1979 OUTLOOK

The age-old argument asks whether it is more difficult to attain success or retain it. Like most things that are worthwhile, winning is never easy.

The oneness that brought East Carolina its first bowl championship since 1965 must be rekindled in 1979 if the Pirates are to rejoin the winner's circle this season and uphold the school's status as one of the top Southern Independents.

Sure, there are 46 lettermen in the fold and eight returning starters on offense, but six regulars are gone from the defense which finished No. 2 in the NCAA last fall, and problems with depth must be resolved, too.

For coach Pat Dye, two areas draw the greatest concern. First is rebuilding the defense which provided the spark to the Pirates in several games last fall, and, secondly, re-establishing a "personality" on offense which can best be described as an 11-man philosophy of aggression.

"We want to win each of our games and go to a bowl again, of course," said Dye of the goals his 1979 team will labor to meet. "From a standpoint of preparation this season is critical. As you can see from our schedule we must be ready from the first game to play in mid-season form.

"We must develop a strong running game like we've had in past seasons, one that will win the battle physically, the same way our defense did last season.

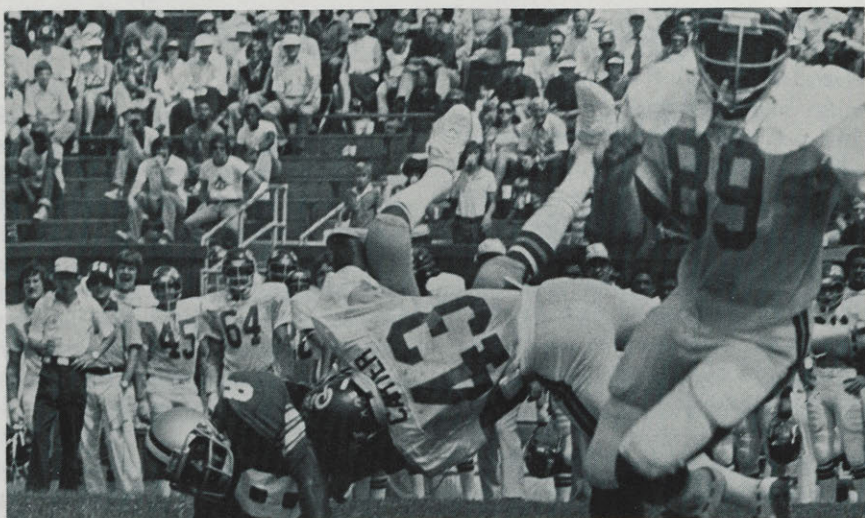

"We have a major rebuilding job on defense to be as effective as we were in 1978, but the talent is there, I think, for another outstanding defense."

Defense and defensive players have long been a trademark of the Pirates and the 1979 unit, led by linebacker Mike Brewington should again be a hard-hitting unit.

The pro-sized Brewington at 6-4, 230 will be in the center of things with Jeffrey Warren working as his running mate.

Up front, only tackle Vance Tingler is a returning starter. John Hallow moves up to open at nose guard and Noah Clark, who has started in the past will begin at the other tackle spot. Wayne Poole, a starting tackle in 1977, is back after missing a season with a knee injury. At the ends John Morris and Clifford Williams appear set as starters despite missing spring drills, but are capable performers.

In the secondary, Charlie Carter, Willie Holley, Ruffin McNeill and either Wayne Perry or Thomas McLaurin will give East Carolina as good a group as any around. Carter topped the Pirates with five interceptions in 1978.

A year ago Pirate foes could manage only 128.7 yards per game rushing while the offense churned out 244.7 per outing. The Pirates passed for 84.5 yards, but opponents could manage but 76.1 yards, and on the scoreboard East Carolina averaged 22.9 points while eleven opponents could average only 11.2 points each game.

The defensive troops hope to be just as stingy, while the offense hopes to demonstrate its increased firepower which surfaced in the spring.

Leander Green, a crafty leader and slick runner, will call the signals again and have fullback Theodore Sutton, the team's leading rusher the past two seasons, to carry the ball, along with speedy Anthony Collins, also a returning starter. Sam Harrell will assume the other halfback post.

The forward wall will feature starters from tackle to tackle and should be one of the most solid units on the team. Tackles Joe Godette and Matt Mulholland, guards Wayne Inman and Mitchell Johnston, along with center Jeff Hagans form a stalwart group. Godette started at tackle in 1977 and tight end in 1978, but is back at home for 1979.

For the passing game, Billy Ray Washington will open at tight end after snaring 515 yards on passes last fall for a 30.3-yard per catch average, while Vern Davenport will assume the front-line spot at split end.

In the kicking game punter Rodney Allen returns after punting for a 39.1 average last fall, while Collins, No. 15 in the NCAA in kickoff returns a year ago with his 24.9 average returns and Holley will assume the punt return duties.

Depth may be a problem as in some past years, but the front-line personnel appears strong and ready to continue the success story that has been Pirate football.

