Surprise Vote To Abolish Train Passenger, Freight Levies Could Open Gates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators favoring anti-recession tax cuts renewed their drive today, encouraged by a surprise vote to wipe out levies on passenger tickets and freight. The Senate sharply rebuffed the Eisenhower administration and its own leaders last night as it voted repeal of the World War II transportation taxes despite pleas that such action might open the way to cuts elsewhere. Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) pressed ahead with another proposal for cutting the automobile excise tax, while Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said he planned another stab at reducing taxes on small business. The Senate was called into session an hour earlier than usual in an effort to complete action on these and other amendments to a House-passed bill to extend present corporation and major excise tax rates for a year beyond June 30. Both Republican leader William F. Knowland of California and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas opposed the amendments to repeal the 3 per cent freight tax and the 10 per cent levy on passenger tickets. The amendment erasing the freight levy was adopted 59-25, with 33 Democrats and 26 Republicans joining forces to write it into the bill. Voting against it were 10 Democrats and 15 Republicans. The vote approving repeal of the 10 per cent levy on passenger fares was 50-35. Twenty-seven Democrats and 23 Republicans voted for repeal, while 17 Democrats and 18 Republicans voted against it. Secretary of the Treasury Anderson has estimated that repeal of the freight tax would cut revenues 487 million dollars and the passenger fare levy 230 million, a total of 717 million annually. Elimination of the freight tax drew the most support, with proponents arguing that, as Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said, "it hits everyone" and affects the price of everything. Just before the vote Knowland appealed to the Senate to reject the amendment in the light of "the cold, hard facts of the budget situation." The amendment repealing the 3 per cent freight levy also wipes out a tax of four cents a ton on coal. It does not affect shipments by pipeline. The transportation taxes apply to rail, highway, water and air shipment and travel. The amendments written into the bill by the Senate will force the measure to go back to the House before final action can be taken. The Senate Finance Committee had urged acceptance of the House bill without change, to prevent a drop of $2,600,000,000 in tax revenues. The Senate defeated amendments to repeal or to cut the 10 per cent auto excise tax, to make broad six-billion-dollar cut in income taxes for the rest of the year.

Reprieve

HURON, S. D. (AP)—Chief Judge Archibald K. Gardner of the 8th U. S. Court of Appeals said today he has signed an order delaying execution of a prison sentence for two former Truman administration officials. The order allows Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle time for a hearing in their bid for a second trial based on what their attorneys say is new evidence. Judge Gardner said the stay of prison sentence will be effective until a decision is made on the request for a new trial. Connelly and Caudle were to surrender at St. Louis tomorrow to begin serving two-year prison terms for conspiring to defraud the government in an income tax case.

Phone Rate Hearing Nears End

Findings Of Commission's Study Yet To Be Entered Into The Record

RALEIGH (AP) — A hearing on proposed rate increases of nearly three million dollars by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co. neared an end today before the State Utilities Commission. Hardy D. Dudley, director of accounting for the commission, was scheduled to report on the findings of a study by the commission's staff. The company put into effect under bond last November rate increases of 1 1/2 million. A petition filed in March asked for an additional $1,400,000. Paul Howell, a New York consultant, told the commission yesterday that in his opinion a return of 5.9 per cent on an investment rate base of approximately 60 million dollars would produce a fair and reasonable profit for the company. Howell was employed by a group of Eastern North Carolina cities and towns fighting the proposed rate hikes. CTT&T contends it should be allowed at least a 6 per cent return on a rate base of 73 million. Howell also testified that the company is in no danger of losing the confidence of investors because of its debt ratio of 50 per cent. "I note for more than the past six years," he said, "the company has had more than 50 per cent debt and that the stock currently sells at a premium of 35 above book value. Such is hardly the counsel of despair."

Summer Repair Outlays Mapped For Pitt Schools

Expenditures estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000 will be made this summer to repair and maintain buildings in the Pitt County School System, Superintendent D. H. Conley said today. There are no major repair projects at any of the county's 29 schools this summer, Conley said. Work being done includes painting, scrubbing and floor improvement, replacement of damaged blackboards, and replacement of defective windows and doors. Expenditures which will be made before schools open August 27 will include costs of materials, labor and some new furniture. The funds come from the county's Maintenance of Plant appropriations. Conley said the county system includes 105 buildings valued at four-and-a-half million dollars. While there are no repair projects classified as "major" by the superintendent, he pointed out that five major construction projects are presently underway. Those projects include construction of a gymnasium at Bethel, a two-classroom addition at Bethel Union School, 12 classrooms and a gymnasium-auditorium at Robinson Union School in Winterville, ten classrooms and a gymnasium-auditorium at South Ayden School, and a gymnasium at Grifton School. The construction projects are expected to be completed in time for the 1958-1959 school year, Conley added.

Lawmaker Asks Inquiry Into All Goldfine Contacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican member of a House investigating subcommittee called today for an inquiry into all of Bernard Goldfine's contacts with federal officials during the last 10 years. Rep. John B. Bennett (Mich.) said "I'm of the opinion that (Sherman) Adams is not the only official of the federal government who has enjoyed Goldfine's hospitality." Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, has testified he accepted gifts and favors from Goldfine, a wealthy Boston industrialist, on the basis of a long friendship. He said he also got in touch with two federal agencies on matters relating to Goldfine, but denied he sought special treatment for the Bostonian. Bennett spoke in an interview with the Pentagon disclosed more than 2 1/2 million dollars worth of textile contracts have been awarded to Goldfine's companies since the Eisenhower administration took over in January 1953. The Pentagon supplied the figures on request, with no implication of influence of wrongdoing. In a separate development, the Securities and Exchange Commission unanimously denied that it dropped a case against one of Goldfine's firms after an inquiry from the White House prompted by Adams. "On the contrary," the five-man commission said, the case was "successfully prosecuted." Goldfine's East Boston Co. was fined $3,000 and is now filing on schedule reports required by the SEC. The SEC reported Chairman Edward N. Gadsby and his aides have been asked to testify next Tuesday as the subcommittee resumes its investigation into how well independent regulatory agencies are following the law. Political repercussions continue over Adams' actions and Eisenhower's decision to retain his top aide despite what Adams called his innocent but imprudent moves in contacting the SEC and the Federal Trade Commission about matters involving Goldfine. Four GOP senators not up for re-election this year — George D. Aiken (Vt.), Ralph Flinders (Vt.), Frank Carlson (Kan.) and Jacob K. Javits (N.Y.) — backed Eisenhower with a statement saying that while Adams may have made mistakes, he was frank enough to admit it. Rep. Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) assistant House Republican leader, said "I stand with the President" and professed to see no tremendous concern among his colleagues over the Adams issue. Meanwhile other GOP congressmen piled up demands for Adams' resignation. Reps. Charles E. Chamberlain (Mich.), Eugene Slier (Ky.), Harry G. Haskell (Del.) and S. Walter Stauffer (Pa.) all hit the theme that Adams' own previous expressed principles of clean government require that he quit. All House seats are at stake in the fall elections. Rep. George Christopher (D-Mo.) who numbers former President Truman among his constituents, drew Democratic applause in telling the house Eisenhower must either order prosecution of Adams or else pardon Matthew Connelly.

Inquests Into 3 Deaths Tonight

Coroner's inquests in connection with the deaths of three Pitt County residents will be held tonight in the City Courtroom. Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse stated this morning that the two inquests are scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

The Coroner's Jury will rule on the deaths of Nicie Ann Bunn, 40-year-old Negro mother of 11 children who resided at Greenville Rt. 5, and William Nathaniel Brown, 26-year-old Negro of Bethel Rt. 1. Both were killed instantly in a collision on the Bethel-Greenville highway May 11. Oliver Bunn, 44, husband of the dead woman, is being charged with manslaughter, careless and reckless driving and no operator's license as a result of the fatal Mother's Day mishap. A ruling will also be made in connection with the death of Robert Benjamin Brown, 47, of Stokes Rt. 1 who lost his life in an accident on N. C. Highway 903 May 24. Brown was killed instantly when his car was struck at an intersection near Stokes. No charges were brought against Chester Woodrow Gregory of LaGrange Rt. 1, the driver of the second car involved in the accident.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C. Temperatures will average normal and rainfall of three-fourths to one inch Saturday through Wednesday. Normal high and low temperatures for coastal plain, 87-87 degrees. Mostly warm, but likely some showers through Tuesday with thunder showers occurring mostly tonight, Saturday and Monday.

Vanguard Firing Attempt Held Up

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An attempt to launch a Vanguard satellite rocket was "scrubbed" at 4:30 a. m. EST because of technical difficulties. A firing of a basketball-sized satellite originally was set for 9:30 p. m. yesterday. For several hours, the slender rocket sat outside its service tower, bathed in lights.

All Of Pitt Commissioners Will Attend Meet

Pitt County will have seven representatives next week at the 51st annual convention of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners, the state Association of County Accountants and the Association of Assessing Officers of North Carolina. All members of the Board of County Commissioners will attend the meeting, including chairman Woodrow W. Wooten, vice-chairman Robert G. Little, B. Alton Gardner, Robert L. Martin and J. Vance Perkins. County Auditor H. Reginald Gray will attend the accountants' meeting and Tax Supervisor Robert S. Moye will attend the convention of assessing officers. Perkins, who is a member of the Convention Committee, is slated to move up to the presidency of the Association of County Commissioners. He has served as first vice-president for the past year. Gray is slated to become first vice-president of the accountants' group after a year as second vice-president. Under the group's election policy, Gray will become president next year. The convention will open Monday at Carolina Beach and sessions will continue through Wednesday at the beach and in Wilmington. Perkins will preside at the opening meeting of the Association of County Commissioners Monday morning and will introduce W. F. Babcock, director of the state's highways, and H. G. Jones, state archivist, who will speak during the morning session. Convention delegates will hear two other addresses Monday, one at the afternoon session by Bernard F. Hillenbrand, executive director of the National Association of County Officials, and another at the evening session by Dr. Eugene George Purcell of Atlantic Christian College. Tuesday morning's session will

Accused 'Night Prowler' Here To Stand Trial

ID OFFICER WALTER THOMAS LEADS DAVID NAGLE TO JAIL . . . young marine bound over to Superior Court.

More Warrants Against Nagle Said Being Readied

Trouble is mounting for Pfc. David Nagle. New Bern Police Chief James E. Pearsall informed the Daily Reflector by telephone this morning that he plans to issue three warrants charging the handsome, tattooed Cherry Point Marine with burglary in the first degree.

According to Chief Pearsall, Nagle is to be charged in connection with a series of robberies in the New Bern area staged early Friday morning, June 6. In addition he stated two other warrants will be drawn up charging the serviceman with attempted burglary.

Pearsall said Nagle confessed to the crimes yesterday morning while in the hands of military authorities at Cherry Point.

The Marine was picked up early Wednesday morning by the Marine Investigation Section in connection with a series of robberies in the Cherry Point-Havelock area. New Bern and Greenville authorities were then notified that his description and fingerprints fitted those furnished the military following the series of burglaries and attempted house breakings.

The Police Chief stated Nagle was seen by the occupant of one New Bern home he broke into. His description was furnished investigating officers by the man who said he was awakened by someone in his bedroom going through his belongings. Nagle also confessed to breaking into eight or nine homes around the Cherry Point Marine Base during the past month. Military and Havelock authorities however have relinquished jurisdiction in view of the developments here and in New Bern.

The first break in the case, according to Chief Pearsall, came when Nagle told one of his buddies that he had broken into several houses around Cherry Point. Authorities first got a lead when Nagle's friend reported the boast to his immediate superior at the military installation.

His arrest and confessions followed. Pearsall stated that the robberies in New Bern had caused a considerable amount of unrest among the townspeople. Since the series of burglaries took place, Craven County law enforcement agencies had been working around the clock.

Only money was taken from the houses. Chief Pearsall was high in his praise for Cherry Point authorities. "Without their fine cooperation it might have been impossible to close the case," he added.

Prompt Answers By Nervous Young Man

David Nagle arrived at the Pitt County Jail yesterday afternoon. The young Marine private may be there for some time. For he is charged with first degree burglary on several counts in connection with night time break-ins of local homes.

