Alabama Judge Moves To Defy Federal Court Order

CLAYTON, Ala. (AP)—Circuit Judge George C. Wallace was expected today to turn voter registration records over to grand juries in two Alabama counties in defiance of a federal court order.

Greenville Man Killed In Wreck

JAMESVILLE—A Greenville insurance representative, Milton E. Clark, 38, met his death in an auto accident near here Saturday night when his automobile skidded into an embankment. With him was his wife, Jean, who was injured.

Whether agents of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission would be allowed to see the records in connection with their investigation of Negro voting complaints would be a matter for the grand jury to decide.

Federal Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., in Montgomery ordered Wallace to make the registration files in Barbour and Bullock counties available to federal agents between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. today and Tuesday.

Wallace, runner-up in the race for governor last spring, has refused to release the records to the Civil Rights Commission except for the file on four Negroes who charged they were denied the right to vote.

Johnson has ordered all registration and voting records in the two counties turned over to the federal agents for inspection.

Attorneys for Wallace have hinted Johnson's order will be appealed.

Tryon Palace To Offer 'Preview'

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—Restored Tryon Palace will be opened Jan. 22 for a one-day preview, in connection with the annual winter ceremonial of the Sudan Shrine Temple.

Persons taking advantage of the early showing will be admitted for $1.50. This is less than the proposed charge when it is opened permanently in April.

The building and grounds were the home of Gov. William Tryon, pre-Revolutionary governor.

Johnson has set a hearing for Wednesday to see if Wallace obeyed the decree to show the files.

Federal floodlights focused on the Alabama jurist Friday when investigators told a commission meeting Wallace failed to comply with a compromise agreement providing his and Macon County records could be examined. They said Macon officials cooperated.

Commission Chairman John Hannah, acting through the U.S. Attorney General's office, then obtained the ultimatum from Johnson.

Under the compromise last Monday agents were to see relevant records. Wallace contended he agreed to show the only relevant records — those of four Negroes who charged discrimination in Barbour and Bullock counties. Agents wanted access to the entire file.

Indicate Tighter Grip On Children

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A Nationalist Chinese government news agency reported today that the Chinese Communists plan to take complete control of small children in communes by making the day nurseries round-the-clock affairs.

At present, mothers leave their children in the nurseries while they are at work. But the Taitao News Agency said the Reds would extend the youngsters' nursery time to exercise stricter control over education and to get even more work out of the mothers.

Flooded Village's Toll Reaches 153

ZAMORA, Spain (AP)—The toll of dead and missing in the Rivaldelago flood has reached 153 and still is not complete. Most of the victims were old men, women and children.

They lost their lives early Friday when a dam on Lake Sanabria burst and inundated Rivaldelago, a village of 500 just north of the Portuguese border.

On Trial Again For Bombing Of Jewish Temple

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—George Bright was scheduled to go on trial today on a newly phrased charge of dynamiting the Jewish Temple. His first trial ended in a mistrial.

A new count was added to the indictment on Dec. 23. It called for sentences of from 1 to 20 years for persons convicted of blowing up buildings in which no one lives.

The original one-count indictment called for the death penalty or life in prison for persons convicted of bombing dwellings or houses within the limits of a city.

Small Dwelling Is Destroyed By Fire Last Night

CHICOD SCHOOL — A four-room dwelling located near here was destroyed by fire last night. The frame house was occupied by Bruce Scott who was watching television at home at the time the blaze broke out.

Most of the kitchen appliances were carried from the house before the flames spread throughout.

The fire apparently started at a chimney and Greenville firemen said the blaze was caused by a heater.

Scott said he was watching a television program when he heard a car horn blowing outside and his dog began barking. That called his attention to the fire which by then was burning in the top of the house.

The motorist who warned Scott of the blaze was identified as Jerry Gaskins.

Scott, a lumber mill employee, was home alone at the time the fire broke out. Upon learning of the blaze he and neighbors who came to the scene began moving furnishings from the dwelling.

They managed to save a fully-loaded deep freeze, washing machine, cook stove and refrigerator among other items.

Scott injured two fingers in moving the appliances.

Greenville firemen were called to the scene but the dwelling was blazing when they arrived. They used their water supply in preventing the spread of the blaze.

Jesse Adams, a farmer who lives nearby, said he saw the fire from his house. By the time he got to the Scott dwelling it was "burning all over," Adams stated.

Scott said he had insurance on the house furnishings. The house was owned by Harvey Smith, it was reported.

Greenville firemen were called to the scene around 8:15 p.m. They returned to Greenville around 9:25.

Correspondent Jules DuBols of the Chicago Tribune reported that the mutilated bodies of 180 anti-Batista prisoners were found Sunday in a mass grave on the outskirts of San Cristobal, 60 miles west of Havana.

Military authorities in Manzanillo announced Sunday that Cubans will not be allowed to witness the firing squad executions of Batista supporters. But they will be allowed to see the bodies afterward.

The announcement came after a crowd of 3,000 attended the execution Saturday in Manzanillo of six Batista supporters convicted by a military court. The announcement said public executions do not conform "with our culture."

In the television interview Castro repeatedly insisted that the provisional government is being guided by public opinion and not by force.

Castro said on the television program that his impressions of the United States improved last year when military assistance to Batista was halted. He added he was happy the United States was quick to recognize the rebel regime.

Castro also said his 26th of July Movement is in a secure position. He said, however, that within the student-backed Revolutionary Directorate, another anti-Batista group, are "two or three small leaders trying to play with fire, but they won't go far because no one will be following them."

Directorate troops Sunday began moving out of the University of Havana and the board of governors was working on plans to reopen the university. It has been closed since Castro started his revolution.

President To Meet With Mikoyan At White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will meet with Soviet Premier Mikoyan at the White House Saturday.

The conference will take place in the President's office at 9 a.m. (EST). Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said no time limit has been set for the meeting.

Secretary of State Dulles and perhaps some other officials will be present. Hagerty said.

No further details were given but the meeting presumably will be a general review of East-West relations with emphasis on the Berlin situation.

Eisenhower is expected to impress upon Premier Nikita Khrushchev's top deputy that the Western Allies have no intention of abandoning West Berlin or creating a neutralized Germany.

The Soviet visitor met with both Dulles and Vice President Nixon a week ago before starting his present tour around the country.

Interests in the forthcoming discussions was sharpened over the weekend by two surprise Moscow moves.

1. In notes to the United States and 26 other countries that fought Nazi forces in World War II, the Soviet government proposed a 28-nation conference to meet at Warsaw or Prague in two months to write a German peace treaty. The 12-page note was accompanied by a 25-page detailed outline for a treaty, including provision for withdrawal of Western and Soviet troops from Germany and a ban on German membership in any military alliance. West Germany is a member of NATO.

2. In a second note Saturday night, the Soviet Union called for resumption of East-West talks on the problem of preventing surprise attack in the nuclear missile age. The United States responded promptly with a statement saying it favors resuming the talks — which broke down at Geneva Dec. 18 — but wants an agreement with the Soviet Union on the range of problems they should deal with.

Both notes were received at the State Department Sunday. But even before the German peace treaty plan came in, officials said on the basis of a Moscow announcement Saturday that it was clearly unacceptable. They expressed hope that detailed study might open up an opportunity for some constructive counter proposal, however.

One of the provisions of the Soviet plan for Germany was that West Berlin should be converted into an unarmed free city united with East and West Germany.

Pending unification, the proposed peace treaty would be made with both the Communist East German regime — which the Western powers have declined to recognize — and the anti-Communist West German regime.

Mikoyan in his talks in Washington and other cities has given no evidence of any weakening of Soviet policy on German questions.

If Mikoyan came here with any really new propositions or concessions in his pocket, they are still there, but many U.S. officials feel that he may spring a surprise when he sees Eisenhower.

The basis of this reasoning is that Soviet leaders, notably Khrushchev, have made no effort to hide their dislike of Secretary Dulles. It is felt, therefore, that if Khrushchev had an important card to play he would prefer that the play be made to Eisenhower rather than Dulles.

Mikoyan's visit with Nixon apparently was cordial. Their discussion included a tentative invitation for Nixon to visit the Soviet Union, but the vice president replied that would be difficult to arrange.

Baby Kidnaped From Hospital Is Safe, Mother Of Eight Charged

NEW YORK (AP)—A mother of eight children was booked today on a kidnap charge, a few hours after 10-day-old Lisa Chionchio was found unharmed and well in a Brooklyn apartment.

The woman, Jeanne Iavarone, 43, protested all night that she was innocent. Police said she had been married twice and had eight children, seven of them living and in other homes, including four in orphanages or foster homes. The youngest is 3, police said. A son, 23, died last summer, according to police.

"There is no doubt, on the basis of scientific evidence, that she took the child," said Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. J. Kenneth McCabe. He said the infant, snatched from St. Peter's Hospital nursery 2 hours after she was born Jan. 2, had apparently been kept in Mrs. Iavarone's furnished flat in Brooklyn ever since.

The woman quit her job as a credit clerk in a Brooklyn department store on the day the baby disappeared, police said.

Officials said the woman claims she gave birth to the child herself Jan. 2 alone in her second-floor apartment.

"She insists the baby is hers," McCabe said. He said fingerprints of the kidnaped girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Chionchio, and those of the recovered baby are identical.

He also said there was a small mark on the baby's left eyelid, as described by the father.

The 5-foot-6 Mrs. Iavarone, a woman with stringy, reddish-blond hair and rose-tinted fingernails, held the front of her dark coat over her face as she was taken to a precinct house for booking.

McCabe said Mrs. Iavarone was married in 1933 to John Getch and divorced in 1940, and in 1942 or '43 married Peter Morello in Hoboken, N.J.

Morello died Dec. 18, 1956, and McCabe said the woman has been living alone.

McCabe said she uses her maiden name.

Her children were listed as Francis Anthony Getch, 21, of Brooklyn; Peter Morello, 16, and Frances Morello, 15, Brooklyn; Vincent Morello, 13, and Michael Morello, 8, at the Little Flower Home of Providence, a Catholic orphanage at Wading River, N.Y.; Rudy Morello, 6, and Anthony Morello, 3, both in private foster homes.

The eighth child, of the first marriage, John Robert Getch, 23, died last September.

McCabe said some of Mrs. Iavarone's children had been born in St. Peter's Hospital, from which the Chionchio baby was taken.

During the night, police questioned numerous residents of the vicinity, including neighbors in the building.

One of them was a woman who helped Mrs. Iavarone switch the color of her hair from platinum blonde to its present color with home bleach treatment, several days ago, McCabe said.

Hospital attendants had described the kidnaper as a silvery blonde. Mrs. Iavarone said she changed the hue because of a personal whim, the prosecutor said.

The penalty for kidnaping, when the child is recovered alive, is 20 years to life in prison.

First positive identification of the baby was announced by the FBI, quoting the father, Frank Chionchio, 28, a lawyer for the Port of New York Authority, said he recognized the baby on the basis of a "general family resemblance" and a small scar over the left eye he had noticed the night the baby was born.

"I feel very happy," Chionchio said as he left the hospital to rejoin his wife, Frances, 26. She has been staying with her parents in Brooklyn.