POSITION ANALYSIS

OFFENSE

(22 Lettermen Returning, 8 Lost)

Split End — Vern Davenport assumes the starting role and is the only letterman at this post. Jim Renuart, former DB Gerald Sykes and newcomers will offer depth. (2 returning, 1 lost)

Tackles — Starters Matt Mulholland and Joe Godette (1977) return while letterman Tootie Robbins and Dwight Tart add depth. (3 returning, 2 lost)

Guards — A standout tandem returns in Wayne Inman, second team all-Southern Independent in 1978, and Mitchell Johnston, making this a strong point. (2 returning, 1 lost)

Center — Returning starter Jeff Hagans anchors the trenchmen well with letterman John Maness and snapper Gene Winters available. (3 returning, 1 lost)

Quarterback — Strong at the top with starter Leander Green back for his final season, but back-up Henry Trevathan is the only other with game experience. Depth will come from a large group of non-lettermen. (2 returning, 1 lost)

Halfback — Speedy Anthony Collins (5.8 average in 1978) is a returning starter and experienced Sam Harrell (5.7) will also start. Harold Blue and Mike Hawkins will offer good depth. (4 returning, 2 lost)

Fullback — Theodore Sutton (4.9) is back after leading the Pirates in rushing the past two seasons. Collins can slide over to offer depth with Marvin Cobb and Roy Wiley also ready to shine. A solid spot. (3 returning, 0 lost)

DEFENSE

(22 Lettermen Returning, 6 Lost)

Ends — John Morris and Clifford Williams have both started in the past and open the season as the regulars for 1979. Letterman Rocky Butler and George Crump offer depth. (3 returning, 2 lost)

Tackles — Starter Vance Tingler returns, along with experienced Noah Clark, 1977 starter Wayne Poole, jumbo strongman Nate Wigfall and Matt Jones to make this a potential strong point. Add Tim Swords to the group, too, after lettering on offense, missing 1978, and moving to defense. (5 returning, 1 lost)

Nose Guards — Soph John Hallow moves up to start, with letterman Fee Griffin not far behind. (2 returning, 1 lost)

Linebackers — All-America candidate Mike Brewington returns after leading the team with 149 tackles in 1978. Hard hitting Jeffrey Warren will play alongside. Lettermen Chuck Jackson and Glenn Morris will offer quality depth. (4 returning, 1 lost)

Cornerbacks — Charlie Carter, another fierce hitter, and Willie Holley give the Pirates a great twosome. James Freer and Thomas McLaurin offer outstanding depth, too. (3 returning, 0 lost)

Safeties — Ruffin McNeill, a returning starter at strong safety and either Wayne Perry or McLaurin at free safety will open, producing a fine duo. Bill Pinkney and Marvin Elliott offer fine depth. (5 returning, 1 lost)

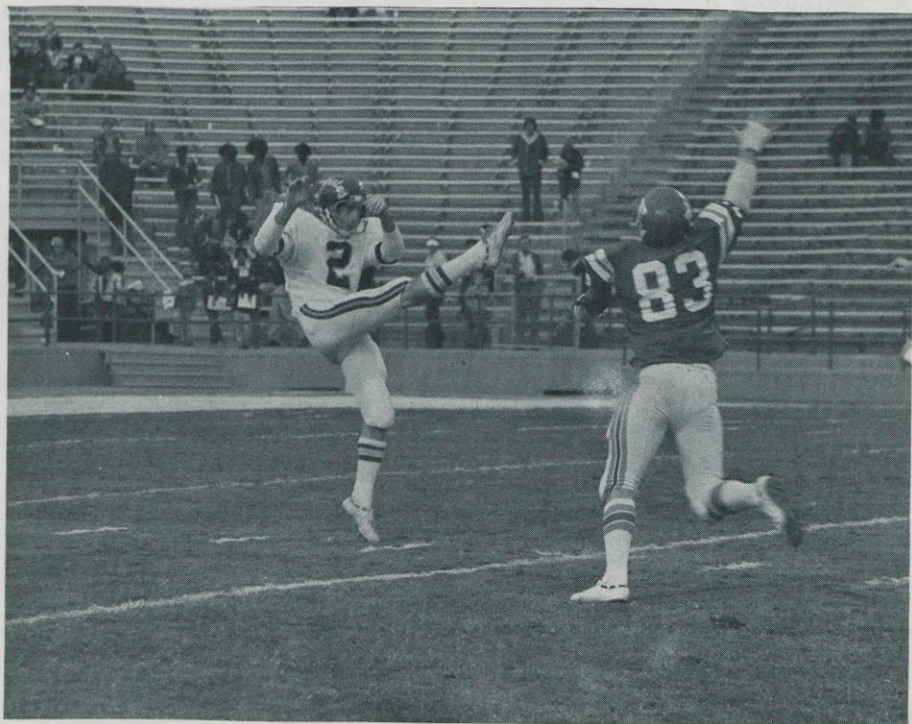

KICKING GAME

Punters — Rodney Allen returns for another year after a 39.1 mean in 1978, with walk-ons in the back-up spots. (1 returning, 0 lost)

Placekickers — Bill Lamm topped the 1978 team in scoring with 64 points and will handle the kicking for points again with Davenport behind him. The ranks are reversed for kickoffs, with Davenport backed by Lamm. (1 returning, 0 lost) (Davenport counted as SE)

Returners — Collins will handle the kickoffs after being 15th in the NCAA in 1978 with a 24.9 average, with Holley helping as needed. Holley will assume the punt return duties with Collins aiding. (Lettermen counted at other positions.)

PAT DYE ON THE WISHBONE

For East Carolina's football team and coach Pat Dye the wishbone offense is a way of life, but not just out of habit. The sixth-year Pirate coach thinks it does a lot for his team, not just on offense.

