Christian Church Announcements

The young people of the Christian Youth Fellowship have been invited to the semi-monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Preston Cannon on East 10th Street Sunday evening at 8:00.

One of the finest conferences of the summer, open to any and all adults, will be held at Christmount near Asheville during the week August 4-8.

At a congregational meeting on Sunday, July 6, the following named persons were appointed to serve on the pulpit committee looking toward the selection of a pastor to succeed Dr. Haney at the close of his 16 years of service with the church on January 15, 1936.

At the morning service Sunday which begins at 10:45 a mixed quartet consisting of Ralph Sullivan, Mrs. J. D. Wilson, Jr., Mrs. Graham Leggett and Robert S. Mays will sing "Guide My Thoughts" by Miles and the pastor will preach on the theme "God Give Us Men."

First Presbyterian Announcements

"The Transforming Fellowship of Christ" is the topic of the sermon to be delivered by Mr. Richard R. Gammon at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning.

A joint meeting of the Elders and Deacons is called for 7:30 p.m. Sunday evening.

The Senior High Fellowship will meet Monday evening 7:30 o'clock for the fourth in a series of studies conducted by Mr. Gammon on "The Sermon on the Mount," and a period of recreation and fellowship.

Each Tuesday morning, 10:00-11:00 o'clock, a Catechism Class is being held for children of grade school age. This will continue through the summer and fall months.

Mrs. Dink is in Montreat, July 10-15, attending a workshop for Directors of Christian Education.

All the circles will meet at the church, and the circles and meeting hours are as follows: 1, 2, & 3, Monday 3:30 p.m.; 4 & 9, Monday 8:00 p.m.; 5 & 6 Tuesday 8:00 p.m.

This church maintains a nursery for the benefit of parents of small children. It will be staffed Sunday by members of Circle 1, Mrs. John Barnhill, chairman.

The Sunday morning worship hour is eleven o'clock and you are cordially invited to worship at this church.

Christian Science Society To gain the blessings promised by Christ Jesus, man must be willing to follow his example in daily life.

From Galatians will be read the Golden Text (3:26,27): "Ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes this quotation from "Scriptures and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (28:36-31): "Implicit faith in the Teacher and all the emotional love we can bestow on him, will never alone make us imitators of him. We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us."

Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.'

Dance Highlights Calendar

Highlighting the social calendar of the younger set was a birthday dance honoring Miss Ann Wallace last night which was given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wallace.

Wearing a pale blue party dress, Miss Wallace invited the guests into the Moose Lodge auditorium where the dance was held.

A color note of pink and white was used. Pink ribbons trimmed the candles which were placed on various tables throughout the room.

The two appointed tables were covered with white cloths bordered with pink ribbons. Centering one table was the crystal punch bowl which was flanked by pink candles. Candelabra holding burning tapers flanked the traditional birthday cake topped with 12 candles on the second table. Tri-colored ice cream blocks were served in the early part of the evening with punch and cup cakes being served later.

Approximately 75 guests attended. Some were out-of-county guests and many from Pitt County.

Japanese Enjoy U.S. Food; Here It's The Reverse

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor

While Americans make a vogue of Japanese food, fashions and architecture, the modern Japanese girl prefers hamburgers, and wouldn't know how to get around in a kimono.

So says Shizuko Ohashi, editor of Japan's leading women's magazine Kurashi - no - Techo (which means Notebook for Living).

"I have not worn a kimono in the past 10 years, except once, for a fancy dress ball," youthful Miss Ohashi said through an interpreter. "Older women still wear kimono at home and in the evening, but most younger women work, and our rush hour in Tokyo is just as crowded as yours in New York. Can you imagine trying to ride the subway in a kimono?"

Miss Ohashi was dressed in a modish pink linen two-piece dress, cut on the latest chemise lines. She is in this country at the invitation of the State Department, under the educational exchange program, for a brief tour of American publishing plants and editorial offices.

She says the entire status of women has changed in Japan since they won the vote, shortly after World War II.

Most make their own clothes, using Western patterns. Few extreme styles are worn. The home seamstresses try to turn out neat, practical garments suitable for working in.

Japan's great problem is its rapidly increasing population; she says, and for this reason modern Japanese women do not plan big families.

"You can get an idea of the problem," she says, "when you consider that Japan is only about the size of your state of Montana, and has 100 million people, with the population increasing at the rate of a million a year. Only 17 per cent of this land is arable. So it's clear why birth control is popular in our country."

Mothers Move In On Cowboys

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Mother has moved right into junior's footsteps and adopted the American cowboy as her hero symbol, TV producer Ted Rogers says.

Rogers has been thinking long thoughts on the subject in preparation for his Wide World study of that entertainment form this Sunday.

"Women," says Rogers, "like Westerns because cowboys are probably one of the last examples of the individual being more important than the group. To them, it is the cowboy versus the organization man."

"She looks at her TV screen, and then she looks at her husband, with an apron tied around his paunch, helping with the dishes. 'The cowboy is masculine, virile, decisive, possessive. When he has problems, he just pulls out his gun and settles the matter. If he doesn't like his job or his town, he just climbs on his horse and rides into the sunset.'"

"But if her husband doesn't like his boss, he can't shoot him. He just goes around mumbling and grumbling and getting ulcers." The American woman too, resents her own situation, Rogers adds.

LAUNDRING HIGH

Because laundering costs are as high as the Andes, tourists returning from Venezuela recommend that travelers take only wash-n-wear wardrobes. And don't forget to take an adequate supply of soap or detergent for nightly wash basin laundry.

For instance, by rubbing a paste made of water and soap or detergent on heavily soiled areas, you'll get the best possible results from machine laundering.

Homemakers and Farmers Tour Homes

30 Years Ago Today

July 12, 1908

Friday evening at her home on Fourth Street, Mrs. W. C. Harris entertained at bridge in honor of her sister, Miss Martha Elizabeth Berry, and Miss Ruby Virginia McCloud of Norfolk. Six tables were arranged in the living and dining rooms en suite. Various summer flowers were used carrying out a yellow and white color scheme. The guests were greeted at the door by Miss Frances Norman who presented each with a shoulder corsage. After the arrival of the guests, Russian tea with sandwiches and wafers were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Frances Norman and Miss Zelle Foley, who also, at the conclusion of the games, served a delicious ice course. Miss Emma Frances Hardee, winner of high score, was given a jar of bath salts. A dainty glass perfume dropper went to Miss Blanche Stator for low score. The honorees were remembered with attractive vanities.

Woman's Club Scene Of Meeting

With a Council Degree of Pocahontas members met for their semi-monthly meeting Tuesday night at the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Maycie Culbreth, Pocahontas, presided and welcomed members and visitors from Silver Stream Council.

Mrs. Nina Joyner gave a report of the Auditing Committee, and reported that Resolutions of Respect were sent to Mrs. Rebecca Mills whose husband had recently died.

After routine business, Mrs. Culbreth, retiring Pocahontas, thanked all officers and members for their co-operation during her term and presented each officer a string of pearls. She also recognized Mrs. Daisy Tripp and Mrs. Lillian Earl Hawkins who had not missed a meeting during her term.

Mrs. Jennie Stokes, Council Deputy, and Mrs. Betty Nobles, Past Great Pocahontas of North Carolina, installed the officers for the new term. Retiring officers were thanked for their work and divested of their official effects.

Mrs. Stokes called the roll of the officers-elect and they formed a semi-circle around the Council Brand. They were given the obligation and were then instructed and installed individually in their respective stations. Each was presented a white carnation corsage with purple and white ribbon, jewel of their office, pinned on and escorted to their station by Mrs. Stokes.

The following officers were installed:

Mrs. Thelma Whitaker, Pocahontas; Mrs. Maycie Culbreth, Prophetess; Mrs. Mildred Causey, Wenonah; Mrs. Thelma Vincent, Powhatan; Mrs. Carrie Jones, Collector of Wampum; Mrs. Dora Bozeman, Keeper of Wampum; Mrs. Betty Nobles, Keeper of Records; Miss Jean Bright, First Scout; Mrs. Lillian E. Hawkins, Second Scout; Mrs. Effie Ree Bailey, First Warrior; Mrs. Ruby Hodges, Second Warrior; Mrs. Lena Mae Cox, Third Warrior; Mrs. Sally Valnright, Fourth Warrior; Mrs. Nina Joyner, Guard of Forest; Mrs. Geneva Webb, Guard of Tepee; Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, First Councilor; Mrs. Agnes Landring, Second Councilor; Mrs. Daisy Tripp, First Runner; Mrs. Lillie Haddock, Second Runner; and Mrs. Alice Proctor, Trustee.

Pocahontas, Mrs. Whitaker, in her acceptance speech pledged her best to the Council and members and asked of them their cooperation and support. She then prayed, asking for Divine guidance in all that she undertook to do for the upbuilding of the Order.

Retiring Pocahontas, Mrs. Culbreth, was presented a Past Pocahontas certificate and a gift of earrings and necklace from her officers.

After the meeting adjourned the members were invited into front parlors for a social hour. Refreshments, consisting of fruit punch, sandwiches, cookies and nuts were served from a lace covered table centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, gypsophelia and purple ribbons.

The Woman's Club was decorated throughout with arrangements of summer flowers.

October Wedding Set

MISS MARY ELIZABETH ROSE . . . is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Thomas Rose of Wilson, who announce her engagement to Samuel Taylor Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor Carson of Bethel. An October wedding will take place.

