Air Force Is Trimming Its Wings Again

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force probably will shrink its organizational size to fewer than 90 wings during the next five or six years—smallest since the wholesale demobilization following World War II.

These wings will include missile outfits as well as manned aircraft. Part of the cutback will be in B47 medium bomber wings as more efficient means of delivering destruction replace these planes.

Economy seems to play only a small part in the trend, which began about two years ago. Improvement of both aircraft and missiles accounts primarily for the change.

The nuclear firepower which can be delivered by even 90 wings will be thousands of times that of the huge bomber fleets of World War II.

The military budget now being debated in Congress says that there will be a "modest reduction in the number of wings in the Air Force, from 105 at the end of the current fiscal year (next June 30) to 102 at the end of 1960."

The slow reduction in wing strength started after a peak post-war strength of 137 was reached in mid-1957.

The size of an Air Force wing varies from 45 big bombers to 75 fighters. Normally, a wing consists of three squadrons of planes.

In missiles, the squadron designation is generally used. A ballistic missile squadron will range from 10 weapons for an intercontinental ballistic missile—ICBM—oufit to 15 for an intermediate range ballistic missile—IRBM—squadron. Formation of such squadrons is just beginning.

During the coming year, as the Air Force nears the 102-wing level, a wing of Atlas ballistic missiles will be included in the overall count, along with the present wing of Matador guided missiles and probably a wing of Bomarc long range anti-aircraft missiles.

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said last month that the Strategic Air Command will include 14 wings of B52 heavy bombers—two more than had been shown under previously announced plans.

The B52 manned bomber is slated, under present plans, to remain an important part of the nuclear weapon delivery system at least to 1965 and perhaps longer, depending on the speed with which missiles and other unmanned weapons are perfected.

The cutback in wing strength toward an eventual level of fewer than 90 will be brought about, in part, by the gradual elimination of the B47 medium jet from SAC's fleet of strategic bombers.

Defense Department officials say that one wing of the new, improved B52G series can replace two wings of B47s. The B52G has longer range, without using aerial refueling, than the first B52 series. But more important, the B52G will be armed with the Hound Dog missile—a device for sending the nuclear explosive into a heavily defended enemy area.

The missile, which remains outside, several hundred miles away.

Self-Rule For Cyprus Talked

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Greece and Turkey were reported near agreement today on a draft constitution for an independent Cyprus, with the Turkish minority to have a veto over matters of foreign relations, defense and internal security.

The tentative charter would give the North Atlantic Treaty Organization control of military bases on the British crown colony island in the eastern Mediterranean. But it has not yet been agreed whether Greek or Turkish troops will replace those parts of the British garrisons to be withdrawn.

The question of the garrisons may be left for further discussions when Prime Ministers Constantine Karamanlis of Greece and Adnan Menderes of Turkey meet later with British Prime Minister Macmillan.

As far as constitutional arrangements are concerned, Britain reportedly has informed Greece and Turkey it will accept any solution they agree on. The conferees are keeping London closely informed of the progress.

Karamanlis and Menderes may rejoin the negotiations today. Since their two meetings Friday, when the conference opened, negotiations have been carried on by Foreign Ministers Evangelos Averoff of Greece and Patin Rustu Zorlu of Turkey.

The draft constitution, agreed on in principle, would make the British colony an independent republic, but it specifies that no part of the island would ever become a part of Greece or Turkey.

There would be separate parliamentary bodies for the Turkish minority of 100,000 and the Greek majority of 400,000, with a joint upper house in which each community would be represented proportionately.

The negotiators were reported moving toward agreement that matters concerning foreign affairs, defense or internal security would have to be approved by both the Greek and Turkish communities.

Cyprus has been wracked by strife—and NATO defenses in the eastern Mediterranean threatened since November 1955 when Greek Cypriots stepped up a guerrilla-terrorist campaign to join Cyprus with Greece.

The Turkish-speaking islanders prefer British rule but demanded partition of Cyprus if the British got out. Both sides apparently have shifted their positions in favor of an independent Cyprus.

Bus Station Is Robbed In Night

FARMVILLE—An undetermined amount of merchandise was taken from the Farmville bus station during a break-in sometime Sunday night.

Chief of Police L. T. Lucas said this morning that the actual quantity of goods taken had not been determined this morning. He also said some change was taken from two jukeboxes in the station.

The theft was apparently carried out last night, Chief Lucas said. An investigation which began this morning after the robbery was discovered is being continued.

Alamance Votes To Remain 'Dry'

GRAHAM, N.C. (AP)—Prohibition won again Saturday in a liquor-beer election for Alamance County.

Unofficial returns in a referendum showed 8,222 voted against legal liquor and beer sales, 7,032 for. Rural precincts apparently turned the tide.

In 1954, the vote against the proposal was 11,232 to 6,121.

Mail Marvel

LINCOLNTON, N. C. (AP) Before you knock the U. S. postal system, consider:

A young lady near here received a letter last week addressed to: "Miss Joyce Hoyle, Rt. 3, North Carolina." That's all, no city, no county, just "Rt. 3, North Carolina."

What's more, the letter had been mailed only two days before delivery from the U. S. S. Hartley somewhere in the Atlantic.

Even postal authorities were at a loss to explain how the letter got to its destination.

"I've been scratching my head about it ever since. . . . It's rather marvelous," said V. C. Fair, Lincolnton postmaster. Fair said the letter entered the United States through the Port of New York.

A possible explanation came from Charlotte Postal Services Representative Bill Hamilton. "It was logical that the letter would come to the largest airport in North Carolina, Charlotte," Hamilton said. "Somebody here probably knew the girl." Lincolnton is about 35 miles northwest of Charlotte.

He Really Didn't Want 2 Wives; Just Mixed Up

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—"I didn't want two wives," says Brian Wahlken, a jobless 22-year-old draftsman who was jailed Sunday in a bigamy investigation.

"Things just got mixed up and I couldn't straighten them out," he told a reporter. Police said Wahlken, who lives at nearby Mountain View, started his double life in November when he married Rachel Belasco, a 22-year-old theater usher in Reno. His first wife is Jenny, 24.

"Jenny and I were married early last year and there were bills, bills, bills," Wahlken said. "Bills for the wedding, bills for the honeymoon, bills for clothes and food. I had to get away from it all."

He met Rachel and dated her every night for three weeks. "Things just kept rolling along" until they drove to Reno and got married," he said.

"It was going to be a new life. I was going to get a job and, as soon as I could, I was going to get a divorce (from Jenny)," he said. He didn't find a job and police said that while he was drawing $40 per week unemployment checks he lived one night a week with Jenny and the other six with Rachel. He told both working wives his absences were due to job hunting, police added.

Jenny talked Friday to Rachel's mother, Mrs. A. J. Belasco, and compared notes on rumors she had heard about her husband. Among the information exchanged was the fact that both wives were pregnant.

Rachel complained to police and Wahlken said he is finished with Rachel.

"First she talked about an annulment, then she goes for this bigamy charge. If I get a chance I'll try to make it up with Jenny. She can cook!" Wahlken said. Jenny said she would think about that when he gets out of jail.

Took Narcotics In Safe-Cracking

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—Thieves broke into the Lowell Drug Co. at nearby Lowell Sunday night, ripped open a safe, and stole 200 quarter-grain morphine tablets.

An attempt was made to open a second safe. The thieves took nothing but the narcotics. A thief stole 900 quarter-grain morphine tablets from a doctor's office above the drug store last November.

HUNGRY THIEF

A thief punched a small hole in a window of Abe Nelson's store, 504 West 13th Street, Sunday night, and took four loaves of bread and some cookies from a jar near the window.

Police, investigating the theft, said the thief did not enter the store.

Dulles Reports Western Allies Agree On Steps To Keep Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the Western Allies have agreed generally on procedures to follow if the Soviet Union invokes "physical means" to block access to Berlin.

He also renewed the West's offer to talk about a general settlement. "We are willing to talk with the Soviets in a sincere effort to reach agreements," he said.

Dulles returned to Washington after talks at London Paris and Bonn.

In a prepared statement Dulles told newsmen his talks abroad "reconfirmed the unity and firmness of our position."

"We do not accept any substitution of East Germans for the Soviet Union in its responsibilities toward Berlin and its obligations to us," he said.

"We are resolved that our position in, and access to, West Berlin shall be preserved. "We are in general agreement as to the procedures we shall follow if physical means are invoked to interfere with our rights in this respect."

Dulles talked to the heads of government and foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany and with Secretary General Paul-Henri Spak of the Atlantic Pact (NATO).

Dulles was to report to President Eisenhower today.

Eisenhower returned last night from a Georgia Quail hunting holiday and was met at the airport by Under Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon, who presumably gave him an initial report on Dulles' mission.

In advance of Dulles' arrival officials said they were sure he had laid the groundwork for a speed-up in Allied policy planning looking toward a spring foreign ministers' meeting with the Soviet Union.

On a week-long trip, Dulles conferred with the leaders of Britain, France and West Germany during successive visits to London, Paris and Bonn.

Dulles left Bonn Sunday with a hint that some slight conciliatory move toward the Soviets may be in the making, but only if the U.S.S.R. also is in a conciliatory mood.

His series of talks last week, Dulles said at the Bonn airport, "will help to assure that we shall be united and firm for our rights. That does not exclude being conciliatory, but it does exclude merely making concessions for which there is no counterpart."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, was pictured by a German spokesman as opposed to negotiating something away in the negotiations without getting anything in return.

Both German and American spokesmen also said the Western powers are still far from agreement on a detailed policy on how to meet the Soviet challenge in Berlin. But they indicated that progress was made in the talks.

Meanwhile Allied representatives here completed the drafting of a note to the Soviet Union proposing that a foreign ministers' meeting be held to deal with a wide range of German issues.

The Western foreign ministers may meet a couple more times before assembling with the Soviet. May 27 was originally fixed by the Soviets for turning over to East Germany their powers controlling allied access to Berlin. The Soviet Union also has called for Allied abandonment of West Berlin.

Before he left for his European trip, Dulles told the House Foreign Affairs Committee he thinks the Soviets will "keep the pressure on until the very last minute" in the Berlin situation. He called West Berlin a showcase of the free world which he said unnerves the Communists.

But he said in reply to a question that the Western Allies are in complete agreement "on the basic proposition of standing firm in Berlin and, if need be, risking a war rather than being taken out of Berlin."

His testimony, made public during the weekend, also forecast a tougher Soviet line in the cold war.

Dulles said he sees no split widening between the Soviet Union and Red China. He contended also this country has no way of pulling out of Quemoy and Matsu—target of Red Chinese shells last summer—without losing the

Unemployment Climbs Close To 5 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment is climbing back close to the five-million mark, economists reported today. They said a figure approaching that mark may be shown in the government's January count, due out Tuesday.

Joblessness normally rises in the winter months because of the weather's effect on construction, farm and other outdoor activities. The five-million mark has not been exceeded since last April, when the jobless count was 5,120,000.

But in recent months job idleness has been running a little ahead of corresponding months a year ago. In December the total was 4,108,000 or 734,000 more than the 3,374,000 in December 1957.

The figure for January 1958 was 4,494,000, a jump of well over a million from December.

In the January 1959 idle total increases by anything like the million or so normally registered in that month, the total will be close to or over five million—and well over the figure for a year ago.

The figures indicate that while business has improved substantially from its recession depths, the job picture still is gloomy.

This in itself is not too surprising. Employers normally don't increase their work force very fast in a recovery period. They cautiously increase working hours of workers already employed, working them even overtime hours at premium rates rather than hire new workers.

A number of economists feel that some of the missing jobs may have disappeared forever — because work formerly done by men now is being done by machines.

As of now about one out of every 17 able-bodied workers wanting a job can't find one. Similarly, one of eight single workers is unemployed. Among married workers the idle ratio is one out of 20.

Worker earnings, like prices, are at record levels. This means that those workers that have jobs are doing all right, many of them enjoying big chunks of extra premium overtime pay. But that doesn't apply to the workers unable to find steady jobs.

Governor Sees Big N.C. Future

DURHAM (AP)—Big things are in store for North Carolina in the next 20 years, Gov. Hodges says.

He told the eighth annual convention of the North Carolina Wholesalers Assn., here Saturday night that by 1980 North Carolina's population will increase from its present 4½ million to nearly six million.

Hodges also predicted: average per capita income will exceed $3,450, compared with $1,817 in 1957; the federal interstate highway system will be completed, with 775 miles of controlled access facilities criss-crossing the state; and the volume of traffic on state roads will double.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Temperatures will average 4 to 7 degrees above normal through Saturday. Warmer Tuesday, continued warm thereafter until colder Saturday. Occasional rain through period will total one to two inches.

