Congress Tackles Backlog Of Legislation; Weekend Adjournment Is The Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — An adjournment-minded Congress begins tackling a heavy backlog of legislation today in an effort to close shop by the weekend.

But it was a big question whether the legislators could complete their work without going into next week.

Neither Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) nor House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) has set a public target date for adjournment of the 85th Congress.

Southern Demos Talk 'Hard Sell'

COLUMBIA (AP) — The hard sell is needed for more action by united Southern Democrats within the national party.

That was the message discussed by party leaders from nine Southern states at a get-acquainted meeting here yesterday.

Regional Representative Sam Whitlie of the National Committee, and his colleague, Mississippi National Committeeman H. H. Clayton, took leading parts in the meeting.

Talk at the closed get-together attended by 19 leaders was on how to organize and sell the Democratic party better in the South.

Only four of the nine states have permanent party headquarters.

Party chairmen in office for four years in some states don't even know the party officials in the adjoining states, Whitlie said.

Emphasis, he said, should be put on getting women and younger voters into the party, and on techniques of "getting the program of the party over on the basis that it has always been concerned about the South, which has always prospered under the Democratic party."

Republican congressmen from Florida and North Carolina and presidential voting defections in the South in 1948, 1952 and 1956 mean that Democrats no longer will "take the South for granted," Clayton declared.

Only Virginia, Florida, North Carolina and Tennessee parties have permanent headquarters, Clayton said. Mississippi is setting up a headquarters with $35,000 they expect to raise.

The other states' representatives took the matter under advisement. No resolutions were proposed or committees appointed. No date was set for another meeting but the matter was left open.

The gathering stemmed from a South Carolina party spring convention resolution directing State Chairman Thomas H. Pope of Newberry to arrange Southern Democratic meetings for more national party recognition.

Attending were the following representatives: Mississippi: Whitlie, Clayton, State Chairman Bidwell Adam and National Committeewoman Mrs. Lovie L. Gore.

South Carolina: Pope, National Committeewoman Mrs. Anne Agnew and E. P. Riley of Greenville, a proxy for National Committeeman Edgar A. Brown of Barnwell.

Tennessee: National Committeewoman, Mrs. Ruth Russell, National Committeeman Herbert S. Walters.

Virginia: National Committeeman G. Fred Switzer.

North Carolina: State Chairman Woodrow W. Jones and National Committee members John D. Larkins and Mrs. B. B. Everett.

Georgia: Mrs. Edna D. Hendricks.

Florida: Mrs. Christine Maxwell, proxy for the national committeeman.

Alabama: National Committeeman Charles W. McKay.

Louisiana: President Ralph N. Jackson of the United Democrats of Louisiana, and President Paul C. Tate of the Louisiana Young Democrats.

Discussed Dates

Wilson, N. C. (AP) — Action of the Sales Committee of the Bright Belt Warehouse Assn. in setting Aug. 21 as the day for opening tobacco sales on the Eastern North Carolina Belt was discussed today at a meeting of the Eastern North Carolina Warehouse Assn.

J. C. Eagles Jr., Eastern Belt representative on the committee, said the session was called so he could explain to the directors the Sales Committee's reason for sticking with the Aug. 21 date.

The sales committee met in Raleigh Saturday. It fixed dates which had been established tentatively as the opening dates for the Eastern Belt, Aug. 21; Middle Belt, Sept. 4; and Old Belt Sept. 15.

There had been speculation prior to the Saturday meeting that the Sales Committee would advance the openings by two days.

Legislation to require public disclosure of employee pension and welfare funds is awaiting compromise efforts by a Senate-House conference committee.

Here's the picture on other major bills:

Increase in debt limit to 268 billion dollars — Passed by the House and now before Senate Finance Committee.

Small business tax relief — Passed by the House and approved by the Senate Finance Committee.

Depressed areas bill — Passed by the Senate and cleared for House debate.

Supreme Court curbs — Several bills approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee but not yet cleared for floor action.

One given the best chance for Senate passage is a bill to restore to the state the right to enforce their own antisubversive laws.

The House has passed a broader version.

A $3,131,000,000 supplemental appropriations bill carrying funds for the Atomic Energy Commission and other agencies — Passed by the House and now before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Omnibus housing bill — Passed by the Senate and approved by the House Banking Committee, but stuck in the Rules Committee.

There also was mounting speculation that the House might act on a Senate-passed bill designed to give the government a stronger hand in regulating labor unions and to give rank and file members a bigger voice in union affairs.

One Marine Killed, Six Injured In Accident Early This Morning

DEATH CAR . . . Cherry Point Marine dies in flaming auto.

A 1950 model automobile became a flaming death trap for a Cherry Point marine around 2:20 o'clock this morning.

State Highway Patrolman Bill Whitehurst said William D. Wohlers, Jr. of VMR 252, Cherry Point, burned to death when another auto struck the rear of the vehicle he was apparently driving.

The accident occurred on the New Bern highway in the Shelmerdine area.

There were six other persons injured among the 11 who were riding in the two vehicles involved in the crash.

Occupants of both autos were Cherry Point marines. Pitt Memorial Hospital said it had admitted six injured marines.

Two of them, David E. Sowers, 20, of Shippensburg Pa., and George Morgan, 21, of Allentown, Pa., were released for further treatment at Cherry Point.

Still in the hospital were: Richard A. Gorr, 23, Cig Harbor, Wash.; Edward Hanlin, 20, Oakville, Pa.; Gary Parker, 20, Shippensburg Pa.; William Stambaugh, 19, Dover, Pa.

The second vehicle involved in the crash was being operated by Hanlin, Whitehurst said.

The patrolman said the car in which Wohlers died had stopped on the highway partially on the pavement to change drivers when it was struck in the rear by the vehicle which Hanlin was operating. It was not known whether the death car was in forward motion when the crash occurred, Whitehurst stated.

Force of the crash knocked the car in which Wohlers was riding 53 feet, turned it around and up-side down in a ditch on the right hand side of the road.

The second car traveled 65 feet after the collision, turned completely around and came to rest on the right hand side of the road.

Flames broke out in the death vehicle but all the occupants escaped with the exception of Wohlers.

Whitehurst said it was discovered that one person was missing following the accident and the Ayden Fire Department was called to extinguish the blaze, and cool the wreckage.

It was then that the body was discovered in the car. Wohlers' body was burned beyond recognition, according to the patrolman. The arms and legs to the knees were burned away and the head was badly burned.

"The only way we could identify him was by the dog tags which were still on the body," Whitehurst declared.

A physician who attended the injured at Pitt Memorial Hospital last night said Gorr was the only one of the six injured who he considered in serious condition.

Gorr received a fractured right thigh bone, a dislocated hip and burns of both legs.

The marines had been north for the weekend, according to Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson who assisted in the investigation. They left Friday and were on the way back to Cherry Point where they were due at 7 a.m. this morning, one of the victims told the sheriff.

The death car is considered a total loss. Intense heat burned out the upholstery in the car's interior and all non-metal parts were consumed by the flames. The vehicle's metal top dropped down because of the heat.

The other car, a convertible, was considered a total loss also, although it did not catch fire.

Whitehurst said this morning he had made no charges as yet and his investigation of the accident is continuing.

Coroner Griffen H. Rouse said the body has been sent to a New Bern funeral home. The coroner stated he has not decided on an inquest but investigation is still underway.

Sharply Differ On 'Vindicating' Sherman Adams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Democratic and Republican members of a House subcommittee differ sharply on whether their report vindicates the conduct of Sherman Adams in a military contract settlement case.

The report, made public yesterday by the House Armed Services Investigations subcommittee, said it found no evidence indicating presidential assistant Adams intended to influence the $40,382 penalty refund, after nearly 17 years, to Raylaine Worsteds, Inc., Manchester, N. H.

But when interviewed, members of the subcommittee divided along party lines in putting their own interpretations on their findings.

The report, adopted unanimously, was described by Rep. Porter Hardy (D-Va.), a member, as "a minimum in the way of conclusions, but a maximum on which the subcommittee could agree."

Republicans hailed the report as vindication of Adams, who has been involved in two congressional investigations of reports that his prestige was used to get favored treatment for others. Adams has denied bringing any improper pressure to bear, either in this case or another involving textile manufacturer Bernard Goldfine.

In its report, the subcommittee determined that Sen. Styles Bridges and Rep. Chester E. Merrow, both New Hampshire Republicans, and Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) at various times made inquiries about the Raylaine case. But there was no criticism of them.

On the Adams aspect of the case, Hardy suggested the public read the transcript of the subcommittee's closed door hearings and "judge for themselves whether the conduct disclosed in the subcommittee hearings conforms either to their personal standards or to the precepts which have been voiced in high places."

Rep. William E. Hess (Ohio), senior Republican member of the subcommittee, said such a reading would show "not one scintilla of evidence of any attempt to influence the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals either by Sherman Adams or members of Congress."

Hess discounted the "Dear Sherman" letters from persons interested in Raylaine, which were relayed to the Pentagon from the White House with requests for replies.

"I would venture to say Sherman Adams never even saw those letters, but they were sent along by some secretary," Hess said.

Gromyko And 75 Helpers Preparing For UN Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and 75 helpers prepared today for a drive to get the U.N. General Assembly's emergency session to demand withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan.

Gromyko was expected to speak early in the general debate, which starts Wednesday. He said on his arrival from Moscow yesterday that the Soviet government considers the question of the withdrawals very serious and his delegation "will do their best . . . to achieve positive results."

Asian nationalists were reported seeking some means of inducing the Western powers to pull their troops out quickly so the Assembly could concentrate on other Middle Eastern problems. The group holds the balance of power in the 81-nation Assembly.

There was some belief that enlargement of the U.N. border observer corps in Lebanon might get U.S. forces out of there. They admitted Jordan was a tougher problem.

