ADA BLACKJACK

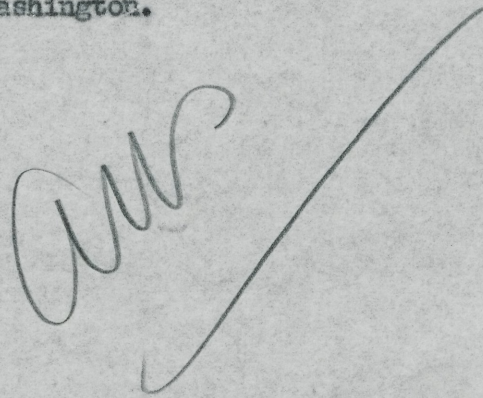

Dear Carl:

As you see by the enclosed copy of a letter from Ada Blackjack of June 23 and carbon of my reply, her pathetic case is up again. As you may remember, after we had paid her two or three times as much as agreed upon, and after we had also made her several money gifts, somebody discovered her destitute in Alaska and started a campaign to the effect that she had never been paid. I remember you helped me on several occasions with her but do not remember whether you came into this newspaper case.

I do not think anyone needs to do anything now but I would, as always, value your advice. You note that in my letter I refer to Miss Andrus and Mrs. Fletcher, both of whom did a great deal for Ada in those days on my behalf. I do not now have the direct address of either but am sending both the same copies I am sending you, as well as a carbon of this letter.

You are probably in Alaska now, and I am hoping this letter and the enclosures will be read by whoever is in charge of the Seattle office.

Mr. Carl J. Lomen

Alan Pegg:

Stuckey for you, you are no longer in the Spokane - Seattle orbit.