Hodges Presents Budget Tonight

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's legislators will turn their attention to taxes and appropriations tonight when Gov. Hodges goes before them to deliver his tax-spending recommendations.

The House and Senate will meet in joint session at 8 o'clock to hear the governor present the 1959-61 budget recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission.

Following the governor's message, revenue and appropriations bills may be introduced.

The budget is expected to call for spending more than a billion dollars in state and federal funds in the next two fiscal years. The budget will likely call for increased spending in several state agencies, including public schools. If tax and spending bills are introduced tonight, Lt. Gov. Luther Barnhardt said he is in position to announce the appointment of Senate Finance and Appropriations committees Tuesday.

Capitol Hill reports say Barnhardt may name Sen. Claude Currie of Durham to head Finance and Sen. William Copeland of Murfreesboro to serve as chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Barnhardt said it will be Wednesday or later before he is ready to announce other Senate committees.

House Speaker Addison Hewlett of New Hanover appointed House committees Friday.

Alexandria Finishes Plans To Integrate Three Schools

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Alexandria completes plans today for integration of three public schools. Tuesday, this northern Virginia city will become the state's third locally within eight days reluctantly to admit Negroes to classrooms in previously all-white schools.

State and local officials have expressed hope that the admission of nine Negro children to the Alexandria schools will be accomplished as peacefully as the entrance of 21 Negroes into Norfolk and Arlington schools a week ago.

While heavy police reinforcements accompanied integration at nearby Arlington's Stratford Junior High School last Monday, there have been no reports of special police preparations at Alexandria.

Local officials said they have no plans to appeal the integration order to the U.S. Supreme Court—a step taken by Arlington officials two weeks ago without success.

A last-ditch appeal for a stay of the District Court ruling was turned down Saturday by Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U. S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals at Baltimore.

Another event Tuesday may preface a further breach of Virginia's traditional school segregation policy. At Harrisonburg, a federal judge will hear a plea that Warren County High School at Front Royal be reopened immediately on an integrated basis.

The school, with an enrollment of over 1,000, was the first to be closed last September under the state's now-defunct massive resistance laws which decreed that a school under immediate integration orders be padlocked. Further closings affected eight schools in Norfolk and Charlottesville.

The reopening of Norfolk's six closed schools last Monday on an integrated basis followed rulings by state and federal courts declaring the massive resistance laws unconstitutional. The two closed Charlottesville schools reopened last Wednesday on a segregated basis. They will remain segregated pending submission of an integration go to the federal courts.

Warren County school officials said they felt it would be detrimental to the students to reopen the Front Royal school before next September. But Oliver Hill of Richmond, an attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would seek immediate reopening on an integrated basis at Tuesday's hearing.

Despite the likelihood of further token integration, close associates of Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. say the governor hopes to resist wholesale integration in the classrooms with all legal weapons while preserving a state system of public education.

Almond will make his proposals Wednesday before a meeting of his recently appointed 40-member special school study commission, the legislators, four from each of Virginia's ten congressional districts, were appointed by the governor last week to chart a long-range program aimed at minimizing school integration.

Executions Rise To 289 In Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Executions in Cuba rose today to 289, by unofficial count, with the death of a former army captain before a firing squad in Santa Clara, Las Villas province.

Fidel Castro, the rebel chief, and Provisional President Manuel Urrutia arranged to lead a funeral cortege to Havana cemetery for formal reburial services for 19 of those who came to Cuba with Castro in 1956 to start the revolution. The bodies were brought here from Oriente province for the services.

Koreans Added To Army Units

WASHINGTON (AP)—Koreans are being added to the U.S. Army's troops in Korea.

A Pentagon spokesman said Sunday night they are called "Katsumas"—Koreans attached to the United States Army. The spokesman said the Katsumas work and train with U.S. troops and draw the same assignments as regular personnel.

Boy Scouts Set Up Camp On Courthouse Lawn

The Boy Scout Panther Patrol of troop 205, Greenville, constructed a camp site on the Pitt County Courthouse lawn, Saturday, as a plug for the forthcoming Boy Scout Week, February 6-13.

Twelve Scouts constructed the camp under the supervision of Scoutmaster C.C. Edwards and Assistant Scout Master Paul Curtis. Included in the project were seven tents, two fire sites, a table constructed of tree limbs, and various other equipment. Edwards commented that the project was also a "preview and practice for the East Carolina Council Camporee", which will be held near Rocky Mount May 1, 2, 3.

The Scouts began construction of the camp-site at 7:00 Saturday morning and had the project completed by 1:00 p.m. The display was disbanded at approximately 7:00 p.m.

Claims Hagerty Involved In TV Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who ignited last year's dramatic Sherman Adams case now wants Congress to investigate White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

Dr. Bernard Schwartz, a former House investigator, called for the probe Sunday after accusing Hagerty of stepping into a television case for political reasons. Hagerty immediately denied this.

"Mr. Schwartz was either misinformed or was deliberately lying," he said.

Schwartz, who is a New York University law professor, makes his charge against Hagerty in a forthcoming book, "The Professor and the Commissions." Parts of the book were released Saturday.

Last year, the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee removed Schwartz as chief counsel. But, exploring some of his accusations and using files he has assembled, it launched investigations that led to the resignations of Adams, who was President Eisenhower's chief assistant, and Richard A. Mack, a federal communications commissioner.

The accusation against Hagerty involves a television station in the Albany-Schenectady area of New York and a series of decisions by the Federal Communications Commission.

Hagerty said the FCC had made its decision before he requested some information about it.

But Schwartz said, "The facts do show that three months after Mr. Hagerty intervened the FCC did reverse its original decision."

The case, as outlined by Hagerty's documents, followed this sequence: March 1, 1957, William J. Embler, a Republican and research consultant to the speaker of New York's State Assembly, wrote Hagerty protesting an FCC decision to change station WRGB from a very high frequency (VHF) station to an ultra high frequency station (UHF).

"As one who is not a stockholder in anything but is concerned with the success of the Republican party it would seem to me that some consideration should be given to the fact that such a change will leave many families without television because UHF can not reach them and will put many others to the expense of conversion or buying new sets," Embler wrote.

He followed with a similar note three days later. On March 5, Hagerty answered the letters, saying, "You do have a good point. I have passed your letter along to the interested people here and asked them for an answer."

The same day, Hagerty sent a note, marked "personal," then chairman of the FCC. It said: "I received the attached letter from a personal friend of mine in Albany. I thought you would like to see it. Is there any way I can answer him?"

In a long letter March 13, McConaughy answered Hagerty. He explained the FCC had embarked on a policy of making television areas either all VHF or all UHF since most of the stations in the Albany-Schenectady area were UHF, the commission wanted WRGB to change to UHF also.

Hagerty said there was no further correspondence in the case.

The FCC later changed its proposal and, after a series of decisions, allowed WRGB to remain a VHF station. It changed the situation, however, by adding a second VHF station to the area.

30 Years Ago Today

February 9, 1929

It is well that the Federal Reserve Board has called a halt on borrowing from Reserve Banks for stock speculation. Such a warning was needed. Brokers' firms with seats on the Stock Exchange have carried loans lately aggregating almost $7,000,000,000. The volume has been rolling up at the rate of hundreds of millions a month, as the bull market plunged ahead. This speculative use of credit has diverted so much money from the ordinary channels of business that it threatened to check prosperity, if not checked itself. Credit for home-building and other constructive progress has grown scarcer and scarcer. Ordinary commercial and personal loans have been hard to obtain. The financial blood of the nation has been drained into Wall Street to help gambling and inflate securities.

Today's Menu

There's a surprise ingredient in these Toll-House type cookies.

- Broiled Salmon Steaks
- Mashed Potatoes
- Green Beans
- Salad Bowl
- Bread Tray
- Fresh Fruit
- Seville Cookies Beverage

SEVILLE COOKIES
 Ingredients: 3-4 cup sifted flour, 1-2 teaspoon baking soda, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1-4 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar, 1-4 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 cup Seville-orange marmalade, 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces (roughly chopped), 1-4 cup chopped walnuts (about the size of the chopped chocolate).
 Method: Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Beat egg until thick and lemon-colored. Without washing beater (if using electric mixer) cream butter, brown sugar and vanilla. Beat in egg. Stir in sifted dry ingredients, marmalade, chocolate and walnuts. Drop rounded (not heaping) teaspoonfuls of the mixture a couple of inches apart onto well-greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) until browned around edges—about 7 minutes. Let stand on pan about 1 minute. Just until edges won't shrink. Then remove to wire racks by lifting cookie edge with sharp tip of spatula and sliding spatula under cookie. If cookies get crisp before removal, replace in oven for a few seconds to soften. Makes 3 1/2 to 4 dozen.

Mrs. Tripp Gives Program

Mrs. Harvey Tripp presented her impressions from Edith Dean's book, "All of the Women in the Bible," with emphasis on four biblical women at the Sappho Book Club meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Malcolm Williams was hostess with Mrs. Aubrey Taylor assisting.
 The guest speaker chose four women from the Bible as her subject. They were Eve, who became the perfect type of patient motherhood; Mary, the Mother of Jesus, who typifies the noblest qualities in womanhood; Sarah, the Mother of Nations, who lives on, as the woman whose faith helped to achieve one of the miracle births of the Bible; and Mary Magdalene, whose faith is a monument to the healing power of Jesus.
 Mrs. Tripp closed her talk by reading a poem by Maud Frazer Jackson, entitled, "Faith."
 Mrs. Nelson Bowden, president, presided during the business portion of the afternoon.
 A two course luncheon was served to the members and guests, Mrs. Tripp and Mrs. W. T. Smith.

Home, Farm Agents Give Club Program

A joint meeting of Home Demonstration Club members and their husbands was held at the Belvoir Home Economics Cottage Wednesday night.

The president, Mrs. Clarence Barnhill, welcomed the guests and visitors.
 After the business period, a demonstration was presented by the Home and Farm Agents, Mrs. Sue May and C. J. Goodman, on "The Family Teamwork". They used charts to assist them in the demonstration.
 Refreshments consisting of chocolate and spicy sea foam cakes, cheese straws, nuts, pickles, and coffee were served from a decorated table that carried out the Valentine motif.

Members of Coochee Council No. 60, Degree of Pochontas, held their semi-monthly meeting Thursday night in the Redmen Hall.

Pochontas Gladys Pollard presided over the ritualistic meeting. Past Great Pochontas Marian Vincent and her husband, Thurman, was welcomed and recognized. Letters were read from Great Pochontas Virginia Fischer and Great Womanah Gladys Crisp.
 An invitation was read from Catherine Leggett inviting the council to attend the Eastern District meeting to be held in Washington in the Redmen Hall, February 11 at 6 p.m. A banquet will be held at 8 p.m. in the Hall, and a dance will follow sets for the banquet and dance will be sold.
 Mrs. Myrtle Hemby won the door prize.
 Prior to the meeting Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hemby served a rock fish stew supper to the members and visitors who were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent, Mrs. Harold Fussell and Miss Nina Forbes.
 Several piano selections were rendered by Miss Forbes during the social hour.

Buffet Luncheon Honors Members

Mrs. George Martin was hostess to the Cosmos Book Club at her home on Library Street Tuesday at a buffet luncheon. Nineteen members were present.

Of focal interest in the dining room was an artistic arrangement of red carnations which centered the appointed table. Guests served themselves baked ham, sweet potato souffle, lima beans, congealed salad and hot rolls. Following the main course, Mrs. Martin served ribbon ice box cake and coffee.
 Mrs. Ray Minges, president, presided at a short business session at which time plans were discussed for a short sightseeing trip to be taken next month.
 At the conclusion, books were distributed and the meeting adjourned.

23 Artists Furnish Works

Twenty-three artists have furnished one entry each to make up the "Members Exhibit" now showing in the local Art Center at Sheppard Memorial Library.

The East Carolina Art Society has members in several towns outside of Greenville and Pitt County. Several of these are represented in the exhibition.
 Those who contributed works for the show are as follows: Lois Outland and Mrs. J. H. Boyce of Rich Square, Dr. Wellington B. Gray, Arianna Clark, Lill Shotwell, Georgia P. Hearne, Madge Allen, Sara Sugg, Jim Jefferson of Fountain, Louise Jones, Nancy Monroe, Jo Miller, Mrs. Robert Stuart, Nancy Elison, Janet H. Petterson, Claude Taylor, Elizabeth Copeland, William H. Watson, Lucinda Hollowell, Janie Gole Starling, Enola Smith of Edenton, Mrs. John Barker and Francis Lee Neel.