The 21-year-old Nagle was returned to Greenville from Cherry Point by Chief of Police S.G. Gibbs, Identification Officer Walter Thomas and SBI Agent Clyde Feintress. Upon arrival here he was taken by several houses which he is accused of entering and then to the county jail.

It was a nervous young man who went through the preliminaries at the jail. He avoided still and movie cameras that were trained on him as he was taken from the police car.

Bound Over

Pfc. David Nagle (U.S.M.C.) this morning was bound over to the next sitting of the Pitt County Grand Jury scheduled for Monday morning.

The 21-year-old Cherry Point Marine is being held on five counts of first degree burglary in connection with a series of robberies and attempted break-ins here during the past three weeks.

Nagle was given a preliminary hearing today before City Recorders Court Judge Charles H. Whedbee. Following testimony presented by the state, Judge Whedbee found probable cause in the cases against the baby-faced serviceman and bound him over without privilege of bond.

In North Carolina burglary in the first degree is punishable by death. Found guilty of first degree burglary Nagle could be sentenced to life in prison if the jury recommended mercy. The maximum punishment for second-degree burglary is life imprisonment.

Inside the jail office, Nagle had little to say, although he answered officer's questions politely and promptly.

As necessary papers were being filled out and his personal belongings accounted for, Nagle sat alone in one corner of the office, his head often buried in his arms.

His wallet, a bag of clothing and some other items were taken from him before he was escorted to a cell. The smaller items, as is routine, were sealed in an envelope.

The slightly built Californian requested a photo from his wallet and that was returned to him by officers. He was also allowed to keep an envelope containing other pictures.

Nagle asked Jailer Loyd Manning if he might keep a tiny Marine emblem and that was allowed. Just how long he will remain in the county jail is not certain at present.

There is a mixed term of Superior Court scheduled for Pitt County next week. Usually "jail cases" or those cases in which persons being held in jail without bond, are tried as quickly as possible.

In the jail office Nagle was ordered to stand up for a final "shake-down". He promptly did so and the officers checked for hidden weapons.

He was asked to remove his shoes which were checked. He then was allowed to don them again. Then—one officer in front and another behind—Nagle moved up the stairs of the building and disappeared through a cell block door.

Press Secretary Had Free Vacation

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, and his wife were given a 5-day stay at the swank Ponte Vedra Inn last year.

The inn, on the Atlantic Ocean some 20 miles from here, picked up the check for $260.97 because they were special guests, officials said, adding that Hagerty took two golf lessons but paid for those. The Tampa Tribune had reported the lessons were free, also.

The Hagertys were at the inn from Jan. 27 through Feb. 1. J. P. LeMaster, president of Ponte Verda Corp., told the newspaper, "when he got here, Hagerty insisted on paying his bill. We wouldn't let him do it."

Mayhugh Courson, assistant manager of the club, said honored guests don't receive bills.

In Washington, Hagerty said:

"The account is correct as reported, except for one thing I did pay for my golf lessons. I personally paid the club pro."

"I did insist, as the account says, on paying my entire bill, but the club would not let me do so."

"Under the circumstances, there was nothing wrong in this. I don't see how anyone could make anything of my being a guest of the club at their insistence."

Rick Fanlin, the club's golf pro, said the Hagertys spent most of their time golfing. LeMaster said there was no thought of gaining a favor by paying Hagerty's bill. "I thought we were very fortunate in having him here," LeMaster said. He explained that the publicity gained by the press secretary's visit more than offset expenses borne by the club.

Air Nat'l Guard To Train Alone

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The North Carolina Air National Guard which leaves here July 6 for its annual two-week encampment, will train alone this year for the first time. Col. William J. Payne, commander, said about 650 officers and men will make the trip to Travis Field, Savannah, Ga. He said previously the units, based at Municipal Airport here, have trained with units from other states.

Temperatures will average normal and rainfall of three-fourths to one inch Saturday through Wednesday. Normal high and low temperatures for coastal plain, 87-87 degrees. Mostly warm, but likely some showers through Tuesday with thunder showers occurring mostly tonight, Saturday and Monday.

Tar Heel Elected National JC President After Lengthy Vote

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bob Cox, Chapel Hill, N.C., was voted president by acclamation of the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce to win the voting started at 1:30 early today after 15 deadlocked ballots among four candidates. Cox led from the first ballot but never got the majority required until yesterday and continued for about 12 hours, with time out for dinner.

After the 15th ballot, Clarence Blazier of North Canton, Ohio, moved as spokesman for the other three candidates that Cox's election be made unanimous "for the good of the organization." The other two candidates seconded the motion and delegates to the Junior Chamber's national convention unanimously approved the motion. The atmosphere in Shrine Auditorium resembled that of a national political convention as candidates' supporters shouted, paraded and roared their delegations' votes.

The deadlock was broken after 49 of the 51 Junior Chamber "states" including Alaska, Hawaii and the District of Columbia had announced their votes on the 15th round.

On the 14th round Cox had 1,177 votes; Blazier, 524; Wallace R. Heatwole, Waynesboro, Va., 431; and Richard J. Lynch, Kansas City, Mo., 338.

Cox, 31, a former football player and later assistant football coach at the University of North Carolina, owns a men's clothing store in Chapel Hill. He succeeds Charles E. Shearer Jr., Shelbyville, Ind., as president.

Cox told the delegates, "I appreciate so much what you people have done for me." Cox, a native of Knoxville, Tenn., has made his home in Chapel Hill since graduating from the University of North Carolina. He served as president of the North Carolina Jaycees in 1956-57 and during the past year has been one of the vice presidents of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He is married and the father of four sons. As president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, Cox and his family will make their home in Tulsa, Okla. during the coming year.

Delegates interrupted balloting to make their annual awards. Among those named as the 10 outstanding national directors were two Carolinians, Stover P. Dunagan Jr. of Rutherfordton, N.C., and William H. Orders of Greenville, S.C.

Beauty Formula-- 'To Thine Own Self Be True', Says Star

Editor's Note—The writer of this column is the leading lady of her own Sunday night shows.
 By LORETTA YOUNG
 NEW YORK (AP)—To thine own self be true.
 That's the best beauty formula I know. Don't smother your own personality. Think of it as an asset worth cultivating, make its development part of the joy of living. Be an original. Find, study and be yourself.
 There's excitement in discovering your own individuality and developing it. Every woman is instinctively the best judge of her own possibilities. But instinct needs instruction, and every woman can learn to interpret what she sees in the mirror and to make the most of it.
 I always have a full-length, three-way mirror on the set when I am working before the camera. I consult it frequently, especially the side and back views. The casual studio visitor might interpret these consultations as evidence of personal vanity, but a very false interpretation it would be. The mirror is there solely as a matter of business. Looking my best is essential to my job. And I have found—as you, too, can find—that the mirror and I are my severest and best critics.
 Lipstick carelessly applied, a strand of hair out of place, a hat that is even a fraction of an inch awry—these are little details that might escape the eye of the make-up man, the director—even the cameraman. But any one of them can be destructive to the mood of the scene.
 Recognize and value the good features. Really look at yourself in the mirror, then put on your best dress. Ask yourself if that dress is friend or foe. Does it do anything for you? If so, good, then it is your friend.
 When you wear that best dress to a party, you'll feel happy and confident, satisfied with your appearance.
 Not only your clothes—your hairdo and makeup also must be psychologically satisfying. Your personality needs to be attended to as well as your external appearance.
 Remember first things first: the woman before the dress, vitality before beauty. Remember that without vitality, your hair will lack luster, your skin won't glow—your eyes can't sparkle. Your face isn't just an exposure of skin and topographical features, to be powdered, eye-shadowed and lipstickked.
 The best advice I received came from Colleen Moore. It was my turning point. I showed up at the studio one morning, my face practically weighed down with heavy makeup. Colleen looked at me and said crisply: "Go home and wash your face." Six words. A lesson I've never forgotten.
 Hairdo and makeup can be dramatic complements to your self-interpretation. Find your own special quality. Let your mirror talk truthfully to you.
 If you're content, Narcissus-like, just to gaze upon your image in the mirror—either with satisfaction of self-pitying resignation—hairdo and makeup also must be

BETHEL—A picnic dinner at Elm Street Park, Greenville was given by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bullock Sr., relatives and some friends in honor of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Bullock Jr., who are leaving for San Antonio, Texas.
 Those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Gardner and daughter Adreann of Fountain; Mr. and Mrs. George Bullock and Beth, Ayden; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bullock Sr., Mrs. Robert Beverly, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Manning Jr. and Norma, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Whitehurst, John Marshall and Franklin Jr., Mrs. W. O. Grimes and Mrs. L. Barnhill, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Coburn and Miss Alice Coburn, of Bethel; and Eddie Barnhill of Portsmouth, Va.
 After a period of riding the miniature train and conversation the picnic dinner was enjoyed.

As easy to wash as to wash with is a new mop made of strands of spongy cellulose yarn over a sturdy cotton core.
 The high absorbency of this material makes it possible to mop floors without sloshing great quantities of suds or rinse water. The mop head detaches easily from its long handle so that it can be laundered with hot soap or detergent suds and rinses.

Chairman Holds Meeting In Home

BETHEL—This week, Mrs. George Abeyounis was hostess to the Pentecostal Holiness Auxiliary in her home on Main Street.
 Mrs. Abeyounis, the chairman, called the meeting to order and a short business session was conducted.
 The purchase of a piano was discussed and it was decided that the Auxiliary would accept this as one of their projects.
 Mrs. Dinkey Nicholson conducted the program by reading helps on the subject of the Bible and giving poems. Mrs. Nicholson stressed the need of a Bible study in the family as a whole and also the need for individual study.
 At the conclusion of the meeting, the hostess served sandwiches, pickles, toasted peanuts and jello with whipped cream.

Larry Averette Attends Clinic

Larry Averette was among the shoe store owners and managers attending a retail sales clinic in St. Louis June 15-17.
 During the three-day sessions, the shoemen discussed economic conditions and studied methods of improving their store operations. Sales training, advertising and window displays were subjects which received special attention.

Freed From A Mental Hospital; Disillusioned

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — Clennon King says he hopes to return to Mississippi where he was placed in a mental hospital after an unsuccessful attempt to enter the all-white University of Mississippi. "I don't think any citizen should be forced to leave any state in this country," he said last night in an interview. "I haven't done anything wrong. I'm not an agitator or anything like that."

The 37-year-old Negro educator and minister left Jackson, Miss., by plane yesterday to spend a few days with his father in this south Georgia city where he was born.

"I just felt that I had to have a chance to pull myself together and arrange my thoughts," he said. "After that I hope to go back."

But he added, "I don't want to stay in Mississippi if I'm not wanted. I haven't been treated right in Mississippi."

"I think Gov. J. P. Coleman should apologize to me and that the state should reimburse my family for the expenses in setting me free. They know they've done me wrong. I'm disillusioned. I don't feel free in Mississippi."

King was released Wednesday from the state mental hospital at Whitfield, Miss. He still faces charges of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest in Lafayette County, where the University of Mississippi is located.

He said that if there is no apology he may sue the state of Mississippi "for acting as they have acted."

King arrived in Atlanta costless and without baggage 24 hours after Mississippi officials released him from the mental hospital. He took another plane to Albany.

The pastor of the African Methodist church at Gulfport, Miss., said the trip might be called a flight because officials said "it was possible I might be hurt by extremists if I remained."

Officials in Mississippi said King went berserk while trying to enter the University of Mississippi two weeks ago. King denied this but said he called for help when he was taken to a basement by officers. He said he was not mistreated physically.

Canada Approves Defense Pact

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's Parliament has approved the air defense agreement with the United States setting up a unified command to protect North America from attack.

The agreement covers the operations of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), which has headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo. It is headed by U. S. Gen. Earle Partridge. Canadian Air Marshal Roy Slemmon is his deputy.

The House of Commons voted yesterday was 200-8, with the Socialists opposing the agreement. They want NORAD placed under direct control of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Prime Minister Diefenbaker argued the agreement "strengthens NATO and that is all that matters."

Unconcerned By Bees On His Car

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — R. H. Hackney was driving to his place of business the other morning when he began to realize that a swarm of bees, creeping up from the rear of his car, had found a resting place on his automobile.

They settled on his right front window. But Hackney, who declares that bees won't hurt you if you let them alone, continued to drive his car to work and lunch for a day and a half.