Today's Menu

Blueberries with Cream Ham and Eggs Yankee Brioche Beverage

YANKEE BRIOCHE

Ingredients: 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1-3 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup warm (105 to 115 degrees) water, 1 package active dry yeast, 1/2 cup milk (scalded and cooled to lukewarm), 3 eggs, 2 egg yolks, 3 1-4 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon cold water.

Method: Cream butter, sugar and salt. Stir warm water and yeast together until yeast dissolves; stir in lukewarm milk and creamed mixture. Beat the whole eggs with 1 of the egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir in yeast mixture and the flour; beat 10 minutes. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, about 2 hours or until more than doubled in bulk. Stir down; beat thoroughly. Cover tightly; store in refrigerator overnight. Stir down and turn out soft dough on floured board. Divide dough into two pieces, one 3-4 the weight of the other. Cut large piece into 16 equal pieces; form each into a smooth ball; place in well buttered muffin-pan wells (each 2 3-4 by 1 1-4 inches). Cut reserved dough into 16 equal pieces; form each into a smooth ball. Make a deep indentation in center of each large ball with thumb; dampen slightly with cold water. Press a small ball into each indentation. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, about 1 hour or until more than doubled in bulk. Beat together the remaining egg yolk and 1 teaspoon cold water; brush over tops of brioche.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until baked through and browned, about 20 minutes. Makes 16.

Sack Goes Back On Potatoes

By SUE CARDOZO

ROME (AP)—The sack is on its way back to covering potatoes instead of the feminine form.

That's the best guess on the eve of next week's Italian fashion designer's autumn showings here. Not all the experts will commit themselves. But those who will say womanly curves are bound to fight their way out of the bag. The Italian high fashion houses are determined to lead the way. Nothing so extreme as form-clinging tunics or laced shepherds' bodices is expected.

But the betting is that the human shape will emerge from this year's drapes and folds with greater clarity than last year.

The beltless, sliding waistline might still be with us. The bosom may rise and hemlines waver, but chances are that most lampshade shapes will be modified to approximate the body lines.

Presentations of Italian high fashion for autumn get underway Thursday at such houses of female finery as Eleonora Garnet, Fontana, Gattinoni, Mongini-Gugenheim, Giovannelli and Gregoriana.

Accessories, children's and men's styles also will be shown. After four days in Rome, the fashion scene shifts to Florence where G. B. Giorgini, the founding father of Italy's Alta Moda, has once again centralized activity. From July 21 to 25, Carosa, Cappucci, Simonetta, Schubert and other members of the Florence faction of Italy's divided fashion industry will present their collections to an assemblage of buyers, reporters and retinue who later will continue to Paris.

The designers are now in the final phases of frantic preparation. Princess Giovanna Carraciola (Carosa), courtier of ambassadors' wives and an original member of the Florence group, is encased in soft wools and brilliant colors.

"We Italians," the princess says, "are improvisors rather than organizers. We prefer to make miracles! Above all we are individualists and it is almost impossible to get us all to agree."

This individualism partially accounts for the internal discord that has plagued the Italian fashion industry since its inception. It also makes generalizing about Italian design an extremely hazardous game.

But one common protest seems to unite all the designers. It's that the so-called sack has been overdone and used to cover an assortment of ills.

It won't be entirely abandoned, but it will have some drastic changes.

To Marry

MISS PEGGY ANN TAYLOR . . . is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dupree Taylor of Grimesland, who announce her engagement to Corporal Donald Bernd Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bernd of Pavilion, N. Y. The wedding will take place August 1 in the Protestant Chapel at Camp Lejeune.

Tips On Pewter

Pewter experts list these rules for collectors:

When two pieces look alike, the heavier gauge indicates the better piece. Hand-cast pieces require more labor, have more tin content, and so are less apt to become dented than spun pewter.

A bright, light-toned sheen indicates a superior piece of pewter because the tone proves the high tin content. Tin costs more than lead, is sturdier, and does not oxidize as easily.

Pewter care is simple. Leave space between pieces because burn marks often result from contact. Keep pewter away from heat since it melts easily. Its rich luster can be maintained by regular washing with hot soap or detergent suds. Never polish antique pewter as this ruins its natural patina.

Has Fish Fry

The Falkland Home Demonstration Club held its summer recreational meeting as a fish fry July 1 at the summer cottage of Mrs. David Morrill near Washington, N. C. About fifty members and guests were present at the get-together.

Duplicate Bridge Winners

Mr. and Mrs. Eustace Conway scored high at the weekly meeting of the Faculty Duplicate Club last evening. Miss Mary H. Greene and Dr. J. H. Stewart were second, and Mrs. Ina Rouse, Louisburg, and Miss Marguerite Rouse were third. Four tables entered the play.

Has Picnic

STOKES—The Stokes Home Demonstration Club held their annual picnic on Mrs. Lydia Barnhill's lawn. Miss Margaret Stevens and Mrs. Lois Freeman, assistant home demonstration agents, attended the event.

Lonely Girl Realizes Ambition--Wins Fame

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newfeatures Writer Every lady had to learn to play the piano in Grandma's day. When Mom was a girl the player piano took over, becoming the gathering spot for teen-agers when they got together. The group belted out "Lover Come Back to Me," "Together" or "Among My Souvenirs," and there didn't seem to be much reason to take piano lessons when your feet could make music by pushing pedals. So the piano dimmed in popularity.

More than one young adult is asking the family to find a place for a piano nowadays, however. Van Cliburn's victory abroad and his ticker tape reception in New York hay put the record player back a few light years as young adults try to counterpoint their way to fame.

And now Linda Babits, 17, of New York City, has realized her own ambition in the music world. Her "Western Star" concerto for piano and orchestra was first choice of over 200 manuscripts for symphony orchestra submitted during the last year to the Salt Lake Philharmonic.

The piece was conceived by Linda on a lonely evening when she was attending the University of Rhode Island Summer Camp.

Subdivision Burden Is Still There

When the city manager estimates it would take a half million dollars to clear up drainage and paving problems in Greenville's subdivisions, it is time for the City Council to take another good look at its subdivision ordinance.

Several years ago when Greenville adopted its subdivision ordinance it was prompted to do so because of the huge financial burden new subdivisions were placing on the city in terms of supplying drainage and rebuilding and re-surfacing streets.

When a subdivision is annexed by the city, the city becomes responsible for the drainage, paving and other problems which might occur. Before the subdivision ordinance was passed, areas were being developed without proper facilities, and after they became part of the corporate limits of the city, municipal funds had to be expended on improvements.

Under the subdivision ordinance as now written, new areas have to meet certain minimum requirements before they are accepted as part of the city. These requirements include storm drainage, paved streets and other items. The present requirements do not include curb and gutter which seem to be an important item so far as the drainage and street problems in subdivisions are concerned.

It would be out of the question for Greenville to attempt now to undertake a half-million dollar project to bring its streets and storm drainage facilities in subdivisions up to par. At best the work can only be done piece-meal over a long period of years.

But will the difficulties continue to mount and the cost of rebuilding continue to rise as new subdivisions are added?

The city's Planning-Zoning Commission, together with the City Council, should immediately undertake a careful study of the subdivision ordinance as it now stands along with a detailed review of conditions in areas admitted to the city under the subdivision ordinance. Such a study may point up shortcomings in the ordinance or perhaps instances in which subdivisions have been accepted when they did not meet the standards specified in the ordinance.

At least such a study would provide the city with valuable information in calculating its long-range needs for work in new subdivisions. It might also enable the city to prevent in the future costly capital outlays of municipal funds where new subdivisions are concerned.

Such a study would be a time-consuming project for both the Council and the Planning-Zoning Commission. In the long run however, it may lead to reforms which would save local taxpayers many thousands of dollars over a period of years.

Well Now, Another Championship In Pitt

Pitt can now add another championship title. Henceforth, in addition to being known as the champion tobacco producing county in the world it can also lay claim to the title of the champion talking county in the world.

Thanks to Mrs. Alton Clapp of Greenville, the talking crown is once more back in North Carolina... this time in Greenville. And from where we sit we'd guess the title will stay here with Mrs. Clapp for a long time.

Her 96 hours, 54 minutes and 11 seconds of continuous chatter will be hard to match even in this day of marathon talkers. Yesterday morning at 8:21 she broke the old record of 93 hours, 36 minutes and nine seconds set by a Topeka, Kansas woman. After breaking the record Mrs. Clapp continued talking for another three hours in setting her own record.

There'll probably be other talkers in other parts of the country who'll challenge Mrs. Clapp's championship before the talk-a-thon fad wears off. They'll find it mighty tough to approach the world's record set by Mrs. Clapp.

The Four' See Inflation Fight

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a small but influential group in Washington, known simply as "The Four," which suspects that the harshest economic battle remains to be fought — and is girding for it.

The enemy won't be recession but inflation. The signs of business upturn have been noted hopefully; it appears that a modest recovery may be under way this fall.

If so, the recovery will coincide with the start of a new era of federal deficit financing on a vast scale, and the combined pressures of rising private and government demand could generate another serious surge of inflation.

That's what "The Four" have been worrying about for some time now. It was concern over inflation which brought the group into existence last September as an unofficial body lacking formal name or legal status.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson watched the value of the dollar sink to new lows month by month, and broached his idea to President Eisenhower.

The idea was simply that the officials directly concerned with money, credit and federal finance — himself and Chairman William McC. Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board — should consult jointly and quite frequently with the President and his top economic advisers.

The latter are Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and Gabriel Hauge, presidential assistant for economic affairs. Eisenhower concurred. Since then he has averaged a meeting a month with the four officials. The meetings had hardly begun when the problems of recession took priority over the problems of inflation. Spending speedups, easier money and lower interest rates were the obvious answers.

