Ike Says Nation Facing Choice Of Self-Discipline Or Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the nation faces a grave choice—either self-discipline to prevent a damaging inflation, or government controls "which are alien to our traditional way of life." Eisenhower sent to Congress his economic report, third and last of the major annual messages. It announced a virtually full recovery from the recession, forecast record income and production in 1959, and held out hopes of tax reduction reasonably soon thereafter. It asked 31 laws to help "assure a vigorous growth of our economy."

Democrats Indicate Congress More Likely To Raise $ 77 Billion Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee starts work on President Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar budget today with two key members saying it can be cut. But the general tenor of comments among Democrats — who hold large majorities in both House and Senate—indicated that Congress is more likely to raise than to decrease the total. Maurice Stans, director of the Budget Bureau, and Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson were called before the committee to explain details of Eisenhower's spending plans for the year starting July 1. Both Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) and Rep. John Taber of New York, senior committee Republican, said they believed the budget could be cut. They never saw a budget that couldn't be cut, they said in separate statements. But they didn't say where or how much. The committee will work several months on those questions. Following today's meeting of the 50-member group, the committee will break up into subcommittees to start whipping into shape more than a dozen separate bills providing the money to finance the budget. The first of the subcommittee, and the largest, already has directed Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy to provide later this week details of the military portion of the budget. About 60 per cent of the projected spending is for defense, with emphasis on missiles and space exploration. That might not be enough, commented Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex), head of the Defense subcommittee. Mahon said he feared the defense budget "may have been shaved too close." Cannon minced no words. He called the budget a political document based on "contingencies which no one expects to materialize." He referred to Eisenhower's estimate that an expanding prosperity will add nine billion dollars to the revenue totals estimated for this year. Numerous other Democrats contended with Cannon that the estimate was more optimistic than the economy now seems able to support. Other officials, including administration experts, said the estimate is realistic—even conservative—in the light of booming corporation profits and a continuation of the business upswing. Eisenhower said tax receipts "should grow even faster than national income." One thing was clear. Budget receipts of $77,100,000,000 would set a record. The previous high of $71,029,000,000 was reached in 1957. Taber said he believed the revenue estimates would be fulfilled. So did House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, but he said Democrats in Congress might "throw the new budget way out of balance with increased spending programs all up and down the line." Members of the House Ways and Means Committee, who initiate tax legislation, were among those who questioned the prospective size of the government's operating income. Rep. Burr P. Harrison (D-Va.) said enthusiasm for a balanced budget "should be tempered by realization this balance depends on questionable revenue estimates and the voting of increased taxes." There was early grumbling that the President had cut health programs too deeply and had treated public works programs too harshly. Even some Republicans joined privately in complaints against these cuts. There were advance indications, too, that Congress might balk at the President's proposals to hike postal rates for the second year in succession and to increase automobile and aviation gasoline taxes.

Pres. Frondizi Leaves S.C. For Washington Visit

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Arturo Frondizi, president of Argentina, left here today at 9:58 a.m. (EST) for Washington where he will confer with President Eisenhower. Frondizi and his official party arrived here late yesterday and spent a quiet evening in their hotel quarters. There was no formal entertainment at Frondizi's request. The Argentine group left in the Columbus III, President Eisenhower's plane. A host of police officers and military officials saw them off. Included in the group were Rear Adm. Donald C. Varian of the Charleston Minecraft Naval Base, and Col. Lester C. Messenger, 1688th Air Transport Wing deputy commander. Frondizi is looking for business to help solve the economic problems that have resulted in serious labor strikes, disrupting the capital city of Buenos Aires. He landed here in an Argentine Airlines plane Monday afternoon with a party of 20 and announced firmly that he was "not concerned" about his government's stability in the face of labor strikes at home. He has said the strikes were started by a coalition of Communist and Peronista forces. The arrest of some 300 persons in Buenos Aires, he said, was occasioned by the illegal seizure of such installations as meat-packing plants and garment factories. "I can guarantee the law will be respected. Those who respect the constitution and the law will have all the guarantees. Those who violate the constitution and laws will suffer the consequences," he said. The Spanish-speaking president of Latin America's second largest nation made his remarks in a brief, question-and-answer session through an interpreter, Alejandro Orfila, minister plenipotentiary of the Argentine embassy in Washington. Frondizi was greeted on the blustery ramp of Charleston Air Force Base by his ambassador to the United States, Cesar Barros Hurtado, and by Wylie T. Buchanan Jr. of the U.S. Department of State, representing President Eisenhower. Frondizi has stressed that he is looking for mutual business arrangements, not handouts, as a solution to the economic woes in his predominantly agricultural nation. Key state officials and Argentine industrialists, such as Arturo Acvedo, president of Acindar Steel Co., are accompanying the president on a 12-day visit to this country. On the itinerary, besides Washington, are Williamsburg, Va.; Chicago, Detroit, New York and Miami, Fla., the Feb. 1 departure for Argentina. Frondizi is the first civilian head of Argentina in 20 years and the first chosen by a democratic election in nearly 30 years. He was inaugurated last May. The tall, scholarly lawyer is one of 14 children of Italian parentage. Frondizi was warmly embraced by Argentine embassy officials on his arrival here. Then Charleston Mayor William McG. Morrison handed Frondizi "a little key that opens the great heart of Charleston." Mayor James E. L. Wade of Wilmington, N.C., presented the Argentine chief with a key to "the port city of progress and opportunity" and a certificate as admiral in the "Noanun" Wilmington.

Mikoyan Starting Long Trip Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet firm against Soviet pressures over Berlin. He charged that the cold war is still on in the State Department. State Department officials were disappointed that the Soviet visitor came up with no concessions in Soviet policy on Berlin and other German issues. Mikoyan had his own explanation of that as he made his final appearance at a big Soviet Embassy reception Monday night. "Why should we make concessions if no one else is making any concessions?" he asked a questioning newsman. "Everybody is talking about concessions but no one is making them." A highlight of the embassy reception was the unannounced appearance of Van Cliburn, the Texan who won an international piano competition in Moscow last spring. Cliburn played an impromptu recital at Mikoyan's urging, then joined the obviously pleased official for nearly an hour of private conversation.

Almond To Give School Crisis Report Tonight

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The collapse of Virginia's massive resistance laws in the courts raised the question today whether segregation will be breached in public schools before a new anti-integration program can be formulated. Two separate court decisions Monday stripped the state of the laws which for more than two years had prevented classroom integration. In a 5-3 decision, the State Supreme Court said the package of anti-integration laws passed by a special session of the Legislature in the summer of 1956 violated Virginia's constitution. It was under provisions of one of these laws that Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. closed and seized control of nine white public schools last September as the state moved to prevent court-ordered integration. Almond planned to give a radio and television report on the school crisis in Charlottesville tonight. Contributing further to the demise of the massive resistance laws was a ruling by a special three-judge U.S. District Court in Norfolk that the school-closing statute violates the federal Constitution. The state court ruling is not appealable. Its effect was to return to local control nine closed schools in Norfolk, Charlottesville, and Front Royal. Only in Norfolk did school officials demonstrate sentiment to reopen schools quickly. Thirteen thousand students were displaced by the school closings.

Postal Employee Wins JC Award

AYDEN — J. D. Dennis, Ayden Postal Employee, last night received the Jaycee's coveted Distinguished Service Award as the community's Outstanding Young Man of 1958. The club's highest award was presented to Dennis at the annual Bosses Night dinner. The presentation was made by Ayden's first award winner of a year ago, Dr. Clifton Davenport. Marvin Baldree Jr. Award Chairman lauded Dennis as an "outstanding worker in the community who is a leader in his church and a force in establishing the Boy Scouts of America in this area." Dennis was last year the Secretary of his church board, President of the Christian Men's Fellowship group, and one of the youngest church elders in the history of the community. During the past year, his efforts as a Scout Master in Ayden were praised. Speaker for the evening, the Reverend Herbert Gravely, pastor of the Ayden and Grifton Episcopal Churches, was introduced by Jaycee President Dr. Lawrence Alexander. The Reverend Gravely told the 50-man attendance that "Today — your work determines who you are. If this is true, we should all give to our work a sense of dignity. We should do this in loyalty and in our worth as human beings." He said, "Every job in this world has a dignity and should be honored for that dignity. Suppose all the doctors and lawyers and professional men in this community were to up and leave one day without warning. People would say, 'Why, all the dignified professional men of that town have moved away. It must be a stinking place.' Then, suppose of July 1st, all

Says 2 Justices Resigning Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) said today Supreme Court Justices Hugo Black and Felix Frankfurter are expected to offer their resignations to President Eisenhower "within a relatively short time." "Justice Frankfurter has recently been in bad health," Brown said in his news letter. Frankfurter, suffering from a heart disturbance, was in a hospital from Nov. 28 to Jan. 3 but was back on the bench Jan. 12. Black is 72. Frankfurter is 76. Both justices' offices said there would be no comment on Brown's report.

84-Year-Old Man's Tiny Shop Burned

A 84-year-old man's tiny soda shop was burned out yesterday afternoon when an oil stove he was adjusting caught fire. The shop was owned and operated by Wiley Norcutt, Negro, and it was located at 103 E. Second St. A box alarm brought three fire trucks to the burning building around 4:45 p.m. Firemen pulled in booster lines and inch-and-a-half hose lines to extinguish the flames. A two-and-a-half inch line was run from a pumper to refill the tanks of the two high pressure trucks. Norcutt said he was trying to regulate an oil stove when it tipped over and the oil caught fire. He stated that he tried to smother the flames with an overcoat but was unable to do so. Norcutt left the little store when he saw the fire was out of control. Flames completely gutted the building. The hot flames for a time threatened the dwelling but firemen beat down the fire before the weatherboarding of the house caught. Norcutt lives in the house. The store owner said he had no insurance to cover the loss. He sold soft drinks, cigarettes, cakes, crackers and other similar items. Firemen remained at the scene until 5:40 p.m. Earlier in the day fire trucks were called to Deal Plane where a grass fire had developed. The call came shortly after 12:30 p.m. Shortly after midnight last night a truck was sent to a burning auto about two miles from Greenville on the Farmville Highway. Firemen reported that the trunk and back seat of the auto were burned out. It was owned by F. Darragh, a Florida resident. The call came at 12:40 a.m. and firemen returned from the blaze at 1:55 a.m.

Economy 'Kills' Red Carnations

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Red carnations fell victim to a state economy move today in Michigan. For more than 20 years, the speaker and clerk of the Michigan House of Representatives have appeared for their legislative duties each day with fresh carnations in their lapels. "Economy begins at home," said Speaker Don R. Pears in ordering the practice stopped.