Leggett said the baby "certainly" is the Chionchio child. He indicated the footprint of the baby found in the apartment matched the footprint of the Chionchio baby taken shortly after birth. He said the comparison was "okay."

The blood type of the baby was identical with that of Mrs. Chionchio, the FBI said, but did not correspond to Mrs. Iavarone's.

Leggett said medical examination showed that Mrs. Iavarone did not bear a child nine days ago.

He said the woman took "good care" of the baby. "She had plenty of experience caring for children of her own," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate starts voting today on specific proposals to make it easier to choke off filibusters.

Up for action at the outset was a proposed change in Senate rules to allow a majority of the Senate, or 50 of the 98 members, to cut off a filibuster after 15 days.

Under present rules, it takes the votes of 66 senators, or two-thirds of all 98 senators, to halt a filibuster and force an issue to a vote.

The proposal for debate limitation by majority vote was offered by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) for a coalition of Northern and Western senators led by himself and Sens. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) and Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.).

It was in the form of an amendment to a resolution by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas under which filibusters could be shut off by two-thirds of the senators present and voting.

Even before the vote on the Douglas amendment, its sponsors conceded it had virtually no chance of adoption. But they had higher hopes for another amendment by Sen. Thurston Morton (R-Ky.), which would allow a debate cutoff by three-fifths of the senators present and voting.

Case said he believes the three-fifths figure has a real chance of adoption, and Vice President Nixon was represented during the weekend as believing that it stands a better chance of Senate approval than any other.

But Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) the new Senate GOP leader, said in a television interview Sunday he expects Johnson's proposal to be adopted. He said he based that view on checks with members of both parties.

Both Dirksen and Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), the assistant Democratic leader, predicted also the present Congress will pass some civil rights legislation, but did not say what they expected.

Johnson's resolution has the backing of top Senate leaders of both parties, except for Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), the new GOP whip, or assistant leader.

It was designed as a compromise between Southern senators opposed to any change in the present rule and the coalition of Northern and Western senators demanding debate limitation by majority vote.

Executions Of Followers Of Batista Mount In Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Executions of the followers of former Dictator Fulgencio Batista are mounting in Cuba as the forces of rebel leader Fidel Castro continue to overrun the island.

Thus far about 50 Batista supporters have been executed. Nearly 3,000 are awaiting trial.

Asked on a U.S. television program Sunday why the Batista followers were being executed without open trials, Castro said, "There were not so many . . . two or three dozen criminals."

"They were judged," he said, adding that "if anyone killed 15 or 30 people, he has no right to live."

The interview was recorded in Havana Saturday.

Correspondent Jules DuBols of the Chicago Tribune reported that the mutilated bodies of 180 anti-Batista prisoners were found Sunday in a mass grave on the outskirts of San Cristobal, 60 miles west of Havana.

Military authorities in Manzanillo announced Sunday that Cubans will not be allowed to witness the firing squad executions of Batista supporters. But they will be allowed to see the bodies afterward.

Directorate troops Sunday began moving out of the University of Havana and the board of governors was working on plans to reopen the university. It has been closed since Castro started his revolution.

All public and private schools, closed since before Christmas, were ordered to reopen today.

The treasury minister of the revolutionary government said meanwhile that American investors are welcome in Cuba but only if they "bring their democratic ideals with them."

Temperatures will probably average 3 degrees above normal during week. Rising trend Tuesday and Wednesday, mild through Saturday. Little or no precipitation in sight.

Autopsy Shows Head Injuries Fatal For Greenville Woman

A post-mortem in the December death of Helen Edwards of Greenville shows that she died as a result of "severe injuries to the head and brain," according to Greenville Police Chief S. O. Gibbs.

Chief Gibbs, who released the report as spokesman for Greenville Police, the Pitt County Sheriff's Department and District Solicitor Robert D. Rouse Jr., said the cause of death was determined by pathologists at the Duke University Medical Center in Durham. The report is, the chief said, "as near as we can pin-point the legal-medical analysis" of Miss Edwards' death.

Thomas Abner Stocks, 41, former husband of the dead woman, has been charged with murder in the case. He is said to have taken Miss Edwards from the home of Mrs. Max Minges on East Tenth Street on the night of December 20. Miss Edwards' body was later found on lead-over Hardee's Creek near the Greenville Port Terminal.

Stocks is also charged with felonious assault in the shooting of E. Harvey (Duck) Lewis prior to abducting Miss Edwards. Lewis received treatment at Pitt Memorial Hospital for a gunshot wound in the chest.

The accused man is presently a patient in Central Prison Hospital where he was transferred for treatment of a broken spine and other injuries which he received when his automobile was demolished in a high-speed chase with law enforcement officers.

Chief Gibbs quoted Solicitor Rouse as saying Stocks would not be tried during the January term of Pitt County Superior Court. Tentative plans are for the trial to be held during a two-weeks criminal term of court scheduled for March.

According to Chief Gibbs, the post-mortem report made no mention of a handkerchief found knotted around Miss Edwards' throat.

The report was received from Duke officials Saturday. Chief Gibbs said.

Georgia Segregation Practices Reel Under Two Court Blows

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Georgia segregation practices reeled today in the wake of two sharp blows by federal district judges.

Judge Boyd Sloan ruled Saturday that Negroes can not be denied admission to the Georgia State College of Business Administration in Atlanta on the basis of race and color alone.

His ruling came one day after Dist. Judge Frank Hooper ordered desegregated seating on Atlanta buses and trolleys.

Gov.-elect Ernest Vandiver suggested that the university system temporarily stop accepting new applications for admission to the 19 state colleges and universities, and Regents Chairman Robert Arnold said this would be done.

Vandiver, who becomes governor Tuesday, reportedly is planning to ask the legislature to pass laws closing state Negro colleges if any white units shut as the result of being ordered to integrate.

Vandiver also said he will ask the lawmakers, who convene today, to approve bills designed to close individual schools rather than entire school systems if integration is ordered. Present laws call for closing entire school districts if one school in the district is integrated.

Appearing on an Atlanta television program, Vandiver added that the proposal would give the governor power to shut any school from which Negroes transfer.

While applying only to the Atlanta College, Sloan's order struck down as "discriminatory" a key university system rule for maintaining segregation — that applicants be endorsed by alumni of the school they wish to enter.

The state probably will appeal Sloan's broad order, although the judge did not actually order the plaintiffs — three Negro women — admitted to the college. He said they were qualified to apply and have their applications considered.

Thus it will be some time yet before a Negro may actually be admitted to a previously all-white state college. Under state law that would close the institution by cutting off its funds.

There also has been no sign of a break in the custom of Negroes using rear seats on Atlanta buses and trolleys. After segregated seating was outlawed Negro leaders indicated, it will be at least two weeks before any organized move is launched toward desegregated seating.

30 Years Ago Today

January 12, 1929

Evans Street School, the oldest of the public school buildings of this city, was wrecked by fire of undetermined origin this morning. The building and equipment were insured for $45,000, which will completely cover the loss, J. H. Rose, superintendent of schools, stated this afternoon. The building housed the Public Library. The library, containing several thousand books, was a complete loss. It was insured for approximately $9,000. The fire was discovered in the basement this morning shortly after 9 o'clock by Miss Louise Galphin, principal. Evacuation of the building took place so quietly that children didn't know of the fire until they were safely outside the building and had been instructed to go home.

The Road To Glamor Never Runs Smooth

By VIVIAN BROWN
 WHAT'S WITH your reducing goal? If you are like most women, you aren't happy with whatever is happening along those lines. Either you starve and don't show a loss, or lose quickly and gain it all back a few days after you give up your imbalanced diet. As one girl writes:

"I have been trying for years to lose four pounds. I need to lose 15, but I have tried the short-term goal, hoping that once I lose a few pounds, the rest will come easy. I manage to lose two or three pounds, and then before I can go on, I have gained it all back. The whole idea of reducing is a great mystery to me. Is there any sure method of losing weight and keeping it off?"

Diet Blues
 The reason most Americans are overweight is that they eat too much and exercise too little. When you reach the point where you have lost two or three pounds, you probably have established your calorie requirements, and just eating a little less than your norm results in the weight loss. Eat slowly, chew your food well, and continue to eat the minimal food intake for good health, and you should lose. You should not skip meals or give up one food completely, however. Eat a wide variety of foods, and you will probably not overeat of one calorie-high food such as carbohydrates. There are some people who eat a great deal more than they need because of boredom and frustrations. Develop a hobby and you may forget about the dinner table.

Foot Woes
 Are you foot-happy? Most people fall into the other category suffering from corns, bunions and callouses, as this letter indicates: "I am a real foot sufferer. My feet are very attractive, but minor problems—callous and a shrunken tendon in my small toe make me feel miserably a great deal of the time. My feet ache just from walking through a department store or taking a stroll. By the end of the work day, I am ready for bed. How do average people keep their feet healthy so that they do not have these complaints?"

Feet need constant care as you grow older. A hot foot bath at night, using a foot soap or a specially prepared foot therapy, may help your feet to feel lighter all the time. The bottled preparations have minerals formulated especially for foot relaxation. The important thing with foot care is to be consistent. You can't wait until your feet hurt, and then expect miracles when you give yourself a treatment. Keep the callouses off with pumice and the nightly foot soaking. Use little pads at the first sign of toughness on a toe that may ease your entire problem considerably. If your feet have a tendency to perspire, shake foot powder into your shoes before putting them on.

FOOT THERAPY — There's nothing better for weary feet than a good soaking.

How to dress up a soup: add miniature meat balls that have been well-browned in butter or margarine. Tomato-riced, split pea and mixed vegetable soups all benefit from this treatment, as do broths.

There are fewer cherries in commercial pie fillings than in cans of cherries of comparable weight. Starch mixtures add weight to the pie fillings.

Three-State Hunt For Big Theft Ring Leader

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—Police in West Virginia, Virginia and North Carolina today are looking for a man believed to be the ring leader of a three-state theft, burglary and safe-cracking ring.

Three persons have been arrested and at least a dozen are expected to be brought in this week. But the alleged ring leader was reported to be headed for North Carolina with a roll of money.

He was identified as Ira Mathena, 45. Authorities said some property stolen at Winston-Salem, N.C. and elsewhere was seized by officers Friday at a house owned by Mathena in Greensboro, N.C. Mathena reportedly fled from Bluefield when officers closed in on the theft ring.

Officers in Winston-Salem quoted Mathena as saying he would be killed before allowing himself to be arrested. They said he is armed.

Police said the theft ring — described as one of the most perfect in this area's history — was at least a $100,000 a year operation. Authorities said it operated as far south as the Winston-Salem and Greensboro areas.

The ring is believed to have been in operation about two years. Police have recovered $10,000 worth of jewelry, watches, guns, radios, television sets, building supplies, automotive accessories

Pravda Reports Cosmic Rocket In Solar Orbit

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's new cosmic rocket has steered itself past the moon and into orbit around the sun, Pravda reported today.

The Communist party newspaper in a two-page article on interplanetary flight, said the missile launched Jan. 2 utilized an automatic guidance system which kept it on a predetermined trajectory and regulated its final speed.

