

Heavy Loss Of Life Reported In Tibetan Fighting

TOKYO (AP) — Maharaja Kumar of Sikkim said today that loss of life in the Tibetan revolt has been very heavy but as far as he knows the Dalai Lama escaped from the Chinese Communists.

The young maharaja, son of the ruler of the tiny Himalayan state between India and Tibet, arrived in Tokyo for a Buddhist cultural conference. He said he got his information from official sources just before he left Gangtok, capital of Sikkim.

The Sikkim prince said the Dalai Lama, Tibet's 23-year-old spiritual and political ruler, escaped from his summer palace before the Chinese Reds captured it on Tuesday.

He reported that Red forces began firing on the palace at 1 a.m. Tuesday and kept up a violent barrage until it capitulated.

"No one knows if the Dalai Lama was hit when the Chinese captured the palace," the prince said. "We hope and pray for him. Even if he falls into Chinese hands, we pray no harm will come to him."

An unconfirmed report in India Thursday said the Dalai Lama had fled from Lhasa, and there were rumors he was heading south toward Sikkim or the Indian province of Assam.

In contrast with reports in India that fighting in Lhasa had subsided over the weekend, the maharaja said fighting in and around the capital "was particularly violent" on Tuesday.

"After taking the palace," he continued, "the Chinese then

Allies Generally Approve U.S. Position On Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain, France and West Germany were reported generally favorable today to a U.S. master plan for negotiations with the Soviet Union on the future of Germany.

The aim of the plan is to achieve the unification of West Germany and Communist East Germany in stages over a period of years. This would begin with creation of a loose federation and end with the conclusion of a German peace treaty.

Limitations on forces in central Europe and an end to the division of Berlin also are envisioned as the plan progressed.

The foreign ministers of Britain and France are to discuss the program with Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter here next Tuesday.

West German representatives will join the talks Wednesday in advance of broader discussions among foreign ministers of all the North Atlantic Treaty powers meeting Thursday for a NATO 10th anniversary session.

The preliminary discussions are pointed toward an East-West foreign ministers meeting in Geneva May 11 and a later summit conference, as proposed to the Soviet Union by the Western powers Thursday.

It is an open question whether the U.S.S.R. would be interested in any part of the U.S. plan or in any other which the Western powers might suggest.

Some officials say there is at least a slight possibility Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may be seriously interested in negotiating an acceptable German settlement.

Others say that whether or not Khrushchev is interested, the Western powers must go into the negotiations with the Soviets prepared to put on the table a set of reasonable proposals which would dramatically demonstrate the willingness of the Western powers to make agreements with the Soviet Union on fair terms.

The detailed program which has now been worked out would begin the merger process by increasing direct contacts between East and West Germany in all sorts of practical ways in such fields as commerce and travel.

A temporary all-German group, possibly to be known as a council, would be created by representatives from the traditional 15 German laender (states) of which 10 are in West Germany with its population of 52 million and 5 in East Germany with its population of 17 million.

The new all-German group would have only limited powers and functions. Its main task would be to pull the two sides of Germany progressively closer together and to ease the shock of social, political and economic adjustment created by changing the conditions which have existed in Germany since the end of World War II.

Meanwhile in further international negotiations, the Soviet Union and the Western powers would work out detailed arrangements for the limitation and eventual reduction and withdrawal of foreign

Hodges, Strike Principals Again Sit Down, Talk

RALEIGH (AP)—Like actors in a play who have lost the audience's attention to an outbreak in the lobby, the governor of North Carolina and leaders for union and management sat down quietly again today to try to settle a violent, four-month textile mill strike.

The contract negotiations, moved here Monday from Henderson by order of Gov. Luther Hodges, have attracted little attention lately. They have, by admission of all concerned, been unproductive.

But the byplay of claims and countercharges, the undercover violence and the exhortations to public opinion have gripped attention more strongly than ever.

The acute angle was reached Thursday after Boyd E. Payton, Carolinas director for the striking Textile Workers Union of America, claimed his auto windshield was shattered by chunks of tile hurled from a passing car on the highway at night. The union offered a $2,500 reward for information.

But State Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell, backed by Walter B. Anderson, chief of the State Bureau of Investigation, called in newsmen to exhibit the windshield and branded Payton's story a hoax.

The windshield had two holes, one of which appeared large enough to have admitted the four pieces of tile found in Payton's car. But Seawell said examination indicated the glass had been

Hodges Declares Violence Making Work Difficult

RALEIGH (AP)—Renewed violence has made more difficult the task of finding a settlement for the prolonged Henderson cotton mill strike, Gov. Hodges said today.

However, the governor told his news conference he is "still hopeful" for progress in his talks with union and management representatives, although recent developments have "dampened optimism."

Hodges turned "a courteous no" to a request for comment on Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell's description of an alleged attack on Carolinas Director Boyd Payton of the Textile Workers Union of America as "an absolute hoax."

"I am in a very difficult position, trying to mediate between the sides," Hodges explained.

He pointed out that Payton is one of the union representatives in the negotiations which resumed here today.

The union official announced a news conference of his own for 1:30 p.m.

Replying to questions, Hodges said he did not order the State Bureau of Investigation to make the probe on which Seawell based his report labeling the Payton attack a hoax. The governor noted that several SBI agents have been in the Henderson area for several weeks, on request of local officers looking into incidents of violence.

Hodges said he first learned of the report in a telephone call from Payton, late yesterday afternoon.

The governor indicated he expects the talks to continue into next week. "I had thought all I would have to do would be to help decide big principles, but I find there are a lot of details to be settled," he said.

OUTLOOK FOR N. C. Temperatures will average near normal through Wednesday. Cooler over weekend with a warming trend Monday and Tuesday. Precipitation about Tuesday may total one-half to three-quarters inch.

Crippled Tanker Towed To Dock After Crash

NEW YORK (AP)—The tanker Valchem, blamed by the Grace Line for Thursday's collision with the cruise liner Santa Rosa, was towed into a Brooklyn dock today for investigation by authorities and extensive repairs.

Coast Guard officers and officials of the T. J. Stevenson Co., managing agents for the tanker, immediately went aboard the question crew members about the 3 a.m. crash off Atlantic City, N.J.

Reporter were not permitted to board the vessel.

Eighteen crewmen were aboard the tanker as it came into port in tow by tugboats which brought it here from the collision scene some 75 miles to the south.

The crunching smashup brought death to four tanker crewmen but resulted only in a frightening jolt to the 247 Santa Rosa passengers returning from a Caribbean pleasure cruise.

A "radical course alteration" was made by the tanker, the Santa Rosa owners say. There was no immediate comment from the operators of the Valchem.

Conflict over whether there was fog at the time of the crash highlighted the preliminary investigation to a Coast Guard investigation starting Monday.

Spokesmen for the Grace Line, owner of the Santa Rosa, said the collision off Atlantic City, N.J., at 3 a.m. Thursday occurred in

Foot Slipped

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Mrs. Eliza Case Redmond stopped her car suddenly Thursday to avoid a car suddenly pulling into the street from a driveway. Her 2-year-old grandson hit his head on the dashboard and she reached down to pick him up.

It was then, officers said, that Mrs. Redmond's foot probably slipped by accident from the brake to the accelerator. The car rolled forward into a group of pedestrians. Hugh G. Green, 58, was killed. Seven others were hurt.

The injured, none reported in serious condition, included Mrs. Redmond, 41, possible broken nose; the grandson, Ricky Dixon, 2, abrasions; Paul A. Felts, 21, multiple abrasions; Owen E. Felts, 56, broken arm, knee injuries; Emless Whitley, broken hip, and Joe Gatewood, 25, neck injury.

The delegation of Ayden citizens yesterday petitioned the adjutant general of the N. C. National Guard for the establishment of a National Guard medical platoon in Ayden.

The six-man delegation headed by Mayor Corey Stokes of Ayden presented the petition to Maj. Gen. Capus Waynick during an hour conference in Raleigh at which the establishment of a National Guard unit in Ayden was discussed.

In addition to Mayor Stokes, the delegation was composed of Dr. Clifton Davenport, Pierce Summrell, Bill Shelton and Kermit Summrell, all of Ayden, and Dr. Allen Taylor of Greenville. They were accompanied by Sen. Robert Lee Humber of Greenville.

The petition requests that the medical platoon be established in Ayden and it pledged the full support of Ayden in establishing and maintaining the unit. It made a specific offer of building and grounds to provide adequate housing for the unit if it is established.

The petition presented Gen. Waynick was signed by Mayor Stokes, Ayden Town Commissioners Ross Persinger, R. W. Horthington, Edison Gibson, Robert Harris and Harry Mumford; Jim Abernathy, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Norman Dall, president of the Rotary Club; Marvin Sayland, president of the League Club; Dr. Lawrence Alexander, president of the Jaycees; Robert Lee Humber of Greenville; American Legion Post 289; and Elbert Davidson, chairman of the Ayden Recreation Commission.

Efforts to secure the National Guard medical platoon for Ayden have been endorsed by each of the organizations whose presidents signed the petition.

Gen. Waynick informed the Ayden delegation he was impressed by the interest and enthusiasm of the people of Ayden for the National Guard unit and said a unit will be formed in Ayden if and when a step is feasible.