"The wishbone does as much for our defense as it does for our offense, believe it or not," Dye said of the formation he first encountered in the 1970 Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl when Alabama played Oklahoma.

"To be a successful team you must be able to run the football and I don't think there can be any doubt that the wishbone is the best running formation. Everyone on the offense must be a complete football player, able to block and run and be physically tough.

"Teams win playing tough, physical defense, too, and working against the wishbone as we do all spring makes our defense work hard.

"The wishbone is a more difficult offense than most to coach, but at the same time I think it's more fun to coach, too. We have been running it for several years now and are beginning to get more sophisticated with it. We can mix in other things effectively now, but make no mistake the wishbone is our bread and butter."

A year ago the Pirates were one of only nine college football teams running from the wishbone. The list included Oklahoma, Alabama, Texas A&M, Texas-Arlington, Appalachian State, Villanova, Penn and Holy Cross in addition to the Pirates.

Showing the effectiveness of the formation, the 1978 Pirates, on the way to the Independence Bowl outrushed opponents by an average of 244.7 to 128.8 yards per game and scored 22.9 points per game to 11.2 for the 11 regular season foes.

Over the last five years the Pirates are the nation's ninth most productive rushing team with a 272.49 yards per game average. Another wishbone team leads, Oklahoma at 365.15 yards. Appalachian State is the next closest team in the state at 248.07, ranking 20th.

Running back Eddie Hicks put the Pirates on the board in the first quarter with a 4-yard touchdown run.

N. C. STATE 29, PIRATES 13

RALEIGH, Sept. 9 — East Carolina suffered its first loss of the season as rival N. C. State kicked its way to a 29-13 victory before the second largest crowd ever to fill Carter Stadium.

The Pirates labored without the services of starters Eddie Hicks and Anthony Collins, but 46 seconds into the first quarter Pirate running back Sam Harrell sprinted 71 yards for a touchdown.

A first quarter touchdown for the Wolfpack tied the game. State kicker Nathan Ritter then proceeded to belt out five field goals in six tries that spelled doom for the Pirates.

A last minute 46-yard touchdown effort by Pirate receiver Billy Ray Washington proved futile.

1978 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

PIRATES 35, LOUISIANA TECH 13

SHREVEPORT, La. — Anthony Collins scored twice and East Carolina's rugged defense forced seven turnovers Saturday, leading the Pirates to a 35-13 rout over Louisiana Tech in the third annual Independence Bowl.

East Carolina, with the second-ranked defense in the country, held the Bulldogs to only 12 yards on the ground and forced four fumbles. Two of those were turned into Pirate touchdowns — as were two of the three East Carolina interceptions.

Collins scored on a three-yard run on the Pirates' third possession and scored again from the one-yard line in the second quarter.

Fullback Theodore Sutton rushed for 143 yards on 17 carries, including a 45-yard touchdown sprint which Tech coach Maxie Lambright later called the big play of the game, and won the award as the top offensive player.

For Sutton it was his best day ever. His previous high was 115 yards against VMI earlier in the year. End Zack Valentine was named the top defensive player.

Collins' first touchdown came after East Carolina recovered a fumble on the Bulldog 16. His second score followed an interception by Ruffin McNeill at the Louisiana Tech 10.

The Pirates, who finished with a 9-3 record, also scored on a one-yard run by quarterback Leander Green, and a two-yard run by halfback Eddie Hicks, with Sutton's burst sandwiched in the middle.

Louisiana Tech, Southland Conference champions, finished with a 6-5 record. The Bulldogs scored on a 32-yard pass from Keith Thibodeaux to Scooter Spruiell in the second quarter and two field goals, both of 36 yards, by Keith Swilley.

Swilley's second field goal had cut the deficit to 21-13 before Sutton's long TD run late in the third quarter put the game out of reach.

Because of Louisiana Tech's inability to run the ball, the Bulldogs went to the air 52 times, but Thibodeaux could manage only 18 completions. He did, however, gain 263 yards in the air.

The Pirates stayed on the ground most of the afternoon, piling up 278 yards on 67 carries.

A crowd of 18,200 braved a cold, overcast day, ignoring the 48-degree temperature and 20-mile-per-hour winds to view the hard-hitting contest. Actor John Wayne was honored at halftime with the Spirit of Independence Award.

WHY PIRATES?

By GEORGE THREEWITTS
ECU News Bureau

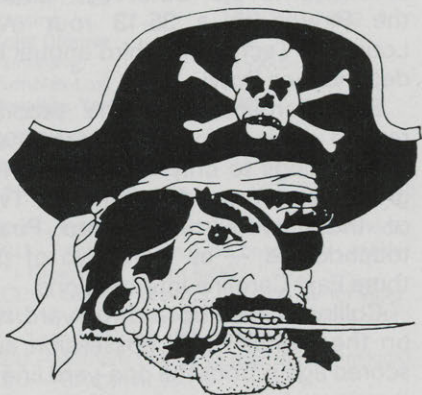

The pirate, a symbol of East Carolina University and its athletics teams, was adopted from the legend and lore of coastal North Carolina and was a natural choice for a nickname when intercollegiate athletics began at the school in the 1930's.

Pirates, fierce and colorful, were prominent in North Carolina's colonial period. The state's Outer Banks which jut far out into the Atlantic were ideal hideouts for these legendary gangsters of the high seas. Many had homes and families in the small villages along the coast.

