

Tiny 'Pioneer' Is Racing Toward Sun

Show Of Police Strength Leaves Strikers In Henderson Subdued

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — A special force of highway patrolmen moving with military precision converged around the two struck plants of the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills today.

The show of police strength left strikers at both plants subdued, a sharp contrast to the seething, brick-throwing crowds that have ringed the plant daily for the arrival and departure of returning workers.

The appearance of the troopers backed up a promise of Gov. Luther Hodges to put an end to the violence surrounding the strike which started last Nov. 15 when the Textile Workers Union of America and the mill failed to agree on a new contract.

The governor also called a 9:30 a.m. meeting in his office in Raleigh of John D. Cooper, president of the mills, Boyd Payton, Carolinas director for the TWUA, and other mill and labor officials. Shortly before the workers arrived for their jobs, 40 patrol cars bearing 80 troopers swung up before the mills' South Henderson plant, scene of most of the violence since the mills reopened Feb. 16.

American Rocket Expected Pass Moon Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer IV blazed a new U.S. space trail today more than a quarter of the way to the moon and farther out than any previous American rocket.

Scientists expressed assurance that the gold plated cone would speed on past the moon into orbit around the sun, where the Russians claim already to have put their Mecha satellite.

School Bus Overtakes, Nine Drown

TIFTON, Ga. (AP) — A school bus hit a rut in a road and overturned in a farm pond today, drowning at least nine children.

By 8 a.m. EST scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Agency figured the rocket was 66,000 miles out, more than a fourth of the distance of about 220,000 miles to the moon.

At the 72,400 mile level the new Pioneer was down to 6,518 miles an hour. That was close to the speed estimated in advance for that point in the flight.

Work Has Begun On Analysis Of County Schools

First phases of a study of Pitt County schools, requested a month ago, have begun, members of the county's Board of Education were told yesterday.

Macmillan's Farewell Has Warning For Russia Against Force In Berlin

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan warned the Russians in farewell today against a resort to force in the Berlin crisis.

Earlier the two men had admitted in a communique summing up their talks that they had been unable to agree on political and legal aspects of a World War II peace treaty with Germany.

Macmillan and Khrushchev said their discussions "ranged over some of the more important questions which are currently of general international concern."

Macmillan and Khrushchev said their discussions "ranged over some of the more important questions which are currently of general international concern."

By 9 a.m. instrument readings and mathematical calculations placed the Pioneer 72,400 miles out.

At the 72,400 mile level the new Pioneer was down to 6,518 miles an hour.

It had been aimed to go within 10,000 to 20,000 miles of the moon. Instead, it will pass no closer than 35,000 miles.

Pitt Tax Take Runs Ahead Of Last Fiscal Year

Pitt County tax collections for the first seven months of the 1958-1959 fiscal year are running $87,365.61 over collections during a similar period in the 1957-1958 fiscal year.

Appropriations and other financial matters occupied most of the afternoon session. Included were $2,250, from sale of school property, to the Ayden School District Capital Outlay Fund; $30,600 from the Mental Health Building Fund for payment for fill dirt and door markers; $250 from an unused psychologist's salary appropriation in the Mental Health budget to a fund for janitorial supplies; $959.78 from Health Department surplus to a fund for VD and TB supplies; to pay for a new x-ray tube; and $300 from the Donations Fund to the Pitt County Fat Stock Show and Sale.

County Auditor H. Reginald Gray was instructed to bill the Greenville Little Theater for use of the Court House during presentation of the group's production of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial." The charge was set at $10 per night for three nights.

Three road petitions were approved and forwarded to division offices of the State Highway Commission. The petitions concern 43 miles of the Mason School House Road in Pictolus Township; 375 feet of Owens Street in Greenville Township; and 62 miles of a road between Highway 264 and Church Street Extension in Farmville Township.

Miss N. C. Speaks At Rotary Anns' Luncheon

VANCEBORO—In a double-ring ceremony Saturday afternoon at the Epworth Methodist Church, Miss June Maywood Smith and Billy Ray Haddock were united in marriage. The Rev. Ellis Beasworth, pastor of the bride, officiated.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dalton Smith of Vanceboro, and Mr. Haddock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Preston Haddock of Grimesland.

The church was decorated with a bridal greenery consisting of Arcaea palms, emerald and huckleberry. Tall standards of white gladioli and chrysanthemums were used, flanked by seven-branched candelabra with myriads of cathedral candles. At the altar satin pillows were placed with single decorated candles on either side. Pews were marked with bouquets of white chrysanthemums tied with bridal satin.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. David Joyner, organist, and Earl Adams, soloist. Selections were "Whither Thou Goest," "Sweetest Story Ever Told," and "Perfect Love" was used as a prayer.

Given in marriage by her cousin, Z. O. Whitford Jr., the bride wore a gown of chantilly-type lace embroidered with sequins and pearls over satin. The formal gown featured a high neck with a roll collar and long fitted sleeves tapered in calla points over the hands. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a coronet of lace and seeded pearls. She carried her personal prayer book topped with a pure white orchid, showered with frenched carnations.

Mrs. Robert Stokes, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of yellow net and taffeta, with a head bandeau and white of matching net. An arm bouquet of carnations completed her outfit.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Z. O. Whitford Jr. of Newport News, Va. and Mrs. Brooks Mills of Greenville. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Janis Johnson, cousin of the bride, and Miss Elaine Mills, cousin of the bridegroom. Their gowns were designed identical to the honor attendant's. They carried spring bouquets of flowers tied with satin ribbons.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Betsy Smith, Miss Thalia Carrowan, and Miss Jackie Dixon of Vanceboro, and Miss Joyce Jenkins, Miss Sue Smith, Miss Gerri Mills, Miss Patsy Mills, Miss LaRue Mills, and Mrs. Frankie Haddock of Greenville. They wore floor length gowns in pastel shades and wristlets of pink carnations.

Little Miss Carol Johnson was flower girl. She carried a pink basket filled with pink sweetheart roses tied with pink satin.

Ottis Stokes of Ayden, uncle of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Ushers were Preston Haddock, brother of the bridegroom, Brooks Mills of Greenville, Hal Smith and Donald Hudson.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding a street length dress of pink lace and taffeta with navy and white accessories. Mrs. Haddock, the bridegroom's mother, wore a lavender lace and taffeta dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore hybrid orchid corsages.

The bride attended Cleoed High School and is a student at East Carolina College. The bridegroom is employed in Vanceboro. Following the ceremony the couple received in the vestibule of the church, after which they left for a wedding trip to unannounced points.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Haddock wore a beige wool suit trimmed in fur and matching skin shoes and bag. A white orchid completed her attire.

The bridal pair will reside near Grimesland following the trip.

Cake Cutting
Immediately following the wedding rehearsal Friday evening the Haddock-Smith wedding party and friends were entertained at a cake-cutting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Smith. Hostesses and host were Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Johnson, Mrs. Kathleen Carrowan and Mrs. Nina Buck.

A color scheme of pink and white was used throughout the home in the bridal decorations. Clusters of wedding bells, lace, fern, tulle and magnolia leaves were of focal interest in various arrangements.

A centerpiece of pink carnations and white snapdragons flanked by burning tapers in crystal holders was used on the refreshment table. Lime ice, nuts, mints, and the bride's cake were served after the bridal pair cut the first slice of the cake.

Bride, Attendants Honored
Mrs. Harry Smith and Miss Betsy Smith entertained Miss June Smith and her bridal attendants at a social hour on Wednesday afternoon.

Betty Lane Evans, "Miss North Carolina," told Rotary Anns of her experiences since receiving the state title. Miss Evans spoke at a luncheon served in the East Dining Hall, East Carolina College. Mrs. Hugh C. Winslow, presiding chairman, welcomed the wives of the Rotarians of District 77, who held a two-day conference here. W. Jesse Moye of Farmville, governor of District 77; J. Cleve Allen of Coral Gables, Fla., representative of the President of Rotary International; and Jim Butler, conference chairman, spoke briefly to the group.

Following the lunch, Mrs. Winslow announced that a tour of Shepard Memorial Library and the Art Gallery under the direction of Mrs. Sam Underwood had been planned. Those who were not interested in the off-campus tour could visit points of interest at the college with Mrs. James Butler, conference chairman, spoke briefly to the group.

Some Rotary Anns chose to play bridge in the Student Union which was opened to all Rotarians and their wives. A banquet at Wright auditorium on the college campus last night ended the meeting of Rotary International District 77 which began Sunday afternoon.

League Has Guest

The monthly meeting of the Greenville Service League was held at the Recreation Building Monday morning with Mrs. George Lautares, president, presiding. She led in unison the Service League Prayer of Christian Service.

Program chairman, Mrs. William Corbit, Jr., introduced Miss Sue Cox, Home Industries Counselor for North Carolina Blind Commission, who spoke briefly to the League members on her work in helping the blind.

Miss Cox explained the difference in the N. C. Blind Commission and the N. C. Blind Association. The N. C. Blind Commission is supported by federal and state funds whereas the N. C. Blind Association is supported by laymen.

The three areas of work in N. C. are centered in Asheville, Winston-Salem and Greenville. The program for the blind in N. C. is more outstanding than in any other state, Miss Cox remarked. In 1945 the Rehabilitation Center for the Adult Blind was in Greenville, housed in pre-fab huts where the Junius H. Rose High School is located today. In 1942 this center was moved to Camp Butler where the center now has a brick building. After 14 years of service in the Greenville area, Miss Cox is moving to Butler, April 1, to be assistant superintendent of the Rehabilitation Center there.

Following the program, Mrs. Lautares called for the chairman reports. Mrs. W. S. Bost, reporting for the Project Committee, stated

Little Chance Of Hitting The Moon

By BEN FUNK
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Army says its lunar probe fired today never had better than one chance in 10,000 of making a direct hit on the moon.

Here's a rough example of the Army's problem:

You are on a golf tee. The tee is on a spinning merry-go-round. The green for which you will aim your shot is moving, too, at about 88 feet a minute.

Think you can make a hole in one?

It sounds impossible, but you haven't heard the half of it.

While the ball is in the air, two huge magnets, one behind you and the other on the far side of the green, are pulling and tugging at the ball. You've got to allow for that, too.

If this sounds confusing, it may help you to know that it bothers the mathematicians also.

For centuries, astronomers have tried without success to compute the motions of bodies when three or more are involved—such as, in this case, the earth, the moon and the probe.

