Greenville Man Killed, Four People Are Hurt In Collision Here Saturday

Two Battalions Of Marines To Leave Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Two more U. S. Marine battalions are leaving Lebanon and are going home. The U. S. Navy announced most of the 2,012 men of the 1st and 2nd battalions of the 8th Marine Regiment would go on shipboard today. Working parties began loading equipment yesterday. Their departure will leave one Marine battalion of about 1,600 men and 8,000 Army men in Lebanon as the rearguard of a force that began landing here July 15. One Marine battalion, withdrawn in August on the eve of an emergency U. N. General Assembly session on the Middle East, remained with the U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean. But a Navy spokesman said the 1st and 2nd battalions will be sent back to the United States. They are being pulled out on the eve of the regular U. N. General Assembly session in New York. Nearly 15,000 Marines and soldiers were ordered here at the request of President Camille Chamoun, who charged that the United Arab Republic was endangering Lebanon's independence. The emergency U. N. session instructed Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to make practical arrangements to facilitate withdrawal of the troops. He has announced no agreement by Arab countries on stationing a U. N. police force, observer force or representatives in the Middle East to watch out for infiltration and subversion. But it is generally expected that Lebanon's President-elect Fuad Chehab will ask the American troops to leave soon after he takes office Sept. 24. Conditions have been gradually returning to normal since Chehab's election. Rebel leaders announced that starting today stores in the business section of Beirut could stay open until 1 p. m. without danger of being bombed for violating a rebel strike order. The rebels called the strike May 10, but eased up a week ago by allowing stores to open up until 11 a. m. The Navy announced Marchists Mate J. C. Joseph A. Domotta of Philadelphia was slightly wounded Saturday night by a bullet while he was watching a movie aboard a destroyer 1,000 yards off Beirut. Cmdr. Robert Pond of San Francisco said he believed a sniper fired the shot. It was the third such casualty among American forces here.

A local businessman was killed and four others were hurt as a result of a truck-automobile collision near here Saturday night. William Ray "Bill" Pollard, 54, of Greenville Route 6, the driver of the pickup truck involved, was pronounced dead on arrival at Pitt Memorial Hospital. Pollard, who operated a super market on North Greene Street, reportedly suffered a crushed skull, a broken arm and numerous lacerations and abrasions about his body. Mrs. Thelma Pollard, the dead man's wife, was also riding in the truck at the time. Mrs. Pollard sustained extensive lacerations and abrasions about her head, arms and legs and a possible arm and leg injury. This morning her condition was described as "satisfactory." William Thomas Brown, 46, of Robersonville has been identified as the driver of the late model automobile that crashed into the right side and front of Pollard's truck. As yet no charges have been brought against Brown by Highway Patrolman W. K. Chapman of Bethel who reports he has not completed his investigation. Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse states an inquest will be held but no date was given pending the outcome of the accident victims and Chapman's investigation. Brown suffered minor lacerations of the head, chest and arms and was admitted to the hospital following treatment for observation. He was released this morning. The driver's brother, Herbert Clinton Brown, 45, of Farmville, was critically injured. He sustained extensive lacerations of the face and head and a severe chest injury. His condition has been described as "critical but improved." Another occupant of the car, Louise Dallas Atkinson, 38-year-old Mount Olive woman, had lacerations of her face and legs. She, too, was admitted for treatment and observation. The fatal mishap took place at the intersection of N. C. 11 and the Belvoir Highway, approximately a quarter of a mile from the Greenville city limits. Chapman said it occurred at 10:20 p. m. Chapman quoted Brown as saying he was not familiar with the highway and did not see the stop sign. He reportedly said he was traveling between 50 and 55 m.p.h. when the accident occurred. A witness, who was not identified, told officers he was riding behind Pollard's truck and that he was traveling around 40 m.p.h. Brown admitted running through the stop sign. Patrolman Chapman said. Force of the impact, turned the truck over and both the driver and his wife were pinned under the vehicle. Bystanders turned the truck back on its wheels and freed the victims minutes after the collision. It is not known whether Pollard died instantly or enroute to Pitt Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Pollard was unconscious. Damage to each vehicle was estimated at $1,000. Chapman noted that the front axle and wheels were knocked completely from under the truck and the whole front end was smashed. The truck was traveling north on N. C. 11 and the car east, coming off the Belvoir Highway. The death was the 10th on Pitt County's highways this year.

Ford Expresses Belief No Strike May Result

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., said today "events of the past few days encourage us to believe we can reach an agreement that will be economically sound and fair" with the walkout-threatening United Auto Workers Union. Ford did not speculate whether settlement would come before Wednesday's 10 a. m. strike deadline. He expressed himself as his company prepared to present later today a new contract offer it hoped would avert a UAW walkout that could idle an estimated 140,000 Ford employees. Ford's statement was contained in a letter to Gov. G. Mennen Williams, asking the state not to intervene in contract negotiations. Similar letters went from John F. Gordon, General Motors Corp. president, and L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler Corp. Williams has named a four-member state panel to sit in negotiations as observers. Gordon said "We are opposed to mediation as a matter of principle" but "will cooperate with your representatives in keeping them informed." John S. Bugas, a Ford vice president, told newsmen after an unusual Sunday negotiating session with the UAW that Ford was ready to get down to brass tacks. Ford's contract situation, which was made against the backdrop of the UAW's strike threat, was a duplicate of 1955 bargaining in which Ford came up with a three-year contract offer a few hours after the scheduled start of a UAW strike. In 1955—the last year of bargaining between the UAW and the automotive big three—Ford, Chrysler and General Motors—it was Ford that broke the contract deadlock by offering the UAW additional pay for unemployed workers, in addition to that already provided them by the states. The Ford settlement cost an estimated 20 cents an hour for each of Ford's 140,000 workers, with five cents of that amount going into the supplemental pay fund known as SUB. GM and Chrysler later made similar concessions to the UAW. HAD TO MOVE FAST CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Nineteen-year-old John McDermott Jr. ran into the back of a car going the same way he was running. That's what the boy's father told city police while John was being treated at a hospital for a bump on his head. It seems young John stirred up a wasp nest and had to move fast.

'Fireworks' Are Set At Meeting Of Steelworkers

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The United Steelworkers opens its ninth constitutional convention today with a record 3,500 delegates on hand and a promise by its president that there will be fireworks. A group of union members opposed to present leadership mapped strategy to get a number of motions before the convention. The opponents, known as the Dues Protest Committee, are headed by Donald C. Rarick, a McKeesport, Pa., steelworker and a delegate to the convention. The international officers withdrew referring to the Dues Protest Committee by name said in its report to the convention that the 1,200,000-member union faces threats to its future from within and from outside. In several published reports President David J. McDonald has been reported at odds with some of his executive board and under criticism from some members. Both he and the board denied the reports. Delegates were told they would be assigned seats on the convention floor. Until this convention delegates picked their own seats. Rarick said the change was an intentional move by international officers to split up the Dues Protest Committee. He said under the ruling his supporters will be scattered. Rarick said his committee will press to have a motion adopted calling for election of staff members in the USW's 29 districts. They now are appointed by McDonald. Rarick said the protest committee also wants the constitution changed so any candidate for elective office in the USW can have an observer at the ballot boxes. Rarick ran against McDonald last year when McDonald won his second four-year term as head of the big union. McDonald received 404,127 votes to 223,516 for Rarick, but Rarick has never conceded defeat. The international officers in a 187-page report to the convention called for unity within the ranks and said: "The war on unions has mounted in intensity, changing from insidious indirect aggression to a bold frontal attack. The object is to weaken our union into submissive acceptance and substandard contracts."

Term Of Civil Court Is Opered

A two-weeks civil term of Pitt County Superior Court was opened here this morning under Judge Clinton L. Moore of Burgaw. Twenty-two cases were calendared for hearings in three days of court this week. Seven of them are divorce actions which were scheduled for trial this morning.

Nationalists Air Drop New Supplies To Little Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist cargo planes flew the supply run to Little Quemoy again today. The Defense Ministry said the airdrop was successful. The announcement gave no other details. Presumably the flight, like the successful one Sunday, was escorted by U. S. and Nationalist fighter squadrons. Little Quemoy, 120 miles west of Quemoy, is within easy range of Red jet fighters and probably the anti-aircraft guns bristling on Red China's mainland coast. Whether the U. S. planes were flying in past the three-mile sea limit was not disclosed. U. S. 7th Fleet ships guarding Nationalist sea convoys have remained outside it. As the Nationalist planes flew the new run, a convoy of Nationalist vessels was assembling at the Pescadore Islands. Another ship into the Red artillery curtain around the Nationalist offshore islands. The Pescadores are about midway between Formosa and Quemoy. The supply problem for the outposts, however, was still obviously a big headache, despite the successes of the past two days. U. S. Rear Adm. Paul P. Blackburn, Formosa Strait patrol commander, told newsmen the supply situation "could be better—a helluva lot better." "I don't guarantee anything except that we are going to try the best we can," he added. Red shell fire in the past few days has dropped off. After remaining quiet all night, Communist shore batteries opened up this morning and in the next six hours dropped 103 shells on the Quemoy complex. Newsmen were barred from visiting the Pescadores, Matsu and supply-short Quemoy. This hint that some sort of major operation might be under way came as a new sea convoy was forming at the Pescadores island supply base 30 miles from Formosa and 70 miles from Quemoy. The Nationalists also stepped up their propaganda war, dropping millions of leaflets on the mainland. Yesterday's successful convoy was directed by U. S. amphibious experts, who apparently showed the Nationalists some new techniques. As usual, escort ships from the U. S. 7th Fleet stopped at the three-mile limit and lay offshore. The American jets covering the operation were believed under similar orders. The supply ship that got through was an old World War II LST (landing ship, tank), a much larger vessel than the LSM's (landing ship, medium), which failed on four convoys last week. The LST can carry about 1,300 tons of cargo compared with 350 for the LSM. The LST slammed up to the beach and opened the huge doors in its bows shortly after noon. As the Communists started a 1,600-shell barrage, the Nationalists said, wheeled vehicles raced ashore with the supplies and the LST withdrew. The shelling blasted holes in the side of the old landing ship and fragments severed the cables of her doors. The LST was towed out to sea and to her base in the Pescadores. The air drop on Little Quemoy Island, was termed successful but the Nationalists gave no details. The United States, meanwhile, was pouring men, missiles and planes into Formosa, which the United States is committed to defend under a 1950 treaty with Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek. The materiel also could be thrown into the defense of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu if President Eisenhower decides they are essential to the defense of Formosa itself. An indication of the long-range aspect of the buildup came with the disclosure by military sources that a large engineering firm already has sent representatives to Taipei with a crash program to build launching sites for U. S. ground-to-air Nike missiles. Barrack areas also are being laid out, presumably to house a reported total of 5,000 American troops believed due here. Most would be specialists such as missile men.

