Tells Of Life In Denmark

When the members of the Chatham Book Club met recently they were welcomed by the hostess, Mrs. P. K. Andresen. Upon arrival the guests were invited into the dining room for Danish tea.

They were seated around a table decorated with spring flowers, Copenhagen porcelain and Danish silver. The guests were served Danish bread, cheese whirls, tarts and pastries.

The hostess spoke to the group on her personal experiences and family customs while a resident in Denmark.

She pointed out that Denmark's history goes back to the dim twilight of the saga-period, out of which loom the figures of the Viking heroes. It is a peaceful landscape of rolling farmland, she commented. Agriculture is the leading industry with 80 per cent of the soil productive. The people are sturdy and progressive, and Denmark has shown great progress.

It ranks with leading nations in education and health. Dairy farming is big business.

therefore Denmark is the largest exporter of butter. At times her shipments have exceeded 350 million pounds of butter per year. She also exports bacon and eggs.

About one-third of Denmark's population lives in Copenhagen, the capital.

Mrs. Andresen stated that the gardens were filled with flowers and it was a custom when one went visiting, they would carry a bouquet of their self-raised flowers.

The hostess and speaker lived in Denmark for four years. She showed pictures of art to the members following her talk.

Mrs. Luther Bowling, the president, welcomed Mrs. Haley as an afternoon guest.

Utilities Rates Cited By Horne

"Contrary to what many people think, Greenville has one of the lowest rates for domestic electric power in Eastern North Carolina," according to Charles Horne, member of the Greenville Utilities Commission.

In a talk to the Lions Club last night, Horne compared the rates charged by Greenville with those of public and private companies now operating in this area. He pointed out that the rate in Greenville is lower than in six towns in the area and also lower than the rate of two privately owned companies.

As an example of cost, Horne said that for 1,000 kilowatt hours the highest rate would be charged by Wilson with a cost of $24.10, the lowest cost by Carolina Power & Light Co. would be $15.75, and in Greenville it would cost $18.75. "Eight companies charge more for this amount of electricity than Greenville and only three would charge less," Horne pointed out.

"At present we are purchasing approximately 65 per cent of our power from other companies and are generating 35 per cent of our power in our local plant," Horne stated. "This seems to be the most economical way for us to operate at this time."

A. A. Hines announced to the club that Monday, March 23 will be "Ladies and Charter Night" for the Greenville Lions, and he reported that plans were underway for a special meeting this night.

Fell In Old Well, Girl Is Rescued

LE GRAND, Iowa (AP)—Barbara Lawson, 12, a Le Grand farm girl, was recovering today at her home from the harrowing experience of being rescued from a fall Monday into an abandoned 30-foot well on the Lawson farm.

Her condition was described as satisfactory. A doctor said she suffered only a skinned knee, and slightly from exposure.

The girl and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lawson, credited Barbara's trust in her mother's words, a rusted pipe in the well, and the efforts of Fuhrman Parks, a Le Grand volunteer fireman, with saving her life.

"Mommy kept telling me to hang on," Barbara related. "I did. I knew somebody would help me out if I just hung on long enough. My hands were cold and my arms ached. I heard mommy yelling at me to hang on—help was coming soon."

The girl clung to the pipe for 30 minutes until Parks rescued her. Water in the well was nine feet deep. Fellow firemen let Parks down on a rope which he tied to the girl and she was pulled out. Then Parks was pulled back to safety.

Barbara broke through an old board cover of the well as she started to leave her home to go to school.

Apparently Share Views On ECC

It is apparent that Gov. Hodges and the Council of State share the feeling of most Greenville residents that East Carolina College is destined to grow into a much larger institution than it now is.

That much should be evident from the action taken last week which gave approval to the purchase of an additional 43 acres of land for the college campus.

It was a relatively few years ago that the college campus was extended south of Tenth Street with the purchase of 35 acres of land between Tenth and Fourteenth Streets. The first building to be constructed on this property is now nearing completion and bids have been taken for a second dormitory on the same property.

With the new purchase the campus has been extended beyond Fourteenth Street, and while the use to be made of the area has not been officially designated, it is apparent that the area will be needed in time.

In a little more than a decade, East Carolina has seen its student body quadruple. In spite of significant outlays that have been approved for new construction on the campus, East Carolina has found itself hard pressed to keep pace with the demands being made upon it by young people from this area of the state seeking college educations.

Now a college with almost 4,000 students attending classes on campus, its rate of growth during the past decade suggests it might well grow into an institution at least twice the present size . . . maybe even larger. It is obvious the newly purchased land will be needed in the not too distant future if the rate of growth continues. It is equally obvious that had the land not been acquired now, it would not have been available in the future.

The acquisition of this new property assures East Carolina College of an area into which to expand as its needs require. At the same time it must be realized that the land itself will not be sufficient. There must follow additional funds as they are needed to provide buildings and other facilities.

We trust the action by the governor and the Council of State in approving the purchase of this new property for the college is indicative of further support for other needs of the college in terms to carry out its program of service to the state.

Outward Sign Of New Leadership Abuilding

Few people dispute the leadership ability of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson or the power he asserts in the upper house of Congress.

Yet we find it difficult to believe that among Democrats in the Senate Johnson's position is as all-powerful as the recent attacks by Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin would suggest.

Wisconsin's junior Senator declared in his most recent blast at Johnson that major policies are being decided not on the floor of the Senate, but in private conferences between Johnson and a few other members of that body.

If Johnson does wield such power, it is because he has been accorded that high position of trust by his fellow Democrats in the Senate. But in spite of strength Johnson has shown in recent Senate tests, we are unable to see in Democratic policies or action anything which approaches one-man rule.

If, in fact, such a situation does exist, it is the fault of other Democrats in the Senate for not asserting themselves and making known their views which are contrary to Johnson's. The position of Majority Leader carries with it considerable power and at the same time a heavy burden of responsibility. For the welfare of the nation and the party which is in the majority, the man who fills that position must be a man of force, determination and sufficient political skill to forge a positive program and the backing to carry out that program. The fact that Johnson exhibits these attributes does not mean that things are out of kilter in the Senate. Neither does it mean that one man rather than one political party is determining what is good for the nation and what shall and shall not be done.

It is only natural in the democratic process for younger men to challenge at times the established leadership. It is only natural that opposing views and conflicts must come into the open when such challenges are made. The fact that such challenges are made, however, does not mean that the established leadership is antiquated or out of step with the times. Neither does it mean that the young challengers are all wet.

Probably more than anything else, it is a good sign that progress is being made toward the development of leadership for future years.

Allies Forced To Summit Parley

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, temporarily frustrated in his desire for a summit conference, is forcing the Western Allies into a kind of summit meeting of their own. In the end, by sheer boldness, he may get the meeting he wants. Khrushchev has made it plain he considers foreign ministers a bunch of errand boys who fiddle around, split hairs and waste time on problems which only the top men can solve anyway.

That's why he first balked at a foreign ministers meeting to discuss the crisis he himself created: his demand the Western Allies get their troops out of West Berlin by May 27.

By sheer necessity — because the crisis is so major — the West's top men have had to move up from the shadows, leaving their foreign ministers in the shadows. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle have already met to discuss plans, map positions, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan goes to visit them this week. Then he comes here to see President Eisenhower.

Their foreign staff will be doing a lot of paper work but the topmen will have to agree on the broad policy. The fact that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has been in the shadows is a physical accident. He has been hospitalized with cancer.

Still, in this particular situation, Eisenhower would have had to assume the up-front role since any final decision, which might mean shooting off its avoidance, would have to be his.

Dulles' illness put the whole foreign policy load on Eisenhower. Dulles carried a big part of that load when he was well. This Tuesday news conference was an instrument for outlining broad American foreign policy. Dulles could field the detailed questions thrown at him, thus making it easier for the President at his Wednesday news conference. Eisenhower couldn't have the detailed knowledge possessed by Dulles, the specialist.

But the British foreign secretary Selwyn Lloyd, has almost disappeared from view under the commotion stirred up by Khrushchev. He may be handling details for Britain, but Macmillan is doing the talking. Yet the four Western Allies want a foreign ministers meeting to discuss Berlin and Germany. After saying what he thought of foreign ministers, Khrushchev agreed to their meeting, but grudgingly.

He made it plain he didn't think much good could come of it and in the end the top men would have to get together if there was going to be any solution at all.

If the foreign ministers meet, and most likely they will, and if they stall too-long to suit Khrushchev, he can shut them off and come close to forcing a summit meeting by starting to push for a Berlin showdown in a hurry.

PEACE AT ANY PRICE

It would appear that we overdo our philosophy of peace and kindness.