Lacking this formula, the Army relied on computing machines to make numerical approximations. These are believed to be accurate

The two-day conference of Rotary District 773 was climaxed here last night at the annual governor's banquet addressed by J. Cleve Allen of Coral Gables, Fla., representative of the president of Rotary International.

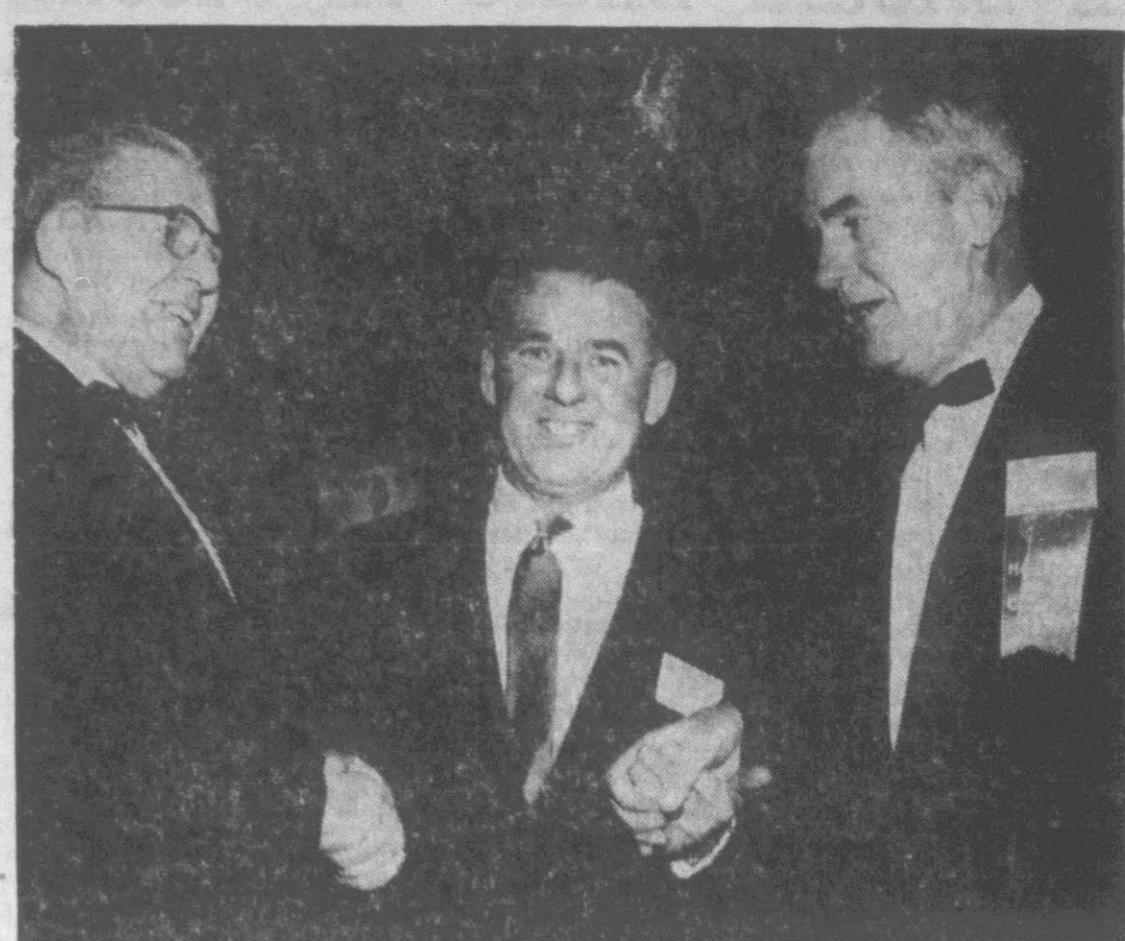

A total of 421 Rotarians and their wives representing 43 clubs of Eastern North Carolina registered during the two-day meeting.

At the closing session held in Wright auditorium on the East Carolina College campus last night, Allen told his audience the importance of the individual in shaping the future of Rotary must never be overlooked. Rotary International, he said, is truly an international organization promoting better international relations and bringing the citizens of the free world closer together in seeking a common goal.

Rotary, he declared, is composed of more than 475,000 members in 10,971 clubs located in 111 nations and geographical regions of the world. More than 50 per cent of these clubs, he added, are located outside the United States and three new Rotary clubs are being organized in other countries for every one that is formed in the United States.

"The world needs leadership, clear heads, strong hands, wisdom and understanding," Allen asserted. "Ours is an opportunity for service probably never before equaled. The challenge is before us." He added that the greatest asset of Rotary International in achieving its goals of good inter-

Hayes Buys Monument For Tom Dooley Grave

LENOIR, N.C. (AP) — Millionaire contractor Hal B. Hayes, who left his Lenoir home 31 years ago for California, is known to headline-readers for two things:

1. His courtship of actress Zsa Zsa Gabor, with burgeoning rumors that their marriage is imminent.

2. His company's successful bid to air condition 800 Capehart housing units at Camp Lejeune for $125 apiece.

Thus established in the popular eye as a man who gets things done, Hayes flew into North Carolina for a visit last week and quickly added a footnote to folklore. He purchased a large granite monument for the grave of Tom Dooley.

Tom, originally Thomas C. DuLa, lies in an ill-kept grave in Wilkes County's Happy Valley. Folks in those parts long have known the story of how he was hanged for the murder of Miss Laura Foster, shortly after he returned home from the Civil War.

However, it wasn't until the ballad telling his sad story became a hot-selling record last year that Tom became famous. Wilkes County's American Legion post and Veterans of Foreign Wars members decided they'd spruce up the grave, raise a monument and put a road and parking area there.

Over the damp weekend Hayes visited both Tom's and Laura Foster's graves, and when told of efforts to raise money for a tombstone, declared:

"Why wait? We'll get one for

Expanding 'See North Carolina' Plans This Year

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh (AP) — The "See North Carolina" campaign initiated last August by the Travel Council has been adopted as a permanent annual project. It will be staged this year in May in order to get the program expanded in the public schools and to promote summer vacation travel in the state.

Last year's "kick-off" was a luncheon at the Governor's Mansion attended by costumed representatives of the areas and attractions in North Carolina, arranged by Bob Garvey of Old Salem. This time the kick-off event will be a 7-point origin motorcycle to converge on Raleigh sometime in early May.

Tentative plans announced by Bob Page of Charlotte and Bill Taft of Morehead City, chairman and vice-chairman of the committee, call for cars to start from Manteo and Murphy, Boone, Grandfather Mountain area, Charlotte and the Wilmington and Morehead City beach areas, to rendezvous near Raleigh and parade around the capitol. The original starting cars will be routed through all major population centers and it is expected they will be joined by others, all decorated in the "See North Carolina" motif, and the participants in typical costumes depicting the special attractions of their sections.

The State Library and local libraries throughout the state will assist in assembling the distributing literature and statistics for use in civic club programs, newspaper, radio and television publicity. Prime objective of undertaking is to encourage North Carolinians to travel to their own state as well as to bring in visitors from other places.

To The Judge, Too Much TV

DETROIT (AP) — "How do you plead — guilty or not guilty?" said the judge when Anthony Nowak, 48, appeared before him on a charge of driving without having his license on his person.

"I invoke the Fifth Amendment, your honor," replied Nowak.

The judge adjourned the case for trial next Monday, and sighed: "He has been watching TV too much."

Protest Release Of Cuban Fliers

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — Demonstrators ranged through this provincial capital Monday night, shouting protests against a military action reports which the Cuban airman charged with mass murder bombings of rebel villages in Oriente province.

The demonstrations abated after the prosecutor, Lt. Antonio Cejas, announced the verdict and it was announced that a new trial would start before a different tribunal in several days. The airman were kept in jail.

The court had held the charges had not been proved. They were accused of bombing and strafing civilians as part of former President Fulgencio Batista's campaign against Fidel Castro's rebels.

The defendants claimed they deliberately dropped their bombs in open country to avoid killing civilians. The prosecution based its case on action reports which the defendants admitted signing, but the fliers said they faked them to escape punishment by air force authorities.

Seven convicted war criminals were executed in Oriente province Monday, bringing the unofficial total to 382.

Five Women Die As Car Plunges Into Rio Grande

LOS EBANOS, Tex. (AP) — Five women, all Mexican nationals, drowned in the murky waters of the Rio Grande Monday after an automobile plunged from a ferry boat.

Four bodies were recovered Monday night on the United States side of the river. There was an unconfirmed report a fifth was recovered on the Mexico side.

Police searched for the driver, whom they identified as Luis Montehongoy, also a Mexican national. They said he freed himself from the submerged vehicle and swam to the Mexican side.

The accident occurred moments after Montehongoy drove the car aboard the ferry, officers said, bound for San Miguel, Mexico, opposite this border village.

"It shot off into the water and bounced downstream before disintegrating in 15 or 20 feet of water," ferry operator Francisco Rivas said. He told police "it looked like the driver hit the accelerator instead of the brake."

Lana Drops Out Of Movie Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A dispute between Lana Turner and Director Otto Preminger has caused the actress to withdraw from a choice role in Preminger's movie, "The Anatomy of a Murder."

Miss Turner said Monday night she was withdrawing because of Preminger's temper. But the director-producer said the dispute was over costumes she was to wear in the movie.

Shooting is scheduled to begin March 23 and Preminger says will be no delay. "I'll take an unknown for the part and make her into another Lana Turner," he said.

Announces Coup Plans Uncovered

PANAMA (AP) — Panama's military chief said Monday night a plot to seize control of the country had been uncovered and crushed.

Col. Bolivar Vallarino said a group known as the Liberation Movement was doing the plotting. About 20 members of the National Guard are being held, and five civilians are under arrest or being hunted, he said.

Planning Atomic Power At Bases

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The United States is planning to light and heat its antarctic bases within three years with atomic power, Rear Adm. George Dufek, on his way home after commanding the U.S. program in the antarctic, told a news conference.

His request for atomic power had been approved although the money has not yet been appropriated, he said.

Governor Sets March 6 As FBLA Day In State

The National youth organization for business students, the Future Business Leaders of America, was praised yesterday by Governor Luther H. Hodges.

Governor Hodges proclaimed March 6 as Future Business Leaders of America Day in the state.

