces older rotometers which have been used for a number of years to compute acreage.

In addition to that change, the ASC this year has also set up eight divisions within the county. Reporters working in each division report each day to a division supervisor. He takes the maps to be turned in to the ASC office in Greenville.

In previous years all reporters have turned in their work at the ASC office each day which resulted in considerable confusion.

At the height of the program there are 85 to 100 reporters working in the fields. The measuring program got fully underway about May 26 and it has been completed in less than a month.

During that time the ASC crews have measured 25,138 acres of tobacco land, 48,832 acres of corn, 8,328 acres of cotton, 576 acres of wheat, 6,639 acres of peanuts and 10,000 acres of Soil Bank base crops.

That means 99,713 acres of land have been measured.

A new instrument and a new set up have meant far less complaints from farmers than in years gone by.

Discover Chain Reaction In Industrial Development

By NOEL YANCEY
SMITHFIELD, N. C. (AP) — Folks in the Smithfield-Selma area are feeling the effects of a chain reaction, and they're very happy about the whole thing.

This particular chain reaction has brought several new industries to the area and has taught the value of cooperation—instead of competition—to the two communities situated five short miles apart.

Several years ago a group in Smithfield decided to do something, besides talk, about industrial development. They formed the Smithfield Development Corp., in which members of the chamber of commerce subscribed stock.

The work of this group led to the formation of still another organization, Smithfield Industries Inc. Some 21 persons each put up $5,000 to raise funds for the erection of plants for new industries.

M. B. (Brack) Wilson, a leader in the program, explained that "over a period of time we learned that industries preferred to keep their money for operating capital instead of investing it in brick and mortar."

With the money thus raised, Smithfield Industries in 1954 purchased an 18-acre site just south of Smithfield, situated between a railroad and highway U. S. 301. They divided the tract into three industrial sites and erected a modern factory building on the center site—at a total investment of $180,000.

The factory was leased to the Perold Corp., a contract cutting and sewing firm which provides employment for about 200 persons, mostly women.

Wilson recently announced that a building will be erected on another of the three sites to be occupied by Gainesville Hatcheries Inc. of the Chemelle hatcheries chain. It will provide jobs for upwards of 25 persons.

Smithfield Industries still has its third site and sufficient equity in the three sites to erect still another plant without further investment by its stockholders, Wilson said.

He added that as a result of the success obtained by Smithfield Industries, a group of 22 citizens of Selma and 12 Smithfield citizens formed the Selma-Smithfield Industrial Development Co. Each of the 34 put up $5,000.

This organization erected a plant just outside Selma which was occupied May 1 by the Shalcross Manufacturing Co., maker of electronics equipment. It is expected to provide employment for 150 persons by the end of the year and is expected ultimately to have about 300 workers.

The success of these ventures brought other developments. An individual purchased the plant of the idle Selma Mills Inc., and it was leased to Griggs Equipment Co., maker of school furniture. It is expected to begin operations shortly and to provide employment for 75 to 100 persons within a year.

Meanwhile, another group of six organized the Selma Soybean Co. and began building a plant involving an investment of about $150,000. Wilson said it will employ between 25 and 30 persons when it begins operations this fall. He pointed out that in addition to jobs in the plant, the operations is expected to promote the production of soybeans in this area by providing a market.

All of these developments add up to an investment of about $900,000 of local capital in the area's economic development.

Wilson, chairman of the Industrial Development Committee of the Smithfield-Selma Chambers of Commerce and of a Joint Industrial Development Committee of the Smithfield-Selma Chambers of Commerce and president of Smithfield Industries Inc., emphasized that the development groups are not operating a give-away program.

"The plants which have been built, he said, are either leased or sold to the industries which occupy them.

"What we do offer is a good industrial atmosphere," he said, "with an abundant supply of good, loyal labor and the sincere interest of the community in protecting industries from unfair tax assessments."

He explained that one reason the two communities got together in a cooperative program arose from the discovery that with automation and modern highways an industry draws its workers from a large surrounding area instead of a single, small community.

The Smithfield-Selma success story has attracted the attention of the commerce and industry division of the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development. Walter Harper, director of the division, describes it as "one of the most successful industrial development programs in the state."