American Music Month Proclaimed By Governor

North Carolina's Governor Luther B. Hodges was the first (1957) of the 48 state governors to proclaim February as American Music Month. His 1959 Proclamation is, therefore, his third one. In 1958, 25 governors joined him in proclaiming February as all-American Music Month. It is hoped 49 will join him in 1959.

The National Federation of Music Clubs is aiming at 5500 American Music programs (at least one from each of its clubs) during this fifth annual Parade of American Music, says Mrs. Ronald A. Dougan, Beloit, Wis. president. The Eastman School of Music and the University of Texas (Radio and Television Departments) are making tapes of all-American programs for broadcasting stations. The Eastman-Rochester (N.Y.) Symphony Orchestra Dr. Howard Hanson, conductor, is recording the Eastman series, a survey of American orchestral music from the 18th century composer, Johann Peter, to those of contemporary composers. These recordings are distributed through the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

Miss Jessie Rose Morris, 1132 Providence Road, Charlotte, the N. C. chairman, is hoping for a program from each of the state's 78 senior clubs. Junior chairman Mrs. Phil Yarbrough, Sanford, urges the 178 junior clubs to join the Parade. Miss Morris says, "I would like several awards of merit to come to North Carolina at the Biennial Convention, San Diego, Calif., April 18-26. Fourteen clubs won Awards in 1958. Please mail two copies of your program and news reports to Mrs. Ada Holding Miller, 237 Oak St., Providence 6, Rhode Island, by March 1."
 The North Carolina Music Club joined the North Carolina Parade last Monday (Feb. 2nd) night, presenting the Menotti opera, THE TELEPHONE, in the Meredith College Small Auditorium. Director was Charles Horton, Campbell College. Mrs. Horton and Alex Dentre starred a small orchestra from the club did the accompaniment. Horton directed another Menotti opera, THE MEDIUM, Jan. 13 at Campbell, with Eleanor Knapp (N.Y.), visiting artist. Mrs. W. P. Garriss is Club president. Mrs. Hubert L. Johnson program chairman.

Ten year-round scholarships, open to high school seniors, at four conservatories and colleges are being decided through Biennial Student Auditions, seven of them in strings; others are piano, voice or orchestra winds. Mrs. C. B. Jefferson, State president, reminds interested applicants to send their entries to George Perry, Auditions Chairman, East Carolina College, Greenville, by next Saturday, Feb. 14th. Auditions are slated for that campus Saturday Feb. 28th. There are four $200 Awards, besides the college scholarships, and several state awards.

Mrs. Floyd D. Mehan, 1227 Westwood, High Point has just received notice of a new award for the Young Artists Auditions, slated for this next spring; all national winners will be presented in concert in Cincinnati's Taft Auditorium May 3, 1959, as part of that city's Famous Artists Series. The Concert is a bonus on that Series and it will bear all expenses. Mrs. Mehan wishes all entries in her hands by next Sunday, February 15. State Auditions will be held in Hill Music Hall, Chapel Hill, February 29.

Three other area Festivals are being announced by Mrs. Arvids Snornelkes, New Bern, State Junior Counselor, and Fletcher Moore, Elon College, State Festivals chairman. Dates for all three are Saturday, March 7, Chapel Hill's Hill Hall, with Mrs. V. L. Bounds, P. O. Box 1134, is one location. Another one meets at Flora McDonald College, Red Springs, with Mrs. Bert Ishee, 691 Huske Street, Fayetteville, as chairman. And Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, will be host to the third, with Mrs. E. T. Stallings, 911 West Lee Street, Wilson, as chairman. Application blanks must be in hands of chairmen by March 1.

With The Farm Women

By ROBERTA GARNER

(Items this week from Davidson, Martin, Cherokee, Henderson, Fender and Perquimans Counties)

Books Mean Education and Pleasure
 Reading—for pleasure and education—is a vital part of the Davidson County Home Demonstration Club program.
 Close cooperation between the county librarian and the club women has resulted in seven new bookmobile stations, says Mrs. Martha Thompson, home economics agent.

Refinishing Furniture
 The Ransom Earles of Martin County have been refinishing furniture in their spare time.
 Mrs. Earles proudly displays a chair in the den and a drop leaf table in the living room that have been refinished. A marble top washstand—purchased for $8—has also been a project.

Sewing 4-H'er
 Cherokee County 4-H'er, Deborah Anderson, was in the midst of pink flannel during a recent visit by the assistant home economics agent. However, Miss Mary Hensley was not surprised to find her making pajamas for a slumber party.

Music School
 A music school for all Perquimans Home Demonstration Club music leaders was held by Mrs. Fred Matthews, county music leader.
 Mrs. Paige Underwood, home for a younger sister.

No Longer Wasted Space
 A small U-shaped kitchen presented a problem to Mrs. Robert Fuller of the Big Willow community, in Henderson County. The basement stairway was enclosed in one part of the kitchen. To keep this area from being wasted space, the oven was placed in this wall. Results—more floor space in the kitchen, no wasted space, and the oven is at counter level.

New Record Player For Community
 Community recreation is a special project carried by the Cheerful Girls 4-H Community Club, Maple Hill.
 A record player, loud speaker and amplifier were needed for recreation meetings. With a club membership of 15, these active 4-H'ers decided to raise the necessary $150 for the equipment.

Home Economics Agent

Fan's Clippings Provided Skeleton For Irene Castle's Autobiography

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In the dancing days of Vernon and Irene Castle, life was full, exciting and one exhilarating experience crowded out the one before it. After the passing of years, how can anyone remember such small details as the color of the upholstery on the 1917 Finerva when the car arrived on the memorable day of the Vanderbilt soiree?

"I couldn't," said Irene Castle frankly. "We could never have written the book at all without the scrapbooks — 18 huge volumes of them — and my mother's collection of 2,000 pictures."

Mrs. Castle, now slim, lithe and lively at 65, was speaking of the writing of her autobiography, Casles in the Air. She started, trying to write it alone, years ago during a vacation in Cuba, but gave it up.

"I just couldn't remember enough," she said. "And I'm not a writer."

Valuable Fan

Recently, however, she revived the book project with two writing neighbors in Eureka Springs, Ark., Bob and Wanda Duncan. But it was the scrapbooks, faithfully kept for years by a devoted Castle fan, Miss Christine East of Greensboro N. C., which proved the hard base on which the memoir really was written.

The Duncans studied the newspaper stories and magazine articles written through the years, and based series of questions on them. Then, every day for three months they talked with Irene Castle with a tape recorder in attendance. She answered their questions, the tapes were transcribed — and the book was produced.

"It was amazing," said Mrs. Castle. "All sorts of memories — things I'd completely forgotten, engagements we had danced, food we had eaten, people we'd met — all came flooding back. I kept remembering clothes, pictures, people and events. I had not thought about since they had happened."

The book has been nagging at Irene Castle for many, many years. She's glad it is finished, that the record of the lives of the legendary Castles is set straight.

Founded Animal Shelter
"But I do hope that I will be remembered for my humane work — not just as a dancer," she remarked, almost wistfully. "I think the most important thing I've ever done in my life has been to make people more conscious of the mistreatment, neglect and downright cruelty in handling animals."

Actually, Mrs. Castle may be remembered by some as the founder of the Orphanas of the Storm animal shelter in Lake Forest, Ill. and as a crusader for better treatment of animals. But, in spite of her wishes, she will probably be better remembered as the glamorous symbol of an era and an elegance which disappeared after World War I. Vernon Castle, of course, was killed in a wartime plane crash at the peak of their dancing career. But even after that Irene was the most slavishly copied woman in the country. She adopted chiffon as a graceful flowing dancing dress — and two continents erupted in graceful, flowing chiffon. She tied a Dutch bonnet on her head on a windy day — and American women all wore Dutch bonnets. Most important, she cropped her bright hair one day to make dancing easier — and American women promptly grabbed the scissors. Bobbed hair arrived and has never left.

Mrs. Castle, now the wife of advertising man George Enzinger, says she found looking back more pleasant than painful.

"But whatever you can say about my life," she added with a smile, "it has never been boring. I don't see why people are so funny about their age. Experience is nothing to be ashamed of."

Pat Boone Tells How To Grow Up

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Singer Pat Boone's book, "Twelve and Twenty," fingers the problems of teen-agers in chatty style, parlaying Pat's own logic and conclusions into pretty understandable lingo.

The book is a yardstick to the good life, but it isn't as if Pat hasn't made mistakes, he confesses, such as:

His elopement at 19 that worked into a happy marriage but brought sadness in recollection that he should have confided in his parents.

Or the time he put his savings into a couple of chinchillas.

But on the plus side of the ledger Pat has learned a good deal from experience, trust in his parents and faith in God.

About his mother and father. . . . Pat, who got his last spanking at 17 with the sewing machine belt, was ashamed of his house, but rustled up a sense of values that young people were "always ashamed of something to do with their home or family." Soon he reasoned that people were not as interested in what he had or wore as what he was, and that it was he who could stand improvement and should be prepared for scrutiny.

On growing up. . . . First, grow up spiritually and learn to know God. He advises, "Please don't sell this short!" Second, grow up socially, accepting your role in the community and duties as citizens. Third, consider your mental growth and that "until we can think, and do think, we are second hand people; echoes, imitators, not using our own Godgiven intelligence and mental powers."

A Columbia University graduate, Magna Cum Laude, Pat reminds us "you are never too young to do great things." George Washington at 17 got a certificate as a surveyor from William and Mary College. Lafayette at 20 was commissioned major general in the Continental Army. Joan of Arc was 16 when she raised the siege of Orleans. Edna St. Vincent Millay was 14 when her first poem was published in a national magazine.

Fourth consideration should be physical growth, he says. Athletic coaches have told him that many young people take better care of their cars than their bodies.

Fifth observation is that work is part of growing up. Pat points out that no matter what you think about it, chores are always going to be with you.

Sixth is the development of sound financial practices.

On love. . . . Pat agrees that kissing is here to stay, recalling that at age 13 a girl told him that he "kissed like a cow" when they were playing "spin-the-bottle" at a party. He believes a kiss to be a beautiful expression of love, but that kissing for fun is "like playing with a candle in a room full of dynamite."

Pat is not against going steady, but he thinks there should be gaps in the togetherness. When he talked seriously of marriage to his wife, Shirley, he thought of her not merely as someone to kiss under a full moon, he says, "but something to love even with a runny nose." He married the girl, and they are extremely happy, but he doesn't recommend elopements or teen-age marriage, except for mature individuals.

The book includes some important tips to newlyweds under the heading, Maxims on Marriage.

Playroom Is A Must At Home Or Afloat

By VIVIAN BROWN

If your youngsters do not have a play room, you don't know what you are missing. Even the cruise ship has come to the conclusion that it is the way to keep the youngsters quiet, and newest gimmick on sea-going vessels is catering to the younger set. The idea takes the strain off parents, and gives the youngsters a good time. Now if trains and planes would follow suit, and automobiles could hitch a playroom trailer to the vacation car, who knows, parents might enjoy a vacation.

One ship boasts a "cinderella room" with miniature stage for play acting, a miniature ship's bell and tiny wheel just like the captain's. The pint-size plumbing encourages clean hands and faces. And enclosed play area off this children's room has some fine kindergarten equipment from slides to swings.

The recreation room for teenagers has a soda-fountain, juke box and rubber tile floor for dancing, and other modern touches which Raymond Lowry designed for this new cruise ship, the S. S. Brazil. A sun deck and outdoor swimming pool is assigned to the teen-agers and they may sit in bathing suits in a special lunch room.

FOR SMALL FRY . . . A miniature wheel like the captain's when they go cruising with their parents.

Best-Dressed Said In N. Y., Small Cities

America's most elegant women live either in New York or in smaller cities such as San Diego, says Antoine, Parisian dean of hairdress.

After a two month tour of American cities, his first in several years, the temperamental and fabled Antoine airs his views of the American scene, feminine gender, as follows:

"Small-town women often are better-dressed than those who live in big cities. San Diego women, for instance, are much smarter than those of Los Angeles. San Francisco women are charming, but the elegant ones live in the clouds — you never see them in public. Those seen in restaurants look neat and clean, but styled by mass production."

On the whole, says the silver-haired but ageless Antoine, the women of this country have learned a great deal in the last few years about how to dress and to der their hair for the most flattering effect. But he adds:

"Everybody looks well here in America, because of your wonderful mass production. People learn fashion and manners from show windows."

As to other cities visited during his tour, here are his ratings:

Washington: "Women dress much more formally than in other sections, but are inclined to be stiff."

Philadelphia: "As to elegance, very poor."

Hollywood: "It's not real, everybody's on exhibition."

Houston: "It's so big you never see women walking — only riding in cars."