Record Growth Year Reported To Stockholders Of State Bank

Stockholders of State Bank and Trust Company of Greenville, at their 28th annual meeting today, approved a change in the authorized capital stock of the bank from 1,000 shares of 100 par value stock to 50,000 shares of 10 par value stock. Immediately following the stockholders meeting, the board of directors met and declared a 100 per cent stock dividend payable February 14, 1959 to stockholders of record December 31, 1958. The board also authorized the issuance of 20 shares of 10 par value stock for each share presently outstanding. Outstanding capital stock will then consist of 20,000 shares of 10 par value stock. The annual meeting of the bank's stockholders was held at 10 o'clock this morning at the city hall with B. B. Sugg, president, and J. T. Marston, Jr., vice president, presiding. Marston reported that the bank's organization in 1958 was the best in its history with assets at year-end totaling $8,129,000. Compared to the previous year, deposits gained $1,521,000 or 25 per cent to a year-end record of $7,517,000. Operating income too was at an all time high, Marston said, with net income increasing to $44,080 per share compared with $35.44 per share for 1957. Dividends of 16 per share were paid on the bank's 1,000 shares of capital stock making a total of $240,000 paid in dividends since the bank's organization in 1931. Marston told stockholders that the continuing increase in the number of accounts served "was gratifying and the bank looks for another year of progress in 1959." It was also announced that permission has been received and contracts let for the construction of a taller-window branch at West End Circle from which to better serve the bank's customers in the area. Stockholders unanimously re-elected the following directors: A. R. Barrett, M. K. Blount, W. S. Boat, J. T. Marston, Jr., Reynolds May, K. B. Pace, B. B. Sugg, H. C. Sugg, J. B. Webb, Jr. and W. W. Hero's Welcome Is Planned For W. Berlin Mayor

NEW YORK (AP) — American business leaders are organizing a hero's welcome for West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt. The aim is to offset the propaganda impact of Soviet Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's spectacular tour of the United States. The State Department, too, is likely to go out of its way to make significant gestures to Brandt. Brandt, symbol of an encircled city's defiance of Soviet communism, is expected to arrive in the United States by air Feb. 7. Receptions are calculated to demolish any notion that U.S. business might be willing to sell out Berlin for the sake of trading with the Communists. The intention appears to be to disabuse both the Soviets and Western Europeans of any idea that courtesies extended to Mikoyan represented lack of support for a firm American policy, about Berlin. Talk from Mikoyan of the possibility of a new approach to East-West differences has made the West Berliners and many in Western Europe nervous. Brandt is expected, after a brief stop in New York, to go directly to Washington. Brandt, apart from a round of press and television interviews, is expected to speak before the Pan American Union, the War College and the National Press Club. He will return to New York Feb. 10 for a visit to the United Nations. He will be the guest of Mayor Robert F. Wagner at a reception the same day and in the evening is expected to address the Council on Foreign Relations. He also will address 2,000 business and community leaders at a luncheon Feb. 11. From New York, Brandt will go to Springfield, Ill., to make a Lincoln Day address Feb. 12. From there he goes to Los Angeles, arriving Feb. 13. He leaves Feb. 15 for home by way of Japan, Indonesia and India.

Stretching Dollars

During the past week Greenville women have been buying high quality grapefruit and oranges in a beautiful supply, since the season for this type of fruit is very short. The most economic meat buys at the market have been pork loins, bacon and ham. Lower prices on many pork cuts have resulted from a larger number of hogs arriving at markets. Although beef remains about steady in price, featured specials of various beef cuts offer greatest economy. Choice grade beef will likely be in better supply during 1959 than will lower quality beef such as hamburger. This assumption is based on the large number of feed cattle on farms. Look for budget buys at the poultry counter for several more weeks. Shorter supplies of broilers cause slight increase in prices yet most economical protein food on the market. Large eggs are on the good buy list—with less than five cents difference in price between large and medium. Choose large eggs for top value in money. Heavy hens were generally steady around the State this week. With turnips, greens, and collards appearing on the dinner tables throughout Pitt County, the winter vegetables must be in good supply and with economical prices. Root vegetables such as potatoes, dry onions, carrots, and rutabagas are among the budget buys. Processed vegetables might be considered for stretching food dollars. Large supplies of canned green peas, sauerkraut, green beans and some tomato products imply that lower prices may be seen on these items within the coming weeks.

Danish Ideas Pep Up Brunch

WHEN IT COMES to making mealtimes interesting, leave it to the Danes. A Sunday brunch cooked and served the Danish way is not only a joy to the guests but also makes life easy for the hostess. The secret is in bringing food from stove to table in gaily colored individual enameled ironware skillets or casseroles. Set the table with a gay colored cloth or place mats. For the first course, serve little bowls of fresh whole strawberries, stems and all, to be dipped in powdered sugar and eaten with the fingers. The main course could be Danish hash with eggs, served in individual skillets. Here's how to make it: Dice or grind coarsely leftover roast beef and heat in brown roast-beef gravy, adding a dash of Worcestershire sauce and about a tablespoon of sherry to each serving. Make a well in the center of each serving of hash, add a dab of butter and carefully break an egg into the well. Cover and let cook over low heat until egg is set — about five minutes. Bring to the table in the covered skillets. Have a basket of assorted Danish pastries and rolls on the table, a selection of jam and marmalade, a big pot of steaming coffee — and then stand back and receive the applause of the guests. Just plain ham and eggs served the same way is another sure-fire breakfast hit — or shirred eggs cooked in cream, with chopped chives added at the last minute. The possibilities are endless, and the cook-and-serve utensils make the meal gay, informal and easy.

SKILLET SERVICE—Individual gaily colored enameled ironware skillets take hash-and-eggs from stove to table, keep food hot, save dishwashing. These were designed by Voss.

With Farm Women

(Items this week from Hoke, Stokes, Edgecombe, Davis, Pasquotank and Mitchell Counties) served. Garage Living To Six-Room Home The Edwin Rogers, Mocksville, Rt. 2, are happy to have building and furnishing problems—they now live in a small garage apartment. Make Lovely Garments Lovely dresses, skirts, shirts, and blouses were the products of many hours of diligent work on the part of Hoke County Home Demonstration Club women. The fabric, donated by the Pacific Mills plant located in Raeford, was used to make clothing badly needed by underprivileged children in that county. The women delighted with the project were quite pleased with the appreciation of the children and their parents when the garments were received. According to Miss Josephine Hall, home economics agent, several scraps of the material are left. These scraps will be used by the club women to make afghans for some needy cause. Sew To Save Whenever it is possible, Mrs. Gladys Jones, home economics agent in Stokes County, emphasizes home sewing can save money. Mrs. Carl Ziglar, Prestonville community, has recently purchased a sewing machine for $75. With three young daughters, Mrs. Ziglar is realizing just how much can be saved by constructing their clothes at home. She is keeping a record of the cost of the garments she makes and comparing their cost with ready-made garments of equal quality to see when the sewing machine "pays for itself." Awards To Four Women Edgecombe County is justly proud of the women who fulfilled all the requirements of the Extension Family Food Conservation Plan for a year. Miss Nancy Lewis, assistant home economics agent, reports that Mrs. T. B. Wells and Mrs. B. F. Hendricks received steam irons for their work. Mrs. C. D. Edwards was awarded an automatic skillet. A combination waffle iron and sandwich grill was Mrs. Jesse Summerlin's prize. The women stated that their participation in this project not only gave them conserved food, but it meant that their families were better fed as they had included the basic seven as the planning guide for food con-

HD Club Women Weave Cones, Burrs, Nuts Into Works Of Art

PINE CONE WREATH . . . Miss Flora McDonald, left, home economics agent in Moore County, shows this wreath to Mrs. George Nevins of the Pinehurst Exchange. The wreaths sold at the Exchange were made by the Home Demonstration Club women of the county.

By ROBERTA GARNER Pine cones gathered on excursions to the woods, cotton burrs "borrowed" from the field, pecans taken from a favorite tree, are only a few of the native materials included in the magnificent pine cone wreaths and swags made by Home Demonstration Club women these winter months. Women in the Moore County Sandhills were fascinated by this unusual craft. They came from every corner of the county to workshops taught by Miss Flora McDonald, county home economics agent. First, the design is planned; then focal points arranged in odd numbers to create an artistic affect. Uniform sized pine cones—cleaned, dried and wired—are used to outline the wreath. Clusters of nuts, burrs, and pods are also used in the arrangements. These are inserted as the focal points. The remaining center sections are filled with a variety of cones. To complete the product, a plastic spray is used as a preservative. A felt back may also be added for protection. Time spent on these wreaths varies from six hours for the smallest wreath, made in Moore County, to over 100 hours for a 24-inch wreath constructed by Sampson County women. Mrs. Allen Westbrook, Newton Grove Home Demonstration Club member, instructed the interested club members in her county on the techniques for making pine cone wreaths. She had gained her knowledge at the Southeastern District Arts and Crafts Camp at Monroe. Most of the pine cone wreaths made by Sampson County women are used as gifts to special friends. Hall's Home Demonstration Club president, Mrs. James Floyd, is an active member of the hospital auxiliary committee. One of the duties of this committee is decorating the hospital for special events. A magnificent 24-inch wreath initiated by Mrs. Floyd, and made by the county Home Demonstration Club women was presented to the hospital in Clinton. In addition, swags were made to use at each side of this astounding wreath. Mrs. Will Lewis, member of the John M. Faison Home Demonstration Club, and another Sampson County woman active in this craft, said the women are planning to produce the pine cone wreaths on a large scale in 1959. The Moore County women are equally enthusiastic over the craft; they too, are planning an even more productive 1959.

Future Educational Needs Reviewed By Dr. H.C. Hunt

Dr. Herold C. Hunt, Eliot professor of education in the Graduate School of Education at Harvard, told an audience at East Carolina College last night that America as a nation and as part of the world community has a continuing involvement and responsibility in "gearing" an effective educational program to meet the challenge of the future.

Dr. Hunt appeared before an audience of approximately 400 people, including teachers in the city schools, members of the Greenville Parent-Teacher Council, and students and faculty members at the college. Speaking under the auspices of the Danforth Foundation Project on the campus, he will discuss tonight at 8 p.m. in the Austin auditorium "Looking Ahead: Soviet Education—Stimulant or Depressant?" Wednesday at the same time and place he will talk on "Looking Ahead: Education on the Federal, State, and Local Levels."

DR. HEROLD C. HUNT

Growth in population, increase in longevity, greater mechanization and automation in industry with the resultant of more leisure time, expanding peace-time use of atomic power are among factors which will bring about a change in our way of life during the remainder of the Twentieth Century. Dr. Hunt told his audience last night. This period will be marked, he continued, by greater educational opportunities in this country and in other parts of the world. Decrease in illiteracy will bring about, he predicted, better understanding among nations and peoples. It seems likely, he said, that with better understanding an era of peace will follow when such great wars as those which marked the first part of this century will not be repeated.

Our way of life. Our young people should gain from their education, he said, a greater loyalty to American ideals—the rights of the individual; equality before the law and equality of opportunity; the right to be a pioneer, to create, to be original; and belief in the worth of an economy of free enterprise.

In American education, he continued, we need to reaffirm our faith in the family and the home as institutions basic in our way of life. There is need also for strengthening our spiritual and moral values in the school, the home, and the community. In a question-and-answer period, Dr. Hunt indicated his belief that more attention should be given to the study of foreign languages and the social studies. In other countries, he explained, students become bilingual and trilingual, and this knowledge of languages among the educated becomes an asset in international understanding. The child should begin the study of a second language in the lower grades, he said.