In a special statement issued from his office Governor Hodges recognized the role that high school and college training plays in the development of future business leaders; he urged the people of North Carolina to aid in strengthening and supporting business education facilities in the state.

"The full text of the Governor's statement read: 'The importance of high school and college training in the development of our future business leaders will be recognized through the observance of Future Business Leaders of America Day throughout North Carolina on March 6, 1959.'

"The Future Business Leaders of America is a National youth organization for high school and college students of business, designed to aid young people in developing those qualities of leadership and responsibility that are essential to business success. Approximately 3,000 young North Carolinians compose the 70 chapters of the organization functioning in our state.

"North Carolina has a special interest in the activities of this organization, for the quality of our future business leadership will have far-reaching effect on our economic development, both at the local and state level.

"In recognition of the need for encouraging greater accomplishment among our young people and business education teachers, I am pleased to designate March 6, 1959, as

All Should Share In Meeting Costs

Though the General Assembly is just getting into its financial problems, it is far enough along to indicate to all North Carolinians that if we are to have the services that are being requested, we're going to have to have new taxes also.

Gov. Hodges and the Advisory Budget Commission presented the Assembly with a budget that was mathematically balanced, but obviously economically unsound. From the standpoint of expenditures and from the standpoint of revenues, the proposal will be appreciably altered by the General Assembly.

It would be foolish indeed for North Carolina to use a $27 million withholding tax windfall with which to balance its operational budget.

But when it comes to the point of fixing a budget for the state, it seems that everyone wants his pet project, agency, institution or what-have-you to get all the money it wants. At the same time, if there is any new taxing to be done, he wants that to rest upon the shoulders of the other fellow.

From the standpoint of the state as a whole, this help-me-and-let-the-other-fellow-foot-the-bill philosophy is neither sound nor applicable. If the services required for the state as a whole are going to take more money than the state has been collecting in taxes, then the citizens of the state as a whole must foot the bill for these new taxes.

Many new tax proposals already have been advanced. In addition to the withholding tax, there are proposals to increase sales taxes, eliminate sales tax exemptions and various other alterations to the laws governing this big revenue producer. There are the proposals for tobacco tax, and taxes on soft drinks to mention a few. Each of these proposals has support; and each has determined opposition.

The same is true of proposals for increased appropriations for teachers and state employes salaries, institutions, state agencies, commissions and others.

Certainly no group which is now carrying its fair share of the tax load should be singled out for an additional tax burden if other taxpayers of the state are to escape higher taxes. Appropriations should be made on the basis of merit, keeping in mind the best interests of all the people of North Carolina.

If essential services required for the state during the coming biennium also require new taxes, every effort should be made to spread the new tax burden as equitably as possible over all the people of the state.

Task Is Easier With No Backseat Drivers

The fact that responsible Democratic leadership in the Senate has reminded other members of Congress that the President has primary responsibility for foreign affairs should stand the nation in good stead as they draw closer to the Berlin crisis.

Majority Leader Sen Lyndon Johnson has asserted the nation will stand behind the President in the Berlin crisis. Sen William J. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has cautioned members of his committee not to force the President into a "negotiating straitjacket" in connection with the Berlin crisis.

While Democratic leadership has been highly critical at times of the foreign policy decisions of the Eisenhower administration, this bipartisan support for the President in the Berlin crisis will certainly make this difficult administration task easier. By presenting a united front behind the President, the hand of the United States will be strengthened in any negotiations with the Soviet Union and also in preliminary arrangements with other Western nations before an East-West meeting.

The Democratic leadership is entirely right in insisting that leadership in meeting this crisis be left to the administration. For both Congress and the administration to try to assume the leadership in the foreign policy which will be followed with respect to the Berlin crisis could only lead to crossed wires and disastrous results.

But with the assurance of the support of the Democratic leadership in the Senate, the administration should take a decisive and positive approach to the Berlin crisis. There is much to be done at home and abroad if the crisis is to be effectively met. And there is little time left. The President and the administration cannot afford to drag heels any longer.

Nikita Takes A Devious Pathway

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a simpler view than some of the guesses on why Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave British Prime Minister Macmillan a rude, fast brushoff when he went to Moscow to discuss the Berlin crisis.

The guesses range from thinking Khrushchev was making one more effort to intimidate the West by saying he was impatient with Macmillan for not bringing solid solutions with him to Moscow.

The simpler view is that the realistic Khrushchev thinks strictly in terms of power and who has the muscle. He has shown he understands what power means by getting rid of all his rivals in the U.S.S.R. until now he stands supreme.

In this world the two most powerful forces are the Soviet Union and the United States. They dominate. Compared with them every other nation is a second-rate force, according to this view.

The two leaders of the two dominant powers are Khrushchev and President Eisenhower. Therefore, any talks except directly between Khrushchev and Eisenhower are a gumbating waste of time.

If this view is accepted, then that would explain why Khrushchev treated Macmillan like a messenger boy, dismissed the idea of a foreign ministers meeting as time-wasting, and aimed at what he has sought more than a year: a summit meeting with Eisenhower.

His meeting with Macmillan was in a way a kind of junior summit. He showed what he thought of Macmillan's importance by the way he treated the British prime minister, who was his guest.

Khrushchev has given the United States, Britain and France until May 27 to get their troops out of Berlin. If they don't, he has threatened to let the East German Communists block any supplies the Big Three attempt to send their Berlin troops.

Since this situation could lead to war, the Western Big Three proposed to seek a peaceful solution by talking. But their idea of who talks and Khrushchev's idea are not the same.

The Big Three — following what has become a kind of reflex action any time trouble arises — suggested that their three foreign ministers get together with the Soviet foreign minister to talk things over.

Such foreign ministers meetings in the past, as Khrushchev later emphasized, can be time-consuming. They can be and often have been, unproductive.

Before the Soviets could give an official answer to the proposal about foreign ministers, Macmillan decided to go to Moscow, see Khrushchev, and try to lay the groundwork for peaceful solutions.

But, since the Big Three were not yet willing to go beyond the idea of a ministers' meeting, Macmillan couldn't carry with him to Moscow any proposals that went further than that.

Khrushchev — during a recess in his conversations with Macmillan — made a farce of the talks by delivering, in a manner that seemed completely contemptuous of the prime minister, a speech on the very subject they were discussing: Berlin.

He warned that Western efforts to push military supplies through to West Berlin after May 27 could mean war; he mocked the idea of a foreign ministers meeting; and said only the heads of government have sufficient power to negotiate on the German problem.

Then Sunday, just before Macmillan set out for home, British sources said he was coming back determined to urge the United States and France into a summit meeting with Khrushchev. Macmillan long has favored such a meeting, but the official Allied stand has been for adequate advance preparation.

So Khrushchev moved one step closer to what he has wanted all along — a meeting with Eisenhower.

So We Had Some Snow

Nobody can figure out Pitt County weather!

When it's supposed to be clear it rains, when it's supposed to rain, what happens? It snows.

That was the case yesterday when the early morning rain turned to snow around midmorning.

"It won't stick," muttered those who have absolute faith in the weatherman.

But the fine flakes became larger and larger. Finally huge flakes were floating to earth — larger than most observers could ever remember seeing.

And soon the ground began turning white as the late winter snow stuck! Soon the entire city was covered with a blanket of white and even the streets were becoming slushy.

So the snow that wasn't supposed to come was here.

Late in the morning the Associated Press reported that a surprise snow had slipped in on the eastern section of the state but snowfall had ceased most places at midmorning. A look out the window confirmed that Greenville wasn't one of them. The snow was still falling here even at one o'clock.

However, Pitt County must give in to the weatherman in time, so the snow began tapering off after lunch. It gradually turned to rain, then the precipitation disappeared altogether.

By late afternoon the sun was making an attempt to peek out from behind its blanket of clouds on the western horizon. The snow which had blanketed Pitt County during the morning was fast disappearing before above freezing temperatures. It looked as if the weather would do little to affect the local way of life — at least for yesterday.

There were a couple of peculiarities connected with yesterday's snow storm. First it was a comparatively mild morning when Pitt Countians awoke on the rainy day. The thermometer stood at 40 degrees.

The temperature gradually dropped however, and by noon it stood only one degree above freezing 33°. That was unusual in that normally a warming trend can be noted during the day in contrast to colder nights.

There was another thing which made the day unusual. Several people noticed thunder and lightning. Lightning is always associated with summer rain storms but it is never thought of as accompanying a snow storm. Apparently the quick change in temperatures brought on the lightning conditions.

There were reports of lightning during the early part of the morning and also around noon.

Opinions In Brief

"Without doubt, the NAACP was begun in a sincere attempt to improve the status of the Negro race and to promote harmony between the races. But somewhere along the path it appears to have lost direction, to have acquired some influences which are directing it, not for the good of any race, but to the detriment of the country." — Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel.

"If President Eisenhower wants to half inflation, he will have to call for strong government action. He will have to take issue directly with American business and union leaders even to the point of threatening wage and price controls. . . . To get the American people to discipline themselves in a fight on inflation calls for extraordinary leadership." — Quincy (Mass.) Patriot Ledger.

"If it weren't for men who stay downtown late after work to avoid the traffic, the streets would be more crowded and the divorce courts emptier." — Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union.

"I think the danger of inflation is greatly exaggerated. . . . It is the only issue the Republicans have." — Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.)

Eroded By Our Wealth

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Man has one talent that separates him from the other animals — the art of making himself miserable.

He is the only animal that will turn his back on joy and make himself deliberately unhappy.

He is the only animal that invents his own troubles, manufactures unnecessary woes, and makes an industry out of feeling sorry for himself.

He is the only animal for whom too much is never enough.

Man survives the earthquake and the tornado, then lets himself be gnawed to death by mental gnats.

Times erodes man less than he frets himself away.

One of the things he yearns for most — prosperity — is the thing he seems least able to stand. It rots his endurance and milder his bravery. There is considerable truth to the saying, "There is nothing yellower than a million dollars."

Certainly prosperity, more than conscience, makes cowards of us all today. No nation in history has known a greater, deeper, more widespread prosperity than the American nation has now.

But prosperity has made us petulant rather than content, uneasy rather than confident. Instead of confirming us in our strength, it has tended to make us more fearful of another's power. We doubt ourselves in ways we shouldn't. We seem, sometimes, less sure of ourselves than when times were harder.

The curse of prosperity isn't that we can't take it with us when we go. It is that prosperity doesn't seem to make us happy here, while we have it.