"Those people down there have demonstrated to Eastern North Carolina and to the entire state what intelligent community effort can do," Harper added. "By and large, if you take a look at the towns that are getting new industries, you'll find that most of the time they are doing an outstanding development job."

Flunked Out, But It Didn't Matter

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., who got a major's commission at the age of three in the Dominican Republic, still is advancing up the military ladder.

Now 29 and attending the U.S. Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., he may not graduate with his class next Friday but he will head a new combined chiefs of staff when he gets home.

Although he cannot fly a plane, his present title is commander of the Dominican air force.

His uncle, Dominican President Hector B. Trujillo, announced yesterday that the combined chiefs were being set up to better coordinate the army, navy and air force.

The general said last month he plans to go back to Hollywood to court film star Kim Novak some more on his way home after his class graduating two-month sojourn in Hollywood during the spring interrupted Trujillo's classwork and aroused criticism in Congress.

He gave costly sports cars to Miss Novak and Zsa Zsa Gabor, and also gave Miss Gabor a mink coat. But he denied that any of the money he spent came from U.S. foreign aid funds.

Rep. Charles B. Brownson (R-Ind) said yesterday the Army advised him that "Lt. Gen. Trujillo did not successfully complete the course. Therefore he will not be issued a certificate of graduation but will be given a certificate of attendance only."

Conductor In Music And His Own Train

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When you see Dave Rose conducting his smooth music for the Red Skelton TV show, you'd scarcely suspect that he's a steam engine addict.

The suave conductor-composer has it bad. He not only has one of the world's largest collections of miniature steam engines; he even has a steam train that runs around his San Fernando Valley home.

"Every Saturday, I blow the whistle and the kids come from all over the neighborhood," he said.

When Dave clicked as a composer 20 years ago, he began shoving the profit into steam. He collected engines from all over the world and developed his own miniature train, a knee-high affair that will pull 150 people.

"Disneyland started right here," Dave said proudly as he surveyed the track in his backyard. "Years ago, Walt Disney came here to see my train because he was thinking of getting one of his own."

You know it's got to be a mania for Dave because it isn't deductible. Out here, celebrities hardly ever put so much money into something unless it earns a profit or an income tax deduction.

"I sometimes use the train for publicity," he explained, "but otherwise, the expense is pure outgo."

"But I think it's worth it. There's nothing I like better than to get up a head of steam or take an engine apart."

The diversion provides welcome relief from the rigors of Dave's musical life. A perfectionist, he composes and arranges most of his own material. Besides the Skelton show, he does the Shower of Stars and other programs. His record albums are best sellers and he sometimes does a movie score.

Then he keeps up a steady schedule of concerts. This week he was in Portland, Ore., conducting at the Rose Festival. Today he leaves for Europe to scout the possibilities of doing some concerts over there this summer.

Wants Details On Air Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) called on the Eisenhower administration today to spell out how it wants military traffic controlled by a proposed new aviation agency.

Monroney is author of a bill to set up an agency proposed by President Eisenhower in a message to Congress yesterday.

The President speaks of "active partnership" between the military and civilian units in the new control agency but his views on how this is to be accomplished are not explicit enough," Monroney said in an interview.

Eisenhower told Congress the new agency should have "full and paramount authority" over the use of air space "except in circumstances of military emergency or urgent military necessity."

The bill Monroney and 32 other senators are sponsoring would bring the armed services into the agency on the policy-making level. But officials of the Air Transport Assn. have complained the legislation leaves a loophole through which the military could go its own way in actual flying operations.

Democrats and Republicans alike lined up behind Eisenhower's proposal.

Eisenhower made it plain he wants an independent agency to take over all the functions of the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Airways Modernization Board, as well as the safety regulation duties of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

This overruled the plea of Secretary of Commerce Weeks that overall direction of aviation activities be kept in his department.

British Paratroops Are Flown To Cyprus Scene

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—British paratroops flew to this tense island colony today to reinforce troops maintaining a tight curfew after communal fighting took 15 lives.

An airlift of 500 paratroops began at dawn in England and was scheduled to be completed by tomorrow. The total number of new soldiers is now more than 1,000.