To put the brake back on — ever so gently at first to prevent a relapse — will be a more delicate job. But all of "The Four" are determined that there will be no repetition of the events that followed the 1953-54 recession. Before people realized the recession was over, the recovery blossomed into a buying binge and an inflation that hasn't been stopped yet.

Already "The Four" are weighing the variety of ideas — just about everything short of direct wage and price controls — to keep prices from shooting the moon.

The country's success, all admit, will depend greatly on the alertness and courage of the Federal Reserve Board in pulling the credit reins at the right moment, and then feeding out no more credit than is needed to permit an orderly, sustainable growth.

But success also will depend on the readiness of the administration to cooperate when the board decides to move, and the mere existence "The Four" may help to weld a united front.

The inflationary wallop of a 10 to 12 billion dollar deficit in the government just starting, Anderson believes, may be minimized through better scheduling of the government's spending programs. Every program starts modestly and builds up to a spending peak. To prevent the peaks from developing simultaneously, Anderson hopes it will be possible to hold some programs back while others go ahead.

In addition, the improved federal-state relationship fostered in the past year or two may be utilized, the secretary thinks, to prevent the federal government from "pouring money into military or civilian projects in an area where a state is simultaneously making big public works investments. One or the other might delay its project for a year.

These are just samples of the kind of ideas which "The Four" are entertaining as they try to look beyond the recession.

mentally or emotionally sick. Certainly every holy impulse within us and all the religious faith we have rises up to witness to the fact that a lack of selfishness, insane people are out of their heads; people who lack normal love for life are out of their souls.

Of course, a state of mind such as this is unwholesome to a terrifying extent. It robs life of all its significance. Obstacles rise up along the pathway of every human being. Problems confront us continually. This is all to be expected. It is wholesome. It can be turned to good.

But when we lose a sense of selfish for life itself, we are sick. Psychologists say that we are

College With A GI Air

By REINHOLD ENSZ
MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Take 206 young Americans, salt liberally with higher education, add a heavy dash of continental atmosphere and bake in a GI oven. And what have you got?

You've got the Munich branch of the University of Maryland. Education-wise, there is no other college like it outside the United States. Practically speaking, there's none like it anywhere.

To gain admission, a student has to have a special qualification: his parents must be stationed overseas with the armed forces or government.

The campus lies within the gates of the Army's McGraw barracks on the outskirts of Munich. The 12 classrooms, study hall and recreation center are located in the headquarters of the Munich Army Command. Nearby dormitories house most of the 206 students.

There is a definite military air; missing are such teen-age and college trademarks as blue jeans and jalopies.

Dr. Paul Dickson of Lakeland, Fla., 52-year-old dean of the college and a former Army colonel, says: "We don't allow blue jeans because they're a sign of a high school teenager. Beards are also out. I banned autos for several reasons.

"First of all there's the fact that West Germany has the highest auto accident rate in the world. Secondly, we're in a military barracks and there simply isn't any room for student autos. And then there's the fact that autos are a distraction, especially in a place like Munich, where there are so many things to see."

Dickson, a former West Point instructor who has also taught in the Denver High School system and at the University of Missouri, is a firm believer in discipline.

Last fall his students, as college students will, called a one-day strike. The strike had a continental twist: the students invited the college's 18 professors and instructors to have tea with them on the lawn of the boy's dormitory.

"They wanted to prove they were non-conformists," Dickson said. "I told the instructors not to accept the tea invitation. We had to show the students that they weren't going to run us."

There haven't been any strikes since. But students often air their gripes in letters to the student newspaper, the Continental Collegiate.

Despite the military-like gripes, most of the students seem content. John Nottingham, 19, of Houston, Tex., student business manager, said he considers the college a wonderful opportunity to see Europe.

John is a pre-medical student who spent one year at the University of Texas, transferring to Munich when his father was appointed editor-in-chief of the armed forces newspaper, The Stars and Stripes, at Darmstadt.

"One thing I do miss is fraternity life," said John.

The college is a junior college, operated by the overseas division of the University of Maryland. Maryland has made a specialty of providing after-hours courses for members of the armed forces.

The special courses are given at most major American bases overseas. They are intended primarily for military personnel and do not involve a campus such as the one here. At present, the University of Maryland has about 10,000 military and government personnel enrolled in its afterhours courses.

Opinions In Brief

"It cost Lincoln only $700 to win his party's nomination and carry the subsequent national election. Nowadays it would cost that much to win nomination and election in a race for county commissioner in many of our Oklahoma districts. And on the national level, fairly reliable records have it that the presidential campaign cost the two parties something more than $10 millions." — Daily Oklahoman.

Modernizing Can Help Insurance

By ELMER ROESSNER
It has been frequently said — and just as frequently denied — that if auto salesmen worked as hard as insurance salesmen we never would have had a recession.

On the other hand, if the insurance companies worked as hard as auto manufacturers do to improve their product, the insurance companies might be doing even better than they are.

One of the greatest needs of the American public is an inflation-proof life insurance policy. We have had a steady dose of inflation for the last 25 years and it looks as if we will have repeated doses for the next 25.

THEY FIGHT IT
A young husband taking out a $40,000 policy today might believe that that sum would provide well for his wife in event of his death. But if he dies in the 1970s, that much may not be enough for a winter in Florida after his wife pays the funeral expenses.

The only way to overcome this so far advanced is the variable annuity policy, in which payments vary with inflation and deflation. This is sold by a few companies where local regulations permit; one large company is fighting to get laws changed so it can issue such policies, but most of the big companies are actually fighting the idea. It is as if auto companies were fighting power steering.

The insurance "manufacturers" seem to resist change almost automatically. True, most of them have simplified their policies so that they can be understood without the aid of a lawyer. And many have broadened policies so that a home owner now needs only one policy, instead of four, to protect himself against fire, theft, liability, storm and falling planes.

Education Needed

Oops! The Wrong Head

Next time you think you've got a lot of problems, remember this story. It was told to me by Leroy Peterkins of Bell Fork, Virginia, in a letter. Parts of the letter are reprinted below:

"When I was a young man and just married I had a wart on the back of my head. My wife made a habit of inviting guests over to the house all the time so she could make fun of it in front of them.

"She had married me for my money and then found out that I didn't have any. At once, she changed from an understanding little woman into a chronic sadist. She knew I wouldn't beat her or raise my voice to her because I am a milch cow.

"Therefore, she chided me unmercifully, laughed at me in public, pointed out my wart at every available opportunity.

"Well, of course, I was very sensitive to all this. The wart had always been a nuisance to me. When I was first born, the doctors told my parents that they thought I had two heads. They were just joking of course, but that's the trouble. All through my life, people have just been joking. People in my hometown used to whisper 'here comes that little man with the wart on the back of his head.'

"When I was seventeen and just out of high school a newspaperman on the local paper saw me and wanted to do a story on me as the only little man in the world with three ears. He said if you took a picture at the right angle the wart would resemble an ear roughly. My father laughed at the idea when he first heard it but then told the reporter no. I suspect that he was just trying to make me feel that he was still on my side.

"Mother was the same way. Although she never tried to mention it, I would catch her snickering at times.

"But my wife was unbearable with it. At night, I slept very seldom for fear that she would succeed in puncturing the growth with her fingernails. I had caught her trying on our honeymoon and she continually probed about my pillow in the dark, hoping to strike it.

"Finally, I did the only thing I could do. I ran away. I deserted my wife and went to the wilds of Alaska to live alone, to lose myself in the wilderness. Well, now they've made Alaska a state and I'm being molested again.

"I suppose everybody in the world has since seen the many pictures of me that were taken during the week that statehood was announced. Photographers cornered me and snapped millions of shots of me as being the only midget in Alaska with a wart on the back of his head . . ."

Mr. Peterkins wrote that he intended to have the wart amputated. We have learned since that the surgeon cut off the wrong head.

Other Editors Saying--- Living Beyond Our Means

(Henderson Dispatch)
Senator Ervin says this country is approaching a debt of one trillion dollars. No use trying precisely to contemplate that figure, for it is beyond comprehension of the human brain. Statistically, however, it is one thousand billion, if that means anything.

One inescapable fact that cannot be missed is that government and the people as a whole are living beyond their means. Reckless debt can and often does lead to ultimate bankruptcy. It has been said repeatedly that one of the primary objectives of the Communists, in seeking to take over this country, is to make it spend itself into insolvency. Without a doubt we are well on the way to that objective.

Treasury figures cited by Senator Ervin shows this breakdown of obligations of the people of the United States: Corporate debt, $277 billion; private, or individual debt, $222 billion; State and local, $54 billion; Federal debt, $275 billion.

The Eisenhower administration is on the verge of asking Congress for the second time in 1958 to increase the limit to $280 billion. It is almost as certain as anything in the future can be that it will have to be raised again in 1959, and a $300 billion level is not far distant, barring some wholly unexpected development either in reduction of expenses or a sharp, and perhaps unprecedented, rise in the national income.

The government was in the red by nearly three billion dollars June 30 at the end of the last fiscal year, and all indications now are that the deficit by next June 30 will be an additional eleven or twelve billion dollars. That is the largest scale deficit financing in the peacetime history of the country. It means that, despite Eisenhower's solemn pledges in the campaign of 1952 for balancing the budget, he will end his eight years in the White House with only two years in the black.