Observe Easter Closings Monday City, county and state government offices in Pitt County will be closed Monday in observance of Easter, but most business houses and private offices are expected to follow regular work schedules on that day.

Easter Monday is a traditional holiday for government workers in city, county and state offices, and for employees of the Greenville Utilities Commission. All of the governmental units will have holiday forces on duty, however, for emergency situations.

Federal workers are expected to follow regular work schedules, also, and Postmaster J. Knott Proctor said the Greenville Post Office will conduct "business as usual" Monday.

Directors of the Greenville Merchants Association have made no recommendations for Easter Monday closings and most stores are expected to remain open. However, most Merchants Association members will begin closing on Wednesday afternoons next week, a schedule which will be followed throughout the summer.

East Carolina College students began their Easter holiday period yesterday afternoon and will return to their classes Tuesday morning, as will students in Pitt County schools. The county schools will close this afternoon.

City schools were dismissed at noon today and will remain closed until next Thursday morning in an extended holiday period. City students will be required to hold Saturday classes on April 4, however, as a make-up day for one of three days lost in December because of snow. Other Saturday classes are planned for April 18 and May 9.

Seek Abolishing Hodges' Agency RALEIGH (AP)—A bill to abolish the State Department of Administration — one of the most powerful agencies of state government — was introduced in the House today by Irredell's Rep. John R. McLaughlin.

McLaughlin later commented to newsmen that the department is "just getting too big." He added that budget increases asked by the department for the next biennium show that the department plans to get even bigger.

The Department of Administration was created by the 1957 Legislature at the urging of Gov. Hodges and the recommendation of the Commission on Reorganization of State Government. It is headed by Paul Johnston, who was the governor's legal assistant, before his appointment to the new position and is one of the governor's most influential advisors.

The department was formed by joining the State Budget Bureau, the Division of Purchase and Contract and the General Services Division. The law creating it gave the department broad powers over the state's financial operations.

But the fact the Soviets aren't violating any international law didn't diminish the chorus of concern.

Alaska's acting governor, Hugh J. Wade, called for a four-nation fishing agreement as "absolutely necessary" to bring the Soviet Union into international fisheries control efforts — with the United States, Canada and Japan.

At Vancouver, B.C. the independent United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union called on the Canadian government to ask the U.S.S.R. to hold back its trawlers.

The Navy, which has been keeping the Soviet fishing fleet under surveillance as part of routine patrol duties, didn't indicate any alarm.

Rear Adm. Arnold W. McKechnie, commander of the Alaska Sea Frontier and the 17th Naval District at Kodiak, Alaska, said "Their presence in the southeastern Bering Sea is of no particular military concern to us, but of course we are keeping track of what they do. They are in international waters where they have every legal right to be."

Clinton Atkinson, fisheries laboratory director of the Fish and Wildlife Service at Seattle, said he believed the Soviets are taking bottom fish—flatfish, lemon sole, flounder and cod — and perhaps king crab and halibut.

In 1956 the United States and Canada discovered new halibut grounds in a Bering Sea area slightly west of where the Soviet fleet is congregated. The halibut season opens April 1, under strict control of the U.S.-Canadian International Pacific Halibut Commission.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) says he is informed that halibut have been seen on decks of the Soviet trawlers. If so, the Soviets, not bound by any international agreement, could be getting the jump on the Americans and Canadians.

One thing that makes presence of the Soviets particularly galling to Alaskans is the fact that Bristol Bay, once America's greatest red salmon fishery, has been ordered closed to U.S. fishermen this year because of declining runs.

broken by a round object such as a hammer or hatchet head.

Payton, contacted for comment, asserted, "It was either a case of malicious reporting on the part of the police or else the SBI twisted the facts. We're going to contact our lawyers and find out what to do."

Payton who had described the SBI findings as an attempt to "deliberately misrepresent the facts," called a news conference for 1:30 p.m. in Raleigh to explain his side of the alleged attack.

The governor, at his weekly news conference this morning, declined to comment on Payton's report of a second attack.

Meanwhile, the North Carolina AFL-CIO convention at Durham attacked the efficiency of the State Highway Patrol — whose troopers have been called out in large numbers to keep the peace on picket lines in Henderson — for allowing the alleged attack to occur and not apprehending anyone.

The convention also backed its national president, George Meany, in charges earlier this week that management of Harriet - Henderson Cotton Mills allowed the strike to occur in hopes of pushing the union out. This management denies.

The Henderson scene was quiet Thursday. The strike, mainly over an arbitration clause in a new contract, began Nov. 17. The two mills re-opened on a limited basis Feb. 16 and sporadic violence has erupted since then.

Governor Target Of Union Chiefs

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A union leader said here today he was not surprised that the reported attack on Boyd Payton, Carolinas director of the Textile Workers Union of America, was branded a hoax by North Carolina Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell.

Julius R. Fry of Greensboro, international representative of the TWU, told the state AFL-CIO convention:

"It is not surprising to us that the governor and his administration must find some diverting excuse to justify spending some $35,000 a week of taxpayers money to keep patrolmen off the highways and in Henderson to escort strikebreakers in and out of the mill so that an employer may operate his plant with scabs."

The convention was to elect officers at its final session this afternoon.

The union members yesterday heaped more complaints on Gov. Hodges for his sending of the troopers to the struck Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills. They also asked him "urgently" to address their convention.

A telegram to the governor asked him to address the group here today on the subject of the violent, four-month strike at Henderson. But Hodges, who intervened in contract negotiations last week, replied:

"I will be very busy (today) attempting to negotiate a settlement of the subject you wish me to discuss at the AFL meeting."

The telegram protested the assignment of "almost one-third of the State Highway Patrol from their urgent traffic duties to undertake tasks which are designated to facilitate the objective of Harriet-Henderson Mills."

As many as 140 state troopers have been on hand during mill operating hours to keep the peace since the mills reopened on a limited basis Feb. 16.

The AFL - CIO message also backed the charge of their national president, George Meany, that the mills management "deliberately provoked a strike for the sole purpose of destroying two local (Textile Workers) unions."

The telegram questioned the efficiency of the patrol because "a second brutal attack on union directors Boyd E. Payton has been accomplished on a state highway without any guilty party being apprehended."

Payton, who was slugged at a Henderson motel last month, said a rock thrown from a passing car smashed his auto window on the highway Wednesday night. But State Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell said the State Bureau of Investigation found the alleged stoning was a hoax.

Wreck Victim Remains In Critical Condition Nancy Cox, both of near Smithfield, are still in serious condition but are said to be doing well.

William Curle of Kingston, owner of the second car, was not in serious condition and was transported to the hospital in Kingston yesterday afternoon.

Attending doctors said none of the victims are in condition to have visitors, and it would aid them in their treatment if visitors would not try to see the patients.

Investigating Patrolman J. B. Suries of Greenville, yesterday, charged Calhoun and Curie, drivers of the two cars, with operating under the influence, and also charged Calhoun with failure to yield right of way.

Adler, owner of the car Calhoun was driving, was charged by Suries with aiding and abetting driving under the influence.

Big Soviet Fishing Fleet Off Alaskan Coast Draws Protests

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A foray by a big Soviet fishing fleet into waters off Alaska's Bristol Bay touched off protests up and down the north Pacific Coast today.

It is the first time that Soviet fishing vessels have appeared in this region.

The objections, however vociferous, may be futile because the upward of 50 trawlers and auxiliary vessels are clustered in international waters where ships of all nations have free access.

Doctors today reported that Earnette Adler of Raleigh, one of five students in Wednesday night's wreck, is still in critical condition at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Adler, owner of one of the cars, was given emergency surgery after the accident to enable him to breathe. According to an attending physician, he suffered severe head injuries in the mishap, which caused a respiratory impairment. Due to his condition, doctors have been unable to move him for X-ray yet.

Thomas Calhoun of Greenville, listed by patrolmen as driver of the Adler car, is in serious condition, doctors stated. Calhoun suffered a broken neck and fractured skull.

The two girl passengers in Adler's car, Miss Jean Capps and Miss

Young Set Picks Easter Fashions

The Sunday school set will step out for Easter this year in up-to-minute fashions reflecting all the latest grown-up trends from Paris and New York.

Like Mom, little Sis wants none of the chemise this spring. Her favorite dresses for the new season are frilly and feminine, with full skirts and natural waistlines, bodices trimly fitted. This spring and summer the little girls will be wearing party petticoats under the new full skirts.

Though they look as dainty as the flowers of spring, most of the party dresses for the small fry are as practical as blue jeans, since most of them are made in the new fabric blends that shed soil and wrinkles and can be washed almost as easily as a pair of nylons. Ruffles, tucks and embroidery emerge from the wash crisp and unwrinkled, ready to wear with little or no ironing.

Among the drip-dry fabrics are various blends of dacron, nylon and orlon, as well as cotton with a new wrinkle-shedding finish. Little girls can be dressed in party frocks this spring, with no washday pain for Mom.

Murphy, who told the Chapter of hearing the guns when the Federals bombarded Fort Fisher. The day is not far gone when the course of life was more attuned to the placid flow of the rivers than in this rushing, jarring time. Mrs. Judson Blount read the poem, "The Grand Review," by Mary Bayard Clarke. At the close of the program the hostess served an ice course.

