Hodges Disclaims Any Desire To Transfer State School Burden

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Hodges pleaded with reporters today to try and get settled once and for all his stand on state versus local aid to the public school system.

When the state puts out all it can, it is not enough. Remaining on the subject of education, Hodges referred to a recent speech he made at a meeting of the Southern Regional Education Board at Charleston, S.C., regarding careful selection of college students.

"I am trying to get people to think about this problem because if the figures are correct, in the next 12 or 15 years this state will be called on to double its enrollment in colleges. Someone has to pay for it," he said.

Registrars in Pitt County's polling places have reported "very few" registrations thus far for September 27's special election on a $750,000 hospital bond issue.

The books opened Saturday for the new registration which will be required of all voters who expect to participate in the election. County Attorney W. W. Speight said this morning the books will remain open through September 13.

Speight added that registrars will have the registration books in their possession each day, but will be at the polling places only on Saturdays between now and September 13. Saturday hours for registrations will be 9 a. m. through 6 p. m.

The new registration is required by legal actions of the Board of County Commissioners which authorized the election. In the election, voters will be asked to rule on the proposed bond issue which will partially finance a 70-bed addition to Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Legislature Told Defend Rights Or To Surrender

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today called upon the Arkansas Legislature in special integration session "to defend our rights against those who would usurp them."

Faubus asked for a bill that would empower him to close the state's public schools—specifically in the current case, Central High School—against forced integration.

sage asked a further postponement to Sept. 15. School Sup. Virgil Blossom announced that three more Negroes had applied for admission to white schools. Seven who attended Central High School last year under federal troop protection are expected to apply tomorrow.

The key measure prepared for the lawmakers by Gov. Orval Faubus would present him the power to close any school should the federal government seek to integrate it by court order or physical force.

Quemoy Bombardment In Its 4th Day But Easing Up

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Communist bombardment of Quemoy continued today but the volume of shells poured into the little Chinese Nationalist outpost island was greatly reduced.

Today only 1,126 shells landed on Quemoy and the nearby Tan islands up to 1 p. m. Three newspapers in Taipei issued extras saying Communist MIG-17 jet fighters flown by defectors had landed on Formosa.

Farmville Mart Has $58.35 Day

FARMVILLE—A sales average two cents higher than Thursday's opening day average was recorded here yesterday by the Farmville Tobacco Market.

Sales Supervisor Charles S. Edwards said the market averaged $8.35 on sales of 266,906 pounds of tobacco for $155,752.19. The activity pushed the market's three-day sales record to 901,938 pounds for a total of $521,898.82 and an average of $57.88.

With the U. S. fleet already on the alert, a landing force of 1,600 men from the 3rd Marine Division was ordered to sail from Singapore. The destination of the four attack transports and four accompanying ships was not disclosed, but it was assumed they were moving closer to Formosa.

ers because they cannot stand the stellar heat. But this new idea is much more complicated than the ones previously reported.

In the Christofilos plan a primary magnetic field in a cylinder is used to speed great numbers of electrons along prescribed cork-screw-like paths. When the electrons reach speeds corresponding to energies of three million volts they act something like a very strong electrical current. This current travels through the tube and forms a secondary and still more powerful magnetic field which supposedly can squeeze the confined atoms together tightly enough to produce the enormous heat of fusion.

Miss Sylvia Carroll Marries Mr. Coward

At a candlelight ceremony, Miss Sylvia Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carroll of Greenville, and James Earl Coward, son of Mrs. Mamie Coward and the late Marvin Coward of Greenville, were married August 17 at the Grace Free Will Baptist Church.

MRS. JAMES EARL COWARD

The Rev. Rashie Kennedy, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Arrangements of white mums and gladioli in baskets, with stands of palm leaves tied with white ribbon, forming a green background, decorated the church. Two seven-branched candelabra, holding white candles, lighted the scene.

Prior to the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was presented by Dave Cochrane, pianist, and Miss Patsy Jones, soloist. Selections were "I Love You Truly," "Whether Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer," as benediction.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported French lace and tulle over bridal satin, designed with a fitted bodice, high neckline with a lace Peter Pan collar and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. A lace crown held her two tiered veil of French illusion. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white purple-throated orchid.

Miss Linda Sue Carroll, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a light blue dress of chiffon and net over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice ending into a point, with a matching headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations laced with nylon tulle and wide pink ribbon.

Little Miss Gayle Cannon, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a dress of pink net over taffeta and matching headpiece. She carried a blue basket of pink carnations. Jackie Cannon, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

The Rev. Jerry Ballard served as best man. Ushers were Melvin Worthington, Milton Worthington, and R. J. Kennedy.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Carroll wore a light blue lace dress over taffeta with white accessories and a purple orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue dress of lace over taffeta with white accessories and a purple orchid.

Mrs. Reba Carroll, paternal grandmother of the bride, wore a green and white dress with black accessories and white carnations. Mrs. Clyde Willis, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a dress of navy blue and white with black accessories and white carnations.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride wore a light blue linen dress with navy accessories and the orchid lifted from her prayer book. After the wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 2521 S. Dickinson Ave.

Mrs. Coward will be a senior at Junius H. Rose High School this fall. Mr. Coward is a graduate of Rats, Beware! The Wyse Fork community in Jones County is waging war on all rats. So, rats, beware!

According to Ann W. Brock, assistant home agent, two meetings were held in the community to give an opportunity for the people to order rat poison. All families in the community were contacted and cooperated in ordering and setting out 300 pounds of poison.

Miss Brock states that a follow-up meeting is planned for early September to check the results of their efforts. Reports so far indicate a success, since not a single rat has been seen since the poison was put out.

Garden Winners Judged A very important activity in Pasquotank County ended recently, according to reports from Edna Bishop, home demonstration agent, when 14 home demonstration community gardens were judged.

Those named county winners for outstanding gardens were: Mrs. R. E. Shaekelford, Nixonton home demonstration club, 1st place; Mrs. Scott Parker, Body Road home demonstration club, 2nd place; Mrs. Rufus Wilson, Marcia Albersson home demonstration club, 3rd place; and Mrs. Lee Smith, Four Fork home demonstration club, 4th place.

Others participating in the county contest who were community winners were: Mrs. Claude Whitehurst, Corinth club; Mrs. Harold Reid, Riverside; Mrs. Wilbert Newbold, Mt. Hermon; Mrs. Urcey Lutton, Maude Hodges club; Mrs. Willie P. Eves, Salem club; Mrs. Raymond Newbern, Bayside; Mrs. Clarence Davis, Frances Winslow club; Mrs. Alvin Pritchard, Providence; Mrs. Joe Spence, Newland; and Mrs. Grier Long, Fork club.

Iredell County's V-Point Community Development Organization had a field day recently at which time the people in the community gathered for what they hope will be an annual event.

New sports equipment has been purchased by the community, reports Doris Teeter, assistant home agent. The youngsters enjoyed the games so much that plans are being made to have recreation one or two nights a week during the summer months.

Not only did the people in the V-Point community benefit from this field day, but those in other communities in the county participated.

Installed New Floor Mr. and Mrs. John Dalton, Point Lookout, have recently installed a new kitchen floor, according to reports from Mrs. Justine Rozier, Henderson County assistant home agent.

This came about as a result of a need to keep a more presentable floor. It seems that the 12 by 20 foot area had doors that lead to all other rooms and carried almost all the traffic in the house. So they were confronted with the difficult job of keeping the area clean.

Mr. Dalton, to remedy the situation, laid a new floor of green and grey vinyl asbestos tile in a neat, smooth job. Mrs. Dalton says that her floor is now much easier to clean, and is much more attractive. The walls have now received a coat of light grey paint and Mrs. Dalton is hoping to install some modern storage cabinets.

Resumes Piano Classes Mrs. Jimmy Lee will resume her piano classes September 15. If interested, call 7444.

It's Easy To Lose A Beauty Contest

CHEW GUM ON STAGE
Judges love bubble blowers!

WAVE AT FRIENDS
To ruin your dignity.

WEAR WILD HAIRDO
Lose neatness points.

COAX THE JUDGE TO PICK YOU

Photos by Leonard Victor, Long Island (N.Y.) Press

By AUGUST LOCKWOOD
City Editor,
Long Island (N.Y.) Press
JAMAICA, N. Y. (AP)—This summer, hundreds of pretty girls will compete in beauty contests and when the queen and runners-up are chosen, the girls who lose will look at them and whisper: "Why were they chosen instead of me?"

There may have been many reasons . . . and none of them had anything to do with beauty.

It's not so easy to win a beauty title, but it's easy to lose one.

Barbara Resalino of Oceanside is only 17, but she's a veteran of 23 beauty contests. And she only lost one.

She finished third in the first contest she entered . . . at the age of 13.

Seven times she won first prize and walked off with second or third prize in every other competition . . . except one.

She's 5 feet, 6 1/2 inches without heels and weighs 115 pounds. Her measurements are 35-23-35.

Barbara won't graduate from high school until next June, but she already has offers to work for three model agencies.