Yesterday Lester Foster, draftsman and amateur beekeeper, put on his hood and bonnet and de-beed Hackney's car. Sure enough no stings.

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG

Three editors of Look Magazine have just taken another pot-shot at Life in These United States—a very popular and profitable thing for authors to do, ever since William H. Whyte Jr. wrote "The Organization Man" some years back, to prove that all Americans are being victimized by their own society in their efforts to conform to certain patterns. This new effort is called "The Decline of the American Male," and is illustrated with Robert Osborn's wonderful drawings of millions of faceless Americans running around in circles. The three authors ask the following: "Why do women dominate the American male?"

"Why is the American male afraid to be different?" and "Why does the American male work so hard?"

All of these, as you can easily see, are what lawyers call leading questions—they assume facts to be true before they are proved. Still, a lot of the implications that the three authors of this book make are true, whether we like to admit it or not—except for your columnist and the man who might happen to be reading this. American men are dominated by women, they are afraid to be different from anybody else, and they work too hard.

Coming up especially interesting to eastern Tarheels has just arrived from John F. Blair, publisher of Winston-Salem. It's called "The Hatterasman" and is about life in the region on and around Cape Hatteras, by a former reporter on a rival daily newspaper published in Raleigh. Ben Dixon MacNeill, who now lives in semi-retirement out on The Cape. We'll have a review of it here soon—it looks good. . . . The July selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club is "The Enemy Camp," by Jerome Weidman, about the complications ensuing when a Gentile and a Jew get married. . . . And in August the Literary Guild will offer "The Portuguese Escape," by Ann Bridge, concerning a beautiful Hungarian named Hetta who gets herself involved in a Communist plot after escaping to Portugal from Hungary. . . . Feature for Fall will be a new novel by Han Suyin, author of "A Many Splendored Thing," about love and passion in Khatmandu—in the Himalayan Mountains, in case you didn't know—to be entitled "The Mountain Is Young." We understand the manuscript has already been sold to Paramount Pictures for an unspecified sum—so if you can't read it you'll be able to catch it in cinemascope somewhere along the line. . . .

Disagreement Last week we mentioned plaintively that we couldn't get excited about the late James Agee's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel, "A Death in the Family"—which has never become a best seller. Literary critic Granville Hicks gives it a very

TV Stage Manager Fired Over Refusals

NEW YORK (AP) — The stage manager of the television show, "I've Got a Secret," has been fired for refusing to tell a congressional subcommittee whether he ever was a Communist.

Joseph Papp's dismissal by the Columbia Broadcasting System yesterday came just a day after Charles Dubin was fired as director of the NBC-TV quiz show, "Twenty One." Dubin had balked Wednesday before the subcommittee.

During two days of hearings by the House subcommittee on Un-American Activities, 17 witnesses invoked the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination. The other witness took the First Amendment, guaranteeing freedom of speech.

Arthur Lidel, American guest conductor for the Moseyev Russian dance company, also was dropped by the Ed Sullivan CBS-TV show for refusing to tell the subcommittee whether he is a Communist. He was to appear June 29 with the dance company on the Sullivan show.

The witnesses also included Benjamin Steinberg, violinist in the orchestra of the Broadway musical show "The Music Man," and Clifford Carpenter, an actor in "Sunrise at Campobello," a Broadway play. Steinberg refused to say whether he is a member of the Communist party. Carpenter denied present membership but declined to say whether he had been a member in the past five years.

Papp, who also has managed the free Central Park Shakespeare festivals here, told the subcommittee he is not now a member of the party, but he refused to say if he ever had been. Dubin also had said he is not now a Communist but refused to say whether he has a past Communist record.

"Our task is not an easy one," commented Rep. Morgan Moulder (D-Mo) chairman of the subcommittee, as the hearings concluded. "The Communist operations in the United States today are deeper underground, have a more clever camouflage and are accordingly more difficult to trace."

Improved Instruction Is To Be Conference Topic

Improvement of instruction through the co-ordinated efforts of administrators, supervisors and teachers will be discussed in a one-day conference under sponsorship of the East Carolina College Graduate School and Education Department on Monday, June 23.

Dr. Ed J. Carter, chairman of the Education Department, general chairman of the conference, has announced that Dr. Robert Lee Humber, of Greenville, will deliver the principal address entitled "A Comparative Look at the Schools of America and Europe."

Dr. J.K. Long, dean of Graduate Studies, is moderator of a panel of educators which will discuss the conference theme: "How May Administrators and Supervisors Better Work with Teachers in Improving Instruction?"

Panelists include D.H. Conley, Pitt County schools superintendent, Greenville; Mrs. Ellen Lewis Carroll, supervisor of instruction in the Greenville city schools; Morris S. Clary, superintendent of Edgecombe County schools; Calvin White, principal of Sunbury high school in Gates county; Miss Margaret Lewis, teacher in the Rocky Mount city schools; Dr. Clinton R. Frewett, chairman of the psychology department, and Dr. Mary Lois Staton, professor of education, both of East Carolina College.

The conference opens at 9 o'clock in the Joyner Memorial Library auditorium and the panel discussion will continue from 9:15 until 11 a.m. The address of Dr. Humber, international lawyer, civic leader, and authority on education and cultural affairs, is to begin at 11:15.

Dr. Carter, Dr. Long, and Dr. Staton, members of the committee planning the conference, announce that school principals, teachers and interested citizens are invited to attend. No registration fee is required.

Wins Recognition For Her Work On Browning At Recent Ceremony

Dr. Louise Greer, faculty member at East Carolina College and author of "Browning and America," received recognition for her work at a recent ceremony at Baylor University Waco, Texas, during which a long-lost recording of Robert Browning's voice was played. The Armstrong Browning Library at Baylor, established by the late Dr. A.J. Armstrong, is the largest collection in the world of materials about the poet.

In the printed folder distributed among guests, Dr. Greer's book is three times quoted to give an indication of the administration for Browning in this country during years when England was receiving his work coldly. Dr. Greer has just received from Mrs. A.J. Armstrong a letter praising her work and expressing thanks for permission to quote from it.

The reading of Browning's voice, made in 1889 at a dinner given by the noted artist Rudolph Lehmann, disappeared about 1890. Last summer it was found in the Gramophone Library of the British Broadcasting Co. The Armstrong Library secured a reproduction for its archives.

Whittling Has Special Merits

Whittlers, wherever they are, take their whittling seriously, and spend hour after hour piling up hills of tiny shavings as they discuss daily events of the community, nation and the world and reminisce of bygone eras.

Whittling is a time-honored pastime. Like barber shop harmony, country store checkers and cracker barrel oratory, it should be preserved. It should not be forced underground or to the back alleys by those who take offense as the little mounds of woodchips that are a natural result of pursuit of the avocation.

For these and other reasons, whittlers and would-be whittlers everywhere should come immediately to the support of the whittlers of Burkesville, Kentucky. There the Fiscal Court has outlawed whittling on the court house lawn. Moreover the court has announced that any offender who drops so much as a woodshaving on the lawn will face a $5 fine.

According to the court whittlers of Burkesville are making too much litter on the court house lawn. Their shavings are spoiling the beauty of the seat of the court.

We don't know, of course, but we'd guess that the whittlers on the Burkesville court house lawn don't give the court any trouble. We'd go so far as to hazard the opinion that the Burkesville whittlers have visited the court only as spectators rather than as individuals who have run afoul of the law.

The typical whittlers—and there must be a good many of them in Burkesville—tend to their whittling and their conversation. They don't have time to get into trouble with the law. They have time only for their whittling and other people who might like to pass a few pleasurable moments in wholesome conversation.

A community which seeks to eradicate whittling is one which doesn't have time for the finer things of life. It is one which somehow has failed to grasp the genuine beauty of an old man, his sharp knife and the soft scrap of wood that daily is reduced to shavings.

Outlaw whittling? They might as well outlaw the whistling of a barefoot boy on his way to a swimming hole; the feeding of pigeons on the shady community square; or the strolling of old ladies through the park.

The court that doesn't recognize the merits of whittling has somehow missed the mark in setting its scale of human values.

Retaining Adams Has Its Doubtful Aspects

If President Eisenhower feels so strongly that he needs Sherman Adams as his right-hand man in spite of Adams' relationships with industrialist Bernard Goldfine, there's little that can be done to remove Adams from his White House post.

But in retaining Adams, President Eisenhower is exercising the same poor judgment exercised by Adams in accepting gifts from Goldfine.

No man is indispensable.

Of all people, the President should know that. We are sure he holds Adams in high esteem. He also is confident the President feels that his tremendous task as Chief Executive has been made lighter because of Adams' help. Moreover the President now, as in the past, is showing his intense loyalty to his close associates in whom he has great confidence.

Yet if the public does not share the President's confidence in these men in high office, is the President putting the interest of better government first by keeping them in office?

A Presidential "I need him" is not sufficient reason to keep in high office an individual whose actions have reflected upon the integrity of the office he holds and other of the highest offices in the land. It is not sufficient reason to jeopardize public confidence in the nation's government.

Goldfine's Tax Returns Vital

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just how much friendship was involved in Sherman Adams' free-loading at the expense of Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine — should come to light in Goldfine's income tax returns.

Adams, President Eisenhower's right-hand man, calls Goldfine a textile manufacturer, an old-time family friend. But a key question is this:

When Goldfine paid the more than $2,000 in hotel bills which Adams charged to him, did he do it as a friend or did he deduct the money from his income tax as a business expense?

Adams — in the picture emerging from a House subcommittee inquiry into the Adams-Goldfine relationship — does not appear as a fast man with a buck.

A subcommittee investigation reported that Adams, while staying in Goldfine's hotel suite at Goldfine's expense, not only charged to Goldfine one dollar for a bowl of ice but a 25-cent tip for the bellboy who brought it.

Adams told the subcommittee this week that Goldfine had invited him to use without cost hotel suites in Boston, New York and Plymouth, Mass., and Adams did.

Friend or not, Goldfine in turn used Adams — who cooperated in being used — to obtain from the Federal Trade Commission information which the subcommittee counsel says should not, by FTC rule and by federal law, be revealed.

When Goldfine got in trouble with the FTC — for allegedly mis-labeling a fabric — instead of going to the agency to find out what it was all about, he went to Adams and asked him.

Adams asked the FTC for information, got it, and turned it over to Goldfine. Subcommittee counsel Robert Lishman says FTC rules and law forbid giving out this information. It contained the name of the company complaining against Goldfine.

Goldfine is said to be called before the subcommittee. Lishman then will be in a position to ask him whether he deducted Adams' hotel bills as a business expense.

The Internal Revenue Service will not reveal this kind of information to newsmen. Sometimes this information is given to a congressional committee, but only with presidential consent.

At his news conference Wednesday Eisenhower was asked if he would order the Internal Revenue Service to release the Goldfine income tax returns. He avoided a direct answer.

Adams denied he knew he was violating either an FTC rule or federal law in giving the FTC information to Goldfine. He pleaded inexperience, although he's the one Eisenhower depends on most in running the government.

Eisenhower let it be known he would not fire Adams. He said his No. 1 assistant might be imprudent but he was honest and besides, Eisenhower said, "I need him."

It's still questionable how long Adams will stay. Republicans are running for election to Congress this year will have the Adams-Goldfine case wrapped around their necks by the Democrats. They're not happy at the prospect.

Goldfine appears to be a man who not only does a lot of talking but brags about his relationship with public officials and the gifts he gives them. It remains to be seen what the subcommittee gets out of him.

Do We Need These?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Wives are always writing notes to themselves headed: "Things to do." Every now and then, however, when the foibles of civilization become oppressive, mankind ought to compose a different kind of list—a list of things we could all do without, a catalogue of expendables.

Here are a few personal nominations: The Russian problem, the Algerian problem, the Middle East problem — and the middle age problem.

The current vogue of "sick jokes" is this one: "E Pa, why is mama lying there so white and still?" "Shut up, and keep digging!"

Television Westerns in which every character needs a psychiatrist except the villain's horse.

People who greet you by patting your stomach and saying: "Still putting it on, eh?" The word "No!" when used by women.

People who have given up smoking, drinking and thinking—all at the same time.

Books about decadence in the suburbs. All books over 300 pages long. Inflation.

People who wear sunglasses on cloudy days. Fond parents who insist on showing you photos of their children.