Edward Teach, best known as "Blackbeard" was a resident of Eastern North Carolina. He had a house at Ocracoke on the Outer Banks and an inland home at Bath on the Pamlico River.

East Carolina University's interest in pirates and sea lore began in 1934. That year, the Tecoan, the yearbook for what was then East Carolina Teachers College, carried pirates as its theme. The pages were filled with paintings and sketches of patched-eye figures, tall ships and buried treasure. The book referred to the tales of the infamous "Teachy the Pirate" often told by natives in the nearby historic town of Bath.

The men's varsity team, at the time, was known as "The Teachers" a lackluster band of athletes who had won only two football games in three seasons of existence. But the student body's interest in pirates quickly resulted in changing the name of the team to capture the romantic appeal of the early sea adventurers. The change brought so much enthusiasm that in the following year, 1935, the Pirate football team had a much better season, winning three of its six games.

Prior to the introduction of athletics for men, the ECTC Athletic Association, comprising women athletes in basketball, tennis, baseball and archery were content with the more classical nicknames. A 1930-31 Handbook for ECTC listed the two teams that made up the Athletic Association as the Olympians and the Athenians. Their colors were purple and gold (the same as today's colors) and the mascot was a wildcat.

Other uses of the pirate theme began in the 1940's with a literary magazine named "Pieces of Eight." The name, however, was later changed to "Rebel."

The college yearbook became the "Buccaneer" in the 1950's and the pirate symbol, the face of a bearded, patched-eye character with a crossed bone emblem on his hat was added to the school seal in the mid 1960's.

FICKLEN STADIUM

Ficklen Memorial Stadium was dedicated Sept. 21, 1963, the same day East Carolina defeated Wake Forest, 20-10, in the only football game between the two schools until this year.

The dedication game was the culmination of a dream come true for the then East Carolina College and all of eastern North Carolina. The original plan was announced on Oct. 7, 1961, by Dr. Leo Jenkins, Chancellor of the College, at a meeting of the Society of Buccaneers.

Within a year, $283,387 had been raised, although the goal had been only $200,000. With the funds in hand, Ficklen Stadium was built.

The original stadium consisted of the permanent stands on the south side, a small press box and the old lighting system that was removed after the 1974 season. Total cost was $300,000.

The north side permanent seating was constructed in 1968, increasing the stadium seating capacity to 20,000.

The stadium was named for the last James Skinner Ficklen, a Greenville resident, who distinguished himself as one of America's leading tobacconists. At the time of his death in 1955, Ficklen was President and Chairman of the Board of the E.B. Ficklen Tobacco Company of Greenville. He was a close friend of the College and established a financial aid foundation, the Ficklen Foundation, to aid students of the College.

The current lights are a combination of metallic and incandescent lights. There are 384 fixtures of 1500 watts each on the six 162-foot towers. The cost of the new system was $450,000. Engineers say Ficklen is the best lighted stadium in the Southeast.

A fund drive for 2½ million dollars was begun in March of 1977 in hopes of expanding the stadium.

For the 1978 opener it could seat 35,000 fans and featured a new scoreboard with a light-bank message center and an ultra-modern press box as well.

PIRATES IN NCAA STATISTICS

East Carolina, and Pirate head coach Pat Dye, hold lofty standings in the NCAA football statistics which cover the past five seasons.

Dye, meeting the five-year minimum for the first time, joins the elite group of the nation's winningest coaches with his 41-15 mark and .732 percentage, holding down the 11th spot among active coaches. Barry Switzer of Oklahoma tops the parade with a .906 mark and a 62-6-2 record. Alabama's Paul "Bear" Bryant is sixth at .775 with a 284-77-16 record.

Easily the top defensive team in North Carolina over the five-year period from 1974 through 1978, the Pirates also show impressively in national rankings.

East Carolina is No. 8 in the NCAA in total defense over the past five seasons, allowing only 259.00 yards per game. Michigan tops the list at 230.11.

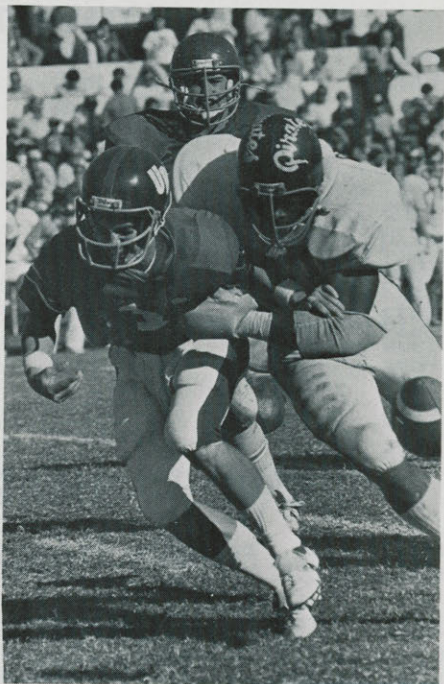

The Pirates are No. 15 in rushing defense for the period at 149.11 yards per game with Michigan again leading at 113.95 yards per outing.

In pass defense, East Carolina is No. 17 yielding 109.89 yards, while Vanderbilt heads that chart at 101.64 yards allowed per game.

East Carolina stands at No. 11 in scoring defense permitting only 12.98 points per game, while Michigan leads the nation at 8.31.

