State's Highway Patrol Plane And Trawler Find No Trace Of Ship That Reportedly Struck Iceberg

Be Jones' Target

(Second in a series of interviews with Pitt County's three members of the 1959 North Carolina General Assembly.)

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Staff Writer

Walter B. Jones, the man who authored North Carolina's Financial Responsibility Act and then scrambled and scraped through the 1957 General Assembly to hustle enough votes to make the proposal a law, won't go to Raleigh next week with any ideas as thoroughly prepared as his "insurance law" was two years ago.

The Farmville man, who holds one of Pitt County's two seats in the House of Representatives, has been pushed hard lately. He's a salesman of office supplies and has been forced to set a steady pace for himself since the first of the year to get all of his accounts lined up.

A week ago, the pace caught up with him. A deep-seated case of influenza dumped him in bed, completely inactivated him and shredded the reserve of physical energy that stamped him as "a tireless and hard-working member" of 1955 and 1957 legislative sessions.

Jones' inactivity for the past week could mean a couple of things. He could set a slower pace for himself during the early days of the 1959 Assembly, or he could march into the State Capitol with both barrels of his legislative shotgun loaded and primed for action. The latter, on the basis of his past performances as a legislator, is more likely.

The record Jones has built in the past four years has stamped "Independent" all over him. For instance, he is said to have the ear of Governor Luther H. Hodges, but some of the Governor's legislative proposals have drawn strong opposition from Jones.

As a second point, he represents what is generally considered the heart of North Carolina's conservative area, but he has been more than liberal in some of his ideas and actions. Also, he has been classed as a man who listens carefully to what the folks back home have to say, but who votes against that advice occasionally out of a personal conviction about the worth of a particular piece of legislation.

The reported close friendship between Jones and Hodges could be strained during the coming legislative session if the Farmville man follows his present feelings about the State Highway Commission. The commission was reorganized, with a "statewide approach," by the 1957 Assembly, at the Governor's urging.

Since the reorganization became effective, in July, 1957, Jones has built a few questions about it. The biggest one, he says, is whether Eastern North Carolina, particularly Northeastern North Carolina, is getting its "fair share" of highway funds.

"There is no doubt," Jones says, "the statewide formula has merit, but only as long as each section of the state receives a fair and equitable share of funds. Under the present composition of the commission (seven members, named by the Governor), I am quite concerned over the fact that many areas of the state are completely unrepresented."

"For instance, the First and Third Congressional Districts — which include approximately 25 per cent of North Carolina's 100 counties — do not have a person on the present highway commission. I can't help but feel that if each highway division (which roughly corresponds to a congressional district) had a representative on the highway commission, the people would have far more direct access to the commission."

"Right now, the folks in this area don't have anywhere to go with their problems — unless they want to go to Raleigh, or to Halifax (home of Highway Commissioner Fletcher Gregory), or to Wilmington (home of Highway Commissioner E. L. White)." The seven-man commission, aimed at "taking politics out of the highway commission," was pushed hard by the Governor in 1957. He made no secret of his pleasure with the action which abolished the old 14-man commission.

Jones says now he didn't share completely the Governor's happiness with the reorganization. He voted for the reorganization, he says, but "with some reservations." Now, he intends to do something about the reservations.

What he has in mind to introduce legislation which would "provide representation for everybody."

"I felt at the time the reorganization was authorized that one of the weaknesses of the bill was that it was moving the State Highway Commission away from the people, away from the so-called 'grass roots' of our state government. After all, it's the gas taxes paid by the average citizen which provide revenue to support our highway system, and those who pay have every right to be heard."

Jones' liberal element, which was illustrated to a degree by his campaign for the "insurance law" and the manner in which he goes along with sweeping changes might be shown this year by actions on such proposed legislation as court reforms, taxes (included a withholding system for state taxes), and a minimum wage law.

The idea of reforming the state's inferior court system is, Jones says, the past four years has stamped "Independent" all over him. For instance, he is said to have the ear of Governor Luther H. Hodges, but some of the Governor's legislative proposals have drawn strong opposition from Jones.

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — A U.S. Navy radar patrol plane and a German trawler continued searching today for the Danish cargo-passenger ship Hans Hedtoft, last reported sinking after hitting an iceberg in the North Atlantic.

The little German vessel, the Johannes Krues, continued the search after reporting earlier that ice and heavy seas would force her to give up.

Other ships and planes headed for the stormy, ice-caked area off the southern tip of Greenland to join in the hunt.

Two hours after the Navy plane arrived over the area there was no sign of the Hedtoft, carrying between 95 and 130 persons.

The 2,875-ton Hedtoft hit the iceberg shortly before noon (EST) Friday and radioed less than four hours later that she was "slowly sinking and needed immediate assistance."

The 650-ton Krues reached the area about an hour after this appeal. But the wind was 60 m. p. h., icy waves were 20 feet high and fog cut visibility. Then darkness fell.

The German trawler combed the area through the night. Just before daylight there was still no trace of the missing Danish vessel.

The Krues radioed the approaching U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Campbell: "Have searched, nothing found or seen, no lights, or lifeboats or ship."

"Plenty ice from northwest...We must go. We are becoming ice bound. It is dangerous for the ship and we can do no more."

The Campbell radioed later, when about 50 miles from the scene: "No further contact with Hans Hedtoft. Trawler Johannes Krues still searching. Conditions poor due to weather and darkness. No evidence of (Danish) motor vessel sighted. Trawler reported ice closing in from northwest, however, continuing search. Navy aircraft arrived at 4:30 and searching area."

The Navy Superconstellation was sent 1,000 miles from Argentina, NFDL, to circle over the area and try to direct the search ships by radar.

The continuing search was being directed from the Royal Canadian Air Force search and rescue center in Halifax.

More ships were plowing toward the scene through the rough North Atlantic as U. S. and Canadian search planes took off in hope of getting through bad weather that had kept them grounded Friday.

The Campbell was coming from the North Atlantic navigational patrol station 300 miles to the southwest.

Nine small vessels set out from Greenland in a blizzard to try to help. The Greenland Navy command said three of them were forced by the storm to drop anchor.

Weather conditions were reported to be improving. But in the best of weather at this time of year, a person can survive in those frigid waters for "just over 60 seconds," the Coast Guard said.

The Hedtoft was en route from Godthaab, capital of the ice-capped Danish island of Greenland, to Copenhagen on the return leg of its maiden voyage. The Greenland Department in Copenhagen said she carried 55 passengers and 40 crew members but a radio message from the ship said 90 passengers and 40 crewmen were aboard.

The department said all passengers were Danes or Greenlanders.

The Hedtoft was built last year for the Danish government and put into service about a month ago bearing the name of a late premier of Denmark.

Many of the details — maiden voyage, latest safety designs, hit an iceberg — were similar to the loss of the Titanic in 1912 with 1,517 lives. The 46,328-ton British ship sank about 1,300 miles south of the area where the Hedtoft collision occurred.

Bill Killed

PIERRE, S. D. (AP) — South Dakota's House of Representatives today killed without debate a bill which would have put a skull and crossbones emblem on cigarette packages sold in the state.

The House adopted a committee report which recommended against passage of the bill.

It cleared the Senate by an 18-16 vote four days ago after a debate in which one opponent said South Dakota was making itself vulnerable to reprisals from other states.

Tobacco-growing southern states have hinted retaliation against South Dakota products because of the measure.

The bill's author, chain-smoking Sen. Don Stranksy, has said his object was to dramatize possible health hazards from smoking and to de-glamorize it in the minds of young people.

The bill touched off jokes and indignation alike. Stranksy insisted he introduced the measure in all seriousness, and he thanked the Senate in the debate this week for not ridiculing it.

Some legislators said privately the Senate passed the bill out of respect for Stranksy, a respected figure in the Capitol.

Virginians Striving To Ease Impact

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Senate supporters of Gov. J. Lindsay Almond say they believe they have enough votes to pass today his program to ease the impact of school integration.

A ruling was expected soon — possibly today — from Chief Justice Earl Warren on the Arlington School Board's request for a delay of enrollment of four Negroes in the Stratford Junior High School.

In Norfolk, school officials said "everything is in readiness" for integration Monday of six schools closed last fall because of the delay.

The Almond program — granting tuition payments to those who don't want to attend integrated schools and repealing compulsory school attendance — already has passed the House of Delegates.

It now is before the Senate Finance Committee, whose membership includes most of the senators who had been seeking stronger action than Almond sought from the special session.

Justice Warren promised Arlington swift action on its request for a delay.

Arlington school officials said plans were complete for enrollment of the Negro children and that no trouble is anticipated should a delay be denied. To make certain no incidents occur, police will block off an area of a half mile surrounding the school Monday morning.

Norfolk police said they had no present plans "to show police force" at the six schools to be integrated there, and expect no violence.

The tuition grant bills sailed through the House of Delegates by unanimous vote, and the school attendance repealer by a count of 89-3. The House also approved a bill making it a felony for a person over 14 to threaten — or communicate the threat of — a bombing.

The Senate's only action Friday was to reaffirm an earlier resolution pledging a continued fight against what is called usurpation of state authority by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Snowstorm Fails Deter Missile

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Martin Co. says the latest flight of one of its Mace missiles has proved its all-weather capability.

The missile, which can carry a nuclear warhead, roared 650 miles through a snowstorm from Alamogordo, N.M., to Wendover Air Force Base, Utah. A spokesman for Martin said the TM76B stayed on course all the way and struck the target area.

The Mace will replace the Martin Matador at overseas bases within a few months.

Bundy Named To Probation Body

RALEIGH (AP) — Superior Court Judge William J. Bundy of Greenville will replace a fellow judge on the State Probation Commission.

Appointment of Bundy to succeed Judge Clifton L. Moore of Winston-Salem was announced today.

Bundy, 58, served as a district solicitor for about six years before Gov. Hodges named him to the superior court bench in 1955. He is a native of Farmville, and was educated at Trinity College (now Duke University), Cumberland University, and Wake Forest College.

Senate Hearings Probably Will Bring Space, Missiles Stress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic attempt to accelerate defense spending appeared likely today after Senate testimony that more money is needed to match Soviet space and missile advances.

Two days of a wide ranging Senate inquiry into the status of U.S. preparedness touched off speculation that Senate Democrats may try to expend President Eisenhower's defense budget.