There is a growing hostility on the part of most moderns to any frigid measures which divide people into opposing groups. The prevailing idea seems to be to get everybody to agree — which of course is often impossible without moral compromise. Those who stand out for what they believe to be inflexible ethical principles and for wise courses of action against foolishness are regarded not only as fanatics, but as those who are doing society a great disservice by dividing people into contentious groups. If there is any sort of scandal, we are urged to cover it up. Thousands even suggest that we forget treasons that have

Fast Start But Action In Slow

By LYNN NISBET

PENT UP — It was predicted months ago that the course of the 1959 General Assembly might be charted during its third or fourth week. It was written there ten days ago that this, the fifth full week, might be the time of major decision. Those optimistic time estimates must be revised.

Despite a propitious early start in naming committees, especially in the House, and earlier than usual introduction of budget bills and other important administration measures, there has been very little action upon which to base opinion as to trends. Minor skirmishes in committees and on the floors of both House and Senate have not afforded outlet for all the pent up feeling.

There have been no frontal attacks on budget appropriation or tax proposals, but there have been a dozen or more independent appropriations bills designed to materially raise the amounts available from budget suggested revenue sources. Also there have been oblique approaches to increasing revenue by eliminating sales tax exemptions and for some additional levies. Sponsors of these bills are showing signs of resentment at the disposition of administration leaders to brush them off as of no consequence.

Members of the joint finance committee are becoming restive at the extended "briefing" sessions and the difficulty they experience in getting "yes" and "no" answers to simple questions. Consensus among finance committees is that they cannot take final action on tax bills until the appropriations committee gets farther along with its job. They did not want to wait until then to ascertain what amount will be involved in this or that proposal and what the probable effect will be on individual or corporate taxpayers.

EXPLOSIONS? Co-chairmen of the joint committee, Sen. Arthur Kirkman and Rep. Clifton Blue, although anxious to "get the show on the road" and avoid prolonged and unproductive debate, have encouraged the committee members to pursue their inquiries until they get satisfactory answers. Even tentative decisions cannot be made until some answers have been obtained.

First and second term men usually are restive at slow progress. Oldtimers have become accustomed to waiting for issues to work themselves out. Last week some of the veterans were complaining that when they asked a question they got argument and propaganda rather than an answer. One oldtimer, who is generally counted as pro-administration, said he would not be surprised if this week produced an explosion instead of a decision. WITHHOLDING — Most of the members, new and old, understand the sales tax and the probable effect of decreasing or eliminating exemptions on food and medicine. They think they know something about the merits, or lack of merit, in suggested bottled drink and cigarette levies. They do not understand a lot of the factors involved in the proposed application of the withholding principle for wage-earning income taxpayers. There is covert suspicion that the bill as written favors corporations at expense of individuals. The withholding plan is definitely less popular than when it was first proposed, largely because of inability to get direct answers to specific questions about its application to all classes of taxpayers. Legislative leaders are concerned about the growing belief that revenue and tax department folks either do not know the answers themselves — or do not want to give them.

ABSENTEES — The "local bill" offered by Rep. Leonard Lloyd to abolish absentee voting in Graham county occasioned some raised eyebrows. So did the representative's explanation of the reason for the bill. He said last fall absentee voters were put on the auction block and sold to the highest bidder, frequently for as much as $100 each. Elections are close in Graham. In 1956 Republican Kiles Hayes got 1,617 votes and Democrat Luther Hodges got 1,596 for Governor. A few bought votes can turn the tide, and Lloyd says he wants to stop the practice.

The second of 13 specific offenses declared by the election laws to be felonies, for which conviction carries a minimum four months jail sentence reads: "For any person to give or promise or request or accept at any time, before or after any such primary or election, any money property or other thing of value whatsoever in return for the vote of any elector." Among less than 3,500 registered voters the participants in the public auction should not be hard to find.

Chief objection to the bill is its alleged "local" feature. Election laws for county and State officers are uniform throughout the state. Eligibility requirements for municipal elections, which vary in many respects, also are standard. If the Legislature can abolish absentee voting in one county, it can authorize it for primaries in another.

The State Board of Elections and many "good government" organizations have long sought repeal of civilian absentee voting privileges, limiting such practice to military personnel. Lloyd contends that each county should have the right to set its own qualifications.

Just Go Fly That Kite

Surely, some special place in The Great Beyond is reserved for people who are called upon late in life to make monumental and sacrificial efforts. Everything they suffer greatly in this world, and their rewards are few.

Take, for instance, an acquaintance who is practically middle-aged. He's a good man, reasonably successful and fond of his family, which includes a small son.

He was energetic enough in his younger days, but of late he has become increasingly fond of late afternoon, early evening and weekend television. Everything on TV appeals to him, he says, because all that is required is a whole lot of sitting and looking, with no thinking involved. The life he leads now is a sort of a reflection of his youth. He wasn't exactly lazy, but he did prefer the sedentary phases of growing up. His mother remembers him as a good child, quiet and obedient.

He remembers his youth as an easy, unburdened and unworried time of life. He admits to missing a lot that other boys knew, but he doesn't let that prey on his mind. Once in a while, he wishes some things had been different. The latest wishing period came in the last week or so.

One of the things he missed in childhood was learning to fly a kite. He never had one of his own, although his friends remember him as a good string-holder and flour paste-mixer. As a matter of fact, his closest friends regard him as probably the best flour paste-mixer they have ever known.

The small son in the family is an avid kite fan. He looks for kites when the family goes riding and one of his most prized possessions is a store-bought cloud bustle. There are times, during each day, when the small son lives and breathes kites, and tries to rub his enthusiasm off on his father.

Over the weekend, the child tagged after the father so relentlessly that the man finally went out to help the young one fly his kite. Neither knew a whole lot about what to do.

The child — who's at the "know-it-all" stage and a little stinker at times — had a million suggestions. The father, searching his memory for a lost conversation about kites with an older brother, finally told him to shut up.

That was his second mistake (the first being going out with the kite in the first place). He followed it with his third: When he and the child were running to get the kite in the air, the father, who was looking back over his shoulder, bumped into the child and both went sprawling.

Recovering quickly, the father kept the kite from plunging to the ground. He tried to brush the dirt off his son, but the boy started crying and headed for home.

The father called to him and started to follow him. The kite, unattended for a moment, nosedived and plunged to the ground behind a house at the end of the field. The string went slack in the father's hands and all he could do was wind it back on the stick, and hope the kite wasn't torn up. It wasn't, and after he recovered it he started home.

His wife met him at the door, wanting to know what happened to the boy, and explaining, in no uncertain terms, that supper would be late because she had to take time to calm the child and get him clean.

"Look, all I was trying to do was fly a kite," the man said. "Well, buster," his wife replied, "you just go fly that kite."

The man looked at her, grinned and rubbed her nose with the back of his fingers. "As long as you're going to make me suffer," he asked, "why not tell me to go to the devil? It would be a whole lot easier."

Then, as an after-thought, he mused, "But, I've never done that, either."

"I think I'll just sit down, and keep quiet."

Other Editors Saying . . . N.C. Work Release Plan

(Rocky Mount Telegram)
Out of all the welters of bills descending upon the North Carolina General Assembly, one piece of legislation promises to be a really worthwhile if it is ever approved, and that is a proposal to expand the work release law to allow prisoners serving terms of up to five years to be considered for the work release plan, under which prisoners can serve their time at night and on weekends while working at regular jobs.

Rep. John Kerr of Warren said the bill would help rehabilitate prisoners, and also would serve to keep down prison population. Within five years, prison population is expected to reach 13,000, Kerr said. Certainly the measure should be given serious consideration. It has passed second reading by a wide margin on a voice vote. But it was delayed by an objection to third reading until next week.

The work release law has proved successful in other states, such as Wisconsin. It doesn't take a statistician to see that such a program could save the state a great deal of money, in addition to the benefits derived from it by the prisoners involved. The rehabilitative value of the measure cannot be estimated in terms of good done in setting many of these men back on the straight and narrow.

There are many men in prison with terms of five years and under. Most of these men are not habitual criminals. Given a chance, they can return to society to become responsible citizens once more. But they can hardly get this chance if they spend their sentence behind bars with nothing constructive to show for their time. Repeaters, of course, should be excluded from the program, as well as other habitual criminals, murderers and long-term prisoners.

But there are many, many people behind bars today who can be salvaged. Such a program as provided by the work release law would give them that chance; it would save the state money; it would alleviate the overcrowded conditions of our penal institutions. There is much to be said for this measure.

Now the reason the bill ran into delay was because Rep. John R. McLaughlin of Iredell objected to the third reading. He noted that under the bill, the Paroles Board would have authority to grant work release privileges in certain cases. He also noted that a 21 per cent increase was asked by the board in its budget. "Maybe this is a reason for part of that increase," McLaughlin noted. "Why not leave it up to the judges, where it won't cost any extra?" Now Rep. McLaughlin is to be commended for his concern over economy in the budget. We wish all legislators were so concerned.

But even if the program of work release for prisoners is operated through the Paroles Board, and even if an increase in the budget is needed for the administration of the program, we believe enough money will be saved by the state by allowing these prisoners to work away from home, and eating away from the prison, to justify the budget increase for the Paroles Board.