The additional troops are expected to be in position beside 10,000 British soldiers already here when the British government announces plans for Cyprus' future on Monday or Tuesday.

The announcement might touch off new fighting between Cypriots of Greek and Turkish descent. The 400,000 Greeks have long campaigned for independence and a chance to join Greece. The 100,000 Turks oppose union with Greece but would rather have the island partitioned if the British leave.

After Thursday's clash near Nicosia, British Gov. Sir Hugh Foot clamped down a 100 per cent curfew, keeping indoors even such passy holders as doctors, civil servants and reporters.

The curfew will continue "until sense returns to the people," said Maj. Gen. Douglas Kendrew, director of British military operations.

Britain's new plan is understood to call for wide measures of local self government in hope of persuading both Greeks and Turks to postpone their conflicting demands, but would retain British control of this crown colony for at least seven to 10 years.

Nearly A Third Of Faculty Gone

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The embattled president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary expressed distress yesterday at the loss of close to one third of his faculty members.

Thirteen professors at the seminary were fired by the board of trustees Thursday as the climax to a long-simmering controversy concerning administrative policies.

Those dismissed included many long-time faculty members, among them Dr. Theron Price, widely noted church historian, and Dr. William H. Morton, who has directed archaeological work of the American Schools of Oriental Research at Jerusalem.

The faculty group opposed policies under which the seminary president, Dr. Duke K. McCall, had control of administrative decisions with the board of trustees.

The dissident group wanted the faculty to have more voice.

Dr. McCall said he was distressed to "lose the services of those good men."

The board of trustees issued a statement renewing its support of Dr. McCall.

The trustees said the 13 were dismissed because it appeared they could not be reconciled to the administrative policy. Weeks left the door open for rehiring of any who felt they could work under the present setup.

Union Invests In Keeping Business

NEW YORK (AP)—A labor union has bought a 1½-million-dollar building and taken a two-million-dollar mortgage on another to try to keep hat-makers from leaving New York City.

A spokesman for the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers, said yesterday the money for the buildings came from the $12,000,000 reserve in the union's insurance and retirement funds.

Marx Lewis, union secretary-treasurer, said the organization feared the buildings would be converted to other uses, forcing millinery manufacturers to scatter their operations.

He said the two buildings house manufacturers producing more than 30 per cent of the nation's output of women's hats.

Betty Hutton Talking Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Singer Betty Hutton is vacationing here while pondering her marital problems.

Her manager, Ed Dukoff, said in Hollywood last night she and her third husband, Alan Livingston, had decided on divorce.

She and Livingston, an NBC-TV Hollywood executive, have been separated for weeks. They were married in 1955.

Real Warmth Toward U.S. Among People Of Bogota

By LARRY ALLEN
BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — It's only 761 air miles between this capital city of Colombia and Caracas, Venezuela, but they are worlds apart in the treatment accorded U.S. citizens.

Here there is warmth, sympathy and friendliness. In Caracas there is coolness that borders upon open hostility.

A passenger alighting here walks through two lines of smiling blue-uniformed customs guards into the airport administration building. Passengers are informed over a loudspeaker: "You will pass through in just a moment, please, after immigration and customs formalities. While you are waiting, this is to welcome you to Colombia. Please have a cup of our fine coffee."

A wide-jacketed boy immediately starts serving coffee—a backbone of this nation's economy.

There's a quick look at passports and health cards and the passenger is ushered into the baggage reception room. Each passenger opens his suitcase but rarely does a customs official touch any of the contents. There's merely a glance and a smile, the traveler is on his way.

The whole process averages from 5 to 10 minutes, a far cry from what happens to the passenger—particularly a North American—who lands at Maqueta, the airport for Venezuela's capital city of Caracas.

Soldiers and national guardsmen, wearing steel helmets, carrying rifles, pistols, or even sub-machineguns, are on guard at Maqueta. They bunch all passengers together and lead them to the airport administration building.

Then comes the long wait—45 minutes to two hours or more—before a traveler is called to present his passport and health card.

Every passport and health card is rigidly inspected. At another desk a Venezuelan, with a soldier looking on, flips through the cards in a filing cabinet, just to make sure no enemy of the state is trying to enter. After that, the rush by passengers for another room where 6 to 10 Venezuelans are typing out entry index cards. Here the wait can easily run into an hour.