Pet owners who buy expensive items such as gold identification tags or mink jackets for dogs. Martinis made with gin.

People who begin a conversation with "Now I'm as tolerant as the next guy, but..." Do-it-yourself books. It's time we let the experts do things again.

People who tell other people, who are minding their own business, "What you need is a hobby."

Fat men who persist in wearing plaid caps three sizes too small for them.

Fat ladies who wear a bikini, although they are three sizes too large for one.

Bosses who begin a conversation with "No look, this is harder for me than it is for you."

Bosses who brag, "I never asked a man to do anything I wouldn't do myself."

People who say out loud to elevator attendants, "Guess you have your ups and downs. Heh, heh, heh."

Wives who ask their husbands, "Notice anything different about me to dear?"

Red-blooded Americans who say in art galleries, "I don't know much about art—but I know what I like."

People who blame the plight of the world on one thing: "The trouble is, we're getting too soft."

Today, the best hope for sanity in the sea-sick and coastal—is the psychological campaign launched last year by yachtman Harry Williams, vice president of American Chain and Cable Company. This sea-sick sailor's reaction to skylarking on the water is "Thumbs down, don't clown," a slogan that is conveyed to the offender by a fist with the thumb pointing to Davy Jones' locker. —Leader-Times, Kittanning, Pa.

Legalized idleness is as busy a devil's workshop as any other kind of idleness. And in a state of society where we've conditioned ourselves to call idleness leisure, the devil has overtime shifts. Our forefathers were not necessarily saintlier or more virtuous than we are today. But they had a six-day week and a ten-hour day and they regarded boyhood as a period of preparation for making a career of six-day weeks and ten-hour days. —Jackson (Miss.) Daily News.

Things Noted In Passing

In this day of the boating craze and participating in the Aleutian Campaign, House conceived or gave birth to the idea of the Army having its own broadcasting stations with low power to entertain all the troops in the various services—the Navy, the Marines and the Air Corps, included with the Army. He brought the idea to fruition at Kodiak, Alaska, in 1941 with the approval of Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, commanding general of the Alaska Defense Command at the time.

This created quite a controversy between the Federal Communications Commission and the various branches of the service that were to benefit from the establishment of such entertainment broadcasting stations all over the world.

It was shortly resolved when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt injected himself into the matter. Thus from the idea and establishment of the first army entertainment station by House grew the vast organization still known as the Armed Forces Radio Service.

House was released from active duty in 1946 and for the past 12 years he has been associated with the president of the Columbia Broadcasting System in various enterprises.

He, his wife and daughter reside at 184 Forest Drive, Oak Park, Jeffersonville, Indiana. He commands the 357th Engineer Construction Group which consists of four battalions and two separate companies.

Seems the driver was busy shaving his stubble as he rolled merrily along the street.

Fire Chief George Gardner has passed along a copy of the March, 1958 issue of the North Carolina State College News.

In it is contained an article about a Greenville boy who made good in the U. S. Army in a big way, and also in civilian life.

He is Daniel Murray House, the son of Mrs. A. R. House of 318 E. 10th St. in Greenville and the late Mr. House.

House, a graduate of the N.C. State class of 1933 has recently been promoted to full colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve Corps of Engineers, according to the article.

Col. House began his military career in Greenville while in Greenville High School," the magazine says. "He served as a teen-ager under Capt. J. Con Lanier and Capt. Herbert Waldrop, Sr., who were the commanding officers of the Greenville Battery of the 113th Field Artillery in the late 1920's and early 1930's."

"He continued his military education while attending N. C. State College from 1929 to 1933 where he graduated with high honors in Electrical Engineering. During his senior year at State he was the Cadet Major of the First Battalion and therefore one of the our ranking cadets in the ROTC program."

The article credits House with setting up the army's first entertainment radio stations, something which is now accepted by service personnel stationed throughout the world.

He went on active duty in August, 1940 as a 1st lieutenant. The story continued:

He is Daniel Murray House, the son of Mrs. A. R. House of 318 E. 10th St. in Greenville and the late Mr. House.

House, a graduate of the N.C. State class of 1933 has recently been promoted to full colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve Corps of Engineers, according to the article.

Col. House began his military career in Greenville while in Greenville High School," the magazine says. "He served as a teen-ager under Capt. J. Con Lanier and Capt. Herbert Waldrop, Sr., who were the commanding officers of the Greenville Battery of the 113th Field Artillery in the late 1920's and early 1930's."

"He continued his military education while attending N. C. State College from 1929 to 1933 where he graduated with high honors in Electrical Engineering. During his senior year at State he was the Cadet Major of the First Battalion and therefore one of the our ranking cadets in the ROTC program."

The article credits House with setting up the army's first entertainment radio stations, something which is now accepted by service personnel stationed throughout the world.

He went on active duty in August, 1940 as a 1st lieutenant. The story continued:

"While serving in the Aleutians and participating in the Aleutian Campaign, House conceived or gave birth to the idea of the Army having its own broadcasting stations with low power to entertain all the troops in the various services—the Navy, the Marines and the Air Corps, included with the Army. He brought the idea to fruition at Kodiak, Alaska, in 1941 with the approval of Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, commanding general of the Alaska Defense Command at the time.

This created quite a controversy between the Federal Communications Commission and the various branches of the service that were to benefit from the establishment of such entertainment broadcasting stations all over the world.

It was shortly resolved when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt injected himself into the matter. Thus from the idea and establishment of the first army entertainment station by House grew the vast organization still known as the Armed Forces Radio Service.

House was released from active duty in 1946 and for the past 12 years he has been associated with the president of the Columbia Broadcasting System in various enterprises.

He, his wife and daughter reside at 184 Forest Drive, Oak Park, Jeffersonville, Indiana. He commands the 357th Engineer Construction Group which consists of four battalions and two separate companies.

Seems the driver was busy shaving his stubble as he rolled merrily along the street.

Fire Chief George Gardner has passed along a copy of the March, 1958 issue of the North Carolina State College News.

In it is contained an article about a Greenville boy who made good in the U. S. Army in a big way, and also in civilian life.

Near $5 Million Windfall Ahead

By LYNN NISBET

WINDFALL — Nearly $5 million will be put into channels of commerce in North Carolina within the next 60 days as a result of the retroactive pay raises for some 28,000 Federal employees.

Exact number of participants and exact amount to be distributed cannot be ascertained, because of the diverse classifications of Federal government workers with differing shares in the back pay windfall. The pay raise bill signed last week by President Eisenhower will add an average of 10 per cent to the salary checks of all covered employees. The raise is retroactive to January 1, which means that besides the bigger monthly checks from how many workers will get separate checks for back pay ranging from $100 to $800.

It is estimated that slightly more than a million and a half employees will draw $370 million in lump sum back pay.

IN STATE — Figures obtained from the State Department of Labor, which administers the Federal wage-hour law in North Carolina, and from the U. S. Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee on the number of Federal employees in North Carolina are slightly different.

The department reports that in May of this year there were 28,976 civilians on regular government payrolls in the State. The Senate committee gives the number as 28,237. Both sources credit defense installations with the largest number of civilian workers.

The State agency notes 9,941, the Senate committee 9,871. Next come the post office employees where the widest discrepancy occurs. The State lists 8,901, the Senate 8,926. Civilian occupants account for 9,224 on State record, 9,440 in the Senate committee. The variation is probably due to the fact that the state department lists all employees while the Senate committee apparently counts only those under civil service.

PAY ROLL — The total annual payroll for the Federal employees in North Carolina amounts to $93.5 million. The 10 per cent raise will add $9.35 million or more than three quarters of a million dollars a month. The retroactive feature will mean that within the next few weeks more than $4.6 million will come into the state. That will be for most part unbudgeted money, available for paying debts, buying new clothes or a car or taking a trip.

Economists have figured the turn-over of trade dollars at the ratio of about seven to one. Stated another way, each dollar is spent seven times. That means the original $4.6 million will be pyramided into $32 million business. Of course, the Federal and State governments will get about a million back in direct income and excise taxes. The remaining $3.5 million, plus, will generate 25 million worth of trading and trafficking.

SURPRISES — It may surprise some folks to learn that there are more government civilian workers in defense projects than in the postal service in this state, and that almost half as many people work for the Veterans Administration as for the Post Office Department. The terrific cost of war, past and prospective, is further illustrated by the fact that of the 28,237 listed by the Senate committee 13,941 (over 49 per cent) are in defense and veterans administration jobs.

Further surprise may come from realization that there are almost as many Federal employees in North Carolina as there are in the State of North Carolina, exclusive of public school teachers. Uniformed personnel stationed at North Carolina bases also will get pay raises, meaning more money for local spending. In addition to the salaries paid civilian and uniformed personnel, the defense department is spending many millions in construction at Harvey's Point, Seymour Johnson and other bases in Eastern Carolina.

GREAT SEAL — The new road maps published by the Highway Commission have the Great Seal of the State of North Carolina printed in color. The circle border is bright yellow, with outline tracings of red on the letters. The figures of women representing Liberty and Plenty are in almost white, and shown against a background of green mountains, bright blue sky and darker blue ocean upon which a schooner rides with white sails against a blue sky.

This is believed to be the first time the Great Seal has been "colored up" in any official State publication. There is no legal authorization for the color, and no statutory ban against it. Fact is, statutory specifications for the Great Seal are very scant. Acts of 1869, 1883 and 1893 fix some details. The seal must be 2 1/2 inches in diameter; in the circle around it must be the words "The Great Seal of the State of North Carolina," and the motto "Esse Quam Videri." To be rather than to seem. Just inside the top of the circle must appear the date May 20, 1775. Figures of women, one standing and holding a staff upon which a liberty cap is hung in her left hand, and another seated with a scroll labeled "Constitution" in the other; one sitting with three grains of wheat in her right hand, a horn of plenty in her left. There are no specifications about background.

The Seal printed in the State Manual and on official documents shows a background of mountains and ocean with a wheat field in the foreground. Other designs show factories and steamships.

The Great Seal of the State of North Carolina is the only piece of property for which the constitution specifically makes the Governor responsible. The final step which completes the inauguration of a new chief executive is when the retiring Governor officially delivers the Great Seal to his successor. For these reasons many people feel that the next session of the Legislature should further specify what the Great Seal should be like.

"That price-fixing scheme paradoxically known as 'fair trade' dies hard. It has been on the death list for months. In 16 states, the so-called fair trade laws have been invalidated by the courts. And across the land, one manufacturer after another has voluntarily abandoned 'fair trade' because of a growing rebellion by dealers."—Nashville Tennessean.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
AMID THE STARS
An astronomer died some time ago. On his tombstone his family engraved a statement that they had often heard him make. It was this: "We have lived too long among the stars ever to fear the night!"
The higher we get up in the spheres of God's influence, the less do we fear God in that morbid, devastating fashion which both religion and psychology utterly condemn. There is a fear of God which is legitimate and wholesome. It is the fear which a dutiful child has lest in some possible way he bring grief to a beloved parent. But the fear men have of God as the destroyer, as the vengeful deity out to consume them for their iniquity—this is evil in every way.
How strange that we, living in the most comfortable world humanity has known, should be afraid. Yet it cannot be denied that fear is one of the scourges of these times. We do not fear the same things our ancestors did, but fear we do still, and fear is as devastating for us as it has ever been for those who preceded us.
Let us live among the stars—not necessarily as the astronomer did, but as we all may do by lifting up our hearts to the highest realm that eye and hand and aspiration can reach. Those who make it a point to strive life from as great heights as possible are living their lives as God intended they should. Because they live amid the stars, they cease to fear the night.

The Darndest Recession Ever

By ELMER ROESSNER

This continues to be the darndest recession — if it really was a recession to begin with — and if it is, it is the most ready-made boom.

Employment has been down. That makes the recession very real for the man who has been laid off. But, on the other hand, the stock market averages have made considerable gains recently, although they are still under the highs of the last three years. Personal income is up over comparable periods last year. Our average was an annual rate of $344.3 billion, compared with $343.2 billion a year ago. What kind of a recession has this been, anyway, with people getting more money?

And retail sales in May were slightly higher than in May, 1957. UP MORE $120,000,000. According to Census Bureau estimates, total retail sales in May were $17,325,000,000 compared with $17,205,000,000 in May, 1957. Percentage-wise, that's a small gain. But if we had a recession going on last month, what was happening in May, 1957? If memory serves, we were heading toward a new peak in the postwar boom.