Among the social studies he emphasized the values of geography and world economy. "One of the chief weaknesses of the American high school," he stated, "is that we are not developing the full potentialities of the mentally gifted and the highly talented student." Dr. George A. Douglas, director of the Danforth Foundation Project at the college, acted as chairman of the meeting. Dr. Ed J. Carter, head of the department of education at East Carolina, introduced Dr. Hunt to his audience.

Argentina's Strikers Are Drafted Into Army

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—In its toughest action so far to break a nationwide general strike, the Argentine government ordered all Buenos Aires transport workers to report for work today or face military courts. The trolley, bus and subway operators were drafted into the army as the strike showed signs of cooling. It began Sunday under the leadership of followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron and Communists. The two groups had hoped to force the government to back down on its austerity program by granting another round of wage increases. The program is designed to check inflation and rebuild Argentina's economy from the chaos created by Peron to buy workers' support. One government official pointed out the strike already had failed in one objective: to force President Arturo Frondizi to cancel a two-week state visit to the United States. Frondizi arrived in Charleston, S.C. Monday and was to fly on to Washington today for economic talks with President Eisenhower and other U.S. officials. Frondizi said in Charleston he was not concerned about the strike situation. He said more than 300 strike leaders who were arrested in dawn raids Monday had illegally seized meat packing plants and other businesses. "We cannot foresee the future," Frondizi said, "but I can guarantee the law will be respected in our country." Some 7,000 workers seized the government-owned Buenos Aires meat packing plant Saturday to protest plans to sell the money-losing business to private operators. Police and troops used tanks and tear gas to rout them. In retaliation, 62 Peronist unions called out transport workers in the capital shortly after midnight Saturday. By Monday they had been joined by 19 unions with Communist leanings and 32 unions which usually take an independent line. Public transport in the capital halted. Most stores and banks were closed. Utility, construction, and other workers walked out. With the country partially paralyzed, Senate Chairman Jose Maria Guido, the acting president, met until early today with Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo and top military leaders. The drafting of Buenos Aires transport workers took effect at 6 a.m. From that hour any transport worker who failed to report for work was subject to punishment by court-martial. There had been reports earlier that the government was considering outlawing the Peronist and Communist parties which regained legality only last May, after Frondizi had taken office. Mobilization of all striking unions also had been rumored.

Picking Jury To Try 4 For Rape

RUTHERFORDTON (AP)—The selection of a jury was to begin in Rutherford Superior Court today for the trial of two Negroes and two white men charged with rape. A special 150-man venire was ordered for the case by Judge George B. Patton. The four men, all from Rutherford, are accused of attacking a 36-year-old white woman. The woman, mother of six children, said the attack took place at the home of one of the white defendants, 43-year-old Lawrence Guffey. The woman told officers she and a girl friend had gone to Guffey's house while "trying to purchase whisky." The trial originally was scheduled last November but a Negro attorney, representing the Negroes, charged at the time that Negroes were systematically excluded from jury service here. Judge J. Frank Huskins granted a postponement until the present term of court to permit the attorney to inspect the jury box. In 1957 alone about one-third of a million men and women in the United States received a college degree.

Future For Newsprint In South

Among the South's growing industries is the manufacture of newsprint, common name in the trade for the paper on which newspapers are printed.

Just this week it was reported that during 1958 in the South plant capacity for the production of newsprint was increased by 430,000 tons annually. Though this figure in itself is significant, it has added significance by virtue of the fact that no United States newsprint mills outside the South increased their production capacity during 1958.

The South, with its vast acreages of timber, and its ability to produce usable trees at a much more rapid rate than areas in the Northern part of the country, is destined to become the center of newsprint production in the United States. The day will come, we believe, when the South will rival and perhaps even surpass Canada in the production of newsprint.

Over a long period of years there has been a steady rise in the amount of newsprint consumed by American newspapers annually. The vast majority of this newsprint used in the United States continues to be imported from Canada. With each passing year, however, the newsprint production capacity of the United States—particularly that of the South—continues to rise.

In time, the South, which for many decades looked northward for its supply of newsprint, will be exporting this product northward to fill the needs of other sections as well as its own.

And as the capacity for newsprint production rises year after year in the South, the demand for its timber likewise increases. The situation points up another reason agricultural areas of the South—including Pitt County—should pay more attention to the potential of its forests and woodlands as revenue-producing crops.

If Nothing More, We Made Position Clear

While the White House conference Saturday between President Eisenhower and Soviet Deputy Premier Mikoyan brought forth no new proposals for solving the Berlin crisis, it is quite probable the conference opened some avenues which might lead to a peaceful settlement of the Berlin situation.

From his statements which have followed the conference, Mikoyan has accused the United States of offering nothing new in the way of settling the Berlin issue. By sticking to the firm position of the United States and its Allies, the President made clear to the assistant chief of the Soviet Union that Western powers have no intention of bowing to the November Russian ultimatum.

This factor alone may result in another Soviet evaluation of the position in Berlin. It may be the Western emphasis which was necessary to cause Moscow to continue what has recently appeared to be a diplomatic retreat from the position it took with the ultimatum in November.

If nothing else was accomplished in the meeting between the President and the Deputy Premier of the Soviet Union, the Soviet government can be sure that the United States is firm in its assertion that it will remain in Berlin along with the British and French.

In spite of the desire of most American people for the crisis in Berlin to be averted before it comes down to the final wire, it should be evident that we have no choice but to stand firm. If we back down in Berlin, we may as well prepare to back down every other place in the world and succumb to Soviet demands on every hand.

There is a great deal more at stake in the Berlin question than a divided city in a country far across the sea.

Oldest Of All When He Goes

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower — a little over 68 and beginning his seventh year in office Tuesday — is still a couple of years shy — of being the oldest man who ever occupied the White House.

Andrew Jackson still has the distinction of being the oldest President in American history. But Eisenhower will have been the oldest by the time his second full term ends.

Jack-son was almost 62 when he took office. He was just a few days short of 70 when his second term was up. Eisenhower was a little over 62 when he went into the presidency in 1953.

On the day he steps out — Jan. 20, 1961 — he will be 70 years, 3 months and 6 days old, or about 3 1/2 months older than Jackson.

Today Eisenhower is 68 years, 3 months, and 5 days old. Two other presidents — James Buchanan and Harry S. Truman — were still in office at an older age than that.

Buchanan was just a month younger than Jackson when he finished: 69 years, 10 months, and 11 days old.

Jackson was 60 years, 11 months and 19 days old. When Truman finished in 1953 he was 68 years, eight months and 12 days old, or five months older than Eisenhower is now.

William H. Harrison, who took office at 68, would have been the oldest president in history if he had finished out his term. But he died a month after becoming president. He was then 68 years, one month and 25 days old.

Harrison, at least, set one record: he was the oldest man ever elected to the presidency.

Of the 33 men who have been president only seven — including Eisenhower, Jackson, Buchanan, Truman and Harrison — were in their sixties when elected to office. 20 were in their fifties, and only six in their forties.

The seven, with their ages when they went into the White House: John Adams (61), Jackson (62), Harrison (68), Zachary Taylor (64), Buchanan (65), Truman (60), and Eisenhower (62).

Here are the six presidents who took office in their forties: James K. Polk (49), Franklin Pierce (48), U.S. Grant (46), James A. Garfield (49), Grover Cleveland (47), and the youngest, Theodore Roosevelt (42).

Increasing numbers of househeating customers are being served as a result of development of underground natural gas storage reservoirs. Piped in during low demand periods, stored gas helps provide heat for approximately 20 million homes this winter. The nation's underground storage capacity has increased more than 10-fold in the past decade.

Other Editors Saying . . . North Carolina & GOP

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

If the Republican National Committee's assistant chairman means what she says, then the Republican party has indeed a tough task ahead of it.

For example, how many times has Vice President Nixon, Joe Martin, Bill Knowland, and even President Eisenhower himself, campaigned in North Carolina with the plea for stronger Tar Heel support of the Republican party? The only appearances made here during the two presidential campaigns by national Republican leaders were strictly token appearances — on the behalf of Rep. Charles Jonas of Mecklenburg — during his election campaigns in the 10th district.

When the Republican party, for example, made a sincere, vigorous effort to breach the Democratic stronghold of Eastern North Carolina? They speak of the South expressing its views through the GOP when in fact they make no major effort to bring that situation about. They concede the South to the Democrats, and then complain to the South about its blindness.

If the Republicans expect to "trigger" any political explosion in the South, they had better get busy. Time is wasting. They can't do it sitting in national headquarters in Washington. Missionary work must be done in the field, and the South is the field in this case. In addition to the field work, they must show concrete results of the benefits offered under Republican auspices. Until this is accomplished the South will continue to vote for the Democrats.

Well, obviously Mrs. Williams is not thoroughly grounded in Southern politics or she would realize that the Republican party is not the medium through which Southern voters voice their sentiments — and hasn't been for a good many years. It may be incomprehensible to her — but at the same time it is incomprehensible to those of the South who the Republicans ever expect to create a genuine two-party political system in the area as long as no greater effort is made to do so on the part of the GOP national leaders.

More ad mergers. The wave of mergers among advertising agencies is far from over; some think it has just begun. Dozens of secret negotiations are reported in progress; eventually there may be only a dozen or so big agencies with, of course, the periphery of countless small ones. Many of these, too, are working on merger plans.

BOYS GOING CONTINENTAL. New fashion trend, American Continental styles will replace Ivy League fashions, judging from commitments by men's wear buyers. The Continental cuts feature shorter jackets, pinched waists and two-button models.

More meat. All signs point to abundant supplies of meat this year, with relatively stable prices. Much of it will be fatter, a result of larger supplies of feed. A per capita increase of four pounds in supply is expected.

Washington oil wars. Liberal Congressmen will fight for a cut in the depletion allowance granted oil and gas well owners; they will also battle for stricter controls on the natural gas industry. Bitter though the fights may be, they are doomed to lose. The majority leadership needs the support of oil-and-gas-

We should ponder the seriousness of shutting doors. People shut doors when they say No to love. They shut doors when they reject what is right and accept what is evil. They shut the door when they set themselves to hating someone and go on with their hating through the years. They shut the door when they give way to their passions with abandon and thrust God and his demands for righteousness aside.

It is a fearful thing ever to shut a door with finality. Leave the door open to new truth, to forgiveness, to love — to God.

Actor Enjoys Career

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Van Heflin has an unusual ambition for an actor. He wants to remain an actor.

"I've never had a real desire to direct or produce, as so many actors do," said the big-haired ex-actor, who is one of the most literate — as well as best-liked — personalities in the entertainment field.

"I wasn't born with a good enough looking puss to be the guy who always gets the girl."

"That has enabled me to play a variety of characters. And when you have variety in your life you never get bored."

Heflin believes in realism.

His latest role called for him to wear a beard. Van disdained a false beard, took the time to homegrow his own beard, complete with red handkerchiefs, mustaches he later handed to part with.

"You can always tell an actor with a phony beard," he said, grinning. "He won't let his hand near it for fear it'll come un-stuck. His face also looks constricted, and he wears a forced smile."

Oklahoma-born, Heflin was brought up in California, had considerable difficulty making up his mind whether he wanted a career in the theater or before the mast. After 13 weeks on Broadway, he went to sea for two full years, rising to the rank of third mate.