On offense, the Pirates have the nation's ninth most productive rushing team over the past five years with a 272.49 per game average. Another wishbone team leads, Oklahoma at 365.15 yards. Appalachian State is the next closest team in the state at 248.07, ranking 20th.

In the all-important won-lost category, the Pirates rank 19th in the NCAA for the past five seasons with a 40-15 regular season record.

East Carolina currently has the fourth longest streak of consecutive games without being shut out, have extended the count to 87. Oklahoma has not been shut out in its last 143 games, while Southern California owns a skein of 131 and N.C. State has scored in 94 straight games.

PIRATE FOOTBALL REPLAYS ON TELEVISION

For fans who were unable to see an East Carolina football game or want to see all the exciting action again, WITN-TV (Channel 7) in Washington will again telecast the entire East Carolina schedule this fall on a delayed basis each Sunday.

The one-hour edited production, which premiered a year ago, will feature all the important action and scoring plays from the previous day's game.

Sports Director Dick Jones and former all-Southern Conference running back Ken Strayhorn, also a member of the WITN-TV staff, will again handle the commentary for the games.

Head Coach

One of the top 12 football coaches in America with his winning percentage, East Carolina's Pat Dye has known no other way on the gridiron, striving for greater successes each fall.

Those who know him closely have been aware of his burning desire to have the Pirates in a post-season bowl game, so it should have come as no surprise when the Pirate mentor achieved that goal last fall with East Carolina's resounding 35-13 Independence Bowl decision over Louisiana Tech, the latest example of the success that has followed Dye through his football career.

He has enjoyed the sweet savor of victory and achievement throughout his football career, both as a player and as a coach.

The success which comes naturally is a result of hard work and dedication, another thing which is no surprise to those who really know the drive that this former Georgia all-America and Alabama assistant has beating within his heart.

His Pirate teams have been 7-4, 8-3, 9-2, 8-3, and 9-3 in five seasons, an impressive form chart for almost any school, but Dye is continuously striving for a better record, a bigger bounty each year for East Carolina.

His personal tenacity for the game is reflected in his players, a dedicated group that fought from a 4-3 record in mid-season last fall to the Independence Bowl and a final 9-3 mark. It would have been easy to be average, but Dye is not average and his team could not be either.

In short, Pat Dye is a winner and a worker, not a dreamer.

As a player, he won numerous honors in scholastic ranks and was named to Georgia's all-time team, then also starred professionally and in the service.

As an assistant coach for nine seasons at Alabama under the legendary Bear Bryant, he was an integral part of three national championship teams.

His record is dotted with championships and outstanding achievements, a true reflection of his personal dedication to the game he loves so much.

Dye looks for a challenge every day and reaches for any opportunity to improve East Carolina football, something he achieves with regularity. As good as his record is, he works daily to face the challenge of meeting and beating the best teams, playing regularly on television and receiving a bowl invitation.

For Pat Dye and the Pirates there is no substitute for winning — he loves it, works hard for it, and thrives on it.

SPORTS INFORMATION

The East Carolina Sports Information Department is a service arm of the University's athletic department, designed to coordinate the school's athletic public and media relations.

Under its director, Walt Atkins, the department is making a commitment to furthering its efforts and those of deserving student-workers, through a coordinated effort designed to offer those interested in the field the opportunity to gain first-hand experience during their undergraduate days.

While enrolled as full-time students, those selected for the sports information program have the opportunity to work on a day-to-day basis with the University's diverse athletic program. Under close supervision and instruction these students gain valuable experience in preparation of brochures and releases, press box operation and game administration, research, and work with the media.

Students chosen for the program have the opportunity to work with assigned sports throughout a given academic year.

As a part of the total sports information program offered by the University, the sports information director will again conduct a special instructional clinic for interested high school and junior high school coaches and their student aides who will be working with the media. This second annual three-hour clinic will be given prior to the Pirates' home opener, Saturday, Sept. 1 beginning at 9 a.m. The program will be free of charge, but reservations should be made in advance with the sports information office for those desiring to remain for the football game at 7 p.m. that same day against Western Carolina.

Further, the Director will hold the second annual Sports Media Seminar during the summer for those students desiring more intense personal instruction and concentrated practice in the skills of journalism and sports information work. Carefully-selected counselors and special lecturers will enhance the week-long program. Registration for this seminar will be restricted to a limited number. Reservations can be made through the sports information office.

THE PAT DYE SHOWS

East Carolina fans have plenty of chances to see and hear Pirate coach Pat Dye this fall with a regular schedule of weekly radio and television appearances scheduled.

Dye, who joined the nation's coaching elite with his No. 11 ranking on the list of active coaches with at least five years service, will have a 30-minute show on WITN-TV (Channel 7) in Washington, with Hub Burton of that station acting as host.

Dye will continue his popular telephone talk show on WRQR-FM (94.3) in Farmville with Steve Hardy again serving as the show's host.

For the first time this fall Dye can be heard on a 15-minute syndicated radio program on 20 stations across Eastern North Carolina. The sixth-year Pirate coach will discuss the East Carolina football program and important aspects of the sport across the state and the nation.

PIRATE FOOTBALL CAMP

Youngsters who have not graduated from high school have the opportunity each summer to learn the game from college coaches at East Carolina's annual football camp held at the end of June each year.

Participants will concentrate on individual skills during the week-long camp under the guidance of members of the East Carolina staff. The program includes recreation.