Americans And Chinese Reds Meet Today In Warsaw To Discuss Crisis

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—U. S. and Chinese Communist representatives sat down in a Polish palace today to begin talks on the Far Eastern crisis. U. S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan braved a barrage of reporters and photographers as they arrived at Myslowiecki Palace, 18th-century hunting lodge of the kings of Poland. The negotiators said they would discuss the crisis in the Far East, as the world had assumed they could, but top sources were silent on details of any proposals to be put forward. It is assumed in diplomatic circles here that if the talks show any sign of progress they will move to a higher level for the definitive stages. The conference here was announced as a resumption of U. S.-Red China discussions held in Geneva for 2 1/2 years, but broken off last Dec. 12. The primary emphasis, however, was believed to lie on the Nationalist-held offshore islands in Formosa Strait and U. S. demands for a renunciation of force by Red China. Appeals for resuming the Geneva talks were made by both the United States and the Peiping government shortly after the Communists began bombarding Quemoy right off the mainland on Aug. 23.

U. S. sources here maintain the parleys are only a resumption of the Geneva talks. President Eisenhower has been pressing for negotiations aimed primarily at working out a cease-fire. Secretary of State Dulles said in Washington last night that the Communists agreed to resume the talks in the interests of peace and "I hope peace will come out of them." But the talks could run into trouble if the Communists insist on broadening them to include possible U. S. recognition of Red China and membership in the United Nations, two sources of friction that may lie behind the Formosa Strait crisis. When Wang returned from Peiping last Friday with instructions on the talks, he repeated Chinese Communist chief Mao Tze-tung's statement: "If both sides show good will the talks may achieve satisfactory results." The Warsaw diplomatic corps saw the talks as the start of an effort to stabilize the Far Eastern situation by giving both sides a chance to save face. If the two ambassadors make any progress, the speculation was that the talks might move on to higher levels. The Geneva conversations were aimed at the release of 40 U. S. prisoners in Red China. Four are still being held. A proposal for renouncing force in the Formosa area also was taken up. The ambassadors met 73 times but reached no agreement on that.

Watch And Wait In Little Rock For Counter-Moves

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A few spectators gathered near Central High School in Little Rock today shortly before the hour when the school normally would have opened. Police radio cars began circling the grounds. Automobiles carrying both whites and Negroes cruised slowly in front of the school. There were no disturbances. The school, scene of rioting that brought paratroops to Little Rock last year, remained closed on orders of Gov. Orval E. Faubus. A group of white girls, in gymnasium uniforms, went into the school. They told reporters they were not going to attend classes. They are drum majorettes, they said, practicing for appearances at the football games. Special armed guards, employed by the School Board, were on duty at the school. U. S. marshals, also in cars, appeared from time to time but stayed in cars. State troopers, also armed, came on duty at Faubus' official residence. A reporter who passed through the gate and approached the mansion was ordered to leave. The areas around the city's other three senior high schools were quiet. Rain spattered the streets at intervals. Mrs. L. C. Bates, regional director of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People had said previously she did not intend to bring seven Negro pupils to Central High in the formality of trying to enroll. Reports persisted today that the Department of Justice is preparing some legal action against Faubus. But the agency's spokesmen refused to reveal how the department plans to employ the small army of U. S. marshals it has gathered here. Nor would they disclose tactics of the beefed-up federal attorney staff. Last Friday the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that Central High could not delay integration as requested by the school board. Within hours, Faubus ordered Central and three other city high schools closed even before they had opened for the fall term. They include Horace Mann, an all-Negro institution. He said he acted because Central faced forcible integration and he feared violence and disorder would follow. White demonstrators rioted last fall in attempting to remove nine Negro students from previously all-white Central. Federal troops drove the demonstrators away and enforced integration orders. The shutdown of schools here marked the first time authorities had invoked school closing laws to prevent mixing of white and Negro pupils in classrooms. Federal Dist. Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith, Ark., delayed pressing court business to fly here. He said he would be at the courthouse today even though "I have no reason at present to anticipate any legal action in this matter coming before me." The Justice Department held 150 deputy U. S. marshals in readiness and procured signs warning persons not to interfere with the officers. City police authorities canceled all department vacations and days off and drilled their forces in use of gas guns, gas grenades and submachine guns. If the governor expected any immediate startling developments involving him it was not apparent. The mansion was guarded by a routine number of state troopers.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C. Temperatures will average two degrees below normal and rainfall around an inch through Saturday. Scattered showers to be expected about every day with warm weather most of the week.

Algerian Assassins Try Slay French Information Minister

PARIS (AP)—Algerian assassins tried to kill French information Minister Jacques Soustelle in the heart of Paris today, but missed him. Soustelle, a former governor general of Algeria, was cut above the eyes and under his chin by glass shattered in bursts of gunfire through his coat as he walked to the floor. In the blistering gunfight that followed, one Algerian was killed and another wounded. Stray bullets killed a French subway worker and wounded three more. The shooting occurred near the Arc de Triomphe as American tourists and French passers-by raced for cover. Next to Premier de Gaulle himself, Soustelle is the biggest government figure the Algerian nationalists could attack in France to underscore their determination to win independence for that vast North African territory. Soustelle sits at De Gaulle's right hand in the French Cabinet and is his chief propagandist. Soustelle, at a news conference after the shooting, blamed the attack on the Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN). Police at first said the attackers were members of the Nationalist Algerian Movement (MNA), which rivals the FLN for leadership in the Algerian rebellion. The attack came as Soustelle, with his usual police escort, pulled to a stop near his office. Sudden bursts of gunfire shattered the rear window of the car and peppered its sides. Two American tourists, Jack McLeod and Elmer Johnson of Duluth, Minn., were in a nearby hotel and came running when they heard the shooting. A French detective with a pointed gun stopped them from taking pictures. Soustelle told reporters that after the terrorists had stopped firing at his car he got out to head into a building. Then another Algerian, standing nearby, pulled a weapon from under his raincoat and opened fire again. "I threw myself to the ground," Soustelle said. Police and bodyguards seized this Algerian as he attempted to flee into a nearby subway station. Soustelle long has been a De Gaulle supporter and an exponent of a hard French policy for Algeria. It was Soustelle that dihard Frenchmen cheered loudest when De Gaulle made his first trip to Algeria to rein the loyalty of the right-wingers who staged the May 13 revolt against the Paris government. Soustelle had fled to Algeria after being put under house arrest by the then government of Premier Pierre Fulmbs.

Greenville Leaf Mart Well Ahead Of Last Season

For the first 16 selling of the season through last Friday the Greenville tobacco market is well ahead of the last year's figures. Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee reports. This year the local market has sold 21,040,832 pounds of tobacco for $11,138,432.67 and an average of $52.93. For the corresponding period in 1957, 16,081,266 pounds of tobacco was sold for $8,068,343.86, averaging $50.17. Early reports from the market this morning indicate a general rise in prices being paid for quality leaf and cutters.

YOUNG CRAFTS ARTIST
One of the producers for the Northwest Trading Post on the Blue Ridge Parkway, a cooperative venture of the Northwest Development Association, the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, and the Blue Ridge Parkway officials, is a young 13-year-old 4-H Club member from Ashe County. She is Shirley Graybeal, Warrensville, who produces top quality articles of copper tooling. According to Ashe County Home Agent Jane B. Davidson, Shirley earned $21 during July, and her sales in August were considerably larger. She reported to Mrs. Davidson recently that she cleared $40 in the sale of her copper tooling work since she learned the craft at a home demonstration club last winter.

Both Shirley and her family were unaware of her talent for handicrafts until she tried copper tooling, and according to Mrs. Davidson, "her work is absolute perfection!" All are thrilled with Shirley's newly discovered talent, and she's so swamped with special orders that she's going to be a very busy teenager this fall. HOME IMPROVEMENT
At the request of 4-Hers Jackie Lamm, West Edgemore, Cleo Jones, Edgemore assistant home demonstration agent, spent one day recently with her and her mother to begin furniture refinishing activity—as a part of Jackie's 5-H Home Improvement project.