Hubbub On Sugar Quota System

By ELMER ROESSNER

You'll hear a lot about the "sugar quota system" in the months ahead. You'll hear proposals for revising the sugar quotas, and you'll hear suggestions for extending the quota system to other products, especially oil.

There's a hubbub and wrangle about the sugar quota system at least once a year, and there's a mingling of charges of unfairness and favoritism. But even the most severe critics concede that it works pretty well, and is certainly better than the sugar scramble before it was devised.

Here is how it works: Each year the government, in the person of the Secretary of Agriculture, estimates the sugar needs to the nation. They are currently around 9,000,000 tons. Then the right to supply this sugar is allocated among domestic and foreign producers.

WHY QUOTAS ARE IN THE NEWS
This stabilizes the price well above the world price. Thus it protects the Rocky Mountain sugar beet growers and the Gulf states cane growers from competition from cheaper foreign sugars.

Fidel Castro carries out threats to limit U.S. imports. Congress may be tempted to cut Cuba's share of the sugar market. On the other hand, if Senator Castro maintains co-operative relations with the U.S. sugar crop, now being harvested, can assure an inflow of funds to his nation.

Meanwhile, Brazil, seeking to diversify exports to end its dependence on coffee, is hoping for a share of the market. The Philippines, now acting tough toward the U.S., won't go so far as to endanger its sugar quota.

You'll hear more about quotas because of the international oil situation. Domestic producers want foreign oil limited. But if the U.S. limits them sharply, they may lose Venezuela to the leftists and the Arab states to Gamal Abdel Nasser.

A quota system might solve the problem. If total American demand could be forecast, and the supply allocated among domestic and various foreign producers, each producing nation and domestic producers would know what their share of the U.S. market would be. Each would enjoy the stability promised by an unflinching market; each would be free to sell the rest in the world markets.

Similar systems have been proposed for copper and other metals. However, discussion of this idea is still months away. The U.S., normally an importer of copper, has suddenly become an exporter, due to higher world prices. But we may come back to a quota plan for copper, and for bauxite, zinc and some other metals.

Helping Change Skyline

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — A father and son team here are helping change America's skyline. The two William Zeckendorfs — senior and junior — have some 200 million dollars in real estate development projects under way at the moment in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Their staff of 400 here also has on the drawing boards other projects totaling hundreds of millions of more dollars — office buildings, shopping centers, apartment buildings, home developments and hotels.

As his father's right-hand man, young Bill is concentrating now on the building of the new 48-story Zeckendorf Hotel in mid-Manhattan.

It is the first major hotel to be built here since 1931 and will cost nearly 70 million dollars, making it history's most expensive inn by far. That is a lot of responsibility to put on the shoulders of a 29-year-old man. But young Bill, who already runs six other Zeckendorf hotels here, shows no worry.

He has been used to big figures, ever since starting as an office boy with his father at the age of 14.

"It's easier to build a big project than a small one," he said. "You deal with bigger people." Bill, like many other real estate leaders, expects a massive surge in home building early in the 1960s.

"The country is building a million housing units a year now," he said. "There's a very good chance we'll get up to two million units a year soon."

"But we've almost reached the end of the commuting line. We look forward to a return to the city — and a resurgence within the city."

Optimism seems to be hereditary in the Zeckendorf clan. Both father and son feel the biggest danger to business expansion is business cowardice.

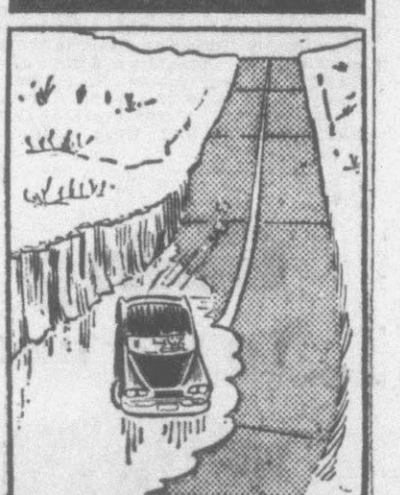

The United Nations has played a large role in both their lives. Assembling the building plot for the U.N. helped springboard the senior Zeckendorf to public fame as a real estate wizard.

Later on a blind date, young Bill met Guri Lie, daughter of Trygve Lie, then U.N. secretary general. Now they are married and have a young son.

For the member of a firm that presently is building some 8,000 housing units, Bill has an unusual problem.

"I'm trying to find a nice big apartment for my family in a big old-fashioned building," he said. "Let me know if you hear of one."

SAFE DRIVING TIP

Regulate your driving speed according to road and weather conditions. Extra caution must be used when icy spots prevail.

Often, after a winter storm has passed or even in early spring, icy spots remain in sheltered places. The Chicago Motor Club warns that motorists should be prepared to encounter slippery sections of road under viaducts, on bridges, and in other shaded spots.

If you should skid on ice, don't slam on the brakes. Turn your front wheels in the direction your rear wheels are skidding. This will tend to keep the rear end of the car from whipping around as you ease the brakes on and off to stop.

Alumni - Varsity Game Is Success

Winter football came to a close in the Pirate Den this past week with the Varsity brushing the Alumni by a 32-12 score. The win gave the Varsity a clean sweep in the two year series.

The game was started last season with the Varsity Club being the instigator. The Alumni squad was much stronger this year with a host of former stars returning.

The game provided keener competition and although still in the embryonic stages, the tilt should become one of the big events on the East Carolina College campus.

The game had to take a backseat to the ACC basketball tournament this year but as Coach Jack Boone points out, "It's always something. It's just hard to find a date with nothing happening."

Boone Cites Line Play

Coach Boone had high praise for his clubs' showing Saturday afternoon. The ECC head coach felt that the Alumni offered a good test for his team.

"I thought our boys did real well," commented the ECC head tutor. "We started off slow but got everything straightened out in the second half. The Alumni was unorganized and it took us awhile to adjust to their defense and type of play."

"I thought we looked real sharp in the second half and was real pleased with our line play. We have more depth in the front this year and this could be a big factor."

Team Likes To Rack

"We wanted to give all our boys a chance and we substituted freely. This could be a reason that it took us a little time to adjust to their double wing and also their defenses."

"Our boys really like to rack and I think the game winds up one of the best Spring Practices that I have seen here. We have been able to keep all our boys in school and our depth and competition has been real good."

"Another big factor in the recent drills has been our morale. It has been real good and the boys are looking forward to next fall."

Boys To Stay Busy

Winter drills are over at ECC but Coach Boone pointed out that he hopes to keep his squad busy with other activities. "It keeps them in shape and they usually make better grades," states Boone.

Many of the boys will be playing tennis, track, or baseball and Boone said he would keep the others busy. James Speight, Ralph Zehring, and Howard Beale missed most of the drills due to Student Teaching assignments but Boone plans to spend some time on them this quarter.

Future Stars Are Plentiful

A Portsmouth native, Boone was anxious to talk about his future club. James Speight, All-Conference halfback in 1957, and Glenn Bass drew special praise for their speed at the halfbacks slots. Tommy Matthews and Walkie Hanford were also termed as a couple of steady and dependable scabbacks.

Jerry Carpenter, George Turner, Stuart Holland, and Ralph Zehring give the Bucs four top signal-callers. Zehring had a "off-season" last fall as far as his passing was concerned but is expected to hit his peak as a senior.

Competition in the line was termed as "very keen". Boone pointed out that he has three centers—Lynn Barnett, Charles Gordon, and Henry Vansant—capable of making most any team in the conference. "We hope to utilize all three," says Boone.

Charlie Cook has returned to school and the depth in the line looks real good. The conference foes may be in for a couple more surprises come next September.

The ECC staff is still busy recruiting prep talent for the coming season. The latest Pirates to enter the fold are Victor Garrison, an end, of Jacksonville and Ed Beard, sought-after tackle, from South Norfolk. Both boys had outstanding high school records on the gridiron.

Wertz Looks Forward To Playing More Baseball

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Vic Wertz figures he may get to play more baseball this year because he's not too fast on his feet.

The big bald-headed first baseman says there's nowhere in the American League he would rather play than Fenway Park.

"I'm very, very happy with the trade," Vic said, referring to the deal that brought him and outfielder Gary Geiger to the Red Sox from Cleveland in return for Jim Piersall.

"I always wished that if I ever got traded I would go to the Red Sox," Wertz said. "Fenway is my favorite park. That's where I've hit the best."

"I'll get a chance to play more this year. I didn't fit into their plans over there at Cleveland. I never did run well and Frank Lane likes guys who run and so does (manager) Joe Gordon."

"Now they might put Larry Doby on first and use Vic Power at third and put Piersall in center. They'll have some more speed than, but I hope to prove them wrong on the trade."

Wertz expressed some unhappiness over the infrequency with which he was used at Cleveland last season. He broke an ankle last March in an exhibition game at Tucson, and wasn't able to appear even as a pinch hitter until late July.