The Soviet rocket was launched vertically from a point in the Soviet Union, said Pravda, then entered its assigned trajectory under its own self-contained guidance system.

With the lengthy scientific article — which disclosed on additional details of the rocket itself or the site of its blast-off — Pravda published a series of photographs and charts on its latest space entry.

These showed the rocket's instruments and battery containers prior to installation in the missile, and charts of the rocket's flight and its final orbit around the sun.

As viewed from earth, the Soviet rocket flashed above and to the right of the moon in its flight into space, Pravda said.

As it passed the moon, that planet's gravitational pull changed its course somewhat. But the automatic controls corrected its flight path.

Pravda's long study included data on the 34-hour flight to pass the moon, a description of the final stage of the rocket with its instrument chamber, a detailed description of the instruments aboard and details of research problems connected with the flight.

It described the new Soviet planet as it entered orbit around the sun as "the rocket's final stage with its instruments linked with the preceding stage."

President's Message Offers Classic Issue

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The President's sermon on thrift to the Congress and to the American people is based on the practically unchallenged thesis:

Only by prudent economy can the nation ward off further inflation. But will it try?

The rub comes in this: Will the Congress, and the people it represents, care enough about fighting a future and somewhat nebulous inflation to do without the present sugar plums the President's new economy drive proposes to withhold?

Supposing the Congress goes along — and the President points out that Congress alone holds the purse strings — many industries will be cut off from some orders they would get from freer federal spending. The first economy drive some two years ago showed how quickly some industries could be hurt when Uncle Sam tightened up on his spending.

The President offers the classic indictment of government spending in excess of income, with the end result of whitening away the purchasing power of the dollar:

"Inflation is not a Robin Hood, taking from the rich to give to the poor. Rather, it deals most cruelly with those who can least protect themselves. It strikes hardest those millions of our citizens whose incomes do not quickly rise with the cost of living."

The proposed economy would end the federal deficit financing, which the President lists along with the wage-price spiral as basic causes of inflation.

It Congress fools the experts and approves tight budgeting, what would it do to present business expectations?

A realistic appraisal of most of the predictions of god times in 1959 shows that one of the factors they strongly count upon is a rise in government spending — at the federal, state and local levels — and spending beyond the amounts the President says he will propose to Congress.

In dollar volume defense spending would be as high as expected — the President approves a slight increase in the coming year. The uncertainty to be dissolved when the detailed budget and defense department programs are spelled

Thirty-Six Die In Airliner Crash

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Thirty-six persons were killed when a West German airliner crashed and burned Sunday as it attempted a landing in heavy rain at Galeao International Airport.

Three crew members were the only survivors. Seven other crew members and 29 passengers were killed.

Among the dead were the American pilot, Capt. Wren McMains, 48, of Stamford, Conn., and 24-year-old Countess Maria Elena Kottulinsky of Vienna, the daughter of Princess Ileana of Romania who now lives in Newtown, Mass.

Count Jaroslav Kottulinsky died with his wife.

The four-engine Super Constellation of the Lufthansa Airline was en route to Rio from Europe and Africa. A wingtip struck the mud of the marsh at the edge of Guanabara Bay about two miles from the airport as the pilot tried to line up with a runway.

"We could see passengers at the windows banging for help and screaming as they tried to get out," a fisherman at the scene reported.

It was Lufthansa's first fatal crash since it began postwar operations in April 1955.

McMains, a native of Lebanon, Ind., was loaned to Lufthansa by Trans World Airlines in 1955. He had been flying for TWA since 1941 and was the father of four children.

Another passenger killed was Gary Levy, 38, chief representative in Latin American of the British Reuters news agency.

Hans Christian Andersen, Danish writer of fairy tales, died in 1875. But his delightful works live on.

Two Cars Crash Into Train, Four Tar Heels Dead

MCCOLL, S.C. (AP)—Two automobiles smashed into a freight train at a crossing here Saturday night, killing four young North Carolinians and injuring four. Police report the cars may have been racing after leaving a roadside nightspot a mile away.

Police Chief Alfred Meggs drew the racing inference from skid marks at a Seaboard Air Line Railroad crossing.

The officer said the death car apparently had drawn to a stop, or was doing so, when it was pushed in front of the engine by the following car, which careened on to hit the engine.

The death car was then pushed 600 yards and the following car dragged 100 yards, the officer said.

Killed were Johnny W. Beasley, 21, Charles B. Sibbit, 21, and Lacey Moody Jr., 22, all of Maxton, N.C., and Elizabeth Norton, 17, of Laurinburg, N.C.

In fair condition at hospitals were Lindergh Chavis, Everton Chavis, Billy Scott and Carol Hogan, all of Laurinburg.

Only 12 miles or so separate McColl, Laurinburg and Maxton.

Albany, the capitol of New York State, was first named Fort Nassau, then renamed Fort Orange. The British named it Albany in 1664. Albany was one of the titles of King James II.

Career Diplomat Expected To Be Assigned Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next United States ambassador to Cuba probably will be a career diplomat, diplomatic sources indicated today.

Earl E. T. Smith, who had been in disfavor with Fidel Castro's revolutionary movement, resigned Saturday as American ambassador to Cuba.

The resignation came unexpectedly, only a few days after Smith had returned to Havana from a series of State Department consultations here.

President Eisenhower expressed regret in accepting the resignation. He did not say when he would name Smith's successor.

Castro had accused Smith of working with ousted Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista, but Washington officials had denied the charge.

The United States recognized the new provisional government in Havana a week after Batista's overthrow.

Grammar School Burns To Ground

SPARTANBURG (AP)—A 30-year-old grammar school near here was destroyed by fire Sunday.

The Wellford Grammar School, valued at about $250,000, burned to the ground.

Some classroom desks and equipment were saved.

P. E. Gravelly, an official of the school, estimated the loss on the basis of replacement costs.

Trucks from six fire departments answered but were unable to stem the furious course of the fire in the brick structure.

The school enrollment was 335. School officials said they will set up makeshift measures to keep classes going.

'Life Insurance' Spelled Release

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Some people hear the words "life insurance" and shudder. Or is it stutter?

Anyway, laborer Herman Cosby, 33, said both without a falter and walked out of Superior Court a free man.

Cosby was picked up by police after a drive-in cafe was robbed by a bandit who stammeringly told his victim:

"I hope your life insurance is in order."

The victim, who was unharmed, said Cosby resembled the gunman.

In Court on a robbery charge, Cosby took the stand in his own defense and repeated the bandit's line without a stutter. Friends testified Cosby had never had a speech impediment.

"Good enough for me," the court decided. "Innocent."

Ataturk, first president of the Turkish republic, was not the only member of his family to establish a "first." His adopted daughter, Sabiha Gokcen, was the world's first woman military pilot.

Beggar Carried A Sizeable Sum

NEW YORK (AP)—Maybe beggars can't always be choosers, but Patrick Creel, 54, apparently was begging by choice.

When police arrested Creel for panhandling Friday, he was wearing two jackets, two overcoats and carrying $5,450 in his pockets.

The cash was in eight frayed paper bags, wrapped in shoelaces. Fifty dollars were in silver.

Creel was ordered to Bellevue Hospital for mental observation.

Doe On Ice Was Hard To Rescue

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—Afloat on a floe was a doe. She was trapped, with no place to go. A coast guard lasso brought her in low.

And that was the end of her woe.

That is the saga of a deer floating down the Hudson River on a cold Sunday afternoon.

The Coast Guard cutter Mari-posa, out on ice patrol, spotted the deer and set out on a rescue mission.

Alarmed by the 180-foot ship, the doe kept skipping from floe to floe, like Eliza fleeing the hounds. It was more than an hour before the lasso found its mark.

A seaman scrambled onto the floe and tied the deer's legs so she wouldn't hurt herself when she was hauled aboard.

And then back to the woods she did go.

Odds Against An Economy Budget

The President's State of the Union message Friday raised the curtain on critical months of decision-making which will affect not only the United States but the course of future world history.

As might have been expected, the President's report had a lot of good news, some glum comments about rising costs, much optimism and promises replete with "ifs".

Of particular interest to a Congress heavily dominated by critical Democrats was the White House determination to push for a balanced budget of $77 billion.

In all honesty, this must be regarded as a laudable attempt at "fiscal responsibility". The big question is: can we afford it?

The basic costs of operating the government are pretty well fixed; only one big field is really open to variable outlays, and it is the biggest of all. That is national defense.

True, every member of Congress has some scheme for spending a million here and a million there; but when all the cards are on the table, the players bow to reality and stay within reasonable limits.

So the decision of remaining within the President's balanced budget or of going beyond his economy-package is going to rest largely on Congressional acceptance or rejection of estimated needs for national defense.

The odds today are that Congress will largely ignore the Eisenhower military estimates and dictate more spending for that field as well as prodding for changes in areas of strategic concepts.

Of course the reasons for this are many and they stem from an uncertainty which worries every member of the Congress.

True, record peacetime spendings have built the mightiest force for defense this country has ever known. But this in itself is no yardstick for security. It's what "the other fellow" has that counts; and in this instance "the other fellow" has been operating on a wartime economy ever since the close of World War II. Under such circumstances even a third-class power could become a first-class menace.

Russian accomplishments in the missile field have raised a lot of questions; so has the cutback in U. S. military manpower; and the whole complicated field of our strategic and tactical thinking has its critics and defenders.

Not even the vocal endorsement by our Chiefs of Staff are expected to curb apprehensions over the Eisenhower defense-on-a-budget program.

Real concern over pre-eminence of the United States in matters of military might is something rare except during an actual conflict. Today that concern is white-hot.

All this tends to the belief Congress will listen patiently to the coming budget message, then virtually re-write it to fit the lawmakers' estimation of what is needed rather than what the White House thinks the nation can afford.

Dan Cupid Won't Be Dismissed So Easily

Former vice president Henry Wallace's suggestion that voluntary health records be maintained by each individual to help young people choose the proper marriage partner probably won't get very far.

In a way, it's the logical answer to an old complaint that people pay more attention to the breeding of horses, cattle, pigs and other domestic animals than they do to the "blood lines" of the human race.

But such a system for humans is out of the question.

Dan Cupid might well be the guy who boasted "I shot an arrow into the air, and where it fell I know not where" . . . or words to that effect.

Occasionally the little fellow is a respecter of savings accounts, family fortunes and titles; but mostly his darts strike at random.

Can you imagine Love standing in the wings while a young Romeo asks his Juliet for her health record? Fantasy! Pure fantasy!

An Idea Begins To Bear Fruit

By LYNN NISBET

FRUIT — A dream that became a thought-germ and developed into an idea that was planted in fertile soil has become a fruit-bearing plant. The dream was to make fuller use of the human, mental and physical resources of the three great educational institutions — Carolina, Duke and State College.

Tangible realization of that dream, although still in a small way in light of potentials, was announced the other day of the formation of three non-stock profit corporations with working capital of a million and a half dollars to promote research. Coincident with announcement of these service groups was positive assurance that one of the big outfits in the United States engaged in aviation and missile research has taken option on land in the Research Triangle Park for erection of buildings.

Plans are on the drawing board for adequate buildings to house the Research Institute, the Research Foundation and the Research Triangle Park as the central unit in the proposed development on 4,200 acres of land situated about the center of the triangle formed by Chapel Hill, Durham and Raleigh.