The preliminary May figures show that of nine major kinds of business, there were declines in only three.

The figures, in millions, follow:

	May, 1958	May, 1957
Food	$4,440	$4,043
Eating & drinking places	1,280	1,253
General merchandise	7,566	7,723
Auto	1,063	998
Furniture and appliance	817	873
Lumber, bldg. mtrls.	1,281	1,322
Automotive	3,069	3,550
Gasoline service stations	1,356	1,293
Drug & proprietary stores	547	520

In addition to these groups, there are many smaller lines not included. Auto sales while down from a year ago were $135,000,000 up over April of this year.

APRIL SALES DOWN

More detailed figures on April retail sales are now available. They show that the April total was 1 per cent below the April, 1957 mark.

Again, the total was lower by a 12 per cent decline in household appliance and radio store sales, and a 13 per cent drop in the automobile group. However, the liquor, liquor stores, etc. group of stores showed a gain of 2 per cent over year-age figures.

Biggest gains in April were registered by meat markets, up 14 per cent, largely because of higher prices; liquor stores, up 7 per cent; and grocery stores, up 7 per cent. Gains of 4 per cent were made by bakeries, restaurants, and drugstores.

The April details also rounded out the picture for the first four months of the year. They show neither gain nor loss, in total, from the first four months of 1957. The rises and declines roughly corresponded with those of April with two notable exceptions. Women's ready-to-wear stores showed a 8 per cent decline in April but a 4 per cent gain for the four months, and family clothing stores showed a modest 1 per cent rise in April but a whopping 13 per cent rise for the first four months.

If you take all the figures in this story and run them through an electronic computer, you will see that they add up to a very strange recession.

SNOWBALLS IN JUNE HELP SELL FREEZERS

Arizona appliance dealers are conducting a statewide snowball sale in June promotion to boost sales of freezers.

Advertisements invite the public to visit participating stores and pick a snowball out of a display freezer. If the snowball contains a lucky number, the picker gets six choice steaks.

Who are the Strong? (Temperance) ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Judges 6:1-8; 7:15-22; 8:22-23; 15:11-15; 16:15-21.

Because the people disobeyed the Lord, He made the Midians conquer Israel. The people prayed for help, and the Lord sent an angel to tell Gideon that He would be with him to drive their enemies from the land.

God commanded Gideon to take only 300 men armed with trumpets and lamps in pitchers. As the Midians slept, Gideon and his men smashed the pitchers, held up the lamps, blew the trumpets and the Midians fled.

The children of Israel begged Gideon and his sons to rule over them for delivering them from the Midians. Gideon refused, saying, "I will not rule over you, neither shall my son . . . the Lord shall rule over you."

Samson killed a thousand Philistines with the jawbone of an ass. To Philistine Delilah he confessed his strength was in his hair, so she had it cut as he slept; his strength left. MEMORY VERSE—Romans 8:13.

Who Are the Strong? (Temperance)

GIDEON AND SAMSON APPOINTED TO FREE ISRAEL FROM THEIR ENEMIES

Scripture—Judges 6, 7, 15-15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE LESSON today relates the story of two strong men who were chosen by the Lord to free their people from the Midians and Philistines. We shall see who was the stronger, although both succeeded in their aims.

"And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord; and the Lord delivered them into the hand of Midian seven years."—Judges 6:1. In dire distress the Israelites turned to the Lord to deliver them. The Midianites "encamped against them, and destroyed the increase of the earth, till thou come unto Gaza, and left no sustenance for Israel, neither sheep, nor ox, nor ass."—Judges 6:4.

Gideon, son of Joash, "threshed wheat by the winepress, to hide it from the Midianites," when an angel of the Lord appeared to him, saying "The Lord is with thee, thou mighty man of valour."

Go in thy might, and thou shalt save Israel from the hand of the Midianites: have not I sent thee?"—Judges 6:11-14. We have not space enough to go into all the details, but Gideon at first told the angel that he was only a humble man and not fitted for this herculean task.

However, after he was convinced that the being who visited him was really a messenger from the Lord, he consented.

That night he broke down the altar to Baal. When he was accused, he said that if Baal was really a god he could save himself.

Under the guidance of the Lord Gideon chose only 300 men to go with him into battle. In the night, with the Midianites asleep in the valley, "Gideon divided the 300 men into three companies, and he put a trumpet in every man's hand, with empty pitchers, and lamps within the pitchers. And he said unto them, Look on me, and do likewise: and behold, when I come to the outside of the camp, it shall be that, as I do, so shall ye do. When I blow with a trumpet, I and all that are with me, then blow ye the trumpet."

also on every side of all the camp, and say, The sword of the Lord, and of Gideon."—Judges 7:16-18. So the men did as directed and the Midianites, thinking they were surrounded by a mighty force, fled in terror and were pursued and slain.

After his triumph over the enemy, the people begged Gideon to rule over them and his sons after him, but he refused.

The other strong man's mother was told by an angel of the Lord that she would bear a son and his name should be Samson. She was to drink no wine nor strong drink. The Lord was with him, and as he grew to manhood he became very strong, and slew many Philistines.

In revenge the Philistines bound him with strong new ropes. Then the spirit of the Lord came upon him and "the cords that were upon his arms became as flax that he burnt with fire, and his bands loosed from off his hands. And he found a new jawbone of an ass, and put forth his hand, and took it, and slew a thousand men therewith."—Judges 15:14-15. But, alas! in Gaza—the southernmost city on Palestine's coast on the border of Egypt, in the Gaza Strip which has been the object of much conflict and bloodshed during recent years, he was enticed by a wicked woman, Delilah. She persuaded him to tell her the secret of his strength, which was his hair. While he slept with his head on the woman's lap, she ordered a man to cut off his hair, and when he awoke, his strength had left him.

The Philistines then put out his eyes and made him labor at the most menial tasks. However, he had his revenge when his strength returned. At a time when the Philistines were to offer a sacrifice to their god, Dagon, they called for Samson to torment him. Praying for a last return of his strength he pulled two pillars from under the roof of the building, and its celebrants and Samson himself were all killed.

Which was truly the stronger man?

Musial... Mays, And Now Spahn In Throes Of Slump

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

First Stan Musial. Then Willie Mays. Now it's Warren Spahn. Milwaukee's standout southpaw, who has been hit by the slump epidemic sweeping the National League.

Spahn, one of the all-time great left-handers, was off on a streak in pursuit of his ninth season of 20 or more victories. He was the first to win eight, May 31. He hasn't won since.

He lost his third in a row last night, again beaten by a gopher ball, as the Chicago Cubs hammered four home runs for a 5-4 decision that held the Braves' Open champion edge to two games. Rookie Tony Taylor's first major league homer was the clincher in the ninth.

It was the 11th homer given up by Spahn in the three-game slump, nine of 'em by the Cubs—who started his skid with five home runs in a 9-6 decision June 10. Second place San Francisco—with Mays sent to a New York hospital for a check-up—was beaten 6-5 at Pittsburgh. Philadelphia rapped Los Angeles 9-3. Cincinnati and St. Louis were idled by rain.

In the American League, the New York Yankees hit five home runs for a 9-3 victory at Cleveland. Early Wynn tossed a two-hitter that beat Boston 4-0 for the Chicago White Sox. Washington ended Detroit's winning streak at five games 4-3 and Baltimore defeated Kansas City 4-2.

Spahn now 8-4 has given up 18 home runs this season, 14 of them in the games he lost. He allowed only 23 homers all last year.

Walt Moryn, who now has hit 15, counted a pair off Spahn last night and Al Dark got the other. But it was Taylor who was in Spahn's hair. He stole home for a 1-0 lead in the first inning, then cracked a 4-4 tie with his homer that chased Spahn with one out in the ninth.

Right-hander Ray Semproch won his eighth for the Phils and had a no-hitter for 6 1/3 innings. He had a three-hit shutout until the ninth, when Joe Pignatano, who hit his first major league homer Wednesday, socked No. 2 and Duke Snider belted his fifth. Stan Lopata hit a three-run homer in the first and the Phils then scored five in the third with six consecutive hits off starter-losing Johnny Podres (7-5) and Don Drysdale.

Southpaw Don Gross fanned pinch-hitter Jim Finigan to save Ronnie Kline's seventh victory for the Pirates after the Giants had scored three in the ninth, two on rookie Bob Schmidt's ninth homer. The Pirates beat Al Worthington (5-3) with four in the seventh, triggered by Bob Skinner's two-run sixth homer.

Bolt Out Front Of Pack In Flint

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A new attitude, new driver and some small tablets "to keep me from getting so dogone hungry" had Tommy Bolt in front of the pack that entered the second round of the $52,000 Flint Open golf tournament today.

While the newly crowned U.S. Open champion stroked into the lead in one of the richest tournaments on the circuit, the game's biggest drawing card was in danger of failing to survive the 36-hole cut for the second straight week.

Sam Snead, one of the pre-tournament favorites despite the fact he failed to qualify for the final 36 holes of last week's U.S. Open, had a six-over-par 78 that left him nine strokes off the pace.

Bolt's three-under-par 69, fashioned mainly from a blazing putter that counted seven one-putt greens, pooh-poohed the so-called letdown that has plagued such golfers as Cary Middlecoff, Ed Furkel, Jack Fleck and Dick Mayer after their National Open triumphs.

"I had my letdown the day after I won it," said Bolt, who claims he has abdicated as king of the club throwers. "I stayed in bed all day. Just couldn't bring myself to get up. Maybe there is extra strain and stuff like that, but I don't notice it now."

Bolt, who held a one stroke advantage over Bill Casper Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., said he is using a lighter driver that Al Beselink gave him, although he used the old one successfully during his Open victory.

Other par breakers at 71 are Doug Sanders, the Western Open winner from Miami Beach; George Bayer, the California pro who is a favorite here because of his long hitting; compact Ted Kroil of Sarasota, Fla.; Gene Litter of Singing Hills, Calif., and Tom Nieporte of St. Andrews, Ill.

Mike DeJohn Is 7-5 Choice To Whip Bob Baker

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Mike DeJohn, a handsome heavyweight with a great potential, is a 7-5 choice to whip Bob Baker of Pittsburgh in a television 10-rounder at War Memorial Auditorium tonight.

A red hot contender eight months ago, the 26-year-old Syracuse slammer now needs a decisive victory over the 31-year-old Baker to get back in the limelight.

Last October the rangy, hard-hitting DeJohn scored a sensational one-round knockout over then unbeaten Alex Miteff of Argentina. But the easy-going, fun-loving youngster seems content to rest on his laurels. Instead of bearing down on the rest of the contenders he remained on the sidelines until last April 23 when he met Cuba's Nino Valdes, who beat Mike by a narrow, split decision.

Rosewall Faces Rough Schedule

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—This is tiny Ken Rosewall's schedule in the $15,000 tournament of tennis champions—Pancho Gonzales tonight, Lew Had tomorrow afternoon. That's a 24-hour grind against the supreme sluggers of pro tennis.

"The good players always get an easy schedule," the little Australian laughed. "I better get some sleep."

If Rosewall wins both matches, he'll grab the $3,000 brass ring in the six-match round robin. His record is 4-0 after last night's 6-3, 6-3 victory over another Aussie, Rex Hartwig.

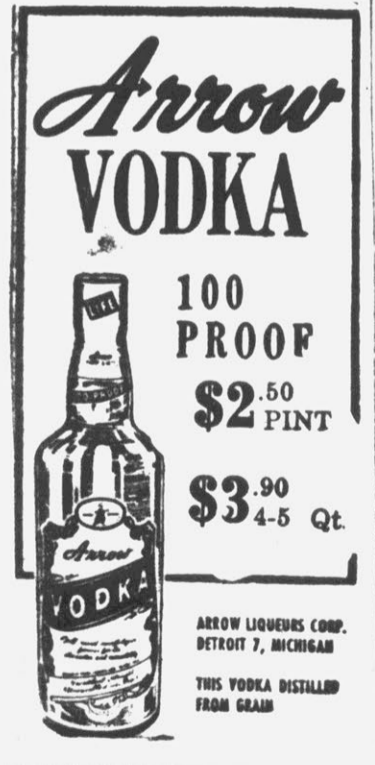

Gonzales, the pro king from Los Angeles, is 3-0 and Aussie Had is 3-1. Had stopped 37-year-old Pancho Segura, 6-2, 9-7 last night before 5,000 chilled fans while Gonzales was idle.