As a people we feel a bit betrayed and cheated because of an amazing discovery: "Money isn't everything." We always said aloud we knew this, but in our hearts we secretly felt that if we just had enough money we would have just about everything we needed.

We can pull a handle and see an icebox full of more food than we can eat. We can push a button and change the indoor climate from cold to warm. We can turn a knob and hear the world's finest (and worst!) music, and watch the world's highest paid entertainers.

But it is not enough. Something is missing.

What do we miss? What is the meaning we have lost? How can we regain it? We set out to build a paradise and instead fashioned a prison, bar by bar.

How can we get out?

Perhaps it would help if we all went out, one by one, into a hillside orchard, sat for a whole day under an apple tree in bloom, and thought the problem of life all through again.

SAFE DRIVING TIP

Rush hour driving requires extra patience as well as skill.

Rush hour crowds, boarding and unloading, force bus drivers to use leapfrog tactics in many cities. Resulting turnouts, says the Chicago Motor Club, cause jams among passenger car traffic moving in the center lanes.

The motorist faced with a quick decision either may yield gracefully to the bus or crowd into the next lane and attempt to maintain his pace. This crowding could cause an accident. Good drivers avoid taking advantage of other motorists.

A THOUSAND A DAY

Recently a boy won a prize of $1000 for winning a nationwide contest to name a rocket. He decided to spend it all in one day and it is interesting to note the way he went about it.

First, heeding the warning of the banker who cashed his check, he put $62.50 away for income tax. "What's income tax?" he had asked the banker, and he was promptly informed.

Then he bought a gasoline powered model airplane and added several features to his electric train set-up. Next he acquired a toy radio, a wind-up toy racer, a sports car instrument panel, a space helmet, and some model plane and car kits.

Then, going to his church, he

Out-Of-State Business Taxes

By ELMER ROESSNER

The United States Supreme Court's decision in the Northwestern and Stockham Valves cases last week raises a series of questions — and possibilities.

The decisions hold that a state may tax an out-of-state corporation on a portion of its net income calculated to have come from activities within that state, even though those activities "are exclusively in furtherance of interstate commerce."

Any court decision is subject to two questions: Is it legally correct? Is it fair?

In these cases, there is a strong presumption of correct interpretation of the law and the Constitution. Some will argue that it chips away at the interstate commerce protection of interstate commerce; in fact, Justices Charles Evans Whitaker, Potter Stewart and Felix Frankfurter strongly dissented from the majority's opinion.

FAIRNESS DISCUSSED

However, the fairness of the findings are open to wider doubts. In one way, the decision is fair in that it will apply brakes to considerable state tax evasion by many corporations.

Almost every lawyer knows of instances in which corporations, planning to do much of their business in one state, will incorporate in another to avoid the first state's taxes, or to bank under a benign state supervision.

The Delaware situation is well known. Large numbers of big companies are incorporated in that state, yet do no more than maintain a file in a lawyer's office and hold annual meetings there.

Other states frequently call attention to the "rental" corporation laws and taxes to induce companies to incorporate under their laws.

PAY FOR SERVICES RENDERED

The decision is also fair in that it makes it possible for states to charge out-of-state corporations for the services it gets. A Delaware company operating in Minnesota expects police protection for its property there, the use of local courts to gain justice, state action to prevent unfair competition and many other services.

It is only just that it pay its share for these services.

On the other hand, there is grave danger that tax-hungry states, which means all, will attempt to gouge out-of-state companies. A tendency in that direction was previously reported here.

Because an out-of-state corporation influences few if any voters, it becomes fair game.

The law approved by the Supreme Court provides a tax on net income calculated to have come from activities within the state imposing the tax. But politics being what it is, the graft not unknown at state levels, it is possible that local companies will fare better than fair.

NEW YORK AN EXAMPLE

New York State, for example, gives New York State residents more deductions from its state income tax than it grants to New Jersey and Connecticut residents working within its borders. In this pattern, it may find ways to tax companies based in other states and doing business in New York at lower rates than it levies on local corporations.

In fact, there are ways by which states, using the power to tax, could make it very difficult for out-of-state companies to compete with local companies.

There is a bucketful of other consequences of the new ruling. Some will be discussed here tomorrow.

Uncle Sam's Credit Still Good, But Inflation Fears Cramping His Style

Editor's Note: There is growing concern in Washington about the Treasury's difficulties in managing a record national debt of 286 billion dollars. This is the first of four articles assessing the situation.
The lenders — banks, corporations and individuals — had a choice. They could renew their loans for one year and collect 3 1/2 per cent interest or renew for three years and get 4 per cent. Historically, these interest rates are very high. In some cases, they were more than double the rate paid on the original loans. Nevertheless, two billion dollars of loans were not renewed. The lenders wanted their money back. Uncle Sam had expected a sizable demand for cash — but not his much. He didn't have the funds to pay off the maturing loans and was forced to make an emergency borrowing. This meant he was able to get all the credit he needed only on the second attempt. He had expected to get enough the first time. It was a sobering experience for the world's best credit risk. What went wrong? There can be no precise answer since the result represented decisions by scores of lenders who didn't put their reasons in writing. Treasury officials are inclined to blame "technical factors." However, they concede some of the responsibility belongs to these other—more ominous—factors: 1. Fear of rising interest rates in a period of economic recovery. 2. Fear of inflation. If an investor believes inflation is the "wave of the future," he doesn't want to tie up his money in a government I.O.U.—a Treasury security—that would depreciate in value. He's more apt to invest in common stocks or real estate, hoping their value will keep pace with inflation. Bonds and similar debt securities are vulnerable to inflation. As living costs rise, the market price of a bond drops because the dollars it represents are losing value.
The government's plight was dramatized last month when nine billion dollars of loans supplied by private lenders came due. Like any harried debtor, Uncle Sam asked his creditors to renew the loans. As encouragement, he offered them new and more generous terms.
The lenders — banks, corporations and individuals — had a choice. They could renew their loans for one year and collect 3 1/2 per cent interest or renew for three years and get 4 per cent. Historically, these interest rates are very high. In some cases, they were more than double the rate paid on the original loans. Nevertheless, two billion dollars of loans were not renewed. As living costs rise, the market price of a bond drops because the dollars it represents are losing value.
All interest rates tend to rise in periods of inflation. Lenders need more incentive to make a loan since they'll be paid back in dollars of diminishing value. You don't have to have rising prices, however, to get rising interest rates. Prices have held virtually steady since last June. Still, in that time, the interest demanded on three-month loans to the government has virtually tripled. Such a rise in rates is due to market factors. If the supply of money available for lending decreases, or the demand for loans increases, interest rates rise. Since last summer, the demand for loans by the Treasury — the world's biggest borrower — has mounted because of a 13-billion-dollar budget deficit. Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board has been restricting credit—in effect, holding down the supply of money available for lending. The board has done this in hopes of preventing an inflation of credit which could inflate the whole economy. Both these developments have put upward pressure on interest rates. Adding to that pressure, many investors have decided inflation is coming and so have declined to lend. It is in this environment that the Treasury is financing a record national debt of 286 billion dollars. That it is having problems is not surprising.

Dr. T. Z. Koo To Be Lecturer At ECC

Dr. T. Z. Koo, professor emeritus of Oriental studies at Iowa State University, former secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation, and a recognized leader of youth throughout the world, will be guest lecturer March 8-13 at East Carolina College. He will speak at series of meetings sponsored by the college YMCA in observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the service of the organization on American college campuses. With Dr. Richard L. Walker, professor of international studies at the University of South Carolina in Columbia, he will also be a featured speaker at the Sixth Annual World Affairs Institute to be held at the college March 11 and 12. The topic of the Institute is "The Rise of Nationalism and Communism in the Far East and Its Challenge to the West." During the YMCA anniversary observance at East Carolina Dr. Koo will speak as follows: Sunday, 7:30 p.m. in the Y Hut, "Religions of the Far East"; Monday, 7:30 p.m. in the Y Hut, "The YMCA as a Student Christian Movement in the World"; Tuesday, 9 a.m. in the Y Hut, "The Student in the Present Far East"; and Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. in the Flanagan auditorium, with the Home Economics Club as sponsors, "Understanding Women Around the World." Born, bred, and educated in China, Dr. Koo was associated for ten years with the Chinese YMCA and the Chinese Christian Youth Movement. During this time he gained world-wide recognition because of his advocacy of Christian principles in international relations. Later, as secretary of the World's Student Federation for 14 years, he traveled on every continent and visited a great majority of the colleges and universities of the world. After several previous visits to this country, he came here in 1945 as advisor to the Chinese delegation at the San Francisco Conference of the United Nations. In 1948 he joined the staff of the State University of Iowa, served there as professor of Oriental studies for several years, and now has the title of professor emeritus of the University.

Spanking Bill Is Voted Approval

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The New Mexico Senate has passed a spanking bill. It would give teachers a firmer hand over discipline of children in public schools. The teachers' control would not only be while the child is at school but also on the way to and from school. The bill passed 25-6. One change was made — the addition of an emergency clause — which would make the bill effective the moment it is signed by the governor. The House must concur on the emergency amendment.

Debbie And Liz On Same Program

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Debbie Reynolds—the two women in singer Eddie Fisher's life—will both appear on the annual Academy Awards show April 6. Producer Jerry Wald says he plans to spot them an hour apart. He hasn't decided yet what each will do. Debbie labeled Liz as the other woman in her broken marriage with Fisher. Miss Taylor is among those nominated for the top actress award.

Trapped Slayer Takes Own Life

LEAKSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—The slayer of a West Virginia police chief took his own life when officers trapped him in his sister's home Monday night. Douglas Barker, a mental patient sought for the murder of Police Chief Amos Morris of Mannington, W.Va., was hiding in the kitchen pantry when police approached the house. Barker, 28, shot himself twice before they could reach him. Mack Bryant, assistant police chief at nearby Spray, said he had been tipped Barker was spotted entering the house. Barker had been sought in several eastern states since the officer's body was found last Saturday. Barker, shot five times, had been dropped over a 20-foot embankment off U.S. 250 near Mannington. A runaway girl from Erie, Michigan, who was with Barker at the time of the shooting, is being held at Fairmont, W.Va., Juvenile Detention home. The girl, Nancy Jean Sedlock, 16, said she was forced to accompany Barker when he killed the officer. She gave authorities this account: Morris had picked up the two and asked Fairmont officers by radio if there was a wanted message out for the girl. As the cruiser neared Fairmont, Barker pulled out a gun. Morris, who was not armed, pleaded with Barker to put the weapon away. But Barker shot Morris three times, dumped the body out of the car and fired twice more. The girl said she escaped from Barker near Frederick, Md., Saturday night. She told police there was a man with Barker at the time, also a hostage. Barker, according to his father, Swanson Barker, of Lynchburg, Va., had been released recently from a North Carolina mental hospital. The elder Barker said he had seen his son briefly in Lynchburg Saturday night.