The United States and Britain have promised to withdraw their forces when the U.N. can protect the two countries, whose governments have said the United Arab Republic is working to overthrow them.

The United States is reported planning to propose a police force to protect threatened countries, a watchdog commission to monitor propaganda broadcasts, an investigating commission to recommend long-range solutions, and a Mideastern economic plan, all under the U.N.

An army spokesman in the Syrian province of Hama, U.A.R., claimed that a U.S. jet plane from Lebanon had trespassed over Syria but was driven back by an antiaircraft battery. There was no confirmation from the U.S. command in Beirut.

In Lebanon, near the Syrian border, Ahmed Hammoud, a top leader of Lebanon's Syrian Social National party, and two party members were found murdered. There was some speculation they might have been the victims of bandits.

A Jordan government investigating committee charged that U.A.R. Syrians and Lebanese rebels smuggled explosives into Jordan — some of it aboard U.N. planes — for terrorists planning to create a state of chaos.

Israel again withdrew permission for the American airlift to British troops in Jordan to fly over her territory.

Admit Trading Baby For Truck

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A Pennsylvania couple have admitted trading their baby for a pickup truck.

Detective Walter Turner said a charge of child abandonment has been drawn up against Richard Readdy, 26, Shamokin, Pa., and his wife, Helene Margaret Readdy, 20.

He said Jesse Lester, Burger, 42, El Dorado Springs, Mo., owner of the pickup truck, would probably be charged with conspiring to violate the child abandonment law.

The 5-month-old boy, Paul Andrew, was placed in the Tulsa Juvenile Shelter.

Jail Matron Mildred Buchanan said Mrs. Readdy told her she is now about one month pregnant. But a doctor who examined the woman said it is still too early to tell.

Mrs. Readdy's father, William Murphy of Shamokin, called Tulsa police and offered to come to Tulsa if authorities would grant him custody of the child. He was told it would depend on a juvenile court hearing.

Tulsa police said the alleged swap came about this way: The Pennsylvania couple — out of work, almost broke and without a car — were hitchhiking to California, where Readdy hoped to find a job.

Warn Of Danger In Radioactivity

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A 15-nation U.N. scientific committee says even a slow, slight increase in world radioactivity from nuclear weapon tests and other sources endangers mankind's future health.

While approving a report to this effect, the committee nevertheless rejected by a big majority a Soviet demand that it call for an immediate end to nuclear test explosions.

The report was released yesterday by the United Nations Scientific Committee on the Effects of Atomic Radiation. More than two years of study went into preparation of the 228-page document.

The committee members unanimously agreed that even the smallest amounts of radiation are liable to cause harmful genetic and perhaps other effects such as cancer, leukemia and shortening of life.

They agreed too that "even a slow rise in the environmental radioactivity in the world, whether from weapon tests or any other sources, might eventually cause appreciable damage to large populations before it could be definitely identified as due to radiation."

The majority of the committee took the view that the problem of controlling or curbing nuclear tests and other sources of radiation lies outside the group's scope. The section of the report giving this view won approval by a 9-5 vote with one abstention. The breakdown was not given, but the United States voted with the majority.

The other nations in the study: Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Czechoslovakia, United Arab Republic, France, India, Japan, Mexico, Sweden, the Soviet Union and Britain.

Second Shooting Fatal For Wife

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four months ago, Ray Saunders of Columbus shot his wife four times after a family quarrel. She lived and refused to file charges.

But police charged the 51-year-old Saunders with discharging fire arms, and he drew a 90-day sentence. While he was in jail, Myrtle Saunders, his wife for 30 years, filed for divorce.

They got together this weekend. With a son-in-law and two other men, they went on a drinking party. It ended about 7:30 a.m. yesterday on a Columbus street. Police gave this account of what happened:

She was shooting for an even 100 hours Saturday afternoon when contest officials urged her to stop and not risk injuring her vocal chords. She broke the old national record by about two hours.

Saunders wanted to continue the party. His 46-year-old estranged wife didn't. Suddenly, witnesses said, Saunders drew a revolver and started firing. His bullets passed through his wife and son-in-law, Robert Poff, 24, in the right arm and side.

"I could have gone on talking for a couple more hours," she said. She had been talking non-stop since Tuesday noon.

Poff, who is in good condition, fled with two other men. Myrtle Saunders had been hit four times again. This time her wounds were fatal.

Mrs. Alton Clapp of Greenville set a talkathon record of 96 hours and 54 minutes in July.

When police arrived, Saunders had used his revolver one more time — on himself. He died eight hours later.

The deputy coroner, Dr. Carl E. Terrick, called it murder and suicide.

Public Fleeced By Some Fund-Raising Groups Say Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee wants laws to protect the public from what it termed unscrupulous professional fund-raisers who have collected donations in the name of some veterans groups.

In a report charging that the public has been fleeced in some fund drives, the House Veterans Committee said: "It is doubtful that the American public would be as liberal in support of some fund-raising programs of veterans' organizations if they knew that such a small percentage of the contributions were used for charitable purposes."

The committee recommended that Congress pass legislation to:

1. Require that at least 50 per cent of gross income from unorderly merchandise sent through the mails be spent for the veterans in whose names it is solicited.

2. Prohibit those who use the mails for charity drives from selling mailing lists of people who contributed.

3. Require fuller disclosure of organizations chartered by Congress or organizations mailing unorderly items such as ball point pens with the aim of collecting money in the name of veterans.

The committee report summed up findings of hearings last spring on eight veterans' organizations — four of them chartered by Congress and four not chartered.

Of these the committee particularly criticized two — the Disabled American Veterans, a chartered group, and the now defunct National Assn. of Veterans Employment Councils, which was unchartered.

The report said the DAV, which gets most of its money from selling car key identification tags, spent $312,000 of its funds collected for veterans on a speculative television program that flopped.

And the report said the DAV spent more than $50,000 from 1950 to 1957 for gifts, most of which it said were bought by DAV National Adjutant Vivian D. Corby from a supply company in which he owned stock.

This, the committee said, "appears to be a clear conflict of interest."

There were reports an attempt will be made to unseat Corby at the DAV national convention opening today in Louisville, Ky.

William N. Morton of Cincinnati, who said he spoke for Cincinnati at a convention delegation, said his group will spearhead the ouster move.

Saturday Ceremony Weds Keel-Sigmon

In Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church Saturday afternoon, the wedding of Miss Frances Harlan Sigmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Sigmon Sr. of Greenville, and Clayton Ray Keel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton E. Keel of Everetts, was solemnized.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. M. Howard Jr., pastor of the church.

Prior to the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Paul Toll, organist, and James Piver, soloist. Mr. Piver sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" by Gounod and "I Love Thee" by Grieg.

The beauty of the church was enhanced by Areca Palms and huckleberry greenery. Floor standards of white gladiol and mums were used with seven-branched candelabra with myriads of white Cathedral candles. On the altar were vases of white gladiol, and on either side of the altar were single candelabra with tall Cathedral candles. Pews were marked with white satin and nylon tulle bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin, fashioned with a scooped neckline and long pointed sleeves. The fitted bodice of lace extended onto a bouffant skirt of pointed lace with the tulle forming a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet Cap of lace interspersed with seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and a pure white orchid showered with valley lilies and tied with bridal satin.

Mrs. Bryce Sigmon Jr. of Alexandria, Va. attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor. Her gown of pink nylon net and lace was made with a full, floor-length skirt of shirred net bands alternating with lace ruffles. The fitted bodice was made of shirred net ruffles with a crushed lace midriff. Her headpiece was of nylon net and flowers in matching shade and she carried an arm bouquet of summer flowers tied with rainbow satin.

The bridesmaids were Miss Betty Keel of Everetts, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Doris Carroll of Alexandria, Va., and Miss Carolyn Clapp of Greenville. Their dresses of blue nylon net and lace, with matching headpiece, were like those of the honor attendants and they carried similar bouquets.

Miss Susan Moye, flower girl, wore a dainty floor length frock of pink nylon net and carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses.

The ring bearer, Michael VanDyke, cousin of the bride, wore a white linen suit and carried a white satin pillow with a spray of pink sweetheart roses.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers were Bryce Sigmon Jr. of Alexandria, brother of the bride, Eugene Daniels of Bloomfield, N. J., Kenneth M. Wells of East Rutherford, N. J., and Russell Roberson of Baltimore, Md.

The mother of the bride chose a sheath dress of blue tiered Chantilly lace with matching hat of flowers with which she wore an orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a gown of mauve lace with matching lace hat and an orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's paternal grandmother was gowned in navy blue. Her corsage was white carnations.

Mrs. Keel was graduated from East Carolina College and since then she has been on the faculty of the Crestwood School in Springfield, Va. Mr. Keel was graduated from the University of North Carolina where he was a member of Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity, and is now affiliated with the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. in Washington, D. C.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans and other southern cities, Mr. and Mrs. Keel will be at home in Alexandria, Va.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at the home of Mrs. Addie T. VanDyke, great aunt of the bride.

Greeting the guests at the front door were Mrs. VanDyke and Mrs. Garland Woolard. Mrs. W. H. Taft presented them to the receiving line which was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Sigmon, Mr. and Mrs. Keel Sr., the bride and bridegroom, the Rev. Howard and the bride's attendants.

Mrs. Hoover Taft received at the dining room entrance and invited the guests to have refreshments. The appointed table was covered with a cloth of Nile green organdy over green and was centered with an arrangement of California asters and pink roses.

The punch bowl was encircled with pink and green grapes, nestled in nylon tulle, and punch was served by Mrs. O. R. Browne, great aunt of the bride.

Assisting in serving pink and green decorated cakes, mints and salted nuts were Miss Kathy VanDyke and Miss Judy VanDyke.