More than a quarter century ago men like Edward Kidder Graham, Howard Odum, William Preston Few and others gave thought to fuller cooperation in using facilities of their institutions. Soon after Luther Hodges became Governor of North Carolina he enlisted cooperation of leading business men in efforts toward organizing facilities.

DEVELOPMENT — First step was an inventory of scientific resources, human and physical — including laboratories and libraries. The result of the inventory was surprising even to those who knew something of the potentials. About three years ago a Triangle Research Committee was organized, its activities financed by contributions from public spirited citizens. With a guarantee of some $30,000 a year for three years the committee began work.

Next step was to persuade Earl Robbins, retired textile executive now living in New York, to acquire land for a central research park establishment as a business venture. The idea grew faster than money could be found to finance it as profit-motive business. So about a year ago a movement was started to convert the profit corporation into a quasi-public non-profit non-tax foundation, to which public spirited men might make contributions. This transition was effected within the past three weeks.

Meanwhile Robbins and others, including the Governor, Robert M. Hanes, George Watts Hill, William P. Saunders, and several more, had advanced money for stock in the original corporation without expectation of profit. Under the new plan they will receive this investment back in time — if the project succeeds, except the substantial donations to the new foundation. All profits from sale of land and operations will be plowed back into the foundation.

Activities of the three corporations will be roughly divided into business operations, education and direct research. TRIPD — The Research Park (technically the Pinelands Company, Inc.) has title to the land and responsibility for providing such facilities as power, roads, water and sewerage. Land will be sold to firms desiring to locate and profits will go into the Foundation fund.

The Foundation will support with grants and loans some phases of actual research carried on by the Institute either on its own or jointly with the participating universities. These three activities complement and support each other, and together with the private industry operations give promise that the North Carolina Research Park may become a national asset.

FULLFILLMENT — The potential of the dream will not be fully realized for many years. But with men like those who are serving on the directing boards — and the list reads like a roll-call of North Carolina's leaders in education and business — with such spirit as that which prompted the Hanes family to give a third of a million dollars in honor of Robert M. Hanes to build the central institute facility, continued development seems assured.

All that has been done so far has been by private contributions. No State or tax money, except the insignificant amount represented in activities of the University, has gone into the project.

Industrial Gain For Southeast

By RALPH ROBEY

Since World War II the Southeastern section of the United States has grown more rapidly from an economic point of view than any other section of the nation. Seven states are involved: Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee, and South Carolina. During this thirteen year period, according to the United States Department of Commerce Office in Charleston, there has been between a doubling and a trebling of the industrial economy of this region.

There are many reasons for this growth. Among these the following are rather outstanding: There is an excellent labor supply. Most of the workers are not trained for factory jobs, but they learn easily and quickly, and soon become as efficient as any to be found in other parts of the country.

Labor unions have tried repeatedly to organize the workers of the region, but with comparatively little success. Of course there are unions, many of them, but the overall situation is vastly different from that in New England or Ohio or Michigan. In some of these states there is a definite anti-union feeling, and this is made clear to any organizers that come in, but the failure of unions to get a real foothold is more the result of the Southern employers treating their workers with fairness and paying what is regarded as a good wage.

Wages on the whole tend to be somewhat lower than in the North. This is not a cause of hardship because the cost of living also is lower. On the average the Southern factory worker is better off than his Northern counterpart. These lower wages mean that production costs are below those of factories in other parts of the country. This is one reason so many of our leading companies have opened branch plants in the South.

The water supply is plentiful and the water is good. This is of crucial importance to many industries, and is significant to almost all lines of manufacturing. Few items are produced in our factories that do not require water in the process.

The climate is conducive to continuous operation twelve months a year. Last winter the area was bitterly cold for a few days and this year much of it was covered with snow. But those are the exceptions. Normally the weather is sufficiently mild in winter to be no handicap. Summers are hot, but not too hot to work. There is no political antagonism to business as such. In fact about the only antagonism one can find is in relatively small communities where it is felt that permitting factories to be established would ruin the beauty of the town. Even this opposition is dying out because most of the companies that open plants locate them in the outskirts and the town itself is not affected, except through more employment and better payrolls.

In none of these seven states are there what may properly be called punitive taxes on business, and in some instances special tax incentives are being offered to new business. Such incentives, or tax concessions, are not universal by any means. Probably one reason for this is that the area is convinced that it has such other advantages that there is no justification for using one form of tax bribery to get a company.

There is intense competition between the various states to attract new business. The area is dotted with industrial development committees which will do anything within reason to convince a company that it should select, depending upon the scope of the committee, a particular town, city, county, or state for its new plant.

With a good labor supply, no labor union excesses, moderate but fair wages, excellent water, favorable climate, no political antagonism, reasonable taxes, and a desire on the part of the residents for new business, it is small wonder that the area is growing by leaps and bounds. And there is every reason to believe that the growth will continue year after year. The rate perhaps will not be as high as it has been in the past thirteen years, but the trend will be upward, and the region will become more and more prosperous.

Opinions In Brief

"Corn farmers have joined the ranks of those who prefer a free enterprise system to dictation and papery by the government."

"In a referendum they voted by more than two to one to end controls on the production of corn and to reduce government support of this crop. Thus, farmers have indicated a return to a market-price system." — Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

FOR THOSE WHO CARE . . . A student in his first month away from home at college wrote to his parents: "Already two more boys whom I know have left college. And there are at least twenty more here on my floor who probably won't last through the semester, thanks to spending their time drinking and dating when they should be studying. But don't worry about me. I'm all right. Not that I'm any better, myself, than some of these other fellows, but I just couldn't let you two down, no matter what." One of the wonderful things about human relationships is the strength and courage that come from love. Of course, most of us will do a great deal for those we truly care for. But we often forget how much influence we have on those who care for us.

No one can ever be as strong by himself as he can be by the strength and example of those he loves. What a responsibility that places on everyone — and especially on parents! For when others love and look up to us, everything we do or are takes on a double meaning. It is not just our own action; it is a source of strength or weakness for those who love us and depend upon us.

What a responsibility, but what a challenge too! And it is not only the challenge of adult years but of youth — that we be understanding, merciful, and unselfish.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

This has been a great decade for hypochondriacs. Eighty new viruses affecting the human system were discovered in the last 10 years. And did you know 750 million prescriptions now are filled yearly in the United States?

In ancient days salt was an expensive luxury. Now more salt is sprinkled on icy roads in America than is used on food.

Ever wonder about the milkman's job? Well, the average milkman covers 25 miles a day, makes 125 stops, and delivers 500 containers.

Apt definition: "Tact," says Grace Downs, operator of an air-hostess school, "is the ability to make a point without making an enemy."

Tip for housewives: If you place a shoebox top in the bottom of your shopping bag, the bag won't tip over every time you set it down.

During World War II, Americans joked at British fondness for tea breaks. Now more than 60 per cent of U. S. industrial workers have coffee breaks on the job.

Speaking of tea, did you know there are 3,000 varieties of this brew? Like French wines, they are named for the districts where they are grown.

The high cost of loving: "Few things today," says Shannon Pife, "are more expensive than a girl who is free for dinner."

If your dog has an annoying habit of gnawing your slippers or biting his own nails in public, you can cure him by giving him a new canine chewing gum. The seven-inch-long sticks are beef flavored and won't stick to dog, rug, or furniture.

Another new product: a German physician has developed a pill made of yeast and plant extracts which he claims will keep you sober no matter how heavily you drink. Who on earth would want a pill like that?

Odd ruling: if a member of your family has a bad heart and you buy him a special reclining chair, it is tax deductible — but only if the rest of the family stays out of the chair. If a guy from the Internal Revenue Service calls at your home, don't let him sit in it either!

In some Middle European countries during the 18th century, according to a historical study by the Bon Ami Institute, Matrimony held an unusual reward. After marriage a girl no longer had to bathe. Some women today believe a wedding ring gives them the right to show up at breakfast in a sloppy robe and wearing their yesterday's face.

A recent survey of 5,000 American husbands showed that three out of four help their wives with housecleaning chores.

The younger generation: "Many a teen-ager has driving ambition," points out actor Walter Slezak. "That's why their parents have to hide the keys to the family car."

Life is so unfair-to-men note: a man is considered medically obese if his fat exceeds 20 per cent of his body weight; but a woman isn't regarded as obese unless she is more than 25 per cent fat.

Health Can Be For All

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Every reader of my weekly column knows two things: First, that I have just returned from a 20,000-mile trip to Africa; and secondly, that I am not a physician and have not the right to speak with authority on health.

THE REPORT OF DOCTORS I have had some rheumatism in my left leg, and Mrs. Babson has had some bursitis in her shoulder. We have been to nine doctors and all have told us: "Forget it. Almost everyone your age has aches and pains." The above doctors' comment may be true; but this is what I know! After two weeks on a cargo steamer of the Farrell Lines, during which time I had no mail, no cables, and no telephone calls, my rheumatism went away entirely and Mrs. Babson had no bursitis.

I exercised considerably, walking on deck, and went to bed early leaving my portholes wide open. In fact, my cabin had good cross ventilation. During the time spent on the ocean and the wilds of Africa, we were free of aches, we ate like pigs, and slept like babies. Upon returning home, I found my desk piled with mail; whether my rheumatism will return I do not know! But my guess is that many such aches are due to the unnecessarily busy and nervous lives we lead. Doctors should tell us to take our religion more seriously and practice more of Jesus' teachings against struggles and worries.

IS WARM WEATHER CLIMATE SUFFICIENT?

Many feel that if they go to some warm climate in the winter, it will solve their health problems. Perhaps so; but probably not, if they continue to receive too much mail, use the telephone too freely, and enter into the customary social life of southern winter resorts. I have a definite illustration in this connection which shows the need of exercise both in the house and in the fresh air. Let me tell you about this.

Among my acquaintances is the widow of a former president of one of the largest chemical companies in this country. They had a beautiful home in Florida and were very wealthy. She suffered greatly from arthritis in her hands. She finally sent North for the nation's most famous specialist in arthritis to come to Florida and spend a few days in her home where she was living with her six servants. When he returned North, the doctor left the following prescription: A SPECIALIST'S PRESCRIPTION "Sleep with windows open and a fan blowing in your face, as if you were sleeping on the deck of a steamer. Neither give nor attend cocktail parties, and always leave the dinner table a little hungry."

Then the specialist added: — "Most important of all, after each meal let your hands soak in hot water for fifteen minutes, as if you were washing dishes! Each morning, go out on the lawn and stretch as though you were hanging clothes to dry on a line! Finally, get an indoor bicycle to ride, and discharge five of your six servants, including the chauffeur!" In about a week came a bill for one thousand dollars.

SOMETHING I DO KNOW ABOUT Africa is a most wonderful continent, rich in all natural resources except oil. It has four strong banks with hundreds of branches; these pay 4 1/2 per cent interest on time deposits. Africa has wonderful stores and factories of all kinds in such cities as Cape Town, Johannesburg, Pretoria, and especially Salisbury in Southern Rhodesia. In Johannesburg, sixty five years ago, there were only a few people and they all lived in tents. Today the population is six hundred thousand, and there are dozens of skyscraper buildings.