Eisenhower is recommending slightly over 40 billion dollars in defense spending for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Both he and Secretary of Defense McElroy contend this is adequate to cope with any Soviet threat.

As the Senate inquiry went into recess until the middle of next week, Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La.) of the House Space Committee announced hearings paralleling the Senate's will begin Monday.

A possible hint to Democratic plans for defense spending came Friday as Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) recessed the inquiry by the combined Senate Space and Preparedness subcommittees.

Johnson, chairman of both groups, said public testimony as far by top defense, space and missile officials indicate there are deficiencies which must be explored behind closed doors because of military secrets involved.

Jarvis Memorial Announcements

Sunday, February 1, will mark the first anniversary of the opening of the rebuilt Jarvis Memorial Church. This year marks the fifty second year since Jarvis Memorial opened her doors at the heart of Greenville. Records are not available but the congregation is known to be more than a hundred and fifty years old.

During the past year hundreds of visitors have come to see the church which is one of the most beautiful and worshipful to be found in this area. Visitors from half the States in the Union and from five foreign countries have signed the guest register. Comments generally have been enthusiastically complimentary.

Holy Communion will be observed at the church at nine o'clock on Sunday, February 1. The church school will convene at 9:45 a.m. The services at eleven o'clock will be broadcast over station WGIC.

The evening service will be held at 7:30. Holy Communion will be observed at this service also. Special Music will be presented at both the eleven o'clock a.m. and the 7:30 p.m. services. For the Prelude at the eleven o'clock service Mrs. Toll will play "The Bells of St. Anne de Beaupre," by Russell. The Junior Choir with Kathryn Joyner as soloist will sing "We are Children of the King" by "We are Children of the King" by Russell. The Adult Choir will sing as an Offertory anthem "Sweet Is Thy Mercy, Lord" by Barnby. For the Offertory Mrs. Toll will use "Invocation" by Bullman and "Toccata" by Widor for the Postlude. At the evening service the Prelude will be "All Glory to God on High" by Bach. Miss Lella Goff Jackson will sing as a solo "In My Father's House Are Many Mansions" by MacDermid. The Offertory will be "Adagio" by Anding and the Postlude "Benediction" by Wely.

Visitors are always welcome but this anniversary service will be of special interest. We invite you to worship with us.

THE CATHEDRAL WE LIVE IN
Mt. Whitney in California: 14,496 feet high! Just one of the spires of the Cathedral we live in.

When God made this world of ours he gave us many a glimpse of Himself. In the towering peaks we see His dignity—in the fertile plains, His providence—in the wild storms, His wrath—in the shimmering rainbow, His mercy—in the mighty falls, His strength—in the mirror lake, His peace.

But to reveal His Love—the greatest quality of God's nature—He gave us His Son, Jesus Christ... born in a stable... slain on a cross... risen to reign forever.

This world is the Cathedral in which men worship Him. Its altars are the churches to which the faithful throng.

Life is God's gift: To live in His Cathedral... and work... and play... and WORSHIP!

Mothers, Fathers To Be Honored

Plans were made last night to honor the Pitt County Gold Star Mothers and Fathers at a dinner to be held on February 18 at the First Christian Church, according to Mrs. C. B. West Jr., president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Charles Gray Morgan Post No. 7032 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who presided at the monthly meeting of the Auxiliary. Mrs. H. H. Compton was hostess at her home on Greenville Blvd. Mrs. Horace Vincent was co-hostess.

Mrs. Luella Stancill, Mrs. Alice Proctor, Mrs. Lottie Lewis, Mrs. Myrtle Meeks and Mrs. West were elected delegates to represent the local organization at the district meeting to be held in Goldsboro on Sunday.

The Americanism committee reported that flags have recently been placed in two classrooms at the School for Trainable Children. From the Caswell Training School committee it was learned that five dolls with complete outfits and four tractors had been sent to Caswell at Christmas. Plans for a bingo party to be given there this spring were discussed.

The Veterans Hospital Committee told of sending 20 cartons of cigarettes to Fayetteville Hospital and $12.50 to Oteen.

Mrs. West reminded the Auxiliary that the membership quota is 49. There are only a few vacancies.

Rev. Harris gave a program on "Travelers On The King's Highway." He brought out many facts and ways for all of us to be Travelers on the King's Highway. He also led the group in singing a few choruses after which he sang a solo "I Know Who Holds Tomorrow." Carolyn Hathaway led the closing prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Warren after the meeting. The next Y.P.A. meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Warren on February 9 at 7:30 p.m. All young people from ages 14-18 are invited to attend.

Lecture To Be Presented At N. C. Art Museum

Charles W. Stanford, Curator of Education at the North Carolina Museum of Art, will discuss masterpieces from the Museum's collection of works by 18th century French artists at a lecture to be presented at the Museum Sunday, February 1, at 4:00 p.m. This program is a part of the Museum's regularly scheduled Sunday afternoon series.

Artists to be discussed include Francois Boucher, Jean Marc Nattier, Elizabeth Vigee-LeBrun, and Jacques Louis David. Boucher was the official painter for Mme. Pompadour and his works are to be understood as a part of the interior decoration of the palaces during the time of Louis XV.

Nattier created the fashion of painting aristocratic women as mythological Greek goddesses and became the official court painter for Louis XV.

Mme. Vigee-LeBrun was the leading interpreter of fashionable beauty in the late days of the reign of Marie Antoinette and Louis XVI.

These artists represent what is called the Rococo style, which is characterized by light cool colors, giving a quality of surface movement. This style ended abruptly with the French Revolution which brought Jacques Louis David, the staunch republican, into power.

The national health survey of Pitt County has been completed. Filing of reports by representatives of the American Public Health Association and the American Child Health Association, who conducted the survey, was made at a meeting at the courthouse yesterday. The survey was conducted through the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs. The report of the experts showed that Pitt County at this time is spending $13,350 annually for public health. This includes appropriations from both county and state. It represents approximately 25 cents per capita. The report recommended that the appropriation be increased to $49,300 or 94 cents per capita. This did not include tuberculosis or improved needs of the schools. Mrs. Thomas O'Berry of Goldsboro, president of the N. C. Federation of Women's Clubs, thanked Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, president of the Woman's Club of Greenville, for her active part in supervising study of local health conditions.

Teenage Writer

During the half-time of the Greenville-Elizabeth City basketball game, the Monogram Club honored one of the most enthusiastic and loyal fans of Greenville's athletes, Cecil Turner, by making him a member of the club and presenting to him a club jacket.

In his presentation speech, Billy Brown, president of the club, told the spectators that he guessed that every boy wants to play sports and become a member of the Monogram Club.

"Some of us aren't blessed with physical ability. I thank God that I am," he continued. "The boys appreciate people who come out and support them."

Stating that the club would like to recognize "one of our most ardent supporters," Billy asked surprised, but very happy Cecil to come forward and presented to him a Monogram Club jacket.

Almond Salvages School System

As massive resistance in Virginia dies slowly and closed schools prepare to open on an integrated basis next week, Gov. Lindsay Almond, forceful leader of the resistance effort, is emerging as an equally forceful leader intent on seeing that Virginia abides by the law while continuing to fight against integration.

Before the special session of the Virginia General Assembly, Gov. Almond made it clear that while he opposes integration of schools, he likewise will oppose with equal vigor open defiance of what now appears to be the law and interference with the operation of the public schools which become integrated.

The striking down of Virginia's massive resistance program by the State Supreme Court and a federal court must have been a bitter pill for Gov. Almond to swallow. Even the token integration of schools at Norfolk and Arlington which will begin next week must likewise stick in his craw. Yet in the face of these reverses to the program he has led in Virginia, Almond told the people of his state that the law which now exists must be followed until new laws are provided that may be more in keeping with his feelings and the feelings of the majority of the citizens of Virginia.

Lesser men would not have followed the course which Almond chose. He fought until the ground was cut from under him by the state and federal courts. Then he came forth with the assertion that, for the present at least, the last ditch had been overrun and Virginia must open on an integrated basis those schools which the courts had ordered open.

Though his actions in recent days have caused many extreme segregationists in Virginia to scorn him, he has now placed his Commonwealth in a much more defensible position to fight massive integration of its schools than it formerly occupied. Moreover, he has set himself for the example to the people of his state which may well prevent in Virginia the kind of violence to which schools of other states unfortunately have been subjected.

While Almond has made clear his intent to continue his fight against integrated schools in his state, he has made equally clear that the fight must be carried on within legal bounds. And although it was Almond who assumed the responsibility for closing the schools in Charlottesville, Norfolk and Arlington, he has shown his determination that neither violence nor efforts toward integration will be allowed to destroy the school system of his state.

Virginia still faces difficult days in the operation of its public schools. But under the leadership of Almond there can be little doubt now that the school system rather than a battle between philosophies has become the paramount thing.

Virginia's public school system will be preserved.

Selecting An Official Is Just Part Of Role

Monday and Tuesday legislators from North Carolina's 100 counties will begin their biennial trek to Raleigh, and for the next four months or so will attempt to plan and set in motion the operations of the state government for the next two years.

While the legislators themselves are charged with full responsibility for the legislation, good or bad, which is enacted into law, and the legislation, good or bad, which is turned down, it is up to the rank and file citizens of the state to take a hand in shaping the legislative course of the state during the coming session.

Good government in a democracy requires the maximum participation of citizens in the shaping of public affairs. The mere chore of voting for candidates and selecting officials is not enough. The citizens should follow through by giving their elected representatives the benefit of their best thinking on matters which come before the legislature.

There will be many issues before the 1959 session of the General Assembly which will stir considerable controversy throughout the state. There will be other issues which are more local or regional in nature that will command the attention of a relatively few people of the state.

Whatever the consideration, it behooves all the people of North Carolina to follow as closely as possible procedures of the legislature this year. By so doing, they will not only be aware of what is going on in the General Assembly, but they will also be in a position to let their elected representatives know how they feel about matters which must be acted upon.

Telling your legislator how you feel about matters of state business is not just a privilege of a citizen in a democratic society. It is a part of your civic responsibility.

Two New Labor Law Proposals

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two major labor proposals for a new labor law—would be the first in 12 years—have been dumped into Congress' lap. Any chance for such a law? Yes and no.