Jackie has been the county home improvement winner for the past two years, says Miss Jones. So this year, she decided to continue her work on the project, by refinishing a round dining room table and buffet. During the day, the paint was removed from the table and the sanding was begun. Both pieces are not complete, and Jackie and her family are pleased with the results.

Prompt Repair Action After Derailing

MAINTENANCE CREW PUTTING DIESEL BACK INTO SERVICE... After Derailment Early Saturday Morning.

A 130-ton Norfolk Southern Diesel engine which was derailed Saturday morning in Greenville's warehouse district between Ninth and Tenth streets was returned to service Saturday afternoon.

The 52-foot engine was forced off a spur track early Saturday morning by a broken rail. Neither of the three tobacco-laden freight cars the engine was switching was forced off rails by incident.

A railroad maintenance crew, directed by a master mechanic from the railroad's Raleigh shops, used hydraulic jacks to lift the engine high enough to permit new rails to be run beneath it. The engine was run back onto the spur line after the new rails were placed.

According to flagman G. W. Phelps of Roper, the engine was moving at about five miles per hour when it hit the broken rail. The 15 Class diesel then ran the length of its body onto a dirt area before it was stopped. In addition to Phelps, other members of the train crew were Washington Y. B. Winstead of Washington and H. R. Jinkston of Raleigh.

Close-Up Look At Three In A Hollywood Triangle

By BOB THOMAS AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—And they said Hollywood was losing its glamor!

Certainly the events of the year thus far have belied that notion. Now, you have the Debbie-Eddie-Liz triangle.

1. Eddie is a show biz veteran who was singing at New York's Copacabana when he should have been in high school. He came up the hard way, singing in joints as well as the classy nighties. That's an education that can swiftly make a man out of a boy.

Eddie is an affable, amiable fellow. But he has been under stress. His career took a big slide, and he was naturally upset. After he returned from the service, Eddie was tops. Teen-age girls screamed for him, and every record he made sold a million copies. But as it must for all idols, the following passed on to other favorites.

2. The public's impression of Elizabeth Taylor has sometimes been that of a girl whose life was ruled by other people. The fact is that she nearly always has gotten what she wanted.

Her parents refused her nothing, including an early marriage to Nicky Hilton. Nor did the tough-minded Mike Todd rule her. It was his delight to satisfy her every whim, whether it was canceling a social engagement or buying a diamond necklace.

A girl with her attributes could obviously get whatever she wanted, including possibly Eddie Fisher.

3. Debbie Reynolds has been famed for her portrayals of sweet young things. Actually, she is one of the shrewdest of the young stars. She is willing to fight it out with studio heads or anyone else to get what she feels is the proper treatment.

In a battle of words, she is bound to come out on top. This has been shown already in her exchanges with Liz.

Will Debbie take Eddie back? Will he choose Liz instead? Will this torpedo his career? You'll have to wait for further details in this scintillating soap opera.

Starting Commentary On News For TV Station

Dr. Earle LeBaron, History and Political Science teacher at East Carolina College, will begin a program called "History Behind the News" over television station WNGT Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The program will use the leading news event of the week for an historical study of persons and events connected with the subject in times past. Dr. LeBaron's first program subject will be "The U. S. Supreme Court."

Dr. LeBaron has offered "History Behind the News" over many stations around the country in past years. He is a native of Florida, and the grandson of Col. Charles LeBaron of the Confederate Army. His grandfather was a close friend of Jefferson Davis, President of the Southern Confederacy, who was often a guest in the LeBaron home. Dr. LeBaron treasures a letter from Jefferson Davis to his grandfather, asking the latter for his personal memoirs of the battle of Shiloh, in which Col. LeBaron lost an arm. President Jefferson Davis incorporated this

DR. EARLE LEBARON account into his own memoirs of the War Between the States.

Dr. Earle LeBaron is himself a veteran of two World Wars, being a major in the Army Air Force in the last World War. He studied in Europe at the University of Rome, and witnessed the rise to power of Mussolini and the Fascists in Italy. While studying in Europe he met many European leaders of that time, including Mussolini, Marshal Pilsudski, then dictator of Poland, President Benes of Czechoslovakia, and Leon Blum, premier of France. This was made possible through the offices of Count Carlo Sforza, Italian premier before Fascism, and Italian foreign minister in the post-war government of Italy. Dr. LeBaron was one of Count Sforza's students when the Count was a political science lecturer at the University of Rome. Dr. LeBaron came to East Carolina College from Georgia Tech and Tulane University where he also taught History, Political Science, and Philosophy.

F. N. Wade To Be Speaker At Legion Meeting

Regional Director Frank N. Wade of the Boy's Club of America will be speaker at tomorrow night's meeting of Greenville Post 39 of the American Legion.

Wade, a resident of Atlanta, Ga., will discuss methods of starting a Boy's Club on the local level, eliminating discussions begun some time ago by members of the Legion Post. Wade's talk is also expected to include methods of long-range planning for promotion of a Boy's Club.

A spokesman for the Legion said this morning the Post was not sponsoring a Boy's Club for Greenville, but hoped to get further information about the idea of one.

Tomorrow's Legion meeting will begin at 7 p. m. at the Rotary Building.

GOP May Have Lost A Nominee

OURAY, Colo. (AP)—The Republican party may be losing its second nominee for Congress from Colorado.

A day after last week's primary election, Carl S. Becker of Denver withdrew as nominee in the 1st Dist., in which Rep. Byron Rogers (D-Colo) seeks re-election.

Con O'Farrell, Ouray hotel operator, said last night he will have an announcement soon. There were reports he had quit as the GOP nominee in the 4th Dist.

O'Farrell's opponent is Rep. Wayne Aspinall (D-Colo).

REAL ENOUGH HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—The forthcoming re-enactment of the battle of Antietam already is real enough for Mrs. T. J. Sharp. DeGaulle Meets With Adenauer

COLOMBEY LES DEU XEG-LISES, France. (AP)—"Frenchmen and Germans should live happily together and work side by side," French Premier de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Adenauer declared after a six-hour talk in this village yesterday. Their joint communique said armed conflict between the two nations, who have fought each other in three great wars since 1870, "should be finished forever."

The 52-year-old Chancellor came here to De Gaulle's home for their first meeting. They had no formal agenda, but their talks were reported to have ranged over such problems of French-German relations as disarmament, German reunification, and the future of such European organizations as the Coal-Steel Pool and the Common Market.

The Middle East and Far East also were discussed, but their views on these questions were not disclosed.

Later they were joined by their foreign ministers, Maurice Couve de Murville of France and Heinrich von Brentano of West Germany. Von Brentano said the meeting made it obvious that "the intentions of France and Germany are the same and their ideas as to the present and future are parallel."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marilyn Monroe is in the hospital and her husband says too much work is the reason.

The blonde actress finished a torrid love scene with Tony Curtis yesterday at the Coronado, Calif., location of "Some Like It Hot."

Director Billy Wilder said Miss Monroe complained of feeling ill Saturday but went on with her scenes.

MEMORANDUM

STATE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

TO: Farmers with machinery
FROM: Eric Whichard
SUBJECT: Money you are losing

Tax experts say that farmers in Pitt and other counties are losing thousands of dollars by their failure to apply for gasoline tax refund funds due them for fuel they used in tractors, combines and other engines used for non-highway purposes. And to get a lot of this money due them Pitt County farmers must move fast.

The Federal Government refunds 3 cents a gallon for farm gas but only to those who make application before September 30. The farmer can get the blanks on which to make this application from the County Agent, the Farm Bureau or the Internal Revenue Service. (The blank is called an IRS Form 240.)

The state refunds 6 cents a gallon for farm gas. But the State doesn't accept its applications for refund until after January 1 and before April 15.

It's your money and you should ask for it—but to get your Federal refund you must move fast.

Now They Know Where We Stand

President Eisenhower has taken a major step toward preserving the free world and world peace with his forthright declaration of "no appeasement" toward Red China and Russia by the United States.

If that policy is followed clearly and concisely in U. S. relations and negotiations with Red China and the Soviet Union it should lead to better understanding and eventually lessening of tension between the military powers of East and West.

If, on the other hand, the policy is followed only half-heartedly, or ambiguously, by Secretary of State Dulles and the State Department, the United States and the world will quickly find itself in hot water.

The United States must stand firm on the policy announced by President Eisenhower.

Prior to World War II there were "no appeasement" announcements by various of the Allied nations. But appeasement continued. After Munich, Hitler's appetite was only whetted by what he already had gained. Appeasement led to war.

Likewise the United States' rather vague foreign policy toward the Far East in the late '40s was a factor in the Reds yielding to the temptation to take Korea by force, thus leading to the Korean War.

Since that time the United States has alternately

Foundation Plan Revival Rumors

By LYNN NISBET

SCHOOL FINANCING—Rumors have been floating around for some weeks that the legislative commission studying public school financing will recommend essentially the same "Foundation Plan" proposed by the School Study Commission ten years ago—and refused by the 1949 Legislature. These rumors have gained currency since the meeting this week of the finance study commission with members of the State Board of Education. Some details have been added. The talk now is that the proposal will be for the State Board to reserve some money out of its general appropriation (figure most often heard is $10 million) for matching local money to effectuate an "incentive plan."

The general idea, according to the rumor factory, is that the State will continue the same degree of support for a minimum standard program as now, and will match local funds for administrative units which want to enlarge, enrich or expand public school services. That is an adaptation of the old equalization policy, the 1949 foundation plan and the ideas of Governor Hodges as generally understood from his public statements.