Mrs. Jack Moye Jr. invited the guests into the hall where the register was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Palmer. Goodbyes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Hollie VanDyke.

Oops! Toes Are Showing

If you wear beach sandals, you should have pedicured toes.

Some girls go barelegged and barefooted, but never have had a pedicure. Ingrown toenails long, unkempt and dirty toenails, some decorated with nail polish for "luster", are repulsive looking. There is no time like the present to get toenails in shape for the first time.

A pedicure is neither complicated nor time consuming. The first step may be taken in the shower or tub when a sturdy bristled brush is rubbed over the foot and ankles. It's a good time to ease back the cuticle gently with a thumb, and this will take time if you haven't ever done it before. All soap should be rinsed off before you start your pedicure.

Out your toenails straight across file rough edges, but do not taper them. Put cotton between your toes. This is easy to do with cotton that may be stripped out of a canister. Pull out little strips about four inches long, placing them carefully.

Choose your polish to harmonize with your clothes—pink toes with blues or whites, vivid reds with dark or neutral colors and the orange polishes with brown, yellow and off-orange shades. Black and white take to a variety of polish hues.

Apply polish by going up the nail from base to tip for an even coat. It pays to take your time when applying toenail polish, as smudges are harder to erase than on fingernails. It takes a bit of

Furs Reflect The Course Of History

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

NELLIE NEANDERTHAL was the first woman to demand a fur coat of her mate, and women have been following her example ever since.

Look at the evolution of furs, and you see the history of the world, says Esther Dorothy, a designer who reflects the modes and mores of her time in fur fashions for American women. When the first cave-woman wore the first leopard skin, she may have been more concerned with warmth than style. But it didn't take long for her daughters to start experimenting with different drapes and pelts.

Look at the bearskin of the Stone Age man, the panther skin of the ancient Egyptian, the astrakhan robes of the Medes and Persians, the sables of the Czars, the ermine robes of the kings of France and England. Consider the fur muffs and ruffs of the Victorian era, the beaver caps and muffs of early American times.

Then have a look at the supple, light-weight mink and sable, beaver and broadtail coats of today, draped as skillfully as cloth, worn with casual pride by fashion-conscious modern women.

It's a short course in history, says Esther—and who knows what new pelts space travelers will find on Mars?

HOW FURS HAVE CHANGED!—Take, for instance, this polo coat of white and beige mink's paw, designed by Esther Dorothy and photographed at the stockade of the old fort on the outskirts of Mackinac City, Mich., one of the country's first fur-trading centers. It is worn by Valerie Strong, Miss Michigan of 1954, who also speaks well for modern times.

BEAVER THEN AND NOW—Miss Michigan, wearing Esther Dorothy's last word in a pale blue beaver reefer, looks at the raw material—beaver pelts piled in a birch bark canoe such as was used in the early fur-trading days in the historic Mackinac Straits area, where the American Fur Company was founded in 1810 by John Jacob Astor. The Indian is Chief Walk-on-Waves.

Effective Teaching Topic At Conference

Effective teaching was the keynote of the Vocational Home Economics Conference held at Woman's College at Greensboro recently.

Some of the speakers for the week were Dr. J. Warren Smith, State Supervisor of Home Economics Education, Dr. John Chase, Associate Professor of Education, University of N. C., and Hugh Muncy, Executive Vice-President of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

Dr. Chase stressed the fact that if effective teaching takes place changes in behavior will be observed.

Muncy gave many suggestions for and demonstrated means of interpreting the home economics program.

The Pitt county teachers who attended the conference were Mrs. Hilda Carson, Bethel; Mrs. Eunice Casey, Grifton; Mrs. Pauline Mosey, Chicod; Mrs. Josephine Ross, Ayden; Miss Elsie Seago, Farmville; Miss Alya Ray Taylor, Winterville; Mrs. Hazel Tripp, Belvoir-Parkland; Mrs. Julia Venters of Grimesland, and Mrs. Rachel Welborn, Greenville.

30 Years Ago Today

August 11, 1928

On Friday afternoon Mary Catherine Woolard, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woolard, entertained about 15 of her little friends at a birthday party. On arrival the guests were served fruit punch after which the little ones enjoyed games on the lawn. Ice cream was then served and much fun then served and much fun was had when the birthday cake was lighted. Master Charles Ives of Bethel, a little cousin, was present and his birthday being in the same month, a cake with candles was fixed for him. The climax was reached when it was announced there was a truck in the backyard to take the crowd on a hayride. After a ride around town and into the country, they stopped at a drug store for a final refreshment.

Around N. C. With The Farm Women

By Virginia M. Nance
(Items this week on: Polk, McDowell, Lenoir, Madison and Lincoln Counties)

HOME NURSING CLASSES
For some time now, Polk County home demonstration club women have been feeling the need for training in home nursing, according to reports from Mary Helen Neill, home agent.

So the Columbus Home Demonstration Club decided to do something about it. Details of a course were worked out with the American Red Cross Chapter in the county.

Mrs. Sue Jordan, Columbus, and Mrs. Minto Henderson, Tryon, both home demonstration club members, attended a training school conducted by the Red Cross in order to qualify to serve as instructors for other county club women.

Mrs. J. W. Gantt, member of the Columbus club, and chairman of the committee for planning and preparation of the course, reports that the course was a real success. There are many other women in the community who have expressed a desire to take a similar course.

Two other clubs, Peniel and Coopers Gap, have made arrangements for similar courses for their club members.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Rogers of Creedmoor, Mrs. Sim Meadows of Varina and Mrs. J. B. Daniels of Oxford spent the weekend with their brother, J. P. Moss Sr., and Mrs. Moss on Eastern Street.

BE WISE
In spite of the desire to peel off as much clothing as possible in the good old summertime, it's smart to wear at least two layers—underwear as well as outer-wear.

The layer of fabric next to your skin insulates against outside heat and helps to absorb perspiration. Change it often for your own comfort. And remember to launder lingerie in warm soap or detergent suds after each wearing.

Clark

V.F.W. Picnic
V.F.W. Post and Auxiliary members will have their annual family picnic on Wednesday evening at Elm Street Park at 7 o'clock. All members and guests are invited.

YOUNG SUPERIOR SEAMSTRESS
Ann Huff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Huff, Mars Hill, was recently named first place winner in the junior division of the Madison County dress revue, according to Assistant Home Agent Marie H. Buckner.

The judges, so impressed with Ann's work, rated her dress "superior" and stated that she could easily have competed for first place in the senior division. "This is quite an accomplishment for a young girl with only 'at home' training," Mrs. Buckner marveled.

Mrs. Huff has said that Ann is now making most of her school clothes and will soon be doing all of her own clothes and some for the family, too.

COMMUNITY ENTHUSIASM
Enthusiasm runs high in the Lowesville community in Lincoln County, say reports from Home Demonstration Agent Ainslee Alexander.

And their enthusiasm is being used to good advantage toward community improvement and development. For example, community entrance signs have been erected.

With the help of the vocational agricultural teacher, boys in the community have built mailbox supports for all who needed them. Many of the families in the community have ordered name plates for their mailboxes, too.

Pitt County Clubs

Although there are few regular meetings for 4-H girls during the summer months, there is plenty of activity.

Recent visits have found many of them busy with 4-H projects. Judy Warren, of the Stokes Junior 4-H Club, and Lil Dilda, of the Farmville Senior 4-H Club, are both working on Home Beautification projects.

Judy Zurfaxe, and Connie Hardee, of the Belvoir Junior 4-H Club, are busy improving their bedroom.

Laura Braxton, of the Winterville-Greenville Community Club, and Carolyn Hathaway of the Belvoir Junior Club, have both done an excellent job with freezing projects. Laura says, "Our freezer is almost bulging at the sides with fruits and vegetables Mother and I have done."

It's Smart To Line Up Next Summer's Job Now

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The job you can't live without is the one to have in summer. If you didn't hit that pleasurable note this vacation, make plans now for next season's work stint. That's the advice of handsome, blond George Wiggin, 18, a Donaldsonville, La., high school student who chose Montauk, Long Island, as his "work-playground." He was a cabana boy in the Surf Club by day, working in his fun after hours.

"It's simple to find a job that offers you bonuses in fun besides income," says the six-footer, pointing out that the trick of seeking a good job is learning how to pinpoint the location.

"Ask yourself, as I did, just what could keep you happy while you work," advises George. "I wanted a job that would train me for the future. I hope some day to be a salesman, lawyer or public greeter of one sort or another, jobs where I can prove that persuasiveness pays off."

"I wanted to skin dive in my spare time, and I can do that here at Montauk. We swim out 100 or 150 yards off shore, listen for fish, give them the spear and they're in the bag. You don't need an aqua lung. After a deep breath, and 30 feet to the ocean bottom, you can spear a fish and rise to the surface in jiffy time."

"I'm interested in racing cars, and there is a drag strip just a short ride away."

"I like to water ski and this place is dotted with lakes."

"I like to dance and be with people my own age, and I found out beforehand that college girls and boys work at the Manor, the big hotel here, so I knew I wouldn't be lonesome," George explains with typical Southern candor.

George hasn't been lonesome, because he did choose a job where he could combine work talents and his own amusements. When he isn't skin diving, drag stripping or beach partying, he hi-fits it from Bach to the "Witch Doctor."

The only things George has missing to date are black-eyed peas, turnip greens and cornbread, mouth watering Southern delicacies that can pale the choicest Northern morsels.

How does all this add up to a future career?

"As a cabana boy, everything depends on your attitude. You must learn to be diplomatic, not talk unless persons are willing, to be personable, not pout if criticized and not talk back. If you are polite and keep the cabanas served, you will be rewarded for your efforts," explains George.

This discipline, he says, is grooming him for the job he wants when he completes high school and college — L.S.U. or Georgia Tech.