"One morning I woke up in San Francisco broke," he recalled. "I had been rolled the night before, and couldn't even remember where I'd been. I decided I'd be a bum all my life if I stayed at sea."

So he took a degree at the University of Oklahoma and spent a year at the Yale drama school. He returned to Broadway and scored as costar with Katherine Hepburn. Since then he has won recognition as one of the top performers in filmdom as well as the theater.

"Except for some trout fishing, I spend all my spare time reading," he said. "I've never taken up a hobby because I haven't been attracted to any — and I think it's stupid to invent one just to kill time."

Van has a down-to-earth attitude about his profession.

"The nature of our work puts us in an artificial atmosphere," he observed. "Even a second-rate actor's face is better known to the public than the top men in other fields. But this is only a peculiarity of the profession."

"The greatest danger an actor faces is that he may take himself more seriously than he does his work. There are a few who ride their own publicity and begin to believe it."

Van has managed to stay as normal as they come. He and his wife, actress Frances Neal, have been married 16 years. Their two daughters go to a public school.

"I've saved my money," Van said cheerfully. "If they ever tell me, 'We're tired of seeing your face,' — well, it won't break my heart."

"I can ride the rest of the way as a passenger, and pay my fare."

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS TRAGIC DECISIONS

There is such a thing as shutting the door against life.

The Bible has a great deal to say about closed doors. Jesus said, I am the door; by me, if any man enter in, he shall be saved." In the parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins we have the picture of the door being shut. Jesus spoke about the closed door in terms which we may well ponder with deep anxiety. There is such a thing as shutting the door on life. There is such a thing as saying No with such finality that thereafter we mean it and stick by it as long as we live.

Christianity is the religion of the open door. It is an inviting religion. In it we see God excluding His hands. Through the words of Jesus we hear a gracious invitation to enter — into larger life — into deeper faithfulness, into the heavenly type of life here on earth, and into heaven itself after death.

We should ponder the seriousness of shutting doors. People shut doors when they say No to love. They shut doors when they reject what is right and accept what is evil. They shut the door when they set themselves to hating someone and go on with their hating through the years. They shut the door when they give way to their passions with abandon and thrust God and his demands for righteousness aside.

It is a fearful thing ever to shut a door with finality. Leave the door open to new truth, to forgiveness, to love — to God.

Fresh Look At Business Futures

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here are more look-aheads, forecasts and predictions in business, based on analyses of developing trends:

Higher cement prices. The upward trend in cement is about to be resumed. Producers are under pressure for higher wages and rising demand for highway and business expansion programs is putting them in position to tilt prices.

More rail mergers. The breakdown of New York Central-Pennsylvania merger talks is not complete. Despite reports to the contrary, they are still flitting with each other and, once dowry problems are settled, there may be a wedding. Meanwhile, half a dozen other lines are getting ready to crawl under blankets in pairs.

More ad mergers. The wave of mergers among advertising agencies is far from over; some think it has just begun. Dozens of secret negotiations are reported in progress; eventually there may be only a dozen or so big agencies with, of course, the periphery of countless small ones. Many of these, too, are working on merger plans.

BOYS GOING CONTINENTAL. New fashion trend, American Continental styles will replace Ivy League fashions, judging from commitments by men's wear buyers. The Continental cuts feature shorter jackets, pinched waists and two-button models.

More meat. All signs point to abundant supplies of meat this year, with relatively stable prices. Much of it will be fatter, a result of larger supplies of feed. A per capita increase of four pounds in supply is expected.

Washington oil wars. Liberal Congressmen will fight for a cut in the depletion allowance granted oil and gas well owners; they will also battle for stricter controls on the natural gas industry. Bitter though the fights may be, they are doomed to lose. The majority leadership needs the support of oil-and-gas-state Congressmen, who would be hurt by such legislation.

UNEMPLOYMENT A PROBLEM. Jobs a nagging worry. Despite the general improvement in business, unemployment will be a continuing worry. Not all of those laid off last year have re-employed yet and before they are, more than 2,000,000 young people will be entering the labor force.

World trade improvement. A moderate improvement in our lagging world trade is coming. The convertibility of foreign currencies will encourage American exporters to put more push behind exports and, in any cases, to shave prices to gain trouble-free currency. Economic recovery in other nations is also putting them in position to be better customers.

Bars to surplus. About $500,000,000 worth of American property abroad is declared surplus each year and sold to foreign buyers. Some of it has a way of filtering back into the U.S. Domestic manufacturers are swelling their volume of protest and it's probable that the Department of Commerce will soon act to block the return of these goods. In some instances this merchandise has been returned to the U.S. and profitably sold here for less than the original cost of manufacture.

OLD PROMOTER SLEEPS THROUGH $1 MILLION IDEA. Some novelty manufacturers sure passed a chance to make a million," the Old Promoter remarked during his weekly visit today.

"You're a promoter," we said. "Why didn't you do it?"

"I haven't got the facilities," he said. "Besides, I thought of it too late, too. If I had been alert, I would have brought out little wax dolls looking like Mikoyan, complete with a set of pins. Customers could buy the dolls, stick the pins into appropriate places, and let woodoo do its work. A copy of a chant, with a score for bongu drum accompaniment, would be included in every package."

Weather Is Fine For Planting Of Tree Seedlings

RALEIGH—Farmers and other landowners should take full advantage of current climatic conditions and plant tree seedlings now instead of taking a gamble by waiting until next winter, a State forestry official said today. F. A. Griffiths, assistant State forester for the Department of Conservation and Development, said this advice applies particularly to landowners whose applications for 1959 Federal Soil Bank planting contracts have been approved. Landowners, he said, have two months or more to take full advantage of the present good planting time—a time when there is sufficient moisture in the ground to make tree seedlings live and grow. By waiting until fall to take advantage of approved soil bank contracts the landowner, Griffiths added, will have only a month to a month and a half to plant seedlings before the soil bank contracts expire next December 31. "In other words," he continued, "landowners who wait until next fall to plant trees under their 1959 soil bank contracts may find themselves in a real bind if weather conditions happen to be unfavorable."

Castro's Prisoners Free To Voice Their Complaints

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Jammed into a prison normally housing 150 inmates are 561 followers of ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista awaiting trial on "war criminal" charges. Some probably will go free. Others will die before Fidel Castro's firing squads. The prison is inside La Cabana Fortress on a hill overlooking Havana, not far from historic Morro Castle. The prisoners — Batista police, military men and informers — are housed in large cells with interlocks like Quonset huts. Armed guards patrol the 20-foot walls. Escorted by two unarmed guards, our party of U.S. newsmen was given an unhindered visit to the cells. The prisoners were reluctant to talk. Finally one young prisoner said he would speak English "because what I say now the guards may take back to the prison director." Other prisoners gathered and began airing complaints. The two escorts drifted off to chat with other prisoners playing cards. They seemed to be on good terms. The English-speaking prisoner identified himself as Evelio Gil, 23, Havana-born military college cadet who joined Batista's police two years ago. "The only crime I committed was to arrest some rebels," he said. "I struck or hurt no one." He complained that the food and accommodations were bad and and there was little or no medical attention. The prison commandant, Alfonso Zayas, denied this. "They eat exactly the same food as the prison officials—rice, beans, bread, beefsteak and dessert," Zayas said. "The doctor comes several times a day." Zayas agreed the prison was jammed far beyond normal capacity but said that could not be helped. Another prisoner, former policeman Hector Figueroa, 29, claimed all he had done was "to arrest those who were putting bombs in theaters and other public places." "Those arrested had court hearings, even defense counsel," Figueroa said. "On the other hand, the rebel tribunals are all made up of rebels. This is Russian-type justice." Army Capt. Jose Luis Castro, 41, awaits trial on charges he would not reveal. "I have a wife and two children, but I would rather be shot dead than see us under the hammer and sickle," he said, alluding to the oft-repeated charge by the Batista regime that Castro's movement was communist. Three Roman Catholic priests came to visit the prisoners. "They come every day to comfort us," said Gil, the English-speaking prisoner. Asked if he is afraid to face a firing squad, Gil replied: "No, I am not afraid because I speak the truth."

Has Exhibit Of Landscape Art

Landscape art is the dominant subject being presented in the senior art show of Nancy Fleming Clay, January 19-30, on the campus of East Carolina College. The exhibit of oil paintings is on public exhibition on the second floor of Austin Building.

Miss Clay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Algen Graham Clay of Creedmoor, attended Creedmoor High School before entering East Carolina in 1955.

At the college she became interested in a career in Art Education and is now working for the bachelor of science degree. An active member of the student Art Club for the past three years, she has served on numerous committees of the organization. She plans to teach in the public schools of North Carolina after her graduation.

Color is a predominant interest in all of Miss Clay's exhibit, which includes ten realistic landscapes and one composition of fruit and driftwood. Among the pictures are "The Old Water Mill," a quaint and rustic scene near her home, done in tones of brown, green, and blue; "Springtime on the Farm"; "Serenity," which features subjects that might have just stepped out of Bambi.

Dr. Wellington B. Gray, director of the department of art, has served as Miss Clay's adviser throughout her art education and senior exhibit.

Convention In Los Angeles Not Part Of GOP Plans

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Republicans rejected "me-looks" today with clear indications they will not follow the Democrats to Los Angeles for their 1960 presidential nominating convention. GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn said his party is going to disregard the decision made by a Democratic site subcommittee, meeting in New Orleans last week to nominate that party's candidates in the Southern California city.

Philadelphia came in Monday with a bid of $75,000 cash, and fringe benefits. It was, in the words of Alcorn and other party leaders a powerfully attractive offer. Miami Beach, Fla., offered $350,000, plus a pledge to pick up other expenses, but Alcorn made it clear that the Southern city is out of the running.

potential candidate for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

For that reason, there seemed little likelihood that San Francisco, which had arranged to boost its bid to $350,000 in cash, plus the usual fringe additions, would get any more consideration than Los Angeles. Everyone recognized that would involve a boost for the potential candidacy of ice President Richard M. Nixon, a native of California.

"There has been too much 'me-tooism' already," Alcorn said. "We are going to select our site and our date independently of what the Democrats have done." Alcorn added that "the television and radio folks are not going to like our decision." The networks have asked both parties to meet in the same city to reduce the expense of transferring equipment.

"We are not going anywhere just because of the money involved," he said in an interview. "There are many other considerations we have to take into account."

Similarly, New York City's bid of $300,000, plus $75,000 in fringe benefits, was regarded with a jaundiced eye by some of the members of the subcommittee because Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is considered a strong possibility for the nomination.

Wedding Dinner Ended The Union

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Deborah Baker told the judge that after the wedding ceremony in 1956 her husband, Lon, took her out to eat. "Then he put me on a bus and told me to go home," she testified. She was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion.

Now Menshikov Is Moscow-Bound

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now it's the turn of Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov to take a vacation, hard on the heels of Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's holiday in the United States. Menshikov was host to Mikoyan during his fast-moving 17-day stay. He traveled coast-to-coast with him as escort, part-time interpreter and troubleshooter. Menshikov disclosed Monday night he is planning a vacation in Moscow.

There was more than ordinary interest in the possibility that Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago would increase that city's $250,000 bid to the Democrats in an effort to get the Republican nomination.