It's an old story, and old argument: Should anti-corruption proposals be combined in the same bill with proposals to prohibit certain kinds of union pressure on employers and employees? Or should they be handled separately?

The Eisenhower administration and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) have both offered bills calling for strict accounting of union funds and measures intended to give rank-and-file union members more control of union affairs. Both hit hard at bribery and collusion between employers and union agents or middlemen fixers.

The AFL-CIO has pretty much endorsed that kind of legislation. But the Eisenhower proposal goes farther than the Kennedy bill to this extent: It would prohibit certain practices by unions to pressure employers and employees into recognizing them as bargaining agents.

For example: The Eisenhower bill calls for tight new bans on union secondary boycotts and certain forms of union picketing. In a secondary boycott an employer not directly involved in a labor-management dispute is pressured by a union in such a way as to force concessions from an employer who is involved.

The Eisenhower bill also would bar union picketing where another union already holds bargaining rights or where employees show they don't want to be represented by the picketing union.

Both Kennedy and the AFL-CIO have said that mixing boycott and picketing restrictions with anti-corruption remedies would endanger the chance of getting any labor legislation this year. The Kennedy bill—and those parts of the Eisenhower bill which resemble it—is similar to the Kennedy-Ives bill which passed the Senate 88-1 last year but died in the House. Former Sen. Irving Ives (R-NY) and Kennedy sponsored it.

But Eisenhower is expected to insist, as he did in 1958, that any bill passed by Congress should contain boycott and picketing provisions.

Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, is preparing labor legislation of his own.

Kennedy argues the reason for no labor legislation since passage of the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947 is "that every time a bill was brought out, an effort was made to do too much."

Neither the Eisenhower proposal nor the Kennedy bill contains anything that might be generally considered as tending to hamstring unions.

"Reports are that some 168,000 Americans have offered to place their entire acreage into long term idleness under the new 1959 soil bank program. Restoration of worn out soil is one thing. Overproduction of a given commodity or commodities is another. But there's a principle involved in the soil bank problem that is alien to both premises and somewhat alien to the concepts of the originators of this country." — Carlsbad (New Mexico) Current-Argus.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
COURT THE COST

There are few things in the world in which people put more stock, seek after more avidly, or appear to take more delight in, once they have secured it, than social position. To be in the social register of a large city, to be the acknowledged social leader in some village or small town, to be bid for one of the best fraternities or sororities as soon as one sets foot on campus—these are things for which the heart, mind, and even the bodies of many individuals seem to hunger.

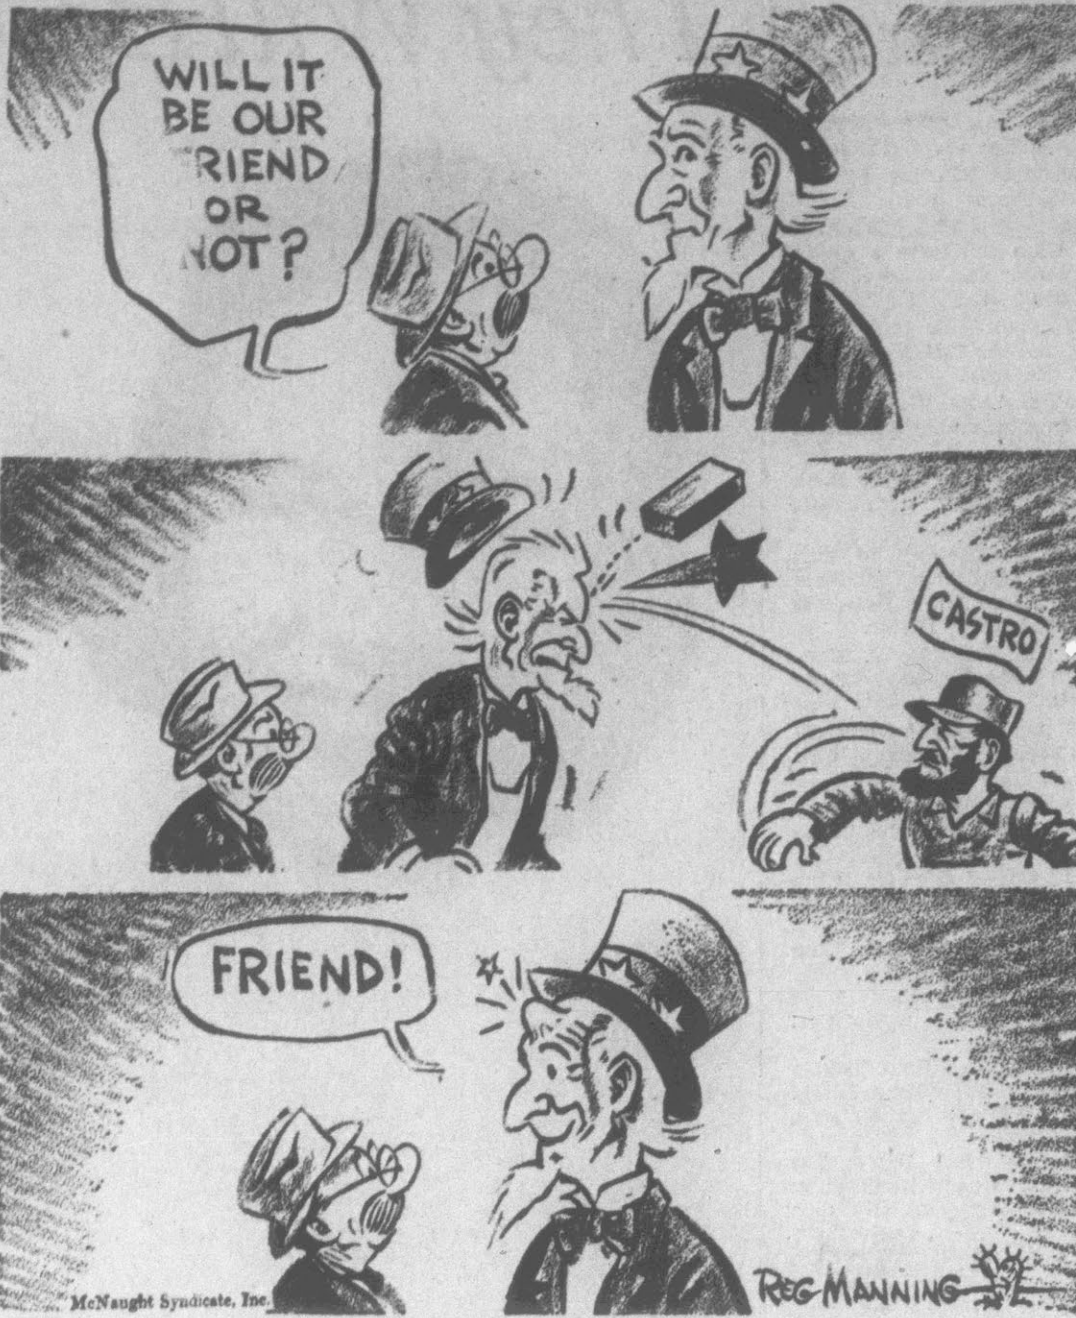

There is no denying, of course, that social position has its advantages. Who would not prefer to be on the top of the heap than on the bottom? Yet if one has to pay too much to get on the top of the heap, then the whole enterprise is a dismal disappointment. People sometimes break their health trying to attain social standing. They lose their happiness when someone succeeds in crowding them out of line or stands brazenly and expansively at the head of the procession and will let no one pass.

If social position comes as the result of natural grace, of ability, of goodness, of character, then it is something ardently to be desired. But when it costs the burning pangs of jealousy, or the relentless torment of honor, it is of the devil in all his devilishness.

Ask yourself the question: How much does social position cost? Is it worth the cost?

The Household Of God

By JEAN CRAWFORD

Oftentimes people think that being members of the household of God would suggest security, peace, and a realm of happiness. This is not true. To be a member of God's family sometimes means assuming risks and accepting for ourselves dangers which wouldn't confront others at all.

This is clearly shown in Christ's words, "I have not come to bring peace, but a sword." And also, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me."

The sword Jesus is speaking of could be a choice between right and wrong. The problem confronting many young people is that of taking the first drink. We could easily go on and do as the crowd perhaps may, but think of the problem of living with ourselves after doing it.

Taking up a man's cross and following Jesus is not an easy task either. Many young people have to go against the customs, thoughts, and opinions of their parents, because they feel Sunday should be set aside as a day of worship and prayer. A teenager's parents may sleep late, play golf, or participate in some pleasure instead of attending church on Sunday morning. In this case, a conflict would develop between parent and child. As a result of the decision to go to church regularly, the daughter or son would continue to grow farther away from the parent which would deny him of the comradeship which once existed.

Under the topic, "What are the risks of life in the household of God?" this question may arise: "Is suffering related to Christian growth?" We may divide this question into three parts: a.) Is it necessary to suffer? b.) How do we suffer? c.) What is different in the suffering of a Christian and the suffering of a non-Christian?

Is it necessary to suffer? We all suffer for something at one time or another whether we are Christian or not. Many times suffering and hardships are a test we must go through in order to have definite convictions on the right and wrong way of life. Such was true in the story of Job. He went through physical suffering as well as loss of family and material possessions. God wanted to see how strong Job's faith was. After Job had endured the rigid test, God rewarded him by restoring everything he had lost.

How do we suffer? We suffer physically, mentally, and spiritually. Many times physical pain is not as great as mental and spiritual torture.

What is different in the suffering of a Christian and the suffering of a non-Christian? Many times Christians suffer voluntarily by doing things they know are right, but sometimes injury to their well-being in the eyes of others. Also, they have the assurance of the presence and comfort of God. The belief that things will be better is a relief when we are going through bad experiences.

When a non-Christian suffers, he is constantly suffering for things he can't help. Many times the case is hopeless, but a few people do see the guidance and help which comes only when one follows and trusts in God.

Yes, there are many risks of life in the household of God, but if we can walk through the storms of life with our heads held high, we will always walk hand in hand with God.

Wins Phobia Fight

By CONNIE COURTEAU
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A fear of dirt and germs hit Mary like a bolt out of the blue. "I became obsessed with washing my hands. The next 14 years were hell in a vacuum," she said.

"I would spend hours washing, using up a whole cake of soap. My hands became bloody and swollen, the bones almost showing through in some places."