In the photos above, Barbara illustrates some of the mistakes that make a pretty girl an also-ran in the beauty parade.

Other errors Barbara warns against include whispering to other contestants, wearing jewelry, hamming for the audience, tugging at the bathing suit.

An extra-easy way to get a black mark on the judge's sheet, she says, is to make either funny or sour faces . . . especially when the audience is applauding for someone else.

One mistake not illustrated is the one Barbara made last year. She entered the competition for the Miss Nassau County title, a preliminary for the Miss America contest. Barbara lasted until the finals and then she was disqualified . . . because she was too young!

"I haven't given up hope," she says. "I'll be 18 next year and then . . ."

Must Register And Vote On Bonds

Pitt County voters who are going to express themselves at the polls on the proposed bond issue for expansion of Pitt Memorial are faced with a two-fold responsibility.

Not only will they have to go to the polls and vote on the appointed day; they will also have to register at their regular polling place between now and September 13.

An entirely new, special registration is being held prior to the referendum on the hospital bond issue. No matter how long a person has lived in Pitt County or how many times he has voted before, he will have to register anew between now and September 13 if he wants to cast a ballot in the bond election. Only those who register during this special registration period will be eligible to vote when the matter is decided on September 27.

Last Saturday was the first day of the special registration period. Only a few people registered at precinct polling places throughout the county. Registration books will be open at the county's 25 polling places this coming Saturday and on Saturday, September 6 and Saturday, September 13.

If Pitt County's hospital facilities are to be adequate to meet the needs of the citizens of the county, the expansion program must be carried out. The proposed addition of 75 beds will cost a total of $1,500,000. Although the bond issue will authorize expenditure of $750,000 in local funds for the program, the Hospital Board of Trustees and the County Commissioners have given assurance that the county's portion of outlay will be only $500,000. The other two-thirds of the cost—one million dollars—already has been assured from the state and federal governments.

Pitt County needs the additional hospital facilities. The present hospital, although it is only a few years old, is now inadequate to meet the demands for medical attention from the people of the county.

The Reflector urges the citizens of the county to support and vote for the bond issue when the referendum is held. Of equal importance, however, is the special registration being held prior to the referendum. Only those citizens who register during this special period will be eligible to cast a ballot on September 27.

'Community' Label Unapplied

By LYNN NINSBET
COMMUNITY COLLEGES — word "community" does not appear in the corporate names of the two-year colleges which the State partially supports at Asheville, Charlotte and Wilmington. It is a common designation of which the cities are justly proud. The curricula and special facilities are designed to serve the peculiar needs of the community. They are standardized sufficiently to be credited by major four-year colleges and universities, yet flexible enough to be adjusted to changing local conditions.

This adaptability is illustrated by the way Wilmington College met a special demand last year. When the Russian Sputnik hit the sky a lot of people, mostly adults but including some teenagers, wanted to study up in astronomy, the law of gravitation, nuclear energy and other factors about which they knew little. At their request Dr. Marshall Randall, president of the college, organized classes, obtained special instructors and provided desired courses in the subjects. The "students" paid the entire cost of the special service.

Besides special courses of this type, the community colleges have wide leeway in setting up terminal courses in electronics, mechanical arts and others especially suited to local needs, an arrangement that would not be practicable with less localized control.

In very real sense, the institutions are two-year colleges, affording studies in liberal arts and sciences for which credits are given toward AB and BS degrees in major colleges. That means boys and girls in the area may get freshmen and sophomore work at home, then go on for junior and senior courses at the higher institution of their choice. The credits given are backed by the prestige of the State of North Carolina.

STATE AID — Although the Asheville College has been functioning for 20 years, those at Charlotte and Wilmington for about 12, it was not until 1955 that the State recognized them. That year the General Assembly made a token appropriation to aid in operation.

The 1957 Legislature took the next step. It put the operational support on sounder basis by allotting $3.00 of State money for each quarter hour of instruction in courses recognized for standard college credits. There also was appropriated the sum of $1,500,000 for physical equipment and buildings, to be matched dollar for dollar by the community. There was further provision that no community could claim more than 40 per cent of that total amount.

In compliance with that act, Wilmington has already voted $600,000 bonds. Charlotte has an election coming up this fall for a like amount, and Asheville is attempting to raise by private donation and local government allocation the $300,000 necessary to match the remaining share.

quate to meet the needs of the citizens of the county, the expansion program must be carried out. The proposed addition of 75 beds will cost a total of $1,500,000. Although the bond issue will authorize expenditure of $750,000 in local funds for the program, the Hospital Board of Trustees and the County Commissioners have given assurance that the county's portion of outlay will be only $500,000. # Seasonal Polio Fears Reduced.... Too Much?

It was just a few years ago that late summer and early fall were months in which parents watched their children carefully for signs of the crippling, killing disease... polio.

It was in late summer that the disease struck hardest, taking its greatest toll among young people. Now the situation has changed radically. Polio still is most prevalent in the late summer and early fall, but its toll is only a fraction of what it was a few years ago. The polio vaccine which came into being just a few years ago has brought about a sharp decline in the number of victims of the disease. Each year the number of cases decline.

During the first 7 1/2 months of 1958 only 43 cases of polio were reported in North Carolina compared with 144 cases reported during the corresponding period of 1957. And in 1957 the number of cases in the state was below the figure for 1956.

Despite this sharp decline brought about by widespread use of the Salk vaccine, there remain many youngsters and young adults in North Carolina who have not received the polio vaccine. Though this group decreases each year, thousands of youngsters in North Carolina are still needlessly threatened with the disease because their parents have not seen to it that they receive the vaccine.

For those who have received the series of polio shots, the late summer and early months hold little threat. For those who have not received the vaccine the critical period of the year is at hand.

85th Congress Had Its Shocks

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The 85th Congress was born in crisis and ended uneasy. History will probably say this Congress, like President Eisenhower, was moderately progressive.

The 85th, run by Democrats, had a good record of performance. It worked well with Republican Eisenhower. But it had shocks: the realization the Soviet Union was ahead in missiles; a Mideast crisis; a recession.

By the time Congress ended its second session some Democrats had become uneasy about the wisdom and direction of American foreign policy. Eisenhower's leadership, and the state of American defenses.

But the Democrats as a party provided no leadership basically different from Eisenhower's on foreign or domestic matters. They gave him pretty much what he asked and backed him up when he got in trouble, as in the Mideast.

This Congress was elected in November 1956, during one of the most precarious weeks since World War II.

The British and French, breaking with the United States, had invaded Egypt. The Soviets threatened war if they didn't get out, which they did. And the Soviets bloodily crushed the Hungarian revolt.

In those two years, Soviet influence in the Middle East has risen but American influence has rock bottom.

Just before Congress got this year Iraq pulled away from the West and Eisenhower sent troops into Lebanon to save it, an action which angered Arab, neutrals and some American friends.

At the time this Congress took office in January 1957 economists were fearing inflation, not recession. Inflation continued but recession hit. Neither Eisenhower nor the Democrats took any striking action against it.

They followed a cautious road of small repairs here and there, in "the case" it would go away. The recession seems to be receding. Once upon the economists are concerned about inflation, for living costs continue up.