Government is big and becoming bigger all the while. More money is being spent each year than in the year before, and a sizable portion of it is non-essential and largely political in character. Congress votes the appropriations but the people, in the final analysis, are responsible for reason of continued demands for Federal aid for almost every imaginable purpose.

The process is feeding the fires of inflation, which can and may carry us to disaster.

One of the tragic aspects of the situation is that this condition and trend makes very little impression upon the popular mind. There is still the dominant feeling that anything that comes from Washington is a free gift. Moreover, there is the attitude in official circles that the United States must continue to give away billions of dollars annually in so-called foreign aid. This is done on the theory that friends can be bought across the counter, a premise that is as threadbare and fallacious as can be, and as has been abundantly demonstrated since World War II.

The United States may be the richest and most powerful nation in the world but that power and that wealth cannot properly be interpreted in terms of one trillion dollars. The nation and its people are skating on thin ice indeed.

A Continuity In N. C. Progress

By LYNN NISBET
CONTINUITY — The strength of North Carolina stems from the fact that from earliest days until now it has had a continuing program of progressive development. Governors and legislators and administrators and agencies, departments and institutions come and go. Each time a new official comes in any capacity there is some change in emphasis upon particular phases of development, but no overall slowdown in the forward movement.

Your reporter got to thinking about this the other day as he began the biennial tour of inspection of State institutions with the advisory budget commission. He made a part of the tour in 1944, and practically all of it every two years since. Some of the institutions now going strong had not been born 14 years ago, and all the others have grown tremendously.

CHANGE — While there has been continuity in progressive programs and physical growth, there has also been considerable turnover in personnel. The period spans the administration of five Governors — Broughton, Cherry, Scott, Umstead and Hodges. In 1944 Robert G. DeYton was assistant director of the budget. He was succeeded in 1949 by David S. Coltrane, who is still on the job in the same capacity but with change of title to assistant director of administration and budget officer under the 1957 reorganization act.

The only head of an educational institution visited by the budget folks was on the job twelve years ago and now is Dr. Francis L. Atkins, president of Winston-Salem Teachers College. Some of the institutional heads have changed several times.

In 1944 and 1946 Dr. Frank P. Graham was president of the Consolidated University, the post now held by Dr. W. C. Friday, with Gordon Gray serving between. Since then the title of the unit head men has been changed from Dean of Administration to Vice President and Chancellor. In that capacity Robert B. House has been replaced at Chapel Hill by William B. Aycock; J. W. Harnwell was succeeded at State by Carey Bostian, and W. C. Johnson at Woman's College by E. K. Graham and then Gordon Blackwell.

Howard J. McGinnis, acting president at East Carolina, was succeeded by Dennis Cooke and then John D. Messick, who is still going strong. B. B. Dougherty, founder and long time president of Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone, was followed by W. H. Plemmons. H. T. Hunter, president of Western Carolina College at Cullowhee, was followed by W. E. Bird and Paul A. Reid in alternate tenure, with Reid now in the office. Ralph

D. Wellons was succeeded by W. J. Gale as president of Pembroke State College.

Alfonso Elder is president of North Carolina College at Durham, succeeding James E. Shephard, and W. T. Gibbs followed F. D. Bluford at A&T, Greensboro. J. W. Seabrook retired as president of Fayetteville State Teachers College, succeeded by Rudolph Jones. S. D. Williams is serving as president of Elizabeth City State Teachers College, but has announced his retirement as of this year.

C. E. Hoffmeyer as superintendent of the School for the Deaf at Morganton, and Egbert Peeler replaced G. E. Lineberry as superintendent of the Schools for the Blind and Deaf at Raleigh. The school for white blind and the school for colored blind and deaf on separate campuses are under the same management.

HOSPITALS — Dr. Paul Young was succeeded by Dr. James W. Murdoch as general superintendent of the mental hospital system. Dr. John F. Owens was then in charge of the Raleigh hospital, the post now held by Dr. W. A. Sikes. At Morganton Dr. Louis G. Beall was succeeded by Dr. John McKee. Dr. Frank Whelpley was then at Goldsboro. There have been two or more changes with Dr. M. M. Vitoes presently on the job. Dr. Tom Parrott headed Caswell Training School for many years, the place now filled by Dr. Frederick Kratter. The Butler hospital and training schools at Buiner and Goldsboro have been added since 1947.

Dr. Paul McCain served as general superintendent of the TB sanatoria system and as directing head of the unit at McCain. Now Dr. Stuart Willis is the general superintendent with headquarters in the new unit at Chapel Hill, and Dr. W. C. Hewitt is at McCain. Dr. H. F. Eason is still at Eastern Carolina Sanatorium at Wilson, but Dr. D. Thomas succeeded Dr. S. M. Blittinger at Black Mountain.

Dr. W. M. Roberts is still at the orthopedic hospital at Gastonia.

CORRECTIONAL — Blaine Madison succeeded S. E. Leonard as commissioner of correction and training. S. G. Hawfield was replaced by Frank Scott as superintendent at Stone-wall Jackson. The other unit heads remain — W. D. Clark at Rocky Mount, Miss Reva Mitchell at Samarcand and Miss Mae D. Holmes at the Negro girls school near Kinston. The Negro girls school was established at Rocky Mount about 1944 with Miss Holmes in charge. Later it was moved to Dobbs Farm when the white women's colony there was abandoned and partially consolidated with Samarcand.

"RICHLY TO ENJOY"
It is a terrible thing to lose a sense of selfish for life. People who have lost this sense stagger through life surrounded by darkness. They have no light without to guide them nor any light within their souls. They wish for death.

Of course, a state of mind such as this is unwholesome to a terrifying extent. It robs life of all its significance. Obstacles rise up along the pathway of every human being. Problems confront us continually. This is all to be expected. It is wholesome. It can be turned to good.

But when we lose a sense of selfish for life itself, we are sick. Psychologists say that we are mentally or emotionally sick. Certainly every holy impulse within us and all the religious faith we have rises up to witness to the fact that a lack of selfishness, insane people are out of their heads; people who lack normal love for life are out of their souls.

College View Humbles Guaranty Bankers, 5-0

Joyner Weaves 2-Hitters Over Opponents

College View last night plunked out a 5-0 victory over the Guaranty Bankers in Teen-er League ball at Guy Smith Stadium.

The winners blasted Guaranty Bank pitchers James, Cox, Boyd, and Cates for six hits. They racked up two runs in the second, another in the third, and two more in the fourth to account for all the scoring. The losers could muster only two hits and failed to convert either of them into runs.

Kenneth Joyner, pint-sized College View left-hander, was in top form last night on the mound. He allowed the losers a single in the second and another in the fourth before shutting the lid completely. He struck out seven batters and walked five.

He was backed up by the hitting of his club. The team picked up six hits, all by different boys. Jimmy Jenkins, Rick Saue, Joyner, Doug Hardee, Glenn Buck, and Roger Allen were the hitters.

The first two runs were tallied in the second inning when Joyner singled, Hardee doubled and Buck singled successfully.

In the third frame, Joyner got on an error by the shortstop and stole second and third. He came in on a balk.

The College Viewers added their final two runs in the fourth inning. James Moye walked and Joe Harper went to first on an error by the second baseman. Three more men walked and Rick Saue punched out a single to account for the runs.

Jensen Has Taken Williams' Place

By ED CORRIGAN

Quietly, almost without notice, Jackie Jensen has replaced Ted Williams as "Mr. Big" of the Boston Red Sox.

Ever since he arrived on the scene as a spindly kid in 1939, Williams has been the man the Red Sox looked to for the big blow when they needed it.

He'll be 40 years old at the end of next month, and while he's still to be feared when he takes his bat in his hand, Williams definitely is No. 2 man in the Red Sox power department these days.

This is Jensen's ninth year in the American League, and he's rolling along at a .319 clip. He leads the league in runs batted in with 76 and home runs with 26. Homer No. 26 yesterday in Boston's 6-1 decision over Chicago equalled his previous season's high.

He also knocked in four runs to make Ike Delock's job on the mound easy. The victory was Delock's eighth without a defeat. It was only his fourth start as he's primarily a reliever.

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees blasted the Cleveland Indians, 11-3, and the Washington Senators edged the Detroit Tigers, 6-5, in a night game. The scheduled Kansas City at Baltimore game was rained out.

In the National League, both the front-runners won. Milwaukee kept its game and a half lead over San Francisco by turning back Los Angeles 7-4. The Giants also recorded a 7-4 triumph but it took them 12 innings to squash Cincinnati. The St. Louis Cardinals stopped the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-2, and the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Chicago Cubs 7-2.

Until Jensen connected with his homer in the seventh, veteran Chicago pitcher Jim Wilson had permitted the Red Sox only two hits. But Frank Malzone opened the seventh with a single and Jensen blasted one over the left field screen. Then Dick Gernert also homered and it was no more ball game. The defeat was Chicago's seventh straight at Boston.

The Yanks backed Bob Turley's pitching with a 14-hit attack on three Cleveland pitchers to keep their lead at 11 games over the Red Sox. Ray Narieski was the victim.

Washington Leads Eastern Swim Festival

GREENSBORO (AP) — Washington area clubs dominated both the boys and girls divisions as the third annual Eastern Invitational Age Group swimming Championships entered the final day of competition here.

The Washington area teams held three of the top five girls spots and three of the top five boys standings.

And the star of the first day's activity was blonde, 13-year-old Anne Bancroft, swimming for the Walter Reed girls of Washington. She set three of the 19 meet records established yesterday, winning the 50-meter freestyle in 31 seconds flat, the 100-meter free style in 1:08.9 and the 200-meter individual medley in 2:54.2.