If I were a young man, I would seriously consider settling in Africa for health and a fortune. I would forget diamonds and gold, but invest in either the copper industry or the chemical industry. I am sorry to say that Africa, unlike Canada, is on the pound-shilling-pence basis, which handicaps Americans who would like to invest therein. When, however, Africa goes on the deci-

Tax Breaks That Go To Elite

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here is more proof that slobs in the lower income tax brackets, without smart and expensive advisors, don't get the tax breaks that flow to the elite who can afford slick services and smart tax experts.

The following is quoted from "Information," a newsletter by Prentice-Hall: "Let's say you are in the 50 per cent tax bracket. To provide for your financial security you are currently planning to purchase sufficient stock to throw off about $10,000 annual dividend."

Don't you love that "throw off" idiom? How much income does your job "throw off" brother? To continue: "You hesitate because you know that in your bracket you will retain only about $5,400 even with the dividends-received credit. You would like to reduce this exorbitant tax bite. Is there any way you can do it? Under certain circumstances, the corporate dividends-received deduction may provide the answer. STEPS TO TAX SAVINGS

"Here's how it might be done: Step 1. At the same time you purchase the stock, purchase some income-producing realty throwing off more than $10,000 gross in income. (Borrow the money to buy the realty — you can use the tax savings to pay off the mortgage.)"

"Step 2. Form a corporation and contribute the property and the dividend stock. The transaction will be tax-free under Code Section 351. The effective corporate rate tax on the dividends will be either 4.5 or 7.8 per cent (Sec. 243 (a) 1)."

Information interrupts itself to say, "WARNING. Make certain the gross income from the real estate does not fall below the dividend income; if it does you will face the personal holding company trap (Sec. 543 (a) (7) 1). Then it goes on:

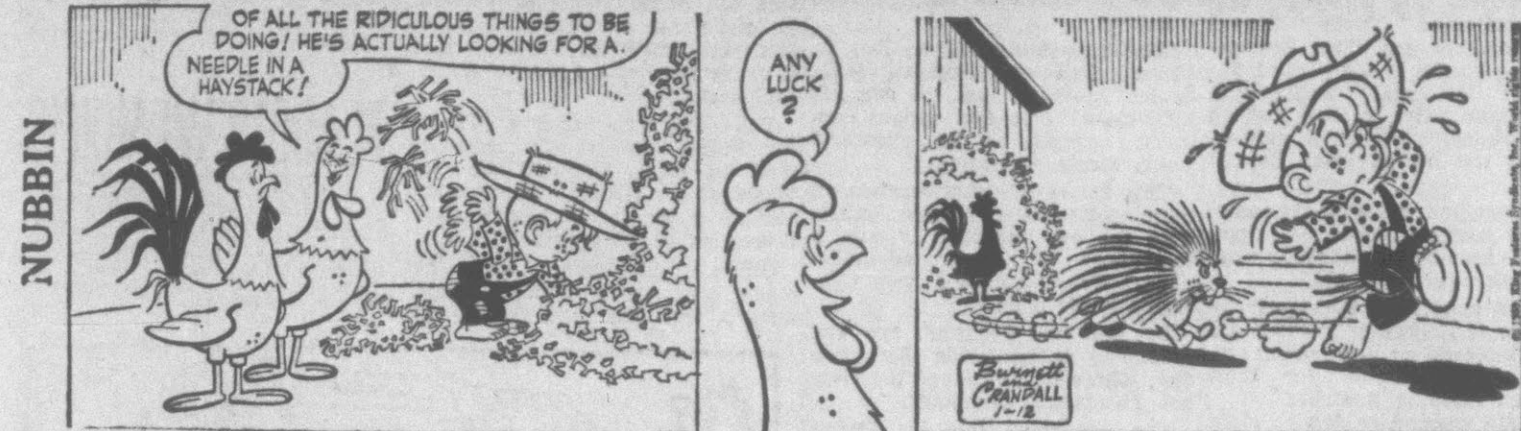

"Step 3. Hold the property at least three years in order to be certain you avoid the collapsible corporation problem (Sec. 341 (b) (3) 1). Retain the corporate earnings including the dividends in the corporate treasury."

decrease taxes and increase income by $4,545 or $5,287, depending which corporate dividend tax rate is effective.

"The more dividends there are involved and the higher your tax bracket, the bigger the tax savings." Information adds. It explains, "We have only scratched the surface here and for ease of understanding have oversimplified the facts."

There you are. Don't be an income tax sucker. Get in there and make a lot of money, subscribe to expensive tax services and hire smart tax advisors. It pays.

DEPARTMENT STORE SALES GAIN IN RECESSION YEAR
 Department store sales nationally last year were 1 per cent above those of 1957. Federal Revenue figures indicate.
 Brightest spots were suburban Boston, Quincy, Mass., and the Lancaster, Pa., and Tulsa metropolitan areas. Sales were 10 per cent above a year ago during the first ten months of 1958, and the rise continued in November and December.

Protecting Rights Of Children Helped 'Issue'

By CHARLES L. WEST

WADESBORO, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's juvenile laws, designed to scrupulously protect the rights of children, ironically helped make an international cause celebre out of the North Carolina kissing case.

The very silence in which statutes shroud cases involving juveniles fed the furor which preceded today's habeas corpus hearing before Superior Court Judge Walter E. Johnston Jr.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People charged that the rights of two Negro boys—David (Fuzzy) Simpson, 8, and James Hanover Thompson, 10 — were flagrantly abused. The boys were sent to a reformatory after accusations that they assaulted three young white girls by holding them prisoner until one of the girls kissed one of the boys.

At least 200 persons, in this country and abroad, indicated by letter and telegram to Gov. Luther Hodges that they shared the NAACP view. Canon L. John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, cabled the governor:

"Millions the world over will be shocked by what has happened. Such inhumanity and injustice surely belies professions of belief in liberal and Christian values and the charter of human rights and makes mockery of claims of the West to stand for justice for all regardless of creed, race or color."

Such protest prompted Hodges to obtain a report of the case from Juvenile Judge J. Hampton Price in Monroe, who handled the matter. Price had steadfastly refused to discuss the case, referring questioners to statutes which direct that juvenile hearings and records are private.

In the meantime, however, Hodges complained that the world press published "misinformation and actual mis-statements of facts" in reports of the case.

Price reported to the governor that the boys had been in trouble several times before and were on probation at the time of the kissing incident. The judge said the boys were jailed while awaiting disposition of the matter because the county has no juvenile detention facilities and community feeling is high.

Robert F. Williams, president of the Union County chapter of the NAACP, filed the habeas corpus petition. It asserted:

- "The acts of these children could in no way be considered a crime under the laws of the State of North Carolina..."
- The boys were tried "without any accusers or witnesses being present; the prisoners were denied the opportunity of counsel and were convicted upon no legal evidence and were thus completely denied due process of law under the Constitution..."

North Carolina juvenile laws state that children are not "indictable as criminals but must be dealt with as wards of the state." A veteran juvenile judge explained that by inference the acts of a child could not be considered criminal.

This would make the petition's first point appear merely academic but for New York NAACP lawyer Conrad J. Lynn's assertion that the boys "actually were apprehended on a warrant as if they were criminals."

Lynn said also, concerning the second point, that the boys were given a star chamber criminal hearing, rather than the private, informal hearing accorded juveniles.

On this point, Hodges' administrative assistant, speaking for the governor, said, "These boys were not sentenced to prison, as has been widely reported, and were not even 'convicted' of a criminal offense. Rather, under the laws of this state, they were found by the juvenile court judge to have engaged in action which would justify their commitment to Morrison Training School."

Carolinas Due To Get 'Above Normal' Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Carolinas, says the Weather Man, will have above normal temperatures most of this week. The temperature rise already has set in. High temperatures last Saturday in North Carolina were mostly in the mid to upper thirties and in South Carolina they were generally in the low 40s. Readings Sunday afternoon were about 10 degrees higher in most places.

Below freezing temperatures were reported this morning at almost all Carolinas points.

The outlook is for clear weather for a day or two along with moderating temperatures.

Here are a few samples of high-low temperature for the 24 hours that ended at 7:30 a.m., today: Asheville 41-21, Augusta, Ga., 52-20, Charleston 49-22, Charlotte 48-21, Columbia 51-19, Greensboro 42-13, Greenville (S.C.) 52-29, Myrtle Beach 46-24, Raleigh 42-20, Savannah 52-22, Spartanburg 50-26 and Wilmington 45-22.

Of the 40 million Christmas trees now used in the United States, about 28 million come from U.S. forest lands and 12 million are imported from Canada.

Airline Prepares Resume Flights

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Airlines planned to resume half its flights today under a new contract that could earn $28,440 a year for some jet pilots.

The contract, approved Sunday, ended the last in a series of national airline strikes.

Since October, walkouts have disrupted flights by Eastern Air Lines, Trans World Airlines, Capital Airlines and American at various times.

After the 22-day American strike ended, the company immediately started partial service. A full schedule of flights was expected Tuesday.

The Air Line Pilots Assn., which called the strike against American, estimated the settlement would net its 1,500 pilots a 15 per cent pay increase and a total of five million dollars in retroactive pay. The contract dates back to August 1957.

A union spokesman said the captain of a Boeing-707 jet, which American plans to start using later this month, could earn $28,440 a year. A Convair captain, the spokesman added, could earn $17,892 a year. The old contract would have given him $15,288 a year.

American, before the strike began Dec. 19, had offered a pay increase of 10 per cent, the union spokesman said.

The new contract also provides a third pilot for jet crews. Current piston plane crews comprise two pilots and one flight engineer.

The strike cost an estimated loss of 32 million dollars to the company, its suppliers and their employees.

U.S. Score In Space Race Slated To Go Under Probe

By LEWIS GULICK
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The question of where the United States stands in the space race with the Soviet Union will come under renewed congressional inquiry this session.

Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.), prospective chairman of the new House Space Committee, said today he could not yet speak for the House group since it had not been officially organized nor his chairmanship confirmed.

However, Brooks said, "I personally would favor holding hearings."

The Louisiana Democrat spoke in an interview against a background of conflict over whether this country is lagging in the space contest and whether it should step up its effort.

The temporary House Space Committee of the last Congress, headed by Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.), issued a final report over the weekend picturing the Soviets as perhaps 1 1/2 years or more ahead of the United States in space progress.

Brooks was a member of the temporary committee as well as senior Democratic member of the House Armed Services Committee.

The space committee saw America's extinction as the likely cost of Soviet victory in the space race. Calling for the utmost national effort, it quoted estimates that even with a thoroughgoing program it will take the United States "at least five years to close the gap."

Vice President Nixon holds a different view, according to information given newsmen Sunday.

Nixon, who sits in top strategy councils, says the United States is ahead of the Soviet Union in developing military missiles and is catching up fast in other phases of the space race.

Nixon does not think more money can be spent wisely on satellites. He blames on the previous Democratic administration what he says is a lag of several years in a U.S. start on developing big rocket engines. Under a massive effort now, he says, this country is fast overtaking the Soviets in rocket power and satellites.