Chicago: "There's only one good thing about Chicago — the lake." Antoine says he finds few mistakes in good taste among American women but there is a lack of individuality.

"Everybody is too rushed here," says he. "People don't have time to be different. Buyers order dresses by the thousands, and customers buy them the same way. If every woman has the same hairdo, it's because the hairdresser is too busy to be creative."

And he predicts a trend to greater simplicity in both dress and hair styles, because:

How To Travel Light

This is the year when everybody is going places. This is the dawn of the era of jet travel, when Suzy Secretary can take a jaunt to Europe on her two-weeks-with-pay and have plenty of time to see the sights.

New fast schedules and economy fares put the whole world within reach of the travel-happy vacationer. But then you go by plane you have to travel light. There's no room for half a dozen trunks, such as Grandma used to take aboard ship when she started out for her Grand Tour. One bag and an overnight case is about the limit for today's air traveler.

for a simple, versatile wardrobe, all planned to be worn with one set of accessories. Extra shoes and handbags can use up a weight allotment. She wears a suit which can be dressed up or down by a change of blouses, scarf and jewelry. She wears a travel coat which will serve all purposes. In her luggage she packs light-weight wash-and-wear separates, nylon lingerie and stockings, plenty of scarfs, packable hats and jewelry to vary the look of a basic dress. The travel coat may very well be leather, with two zip-in linings to convert it from sports coat to evening coat as fast as you can zip a zipper.

Watch Designer Has Time Off Her Hands

Matacha Brooks is time-conscious. Time is her first love, her chief interest — and the way she makes her living.

This pert, dark-haired young woman designs watches — all kinds of watches, in all shapes and sizes, to be worn anywhere except where you would expect to find a watch. Natacha feels that watches should be worn as jewelry, not merely for time-telling purposes. And so she turns out "off-the-wrist" watches, bejeweled and decorative, to be worn as necklace pendants, belt decorations, brooches or handbag ornaments.

Natacha studies current fashion and designs her watches to complement the newest silhouettes. For the empire look she suggests elaborate brooch watches, to be worn pinned to the bodice of the dress, either just below the left collarbone or front and center.

Among her current collection are the following designs in time: a jeweled rose, a wishbone, a golden tassel and a miniature penguin with a watch in his tummy. She uses cultured pearls and semi-precious stones in her watch jewelry, wears a different watch every day and sometimes two or three at once.

Mrs. Brooks has been designing jewelry of one sort or another for some years. Since she decided to specialize in costume watches, she has been working some 18 hours a day establishing her own business.

She lives in a New York apartment with her 10-year-old daughter, Valerie, who wants to be an actress or maybe a designer like her mother. Says Natacha:

"To a fashion-conscious woman, a watch should be as important a costume accent as a new spring hat."

NATACHA BROOKS . . . She wears one of her costume watches, looks at some others.

No Time For Factional Disputes

North Carolinians, like people of other states, elect their legislators with one thought in mind: to consider legislative proposals on their merits and to enact laws which will be in the interest of the state as a whole.

Generally speaking, legislators faithfully discharge this most important of all obligations.

But once in a while dark clouds appear on the horizon in some legislative sessions and cause anxiety on the part of the people throughout a state. In the case of the 1959 General Assembly such dark clouds have appeared. They have appeared in the form of what might develop into closely drawn factions, considering legislation from a factional rather than from a state-wide view-point.

There has been considerable speculation about anti-Hodges and pro-Hodges forces in the current legislative session. As a result of the bitter speakership fight, there are also the Hewlett forces and the Venters forces.

It would be tragic indeed for North Carolina if the lines become so tightly drawn in this General Assembly session that legislation is considered on any basis except the individual merit of each proposal which comes before the Representatives and Senators.

Regardless of who proposes a measure, or who supports it, each individual measure should be weighed in terms of what it will do for the people of North Carolina. It should not be saddled with an anti- or pro-tag of any faction within the legislature.

After all, Tar Heels expect their elected representatives to keep uppermost in their minds the welfare of the people of the state when it comes time to act on a measure. If a bill becomes entangled in personal animosities between legislators, or between legislators and the administration, it cannot possibly be given the objective consideration it deserves.

So far as we are concerned, members of the legislature will have more than enough to do in this season if they merely resolve the problems which confront them without taking on the extra job of fighting the battles of different political factions which may exist in North Carolina.

American Intelligence Shows It's On The Job

The recording itself was surprising to the American public. To be sure it was shocking to hear Soviet pilots carrying out a deliberate attack on an unarmed American transport plane.

But equally surprising to most Americans—to say nothing of Soviet officials—was the fact that U. S. Intelligence had the recording in its possession.

This is one instance in which results of the work of American Intelligence has been made public.

It is a most impressive display. The people of this nation should be reassured by this positive proof that American Intelligence was on its toes at a time of crisis. They should also be impressed by the fact that the American secret was kept until the moment was right to reveal it.

The shooting down of the American plane took place last September. The fact we knew the true circumstances surrounding the incident didn't leak out in spite of the barrage of Russian lies about it.

Soviet Deputy Premier Mikoyan and Russian Ambassador Menshikov must have been shocked and shaken when the tape recording was played for them by American officials. Not only did they realize that their lies had been exposed, but it must have been evident that a good many other things the Kremlin thought "secret" are not secret.

Mikoyan was complaining that Americans distrusted the Russians, and with no good reason. And, as we recall his visit, it was just a few days later that he heard with his own ears the voices of Russian pilots disproving another Russian lie.

Can the United States do business with such people? Do the advocates of "they really aren't so bad" philosophies really believe what they are saying? Certainly this incident should prompt them to take a more realistic view of the situation.

The Kremlin is engaged in a positive and decisive war against the United States and the whole society of free nations. Their goal is to destroy the last stronghold of freedom and engulf the whole world in the red tide of communist totalitarianism.

It is not a game they are playing. It is a life and death struggle.

Douglas On The Inflation Trend

By RALPH ROBEY

In opening the Joint Economic Committee hearings on the President's Economic Report, Committee Chairman Senator Paul Douglas (D. Ill.) said the Administration is too concerned with inflation and not worried enough about unemployment and the slowness with which the nation has been growing.

This comment by Senator Douglas is both interesting and significant. It is interesting because the Senator is a recognized economist. He spent his life in teaching and research until he was elected to the Senate in 1948, and according to Who's Who, he still is a professor of economics at the University of Chicago.

The comment is significant, first, because of the Senator's standing in the Congress, and second, because the facts do not justify such an appraisal and criticism of the Administration.

Inflation is always characterized by a rise in prices and we have two broad government indexes which are designed to measure the movement of prices. First, we have the wholesale price index, almost all inclusive in so far as commodities are concerned. It does not include services of any kind, nor house rent, nor interest rates, nor anything not bought and sold as a commodity in the market place.

The other index is that for consumer prices. This one is of the most immediate concern to us as individuals. It is based upon expenditures of urban workers and includes everything for which such persons spend money. It is not a cost of living index, although it frequently is referred to in those terms, and the wage contracts of some millions of workers are tied to this index in the sense that when it rises there is an automatic increase of wages.

In common with almost all government indexes both use 1947-49 as equal to 100, and both are weighted in order to make the more accurate. In the wholesale index, the weights are the relative money importance of the various commodities in the market place; in the consumer index, the weight is the relative amount of money spent for each item by an urban worker.

The high level of the consumer price index was reached last July. Thereafter, for the next three months, it was a shade lower. In November, as a result of the new automobiles coming on the market at slightly higher prices, the index rose to its previous (July) high. In December, because of declining food prices and a slight drop in the cost of transportation, apparel, recreation and personal care, the index fell to 123.7, which was the level of the three months ending in October. At this point, consumer prices are less than two per cent above a year earlier, and virtually all of that raise was in the first quarter of 1958. It is expected that there will be continued stability for several months, again because of a drop in food prices sufficient to offset rises elsewhere.

Wholesale prices also have been stable, but that is only part of the story. The wholesale index reached its high last March. At that time it was 119.7. In December it was 119.2.

On the surface that appears encouraging, but the stability is the result of farm prices steadily declining since last March — the drop has amounted to almost ten per cent — and processed foods have been declining in price since June. Offsetting these declines has been a persistent, although slow, rise in the price of industrial products.

The apparent stability of the wholesale price index, therefore, is not something to be interpreted as indicating that there is no present danger of inflation. Rising industrial prices always are a basis for worry because it cannot be very long until other prices start to move in the same direction.

Senator Douglas, in other words, is not wrong when he says the Administration is too concerned about inflation. The time to be worried is before inflation gets a real hold, and current facts indicate that we have only a few months.

The other part of the Senator's comment, namely, that there is not enough concern about unemployment and the slow rate of growth of the nation, also is without merit.

Brother, you have this thing called life figured out most incorrectly. The thing which brings most joy in life is living life to its full. God has made life in such a way that nothing gives us so much satisfaction as confronting the duties, assuming the responsibilities, fighting the battles, bearing the burdens which come in the way of daily life.

What you need in order to make life happy is not color. What you need is the will to live — to live life to its full as God intends every child of His should do.

Items Read In The Mail

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Ever hear of "The Library with a Heart"? It is the talking-book library of 2,800 titles — ranging from detective stories to the Bible — distributed by the American Foundation for the Blind. The Foundation has turned out more than seven million talking book records in the last 25 years.

Today's Hollywood joke: Actress Paula Hill says the goal is to be a sex symbol.

Coffee, research at Yale University indicates, is a sexual stimulant to rats.

Never mistake the biggest for the best. An elephant has monstrous ears, but he can't hear sounds clearly audible to the tiny eared bat.

Castor oil, once the nation's most widely used laxative, now has a new role — in cutting down the toll of car accidents. It is used as a softening agent for foam plastics in automobile crash panels.

Mother nature is the master architect. She gave birds light hollow bones to make it easier for them to fly. Example: A five-foot pelican weighing 25 pounds has a skeleton that weighs only 23 ounces.

Long before Alcoholics Anonymous, people wore a wine-colored amethyst to keep them sober. The name of the gem means "not-drunken," and it was reputed to ward off intoxication. Another remedy is to buy your wife diamonds. Then you can't afford liquor.

outright rule he offered for a high school. For, as Dr. Conant says, there is no blueprint of the ideal high school. Community needs are so diverse, therefore schools must be also.

But he recommends the following: Provide four years of a single foreign language.

Require all students take four years of English with half the time devoted to composition, three or four years of social sciences with two of history and a year each of mathematics and science. There should be ten hours of homework each week.

Gifted students in the top 15 or 20 per cent should take besides English and social studies, four years of math, four years of a single language, three years of science with 15 hours of homework a week.

Guidance and counseling should start in the elementary schools and each student should have his program planned on an individual basis.

Special classes should be provided for the highly gifted three per cent and for the very slow learners.

Students should be grouped by ability and the honor roll should be for grades in the academic not the vocational subjects.

There is so much meat in the report that it deserves your special attention and study. It is practical and logical. It recognizes that some pupils may be in a fast English section but in a middle section in history. He provides for the necessary flexibility needed for the individual.

He certainly hit the core of the school problem when he said that all schools can be as good as the local community desires. For after all, much responsibility rests on the parents and how they cooperate with the school officials.

Other Editors Saying... The Conant Report

(Wilson Times)

There is much more to Dr. Conant's report on U. S. high schools than the points that have been emphasized. Certainly he says that there is nothing wrong with our public schools and that the communities themselves cannot change, if there is the desire.

To quote his words, "I see no reason why all schools cannot be made as satisfactory as the best I have seen, if citizens in each locality elect a good school board demand improvements and are prepared to support required changes. In short, our high schools can be made adequate if the citizens demand it."

Dr. Conant says our schools can be improved without radical change but he says much more than this. He goes on to give support to the superintendents, principals and teachers as well as the school boards concerning the wisdom and principle of the American locally directed comprehensive high school. But he also shows how it can be made better.

Dr. Conant's book "The American High School Today" is must reading for all those who are interested in our public school system. Among his conclusions are: Talented students are not being worked hard enough and that they are not offered a wide enough range of academic studies. Dr. Conant finds that in suburban high schools the very opposite often is the case. Parental ambitions often push students beyond their capacities.

High schools of under 100 in the graduating class can not offer the advantages except at exceptionally high costs. That is another reason for consolidating the small rural high schools so as to provide the opportunities that only a large enrollment make possible. This is the only cheesecake to real dough.

Big Fights Over Oil Products

By ELMER ROESSNER

The present Congress may go down in history as the Gas & Oil Congress. Some of the biggest fights will center around petroleum products.

The biggest scrap will be over restrictions of petroleum imports. The Administration has instituted a program of voluntary controls but no one contends it is working well.