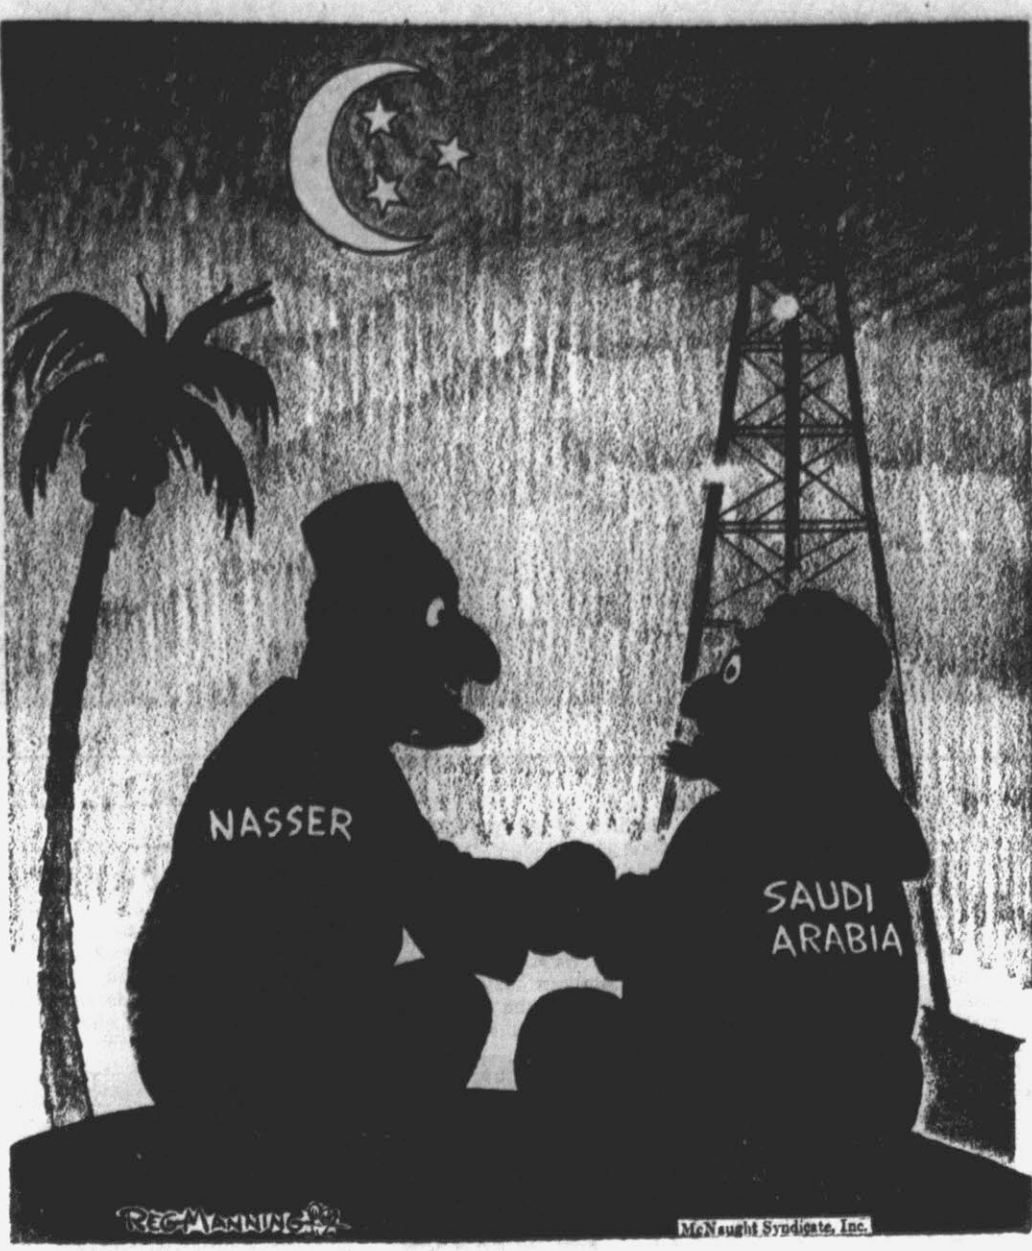

When this Congress first moved into the Capitol in January 1957, there was still the old complacency that we had always been ahead of the Soviets and would continue that way.

This myth was shattered in the fall of 1957 when the Soviets let loose their first Sputnik. Congress returned for its final session in 1958 excited, disturbed, chastened.

I voted quickly for missile development. But somehow concern about Soviet strides in this field seemed to melt a bit as Congress later in the year began worrying about recession.

As it heads home, the 85th Congress is much less cocky about the Soviet Union, has its fingers crossed about the economy, and has no reason to believe American foreign policy will do better than it's done in the past.

Can This Be Love?

By DON SCHLIENZ

The Story Is Appealing

I'd heard the story somewhere before... it seems to have an element of popular acceptance, whether true or not, to be told and retold with an enjoyment in the telling. It concerns a dirt road that might have been paved but for the stubbornness of a man with a love for beauty.

And if it is a true story, I could easily learn the names of the people involved and acquire a whole lot of details to embellish a tale that has the makings of a local legend.

But this isn't about details. Rather it's about an idea that seems to me of more importance than the reciting of detailed facts which might distract attention from the more exciting speculation.

On one afternoon we were driving near the outskirts of town when for one reason or another we turned off on an unpaved road... a "short cut", was the reason, I recall. And the road was lined for several hundred feet with virtual trees of crepe myrtle.

It was a fabulous sight. Years of growth and cultivation were crowned with a burgeoning bloom. We were riding between twin rows of vivid blossoms.

"Did you know," said a passenger in the car, "the man who owns this property kept the State from paving this road because he wouldn't let them cut down those trees?" And so the story was told again.

According to the accepted version the dirt roadway was too narrow for state specifications, and to pave it would have meant removing those blooming trees... and that's where the property-owner balked. So the road remains unpaved. Anyway, that's the story.

Well, to tell the truth, "progress" as exemplified by paving that little stretch of road seemed to me more of a step backward than forward... if it meant losing those crepe myrtle. There's an awful lot of paved roads in North Carolina, but few roads... paved or unpaved... offering a more spectacular display of nature's artistry.

So I like to think that somewhere there's a man whose feelings put a higher value on perhaps thirty or more crepe myrtles than he does on a strip of asphalt; and maybe there's some highway people involved too... road builders who aren't all fired up about a no-holds-barred sort of fight for paving just for the sake of paving.

Oh well, as I said before, it's all what I like to think. The true story probably isn't nearly as colorful and the facts might even rob me of an unknown hero or two. The thought of a man's love for his blooming trees holding up the march of "progress" on a small strip of road... that appeals to me.

I'd cast my vote for trees and a winding dirt road too.

cause he wouldn't let them cut down those trees?" And so the story was told again.

Dick Powell Today

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't believe in drifting," said Dick Powell, "and my only wish is that I'd been born smarter."

"Looking back on my career, it seems like I was always fighting to get out of one thing and into another. I was always restless, and I still am."

A man with a deceptively easy-going air, Powell, now a kind of strolling Ft. Knox, has had a number of careers in his rise from saxophone player to top status as a movie and TV producer-director.

But even in his lean days Powell had a sturdy independence.

He recalled that 30 years ago, as a young unknown theater emcee, he turned down a chance to play opposite a promising actress. The actress was Janet Gaynor. The picture was "Seventh Heaven," and it made a star of Charles Ferrell, who took the role Powell rejected.

Powell later fought and won the right to play tough guy roles after he starred in 35 musicals in 13 years, the memory of which still depresses him.

The slender tenor from Mountain View, Ark., is busier than ever. He will help supervise the filming of 150 television shows and he still has four full-length pictures to produce and direct under a contract with 20th Century-Fox.

What has been his biggest problem in adapting to his new career as a producer? Powell grinned wryly at his wife, actress June Allyson.

"It's trying to sell an actor on the idea that a proposed role is just right for him. I don't know that that's so difficult for me. After all, I was sold the same way dozens and dozens of times when I was an actor," he replied.

"I'm not exactly the promoting type of producer. I hate to put my assurance on people, but sometimes you have to."

"But there's no greater satisfaction than taking a story and turning it into a completed picture. It's far more satisfying than just acting."

"People think Richard's a lot tougher and more practical than he really is," said June, who knows shorthand and says she acts as his secretary when they're traveling. "Underneath, he's a softie."

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
IF WE COULD ONLY CATCH IT AGAIN

Someone has said that formal education largely consists in treating, and trying to cure, the most serious of all ailments, namely youth.

If youth is an ailment, certainly it is one which we all contract. People sometimes think they can skip youth and still others believe they can hold onto it longer than is actually the case, but the malady we have all had.

What does the jokester mean in saying that youth is a malady? Probably that it is a rash which peppers a life during years of adolescence. The rash is always accompanied by high fever. There is no end of complaint on the part of the patient, but his or her-aided physician is reserved for the doctors. Some of us look back on the days of youth and wonder how we could have had so much confidence in our opinions then and so little now. We knew everything as we ran along between the fifteen and twenty-fifth mile posts. Shortly after that we began to lose confidence in ourselves. Now we stand aghast and wonder how during fifty, sixty, or seventy years we could have made a living and kept out of jail on the basis of such meager intelligence.

Oh for the self-confidence of youth! Oh for the return of those days when we knew everything! Of, for a return of the "Malady!"

Opinions In Brief

"The 14th Amendment, for example, provides that Congress shall implement its provisions by legislation. If Congress does not act in this field, should the court intervene, and in effect overturn 'old law' and proclaim 'new law'?" That, of course, is what it did in the Brown Decision. What has been the law of the land—separate but equal—suddenly was the law no longer. The Supreme Court, of course, must occasionally make new law in conformity with the needs of changing times and circumstances. And that is its basic defense against its critics." — Greensboro Daily News.

(1) To draft civil defense plans but not actually spend money on token programs that mean nothing.

(2) To go all-out for mammoth preparations, including an enormous shelter-building program.

In light of the power of today's weapons and the speed with which they can be delivered, neither of the above may be of much value. But at least we ought to stop trying to kid ourselves that the kind of makeshift setup we have today furnishes any real protection.

Other Editors Saying --- The Civil Defense Sham

(Richmond Times-Dispatch)
Federal authorities solemnly talk about the nation's civil defense program, when the truth is that there is no effective program.

Various factors have combined to make an effective civil defense difficult of attainment. For example, by the time one concept of defense is settled upon, such as evacuation of cities prior to an attack, new weapons have made that concept obsolete.

Another factor has been the reluctance of the people in general to take civil defense seriously and to support it.

Another is the fact that any complete program probably would be too expensive as to be a heavy financial burden.

One school of thought today holds that the only hope for saving large numbers of Americans in the event of enemy attack is through the use of air raid shelters. Obviously, there would have to be many thousands of these shelters, and the cost would be astronomical.