George has met some nice girls up North, but he is still partial to a Southern girl, although he can't marry until 21 without permission of his guardian, Uncle Oscar.

George's goal in life? The typical American dream: "To be the boss."

Where 'Do-It-Yourself' Is Cheaper

With Congress on its last legs before adjournment, that perennial taxpayers' nightmare called "federal aid to education" is moving up to the fore again.

In all honesty, we sometimes wonder just how many people outside of Congress really want this legislation.

Proponents have some reason to cheer, because last week, for the first time, the House has accepted a broad education bill. On the other hand, there's reason to hope the measure can be abandoned when Senate and House conferences reach an unacceptable compromise. It still has a long way to go.

Sometimes it almost seems as though when a session of Congress heads into the home stretch, some lawmakers with a macabre sense of humor seek to enliven proceedings by re-raising the spectre of "school aid" to stir up their constituents. For few things are as close to the people as their schools; and to inject the thought of adding some federal "cooks" to an already well-tendered "broth" can be sure to inspire a measure of heat protest.

Regardless of the term "aid" in its popularly accepted title, the scheme is still as full of empty promises as ever.

That "federal aid money" comes from one source and one source only... the taxpayer. And for every dollar North Carolinians, South Carolinians, New Yorkers or Californians send to Washington with a "school aid" label on it, they'll get only a fraction in return.

All that traveling between here and Washington

Strength Also Poses A Danger

By LYNN NISBET

CONTROL — The strength of the State budget system is the power given the director of the budget to control the expenditure of public money. That is at the same time a source of danger, for it enables the executive in some instances to override intent of the legislature in making appropriations.

Both these characteristics were evident in the final report of the budget office on the condition of the State general fund. That report showed a saving of $10,369,770 in appropriated money for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958. The General Assembly had appropriated $288,205,063, but the budget office approved expenditure of only $277,835,313. Most of the savings occurred in education ($5,616,715) and in health and hospitals ($1,495,543). In the area of general government, including all executive departments, courts and law enforcement, the saving amounted to $1,761,405.

The budget office advised the Governor that it was holding back $2,500,000 for certain departments and agencies "whose plans for specific expenditures were delayed," so that the amount transferred to the surplus account is $7,869,770. This is added to the $3,197,740 unappropriated surplus at the beginning of the year, leaving a "cushion" of slightly more than $11 million for the fiscal year 1958-59. The report expresses the hope that savings may be made this year, too, so that the balance of next June 30 will be in excess of $11 million, if revenue estimates hold good.

This $11 million cushion is comforting and gratifying to State administrative officers. It practically guarantees that no horizontal cuts in total appropriations will be necessary.

REDUCED — The budget act does not tolerate deficit spending. It is mandatory for the Governor as director of the budget to cut legislative appropriations if available revenue is not sufficient to meet them. It has not been necessary to do that since 1933. Such executive cut must be horizontal and uniform, the same percentage for every agency, department, institution and service. The system also requires budget office authorization for spending the money appropriated by the Legislature. Such authorization usually is made on quarterly basis. The savings about which the budget folks are so happy occurred because the budget office did not approve certain specific requests for allocation.

Result is that $5 million less was spent on education and $1.5 million less on health than the General Assembly made available for those purposes. There is no indication that either cause suffered, or that budget office discriminated unfairly against any service.

DISCRETION — The fact remains, however, that the budget office used its discretion in denying some requests for the use of appropriated funds, and in requiring some agencies to turn back any balances left on June 30, while other agencies were permitted to carry-over the unexpended amounts into the next year.

That discretionary authority is inherent in the budget act, and without it the whole system would collapse. There is evidence that some legislators are looking more closely than usual at the budget action and the reasons assigned for withholding certain items, while other projects were allotted the full amount appropriated—and additional money from the contingency and emergency fund.

EDUCATION — The report of general fund spending for the past fiscal year lists $175,166,068 devoted to education, out of a total of $277,835,313. That is 63.4 per cent of all tax money spent for education. Actually the percentage is considerably higher, around 73 per cent of the total.

The report shows in a separate item $13,452,912 for retirement and pensions. At least $9 million of that went to school teachers, college professors, and other employees of educational agencies. There is an item of $7,536,534 for debt service. Approximately three-fourths of the general fund bonds were issued for education, including $100 million for public school buildings and some $35 million for colleges. Of the $29,861,865 appropriated by the 1957 Legislature for permanent improvements, more than half (about $16 million) was for educational purposes. These items add up to some $30 million in addition to the specified $175 million for education.

There are other hidden items, aggregating many thousands of dollars, in institutional budgets. School teachers in the orthopedic hospitals and correctional schools are paid out of their budgets, not out of the public school appropriation. The entire program for mental defective and retarded, included in the mental hospitals allocation, is primarily educational. When the whole business is totaled up it will be found that at least 73 cents, possibly more of every general fund tax dollar collected by the State goes for educational purposes.

Analysis of county tax receipts will show that from 50 per cent to 75 per cent of local ad valorem tax collections also goes for education.

and back again sure puts a lot of wear and tear on any dollar. And it really isn't necessary. If the citizens of a state, a county or municipality are dissatisfied with their school system, they can do something about it without paying the toll of going through federal aid routine. They can institute a local tax program to fill their needs; and it would be infinitely more economical than paying a similar sum to Washington.

Any community wishing to improve their educational facilities can do so. It's merely a matter of wanting something bad enough to go out and make it come true.

'Northwest Passage' Opens Another Door

The adventurers of the Old World had barely found the New World when the search was begun for a Northwest Passage to the Orient. Brave men combed the coastline of a strange continent, probing northward, ever northward. Always their dreams were confounded by a landmass extending into ice fields of the Arctic.

It took the Twentieth Century to do the trick. First it was done via the airways; then when the polar route became an established thing, the first of a new breed of seagoing vessel... a nuclear-powered submarine... probed its ways beneath an ice-locked ocean, over the North Pole and southward into the North Atlantic; a long, long way from its starting point in the mid-Pacific.

An historic exploit, to be sure. But the old original inspiration for finding a sea route around the northern tip of America was gone. A "short cut" to the Indies played no part in the Nautilus' voyage. Rather, scientific and military factors were involved in this feat.

Now that it has been proven possible to guide one submarine across the North Pole, there will be others. And they won't always be "made-in-America" vessels, either.

This one fact adds a host of new facets to the problems of defense for countries who have a northern frontier to watch.

Behind The New Inflation Surge

By Ralph Robey

More and more persons are becoming justifiably concerned and worried over the possibility that we are entering another phase of inflation.

Such a statement raises the question, Why use the term "another phase of inflation?" Why not merely "continuation of inflation?"

The consumer price index reached a new high for the twentieth advancement in 22 months, the other two months it merely held steady. Wholesale prices have shown diverse trends: Farm products recently have declined; processed foods have continued a sharp increase; industrial prices, as a whole, have shown a slight decrease. The net result is that the index held below the peak of last March.

Taking the past two or three years as a unit, prices are up, no matter which broad index is used as a measure. It has been generally believed, however that we are at or very close to the peak, and in the case of the consumer price index it has been thought that we would get a slight decline in coming months.

It is on that basis a conclusion was reached that the recent inflationary trend was coming to an end. Now the conclusion is being questioned, and there is growing fear another upsurge is ahead.

Among the reasons for this fear are the following: 1. Congress has made it abundantly clear that it is interested in neither government economy nor a balanced budget. One spending bill after another gets passed, and one bill after another providing tax relief for special groups also gets passed. Some of these have the approval of the Administration. Some do not. From the standpoint of total spending there is little or no basis for distinguishing between the two.

2. As a result of the increased spending and lower revenues, it is now officially estimated the deficit for this fiscal year will be about $12 billion. This will be the largest peacetime deficit in history and, it is assumed, there will be deficits for years hereafter.

3. Wages are continuing to climb. It still is too early to make firm estimates on how much the 1958 increase will be in comparison with 1957. Present indications are that it will be almost as large as last year. This means wages again will be increased more than the output per manhour, thereby resulting in higher costs of production. It was this discrepancy between wages and productivity which was primarily responsible for the price increases of the past couple of years, and it now appears we shall have more of the same kind of a wage-price push.

4. The money supply recently has shown a rather sharp growth. For the past couple of years it had been held steady by the Federal Reserve System. With the recession it was necessary for the Federal Reserve to reverse its policy, as an incentive to borrowing, and the result has been a quite spectacular increase in loans and investments.

5. Some prices already have been lifted, notably in the metal field. Steel prices, which were held in spite of the July 1 wage increase, gave up the struggle recently and there were advances of about $4.50 a ton. Aluminum also raised prices, although the level still is below its high of a few months ago.

These inflationary forces are being brought to bear at the time the business curve is beginning to show some upward strength. Tending to offset the inflationary forces somewhat is the large unused capacity and substantial unemployment. If it were not for this unused capacity and unemployment, there would be no question but that prices soon would begin another upward movement.

In spite of this offsetting factor, however, the balance of the evidence is that we shall have at most a leveling out of prices for a few months, and then start another upward spiral. The upward spiral when it gets started will not be steep, but it will not be an element of strength in the economic system, and should the public refuse to pay the highest prices it could return the economy to more recession.

With prospects of a good Fall, this could offer him opportunities to buy some of the goods which he could not look at. Our economy is essentially agricultural. If the farmer fails, all of us suffer. Since the farmer has had such a tough way to go for three years now, it has meant that all of us have had the same row to hoe. But it might be different this year. The farmer will have more money, and that means that the rest of us will feel the effects. Such items as automobiles, refrigerators, television sets, furniture, and the like will move in greater quantities than we have known for some time. Whereas a year ago the goods being purchased consisted so often of food and a few clothes, the fact remained that food and clothes were all that so many could afford to buy. They just did without electrical appliances, autos, extra clothes, and the like. They did without them because they couldn't afford to buy them.