She tried psychiatry, shock treatments and a lobotomy operation which cuts off parts of the brain controlling emotions. It often relieves anxiety and panic. But nothing worked for Mary. Then she heard about Recovery, Inc., from another mental hospital patient.

Mary's hell is ended now. And the story of how it ended is the story of Recovery, Inc., and two people.

Started 21 Years Ago
Dr. Abraham Low, a Chicago psychiatrist, started the organization 21 years ago. In the last eight years, it has spread nationally through the efforts of Mrs. Cleo Dieruf, a local civic leader. Mrs. Dieruf turned to Recovery when a relative became mentally ill.

After a course of study in Chicago, she launched a drive to open Recovery units across the nation. There are now chapters in 101 cities.

Basically, Recovery is similar to Alcoholics Anonymous. The idea is to control emotional problems through will power and self-discipline. Those who stick with it seem to succeed.

Meetings are held several times a week to discuss problems and how they can be solved. If a member needs help at other times, he simply telephones another member and they discuss the situation.

Mary, a 35-year-old confidential secretary, is one of thousands who have joined Recovery. It was four months before the program succeeded with her.

"One day I decided to make myself do the thing I feared. I cleaned up the yard. It was full and the leaves were filthy wet. Then I cleaned up the street. My mother stood like a statue in the window."

She still fights the symptoms of her phobia but they are less severe.

"I can control them. I know I have friends to help and a renewed faith in myself."

Today she is a Recovery leader, helping others follow the stringent rules laid down in Dr. Low's controversial book, "Mental Health Through Will Training."

He discards Freud in favor of will power and maintains that psychoanalysis is an ineffective treatment.

Little Professional Support
Only one of five psychiatrists questioned here were favorable toward the book. Nor did they go along with Mrs. Dieruf's theory: "You have to be sick and tired of being sick and tired before you can really practice Recovery. Those who really practice the program stay out of mental hospitals."

Said one psychiatrist: "There are many kinds of mental illness, and you must pick the treatment to fit the illness as physicians pick the treatment to fit the physical ill."

Recovery has 900 members in Louisville alone.

The clubhouse, a two-story remodeled residence, was donated. The $13,750 needed to buy the property was provided by The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times Foundation.

Mrs. Dieruf then talked to local contractors, unions, decorators and businessmen. The result was a beautiful $20,000 remodeling job, also donated.

"All I had to do was ask for five minutes of someone's time. When they heard the story they all helped," Mrs. Dieruf said.

"It proved one of our pet theories. There is no such phrase as 'I can't' in Recovery, Inc."

Extra Spending Power Is Ahead

By ELMER ROESSNER

Before the month ends there are some important things that should be put in type. After all, we can't keep postponing waiting better!

Better market: Payments to beneficiaries under Social Security go up 7 per cent beginning next Monday. True, individual amounts are small. True, beneficiaries are in the lowest income brackets. But that 7 per cent increase means about $50,000,000 a month added spending power. This creates fresh sales opportunities for the many types of stores that sell to this group.

Smart bankers: Bankers are smarter than bandits, the American Bankers Association says in a bulletin to members, adding, "It behooves all bankers to remember that in matters of intelligence, ingenuity and bravery, robbers are not a superior lot. Given a fair break, bankers could beat the best of them, providing they match the bandits in matters of effort, planning and training."

That seems to be a fair statement. Bankers seem to own more yachts, hold more high government posts, and cultivate more gentlemen farmers than any of the robbers I know.

UNEVEN BREAK
Bourbon abroad: The Bourbon Institute reports that France will permit the importation of $50,000 worth of bourbon this year, while she allowed but $4,335 worth last year.

Inquiry shows that this slight concession is not general. France, as well as most European countries and Canada, puts stiff limits on the amount of American spirits that can be imported while at the same time she pours on the propaganda to get us to drink more of her alcoholic products. Why don't American distillers and unions in the liquor industry call for a boycott of imported liquors until the exporting nations accept rye, bourbon and mountain dew to the extent we accept scotch, cognac, and kirschwasser?

BLESSING TO US, TOO
Convertibility helps us! Many European nations have made their currencies convertible into American dollars. This may increase collections by the U.S. Treasury and, theoretically at least, decrease your tax liability.

Here's why: The Treasury has been lenient with American companies stuck with foreign money. Taxes on income in francs, pounds, etc., could be postponed until the income could be converted into dollars. Now that these foreign monies are convertible, the Treasury expects a pay-up.

GOOD TALK
DEFINITIONS: Mill Grey, who heads a marketing organization in Beverly Hills, Calif., gets out one of the better newsletters. His current letter quotes an unnamed reader's dictionary of sales terms:

"Limited offer: It won't last for more than a year or two."

Fantastic seller: It's fantastic that they can sell it to anyone.

New package: It's about time; now what do I do with the stinkers left in our warehouse?

Nationally promoted: A store in Waxahatchee, Tex., and another in Peachburg, Ga., each ran a 10-line ad.

Presold on TV: They've given some samples as prizes on a few of the give-away TV programs.

First in the field: At least it's the first this week.

Lowest prices: Until competition hears about it and offers an extra five.

Exclusive features: Evidently no one thinks they're sufficiently good to justify stealing.

Market tested: It was tried on the kids next door and they liked it. Why not? They got the samples for nothing.

No other like it: Thank heaven

Pirates Topple West Carolina By 59-50 Score

Jayvees Also Rack Up Victory

Bucs Took Early Lead And Never Headed By Foe

By JOHNNY HUDSON

East Carolina, playing slow and deliberate ball, played the role of "giant killers" last night as the Pirates toppled North State leader, Western Carolina, 59-50.

Playing before a crowd of about 1,500, the Bucs jumped into a quick 14-4 lead and were never headed as they held command the rest of the way.

The Calamonts opened the game slow and unimpressive, both offensively and defensively, and it was all the Pirates needed to get the upper hand.

WCC was unable to use their rebound strength to best advantage as Joe Plaster and Nick Nichols completely outshined their taller rivals.

Western Carolina opened in a zone defense but were forced to come out of it early as East Carolina used control tactics.

Harris Pryor hit a jump shot midway in the opening half to cut the ECC lead to six points, 17-11, but it was as close as the Cats could get as Nichols and Charlie Adams hit a couple of quick two-pointers to regain the commanding lead.

A shot by Dave Elmore in the final seconds of the first half cut the ECC lead to 24-16 at intermission.

The Cats came within their closest striking distance early in the second half as Paul Jones hit a jump shot to cut the lead to 27-22 with 15 minutes remaining.

After that, Nichols, Adams, and Plaster went back to work to build up the ECC lead to as much as 12 points at one time. ECC kept from a 7-12 point spread until the final minutes.

The Cats hit a short spurt in the final minutes to cut the lead to 55-50 but were unable to get the ball and had to turn to fouling tactics.

Charlie Adams climaxed the scoring with four free throws in the final seconds.

Adams, the Cary senior, was high for the night with 26 points. The Pirate top scorer hit 12-14 from the free throw line with 11-12 coming in the final nine minutes.

Probably the biggest factor in the win was the rebounding of Nick Nichols and Joe Plaster. The two veterans controlled both boards in the opening half and their rebound work enabled ECC to two and sometimes three shots at a time.

Nichols also aided in the scoring column with 13 points and Plaster had 12. Jessel Curry and Ike Riddick, the other two starters, didn't hit double figures but their defensive play was superb and helped spark the win.

Harris Pryor was the leading scorer for the visitors as he hit the nets for 13 points.

Western Carolina, now 8-1 in the conference, swing over to Wilson tonight for a game with Atlantic Christian. WCC won an earlier meeting 56-51.

The win moved ECC up a notch with a 6-4 record but the Bucs will not have time to relax as they take on Appalachian here Monday night. The Apps, a sophomore-studded club, have been up and down this season but handled ECC rather rough at Boone and were victorious 86-75.

Elliott Back In Half-Mile Runs

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Herb Elliott, who usually runs the mile, ran the half mile today for the first time in four months. He was clocked in 1:51.6 in winning the Victorian half-mile title at Olympic Park track.

Tony Blue, a Queensland medical student, gave Elliott his hardest race in Australia in a year. Blue's time was 1:51.7.

Elliott's time was 2.3 seconds slower than his Australian record and 4.3 seconds slower than his best 880 in London last year.

MacKay, Olmedo Play 8-8 Tie

HONOLULU (AP)—U.S. Davis Cup stars Alex Olmedo and Barry MacKay played an 8-all tie Friday night in an indoor tennis exhibition at Civic Auditorium before 1,200 fans.

Chris Crawford defeated Earl Buchholz 6-4 in another one-set exhibition of U.S. cuppers.

The squad, home-bound from Australia, leaves for Los Angeles Monday night.

Emory Univ. Swim Team Loses To Touring Pirates

ATLANTA, Ga.—East Carolina showed unexpected strength here yesterday afternoon as the visiting North Carolina swimming team had little trouble in swimming past Emory University, 56-30.

The Pirate squad, well-managed and well-coached, copied the first three events of the evening and then eased to their first win of the season. The U. of North Carolina, a national power, had previously defeated ECC twice.

Highlight of the event featured two of the top divers in the south in Emory's Bill Davis and East Carolina's Ken Midyette. The divers put on a spectacular showing with Davis edging the Pirate star.

Midyette, the easy-going senior who had scarcely seen a diving board before his college days, was undefeated in his last 15 meets and was the NATA national champion last winter.

Bob Sawyer and Jack McCann, the other undefeated Pirate men, took wins as McCann set a pool record in the 200 yard breaststroke.

Winterville Tops Chicod Cagers

WINTERVILLE — Winterville defeated Chicod yesterday in a pair of eighth grade ballgames, here.

The host boys won a 37-31 tilt, with Ronnie Worthington leading the winners with 14 points. Chicod's Ray Hardee was high for the game with 21 points.

Winterville won the girls contest 25-16. Jenny Mumford scored 17 points to pace the home team. Natay Roach led Chicod with 10.

Decisive Game

WINTERVILLE — The two top-ranking Pitt County Conference boys cage teams will clash here Monday night to decide the No. 1 team in the loop at this stage of the season.

Chicod, the no. 1 team for the first half of the season, boasting one loss since the campaign began, will battle Winterville. Winterville has an 11-2 loop mark and a 16-2 overall record.