The basic difference of opinion rises from the fact that American oil men want foreign imports curbed to sweeten their market. The State Department and other Administration agencies want the lightest restrictions possible, pointing out that if the U. S. severely limits imports of Venezuelan oil, income and employment there will drop, giving the Communists exactly the opportunity they have been waiting for. And restrictions on Canadian oil would reduce the Dominion's income, forcing it to cut purchases of American goods.

And here are some more look-aheads in business: Pleasant Juices. Government reports show heavier carry-overs of oranges, tangerines and grapefruit than a year ago, which will probably result in heavier squeezings and slightly cheaper prices for canned and concentrated juices. Meanwhile, one company is market-testing a new concentrate declared to be "indistinguishable from freshly squeezed orange juice."

Closure boom. Watch for flood of apparel products featuring a closure competitive to the zipper. It consists of two strips of nylon tape, one covered with nylon hooks; the other with thousands of tiny, soft loops. Pressing both together makes a union that holds firm against all pulls except a peeling action. Dozens of manufacturers have been buying the stuff and endless numbers of new users will appear on the market soon. Lovely thing about it is that one strip is technically, and correctly, called the male section; the other, the female section. You'll see these marriages on coats, jackets, dresses, shirts, pajamas, trousers, collars, dress accessories, travel cases, packages, draperies and belts.

Rubber boom. A new record in rubber sales is expected this year. New auto sales will help it along, higher demands in industrial and highway equipment won't hurt, and new uses point to a high.

PROVOCATORIAL TERM SETS OFF OLD PROMOTER

There was a twinkle in the Old Promoter's eye when he dropped in for his weekly time-murdering visit today.

"There's a 12-page double gatefold ad running in one of the women's magazines this month," he remarked, trying to be casual. "It is called a 'Prinacular.' That 'acular' ending is certainly gaining use. Soon I expect to see pintaocular pencils, hatacular bonnets for women, and pantaocular slacks for men."

"All right," we said, "as long as you don't lose interest in cocktaocular drinks and kisttaocular girls."

Sometimes I think the old fellow and I ought to be on television. There are worse — or hadn't you noticed?

Stocks Paying Income

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass. — Although, in my personal opinion, the chances are now against one who buys common stocks for profit, these chances favor one who now buys the right stock for income.

The reason is:— The price of common stocks depends mainly upon the moods of the people. They buy according to how they feel, not according to facts. When the majority are optimistic, or tired of waiting for stocks to go down, they buy. The more impatient the buyers are, the more common stocks go up. The more impatient the people desiring to sell become, the more common stocks go down.

The price of good-quality Cumulative Preferred Stocks, however, depends upon the money market. When money is cheap, such preferred stocks sell high. When money gets tight and interest rates high, these Cumulative Preferreds go down in price. This means that most of these Preferreds can now be bought at a discount of from 10 per cent to 15 per cent or more below par.

WHAT KIND OF PREFERRED TO BUY

The safest preferred stocks to buy are those in growing industries. This does not mean the speculative industries such as the electronic group. The time will come when stocks of electronic companies, like motels, can be bought for "a dime a dozen." Just because a stock is "preferred", that does not qualify it as a safe stock to buy for income.

The fastest growing, probably the safest industry today is the generation and distribution of electricity — that is the electric utilities. Demand for electricity is constantly growing, due to the frantic advertising of electric household aids from toasters to television sets. In addition, both electric heating and air conditioning are in their infancy. Great growth for these lies ahead. In short, the electrical industry need not advertise, but can let Sears, Roebuck and the department stores of all cities pay for the advertising to increase sales of electricity. The K.W.H. of the nation are published each week. Study these if you doubt my forecast.

FREE FROM SEVERE LABOR TROUBLES

Most industrialists are subject to severe labor troubles; in fact, the chances are that the next depression will be brought about by union labor leaders. We have seen what can happen to the big newspapers and department stores by the strike in New York City of a few men who distribute the newspapers. The strike of the airplane pilots tied up Christmas travel. This condition is becoming more serious every year due to our cowardly Congress.

It, of course, is possible that the workers in the power house of a company generating electricity could strike on a cold winter day and shut off the light and heat from millions of homes. I, however, believe this would happen only once, if at all. There are three reasons: (1) Because a few men are needed to run these generators that the companies can pay high wages; (2) because any increase in wages can be passed onto consumers; and (3) because such a strike would shut down all industries of the city and cause mass unemployment.

BUYING PREFERRED FOR PROFIT

Good Cumulative Preferreds bought now may later show a profit in addition to their near-5 per cent income yield. Money rates will not always remain high. They go up and down in cycles, as do common stocks and commodities. When money is again cheap, these Cumulative Preferreds should again sell higher. That may be the time to sell them, and invest in good common stocks when they are low.

There is also another reason why these Cumulative Preferreds, now selling in the 80's, will again sell at a profit. Very few new issues will be put out at present low prices. Those already issued will gradually be absorbed. As they are absorbed, and perhaps called, prices will recover. This will be encouraged by both the corporations and the investment bankers who are now loaning these

NAACP Role Debated By Waring And Wilkins

NEW YORK (AP) — The role of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in the fight for integration in the South was discussed on a television program Sunday by a Southern newspaper editor and the top official of the NAACP. Thomas R. Waring, editor of the Charleston, S.C. News and Courier, and Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary presented their opposing views. Waring said the NAACP should withdraw from the integration battle in the South. Wilkins said the association is in the battle to stay.

time to reply to the suggestion. Wilkins said Sunday night that asking the NAACP to withdraw was the same as asking "that we and our children sit by the side of the road while others zoom past us into the space age."

Waring agreed with Huntley's contention, but for different reasons. "The overwhelming majority of Southern people are unalterably opposed to mixing races in public schools," Waring said. "They are opposed to it now or later."

Waring called integration an experiment in sociology and compared it to prohibition and the social ill created in its wake. "The NAACP creates division and animosity," Waring said. "Some of its leaders have official records of contacts with subversive organizations. Their names have been published in reports of congressional committees."

Wilkins, who spoke after Waring, said FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover had cited the NAACP for its fight against communism in his recent book.

Steel Output Stiffens Backbone Of Recovery

Steel Output Stiffens Backbone Of Recovery

But the fourth quarter spurt in income still couldn't entirely offset for the majority of steel companies the bleak months of early 1958. Of 23 steel concerns reporting so far, including the largest ones, 20 report 1958 earnings running behind 1957. All but two small ones, however, managed to end 1958 in the black — and this despite the fact that the industry in the trough of the recession was operating at less than half capacity.

The ups and downs of the industry are charted in the profit statements of recent years. Combined the 23 report 1958 earnings, as $745,300,000, compared with $1,069,910,000 in 1957. This was a drop of 30.3 per cent. The 1957 earnings, in turn, were 3.4 per cent higher than those of 1956, which were off 10.5 per cent from 1955. In that year of the big business boom steel industry profits soared 74.3 per cent over depressed 1954.

How could the steel industry show a profit instead of a loss in 1958, with output cut back over most of the period, and even the sales increases of the last few months much less impressive than the rise in profits?

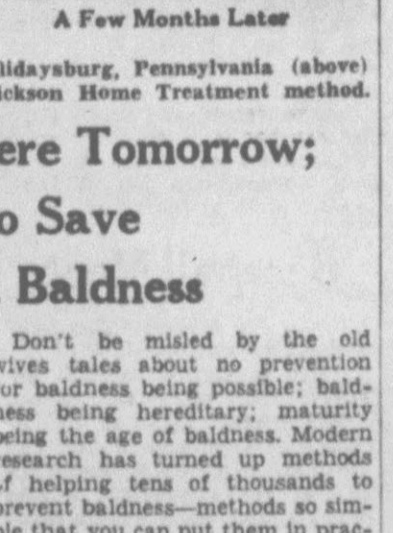

Steelmen offer two reasons. First, during the recession the industry, like many others, went in heavily for cost cutting. Where possible, fat was trimmed from the overhead, and easy going practices of boom days were discarded. Second, the industry closed down marginal and aging facilities. It got the benefit of the new and more efficient mills built

ECC Swimmers Return Home With Third Victory

East Carolina's swimming team returned home yesterday after coping with its third victory of the season against the University of Miami, Saturday afternoon.

The Pirates returned to their home pool after a 47-39 decision. It was their third straight victory over big-name competition while their two defeats came to the University of North Carolina.

Backstroke Bob Sawyer and breaststroke Jack McCann remained undefeated as they coped their events without much trouble. Sawyer also swam in both relays to figure high in the victory.

McCann aided in the 400 yard Medley Relay.

No new records were set but East Carolina's Glenn Dyer captured first place in the diving event for the first time in his college career. The junior diver has been in the shadow of teammate and national NIAA champion Ken Midyette for the past three winters. Midyette finished second in the point totals to give ECC a clean sweep in this event.

The Pirates will have their second home meet of the season this Saturday afternoon when they host Southern Conference champion, Virginia Military Institute.

Two Tough Tilts Confront Phants

Greenville, one of the hottest teams in the Northeastern AA loop since Christmas, have another busy and rugged week as they continue their bid for top honors with two conference tilts slated.

The Phantoms may find the road ahead a rough one as both games this week will be played on the road and against a couple of the top clubs in the strong loop Tomorrow night Coach Bob Farley's rangy basketballers carry their hot streak to Elizabeth City for an important tilt with the Yellow Jackets.

The Yellow Jackets which knocked Washington and Kinston both into a tie with Greenville for the league lead.

Expected to pace Greenville in the next two weeks — the final stretch of play — are Joe Moyer, Billy Cox, Steve Noble, James Ward, and Howard Garner.

Much of the success of the Phantoms during the past few weeks has been due to increased shooting accuracy on the part of the club, as well as a newly-gained versatility. Different players have taken charge of the scoring duties in three of the past successful ball games. The entire Greenville team has started contributing — sometimes in double figures — to the scoring total. No longer has Joe Moyer had to carry the brunt of the net assault, although he still does his share.

Rose High was pressed in their first meeting with the Jackets before coping a 59-56 victory.

The Phantoms boast plenty of height and, paced by a well-balanced scoring attack, will rate a five point edge over their foes. Lanky Steve Nobles has returned to form and along with Joe Moyer give the Phants a strong one-two punch.

Last week, Rose High continued their consistent play by downing Tarboro and New Bern with ease. They will carry a 8-2 loop mark into the Elizabeth City affair.

High Point poses biggest hurdle for Catamounts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Western Carolina, back in the North State Conference basketball lead, has its biggest hurdle Wednesday night when it hosts to High Point.

The Catamounts, with a 10-2 conference record, have only two other games — against Guilford next Saturday and Appalachian Feb. 18. High Point, second at 9-2, has three other games, against Appalachian, East Carolina and third-place Lenoir Rhyne.

Lenoir Rhyne, which fell from first place to third last week, has a 9-3 mark and four games to play. The Bears need High Point to beat W.C.C. Then they need to beat Guilford, Catawba, Elon and, in the last game of the regular season Feb. 21, High Point.

All this won't decide the championship. Only the seedings for the championship tournament at Lexington Feb. 25-28.

Appalachian, in fifth place at 7-5, upset Lenoir Rhyne 69-60 Saturday night while Western Carolina beat Elon 67-49 to climb back into the lead.

East Carolina holds down fourth place with an 8-4 mark. Behind Appalachian in sixth place is Atlantic Christian (4-9), with the other teams strung out this way: Catawba 3-8, Elon 2-9, and Guilford 1-11.

The week's schedule:
Tonight — Atlantic Christian at Elon.
Tuesday—Emory and Henry at Appalachian, Lenoir Rhyne at Wofford.
Wednesday — East Carolina at Catawba, High Point at Western Carolina.
Thursday—Appalachian at Elon, Guilford at Lenoir Rhyne, High Point at Wofford.
Saturday—Appalachian at High Point, Catawba at Lenoir Rhyne, Elon at East Carolina, Guilford at Western Carolina, Atlantic Christian at Pembroke.

Trying to Block Veeck Purchase

CHICAGO (AP) — Sale of controlling interest in the Chicago White Sox to Bill Veeck appeared imminent today with but one possible roadblock.

Mrs. Dorothy Comiskey Rigney, who controls 3,235 shares of stock, announced Saturday she will sell her 54 per cent interest to Veeck who has an option to buy before Feb. 18.

However, Dorothy's brother, Chuck Comiskey has taken court action to prevent his sister from selling.

Chuck has a petition in Probate Court to halt the sale. Mrs. Rigney says the court cannot stop her from selling to Veeck.

A hearing on Chuck's petition is scheduled Feb. 16.