With more money in the offing this year, business, we feel, is going to open up. If the farmer has more money to spend, then that money will go a long way and into many pockets before the effects are felt no longer. More money in circulation will mean more employment, larger payrolls, and more buying among more people.

When business is slow, even those people who could afford to buy those "extra" items stop buying largely because they are overcome so often with a fear complex. They just don't buy in the usual quantities or numbers. Business in general suffers then.

But this Fall we do look forward with pleasant anticipation to a better business era. We believe it will come, and we believe it sincerely. And we believe that smiles will replace frowns in many quarters. Wishful thinking and practical conditions often do not jibe. This time, we believe they will.

NOT FOR BIGGIES ALONE — If research and development pays off — and it probably will as long as we are in this kind of economy — it may profit small businessmen as well as the big corporations. While small enterprisers haven't $35,000,000 to invest, they might go a far way with a few dollars, a little time and a lot of skill work.

For his own R&D program, such a proprietor might make a systematic study of new products he could make or distribute. He might devote an hour a day to analytic reading of trade publications in his field, with an unblinking eye seeking new ideas. He might determine to try one new promotion each week — a special sale for mothers-in-law if nothing better — and repeat those that click.

He might evaluate his own potential and check it against his normal expectation of dynamic business life, and plan for 10, 15 and 20 years ahead. He might draw up plans for expanding his present business, and then

Other Editors Saying --- A Better Fall

(Washington Daily News) Sometimes we are inclined to be pessimistic to the point of hurting ourselves immeasurably.

We tend to look upon the dark side of life in all directions. We see economic failures when we could be putting the emphasis on economic successes. We think in terms of what is wrong with us and our fortunes in life rather than of thinking in terms of what is right.

Such a course might be human nature, but at times the human element does not serve us well. Right now we have one of the finest tobacco crops we have ever had here in the Pamlico area. Our other crops look good, too. But even now there are pessimists who look at the Autumn business prospects and say "this is going to be a tough Fall."

We believe that business is going to be much better for all of us this Fall. We believe our tobacco is going to sell at a good price. We believe all of us will feel the effects of an improved economy.

We look at it this way. For at least three years now the farmer has been hard hit through crop failures. He has not had money to buy anything beyond absolute necessities and he has suffered even when it came to buying them.

With prospects of a good Fall, this could offer him opportunities to buy some of the goods which he could not look at. Our economy is essentially agricultural. If the farmer fails, all of us suffer. Since the farmer has had such a tough way to go for three years now, it has meant that all of us

Causes Of The Buying

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Many investors are surprised at the Dow-Jones Industrial Average passing the 800 mark. I would like to give readers this week twelve possible reasons why this has taken place.

(1) BUYING FOR INCOME? Very few are purchasing for income. Not only is the yield less as the price increases, but many companies are cutting their dividends. It, however, should be remembered that a corporation has less tax to pay on dividends from stocks than on interest on bonds.

(2) BUYING FOR PROFIT? Certain long-term investors may be doing this, but they are taking exceptional risks. Any speculator must, of course, hold his stock for six months before selling in order to take a profit without incurring a large personal tax.

(3) BUYING FOR INFLATION HEDGE? Probably a great many people are buying stocks even at these high prices as an inflation hedge, but not more than 10 per cent of the buying is for inflation-hedge protection. Inflation will come slowly and deflation may come before inflation.

(4) BUYING FOR MUTUAL FUNDS? The distributors of Mutual Funds have several thousand salesmen out every day selling Mutual Funds. When you buy shares in a Mutual Fund, the operators of the Fund must buy certain stocks with your money. This, in the aggregate, sends the market up, but what will happen to the market when you decide to sell your Mutual Funds?

(5) BUYING FOR PENSION FUNDS? A company may turn certain earnings over to a bank for a pension fund without paying any tax on these earnings. The corporation must leave to the bank the decision as to what stocks it will buy with this money, but usually the corporation insists that the money be invested and not kept in the bank.

(6) BUYING TO MATCH INVESTMENTS? The presidents of some corporations may have enough of their own stocks and yet they would like to buy for their pension funds. They work this by getting the president of some other corporation to buy their stock and they, in turn, buy the other company's stock. This is a dangerous habit which is constantly growing.

(7) BUYING BY FOREIGN INVESTORS? The recent war scare in the Near East has caused many Europeans to send their money to New York, feeling it is safer in this country. This has been quite a factor in raising the Dow-Jones Averages.

(8) BUYING BY SMALL INVESTORS? Large investors are patiently waiting for the market to go lower, but many small investors are now getting "itchy." The small investor has not the patience of the large investor. In fact, most small investors buy only when the market is high and sell when it is low. This causes them always to remain small investors.

(9) BUYING FOR SWITCHING? This program is followed by all kinds of investors. I refer to taking profits on stocks which have gone up and replacing them with good stocks which have gone up and replacing them with good stocks which have gone down for various reasons. Although as a rule the market moves all together, up or down, carrying most stocks with it, there are exceptions when good stocks go down while other good stocks are going up.

(10) FEARING PROFIT TAXES? Most investors hate to pay the 25 per cent profit tax. This tax is probably the greatest factor in pushing stocks over 500. It tends to lock up stocks that show big profits. It is dangerous to let taxes decide your investment policy.

(11) BUYING ON VACATIONS? Investors will buy stocks whether or not they are at home, as they need only write or write their brokers. Investors, however, are loath to sell stocks when they don't have access to their safe-deposit boxes and cannot immediately make delivery.

(12) BUYING BY RUSSIANS? I have no evidence that Khrushchev is buying American stocks. Continued On Page 5

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THAT ASCENDING LIFE
Human life is a strange sequence of circumstances. The baby and young child live exclusively for themselves. As children grow they learn more and more how to integrate themselves into the give and take of life. Comes marriage, and with it the center of life changes; for as soon as children begin to arrive, the parents cease to live for themselves and begin living for and in their children. Even when old age descends, the mature parents and the aging grandparents are living and thinking only in terms of the oncoming generation.

Yet how thrilling it all is! How marvelous to live in the lives of others. It is not hard for us to believe that in this community of life and interests. God is preparing us for an eternal existence with Him—the Maker, the Perfecter, the Sustainer of life to the infinite limits of the farthest universe.

Whether then are we bound? To what end is the whole of life pointing? The Bible tells us that it is the fool who has said in his heart "there is no God." Even the dullest intellect can see a plan in it all. Even the dimmest eyes can discern beckoning and purpose at the far horizons.

The universe and the far heavens constitute a great household presided over by a Father. And among the earthly fathers and mothers, their loves and devotions, we see God's great plan for us all. Up, up we ascend into the divine perfection of the Most High.

Role Of Research, Development

By ELMER ROESSNER
Most businessmen know what "R&D" is. It's a phrase that may come day by a word. It means "research and development."

Research and development is the work companies do in developing new products and new markets, and that includes new uses for old products, ways to make present products better and/or cheaper, new packaging and new buyer appeals.

In a few years R&D has grown from a theoretical concept into one of the most important parts of a modern corporation. As a broad rule, corporations that spend larger shares of their income for R&D are more prosperous than others. Many investors shy from stocks in companies that do not have strong R&D divisions.

R&D is neither a fad nor passing fancy. Many corporations are investing millions in it; Republic Aircraft recently announced a $35,000,000 four-year R&D program.

developing branches or a chain operation. All this, of course, refers to research and development — not dreaming.

HOW ABOUT THE INDIVIDUAL? There is no reason why each individual should not have his own personal R&D program. A good first step would be an analysis of his own abilities and potentials. This might be done first by the individual, and then by someone else in whose judgment he has confidence.

This could be followed by someone else in whose judgment, by taking a few courses to round out his talents. Free courses are available almost everywhere, but people seem to work harder in ones they pay for.

The next R&D step might be to train for more premium work in the same job; not overtime, but upgraded work in selling, production, supervision or management.

The next step might be to train for the job ahead. Thirty

All Tobacco-Buying Companies Of World Here

When the tobacco market opens on August 21st, representatives of all the tobacco buying companies in the world will be here in Greenville anxiously awaiting their chance for competitive bidding for the world's finest bright leaf tobacco.

Set out here is a list of their respective presidents and branch managers: American Suppliers, Inc., O.L. Hull, Branch Manager; Export Leaf Tobacco Company, L.T. Shotwell, Branch Manager; E.E. Ficklen Tobacco Company, E.E. Ficklen, President; Greenville Tobacco Company, C.W. Howard, Jr., President; Imperial Tobacco Company, Ltd., Jesse R. Moyer, Jr., Branch Manager; International Tobacco Company, Inc., P.K. Andersen, President; Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, Jack Cobb, Branch Manager; Person Garrett Company, W.S. Bost, President; and R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Lawrence Reese, Branch Manager.

These four experienced independent companies pride themselves in being the finest graders, handlers and processors of leaf tobacco in the world. Each of these four companies is staffed with capable and experienced tobacco men. They know exactly the types and grades of tobacco their many customers want. Their men are particularly adept at securing them.

For them, perfection in purchasing an order is not enough. They are equipped with the finest and most modern machinery obtainable at any price. They are operated by skilled workers. By infinite attention, to even the smallest details, Greenville's four independent companies follow perfection of purchase on the warehouse floors with perfect processing in their modern plants.

With recent improvements to their plants and equipment, they are now prepared in this same satisfactory manner to buy, process and put in hopper almost an unlimited amount of tobacco on orders of any kind. I am listing below a brief sketch of each of these companies.