SPORTS MEDICINE

One of the most important parts of East Carolina's rise in athletic prominence has been its Sports Medicine Division, headed by Rod Compton, Director; Dr. James Bowman, Team Physician; Jim Keating and Liz White, Assistant Directors.

Compton is in his tenth year as Director of the program, while Dr. Bowman, in his ninth season, heads up a list of more than a dozen fine community-based professionals who lend valuable time to the program.

A Sports Medicine Curriculum has been added to the Health and Physical Education Department at East Carolina with Bowman, three associate team physicians from the campus infirmary, a team dentist and ten medical consultants in specialized fields all teaching in addition to Compton, Keating and White.

The "Sports Paramedics", as Compton refers to his staff, are in attendance at every athletic event that involves East Carolina, whether at home or on the road. As Compton describes his program, "The East Carolina Sports Medicine Division specializes in the best prevention, immediate treatment and rehabilitation of injuries possible."

Prevention, treatment and rehabilitation are the three main objectives of the Sports Medicine Division.

Prevention of injuries is the main goal at East Carolina. As evidence of the Sports Medicine's preventative practices, the 1976 and 1978 Pirate football teams had no knee injuries requiring surgery and the 1977 squad had only one knee injury requiring surgery.

When injuries do occur, Compton's staff gives quick on the spot treatment to make certain the injury does not become more serious.

The rehabilitation process of the Sports Medicine Division is near perfect, with players coming back off of injuries several games ahead of players from other schools.

Nine staff trainers provide capable assistance for Compton and Keating. They are brought through the curriculum and selected by the Director.

The Sports Medicine staff operates from an ultramodern center adjacent to Ficklen Stadium in addition to immediate treatment areas in Scales Field House and Minges Coliseum.

East Carolina's Sports Medicine Program is the only undergraduate athletic training program approved by the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) in eastern North Carolina and one of only two in the state. Compton, Keating and White are all Certified Trainers, as designated by the NATA.

PIRATE CLUB

The East Carolina University Educational Foundation, better known as the Pirate Club, is the athletic scholarship fund-raising organization for the University. All monies raised are used exclusively for scholarships for Pirate athletics and therefore all gifts are tax deductible.

Beginning with the basic contribution of $30, up through the life membership of $2000, a point system is in effect taking into consideration the annual as well as the total gift record, thus establishing a priority rating for such things as game tickets.

During the past two years the Foundation has enjoyed tremendous growth. Currently, membership stands at 3,000 with a total giving well in excess of $500,000. No longer a local booster's club, the Foundation has a broad base with over 50 local chapters in three states and the District of Columbia, as well as members throughout the United States.

Local members have the opportunity to hear the Pirate athletic staff and coaches as they visit these chapters during the spring of the year. Other benefits enjoyed include an option on priority season tickets, special parking for home games, use of the Pirate Club building, and newsletters to keep abreast of Pirate Club and East Carolina athletic news.

Now located in a newly-expanded and renovated facility, the Foundation offices are open from 8-12 and 1-5 Monday-Friday. Members, their guests, and visitors are welcome to stop by and look over the facility, as well as the entire athletics complex.

Gus Andrews, a Tarboro native, is in his fourth year as the Club's Director.

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

Following its motto, SERVIRE: To Serve, East Carolina University has become one of the South's most rapidly developing institutions of higher learning.

Its development has occurred in giant steps in the heart of a region described 25 years ago as a "sleeping giant," just then being stirred to awaken. Then during the last two decades especially, East Carolina experienced spectacular growth, mushrooming from a relatively small liberal arts college into a major university, the third largest in the state, with more than 12,000 students enrolled today.

East Carolina was given university status by an act of the General Assembly of North Carolina in 1967 and with it a mandate to raise and expand its programs and services. Four years later it became a constituent campus of the consolidated University of North Carolina system.

Today, East Carolina has 18 academic departments in its College of Arts and Sciences, nine professional schools including North Carolina's newest school of medicine, the General College, the Graduate School and the Division of Continuing Education.

East Carolina's professional schools are: Allied Health and Social Professions, Art, Business, Education, Home Economics, Medicine, Music, Nursing and Technology.

Undergraduate degrees are offered in 104 bachelor's degree programs along with 72 minor program concentrations. The Graduate School offers 65 master's degree program areas, six sixth-year programs and five programs granting doctoral degrees.

Leo W. Jenkins Fine Arts Center

The doctoral programs, in basic medical sciences, were approved by the Board of Governors in the fall of 1979. This authorization represents a special milestone in the progress of the University, placing it among the six private and public institutions in North Carolina to offer Ph.D. level graduate studies.

The School of Medicine offers four-year professional MD degrees.

Although its growth in size and new programs has been phenomenal, East Carolina University places emphasis upon academic excellence, upon quality rather than quantity.

Chancellor Thomas Brewer, installed last year as the seventh administrative chief since the founding of the school in 1907, has undertaken a number of projects to strengthen and promote academic achievement. He has moved to increase funding of faculty research activity and has established an improved teaching awards program. Plans are also being made for a fully-staffed faculty development center.

The academic process, Dr. Brewer said, "is the foundation of the university. Our central purpose must remain inviolate. We are an academic institution, and I pledge to you that we shall continue to be one."

He added, "One of my publicly stated goals for East Carolina University is that we must gather our forces and concentrate our energies and direct them towards even greater excellence."