Meanwhile, Charles O. Finley, head of an insurance brokerage firm, has revealed his interest in buying the club. Finley has $500,000 in escrow for the purchase and has an option which will expire April 18. However, his option will be good only if Veeck fails to buy Mrs. Rigney's stock by Feb. 18.

Veeck has announced he will exercise his option.

Rigney Injured In Auto Crash

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants open spring training preliminaries this week without Manager Bill Rigney, painfully injured in an auto crash Sunday.

Rigney suffered multiple fractures of the lower jaw and a broken collarbone when his car spun around and struck a pole in Berkeley. His wife, Paula, 38, suffered a broken hip and lacerations of the scalp and legs.

The Rigneys, parents of three children, were driving home from a dinner party at Giant Vice President Chub Feeney's San Mateo home, when the accident happened at 4:30 a.m.

Rigney told police he apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The car reportedly struck the pole at about 35 miles an hour.

Both Rigney, 41, and his wife were reported in good condition at Kaiser Hospital. The family physician said Rigney would be hospitalized about a week, and would have to remain home another 10 days. Mrs. Rigney will be hospitalized considerably longer.

In Phoenix, Ariz., Giant President Horace Stoneham said he would let Rigney decide who will be in nominal charge. Stoneham indicated, however, it would either be F. J. (Salty) Parker or Wes Westrum, both coaches.

"That part isn't too important," Stoneham said. "The preliminary practice is just routine and Rig should be with us when the serious work starts."

Spring Football Practice Begins For ACC Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spring football drills start this week and next at most Atlantic Coast Conference schools. They'll practice about a month and top it off with squad games, or contests against former players.

Virginia may begin on Friday the 13th, but is prepared to start a bit later if the weather is unfavorable.

Duke and North Carolina State plan to get going on Saturday. Clemson, the defending champion and loser by only a touchdown to LSU, national champions, will begin next Monday and so will highly-regarded North Carolina.

Wake Forest plans to start on Feb. 28, but will delay for a week if it doesn't get abreak in the weather.

Only Maryland and South Carolina haven't set a tentative date. Tom Nugent, who has replaced Tommy Mont at Maryland.

Baseball Meet

Coach Jim Mallory today held a short meeting of all boys interested in playing baseball for East Carolina college this spring.

The meeting began at 2:00 in Memorial Gymnasium and was scheduled for players or would-be players an introduction to the Bus coaching staff. A large turnout was expected.

Bears Will Sign Tulane Griddler

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Chicago Bears will sign Richie Petitbon, star Tulane junior quarterback, next summer, the Times-Picayune said today.

Petitbon, No. 2 Bear draft choice, will give up his final year of eligibility in college football by signing a pro football contract.

Petitbon, 20, will delay signing the contract so he can compete this spring with the Tulane track team.

Shatter Record Of 32 Years

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP) — An American record that stood 32 years was bettered Sunday.

Gary Heinrich of San Leandro, Calif., swam the senior men's 200-yard freestyle in 2:00.1 and 2:01.0 respectively at the Alameda Naval Air Station AAU meet.

The old record of 2:01.2 was set in 1927 by Johnny Weismuller at Detroit.

Little Pockets Tourney Check At Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Professional golfs touring caravan headed for Tucson today with Gene Littler the latest to pocket a tournament championship check.

Littler scrambled in Sunday with a one-over-par 71 to collect $2,400 in the $20,000 Phoenix Open.

The 23-year-old San Diego golfer toured the 72-holes in a 12-under-par 288 that tied a tourney record set in 1948 by Bobby Locke.

Runner-up Art Wall Jr., Peconic Manor, Pa., was six strokes down when the final round opened, but chopped away five of them with a scintling 66.

Littler provided a heart-stopper for the record gallery of 8,000 when he came to the 18th needing only a par-5 to win. He missed a 4-foot putt and the ball bounced two feet past the cup. Then he riddled it home for his first championship since the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions in April 1957.

Wall collected $1,700 for his second place finish and boosted his winnings for the year to $13,600 — tops among the touring pros.

Tied for third place were Jimmy Clark, Huntington Beach, Calif.; Marty Fursell, Lemont, Ill.; and John McMullin, Fair Oaks, Calif. All seven strokes back, collected $1,133.

Littler said, "I hit some spectacular shots and some awful poor shots," had to scramble throughout the round. He shot par on only five holes as he picked up one eagle, four birdies and seven bogies.

That eagle came on the par-4, 395-yard fourth hole, where the California sank a 160-yard approach shot.

Sport Slants . . . . . by Pap'

Dale Stanley Hall deftly sidestepped the efforts of the assembled sportswriters to mousetrapp him with loaded questions, smilingly suggesting: "After all, I haven't won a single game as yet."

The occasion was a luncheon at which the new head coach of football at West Point was presented to the press, and the 34-year-old successor to Col. Earl (Red) Blak revealed himself to be a personable, confident young man fully aware of the responsibilities imposed upon him in assuming one of the most important football coaching positions in the country.

"It would be impossible to replace a man like Red Blak," said Hall, "so the best I can hope for is to carry on to the best of my ability, football program he directed so successfully at West Point."

To work in that direction, Hall revealed that he had re-signed the entire staff of assistant coaches.

Col. Blak was turning over a strong squad boasting Halfback Bob Anderson, Lonesome End and Captain Bill Carpenter and Quarterback Joe Caldwell. Replacements will have to be developed in the center line where seven were graduated and only four replacements are available. Having served as an assistant coach at West Point the past three years, Hall is thoroughly familiar with the available talent.

Hall is well fitted to carry on the Blak tradition. He was fine halfback under Coach Blak even though he was overshadowed in his senior year by Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis. As a First Lieutenant, he tried his hand at coach in Europe. Separated from the service, he started his collegiate coaching career as assistant to Stu Holcomb at Purdue in 1949. 1951 found him line coach at New Hampshire. He was backfield coach at Florida under Bob Woodruff from 1952 to 1956.

Maryland, Navy Dominated Relays

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — Virginia Military Institute's winter relays have confirmed the stature of Maryland and Navy as the undisputed kingpins of collegiate indoor track in the Middle Atlantic area.

Maryland won seven of the 16 events; Navy won two, and they tied for first in another, here Saturday night. But Navy's depth in the 400, 800, 1,600, 3,200, and 6,400 yard relays, and fourths that the Middies would have put up a stiff battle for the team title if scores had been kept.

The most thorough job of record-smashing was done by Duke's 3:40.8, one second under the record set last year.

The North Carolina team of Foxworth, Sylvester, Sommers and Liffert won the two-mile relay in 8:14.7.

Wayne Bishop of North Carolina, the only individual champion to retain his title, was adjudged the standout runner in the relays when he captured the two-mile run in 9:30.1, 6.4 seconds faster than the previous record that had stood since 1956.

Weiseger was runner-up for the award won by Bishop. After anchoring Duke's record-setting distance medley team, he came back to anchor the Blue Devil sprint medley team in another record-setting performance. Bazemore, Bob Linden and Ray Menaker were others in the sprint medley foursome who were clocked in 10:08.3, one second under the record set last year.

The North Carolina team of Foxworth, Sylvester, Sommers and Liffert won the two-mile relay in 8:14.7.

ECC Cagers Hit The Road Again

After playing in friendly Memorial Gymnasium for the past week, East Carolina returns to the road Wednesday when they meet Catawba at Salisbury.

East Carolina ran roughshod over the Indians in their first meeting before Christmas. Catawba will catch the Bucs on the rise and Coach Howard Porter has his team in full gear after a mid-season slump.

Paced by the shooting of Charles Adams, the Pirates have marched to four straight victories and seven wins in their last eight games. The Bucs have jumped from sixth place in the North State Conference to the thick of the race with a 7-4 mark.

During the recent spurt, the Pirates have defeated two of the conference's leaders, Western Carolina and Lenoir Rhyne.

Catawba's Indians will have the advantage of playing on their home court and are always tough here. Lack of height has hampered Coach Earl Ruth and his club from becoming a strong team but the Indians have good speed and Coach Howard Porter has his team in full gear after a mid-season slump.

East Carolina will be home Saturday night when they meet Elon here. The Christians got the Pirates rolling on their recent streak when they bowed three weeks ago at Burlington.

Coach Howard Porter is expected to have more depth as the Bucs close out the season within the next two weeks. Don Smith, sophomore forward, has returned to practice after being out of action for some two weeks. The Portsmouth native saw limited action against Atlantic Christian last Thursday night and is expected to be back in shape this week.

Charles Lewis, Benny Bowes, and Dennis O'Brien have also showed up good in reserve roles and may see plenty of action during the following weeks.

Elliott Declares Americans Soft

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Herb Elliott, the 39-year-old Australian who holds the world mile record, says American trackmen are too soft.

"A lot of chaps can run the first half in two minutes," Elliott said, "but running the second half constitutes the real test. They (U.S. runners) can't do it, because the body wants to stop."

"If the Americans want to run, they'll have to deny themselves what the body wants, like chocolates, for instance."

Elliott and tennis queen Althea Gibson of New York will receive trophies tonight as the Male and Female Athlete-of-the-Year for 1958.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will present the awards at a banquet. The Eagles base their award on the annual Associated Press poll.

Closing In On Oscar Robertson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Marshall College's Leo Byrd is closing in on Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati in the major college basketball scoring race.

Byrd moved to within 2.7 points of the Bearcats' Big "O" as a result of a 38-point output against Bowling Green Saturday night.

Figures compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau disclosed that Byrd has been hitting an average of 29.8 points per game in 17 outings. Robertson, limited to 21 points against Temple Saturday night, is averaging 32.5 points for 18 games.

Notre Dame's Tom Hawkins advanced into the top 10 after clicking for 32 points against Canisius Saturday. Hawkins is ninth with a 23.9 mark.

Same Old Faces Lining Up For National Tournaments

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer

With only a few changes here and there, it's beginning to look like the same old faces will be around when the National Collegiate and National Invitation basketball tournaments form their lineups next month.

Nothing wrong with that, mind you. The old hands gave the fans a couple of rousing shows last season and they'll probably do it again. If a proven produce is the measure of success, the promoters seem to have it made.

At the moment, at least 10 of last year's 16 major conference representatives are headed back to the far-flung NCAA championships.

That would be defending national champion Kentucky from the Southeastern Conference, West Virginia from the Southern, Kansas State from the Big Eight, Cincinnati from the Missouri Valley, Dartmouth from the Ivy League, California from the Pacific Coast, Connecticut from the Yankee, Miami of Ohio from the Mid-American, Idaho State from the Rocky Mountain loop and Arizona State U. from the Border Conference.

That number could be up to 11 if Indiana, last year's Big 10 champion, continues the stretch run that has closed the Hoosiers within a half game of front-running Michigan State.

As for the NIT, guesses are that perhaps seven of the 12-team field will be repeaters — including St. Bonaventure, Niagara, St. John's, St. Francis (Pa.), Dayton, and Bradley and St. Joseph's (Pa.), if they can't win their conference races. Bradley currently is runner-up to Cincinnati in the Missouri Valley Conference and St. Joseph's heads the informal Middle Atlantic group that has done so well in past tournaments with teams like LaSalle and Temple.

The first five are near the top of the list of candidates for either the NIT field or the "at large" berths that round out the NCAA's 24-team line. Others include Marquette, Oklahoma City, improving Fordham and, for the NIT only, St. Louis and Denver as possible runners-up in the Mo Valley and Skyline Conference races.

Two big names from a year ago — Xavier of Ohio, the defending NIT champion, and NCAA finalist, Seattle — have problems. Xavier hasn't been able to get untracked and Seattle is on NCAA probation.

Probationary action also eliminates unbeaten Auburn, North Carolina State, and Memphis State among the top teams.

Here's a rundown of the conference races:
Ivy League — Dartmouth and Princeton both 7-0. They meet Feb. 21 and 27.
Southeastern—Ineligible Auburn 8-0 leading, leaving it up to Kentucky 8-1 and Mississippi State 7-1, who meet in Starkville, Miss., tonight. Auburn is at Kentucky Feb. 21.
Atlantic Coast — North Carolina 9-0 leading N.C. State 10-1, but conference tournament decides NCAA representative.
Southern Conference—West Virginia 8-0, with 44 straight loop victories, in class by itself. Mounties still must win postseason conference tourney to make NCAA.
Big Eight—Kansas State 7-0 with two-game lead over Colorado 5-2.
Missouri Valley—Cincinnati 8-0 leading Bradley 6-1 and St. Louis 5-1. Bradley and St. Louis play each other twice before getting second chance at Oscar Robertson & Co.
Big Ten—Michigan State leads with 6-2, Indiana challenges with 5-2.
Southwest — Texas a Christian leads with 7-1. Texas Tech and Baylor each 5-3.
Border — Arizona State U. 5-1, Texas Western 4-1.
Pacific Coast — California 6-2, with Washington 6-3 and Oregon State 6-4 in running.
Rocky Mountain — Idaho State leading with 6-0 to Colorado State College's 7-2 despite loss of five players for scholastic reasons.
Skyline—Dart 7-0, Denver 6-1.
Ohio Valley—Eastern Kentucky 7-1, Western Kentucky 4-2.
Middle Atlantic — St. Joseph's (Pa.) 3-0 with Bucknell 6-1 and LaSalle 1-1 in running.
West Coast A.A. — St. Mary's (Calif.) 5-0.
Mid-American — Miami of Ohio 6-1, Bowling Green 4-2.