Then, if a passenger doesn't have any Venezuelan money, he has to stand in line to wait unless he gets some.

Finally, he passes through soldier-guarded doors into the baggage room where Venezuelans take their time about locating and delivering baggage. Once suitcases are opened, the customs employees usually rummage thoroughly through contents. When this is over, a customs employe slaps a stamp on baggage but it gets another scrutiny by an armed soldier who finally clears luggage to be taken out to a taxi, or private car.

The traveler then gets his first introduction to prices in Venezuela—the highest anywhere in Latin America, and topping peak prices in the United States.

Taxi drivers take passengers into Caracas—12 miles away—for the equivalent of $1.20 in U. S. dollars. But if the driver believes you are a North American the price shoots up to $15.

Rarely does any Venezuelan give an American a smile or say "thank you" when he is tipped. He American usually receives hostile stares or studied indifference. Americans, other foreigners, and Venezuelans not only have to get exit visas to leave, but they don't owe any income taxes or any debts.

All this is in marked contrast to what happens in Colombia. Whenever you want to leave this country, all you have to do is to buy a plane or ship ticket, and have a visa for wherever you are going.

Here there's a smile from hotel employees, Colombians on the street, and an eagerness to be helpful and understanding. And Venezuelans, joined Communist-inspired mobs which spat upon and stoned U. S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his wife during their good will visit in Caracas May 13.

Venezuelans feel, too, that their lush prosperity, born out of U. S. and British-Dutch firms developing the gigantic oil deposits, should not be impaired because the United States has restricted imports of oil from Venezuela.

There were minor anti-American demonstrations in Bogota, too, when the Nixons came, but here was no stone throwing or spitting upon the nation's guests.

Confidence Rising In Soundness Of Economy

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Confidence is rising today that the basic soundness of the economy is winning the fight against the forces of recession.

Turnups in some industries this month and the official figures on May showing gains in many sectors of the economy are helping to dispel the gloom.

At the same time, more soothing answers are stretching out their time tables when guessing the date of a general upturn. What they see just ahead is a long stalemate.

With employment and personal incomes gaining in May over April, with 64 million Americans having jobs and total wages and salaries increasing for the first time since the slump began, with retail sales rising from their March lows, some are asking now: "Where is the recession? How can anyone say there is one?"

The same official figures give the answer. Total employment went up in May. But employment in manufacturing plants continued to slide, off 67,000 from April. Total wages and salaries rose by 700 million dollars at an annual rate. But in the manufacturing sector of the economy the long downturn continued, off 100 million dollars at an annual rate.

That is where the recession is. Manufacturing, especially the making of durable goods for consumers and capital goods for industry, is where the recession has concentrated.

If you don't work in a factory affected by the slump, if you don't live in a community where factory payrolls are the major item in the area's economic life, then you may well say, "We see no recession."

But the overall picture is a bit brighter today. The May and June figures are allaying the fears of many. The usual summer slump in industry may dampen some of this new enthusiasm.

The forecasters take this into account in abandoning the first of the year view that the upturn could start in July. Now most of them are saying it can't come before the end of the year and may be not until 1959 is well along.

That's because they feel that while continued consumer buying of soft goods and of services is cushioning and to a major extent offsetting the fall in industry, no real upturn can be expected until manufacturing of durables and ordering of new plants and equipment by business is on the up-grade again and whittling of inventories comes to a full stop.

Some of the specific gains—as apart from the over-all statistics—which are heartening business men are:

Steel output has risen from its low—perhaps only because a price rise is feared. Employment in steel mills seems to have ended its long slide.

Metals prices have stiffened after long months of softness—even if the new strength comes not from any increase in demand but from the move of the government to help by the proposed resumption of buying of metal for the defense stockpile.

Retail sales over-all have improved since March. In particular, chain and mail order companies report a sharp rise in sales in May with volume running 5 per cent above last year.

Resorts and transportation companies report reservations ahead of last year.

New defense orders have led some plants to recall laid off workers.

Police Find Two Youngsters Tied To Crib Springs

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two young boy cousins, one three and the other two, were found tied to the springs of their cribs yesterday in a locked, stuffy apartment.