Large Turnout For Science Fair

More than 200 persons attended an open house exhibit last night of science projects completed by students in Pitt County elementary schools.

The fair and open house was held in the Pitt County Board of Education Building. It was directed by Mrs. Herman Baker and Arthur Alford, supervisors for the board.

Projects included in the display will remain in the Board of Education Building through next Thursday. The building will be closed Monday, however, as part of a general county observance of Easter.

First, second and third prize winners for each grade level were selected earlier this week by Grover C. Everett and Miss Nancy Blair Ellison of the East Carolina College Department of Science.

Approximately 200 projects are included in the exhibit. They were completed by students in fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

Drop Campaign; Too Successful

PORT SCOTT, Kan. (AP) — A campaign for $600 to send the Fort Scott Junior College debate team to a national forensic tournament at Aberdeen, Wash., has been called off.

Too much money! Contributors quickly responded with $804. The school board gave another $100 and said it would pick up the tab for gas and oil. Mrs. Kenneth Pollack offered her station wagon to the six debaters and their coach, Kenneth E. Mosier.

Mosier called off the funds drive Thursday. "We don't want to be piggy," he said.

Gardening Today

By JOHN G. DUNCAN

Both exotic and indigenous trees and shrubs are growing on the campus of East Carolina College. They range from the stately cypress at entrance near Austin to the huckleberry growing in the woods near the new dormitory south of Tenth Street. Dogwoods grow under the shade of other trees and as specimens in Wright Circle.

At the Alumni House the slick bark Chinese parasol tree is at home among camellias, yaupon and abella. Fire thorn, quince, spirea, forsythia and azaleas help break the long winter with their coloring. Add many more to these and you have a picture of what Spring is like at East Carolina College.

The landscape picture here is not static. The college is reaching out, new buildings and additions to old ones created new planting areas. Wooded areas between 10th Street and the new dormitory are being drained. Underbrush is being cleared and vines are cut off trees giving the remaining trees a chance to grow. In these naturalistic settings, dogwood, redbud, mountain laurel and others will be planted. Crape myrtle will be planted on both sides of the street leading to new dormitory area, around and adjacent to the new building.

Trees and shrubs will be planted in appropriate areas. These plantings will be simple, tying the old picture into the new.

A new classroom building, now nearing completion, stands on the north side of the arboretum. Both exotic and indigenous trees and shrubs that merge into the existing landscape and enlarge the present picture will be planted.

Plantings around the Administration Building and Music Hall will be added too. At present the Dining Hall area is being planted with dogwood, trailing gardenias, camellia, sasanqua, dwarf holly and azaleas.

Wooded area on north campus will be underplanted with holly, dogwood, redbud, azaleas and other trees and shrubs that fit in naturalistic settings.

Unstead Hall is in the process of having cleyers, horned holly (Ilex Cornuta), upright Japanese holly (Ilex Crenata) and flowering shrubs planted on its grounds. It is hoped that existing plantings and contemplated plantings will create surroundings that will enable the students to enjoy their stay at the college and to be a pleasant memory when he or she has graduated, to the gardener an opportunity to help in his study of nature, and to the passerby or visitor a pleasing picture.

New SGA Officers Are Elected At East Carolina

Dallas S. Wells, junior from Williamston, will serve as president of the Student Government Association at East Carolina College during the 1959-1960 term. He succeeds Emanuel E. Katsias of Virginia Beach, Va. Together with other SGA officers for the coming year, Wells was chosen as president in a general campus election completed on the campus this week. James E. Trice of Blades, Del., acted as chairman of the elections committee in charge of campaigns of candidates and voting by students.

The new SGA president won over three opponents. He will be installed into office April 6. Wells is a GI student who served in the Navy as a hospital corpsman with the Marines during the Korean War. At East Carolina he is specializing in business education. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wells, 200 Oak St., Williamston.

Other successful candidates for major SGA offices are Jimmy W. Owens of Beaufort, vice president; Gloria Hofer of Hobbesville, secretary; Mary Hayes Pleasants of Elm City, historian; Charles W. Dyson of Rockingham, treasurer; and Charlie R. Munn of Rockingham, assistant treasurer.

James E. Turner of Rt. 2, Danville, Va., will head the Men's Judiciary as chairman; and Sadie M. Barber of Rt. 5, Clinton, the Women's Judiciary. Vice chairmen are Derry Walker of Raeford and Nancy V. Brown of Greenville.

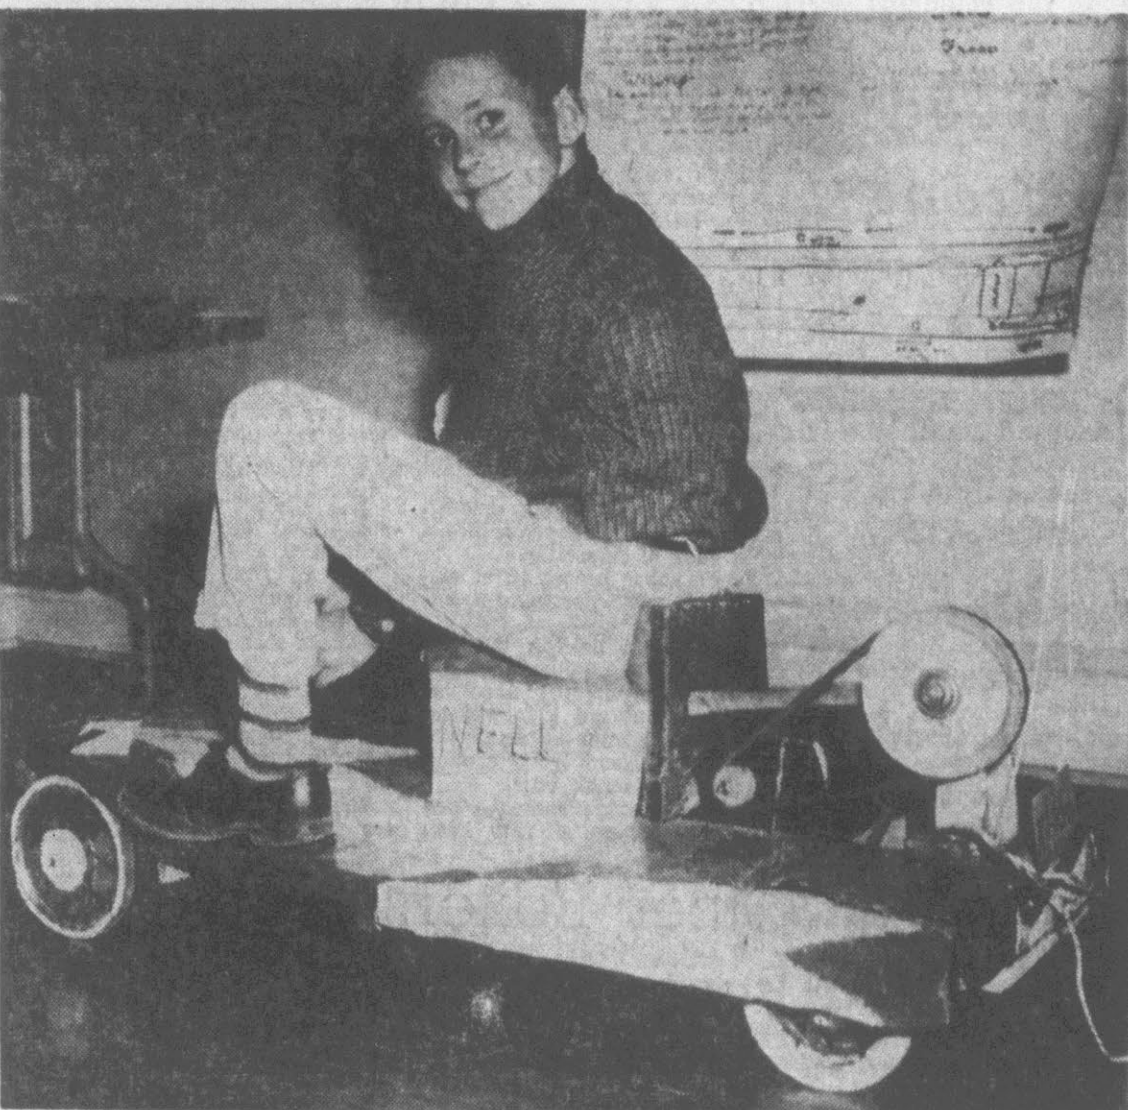

Other officers elected to serve on the Men's Judiciary are Otis F. Strother of Wrightsville Beach, secretary-treasurer, and J. D. Hodges of Pantego and Baney H. West of Durham, members-at-large. Officers of the Women's Judiciary include Bonnie L. Burdick of Walstonburg, secretary; Becky Coley of Rocky Mount, treasurer; and Gail Cahoon of Columbia, member-at-large.

Gas Poisoning Hospitalizes 31

KANAB, Utah (AP) — Carbon monoxide poisoning hospitalized 31 Santa Barbara, Calif., high school students and 41 adult advisers for four hours Thursday in this southwestern Utah community.

The group, members of the Calvary Baptist church in Santa Barbara, was returning by bus after a tour of the church's Navajo missions in northern Arizona.