Wind Ensemble To Give Program On January 26

The Oberlin Wind Ensemble will visit East Carolina College Monday, January 26, during a Concert Tour that will take them to five states between January 24 and 31. The 40-member group of woodwind, brass and percussion players will present a program of music composed for wind instruments at 8 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium under sponsorship of the East Carolina College Entertainment Committee.

Easier To Enter Cadet Program

It was announced today by Sergeant Norman G. Dean of the local United States Air Force Recruiting Office that the Air Force is starting a new program in the selection of Aviation Cadets. Sergeant Dean stated that this program is open to all high school graduates who can qualify. Young men interested in a flying career must be between the ages of 19 and 24, single, with no dependents, have high moral standards, be a high school graduate or higher education and be able to pass an examination to get into this program.

Coaching Cast For Caine Mutiny Play

The director's reins for the forthcoming Greenville Little Theater production of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" are in the hands of an experienced veteran of the local drama group, Claude (Kip) West, Jr., who is coaching the cast for the local version of the widely acclaimed Pulitzer Prize play. Mr. West's last chore with the group was in the amusing role of "the Wreck" in "My Sister Eileen" in 1956. While at the University of North Carolina he worked with the Teachers' Playhouse and the Carolina Playmakers. He has also spent considerable time as director and producer of the Cape Fear Summer Theater. A native of Greenville, "Kip" is an executive of the East Carolina Roofing Co. In addition to theater, he indulges such outdoor enthusiasms as fishing, hunting, and golf. "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" is scheduled for presentation February 6 and 7 in the courtroom of the Pitt County Court House. Tickets are on sale at Bissette's Drug store, the Sherman-Williams Co., Globe Hardware, Larry's Shoe Store, Beddingfield Pharmacy, and Hollowell's Drug Store. They may also be obtained from members of the Greenville Little Theater.

Probe Cause Of Explosion, Fire

KEMAH, Tex. (AP)—Police probed the ruins of a small home near this Galveston Bay fishing town today on the theory that a blast which killed a family of six may have been planned. "There is a possibility that the explosion which caused the tragedy may have been deliberately set off," said Galveston County Sheriff Paul Hopkins. Trumon Stone, sheriff's investigator, said he found a length of pipe leading from a butane tank to a point under a mattress of a collapsed bed in the bedroom. Stone said a jet on the tank was turned on. The youngsters were Barbara, 7, Carol, 6, Neal Jr., 4, and Deborah 2.

Driver Dies As Car Hit Train

KINGS MOUNTAIN (AP)—William L. Merritt, 38, of Kings Mountain, was killed when his auto crashed into the side of a backing Southern Railway freight train here Monday night. The accident took place at a crossing just inside the city limit. Officers said Merritt's car struck a boxcar filled with gravel as the train was backing onto a side track. NO TAX INCREASE DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Although most taxes go up and stay up, old newspapers here show there are exceptions. The dog tax in 1899 was $1.50 plus 2 cents for the manufacture of a tag. Today it is $1.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—There is only one of John E. Hunter Jr. but he feels a bit like the three bears. Somebody broke into his house, slept in his bed and ate all the food in the refrigerator. Church Membership Is Described Not Enough

"Stewardship is the Christian expression of life," the Rev. L.O. Leet declared last night as St. A Man Live Too Long and the James Methodist Church opened the final week of a 12-day Stewardship-Evangelism Crusade which will continue through Saturday. Speaking on "The Eternal Triangle," the Rev. Mr. Leet said, "Church membership, in itself, is not enough. It is when church members become united in Christian relationships that they take on meaning." In last night's service, the Rev. Mr. Leet was assisted by the Rev. Howard James of Red Oak Christian Church. Special music was presented by the crusade choir, the Red Oak Christian Church choir and Mrs. Idalee McCullar, musical director for the Leet Crusade Team. The Rev. Terry Agner, Greenville Lutheran minister, will assist with tonight's service which will begin at 7:30. The Rev. Mr. Leet's sermon topic will be "Can a Man Live Too Long" and the service will be followed by a meeting of crusade officials with ladies of the church. In last night's "blackboard sermon," the Rev. Mr. Leet pointed out that there is an interrelationship between God, individuals and others. He declared, "God is love, and faith in God means hope for others. Only God has the power to save, but God works through his human instruments." Sermon texts cited by the Rev. Mr. Leet last night included the Book of Genesis, the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, the 15th chapter of John and the 20th verse of the second chapter of Galatians. The nightly services, which begin at 7:30 in the sanctuary of St. James, are open to members of other churches, as will be the "Victory Sunday" service which will conclude the Rev. Mr. Leet's visit.

Plans Meet For Young Swimmers

By JOHNNY HUDSON
 Reflecter Sports Writer

Top swimmers throughout the state will be in Greenville this weekend for the annual High School Swim Meet which will take place Saturday morning and afternoon in Memorial Pool at East Carolina College.

This will be the fourth consecutive year of the prep meet which is sponsored by the Aquatics Club of the college. Coach Ray Martinez stated Monday night that "it should be the biggest and best yet."

Martinez, the professor who has made East Carolina a water power throughout the nation, aided in instigating and carrying out the plan for the high school event. The ECC swim team feels that it has provided sharp competition for the high school clubs and also given the future college swimmers a look at East Carolina.

Six teams have definitely entered the fourth annual meet. Raleigh, Myers Park, Wilmington, Greensboro, High Point, and Durham—all AAA schools—have already accepted bids.

The Caps of Raleigh will enter the meet as defending champs and also favorites. The Capitol City club has won the meet the past two seasons after Greensboro took the opener.

Myers Park of Charlotte is expected to be the "dark horse" this year. The Queen City school places plenty of emphasis on their various athletic clubs and their water sport has shown improvement during the past couple of years.

The preliminaries are scheduled to begin at 10:00 Saturday morning and the finals will be held in the afternoon.

Dr. Charles DeShaw, professor in the physical education department, will serve as starter for the event with the remainder of the officials being made up of college students.

Baseball Loop Has Threat Of Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Organized baseball today was faced with its first serious strike threat in more than a decade.

The dispute between the International League Baseball Players' Assn., and the league over a proposed pension plan appeared to have reached an impasse with the Players Association ordering its 160 members not to sign their contracts and not to report for spring training, the league refusing to budge on its stand and baseball Commissioner Ford Frick standing warily on the sidelines.

Here are the feelings of the disputants:

Bob Chakales, Richmond pitcher, and one of the player representatives—"Unless the league grants us a pension or the officials sit down with us for a discussion with honest intention, we're going to stand pat and go through with our plan (to strike)."

Frank (Shag) Shaughnessy, International League president—"Our biggest problem is one of money. We just don't have it and are in no way able to finance any kind of pension plan. If they think they can judge us, they're wrong. We'll stand pat."

Commissioner Frick—"I have never been asked to sit in on a conversation and I have never been asked about the rule. There is really nothing for me to say about this. It's a matter between the players and the clubs."

The International League Players' Assn., claims it represents 98 per cent of the players in the league. Chakales and Toronto pitcher Eddie Blake, the other representative, said the strike resolution was adopted last Oct. 15.

The players estimated that a fund somewhat similar to the big league plan, would cost about $293,000. They said they would be willing to contribute about $37,000 and that when they are 50, they would draw $59 a month. Only those who played five years would be eligible.

They maintained the money could come from exhibition games against major league teams, the All-Star Game and the Little World Series.

Blake, Chakales and their lawyers said they were willing to place the matter before the federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, but Shaughnessy suggested they get some financial aid from the majors.

"Our little World Series lost money last year," he snorted. "It's up to them whether they refuse to sign or report. If they don't report, the International League will still play baseball in 1959. Any discontented player will be traded."

Olmedo Again Is Feeling Pains

ADELAIDE (AP)—Alex Olmedo, hampered by a recurrence of a pulled stomach muscle, and erratic Barry MacKay both were extended in advancing to the singles quarter-finals of the Australian National Tennis Championships today.

Olmedo, the Peruvian youngster who was the star of the U. S. Davis Cup victory, eliminated John Pearce of Australia, 6-7, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2. MacKay defeated Martin Mulligan, a top Australian Junior, 5-7, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1, 7-5.

Olmedo said he pulled the stomach muscle again while stretching for a wide ball in Monday's double match.

Olmedo said he would pull out of the doubles and try to play the singles Thursday. He meets Sweden's Ulf Schmidt.

Olmedo and MacKay are in the doubles semifinals where they are scheduled to meet Bob Mark and Rod Laver Wednesday.

In other third-round matches today, Schmidt turned back Rod Alver of Australia 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, and Bob Mark of Australia ousted Jan Erik Lundquist of Sweden, 9-7, 6-4, 6-0.

Bucs Lose

CULLOWHEE—East Carolina College was trimmed 75-53 here last night by the Western Carolina Cats.

The victory was the seventh straight for the unbeaten Cats in North State Conference competition. It leveled ECC's mark at 4-4.

Guard Harris Pryor and teammate Randall Shields led the Cats with 17 points each. ECC's Nick Nichols scored 16 to pace his squad.

East Carolina took an early lead on a field goal by Charlie Adams, 11-10, in the first half, but the Bucs couldn't keep up with the hard-running hosts.

At halftime, the score was 38-25 in favor of the Cats. The final victory margin was a 22-point spread.

Campy Has Another Close Call

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—"I don't know what else could happen to me."

That was Roy Campanella's reaction today to his close brush with serious injury in a second automobile accident.

Campanella, ex-Los Angeles Dodgers' catcher, who was paralyzed from the waist down in an auto accident a year ago, was involved in another crash Monday.

Campanella was being driven from Manhattan where he had made a recorded broadcast, to his home when an air compressor tied to a trailer on a truck tumbled toward the city broke loose. It bounded across the divider on the road, knocked down a light pole, glanced off another vehicle and then bounced into Campanella's car.

"I thank the good Lord I was wearing my neck brace and safety belt," said Campy. "They saved me from going through the windshield."

Campanella refused medical aid and was driven home by a passing motorist. His driver, James Williamson, suffered a leg injury and was held at a hospital for treatment. Campanella's mother-in-law, Mrs. Fanny McNelly, was treated at a hospital for a minor head injury and released.

Another Cuban Pleasing In Ring

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's sports-happy, Latin-American set had another fighter to cheer about today in fast-punching Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba.

The always busy 21-year-old racked up his fifth straight victory in the United States by whipping hand-injured Victor Zalazar in a 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Benny throws leather quick and often, is fast and apparently can take a punch well.

A pro 3 1/2 years, Paret's record is 27-2-1.

Benny's victory over Zalazar was his second in a row over the 6-foot, 23-year-old Argentine. A month ago he won a split decision at St. Nick's in ending Zalazar's 15-0 record, all knockouts.

Monday night the kid was awarded a unanimous decision after a rousing scrap.

Referee Teddy Martin and Judge Bill Forst each scored it 5-4-1. Judge Leo Birnbaum had it 6-3. The AP card had Paret ahead 7-1-1.

Zalazar, however, was handicapped by a swollen, and possibly broken right hand, from the second round on after he hit Paret on the top of the head.