Recently a House subcommittee declared that unless such shelters are built, "we will have an effective civil defense program."

But a few days later, Leo A. Hoegh, director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, said the administration does not favor a massive shelter-building program and that such a program would impose a "tremendous tax burden."

Instead, he said, the administration's program calls in part, for (1) surveying existing structures to determine their shelter capabilities, (2) constructing a limited number of prototype shelters which could also be used for other purposes, such as underground garages, subways, and so on, and (3) incorporating fallout shelters in new federal buildings.

The question arises whether that program isn't largely a waste of money. If what we read about the destructive power of nuclear bombs is accurate, existing structures built for other purposes would not serve as adequate shelters. And what real purpose would be served by building a few prototype shelters here and there?

Run, Not Walk, For SBA Aid

By ELMER ROESSNER
If the owner of any small or medium size business has trouble borrowing money today, he should run, not walk, to the nearest Small Business Administration office.

"Medium size" because the SBA definition of small business takes a lot of the middlemen; wholesalers with annual sales up to $5,000,000, retailers or dealers in services with a gross up to $1,000,000 a year, construction companies with annual receipts of no more than $5,000 in any of the last three years, and manufacturers with up to 250 employees. Manufacturers with even more employees can qualify if they are not dominant in their industry.

The SBA has a lot more jacks and a lot more lending power under legislation enacted by Congress.

QUARTER OF A BILLION Congress gave it $250,000,000 more to lend, bringing the kitty up to $900,000,000 and authorized it to increase the maximum size of loans from $25,000 to $50,000.

Interest rates were cut from 6 to 5 1/2 per cent. To dip into Uncle Sam's wallet, a business must first prove that it has a good credit standing and earning record, and that banks will not lend the money required at reasonable rates.

And that's not all. Congress also authorized the SBA to charter small business investment companies to help provide long-term and equity capital for small firms.

However, money from investment firms will not be available immediately. First the SBA has to draw up rules and regulations for these enterprises. Then the companies have to be formed and chartered. Some are being organized and the law permits firms already in existence to become small business investment companies with the benefits available under the act.

Benefits plenty! The law permits the SBA to buy up to $150,000 worth of debentures of each company and lend it up to $150,000 more.

Thus if a company has $150,000 in paid-up capital (the minimum), it can get $300,000 more from the SBA, giving it a lending fund of $450,000.

Interest rates have not yet been set, but it is expected that the SBA will lend the investment company money at reasonably less rates than the company will lend to small businesses. If the SBA rate should be 4 per cent and the lending rate to small firms 5 1/2 per cent, then the company in the example above would earn 9 1/2 per cent on its own capital and 1 1/2 per cent on its SBA money, for a return of 9 per cent on its own capital.

ACCEPTS HAZARDS However, it would assume some risks. It would be under close SBA regulation (though not SEC). It would have to have at least ten stockholders, and it could not lend more than 20 per cent of its capital and surplus to any one company.

The investment company has other possible advantages. It must buy from 2 to 5 per cent of the stock in firms it lends to, and it may convert its loan into stock later on. Thus, if the borrowing firm prospers, the lender can share in that prosperity.

Congress did other nice things for small business. It voted to allow companies and individuals to reduce taxable income by taking larger depreciation charges on the cost of new machinery and equipment. It allows heirs of small business up to ten years to pay inheritance taxes. It permits more liberal treatment of losses suffered by individual investors and partnerships. And it allows businesses to carry back losses three years, thereby getting retroactive tax refunds.

RALPH ZEHRING . . . 165-pound triple threat.

Experienced Man For Quarterback

When East Carolina College opens football drills here on September 1, Coach Jack Boone will welcome in five quarterbacks who will carry the Pirates through the 1958 season at that position. For the first time in several years, Boone will have an experienced man at the all-important quarterback slot. In fact, he'll have three experienced men at that position. Expected to be the first-stringer at that post this fall is Ralph (Squirrel) Zehring, a 165-pound junior who last year handled the position throughout most of the campaign. A passer, runner, and kicker, Zehring has now seen action for two seasons at the quarterback helm of an ECC team. In 1956 he saw only limited duty. In 1957, he was the starter for most of the games. He was elected a co-captain for 1958. Backing up Zehring will be veterans George Turner and Stuart Holland. Turner, a 185-pounder from Virginia, is an expert passer

Spahn Chalks Up Victory in West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It took some time, but chalk up another milestone for Warren Spahn, the Milwaukee Braves southpaw. The 37-year-old pitcher claimed his first West Coast victory last night, coasting to a 6-1 win over San Francisco and upping the Braves' National League lead to eight games over the Giants and Pittsburgh. It was No. 17 for the old pro and practically assured him of his ninth 20-game season, which would be a major league record for a left-hander. Spahn had tried three times previously — twice here, once in Los Angeles — to take a California victory back to Wisconsin. He had little trouble on the third try against the Giants and he was anything but happy about his five-hitter. "I was too wild," he said. The Braves staked him to five runs in the second inning, and he said that kind of lead gives him a tendency to take it easy. Spahn had a sore throat Sunday and did not even suit up. But he looked healthy to the Giants, who have lost seven straight to the Braves. He struck out seven and pitched one-hit ball for four innings. He walked five, two in the Giants' one-run seventh. The 6-foot, quiet spoken pitcher now is tied with Pittsburgh's Bob Friend for the most victories. Spahn has lost 9, Friend 13. The Braves got their five-run cluster on six hits and an error by leftfielder Leon Wagner. Loser Mike McCormick and Gordon Jones faced 11 batters in that second frame.

Carolina Golfers Teeing Off For Amateur Crown

RALEIGH (AP) — Thirty-six Carolina golfers shooting for four berths in the 58th U.S. Amateur golf championship teed off today at the Raleigh Country Club. The parade to the tee for the 36-hole qualifying round began at 8:30 a.m., and continued with a twosome taking off every six minutes. Throughout the country, other sectionals attracted more than 1,000 amateurs, trying for 175 spots in the match play National at San Francisco, Sept. 8-13. Dave Smith of Gastonia and George Toms of Durham were the only two repeaters from the 11 who qualified last year for Carolina berths in the national. Ed Justa of Rocky Mount, John Isehour of Salisbury, and a seven-member Raleigh contingent were among others in the field. Twenty-five players exempt from qualifying included Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, Buddy Baker of Florence, S.C., and Harvie Ward, a Tarboro native who now lives in San Francisco.

Surprising Orioles Not Only In First Division, But Moving Up

By ED WILKS A week ago it figured that the Baltimore Orioles might have a shot at the first division in the American League standings. Now the Birds might even roost in second place. The Orioles under Manager Paul Richards have won 13 of their last 19 games. They wrestled Detroit for a share of fourth place by taking two of three from the Tigers. Then they beat Chicago 6-5 last night for a sweep of the two-game set with the second-place White Sox. That left the Birds within three games of third place Boston and just four games shy of the White Sox while padding their edge over Detroit to a full game. Washington defeated Cleveland 5-4 in the only other AL game scheduled yesterday. In the National League, Milwaukee stretched its lead to eight games over the Braves rapped second place San Francisco 6-1. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 7-1 and Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 4-2. The Orioles won the hard way last night, blowing a 5-1 lead before cracking a 5-all tie on Al Pizarro's pinch single in the sixth inning. They had built the early bulge in three innings against Sox starter Ray Moore on four walks and but four hits, including a two-run single by Brooks Robinson. Rookie Mill Pappas (8-7) was the winner in relief after losing four in a row, but it was the mop up relief of George Zuverink, ex-Indian Hoyt Wilhelm and Billy Loes—who combined for a two-hit shutout over the last three innings that put it away. It was the fourth defeat in five games for the White Sox since they put together a seven-game winning string. Bob Shaw (5-3) lost this one, his first defeat in five decisions since going to Chicago in a June 15 trade with Detroit. The Indians were dropped despite the power-hitting of Rocky Colavito, who drove in all four runs with a double and his 31st homer. Clint Courtney, driving in two runs with his sixth homer and a sacrifice fly as the Senators overhauled a 4-0 Cleveland lead, counted the clincher in the eighth on a wild pitch by reliever Ray Narleski. Don Mossi (7-7) was the loser in relief, Truman Cleveland (8-8) the winner in relief of Vito Valentineti. The first place New York Yankees, their lead back to 12 1/2 games, begin a two-game series tonight against Kansas City that ends their last home stand against the western clubs. Bob Turley goes after his 19th victory for the champs. The White Sox move on to Washington, while Baltimore is at home to Cleveland Detroit plays at Boston.