Judge Miffed By Speed Ticket

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A judge long known for cracking down on traffic offenders has received a speeding ticket — and it doesn't sit at all well with him. "In 12 years on the bench," Superior Court Judge Roger A. Pfaff says angrily, "I've been accepting the word of police officers. Now I'm shocked that any of them would so falsify a citation." Two policemen cited him for going 45 in a 25 m.p.h. zone. He passed them, he said Monday, doing between 30 and 35. He knows, he says, because his son and two other teen-age boys all were watching the speedometer closely after asking him: "Gee, are you going around a police car?" "Sure," he told them, "there's no law against that."

In Trouble Over Pupil's Speech

YUKON, Okla. (AP) — A student's speech on prostitution has a high school speech teacher on the carpet today in this small central Oklahoma farming community. The speech was given by a high school junior in a class conducted by Larry Kirkland last Friday. Parents complained. Supt. Ralph Myers, who discussed the matter for two hours Monday night with Yukon's Board of Education said, "It was a little crude for high school." Kirkland, in his first year of teaching at Yukon, said the speech was a regular part of his assigned classwork but the topic was of the student's own choosing. Kirkland declared he didn't think it out of order.

Hunt Guest Who Left Wreckage

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The weekend guest was gone when operators went to clean his motel room Monday. But he left behind: Twenty-one bullet holes, in walls, floor and furnishings. A smashed heater grill and desk. All his belongings, including two pistols and an empty whisky bottle. A note saying "I will be over to pay for the damage tonight." Police continued their search for the guest.

Remove Ban On Interracial Vows

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Idaho removed its ban on interracial marriages Monday. Gov. Robert E. Smylie signed a bill passed by both houses of the Legislature which repeals the so-called "antimiscegenation" law. The law, on the Idaho books for decades, prohibited marriages between whites and Negroes, Orientals, and other persons of color.

Remove Ban On Interracial Vows

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Idaho removed its ban on interracial marriages Monday. Gov. Robert E. Smylie signed a bill passed by both houses of the Legislature which repeals the so-called "antimiscegenation" law. The law, on the Idaho books for decades, prohibited marriages between whites and Negroes, Orientals, and other persons of color.

Hunt Guest Who Left Wreckage

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The weekend guest was gone when operators went to clean his motel room Monday. But he left behind: Twenty-one bullet holes, in walls, floor and furnishings. A smashed heater grill and desk. All his belongings, including two pistols and an empty whisky bottle. A note saying "I will be over to pay for the damage tonight." Police continued their search for the guest.

In Trouble Over Pupil's Speech

YUKON, Okla. (AP) — A student's speech on prostitution has a high school speech teacher on the carpet today in this small central Oklahoma farming community. The speech was given by a high school junior in a class conducted by Larry Kirkland last Friday. Parents complained. Supt. Ralph Myers, who discussed the matter for two hours Monday night with Yukon's Board of Education said, "It was a little crude for high school." Kirkland, in his first year of teaching at Yukon, said the speech was a regular part of his assigned classwork but the topic was of the student's own choosing. Kirkland declared he didn't think it out of order.

ECC Cagers Open NAIA Play Against Lenoir Rhyne

East Carolina will open District NAIA play tonight when the Pirates meet Lenoir Rhyne at Hickory. Western Carolina and Wofford meet at Cullowhee in the other NAIA game.

Winners of tonight's opening round will meet at Spindale in the finals tomorrow night. The winner will advance to the NAIA tournament which is held in Kansas City.

East Carolina made the tournament on the basis of their 12-5 season record. The Pirates hit a hot streak midway through the season and were almost unbeatable as they climbed up the North State ladder to as high as third place.

Interior troubles hit the club in their final games which resulted in the dismissal of two regulars,

Charlie Adams and Jessel Curry. Adams was the club's top scorer with a 16.1 average. Curry was averaging in double figures and was All-Conference and All-NAIA in 1957.

The Pirates split with Lenoir Rhyne during the regular season and both clubs dropped a tilt to Catawba in the North State playoffs. The Bears will rate as slight favorites due to their home court advantage.

ECC will have one thing going in their favor and that is plenty of rest. Coach Howard Porter has had plenty of time to get his club ready as they have been out of action since last Wednesday Lenoir Rhyne, Western Carolina, and Wofford have been in tournament competition for the past week and could show some string effects.

Western Carolina, North State tournament and regular season champs, will be favorites to earn the trip to Kansas City but may find underdog Wofford plenty of trouble.

Porter will bank his upset hopes on the shoulders of Nick Nichols and Ike Riddick. Nichols was named to the All-Conference team and has been a Pirate standout all season. Riddick, a junior, has been the big scorer in recent games with over 20 points in his last three outings.

Other starters for the Pirates will include Joe Plaster, lanky center, and freshmen, Charlie Lewis and Benny Bowes. Don Smith, sophomore forward, will also be available for duty as a reserve.

Chicod Playing

Chicod, regular season champion in Pitt County competition, plays Griggs High School tomorrow night at 7:00 in the Class A District 1 Tournament at Ahoskie.

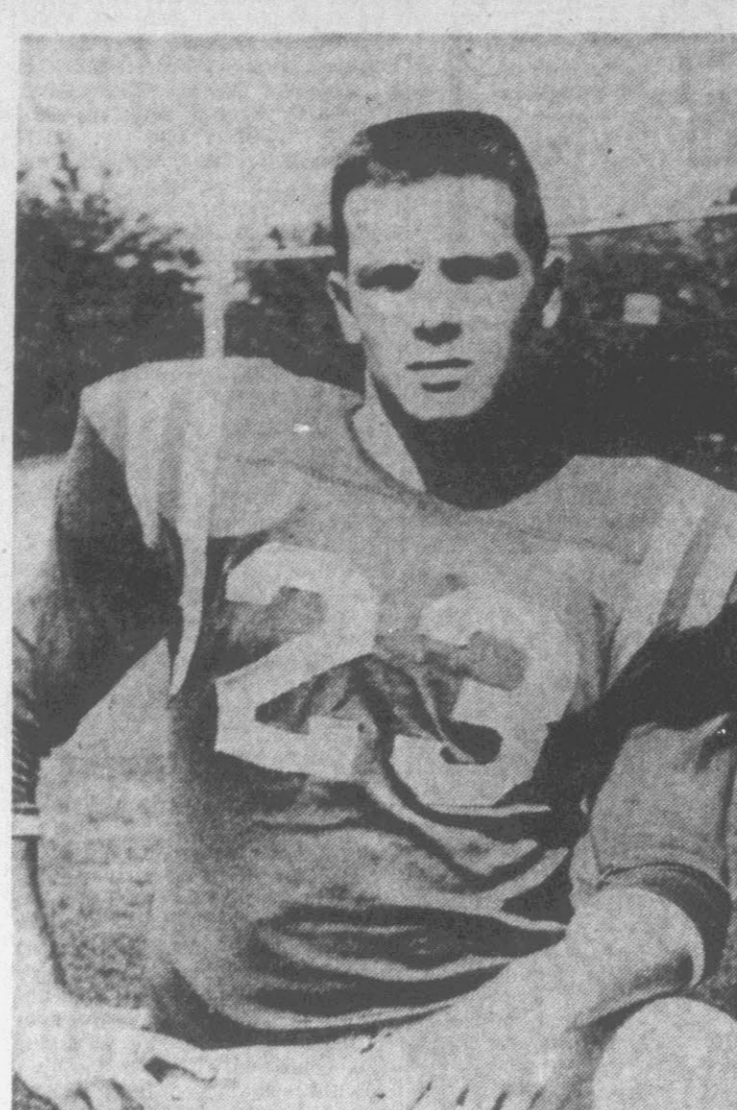

The tournament is one of four which will be taking place in eastern districts to determine a representative in the State playoffs at Winston-Salem later this month.

Chicod Coach Leroy Pittman said this morning "If we can win three games—including tomorrow night's opener—we will notch the district one title."

"Griggs High is a tough team and has lost only one game all season," concluded Pittman.

Chicod was ousted in the Pitt County Tournament but was able to advance into the district playoffs with their regular season championship.

Alumni-Varsity Grid Game Winds Up Pirate Winter Drills Saturday

WAYNE DAVIS . . . starting guard for the ECC varsity in forthcoming Alumni contest.

Winter football drills at East Carolina College will come to a close this week with the Annual Alumni-Varsity contest slated for Saturday afternoon in College Stadium.

A host of former ECC stars are expected to return for the tilt with a couple of All-American, Lou Hallow and Dick Cherry, leading the field.

Others listed on the Alumni roster will be Ray Pennington, Jerry Brooks, Gary Mattocks, James Faircloth, Ken Burgess, Dick Monds, Harold O'Kelly, Bobby Ferry, Lee Atkinson and Randall Holmes.

Coach Jack Boone has been unable to work with his squad during the past two weeks due to exams and the quarter break but has had plenty of chances to look over his material as winter practice got underway in January.

School resumes Thursday and Boone will get a chance to get final instructions in to his griders.

This will be the second Alumni-Varsity tilt. The varsity defeated the old-timers in last season's initial contest. The game is sponsored by the East Carolina Varsity Club and tickets are now on sale.

ECC posted a 6-4 mark last season to return to the winning realm after a couple of rebuilding seasons. Coach Jack Boone states that the prospects for the coming fall are good as only five men were lost by graduation. Tackle Charlie Cook, a regular, dropped out of school to run the number two six.

The Bucs have a flock of returning lettermen back plus Boone hopes to bring in some outstanding freshmen. The head football coach states that he is not counting on his freshmen flock too much as far as his 1959 season is concerned. He points out that plenty of returning material is available and that it will be utilized as much as possible.

The football banquet will precede the football game Friday night and Boone has stated that a large turnout is expected. The banquet will be held in the new cafeteria at East Carolina and will start at 7:00. Errel Webb, local business man, will be the guest speaker.