East Carolina's physical growth is, in itself, a continuing wonder.

The original campus site—on which the first six buildings were constructed in 1908—has expanded to a 411-acre campus with 75 buildings. The campus physical plant is valued at nearly $100 million and is constantly being improved and beautified.

Wright Fountain

A large, modern medical school campus is being constructed on a site several miles west of the main campus in Greenville.

The athletic complex includes a newly-enlarged football stadium, expanded from 20,000 to more than 35,000 seats last year. Its press box and lighting are regarded as the finest facilities in the South.

Located in the mild, sunny climate of the Carolinas' coastal plain, East Carolina attracts the bulk of its student body from the 50 or so counties in the eastern tier of North Carolina and southeast Virginia, and from along the eastern seaboard as far north as New York and New England.

Greenville, N.C., itself is a pleasant, pretty city of some 35,000 population located in a rich agricultural region which is the world's leading producer of bright, flue-cured tobacco, and also a leader in production of peanuts, soybeans, cucumbers and other fruits and vegetables. Greenville is less than two hours drive from the famed Outer Banks of North Carolina and the beaches, seafood and recreation-rich Pamlico and Albemarle Sounds and other Atlantic coastal estuaries.

A great many of the more than 36,000 living alumni who have come to East Carolina from other states have chosen to stay in eastern North Carolina to live and work, and have become successful, prosperous and happy citizens of this growing region. There are many other alumni who were attracted to the school and its educational opportunities while serving in the armed forces at such nearby bases as the Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point Marine bases, Seymour-Johnson Air Force Base, or at Fort Bragg, N.C.

East Carolina's faculty of 750 highly-trained professors and academicians engages in research activity supported by some $5 million in annual funding. Remarkable growth of faculty research activity has been noted in recent years. The libraries contain collections of more than 500,000 bound volumes, 8,516 serial subscriptions, 600,000 units of microfilm, 5,201 phonodisc/tape recordings, 320 manuscript collections comprised of 500,000 items and the latest in library-loan systems. The Computer Center also has the latest in modern computer capability to serve the campus.

In all, East Carolina is fulfilling its potential as a university which is increasingly prominent as a center for educational opportunity and service.

Chancellor Brewer has described it thusly: "With its many programs and a distinguished faculty committed to research and teaching, East Carolina University is forever dedicated to its mission of education and service to North Carolina and her people."

CHANCELLOR THOMAS BREWER

Dr. Thomas B. Brewer became the seventh chief administrative official in the 71-year history of East Carolina University in 1978 when he was named the new chancellor to succeed the retiring Dr. Leo W. Jenkins.

Brewer, 45, a native of Fort Worth, Tex., served as Vice Chancellor and Dean of Texas Christian University for five years. He has also held teaching and administrative posts at universities in Texas, Ohio, Iowa and Kentucky.

Brewer holds the Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania in American History. He received B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Texas-Austin. As an undergraduate, he participated in the liberal arts honors program and held a United Daughters of the Confederacy scholarship.

As Vice Chancellor and Dean of the University at TCU, Brewer held responsibility for all academic programs, admissions and organized research, served as chairman of the University Council, ex-officio member of the Faculty Senate and as institutional representative on the interuniversity council.

As Dean of Arts and Sciences, he chaired the college curriculum committee and served on such committees as the university council, courses of study, university-wide teacher education, effective teaching and curriculum revision.

While at the University of Toledo (1968-71), he chaired the rules committee which rewrote the Arts and Sciences constitution and advisory personnel committee bylaws. He also helped develop a curriculum for a new Ph.D. program and total curriculum for a history department at Toledo which grew from 12 to 22 faulty members during his chairmanship.

Brewer has published books, book reviews and articles for scholarly journals and periodicals and biographies. He is general editor of the Railroads of America series, a projected series of 20 to 25 volumes of history of various American railroads being published by the MacMillan Company.

His current memberships include the Organization for American Historians, Business History Society, Economic History Association and American Association of Higher Education.

Brewer is married and the father of three children.

PIRATE SPORTS HALL OF FAME

The East Carolina Sports Hall of Fame was initiated in 1974 as an organization to honor those individuals who have, by their direct participation in East Carolina University intercollegiate athletics, brought outstanding recognition to themselves and to the University.

The first honorees were inducted during Homecoming festivities at halftime of the East Carolina-The Citadel football game. Ten members were selected for the first year. No more than four members may be selected for any one year in the future.

To be selected, a committee of five persons must vote with 80% of those giving their approval. Those five shall be the official selection committee.

To be eligible for selection, a person must not have been connected with the University in the capacity to which the nominee is being elected for a minimum of five academic years.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE ERA 1964-1977

The Southern Conference era for East Carolina athletics closed in June of 1977. During its tenure in the league the Pirates enjoyed good success.

The Southern Conference presents yearly the Commissioner's Cup, an award symbolic of the top overall athletic program in the league. Only two schools have ever won the cup, East Carolina University and the College of William and Mary.

Appropriately, the Pirates captured the Commissioner's Cup for the 1976-77 school year, East Carolina's final year in the Southern Conference.

East Carolina won the cup outright three times, in 1973-74, 1974-75 and 1976-77, and tied for the cup in 1969-70.

The Cup is presented each year to the school that compiles the most points as awarded by finish of each team in each sport.