The only other three-event winner of the 409 swimmers in the meet was Thomas Murphy of the Congressional Country Club, Bethesda, Md. Murphy set a meet record in winning the 50-meter freestyle for boys aged 13-14 in 28.1. He also captured the 200-meter individual medley and the 100-meter freestyle.

The leading boys team after the first day's competition was the Congressional Country Club with 8 points. Other leading boys teams were Charlotte with 53 points; Country Club of Virginia, Washington, 38; Walter Reed of Washington, 35; and Norfolk, Va. Navy, 33.

Leading girls teams were Walter Reed, 137; Congressional Country Club, 62; Ft. Lee, Va., Officers Club, 18; Country Club of Virginia, 17; and High Point, 16.

Three North Carolinians won first places. John Burwell of Greensboro set a meet record of 1:00.6 in winning the 100-meter freestyle for boys 17 and older. Bill McGinity of Charlotte captured the 100-meter freestyle for boys 15-16 and Lucy Latimer of High Point won the 50-meter freestyle for girls 10 and under.

'Sock' Finish For Double Play

This started as a routine double play relay, but a "sock" finish was provided by Cleveland catcher Russ Nixon (15) barreling into New York Yankee second baseman Gil McDougald in game in New York. Nixon twisted his right shoulder and neck but continued to play. The double play on Cleveland second baseman Jim Moran's grounder to shortstop Tony Kubek was completed with McDougald getting off his relay throw to Bill Skowron at first before being dumped. The Yankees won 4-3 after taking an afternoon game 7-4. (AP Wirephoto)

Jones May Take Strikeout Title

Ortega Thinks He And Akins Can Make Money

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Sam Jones, the towering St. Louis right-hander, shows promise of getting out of the rut. At his current rate he'll lead the National League in strikeouts for 1958.

Last night, he whiffed 10 Phillies to run his mark for the year to 108 — the first NL pitcher to pass 100 — and in the process whipped Philadelphia 6-2 to enable the Cards to move into third place.

When the season is all over, the 32-year-old veteran won't be near the top in win-loss records. However, it should be noted that he has lost a couple of tough ones.

The Phillies beat him, 1-0, back in May and the Milwaukee Braves got to him for a 3-2 decision after he had them shut out for eight innings two months ago. Still, his record shows only a half dozen victories against seven defeats.

While the Cards were taking over third place, the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Giants, running one-two, both won. The Braves clubbed Los Angeles 7-4 and the Giants whipped Cincinnati also by 7-4 although this one took 12 innings. That left the Braves still a game and a half in front. The Pittsburgh Pirates turned back the Chicago Cubs 7-2 in the other NL game.

In the American League, the New York Yankees clubbed the Cleveland Indians 11-3 (lead: 11 runs) in the second inning. Sumner walked, stole a base and advanced on a wild pitch. He stole home for the first tally. In the third inning, Taylor walked and the pitcher Medlin lined a long double into the outfield to score him.

Tar Heel League

Pepsi-Cola	7	1
Elks	4	2
Exchange	2	5
Moose	0	5

The third-place Exchange club yesterday handed the Pepsi-Cola their first defeat of the second-half in Tar Heel Little League play, 2-0, at Elm Street Park.

The loss was the third of the overall season for the Pepsi club. They copped the first-half crown with a 7-2 record and then zoomed to seven straight victories before getting downed yesterday. Despite yesterday's loss, the Pepsi-Cola outfit has already swept up the second-half title and is automatically the season's champ in their league.

That fact didn't bother the Exchangers yesterday. They pulled across runs in the second and third innings while Jimmy Medlin held the Pepsi team runless. Medlin limited the champs to three hits. He fanned 13 batters and walked only one while keeping them in check.

The loser was Pepsi's Dan Gordon, despite the fact that he hurled a one-hitter. Gordon went for a little over four innings before the Pepsi coaches pulled him out in favor of Wade. Gordon struck out three and walked four; Wade fanned none and walked two.

The Exchange outfit picked up their two runs in this manner: In the second inning, Sumnerin walked, stole a base and advanced on a wild pitch. He stole home for the first tally. In the third inning, Taylor walked and the pitcher Medlin lined a long double into the outfield to score him.

Jimmy Medlin Spins 3-Hitter Over Champs

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Gaspar Ortega split decision winner over Mickey Crawford, thinks he and Virgil Akins can make a potful of money with a title fight in Los Angeles.

The Mexican welterweight who is ranked No. 2 among Akin's contenders in Ring ratings (No. 7 with the National Boxing Association) pulled his way to a victory over the clever Saginaw, Mich., welter last night at Madison Square Garden. Crawford was No. 4 with the NBA and No. 7 with Ring. It was the third defeat in 25 pro starts for the 2 to 1 favorite.

There was a wide variation in the scoring. One Judge, Harold Barnes, saw it 8-2 for Ortega. The referee, Mark Conn, voted 7-3 for Crawford. Judge Leo Birnbaum, who used to fight as Bobby Dawson, had Ortega on top 6-4. The AP card was 7-2-1 for Ortega. A ringside poll showed eight of 12 voting for the Mexican.

Those who thought Crawford won were impressed by his clever boxing and his three-minute fighting in every round. The Ortega voters figured the swarthy freewinger was too strong for his opponent, manhandling him in the clinches.

"The Indian fought only part of each round," said Conn, explaining his vote. "The other fellow (Crawford) fought three minutes each round and boxed beautifully."

Nick Corby, Ortega's co-manager, began shouting for an Akins match immediately.

"We're going to try to force it," he said. "It will draw a lot of money in California. I think it could top $300,000 in Los Angeles. Ortega is the best welterweight ever to come out of Mexico. They would come over the border in droves to see him."

The California schedule, however, is a bit crowded at the moment. With the Zora Folley-Peter Rademacher heavyweight match July 25, the Floyd Patterson-Roy Harris heavyweight title bout Aug. 18 and the Carmen Basilio-Art Aragon scrap on Sept. 5 all set for Los Angeles.

Akins is waiting to see whether Basilio will want to go back into the welter division after the Aragon bout. And that, in turn, depends on the future plans of middleweight champion Ray Robinson.

P&M, Graniteers Win Industrial Softball Tilts

In two Industrial softball games last night at Guy Smith Stadium, the Greenville Parks and Metals team dumped Coffman's 7-2 and the Graniteers copped a forfeited 7-0 victory from Quality Oilers.

The Graniteers were to play the Oilers in the first ball game but they were not enough Quality Oil players present to constitute a team. The game was awarded to the Graniteers by forfeit, 7-0.

In the second tilt, Hardy pitched a five-hitter for the Parks and Metals team in guiding his club to a 7-2 win over Coffman's. His club backed him up with 11 base hits, led by Morgan (3-4) and Fly (2-4). Yates was the losing hurler.

Leading hitter for the losers was Dennis, first baseman, with 3-3. Coffman's 2-5 3

Bunk Warren To Pitch Against Hi-Toms Monday

THOMASVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Malcolm (Bunk) Warren of Wilson will start for the All-Stars against High Point-Thomasville here Monday night in the Carolina League All-Star game.

Bobby Hofman, Danville manager who will direct the All-Stars, has nominated Warren to lead off because he led in voting among the pitchers with 74 votes.

"I'll use the five All-Star pitchers in the order in which the players voted for them," Hofman said. "I can't say how long each pitcher will work because it all depends upon how they fare."

"But I'll open with Warren and then follow with Don Hyman of Danville, Dick Day of Durham, Any Yetsko of Danville and Steve Hamilton of Alamance, (Burlington)" pointed out Manager Hofman.

"Sure, I think we can beat the Hi-Toms," said the former New York Giants' infielder. "With the lineup I've got, we ought to win in a breeze. Boy, I've got power all the way through the batting order. And with the top five hurlers in the league, I can't see how we're going to lose."

Wilson has five representatives on the 16-man All-Star squad, two of them having replaced injured players.

They are Warren, second baseman Jim Burton, outfielders Fred Valentine and Harold Holland and catcher Cal Ripken.

Manager Hofman has four members of his Danville team on the All-Star squad.

A home run hitting contest at 7:30 p.m. precedes the 8 p.m. game.

The Missouri and Mississippi rivers meet about ten miles north of St. Louis.

Greensboro Wins Tilt By Forfeit At Wilson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Bob Hopper took his Wilson Tobs off the field after eight innings of a Carolina League game last night. The game was awarded to Greensboro by forfeit 9-0.

Apparently Hopper's action was because the home-standing Tobs had used all of their pitchers. At the time, Greensboro was leading 17-7.

Hopper used six pitchers trying to halt Greensboro. The only Tobs hurler not used was Jack Fisher, who pitched the night before and is scheduled to hurl again tonight.

The sixth Wilson pitcher, Bert Barth, was ejected from the game by Umpire Hank Felmister while the Tobs were batting in the eighth. Wilson's starting pitcher, Bunk Warren, was hit on the shins by a line drive in the third and was stepped upon in a play at first base in the fourth. John Malagone was the batting star for Greensboro, hitting two home runs and driving in six runs.

Raleigh and Winston-Salem split a doubleheader, the Caps taking the opener, 1-0, and Winston-Salem the nightcap 4-1. Tracy Stallard of Raleigh bested lefty Al Sanders in the opener with a two-hitter. Rolfe Passaro held Raleigh to two hits in the second game.

A two-run homer by Tony Curry in the eighth gave league leading High Point-Thomasville a 3-2 win over Danville.