President Eisenhower was portrayed, in Nixon's view, as keenly aware of all details and also as a realist on the space program. Eisenhower told Congress in his State of the Union message Friday that seven billion dollars will be spent on missile programs this year. He spoke of space achievements so far "in no more than four years of intensive effort."

One new space contract of major importance is expected to be awarded this week. It will call for the building of a capsule in which a passenger eventually will ride in the nation's first manned satellite.

While the House committee said the United States may be ahead in some space work, it noted Sputnik III's payload is reportedly 10 times larger than the 150-pound payload of America's biggest satellite, the Atlas. "Many prominent Americans... have minimized the Soviet advantage," it said.

Probably Last Special Car For U.S. Presidents

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The latest White House-on-wheels is going to roll into formal retirement this week. Chances are it won't have a successor.

The sumptuous railroad car Magellan, which for 10 years was the home away from home for presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman, has been declared surplus material. It has been donated to the Florida Development Commission, which will enshrine it at the University of Miami at Coral Gables.

The car, a gift by the Assn. of Railroads, came into being in the swift-moving days of World War II. But President Eisenhower prefers a sleek airliner to the Magellan. He used the railroad car only twice, once for a New York trip and once on a state visit to Canada in 1953.

Mrs. Eisenhower was the last of the official family to use it, when she traveled to Groton, Conn., in 1954 to christen the first atomic submarine, the Nautilus.

Eye Ailing, Graham Still Plans Crusade

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham went ahead with his plans for a world crusade today in the face of advice by physicians to curtail his activities because of an eye ailment.

Graham told reporters that he intends to go to Australia, Indonesia, Malaya, Cairo, Jerusalem and Berlin this year.

He was interviewed after making a zealous talk before the second Combined Texas Baptist World Missions and State Evangelistic Conference in the packed 11,500-seat Memorial Auditorium. Graham's illness earlier caused him to cancel a scheduled appearance at the Dallas First Baptist Church.

"The program may be cut some, what by doctor's orders," Graham said of his projected tour, "but right now I plan to go."

He had announced previously he would go to Rochester Tuesday for a check-up at a Mayo clinic instead of leaving for the West Coast en route to Australia.

Graham insisted he felt all right but "there's something wrong with one of my eyes."

"But I don't know what it is," he continued. "The doctor told me what it is — a long technical name — but I think he's as confused as the Republicans are these days."

"I spent two days in doctors' offices and about midnight last night I got orders not to preach," he said of his cancelled church appearance. "I don't have cancer, I've had no heart attack; I haven't had a stroke and I'm not blind."

A cable sent to Australia said the medical examination showed "angio spastic edema of the macula." The macula lutea is a small

Big Cargo Plane Down In Arctic

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A giant C124 cargo plane with nine men believed aboard reported two of its four engines out while over the Gulf of Alaska Sunday night and was reported missing and presumed down.

Air Force officials said the Globemaster transport was last heard from as it approached Homer, on the tip of the Kenai Peninsula 125 miles southeast of here, to make an emergency landing. It never arrived at Homer, which is at the base of a 5,200-foot mountain range.

The C124 was based at Travis Air Force Base in California. It took off from McChord AFB in Washington shortly after noon Sunday bound for Kodiak, Alaska. It carried 34,500 pounds of cargo.

Officials at Travis said the plane left there with 10 men aboard, but one man got off at McChord. Reported missing were seven crewmen and an extra pilot and navigator attached to the 8th Air Transport Squadron.

Air Force headquarters in Washington, D.C., said the plane also planned a stop at Shemya, a tiny radar and supply installation island near the tip of the Aleutian chain.

It was the second Air Force transport to go down in the same general area recently. A C54 with 15 aboard crashed last month against a peak just across Cook Inlet from Homer. All died.

First German military men to get training in missiles since the end of World War II were recently graduated by U.S. Army at Huntsville, Ala. Now they will be trained in supersonic missiles at St. Bliss, Tex.

Prefers School To Inauguration

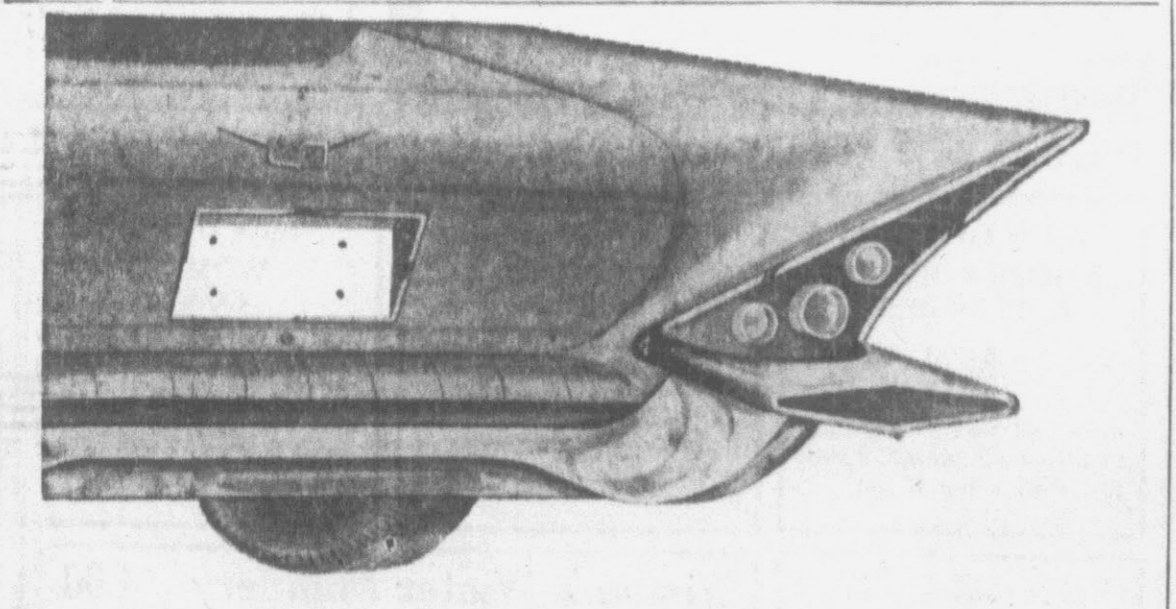

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Carolyn Sue Haag likes school so much she has turned down a chance to attend inauguration ceremonies for Alaska's governor next Saturday.

The 16-year-old honor student, whose father works for an Alaskan company, received an official invitation to attend Gov. William A. Egan's inaugural in Juneau.

"I would like to go," Carolyn said. "But I think school is more important."

Carolyn, a junior, has not missed a day of high school.

East Carolina Trounces Elon By 70-44

High Point 5, Western Carolina 4, Lenoir Rhyne 4, Appalachian 3, East Carolina 3, Atlantic Christian 2, Elon 0, Catawba 0, Guilford 0

ELON—East Carolina's Pirates mustered their strength here Saturday night and whipped the Elon Christians 70-44.

The victory was ECC's biggest of the season and evened the Pirates North State Conference record at 3-3.

For Coach Howard Porter's club, it was the first time ECC has beaten Elon on the Christian home court since the days of Eoboy Hodges and the Pirate championship teams of that era.

And it was the biggest win margin ever recorded by East Carolina over the Christians at Elon. Guard Charlie Adams cut the nets for 26 points and high honors for the night.

Coach Howard Porter's crew ran up a quick 10-point lead in the opening minutes of the contest and then roared off to run the lead to as much as 28 points at one time.

By halftime, the Pirates had a comfortable 31-24 lead and Porter had used his substitutes to give his regulars a rest.

In the third quarter, the regulars went back into action and started off on another margin-raising jag.

Porter praised his club's play and remarked that "They played better ball than at any other time this year. They showed much more poise."

Porter's starting unit Saturday night consisted of his starters and Charlie Adams at guards, Jess Curry and Nick Nichols at forwards, and Joe Plaster at center.

Eddie Burke, Elon center, was the only Christian to hit consistently. Burke had eight field goals and four of eight free throws for 20 points.

The Pirates return to Greenville and Memorial Gymnasium on January 15 to battle Guilford, then journey to Lenoir Rhyne on the 17th and Western Carolina on the 19th.

Eastern Pros Edge West By 28-21 In Rough Battle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Billy Wade, who missed the most valuable player award by a fourth quarter pass interception, today took the blame for the West's 21-28 loss in the annual Pro Bowl football game.

But West Coach Weeb Ewbank and his fellow players don't consider the lanky Los Angeles Ram quarterback the goat of Sunday's rough and tumble battle before 72,250 Memorial Coliseum fans.

"We beat ourselves through mistakes," said Ewbank, coach of the world champion Baltimore Colts.

"It was my fault," insisted Wade after the East turned the interception into a field goal and later scored a game-winning touchdown.

"I knew it was risky to pass from my own 13, but I wanted to pick up some yardage and then stay on the ground," said dejected Billy.

"I threw that pass right where I wanted it," Wade said in the dressing room.

After the interception, the East settled for a 25-yard field goal by Cleveland's Lou Groza.

Then, with less than three minutes to go, Philadelphia's Norm Van Brocklin rallied the East for a 70-yard touchdown drive.

Frank Gifford of the New York giants, who beat out Wade for most valuable player, said, "I knew we had the plays. I was just worried about getting possession of that ball toward the finish. But our defense took it away from them and that's all we needed."

Lenny Moore of the Colts set up the first West touchdown by racing 37 yards to the one. Two plays later, Colt fullback Alan Ameche plunged over.

Later in the opening quarter, Gifford's 22-yard pass to Gene Schuelker of the Giants put the ball in position for Groza's first 25-yard field goal. Groza's eight points in the game was tops, incidentally, in individual scoring.

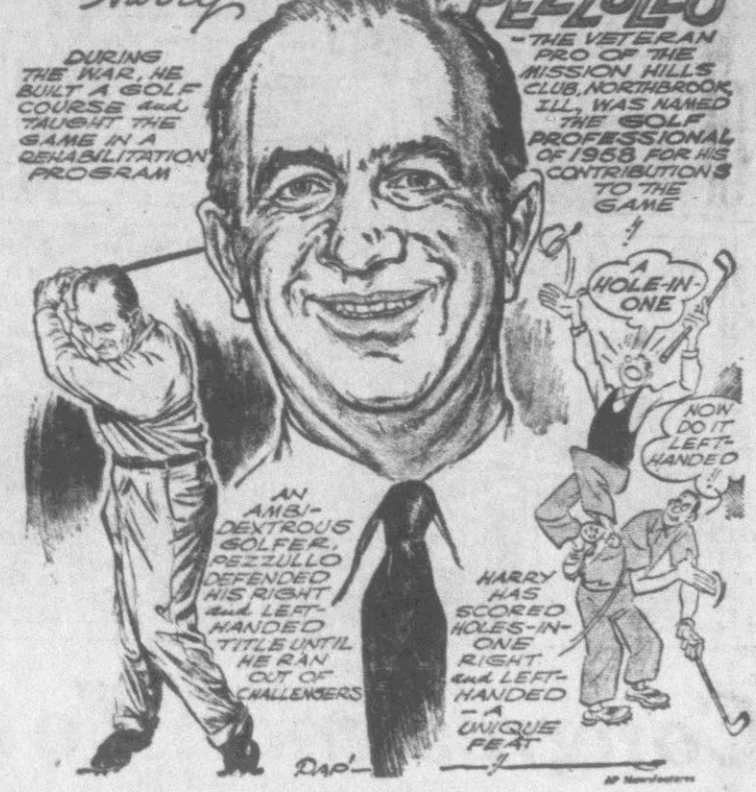

Just before the first quarter ended, Gifford passed to Giant Alex Webster, who grabbed the ball on the West 17 and raced over for the score.