Lightweight Title Bout Carded For Wednesday Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first world championship boxing bout of 1959 is scheduled for Houston Wednesday with Joe Brown defending his lightweight title for the sixth time. The challenger will be 24-year-old Johnny Busso of New York.

Busso got the title shot after he upset the champ in an over-the-weight bout Nov. 5 at Miami Beach, Fla. The champion was most unimpressive at 140 1/2 pounds while Busso, at 139 1/2, fought his usual forcing, body-punching fight.

If Brown runs true to form, he will flatten Busso in the rematch. He did that with Joey Lopes of Sacramento after being held to a draw when the championship was not on the line. Less than four months later in December 1957, he stopped Lopes in 11 rounds.

Only Kenny Lane has been able to go the route in a title bout with Brown since the 32-year-old will flatten Busso in the rematch. He did that with Joey Lopes of Sacramento after being held to a draw when the championship was not on the line. Less than four months later in December 1957, he stopped Lopes in 11 rounds.

Only Kenny Lane has been able to go the route in a title bout with Brown since the 32-year-old champ from New Orleans lifted the championship from Wallace (Bud) Smith in 1956. He stopped Smith in 12 rounds the next time around, took care of Orlando Zulueta in the 15th and last round, whipped Lopes in 11 and took out Ralph Dupas in 8. Brown was hard pressed to get past the clever Lane, winning a close decision over the southpaw challenger, July 23, 1958 at Houston.

Busso, an eager young man with a 35-7-1 record, normally weighs between 137 and 140 pounds. He likes to fire away with anybody who will stand and trade with him.

Brown, veteran of 98 fights (71-16-9 and 2 no decisions) prefers to pace himself, warming up as he goes along. Usually he is off the pace in the early rounds and comes winging down the stretch to stop his foe.

The championship battle will be carried on ABC television, starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Distance Runner Wants Olympics

BOSTON (AP) — Lt. Bill Dellinger sees his world indoor two mile record as a step toward the Olympic 5,000 meter gold medal he wants in 1960.

The Air Force lieutenant revealed his goal Saturday night after racing to a 8:49.9 clocking in the 70th Boston A. A. Games. Horace Ashenbarger had the listed indoor standard of 8:50.5 posted in 1954.

The 24-year-old former University of Oregon miler has decided on the longer distances—at least in terms of the Olympics.

"I'm not going in the 1,500 meters (just under a mile) because there are too many good runners in it," Dellinger said. "I figure I have a better chance, Russians and all, in the 5,000 meters. All this is just training for the 5,000."

Dellinger had asked to be switched to the two mile because "I got tired of running second to Ron Delany." Three weeks earlier, he chased the bobbing Irishman across the finish the Knights of Columbus Mile here — 10 yards back.

Dellinger won the NCAA mile as a sophomore in 1954 and has the fastest 1,500 meter time ever recorded for an American, 3:41.5.

Delany registered his 27th consecutive indoor mile triumph in 4:04.3.

Cisco Andrade of Compton, Calif., and Frankie Ryff of New York, will make it an all-lightweight week on TV when they meet Friday at Madison Square Garden in New York. (NBC-radio-TV).

Ryff has won two straight this year under his new manager, former double ring champion Barney Ross. Frankie, a clever boxer whose career has been interrupted several times by eye cuts, has a 28-4 career record.

Andrade, at one time a top contender in the 135-pound class, had to stop boxing a few years back because of arm trouble that required an operation. The Cisco Kid has a 39-4-1 record.

Stefan Rodi, the Hungarian-born fighter who now fights out of Passaic, N.J., will try to keep his streak going Monday at St. Nicholas Arena in New York. Stefan never has lost at St. Nick's in 12 bouts as a prelim and main event boy.

Redl is expected to get a real test in Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams, highly regarded Washington scrapper.

Lawyers Dominate House And Senate

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although they suffered a slight loss in last year's elections, lawyers still have a working majority of both the Senate and the House in the 86th Congress. They outnumber fertilizer distributors 288 to 1, congressional biographies listing only one member in the latter category. He is Rep. D. S. Saund (D-Calif.), who makes no bones about the fact that his business is "commercial fertilizer distributor." Lawyers have 59 of the Senate's 96 seats and 229 of the 436 in the last Congress there were 56 lawyers in the Senate and 234 in the House.

Among the more than 20 congressional occupations listed by the Legislative Reference Service are 51 business or manufacturing executives. They constitute the second largest group, with 9 in the Senate and 42 in the House. The field of journalism, including radio and television, is represented by 8 senators and 23 representatives. Agriculture has 5 senators and 20 representatives, while education has 7 senators and 18 representatives.

There are three accountants and six advertising and public relations specialists, all in the House. The Senate has one banker, while the House has at least five.

No dentists are listed in either branch, although there are seven doctors or pharmacists in the House.

Theatre Group Elects Officers

Claude Garren, EOC faculty member yesterday was elected president of the Greenville Little Theatre group.

He succeeds Robert Vetter, a DuPont employee who is being transferred and will soon leave Greenville.

Other officers of the organization are: August Laube, vice president; Mrs. Norman Pierce, secretary; Claude Taylor, treasurer.

The Ways and Means Committee for "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" reported that the play was the most successful, both in reception by the audience and financially, that the Little Theatre has presented in many years.

Mrs. Norman Pierce and Mrs. Elvin Jones served on the committee.

Plans were made for producing another show during the spring season.

The group also decided to go on a subscription basis next season. Season tickets will be sold which entitle the purchaser to attend all productions and activities of the Little Theatre during the year.

Begin Work On Science Fair Projects

WINTERVILLE SCIENCE STUDENTS . . . Irma Sue Worthington, Alfred Forbes and Brenda Wall

By SUE WORTHINGTON Winterville School Reporter

Several members at Winterville High School's 28-member science class have begun work on projects which will be entered in East Carolina College's Science Fair April 3.

Each of the students in the class, which is an elective, divide their school week into three days of lecture classes and two days of laboratory research. Both phases of the instruction are directed by Jack Cherry of the WHS faculty.

Plans have been made for several weeks of study of atomic energy during the spring. Included in the study will be uses of atomic energy for war and peace.

Students in the course have, in addition to regular textbooks, a laboratory manual. Lab assignments and homework exercises are made from the manual.

Four members of the Winterville Senior Band were invited to participate in the Eastern District Band Clinic at East Carolina College last weekend. They are Tommy Oglesby and George Jackson, clarinet; Delyle Evans, Flute; and Boyce Cox, saxophone.

Delyle Evans has also received an invitation to participate in a flute contest at Duke University on February 21. She will be accompanied by pianist Sue Worthington.

Members of the girls' basketball team, Coach Charles Lewis and members of the cheering squad were guests at a hamburger supper Tuesday night. Carolyn Cayton, a member of the team, was hostess.

Final portions of copy for the WHS yearbook were made to publishers Wednesday morning. The annual is expected to be ready for distribution the final week of April.

Mrs. Helen Collins of the WHS faculty was hospitalized last week as a result of an accident Tuesday morning. She teaches English and French.

Jack Cherry of the faculty played the role of a doctor in the Greenville Little Theatre Production of "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" Friday and Saturday nights.

Has Exhibition Of Watercolors

Watercolors by Thomas E. Mims of Henderson, senior at East Carolina College, are on display during February in the department of art in the Austin building on the campus. Those who are interested are invited to see the exhibition.

The show includes ten paintings by the student artist. Among them are "Just Before Spring," a colorful farm scene; "Moonlit Alley"; "Morning Sea"; two studies of chimneys falling into ruin; and "Industrial Revolution," a scene from the machine age.

Enthusiastic Audience At Caine Mutiny Play

The Greenville Little Theatre's production of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" last Friday and Saturday nights at the Pitt County Court House was truly of professional quality. Herman Wouk's Pulitzer Prize winning play was enthusiastically received by discriminating and theatre-wise audiences.

Each member of the cast fitted his role, lived it, and played it to perfection.

Probably the most difficult role was that of Lt. Comdr. Queeg. Del Driver's performance was nothing short of professional as he portrayed Queeg's growing nervousness which finally ended in a complete breakdown on the witness stand.

H. D. Rowe showed a deep understanding of his part as Lt. Barney Greenwald, counsel for the defense. His quiet intensity helped create the undercurrent which moves silently throughout the play until the explosion at the end. Rowe's subtle manner also kept the play from becoming too pompous.

Mahlon Coles, playing Lt. Stephen Maryk, the accused, was a little stiff at first, but gradually warmed up to his role and turned out an excellent performance.

Dramatic and forceful, Claude Garren handled his dialogue well. As Lt. Comdr. Challee, the judge advocate, his aggressiveness was in direct contrast with Rowe's quiet insistence.

August Laube was appropriately stern and abrupt as the Court-Martial judge. Bancroft Moseley as Captain Randolph Southard, Richard Heller as Lt. Keefer, and Elvin Jones as Lt. Willis Keith played their parts with thorough understanding, and Claude Taylor's scene-stealing portrayal of the vague, blank-faced Urban was priceless.

Survived Blitz, Dies In Asheville

ASHEVILLE (AP)—Mrs. Robert E. Bunnelle, who was bombed out of at least three homes during the Nazi blitz when her husband was Associated Press bureau chief in London, died here Saturday. She had been ill several months.

The former Margaret Harrison, she returned to her native Asheville five years ago when her husband became publisher of the Asheville Citizen and Times newspapers.

In letters to friends here, and a story she wrote for The Associated Press, she showed her determination to stay at her husband's side during the blitz and other World War II hardships.

Her husband, whom she married here in 1926, became AP bureau chief for all Europe. After the war he was head of the worldwide newsgathering organization's office in Ottawa, capital of Canada, and then became an AP general executive in New York and Atlanta.

After her return to Asheville, Mrs. Bunnelle held prominent civic posts.

Funeral services were held today at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, with burial at nearby Fletcher. Among pallbearers were Lew Hawkins, AP bureau chief in Atlanta; John Parris, Citizen-Times staffer who served under Bunnelle with AP in London; Don Elias, former publisher of the Asheville papers; J. Kelly Sisk, George Tisdale, Robert F. Phillips, Julian A. Woodcock and Charles D. Parker.

Beside her husband, she leaves two brothers and three sisters. They are Thomas R. Harrison of Asheville, Jesse B. Harrison of Paw Creek near Charlotte, Miss Eugenia Harrison of Asheville, Mrs. James W. Tisdale of Arden, and Mrs. Sara Hicks of Raleigh.

Math Professor In Lecture Series

Dr. Richard E. Johnson, associate professor of mathematics and author of a number of textbooks and articles on mathematics, will deliver a series of lectures at East Carolina College Thursday and Friday, Feb. 12 and 13. The programs will be open to the public.

Dr. Johnson's visit to the campus is sponsored by the Mathematics Association of America and subsidized by the National Science Foundation. Dr. David R. Davis, director of the department of mathematics at East Carolina, is in charge of local arrangements.

Learned Truth The Hard Way

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Jesse Reed, 38, Stockton, Calif., will be sentenced in Municipal Court Tuesday for petty theft in the case of four allegedly deodorized skunks who weren't.

Reed pleaded guilty last Friday to the charge, which was the way the district attorney assessed the seriousness of his sale of four unimpaired skunks to pet dealers after representing them as incapable of doing what skunks are famous for.

The dealers learned the truth the hard way.

Somebody Stole From The Thief

THOMSON, Ga. (AP) — Sheriff Lynn Norris arrested Willie Hampton on a charge of stealing a radio from an ice house in October.

Hampton admitted the theft and took the sheriff to a vacant house where he had hidden the radio. It was gone, Norris said. Someone had stolen it from Hampton.

THE 8TH CIRCLE A MASTER MYSTERY BY STANLEY ELLIN

CHAPTER 23 "Get your coat," Murray Kirk told Ruth Vincent. "I'm sorry," Ruth said. "I've got to be ready for a day's work in a few hours. I don't feel like going out now looking for adventure..."