Bus driver Walter McCully turned on the heater. Officers said it apparently sucked the exhaust fumes into the vehicle.

Fell Off Roof, Only Leg Injury

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Marvin R. Harbor, 35, a painter, escaped with a leg injury Thursday when he fell from the roof of an eight-story building.

Harbor slipped and dangled by his fingertips for several minutes before losing his grip on the roof edge. As he fell he struck a cluster of electric wires two stories below. They bounced him onto the roof of an adjoining six-story building.

Consider Action In Baby-Slaying

MACON, Ga. (AP)—Bibb County officials are trying to decide what to do about the case of a boy charged with murder in the frying pan slaying of an infant with whom he was baby sitting.

Coroner Lester H. Chapman Thursday swore out a murder warrant against Andrew Howard Jr., 11, following an inquest into the death of Mary Jane Howard, 2.

The Negro boy gave no reason for the attack upon his distant kin, Chapman said. He estimated the child was struck 12 to 15 times with a cast iron skillet.

Governor Followed His Only Course

Gov. Hodges' act in sending highway patrolmen to Henderson in an effort to help maintain law and order during the bitter textile strike has become a subject of attack by a number of labor leaders in North Carolina and elsewhere.

From the situation which has existed in Henderson both before and since the governor ordered highway patrolmen into the city, there can be no doubt that Gov. Hodges followed the only course he could if law and order were to be preserved.

Before the patrolmen were ordered into Henderson at the request of local law enforcement officers there, violence occurred at the plants of the two textile plants daily. And in spite of the fact that patrolmen were on hand to help maintain order, violence has continued. There have been more than a dozen bombings in Henderson since the strike began. There have been countless cases of assault.

Had it not been for the presence of the patrolmen which reinforced the small number of local officers, obviously there would have been considerably more violence, many more injuries as a result, and more property damage.

Henderson, which was rapidly becoming an armed camp because of bitterness over the strike, might well have become a battleground without the presence of the state officers to help maintain order. The fact that a number of state officers have been in Henderson in recent weeks has offered greater protection to the lives and property of the strikers and non-strikers as well as the other residents of the community.

We fail to see why an act on the part of the governor to provide the citizens of any community such protection—particular when local officials requested it—should be offensive to labor leaders or any other group for that matter.

The fact that Gov. Hodges acted to preserve peace and law and order the community of Henderson is to be commended rather than condemned.

Committee Of 100 Needs Support Of All

Organization of Greenville's Committee of 100 is an undertaking which deserves and needs the support of all the business and professional interests of the community.

As a local auxiliary to the county-wide economic development program, Greenville's Committee of 100 can be an important factor in boosting the economy of this immediate area. It will fill a local need which the county-wide program by itself cannot possibly fill. At the same time, it will be a major help to the county-wide effort to attract new industry to this area and to develop the industrial potential we already have.

The organization of such a group has been talked in Greenville for several years, but not until now have positive steps been taken to effect such a group. In the meantime it has become evident that Greenville must have such a group if it is to compete successfully with other cities in securing industries from other areas and in developing and expanding home-grown industries.

To be successful, however, it must have the general support of local citizens. The more representative it can be Greenville's businesses, professional and civic groups, the better it will be able to represent the city in seeking to attract new industries.

Efforts to organize a Committee of 100 here present a challenge which must be met if Greenville is to put itself in a position to realize the economic development of which it is capable.

Western Allies Need A Closely Knit Front

In spite of solidarity achieved by heads of the big three Western powers on their determination to remain in West Berlin, it is apparent there is still some question about how to reach the common objectives of the Western allies.

President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan and President Charles deGaulle have all conditionally agreed to a summit conference with Premier Khrushchev. There remain, however, wide differences between the three heads of the Western government on what these conditions will be.

Prime Minister Macmillan apparently is the one which is most anxious for a summit conference. Both President Eisenhower and President de Gaulle want a top level meeting only if it holds genuine promise of easing tension between East and West.

It can be assumed from the difference of attitudes toward a summit conference, that there also remain differences between the three Western powers on how best to achieve their goal of holding West Berlin in the face of Soviet demands for them to get out of the divided city.

With a foreign ministers conference on Berlin only six weeks away, it is imperative that Western allies prepare a solid front in the most minute detail with which to meet Soviet representatives. Unless this is done and done immediately, the Berlin situation might well be used by the Soviets to drive wedges between the big three Western powers.

If the Soviet Union succeeds in preventing a unity of action by the three Western powers, West Berlin surely will be lost . . . and with it a great deal more so far as the free world is concerned.

Soviet Premier Made His Point

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP) — Roly-poly Premier Nikita Khrushchev has convinced President Eisenhower he must do business with Khrushchev himself if he wants to have any worthwhile dealings with the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower acknowledged this Wednesday, thus making a summit conference pretty certain. The President went out of his way to say Khrushchev couldn't push him into a summit meeting. Nevertheless, that's about what it amounts to.

The Eisenhower acknowledgment also makes all the talk about how much importance the President placed on a foreign ministers meeting — before there could be any summit meeting — look pretty academic now.

The bald-headed Khrushchev used two main devices to push Eisenhower into a meeting.

1. He deliberately created the Berlin crisis by demanding the West get its troops out of West Berlin. Unless some peaceful solution was found through negotiation, a showdown looked sure and war possible.

2. He used speeches and even a month-long conference in Moscow to urge negotiation and get the idea across to Eisenhower that the only way to negotiate was with him personally.

In this he apparently got a big assist from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who, after talking with Khrushchev, reportedly came away convinced a summit meeting was the only answer. Then Macmillan came to see Eisenhower.

In the past Eisenhower's stock answer to Soviet proposals for a summit conference was that first the foreign ministers had to meet and show enough results to justify a meeting of the top men.

Eisenhower repeated this at his news conference Wednesday but the other things he said showed pretty clearly he was scaling down in his own mind the im-

Okay, Go Ahead--Worry

Here's something to ponder as quoted from the National Safety News:

Worry about the Russians—then get run over by a neighbor.

Worry about radioactive fallout—then get poisoned spraying the flowers.

Worry about the kids running in front of cars—then drag them across the street on the red light.

Worry about crashing in an airplane—then fall off a ladder painting the house.

Worry about getting enough exercise—then drive two blocks for a pack of cigarettes.

Worry about becoming a success—then wrap it around a culvert.

Worry about getting the car greased every 1,000 miles—then never get a medical checkup.

Worry about the kids getting proper nourishment—then leave household poisons lying around for them to snack on.

Worry about retirement—then do everything we can to keep from lasting that long.

Worry about H bombs—then blow our heads off lighting a stove.

Worry about polio—then get crippled up by a power lawnmower or home-shop tool.

Worry about tornadoes—then get liquidated in a whirlwind-force auto collision.

Worry about who will win the World Series—then not even vote for someone to win the Presidency.

Worry about winning a football pool—then gamble on our lives with many a thought.

It's all right to think about the spectacular and the unusual—but it's ordinary things and occurrences that will kill you.

As March winds continue to blow, Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloxam had a word of warning for the small fry—and their pops too if it applies.

There is danger in flying kites too near power lines.

"If the kite cord is damp, high voltage could travel down the cord to the person flying the kite with fatal results," he declared.

What's more a good stout cord could be a means of pulling high voltage wires together causing them to burn down and endangering people and property.

So, Bloxam advised, look for an open field away from the wires and remember there are power lines in and around Greenville carrying as much as 110,000 volts.

"Beware of metallic cords as well as the use of metal in the kite frames or elsewhere.

"We have experienced near accidents when persons have thrown coat hangers or other metal objects at the power lines," he declared.

"Remember all wires can have high voltage and an accident can prove fatal."

Other Editors Saying ... Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS THE SAVING CROSS

Nothing came out in Tuesday's state minimum wage act hearing before the House Committee on Manufacturing and Labor to change the Daily News' longstanding conviction that such an act needs to be on the statute books.

In fact the arguments presented by supporters of the proposed bill — or bills since two have been introduced, one setting a 75 cents minimum and the other a $1 — and tactics of the opposition have served to strengthen our position.

It is difficult for us to conceive of a business in North Carolina which cannot pay its workers $30 a week, assuming that they work a full 40-hour week. Yet Commissioner of Labor Frank Crane declared that the 75 cents minimum would apply to at least 80,000 Tar Heels.

Our thinking there is no excuse, although we recognize enforcement difficulties, for exempting approximately 25,000 of this total.

Anyone receiving less than 75 cents an hour in these days of high prices is merely existing under substandard conditions. The result is a strain upon our economic, social and moral structure.

Particularly pertinent and convincing was the declaration by J. Herman Leder, Whiteville merchant and head of a chain of 16 variety stores, that a state minimum wage would help business.

Of course it would through increased purchasing power. He reminded the committee that people feared that the federal minimum wage act of the '30's would ruin business "but this was not the case."

Opponents of the bill, well-organized and represented by counsel, made out a sorry and demagogic case. Obviously lacking in factual arguments, they brought in Marxism, Communism and assertion that even "Christ would be out of place" if He returned to an earth where employers were told how little they could pay their employees. If that sort of stuff — and we wonder how its utterers actually felt about it when they saw it in cold print — won't bring victory for the bill under attack, it is difficult to say what will.