Veeck Not Against Moving Franchises

By JOE MOOSHL CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck, eager to get back into baseball, is not after the franchise he once operated at Cleveland in order to get the Indians from making any moves. However, at a press conference in Chicago yesterday, Veeck said he isn't against moving franchises and believes the major leagues should expand to 10 teams with Toronto, Montreal, Houston and Minneapolis being possible additions. "If a team must move, it should move," said Veeck. "If I took over at Cleveland, I'd do everything within my power to keep the team there. Those people were too good to me to be deserted." Veeck said that when he was president of the Indians they drew 2,620,927 for a major league attendance record in 1948. The next year with a fourth-place club they drew over 2,300,000 and once with a seventh-place club they drew over 1,100,000. "Those people must still be there," said Veeck. "I can't believe they cannot be brought back." Veeck and his associates made a bid for the Indians last spring but were turned down. Cleveland drew only 722,256 last year and will probably finish with less this year. When rumors circulated that the Cleveland franchise might be shifted, Veeck again appeared on the scene. "We didn't make a bid this time," he said, "but that does not mean we're not interested." Cleveland Board Chairman William R. Daley has stated the Indians are not for sale. He also has said he wants to keep the team in Ohio — if the fans support it.

Probing Charges But A Rebuke For Grid Coach

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The University of California has sternly rebuked UCLA's head football coach but is investigating his charges against athletic recruiting. George Dickerson, successor to the late Coach Red Sanders at UCLA, shattered presemester calm on California's campus by confronting Coach Pete Elliott in his office. Dickerson demanded that Elliott curb the activities of Herman Weiner, president of Southern Seas, a University of California booster group in Southern California. This was Saturday. Yesterday Dickerson told a news conference about it. Elliott said in a statement he had agreed Saturday to ask Weiner to cease any activities until Dickerson's charge could be properly investigated. But, he added, because of the UCLA's coach's statements to the press he had withdrawn the request to Weiner. "With the threat of Coach Dickerson to carry the investigation of his charges to public print, I agreed to Herm Weiner's personal sake and for the University of California to ask him to stop recruiting," Elliott said. "George Dickerson broke our trust and Herm Weiner was publicly ridiculed as well as adjudged guilty without any chance of defense." In Los Angeles, Weiner said the charges against him were entirely false. Dickerson charged that two young athletes, Dean Moore, freshman tailback at UCLA last fall, and Bill Kilmer, Citrus Junior College back, told him Weiner had offered them illegal payoffs to enroll at California. Moore and Kilmer accompanied Dickerson to Elliott's office.

Second Round In Legion Baseball Tourney Today

SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — With defeat spelling elimination, Louisville, Ky., and Richmond, Va., met here today in the second round of the Region 4 American Legion Junior baseball tournament. They were dumped into the losers' bracket by Memphis, Tenn., and Shelby, which clash tonight. Probable starter for Shelby is Bobby Hoover, who racked up a 14-1 season record. John Hammett 5-1 for the season, was expected to take the mound for Memphis. Shelby's John Kozji recorded his 17th straight pitching victory in last night's 4-0 decision over Richmond. The talented right-hander also drove in three runs with a double and single. Richmond put on its biggest scoring threat in the eighth. But with runners on second and third, leftfielder Heyward Hull slid on his stomach to catch Richmond pitcher Henry Wickham's sinking liner to end the inning. Louisville was limited to two hits by Ronnie Davis in Memphis' 10-0 victory.

coming from behind for a 4-2 victory over Cincinnati, and St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 7-1 in the only other NL games scheduled. In the American League, idle New York regained a 1 1/2-game spread as Baltimore defeated the second-place Chicago White Sox 6-5. Washington clipped Cleveland 5-4. The Braves, who have won only 7 of 20 from the Dodgers, now stand 13-5 over the Giants. Spahn, backed up by a five-run second inning, tossed a five-hitter. He had a one-hit shutout until the fifth while matching Pittsburgh's Bob Friend as the NL's top winner. The Giants scored on Willie Mays' infield single after a single by Daryl Spencer and two walks had loaded the bases. The Braves sent nine men to the plate in the big second against loser Mike McCormick (9-7) and reliever Gordon Jones. Hank Aaron, Felix Mantilla, Andy Pafko, Red Schoendienst, and Ed Mathews singled and Joe Adcock doubled in the spurt, while the Giants chipped in an error. Wally Moon had three of the Cardinals' nine hits off loser Ron Kline (12-12) and R. G. Smith, one a two-run homer that capped a four-run third. Larry Jackson (11-10) was the winner. He gave up eight hits, losing his shutout bid on Hank Folles' double, a sacrifice and Bob Clemente's single in the third that tied it 1-1. Southpaw Johnny Podres gave up a two-run homer to Pete Whisenant in the first inning, then blanked the Reds on seven hits for a 12-0 record. Harvey Haddix (7-7) lost it. Carl Furillo drove in the first two Dodger runs with a pair of singles and scored the lead run on Don Zimmer's single in the third.

Now 30 Entries In Net Tourney

GREENSBORO (AP) — The entry list has reached 30 for the North Carolina Closed Senior tennis tournament that gets under way here tomorrow. Tourney seedings and pairings will be determined tonight. Entrants include Sam Daniel of Leaksville, defending senior men's champion, and Dr. Fred West of Raleigh, last year's winner in the veterans' division. Minor Fracture For Key Deacon

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Despite a small bone-break, Wake Forest quarterback Charlie Carpenter should be available for the Deacons' season opener with Maryland Sept. 20. Coach Paul Amen said yesterday he is hopeful his ace signal caller will be able to see limited action. Carpenter fractured the small bone in his left forearm in a soft-ball game over the weekend. The fracture, however, isn't in Carpenter's throwing and he may be given a protective brace. Wake Forest opens practice Monday and Carpenter will report with the rest of the varsity.

Yesterday's Stars

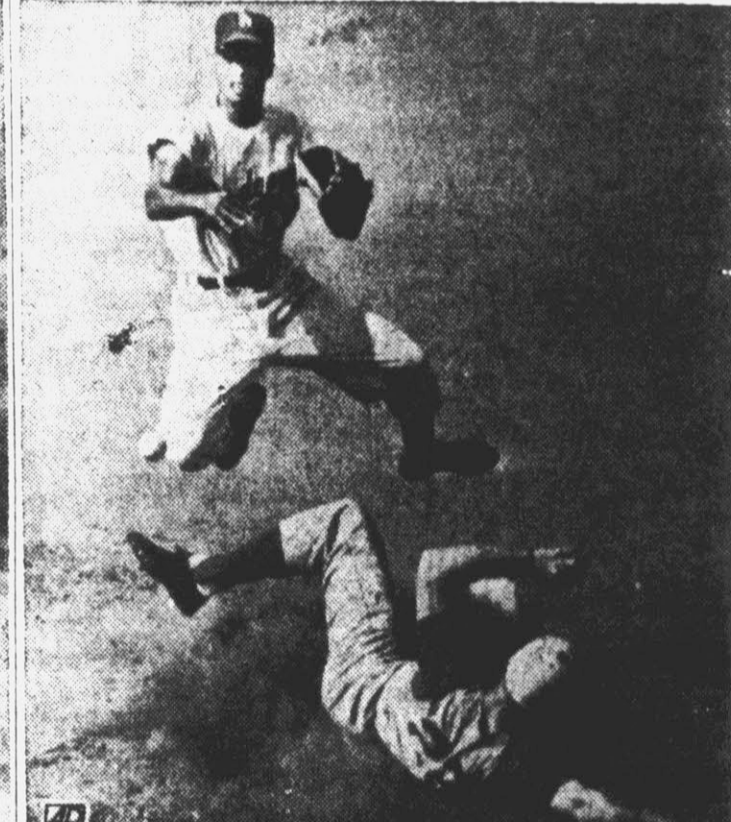

PITCHING — Warren Spahn, Braves, won No. 17 with a five-hitter, walking five, but striking out seven and leaving 10 on base in 6-1 victory over the Giants. HITTING — Clint Courtney, Senators, drove in a pair of runs with a homer and sacrifice fly, then singled and scored clinching run on a wild pitch in 5-4 victory over the Indians.

Carolina League Is Washed Out

It was a washout in the Carolina League last night. The weather canceled all four games in the loop. The clubs will return to action tonight, weather permitting, with the following schedule: Durham at Winston-Salem, Burlington at Raleigh, Wilson at Greensboro, and High Point-Thomasville at Danville.

Finance Expert Named New Chairman Of GM

By DAVID J. WILKIE AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—A finance expert and an authority on production and engineering have been named to direct the destinies of the world's biggest industrial corporation. General Motors directors yesterday elected Frederic G. Donner, 56, board chairman and chief executive officer, and John F. Gordon, 58, as president and chief operating officer. Their election, effective Sept. 1, followed the retirement of Board Chairman Albert Bradley and President Harlow H. Curtice, both of whom have passed GM's normal retirement age of 65. In effect, Curtice's job as president and chief executive officer is being divided between Donner and Gordon. Donner has been with General Motors since 1926; Gordon joined the corporation in 1923. Donner's work has been almost entirely in finance. Gordon's in engineering and production.

up more than a billion dollars in net profits for a single year. General Motors did not duplicate the billion-dollar profit in 1956 or 1957, but held its leadership in the industry with nearly 51 per cent of over-all sales in 1956 and 48.96 in 1957. In the first half of the current year it had increased its sales to almost 49 per cent.