HISTORY—The history of public school financing in North Carolina cannot be reviewed in one column, or even in one book. Here is a very sketchy listing of highlights, not documented as to dates and taking no account of the money involved.

Although the constitution of 1868 required the General Assembly to "provide by taxation or otherwise for a general and uniform system of public schools," the State did almost nothing about it until after 1900, very little until around 1916 and not a great deal until 1933.

The much heralded educational renaissance at the turn of the century, sparked by Governor Aycock, was significant in recognition of State responsibility, but unimportant with respect to State financial aid. Prior to World War I practically all the costs of the public schools rested on the communities. From the middle-teens until the Great Depression of the early thirties the State progressively recognized—and accepted—constitutional responsibility to maintain a "uniform system." Ad valorem taxes were collected for the State in every county, and the proceeds of the total levy distributed on basis of need. That was called the equalization program.

The 1933 Legislature relieved all property of taxes for operation of the schools, substituted the general sales tax for the former equalization levy. It went so far as to prohibit any county from levying local taxes for school operation, in order to assure uniformity. It must be remembered, however, that responsibility for providing and maintaining school houses remained on the local units. Restrictions on local levies for enrichment of opportunities were eased in a few years, and some counties paid more for better schools.

The 1949 General Assembly appropriated from surplus funds in the State treasury the sum of $25 million to aid counties in building school houses, and submitted a bond issue of $25 million for the same purpose. The 1953 Legislature submitted a bond issue for $50 million for that purpose. The people of the whole state overwhelmingly voted for the bonds. Meantime counties were voting bonds in amounts of multiplied millions for school houses, and also voting tax levies for enriched programs in the schools. Result is a complex hodge-podge of joint State-local support of the public schools. The simple formula that the counties provide physical facilities, the State furnishes operating funds, has been shot to pieces.

The State has committed $100 million to school buildings and local units have contributed millions to operational costs. Analysis of the Wake county tax bill shows that $1.01 of the total levy of $1.56 goes for some phase of school support. It has been widely publicized that something more than 60 per cent. of all State general funds taxes go for public schools.

Governor Hodges has said, as your reporter understands his position, that the State has gone about as far as it can in public school support, that it cannot recede from present levels, but that any additional services must be paid for locally. The foundation plan of 1949 would have required every county to bear a specified part of the burden, regardless of the desire of the local people, or their ability to pay it. (And ability to pay is the uncertain problem all through the school program.)

The rumored "matching funds for incentive plan" of the study commission would maintain a minimum State standard, permit any county to expand it—and contribute State funds toward that improvement.

One point should be kept in mind: The agency or the governmental level that puts up the most money should have—and probably will exert—major control. That is why the movement to have county boards of education elected by popular vote in the counties, instead of appointed by the General Assembly, is not apt to get very far until the counties are willing to assume major burden of financial support for the schools. Not many counties are in position to assume that responsibility. And if the State takes tax money from one county and allots it to another it would seem logical for the State to retain control over its spending.

practiced tough policies and appeasing policies toward the two great Communist military powers. What appeared as indecision on the part of the United States only led to growing boldness of the Reds to take what they wanted when they wanted it.

The President has now set forth the position of this nation in regard to Nationalist held territory off the Chinese mainland. It must stand by its decision.

If through negotiations on the present Far East crisis, or subsequently through other dealings with Red China or Russia on world problems the United States engages in appeasement, it can only lead the world closer to the dreaded World War III.

One factor—among others—that has led the world from one international crisis to another during the past decade, is that the potential enemies of the United States were never quite sure when we meant what we said and when we didn't. They got away with one bluff after another . . . and each success prompted them to make another attempt at gaining world real estate.

In all probability Red China and the Soviet Union will now be convinced that the United States intends to stand firm on its declaration. If the course of events proves otherwise—even after the present crisis is averted—we can only expect increasingly serious difficulties.

Central Agency Could More Nearly Fill Bill

Belated support from Gov. Hodges for a central agency to have jurisdiction over the state's water problem may bring about a change that has been needed in North Carolina for several years.

If the state is to conserve and profitably use its priceless water resources, they must be under the jurisdiction of one—not several—agencies.

For several years North Carolina has recognized, at least partially, the importance of protecting and using its water resources. Particularly has this recognition been voiced throughout the state since the big push began for industrial development.

For the most part, however, concrete efforts toward preserving the water resources have been making the round of several agencies, each having ill-defined responsibilities, and activities of one overlapping those of another.

At the moment there are four state agencies concerned with water problems and having some degree of jurisdiction. They are the Department of Conservation and Development, the Board of Health, the Stream Sanitation Commission and the State Board of Water Commissioners.

What is everybody's responsibility soon becomes nobody's responsibility. And in the meantime North Carolina may find that it has ruined at least a portion of its fabulous water resources.

The creation of one central agency responsible for the state's water resources may not solve all of North Carolina's water problems. It will, however, come nearer solving these problems than the present set-up.

Three Signs Of Better Business

By RALPH ROBEY

Evidence serving to establish that the current business recovery is spreading and becoming stronger continues to accumulate. Three recent items of this nature are especially noteworthy.

First, according to the Department of Commerce we are on the verge of an upturn in business investment in plant and equipment.

This is important because one of the outstanding characteristics of the recession has been the sharpness and size of the decline in this figure. The high of such investment was in the third quarter of last year which, on an annual basis, was just short of $38 billion. Since then there has been a decline quarter after quarter, and it was believed that it would be well into 1959 before an increase was shown. For the second quarter of this year the investment in plant and equipment was at an annual rate of $30.3 billion. It is now estimated that the third quarter is expected to rise to $31 billion.

The basis of these projections is a survey of business plans by the Department of Commerce. Frequently the projections vary from the actual figure by a small percentage, but they are as reliable as it is possible to make them and it is quite possible that the fourth quarter will be higher than the figure cited.

The questionnaire used by the Department of Commerce does not ask business firms for reasons for changing plans. It is evident, however, that the projected increase for the fourth quarter reflects an improved feeling about business prospects. Other factors also may be involved, such as increased labor costs and more severe competition, but none of those individually, not collectively, can be as important as the business outlook.

Second, the rate of inventory liquidation is slowing down. The decline still continues, but not as rapidly as was true toward the end of last year and earlier this year. Inventory liquidation has been another outstanding characteristic of this recession, as it is of almost all periods of business adjustment. Normally, too, the liquidation continues somewhat beyond the upturn of business.

Figures of inventories are collected by the Department of Commerce. In some industries the statistics are not as good as one might like, but they are the best that can be obtained and generally are regarded as the most authoritative in existence. The high for manufacturing and trade, both wholesale and retail, was August and September of last year. The total was the same for both months, $91.3 billion. Then a decline started which at an annual rate was $8 to $9 billion.

The latest figure is for July. It shows a decline of $500 million, which would be at an annual rate of $5 billion.

The principal factors leading to changes in inventories are outlook for business, adequacy of supplies, and anticipated price variations of appreciable magnitude. With unused capacity over the wide part of our production industries, and with many prices showing no inclination to rise, the decline in the rate of inventory liquidation is encouraging.

Third, in the opinion of the Federal Reserve Board the recovery is of sufficient strength to warrant keeping a taut rein on credit expansion. This was indicated by approving an increase in the rediscount rate at two more Federal Reserve banks and through open market operations holding the free reserves of member commercial banks at a relatively low level. The rediscount rate is the charge made by Reserve banks on loans to member commercial banks. Free reserves is the term used to designate the amount of reserves held by member banks above that legally required, less borrowings from the Reserve banks.

Economists of the Federal Reserve system have been convinced for some time that the low of the recession was last April. The figures more and more bear out that contention, and the Reserve Board has been following a policy in line with that conclusion. With a reversal in the trend of investment in plant and equipment; with a slowing down in the rate of inventory liquidation; and, with the Federal Reserve making it clear that it believes we are on the upturn, it would be difficult to maintain that the current upturn is a false dawn.

Other Editors Saying No Room For Bragging

(Clinton Sampsonian)

We suppose it's only natural that a people should be proud of their state. They should be. But sometimes we tend to play up the things which make us look good, and forget those things which make us look somewhat less than the best.

Take the state of North Carolina, for instance. For many years we've tagged ourselves with the slogan "The South's Number One State." Just who started this drum-beating we don't know. The slogan sounds good. The only thing is—it's not exactly true, especially when examined closely.

Dr. S. H. Hobbs, Jr., a native of Sampson county and a member of the faculty of the University of North Carolina, recently wrote a book entitled "North Carolina: An Economic and Social Profile." And while Dr. Hobbs' book cites some good points about the state, he also notes some points which cannot be used to advantage by brag-karts.

For example, the average income is among the lowest in the nation—$1,236 per person. Only one out of 95 persons attends college a year.

The average Tar Heel has less than eight years of schooling. Most of the food consumed in North Carolina comes from other states because, despite the large farm population and the large number of farms, the state does not grow its own food, but devotes much of its farm output to "money crops" (North Carolina, for instance, produces 41 per cent of the tobacco grown in the United States).

On the other side of the ledger, the state does have some outstanding attributes in an economic way.

One third of the population is engaged in agriculture. The state is first in farm population and second in number of farms (this could be listed on either the credit or debit side, depending upon the way you look at it).

North Carolina ranks first in the nation in furniture production.

The state leads in the production of cigarettes.

It is the leading hosiery-producing state, as well as being outstanding in other textile production.

North Carolina has excellent physical assets—good forests, good water resources, unexcelled tourist attractions.

North Carolina set national and world records for road paving and road improvements in 1949—$3 and has 70,231 miles of highways under state control, by far the largest in the nation.