Robertson Ups Scoring Average

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, the biggest news in college basketball's scoring columns for the second straight year, refuses to relax as he steams toward a second straight title.

Robertson upped his season's average to 34.0 Monday night with a 44-point binge against North Texas State.

This gave him a 4.9 point lead over runner-up Lee Byrd of Marshall who scored nine points in Marshall's 67-60 loss to Toledo. Byrd became ill and left the game in the second half.

Robertson has scored at a 38.5 average in his last six games as he bids to become the first player ever to win the scoring crown in both his sophomore and junior years.

AP Poll Puts Kentucky At Top Of Cage Powers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Kentucky's Wildcats may find themselves in the unenviable position of having to defend two firsts when they begin play in the 1959 NCAA basketball tournament.

Kentucky, which finished its regular season with a 23-2 record and a tie for second place in the Southeastern Conference, will begin its NCAA title defense in the Midwest regionals at Evanston, Ill., March 13. The Wildcats got in because Mississippi State, the Southeastern Conference champion, wouldn't play in a tournament where other teams had Negro players.

Kentucky not only will be defending the NCAA title, but likely will go into the tournament ranked as the No. 1 college team in The Associated Press poll. This week's voting again put Kentucky on top by a margin of over 100 points over runner-up Kansas State.

Kansas State (22-1) has two more games to play, however, and these could lead to stronger support in the voting of sports writers and broadcasters in the AP poll. Third-place Cincinnati also has some key games left on its schedule.

On the ballots of 104 writers and broadcasters, Kentucky edged K-State by only 32-28 in the first place voting but retained first place on points 858 to 750. Cincinnati, with only seven firsts, drew 703 points.

Since The Associated Press poll was inaugurated in 1949, Kentucky has finished on top four times but won the NCAA title in only two of those years—1949 and 1951.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis):

| 1 Kentucky (32) . . . . . 858          |
| 2 Kansas State (20) . . . . . 750      |

Raps Officiating At Wake Forest

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Coach Tom Blackburn of the University of Dayton doesn't think too kindly about the basketball officiating at Wake Forest College in North Carolina.

His appraisal of the officiating at Saturday night's game between Dayton and Wake Forest was particularly dark.

"This is the worst officiating I've ever seen in my life," he was quoted as saying.

The flyers took a 66-57 beating from the Southerners that night. Thirty persons were called against Dayton and 13 against Wake Forest. The winners scored their final 11 points from the charity line.

Dayton players went out on fouls.

"In my 10 years of traveling," Blackburn said after the game, "this is the first time I've felt early in a ball game that I was not going to be given a chance to win. I've seen quite a bit of home cooking, but this is a bit too much."

Blackburn shook hands with Wake Forest Coach Horace McKinney after the game then reportedly left with this parting remark:

"This is a good place to stay away from."

Officiating the game were George Garber of Washington, D.C., and Jim Mills of Wilson, N.C.

Home Builders And Stokes Fall Victim

Carolina Dairies and Greenville Parts & Metal Co. swept victories last night at the Greenville Junior High Gymnasium to move into the semi-finals of the Greenville Basketball Association Tournament.

Carolina Dairies led all the way in downing the Home Builders, 60-51. Stokes was the victim in the second game as Greenville Part & Metal Co. overcame a first quarter lead and went on to capture an easy 62-48 win.

Worthington of Carolina Dairies and Powell of Home Builders shared the scoring honors in the opening contest as both tallied 23. The Home Builders stayed within three points until the final quarter when the winners pulled out front.

Edwards and Carson had 22 points each in pacing Greenville Parts and Metal Co. to their big win. Robertson was high for Stokes with 12 points.

The league's top two teams, Eastern Pines and Ayden Tractor and Implement Co., each received a bye from first round play but will get back in action Wednesday as the semi-finals get underway.

Ayden Tractor & Implement Co. will open Wednesday night's agenda against the Greenville Parts & Metal Company. The opening tilt is slated for 7:00 at the Junior High Gymnasium.

Carolina Dairies will take on top-seeded Eastern Pines in the second game which will start at 8:30.

The finals of the Greenville Basketball Association tournament will be held Friday night in the same gym, with the championship tilt slated to start at 8:30. A consolation between Wednesday night's losers will precede the game.

Petit Moves On New NBA Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks needs only a 13-point average in his six remaining games to establish a National Basketball Assn. scoring record.

The Bayou Bombardier, who was drafted by the Hawks after winning All-America honors at LSU, is within 78 points of George Yardley's standard of 2,001. Yardley, now playing for Syracuse, set the mark at Detroit last season.

Pettit has amassed 1,924 points, an average of 29.2 points a game. If he maintains that average, he will eclipse the record set by the great George Mikan, who in 1950-51 scored 28.4 a contest.

Trailing Pettit are Jack Twyman of Cincinnati and Paul Arizin of Philadelphia.

Twyman advanced to second place with 1,693 points and a 25.3 average. Arizin, whose 25.8 average is higher, trails in points with 1,675, but has two more games to play.

Kenny Sears leads in field goal accuracy with a .493 mark; Boston's Bill Sharman heads the free throw percentage leaders with .935; Bill Russell of the Celtics heads the rebounders with 22.9 a game and Boston's Bob Cousy heads the playmakers with 8.5 assists a game.

Victory For 5 Tar Heel Boxers

NEW YORK (AP)—Five North Carolina boxers scored decisions Monday to advance to the quarter-finals of the Eastern Golden Gloves championship.

Winning in the three-round bouts were Lee Boyd of Lincoln, 112 pounds; Ronnie Harrison of Mt. Holly 118; Jimmy Hodge of Rutherfordton, 126; Darrell Powell of Drexel, 135; and Dink McManus of Mt. Holly, 175.

The only clean knockout in Monday's bouts was registered by a Rock Hill, S.C., Negro, Joe Louis Adams. The heavyweight, who fights in Jacksonville, Fla., because of a segregation ruling in the Carolinas, dumped fellow Carolinian Ray Campbell of Charlotte in 1:20 of the third round.

The regional finals will be held Wednesday night.

Manhattan Coach Denies Long String Of Charges

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan College track coach George Eastment, a lawyer by trade, pleaded innocent today to a whole string of charges filed against him by Penn State's Chick Werner in the wake of the Jaspers' victory in the ICA indoor championships.

Manhattan won last Saturday's meet with 21 points to Penn State's 20 1/2. The key point came when Manhattan's Henry White was awarded third place in the 60-yard high hurdles, following a protest by Eastment. Before the Manhattan pilot objected, White had been placed fourth.

Werner charged that Eastment acted in bad taste in making the protest, that it was unethical for him to talk to the judge in question and finally that he should have disqualified himself from the ICA Games Committee, which reviewed Werner's complaints.

"I see no reason why a coach shouldn't go on the floor," said Eastment in defending his position. "It's been done many times."

"All I did was ask chief Dan Ferris to review the slips of the judges who called the race."

"The judge in question (Dave Levy) told me that White finished ahead of Mike Herman of NYU, who had been awarded third. Once he told me that I knew the decision would have to be reversed because I knew the rule governing the action."

As for being on the Games Committee, Eastment said he took no part in the discussion, and that, furthermore, he was not the representative of the coaches as Werner thought. He was on the committee, he said, because he happened to be the coach of a team close to ICA headquarters and was readily available.

Werner didn't actually file a protest. He asked for a review by the Games Committee. It got him nowhere. The Games Committee decided the problem was out of its jurisdiction. A matter for the Executive Committee, it said.

Loes, Conley Bid Early For 'Bad Boy' Title

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Temperamental Billy Loes and hooper Gene Conley today were running neck and neck for designation as major league baseball's No. 1 bad boy.

Loes, the only ballplayer ever to claim he lost a ground ball in the sun, ended another brief feud with the Baltimore management Monday and signed his contract.

The 29-year-old pitcher, long known for his eccentric actions, oftentimes has clashed with Orioles Manager Paul Richards since he was sold by Brooklyn in 1956.

Loes signed for an estimated $20,000, taking a slight cut after a dismal 3-9 pitching performance last year. He reiterated a statement he has often made: "I'd like to be traded to another club."

Conley drew a blast from Milwaukee executive vice president Burdie Tebbetts. He has been playing professional basketball with the Boston Celtics and refused to report for spring training. The Braves pitcher, who had a 0-9 mark last year, insists he will not report before the hoop season end.

Said Tebbetts: "When we gave Conley permission to play basketball it was with the understanding that he would quit that sport by Feb. 15. Now he feels he owes an obligation to the Celtics. He must feel no obligations to us."

The Braves, however, did receive some good news when infielder Casey Wise and Del Rice signed, leaving only Conley, first baseman Joe Adcock and pitcher Lon McManis as holdouts.

The Washington Senators brought two holdouts into the fold, getting signed contracts from Jim Lemon, who hit 26 home runs last year, and Albie Pearson, the American League's rookie of the year.

Among the holdouts, Bob Cerv, the Kansas City's A's long-range batter, remained firm in his demands. Seeking a reported $25,000 Cerv said, "I'm standing pat." He and the club are still about $5,000 apart.

An optimistic note was struck at the Pittsburgh camp where Dick Stuart predicted he would hit 30 homers if played regularly "and maybe we'll all be playing in the World Series."

But a nostalgic note broke the routine at the Los Angeles camp. Flanked by two attendants and confined to an electrically powered wheelchair he calls his "Cadillac," Roy Campanella, now a Dodger coach, rejoined his former teammates.

The DEADLY LADY of MADAGASCAR BY C.V. TERRY

WHAT HAS HAPPENED Richard Douglas, a young Scotch mariner, is relating a story that begins in 1701, when the ship RESOLUTE is arriving in New York, Dick's first stop on a secret mission to Madagascar. He has plunged into the adventure blindly, expecting to earn gold with which to marry his sweetheart in Scotland and settle down. Dick is to receive further orders from Sir Luke Metcalf, the East India Company agent in New York.

shouted at him to desist — or, at least, to explain himself. But goad him on. Convinced that I was fighting a madman, I saved my breath thereafter. I am a master swordsman myself, with an iron wrist and nerves to match. I have fought my share of bravos afloat and ashore, but I will testify I have never met his match. When I forced the attack, as I felt I must, he took each of my blows in stride — only to leap aside as he waried of the easy defense and renewed his own assault. Indeed, as the fray proceeded I had the nightmarish conviction this was no mere alley brawl, but a classic exercise in some salle d'armes, with death the only prize.