Cardinals Relying Heavily On Rookies During '59 Campaign

By JOE REICHER
 Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals apparently are going to leave it to eager beavers in their 1959 bid to claw their way out of the second division.

Rookies will constitute the greater portion of their roster when the Red Birds line up before their new manager, Solly Hemus, on opening day of spring training next month. In addition, there will be at least a half dozen fledglings on the squad getting thorough tunings. Only the matter of book keeping and the 40-player limit keep their names from being on the current club roster.

Bing Devine, the Cards' personable general manager, is fully aware of the reason for the club's failure last year—lack of sufficient pitching and power. He has brought up 16 freshman hurlers and a couple of long ball hitting outfielders in an effort to plug the weakness.

The best of the new pitchers may be Ernie Broglio, 23, Nelson Clifton, 25, and Marshall Bridges, 27. All are righthanders. Others rated a fair chance to stick are righthanders Bob Blaylock, 23, and Dick Rickets, 25; and

Drills Begin For Pirate Gridders

Coach Jack Boone and his ECC football staff got winter drills underway yesterday afternoon as the Pirate gridiron squad got outdoors for the first time of the winter season.

The squad, boosted by some 25 lettermen, worked on fundamentals and Boone pointed out that the first two weeks would be devoted to this phase of the game.

Only five men were lost by graduation but Boone will be hampered in winter drills as several of his key players are completing student teaching this quarter. Included among these are fullback James Speight, quarterback Ralph Zehring, and end Howard Beale.

The winter drills are expected to run into March and will be climaxed by an Alumni-Varsity contest.

Boone stated that he was pleased with his club's outlook for the coming season. "We had some real good freshmen last season and should be improved next year," he said. East Carolina surprised most of its followers last season by posting a 6-4 record and leading the North State Conference for much of the season.

The loss of Charlie Cook, sophomore tackle, provided a big blow for Boone. The Wilmington tackle dropped out of school during the Christmas holiday due to financial problems. The former prep All-State was considered one of the top young stars in the conference.

Boone said it was a big shock and the loss of Cook would leave a gap in the ECC line next fall.

Gophers Showing Mean Business

By BEN OLAN
 Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota's Golden Gophers, who haven't won a Big Ten basketball title in 22 years, are showing the other conference teams they mean business.

Monday night, the Gophers knocked off Northwestern, a pre-season favorite, 71-67 to move into a four-way tie for first place. Minnesota shares the lead with Michigan State, Illinois and Michigan. Each has won three games and lost one.

Michigan State, ranked eighth in the latest Associated Press poll, whipped Ohio State 92-77 in another game on a schedule cut to the bone by mid-year examinations.

In other games Baylor defeated Texas 62-51, Colorado beat Iowa State 74-64, the Citadel turned back Clemson 55-44, Georgia nipped Florida State 94-91 and Gonzaga jarred 17th-ranked Portland 75-48.

Paul Lehman pumped in 16 of his 22 points for Minnesota in the first half as the Gophers forged ahead 43-38. Northwestern tied the score early in the second half but Minnesota, hitting from outside, pulled away for good with a 15-8 lead.

He said the extensive grip of football on the public was impressed upon him when he appeared before a committee of "cobwebbish intellectuals" who examined him for a Rhodes scholarship which he was awarded.

"I brush up on my Plato and Keats and on the American economic system—questions I was sure they'd ask me," Dawkins related.

"And what did they ask?" he added. "The first thing was 'how did the lonely end get his signals?' I thought my chances were down when I declined to tell them, but I managed to make the grade."

The 20-year-old Royal Oak, Mich., native led the powerful Army team to an 8-0 record last year and a national ranking.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The young man sat there. His face was a long-chinned mask of solemnity as he listened to the speaker call him the "All-American of All-Americans."

Then Army's fabulous All-American Pete Dawkins arose to accept the Maxwell Award as the nation's outstanding college football player of 1958.

He said the extensive grip of football on the public was impressed upon him when he appeared before a committee of "cobwebbish intellectuals" who examined him for a Rhodes scholarship which he was awarded.

"I brush up on my Plato and Keats and on the American economic system—questions I was sure they'd ask me," Dawkins related.

"And what did they ask?" he added. "The first thing was 'how did the lonely end get his signals?' I thought my chances were down when I declined to tell them, but I managed to make the grade."

The 20-year-old Royal Oak, Mich., native led the powerful Army team to an 8-0 record last year and a national ranking.

Freshman Find by Pap

The National Football League does not officially recognize any of its freshman performers as the Rookie of the Year, but the group of sports writers who voted Jimmy Orr of the Pittsburgh Steelers as the outstanding rookie in the play-for-pay league were far off the mark. Oh, there must have been a bit of disagreement on some home fronts but no one will deny that the former Georgia halfback did an outstanding job under unusual circumstances.

At Georgia, Orr proved himself a solid, hard-running back. He was the Bulldogs' leading pass-catcher and punter. One of his specialties was returning kick-offs for long gains. He is a fast, shifty runner who stands six feet and weighs about 185 pounds. A good, all-around football player, he would up with the Los Angeles Rams. It was while he was playing in an exhibition game with the Rams that Coach Buddy Parker decided he would fit nicely into the Pittsburgh Steelers scheme of things. Shortly before the championship season got under way, Coach Parker got his man and went to work fashioning Orr into an offensive end.

Orr is inches shorter than the average National Football League end but he overcame that disadvantage with speed and maneuverability. When Bobby Layne was obtained from Detroit shortly after the season started, he quickly discovered that Orr was an ideal target for his long passes. On the receiving end of Layne's passes, Orr averaged over 27 yards per catch. And he caught 33 for a total gain of 910 yards, seven for touchdowns. His sure-fire catches helped the Steelers go through their last seven games without defeat, and established Jimmy Orr as one of the league's most talented receivers.

Few Quints Anxious To Meet Belmont Abbey

BELMONT, N.C. (AP)—Can a little Catholic-school located in a Southern textile community achieve prominence as a small college basketball power?

The question may sound like a radio soap opera introduction but it's got officials at Belmont Abbey College worried. Not because of the team—the Abbey is undefeated in college play.

The gloom stems from scheduling problems. The Abbey is finding it tough to line up opponents.

"We're not a big school," says Coach Al McGuire, "and we don't pretend to be one. All we want is to schedule teams in our class, like the North State Conference members."

"I mean," the former New York Knickerbocker pointed out, "we had about a dozen games with North State teams, this year only three—two with Catawba."

Next season's prospects are even dimmer. Athletic Director H. A. (Humpty) Wheeler said he had contacted each of the North State schools. "Most of them said they were booked solid for 1959-60," Wheeler reported. A few didn't reply.

McGuire said that the Abbey, which has an enrollment of about 500, has joined both the NAIA and NCAA "and we are in line with their requirements, so we should be acceptable to North State teams."

"The South Carolina Little Four of Erskine, Newberry, Presbyterian and Wofford has continued to play us."

"I'd hate to think," he added, "that the reason we aren't getting games is that we are a Catholic school. The school feels it's a combination of reasons."

The current schedule has forced the Abbey squad, dominated by sophomores from the New York area, to do a lot of moving around.

"Last week we traveled 1,700 miles to play three road games,"

Nearly Doubled Colavito's Pay

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Football League Players Assn. hints it may ask owners for a percentage of television and radio receipts to establish an insurance and pension fund.

This was indicated Monday by the president of the association, Bill Howton of the Green Bay Packers. The group opens a two-day meeting Wednesday.

Receipts the players might ask for nearly doubled Colavito's pay.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rock Colavito, counted on as the Cleveland Indians' major gate attraction, has just about doubled his salary.

The 25-year-old outfielder and General Manager Frank Lane got together Monday on a 1959 contract and settled for a figure somewhere between the $27,000 and $30,000, which would be approximately double the 1958 figure.

Curtain Of Secrecy Over Germ Warfare Gives Rise To Some Awesome Rumors

EDITOR'S NOTE: America's military leaders have warned repeatedly that the Soviet Union might resort to germ warfare. Is the United States prepared to defend herself?

By ROGER GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Could a few ounces of lethal germ crystals wipe out the population of New York City — even annihilate all life on the North American Continent?

Could plague germs spread by an enemy touch off a nationwide epidemic?

Could enemy planes or saboteurs destroy this country's crops and livestock, reducing the land to starvation?

The truth about gas and germ warfare is shrouded in secrecy and mystery.

Last May the North Atlantic Treaty Organization warned in an official report: "The Russians are capable of waging biological (germ) and chemical warfare on a large scale."

But the United States' policy on the use of these fearful weapons is top secret, says the Pentagon. One high Pentagon official puts it bluntly: "We're scared to death even to mention germ warfare."

One man who presumably should have the answers is Maj. Gen. Marshall Stubbs, chief of the Army Chemical Corps.

It took seven weeks for the Pentagon to approve a newsman's interview with Gen. Stubbs. The event turned out to be little more than a handshaking formality.

Stubbs said frankly he would like to clear up many points of confusion but had been ordered to observe strict silence.

A written question was submitted to the Pentagon asking if we have enough biological warfare weapons now to combat the enemy if they used them first. After 25 days came back the reply: "The Chemical Corps has a capability in biological warfare."

In such an atmosphere of secrecy, it is little wonder that the most lurid distortions and conflicting statements about germ warfare go virtually unchallenged.

Item — Dr. Brock Chisholm, director-general of the United Nations' World Health Organization, says scientists have discovered a substance so deadly that seven ounces would be enough to kill all the people in the world.

Item — Army pamphlet No. 8-12 entitled "What You Should Know About Biological Warfare": "No kind of biological warfare could kill or sicken every person in a large area of city. Talk of one ounce — of toxic material — killing millions is silly."

Item — The British Medical Journal says two or three drops of nerve gas on the skin will still within 30 minutes; one drop in the eye or a tiny amount inhaled as vapor kills in a few minutes.

Item — Chemical Warfare Service handbook, issued by the Army Chemical Center at Edgewood Arsenal, Md.: "A single droplet of nerve gas in a person's eye could kill him."

Item — Col. D. G. Brothaus, commanding officer at the Army's Rocky Mountain Arsenal where nerve gas is manufactured:

"Nerve gas does not have the super-powerful attributes that some writers would have you believe. One drop on the skin will not kill in 30 seconds, and one quart jar will not kill every living thing in a cubic mile."

Item — Military experts engaged in the Army's 1955 "Exercise Sage Brush" mock warfare maneuvers in Louisiana said a cloud of concentrated nerve gas could kill men at a distance of 50 miles from the point of release within 15 minutes.

Item — Dr. Selman A. Waksman, famed co-discoverer of streptomycin, director of Rutgers University Institute of Microbiology: "Maybe if you stood directly under a germ-bomb explosion with your mouth open or had some skin cuts, there would be an infection."

Item — "Germ Warfare I Adv Tues pms Jan. 20 gal 2"

What then, are you supposed to believe in all this writer of conflicting statements?

Tight official silence has created a virtual blackout on authoritative information. Yet the Pentagon, in response to written questions submitted by a reporter, allowed the following sentence to remain among heavily censored answers:

"The Chemical Corps is anxious to put the true facts before the public so that the nature of chemical and biological warfare can be viewed in its proper perspective."