Generally it came through the recession that hit the car industry about a year ago in better shape than its major competitors.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler, who has commissioned an army of Kentucky colonels during two terms as chief executive, is now one himself. An honorary colonelcy was presented to him by Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield. "I could never figure out a way to get one," smiled a surprised Chandler.

Christmas Party For 30 Airmen

NORTH KINGSTON, R. I. (AP)—Thirty airmen from Quonset Point Naval Air Station were guests last night at a Christmas party—with tree, gifts and egg-nog. The affair was given in a local restaurant by civilian friends of Air Development Squadron 6, which leaves Saturday for the Antarctic. The man who achieved the first airplane flight in Canada was John A.D. McCurdy in 1909.

French Map Stern Reprisal For Algerian Terrorists

PARIS (AP)—Security officials promised stern measures today against Algerian terrorists who attacked oil depots and other installations across France to back up demands for independence of their North African homeland. French soldiers were posted around a number of key points. A previously planned special brigade was inaugurated to coordinate the campaign against terrorism. Officials at the Ministry of Interior declined to reveal any other plans to meet possible repetitions of the bombings, burnings and shootings which occurred before dawn yesterday. Four police and at least five terrorists were killed. The attacks followed the pattern of rebel strikes in the almost four-year-old civil war across the Mediterranean in Algeria. Authorities blamed the wave of terrorism on the group that dominates rebel activity in Algeria, the National Liberation Front (FLN). It has a strong underground among the 400,000 Algerians who have left their impoverished countryside to work in France. Premier de Gaulle will visit Algeria later this week on his tour seeking votes for a new constitution that would keep Algeria as part of France. The attacks obviously were timed to draw attention to rebel opposition to the constitution. The FLN is urging Algerians to boycott the referendum. Six coastal oil depots were set afire by the terrorists and three small fires were started in the Paris area. Police broke up an attempt to put the torch to an ammunition factory near Paris. One of the fires, at the big Moureplane oil tank farm two miles north of Marseille, blazed all day, and last night the heat apparently caused a full tank to explode. Fire department officials said 17 firemen were injured.

Third Increase

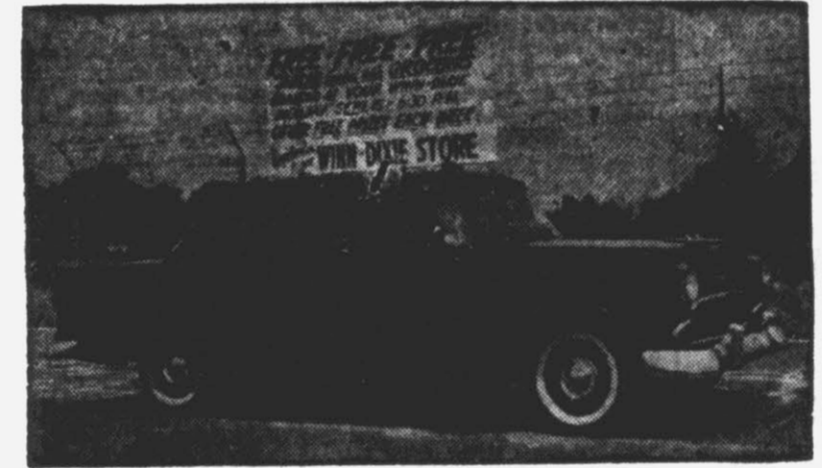

RALEIGH (AP)—For the third time this month, North Carolina has raised the interest rate banks must pay on deposits of state funds. Following the recommendation of State Treasurer Edwin Gill, Gov. Hodges and the Council of State yesterday increased from 2 to 2½ per cent the interest rate on state certificates of deposit. The new rate is effective tomorrow. Gill explained the increases have followed the rapidly rising interest rates on short-term federal securities. He said the rising interest rate has resulted from the hard money policy adopted by the Federal Reserve System. On Aug. 8 the council raised the interest on state deposits from 1-4 to 1-5-8 per cent. Another boost on Aug. 15 moved the rates up to 2 per cent.

Sued Again, For $2 Millions

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Confidential magazine has been sued again — this time for two million dollars by a self-styled professional gambler. Nicholas Andrea Dandolos, popularly known as Nick the Greek, brought the action alleging libel. He named former publisher Robert Harrison and numerous former associates of Harrison as defendants. Harrison sold the magazine since it published an article on Dandolos in the September 1956 issue. Dandolos contends the article was "untrue, libelous and defamatory." Colonel Harvey was perhaps thirty years old, but he seemed a tired old man. His face was haggard, his eyes sunken and dark with fatigue. Obviously he was a professional soldier, perhaps a West Point graduate, but he was also a harassed human being who had too much to do and too little with which to do it. He looked up, unsmiling, as Colin said, "Captain Campbell reporting with the Wetherly platoon."

"Ah, yes, Captain. We have been expecting you," Harvey indicated a chair. "Won't you sit down?"

Colin seated himself. Harvey asked, "Do you have any knowledge of the situation here?"

"No, sir."

Harvey sighed and spread a map on top of some scattered papers. He pointed with a piece of paper to a section of the map.

"General McClellan has landed some eight thousand troops here on the James and, according to our intelligence, more are on the way. Their ultimate objective, of course, is Richmond."

"I understand."

"McClellan is waiting for reinforcements before he tries to take Yorktown. He doesn't know, of course, that it has already been evacuated. We hope to draw him on into the swamp area here between the Chickahominy and the Pamunkey rivers and take a stand somewhere in this area." He pointed with his pencil. "General Powell is coming to reinforce us. Johnston has been severely wounded."

"I understand," Colin repeated. "What do you understand?"

Harvey asked sharply. "That we stop McClellan before Richmond."

"You do understand," Harvey permitted himself a fleeting smile. "How much any questions?"

"Do you have any questions?"

"How much fighting has there been?"

"A lot — and all to our advantage so far. There will be much more before the fate of Richmond is decided."

"Where do I report now?"

"Your platoon will be directly under Major Andrews. Report to him tomorrow. I'll send a scout to guide you."

"Are there any doctors in camp, sir?"

"Surely you have no wounded? I understand your platoon has been sitting tight all winter and spring."

"No wounded. Only sore feet."

Harvey shook his head sadly. "The doctors are all with the wounded near Richmond. The best I can offer is simple first aid."

Colin, who did not want Clem Faraday in the hands of an ignorant corpsman, said hastily, "We'll get along."

"Good luck, Captain."

"Thank you, sir."

At daybreak the next morning a weary-looking scout shuffled into camp to guide them to Major Andrews' position. Past the starting soldiers, they started south from Williamsburg. Colin shuddered. The stars were neither apathetic nor meaningless. Rather, it was as though men watching others depart for the battle lines were silently congratulating themselves because they did not have to go.

Three hours later they reached a farmhouse with a dozen wagons standing outside. There was a picket line of horses and of mules, and soldiers bustled about.

The scout said, "Here you are."

Colin met Andrews, a black-haired major, who fulfilled his army duties with grim persistence.

He nodded briefly. "Leave your wagon here and relieve Lieutenant Trevor on Dynamite Hill, Captain."

"Where's Dynamite Hill?"

Andrews pointed. "Right over there."

Colin stared wonderingly at a wooded knoll exactly like a dozen he had known at Hobbs Creek. Again he had to force his mind to grasp the realities of war. One rode horses on stiles of war. One ran round backs on them. One did not climb them for the purpose of killing other men.

Andrews asked impatiently, "Do you understand, Captain?"

"I understand," Colin turned to Jason Maxwell. "Sergeant, you and Clem Faraday stay here to guard the mules and wagon."

"Yes, Captain."

Colin and the rest of his men filed up Dynamite Hill. They met Lieutenant Trevor and his bored platoon and learned that none of the enemy had been sighted. They took up positions. They stole sheepish glances at each other and were embarrassed. It made no more sense to wait on Dynamite Hill than it did to drill at Wetherly barracks, and the first hour was a trefful one.

Then Ling Stewart said, "Look, Jedge."

At first Colin did not see what Ling meant, and then he did. There were men on the hill facing them who carried rifles and wore blue uniforms, and they were slowly but purposefully advancing. Colin's tongue went dry in his mouth and his eyes burned. Surely the Yankees did not intend to come in, to kill and be killed. They would turn back.

"Get down, Jedge!" Ling whispered.

Colin crouched behind a tree, after noting that all his men had taken cover. He heard rifle and musket fire break out in adjoining positions, but kept his entranced eyes on the attacking enemy. They reached the foot of the hill ahead of Dynamite Hill. Colin was aware of his men shooting and knew that he himself fired his 58 Worthing-

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of an unusually heavy docket in Municipal Recorder's Court Friday. Of the 38 cases tried, 25 involved violations of motor vehicle and traffic laws. Thirteen cases ranged from wife-beating to assault with a deadly weapon and vagrancy. Nine motorists were charged with failure to stop at a "stop sign."