I dashed the hand aside and doubled both my fists — ready, even in exhaustion, to defend myself as best I could. The gesture only increased his mirth. "Put down your fists," he said. "I'm a poor hand at that kind of brawling. Besides, you've proved you can use 'em." "Does that mean I go free?" I demanded. "If you like, I still hope you'll shake hands with me, now you've passed muster." "Stand aside if you're a man of your word," I said. "I've had enough of this."

CHAPTER 6 Bewildered as I was, I could see no reason for my assailant's fury: I knew only that I would need all my strength and skill to hold him off. Now and again I

Once I managed to break free of his slashing attack for a few seconds and worked toward the pier's end: with a running dive and the tide behind me, I might have escaped him entirely. But he guessed my purpose — and, charging recklessly across a stack of boxes, leaped down to the stirs-pieces and barred my path.

Once he had led me to his paneled study and installed me there, with a jug of rum at my elbow to amuse me while he changed, I was hardly started to find that one of my two attackers in the alley was his wine steward, the other his butler. Both served as his bodyguards, since they were also employees of the Company. As such, they were accustomed to a variety of strange duties: cornering me as I tarried at the warehouse had been but part of the day's work.

Spring Quarter Begins Tomorrow At East Carolina

East Carolina College will open for the spring quarter Wednesday. Students will enroll at the college and prepare their schedules of classes for the quarter during morning and afternoon sessions in the Wright building. Faculty members and members of the business staff and the Registrar's Office will be on duty there during the day. Class work will begin at 8 a.m. Thursday.

The spring quarter will include holidays from March 26 to March 31. Commencement exercises will be held at 6 p.m. May 24 in the college stadium. The summer session will begin June 8.

His Blind Date And Car 'Gone'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The blind date, met by telephone, was delighted when Robert Wood, 29, suggested a drive-in movie. She seemed pleased, too, when he went after refreshments, leaving her alone in his late-model car. But for Wood, a service station attendant, the evening suddenly took a dismal turn. Missing along with the brunette, when he returned, was his car.

"No loss from rot with ORTHOCIDE treated seed pieces . . ."

Potato grower John Koroleski reports: "We treated our potato seed pieces with ORTHOCIDE Dust at the time of cutting. They were stored for three weeks between cutting and planting and were in the ground four weeks before come-up — without loss from rot. And the come-up was perfect in spite of a cold, wet spring."

For bigger — better yields, treat your potato seed pieces with ORTHOCIDE — Only ORTHOCIDE (captan) provides effective control of seed-rot and damp-off diseases in germinating seed pieces and seedlings. Also, this proven ORTHO fungicide makes it possible to cut potato seed pieces in advance of planting allowing you to plant full time without the daily interruption of cutting more seed pieces.

Little Symphony Concert Mar. 10

The Little Symphony of the North Carolina Symphony Society will present an evening adult concert in Kinston on Tuesday, March 10 at the Teachers Memorial Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. All members of the North Carolina Symphony Society are eligible to attend.

The 25-man group, under the baton of Benjamin Swain, will play a varied program, including Mendelssohn's "Italian" Symphony; Bach's Chorale, from the Easter Cantata; Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death; and Tchaikovsky's Dance of the Queen of Swans, from the ballet Swan Lake.

Soloist for the evening concert will be bass-baritone Otis Lambert Jr. Mr. Lambert will sing four selections: Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves — a relative from the opera Julius Caesar; and So, Tra, I Ceppi (Even Among Chains) from the opera Berenice by Handel; Schubert's An Die Musik (To Music); and Verdi's Il Lacerto Spirito (The Wounded Spirit) from the opera Simon Boccanegra.

Demo Leaders Push Vote Of Bills Before March 26

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders are driving to lay out a substantial record of legislative action as quickly as possible in an effort to show that the Democratic Congress is keeping on its toes.

Johnson and Rayburn are reported to agree that unless there are unexpected international developments that would require congressional action, this year's session ought to wind up its work early in July.

Any such timetable, however, may depend on Eisenhower's reaction to measures such as the housing and airport bills, which affect his efforts to balance the budget.

The Senate has passed both housing and airport aid bills far exceeding Eisenhower's proposals. Similar measures with smaller money totals, have been approved by House committees but not yet scheduled for floor action.

But the House committee bills still go beyond what Eisenhower asked, and unless the House makes further cuts when it acts upon them, the possibility of presidential vetoes will remain.

Vetoes of these measures obviously would anger some of the Democrats who have been going along with the party leadership in efforts to stay within Eisenhower's spending estimates so that the Democrats cannot be blamed for a budget deficit. They might seek to override these vetoes and, if they succeeded, go on to higher spending.

The leaders apparently believe they can stay within the limits of Eisenhower's money requests by cutting deeply into departmental administrative costs, revamping his farm program proposals and shaving foreign aid outlays.

How heavy the foreign aid cuts will be apparently depends to some extent on how successful the leaders are in holding down other appropriations.

A House subcommittee's findings that there had been widespread waste in administration of the mutual security program brought a demand from Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) in the Senate Monday that Eisenhower look personally into the matter.

"We may need an ever larger program than we have now, but I can't vote for foreign aid when maladministration comes up after time," Humphrey said.

Flying Bandit Is Trailed To Ohio

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Police and the FBI traced a flying bank robber to this northern Ohio city Monday night. There the trail ended.

Authorities say there is little doubt that the man they are chasing is Frank Lawrence Spreiz, 29, of Akron. He is one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals.

As Hamilton in southern Ohio Monday a courteous gunman, who thanked his victims, held up a branch of the First National Bank and Trust Co. and fled with $25,955.

Later an airplane was stolen from the Hamilton airport and flown to Coshocton, 160 miles northeast. That's when the FBI started thinking the bank robber was Spreiz, who has stolen airplanes on two other occasions.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, a teller in the Hamilton bank, identified Spreiz's picture.

In Coshocton, a car dealer said a man answering Spreiz' description purchased a used car with cash and drove away. Four hours later and 55 miles to the north the car was found abandoned here.

That's where the trail ends. Police frankly admit they have no solid leads on Spreiz' whereabouts — he's vanished, or so it seems.

But, if everything the FBI believes about Spreiz is true, his disappearance follows a pattern. He has been leading them on an incredible chase since breaking out of the Summit County jail in Akron almost a year ago.

Twice he has stolen airplanes. A seaplane taken from a Toronto, Ont., airport was found floating abandoned in Baltimore harbor on Sept. 30. Feb. 14 a plane was stolen from Scranton, Pa. and landed near Colechester, Vt.

While police scoured the East for Spreiz a man answering his description robbed a New Haven, Conn., Trust Company branch of $12,000.

Although Spreiz has not been known to shoot, the FBI says he is dangerous and will fire without provocation.

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR AP Newsfeatures

At a recent New York press preview I handled a 35mm camera with a new outlook. Through its one large picture window, there was a perfect view, life-size, of everything around us or, when wanted, a magnified view of one section. In its center was a targeting in which objects sprang into focus. And in its upper right was a circle pointer, which, when adjusted, assured perfect exposure through automatic control of the lens settings.

This camera combined the most popular features of modern camera design. It indicated that the race to reach the American market with one camera that had all these features has apparently been won by Voigtlander, the oldest existing camera firm.

This was their newest baby, the 35mm Bessamatic, which is scheduled to make its American debut for camera fans about now.

Now let's spell out the features a bit more slowly.

First, it's a single lens, eye-level reflex camera with a pentaprism viewfinder. This means through-the-lens viewing with all lenses and no parallax problems. The image is bright, clear, large and exact—a feature which lately has gained greater popularity.

Secondly, it has the latest and simplest type of coupled exposure meter control, visible in the viewfinder, whereby regulation of a single pointer automatically insures the proper combination and coordination of shutter speed and lens opening for perfect exposure. This trend was established at the world's fair of photo shows, the Photokina at Cologne, Germany, three months ago. Now it reaches American fans.

Thirdly, the camera has visual versatility through interchangeable lenses and each one has some tricks up its bayonet sleeve. A bayonet mount ensures a quick change from normal to wide-angle to telephoto lens — each one complete and each matched for complete color compatibility. Each also has coupled depth of field pointers and fully automatic diaphragm which stops down to the pre-selected aperture when the shutter is released and then returns to full opening.

The exposure control on the Bessamatic has a tremendous range. It starts with setting of the film speed, up to ASA 1600. Then it will scan the light and, by turning a dial while looking in the viewfinder to match the pointer, will set the shutter speed anywhere from 1-500th of a second up to time exposures of 250 seconds as well as fixing the correct lens openings.

After the correct combination has been reached, the camera fan can choose another speed or lens opening. The two are coupled together so the proper exposure value is maintained. However, it is also possible to change either setting independently, if so desired.

Other features include a single stroke rapid advance lever, hinged back, pull-up rewind knob and special optics on the viewfinder which make it easier for eye glass wearers to use this new camera.

Later stone-throwing mobs broke many of the windows in the embassy. Others stoned the offices of the U.S. Information Service two blocks away and broke into the USIS library, destroying books and magazines. A jeep outside was overturned.

Shots were fired in front of the embassy by rifle-bearing youths, as police used tear gas to try to disperse the mobs.

Slies strode through police lines guarding the embassy and shouldered his way up the block to the headquarters of the ruling Nationalist Revolutionary Movement.

From a balcony he called on the crowd to calm down.

"Don't make the situation more acute with acts of violence," he declared.

The president's appeals quieted things somewhat, but scattered groups roamed the mountain capital Monday night. Heavy police guards were out.

The Bolivian government protested against the Time article in both La Paz and Washington. The ministry said it had received assurances that no U.S. Embassy official had made the statement quoted in the magazine.

Angry mobs burned issues of Time in front of the embassy. A police cordon was thrown around the building and along neighboring streets, but about 200 youths broke through.

Lake Would End Constitutional Requirement

BURLINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A former assistant state attorney general says a constitutional requirement for a uniform school system should be removed to leave the state free to fight school integration efforts.

Dr. Beverly Lake told the Burlington Rotary Club Monday night "We must be free to maneuver" to fight integration efforts. "That we cannot do if our own Legislature is placed in a straight-jacket by our own State Constitution."

The Constitution's provision for a uniform school system, Lake asserted, is not necessary for continued operation of schools.

"All it does," he declared, "is to hamstring and confine the Legislature in fighting this war of maneuver against the NAACP for the preservation of your children's right to the privilege of education."