Last inning rallies enabled Burlington's Indians to defeat Durham in a doubleheader, 5-2 and 11-5.

Ken Kuhn, Burlington second baseman, has set a Carolina League record for consecutive hits. He collected eight straight hits in the two game last night and had four-for-four in the nightcap Thursday for 12 consecutive hits.

Tonight's games: Burlington at Durham, Hi-Toms at Danville, Greensboro at Wilson and Raleigh at Winston-Salem.

Stuart's Boasts May Be Good

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Lee Stuart is a 25 year old who likes golf, water skiing, and hitting homers.

This Pittsburgh Pirate rookie has always claimed he could hit from 25 to 30 homers every year in the majors. As of today, he stands a good chance to fulfill his forecast. Dick has played two games and belted two homers — the second one was a grand slammer to pace Pittsburgh's 7-2 conquest of the Chicago Cubs yesterday.

During the past three and a half seasons Stuart has established himself as the Babe Ruth of the minors, getting exactly 175.

Stuart's homer log dates back in earnest to 1955 when he hit 33. The following season he delivered 66 playing for Lincoln, Neb., and last year, 1957, he sprayed no fewer than 45 around and about the country.

After going to spring training with the Pirates a third time last March, Stuart was assigned to Lake City in the Pacific Coast League.

He belted 31 for the Utah club, and this production prompted Dick's recall to the Pirates last week.

Stuart's fielding has always posed a problem. No great shakes as an outfielder, the Pirates decided last winter to sink or swim with the native of San Francisco at first base — the position he is now playing.

As for hitting, the confident young Pirate says:

"I have always felt I had good power, and could hit homers. I'm sure I can enjoy the same success up here."

Then the man who has taken the Pirates' first base play away from Ted Kluszewski, added:

"George Sisler, the Pirates' batting coach, has been a tremendous help to me. His tips and pointers have been most helpful. He knows whereof he speaks, and when he speaks I'm happy to listen."

Things Will Be Different Now

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—Civil defense officials were demonstrating how fast a new mobile communications unit could go to work in an emergency. They called the show "Exercise Pronto."

The power failed undaunted, they switched to the emergency gasoline-powered generator. Somebody forgot to fill the gas tank.

Moore became mechanic for Baker and his running mate, Speedy Thompson of Charlotte, after the factory teams withdrew their support of stock car racing in 1957.

With Moore building the engines and supervising work on the cars during pit stops, Baker won 13 major races in the latter part of the 1957 season to capture his second straight NASCAR late model championship. At the same time Thompson won the richest race of the year, the Southern 500 at Darlington.

Packs Ice Cream And Plays Golf

CHICAGO (AP) — In the summer, 220-pound Bob Ludlow packs ice cream at an Indianapolis dairy in the morning and plays golf in the afternoon.

In the winter the big fellow, who once was on the Butler University links team, is a junior high school gym teacher.

In the summer, Dan Sikes does odd jobs in the athletic department of the University of Florida and says he has time for only one round of golf a week.

In the winter, the lean former all-army champion, burns the midnight oil as a law student.

Ludlow and Sikes, a pair of almost nonchalant players, meet today in the 36 hole finals of the National Public Links Tournament.

Both have been in four previous Publix and got acquainted last year in Hershey, Pa., when they were in the same qualifying threesome.

U. S. Needs One More To Reach Davis Cup Finals

TORONTO (AP) — The United States needs just one more victory to clinch a finals berth in the American Zone Davis Cup competition, and Barry Mackay and Sam Giammalva will try to take care of that today when they meet Canadians Don Pontana and Bob Bedard in the doubles.

Young Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., made it 2-0 for the United States in the three-out-of-five series yesterday as he smashed his way to a straight set victory over Canadian champion Bedard, 9-7, 6-2, 6-4.

Mackay had won the first singles match Thursday with a straight set decision over Fontana, Canada's No. 2 player.

Reed, an unorthodox performer playing in his first Davis Cup competition, and Bedard had a prolonged first set in which the Canadian made full use of his retriever tactics. But Reed breezed through the next two sets by playing a strong forcing game. He never lost his service and broke Bedard's service four times.

The match was won and lost in that first set, and Bedard came very close to winning it, twice being within a point of breaking Reed's service.

If the United States team wins either the doubles today or one of the two singles matches Monday it undoubtedly will meet either Argentina or Israel in the zone final, as Argentina took a commanding 2-0 lead over a young, inexperienced British West Indies team yesterday in their semi-final match at Buenos Aires.

Enrique Soriano won the opening singles from 19-year-old Peter Valdes of Trinidad, 6-2, 7-5, 6-1, and Enrique Moran, 34, downed Peter Phillips from Kingston, Jamaica, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Argentina, should it turn in its expected victory over the West Indies, will meet Israel in the other zone semifinal next week-end. Israel had challenged in the American zone because the European zone quota was filled.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's Patty Berg carried a 2-1 lead into the third round of the 72-hole American Championship Women's Open golf tournament at Brookview Country Club today.

The veteran redhead shot the best round of the tournament yesterday with 71 for a 143 total at the halfway mark and a two-shot lead over Louise Suggs, another veteran, from Atlanta, Ga.

Kathy Cornelius of Lake Worth, Fla., who shared the first day lead with Miss Berg, goes into the third round six shots off the pace.

FBLA Workshop Sets Plan For Coming Year

Plans for the 1958-59 school year in the program of work for the North Carolina Chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America have been developed in the 5-day workshop ending Sunday at East Carolina College.

The second annual FBLA workshop was directed by Joe Collier, North Carolina and National president of the organization. Leaders from several state high schools and colleges participated in the workshop which Collier, a Bayboro high school senior, led.

Theme of the session has been "Leadership Training" and featured two classes in parliamentary procedure held by Miss Lois Grigsby, of the East Carolina English department, and public speaking under the guidance of Miss Rosalind Roulston, East Carolina College radio-television director.

Revision of the handbook used by the 62 North Carolina local chapters was a project of a special committee. A model installation ceremony was prepared and is being given its initial viewing on Station WNCN Sunday afternoon during the East Carolina College hour.

The weekend is being concluded with a beach party at Atlantic Beach on Saturday, a final business session Sunday morning, followed by a worship service in a Greenville church, and a luncheon preceding the telecast.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION—Grifton High School's new gymnasium is currently under construction and should be ready for use before the beginning of the 1958-59 term. Actual construction began in January but inclement weather hindered workers. The gym, with a seating capacity of approximately 1,000 people, measures 80 feet by 100 feet. In addition to the basketball courts, there are two dressing rooms for each of the boys and girls, storage rooms, a lobby and bathroom facilities for both men and women. (Reflector Photo)

Kiwanians Talk Meeting Change

Last night at the Greenville Kiwanis Club's summer meeting, Kiwanian John T. Barnhill paid tribute to the memory of Edwin E. Rawl, Sr., prominent citizen, who died several days ago in a Durham hospital. The Kiwanians paused for a moment of silent prayer in tribute to him.

Kiwanian Leonard P. Bloxam explained the proposal of the directors to change the meeting night from Friday to Tuesday night. The members will vote on the proposal at the July 25 meeting. Vice-President John A. Collins, Jr., who was presiding, stated.

Kiwanians J. Ed Waldrop and John A. Collins, Jr., delegates to the recent Kiwanis International Convention in Chicago, will make reports next week.

Secretary John O. Reynolds and Mrs. Reynolds were hosts at supper at their home on Rock Spring Road to the Kiwanis directors and several committee chairmen Wednesday night. The secretary's report showed that the recent Kiwanis picnic for the members and their wives and children was a financial success.

Eli Bloom presented a program of songs last night featuring Miss Bonny Rutledge, soprano soloist, and her mother, Mrs. Berkeley Rutledge, accompanist. Mrs. Rutledge sang "When I Grow Too Old To Dream," "Lazy Song," "Summer-time" and "Friend O' Mine." The chairman invited them to appear on a later program.

Ted Ashworth won the attendance prize. Kiwanians Herman Duncan, Jimmy Lanier, Milo Smith, Bill Corbett and Bill Wheeler had birthdays and they dozed a dime for each year of age. Guests last night were Bert Pollock, Joe Taft, Jr., and Rives Taylor.

ECC Air Cadets Finish Training At Florida Base

Graduation exercises marking the end of the 1958 AFROTC Summer Training at MacDill Air Force Base, Florida, were held Friday, with 13 air cadets from East Carolina College being given certificates. The cadets left for their homes Saturday.

The 28-day summer training period for the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps conducted at MacDill was attended by air cadets from 39 colleges and universities in the eastern and southern states and one Great Lakes area state, with East Carolina ranking seventh in the number in the summer training program.

In addition to the air cadets, Master Sergeant Joseph G. Weiland, a member of the East Carolina AFROTC staff, was on the summer training unit headquarters command.

A three-day Air Force Seminar, held at MacDill AFB during the period of training, was attended by Capt. George B. Patterson, U. S. Air Force and the Department of Air Science, and Dr. James W. Butler, assistant director of Public Relations and Foundations, East Carolina College.

The graduating cadets, all rising seniors or seniors at East Carolina, are: Eugene M. Brown, Thomas R. Gainer, Franklin M. Johnson, James E. Speight, Leo W. Thacker Jr., all of Greenville, N. C.; Thomas A. Farlow, Sanford; Jackson S. Henley, Asheboro; Cecil P. J. Taylor of Haverstraw, N. Y.; R. G. Derron of Johnston, N. C.; Mrs. Jimmie Cox of Kinston; three sons, Hugh J. Rasberry of Wilmington; Thomas H. Rasberry of Town Creek, Md.; Charles W. Rasberry of Farmville; four sisters, Mrs. I. J. Jones of Kinston; Mrs. Guy Cason of Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. P. Anderson of Toronto, Canada; two brothers, Paul Rasberry of Route 2, Farmville; E. C. Rasberry of Norfolk, Va.; five grandchildren.