The lead changed again when Wade directed the West 77 yards in 12 plays. The payoff was a pass to Hugh McElhenny of the San Francisco 49ers, who wiggled 20 yards to the end zone.

But the East, led by little Eddie LeBaron of Washington, bounced back for a touchdown and a 16-14 halftime lead. The East went 74 yards with LeBaron passing the lead seven to Gern Nagler of the Chicago Cardinals.

It was the fourth victory in the nine meetings for the East.

Sport Slants... by Pap Harry

The good old American custom of giving awards is snow-balling to the proportions of an avalanche.

It's part and parcel of the growing banquet circuit and hardly an outstanding performer is overlooked. Some awards honor "most valuable" performers; others recognize exceptional contributions.

and a few are given to honor the donors or merely to gain a bit of publicity. In this mountainous pile of plaques and trophies is one that is really worthwhile.

That is the PGA's annual award to the golf professional of the year because it recognizes the home professional who contributes so much to the game of golf without any of the publicity or fanfare which his brother pros on tour enjoy.

Take the case of Harry Pezzullo, the PGA professional of 1958. Pezzullo is pro at the Mission Hills Golf Club in Northbrook, Ill.

Harry has been a pro for 25 years, and 12 of these years have been spent at Mission Hills and in his golf school in Chicago. Few outside the limited confines in which he operates know of the countless hours Pezzullo spends promoting golf with juniors, women and veterans.

Fewer know that Harry built a golf course, taught golf in the rehabilitation program and conducted tournaments and exhibition matches while serving in the Army.

In his local circles, the 46-year-old native of Rhode Island is admired for his ready wit as well as his industry in the golf vineyard and his exceptional skill. Exceptional skill? Yes, indeed. Pezzullo is golf's outstanding switch-hitter. He strikes a golf ball with equal skill right and left-handed.

He successfully defended his ambidextrous championship for year, until he ran out of challengers. He's probably the only golfer to score holes-in-one right and left-handed. This Harry Pezzullo is quite a fellow!

Pressure Mounts In Final Round Of Tijuana Open

TIJUANA, Mex. (AP)—Golf pressure mounted today as United State Open Champion Tommy Bolt and unheralded Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., led the way into the final round of the $20,000 Tijuana Open.

Tempestuous Tommy and the 30-year-old Texan were deadlocked after 54 holes with scores of 205.

No less than 17 professionals were packed within a margin of four strokes of the leaders.

One stroke behind were Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., with rounds of 69-67-70-206, and 23-year-old John McMullin of Alameda, Calif., with 66-69-71-206.

Within striking distance for the $2,800 winner's prize were three pros at 207, Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., and Mike Fetcheck, Yonkers, N. Y.

Bolt made Sunday's tour in 34-37-71. Vossler, whose only major victory was in the Kansas City Open last year, played it 35-36.

After Big Football Season, Auburn Cagers Win Too

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sports Writer

Except for the NCAA, no one is stopping Auburn these days as its football and basketball teams continue rolling up concurrent streaks unmatched in collegiate history.

Plenty of football teams have had longer unbeaten streaks than Auburn's 24. A bundle of basketballers have won more than 21 in a row, the current status of Auburn's winning streak.

But no one has ever dominated both major sports at the same time the way the Tigers are now.

The basketball Tigers, who began their 10th straight of the season 63-54 over Florida Saturday night, and St. Bonaventure (8-0) of Olean, N.Y., are the only major unbeaten in college basketball today. The Tigers haven't lost since Alabama tripped them 83-65 about a year ago.

The football Tigers had a tie with Georgia Tech last fall but have whipped all 23 others they've met since losing to Florida in their sixth game of the 1956 season.

Both, however, have been shooting only for poll and conference recognition because the NCAA has tagged Auburn with probation through 1961 for football recruiting irregularities.

Swinging into another week of conference activity, here's the way the major races look:

SEC — Auburn (3-0) on top, with surprising Georgia (3-1) second after an 80-79 upset of Alabama last Saturday. Kentucky, top-ranked nationally, is 2-1 with Mississippi State.

Southwest — Texas Christian (3-0) the leader, with Arkansas and tied at 2-1. The five others, including the tournament champion Texas A&M, are 1-2.

Atlantic Coast — National powers North Carolina State (5-0) and North Carolina (4-0) running one-two. Maryland second-place Bradley (2-1).

Big Ten — Minnesota leading at 1-0 with five others, including favorites Northwestern and Michigan State, tied at 2-1.

Southern — West Virginia (5-0) threatened by Virginia Tech (3-0) and William & Mary (5-1). The Mounties play W&M Tuesday.

Big Eight — Favored Kansas State tied with Kansas and Oklahoma at 2-0.

Ivy League — Dartmouth and Princeton (both 3-0).

Skyline — Utah (2-0), challenged by Brigham Young (1-0).

Rocky Mountain — Perennial leader Idaho State locked with Colorado State College at 2-0.

Pacific Coast — California and Southern California both 3-1, Stanford and UCLA a half game behind.

Ohio Valley — East Tennessee (2-0).

Mid-American — Kent State (2-0) trailed by Miami of Ohio, the perennial, 3-1.

Yankee — Defending champ Connecticut (3-0).

He Has A Flaw, But Sets Record

BOSTON (A)—A world indoor high jumping record isn't bad for a 17-year-old college freshman who has a flaw in his form.

John Thomas of Cambridge and Boston University bettered the world mark with a leap of 6 feet, 11 inches Saturday in a dual meet with Dartmouth at Hanover, N.H.

The previous mark was 6 feet, 10 1/4 inches by Ed Melsner of Marquette in Chicago Stadium in 1952.

"John still has one major flaw in his jumping form," says BU assistant track coach Ed Flanagan. "He kicks out, toward the bar, instead of kicking directly over his head as he should."

Ayden, Belvoir Share Honors In Two Games

Trailing 28-25 at halftime, the Ayden boys put on a torrid offensive show in the third quarter to defeat Belvoir-Falkland 52-41 last Friday evening at the latter's court.

Cosch Ed Warren's female aggression played erratic ball most of the way but came out on the winning end of a 41-36 score with the Ayden lassies.

In the boys game, Belvoir jumped into a quick lead on the shooting of Willie Wallace and Jerry Little, a couple of underclassmen, and held control of the game through the initial half.

The visitors came back strong in the third period by tapping the baskets for 17 points while Belvoir was able to tally only seven. Bobby Weathington led the second half rally with 12 points and finished high for the night with 20 points.

Weathington hit a jump shot minutes after the half was underway to tie the score at 30-all. Ted Norris hit a jump shot to put Ayden out front and it was all over except for the final score.

The Eagles were unable to produce a scoring punch in the final half and they were unable to compete with Ayden on the boards.

Jerry Little was high for the losers with 18 points.

Dora Brown, Belvoir-Falkland captain, kept her club on even terms in the girls game as she tallied 24 points—more than half of the final total. Brown used a jump shot for most of her points.

Phyllis Nichols, usually a 30 point per game scorer, was unable to hit against the Ayden zone and finished with only eight points, her low of the season. Kathryn Windham tossed in eight points along with being a valuable ball-hawk for the Eagles.

Andrea Harris had 17 points for the losers and Carol Braxton had

Schoendienst May Not Play

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Red Schoendienst probably will not play for the Milwaukee Braves this year, but two club officials are to visit the veteran second baseman today to negotiate a contract.

Schoendienst has tuberculosis. He has been a patient at Mount St. Rose Hospital for two months.

Executive Vice President Birdie Tebbets and Gen. Mgr. John Quinn of the Braves are to meet with Schoendienst.

"It is pretty safe to assume," said Tebbets, "it will be a very fair contract. We are going to negotiate it on the basis that Red is going to play next season, just as if we are sitting in his own home."

Tebbetts and Quinn also will get a report on Schoendienst's condition.

BUFFALO (AP)—Ann Edell made history in the National All-Star Match-Game Bowling championships Sunday.

The 31-year-old Brooklyn bowling instructor rolled the lowest single-game score in 18 years of All-Star history. It was a 92.

The lowest score ever rolled in the Men's Division was the historic 109 by Buzz Fazio of St. Louis in 1955.

Congressman To Be Tried Today On Alleged Bribery

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Democratic Congressman William J. Green Jr., accused of taking a $10,000 bribe and participating in a conspiracy to defraud the U.S. government, goes on trial today in federal district court.
Green, who has denounced the two-year-old charges and described them as politically-inspired lies, is one of the most powerful political bosses in Pennsylvania. He ranks high in party circles by virtue of his chairmanship since 1953 of the Democratic Committee in Philadelphia, one of the nation's largest cities.
The 48-year-old congressman, an insurance broker since 1937, stands trial with six other defendants who have been linked by the government in the same conspiracy. The federal charges grew out of alleged irregularities uncovered in a grand jury probe of construction of the 33-million-dollar Army Signal Corps depot at Tobyhanna, Pa.
That investigation resulted in eight other indictments. Two men already have been convicted of are:

Green is accused of getting $10,000 in cash, plus lush insurance business, from five contractors working at Tobyhanna in exchange for favors and influence by the congressman while a member of the House Armed Services Committee. It was this committee that handled details of the depot's construction in northeastern Pennsylvania between 1951 and 1953.
Conviction would force Green to quit Congress, where he has served 12 years. Last Tuesday he began his seventh term in the House.
Besides Green, other defendants

Herbert J. McGlinchey, a former Democratic congressman from Philadelphia. He served in the House in 1944-46.
Robert W. Brown, of Consolidated Construction Co., Merchantville, N.J.
John B. Kemmel, Philadelphia painting contractor.
Joseph Rochez, of Rochez Brothers, Inc., East Pittsburgh, Pa., construction firm.
Frederick J. Raff, Hartford, Conn., plumbing and heating contractor.
John P. Gilboy Jr., Scranton, former partner in an architectural and engineering firm.
The trial, before U.S. Dist. Court Judge Frederick V. Fuller, is expected to last three months.

Royalty Flooded Out Of Lodge

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip and young Prince Charles took refuge in a three-bedroom fishermen's inn over the weekend when their own hunting lodge got flooded.
Britain's 10-year-old future king, his father and several friends were shooting wild fowl on the Norfolk Broads.
The party planned to stay at luxurious Whiteslea Lodge, but on arrival Friday night, they found a foot of water in the bedrooms. They went on to the nearby Pleasure Boat Inn, a calling place for hunters and fishermen.
"Can you put us up?" Philip asked landlord Albert Amis and his wife Jean.
The inn's three bedrooms were put at royalty's disposal.