Should Chicod win, the visiting team will have the conference championship for the regular season sewed up. Should Winterville win, the Wolves will take over first position.

A girls ballgame will open the night's play.

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—For the third time in five years, Clearwater will host the World Series of softball.

The 1959 tournament will start Sept. 21.

Conference Will Decide Champ

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The World Amateur Basketball Championship will be settled today around a conference table.

Russia, with a 5-1 record, will win if officials of the International Basketball Federation decide not to take the floor Friday night against Nationalist China for political reasons. The Russians also can win if the IBF counts only the game with China as a loss.

Brazil, which defeated the United States 81-67 Friday night for a 4-1 mark, can win by beating Chile tonight if all of Russia's victories are forfeited. Even a defeat by Chile would not be injurious to the Brazilians' chances since they have the best goals for and against record, which is used to decide the championship in event of a tie.

The Russians refused to play Nationalist China because they do not consider Formosa a nation. Friday night's game was awarded to the Chinese 2-0 after they had lined up and dropped in one field goal.

Brazil is the only country which gave Russia a close game. The Russians won 66-63. The Russians beat the weak U.S. forces, gathered from Air Force personnel on a volunteer basis, 62-37.

During his year in the Pacific Coast League, Pinson batted .349 to finish second to Andre Rodgers of Phoenix. He drove in 78 runs, scored 92 and his 37 stolen bases topped the league.

Pitchers Orlando Pena, Miguel Cuellar and Claude Osteen are rated very highly, too.

The left-handed Osteen, promoted from the Class B North-west League at Wenatchee to Seattle in August, won five and dropped four while compiling a 3.06 ERA.

Cuellar had a 13-12 record and a 2.77 earned run average at Havana last year. Pena fanned 120 in 154 innings at Havana where he was 11-10.

Jim Friday will get a shot at an outfield post. His .348 average with Nashville led the Southern Assn. Chuck Coles, a first baseman, batted .307 and knocked in 107 runs at Nashville. Ello Chacon a shortstop, comes up from Havana where he batted .290 and fielded spectacularly.

Jesse Gonder, a third baseman, was purchased from San Antonio, where he batted .328 in 51 games.

Catcher Haven Schmidt, outfielder Drew Gilbert and infielder Bobby Henrich and Don Pavlitch are the other newcomers.

UNC And Wolfpack Having No Troubles In Charlotte

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

To a baseball team, two doubleheaders in two days would be a back-breaker. But to North Carolina and North Carolina State, second and sixth-ranked basketball teams in the nation, it's been a breeze so far.

Of course, no team is playing four games in the two-night stretch. North Carolina dumped Clemson 60-48 and N.C. State downed South Carolina 63-53 in Charlotte Friday night. The winners looked like they were coasting most of the way.

Tonight they swap opponents.

Tony Anthony Is Decided On By Vargas In Brawl

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Anthony peered through a slit of a left eye at Reuben Vargas' damaged right eye. He shook hands, congratulated the winner and put his arm around Reuben's shoulders.

"It looks like we both had razors," he said.

That was the kind of a fight it was Friday night at Madison Square Garden where 2,500 paying $6,000 cheered the two eager heavyweights through the final minute of a rousing 10-rounder.

Referee Dave Feld saw it 5-5 in rounds but voted for Vargas 7 to 5 on points because he had knocked down Anthony for a nine-count in the eighth. Judge Charley Rosen cast his ballot for Vargas 5-4-1. Judge Mike Davidovitch called it 6-4 for Anthony. The AP card agreed with the referee's.

Vargas, a correspondence school student in architecture, landed his right several times and the left 100. In fact he flattened Tony with a left hook in the early seconds of the eighth. Anthony was stretched flat on his back, his head on the ring apron. Only with considerable effort did he finally get up after Referee Feld counted nine. He barely managed to finish the round.

"I should have finished him when I had him down," lamented Vargas, a wavy haired gent of Mexican descent.

"I should have moved more," said Anthony. "For some reason I wasn't punching with my usual power."

Time after time Anthony, 177, let himself get caught in corners or along the ropes by the brawling Vargas, 186½.

The average duffer finds a great measure of comfort in reports of the trials and tribulations of the professional golfers on the golf circuit. Misery must like company. That must explain the delight of numberless hackers who find golf such a frustrating game when Hans Merrell, the Mogadore, Ohio pro, took 19 shots on the 16th hole at Cypress Point, Pebble Beach, Calif., in the Bing Crosby pro-amateur tournament.

The 16th at Cypress Point is an over-the-ocean, 222-yard, par-3 hole. Until Merrell came up with his 19-stroke record, Porky Oliver's 16 strokes on the same hole in 1954 was the high mark. Oliver must have been happy to relinquish that record with the hope that his tortuous experience will be quickly forgotten.

"I used a 3-wood because I used that club in getting a par-3 the other day," explained Merrell. "but this time the ball faded and landed on the beach about 75 feet below the green. It was a nice lie on the sand but I hit a rock as I came through and the ball went up the hill about 20 feet and extremely heavy growth. In six shots, I succeeded only in burying the ball and had to drop out for a two-stroke penalty. For my seventeenth shot I was back on the beach, and that one finally hit the green. I rimmed the cup with No. 18, and then tapped in for a 19."

Merrell had no choice but to play out the hole because his amateur partner, Bill Welton of Cleveland, had picked up after dunking two balls in the ocean from the tee, not dreaming that his partner could run into such a catastrophe. Merrell has the sympathy of every week-end hacker in the country, if that will do anything to relieve his tortured mind.

North Carolina plays South Carolina and State meets Clemson, again at Charlotte. It's unique in the history of the Atlantic Coast Conference to have large colleges play in both ends of a doubleheader, let alone do it two nights running. Charlotte's big Coliseum was about half filled with 7,255 fans.

In an afternoon, regionally televised game, Duke was home today to Pittsburgh. It was the first game in more than two weeks for the Blue Devils, who had a 7-8 record.

South Carolina put on late rallies in both halves against the Wolfpack. But State pulled away from an 18-all tie to lead 34-21 at the half. Then the Pack, ahead by only five points with five minutes left, got 11 points from George Stepanovich and Lou Pucillo to put the game away.

For State, now 13-2 overall, John Richter had 21 points and Pucillo 16. South Carolina's Dickie Prater had 14 points and Mike Callahan 11. The Gamecock record is 3-11.

North Carolina hit 50 per cent of its floor shots in the first half, then slacked off in the second half to 25 per cent. The Tigers, who had pushed the Tar Heels through most of the first half, went flat before intermission and never recovered.

Doug Moe had 22 points, Harvey Sals and Lee Shaffer 10 each for North Carolina, which now is 11-1 overall. Clemson was led by George Kraljack and Bill Warren, 13 points each. The Tigers now are 5-12.

Marshall's Thoughts On Paper Remain A Secret

By EDWARD R. YOUNG
LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—Stored under lock and key in the Virginia Military Institute's library are the personal and public papers of Gen. George Catlett Marshall. You could not buy them for a million dollars. That offer has been made and rejected. Marshall has stipulated that they cannot be published, in whole or in part, without his express permission or until his death.

Historians feel sure the collection holds much hitherto secret information on events of the last 20 years. In this span Marshall served his country as the U.S. Army's wartime chief of staff, as secretary of state and as secretary of defense.

What, for instance, are Marshall's views on the controversial issues of World War II? On his postwar mission to China, when he spent a year trying to mediate between the Nationalist and Communist Chinese? On the conduct of the "cold war" with Russia?

And what does Marshall have to say in reply to the bitter personal attacks to which he sometimes has been subjected?

Answers to these and many other questions presumably lie hidden in the 155,000 original and microfilmed documents at VMI, where Marshall was graduated in 1901. Or they may be found in the tape recordings of 40 hours' conversation with the general, or in the tapes of interviews with some 60 of his associates which help swell the library's files.

Marshall, now 78 and recuperating from a slight stroke at his home in Pinehurst, N.C.—he also has a home in Leesburg, Va.—has turned down many offers for his memoirs.

He said he was reluctant to make money from his experiences in public service, and did not want to embarrass living persons through his recollections and opinions of historical events.

Marshall has empowered the George C. Marshall Research Center here — to which he turned over his papers — to withhold portions of material which, even after his death, might adversely affect persons still alive.

Collection of the Marshall papers has gone forward under the direction of a military historian, Dr. Forest C. Pogue. A 1956 grant of $150,000 by John D. Rockefeller was earmarked for the purpose. The collection some day will have a home of its own — an $800,000 center on the campus of his alma mater.

Except for certain papers declassified by the Defense Department and the National Archives and turned over to the research center by order of Presidents Truman and Eisenhower, the world will not know what's in the papers until the general of the Army is dead.

Walter Jones

True, then you would always collect a year ahead.

"I would be inclined to support the idea and I would also support any additional tax measures which I thought would be acceptable to the people of Pitt County. There is a necessity, and we all know it, for keeping state services at their present level and allowing some room for progress."

Although he has not, directly, committed himself on suggestions for a minimum wage law, Jones has indirectly stated in public that he would support a "realistic" minimum wage. He doesn't say what he regards as a "realistic" figure and he didn't get a chance to offer any suggestion of his thoughts in the 1957 General Assembly when a minimum wage proposal was squashed in a committee.

Reapportionment, an old bugaboo to Eastern legislators, which also "got lost" in the 1957 Assembly, will, Jones thinks, come up again this year. He believes, also, that if it does come up, the legislature will do something about it, but against his wishes.

"I hold the same position I did in 1955 and 1957," he says. "Any reapportionment should come only in the year following a national census, as the North Carolina Constitution clearly defines. I think the Assembly will pass some sort of reapportionment bill, however, but I believe it will be a change in the method of reapportioning, rather than in the number of representatives or senators for a particular district."

Such a bill would require a change in the state constitution, and Jones thinks it will come from a commission studying revision of the state's constitution which has stood since 1868.

On purely local matters, Jones has high hopes for a requested School of Nursing for East Carolina College, knocked out by the 1957 General Assembly.

"This one thing is my 'pet project' if I have such a thing," Jones says. "It is the thing I intend to fight for hardest because it's ultimate good is immeasurable. If a request for funds for the school is not included in recommendations of the Advisory Budget Commission, I intend to introduce a bill seeking those funds."