(Correction)

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Lottie Stanley, Rocky Mount; Mrs. Viola Murphy, Greenville; Mrs. Venilia Jenkins and Mrs. Novella Patterson, Greenville; one son, Silas Randolph, R-6, Greenville. Also surviving are 39 grandchildren and 49 great-grandchildren.

The Artistic Club will meet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ida Smith, 103 South Side Street.

Sunday school will be at 9:30 a.m. at the Rock Springs F.W.B. Church and Morning Worship at 11:00 a.m. The Rev. S. Hemby will speak on "What kind of religion is yours?" Sunday night services will be held at Arthur Chapel at 8:00 p.m. with music by the junior choir.

Peiping Pushes 'Tough' Policy

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Many Western students of Communist affairs believe Red China's leadership is exerting intense pressure on the Soviet Union and other Communist countries for a tough line at home and abroad.

Peiping has been much more bitter in its denunciations of Tito than the Kremlin.

The tough-policy approach likely arises from an acute internal situation in China—a situation that threatens to grow worse. Communist China is undertaking a gigantic economic buildup in a bid to become one of the leading industrial powers. It is doing this with little margin for maneuvering economically. The immense population of China swells year by year against an ever scarce food industrialization program. The Chinese Communists can count on help from the Soviet Union and other Communist countries. This is vital but it is not enough.

To carry it through Peiping is going to have to impose on the Chinese people enormous hardship and suffering comparable with that imposed in the Soviet Union in the 30s.

In particular it will be necessary to squeeze the peasantry. Probably this kind of an operation can only be carried out by imposition of terror such as Stalin ordered in the Soviet Union. To justify this sort of terror it will be necessary for Peiping to create a foreign enemy just as Stalin did.

The Chinese Communist leaders probably feel that they must also get other countries of the Communist bloc to present a monolithic face.

If this speculation is correct, then the current turn of both Peiping and Moscow to a tough line is a long-term proposition. But if Peiping becomes too rabid, this could conceivably impose a strain on the Moscow-Peiping axis.

No Bonus Pay Hike Ahead For N. C. Teachers

RALEIGH (AP)—Because general fund revenues fell short of the mark, North Carolina school teachers will not get a bonus pay raise of 1.09 per cent this year.

It is doubtful that they will get it next year either.

The 1957 Legislature authorized a 15 per cent pay hike for teachers. In addition, a bonus pay raise of 1.09 per cent was to be paid provided general fund revenues reached $244,305,214 for the fiscal year that ended June 30 and $252,089,614 for the year ending next June 30.

The year-end revenue report released this week showed that the general fund fell $2,189,010 short for the 1957-58 years.

"It's just one of those matters that's understood," said Dr. Charles F. Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction. "Inasmuch as the revenues did not materialize, we'll simply take it in stride."

Wife Gives Up Oscar To World Giving Concert Monday Night

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—"He's gotten too big for one woman, so I have decided to give him to the world."

With that Mrs. Oscar Levant filed for divorce against her pianist husband after 18 years of marriage.

Oscar and his wife, Joan, had a fight Wednesday night. Oscar said she tried to cut him with scissors. Joan said she threw a shoe at him—and missed. Levant moved out.

Her suit filed in Superior Court yesterday charged Levant with mental and physical cruelty. She said her husband, who has a local television show, is capable of earning more than $100,000 a year, but no alimony figure was named.

Vandal Damages Three Paintings

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Three Renaissance paintings were scarred at the Philadelphia Museum of Art, it was disclosed yesterday. The damage apparently was inflicted by a vandal with a pin. Henri Matisse, museum director, said.

Marceau did not say how much the paintings were worth. He said the damage could be repaired.

The paintings were "Portrait of a Youth" by an unknown 15th century artist; a Nativity scene done by Flemish painter Jan Gossart in the 16th century; and an Italian talar piece by the 16th century painter, Nerli DiBicci.

An Old, Old Bill Is Finally Paid

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A clothing store got an unexpected $39 bonus when a former credit customer paid off a 28-year-old bill and attached a note saying, "You've been more than patient."

William S. Chick, manager, said the money and note had been mailed from Maryland, Tex., by a man who had bought $39 worth of clothes back in 1930, but because of financial problems, had been unable to pay off the bill until now.

Youths Face No Charges After Grenade-Hurling

DURHAM (AP)—Police report that neither the Rev. Warren Carr nor Solicitor W. H. Murdock plans to press charges against four youths who admitted throwing a hand grenade at the minister's home.

No one was hurt when the training grenade exploded outside a window at the Baptist minister's home Sunday night.

Carr is chairman of a human relations committee working to improve race relations. At first, it was thought that the bombing may have had some connection with his position on that committee.

Police said, however, that the grenade throwing did not stem from racial differences. There was no ready explanation by police of how the youths obtained the explosive, which had been issued to National Guardsmen at Ft. Bragg.

Police identified the four, arrested yesterday, as Charles M. Bass, 19; Perry Robert King, 17; Charles W. Clark, 18; and Norman C. Shepherd, 17.

Driver Charged In Minor Mishap

Henry Leighton Jones, 26, of Greenville Route 2 was charged with hit-and-run and careless driving by police officers investigating a minor accident at the intersection of 10th and Cotanche Streets last night.

Jones' automobile reportedly struck a second car being operated by Mrs. Lena Tyson of 415 West Fourth Street. Property damage to both vehicles was estimated at $90.

FALSE ALARM SOUNDED

A false alarm was sounded at the corner of Fourth and Washington streets early yesterday afternoon.

Firemen answered the call at 3:35 p.m. and returned five minutes later.

Sec. Of Defense Is En Route To Nuclear Tests

HONOLULU (AP)—Defense Secretary Neil McElroy arrived here last night via non-stop jet tanker, en route to American nuclear tests in the Eniwetok area.

"This is the way to get transported," McElroy joked to Adm. Felix B. Stump and other high officers as he stepped from the big KC135 swept-wing Boeing after a record-setting flight from Washington, D.C., in 11 hours and eight minutes.

It was the first Washington-Honolulu non-stop flight ever made.

McElroy said he would spend the weekend conferring with Pacific Commander in Chief Adm. Stump on Pacific area military problems and fly to Eniwetok on Monday, where he said "some (nuclear) shots are scheduled in the regular course." He expects to return here Friday and leave for Washington the following Sunday.

Judge Reaffirms Home Is 'Castle'

CHICAGO (AP)—A judge has reaffirmed the age-old legal principle that a man's home is his castle—particularly if the castle is home made.

He ordered Francis Phillips, 35, readmitted to his eight room ranch home in suburban Evanston yesterday, dissolving an order Phillips' estranged wife, Anne, 32, had obtained barring her husband from the house.

Phillips, a contractor, did much carpentry work on his $30,000 home.

"A man certainly shouldn't be barred from a house he built himself," Judge Charles S. Dougherty said.

Interests Lie In World About Them

BUZZ'S BEAT . . . Lawrence Behr gets set to play a record on his bi-weekly college radio program.

Headlines each day blast for a crimes committed by teenagers.

Seldom, if ever, do the constructive pastimes of American youth make even the back page of the daily papers.

As the term "boys will be boys" became obsolete, terms such as "juvenile delinquency" and "criminalistic tendencies" began calling attention to the misdeeds of youth, and before long youth and delinquency were synonymous.

Probing beneath the negativism and pessimism of the beliefs that youth today are any worse than those a generation ago, studies are found throughout the teenage set that reveal a varied interests with a future.

Ready on the way to becoming a naturalist is Perry Rogers who spends his spare time working with wild life of all kinds. In the short time that Perry had studied nature, he has amassed an astounding amount of knowledge about wild life habits, their care, capture, and preservation.

Capturing and handling snakes is an art understood by this nature enthusiast who has helped fill the snake collections of the Raleigh Museum, East Carolina College, and Atlantic Christian College. Perry looks forward to the day when he will complete his own display collection of live, non-poisonous snakes.

Raccoons, opossums, bobcats, and owls are some of the animals Perry has caught. He has tanned the skins or stuffed the animals.

"I learned to like nature from my father, and I have enjoyed wild life as a whole since I was very young," comments Perry. "It is very interesting to study how animals react to food and kindness and how the balance of nature goes on," he adds.

Builds Model Planes

Everything about airplanes and flying, including building model airplanes, interests Alice Coriolano, a Brazilian teenager, who is living in Greenville with her aunt and uncle, the Rev. and Mrs. Richard R. Gammon.

Languages and travel go hand-in-hand and Alice speaks English and Portuguese fluently. She also reads French and Spanish.

"I love to read about airplanes and everything connected with flying," states Alice. She continues, "I would liked to have been a flyer if I had been a boy. As it is, I plan to study archeology which will incorporate all my interests."

Another hobby of this versatile sixteen-year-old is guitar playing. She entertains herself and friends with popular songs and old favorites.

Enjoys Radio Contact

"Personal contact with people all over the world is the most rewarding part of being a ham radio operator," says Mickey Averette who will be a freshman in the Engineering College of N. C. State College next fall.

Mickey, who started his ham set in 1955, states, "It's a hobby that can be as expensive as you let it — or you can build your own set for a relatively small amount." He has talked with people in all 48 of the states and about twenty different countries.