Vic says his ankle is giving him no pain at all now. His 34-year-old legs are feeling fine.

Vic has a good record of springing back from injury. He contracted polio in August 1955, but returned next season, hit 32 homers, drove in 106 runs and was named the comeback player of the year.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Lenoir Rhyme of Hickory, N.C., takes on Northern Michigan here today in one of 16 first round games in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics' basketball tournament.

Lenoir Rhyme advanced to the national tourney by whipping Western Carolina, regular season North State Conference champion, in the District 26 NAIA tourney last week.

The NAIA title will be determined Saturday.

Tripleheader Tonight Will Open NCAA Tournament

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Associated Press Sports Writer The NCAA, with all 23 brackets filled, gets down to the business of picking its 1959 major college basketball champion tonight with a tripleheader in New York and two games at Lexington, Ky.

The field was completed Monday night when Cincinnati qualified as the Missouri Valley Conference representative and New Mexico State won the Border Conference playoff.

Cincinnati turned back St. Louis 66-59 for a 13-1 conference record although All-America Oscar Robertson sat out the last seven minutes with five fouls after scoring 22 points. Big "O" ended the regular season as the nation's No. 1 major college scorer with a 33.2 average.

New Mexico State defeated Arizona State University 78-57 for the Border title and a 17-10 overall mark.

With the NCAA landing basketball's coveted Oscar, the National Invitation Tournament field of 12 was completed by the addition of Bradley, runner-up in the Missouri Valley. Bradley had a 12-2 conference record.

After tonight's tripleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden and the doubleheader at Lexington, it will take a single game Wednesday night at Las Cruces, N.M., to reduce the field to 16 for the four regional tournaments starting Friday at Charlotte, N.C., Evanston, Ill., Lawrence, Kan., and San Francisco.

Here is the lineup for tonight's games with team records: At New York — West Virginia (25-4) vs Dartmouth (22-5), Connecticut (17-6) vs Boston University (18-6), North Carolina (20-4) vs Navy (16-5).

At Lexington — Eastern Kentucky (16-5) vs Louisville (15-10), Bowling Green (18-7) vs Marquette (22-4).

Wednesday night Idaho State (19-6) tackles New Mexico State (17-10) at Las Cruces.

Third-ranked Cincinnati, which beat NIT-bound St. Louis 57-50 earlier in the season, had to go all out to wrap up its second straight appearance in the NCAA postseason competition.

Robertson scored 17 points in the first half as the Bearcats took a 37-23 lead. He whipped in five more before being charged with his fifth personal foul.

Mike Mendenhall, who has completed his eligibility and will not be permitted to play in the championship, then took over direction of the Bearcat defense and held off a St. Louis rally which carried the Billikens within three points with two minutes remaining.

Four free throws, two by Mendenhall, pulled the Bearcats out of danger.

Second-ranked Kansas State, the Big Eight champion, also completed its regular season by downing Nebraska 76-54. All-America Bob Boozer collected 29 points to raise his average to 25.3.

Joe Kelly paced New Mexico State as the Aztecs hit on 50 per cent of their field goal attempts in running away from the Sun Devils.

Cincinnati's loss of Mendenhall of the NCAA tournament was expected. But not so the loss of Ed Martin by Connecticut. Martin, the UConn's second leading scorer and top rebounder, was hospitalized at Storrs, Conn., with an appendicitis attack.

Should Hoelt Make Good, Detroit Prospects Improve

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer The Detroit Tigers added some left to their pitching staff this winter by obtaining Ray Nariecki and Don Mossi from Cleveland. What they're looking for now is a strong comeback by Billy Hoelt, their southpaw ace of three years ago.

If Hoelt continues to make a good showing, look for the 4-1 odds currently quoted on the Tigers' American League pennant chances to drop rapidly.

Monday the 26-year-old southpaw looked every bit the pitcher he was in 1956 when he won 20 games. He worked three hitless innings as the Bengals blanked the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0. The losers collected their four hits off the combined offerings of Tom Morgan and Jim Raugh.

With Hoelt, Nariecki, Mossi, Frank Lary, Jim Bunning and Paul Foytack in good working order, the Tigers may wind up with the best staff in the league.

Another question mark lefty, Curt Simmons, who has had various arm and leg ills the past couple of years, also turned in a no-hit effort for three innings as the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Washington Senators 6-1.

In other games, the Kansas City A's beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-1, the Chicago White Sox whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-5, the Cincinnati Reds downed the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2 and the Milwaukee Braves defeated the New York Yankees 9-6.

Harry Anderson shared honors with Simmons in Philadelphia's victory. He belted a three-run homer in the first inning.

The Athletics got slick mound work from Bob Grim and Jack Urban, who limited Baltimore to seven hits. Bob Cerv singled home two of KC's tallies. Rookie Leo Burke homered for the Orioles.

John Romano and John Callison, both first year men, homered for the White Sox. Chicago put together four runs in the fifth on Callison's home run and their er-

Bradley Named 'Coach Of Year'

RALEIGH (AP)—Duke's Hal Bradley has been named "Atlantic Coast Conference Basketball Coach of the Year" by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Assn.

Bradley won over North Carolina State's Everett Case, reversing last year's situation when Case edged Bradley for the honor.

Bradley was named on 32 of the 74 ballots while Case was picked on 27. Other ACC coaches who received votes were Frank McGuire of North Carolina (12), and Billy McCann of Virginia (3).

The writers cited Bradley for his outstanding job in directing his team to a 13-12 season after losing his first seven players from last year's squad. The Duke team played four, and sometimes five, sophomores on the starting team throughout the season.

Duke finished in a tie for third place in the conference standings with a 7-7 record. Five of its 12 losses were to North Carolina and North Carolina State, the top ACC teams.

In nine years as head coach at Duke, Bradley has compiled a record of 167 wins and 78 losses. Bradley came to Duke from Hartwick College where he was athletic director and head basketball coach.

Campy Enjoys Training Camp

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Training camp life seems to be good therapy for Roy Campanella, the Dodgers' great catcher now confined to a wheelchair from auto accident injuries.

He smiles often, and he indicated Monday he's pleased at the aggressive approach to catching John Roseboro has begun to assure under his tutoring.

Campy's also elated about the tribute planned for him in Los Angeles May 7.

"Of course, I never did get to play in Los Angeles," he said, "but perhaps that's why I appreciate even more the thoughtfulness that prompted this wonderful thing."

first baseman Dick Stuart. Vada Pinson, the Reds' young center fielder, drove in five runs against the Dodgers. He had a homer, triple and single. Brooks Lawrence was the winning pitcher. Duke Snider starred for Los Angeles with two singles.

Lee Maye, still another young outfielder, delivered a vital three-run home run for Milwaukee. It put the Braves in front 8-5 in the fourth and sent the Yanks on toward their first setback in the grapefruit circuit. Earlier, Joe Adcock, their slugging first baseman, ended his war of nerves with the Braves by signing his 1959 contract.

The Chicago Cubs and Boston Red Sox completed a trade that sent outfielder Chuck Tanner to Boston and pitcher R. W. Smith to the Cubs.

Detroit was coupled with Cleveland in the latest odds from Los Vegas. The Yankees, of course, are the heavy favorites at 2-5. The White Sox are 8-1, Boston 12-1, Baltimore 30-1 and Kansas City and Washington 100-1 each.

In the National League, Milwaukee is 1-2, Pittsburgh 3-1, San Francisco and Los Angeles 4-1 each, St. Louis 10-1, Cincinnati 12-1, Philadelphia 30-1 and Chicago 50-1.

Alonzo Johnson Whips 'Spoiler' In Boxing Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the name — Alonzo Johnson. He may be a heavyweight contender within a year.

The 23-year-old former national AAU champion from Pittsburgh stretched his winning streak to 10 Monday night by pitching a near shutout against veteran Jimmy Slade of New York at St. Nicholas Arena.

The one-sided win earned the rangy youngster an April 6 fight at St. Nick's against Billy Hunter, another fine heavyweight prospect from Detroit.