All that either of the bills offered would do is assure some thousands of North Carolinians a semblance of a living wage, lift woefully low per capita income and living standards and fit in with Governor Hodges' determined effort to strengthen the Old North State's sagging economy.

To save our soul we can't see either Rep. Dwight Quinn or Rep. Sam Burrows, introducers of the two bills, acting as stooge for Khrushchev.

Resort To Demagoguery

(Greensboro Daily News)

What is there good about it? An innocent man had been given a thoroughly illegal trial and had been sentenced to death. The religious leaders of His day who should have been His supporters were His accusers. The Roman government which prided itself on justice was about to allow a hideous injustice to be perpetrated. The people had been prepared by agitators to support the enemies of Jesus. With that fickleness which mobs so often manifest, the populace had hailed Jesus as a king on Sunday and now on Friday were crying out that the king be put to death by cruel execution.

We praise democracy, and democracy is, of course, the only form of government worthy of man's dignity. But democratic procedure can often be manipulated by demagogues. The people who wanted Jesus put to death were only a little handful in the nation. Most of the people would have been willing to let Jesus go His way and do as He wanted to do, but there were many who saw in Him a danger to unrestrained tyranny. They wanted Him out of the way.

Men have been trying to get Jesus out of the way ever since. Often they trust Him from their hearts because to entertain Him

Competition In Meat, Poultry

By ELMER ROESSNER

The ceaseless battle for the consumer food dollar will become hotter in the meat and poultry sector.

The chicken industry has been making such sensational gains that producers of beef and pork, who have already increased production for their products, will step them up even further. Their advertising agencies are working on new projects now.

The rise in sales of poultry — especially broilers — has been amazing. While beef and pork sales continue to rise, they are going up at much slower rates.

In 1948, poultry was a minor item in main-dish food sales.

In 1958, it commanded about a sixth of the meat-poultry market. Production of Federally inspected beef, veal, mutton, lamb and pork, not including lard, was 22.1 billion pounds. Non-inspected slaughter brought the total to around an estimated 29 billion pounds. In the same period, commercial production of poultry far exceeded $46,000,000 pounds.

BROILERS SKYROCKET

Government figures show that since 1950, consumption of meat has increased 5 per cent per person, while fish consumption declined 11 per cent. Broiler consumption of other poultry declined 50 per cent.

Poultry has far outstripped lamb and mutton. Production of government-inspected ovine meats last year was 591,000,000 pounds, about a tenth of the poultry total.

The reasons for the rise in poultry consumption are the great improvement in quality and the great lowering of price. While price is the major factor, the rise in quality and lowering of prices developed together.

13 MINUTES WORK PER POUND

Joe Fechler, retiring president of the National Broiler Council, pointed out at its recent conference that in 1925 it cost the average worker 40 minutes in wages to buy a pound of round steak and the same amount to buy a pound of chicken. Today, it takes 29 minutes of work to earn a pound of round steak and only 13 minutes to earn a pound of chicken.

The farm price for broilers is 10 cents less a pound than it was in 1952, he added.

One factor that made the price reduction possible — and which also improved the quality — is the technological gains in the industry.

Miracle drugs keep chickens healthier. Advances in diet speed growing and produce a remarkable specialization. Some 40 medicinal are commonly used in modern feeds, including a large number of vitamins, minerals, antibiotics and hormones. Mixes can be prepared to shape the growth, character and disposition of the birds.

Two or two and a half pounds of reinforced feeds will produce one pound of chicken with better textured, better tasting meat than ever before. The feed will bring a bird to eating age in six or seven weeks, compared with 12 or 14 in the past.

If this feed control were ever extended to humans, it might be possible to grow seven-foot basketball players in 13 years or kind-hearted bankers in 29, one feed man remarked. In fun, we hope.

Verne Wrote It Out

By BILL CHEVALIER Associated Press Writer

If crafty old Jules Verne were alive today, he'd likely be the modern rocket engineers' toughest kibitzer.

A recent Air Force announcement said that tests, which no doubt cost Uncle Sam barrels of money, indicate that space pilots of the future may be able to withstand the shock of rapid acceleration by being immersed in water.

"Phooey," the 19th Century French adventure writer probably would say, "I thought of that nearly 100 years ago."

And he did.

Verne, who died shortly after the turn of the century and before much of anything ever got off the ground, made a startling number of space-age predictions in his science fiction; many of them being proved practical in essence today.

In the novel he called "From the Earth to the Moon," and its sequel, "Round the Moon," the imaginative Verne sent a space ship to the moon and back to earth by a simple, mildly scientific method.

Verne's characters, the leaders of a Gun Club, were distraught at the thought of no more wars and hence no further use for their pride and joy — artillery pieces.

That was when they decided on going to the moon.

The "method" was simple. Just build a big enough cannon and shoot a projectile to the moon.

Jules did not hit on liquid propellants, exotic fuels and such, but he came up with a cannon capable, according to his own intricate calculations, of sending a projectile weighing nearly 20,000 pounds into space.

The Gun Club proceeded to build a cannon, all of its 900 foot length sunken into the ground.

Verne figured the resulting blast would give the projectile an initial velocity of 12,000 yards per second, or roughly 24,500 m.p.h. (They're powering moon rockets now for a velocity of 25,000 m.p.h.)

Like modern space engineers, Verne thought of the safety of his travelers. How would they withstand the shock of the initial blast-off?

Float 'em in water, the Air Force has discovered recently. Verne did too, in the last century. His three aeronauts were enclosed in an airtight cabin inside the main projectile. Their cabin in turn was mounted on a raft floating on three feet of water, with a system of breakable plugs to give under the strain.

Verne also figured out how to keep his space travelers breathing during their flight. His imagination provided chemicals to replenish oxygen and absorb carbon monoxide. (Air regeneration systems in three aeronauts were today called them.)

The fabulous science-fiction artist of the 1800s also touched briefly on superpowers. His heroes, once they were sent into space by an explosion that shook Florida, discovered that they failed to hear the slightest sound from the tremendous blast. After giving some thought to this, they discovered they were traveling much faster than the sound from the cannon.

Verne was careful not to let his threesome land on the moon, but was equally careful not to admit his calculations had been in error.

His fearless travelers, at one point in their journey, were nearly hit by a speeding asteroid. The magnetic pull of the asteroid, they determined, threw them off course enough to barely miss the moon.

They did orbit around it, however, coming within 25 miles of the lunar surface. (Much closer than Russia's Lunik, or America's Explorer, by the way.)

Verne, with astute foresight, had his projectile equipped with small rockets for the return trip. At just the right moment in the projectile's orbit around the moon

Christ Lives Again

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 24:13-35.

After Christ's resurrection, two of His apostles were on their way to a village called Emmaus, talking about what had happened. Jesus came to them, but they did not recognize Him.

Christ went with the two men, who begged Him to stay with them that night. As He sat at table, He broke bread, blessed it and gave it to them. And then they knew who He was.

After Christ vanished from their sight, they said to each other, "Did not our hearts burn within us while He talked with us?" They went to Jerusalem and told the 11, "The Lord is risen."

As the two men told the others about their experience, Jesus stood in their midst. They thought He was a spirit until He showed them His hands and feet.

East Carolina Drops First

CAMP LEJUENE — Indiana University knocked East Carolina College out of the unbeaten ranks by a 2-1 margin yesterday afternoon in a baseball tilt which lasted well over three hours.

The touring western club took advantage of four ECC errors to recover their victory in the three day round-robin tournament.

East Carolina once again ran into trouble at the plate, collecting over four hits.

The Bucs scored their lone tally in the third inning when Tommy Nance led off with a walk and advanced to second on a wild pitch. Third-baseman Donnie Warren lashed a single to score Nance from second.

Wally Cockrell, Bob Gliden, and Nance collected the other ECC hits. Nance banged a double for the only extra-base knock for the locals.

Larry Cryton, freshman star, went the distance for ECC and scattered nine hits but errors kept him in hot water most of the time. The Greensboro native had good control, walking only one, and struck out nine Indiana batters.

Coach Jim Mallory stated this morning on the phone that hitting was the big problem. "Crayton (Larry) pitched good enough ball to win but we just didn't get any runs for him," Mallory praised the pitching of Indiana as "very good."

East Carolina was slated to go against Springfield College today but reports from the Marine Camp say that the game may be postponed due to rain.

If today's game is rained out ECC will probably get in a doubleheader tomorrow afternoon. Johnny Elen, freshman righthander, is Mallory's choice for the next starting assignment for the Bucs.

Clemson Opens ACC Defense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Atlantic Coast Conference baseball teams, who have defeated non-conference opponents in 11 of 13 games this week, had a full slate of contests today, including the first two league games of the season.

Clemson opened defense of its ACC title with a home game, facing Virginia, Maryland was at South Carolina.

In other games, North Carolina State was at home to Connecticut. Duke was host to Ohio University. North Carolina played Florida State in the Tallahassee Tournament at 5 p.m., and Wake Forest faced the host team in Rollins College Baseball Week at Winter Park, Fla.

N.C. State edged Dartmouth 2-1 Thursday, the Wolfpack's third straight victory over the Big Green and the fourth straight loss in North Carolina for the visitors.