Of the other four pros, only Tony Trabert has an outside chance to tie for first place. He's 2-2 after an 8-6, 8-6 triumph last night over Australian Frank Sedgman, who stands 0-3. Segura is 1-3 and Hartwig 0-4.

The tourney schedule set up a Sunday climax between Gonzales and Had as the likely decisive match. But Rosewall's touch-and-go game has changed that.

"If Kenny beats me and then Lew," warned Gonzales, "it's all over Saturday. Kenny doesn't play Sunday. Lew and I'll be playing for second money."

Gonzales knows what he must do to beat Rosewall's brilliant backhand, rated the best in tennis since Don Budge. "I know it. And he knows it," Pancho admits. "I'll play to his forehand. His backhand is too good. A lot will also depend on my return of service. I've got to keep the ball away from him. If not, he hits a very offensive volley."

'Sugar' Hart Has Woman Troubles

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two women say Garnett (Sugar) Hart, 22, a welterweight boxer, is the father of their children. A third woman accuses him of falling $1,017 behind in his support payments for two of her children.

The accusations were disclosed yesterday when Hart was defendant in three separate actions in municipal court.

He was excused temporarily in the first case. Hart said he was going to marry the girl tomorrow. He was held in $500 bail for trial in the second case. He promised to pay support in the third case and won a court postponement until August.

Pitcher, Fielder Stars For Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Danville pitcher Andy Yetso and High Point-Thomasville left-fielder Reggie Heavener were stars in Carolina League games last night.

Heavener hit two home runs and drove in nine runs to set the pace as the second place Hi-Toms routed Burlington 11-4 at Graham. His RBI total tied the league record set in 1956 by Ed Cook of Fayetteville. Heavener hit a three-run homer in the fourth, another three-run roundtripper in the fifth, a one-run triple in the sixth and a two-run single in the eighth.

Yetso spaced 10 hits effectively as first place Danville whipped Raleigh 5-1. He left 10 Raleigh runners stranded, walked one and struck out four. It was his ninth win against three losses.

The Durham Bulls climbed out of last place for the second time in three days by trouncing Greensboro 11-4. An eight-run outburst in the fourth highlighted the victory before 2,506 fans.

Wilson scored all its runs on two homers to post a 4-2 win over Winston-Salem. Jim Burton blasted a bases-empty homer in the third. In the fourth Al Barth homered with two aboard.

Tonight's games: Durham at Danville, Raleigh at Wilson, Burlington at Greensboro, and Winston-Salem at Hi-Toms.

Pepsi-Cola Adds Second Win In A Row To Record

Bill Veeck In Greenville

Bill Veeck, former general manager of the Cleveland Indians baseball team, visited Greenville today.

Now affiliated with the National Broadcasting Company Sports Division, Veeck is sportscaster of the NBC televised game of the week each Saturday.

The appearance of Veeck in Eastern North Carolina this week was arranged through NBC and its affiliate, Station WITN in Washington. The former major leaguer was honored at an informal breakfast at 8:30 this morning at the Silo Restaurant. J. G. Proctor and James W. Butler acted hosts at the affair. Butler and Proctor were invited by Station WITN Public Relations Director Clint Paris to host Veeck and other NBC guests during their visit to Greenville.

This evening at 6:30 at the local Kiwanis Club, Veeck will speak to the Greenville Kiwanians.

Other appearances scheduled for the baseball personality in this area are at Rocky Mount and Havelock Thursday, and Kinston Kiwanis Club luncheon Friday.

This afternoon at 5:00, Veeck made a television appearance at WITN.

Loss Drops Exchange To Bottom Place

TAR HEEL LEAGUE
Pepsi-Cola 2 0
Elks 1 0
Moose 0 1
Exchange 0 2

Frank Harper and the Pepsi-Cola Little Leaguers edged the Exchange club yesterday at Elm Street Park, 6-5, to take over un-disputed lead in the Tar Heel circuit.

Harper hurled five-hit baseball for the Pepsi-Cola club, striking out four batters and walking one. His opponent on the mound, little Jimmy Medlin stayed up with Harper all the way until the sixth inning.

After pitching three-hit ball for the Exchange club for five innings, Medlin lost his touch in the sixth and was slugged for five baseruns. The Pepsi-Cola crew pulled in six runs on those hits and it meant the difference between losing and winning.

Chisox Have 4 Shutouts So Lopez Makes His Point

By ED WILKS

Okay, so Al Lopez has made his point. Those winter trades that peddled power for pitching have helped give his Chicago White Sox shutouts in five games. But they're still seventh in the American League race, 11 1/2 games behind.

Jim Wilson, Dick Donovan and Billy Pierce, three old hands, pitched consecutive shutouts, and after taking a five-home run pounding from Boston Wednesday, the White Sox beat the Red Sox 4-0 yesterday on the two-hit pitching of Early Wynn.

The veteran right-hander, acquired from Cleveland, now has a pair of two-hitters for the season, and owns half of the six shutouts bagged by the Chicago staff. Yesterday's showpiece, in which he faced 30 men and didn't give up a hit after the sixth, was his 36th major league shutout and his 10th two-hitter in the big time.

The White Sox didn't gain an inch on the first place New York Yankees, who rapped five homers and beat Cleveland 9-3 for a three-game sweep that left 'em nine games ahead of second place Boston. Washington junked its slump at five games, and ended Detroit's winning string at five, with a 4-3 decision. Baltimore jumped into fifth with a 4-2 victory at Kansas City.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs better four home runs and handed Warren Spahn his third consecutive defeat 5-4 at Milwaukee. That held the Braves' lead at two games over second place San Francisco, beaten 6-5 at Pittsburgh. Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 9-3. Cincinnati and St. Louis were idled by rain.

Wynn, now 7-5, walked but two and struck out eight. He leads active major leaguers with 1,705 strikeouts in his 18-year career. He gave up a second-inning single by Frank Malzone and a sixth inning single by loser Frank Sullivan (4-2). Wynn fanned Ted Williams for the last out.

Early Wynn scored the only run he needed himself, on Billy Goodman's third-inning sacrifice fly. Andy Carey hit two of the Yankee homers, giving him eight. Both were off reliever Bob Lemon. Home runs by Enos Slaughter and Elston Howard gave New York a 3-0 lead in the second against rookie Gary Bell, who lost his first in three decisions. Hank Bauer got the other Yank homer, while Rocky Colavito hit his 11th, with one on, in the ninth for the Indians. Johnny Kucks (5-3) went all the way with an eight-hitter.

The Orioles, in last place before sweeping three at Kansas City, took it on Gene Woodling's two-run homer in the eighth off Ned Garver, who has lost three in a row. Ken Lehman won it in relief for the Birds, now just a half game out of third and two shy of second.

Li'l Albie Pearson doubled home a tie-breaking run in a two-run seventh for the Senators, then tripled home the winner in the ninth. Dick Hyde saved Russ Kemmerer's fourth victory, putting down the Tigers after they scored two unearned runs in the ninth. Paul Foytack (5-7) dropped his third straight.

Spill Spells Violent End For A Veteran

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—A spectacular spill in a stakes race at Hollywood Park yesterday brought a violent end to Jackie Westrope's 25-year riding career.

He passed the pack on the outside and was ahead, 70 yards from the wire, when his mount bolted into the rail. Westrope was thrown.

The 40-year-old former national riding champion hit the rail so hard, a track official said, he bent almost double—backward—around it.

He died less than two hours later, despite plasma and oxygen.

Westrope began big-time racing at 15 and in that year—1932—rode 361 winners to become national champion. In ensuing years he had 2,439 winners from 17,136 mounts. In money winnings he ranked 10th nationally with a total of $8,944,002.

A friend who accompanied him to Centinela Hospital after the accident said:

"There wasn't a mark on him. But he was all broken up inside."

Doctors said he suffered severe internal injuries and fractures of the shoulder, arm, elbow and ribs. An autopsy will be performed.

No inquiry is planned at the track. "The only one at fault was the horse," said a Hollywood Park official.

His mount, a 3-year-old filly named Well Away, began lugging in toward the rail near the end of the $28,350 Hollywood Oaks, a mile and an eighth feature event. Said Wendell Cassidy, presiding race steward:

"Westrope was doing all he could to straighten her—even hitting her alongside the rail. Suddenly the filly bolted into the fence, throwing Westrope."

Fred Smith was killed at the same track in 1951. Other spills claimed Georgie Woolf at Santa Anita in 1946 and Richard Thompson at Gulfstream in 1952.

In his quarter-century of riding Westrope bootied many a famous horse to victory in big stakes races.

Amont his wins were the 1938 Santa Anita Derby, on Stagehand; the 1939 San Juan Capistrano at Santa Anita, aboard Cravat; the 1954 Jersey Stakes, with War of Roses.

He rode Honeymoon to victory in the 1946 inaugural of the Hollywood Oaks, the race in which he died.

Westrope had made headlines on practically every big track in North America.

In 1945 he was grounded at Del Mar for a rough ride aboard Ace Hudkins. In 1952 he rode Intent to an apparent victory in the Santa Anita Handicap—but stewards said he fouled Mische in the home stretch and he drew a 34-day suspension.

Westrope was born in Baker, Mont., and rode his first bush track win at Lemon, S.D., when he was 12.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Westrope of suburban Monrovia, were at the hospital when he died.

He also leaves his widow, Cecilia, and four daughters, Pam, 14, Jan, 13, Jackie, 2, and Jill, 3 months. Pam and Jan are daughters by his first wife, actress Nan Gray, now the wife of singer Frankie Laine.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITCHING: Early Wynn, White Sox — Gave up only a pair of singles, walked two and struck out eight in 4-0 victory over the Red Sox, his second two-hitter of the season and third shutout.

HITTING: Tony Taylor, Cubs—Doubled and stole home in the first inning, then socked his first major league home run in the ninth for 5-4 victory over the Braves.

Yesterday's Pepsi win was the first break in the standings since the beginning of the second half of play. Before yesterday, both Pepsi-Cola and the Elks were tied at 1-0, while the Exchange and Moose clubs were tied at 0-1. Today, for the first time, there is an established leader and second, third, and fourth places are filled.

At present, the North State League is still in a two-way deadlock with the Lions and the VFW holding 1-0 marks while the Kiwanis and the Jayces have 0-1 slates.

Reds Offer New Incentives For More Farm Production

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party today announced another step in Premier Khrushchev's plans to beat U.S. agricultural production by giving Russian farmers more incentive to grow more.

The party's Central Committee announced collective farms no longer will be required to deliver a large part of their output to the government at a fixed low price.

Instead, a new pricing system will be established for the entire output of collective farms. It aims to introduce an element of competition for low-cost, efficient production.

A report on the Central Committee meeting of about 250 members on Tuesday and Wednesday also said two men were promoted to alternate membership in the committee's ruling Presidium, the key unit of power in Russia. It has had 15 full members and 9 alternates.

The two are N.V. Qobgorny, first secretary of the Ukrainian Communist party, and Premier D. S. Poldansky of the Russian Federation, largest republic in the Soviet Union.

(There was no mention that the Central Committee meeting produced a shakeup in the Kremlin leadership, as Western observers had speculated might be taking place. Both the changes in the agricultural system and the promotion of Qobgorny and Poldansky indicated Khrushchev still was in control.)

The committee decisions were based on a farm policy speech by Khrushchev. Publication of the speech — possibly tomorrow — may clarify some points left vague in the published plan.

The announcement said the new plan will go into effect this year but did not specify when.

The committee made clear, however, that it is not relaxing controls over production. It said under the new pricing system "all quotas to the state must be maintained." Presumably the surplus still will be available for the open market.

It also decreed an end of the payment-in-kind system. Collectives had paid their products for such services as machine plowing. Past payment-in-kind debts were written off and indebtedness in compulsory deliveries also was abolished.

Khrushchev's proclaimed goal in changing the agricultural system established under Stalin is to overtake the United States in farm production. The committee report boasted that "in recent years the Soviet Union has approached the volume of U.S. agriculture output in a number of products. In creation items (it) has even surpassed the level attained in the U.S.A."