So, even though we have a good bit to brag about, the danger lies in the fact that we tend to believe our own propaganda. We may be the south's number one state—but in only a few things, not all.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

TEAMWORK

Not long ago I attended a small country church one Sunday morning. The choir, a dozen strong, consisted mostly of obviously untrained singers, who performed cheerfully if rather loudly and well. But one song—no was just as obviously in class by herself. She had a big, tremulous voice, and treated every hymn and anthem as if it were her own solo. Her expression showed that she thought she was making a fine impression on the congregation. In fact, she was making herself ridiculous and drowning out the rest of the choir at the same time.

Teamwork is a wonderful thing. I know another small church choir which has no very fine voices in it, but the members sing together so well that the result is very musical. That is the way with teamwork. Lack of teamwork makes a good performer—or athlete—seem poor; good teamwork can make mediocre performers seem first-rate.

Unwillingness to work in harmony and cooperation with the rest of the group comes from egotism, selfishness, or stupidity—or else a combination of all three. Show me a person who cannot cooperate with the team, and I will show you a person whose friends and family find him painfully difficult to live with.

The spirit of living in a world full of other people. We all need it.

Teamwork is a wonderful thing. I know another small church choir which has no very fine voices in it, but the members sing together so well that the result is very musical. That is the way with teamwork. Lack of teamwork makes a good performer—or athlete—seem poor; good teamwork can make mediocre performers seem first-rate.

Relief For A Few

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—At last Congress has gotten around to doing something for small business. Three major bills designed to give small business a break have been enacted. For the information of my readers, I am detailing here the highlights of these new laws.

LONG-NEEDED TAX RELIEF
Included in this year's tax law revision are several provisions which give small business firms a better break. One of the most far-reaching of these permits an individual—or a corporation rather than an ordinary loss, rather than a capital loss, any investment loss up to $25,000 on an individual income tax return and up to $50,000 in a joint return. Of course, this ordinary loss treatment is restricted to original purchasers of common stock in small businesses. Transferees of the original purchaser may not claim this privilege.

In addition to present depreciation rates, a separate first-year allowance of 20 per cent of the value of the depreciable property up to $10,000 is provided. This allowance is boosted to 20 per cent of the first $20,000 when a joint income tax return is made. Of course, if this extra depreciation is used, it will reduce the amount of regular depreciation available on the same property in future years. You should also note that this depreciation concession is limited to equipment and machinery. Buildings are not included. A further break for small business permits accumulated earnings of $100,000 rather than $60,000, without being liable for payment of the special surtax penalty.

SPREADING ESTATE TAX PAYMENTS

Until now, the death of one whose estate consisted largely of his interest in a closely held business often resulted in forced sale of the business to obtain cash for death taxes. Now, in cases where the value of interest of the deceased in a given business exceeds 35 per cent of his gross estate, federal estate taxes may be spread over a ten-year period. Payment may be made in ten annual installments plus interest at per cent per year on the unpaid balance.

Congress has also raised the loan limit of the Small Business Administration from $250,000 to $350,000 and elevated this bureau to a permanent government agency. Those borrowing directly from this agency get a break too, for the SBA's maximum interest rate on its short- and intermediate-term loans is reduced from 5 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent.

SMALL BUSINESS INVESTMENT ACT

To my mind the most significant legislative affecting small business is the Small Business Investment Act. This is an unprecedented step toward overcoming one of the greatest handicaps facing small business today, namely its inability to obtain readily the equity capital and the long-term debt capital it requires.

Investment companies whose primary purpose is to provide venture capital for small and expanding businesses can be established by ten or more persons. Each company must be chartered and its charter must be approved by SBA. It must also have a paid-in capital and surplus of not less than $30,000. However, as much as half of this might be obtained from SBA. The small investment companies thus organized could make long-term loans of up to twenty years or even more. They could also advance equity capital to small firms through purchase of the small firm's debentures. By law these debentures must be convertible into the small company's common stock.

TAX BENEFITS FOR SMALL INVESTMENT COMPANIES

Of course, the chief advantage to a small business investment company and its shareholders lies in the chance of long-term capital gains which would be tax favored. Investment companies holding the stock of small businesses would be entitled to a 100 per cent dividend-received deduction instead of the normal 85 per cent.

Space does not permit listing additional tax advantages to investment companies chartered under this new law. If you have interest in venture capital companies, finance companies, or like enterprises, I suggest you may gain taxwise and otherwise by converting these firms into

Why Some Taxpayers See Red

By ELMER ROESSNER

If you are making a quarterly payment on your Federal income tax today, or if some of your earnings were withheld for taxes last week, you may gain some comfort from the fact that you are helping to make living conditions a little brighter for some well-to-do people.

They are the rich who are moving into Washington Square Village in New York and similar "middle income" housing developments financed in part by your tax money.

This "middle-income" project includes apartments running from $116 a month to $8,000 a year. The $116-a-month accommodations consist of a living room, kitchenette and bath. The $8,000-a-year suites are penthouses.

The average apartment would cost from $10,000 to $15,000 to furnish, an expert told Thomas MacCabe, New York World-Telegraph and Sun reporter.

SLUMLESS SLUM CLEARANCE

The project was begun in 1953 under terms of the Federal Slum Clearance Act. Actually, no slums were cleared in this instance.

The City of New York condemned nine square blocks at a cost of about $21,000,000, of which the Federal government— and you, fellow taxpayer—were stuck for $14,000,000. The area was not a slum. A total of 132 families lived in the area, mostly in clean, comfortable apartments.

Most of the area was occupied by hat factories, which were forced to move.

The area, except for three blocks which went to New York University, was then sold to the Washington Square Village Corporation for $5,426,232. The company has declared it is spending $75,000,000 to erect three 17-story apartment buildings on the site. The first is now renting for occupancy this fall. Names of renters are regularly published in New York newspapers and they read like excerpts from the Social Register and Dun & Bradstreet.

As far as is known, none of the 132 dislocated families has rented one of the swank apartments.

FIFTH AVENUE ADDRESS
One thing has not yet been settled: whether the well-to-do who lease apartments in the development will be entitled to the swank distinction of a Fifth Avenue address.

A much-battered proposal provides for the extension of famous Fifth Avenue through historical Washington Square, and reaching the development. The extension would be known as Fifth Avenue South.

Robert Moses, millionaire chairman of the Mayor's Slum

Clearance Committee, is quoted as saying, "The promoters were formally notified that they were promised, under the Slum Clearance Act, a Fifth Avenue address."

So when you go to bed tonight, sleep well. Rest assured that some worthy people are about to move into $80,000-a-year penthouses, with Fifth Avenue addresses.

LIQUIDATE PUBLIC HOUSING REALITY HEAD URGES
Public housing should be liquidated, not reorganized, H. Walter Graves, of Philadelphia, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, declared in a recent address.

Dramatic improvement in housing for the American people in recent years, he said, demonstrates the capacity of private enterprise and private ownership to meet the entire range of the nation's housing needs, he added.

Cog Slipped, 18 Persons Killed

BONN, Germany (AP)—A cog train carrying sightseers to the picturesque Drachenfels (Dragon's Rock) above the Rhine suddenly slipped from its cog last night and plunged off the tracks, killing 18 persons and injuring 60 others.

The train was about an eighth of a way down its steep mile run from the top of the rock when it left the rails. The steam engine crashed into a ditch. Two cars careened off the tracks and the third remained on the right of way, its side ripped open.

This was the first accident on the railway in the 75 years it has carried more than a million persons to visit the ruined fortress 1,050 feet above the Rhine.

Virgili Roland, an adjutant in the Belgian army medical corps who was on the train with his family, said he heard the noise of a cogwheel slipping off of the rails. "The train began to take on terrific speed," he said.

Roland said he heard a crash and was knocked out. When he came to he was under a pile of about a dozen people but soon was pulled out.

"I looked over and saw my wife," he said. "Both of her legs had been severed at the knees. I took off my necktie and tried to bind the stumps of her legs. The doctors arrived very quickly and gave us shots to relieve the pain."

Roland was not seriously hurt but one of his daughters was in critical condition.

Fire Report For August Is Filed

There were 13 telephone calls to fires and five false and accidentally calls during the month of August, Fire Chief George Gardner reports.

Eighteen calls to county fires and 16 rescue calls were also received during the month. These were five rescue classes given at East Carolina College.

Fire losses for the month amounted to $631.40, the chief reported, and fire losses for the year now comes to $46,228.04.

There was an volunteer firemen's payroll for the month since all fires were reported by phone. Volunteers are paid only for whistle calls.

Soon To Issue Findings In Business' Education Study

A survey of business education in the secondary schools of North Carolina has been completed and the findings are now being prepared for publication. This report was made at a Council meeting held in Scandia Village recently, at which time Dr. James L. White of East Carolina College distributed tabulated data secured from the survey.

This is the first project of the Business Education Council, an organization composed of representatives from business teacher groups and businessmen whose purposes are to provide for a continuing study of over-all problems of business education at the secondary school level in the State, to initiate movements toward improvement and to determine ways and means to make business education programs in secondary schools more effective.

Business education is one of the state's major educational undertakings, with more than 700 secondary school business teachers at work in some 450 high schools, and with these teachers instructing approximately 80,000 boys and girls annually in business subjects.

The state's business teachers account for a payroll of roughly two million dollars a year, and the facilities and equipment used in this instructional program represent a multimillion dollar investment.