South Carolina squared things in a series with Kentucky by winning 2-1. North Carolina downed Florida State 11-9 in the Tallahassee tourney. Clemson defeated Massachusetts 6-1 and Wake Forest bowed to Ohio State 9-4 at Rollins College.

Delany Seeks 34th Victory

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — In the time ripe for Ron Delany to run a four-minute indoor mile?

The Irish Villanova graduate student will shoot for his 34th straight mile victory Saturday night in the Chicago Relays at the International Amphitheater.

In the same arena and on the same board oval, the 1956 Olympic 1,500-meter champion from Dublin last year set his first indoor mile mark of 4:03.4.

Twice he has lowered it this season — 4:02.5 in the National AAU in New York Feb. 21, and 4:01.4 in the New York Knights of Columbus meet March 7.

Delany, who doesn't fight the clock, was pressed in setting his two recent records by the former Hungarian army officer, Istvan Rozsavolgyi. But Rozsy's visa has run out and he will miss the Chicago Relays.

A capacity crowd of 10,000 will cheer Delany's effort and a pretty fair field of American runners may give him the needed competition for time-shaving.

Opposing Delany will be Phil Coleman, who has been second to the Irishman in the meet's Banker's Mile the last two years; Ted Wheeler, the 1956 winner in 4:07.5, and Ed Moran, Penn State star who ran a 4:01.7 outdoor mile in the 1958 National AAU championships.

Moran, who will give up his anchor spot on Penn State's crack two-mile relay team to run the mile, proved his ability on the boards three weeks ago. He won the 1,000-yard run in the ICA at Madison Square Garden in 2:09.6, an intercollegiate record.

ruthers held Dartmouth to four hits and one unearned run. Jim Lancaster, who had two triples, slid home with the winning run in the ninth on a poor throw to the plate.

Bud Swygert and Roger Groves held Kentucky to four hits and a double to pace UNC's 14-hit attack.

Harold Stowe and Tyrone Cline, Clemson lefthanders, allowed one run in eight innings and each struck out six. The Tigers scored four runs in the third and two more in the sixth, although they got only four hits off three Massachusetts pitchers.

Eightyunder Bob Flemmons walked seven men and gave up six runs for Wake Forest before he came out of the game in the fifth inning. Ohio State didn't need any more runs. The Deacons' eight hits, including two by Jay Franklin, were pretty well scattered.

Azalea Match Opens Today

By KEN ALTYA

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Seven of the year's top 15 money winners answered the call to the first tee today as a field of 138 began a four-day chase for gold and glory in the $15,000 Azalea Open golf tournament.

The top man, Art Wall Jr., who has pocketed $12,830 in official earnings since the first of the year, has won about $4,000 more in events not included in the PGA "Official" list.

This is the best pre-Masters money performance. PGA records show Wall, former Duke University player from Pocono Manor, Pa., has been the sharpest shooter on the winter swing.

He has recovered from a groin muscle injury that caused him to miss three tournaments earlier in the month.

In 40 competitive rounds this year he has been under par in 30, even par in five and over par in five. His average round for nine 72-hole tournaments is 69.25 strokes, the finest on the tour.

Howie Johnson, playing out of San Marcos, Calif., is nearing the peak of his game as he defends his title here. In a tuneup round Thursday over the 6,800-yard, par 72 Cape Fear Country Club course, he "ate up" the back nine with a five-under-par 31. He had an eagle, five birdies, one par and two bogeys on the last nine.

His iron shots left him birdie putts on most holes.

Johnson has an added incentive to win here — a place in next week's Masters' at Augusta, Ga. One berth remains open in the Masters' for the pro with the best winter tour record not yet invited.

A victory here for Johnson or for Joe Campbell of Knoxville, Tenn., would move the winner to the top of the standings and a spot at Augusta.

Otherwise, it will go to John McMullin, the Californian who isn't in the field.

The other top money makers in the field are Doug Ford, Mike Souchak, Billy Maxwell and Bob Roebuck.

After 18 holes today and Saturday the field will be cut to the low 60 pros and ties for the wind-up on Sunday and Monday.

Good Spring Scares Pierce

Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Billy Pierce is having such a good spring it scares him.

The Chicago White Sox pitching ace had his best spring in six years in 1958 and it took him more than a month to register his first victory.

"It seems whenever I have a poor spring," said the boyish looking 32-year-old southpaw, "I wind up with a good year. I got raked up in the spring exhibition games in 1956 and 1957. I was a 20-game winner each year.

"I had high hopes of winning 25 games last year the way I was going during the spring training season. But once the regular season started I couldn't win for losing. And it wasn't because of bad breaks, either. I gave up an average of five runs a game.

"I was really depressed. I kept thinking 'Is this it? Have I had it?' I was only 31. Not too old. But apparently I had lost it. And I couldn't account for it. I wasn't doing anything differently. I just couldn't get anybody out, that's all.

Without a victory in six starts, Pierce finally entered the win column on May 16. Seven straight victories followed. Billy warmed up for his midsummer All-Star appearance by hurling three consecutive shutouts. The last one against Washington, was a masterpiece. He had a perfect game until pinch hitter Eddie FitzGerald doubled with two out.

Nat Skipper Points To Seventy Victories

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Cookie Lavagetto has set a goal for his Washington Senators. Not first place. Not even the first division.

In fact, he's not pointing at any particular spot in the standings. "I want to hit a minimum of 70 victories," the swarthy Senator skipper said modestly. "That would give us nine more than last year.

"I think we can do it. We weren't as bad last year as the record indicates. We played fair ball until the last month of the season when the boys tired badly. I think we lost something like 13 straight in September.

"We have added youth and a little speed in an effort to offset this. I think we will also have a little better bench."

It is clear that Cookie is relying heavily on newcomers Reno Bertoia to make good at third, Ronnie Samford to plug the hole at shortstop and rookie Bob Allison to bring a regular outfield berth.

Bertoia and Samford came from Detroit in the trade that sent Eddie Yost and Rocky Bridges to the Tigers. If Allison makes good, Roy Sievers may be switched from left field to first base, according to Lavagetto.

Otherwise, the team is the same as the one which finished in the basement last year. Norm Zaichin is the first baseman, with Herb Plews at second, Bertoia at third and Jose Valdivielso at short. Ken Aspromonte, Bob Malkmus and Harmon Killebrew are the reserves.

Last year's No. 1 rookie Albie Pearson, sidelined with a groin injury, is expected to take over the center field spot upon his return. Bob Lemon, still not fully recovered from a knee operation, is fighting to hold off Allison and Dan Dobbek in the battle for the third outfield post. The catchers are Clint Courtney and Eddie FitzGerald.

The club is pitifully shy of pitching. Pete Ramos (14-18) and Camilo Pascual (8-12) are proven big league starters and Dick Hyde was just about the best relief pitcher in the American League last year.

Next — Cleveland Indians.

Miller Involved In Beanball Controversy

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stu Miller, a curveballer with a three-pitch repertoire called "slow, slower and slower still," was the center of a beanball controversy today after toppling Cleveland's Vic Power in an exhibition game.

A Miller pitch hit Power on the head and knocked him unconscious momentarily in the ninth inning of San Francisco's 7-5 victory over the Indians Thursday.

Hot words between the managers and a wrestling match between San Francisco's Andre Rodgers and Cleveland's Jim Bolger came in the wake of the incident, which drew these varying comments:

From Miller: "I never threw at anybody in my life. He ducked into the ball."

From Power: "He threw at me and he knows it."

Giants' Manager Bill Rigney, refusing to recount the hot exchange he had with Cleveland Manager Joe Gordon at the pitcher's mound, dismissed the matter. "We've been playing spring training games with Cleveland since 1934," said Rigney. "We never had any trouble with the Indians and we are not going to have any trouble with them now. None of our pitchers has ever deliberately thrown at them."

Rodgers was involved when, following the incident, Bolger slammed into him at second base while breaking up a double-play attempt. While they wrestled, both benches emptied but no punches were thrown. Bolger had gone in as a pinch runner for Power, who was not injured but was taken out just the same. Power was not wearing a protective helmet, as required by most clubs.

Rodgers earlier slammed two home runs — his fifth and sixth — and Eddie Brassoud and Jackie Brandt hit one apiece to power the Giants victory.

In other games, Boston nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 11 innings at Scottsdale, Ariz., and in Florida, Cincinnati edged Los Angeles 2-1. Philadelphia downed Washington 5-2 at Clearwater, St. Louis whipped Milwaukee 6-3 at Bradenton, New York defeated Pittsburgh 7-2 at St. Petersburg. Detroit whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-2 at Tampa and Baltimore topped Kansas City 4-3 in 10 innings at Miami.

Lakers Continue Rough Tactics In NBA Win

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The stormy National Basketball Assn. playoff between the Minneapolis Lakers and the St. Louis Hawks was deadlocked again today and new verbal jabs flew from both camps.

The Lakers survived a third-period blowup to gain a 108-98 victory Thursday night and knot the Western division final playoff at the two games apiece in the best-of-7 series.