Maj. Gen. William M. Creasy, former Chemical Corps chief, had chafed at the bonds of secrecy imposed on him. Before resigning to enter private business last Sept. 1, he publicly urged:

"We must strip all mystery from these munitions so that our understanding of their nature will not be clouded. The job of education will not be completed until the public knows as much about the realities of Chemical-Biological-Radiological (C-B-R) warfare and defenses against it, as it does about atomic warfare."

Redstone Fired By Field Troops

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP)—Army field troops have fired off a Redstone surface-to-surface missile, capable of carrying an atomic warhead, for the second time.

The Redstone's second inland firing was accomplished Monday by troops of the 29th Field Artillery missile group as part of their graduation exercise.

It was the second reduced-range performance for the 200-mile-range missile.

The 69-foot ballistic weapon is undergoing practice firings at the missile range. It is tactically employed in the hands of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe.

New S. C. Governor Pledges Fight 'Tide Of Mediocrity'

By AL LANIER

COLUMBIA (AP) — Youthful Gov. E. F. (Fritz) Hollings took over as South Carolina's chief executive today with a ringing inaugural promise to help the South fight "a tide which would sweep us into national mediocrity."

Hollings said this state's position on racial segregation and states' rights is unwavering and will bend "neither to threats of federal pressure nor to promises of federal aid."

The 37-year-old Charleston attorney said South Carolina will assume "the cape of leadership" in resisting those who would "crush the states and their citizens."

The handsome new governor was sworn in by Associate State Supreme Court Justice Lionel K. Legge to succeed outgoing Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. Hollings moves up after four years as lieutenant governor.

Also sworn in for four-year terms were Lieutenant Gov. Burnet R. Maybank of Greenville and seven other elected state officials.

The wooden inaugural platform seated some 900 state officials and civic dignitaries and was surrounded by throngs of other spectators. The structure featured a special set of stairs so the state's new first lady, who is expecting a child about Feb. 1, could make a hurried exit if necessary.

Hollings said he is taking office at a time when the South is threatened with "economic blackmail" and both political parties "are competing to hurl the greatest insult and defamation at our door."

Worse still, Hollings continued, "we find a confused and petulant chief executive assuming command of a marching army, this time not against Berlin, but against Little Rock."

Hollings said President Eisenhower has admonished Southern governors that they are sworn to support "the Supreme Court's version of the law of the land—or, to be specific, he and others insist that the governors are sworn to integrate the public schools."

But the new South Carolina governor said the Supreme Court was established "to decide past litigation in the light of past decisions and not in spite of past decisions."

He said the tribunal has "flagrantly, baldly" usurped lawmaking powers reserved by the U.S. Constitution to the separate states.

"...paramount is the power of providing and regulating public education," Hollings declared.

"There is today no law and no provision of the Constitution requiring racially integrated schools...until the Constitution is lawfully amended, my refusal to integrate our people during the next four years will not conflict with the oath just taken."

"In fact, Hollings added, "the contrary is true. I cannot conscientiously take this oath to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States and not object to the Supreme Court usurping the amendatory power that constitutionally is vested in three-fourths of the states."

Hollings said both Negroes and whites in South Carolina are in

Phi Delta Kappa Installs Chapter At East Carolina

With forty-three faculty members, students, and graduates of East Carolina College as charter members, the Phi Delta Kappa Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, international professional fraternity for men in education, was installed on the campus in ceremonies conducted here over the weekend.

National and district officers of the fraternity who were present to conduct the installation service were Dr. Charles R. Foster, assistant dean of the school of education, University of Florida; Dr. Maynard Bemis of the international headquarters of the fraternity, Bloomington, Indiana; and Dr. Nathaniel Shope, superintendent of schools at Elizabeth City, N. C.

A ritual team from the Beta Theta Chapter at the University of North Carolina was in charge of initiation of new members.

Dr. Clinton R. Prewett, director of the department of psychology at East Carolina, presided Saturday night at a dinner and charter program in the East Dining Hall at the college. Speakers included President John D. Messick and Vice President Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina College and Dr. Shope.

Officers of the new Delta Pi Chapter were elected Saturday and introduced to members and guests at the charter program. All are members of the East Carolina faculty. Heading the chapter are Dr. John Horne, president; Dr. Frank Fuller, vice president; Dr. James Tucker, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. C. H. Allen, faculty sponsor.

New members include six members of the faculty and the administrative staff of the college; Vice President Leo W. Jenkins; Director Ed. J. Carter of the education department; C. Colton Daw-

Ominous Note Is Followed Up

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — The hastily scrawled note found in a car abandoned on a busy expressway had an ominous note: "Can't make a go of it. Anyone who finds this car can have it."

With the frozen expanses of a reservoir close by and no sign of the owner, police theorized the owner had decided to end it all. A search of the area proved fruitless.

Later the owner was traced to his home in Bernard, Maine. Kenneth Card, 28, said he was en route to Hartford, Conn., when his 1947 auto conked out. He abandoned it and hitch-hiked home.

Card deciphered the note to read: "Can't make it go."

"I have an idea," Murray told Harlingen. "I don't know if it's worth anything, but it's an idea. Anyhow, it's cold enough for a cup of coffee."

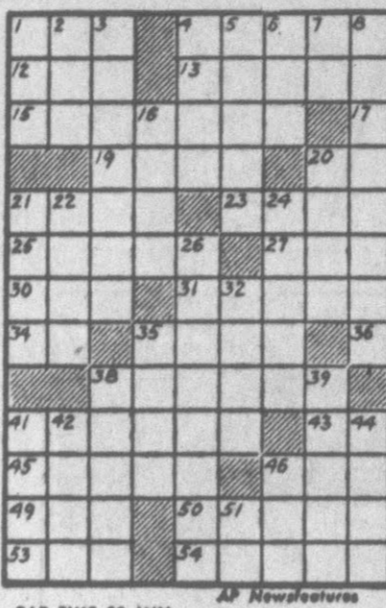

This man?" he asked in Spanish.
The man's smile remained as fixed, as bright, as meaningless as ever. "I know him," he replied in kind. "He is of the police."

It is the kind of thing idle people talk about while they are drinking their coffee here.
Murray nodded. "I see. And did you also know this Ira Miller?"

"Now I went across the street, and we ate in that place right where Mr. Harlingen is standing, Floyd said. "That hog-dog joint."

"Would the guy who runs it know you?" Murray asked.
Floyd looked doubtful. "He don't even speak English."

"All right, let's take a look."
They joined Harlingen in front of the stand, which was glassed in against the weather, its counter stained and dirty, its floor a litter of used paper cups and cig-

Some Improvement, But Traffic-Wise A Glum Year

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Staff Writer

The year 1958 was another in the long current line of bad traffic years for Pitt County, according to annual statistics gathered by the North Carolina Highway Patrol.

Although some improvement was evident—there were two less accidents, nine less injuries, and two less fatalities than in the previous year—the totals in these three areas are still proportionately high, according to patrol officials.

In 1958, 15 people lost their lives on the highways and streets of Pitt County. Of the 15, two died inside communities, with the remaining 13 meeting death on paved and unpaved roads that wind through the county.

The deaths which occurred in communities resulted from accidents in Greenville and Bethel. One life was claimed at each location.

Total number of accidents for the year throughout the county amounted to 243. There were 106 people injured as a result of these accidents. Property damage arising from the accidents amounted to $115,800.00.

According to patrol authorities in this area, the traffic violations which were by far the most responsible for the accidents, injuries and deaths recorded this year were a high rate of speed and failure to yield right-of-way by motorists.

In an effort to curtail the number of violations and accidents, Pitt County patrolmen made 4,563 arrests during the year of 1958.

High Death Rate

Pitt County highway, notorious throughout the past few years as one of the most dangerous sections of the state, maintained its high ranking in 1958, despite the decrease in deaths.

In 1956, the county recorded the highest number of traffic fatalities in its history, 24. Since that time, the death rate has dropped into the high teens. In 1957 the death rate was 17. Last year it was 15.

Patrol officials point out that the county has not always been such a menace to traffic totals. In 1948, the all-time low for these areas was recorded. There were only three deaths. In 1954, with the inauguration of the Highway Patrol's speed watch, fatalities dropped to only seven.

Records indicate that the lowest death rates throughout the county have in the past appeared during the years that the North Carolina Highway Patrol has instigated special methods. In 1948, the low mark of three is attributed to the instigation of mechanical inspection. In 1954, the speed watch is given credit for the decrease.

Locations of the accidents which resulted in fatality are listed below, as recorded by the State Highway Patrol:

On January 22, Leila Harris was killed in a collision five miles west of Greenville on the Stanton-Road Road.

On May 10, James Edward Taylor was struck down by a truck in Pactolus.

On May 11, William N. Brown died when his auto crashed head-on into another vehicle at the intersection of N. C. 11 and N. C. 33.

On May 11, Nicie Ann Bunn died as a result of a collision at the same location.

On May 24, Robert Benjamin Brown met death on N. C. 903 a mile and a half east of Stokes.

On August 11, William B. Wohlger was killed 15 miles South of Greenville on N. C. 43.

On August 15, Debra Grace Daff was a pedestrian fatality on Winterville-Willow Green Highway, five miles west of Winterville.

On August 21, Cleo Forbes Jr. was killed on U. S. 264, three miles west of Greenville.

On September 13, William Ray Pollard became a fatality on N. C. 11, one mile North of Greenville.