"I think we'll get it, because we have already shown just cause for it. Eastern North Carolina needs the school and nobody can argue about that."

Jones' work for his insurance bill and the reputation he got because of it is expected to help him in his work this year. The measure has gotten an "excellent reception" throughout the state, and Jones has "no fears" that any efforts to remove it will gain momentum in the '59 Assembly.

Although he is riding high because of the insurance law, Jones

Eddie, Debbie In Divorce Accord

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A meeting of minds has been effected between Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher. They are in agreement on a quick divorce and a property settlement.

When they advised the court Friday that they want a divorce as quickly as possible, her suit was set for trial Feb. 17. Terms of the property settlement were not disclosed.

Debbie and the singer separated last year after he took Elizabeth Taylor, widow of Mike Todd, to New York night clubs. Fisher and Miss Taylor have been constant companions since.

Pay $23,135 In County Taxes

One of Pitt County's largest taxpayers handed the tax collector a check for $23,135.46 this week. That is the amount of the 1958 ad valorem tax bill of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company on its total property in the county.

Frank Harrington, manager for the company in Greenville, represented the telephone firm in delivering the big check to the tax collector.

The taxes on the company's property in Pitt County are a part of the more than $710,000 in 1958 city and county taxes paid by the telephone firm.

Claim TV Show Fixed, Dropped

NEW YORK (AP)—"For Love or Money," a weekday television show, has been dropped by the Columbia Broadcasting System, because it was not "free from control."

Hubbell Robinson Jr., executive vice president in charge of network programs, said Friday that CBS was cancelling because:

"Information brought to the attention of the network's management by personnel assigned to the show revealed that the decimal machine used on the show to determine the size of cash prizes had, from time to time and unknown to the management, not been free from control."

Robinson added: "At the direction of the independent producing company, studio personnel in the employ of the network had operated the machine and the network's electrical shop had built the machine."

The program was produced by Walt Framer Productions, an independent company.

Framer said in a statement he was "literally amazed and deeply shocked" by Robinson's statement.

"For Love or Money" was in the big-money class of the quiz shows taken off the air last year after charges of manipulation and collusion.

However, contestants could win hundreds of dollars depending on where the decimal point landed on a figure such as 2,500. The decimal determined whether the sum won was $2.50, $25, $250, or $2,500.

No fire was discovered. The dwelling is owned by Jack Wallace and occupied by Hattie Williams.

At 8:40 last night firemen were called to a dwelling occupied by Ivy Coward at 1303 Dickinson Ave. when a hot water heater shorted, according to fire reports. Power to the unit was turned off.

Yesterday afternoon at 2:10 o'clock a truck was sent to the home of J. J. Jenkins about two miles from Greenville on the Belvoir Highway where a fire had developed in the kitchen.

The blaze was out when firemen arrived.

Suicide Ruled In Death Of White Slave Case Witness

WAGRAM, N.C. (AP)—A coroner ruled today that a convicted prostitute, expected to testify in a white slave case, took her own life.

Coroner Hewitt McDougald said there would be no inquest in the death of Mrs. Barbara Peters Kelly, 28, who was found shot to death before dawn Friday in a tourist camp cabin here.

The coroner's ruling followed a review of the evidence by McDougald and Sheriff B. P. Lytch. McDougald said the suicide verdict was based on evidence that the woman had been despondent for several weeks and had mentioned taking her own life on several occasions. The coroner said the woman's mother, Mrs. Vera Gasset Peters, who came here Friday, told officers her daughter visited her three weeks ago and talked then about taking her life.

The coroner said a bullet entered Mrs. Kelly's body above the left breast and traveled downward. A .38 caliber pistol lay on the floor beside the bed where she died.

Mrs. Kelly, also xxx 4th grad as7 Mrs. Barbara Ann Peters, was convicted Oct. 28 in Scotland County Recorder's Court of prostitution. She appealed and was freed in $750 bail. She also was free under bond as a material witness in the white slave cases.

The gun, the despatched and the cabin were acknowledged to be property of Thelbert Eugene Williams, 27, operator of Truckers Rest, a wayside cafe. He said she occupied the other room of the two-room cabin.

Williams and five other men were indicted Nov. 28 by a federal grand jury at Greensboro on charges of white slave traffic. Bond was set at $5,000 for trial in Middle District Court, for a term beginning March 9 at Rockingham.

Mrs. Peters was arrested early in December at Laurinburg as a material witness in the case and was released under $1,000 bail. The indictment charged that Williams transferred her here from Phenix City, Ala. for purposes of prostitution.

Williams also is free under bond pending outcome of his appeal from his conviction in Scotland County Recorder's Court Oct. 30 of operating a house of prostitution.

Other defendants with Williams in the white slave case are Charlie Lewis Williams, Floyd L. McLamb, Shirley W. McDaniel, James E. Pleasants and Redmond Corbett. The indictment lists Lewis Williams as co-proprietor with others of four truck stops, as follows:

With Corbett and Thelbert Williams, Truckers Rest at Wagram, with Pleasants, Jim's Truck Stop at Society Hill, S.C.; with McDaniel, Williams Tourist Court at Benson; and with McLamb, Carolina Truck Stop at Laurinburg.

The five are charged with transporting, or causing to be transported, five other women across state lines. These include Peggy Rich Goodheart, from Bennettsville, S.C.; to Laurinburg; Nancy Williams, from Aiken, S.C., to Wagram and Laurinburg and from Laurinburg to Society Hill; Dorothy Halfpenny and Virginia Strawser, from Wagram to Dillon, S.C.; and Ella Vernal Wheeler, from Melbourne, Fla. to Benson and Wagram.

Lewis Williams m.s. McDaniel, Pleasants and Corbett were to have been heard through counsel Friday at Greensboro in oral arguments on motions asking more details on the white slave cases. But their lawyers withdrew their motions.

Sheriff Lytch said Thelbert Williams related that he relieved Mrs. Peters from her waitress duties about 2 a.m. Friday after she reportedly had become drunk and disorderly. Williams said she had seemed despondent recently and had been drinking heavily.

Williams told the sheriff that about 40 minutes later he went to the cabin with three companions: Peggy Goodheart of Bennettsville, S.C.; Don Bartell, a soldier from Ft. Bragg, and Edward Cuts of Longwood, Fla. Williams said he and Cuts found Mrs. Peters bleeding from the mouth but apparently still alive. Williams telephoned the sheriff. Mrs. Peters was dead when officers arrived.

The FBI listed the birthplace of Mrs. Peters as Ozark, Ala.

Wine Tasters Tested As Potential Fair Judges

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—What happens when 76 wine tasters get together? Why, they try to get into the spirit of the thing.

The tasters, 75 men and a woman, were tested Friday as potential judges for the State Fair. Twenty will be selected.

They began at 9:30 a.m. by identifying varieties of white table wine. Eight hours later they were still straight-legged and clear-eyed as they evaluated the relative qualities of five brandies.

Do tasters ever overdo it? Dr. George L. Marsh, of the Department of Food Technology at the University of California, has been a wine judge since 1935.

"I've never seen a taster drunk at the job," he said, "but wait until the testing is over. When we relax anything can happen."

The lone woman, Mrs. Sanford Plainfield of Alameda, was shocked at the thought. "Every one in my family has been a wine drinker all my life and I've never seen any of them drunk."

Actually, the tasters never swallow the wine when working.

The tasters came from all over the state to match palates.

Dr. Salvatore Lucia, head of the Department of Preventative Medicine at the University of California, said "It's all a matter of taste. Just like with girls. Some

PITT COUNTY GIRL SCOUTS . . . These senior girl scouts who have been taking part in a camping training program are Noel Elizabeth Lang of Farmville, Shirley Harrell of Greenville and Eliza Olive of Winterville

They Dream Of Colorado

By PEGGY SMITH
Reflector Woman's Editor

A week at Colorado Springs, Colo. is the goal of 16 girl scouts of coastal North Carolina among whom will be two Pitt County girls.

On July 3 more than 8,000 girl scouts will arrive at the Senior Girl Scout Roundup camp near Colorado Springs. Fifteen hundred adults are expected to attend.

Every state, United States territory and possession, and all five continents where members of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts are found will have representatives at the roundup.

A training program under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Hawley, field director of coastal North Carolina, has been in progress for the benefit of the 16 scouts from the surrounding areas who plan to attend.

Weekend camping trips have made up the program thus far. In early January the girl scouts, who are divided into two patrols of eight with 16 alternates, camped near Wilmington. Last weekend they learned various skills at Camp Hardee.

Some of the skills learned were the correct way in which to pitch, trench, and strike a tent; and the use of a knife and axe.

A camp fire program was held which included singing games and square dancing.

On Sunday morning a flag ceremony was carried out with the scouts holding an inspirational program preceding the flag-raising.

Other tasks which the girls undertook were the planning and cooking of their meals and sleeping out-of-doors.

During the past weekend the regulars were given permanent jobs to be held through round-up time.

North Carolina notebooks covering all phases of the state will be made by the Colorado-bound girls. These books will be used for information exchange in Colorado.

Regulars will carry shark's teeth, cotton balls, and many other items to trade with other scouts.

They will also take their entire stock of camping gear down to the tent stakes and nails needed. Charcoal stoves will be used during meal preparation.

Menus for the full week which will be planned prior to the roundup and food will be picked up at a main point each day by the "Cook for the Day."

In June a final camp-out is planned to test the scouts' abilities.

The councils in coastal Carolina plan to finance purchases and use items on hand for two patrols and two complete sets of equipment.

COOKING AND EATING OUT . . . During the past weekends girls from coastal Carolina have been camping out and cooking their own meals.

TENTS ARE HANDY . . . While out in the woods, these two senior scouts find a tent can be mighty handy during meal time.

KNIFE DEMONSTRATION . . . The art of knife-using was taught to alternates during the training program.

KEEPING WARM . . . When the 16 girls arrive in Colorado, they will find that knowing how to use the hatchet and axe will be important.

REGULAR AND ALTERNATES . . . Twenty-five girls from coastal Carolina will be attending the roundup. The alternates also have been in training for their trip in Western Colorado. They will be attending a camp-out last weekend at Camp Hardee, the summer.