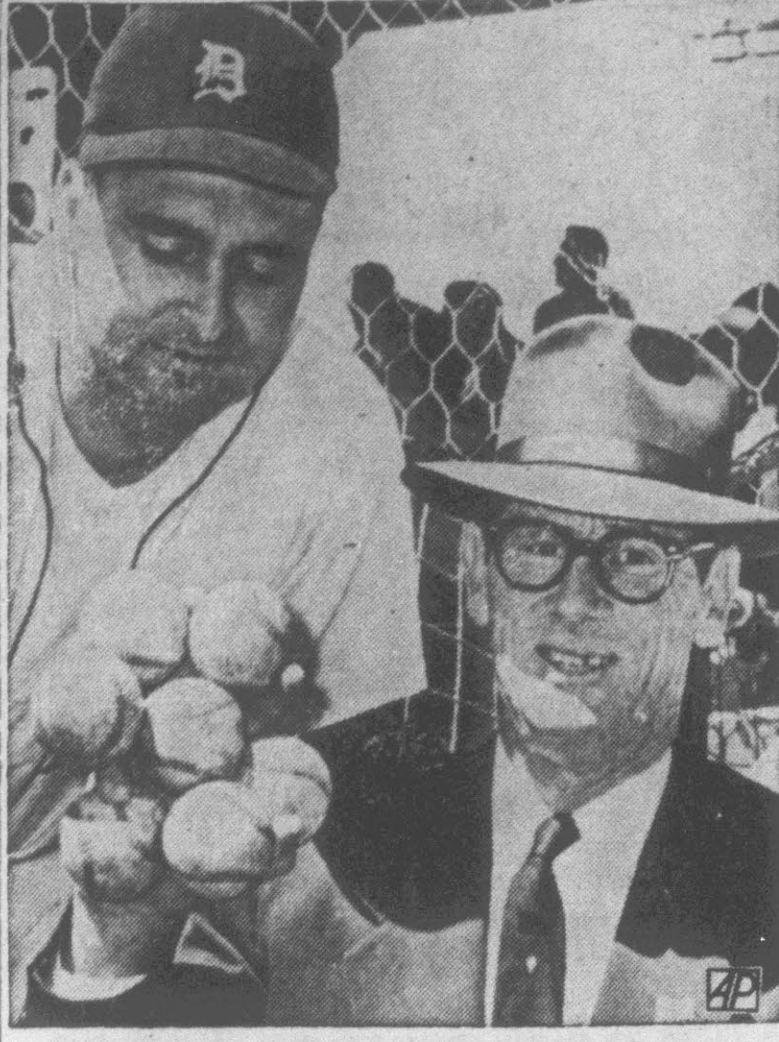

In pro about two years, Johnson displayed an accurate and stiff left jab, a crisp left hook, and plenty of poise. He worked Jimmy over the head and body with impartiality and severity. Judge Joe Agnello had it 10-0 (same as The AP). Judge Fred Brunell made it 9-1 and Referee Barney Felix 8-1-1.

Johnson's record now is 14-1, Slade's 26-17-4. There were no knockdowns. Slade was cut over the left eye.

FIGHT RESULTS

NEW YORK — Alonzo Johnson, 138, Pittsburgh, outpointed Jimmy Slade, 176½, New York, 10. Sydney Australia — Willie Vaughn, 160, Los Angeles, stopped Freddie Cross, 160, Wales, 10.

Delany's Temper Rises At Disqualification Talk

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ron Delany's volcano-like temper almost exploded Monday night when he learned there was official talk of disqualifying him after his 32nd consecutive indoor victory in the mile.

The Irish distance runner registered a 4:05.4 triumph in the Journal games only 48 hours after pounding to a world record 4:01.4 in New York.

Delany had to go all out to defeat Istvan Rozsavolgyi Monday night. Delany caught the Hungarian on the final turn, cut wide and crossed the line with about four yards to spare.

Informed afterwards that at least one inspector thought he should have been disqualified for grabbing Rozsavolgyi's arm on that last curve, Delany shot back: "Oh, don't give me that. I've never been disqualified in my life. What was I going to do? Say 'excuse me' and walk by?"

Rozsavolgyi said he didn't want to press the matter. Asked through an interpreter if Delany had fouled him, Rozsavolgyi answered: "He grabbed my arm, but it wasn't intentional."

It seems that inspector Mel Kishner spotted Delany as the Irishman thrust aside Rozsavolgyi's arm on his way to the victory. An unofficial observer, Ted Haydon, University of Chicago track coach, said Rozsy's arm-block would have been sufficient cause to wave him off the track. Besides, said Haydon, Rozsy left his lane — another cause for disqualification.

Delany and Rozsy ran 4-5 in the five-man field through the first six laps of the 11-lap race while Chicago's Phil Coleman and Barrie Almond, an Aussie enrolled at Houston, Tex., set the pace.

If it weren't for the Delany-Rozsavolgyi rivalry—and Delany's come-from-behind victory—little Max Truex would be No. 1 boy with the record arena crowd of 11,113.

The Los Angeles gamecock turned in the second fastest two-mile clocking on record, raming home a half-lap ahead of world record holder A. Lawrence of Houston in 8:47.2. Only Lawrence's 8:46.8 effort in New York Saturday night was faster. Like Delany's mile record, it has not been sanctioned as yet.

Mallory Expects Good Season For ECC Baseballers

Jim Mallory, baseball coach at East Carolina College, predicted a good season for his baseball charges last night in addressing the Greenville Rotary Club.

Mallory told Rotarians that 27 of the 35 boys on the ECC baseball squad this year are freshmen, but he added that his young players are among the best group of freshmen prospects he has ever coached.

"I feel we will have a good team this year," he declared. "Our boys are young, but they look good, and with a few games behind them, they should come along well before the end of the season."

On the East Carolina baseball schedule this year, he said are five night games slated for Guy Smith Stadium during the month of May. Admission will be charged for four of these games, he added, and season tickets for these four games are being offered at $3.50. In addition East Carolina will play its other home games at the baseball field on the college campus at which no admission will be charged.

Mallory said the Pirates should have a good pitching staff this season, "but the big problem is finding someone who can hit." He said weather this spring has been better for conditioning his players than was the case last year when bad weather kept them indoors until just before the first game of the season. Another handicap last year, he said, was the fact that eight scheduled games were rained out and the season ended before six of the games could be made up.

Archie Flattens Big Wrestler

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—World's light heavyweight champion Archie Moore picked up an easy $5,500 by punching wrestler Sterling (Dizzy) Davis helpless in less than three rounds Monday night then talked about a fight with middleweight Ray Robinson.

Moore swarmed the 212-pound wrestler, a former boxer, knocked him down three times in the second round and won on a technical knockout in one minute of the third, when Davis suffered cuts over his eyes. A crowd of 2,000 turned out to watch a fight that went about as expected.

Moore said he would return to San Diego today and start working on a fight with Robinson. If he can't get that, he said, he would seek another scrap with Yvon Durelle, the Canadian, whom he knocked out last December.

Jon Arnett of Los Angeles averaged 12.4 yards with 18 punt returns last season.

Long Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—Space scientists may take weeks or months to solve the meaning of signals from orbiting Vanguard I.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration Monday reported the satellite has wobbled so much in its trips around the earth that its electronic messages are difficult to interpret.

On Feb. 17, the 20-inch satellite was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Its main purpose: to send back coded signals that would help form a picture of clouds around the earth.

Its batteries died Saturday night. The satellite, expected to orbit at least 10 years, no longer sends signals.

NASA said scientists received a quarter of million feet of taped signals but the wobbling action of the satellite will make the task take longer than had been expected.

Installation-Plan Death Plot Charged To Pair

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A 41-year-old woman and a young preacher were arrested Monday after a detective said he posed as a professional killer in an alleged plot against the woman's husband.

Beatrice Gurley, mother of three grown children, and John A. Walker, 25, the preacher, were booked for investigation of conspiracy to murder Hugh Ernest Gurley, 45.

Detective Jack Metcalf, who said he played the killer-for-hire, arrested Mrs. Gurley. He said she gave him $100 as a down payment in the $1,000 deal to kill her husband.

The alleged installment-plan murder drama was played out in the preacher's car while a hidden tape recorder and motion picture camera recorded the affair, Metcalf said.

Metcalf said Mrs. Gurley signed a statement in which she said she wanted to hire some one to kill her husband. Walker denied any connection with the alleged plot.

Mrs. Gurley was quoted as saying she wanted her husband killed so she could get $30,000 in insurance and because he had been mean to her children by a previous marriage.

Later, Mrs. Gurley said her husband had little insurance and she wanted him killed because he wouldn't let her go to church with Walker, who shared the Gurley home, Metcalf said.

Gurley said that Mrs. Gurley and Walker attended church and prayer meetings several times a week and that Walker's presence in the home had caused arguments.

Walker moved into the home about three months after he met the couple at a revival, Gurley said. Walker, as the only member in the home who can read and write, took over the Gurley financial affairs.

"I'd just take the pay envelope home to John and he'd take care of everything," Gurley told newsmen. "Where'd I get my spending money? Well, he'd let me keep my overtime pay." Gurley earns $60 a week as a truck driver.

Officers said the Gurley's account with a loan company indicated Mrs. Gurley borrowed $100 shortly before her meeting with Metcalf.

The meeting was arranged after two Miami men, approached on the subject of killing Gurley, went to police with their stories.

Walker's religious meetings were conducted in various homes in suburban Hialeah. He said he comes from southeast Missouri, but he could not recall just where.

Undertaker Told To Return Body

TIFTON, Ga. (AP)—A Superior Court judge has ordered a Tifton undertaker to return to her parents the body of one of nine Negro pupils drowned last week in a school bus accident.