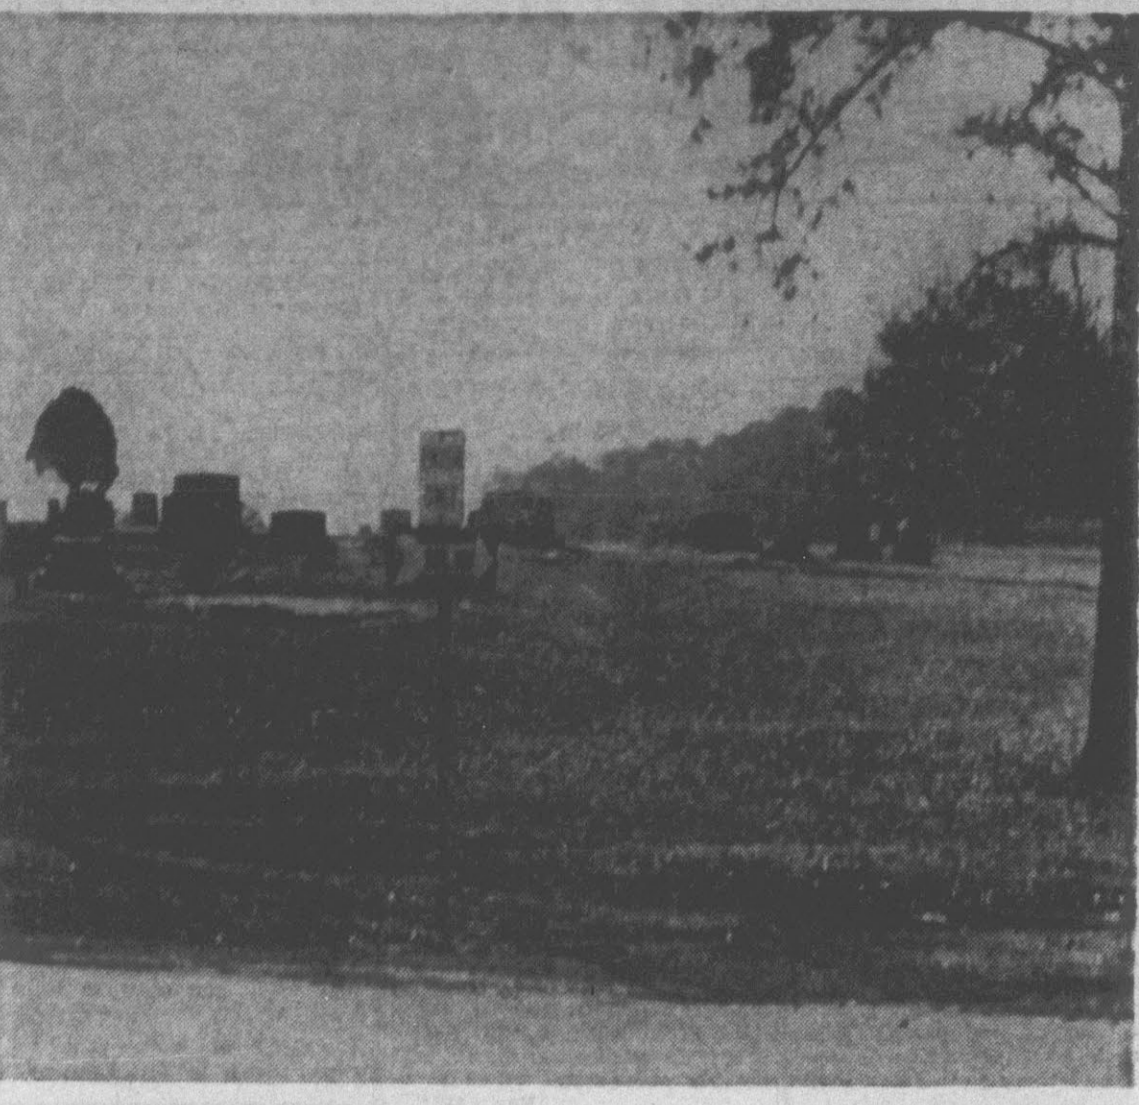

On October 10, Myers Gilbert Hooper died at the same location.

On October 23, Rosa Deores Sherron was hit by a car in the streets of Bethel.

On November 10, William Clarence Taylor died one mile north of Greenville on U. S. 13.

On December 10, John Butler died in a train-car collision at a crossing on the Whichard's Station Road.

On December 25, William Thomas Daniels was killed on a rural road nine miles east of Ayden.

ONE-WAY—On a rural road in Pitt County, this small country cemetery lays sprawled to the side of the highway. At the entrance to the cemetery a one-way sign points in and an attached sign reads: ENTER ONLY. In 1958, Pitt County's death rate due to traffic accidents continued to rank high.

Worsley Speaks On Tax Laws

"The Internal Revenue Department is the best run and most efficient government agency," according to Dick Worsley, certified public accountant of Greenville.

Worsley spoke to members of the Lions Club last night about Federal Income Tax, pointing out that the main objections to the tax are the many complicated laws and the inequities in the laws.

The speaker cited examples where the laws favor minority groups causing a widening base of deductions with a net result of higher taxes. He stated that tax laws should be revised in order to make the tax more uniform for all individuals. "If this is properly done," he said, "the tax rate could be lowered."

Worsley commented that each taxpayer should write his Congressman and express his views on tax matters. "We must let them know how we feel," he said, "if we are to get the laws changed."

The Lions also heard a report from members of the club who attended the Lions Mid-Winter District convention in Rocky Mount last week.

Reggie Johnson, student at J. H. Rose High School, was introduced to the club as Junior Lion.

Icy Air Tightens Grip On Northern Sections

Icy air tightened its grip across northern sections of the county today as new thrusts of snow, sleet and rain added further winter weather discomfort.

Below zero weather was the rule from east of the Rockies in Montana across North Dakota and northern Minnesota into Wisconsin. It was near zero in Michigan and northern sections of Illinois and Indiana.

Heavy snow warnings, with falls of five inches or more, were posted for the Oklahoma panhandle and southern Kansas into extreme west central Missouri. Snow was widespread from Montana to eastern Colorado and most of Nebraska and South Dakota while

Believes Unions Are Inevitable For The South

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Dr. R. P. Lumpkin, a senior economist for the Federal Reserve Bank, believes that "unions are inevitable for the South."

"They have aggressive organizations and the framework in which to work," Dr. Lumpkin, attached to the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, said here in a newspaper interview. "The whole legal structure in this country promotes ultimate unionization of industry." He added that the unions have "quite an attractive piece of pie to offer."

It will be attractive, he declared, because, generally, the union's first promise is to raise wages. "This is going to cause an adjustment in the textile industry, particularly marginal firms which can't pay more—will have to—and then they'll go out of business," Dr. Lumpkin said that a statesmanlike attitude on the part of the unions would aid the transitional problems.

Revolving Fund Plan Proposed

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation was proposed today to create a revolving fund of 2 1/2 million dollars from which municipalities could borrow to finance sewage treatment facilities.

The State Stream Sanitation Committee asked that a bill embodying this request be drafted for presentation to the coming General Assembly.

Former State Sen. J. V. Whitfield of Burgaw, committee chairman, said "nothing has come before us as important as this to help clear up our streams."

He told committee members "we have cities anxious to clear up streams but do not have financing" to carry out pollution abatement.

The fund, Whitfield said, would be used to provide loans "for cities and towns that cannot carry the load of putting their pollution problems in shape." He explained that the loans would be made through the local government commission.

The committee approved a proposed legislative bill which would make county boards of commissioners responsible for carrying out pollution abatement in unincorporated towns.

The committee was expected to act later today on proposed water classification standards for the Cape Fear River.

Queen Will Take Extensive Look

OTTAWA (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II will see more of Canada this summer than any sovereign ever has—15,000 miles from Newfoundland to the Yukon.

The Canadian government today announced the itinerary for the royal tour by the Queen and Prince Philip, who arrive June 18 to visit until Aug. 1.

The schedule listed only one stop in the United States—Chicago on July 6 for the international party and exposition there. The party will sail down Lake Michigan board the royal yacht Britannia.

High point of the trip will be the dedication of the St. Lawrence Seaway on June 26-27. The initial itinerary did not say whether the ceremonies will take place at Montreal or Cornwall, Ont., or both. A detailed schedule will be announced later.

Disc Jockey To Try 8-Day Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—Disc jockey Peter Tripp gets up at 11 a. m. today with the intention of staying awake for almost 8 1/2 days.

A team of psychiatrists, doctors and psychiatric nurses will follow Tripp's every move during the planned 200 hours of wakefulness to see what effect loss of sleep has on mental and physical ability.

Tripp, 23, will keep his vigil in an armed services recruiting booth in the center of Times Square between Broadway and 7th Ave.

Tripp hopes he will attract attention to the March of Dimes drive.

Disc jockey Dave Hunter of Jacksonville Beach, Fla., claims to have the world's record—187 hours.

Hunter set out at 9 a. m. today to better his old mark.

Hunter, a 23-year-old, 6-foot, 143-pounder from radio station WZLQ, began his stint in the downtown show window of a dealer in imported cars.

He'll get periodic checkups from Dr. Anson J. Mellon but otherwise he'll be on his own.

Eisenhower Starting His 7th Year In Office Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, 68, starts his seventh year in office today reportedly determined to keep the Democratic-controlled Congress on the defensive if it balks at his program.

With half of his second four-year term behind him, the President scheduled no formal observance of this anniversary of his inauguration.

Topping his business calendar is a meeting with Republican congressional leaders for discussion of the administration's legislative proposals and the 77-billion-dollar spending program Eisenhower sent to the Capitol Monday.

The budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 already has been criticized by Democrats—and some Republicans—as inadequate and unrealistic. Aides said the President is ready to hit back at the critics.

As an indication of his mood, an aide pointed to Eisenhower's appeal to the American public—within minutes after the budget went to the legislators—for help in winning support for it in Congress, and in fighting off what he called spending pressure groups.

In a statement for television and radio use, Eisenhower said failure of the government to live within its means would encourage inflation and diminish the value of every pay envelope.

It was a foregone conclusion Eisenhower would stress the same theme in his annual economic report to Congress today.

In advance of dispatching that report, the President arranged to take part in the awarding of gold medals to missile expert Werner von Braun and four other government employes being honored for distinguished public service.

Another ceremonial activity takes Eisenhower to the airport at midday to welcome Argentina's President Arturo Frondizi, arriving for a state visit.

Last night Eisenhower and the first lady were hosts at a family dinner party marking the 70th birthday of the President's eldest brother, Edgar, a Tacoma, Wash., attorney.

Two other brothers, Earl and Milton, were on hand. So were the wives of Edgar and Earl, and the son and daughter-in-law of the President, Army Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

Ask Penalty For Hunting Mishap

RALEIGH (AP)—A state law to make it a misdemeanor for a hunter to wound or kill anyone through carelessness or negligence was proposed Monday by the State Wildlife Resources Commission.

It was one item in a legislative package emphasizing hunter safety which the commission agreed to recommend to the coming Legislature.

In addition to the maximum penalty of two years in prison for a misdemeanor, the court would be authorized to revoke the convicted person's hunting license for as long as five years.

The commission decided to seek advice from the attorney general's office in defining "carelessness or negligence" in the bill.

Other portions of the commission's legislative program included a requirement that reports on all hunting accidents be filed with the commission, and authority for officers of the protective division to use red lights and sirens on their cars.

Thurman Briggs of Lexington was elected to succeed Jim Connelly of Morganton as chairman. Robert Carr of Wallace moved up to vice chairman, and T. N. Masie was named secretary, succeeding Carr.

Tried 7 Times To Shoot Wife; Didn't Make It

KOKOMO, Ind. (AP)—A laborer who once served time for shooting a man in a Western-style gun fight in a hotel lobby tried seven times Monday to shoot his estranged wife in Circuit Court here.

William Gann, 24, was held today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon in trying to shoot his wife, Helen, as she neared the witness stand in a hearing over support for their two children.

The weapon did not fire because Gann was using American ammunition in a foreign-made pistol.

Lawyer John Grimes, waiting for another case, took the pistol from Gann as the court bailiff and another lawyer hurried Mrs. Gann out of the courtroom.

Gann was sentenced to prison for a year in 1953 after shooting Don Guernsey in the spine. Police said the two wound up a day's drinking in an argument over which could draw and fire the fastest.

Hope Near Gone For Missing Boy

LEBANON, Mo. (AP)—Weary searchers have almost given up hope that 3-year-old Willard Eugene Jones Jr. is alive.

The boy wandered off into dense Ozark timber around his farm home Saturday afternoon. The temperature dropped to 19 degrees that night.

Sheriff Neil Brown called off the organized search temporarily Monday night. But determined volunteers, including 500 soldiers from nearby Ft. Leonard Wood, were to make another effort today, despite forecasts of freezing rain and snow.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jones Sr., and their eight other children have stayed close to the home, waiting for word.