Little Mascots Steal Big Part Of The Show

CHARACTERISTIC POSE . . . Greenville fans see Mary Margaret Morton like this as she watches the games from the sidelines.

By Catherine Moore
When the cheerleaders of Rose High take the floor during a basketball game, they do not receive all of the attention focused on the center of the court; many spectators' eyes turn toward those two cute little "jumping jacks," their mascots—Mary Margaret Morton and Richard Shelton Monds, Jr.
Many of these Greenville fans do not know, however, that Mary Margaret is in love with "Richard," as she calls him. She even says that she's going to marry him!
Richard, although he does not know these things, has other ideas. He does not talk so much of Mary Margaret as he does of Ginger Melton, the cheerleader who lives near him.
After forbidding her son's going to see Ginger so much for fear that he would bother her, Mrs. Monds found Richard lugging a broom away from the house one day. By questioning him, she discovered that he was going over to Ginger's to sweep the front porch!

During December, Mary Margaret served as flower girl in her sister's wedding. When the wedding ended and everyone else ran out, Rose High's little blue-eyed blond took her time leaving, and threw rose petals all the way back down the aisle, just as she had when she had entered! No one had told her not to!
This Christmas, Santa Claus put an engagement-type ring way down in the toe of Mary Margaret's stocking. She was especially proud of that ring because it was "bigger than Barbara's," as she told everyone to whom she showed her gifts. Barbara, Mrs. Tom Carson, is her sister.
Richard wants to become a football player like his dad. His father, R.S. Monds, Sr., played football for East Carolina College for four years, serving as co-captain of the team during his senior year.
The four-year-old's Christmas gifts included a red scooter, one of his favorite presents, but he could not operate the brakes! He also received a stuffed animal, which he named "Sparibis."

The parents of both of the children believe that being a mascot has helped them conquer the extreme shyness which they both previously had.
Mrs. W.Z. Morton, Jr., says that when Mary Margaret was several years younger, she would run to the back of the house to get away from visitors, even good friends of the family whom she knew, when they entered the front door.
Little Richard, who has brown hair and eyes and a dark complexion in contrast to Mary Margaret's blondness, has always liked staying around cheerleaders. At the college games in which his father played, he and his sister Elizabeth Ann stayed on the sidelines more than in the stands.
Because of this, many Greenville fans thought that the college cheerleaders had chosen him for their mascot, also.
Cheerleaders recall that Richard is always losing one of his shoes. During one of the football games, he lost it when the cheerleaders and mascots ran to the opponents' side of the field to greet them.
Searching frantically, the cheerleaders finally spotted the lost shoe in the middle of the football field, where the band was performing its half-time show!

Offering Their First Full-Length Opera

East Carolina College's Opera Theater will present its first full-length opera Monday and Tuesday, February 2 and 3, when Smetana's "The Bartered Bride" will be performed in the McGinnis auditorium at 8:15 p.m.
A comic opera with a romantic plot and gay lilting music, "The Bartered Bride" will be given at East Carolina with a cast of seven talented student vocalists, a chorus, and a corps of dancers. Specially designed scenery depicting the picturesque setting of a Bohemian village and the colorful costumes of Bohemian peasants and of a group of strolling players will contribute to the attractiveness of the production.

Paul Hickfang, faculty member of the department of music at East Carolina, is director. An outstanding vocalist, he was selected to appear during the current season as soloist with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra. On the campus here he has twice been soloist in Handel's "The Messiah," has appeared in recitals sponsored by the department of music, and has sung in a number of other programs.
As an opera singer, he has been soloist at the Milwaukee Opera Festival in the role of Zuniaga in "Carmen" and with the Honolulu Symphony in concert opera productions. While studying in Germany on a Fulbright scholarship during 1955-1957, he took part in opera productions in the Gaertnerplatz Theatre of the Varvarian State Opera.
The plot of "The Bartered Bride" centers around the romance of Marie and her lover Janik and the efforts of a marriage-broker, Kecal, to arrange a marriage between Marie and Vasek, son of a wealthy landowner.
Rose Rich of Albemarle will appear as Marie in Monday's performance, and Ann Darden of Williamson will have the role of Tuesday. Gerald Powell of Reidville will play Janik and Ronald Knouse, of Winston-Salem, Kecal on both nights.
Other important parts will be taken by George Johnson of Oxford, Lynford Saunders of Roanoke Rapids, Hannah England of Weaverville, Jane Fuller of Greenville.

Ray McNeely of Newton, Kenneth Ginn of Greenville, Martha Bradner of Greenville, and Jane Mur-ray of Roxboro.
Members of a group of strolling players will be Kenneth Killebrew of Rt. 2, Rocky Mount, Ashlyn Mauldin of Kannapolis, Judy Herne of Henderson, James C. Burns, Jr., of Sumter, S.C., and James J. Williams of Morganton.
Mrs. Inez Laube, Greenville dancing instructor, is choreographer for the opera. A number of her pupils who do not attend the college will appear in dance numbers in "The Bartered Bride."
Mrs. Laura Lee Hickfang, wife of the director of the opera, and Geraldine Matthews, of Erwin, pianists, will be accompanists.
The Opera Theatre was established by Mr. Hickfang in 1957 with fourteen charter members. Last year the group presented Pergolesi's "La Serva Padrona" and the second act of "The Bartered Bride." With this valuable experience behind them and with a larger membership, the group has been working this year on the ambitious project of staging a full-scale opera. "The Bartered Bride" is the result.

Rose Rich of Albemarle, soprano, who will sing the part of Marie in Monday's performance of "The Bartered Bride" by the East Carolina College Opera Theatre, is pictured here with her sister Vasek, who in the guise of a bear travels with a group of strolling players. It's hard to tell from the photograph, that the bear is Ray McNeely of Newton.

Lover's Quarrel Was For Real

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—That lover's quarrel between actress Joan Davis and Harvey (Bud) Stock was for real.
"Plans for our marriage definitely are off," snapped the 42-year-old comedienne.
She signed an assault and battery complaint against the 35-year-old real estate man, charging he used a judo punch on her. He was arrested and held on $250 bail for arraignment next Tuesday.
Stock denied hitting Miss Davis.

New York Site For Steel Parley

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Contract talks between the basic steel companies and the United Steelworkers in 1959 will shift to New York.
The Associated Press learned Wednesday.
Sources who declined to be identified said the talks probably will start about May 18.
There appears to be no major significance in the move to New York. However, it would break tradition. The first round of negotiations in the past has been in Pittsburgh.
There was no immediate comment from the union or the steel companies on where or when contract negotiations will begin this year.
The Turkish Republic was proclaimed in 1923 with Mustafa Kemal as president.

Low Air-Conditioning Bid Stirs Protests And Queries

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Can a two-day-old construction company air-condition 800 Capehart housing units for $1.25 each, when established firms estimate it will cost $666 or more per unit?
Bargain basement air-conditioning rates apparently was the deciding factor in the award of a $13-million-dollar construction contract at Camp Lejeune to Atlantic Contractors Inc. of North Hollywood, Calif.
Their bid, certified acceptable by the Navy, drew strong protest from contractors and public officials.
Robert Patten, managing director of the Carolina Branch, Associated General Contractors of America, termed the bid "highly irregular, unethical and irresponsible."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC), writing to U.S. Comptroller Gen. Joseph Campbell, averred: "I am certain that there is no body on the North American continent who believes that a unit of Capehart housing can be air-conditioned for $1.25."
There were 14 bidders for the housing project at the Marine base. Bids, opened Dec. 9 at Norfolk, Va., showed these three to be low:
Atlantic Contractors Inc., 13 million dollars—$12,998,000 base construction, $1,000 to air-condition the 800 units, and $1,000 to install certain types of wire screens; H. L. Coble Construction Co. of Greensboro, total $13,348,100—base $12,888,000, air conditioning $441,400, screens $18,700; T. A. Loving & Co., Goldsboro, total $13,488,000—base $12,997,000, air conditioning $445,000, screens $37,000.

Patten said other bids for air conditioning were more than $500,000 each.
Atlantic was incorporated in California two days before the opening of the bids. It was authorized to issue 250 shares of stock at $100 a share. But the firm already had submitted its bid on the Camp Lejeune project Nov. 17.
Sen. Ervin wrote Campbell that in awarding the letter of acceptability to Atlantic, the Navy "is relying in large part upon the recommendation of the Federal Housing Authority is relying entirely upon the fact that the sole stockholder in the newly created corporation is Hal B. Hayes."
Hayes, West Coast contractor, is a native of Caldwell County, N.C. He is engaged to actress Zsa Zsa Gabor. Sen. Ervin declared that Hayes has no official capacity in the Atlantic firm.
The bid also was protested by Sen. B. Everett Jordan (D-NC), Rep. Basil L. Whitener (D-NC), and Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.), author of the act under which the housing will be built.

Paris Press Packed By Involved Scandal Story

By PRESTON GROVER
PARIS (AP)—A scandal involving bribery and murder plots over inheritance of one of France's biggest fortunes, is gripping the interest of Paris. Every paper is packed with it.
It has touched off speculation that people in the National Assembly and perhaps in the government may be tainted by the affair.
Mingled in the scandal are two beautiful call girls and a rich widow, heirless to two massive fortunes and a whopping art collection.
The fortune in the widow's hands is variously estimated by the newspapers at around 120 million dollars.
The fall guy is a 24-year-old French paratrooper, who fought bravely in Algeria and also won a reputation for dissipation. He is Jean Paul Guillaume, adopted son of Madame Dominique Walter. She inherited the fortunes and put her brother, Jean LaCaze, in charge of a big lead and zinc mine in Africa.
The story hinges about alleged attempts of Madame Walter and her brother to get rid of the adopted Guillaume who—unless dead or ruined in reputation—will inherit a big part of the fortune. She long ago turned cold to the son she adopted.
During the 1920s, Madame Walter, a girl so beautiful she made even painters gasp, made her way into artistic circles. She married Paul Guillaume, an art dealer, and they amassed a fortune dealing in art.
In 1934 art dealer Guillaume died. The widow needed an heir to ward off grasping relatives. Soon baby Jean Paul appeared in the household and in 1941 she formally adopted him. Soon afterward, in 1941, she married Jean Walter, the engineer.
Although she grew cold to the adopted son, Jean Walter liked him and looked after him.
But in 1957, Jean Walter was riding with Madame Walter and Dr. Maurice LaCour near Paris. Walter stepped out of the car and was hit by a passing automobile, and was injured fatally. That left her, and the adopted son heirs of the joint fortunes.