Judge J. Bowie Gray ruled Monday that Kenney and Addie Lee Wilcox were entitled to decide who is to bury their daughter Earline, 13.

The parents contend that the Melton and Sun Funeral Home refused to release the child's body after they refused to agree to pay $1,250 for a funeral. The undertaker said the parents signed a burial agreement, but the judge ruled it was too vague to establish a price.

The DEADLY LADY of MADAGASCAR

By C. V. TERRY

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Richard Douglas regards his first visit to New York in 1701 with mixed emotions. This will be his last sea venture before settling down in Scotland with a bride, Anne Sinclair. He fears he will find a city inhabited by wild aborigines — but is more troubled by a beautiful girl who stares challengingly at him from the deck of a ship, and by his imminent first meeting with his employer, Sir Luke Metcalf of the East India Company.

New York is indeed wild, but not because of Indians. It is a port of call for rowdies and murderers from the world over. At the McLane docks, Dick is told the girl is Bonita Damo, who is to be a passenger on the PILGRIM VENTURE, an East India Company ship which Dick is to command.

When Dick leaves the McLane office, Sir Luke appears disgruntled as a test and fights Dick a fierce duel to test his employee's mettle. Satisfied with Dick's courage, Metcalf outlines a perilous mission: Richard and a surgeon friend, Tom Hoyt are to infiltrate the ranks of Red Carter, the Madagascar pirate prince who has been plundering the East India Company's ships.

Dick is to be summarily relieved of command of the VENTURE in Cape Town and make a show of deserting the East India Company, to enable him to join the pirates.

With the ship far at sea, and Sir Luke Metcalf aboard in disguise, Bonita Damo has suddenly appeared on the captain's quarterdeck, with a story of being experienced in steering a ship . . .

CHAPTER 12

"Nothing could be more drah than my life at Goa — save for the time I've been at sea," Bonita Damo told me.

She spoke of her past then — in an easy, slightly wearied tone that held me spellbound, though the incidents she related, for the most part, were both proper and prosaic. Life at her father's manse, I gathered, was a mirage of boredom for a girl forced to obey an iron-bound social code.

As she told it, she had lived only for the sloop she kept in a cove nearby, the next voyage her father had promised her — and the discovery, as she grew older, that she could handle a wheel with the best of his quartermasters.

The years she had spent in Boston, I gathered, were part of a grand design. Now that he was getting on in years, Senhor Damo was scheming out ways to put his fortune into her hands, along with trading monopolies that grew richer year by year. Under the country's laws she could not make contracts in her own name — so he had already arranged a marriage of convenience. Formal papers would be signed on her return to Goa; the groom was a cater-cousin, also called Damo. The name, said Bonita, was held in high esteem in Lisbon. She was quite resigned to the fact that she must perpetuate it — if only to conserve the family business.

"Have you seen your future husband?"

"Only a miniature. But he'll come out to India next year for the wedding. My father won't hear of a marriage by proxy."

I could not gainsay such serene acceptance, since it was the way of the world when a family estate lay in the balance. Still, I felt a pang of disillusion as I wished her every happiness.

"I hardly expect to be happy, Richard," she said. "One seldom marries for happiness. At times there's a small pleasure in being a woman in a man's world. Especially a woman like myself, whose only true love is the sea. Remember this is my last voyage, too."

"Perhaps your husband will turn sailor?"

"There's little chance. He's never been on a shipboard."

She left me on that, going again to the weather rail. The wind, having its way with her, untwisted the great ebony braid of her hair and whipped it madly about her shoulders. When she spoke, her voice came to me in snatches.

"Perhaps I've said too much, Richard. But I needed to talk with someone. At sea one always takes one's troubles to the captain."

Moving to join her, I could not be sure whether the moisture on her cheeks was spray or tears. Somehow I could not picture her weeping for self-pity.

"May I say I'm moved by your confidence?" I asked — and risked covering her hand with my own.

She took her hand away, not too quickly. When her laughter rang out, I knew she would never weep over her life story, no matter what its ending.

"In time, I trust, we'll both learn to make peace with the future," she said. "It isn't your fault I'm in a rebel mood. Shall I tell you the real reason I came topside today?"

"To make friends with me, I hope."

"That was the first reason, Richard. The second was to enjoy the storm. I needed this kind of wind in my hair again. Nothing else can clear my brain."

"Not even a good listener?"

"It's true you've been an excellent confidant, Captain Douglas," she said, with a glance at the helmsman. "My cure would be complete if I could take the wheel when the watch changes."

"I fear that's out of the question."

Her eyes flashed. For the first time, I sensed the tumult within her, controlled though it was.

"D'you doubt my competence, Mr. Douglas?"

"Not for a moment. It's a matter of discipline. The owner of the Venture would have my head."

She gave me a slit-eyed glance, her eyes still hot with the same disciplined rage. "The owner's

Survey Supports Safety Program

By LYNN NISBET

Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — Most automobile drivers in North Carolina want a uniform system of traffic courts throughout the state and favor scientific tests for detecting drunken drivers. These and nine other suggestions were submitted by the N. C. State Motor Club in a questionnaire. Results of the survey have been furnished members of the General Assembly.

Only one of the 11 ideas to be blackballed was 30-day suspension of driver's license without a hearing in some speeding cases. Mechanical inspection by authorized garages barely squeaked by. Percentage votes for the 11 items were:

Uniform traffic courts, 88 to 12. Scientific tests, 83 to 17. All driver training schools controlled by the State, 82 to 18. Stricter legislation controlling cancellation of insurance policies, 79 to 21. Auto license plates to follow person rather than car, 77 to 23. Restriction of roadside advertising board, 73 to 27. Distribution of tags only by the State, 68 to 32.

Modification of law requiring stops for school buses on four-lane divided highways, 63 to 37. Add 100 men to highway patrol, 62 to 38. Periodic mechanical inspection, 55 to 45. License suspension without a hearing, 45 to 55.

Pony Tail Hairdo Causes Fallout

POCAHELLO, Idaho (AP) — A beauty expert says the pony tail hairdo may be on the way out — by handflut.

Iris Eales, cosmetology instructor at Idaho State College, says it is one of several close-to-the-head styles that place continued tension on the hair follicles or socket. Enough of the tension, she says, and traction alopecia can result. She explains this is a condition that causes the hair to fall out.

But don't flip your wigs, girls — there is hope: Mrs. Eales says prompt treatment by a beautician generally heads off the trouble.

Greens Damaged By Hungry Horse

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A plow horse with country club tastes made a pig of himself on a golf course in suburban Edgewood. Greenkeepers spotted the big brown horse munching on an expensive green Monday. They took off after him in a tractor.

The chase was a greenskeeper's nightmare. The animal galloped away, leaving a trail of divots. When they stopped the horse nibbled on other greens.

After the horse finally was lassoed, head greenskeeper John Uelman moaned: "That nag gorged himself on some of the finest grass ever raised by man. He did more damage in an hour than the duffers do all year."

HERB FOR LONG LIFE
LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Edward W. Springer credits a certain unnamed herb he ate as a young man for allowing him to reach his present age of 101. He says his father, who lived to be 95, ate the same herb but "he didn't eat enough of it."

Famed Shakespearean star, Julia Marlowe, was educated in public schools of Kansas City, Kan. Her first stage appearance was in Vincennes, Ind.

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Lincoln penny is lopsided but will stay in circulation. It seems that the old penny, which has been knocking around for 50 years is just as cockeyed.

Rumors about the new coin have been spreading ever since distribution began in January. There has been talk it is marred by one or more blunders and will be withdrawn from circulation.

Some people have gathered the coins in quantity, believing they will soon become a valuable collector's item.

Leland Howard, director of the mint, said today every such rumor is without foundation and that no mistakes were made in design or manufacture.

One side of the new coin, with the profile of Abraham Lincoln, is unchanged from the model introduced in 1909. The "tail" side is brand new and features a reproduction of the Lincoln Memorial.

"Every time we bring out a new coin there are a lot of rumors and we get a big batch of mail and phone calls," Howard said. "People pay more attention to a new coin and see things they never noticed before," he said.

"Take the latest rumor—that the coin is lopsided and must be scrapped because it won't stack properly."

Howard fished a new penny from his pocket and inspected the rim. Pointing, he said: "Here the rim is thinner than at any other point. You can see it with the naked eye."

The spot he indicated was right below Lincoln's shoulder.

Howard then took an old penny and pointed out the same thin point at the same spot.

It is caused by the heavy press that stamps the coin design onto a flat disc of metal, Howard explained.

"The metal needed to form the head and shoulder has to come from somewhere," Howard said. It normally comes from the closest point—the rim right below the shoulder. Hence, the rim is narrower at this point.

Howard said almost every U.S. coin, regardless of denomination, has such a thin spot. He picked up a quarter and examined it. The rim was thinner above the head of Washington.