From his bedroom Mickey operates a 120-watt station with call number K4hmm. According to Mickey, a licensed operator has to keep a log of all the people he contacts through his radio set, and he must send a card with his call numbers and other information to each person with whom he talks.

To become a licensed ham radio operator, it is necessary to be able to send and receive a specified number of words a minute and to pass a radio theory test.

Modify Their Cars

Buddy Rogers, Carl Whitfield,

Johnny Johnson, Franklin Steinbeck, Ronald Roseveare are some of the Greenville boys who spend their spare time learning what makes their cars go, and how to improve their car engines.

These car enthusiasts modify their vehicles by removing all unnecessary chrome, ornaments, and by adding lowering blocks to give their car that "ready to take off" look.

By tinkering with the motors and experimenting with different parts, they have learned how to fix their autos and how to make them run better. This first-hand knowledge of cars has helped some of the boys get summer jobs working with auto parts concerns.

Has Record Show

"Buzz's Beat" is a record program on the college FM radio station run by Lawrence Behr. Lawrence, who will be a junior in high school next year, is probably the youngest person ever to receive the First Class Radio and Telephone License.

Lawrence has had his record show for seven months, four hours a week. On his shows, which are Wednesday and Friday from 8 to 10 p.m., he plays popular music and gives away records.

The college station is presently the second most powerful

FM educational system in North Carolina. It runs on 91.1 megacycles and has a coverage of 50 miles. During the summer the station runs from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.

By reading and studying this high school junior knows how to keep radio equipment in top notch shape, and he is presently building a AM radio system for the college that will limit its broadcast to the college campus.

"I think what I've done at the radio station will be invaluable to me later," declares Lawrence. "I have learned a lot of things by working with college students," he adds. Lawrence plans to continue his engineering in the radio field when he finishes college.

Hobby is Sewing

"Sewing is a hobby that I can work on in my spare time, and it helps me have a larger wardrobe," states Jane Reynolds who will also be a junior at Junius H. Rose High School next year.

Jane likes sewing and makes many of her sport clothes. She is finishing a pair of shorty pajamas and plans to start making a dress soon.

"I like to do anything artistic with my hands," she comments. She had some art lessons and for the most part paints pastels.

HOG NOSE SNAKE . . . just one of the many varieties of wild animals caught by Perry Rogers.

ALICE CORIOLANO . . . puts the finishing touches on a model airplane.

CHECKING DIRECTIONS . . . Jane Reynolds reads the directions for making shorty pajamas.

CHAPTER 23

"Who do you think drove the longhorn to the Considine pasture?" Martha asked Jim Ned Wheeler, her voice tight and strained.

The old cowman squinted through a thick haze of tobacco smoke as his eyes scanned the distant ridges.

"There's several schools of thought on that," he replied. "Wynn says it's Slade Considine among ourselves that we won't have time to notice the Forest Service is moving in on us."

"That sounds plain crazy to me," Martha said stoutly. But she had a lot of faith in Jim Ned's judgment, and the worry in her heart tightened while she waited for his answer.

"Maybe," he agreed placidly, his face as noncommittal as the face of a wooden Indian. "I think we will take a little jaunt over to the Escabrosa before we ride out the rest of this country."

He neck-reined his pony sharply to the right and Martha urged the bay up alongside.

"Who does the Escabrosa belong to?" she asked.

"Why, I reckon Slade Considine would say it belongs to the Forest Service. It is a long narrow strip of good-wild rough country that lies most of the way between the Walking K and the 143, with Escabrosa Creek box running about through the middle of it. Most of it ain't much good, but there's some fine vega up toward the head that we call the Valle Medio. I guess it's a good thing it's there between us or we might have come to gun-slinging with Considine's outfit years ago. As it is there isn't any way to get into the canyon nor across it without a fine trail. So we always let the Thomason's have the vega."

"Do you suppose some of the bulls might have drifted up there?"

Jim Ned's eyes stopped searching the horizon to give her a quick sharp look. "Might be too bad for them if they have," he said dryly. "Wild claims it has got so full of wild jackrabs that it isn't safe to run any livestock up there any more. I wouldn't know about that. Jeff Thomason died — I guess that has been ten years anyhow. He used to have a cabin up there and sometimes I went hunting with him."

As they rode, his voice went on describing the lay of the country, explaining the boundaries of each of the big ranches, but now Martha was not listening. From some secret place in her mind, where she had tried to shut them away, she drew out all her memories of Slade Considine and went over them one by one. She had never known anyone quite like him. She had tried not to think about him — or at least to think about him only with complete indifference when she learned he was the nephew of her grandmother's old enemy.

Fireworks Sale Defense Blew Up In Court Room

CHICAGO (AP) — The courtroom defense for Mrs. Lillian Williams blew up with a bang yesterday.

Mrs. Williams, who operates a grocery in suburban Glenview, appeared in Arlington Heights court on a charge of illegally selling fireworks.

"They aren't illegal, judge," explained Mrs. Williams, 47, referring to what she called a harmless bag of 10 torpedoes, otherwise known as "crackerballs."

"They were left over from last year. I placed them on the counter to get rid of them."

Justice of the Peace Walter Dahl asked to see the crackerballs.

Dahl tore open the cellophane bag and one of the torpedoes exploded, shaking the magistrate and leaving a slight powder burn in his hand.

"These are safe!" he asked. "They could blow a kid's fingers off. This party is guilty and fined $15 and costs."

Not Vodka, So $500,000 Ignored

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A detective says Lawrence Nutter, 23, stole a case of negotiable American Express checks worth $500,000 and threw them away — because they weren't vodka.

Detective Vincent Heeney told this story yesterday at a hearing. Nutter took three cases from the Railway Express Agency June 26 because he thought they contained vodka.

The first case he opened was filled with vodka, which he and a friend, William McCall, 28, sampled. Later McCall opened a second case.

"Take that stuff out of here. I don't want it," McCall told Nutter after rifling through the checks. Nutter obediently burned them in a city incinerator.

Magistrate J. Amos Harris held Nutter on $500 bail for trial.

N. C. Sheriffs Set Convention

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Sheriff's Assn. will hold its 1953 convention in Asheville the first week in August. This was decided yesterday at the closing business session of the organization's annual convention here.

Sheriff Frank P. Heavner of Lincoln County was elected president of the group to succeed Ruel W. Tyson of Pitt County. Glenn O. Womble of Nash County moved up to 1st vice president, and Haywood Allen of Cleveland to 2nd vice president. John O. Morris, former sheriff of New Hanover County, was re-elected secretary for the 30th time.

Not Much Time To Find His Son

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — John Wersinger Sr. is waiting for his son.

He doesn't have long to wait. The 64-year-old man is dying of cancer, and he knows it.

Four of his sons, a daughter and 10 grandchildren have gathered around Wersinger in his home here.

But one son is missing. John Wersinger Jr., 36, left Jersey City a year ago to work as a civilian guard at a military establishment in El Paso, Tex. He wrote his mother last month that he was giving up the job, and his parents have not heard from him since.

Wersinger's family appealed to newspapers to publish the story in the hope that John will find it and return home.

He has only a few days to do it.

Keep 'em Cool In Heat Of The Day

ALENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Radio station WKAP now offers air-conditioned interludes to keep listeners cool in the heat of the day.

Two of the station's disc jockeys, Sammy Anderson and Joe Vargo, began broadcasting special programs yesterday from public swimming pools; and so close to the water splash and the swimmers splutter.

I present you, wrote Russian czar Grigor Shelikov to his lieutenant, Alexander Barnov, "with some selected guests who have been selected by order of the Empress to spread the word of God in America."

The guests were eight Russian Orthodox clergymen and 10 lay servants selected by the Empress Catherine II at Shelikov's request to bring the Christian Gospel to the heathen—and apostate traders—in Alaska.

Few missionaries have been subjected to the physical and mental anguish that was the lot of those who first brought the Christian word to the territory that is to become the 49th state.

The Russians who had preceded them viewed the newcomers with suspicion and outright hatred. The natives accepted Christianity eagerly and, just as eagerly, fell away when the nearest clerical back was turned.

The missionary party arrived in Alaska in August 1794 aboard two ships crowded with supplies and prospective colonists. The supplies and colonists were welcomed. The missionaries were not.

Baranov, a lusty frontiersman who ran Alaska as his private preserve, looked upon them as meddlers to be thwarted by any method, fair or foul. Baranov knew most of the foul.

It wasn't long before the Archimandrite (Abbot) Joseph, leader of the mission party, was complaining to Shelikov that Baranov "continually sat in his house hatching mischief."

"Since my arrival at this harbor," he wrote after 10 months in Alaska, "I have seen no hint but what seems to be in direct opposition to your kind intentions."

"The only thing that gives me satisfaction is that the natives flock in from everywhere to become Christianized, but the Russians not only make no effort to help in the work of enlightenment but use every means to discourage them."

The archimandrite records that the first winter that the missionaries were housed in leaky huts and forced to forage for food on the beaches, while Baranov and his men caroused in luxury.

Another member of the missionary party, one Father Juvenal, draws a chilly picture of the archimandrite Baranov at the priest's last service before transferring to his last post on the wild mainland.

"I could not help," he wrote, "but marvel at Alexander Alexandrevitch Baranov, who stood there and listened and crossed himself . . . and joined in the singing with the same hoarse voice with which he was shouting obscene songs the night before when I saw him in the midst of a drunken carousal with a woman seated in his lap."