Queenie Mae Taft, Negro, 119 N. Evans Street, disorderly conduct, 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on condition that the defendant not go on Colonial Avenue between Nash and Cadillac streets. The judgment also provides that she is not to visit Riverside Inn for two years, remain of good behavior, and pay $20, costs deducted.

The following defendants paid $10 each for not stopping at a stop sign: Donovan Phillips, Negro, 1306 W. Fourth Street; Nicholas J. Sideris, 202 Contentines Street; Joseph A. Latham, 1201 N. Overlook Drive; Roland A. Mayo, 305 Raleigh Avenue; Walter C. Bunch, 110 Paris Avenue; Robert B. Stewart, 2304 E. Fourth Street; Prince Smith, Negro, R-1, Winterville, and Albet R. Baker, 1901 E. Third Street. Coy L. Forbes was not guilty of failure to stop at a stop sign.

Edwin C. Stancill, 1303 Evans Street, paid court costs for failure to stop at a stop light.

Assault on a female: Allen Brock, Negro, Black Jack, 30 days, suspended on payment of $16 costs, and he is not to harm his wife, James Adams, Negro, 107 W. 14th Street, assault on a female, 30 days, suspended on payment of $16, and he is not to harm or molest his wife.

Speeding: Samuel H. Crocker, Jr., Stantonburg, (and passing at an intersection), paid court costs, Charles F. Breden, Cherry Point, 30 days, suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for 90 days. Ira S. Pledger, Engelhard, costs; Giles A. Emery Jr., Washington, costs; Elmer Mills, Ayden, costs; James A. Williams, 1210 Myrtle Avenue, costs.

Suggests Other Ways To Increase Farmer Income

"Farmers of Eastern Carolina must look to products other than tobacco in order to increase their farm income," according to A. Hartwell Campbell, manager of WNCAT Television Station.

"I do not advocate that farmers stop raising tobacco," Campbell said, "but I mean that they must look for other ways of increasing their income."

He pointed out the need of more swine production in this area, declaring that the meat packers in Eastern North Carolina can now handle about 5,000 hogs per day.

Campbell expressed the hope that through this swine program WNCAT would be able to show the farmers of this area how it is possible to increase his income.

A. A. Hines presided at last night's meeting in the absence of President John Biggs. He announced that the Lions will have a meeting next Monday, because of the Labor Day holiday.

Earth People Can Relax The Rocket Was A Hoax

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—You can come out now, earth people. That rocket from outer space came from a teen-ager's basement.

The thing turned up on Ruel H. Barrus' lawn last weekend — still smoking. It was a rocket-shaped aluminum cylinder 10 inches long and 3 across. Its crumpled nose was buried deep in the dirt, and its burned outer shell suggested the kind of heat a rocket might encounter on hitting the earth's atmosphere.

The find caused a stir in this east Idaho community, where flying saucer reports have turned up lately. The press played it big.

It was the publicity that flushed the worried engineers of the prank. Roy Bennell, 14, and Paul Napper, 15, decided to go to the cops before the cops came to them.

In a statement written out yesterday before police let them go, the boys explained: "This... was primarily a psychological experiment, to see what would happen if the reported flying saucers had actually fired a reconnaissance missile."

Paul and Roy, who dabble in amateur rocketry, chemistry and radio, said soberly they tried to make the device look as if it was propelled by an ion motor — "something which has not been developed on earth yet."

They burned the shell with acid and acetylene torch to give it that air-fired look. They put a spring and glass vial inside, crumpled the nose, spooned in some yellow phosphorus to make it smoke, then dug a hole and planted it.

"All in all, the experiment was a success," they said. "The Police Department analyzed the remains quite thoroughly and had the construction of the rocket partially right."

SOUNDED ALARM

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—"Help! Murder. Police!" twittered the parakeet. The R. L. Perkins family, roused at 2 a.m., heard strange noises outside a bedroom window. They called police who closed in stealthily to search for a prowler. They found one — a big, hungry cat licking his chops at the parakeet through the window.

IN MEMORIAM

Resolutions Of Respect For Mrs. Ora Crawford Allen

We, the members of The Official Board of Red Oak Christian Church, Greenville, N. C., hereby pay tribute to the sacred memory of Mrs. Ora Crawford Allen, who passed from this life on July 14, 1958.

Mrs. Allen was born November 3, 1892. She was the daughter of the late Will and Julia Allen Crawford. In 1912, she was married to Heber R. Allen and for 46 years, they shared life's interest together. She is survived by her husband; one son, Heber Robert Allen, Jr., of near the home; four daughters, Mrs. Robert Leroy James of Plymouth, Mrs. Raymond Smith of Jacksonville and Misses Nancy and Frances Allen of the home; and five grandchildren.

Her attitude toward her church revealed that in and through the church she found the "tie that binds our hearts in Christian love; the fellowship of kindred minds like to that above." Life was to her a sacred trust. Her motto could well have been:

O Master, let me walk with thee, in lowly paths of service free:
 Teach me Thy secrets, help me bear the strain of toil, the fret of care.
 Teach me the wayward feet to stay and guide them in the homeward way.

Mrs. Allen joined Red Oak Christian service at an early age and was a devoted and active member through the years. Her church and its success has always been her joys. Typical of the genuine interest of her and her husband was the gift of a beautiful lot near the church on which to build a parsonage three years ago. She was an active member of CWF Circle 3.

Therefore, be it resolved:

First: That we acknowledge that "All things work together for good to those who love God."

Second: That we, on behalf of the membership of Red Oak Christian Church, extend to the family our deepest sympathy in their loss.

Third: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, to the Daily Reflector, to The North Carolina Christian, and that a copy be placed in the permanent minutes of The Official Board of Red Oak Christian Church.

Respectfully submitted,
 (Mrs.) Rubelle Crawford Chairman, Membership and Evangelism Committee

Suggests Gov't School Program

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An official of the American Federation of Teachers today suggested that the federal government provide schools where states do not have integrated schools. Selma M. Borchardt, the AFT's Washington representative, made the suggestion in a speech prepared for the federation convention. "We as teachers are deeply concerned over this issue. First, we are alarmed over the widespread acceptance of organized civil disobedience—subversion of government—in fact. "We also are disturbed by the moral and social significance of a movement which would deny the protection of our country's laws to citizens because of race or color."

Unemployment Check Is Too Big

DETROIT (AP)—Obie Carter, 50, a laid off auto worker, has drawn his first unemployment compensation check—a big one. As father of three children he was due top benefits of $49 a week. But his check was for $9,998.99. "I knew there was some mistake," said Carter, "but you can't imagine how much I hoped it was real." The Employment Commission took the check back.

NEW YORK (AP) — Driven made some gains in an uneven stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active. Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point. The tendency was slightly higher but the market seemed to be having trouble getting off the ground. In early trading there was a slight edge to the upside. This became a very thin one as dealings continued.

Motor shares off as the labor situation in Detroit continued uncertain. Steels, rails, nonferrous metals, chemicals and oils were mixed.

Some small gains appeared among electronics and aircrafts. Merck rose more than a point as the drug went ahead. Pfizer was a 1 - point gainer. Schering added a sizable fraction.

Reylon resumed its rise of yesterday with a fractional gain. General Motors eased in the wake of news of its top executive changes. Chrysler and American Motors dropped fractions.

U. S. Steel, which reached a record high yesterday, was about unchanged. The steels paused following the good advance of yesterday. Republic Steel was off slightly. Jones & Laughlin and Bethlehem managed fractional gains. Radio Corp. and Douglas Aircraft added fractions. Boeing was firm, Curtiss - Wright about unchanged. Raytheon had a flurry and was up about a point.

Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Santa Fe were small gainers in the rail group which has done well lately on better carloading figures and some fairly good corporate reports. Royal Dutch dropped a fraction in a narrowly mixed oil section. American Smelting & Refining a little. Other changes in the non-ferrous metals group were small. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 10 cents to $184.70 with the industrials up 10 cents and both the rails and utilities unchanged.

Hospital Overcrowded Says Greenville Doctor

"The most evident reason for expansion of Pitt County Memorial Hospital is because of the overcrowding of its facilities," Dr. W. H. Pott told Greenville Rotarians last night.

Dr. Pott, Greenville physician, discussed for Rotarians the proposed expansion for the hospital and the coming bond referendum through which the county will finance its part of the cost of expansion.

During the first year of operation of the hospital in 1951, the speaker said, its average daily patient load was 64. The average patient load has now risen to 108, he said.

"Almost daily now we have to put patients in the halls at the hospital," Dr. Pott declared. He pointed out that overcrowding of the facilities invites infection.

Dr. Pott outlined the proposed expansion program which will include 70 to 75 additional hospital beds, enlargement of existing facilities to take care of the additional patients, and improvements in the facilities the hospital now has.

Social Security Bill To Be Signed Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources said today President Eisenhower is expected to sign the bill increasing Social Security benefits by about 7 per cent.

Eisenhower may, however, strongly criticize provisions increasing the federal grant contribution to public assistance programs run by the states.

Persons in position to know said both the President and Secretary of Welfare Felmingham have strong feelings against increasing the federal share in supporting such programs benefiting the aged, dependent children, the blind and totally disabled.