At that point, begins the alleged plot. So far only one man is under arrest. He is Jean LaCaze, the brother of the rich widow. He has been accused by two call girls—one the sweetie of the adopted son—offering big bribes last December if they would accuse the adopted son of procuring, or bringing in clients for prostitutes.
If such an accusation were made to stick against Jean Paul Guillaume he could lose his inheritance. Under French law the adoption could be nullified by the rich widow if he proved to be of bad character.
About a year ago the deputy mayor of Antibes, Camille Rayon, came to a judge in Paris with a strange story. He told the investigating judge—who in France is called a grand jury—that a certain doctor Maurice LaCour had offered him about $30,000 to kill the adopted son, Jean Paul Guillaume.
LaCour is a close friend of the rich widow, and at present is with her in the Hotel Mamounia in Marrakech, Morocco. Both have told reporters by telephone that the story is all a frameup by the adopted son.
Rayon told the story to Judge Jacques Batigne. For some reason, the judge put the Rayon story on a shelf and left it there until last December. Then two call girls told similar stories.
After being arrested LaCour was transferred to a hospital for an operation, and hasn't yet had his say before the investigating judge.

There are six women among those caught in the raid by federal officers.

Extortion Note Brings Arrest

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Federal and state officers arrested a 28-year-old Henderson truck driver here Friday night and charged him with sending an extortion letter to an insurance salesman, threatening him or his children with injury.
Officers arrested Thurston Allen Fuller when he stopped his car at a spot on a rural road designed as the place Fletcher Brummitt Fuller Jr. should leave $1,000.
Authorities said the two men are not related. Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the Charlotte FBI office, said Thurston Fuller would be arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Henry A. Bland of Raleigh.
Fletcher Fuller, of the Epsom community, Rt. 1, Henderson, has two small children a boy and a girl. His brother-in-law State Bureau of Investigation Agent Linwood M. Harton of Hendersonville assisted in the arrest Friday night.

Band Cancels Its Mardi Gras Trip

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP)—The Central High School's band called off plans to take part in next week's Mardi Gras celebration in New Orleans, partly because the band was told its lone Negro player would not be permitted.
Band Director C. R. Fletcher said the 75-member band decided that since a shortage of money would allow them only 24 hours in New Orleans, the trip would be "more of an ordeal than a pleasure."

Person County Votes On ABC Stores Today

Voters in Person County decide today whether to permit the sale of liquor through Alcoholic Beverage Control stores.
Three other counties will conduct liquor referendums in February.
The Orange County referendum will be next Tuesday. Alamance County will vote Feb. 7, and Richmond County Feb. 24.
Thirty-one of the state's 100 counties, and eight cities, have ABC stores.
Two counties—Franklin and Johnston—have voted to establish ABC stores and subsequently voted them out. No cities have done this. However, two towns in Franklin County operate ABC stores.
The Alcoholic Beverage Control measure was approved by the 1937 General Assembly. It provides that a majority of voters in a county must approve of ABC stores before they can be set up.

UNDERSTANDING REACTION
STERLING, Colo. (AP)—Volunteer firemen here answered an alarm 100 per cent recently. It was the first time in years every volunteer fireman was on hand. Where was the fire? In a girl's dormitory at Northeastern Junior College.
Harriet Beecher Stowe, who wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was her mother's seventh child. Harriet, herself, had six children.

Hospital Boxes
Are Objets d'Art

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Richmond's hospitals are being equipped with small boxes for personal effects which are so artistic that nobody suspects their origin as cigar boxes. The Westhampton Junior Woman's Club is turning them out in pastel shades decorated with painted flowers or with designs made from old costume jewelry. If you are a youngster your's may be ornamented with a toy. Or if you are not, the cover may have half a pipe glue to it.

CHAPTER 16

When Murray Kirk's bedside phone rang, he was bleary-eyed from the daylight that flooded the room. It was morning.

"There were two calls for you after you left yesterday," Mrs. Knapp, Murray's secretary, announced over the phone. "One of them was from Ruth Vincent. She wanted to remind you of your date with her tonight."

"Good. Who was the other call from?"

"George Wykoff, Duchesne Harbor, Staten Island," Mrs. Knapp said as if she were reciting an incantation, and Murray came wide awake. "The phone number's unlisted, but he left it with me so that you could get in touch with him as soon as possible. Do you have pencil and paper handy?"

"Hold it a second," Murray answered, and lay back with his eyes closed to consider this development. Right now, he knew, there was a fair chance that one of Loscalzo's bright young men was crouched in a thicket of telephone wires in the depths of the St. Stephen listening to every word. But it was too late to do anything about that, too late to do anything but curse the fisherman's luck that lured a big one like Wykoff — a killer whale among sharks — to your bait, when all you could do was stand there with your hands tied and watch him get away.

"Hello, are you there?" said Mrs. Knapp.

"Yes. About that phone number, Mrs. Knapp, just tear it up. Forget about it. Is that clear?"

One of Mrs. Knapp's virtues was that nothing ever had to be repeated to her. "I understand. Is there anything else, Mr. Kirk?"

"No," said Murray. "That's it."

Late in the afternoon Mrs. Knapp came into Murray's office to tell him that she had the theater tickets for him, that a table for two had been reserved at Le Pavillon, and that George Wykoff had been phoning at regular intervals. He had been expecting to hear from Mr. Kirk, and what was wrong on there, anyhow?

"What did you tell him?" Murray asked.

"Oh, just that you weren't available. From the way he sounded he wasn't very happy about it."

"That's his tough luck," Murray said. He described to her the gist of his talk with Loscalzo, and Mrs. Knapp said, "Well, in that case we certainly don't have any choice, do we? I'll take care of it if he phones again. I'll tell him you're out of town or something. Did you know that a couple of detective agencies are going to be called to Albany for hearings on illegal wire tapping next week?"

"No, where'd you pick up that information?"

"Somebody from Inter-American told Mr. Strauss about it. The ones they've grabbed aren't competent."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How spiritual understanding of God as divine Love promotes true brotherhood will be brought out in Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love" include this one (I John 4:21): "And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also."

Readings from "Science and Health" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (518:15): "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good."

The Golden Text is from I John (4:8): "He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

Vivian is the Latin word for an animated, lively girl.

Summer Institute Plans At College Are Shaping Up

Plans for a summer institute for high-school teachers of science and mathematics are shaping up at East Carolina College. Selection of sixty teachers who will receive stipends to be used toward their expenses will begin February 16.

Sponsored and financed by the National Science Foundation, the institute is part of a nation-wide program to improve instruction in science and mathematics. The East Carolina institute is scheduled for June 8 — July 17.

Sixty stipends of $450 plus additional funds for dependents and travel allowances are available to qualified teachers. J.O. Derrick of the East Carolina science department, director of the institute, has announced. Applications should be submitted as early as possible and no later than February 16, he stated.

Courses, Mr. Derrick said, will be offered on a credit or a non-credit basis. In addition, three seminars, which will carry no credit, will be offered as part of the program of the institute.

Courses in science to be offered and members of the East Carolina science department who will act as instructors have been announced by Mr. Derrick as follows: Biology for Teachers, Dr. Christine Wilton; Topics in Inorganic Chemistry for Teachers, Dr. G.W. Everett; and Introduction to the New Physics, Dr. R.M. Helms.

Dr. David R. Davis, director of the department of mathematics and associate director of the institute, will teach a course in Fundamental Concepts of Modern Mathematics. Dr. J.O. Reynolds of the mathematics department will conduct classes in Topics in Number Theory.

Seminars in science will be conducted by Mr. Derrick, and those in Mathematics by Dr. Davis. Participating in discussions will be nine outstanding scientists, mathematicians, and teachers from various parts of this country who will act as consultants, lecturers, and discussion leaders at the institute.

Circles 1 and 2 will meet Tuesday morning, February 3, at 10:00 o'clock. Circle 1 will meet in the home of Mrs. Tom Davis, 610 Oak Street and Circle 2 will meet in the home of Mrs. Sam Seavall, 110 Lakewood Dr.

Members of the Pioneer Fellowship will have a Valentine party in Fellowship Hall, 8:00-10:00 p.m., on Saturday, February 8.

Dr. Martin L. Black Speaks At Meeting Of CPA Association

Dr. Martin L. Black of Duke University was speaker for the Coastal Plains Area Chapter of the North Carolina Ass'n of Certified Public Accountants Thursday evening at Rocky Mount.

Dr. Black, president of the state association, discussed education requirements needed for proficiency in public accounting. Proposed rule changes for the association were explained by Raymond R. Rains, the executive secretary for the state body.

Membership of the Coastal Plains Ass'n is composed of CPAs from Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Greenville, Wilson, Goldsboro, Kinston, Washington and LaGrange. Meetings are held monthly with the aim of developing cooperation between CPAs and to enlarge their capacity to serve the public.

According to a recent survey, there are 7,903 pupils in North Carolina who attend school on a "double-shift" basis.

To be eligible for a stipend and admission to the institute, Mr. Derrick explained, the applicant must be high-school science or mathematics teacher who meets admission requirements to the East Carolina College graduate school. A few teachers who do not meet these requirements may be permitted to enroll, he added, but must pay their own fees.

Space Telescope Plans Drafted

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — A space telescope, orbiting in a 350-pound satellite package, could provide a four color map of the entire sky as it appears beyond the blindfold of the earth's atmosphere.

Three Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory scientists, detailing today their telescope satellite proposal, declared:

"There is no limit to the possible discoveries to be made through studies of the celestial ultraviolet spectrum — if we could bring it within reach of our laboratories."

"Two or three years from now," they predicted, "such a telescope will give us our first good set of ultraviolet maps of the sky."

The project drafters are R. J. Davis, C. A. Whitney, and Dr. F. L. Whipple, director of the observatory at Cambridge, Mass. They published the plan in the first issue of the Astronomical Science Review, launched here as the scientific journal of the American Astronomical Society. Norman V. Petersen, Palo Alto space scientists, is editor.

The Smithsonian scientists said the satellite would carry an image tube and transmit the telescope's view of the sky by television to ground control and recording stations.