Two policemen found the youngsters, Jerry Wayne Stewart, 3, and Joseph Edward Arnold, 2, their legs tied to the springs of their mattressless cribs.

Both boys were filthy, police said, and had rashes over large areas of their bodies.

Police arrested the mother of the youngest child, Mrs. Jean T. Arthur, 21. She was working at the home of her landlady in the same block.

She was charged with assault on the older boy and was held in $1,000 bail for grand jury action.

Police learned about the tied tots from a woman police school crossing guard, who had learned of it from a girl.

The boys will be placed in a foster home under direction of the welfare department.

Lost Both Hands, Feet; Feels He's Still Lucky

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — He lost his hands and feet in the Korean War, but Ed Reeves said today, "I'm just plain lucky."

Reeves, 26, is one of 17 handicapped students among 2,958 to be awarded degrees today in University of Illinois commencement exercises.

At 19, Reeves was an infantryman fighting the Chinese Communists at the Chosin Reservoir in December 1950. He was captured and left for dead. For two days he lay in 27-below zero cold until U.S. Marines found him.

His frozen feet and most of his hands were removed by surgery.

What sort of luck was that?

"Well, said Reeves, of Wilmington, Ill., his eyes roving his compact mobile home eight years later. "Look what I've got."

He smiled at his wife, Beverly Jean, whom he married in September 1951, and his daughters, Michelle Lee, 4, and Melody Sue, who will be 2 in August.

A $9,000 fund raised by well-wishers while he lay in Percy Jones Hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., helped Reeves and his wife get a start.

He receives an unspecified amount of disability pension, and the GI Bill has paid for his schooling and part of his living expenses.

He walks on artificial feet and has some grip in his hands. He has a summer job selling mobile homes, but he's dubious of his sales ability.

Now that he has a bachelor's degree, Reeves plans to continue and get a masters in vocational counseling.

"What about his handicap?"

"It isn't so much. I'm better off than lots of people that way," Reeves said.

"Everybody has his troubles. With mine, I've had a good share of luck."

Says Forgeries Found In Voting

MURRAY, Ky. (AP)—A circuit judge supervising recount of primary ballots cast in the election that unseated veteran Rep. Noble Gregory (D-Ky.) said yesterday ballots had been found which bore forged signatures.

Judge Earl Osborne said he is keeping a list of "obvious forgeries" on the ballots for future use by state and federal authorities.

The judge said the forged signatures of election officials were found on ballots from several precincts in Logan County.

Gregory petitioned for the new count in Logan, Calloway and Marshall counties after he lost the May 27 First Congressional District primary by 422 votes.

The winner was Frank Stubblefield, Murray druggist.

At the end of counting yesterday, Stubblefield's majority had dwindled by 118 votes.

He had no comment on the reports of forgeries, however.

"I've been busy at other chores and don't know anything about it," Stubblefield said.

A contest suit filed by Gregory charged fraud in the Logan County balloting and asked that the election there be declared null and void. It also asked voiding of returns from two precincts in Calloway County.

Where Anybody Could Be Mayor

BRUNSWICK, N.C. (AP)—This southeastern North Carolina community's four-year "vote-for-whom-you-please" election is being held today.

As has been the custom for many years, the ballot will contain the names of the town's 42 registered male voters. The man receiving the highest number of votes will become mayor, the next highest four will become the Town Council. There are 75 eligible voters.

No woman's name is listed on the ballot, but write-ins are allowed.

NOTICE NORTH CAROLINA PITT COUNTY Notice is hereby given that the partnership which has heretofore been doing business under the firm name and style of Greenville Auto Sales and Salvage Company at Highway No. 264 bypass near Evans Street Extension just South of Greenville, N. C., has this day been dissolved by mutual consent of the partners and the undersigned have disposed of all our interest in said business and that neither of us, individually or jointly, will be liable or responsible for any indebtedness contracted by said business after this date. This 12th day of June, 1958. FREDDIE JAMES HAROLD BLAKE June 14-21-28 July 5