Three Children Died In Blaze

NORTH CHARLESTON S. C. (AP)—Three children died Sunday night in a residential fire started by an oil stove that was apparently overheated.
The dead were Curtis Johnson, 3, Delph Johnson, 2, and Samuel Johnson, 1.
Clara Johnson, mother of the Negro children, said she left them alone in the five-room frame dwelling while she went a short distance to a bus stop to meet her mother who was coming home from church.
Charleston County Coroner Jennings Cauthen said the three deaths brought to six the number of fatalities in the county in 11 days from fires started by portable oil stoves.
North Charleston Fire Chief J. Herman Pooser said there was no explosion before the fire started. He said the fire apparently started over the top of the stove in the ceiling of the house.
Cauthen said the three children were found crouched on a bed. Pooser said firemen "knocked the blaze right down" but it was too late to save the lives of the children.

CHAPTER 35

Rhoda Marsh had recognized her betrothed, the Reverend Elisha Slocum, quick enough.

Mordecai Price was beside her. He'd waited a long time to see what kind of boss Slocum was. Fair put together, he was, maybe some like Old Gabe, not no bear, but enough of him. Light-colored face, like some Hudson's Bay Scots. What he said and did was going to be more important. Any man could be born with legs and arms and everything fairly well in place.

Rhoda didn't say nothing. Slocum looked right past her, into the booby of work at the counter where the Rocky Mountain Fur Co. trade goods were being unloaded. Then he turned to Mordecai. "Perhaps you can help me, sir, a young lady from the States?" He caught on when Mordecai said nothing, but kept looking sideways at Rhoda.

Rhoda said, "Hello, Elisha." Slocum was thrown plumb in his tracks. His mouth opened and he started to say something, and then he got the look of a man who discovers he's traded a good rifle for a pack of por beaver. He kept looking at Rhoda like he thought she ought to be dressed in white without a speck of dust on her, and maybe with a prayer book in her paws.

"Rhoda!" he said at last. "You took me by surprise!"

Mordecai just kept staring at the two of them, mostly at Slocum. "Well, you're here safe," Slocum said. "Reverend Arnwine and I have been praying for your safety and good health since I received your letter last summer. But this is hardly the place to talk."

Mordecai started to turn away, but Rhoda said, "Elisha, I want you to meet Mr. Price. He brought me all the way from St. Louis."

Mordecai nodded. When Slocum stuck out his hand, Mordecai hesitated and then took it. "I certainly want to thank you, Mr. Price," Slocum said. "I assume you've been paid in full?"

"Yup," Mordecai went on over to help unload the packs. He heard Slocum saying, "I suggest you change from those heathen Indian clothes as soon as possible, Rhoda," and then they were walking away, with Rhoda leading her pony.

At Mordecai's shoulder, Ree Semple said, "What do you think of the missionary boss?"

"I ain't going on no fall hunt with him, so what's the difference if I think anything about him?"

Ree let that one go. "Well, then, here's a hunk of meat that maybe won't swell in your mouth when you chew on it. Some of Weyth's men just came in. They run into Jim Shandy several days back. He'd been looking for me, he said. Then he mentioned coming on to rendezvous."

"Good," Mordecai went over to jaw with Jake Creed and some other free trappers who were cussing because all three pack trains hadn't come in at once.

Mordecai moved around considerable, but somehow things didn't shine the way they should have.

Now she was in full whoop and he was sitting alone, not admitting any more of the truth to himself than was necessary to keep him, Shandy's lies sound better. Mordecai picked up his rifle. Old Belcher. He was walking off when he thought to turn and say, "I got to, Rhoda?"

"Do you?" She was as cool as a sprung trap just raised.

Ree got in his car. "How much of the Rocky Mountain Company you own, Mord?"

Mordecai didn't bother to answer. But he hung on a while longer, looking at Rhoda, wondering what her look was saying, beyond she didn't favor him killing Jim Shandy. She'd said before she didn't think he ought to rub Shandy out, but that was when it seemed nobody would doubt what a slippery coyte he was.

Now maybe even Old Gabe and Fitz were wondering if Mordecai hadn't pulled his bow string too tight when he was telling about Shandy.

Mordecai looked at his priming and walked off. Ree didn't say anything, he just came along behind him.

Jim Shandy will pull a surprise, but Rhoda Marsh will be more surprising as "Rendezvous," concludes tomorrow. Don't miss the end of Steve Frazee's novel.

It had been a pretty miserable thing to pull on men like old Three Horns, but Mordecai guessed he would have done it himself, if he had been the one to think of it.

"That Lajole," he said to Rhoda. "It was sort of dangerous for you to be fooling with him."

"It's more the shame of it that's troubled me since."

"Slocum know about it?" Slocum didn't get around the rendezvous enough to find out, but Mordecai thought maybe Rhoda had figured she ought to tell him.

She shook her head.

No need to be ashamed. You saved our hides."

Rhoda was silently watching a group of staggering trappers.

"I got to tell you something, Rhoda," said Mordecai. "Was it back in the settlements, or even was I working around a fort somewhere, I'd be real set against you marrying Slocum."

Rhoda met his look honestly, quietly. She didn't ask what did he mean or any trifling talk like that. She knew what he was saying. She looked at him quite a spell before lowering her eyes.

Ree Semple was breaking out of things below, coming fast up the slope.

"Where are you going this winter, Mordecai?" Rhoda asked.

"In around Bayou Salade and about there. Likely run into the Taos bunch now and then."

Ree had something on his mind. He always did when he came along trying to look easy and unconcerned. "Shandy's here," he said.

"So..."

"It ain't cut just the way you're figuring, Mord. That Shandy, he's got a story of his own. Came close to killing Big Nose, he did, for trying to say different. Bridger and Fitz done stopped it. Sublette don't believe him a damn, but..."

Ree shrugged. "That's how she is." He glanced at Rhoda.

"Says he was trying to help the train all the time, huh?"

Ree nodded. "He made Big Nose admit he was drunk when Shandy kicked him out. Then Shandy went on to help you and me get Injun ponies." Ree shook his head. "It don't sound too bad, even when you know."

"What did you say?"

"Huh-uh. I ain't no Rocky Mountain Company man, Mord. I just let him lie away."

"What happened when he went for ponies?"

"Sinou got after him. Chased hell out of him. He said..."

Just showing up at rendezvous was a powerful help in making

Needs A Horse To Finish Trek

RALEIGH (AP)—A saddle-sore cowpoke from California planned to call on the governor of North Carolina today to get help on his cross-country horseback journey to New York City.

Jim Gregory, 26, of Hollywood, needs another horse to complete his trek which so far has totaled 3,200 miles in eight months. He hopes Gov. Luther H. Hodges can help him get one.

Gregory wears a leather hat, levis, a cowboy shirt, and a buckskin coat, and totes a pistol. He is making the marathon junket in the name of highway safety.

His father was killed four years ago by a speeding motorist in Kingsburg, Calif.

Gregory said, "If this wasn't a good cause, believe you me, I'd have turned back long ago."

The hardy Californian explained, "I want to prove to motorists that they can drive a little slower and get there just as well and a lot safer. They also can see much of their own country by driving slower."

Gregory didn't know how to ride a horse until he set out for the East.

He's already worn out three horses, and his latest steed turned up lame just outside Southern Pines over the weekend. He had to lead him most of the 60 miles between there and Raleigh, which they reached Sunday.

He sleeps in stables, barns, city jails and sometimes outdoors, and does his own cooking.

PERSONAL BELONGINGS TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—

Factory worker Carl Lose told police he was unable to go to work the day after a thief stole a suitcase from his automobile. The suitcase contained his work clothes, his eyeglasses and his false teeth.

GET A MULE

Lonely, Bitter, Ready For Space

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—A lonely, bitter Copenhagen carpenter, brooding over a broken marriage, says he has applied for a sea, on the first manned Soviet space rocket because life on earth has no promise for him.

"Why not try in space?" Boerge L. Jensen, 43, asked.

Jensen said he sent his application to Moscow a year ago. A reply he said was signed by Premier Nikita Khrushchev acknowledged the application but said Soviet citizens would have priority.

Mikoyan Guest At Hollywood Dinner

By TOM WHITNEY

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Anastas I. Mikoyan carried his intensive whirlwind goodwill campaign for the Soviet Union into motion picture land today with film industry representative Eric Johnston as his host.

The Soviet first deputy premier attended a dinner in his honor Sunday night at the swank Beverly Hills Hotel. The affair, arranged by Johnston, was attended by a select group of leading Southern California business figures.

In the course of a question period, Mikoyan denied that agreements made with the Soviet Union are regarded by the Soviet government as mere scraps of paper.

He put in a particularly strong bid for removal of restrictions on trade with the Soviet Union and increased Soviet-American trade.

In a number of instances, he repeated exactly the same phrases used elsewhere.

Before going to the Johnston dinner Mikoyan gave another free-wheeling news conference at which, among other things, he revealed that former Soviet security chief, Army Gen. Ivan Serov, is now on duty in a responsible post in the Soviet army.

The conference came immediately after his arrival at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, where he was driven on arrival at Lockheed Air Terminal, Burbank. Fog at Los Angeles International Airport canceled plans to have his plane land there.

He saw no anti-Communist pickets on his arrival. When he got to the hotel, there was a modest wave of applause from on-lookers among hotel guests who watched his entrance with interest.

name, made in his State of the Union address Friday.

Mikoyan said that, on the contrary, there are some people who think "imperialists" keep international agreements only when it suits them.

He said "we also have the feeling that you have violated agreements."

He suggested it would be better if Americans, instead of regarding themselves as saints and thinking of the Soviets as perfidious people, would take the attitude that both at times are saints and both at times perfidious.

Truck, Trailer Tip Over In Fog, Cause Accidents

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A big truck and trailer tipped over on fog-shrouded U.S. 99 while trying to make a turn.

Within minutes two persons died and nine others were hurt in this split-second chain of events Sunday.

A second truck-trailer hit the first.

Trucks and cars, blinded by the fog, began smashing into the wreckage and into each other.

Manuel Grancha, a basketball coach from Hayward, Calif., and one of his players, Eugene Gisler, 14, were trapped in a car which caught fire. Both burned to death. Two other boys in the car escaped, but were seriously burned.

Seven other persons were injured as 14 other cars collided in the fog. One bus smashed into a halted car ahead. A second bus veered to one side and had its paint scorched when it braked to a halt next to the burning car. No bus passengers were hurt.

Car Runs Into Civil Air Patrol 'Home'

Damage was estimated at $600 when a car crashed through the Civil Air Patrol building at the airport Saturday night.

Police identified the driver of the car as Dennis Jarman, 18, of 709 E. Second St., Ayden.

Jarman told officers he and two other boys were sitting in the car at the parking lot in front of the old VFW building. The motor was running and Jarman told police he inadvertently stepped down on the accelerator when a boy sitting in the back seat grabbed him around the neck.

The vehicle lurched forward and crashed into the building. It traveled entirely through the 21-foot structure and out the other wall.

Police said the vehicle traveled approximately 75 feet before hitting the structure and around 54 feet beyond the building before coming to a halt on the other side.

Damage to Jarman's car was set at $200 while the CAP building received an estimated $400 damage.