The new survey is expected to have a far-reaching effect in revealing current practices in business education and indicating future needs.

Other projects being conducted by the Council include: the preparing of a roster of North Carolina business teachers, providing forms for community surveys, and preparing a vocabulary list for business students. The Council is making plans to sponsor area meetings early in 1958 to give teach-

Wall Street Bulls Bet On Wage-Price Spiral

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's tempestuous flirtation with record high prices is stealing the business show today.

It concerns everyone with some money to invest or otherwise invested or with a job that market psychology could affect if only indirectly.

The question is: Why the big rise?

It is because business is turning up, meaning increased sales and profits—and dividends?

Or is the main drive behind the bulls the belief that further inflation means a markup in the market price of everything—another way of saying a drop in the market value of the dollar?

On the first point there are concrete signs that some corporate earnings have halted their slide and others started up again.

Of 24 companies whose fiscal year is advanced so that their third quarter has already ended, 12 report profits increased over last year and 12 show declines. The second dozen fell a little more than the other advanced. Combined the 24 show this year's third quarter trailing the year before figures by 8.8 per cent. ($47,499,610 vs. $52,100,719).

But this is strikingly better than earlier in the year when corporate earnings on average trailed 1957 by 33 per cent.

Part of the better showing is due to a pickup in sales. The third quarter of these 24 early reporters covers the months when various statistical indexes showed an upswing after their long drop.

Part of the gain is due to cost cutting drives which have improved various firms' profit margins. A little increase in sales can thus be turned into a big increase in profits.

Part is due to the recent completion of new plants and installation of new equipment, which offset rising labor costs and cut operating expense.

Granting the better health of the business community, market analysts still wonder just how far in advance the recovery has been discounted by the bull market in stocks. To bring yields on stocks up enough to justify their new high prices dividends will have to increase considerably.

Despite some omissions and rate cutting, dividends have been holding up well. But Henry H. Heilmann, executive vice president of the National Assn. of Credit Management, estimates that on average corporations are paying out in dividends 80 per cent of their earnings. He warns:

"A normal distribution of earnings ranges from 50 to 60 per cent. When you are paying out 80 per cent in an average business the ratio is far too high a dividend distribution. You need more than 20 per cent to plow back into business if you are going to keep abreast of modern demands for improved plants, equipment and modern merchandising."

But many bulls may be paying little attention to retained earnings or present yields. They seem to be counting on general price inflation to justify high stock quotations.

In part this is because they think that the wage-price spiral is now firmly built into the American economy. This is often called "creeping inflation."

In part their belief is grounded on the whopping federal deficit now officially foreseen. In a few months the national debt will reach a new high, surmounting any wartime year. The inflationary pressure of national debt on the monetary system is no secret in Wall Street.

The Tax Foundation, a private research organization, translates the prospective national debt as equivalent to a $5,240 mortgage on every American family. It says the nearly eight billion dollar carrying charge on the federal debt works out to $144 a year per family.

Many Cases Cleared On Pitt Court Docket

Thirty-three cases, most of them involving charges resulting from violations of motor vehicle laws, were cleared last week from the docket of Pitt County Recorder's Court.

Two of the cases, however, are scheduled for further hearings in Superior Court as a result of appeal notices entered by the defendant. BASS RAMBLES FOR YARDAGE—ECC halfback Glenn Bass (15) eludes an Emory and Henry tackler on a jaunt around left end in Saturday night's game at ECC Stadium. The Bucs captured a 12-0 victory over the Wasps. Bass was responsible for much of the yardage picked up by the Pirates. No. 19 at the left is East Carolina's Tommy Nash.

SPEIGHT INJURED—James Speight, East Carolina's stellar fullback, was injured early in the first quarter of Saturday's tilt. Shown above, on the Buc bench, Speight favors his foot. He suffered a large bruise on his instep which may keep him out of action for some time. The Greenville junior ran only three plays during the game. (Reflector photos by Billy Arnold)

East Carolina opened its 1958 football season here, Saturday night, with a stunning 12-0 victory over Virginia's Emory and Henry Wasps before an initial crowd of 8,500.

The Bucs turned two recovered fumbles into fourth-quarter touchdowns to win their first home football game since 1956. The victory equaled the club's 1957 output for the entire season when the Bucs claimed only one win.

For three full quarters, before the Bucs pushed across their scores, the two teams battled up and down the gridiron, exchanging punts and short gains, but neither club was able to tally.

Emory and Henry's deepest penetration in the game came in the second period when it moved to the ECC 35-yard line. The Wasps' highly-touted offensive attack never did dent the ECC forward wall, as predicted by pre-game guessers. Rated by the Richmond Times Dispatch as Virginia's first-ranked small college club this season, the Wasps were a two-touchdown favorite over the Bucs.

ECC Touchdowns

A pair of fumbles recovered by ECC's Perry Pearson and Wayne Davis in the second half spirited the East Carolina club into high gear and quarterback Ralph Zehring guided it to two quick touchdowns.

Late in the third quarter, Emory and Henry's Dave Looney blocked an ECC punt but a play later the Pirates took control of the ball when Pearson pounced on a fumble on the E&H 36.

The Bucs then marched 64 yards to their first score. Setting up the score was a 53-yard pass play from Zehring to end Howard Beale which carried to the E&H 12. At that point, the quarter ended.

Three plays later, the Bucs had bulled to the eight yard line. Bobby Perry took a pitchout around left end for the touchdown. It was Perry's first play of the game and his first for ECC after a tour of duty in the service. The conversion attempt was no good.

Moments later, guard Wayne Davis picked up another E&H fumble on the Wasp 42. Two plays later, a Zehring pass to halfback Glenn Bass carried the ball to the five-yard line. Bass and Charlie Bishop lost yardage on two ground plays. Then, Zehring dropped back to his own 25 and shot a pass to Bishop in the end zone on third down for the TD. George Turner's attempted conversion was no good.

No ECC Stars

There were no individual stars for East Carolina in the 12-0 victory. Though there was plenty of outstanding individual play, the victory could not be attributed to any one player's performance.

Quarterback Ralph Zehring played perhaps his best game in three seasons; halfback Glenn Bass turned in an important job, both offensively and defensively; after only four days in a Buc uniform, Bobby Perry did a tremendous job; Charlie Bishop and fullbacks Randall Holmes, Vernon Davis and David Rogers were outstanding.

In the lines, there were plenty of stellar stars. Defensively, the Bucs allowed the visitors only 197 yards all told, while ECC picked up 244. Henry Kwiatkowski, Perry Pearson, Charlie Cook, Ed Emory, Wayne Davis, Charles Gordon, Lynn Barnett, Bill Cain, Howard Beale, Charles Vaughan, Henry Vansant were all in on key plays.

Speight Injured

James Speight, ECC's 170-pound All-Star fullback, around whom the 1958 Pirate attack was supposedly framed, was injured in the first quarter of play and taken out of the game. He didn't see action after that, due to a swollen and bruised left foot.

Apparently pointing for the vaunted ECC fullback, the Wasps hit viciously and got him out of the game early. Though no statement has been issued about his injury, word at the game indicated that Speight may be out of action indefinitely.

No other injuries were reported. The 6,500 turnout for the initial game of the season was the largest at ECC since 1954. College officials expect another large turnout next weekend when the Bucs play host to South Carolina's Presbyterian College at the ECC Stadium. After that, the Bucs have two more home tilts with Guilford and Catawba.

kee climaxed a three-run rally against loser Juan Pizarro. All the runs were unearned after an error by Johnny Logan. Johnny Klippstein, who relieved Don Drysdale after five innings, was the winner.

Jones needed help in the ninth at Philadelphia, where Chuck Stobbs came in with the bases loaded. Jim Brosnan finally shut off the threat. Despite the hitting of Ashburn and rookie Pancho Herrera, who had four hits, Jack Sanford dropped his 13th.

Purkey allowed 10 hits while beating the Giants in the first game, blanking Mays in five trips. Willie got even in the second with four hits and Orlando Cepeda added three to whip Don Newcombe. Ramon Monzant was the winner with aid from Marv Grissom and Mike McCormick.

By BILLY ARNOLD

Saturday night must have been the happiest night in five years at East Carolina College. The 6,500 people who turned out to the game with Emory and Henry were fired up even before halftime by the ECC band's rippling renditions of "Dixie", "The ECC Fight Song", and other marches.

And when the final gun went off, with ECC holding a stunning 12-0 victory, the crowd swept down onto the field and Bedlam broke out on the campus.

East Carolina spirit, buried for so long now, was triggered to life with the shutout opening-game victory. It flickered anew on Zehring's 53-yard pass to Beale and Bobby Perry's eight-yard touchdown gallop and again when Zehring passed to Bishop for the second touchdown of the night. And when the game was over, it had burst into full flame.

There is an extra special feeling when a team is soundly beaten for so many years and suddenly springs forth with a good, strong club again on opening night. That feeling was rampant on the ECC campus Saturday night. There were shouts, and songs, and long-contained grins, and recollections of 1953 and a championship season.

YOU NEVER HURT . . .

The players were mobbed on the way to the field house. Grinning parents and sweethearts and some strangers hugged them, ignoring the sweat and dirt.

Ed Emory, blood on his jaw, was asked if he was hurt.

"Unh Unh. You don't ever hurt when you win," he grinned.

Coach Jack Boone, smiling broadly, said, "They looked good, didn't they? I knew they'd play good ball when they settled down. It's tough about Speight, but I think he'll be alright, too."