Elgin Baylor's 32 points and defensive job on a superb but tiring Cliff Hagan in the fourth quarter put Minneapolis over the top after the Lakers lost a 19-point lead. Hagan scored 38 points but was held to 3 in the final quarter.

"What I said earlier this week still goes," said Hawks Coach Ed Macauley. "The Lakers played the same way last night that they did Sunday, pushing and shoving."

Macauley and owner Ben Kerner of the Hawks charged Monday that the Lakers were using rough-house tactics. The Lakers denied it then and they did the same today.

The Laker-Hawk series resumes Saturday night at St. Louis. Boston and Syracuse, also 2-2 in the Eastern division, play their fifth game Saturday in Boston. They were idle Thursday night.

Austin To Race At Wilson Event

The Annual Easter Sunday Grand National 200 will see the winners of every NASCAR late model stock car race of this season take the green flag at 3 p.m.

The 30 or more drivers to participate in this 100 mile super fast event will include such NASCAR champions as: Shorty Rollins of Corpus Christi, Tex., winner of the Daytona Convertible 100; Bob Welborn, Greensboro, N. C. winner of the Daytona National 100; Lee Petty of Randleman, N. C. winner of the Daytona 500; Curtis Turner of Charlotte, N. C. winner of the Hillsboro and Concord Grand Nationals and the Hickory, N. C. Nine 1959 cars are expected including 3 Thunderbirds, 5 Chevrolets and an Oldsmobile. The remainder of the field will be made up of 58 and 57 stock cars.

In addition to the winners listed above the following champions are expected to make it real rough for all concerned. Joe Weatherly, Norfolk, Va.; Junior Johnson, Ronda, N. C.; Buck Baker, Spartanburg, S. C.; Tiger Tom Pistone, Chicago; Cotton Owens and Joe Eubanks of Spartanburg, S. C.; Jack Smith, Atlanta, Ga.; Speedy and Jimmy Thompson, Charlotte, N. C.; Tiny Lund, Harlow, Iowa; and

L. D. Austin of Greenville, N. C., are some more of the NASCAR speed demons who will help make up this top field of 30 or more drivers.

Rose High Wins Over Washington

Spring Sports

East Carolina College opened their North State Golf title yesterday afternoon with a 11-7 win over Elon.

Don Conley shot a 77 for the winners and Paul Goodwin had a 78. Mike Romanis followed with 90 and Skip Collier completed the ECC scoring with a 83.

Fred Sanders of Elon was medalist with a 75.

Rose High opened their golf season yesterday afternoon with a couple of wins over Washington. Greenville placed first in both the Junior and Senior Division.

On the track scene, New Bern raced to a 80½-30½ win over Rose High yesterday afternoon at Guy Smith Stadium. It was the opener for the Greenville cindermen.

A tennis match was scheduled this afternoon between ECC and William and Mary but rain has brought postponement of the match until a later date.

Cronin Predicts Closer AL Race

BOSTON (AP) — American League President Joe Cronin is optimistic about a closer race for the pennant this year after returning from a visit to the Florida spring training camps.

Though his viewing was hindered by the rain, Cronin commented: "From what little I saw I became optimistic about a closer American League race this year. I think all the teams I saw have strengthened in a spot or two that may help make a closer race."

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A possible shot at Davey Moore's featherweight championship here next summer is in prospect for the winner of tonight's nationally televised, 10 - rounder between Paul Jorgensen of Port Arthur, Tex., and Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I.

Promoter Chris Dundee has been in communication with Willie Ketchum, Moore's manager, concerning such a bout.

Spring Sports

Rose High collected only three hits yesterday afternoon but bunched a couple of them in one inning to edge past Washington High, 3-2, at the latter's park.

The Greensies used a three run outburst in the fifth inning for their second victory of the season and first in conference play. Their only loss thus far was to Wilson in their opener.

Joe Moyer started the big fifth inning with a single. Steve Noble gained a walk and Aubrey Harrison clouted a triple to deep right-center field to score both runners. Larry Roberts hit an infield grounder which was muffed to enable Harrison to score the winning run.

The Pam Pack picked up their first run in the sixth inning when center-fielder Billy Teavers hit an inside-the-park homerun. The bases were empty when Teavers slammed his four-bagger.

Washington kept alive in the final frame, scoring one more run, but were never able to master the pitching of Merrill Bynum and fell short of tying the score.

Ronnie Knowles scored the final Pab Pack run in the seventh when he led off with a double and later scored on an infield grounder.

Bynum struck out 14 batters yesterday afternoon and gave up only four hits. The veteran pitcher has now struck out 22 batters in his last 10 innings of pitching.

Harrison collected two of the Greenville hits while Moyer got the third.

The DEADLY LADY of MADAGASCAR by C.V. TERRY

CHAPTER 27

"You know, of course, Mr. Douglas, I've devoted twenty years to Metcalf's ruin?" Red Carter stormed.

"The story is common gossip," I replied calmly.

Carter bounced to his feet, taking the length of the veranda in raging strides. "I'd meant to bring him here in chains, aboard his own ship! I'd planned to make him one last offer. The truth — in exchange for a chance to defend his life."

"The truth, sir?"

"A sworn statement — declaring it was he, not I, who robbed the East India Company of a million pounds. Then we'd have met in single combat. If he'd proved the better sword, I'd have died with my name cleared. If not, I'd have been hanged."

He pulled up sharp on that, aware that his mind had wandered into the land of might-have-been. Returning to the table, he struck it with his fist, so harshly that his inkpot overturned. Then he snatched up a tattered piece of foolscap and shook it in my face. I recognized it as the note Sir Luke Metcalf had left at Fort Dauphin.

"This proves he escaped me one more time!" he raged on. "But no matter. This note is also proof he'll return — and that he'll be spoiling for a fight."

"So it appears, sir."

"Must I tell you why? The viper from hell thinks he's found me out. That he has a map of Ringo Bay."

"Forgive my stupidity, sir — isn't that what Potin said him?"

"You think I'd give a Frenchman a true chart of this harbor? The map he sold Metcalf shows the entrance to a roadstead a good sea mile to the north. It's long since returned to jungle — but I'll prepare it for his reception when he comes calling. Believe me, it's the last trap he'll enter alive."

I sat back while he roared out his harangue — most of it addressed direct to his absent enemy. Fool's Harbor (as the other roadstead was aptly named) had an entrance resembling the channel that led to the pirates' actual stronghold. Like Ringo Bay, it could be defended by batteries mounted on two headlands. It was Carter's scheme to plant dummy guns on these ramparts, permit Metcalf's fleet to destroy them with a few salvos — then to show the white flag at the harbor mouth.

When the Company men-of-war sailed in to accept his surrender, he would blow them from the water with fire power massed along the beach. Should the enemy escape this punishment, a heavily armed armada standing by at sea would destroy such vessels as remained.

"Will you believe it, lad? I meant to send Potin to Madras next year, to sell that map direct to the Company. Now Metcalf buys it outright — and flings down his dare. I'll be waiting, you villain! I'll be waiting!"

The tirade ended in a screech that was not quite human. I backed from his presence as he waved me out. There was froth on his lips, and the wildly staring eyes were fixed on a horizon beyond my ken. A slave had already come forward to wipe the sweat from his master's brow and hand him a glass of rum.

He was drinking thirstily as I left. His fury had given way to a series of full-throated chuckles as the rum soothed his choler. I enjoyed his mirth still less than his cursing.

Bonnie Carter was walking in the palm grove just outside the veranda. I was glad to observe that she had shed her boots and jerkin for a pale green robe. In one hand she carried the straw hat she had bought in Cape Town. A tiny monkey perched on her shoulder. Chattering angrily at my approach, the beast leaped nimbly into the branches of a jacaranda tree.

Bonnie gave me a welcoming smile. "You look a trifle shaken," she said.

"You heard his tirade?"

She glanced back at the fortress as she led me down a path that skirted the harbor. "I could hardly help myself," she said quietly. "He's a little mad at times; Metcalf made him so. But there isn't a greater man alive when he's master of his rage."

"I'll endorse that estimate," I said. "Heaven knows he's made me happier than I deserve today."

She gave me a level look that held no point of coquetry. "He or I, Richard?"

"You, most of all," I said. "Forgive me if I spoke his name ahead of yours. After all, he's king here — and you're the princess."

It was a gallant speech, albeit a sincere one. I had expected a blush and lowered lashes. Instead, her chin lifted still higher — and the proud eyes did not waver a fraction. I had forgotten that Bonnie Carter was without guile (as she was without coquetry), that she had forsaken most pretenses of civilization. When she chose, she could be a great lady indeed — but she was still the aggressor in our parley. My avowal (to her) had been an expected tribute.

"You're willing to be my co-tenants, then — if you survive your testing?"

"Gladly," I told her. "Even though there's a small hope of taming you."

"Why should you tame me? Why should any man?"

"It's a delusion most men harbor when they marry," I said. "Marriage to a princess, after all, is an exception."

"You won't regret the bargain," she said. "That much I can promise you. Give my father two years more, and he'll have all Madagascar as his kingdom. He can set his own rules then, for half the Monsoon Sea. Or make himself part of the Empire, like Morgan, and end with London's pardon. I can think of worse futures, Richard."

"Will you believe it's you I desire — not your father's plunder?"