REPUTATION OF GREENVILLE'S INDEPENDENT COMPANIES

The entire tobacco world knows and honors L.S. Ficklen, President of E.E. Ficklen Tobacco Company; C.W. Howard, Jr., President of Greenville Tobacco Company; W.S. Bost, President of Person Garrett Company, Inc. and P.K. Andersen, President of International Tobacco Company, Inc. You will not find four men who are more highly respected by the entire tobacco profession.

By continual modernization of their plant, together with the insistence of their highly trained personnel that each individual order be filled exactly as the customer wishes it, the Greenville Tobacco Company has been a large factor in building for the Greenville Market and for themselves as well, an enviable reputation in world-wide tobacco trade.

It is proud of its fine personnel. But also, it is proud of the fact that there is no company, in the trade, which has finer or more complete and modern equipment. Constantly, from year to year, improvements are being made to its physical plant.

ing, John L. Howard is Secretary and H.L. Naron is Assistant Secretary.

PERSON GARRETT COMPANY

Person Garrett Company was established in 1924 by R.M. Garrett, who served as its President from that date until July of 1950 when he was succeeded by W.S. Bost, who is now President of Person Garrett Company and also past President of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade.

The Vice Presidents of this company are now L.G. Stanfield, R.M. Garrett, Jr. and C. Dwight Garrett, the latter being sons of the late R.M. Garrett.

Person Garrett Company has its main offices in Greenville, but also operates branches in Fairmont, N.C., and Lumberton, N.C. L.G. Stanfield is in charge of its Fairmont branch and R.M. Garrett, Jr. is in charge of its Lumberton branch.

In Greenville, Person Garrett Company's plant superintendent is O.S. Waters. This plant has a present capacity of approximately one-half million pounds of tobacco per day, and in its three combined plants approximately one million pounds per day.

The company purchases and processes leaf tobacco for both foreign and domestic concerns, and is also equipped with modern steel and concrete storages.

INTERNATIONAL TOBACCO COMPANY, INC.

The International Tobacco Company, Inc. was organized in August, 1950 by the late Mr. O.C. Moilgaard Christensen and Mr. P.K. Andersen. They maintain and operate a subsidiary The International Tobacco Company A-S of Copenhagen, Denmark, which was founded in 1915 by Mr. Moilgaard Christensen.

Red China Uses The Poison Pen

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China's "tatsapo" is a poison pen letter with a difference—it's legal. It is a large piece of paper, covered with Chinese characters, written in red ink, and is a critical barb aimed at someone or something.

These tatsapoos are plastered on walls, bulletin boards and fences, in factories, on street corners, in universities, cooperatives and farms—anywhere where people will see them.

They are part of the current nationwide rectification campaign. The rectification campaign is a sort of Communist school for socialism. The party encourages everyone to criticize everything—except the party. Unwilling or backward Socialist students are special targets.

Workers in the rail depot at Changshantien "turned the workshop walls into a patchwork quilt of flaming tatsapoos, accusing the depot director of spending too much time in his office, and not enough in the shop." Communist press reports say.

Students use tatsapoos to accuse university professors suspected of being rightists or individualists. In cities, housewives who have to line up for food write these open letters criticizing the butcher, the baker and the overworked civil servant. Some even write about their husbands.

Mrs. Hug Chia Ting in Hupoh province wrote a Tatsapo about her husband which got into the national press. She asked: "What shall I do with my lazy man?" "He isn't concerned with the co-op's plan."

The husband was seen a couple of days later working his head off. Communist press reports said.

Gov. Chandler Unmoved By Secessionist Talk

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler says as far as he is concerned, eastern Kentucky is in the Commonwealth of Kentucky to stay.

"I am obliged to keep them. This is a case for the Legislature," he said regarding a proposal by a group of eastern Kentucky residents to consider seceding from Kentucky.

Revenue Commissioner James E. Lockett said generally speaking, the secessionists have no sound basis for their claims.

"Every four years we have a promise of a road on top of Pine Mountain, but we never get anything but promises," Collins said.

Collins said the movement for a new state is gaining support in several eastern Kentucky counties, where coal mining is the dominant industry and life has few frills.

Revenue Commissioner James E. Lockett said generally speaking, the secessionists have no sound basis for their claims.

To Help Amateur Rocket Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army set out today to help amateur missilemen shoot their rockets — without blowing themselves up.

Headquarters began circulating to all commands instructions for aiding amateur rocket clubs, missile and other scientific groups which experiment in rocketry.

But in giving help, including use of the Army's test ranges, the Army is taking care that it isn't held liable for accidents.

The amateurs must sign waivers, agreeing that neither they nor their relatives will try to hold the Army responsible for rocket mishaps, nor bring suit in court.

The circular says the Army is setting up the assistance program because many requests for help in rocket firings have been received from amateur groups and because the Army wants to encourage rocketry. The program will operate under general direction of its missile branch.

The Army's interest is more than altruistic. Its circular lists, among other reasons, the development of a potential source of manpower to utilize in Army missile units and industry in event of emergency. Also, the amateurs might develop something useful to the Army.

However, the primary objective is to help save amateur rocketeers from injuring or killing themselves and to prevent danger to others, including persons riding in airplanes. No firings under Army supervision will be permitted into airspace used by planes, the regulation says.

'Befuddled' By A Policewoman

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—The fellow looked at the pretty policewoman and shook his head sadly.

"She arrested me once already," he sighed. "I told her that it would be nice if we could go to her house and talk it over. And I was so taken by her that she was on the jail elevator before I knew what she was really doing to me."

"She booked me for drunk."

Blown Off Seat By Gushing Gas

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Thomas Rudy was blown off his bulldozer while constructing a pond.

It wasn't the wind, but a gush of natural gas caused when Rudy's dozer broke a 6-inch high pressure gas line.

The gas continued to roar for three hours before workmen shut it off.

TV Critics Under Fire, But Gaps In The Attack

By CHARLES MERCER NEW YORK (AP)—The hunting season has opened early this year. Joining us happy huntmen is a good friend and noted journalist, Eric Sevareid of CBS, who blasted both barrels at television critics in a recent issue of The Reporter magazine.

An able drama critic does not make an able TV drama critic, unless he studies and watches television, because TV techniques are quite different from those of the legitimate theater. A very good play would make a very bad TV drama unless adapted to the techniques of the different medium.

Carolina Dairies Capture District Softball Title

Bill McHallich Hurls Twin Bill Victory Saturday

Bill McHallich and his Carolina Dairies softballers walloped the Graniteers 13-1 and 8-0 Saturday night before a crowd of 400 people at Guy Smith Stadium...

McHallich hurled his seventh and eighth victories of the tournament Saturday night, without a single defeat. The Grifton fire returned in three and four-hit performances against the Graniteers...

Saturday night's games wound up a hectic week of play for the Dairies. They won eight out of nine ballgames to earn the title and McHallich pitched all eight of the victories...

McHallich was voted the Most Valuable Player of the tournament by the coaches and officials. The Big Righthander chalked up eight consecutive victories...

Yet, he was by no means a one-man show in the championship tilt. His club backed him up to the hilt with sharp, defensive play and 24 basehits...

Sparkling defensive work by Altman, Move, Boyd, and Hall kept the Graniteers from threatening in both games. Manager Pete Carroway commented after the game that his club will definitely make the trip to Winston-Salem...

The Cinderella team notched their championship by taking the best road possible in the double elimination tournament. They defeated International Paper Company 8-0, Greenville Parts and Metals 9-1, Mayola 6-0, Pepsi-Cola 5-0, Coffman's 4-0, the Romanos 2-1, and the Graniteers 13-1 and 8-0...

Following the title games Saturday night, trophies were awarded to the Dairies, the second-place Graniteers and to McHallich, who was voted Most Valuable Player. Phil Goodson, representative of the State Bank and Trust Company made the presentations.

Yesterday Was A Good Weekend In National League

It will be a long time before the season's largest crowd (32,117) at Philadelphia's Connie Mack Stadium will forget the Sunday fireworks display staged by the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves made 33 hits in their 8-7 and 14-3 double-header sweep over the Phillies. Only two of them were home runs, both by catcher Del Crandall. But there were five triples and ten doubles.

Cal McLish, backed by a 15-hit attack including home runs by Dooy and Vic Power, won his 12th for Cleveland in the first game. Roger Maris, who snapped Woodeshick's hitless string with a single in the seventh, smashed a two-run homer off the left-hander in the 10th of the nightcap to break Kansas City's six-game losing streak.

Reno Bertoia's perfect squeeze bunt scored Frank Bolling with Detroit's winning run in the 12th inning of the nightcap. Jim Rivera dove in four runs with a homer, single and sacrifice fly in the White Sox's first game 5-2 victory.

Clint Courtney drove in three runs in Washington's first game victory over Baltimore. The Senators were held to five hits in the second game by Billy O'Dell.

Dick Tomaneck, a nondistinguished left-hander, turned in a spectacular two-inning relief chore for Kansas City. Tomaneck relieved Tom Gorman with the bases full, nobody out and the score tied 2-2 in the bottom of the ninth, and struck out Larry Doby, Rocky Colavito and Dick Brown.

In another double-header split, Detroit edged out Chicago 4-3 in 12 innings after the White Sox had won the opener 5-2. In the National League, Milwaukee swept a double-header from Philadelphia 8-7 and 14-3. Pittsburgh took two from Cincinnati 3-2 and 4-3. The Giants outslugged Los Angeles 12-8 and St. Louis divided a pair with Chicago. The Cards won the second game 6-2 after the Cubs took the opener 9-4.

Bowfield lost his bid for a no-hitter when Norm Siebern singled with one out in the seventh. The Yankees chased with four straight hits in the eighth but 14 Red Sox hits against Bob Turley and two relievers won it.

Eastment Hopes For More Track Trips

ATHENS (AP) — George Eastment, who coached the largest American team ever assembled for international dual meets, hopes there will be more overseas trips for more track and field athletes in the future.