Jim Butler, Publicity Director of the school, could be seen dozens of places, patting backs, shaking hands, grinning widely. He told somebody, "Tonight's game is worth more than all the publicity in the world."

In the dressing room, the ECC team, big, dirt-smearing and shining, stood in the middle of the tiled floor and sang loud and off-key, the Alma Mata, which sounded better than any glee club.

FAMILIAR FACES

With victory came that strange thing between fan and player. A unity or identification, affecting stranger and alumnus alike. A thing completely impossible during a bad season and instantaneous during a victory. A fire kindled by familiar faces and jersey numbers.

It happened when Bobby Perry went into the game and, in one play, put ECC ahead with a burst around left end. It was his first appearance in a Pirate uniform in two years. It was the first appearance of No. 22 on the field in two years.

It happened when Zehring began his long passes to Beale and Cain and Glenn Bass. And when Charlie Bishop cracked off end for yardage.

Most of the faces were new to the 6,500 fans. But the old ones, the familiar ones like Zehring, Perry, Barnett, Cain, Beale, Bishop, Speight, Emory, Cook, and Nash suddenly became associated and remembered.

And those faces that were new Saturday night, those names and jersey numbers, won't be next week. Not any more.

Yanks Wrap Up Another Pennant

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's official now. The Yankees can start thinking about the Milwaukee Braves and the World Series.

They finally nailed it down yesterday in Kansas City, winning the first game of a double-header 5-3. That did it mathematically.

Whitey Ford, who has been out of action with elbow trouble, had a five-inning tuneup in the second game but the Yanks had to come up with five runs in the 14th inning to win it 12-7, making Ralph Terry a double loser.

Chicago celebrated the rehiring of Manager Al Lopez for another year by bumping off Washington twice, 7-1 and 6-5.

The White Sox have a new challenger for second place. Detroit took over third by beating Boston 6-1 and 9-3, stretching the Red Sox' losing streak to seven games.

Rocky Colavito had two homers and Vic Power one in Cleveland's 7-4 opening victory over Baltimore. Arnold Portocarrero squared matters for Baltimore by winning the second game 4-2 and hitting his first homer.

Pete Runnels regained the lead in the batting race at 319 with three hits in seven trips while teammate Ted Williams of Boston went hitless in five trips and dropped four points to 316.

In the National League, Pittsburgh took two from the Chicago Cubs 5-4 and 6-2 with Bob Friend winning his 21st in the second game. Milwaukee bowed to Los Angeles 5-3. San Francisco split with Cincinnati, losing 4-3 then winning 6-4. St. Louis beat Philadelphia 6-3.

Duke Maas won the clincher for the Yanks although he needed help from Ryne Duren and Art Ditmar in the ninth. It was the Yanks' 24th pennant.

Virgil Trucks was the second game winner for the Yanks with a fine six-inning relief job. Five hits, two stolen bases and two walks enabled the Yanks to score five in the 14th. Bob Cerv homered in each game, his 35th and 36th.

Billy Pierce gained his 17th victory for Chicago in the first game, losing his chance for a shutout when Roy Sievers hit his 38th homer. Earl Torgerson hit two homers in the second and rookie John Calison, Sherm Lollar and Bubba Phillips one each. Faye Throneberry hit a pair for Washington off Jim Wilson.

Paul Foytack pitched a three-hitter in the opener at Detroit. Billy Klaus' first homer was the only Boston run. Billy Hoelt, a nonwinner for six weeks, pitched seven innings to take the second, with help from homers by Charlie Maxwell and Gail Harris.

Don Ferrarese of the Indians allowed 12 hits but won the first game at Cleveland. Portocarrero's five-hitter got the Orioles a split despite Minnie Mino's 22nd homer.

Dodgers Won't Forget 'Prima Donna' Label

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wonder why the Los Angeles Dodgers have taken 14 of 21 games from the defending champion Milwaukee Braves this season?

Scrappy Don Zimmer of the Dodgers says it's because of being called prima donnas by Braves' Coach Billy Herman, an ex-Dodger during spring training.

Some of the Braves' players admit privately that Zimmer may be right.

Herman, a coach with the then Brooklyn Dodgers from 1952-57, was quoted as saying several Dodgers were lazy, complacent and prima donnas.

He did not mention any names, but later said he did not mean PeeWee Reese, Gil Hodges or Carl Furillo.

After the fifth-place Dodgers' 5-3 victory yesterday, Zimmer said Herman's remarks were "the whole story" behind L. A.'s fine showing against Milwaukee.

"The other guys might not say anything about it," Zimmer said, "but they feel the same way I do. We talked about it in spring training. We didn't say any more about it, but we didn't forget."

CHAPTER 4

Bat Masterson waved his hand toward the expanse of waving prairie grass. This seemed to be a habit of his, and from some men it would have seemed theatrical and a little foolish, but not when he did it. He seemed very much a part of the land; there was the recollection of vast distances traveled in his eyes, and of things seen and forgotten because they were too far beyond belief to stand retelling.

You can hear buffalo stamped before you can see 'em," Masterson said. A roar like a heavy sea smashing into a rocky shore. Then the ground begins to tremble under your feet and if you put your ear to it, it's thunder and all hell coming at you. I guess a man sees the dust first, like a storm building on the horizon. Sometimes the dusk blots out the sun for days at a time, then you can see 'em, dark and hump-backed, heads down, running blind; the whole horizon is black with 'em. Why, man, I've spent a whole day and a night and another day erouched down in a waller while they went by. Couldn't have heard thunder for the noise they made. No sleep for the ground shakin'."

Paul Rettig listened patiently, then said, "You must think I'm a fool, to believe that! There ain't that many buffalo in the whole plains country." He looked at Pat Garrett. And I suppose you was there?"

I was," Pat Garrett said. Spring of '71. Not eight miles from here."

Mmm," Rettig said and wiped his hand across his mouth, on the verge of calling them liars.

I'll put some coffee on," Elizabeth said and went into the soddy. Both the hunters smiled and murmured their thanks.

Bat Masterson said, "I guess you had a reason for pickin' this spot. Mr. Rettig. But I'd look for another if I was you. The buffalo migrate every spring and fall. If they didn't catch you one year, they'd catch you the next."

And I guess I'd handle it when the time came," Rettig said.

Ain't much about it you can handle," Garrett said. Man, they'll run right over you, horse and all."

Elizabeth Rettig came to the soddy door and said, "The coffee's boiling, if you'd like to come in."

Thank you," Masterson said and stepped inside. Rettig and Pat Garrett following him.

I have a hard time keeping the fire going," Elizabeth said. The wood's about gone."

Masterson smiled. Out here we burn buffalo chips, ma'am."

Chips?" Rettig said. They burn all right?" He acted as though this was a joke on him.

As good as wood," Masterson said. Your kids could gather a wagon load and not stray more'n a hundred yards from the cabin."

By George, they might as well get to work!" Rettig said and went outside to see that they got to it.

Accepting his tin cup of coffee, Pat Garrett said, "Your brother's a man of strong opinions, ain't he, ma'am?"

Yes, he is. It's something you have to put up with."

Bat Masterson smiled and brushed a finger across his mustache. I guess he hasn't seen any Indians yet."

No. Was he supposed to have?"

The two hunters glanced at each other, then Masterson said, "About a mile and a half south of here we came onto a day-old camp. I'd say twenty or thirty Kiowas camped the night there. Maybe he never saw 'em, but they saw you."

Rettig returned, hurrying as though he was afraid of missing something, or perhaps hoping to catch them talking about him. By George, there sure is plenty of those chips about. Wish I'd knowed that sooner. I wouldn't have burned my wagon." He looked at the two men, then said, in defense, "Hell, a man has to keep warm, don't he?"

It ain't that cold," Bat Masterson said.

Well, I get cold," Rettig said. Got thin blood, so the doctor says." He got a cup of coffee for himself. You ain't told me yet about gettin' rid of that danged grass."

Don't get rid of it," Garrett said. This is Kiowa country, Mr. Rettig. Good for buffalo huntin' and not much else. Once you put a plow in the ground, you'll set the Kiowa against you."

They don't hold to farming," Masterson said. Plowing kills the grass and when the grass is gone, so's the buffalo, and the Indians live off the buffalo. Clothes, food, lodges, everything comes from the buffalo."

What a heathen way to live!" Rettig said. Why don't they farm like the rest of us?"

For the same reason you don't go naked and eat your meat raw," Masterson said. He parted his mustache to finish his coffee, then set the cup aside. I'm obliged for the hospitality. We'll make camp now." At the door he paused. You ought to hang something over the openings to keep out the flies."

I wish we had something," Elizabeth said. They've been driving me crazy and the children are all bit up by them."

Masterson's grin started slowly. They ain't really bad this time of the year, ma'am. Wait another month when it starts to get cold. They get real savage then."

Paul Rettig waited until they walked out of earshot before speaking. I just can't abide a man who has an answer for everything." He snorted. You hear what they said about this being a buffalo run, Elizabeth?"

She shook her head and he told her, smiling all the while he related the details of the stampede. Now ain't that the biggest pack of lies you ever heard? Imagine, so many animals they could run from sundown to sundown without stopping. I ain't a child that has to be amused," Elizabeth said. By George, I never met such liars in all my days."

The children came in then, arms laden with dried buffalo manure. Rettig ordered it stacked by the fireplace, then went outside.

Tom said, "The tall one was a sheriff in Texas. Did you know that?"

No. I didn't know that," Elizabeth said, smiling.