Incentive School Fund Lines Form

RALEIGH (AP) — An administration-backed proposal for an incentive school fund drew support from one group and opposition from another Monday.

Directors of the North Carolina Assn. of County Commissioners adopted a resolution opposing the proposal.

At Washington, N.C., H. Swindell Lewis Jr., president of the division of school principals of the North Carolina Education Assn., announced his organization supports Gov. Hodges' recommendation for a 10 million dollar incentive fund.

Hodges proposed that the state set up the fund to encourage counties to increase their financial support for schools.

Entertainers' Tribute To A Discoverer Of Talent

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — There's something fascinating about a host of stars devoting 90 minutes of prime television time to paying tribute to a man whom the general public scarcely knows.

Yet that's what happens tonight when NBC-TV presents "Some of Manie's Friends."

Manie was Emanuel Sacks, a vice president of NBC, who died of leukemia a year ago last Feb. 9.

The purpose is worthy. Every one is performing for the minimum fee allowed by union regulations and donating the difference—totaling around $100,000—to the Emanuel Sacks Foundation for Medical Research in Philadelphia.

The complications in organizing this show were enormous. A sponsor was found before either the content of the program or who would appear on it was worked out. Nearly everyone appearing in the show had to iron out conflicting commitments.

Those who will perform include Sid Caesar, Rosemary Clooney, Nat King Cole, Perry Como, Eddie Fisher, Betty Grable, Bob Hope, Harry James, Tony Martin, Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra, Kay Starr, Danny Thomas, Jack Webb and Jane Wyman.

Each feels he was aided in some way by Manie Sacks. There are many others who feel the same.

Manie Sacks was a demonstration of the fact that nice guys do win ball games.

His name seldom appeared in the newspapers. His position at NBC sometimes seemed rather vague and nebulous; there are or have been so many vice presidents at NBC that it's a wonder NBC president Robert E. Kintner can name them all.

Basically, however, he was a discoverer of talent—a decisive voice who said, "Let's try it." From wide experience in the recording industry and show business he had an uncanny knack of picking the better from the worst.

A man of sympathetic nature, people were forever going to him with their problems.

One who knew him well says that "Manie never seemed to say 'yes' or 'no.' He said 'maybe.' There are many unsung saints who create the stars the public applauds. Due to the nature of their jobs, they have to say 'no' more often than 'yes.' Since aspiring talent detests the negative, these unsung saints seldom are very popular.

Manie Sacks was one of the few who was.

STATUE AND SKY, a subject in strong contrast, is one of the large range of lighting situations tried by Chicago photographer Rus Arnold in testing the new 35mm Voigtlander Bessamatic. Without taking his eye from its large viewfinder window, he could compose and focus his subject and also see when he had achieved perfect exposure.

Angry Anti-American Outburst Over Article Termed In Error

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Seeking to calm enraged mobs which stoned the U.S. Embassy, Bolivian President Hernan Siles said Monday night American officials have denied a Time magazine story that touched off the anti-American outburst.

The Time article quoted an unidentified U.S. Embassy official as suggesting Bolivia, because of its economic problems, should be abolished as a country and "its neighbors divide the country and its problems."

Slies took to the streets and the radio after the rioting resulted in the fatal shooting of a 15-year-old student. At one point mobs burned the U.S. flag but there were no reports of injuries to Americans.

In a radio appeal, Siles said the U.S. charge d'affaires had told him the Time magazine article did not correspond to statements made by an American diplomatic official.

There had been, Siles told the national, a "provocation by an irresponsible journalist that reflected the thought of international capitalism."

The quote in question appeared in the current hemisphere edition of Time, which circulates in Latin America, but not in the U.S. edition. A spokesman at the magazine's offices in New York indicated a statement might be issued later.

Angry mobs burned issues of Time in front of the embassy. A police cordon was thrown around the building and along neighboring streets, but about 200 youths broke through.

Later stone-throwing mobs broke many of the windows in the embassy. Others stoned the offices of the U.S. Information Service two blocks away and broke into the USIS library, destroying books and magazines. A jeep outside was overturned.

Marriage Licenses

Three marriage licenses were issued last week by the Pitt County Register of Deeds office.

The licenses went to John W. Ormand, Jr., of Monroe and Betsy Cateloo of Winterville, a white couple; and to Negro couples James Eley Pollard and Emma Ruth Brown, both of Route 2, Ayden, and Roosevelt Joyner and Patricia Dixon, both of Farmville.

Union Leaders Meet With Governor Hodges

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Union officials left a conference with Gov. Hodges today with expressed hope for a settlement of the Henderson cotton mill strike.

"The governor seems to be honestly and sincerely seeking a solution to the situation," reported Boyd E. Payton of Charlotte, regional director of the Textile Workers Union of America.

The union group spent 50 minutes with Hodges. They were followed by a management delegation, headed by President John D. Cooper Jr. of the Harriet-Henderson Textile Mills which operates the mills.

The governor arranged the talks after violence at the two strikes plants, where workers have been off the job since Nov. 15. A management demand for elimination of an arbitration clause was the major disagreement.

Before meeting with the union and management groups, Hodges heard State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane and federal and state conciliators report on conciliation efforts thus far.

Payton said the union leaders talked with Hodges about the possibility of the governor serving as a mediator. While the governor

Kiwanis Session Slated Thursday

FARMVILLE — Approximately 150 members of 11 Kiwanis Clubs in seventh division of the Carolinas Kiwanis District are expected here Thursday night for the annual meeting of divisional representatives.

Sam D. Roane Jr. of Greenville, S.C., governor of the Carolinas Kiwanis District, will be principal speaker at the meeting. Seventh Division Lieutenant Governor Charles S. Edwards of Farmville will preside.

The meeting will include a social hour at 6 p.m. in the Farmville Country Club, to be followed at 7 p.m. with a dinner in the Farmville American Legion Building. Delegates to the meeting are expected from Kiwanis Clubs in Farmville, Greenville, Washington, Statesboro, Wilson, Kinston, Goldsboro, Clinton, Elizabethtown, Wilmington and Jacksonville.

The program will also include the welcoming address by President Harold Rouse of the Farmville Kiwanis Club; remarks by Herbert W. Hennig of Darlington, S.C., secretary-treasurer of the Carolinas Kiwanis District; and presentation of prizes and awards by Sam D. Bundy of Farmville, former district governor.

Report Progress In Soliciting Ads For Festival

AYDEN — "Satisfactory progress" in solicitation of ads for the program of the Pitt County Farmers Festival was reported today by Program Committee Chairman Nathan Thomas.

The festival, sponsored by the Ayden Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held April 11.

"Local merchants are cooperating almost 100 per cent and county-wide participation has been excellent," Thomas said. "Ayden Jaycees are highly encouraged by the response and feel assured that the Farmers Festival will be one of the biggest events in the history of Pitt County."

Thomas added that the completed program will be submitted to printers within a few days. Persons desiring to be included in the program are asked to contact Thomas at 314 West Second Street in Ayden.

Court Approves Two Divorces

Two divorces were granted and a compromise settlement approved in yesterday's session of a civil term of Superior Court.

The divorces went to Otis L. Corey from Mildred Oakley Corey, and Joseph Adams from Mary Short Adams. Judgments for them were signed by Judge Henry L. Stevens, presiding at the term.

Judge Stevens also approved a judgment directing Jack Alton Nobles to pay $1,052.55 as full compensation to a suit by Ray Bryum, a minor, through his next friend, Hazel W. Moore. The suit resulted from a collision between the boy's bicycle and Nobles' automobile on November 15, 1958.

Compiling List Of Future Pupils

GRIFTON — Grifton School has begun compiling lists of children who will enter first grade classes next fall. It was announced today by Principal E. B. Bright.

Bright said parents of children who will enter school for the first time during the 1959-1960 school year are asked to list, with the school office, each child's name and date of birth, and complete names and addresses of parents.

He added that children who expect to enter first grade this fall must be six years of age on or before October 16.

Safety Council Meets Thursday

The monthly meeting of the Pitt County Safety Council will be conducted Thursday, March 5, at the Respass Brothers' Restaurant, North Greene Street, at 12:30. It was announced today.

Chairman Charles H. Whedbee, in making the announcement, said that a worthwhile program has been planned and that all members are urged to be present.

NEVER DULL

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) —The life of a water meter reader isn't dull in the opinion of a veteran at the work, Robert L. Daniel.

"I've found everything from a bottle of whiskey to a 'possum' in meters," he said, as well as snakes and black widow spiders.

Non-Par Banking Issue Target Of Senate From Wake County

RALEIGH (AP) —A Wake County senator has leveled his sights on North Carolina banks which charge fees for cashing checks.

Sen. John R. Jordan Jr. sent forward a bill Monday night to repeal the law permitting non-par banking under which fees are charged by some banks for cashing checks.

The non-par banking issue, Jordan declared in a prepared statement, "has already become one of the most discussed propositions which will come before this session of the General Assembly and it is taking up a lot of the Legislature's time."

He added, "Many of the (legislative) members have stated that a large part of their mail concerns this matter."

Previous legislatures have defeated attempts to abolish non-par banking.

Jordan said "the present law in North Carolina allows banks to charge a fee of not in excess of one eighth of 1 per cent on remittances covering checks, the minimum fee being 10 cents."

In other developments: The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to allow the taking of oysters out of season. Under the measure sponsored by Sen. S. Bunn Frink of Brunswick and Cicero Yow of New Hanover, one bushel of oysters per person could be taken for private consumption on off-season Tuesdays and Fridays. It also would permit taking of shrimp, clams, and fish for personal use.

Rep. Roy Coates of Johnston offered two bills to help assure correct weighing of cotton purchased from farmers. One would require that all cotton purchased from the producer be weighed by a licensed public weighmaster. The other would require that cotton buyers be registered with the Department of Weights and Measures before being allowed to purchase cotton.

Rep. Irwin Belk of Mecklenburg introduced legislation which would authorize the city of Charlotte to operate feeder helicopter service into the Charlotte airport. It would permit the city to transport passengers, freight and mail within a 65-mile radius of Charlotte. Belk said in a statement the measure "also provides full opportunity for private enterprise to operate this franchise and it is expected that all of the governmental officials supporting this bill will give full opportunity for private business to render this much needed service to the Charlotte-Piedmont area."

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to give the city of Wilmington authority to improve its port with funds from bond sales.