He had been right when he had told Harlingen that Helene could take care of anything that came her way. She had the vocabulary made even fouler and more violent by the way she spat out the words at Ruth, giving the meaning instead of using them as mere punctuation for what she had to say. She had the temper, so that Murray warily kept close to her, knowing that if it exploded full force somebody was going to get hurt. And she had the letters, a shoe box half full of Lundeen's letters, which, in the long run, was all she needed.

They were not well written, they were full of misspellings, but they were, in their way, masterpieces of direct statement. Baby I wish I was with you tonight because then I could tell Helene baby sometimes I can't sleep because I think about you and what we could be doing. We could... I bet you miss me plenty. I bet right now you... When this trouble is over we will make up for it plenty baby...

There was nothing perverse in the letters, Murray saw. Nothing a psychopathologist would raise an eyebrow at. Lundeen was, in fact, singularly unimaginative about his desires and his expression of them. But even the unimaginative can provide an impact when it is set down in the explicit language that Lundeen used. Ruth looked at one letter too many. Then she wildly ripped it across, ripped it again, shredded it as if that would obliterate it completely.

lene's waist just as her hand caught at Ruth's hair, grasping it, pulling the head down. He managed to force the fingers back and loosen their grip so that Ruth staggered free, and then he found that he had a fight on his hands. Helene was wearing only a flimsy nightgown. With his arms locked around her he could feel the muscles bunch under it, had to ward off the knee kicking up at him, had to avoid the sharp white teeth trying to tear at his shoulder, his cheek. She fought him, cursing him steadily, while the old man stood there useless, staring at them with blank eyes and scratching his chest vacantly as he stared. It might have taken a minute — two minutes — before the girl was wrestled into the bedroom, the door slammed shut against her, and the key turned in the lock.

When Murray looked around, Ruth was gone. He ran through the hall calling her name, dimly aware of spectators in nightclothes who hung over the banister of the staircase above him, following him with avid eyes. Ruth was not in sight on the street. He looked up and down his emptiness, his heart hammering, and then, at a guess, raced toward Eighth Avenue. Luck was on his side. He saw her half a block told Harlingen that Helene could take care of anything that came her way. She had the vocabulary made even fouler and more violent by the way she spat out the words at Ruth, giving the meaning instead of using them as mere punctuation for what she had to say. She had the temper, so that Murray warily kept close to her, knowing that if it exploded full force somebody was going to get hurt. And she had the letters, a shoe box half full of Lundeen's letters, which, in the long run, was all she needed.

Convicts Join Law In Nest-Egg Project. SEATTLE (AP) — Convicts and the law joined forces Sunday to build a nest egg for an old murderer. This unique combination of Samaritans is going to help Guido Grassi, who was pardoned last week by Gov. Albert D. Rosellini after spending 35 years in the Washington State Penitentiary for murder. The 78-year-old man will be deported to Italy next weekend. He requested this when he asked to be judged sane and be pardoned. He wanted to spend the few remaining years of his life in his homeland. Grassi came to the United States as a young man. Instead of making his fortune, he wound up behind bars for killing three men in an argument. He was convicted for one of the killings. Sentenced to hang, he escaped the noose when he was declared insane. King County Prosecutor Charles O. Carroll read of the old man's case and called Grassi's attorney, Al Bianchi. He said he wanted to contribute to Grassi's meager fortune.

Three Students Electrocutted. GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A charge from a 7,200-volt power line killed three University of Florida students attempting to erect a television aerial Sunday. The dead were Robert L. Melrose, 25, of Orlando; his wife, Jamie Ruth, 21; and John B. Robertson, 25, of Gainesville. Robertson's wife, Gloria, was shocked and burned. Her condition was reported critical at a hospital. Officers reported the aerial toppled over, striking the power line. Witnesses said the women were holding guy wires while the men were raising the antenna on a roof. DOUSED DRIVER. HONOLULU (AP) — Edward L. Asbill was fined $20 in traffic court for backing his car off a pier into a boat harbor. He pleaded guilty to a charge of "inattention to driving." The U. S. Marines transferred their 32-piece file and drum corps week the first U. S. armed forces brass band in 1802.

NEW YORK (AP)—Waves of selling shook the stock market to a severe loss early this afternoon. Industrials were hit hard, some blue chips sinking 2 or 3 points.

Steels, motors, chemicals, oils, rubbers, tobaccos, drugs and electrical equipments gave ground in a general retreat.

American Telephone was down about 3 at one phase but reduced its loss to 2 points or so. Du Pont dropped more than 3 and high priced International Business Machines about 5.

Youngstown Sheet dropped about 2. Losses of more than a point were taken by U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin. Sharon Steel fell more than 3 and Pittsburgh Steel a point or so.

Texas Co. and Amerada were down about 2 apiece and Gulf Oil more than that. Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Royal Dutch dropped about a point each.

General Motors was off about a point. American Motors also lost around a point.

Kroger dipped fractionally.

Merck lost 2. Pfizer and Schering dropped more than a point each.

A decline of beyond a point by Baltimore and Ohio highlighted the rail section. Losses of fractions to about a point were taken by New York Central, Southern Pacific and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Also down around a point or more were Goodrich, International Telephone, American Cyanamid, Eastern Air Lines and American Tobacco. Union Carbide and General Electric were off about 2 apiece.

U.S. government bonds declined.

Clear Eighty-Five Cases On County Court Docket

Eighty-five cases were cleared last week from the criminal docket of Pitt County Recorder's Court in two days of hearings conducted by Judge Dink James and Solicitor John Hill Paylor.

At least two of the cases are slated for further hearing, however, in Pitt County Superior Court. Both the cases were sent to the higher court on requests for jury trials, entered by Frederick Douglas Sledge, 706 Bancroft Blvd., Greenville, and Charles Travis Dav-entport of Rocky Mount, both of whom are charged with speeding.

Also tentatively scheduled for Superior Court action are charges of driving under the influence and driving on the wrong side of the road against Lillie Nichols Williams of Washington, N. C. Notice of an appeal to Superior Court was given after Judge James ordered a $100 fine and payment of costs.

A six months jail sentence, ordered for Herman Oscar Paul Baker, Negro, of Route 2, Greenville, was suspended upon payment of $200 fine and costs, and revocation of his driver's license for two years. Baker was pleaded guilty to driving under the influence.

Twelve defendants in speeding actions were ordered to pay court costs and surrender their driver's licenses for ten days each. They are Steve Leadford Woolard, Route 2, Washington; Warren William Porter, Cherry Point; Hennis Amos Shivers, Route 2, Winterville; Charlie Thomas Lamm, Seymour Johnson AFB; Gene Harden Mills, Burlington; James Roy Hathaway, Jr., Bethel; Leroy Foster, Negro, 304 Hudson St., Greenville; Herbert Theodore Berwald, Cherry Point; Don Ernest Chatfield; Marvin Lee Cox, Negro 609 Ford St., Greenville; Troy Ray Adams, Route 1, Grimesland; and Samuel Fletcher Artis, Negro, Route 3, Ayden.

Fourteen defendants in speeding actions were ordered to pay $25, costs deducted, and surrender their licenses for ten days each. They are Russell Bryon Warren, Route 1, Blounts Creek; Thomas C. Douglas, Cherry Point; Ernest Henry Gates, Camp Lejeune; Edward John Ambrozaitis, Cherry Point; Willoughby Dozier Ferebee, Jr., New Bern; Herbert Arnold Miller, Raleigh; Darrell W. Morse, Havelock; Anthony Margeno, Cherry Point; Wayne Osborne Kelley, Rocky Mount; Donald Benjamin Heat, Chicod; J. F. Hockaday, New Bern; Phyllis Carole Warner, Route 2, Washington, N. C.; Thelma Jean Harris, Farmville; and William Lealie McCabe, Route 1, Morehead City.

Other traffic cases and judgments returned included: Linn Brian McCune, Cherry Point, speeding, $25, costs deducted; Story Brooks Evans, Grimesland, speeding, $25, costs deducted; driver's license suspended 30 days; Lacey Morning, Greenville, speeding with a truck, $10 and costs.

Qua Kirchoe, Raleigh, speeding, costs, driver's license suspended 30 days; Jimmy Moore, Route 2, Ayden, speeding, costs, driver's license suspended 30 days; Blyth Hilton Noe, Jr., Washington, speeding and passing on a hill, costs, driver's license suspended 30 days.

Haywood Navallo Outland, 1308 Dickinson Ave., Greenville, speeding, costs, driver's license suspended 30 days; Bobby Ray Small, Negro, Route 3, Greenville, speeding and failure to give signal, $10 and costs, driver's license suspended ten days.

Charlie Richard Case, 1311 Van Dyke St., Greenville, no operator's license, $25 and costs; Marshall Odell Avery, Route 1, Grifton, no operator's license, 90 days; James Ward, Jr., Negro, Paeolus, no operator's license, no pros; Evelyn J. Moore, 105 South Elm St., Greenville, no operator's license, continued.

Edgar Blount Carter, Bethel, exceeding safe speed and no operator's license (expired), no pros with leave; Charles James Whitfield, Route 1, Hixgood, allowing an unlicensed minor to operate a motor vehicle, $10 and costs; James Ward, Jr., Negro, Paeolus, improper equipment, costs.

Thomas Hardee, Jr., Route 1, Grimesland, failure to comply with financial responsibility law and no operator's license, six months suspended upon payment of $50 and costs, defendant ordered not to operate a motor vehicle without a proper license and without obtaining insurance coverage.

Wiley Raymond Hooks, Roanoke, Va., allowing an unlicensed minor to drive, $10 and costs; Clarence Thefus Carrow, Route 3, Greenville, failure to stop for a stop sign $10 and costs.

Other cases and judgments returned included: Willie Lee Barnes, Negro, Route 1, Bethel, receiving stolen property, 90 days suspended upon payment of pro rata portion of $126.40 and pro rata portion of costs; Ducton Cherry, Negro, Bethel, receiving stolen property, 90 days suspended upon payment of pro rata portion of $126.40 and pro rata portion of costs.

Jobie Lee Jones, Negro, Bethel, receiving stolen property, not guilty; Cecil Cherry, Winterville, receiving stolen property, plea of polo contender, $10 and costs; Richard Mooring, Negro, Bethel, receiving stolen property, 90 days suspended upon payment of pro rata portion of $126.40 and pro rata portion of costs.

Ashley Pettaway, Negro, Bethel, receiving stolen property, 90 days suspended upon payment of pro rata portion of $126.40 and pro rata portion of costs; J. B. # Health, Disease Topics For Class Health practices and communicable diseases were discussed Thursday night for members of a Negro adult education class at Fountain by Mrs. Milton V. Clarke, executive director of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association.

Mrs. Clarke pointed out that 63 cases of tuberculosis were reported in Pitt County during 1958, with six of them resulting in death. She said ages of the TB victims ranged from 85 to 2 1/2, and that Pitt County continued to be one of the state's leading counties in number of tuberculosis discovered and reported.

Miss Esther Cogdell is class instructor.

Israel To Try Border Violator

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—An Israeli court martial will try the leader of a patrol which crossed into the Gaza Strip and killed an Arab woman and child.

A U.N. Emergency Force unit found the Israeli patrol in the Egyptian-occupied territory last Wednesday and reported it had fired into an Arab village, killing a woman and her son and wounding another woman.

The U.N. Israeli-Egyptian Mixed Armistice Commission censured Israel for the incident. The Israeli army maintained that its patrol was pursuing infiltrators who had attacked it. But it said the patrol leader violated instructions when he crossed the border. An army spokesman expressed Israel's regret "if there were any innocent casualties."

Red Cross Film Course On ECC TV Circuit

The film course in Care Of The Sick and Injured is now being taught experimentally over closed circuit television at East Carolina College. Mrs. Walter F. Taylor, Executive Secretary of the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross, announced today.

The first Home Nursing Film Course to be shown in North Carolina, is being taught as part of the program of study in Home Economics with Miss Mabel Dougherty of the college staff as instructor. Miss Dougherty completed the Red Cross Instructor Training Course in Care Of The Sick and Injured in 1956 and has taught this course three times each year since her training.

the College Closed Circuit television system where they will view the ten-thirty minute films twice weekly for a period of five weeks. The T.V. sessions are followed by supervised practice classes on the day after the students have observed the demonstration on television.

Miss Dougherty has another section of her Home Economics students who will be taught by the regular class room method in Care of the Sick and Injured. Both sections will take the same examination at the completion of the course.

Dr. Bessie McNeil, Director, Department of Home Economics, and the Red Chapter are interested in comparing the results of the learning by televised demonstration with the regular method.