TO CREDITORS Having qualified as Administratrix of the Estate of W. Roderic Harris, deceased, late of Pitt County, North Carolina, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate of said deceased to exhibit them to the undersigned on or before the 14th day of June, 1958, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate payment. This 14th day of June, 1958. Mrs. Allie Louise Harris Fountain, N. C. Administratrix of the estate of W. Roderic Harris June 14-21-28 July 5-12-19

NOTICE is hereby given of intention of the undersigned to file application with the Local Government Commission, Raleigh, N. C., for its approval of the issuance of the following proposed bonds of the County of Pitt, which bonds shall be subject to approval of the voters of said County at an election: $750,000.00 of bonds for the purpose of paying part of the cost of construction of an addition to the Pitt County Memorial Hospital. This notice was first published on the 14th day of June, 1958. Any citizen or taxpayer objecting to the issuance of all or any of said bonds may file with the Local Government Commission a verified statement setting forth his objections as provided in Section 159-7.1 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, in which event he shall also file a copy of such statement with the undersigned, at any time within ten days from and after such first publication. A copy of this notice must be attached to the statement so filed. Objections set forth in said statement shall be for consideration by said Commission in its determination of whether or not it may hold a public hearing as provided by law on the matter of issuance of said bonds. Board of Commissioners County of Pitt By: Blair C. Wheelless, Clerk W. W. Speight, Pitt Co. Atty. June 14 & 21