The boy ran out again, nearly bumping into Bat Masterson as he came through the door. He laid some meat on the table. Buffalo steak. I — ah didn't know whether you'd ever tasted any, so I thought

"Don't make up a story for me," Elizabeth said. I'm not so proud I can't accept your kindness. We're very low on supplies."

He smiled then, suddenly on firm ground and thoroughly at ease. You know, I wasn't sure I could offer this without offending you. I thought about it a spell before I came in."

I'm sure you did," Elizabeth said. And it was kind of you."

This ready admission of poverty between them, a bridge over which they could pass.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed closer to its record high in active trading early this afternoon.

Leading issues rose from fractions to around 2 points but a few fairly sharp losses among blue chips put a brake on the rising averages.

There were some wider gains by special stocks as well as a scattering of small losses.

Rails were a strong point from the start and improved their gains in brisk dealings. Strength in American Motors spread to other automotive stocks. The feeling in Wall Street was that a strike in the industry would be averted.

The rise might have been brisker, said brokers, if not for the Jewish New Year observance which usually is a dampener on trading.

Food Machinery & Chemical clipped a point from a 4-point gain on news of its 2-for-1 stock split proposal. A block of 15,000 shares of General Electric was sold at 28 1/2, but later the stock showed a gain of around a point.

Kennecott and Reynolds Metals rose about 2 1/2 while gains of around a point or more were made by American Telephone and Du Pont.

Among the steels, Lukens jumped more than 3. U. S. Steel and Republic Steel rose more than a point.

Among the rails, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Railway and New York Central were ahead close to a point or more.

Declines of a point or so by American Telephone and Du Pont were a drag on the average. Allied Chemical, Loew's and Standard Oil (New Jersey), also pointals, eased.

Douglas Aircraft and American Airlines were the top gainers around a point. Active and fractionally higher were Western Union and Artform. Other small gainers included Ford, Chrysler, General Motors, Bethlehem, Texas Co. and International Central.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 40 cents to $189.40 with the industrials up 40 cents, the rails up 90 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Survival Plans For Pitt To Be Given At Meet

Civil Defense survival planning for Pitt County will be detailed here tomorrow night by representatives of North Carolina Civil Defense Headquarters.

Colonel W. H. Dawson, Jr., state logistics coordinator, and Major Ronald E. Smith, state area planner, will discuss the survival planning with county and municipal government officials and civil defense personnel from throughout the county. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the court room of the Pitt County Court House.

County CD Director J. H. Rose said this morning that local Civil Defense and municipal officials will learn at the meeting what will be expected of Pitt County in an emergency situation. The meeting is one of a series from state Civil Defense Headquarters.

Had To Coax The 'Enemy' To Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — A huge crowd had gathered for re-enactment of the bombardment of Ft. Mchenry, 144 years ago in Baltimore Harbor.

A Coast Guard cutter, out in the harbor, was representing the British warship.

The first salvo of blanks from the shore batteries boomed across the darkness of the water. A hush came over the crowd. Nothing happened. Five minutes passed and still nothing happened.

Then an announcer's voice blared over the public address system: "Would the British ship please start firing?"

Driver Confused By Circle Drives

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — John Eli told police that he became confused by circle drives in Municipal Airport yesterday and suddenly noticed a plane trying to crowd him off the road.

The pilot of a DC 6 passenger airplane, starting to take off, lowered his plane just in time to avoid hitting Eli's auto on a runway. The plane came so close to the car that the pilot noted its license number and radioed it to the control tower.

Eli was booked at city jail on a charge of drunken driving.

Buick 1959 Features Low, Sleek Lines

Sleek and low describes Buick's new styling for 1959. The model shown is the luxurious two-door Electra hardtop which measures less than 55 inches in height yet retains approximately the same headroom as last year's Buick. The "delta-wing" styling of the rear fenders that flare out to a point, and twin headlights that are set on an angle give the new Buick a look that is light and jaunty. Compound windshields that curve back into the roof and eliminate wind noise are a feature on all 1959 Buicks. The Electra is powered by a 401-cubic inch V-8 engine with 10.5-to-1 compression ratio. Twin turbine Dynaflow and power steering are standard on all models in the Electra series.

Sees Major Political Harvest In Economics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said today Democratic polls indicate the outcome of the congressional elections may hinge more upon economic conditions than any other issue.

Smathers said a nationwide poll made for the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee he heads disclosed "a general feeling of insecurity among the voters, particularly with regard to economic matters."

"Ten per cent of the people who were interviewed in the poll said that someone in their immediate family who previously was working was out of a job," Smathers said in an interview.

He did not say just when the survey was made, but added: "About 52 per cent of the people said they are making as much money as they were a year ago but they are concerned about what is going to happen in the future. About 8 per cent are making more money and the remainder are taking home less pay."

However, Victor A. Johnston, field representative of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said his personal investigations in many sections of the country have indicated the business upturn has erased the economic issue except in a few distressed areas.

Johnston said he thinks most Senate races, for instance, are going to be settled largely on the basis of local issues.

Smathers said he thinks economic distress in some sections of the country has a great deal to do with Democratic victories there for senator, governor and two of three House races.

Reject Proposed 'Southern' Unit

HERNANDONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Young Democrats of the South-east turned back a proposal here Saturday that they establish a Southern Young Democrats Clubs Conference, and voted instead for a bi-regional meeting to promote "unity and harmony within the party."

The organization committee made the recommendation that the Deep South states form a separate conference at a 12-state YDC meeting here. There are separate conferences already in the East, West and North.

However, Pete Walker of Kentucky charged that other sections of the country were trying to "legislate us out" of the national organization. "As long as we tend to withdraw ourselves, we are putting ourselves at a great disadvantage," he said.

Formation of the four sectional conferences, and appointment of a chairman for each, was approved at this year's national YDC convention.

Walker declared, "We will be making a big mistake if we let Lacione (national YDC President Nelson Lacione of Columbus, Ohio) and the national boys do this to us."

A motion to table the proposal was killed. Then, after delegates to this meeting attended a banquet gathering, they reconvened and approved another motion. It requested an "ample forum" for a meeting of their regions in Atlanta before July 1 "for the sole purpose of promoting unity and harmony within the party."

The motion would be open to club members of the two regions.

The purpose of setting up the Southern conference, as stated in the organization committee's recommendation, would be to "discuss mutual problems" and to "provide an ample forum" for presentation of sectional views. S'ies to be represented were the Carolinas, Virginia, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Tenant Dwelling Lost To Blaze

A frame tenant dwelling located near Stokes was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning.

Greenville firemen who were called to the scene said the five-or-six room home was in flames when they arrived at the scene.

They identified the occupant of the house as Roy Worthington. Firemen were called to the blazing building which was located about four miles out on the Stokes highway, around 2:45 a.m.

Firemen reported that some clothing, a television set and other items were saved.

The fire fighters used their water supply to save a nearby corn barn and a smoke house.

Saturday afternoon an alarm came from 813 Douglas Ave. where the back bedroom of a dwelling caught fire.

The house is owned by Reynolds May and occupied by Bobby Glover.

Around 4:50 Saturday a truck was sent to the home of Mrs. J. W. Williams at 544 Cotanche St., where a chair caught fire.

Youths Awaiting Murder Hearing

TARBORO, N.C. (AP) — Three young reformatory inmates remained in Edgecombe County jail today a preliminary hearing was held on charges of first degree murder.

Edgecombe Sheriff Tom P. Bardin said the three would go before a Tarboro magistrate Wednesday or Thursday.

Sheriff's officers yesterday continued the task of collecting evidence from the youths and witnesses in the Friday night slaying of Clyde Farmer, 35, Rocky Mount Negro.

The three boys, Wayne Jenkins, 15, of Gastonia; James Goodman, 14, of Concord, and Willie Ingram, 16, of Lenoir, were charged with killing Farmer shortly after they escaped from the Eastern North Carolina Training School at Rocky Mount.

Bardin said Jenkins admitted firing the fatal shot when Farmer came upon the youths while they were trying to steal a pickup truck from in front of his house.

"I think they're a right rough group of boys," Bardin commented. He said Goodman and Ingram were questioned over the weekend, but Jenkins was talking freely.

Officers captured the boys Saturday after an all-night manhunt. A fourth escapee, Tommy Melton of Hobucken, also an object of the search, was found to have escaped separately from the other three. Melton was not involved in the slaying, Sheriff Bardin said, and was returning to the training school.

Tropical Storm Gerda On Way

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Tropical storm Gerda pushed away from western Haiti today and aimed its 65 mile an hour winds at southeastern Cuba.

Gerda appeared to follow the same general course of Hurricane Ella two weeks ago as it bore down on Cuba after forming south of Hispaniola.

Whole gale warnings were in effect for the southwest peninsula of Haiti and gale warnings were up for the remainder of Haiti.

Gale warnings were hauled down for the Dominican Republic.

"All interests in southeastern Cuba should take precautions against rough seas, high tides, flash floods and gale force winds," the San Juan Weather Bureau said.

The 5 a.m. (EST) advisory located Gerda's center about 115 miles west of Port au Prince, Haiti or near latitude 18.6 north, longitude 74.2 west.

Highest winds were estimated at 65 m.p.h. in heavier squalls with in 50 miles of the center in the northeast semicircle. Gale force winds extended outward 200 miles in the northeast semicircle and 75 miles in the southwest semicircle.

A slight increase in size and intensity was anticipated during the succeeding 12 hours.

Gerda developed from an east-southwest gale near Antigua early wave Saturday near Antigua and moved steadily westward, gaining size and intensity during the weekend.