AWAY FROM IT ALL

A 13% increase in ship travel to Europe during the first three months of 1958 over 1956 has been announced by the Trans-Atlantic Passenger Conference. This is probably the highest first-quarter figure since 1930.

The Panhandle, so-called because of its shape at the top of Texas, is an area larger than Pennsylvania.

Shipping Strike Effects Spread

NEW YORK (AP) — A five-day-old strike by marine engineers today continued its slow paralysis of American-flag shipping in East and Gulf Coast ports.

Negotiations between the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. and the American Merchant Marine Institute, the employer group, have been stalled since Wednesday.

Five voyages by Grace Lines ships were cancelled yesterday.

The huge liner America's scheduled sailing for Europe with 1,000 passengers late today also was threatened. An MEBA picket line was set up yesterday on the pier where the America is docked.

Officials of the International Longshoremen's Assn. said later they would not honor MEBA picket lines. The Master Mates and Pilots Union, however, announced it would respect the picket lines.

Possibility of the strike spreading to the West Coast was mentioned by a new three-year contract agreement between two maritime unions and the Pacific Maritimes Assn. The contracts with the Marine Engineers and the Masters, Mates and Pilots covers about 5,000 union members and 18 shipping companies.

No accurate figures on the number of ships halted by the strike were available. A union spokesman said he assumed more than 100 ships now were berthed at East and Gulf Coast ports. The engineers have refused to sail the ships since their contract expired at midnight Sunday.

The engineers, who now make $493 to $1,052 a month, want a wage increase; a $250 monthly pension; 60 days vacation; and improved job security.

In San Francisco, a Pacific Maritime Assn. spokesman said the agreement there calls for a $50 increase in monthly pension payments to $150, longer vacations and allowances for subsistence, travel and rooms. The old contract also expired Sunday.

Cite Lack Of Organization In N.C. Domestic, Juvenile Court Systems

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The lack of uniformity which characterizes the organization and operation of lower courts in North Carolina is also evident in the domestic relations and juvenile courts of the state.

This is a finding disclosed in a study of domestic relations and juvenile courts made by Roddey M. Ligon Jr., assistant director of the Institute of Government.

The study was made for the North Carolina Bar Assn.'s Committee on Improving and Expediting the Administration of Justice. The committee has been studying the courts for the last 30 months.

Other findings by Ligon included: Only six of North Carolina's counties have domestic relations courts; three are operated by the counties; the others are joint city-county agencies; 92 counties have juvenile courts, and there are two joint city-county juvenile courts and six city juvenile courts, altogether, they total 106 courts. Their judges are chosen in a variety of ways. In 91 of the county juvenile courts, superior court clerks — elected officials — serve as judges. In five courts, the judge is appointed by joint action of county and city governing bodies; in four, by the county commissioners; and in six, by the city governing body.

Copies of Ligon's report are being distributed to lawyers in North Carolina today. It will form the basis of the committee's continued consideration of the problem of these courts.

In the recommendations which have been made for improving the administration of justice, the work they do would be a part of the services of the states unified judicial system and specialist judges would be developed to handle these duties within the district court area, which is considered the logical place for disposition of these matters since they are of local nature.

The Institute's study shows that the courts vary in the use of probation personnel with some using personnel of the county departments of public welfare while others have probation personnel on the court staff. Four of the domestic relations courts have a solicitor to represent the state at hearings, two of them do not, and none of the juvenile courts have solicitors. Counties which have domestic relations courts automatically assume jurisdiction over juvenile cases. Yet, while jurisdiction of all juvenile courts is the same and that of all domestic relations courts is the same, the jurisdictions of the two courts vary.

Besides the historical facts of the courts and information on their current operation, the study includes a digest of various provisions of the juvenile court statutes in each of the states other than North Carolina and in the District of Columbia. It shows that North Carolina is one of only five states in which the juvenile age limit is under 16 years. In 27 states and the District of Columbia, children under 18 are subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court; in six states, children under 17; and in three states, children under 21. There are seven states in which special provisions exist as to the age at which children are subject to the court's jurisdiction. With North Carolina in the under 16-years group are Alabama, Kansas, New York and Vermont.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Trouble has broken out afresh between old Nick Considine and Rachel Kilgore. The two have been at odds for forty years, ever since they took forcible possession of large adjacent tracts of the open range in New Mexico. Now some scrub longhorn bulls from the Kilgore herds are loose on Considine land, killing or maiming prize Herefords. While two contending bulls were fighting, a young girl who stopped to watch fell off her panicked horse and landed in a chilly creek. Old Nick's nephew, Slade Considine, pulled her out and took her home to Nick's house to get dry and warm. Upon her introducing herself as Martha Kilgore, on her way to her Grandmother Rachel's ranch, Nick Considine flew into a rage. He ordered her out of his house. When Slade remonstrated, Nick told him to stay away from any of the Kilgore or be disowned.

Martha rides on to meet her grandmother, whom she has never seen before, and Slade continues his interrupted journey to Barrenas. Martha's arrival at the Kilgore ranch occurs during an argument of Rachel and a U. S. government agent.

CHAPTER 4

"You can take my thanks and compliments back to Washington with you, Captain Catlin," said Rachel Kilgore acidly. "You can also tell them for me that we don't want any of their meddling here in the Chupaderos. We've always settled our own squabbles and we'll keep on doing it."

Captain Catlin smiled patiently. "I've heard differently. You've been bothered for two years with rustling and haven't been able to do anything about it. You've all been complaining that the other fellow is crowding your range—and you, Mrs. Kilgore, have got a bunch of scrub Mexican longhorn bulls that are running wild raising the devil with every herd in the country. Now we aim to send a Ranger in here and—"

"Ranger!" the old lady snorted. "Somebody's political lap-dog. Some milk-livered son of a politician who doesn't know any more about a cow than whether he likes it served rare or medium! But if you've got anybody that's itching to have his pants filled with buckshot, send him in here by all means."

"The United States Forest Service is a new baby," the Captain admitted. "We are trying to keep politics out of it, build it up into a worth-while organization. The cooperation of folks like you would go a long way towards doing that, Mrs. Kilgore."

"Co-operation! With some young smart-aleck coming in here on my land, telling me where I can run my cattle?"

"Your land, Mrs. Kilgore?" The Captain's voice was mildly sarcastic. "Have you forgotten that at least half of your so-called range belongs to the Federal Government—the Public Domain?"

The old lady tossed her head back proudly. "My land!" she repeated staunchly. "My father came into the Chupaderos when the Federal Government wasn't much more than a weanling. We fought out our wars. My father, my husband, and my son died protecting this land without help from the Government. I still say it's my land and I'll die for the right to call it that."

Captain Catlin shrugged, apparently about to end the argument. "I'll be sending in a Ranger this month or next," he said mildly. "I'll try to get some reliable young fellow who knows the people and the country. I hope you will think it over and change your attitude."

"I'll have my shotgun loaded!" The Forest Service man's smile was still polite but a little strained. He bowed, put on his hat, and stepped on to his waiting horse.

Martha Kilgore looked after him speculatively. "Nice fellow, here in the Chupaderos," she said.

The old lady turned and gave her a long, scrutinizing look. "Well, I'll be damned!" she said, and the words were somehow so incongruous with her grand lady appearance that Martha laughed.

Mrs. Kilgore was dressed in a long dark red silk dress that hugged in tight around her slender waist. There were white earrings in her ears, and the necklace around her neck looked like real pearls. There was undoubtedly a trace of rouge on her high cheekbones, and more than a trace of what couldn't have been wholly natural color on her thin lips.

"You're a Kilgore, aren't you?" she said. "It looks to me like Emily must have gone off and had a baby after John died."

Martha smiled. "My mother's name was Emily Kilgore," she admitted. "And I guess I was a baby once."

"Well, what do you want here? Emily need money?"

"My mother is dead," the girl said quietly. "She asked me to come here. She had some sort of a strange idea that you might like to see me."

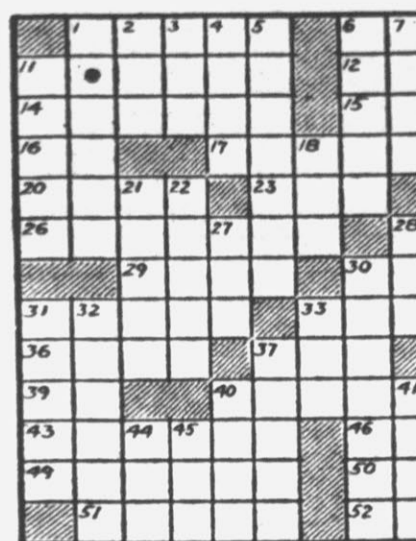

The old lady crossed the porch and came down one step toward the girl, her bright black eyes still cool and curious. "Turn around and let me look at you," she ordered.

Martha was embarrassingly conscious of the man's clothing Slade had given her after she fell in the creek, and her damp black hair, carelessly and quickly knotted before she left the Considine ranch house. But she would have died rather than let this imperious, sharp-tongued old lady see that. Feeling a little like a prize mare on an auction block, she obediently turned round.

Rachel Kilgore nodded with some satisfaction. "You look like me," she said as if that were high praise indeed. "Only you've got your mo-

Various Industries Say They'll Spark A Boom

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Next to guessing when the nation's new business boom will be born, the most popular pastime today is naming the industry that will be the proud papa.

This week spokesmen for various lines have predicted their industry is destined to lead the nation out of the recession.

A farm equipment maker says sales are so much better this year that a revival in production of this machinery can set the pace, not only by paring unemployment rolls in that industry but by giving the metals companies welcome orders.

Tied in with this is the belief throughout the farm belt that the rise in farm income has both thwarted the recession in those states and set the stage for the next big push upward for the entire economy.

A spokesman for the construction industry says the mantle of new leadership clearly is falling upon its shoulders. Another, speaking for the housing segment of the industry, says that the first stirrings of better days ahead in that field show clearly that more home building is already charting the course for a general advance.

Another construction division, highway building, holds that the big spending of public money just ahead will start things rolling for everybody.

In Detroit where optimism about the sales allure of forthcoming models is always a standard commodity, the cause for and the timing of the next big advance is considered to be the unveiling of 1959 models and the expected crush of buyers.

Air conditioner makers say all that this country really needs is a series of heat waves. They and all their brethren building household appliances see the signs of a home building revival as pointing the way to good times.

A stock exchange leader says that what's needed is a reform of the tax structure so that people would have more money to buy securities, thus generating enough public confidence to pull the economy up by its bootstraps.

Some old soberers continue to think that consumers in general will date the upturn. Let them start in large numbers to spend more and save less, and factories will run full speed again. The fact that consumer spending was cut back only slightly has kept the slump from snowballing, it's true. A new buying spree would gladden many hearts.

The trouble with consumers, however, is that you just can't tell what they're going to do or when they are going to do it. They make up their individual minds about what they can and will buy.

One spur to the economy that some see coming soon is the increased pay—amounting to one billion dollars a year—that will soon be in the jeans of federal workers as a result of a coming pay boost for some and an accomplished one for others. Some of the new spending money will be in a lump sum under retroactive provisions. That could hit the market place quickly.

There are even a few observers of the passing scene who say the chemist will lead us down the recovery path. They argue that if it continues to sell in the new fall lines, it will make old wardrobes out of date.

And when a year from now the chemist is out of date itself, why, still another outfit must be purchased.

All that money changing hands will make everyone feel better—everyone but husbands.

Explorer Scout Wins Trip To Philmont Ranch

A Greenville high school student has won a WNCFF Scholarship to Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico. William C. Stancil of Explorer Scout Post 340 won first place in the twenty-one county, council-wide contest. Carl T. Knott, Pitt District Executive, announced last week.

Stancil will leave with fifty other East Carolina Council Explorers Saturday morning for the 26-day trip to the far West.

Over forty post advisors of eastern Carolina were invited to make nominations for the free trip. Other boys are paying $175. Advisor J. Malloy Owen and Assistant Advisor Robert R. Landis of St. James Church nominated Stancil.

The winner has an exceptionally spectacular record of rapid advancement in Scouting. A Scout for only 18 months, Williams has fifty-one merit badges, has passed all requirements for the Silver Award, the Explorer rang which is equivalent to Eagle, and holds the coveted God and Country Award. He is Senior Crew Leader of Post 340 of St. James Methodist Church, and also serves as Junior Assistant Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 340, sharing his experience with younger boys.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stancil, 1303 Evans St. and is a junior in Junius H. Rose High School.