"I'm sure there'll be," the scholarly Manhattan College law professor observed today after the U. S. team concluded a three-week tour of the Soviet Union, Poland, Hungary and Greece by winning 26 of the 30 events during a two-day stand at Athens Stadium.

"This trip took a lot out of all of us—athletes, coaches and officials alike—but it was worth every minute of it," Eastment said. "American boys have never done as well in so many different events as in these past three weeks. Our distance men were especially successful, which merely emphasizes that all we've needed in these events is better competition." Eastment cited the continued good showings of the 41-man team from its first meet in Moscow two weeks ago through Warsaw and Budapest before arriving here.

"Instead of tapering off after the first big one, we improved. The fellows who fell down on us in Moscow (pole vaulter Ron Morris, high jumper Charlie Dumas and others) worked even harder to make up for their disappointments."

World record holder Dumas got over 6 feet 11 his very first time out after Moscow, and last night Morris thrilled the crowd of 55,000 by clearing 15 feet 3 inches. It was his best performance of the tour and it outdid home to a favorite George Roubanis, a 15-foot pole vaulter who attends college in the United States.

Haney Says His Club Can Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Manager Fred Haney said today his league-leading Milwaukee Braves can win the National League pennant barring further injuries to the club.

"I'm well satisfied with the general play of the club," Haney said. "There's a lot of fire in our team. We'll be all right if we keep going the way we are."

The Braves, who are out in front by 6½ games, moved into Pittsburgh today for a two-game series with the third-place Pirates. Warren Spahn goes against Bob Friend in tonight's opener.

Haney was overjoyed with yesterday's double-header sweep over the Philadelphia Phillies, but was quick to point out: "We lost games Friday and Saturday to the Phillies in the ninth inning. Those sure hurt. But we'll win games we shouldn't and it will even up in the long run."

Danville Ties Hi-Toms For Second Place In CL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Greensboro and High Point Thomasville, in a rivalry skipping along atop the Carolina League, looked around today and found high-flying Danville shouldering its way into the act.

The Virginians, after defeating the Hi-Toms and Greensboro in a couple of weekend contests, were tied with the Hi-Toms for second place only a game and half behind first place Greensboro.

It's a long drop to fourth place, however, where Winston-Salem and Burlington are tied, 8½ games behind. Yesterday Danville crushed Greensboro 13-2. Burlington socked the Hi-Toms 5-1 with two two-run homers in the top of the 11th inning; Durham edged Raleigh 8-7, and eighth place Wilson swept a twin bill from Winston-Salem 13-1 and 4-0.

Danville, which led the league during much of the early part of the season, blasted home eight runs in the first two innings and coasted in as Gil Bassetti scattered seven hits for his seventh victory.

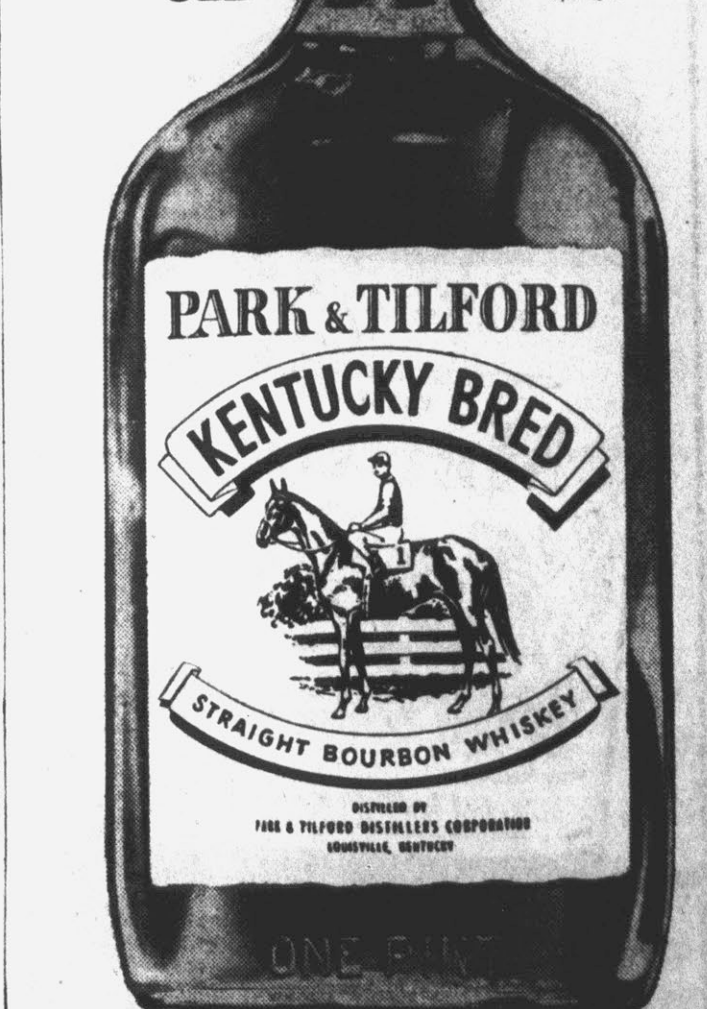

Danville topped the Hi-Toms 8-2 Saturday. Burlington's Whitey Williamson and Gene Elliott each struck four batters in the 11th with a man on, breaking up the tight contest. Burlington also got its first tally on a home run by Ray Patterson.

Chris Short, the losing pitcher, didn't give up a base hit until the seventh, and had a shutout until Patterson's home run in the eighth. Wilson's twin victory over Winston-Salem pulled it to within one game of escaping the Carolina League cellar—a spot it has occupied since early in the campaign.

World Knows Tobacco Of This Area Is Unsurpassed

By: W.L. Wheabee, Supervisor Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, Inc.

It has long been axiomatic in the world wide tobacco trade that "there is no substitute for quality" OUR TOBACCO UNSURPASSED IN ENTIRE WORLD

Realizing this the tobacco farmers in the area served by the Greenville Tobacco Market have, in 1958, given their greatest effort towards producing quality leaf for both export and domestic consumption, which cannot be surpassed anywhere in the entire world.

OUR TOBACCOES SET STANDARDS OF QUALITY FOR ENTIRE WORLD

Our tobacco has now become the standard of quality for smokers everywhere. It is by comparison with our tobaccos that the tobaccos grown in other countries are now judged as to quality.

WHY?

Why does the whole world use our tobacco as a standard of quality by which to judge all other tobaccos? There is but one answer: It is because our tobacco is the most desirable tobacco that is grown anywhere in the world.

WORLD WARS INCREASED POPULARITY OF OUR CIGARETTE TOBACCO

As the young men in our expeditionary forces left their homes and traveled, during the great world wars to England, France, the Netherlands, Belgium, Scandinavia, the Philippines, and the whole world, to assist their comrades in arms they carried with them to the four corners of the globe, tobacco, which had its birth and growth in the rich loamy soil of Pitt County.

The world-wide popularity of our cigarette tobacco is now firmly established, and is a matter of common knowledge. Taste and aroma form the chief enjoyment for cigarette smokers, and it is an established fact that no tobacco grown in the entire world excels Pitt County tobacco in these two most important qualities.

In short, the world-wide tobacco trade recognizes the superiority of our product, and, frankly, they want it in large quantities, in order that they may not have to resort to substitutes of an unpalatable nature.

RETURN TO OLD TIME CULTURAL PRACTICES

In 1958 the farmers in this area have returned entirely to the cultivation of old line tobaccos and universally desirable varieties and at the same time have returned wholeheartedly to the old time cultural practices of proper topping, suckering, spacing and fertilization. PITT COUNTY TOBACCO FAMOUS FOR FLAVOR AND AROMA

These are the varieties and the practices which, over the years, have produced in our area ripe, mellow flue-cured tobacco which has become famous all over the world because of its desirable body, its rich clear color and its outstanding flavor and aroma. These characteristics have caused most foreign countries to continue to come to the U.S.A. — to Pitt County and to the Greenville Tobacco Market — for a substantial part of their flue-cured requirements.

PITT COUNTY NATION'S LARGEST PRODUCER OF FLUE-CURED TOBACCO

Each year the U.S. Government makes allocation of the number of acres of flue-cured tobacco permitted to be grown in each county. In 1958, as it has for many years, Pitt County, whose greatest tobacco market is Greenville, has again received the largest tobacco acreage allotment in the entire U. S. A.

Within the territory surrounding the Greenville Tobacco Market and from which it annually draws tobacco for its auction sales has been grown this year one-third of the nation's entire bright leaf tobacco crop.

GREENVILLE MARKET DRAWS FROM LARGE TERRITORY

Every pound of tobacco produced in Pitt County, however, is not sufficient to make up the total pounds of tobacco sold each year in Greenville.

Each year to this home production is added many more millions of pounds of tobacco which are brought by farmers from adjoining counties to the Greenville Tobacco Market for sale.

This mass movement of tobacco from adjoining counties to the Greenville Tobacco Market starts with the opening day of the market and continues until the last day that the auction warehouses are open.

GREENVILLE MARKET POPULAR WITH FARMERS

Greenville Tobacco Market's fine record of annual sales, which since 1935 have varied from 43,807,402 to 79,045,070 pounds of tobacco bears testimony of the popularity of the Greenville Market with the tobacco farmers in this entire bright leaf, flue-cured area.

ABUNDANT AUCTION FLOOR SPACE IN GREENVILLE

Greenville operates five sets of buyers simultaneously, every sales day, over its warehouse floors.

There are 19 tobacco warehouses and 12 warehouse firms in Greenville. To give you some idea of the size of these warehouses, the largest one of these warehouse floors alone covers over 11 acres.

Counted Out By The Game Laws

TERRA AMARILLA, N. M. (AP) — One fisherman didn't understand New Mexico game laws. It cost him $100.