Bonnie shrugged off the answer and turned to face the harbor. Below us the water flashed in the afternoon sun. I suddenly realized that this stolen moment with Bonnie was a chance that would not come again.

"Don't answer no," I told her. "But I hoped you'd desire me.

Person Is Pushing Claim As Dolly Madison Birthplace

By BUNNY HARRIS
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Unless Guilford County historians get busy they may find themselves having to rip up their historical marker on Bolley Madison, wife of the fourth president of the United States.

Person County, which has long claimed the illustrious lady, is clamoring for proof of her birthplace.

The claim is being pushed by Rep. B. I. Satterfield who maintains: "It is common knowledge in Person County, handed down from generation to generation, that Bolley Madison was born in Person at a small place called Payne's Tavern."

Elsewhere in the state it has been generally accepted that Mrs. Madison was born at New Garden in Guilford.

Satterfield has requested C. C. Crittenden, director of the Department of Archives and History, to make a restudy of the question. He said he is introducing a bill providing an appropriation of $1,500 to provide funds for the investigation.

"I have come to the conclusion that we in North Carolina should consider it a public duty to establish the birthplace of Dolly Madison convincingly on historical proof rather than hearsay," he wrote Crittenden.

In making the request, Satterfield presented the following evidence:

1. The files on record, presented by persons in Guilford, do not determine conclusively where the birth took place.

2. The record of her birth on the New Garden Church record is in direct conflict with statements made by Mrs. Madison with reference to the time of her birth which is contained in a letter written by her in 1835. (Satterfield said he has a photostatic copy of the letter.)

3. Col. Fred Olds, in accepting pictures of Dolly Madison for Archives and History in 1921 from Josephus Daniels, stated at the bottom of the picture that she was born in Person County.

4. A letter on file in the Department of Archives and History from Mrs. Martha Jefferson to Mrs. Madison states that Mrs. Madison was born in Person County.

Satterfield told Crittenden he would "be glad to cooperate with your department in every way possible to arrive at the truth."

REV. PAUL LANIER JR. (above) of Kinston will be the evangelist for the spring revival at the Greenville Church of God on Skinner Street. Services will begin March 29 at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Lanier graduated from Church of God State Bible School in Charlotte in 1957. He has since been working continuously in the evangelistic field. The public is invited to the revival services. Special singing and music are planned.

would be to listen to rebuke, counsel, perhaps condemnation. Therefore, He must be thrust aside.

It is folly to believe that because men are good they will be accepted. Jesus went to the cross because He was perfect love operating in a sinful world. His opponents without realizing what they were saying summed up his character and His life. "He saved others, himself he could not save."

Only Protests In 2-Hour Meet

RALEIGH (AP) — A two-hour hearing brought nothing but protests Thursday against proposals to eliminate most exemptions in the state's sales tax.

The biggest barrage was unleashed on proposals in two bills to eliminate the exemption on food bought for household use.

James B. Vogler, speaking in behalf of the State Food Dealers Assn., told the Joint Finance Committee, "If tonight you saw the headline 'Food Prices in North Carolina Have Risen 2 Per Cent,' you'd think that was terrible. But that's exactly what would happen (if the bills were passed)."

A bill by Rep. John Y. Jordan Jr. of Buncombe would continue the tax rate at 3 per cent but would eliminate all but 13 of the 39 exemptions.

Another bill sponsored by Rep. R. Frank Everett of Martin would reduce the tax from 3 to 2 per cent and eliminate all but two exemptions.

About half of the 350 persons at the hearing peared in support of the North Carolina Automobile Dealers Assn. and the Independent Automobile Dealers Assn.

Eugene Johnson, a Sanford auto dealer, predicted public marches on the state capital if the sales tax is extended.

Christian Science Announcements

Christ Jesus' mission to reveal the true nature of God and man will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Reality" is the Golden Text from Mark (1:14,15): "Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God, and saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (208:20): "Let us learn of the real and eternal, and prepare for the reign of Spirit, the kingdom of heaven—the reign and rule of universal harmony, which cannot be lost nor remain forever unseen."

From the Bible will be read the following (II Corinthians 4:6): "For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ."

In a speech in 1928, Calvin Coolidge said: "After order and liberty, economy is one of the highest essentials of a free government."

moon, the rockets (modern spacemen call them retro-rockets) were fired, pushing the craft away from the moon.

They gave just enough shove to get the projectile past the moon's gravity. From there it was simple. It merely fell to the earth.

The speed of the free fall was not enough to cause the projectile to burn up when it entered the earth's atmosphere. What heat was generated was quickly consumed when the space machine fell—in true Jules Verne style—into the ocean.

Verne's projectile naturally was of proper size and weight to float to the surface. It's three passengers were playing dominoes when they were spotted by a passing ship.

Reinstate Class On Probation

GROVE HILL, Ala. (AP)—With a promise there would be no further trouble from a "Big Boppers" club, the last 10 members of a Negro high school senior class were reinstated Thursday.

County school board members agreed the 10 could return to school on probation after they and their parents signed pledges promising proper conduct.

The other 36 members of the class were reinstated March 18. The entire class had been suspended for what school officials said was a concerted effort to disrupt classroom activities.

The seniors must make up all the work they missed.

Long-Term Curriculum Study Is Begun At ECC

East Carolina College initiated a faculty meeting Wednesday a broad and continuing study of the college curriculum. Vice President and Dean of Instruction Leo W. Jenkins acted as chairman.

Dr. Goodrich C. White, chancellor emeritus of Emory University in Georgia, will visit the college April 22, 23, and 24 to discuss educational problems with faculty members, Dean Jenkins announced. A series of three meetings Dr. White will speak and conduct forums on the topics Curriculum, General Education, and the Humanities.

Chairmen of three committees of faculty members who have been working for several weeks in these areas submitted reports at Wednesday's meeting. These focused attention on aspects of the instructional program at the college which they suggested should be considered as the study of the curriculum advances.

Presenting committee recommendations on the three areas were Dr. N. M. Jorgensen of the department of health and physical education, Curriculum; Dr. John Howell of the social studies department, the Humanities; and Dr. R. E. Cramer of the geography department, General Education.

Among a large number of topics recommended for further consideration during a period of several months are evaluation of general education requirements, use of entrance tests in raising standards, strengthening the Humanities requirements in all departments of instruction, increasing requirements in foreign languages, the status of remedial work, and the role of faculty members in guidance and counseling programs.

'Went Berserk' Over Statement

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—Joseph Roy Troyer, 38, went apartment hunting last week in Mount Clemens.

The last place he inquired was at a roominghouse where Mary Douglas, 84, a great grandmother was caretaker. Troyer, the father of two children, says she told him, "Oh, we don't allow children here."

"I guess I went berserk," Troyer told police Thursday. "It made me mad because I had heard the same thing everywhere. You can have cats and dogs, but no kids. I hit her with my open hand and knocked her down. She yelled at me to get out, that she was going to call the police. When she said the word 'police,' I went after her."

"I picked up an object and started beating her. I didn't intend to kill her, though."

Mrs. Douglas died of head injuries two days later in a hospital.

Troyer, an ex-convict and former gravedigger, was arrested after police learned he was visited the house on the day of the attack, March 17. He at first confessed the slaying without giving a motive, then repudiated his statement.

After arraignment on a charge of common law murder, which does not specify degree, Troyer gave police his explanation.

Elizabeth Taylor Turns To Judaism; A Convert

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor has been converted to Judaism, the faith of her late husband, Mike Todd, and of Eddie Fisher, the handsome singer she is expected to marry.

Although the English-born beauty, formerly a Protestant, apparently had been considering the step for more than two years, her decision caught Hollywood by surprise.

Friends and colleagues—even her agent—knew nothing of her conversion and the long studies that preceded it until it was announced late Thursday night in a brief press release issued by Temple Israel of Hollywood.

A spokesman for the Temple, where the ceremony was performed Thursday in the presence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Taylor, said the announcement was made at Miss Taylor's request. Conversions are not normally announced, he said.

The 27-year-old actress apparently first decided to embrace the reformed branch of Judaism at the time she married Mike Todd Feb. 2, 1957. Todd, born Avram Goldbogen, was the son of a rabbi.

Rabbi Max Nussbaum, who conducted the simple rites, said the death of Todd in a plane crash March 22, 1958, intensified her desire to enter the Jewish faith.

"She was a good pupil," the rabbi said. "She has a good understanding of Jewish law and has read extensively in Jewish history. She is very intelligent."

As part of the ceremony she had to pass an examination on the religion and take an oath to uphold its standards.

The actual conversion was completed by a simple prayerrite conducted in Hebrew, with Rabbi Nussbaum reading the prayer and Miss Taylor responding.

It was during the period of the actress' studies that her romance with Fisher flared into the headlines. Their widely publicized dates in New York City led to a breakup of Fisher's marriage to Debbie Reynolds and Fisher has been seen constantly with Miss Taylor since his divorce.

They were together recently at a Jewish fund-raising dinner at which the actress pledged $100,000 for Israel bonds.

Her agent Kurt Frings, said he didn't learn of her conversion until Miss Taylor telephoned him after the ceremony.

He said she told him, "It has nothing to do with any future marriage plans. This is something I've wanted to do for a long time."