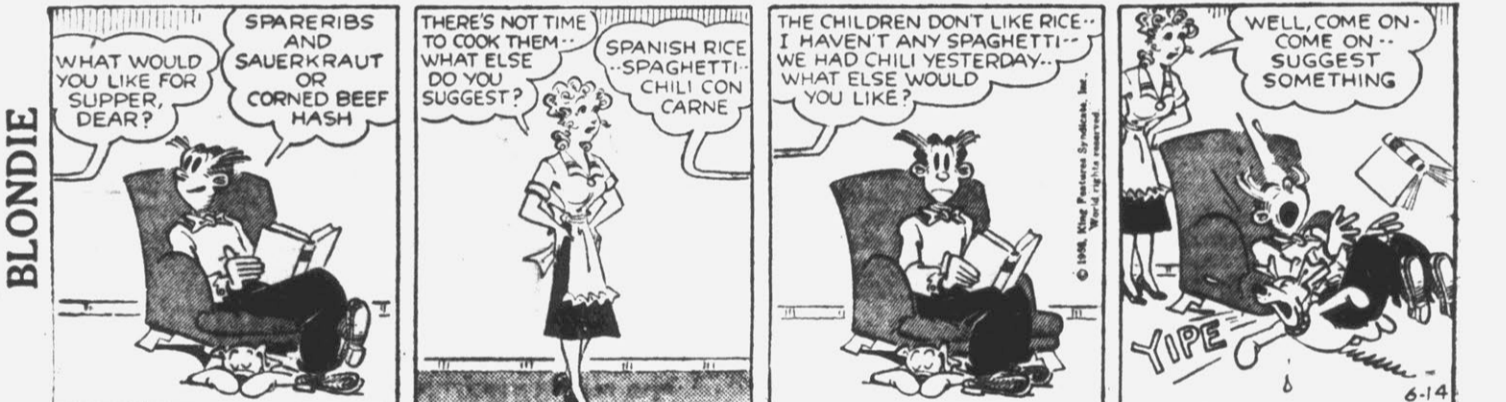

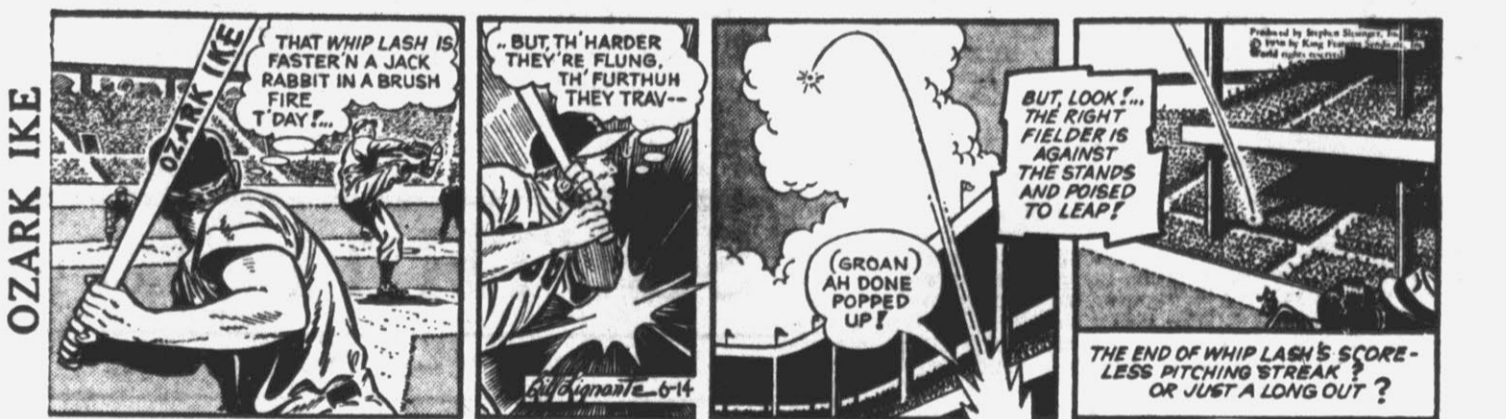

BOND ORDER OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF PITT COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, FOR $750,000 HOSPITAL BONDS. BE AND IT IS HEREBY ORDERED BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF PITT COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, THAT: (a) Bonds shall be issued by Pitt County, North Carolina, for the purpose of paying part of the cost of construction or acquisition of an addition to the Pitt County Memorial Hospital, the same being a purpose authorized by Section 131-126.18 et seq. of the General Statutes of North Carolina and Section 153-77 of the General Statutes of North Carolina; (b) Bonds of Pitt County, North Carolina, shall be issued in the maximum aggregate principal amount of Seven Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($750,000) for the purpose set forth in (a) hereof; (c) A tax sufficient to pay the principal and interest on the bonds issued, as the same mature and become due, shall be levied annually and collected by Pitt County, North Carolina on all the taxable property situated within the said County; (d) A statement of the County debt of Pitt County has been filed with the Clerk of the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County and said statement is open to public inspection at the said Clerk's Office in the Court House in the City of Greenville, North Carolina; (e) This order shall become effective upon its approval by a majority of the voters of the County voting on the question of approval of this bond order at an election to be hereafter called and held pursuant to the provisions of the County Finance Act, the same being Article 9 of Chapter 153 of the General Statutes of North Carolina. The foregoing order has been introduced and a sworn statement has been filed under the County Finance Act showing the assessed valuation of the County to be $74,913,437.00 and the net debt for other than school purposes including the proposed bonds, to be $1,271,000.00. A tax will be levied for the payment of the proposed bonds and interest if the same shall be issued. Any citizen or taxpayer may protest against the issuance of such bonds at a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners to be held at 10 o'clock A. M. on Monday, July 7, 1958 or an adjournment thereof. BLAIR C. WHEELLESS, Clerk Pitt Co. Board of Comm. W. W. Speight, Pitt Co. Atty. 14-11

Boys State Will Wind Up Tonight

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — A week legislative session today and a banquet tonight will close the 18th annual North Carolina Boys State here.

Some 375 high school youths have been attending the week-long event. Freddie Anderson of Rutherfordton was elected governor of Boys State last night.

Other state officers elected were: Jimmy Beam, Cherryville, secretary of state; Bill Brandon, Hickory, superintendent of public instruction; Staley Gentry, Laurel Hill, agriculture commissioner; Bill Thompson, Davidson, commissioner of labor; Mack Thompson, Aurora, commissioner of insurance; and Jerry Robertson, Greensboro, auditor.

Elected Supreme Court justices were: Bill Broden, Sanford; Ronnie Glosson, Kannapolis; Sidney Burkin, Durham; Richard Vinroot, Charlotte; Smeds York, Raleigh; Sherwood Adcock, Henderson, and Boyd Brinson, New Bern.

The group heard a talk last night by North Carolina football Coach Jim Tatum. Speakers yesterday included Secretary of State Thad Eure and Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine.

Eure told the youths that one of the aims of a political party is to form public opinion. Another, he said, is to influence government policy.