Arrested with 67 fish, he told a judge, "I thought you were allowed 12 fish for every day you fished." The judge didn't think so. The daily limit and the possession limit are the same — 12 fish.

Over 3,000,000 Square Feet Of Floor Space For Tobacco

The floor space in Greenville de-processing of leaf tobacco is well voted exclusively to the sale and over three million square feet.

OVER TWO MILLION POUNDS PER DAY

To give you some idea of the size of the Greenville Tobacco Market, it has not been uncommon in the past few years for the Greenville Market to pay out over a million dollars a day for the purchase of tobacco upon its warehouse floors. Daily sales have been as high as 2,353,592 pounds per day for $1,508,571.27, bought by Greenville's five sets of buyers.

A QUALITY CROP IN 1958

With the wholesale return by farmers in the Greenville area to old line tobaccos and universally desirable varieties and their wholehearted return to old time cultural practices of proper topping, suckering, spacing and fertilization, the tobacco that is sold on the Greenville warehouse floors this year should be tobacco of outstanding quality.

It is the opinion of those most closely associated with the tobacco trade that this year's crop in the Greenville area is one with good grain, desirable body and outstanding for its flavor and aroma; truly a quality crop.

Hazards That Recruits Face

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — Do you suffer from onychocryptosis, bulli, neclated-tyloma or callousity? Marine recruits do. Those are just a few of the medical terms for the kind of sore feet recruits report. Translated, in order, they are ingrown toenails, blisters, corns and callouses.

An expert cigarmaker can produce by hand about 400 cigars a day.

Bored At Sixty Ohio Teller Is Now In The Swim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When a 63-year-old Columbus, Ohio, bank teller jumped into England's River Thames the other day, a passing Londoner reportedly exclaimed: "Hey, the bloke's committing suicide."

If his head hadn't been underwater, the teller — whose name is James N. Sleppey — might have yelled back: "Nope, just relaxing with my hobby."

Sleppey's hobby is swimming dangerous waterways. He started out on this unusual pursuit only about three years ago.

At the age of 60, he says, it suddenly came to him that his life "could not, by any stretch of the imagination, be called glamorous." He decided to begin anew at 60.

Since then he had made more than 30 endurance swims during leaves from the bank.

Rivers are his favorite opponents, the aquatically inclined bachelor says, and he ticks off the Ohio, Mississippi, Hudson, Potomac, Colorado and Missouri among his conquests. Then of course there's the Thames. That took 23 minutes.

After going as far as South America and Hawaii to tackle bays and off-shore courses in both oceans, as well, Sleppey is looking for new worlds — or waterways — to conquer. Continental Europe's rivers look tempting, he says.

Sleppey refers to a newspaper story written during his South American visit. "Since he thinks he is not very old yet," it says, "he says he can wait a while."

Second Highest Quiz-Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—Teddy Nadler became the second highest money winner in TV quiz history last night. The St. Louis, Mo., quiz whiz boosted his winnings to $232,000 by defeating Mrs. Lorna Hahn of Philadelphia, a Temple University history instructor, on CBS' The $64,000 Challenge.

Nadler won $16,000 when Mrs. Hahn failed to answer a European history question. This put Nadler second only to Robert Strom, 11-year-old science prodigy, who won $242,000 on two quiz shows.

Until last night, Elfrida von Nardroff was second to Strom. She won $220,000 on the NBC-TV show Twenty-One.

Pioneer Tobacco Leader Is Dead

WHITEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A widely-known tobacco man and long-time Whiteville postmaster died here yesterday. He was Alexander Elmo Powell Sr., who was 74.

Funeral services were scheduled for today. Powell, a leader in founding the tobacco market here, served as postmaster for 27 years. He was a brother of former State Sen. J. K. Powell.

Theodore Roosevelt was struck by a double tragedy in 1884 when his mother and his wife died within a few hours of each other.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Tobacco Growers.
FROM: J. T. Marston, Jr.
SUBJECT: Your tobacco market.

It makes sense to sell your tobacco here at home on the Greenville market. There are at least four reasons:

1. Greenville prices should be as good as or better than prices on other markets because this year Pitt has the best tobacco in the country.
2. You can give your tobacco more time to ripen.
3. You can save time and money by eliminating long hauls at the time you are most needed on your own farm.
4. Just as prosperous farms help local business, so does a prosperous market mean more money to Pitt County farmers.

So for your own sake, as well as your neighbors, sell your tobacco in Greenville this year.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Ralph Campbell was one of the Virginians that believed family traditions and sectional loyalties came first in either war or peace. His older son, Macklyn, agreed with him and gave up a commission as colonel in the U. S. Army to serve the Confederates. Ralph's younger son, Colin, judge of the district of Denbury, was swayed between adherence to his father's wishes and his feeling of duty to the Union.

Besides this problem, Colin is having trouble with his aristocratic fiancée, Jeannie Dare. She is not tolerant of his acquaintance with two "poor whites," Ling and Ann Stewart, of the backwoods region of Shobbs Creek. During a trip to the Stewarts' log cabin to hunt with Ling, Colin is entranced by a lovely old vacant house. Having discovered that the house is owned by Ann's father and can be bought, Colin proposes it to Jeannie as his future home. Jeannie bellies both the house and the Stewarts as neighbors, and widens the rift between her and Colin.

When Christmas Eve news comes that South Carolina has seceded from the Union, Colin is plunged into gloom. He dreads the prospect of having to take part in political discussion at his father's home, and having to make a decision.

CHAPTER 12

So constant had their quarrels grown that Colin Campbell knew it would not be long before Jeannie would release him. Vanity alone had made her hold on this long. A week or two after their visit to the mountains, they had in fact, had such a serious disagreement that Jeannie, by way of punishment, had gone to visit a schoolmate in Washington. She had just come home for Christmas and Ralph Campbell had invited Tom Dare and his daughter to Quail Wings for Christmas dinner tomorrow. If she did not see for herself that her "punishment" had failed, Colin planned to ask her to break their engagement. He was thoroughly tired of living a fiction.

Lost in thought, he had ignored

Get a new street quickly and economically with durable, low-cost SOIL-CEMENT

A clean, attractive, smooth-riding street in front of your house increases the value of your property. A dusty, bumpy potholed street is unsightly and unsafe. It is a nuisance to drivers who use it and to property owners who live on it. The constant patching and repairing of such a street is a waste of time, temper and taxes.

If your street is worn-out and run down, it can be converted into an all-weather pavement quickly and economically. Just ask your city officials to pave it with soil-cement. Soil-cement is a combination of soil or granular material usually on the street and portland cement and water. Mixed and compacted, these elements form a rigid, durable base. A bituminous surface completes the pavement.

Soil-cement is economical. Low in first cost, it delivers years of dependable service with a minimum of maintenance.

Soil-cement paving is fast. An experienced crew can pave your entire street in a single day—with practically no inconvenience to you.

Now is the time to pave rough, worn-out streets with soil-cement. It's today's best low-cost-pavement value for residential streets.

Rich Venezuela Wants Larger Share In Profits

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Accion Democratica, Venezuela's biggest political party, wants to see the nation get more profits from its oil and iron riches.

The government share is running over 2 1/2 million dollars daily. A year ago, before the United States restricted imports of oil from Venezuela, it was around three millions.

Accion Democratica, with over 600,000 members, is almost bigger than all the other political parties combined. Its leader is stocky, graying Romulo Betancourt, an economist who was provisional president from 1945 to 1947.

The policies and philosophy of his party are left of center. But Betancourt emphasizes: "We are not Communists and we do not want the help of the Communists."

Betancourt feels more benefits should come from oil and iron to improve living standards of the people.

Venezuela today is ruled by a civilian-military junta. Despite inroads the Communists have made since the January revolution, Betancourt said he is confident no "popular front" government will ever be established here.

He told The Associated Press: "The fundamental problem of Latin America, at the moment, is not communism. It is the low standard of living, the hunger and misery, the underdevelopment, and in some countries the presence of dictators."

"But to allow these conditions to go on and worsen will mean the presence of communism."

Betancourt pointed out that Venezuela as a nation is the richest in Latin America, but there are widespread poverty and unemployment. He noted that 300,000 Venezuelans live in shacks on the mountainsides overlooking Caracas while half Venezuela's 6,200,000 are illiterate.

All this, he said, the Accion Democratica aims to correct.

NOTICE RELATING TO SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD ON SEPTEMBER 27, 1958 ON THE ISSUANCE OF $750,000 HOSPITAL BONDS OF THE COUNTY OF PITT, NORTH CAROLINA

A special election has been called by the Board of Commissioners of the County of Pitt, North Carolina, to be held on September 27, 1958, on the question of the issuance of $750,000 Hospital Bonds of said County to finance part of the cost of the construction of an addition to the Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

The estimated cost of such hospital addition is $1,500,000. At the time of the adoption of the proceedings authorizing the issuance of said $750,000 Hospital Bonds and calling said special election, the Board of Commissioners had been advised by the North Carolina Medical Care Commission that federal funds would be contributed under the Hill-Burton Act in the amount of approximately Seven Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($750,000) to pay approximately fifty per cent of the total estimated cost of said hospital addition.

The Board of Commissioners has subsequently been advised by said North Carolina Medical Care Commission that the federal funds to be contributed under the Hill-Burton Act to pay part of the cost of said hospital addition will be approximately One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) instead of Seven Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($750,000).

The legal voters of the County of Pitt are hereby notified that in the event said $1,000,000 of federal funds are received for said hospital addition the full amount of said $750,000 Hospital Bonds of the County of Pitt will not be issued, and that the amount of such Hospital Bonds to be issued which, together with the federal funds received for said hospital addition, will equal the total cost of said hospital addition.

By order of the Board of Commissioners, Pitt County, North Carolina.