Does this lopsidedness affect the odds on a heads-or-tails flip, Howard was asked.

"I doubt it," he said, "but you can find out by flipping one 1,000 times and keeping track."

We gave up after 200 flips with the new penny. The count: heads 102, tails 98.

Taking an old penny in good condition, we tried again. The count: heads 100, tails 100.

Ask Changes In Plans To Revamp Constitution

RALEIGH (AP) — The House and Senate received bills Monday night calling for major changes in a proposed revamping of the State Constitution.

The legislation includes provisions for legislative reapportionment, reorganization of the state's court system and a number of other changes.

If approved by the Legislature, the proposed constitutional changes would be voted on by Tar Heel citizens on Sept. 29.

The bills would carry out recommendations of a special constitutional commission after two years of study.

Sens. Claude Currie of Durham and Lindsay Warren of Beaufort and Rep. Ed Yarborough of Franklin sponsored by the measure in their respective houses.

One of the major changes would provide for a 60-member State Senate instead of the present 50 members. The speaker of the House would have the duty of reapportioning House membership after each federal census.

The proposals call for a uniform system of courts by 1965. Justice of the Peace courts would be abolished and replaced by a system of district courts to be presided over by trial commissioners.

The court proposals are similar in some respects to court reforms proposed by the Bell committee of the State Bar Assn. The Bell committee would write most of its proposals for a unified court system into the Constitution where it would be difficult for the Legislature to make changes.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to broaden the state's work release law. It would allow felon prisoners serving terms up to five years to be placed under the work release plan. Under the present law, certain misdemeanor prisoners are eligible to work at civilian jobs during the day and stay in prison cells at night and over the weekend.

Rep. Leonard W. Lloyd of Graham sent forward a bill to abolish the civilian absentee ballot of Graham County and limit the use of markers in elections in Graham to blind voters. Husband and wives would be permitted to enter voting booths together to assist each other in marking ballots.

Legislation was introduced by Rep. Grace T. Rodenbough of Stokes and other House members to require boarding homes to be licensed by the State Department of Welfare.

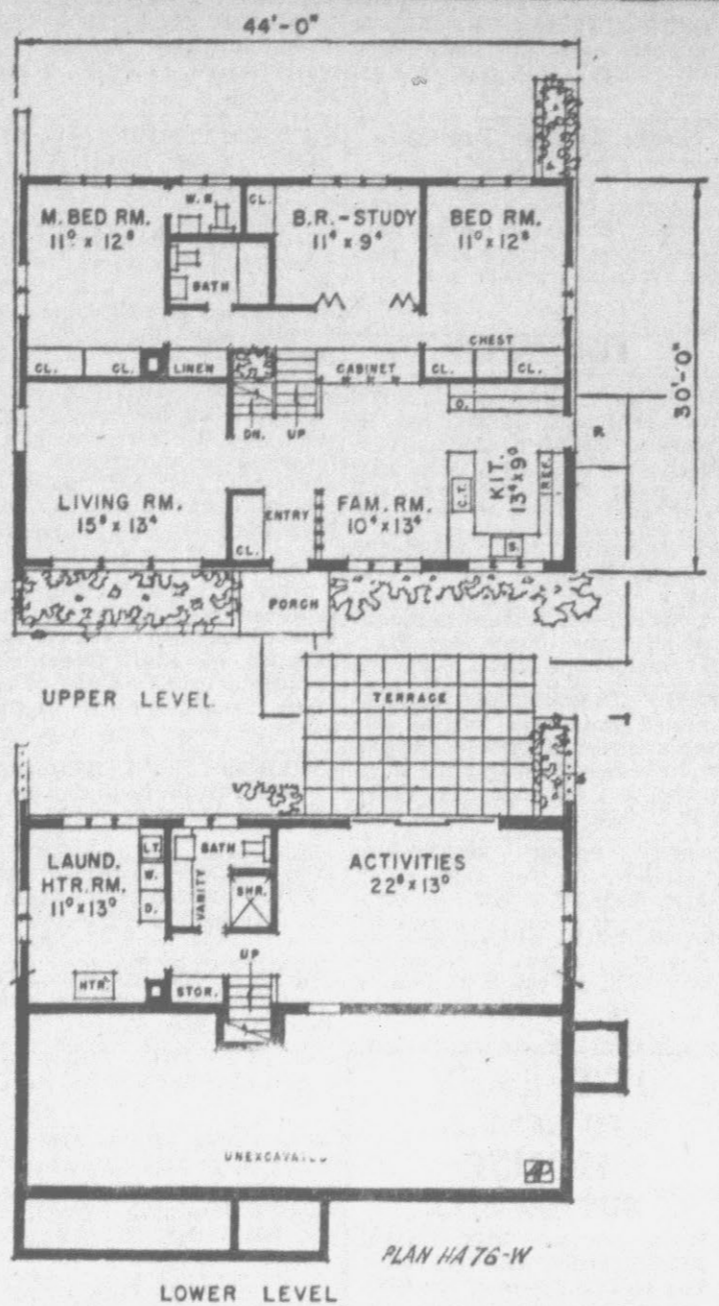

Rep. Tom J. Herbert of Clay offered a measure to allow motorists with good safety records to renew their driver's license without having to take tests. Under his bill, all persons who have driven safely for 10 years would not have to take tests every four years, but they would have to pass eye tests.

The House and Senate received legislation to appropriate $75,000 to convert part of a tuberculosis sanatorium at McCain into a training school for Negro boys. The money would come from the continuity and emergency fund.

Sen. William Medford introduced three bills calling for sweeping changes in North Carolina's property inheritance laws. The measures would generally favor the wife of a property owner who died without leaving a will.

The Virgin Islands, owned by the United States, consists of 100 islands. The islands once belonged to Denmark.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

BACK-TO-FRONT SPLIT: The three levels in this house each run full width, instead of the conventional split-level arrangement raising only one end of the home. There are three bedrooms, living, family room and kitchen on the upper level, and an activities and laundry room on the lower level. The plan is HA76-W by Architect Clifford N. Wright, 1915 Schoolcraft Ave., Detroit 23, Mich. Habitable area of the upper levels is 1,320 square feet.

Ask Details On Bribery Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor-Management Committee called its chief counsel, Robert F. Kennedy, for closed door questioning today about reported efforts to bribe him with offers of political support.

Kennedy said he did not report the offers to the committee or to his chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), before telling the story at a news conference in Milwaukee Friday.

Kennedy said then he had received — and rejected — offers of political support for his brother if he would agree to lay off witnesses summoned to testify.

The brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), serves on the committee and is regarded as a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

In telling of the incidents counsel Kennedy named no names, but said "the most serious attempt came from management." He said another serious offer, as he termed it, had come from a labor union.

McClellan and Kennedy declined to discuss the matter further in advance of the closed hearing.

College Audience Hears Dr. Koo

The triangle, symbol of the YMCA, with its three sides representing body, mind, and spirit, provides a hypothesis for living, Dr. T. Z. Koo told an audience at East Carolina College last night.

"When I live as a person, I am a unity of these three," he said, "and of these three, spirit is master."

Speaking at the observance at East Carolina of the hundredth anniversary of the YMCA, he addressed an audience of students, faculty members, and guests on the campus. His visit of a week to the campus is sponsored by the Danforth Foundation Project at the college.

Dr. Koo was for ten years connected with the YMCA in China. Later as secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation for fourteen years, he visited colleges and universities in 42 countries of the world. After teaching at Iowa State University for several years, he was recently appointed professor emeritus of Oriental Studies there.

A distinguished scholar and leader of youth, he holds honorary doctorates from a number of universities in this country.

"The function of spirit," he told his audience last night in an inspirational talk, "is to commune with other spirits in fellowship."

The development of the spirit, he continued, comes through a three-fold communion—first, with one's self, to add depth to one's life; then, with others, to gain breadth; and, finally, with God, to achieve height.

In man's life, he said, body and mind begin to fall as one grows old. "The spirit grows," he added, "but it does not age."

Recounting some of his own experiences, he told how as a young business man in China with his ambitions concentrated on money-making and later in Switzerland with the World's Student Christian Federation, he found through work with these organizations a purpose in life which "anchored" him and satisfied his need to give something of himself to others.

The Christian student movement in the world, he said, is more than a mere program of activities and has larger implications. It provides, he explained, a common ground where those who are connected with it may meet to gain better understanding and to work toward the solution of problems.

While there is conflict, when there is wrong in human relations, he said, it acts as a powerful force for good.

Barney H. West of Durham, president of the East Carolina YMCA, welcoming the audience last night, spoke briefly of the establishment of the first YMCA group at the University of Virginia a century ago and of the purposes of the organization on college campuses.

Charles W. Dyson Jr. of Rockingham, assistant treasurer of the Student Government Association, outlined some of the main services to students performed by the YMCA at East Carolina. J. Lloyd Allen of Four Oaks, vice president of the YMCA, introduced Dr. Koo.