But these sources said it has been decided the merits of the legislation outweigh the demerits.

Though they did not mention it, this is an election year and practical politics is a likely factor. The principle demerit is described as the 198-million-dollar annual increase in the federal

Two Injured In Auto Collision

Two men suffered injuries early yesterday afternoon when the car in which they were riding was involved in a collision on North Greene Street.

Douglas Brown, 39, of Route 4, San Antonio, Texas, sustained a scalp injury, facial abrasions and a serious cut of his left hand. James William Riggs, 32, of Greenville Route 1 suffered a scalp laceration and a sprained right ankle. Following treatment Brown was admitted at Pitt Memorial Hospital and Riggs was released.

Both men were riding in Riggs' vehicle, a small foreign car. Riggs was driving at the time of the accident, police said.

According to investigating officers Riggs' car was struck by another automobile being operated by Harvey Henry Dixon, 57, of Washington Route 3. Dixon's vehicle also struck another car, driven by Booker T. Station 54-year-old Negro of 1025 West Fifth Street. No one else was hurt.

Dixon was quoted as saying an unidentified car ran him off the highway and that his automobile went into a skid. This statement was verified by drivers of the other two cars and several bystanders. No traffic violations were cited.

Police reported $500 damage each to Riggs' and Dixon's cars. Damage to Station's automobile was estimated at $150.

The mishap occurred around 1:15 p. m.

Robersonville Mart Has $57.26 Day

ROBERSONVILLE — Yesterday the Robersonville Tobacco Market sold 192,188 pounds of tobacco for $110,050.15 and an average of $57.26.

According to reports from Sales Supervisor Rufus Armstrong prices are up this morning. Armstrong said he expects today's average to rival the local market's opening day figures.

On opening day the market sold 355,326 pounds of tobacco for a $60.81 average. The average set an all-time record for an opening day sale here.

Friday 111,786 pounds were sold, averaging $56.05. The sales supervisor noted that lugs are selling "strong" today. Offerings are still light on tips.

Armstrong said he saw one major company purchase a pile of tips this morning for 76c a pound and several others for above 70c. Prices for leaf tobacco was also reported "better than average."

Armstrong stated rain is holding the market's sales volume down. "Even so we expect to have a block sale at least by Thursday," he declared.

Cases Heard In Superior Court

Judgments were returned in eight criminal cases called yesterday during the opening session of the second week of Pitt County Superior Court.

Judge Clifton L. Moore of Bur-gaw, presiding judge, returned the judgments. They included:

George Green, Negro, 1715 South Greene Street, Greenville, breaking and entering other than burglariously and without intent to commit a felony, four months.

Charlie Thomas, Negro, no address listed, possession of non-tax-paid whiskey, six months; James Arnold Water, 112-B North Holly Street, Greenville, speeding, costs.

Willie Hardy Jr., Negro, 1004 Travers Lane, Greenville, speeding and no operator's license, 60 days suspended for two years upon payment of $50 and costs, and on further condition that Hardy does not violate any traffic laws for which the punishment is 60 days or a greater period.

Marvin Cleveland Everett, Route 2, Ayden, driving under the influence, $100 and costs; James N. Galloway, 801 River Drive, Greenville, careless and reckless driving, $25 and costs; John Henry Jones, Negro, Route 1, Oriental, speeding, costs.

Louis Artist Smith, Negro, 300-B Boyd Avenue, Greenville, driving under the influence and failure to yield right-of-way, 90 days.

Says Democrats Blocked Control

CHICAGO (AP) — Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) told members of the Republican National Committee today that Democratic leaders in Congress blocked all labor legislation this year to please union bigwigs.

"Walter Reuther, David McDonald and other bigwigs in the labor hierarchy did not want restrictions imposed on their reckless activities," Simpson said, "so they simply passed the word down to those who serve them in the Senate and the House."

Simpson, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, echoed a keynote sounded earlier by GOP Chairman Meade A. Akin for this fall's campaigns.

Alcorn said before the two-day meeting of the party's 147-member National Committee that the failure of Congress to pass any measure to curb labor racketeering "is a dramatic demonstration of the need for a Republican Congress."

The National Committee laid plans for intensive campaign efforts on behalf of party candidates for Congress during September and October.

A site committee to select the 1960 national convention city will be chosen tomorrow. No steps toward selection of a convention city are expected to be taken immediately.

Tobacco Prices Remain Strong On Eastern Belt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Carolina tobacco growers continue to pick up better prices than they did last season for their flue-cured leaf.

The bulk of grades sold yesterday at both Carolinas Border Belt and the Eastern North Carolina Belt topped last Friday's average prices.

Grades ranged from $1 to $2 per 100 pounds on the Eastern Belt and mostly from $1 to $3 at border markets.

The Federal-State Market News Service reported that the best baskets of tobacco drew up to $72 per 100 at Eastern Markets yesterday.

Primings and leaf made up the markets' bulk. The belt kicked off its season last Thursday and reached 17,271,934 pounds for an average of $57.58.

The average represented an increase of $8 over the first two days of the 1957 season.

The News Service reported that Monday's sales on the Eastern Belt totaled 6,518,335 pounds for an average of $57.02 per 100 pounds. This brought season's sales to 23,790,469 pounds for a $57.43 average.

On the South Carolina-Border North Carolina Belt, yesterday's sales totaled 11,509,128 pounds for $60.62 average. Season's sales rose to 128,977,011 pounds at $60.42.

South Carolina markets sold 5,804,162 pounds yesterday at $60.17 and the North Carolina border markets sold 5,704,966 pounds at $61.08.

Quality improved yesterday at Carolinas Border Belt markets, with more fair leaf and a drop in nondescript. Sales were heavy at most of the 19 auction centers.

The belt's total sales last week were 51,793,207 pounds, averaging $59.94. This was a $1.59 decrease from the preceding week.

The Market News Service gave these auction bid averages yesterday on a number of grades on the Eastern Belt, compared with Friday:

Leaf — Fair lemon $64, up 1; fair orange 64, up 2; low orange 60, up 1.

Cutters — Low lemon 69, unchanged.

Lugs — Good lemon 71, up 2; fair lemon 66, unchanged; good orange 69, up 1; fair orange 66, up 1.

Primings — Good lemon 66, up 1; fair lemon 64, unchanged; low lemon 56, up 3; good orange 65, unchanged; fair orange 61, unchanged; low orange 45, down 1.

Nondescript — Best thin body 34, up 1.

Asserts World Must Turn To Rule Of Laws

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers says, "The hydrogen bomb is a sobering reminder to all that nations can no longer afford to settle international disputes by resort to force."

"The rule of law now provides the only hope for future peace and security in the world," he told the American Bar Assn.'s 81st annual convention last night.

Rogers said the free world's most potent weapon is its dedication to basic concepts of justice, morality and the rule of law.

He offered implied criticism of state chief justices who, in convention Saturday at nearby Pasadena, adopted a resolution censuring the U. S. Supreme Court.

The chief justices by a 36-8 vote accused the high court of usurping states' rights and of failure to exercise "the power of judicial self-restraint."

While he made no direct mention of the censure resolution, Rogers said: "Sweeping generalizations and across-the-board public condemnation of the decisions of the courts—whether state or federal—are not in the best interests of the nation."

"They give rise to as many harmful antagonisms as improvements, and in the long run cause an impairment of judicial processes."

Rogers said, however, that the judicial branch of the government should not be immune to intelligent and constructive scrutiny.

In an earlier address, ABA President Charles S. Rhyne recommended establishment of world courts to help achieve world peace.

He said the world must adopt a new approach toward peace and ending the arms race "before mutual doom replaces the truce of mutual terror."

Arrest Man On Bootleg Charges

Carlton Mills, 24, of Greenville Route 2 was arrested on a Federal warrant by ATU agents and Pitt County ABC officers yesterday afternoon.

The Chicod Township farmer is being charged with removing and concealing 60 gallons of non-tax-paid whiskey.

A preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Mrs. Sallie Edwards was waived yesterday afternoon. Mills was released under a $300 bond to appear during the October term of Federal Court in Washington.

Fishy Situation For Bronxville

NEW YORK (AP) — A fishy situation in a Bronx neighborhood has caused its residents to wonder, with bated breath, what next?

First it was a 300-pound, nine-foot shark. Silt down the belly, jaw and teeth removed, it was found lying on the pavement at 150th Street and Park Avenue yesterday.

The Sanitation Department hauled the shark away — destination a disposal area.

The air had begun to clear when, noses a-twitter, the Bronx-amiss.

Suspended by a rope, 30 feet above the sidewalk, an eight-foot porpoise was found last night hanging from a nearby lamppost.

Once again, the Sanitation Department went to the rescue.

The lot which was leased by the city has recently been sold to Guaranty Bank and Trust Co. The bank plans to construct a home office building on the property in the near future.

Contracts for the three-story office building have already been let by the bank.

A bounty of $3 is paid for a fox killed in New Jersey.