CLARENCE STASAVICH MEMORIAL TROPHY

The Southern Conference, one of America's oldest athletic leagues, honored East Carolina University's late athletic director and football coach, Clarence Stasavich, by naming the league football championship trophy the Clarence Stasavich Memorial Trophy.

Appropriately, the Pirates of East Carolina won the trophy in 1970, its final year in the league, and the first year in which the trophy officially carried the name of Clarence Stasavich.

Stasavich was one of the prominent leaders in the Southern Conference from the time the Pirates joined the league in 1964 until his death in 1975.

PIRATE FOOTBALL CLINIC

Each spring, in conjunction with East Carolina's spring practice, the Pirate coaching staff conducts a clinic for high school and junior high school coaches and their staffs on the campus.

Alabama coach Paul "Bear" Bryant and two members of his staff, Mal Moore and Bill Oliver, were featured speakers at the 1979 Spring Clinic, along with an outstanding group of North Carolina high school coaches.

Pat Dye and other members of the Pirate coaching staff are available throughout the clinic. Those attending have the opportunity to watch East Carolina practice sessions in addition to hearing the lecture program.

Coaches interested in registering for the 1980 clinic should contact the Football Office, Scales Field House, East Carolina University, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

COVERING THE PIRATES

Members of the media moved into a new press box at Ficklen Stadium last fall. The Pirates provide a fine working facility for the media which includes adequate working space for 92 writers on the first floor, booths for radio and television personnel on the second level, and a covered camera deck on the third floor.

The press box, located atop the South sands, is accessible by elevator.

With this book goes an invitation to visit with us as often as possible for our home games, weekly news conferences and other such opportunities as you might have to be covering Pirate athletics.

If the sports information office can be of service for interviews, stories, photographs and slides, or special requests please don't hesitate to call on us at any time.

WORKING CREDENTIALS — All requests for working credentials and space for Ficklen Stadium games should be made in writing as far as possible in advance to the sports information director. Requests should come from sports editors and sports directors only and will be screened to insure proper working conditions in the press box.

PARKING — A limited number of media parking passes are available to those receiving working credentials to East Carolina games. Requests should be made to the sports information director.

COPY TRANSMISSION — Several telephones and two telecopiers will be available on a first-come, first-served basis for those writers desiring to file via telecopier. Those desiring exclusive use of a telephone may contact Carolina Telephone (919-758-9111) to have a telephone installed at your seat as there are individual telephone jacks and electrical outlets at each seat on the working press level. Writers are urged to bring telecopiers to each game if at all possible.

PHOTOGRAPHER PASSES — Photo passes are valid on the third floor of the press box. Those desiring to work at field level must check in on the first floor of the press box to receive an arm band which will be valid for the sidelines, outside the team beach areas. This procedure will insure good working conditions on the sidelines as requests will be screened closely for that area.

NEWS CONFERENCES — East Carolina coach Pat Dye and his players will be available to the media each Wednesday at a news conference and luncheon to be held at the athletic training table, located in Jones Dormitory. Transportation will be provided from Minges Coliseum as parking in that area is limited. Requests for interviews with specific players should be made in advance to the sports information office. Radio and television interviews can commence at 11:30 a.m. with lunch to be served at noon to be followed immediately by a news conference with coach Dye.

PAT DYE'S COMMENTS ON SOME PIRATE STARS

"MIKE BREWINGTON has had some great moments for us in three years. He is one of the top linebackers and football players in America. He's the most overpowering linebacker we've ever had. They don't fall forward when he hits 'em. You can talk about him in the same breath as any linebacker in the Big 10. He has made steady improvement throughout his career which is a tribute to him."

"CHARLIE CARTER is one of those unsung heroes, but a big key to our success. He's fast, one of the most aggressive players on the whole team, and has a great mind for the total scheme of defense."

"NOAH CLARK is a player with the knack for coming up with the big play, something you don't usually see in a tackle. He's not very big, but he is strong and has a fine pass rush."

"LEANDER GREEN is one of the most dangerous quarterbacks in the country. He had an outstanding spring and I'm sure he'll be outstanding this fall. He is a very determined individual who brings the offense to life. With his faking and reading, in addition to his speed, he is a threat to make any play go all the way."

"WILLIE HOLLEY is a player you'll notice more this year because of the kicking game, but he's been a steady cornerback all along and will continue to be. He has a knack for finding the football when the other team throws it and hits hard coming up on the run, too."

"WAYNE INMAN is the type of lineman every college team needs, consistent, durable and versatile. He can pass protect, block straight ahead or pull for the wide plays and traps, and sustain each block as long as he needs to. He's a veteran and it shows in his play."

"MITCHELL JOHNSTON was our most outstanding lineman at the end of the season last year and should pick up right where he left off. He can really play either guard or tackle well which indicates his blend of quickness and strength. He could play every snap if we needed it."

THEODORE SUTTON began as a walk-on, but it didn't take long for us to realize our mistake. He has a great inside move and can power through tackles. He's a great example for young America of what perseverance can do."

"JEFFREY WARREN is a player some might think of as our other linebacker, but keep your eyes on him for some action this fall. He hits like each tackle might be his last chance, but he's going to be a big name before he finishes his career."

"BILLY RAY WASHINGTON is a very versatile receiver who adds a lot to the meaning of tight end. He is deep threat there and a fine blocker when we aren't throwing the ball. He's not big, but he sustains blocks well and is potentially a pro receiver."