During the observance of the YMCA centennial at East Carolina, Dr. Koo will make a series of seven talks sponsored by the YMCA, the Danforth Project, and various other groups on the campus. With members of the Home Economics Club as hostesses, he will talk at 7:30 tonight in the Flanagan auditorium on "Understanding Women around the World."

Wednesday and Thursday he will participate in the Sixth Annual World Affairs Institute at the college. With Dr. Richard L. Walker, chairman of the department of international studies at the University of South Carolina, and Dr. Koo as featured speakers, the Institute will focus attention on "The New World of the Far East." The program is carried in the Social Calendar of the Daily Reflector.

Poised To Take Up Rocket Plane

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Like a huge mother hen with one chick, an eight-leg B52 bomber sits in a hangar here with an X15 rocket ship under her right wing.

Sometime today, the plump silver mother ship is scheduled to take her stubby ward aloft for the first time.

This test of the air stability of the needle-nosed Black Arrow — designed to take man up to the edge of space and bring him back unharmed — probably will take two hours or longer.

Then the mother ship, with the X15 still locked to a pylon under its wing, will let down on the 20-mile-long dry lake bed which serves as a runway area on this 300,000-acre desert test center.

Sitting in the cramped cockpit of the experimental plane will be Scott Crossfield, test pilot for North American Aviation, which built the plane. He will be talking almost constantly with Air Force Capt. Charles Bock at the controls of the B52.

They'll be comparing instrument readings and they'll go through a kind of countdown — right up to the point where Bock would pull the lever to release the X15 from the mother ship.

Aerial Search For Missionary

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — An aerial search was under way today for a flying missionary whose light plane was forced down Monday in desolate mountain country about 130 miles southeast of here.

The Rev. John Chambers of the Barrow Presbyterian Mission radioed a distress message saying he was forced to land his single-engine plane. There was no indication what caused the forced landing.

The Rev. Mr. Chamber is Associated Press correspondent for this arctic ocean area. He came here from Scotia, N.Y., in July 1958. He was visiting Eskimo villages above the Arctic Circle.

Drop Supplies To Security Forces

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP) — The Rhodesian air force today parachuted supplies to security forces fanned out over this sprawling British protectorate to hunt out African nationalist saboteurs.

The roundup of agitators seeking to stir up demonstrations and strikes has brought an uneasy quiet. There were no reports of violence during the night.

The death toll of Africans in riots has reached 42.

Famine Again Threatens Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE (AP)—Famine again is taking its toll in Haiti.

Half of the four million people who live along Haiti's arid northwest coast face starvation if rain does not come soon.

Most of the people are living at the minimum subsistence level. Tuberculosis, liver ailments and other diseases are decimating the population.

Dr. Dudley Nelson, who has been operating a clinic in Haiti since 1946, says there is virtually no money in circulation and the people cannot afford medicine even at cost price.

Nelson says conditions are the worst since Hurricane Hazel hit in 1954, ravaging plantations and killing livestock.

The parched coastal region has had virtually no rain since Hazel struck. The northwest plateau is the only place that has grass. Peasants gather it up and bring it back by donkey to sell for 20 cents a load. It takes 8 to 10 hours travel time to make each sale.

Trees stand stark and leafless. Even the weeds are gone. The animals have nothing but the points of acacia branches to lick on.

Donkeys which used to bring $8 to $14 now sell for under $2 because there is nothing to feed them.

Winds and low tides have fouled the salt basins, ending salt marketing by the people.

For a time the Gayac charcoal forests were a lucrative source for the peasants, but they have now disappeared. Even the roots of the trees have been gouged out.

Invents Device To Stop Snoring

GENOVA, Italy (AP)—Dr. Boris H. Vassileff has invented a device to stop snoring by forcing the noise to annoy the snorer.

You snore, says the doctor, when you sleep on your back or in some position in which the back of the tongue sags a bit into the throat. The tongue flutters when the breathing gets heavy and that's what causes all the noise.

Dr. Vassileff calls his anti-snorer a "psicofon." Like a hearing aid, it amplifies the noise of the snore close to the ear of the snorer. The doctor thinks the snorer will roll over into some position where the racket will stop.

Socialite Says Jewelry Stolen

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — Lady Norah Docker reported that somebody stole nearly half a million dollars worth of jewels out of her parked car Monday night.

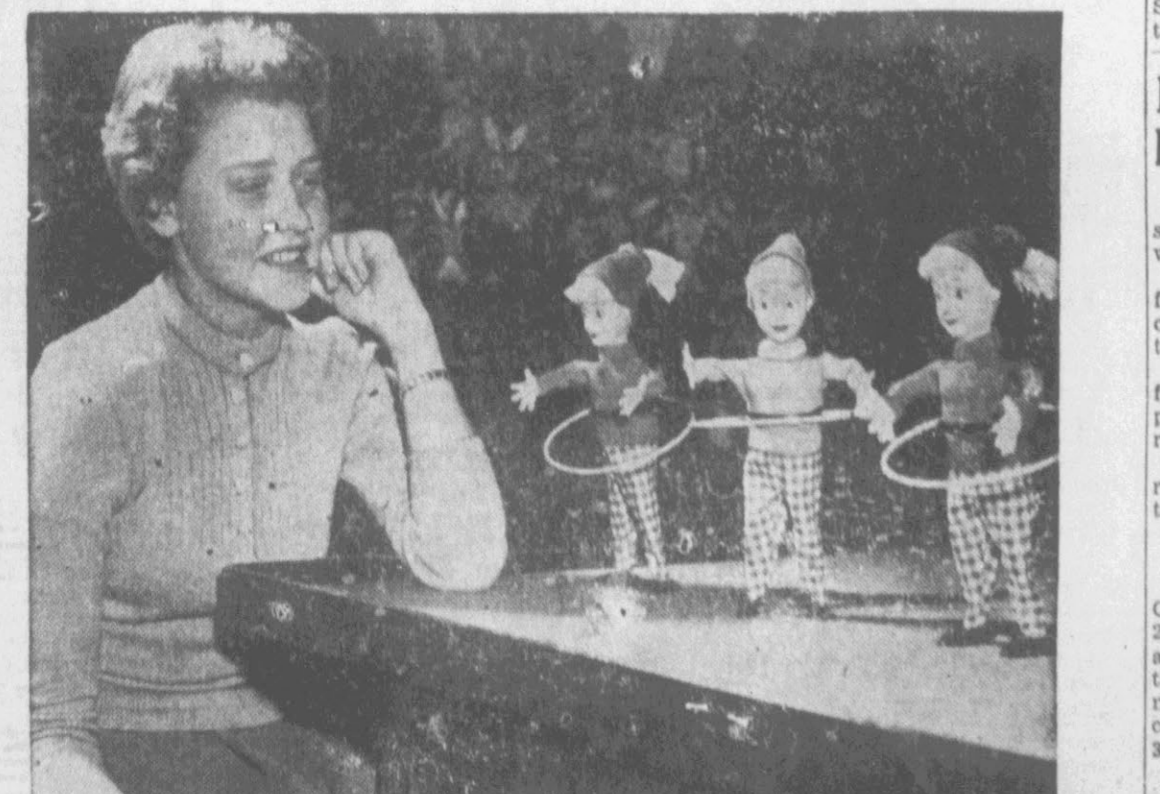

"They've taken all my jewelry, everything I've got," wailed the blonde society figure.

Norah's industrialist husband, Sir Bernard Docker, estimated the loss. Nobody would say whether there was insurance.

Coffeebreak Is Also Party Time

RALEIGH (AP) — It was just another office day for Gov. Hodges today—until it came time for the coffee break.

Then thoughtful office workers trotted out a huge cake. Mrs. Hodges popped in, and everybody sang "Happy Birthday." It was the 61st for the governor, an active, robust fellow who sets a pace few younger men can match.

TOYS WITH A WHIRL — Among new toys displayed at International fair held in Nuernberg, Germany, are hula-hooping dolls. Hoops can circle dolls for ten minutes.

VIENNA (AP) — In Vienna every streetcar is desire for Franz Ponweiser.

Ponweiser, 39, was discharged from his job as a driver on the city's street railway service some time ago for physical disability.

Every Streetcar Becomes 'Desire'

VIENNA (AP) — In Vienna every streetcar is desire for Franz Ponweiser.

Ponweiser, 39, was discharged from his job as a driver on the city's street railway service some time ago for physical disability.

Over the weekend he was in jail for the third time for stealing a parked tram and taking it for a run across town.

Said Ponweiser: "I just couldn't resist when I saw that empty tram. I simply had to drive it."

NAZARENE GAINS — KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Church of the Nazarene started 232 new congregations in 1958—an average of two new ones every three days—a record for the denomination. Church membership climbed about 9,500 persons to 301,700.

Pullitzer Prize winning playwright Elmer Rice was practicing lawyer before he became an author of many stage and screen hits.