Verdi's famous opera, "Aida," was first performed in Cairo in 1871.

That's easy. You came in here riding a 143 horse, and wearing some man's clothes, with your hair and boots all wet. How'd Nick like Slade taking you to the ranch to dry out?"

"He didn't like it at all. They quarrelled about it and Slade left home."

The old lady's eyes widened, then she laughed.

"Silly old fool!" she said. "Cut off his nose to spite his face! He thinks a lot of that boy, and I don't blame him. I always thought Slade would be all right if he wasn't Considine. We'll invite him out to supper some night. That'll make the old rip tear his hair."

Martha was amused. She caught the drift of the old lady's intentions, but she didn't intend to let herself be used as a pawn with which her grandmother might devil her old enemy.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a broad rally in active trading early this afternoon.

Dealings were heavy as buyers picked up stock following late yesterday's sell-off which brought the worst market drop in more than a month.

Key issues rose from fractions to a point or more.

The market was mixed in vigorous early trading. The ticker tape ran briefly behind the pace of floor transactions in the opening rush.

Steels, oils, tobaccos, coppers, chemicals and motors showed plus signs. Airlines were mixed. Distillers and electronic stocks remained ragged. Utilities were mixed although American Telephone recouped about half of its 1 1/2 loss yesterday.

U.S. Tobacco was about 2 points to the good and Lorillard gained more than that. American Tobacco rose about a point.

Merck was a 2-point gainer in an otherwise mixed drug section. Leading rails were solidly ahead but shaded their best early prices. Up about a point were New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio.

Sizeable fractions were added by Chesapeake & Ohio, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Southern Railway.

Kennecott, Amerada and Lukens Steel also rose more than a point each.

Chrysler, U.S. Steel, du Pont and Royal Dutch were other issues to advance about a point.

Bethlehem erased a small early gain and eased. Texas Co. was off a fraction as was Johns-Manville. Small gains were posted by General Motors, Republic Steel, Boeing, Goodyear, Anaconda, Union Carbide, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Loew's and International Nickel.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 50 cents to $173.10 with the industrials up 10 cents, the rails up $1.50 and the utilities up 10 cents. Yesterday's 60-stock figure was revised to $172.60 from $173.20.

BOARD MEMBERS EXPRESS APPRECIATION TO LEWIS . . . Mrs. Lewis, Capt. Lewis, Chairman Butler, Johnson.

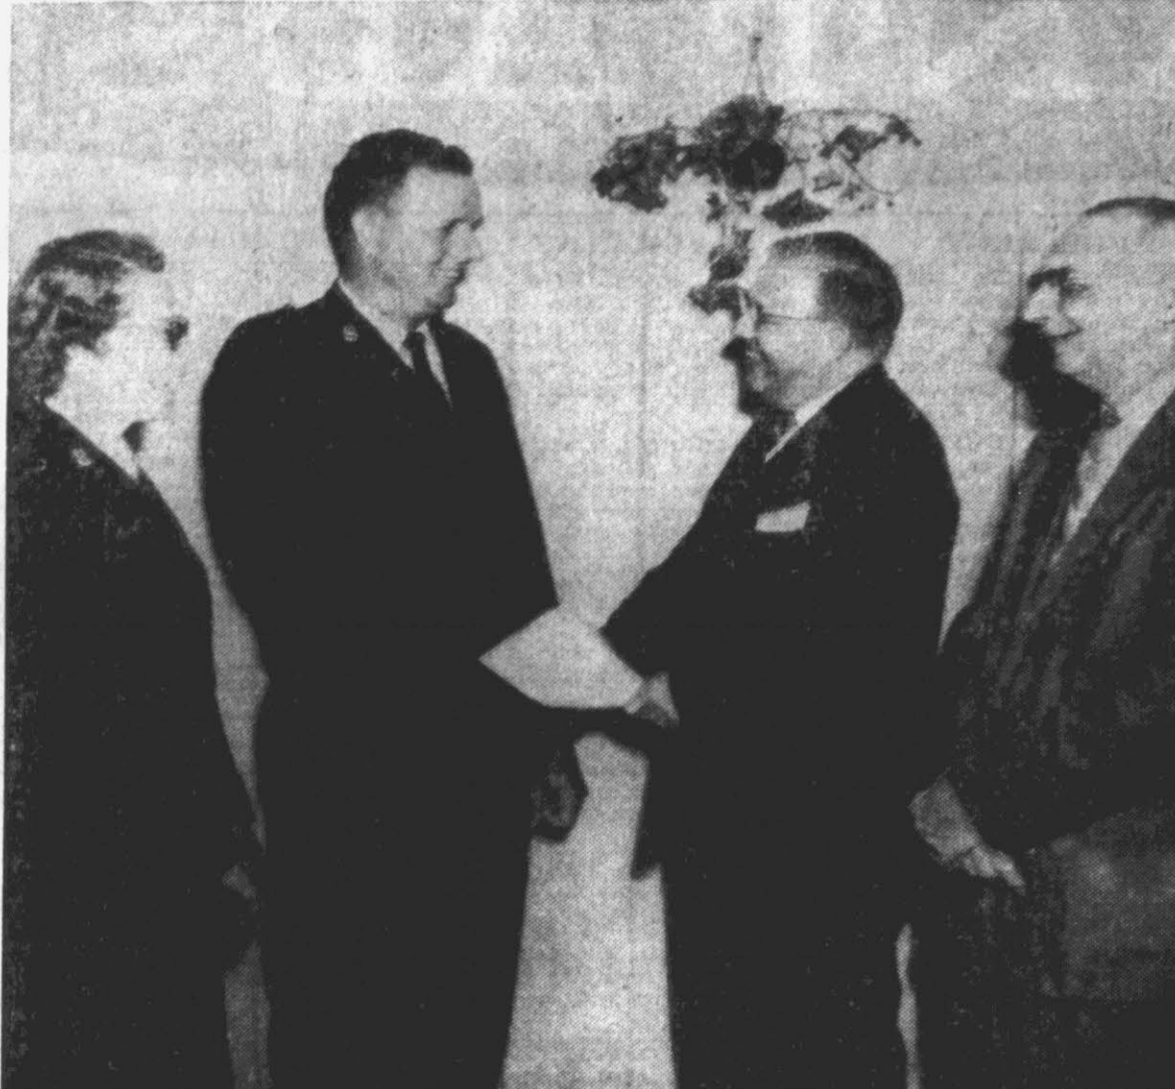

Greenville's Salvation Army Advisory Board yesterday commended Capt. and Mrs. Bennie T. Lewis for their service with the local Salvation Army post during the past five and one-half years.

The action came at a meeting of the board presided over by James W. Butler, chairman. Elbert Bennett, speaking on behalf of other members of the board, expressed to Capt. and Mrs. Lewis the appreciation of the board and of the Greenville community for their Salvation Army work here. It was announced last week that the Lewises are being transferred to Rocky Mount where they will command the Salvation Army post.

Stationed in Gastonia, will succeed the Lewises as commanding officers of the Salvation Army post here. They will arrive in Greenville on July 2.

During its business meeting yesterday the board discussed making application for admittance to the Pitt County United Fund and set a special meeting on the matter for July 10.

Grade-A-Year Integration Plan By Schools Approved

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller has approved a plan to desegregate Nashville's city school system on a grade-a-year basis. He said the gradual plan would be in the best interest of all concerned.

Miller gave his ruling yesterday on the school board's gradual plan, which will mean that the second grade will mix the races next fall, the third grade the following fall, and so on through the 12th grade.

The first grade was desegregated last fall amid sporadic violence, and 11 Negro pupils remained enrolled in five previously all-white schools throughout the school year.

"Full desegregation is not denied," Miller said. "It is merely postponed." Commenting on the school board's contention that it cannot move any faster without severe repercussions, the judge held that the grade-a-year plan is supported by the clear preponderance of evidence.

Nashville thus becomes the third city in Tennessee to begin school desegregation since the U.S. Supreme Court held in 1954 that compulsory racial segregation violated the 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

The federally financed high school and one junior high school at the atomic city of Oak Ridge were integrated in 1955, and the high school at Clinton admitted Negroes the next year—also amid violence. Both schools are in Anderson County and both remain desegregated.

As to the Nashville situation, Miller ruled it would be an unwarranted invasion of the lawful prerogatives of the legally constituted school authority if the court should undertake to set the board's judgment aside and substitute some other plan.

When first grades were desegregated here last fall, someone blew up the Hattie Cotton Grammar School. That blast is still unresolved.

Greenville F.W.B. Announcements

"No Summer Slump For Our Saviour's Sake" is the slogan of every department of the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church. You are invited to be present Sunday at 9:45 a.m. for Sunday school and Mr. Stephen Walters, superintendent, will give you a sincere welcome. Everyone needs the spiritual help the Sunday school offers. At the 11 a.m. worship the Senior Choir will sing the hymn "Something For Thee" and the pastor's sermon topic will be "Pleasing Our Lord" (Heb. 11:6). The ordinance of baptism will be observed in this service.

At 3 p.m. a group will go to the County Home for a service. The League will meet at 7 p.m. under the direction of Mr. Mark Case. At the 8 p.m. worship service the pastor's sermon topic will be "Heaven's Door Open—Come Up" (Rev. 4:1). The ordinance of the Lord's Supper and the service of washing the Christians' feet will be observed at this service. Every Christian is urged to be present for this most important service to Christ and His Church.

Monday at 8 p.m. the Women's Auxiliary will meet at the church. All women are invited to attend. Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. the Free Will Baptist League will meet at Elm Street Park for a social.

Wednesday 8:00 p.m. there will be prayer service and at 8:15 p.m. there will be a church business conference. Wednesday at 9 p.m. the Senior Choir will meet for a rehearsal.

Thursday, June 23, at 10 a.m. the Union Meeting of the Central Conference churches will meet at the Ayden Free Will Baptist Church. The Free Will Baptist League Convention will meet at 7:15 p.m. with the Ayden church.

Saturday, June 21, at 8 p.m. there will be Youth for Christ services at the Elm Grove Free Will Baptist Church.

Mrs. R. A. Calhoun and Mrs. Frank Whitaker will be in charge of the nursery at the 11 a.m. worship.

Five Claims Are Heard By State Commission

Four claims filed under North Carolina's Workmen's Compensation Act and a claim filed under the state's Tort Claims Act were heard here this week by the North Carolina Industrial Commission.

Results of the hearings have not been announced by Commissioner N. F. Ransdell who heard the claims Tuesday.

Claims which were heard by Commissioner Ransdell under the Workmen's Compensation Act include Laura Atkinson against College View Cleaners, George Garrett against Carolina Office Equipment Company, Fred D. Wilson against Thompson Electrical Company, and Tom Davis (deceased) against L. D. Austin, W. L. Winslow, J. H. Overman and W. C. Cooper. The claim filed under the Tort Claims Act was brought by Esso Standard Oil Company against the State Highway Commission.

The hearings here were part of a regular series heard by Industrial Commission personnel throughout the state.

Immanuel Baptist Announcements

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Irby B. Jackson, who is vacationing with his family at Kure Beach, the Rev. Charles Burchette of Albemarle will supply the pulpit at Immanuel Baptist Church Sunday, June 22. He will preach at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Burchette has held several pastorates in North Carolina. He was pastor for a number of years of the Bladenboro Baptist Church, and for about eight years has served as pastor of First Baptist Church, Kernersville, having resigned that work the last of May.

On the first of June, Mr. Burchette became Director of Public Relations for North Carolina Baptist Homes, Inc., and he is making his home at the Baptist Home in Albemarle.

Presently Mr. Burchette is assisting as co-director of a campaign in Chowan, West Chowan, North Roanoke, and South Roanoke Baptist Associations for raising $150,000 with which to build a unit of the Homes for the Aging at Hamilton.

Mr. Burchette is an impressive speaker and the public is cordially invited to share with members of Immanuel Baptist Church in the two services next Sunday.

Another Fire At The Same House
A box alarm this morning brought firemen to a house which was badly burned in another fire a few weeks ago.

Fire trucks went to the home of Pattie
