Peiping Reports Revolt In Tibet Crushed; Install Pro-Red Puppet

TOKYO (AP) — Red China claimed today it has smashed an uprising in Tibet and installed the Panchen Lama — pro-Communist rival of the rebellious Dalai Lama — as head of a new regime.

The rebels attacked Lhasa on March 19 and were defeated in two days of battle, Peiping said. It listed rebel casualties at 4,000 captured. The Red Chinese troops seized 8,000 small arms, 81 machineguns, 27 mortars, 6 mountain guns and huge amounts of ammunition, the broadcast said.

Peiping carefully refrained from assailing the Dalai Lama, the living Buddha of Tibetans and the most popular man in the land of the Lamas.

The revolt was blamed on the "Tibetan local government and an upper strata reactionary clique" backed by imperialists.

Two Beaten By Roving Gang In Wilkes County

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Two Greensboro men reported they were attacked by a gang of men at a service station in Wilkes County March 15.

The two said they were swarmed by eight or 10 men and beaten without provocation while their families watched helplessly.

Moore was hospitalized four days in Winston-Salem with a broken nose, broken rib and cuts and bruises. Helms suffered arm injuries and skinned knees.

They related they encountered the auto again at a service station and that when they spoke to the young man behind the wheel, a gang of eight or 10 men came out of the station and beat them up.

Mrs. Helms was struck by one of the men when she protested the beating. Finally the wives got their husbands back into the car and they left the scene.

Moore's employer, William H. Black II, said nurses at the hospital in Winston-Salem told him a gang in Wilkes County apparently made it a practice to beat up strangers.

Wilkes Sheriff Fred Myers said he knew nothing of the incident, but would investigate if he had more information.

Skinner Of Tanker Says Ship Hove To When Hit In Fog

NEW YORK (AP) — Capt. Louis Murphy, skipper of the tanker Valchem, contends that the Grace Line's Santa Rosa hit his ship as he lay hove to in thick fog.

Murphy's statement to newsmen Friday, after his smashed vessel reached Brooklyn under tow, directly contradicts a Grace Line statement that the Valchem crossed in front of the luxury liner in perfect weather.

Four crewmen of the Valchem died in the collision early Thursday 22 miles off Atlantic City, N.J. The 10,000-ton Valchem's stern was almost cut in half. The 20,000-ton Santa Rosa's bow was crushed above the water line, but there were no injuries to passengers and crew.

Murphy, 33, read the following statement: "I was on the bridge when the collision occurred. It was thick fog. Visibility was less than a quarter of a mile. We had been sounding fog signals for over an hour and traveling at reduced speed."

"The Santa Rosa was sighted on our radar at about eight miles away, practically dead ahead. We changed course to the right to pass her port to port in the customary way."

"She then apparently changed course to her left. When her fog signal was heard about 3 o'clock, our time, my engines were never put back again."

"When my ship had lost her headway, we sounded fog signals of two prolonged blasts, which is a signal for a vessel with no way on her."

"The Santa Rosa kept coming and hit us on the port side near the stern at high speed. We were stopped in the water when she hit."

"The two versions of the crash foreshadowed a stormy session when the Coast Guard opens its inquiry Monday."

Capt. Frank Sitwik, 50, skipper of the Santa Rosa, declined to discuss the accident prior to the Coast Guard inquiry. A few of his crew and some passengers mentioned fog or haze at the time of the crash. But the version of the Grace Line, owners of the Santa Rosa, said the ship was proceeding "in perfect weather."

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP) — The 420-foot freighter Antonio Durak wallowed in heavy seas today after parting from the tug Oil Transco, which was towing it from Wilmington, N.C., to Baltimore.

Only a handful of men was on board the freighter, a World War II Liberty ship that had been taken from the mothball fleet at Wilmington.

Many Americans To Observe Easter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Atop mountains and in glens, in the open or within the confines of amphitheaters and churches, Americans will celebrate Easter by the millions.

Most of them will mark the holiday in churches but many also will take part in traditional public observances.

Of course the day will bring out paraders in new bonnets and frocks, too, and the biggest gathering of these is on New York's Fifth Avenue.

Fair weather is expected over most of the nation. One of the great outdoor observances will be the sunrise service in the Hollywood, Calif., Bowl.

There some 20,000 persons are expected to hear a sermon by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, one of the 12 apostles of the Latter-Day Saints Church.

In Oklahoma's Wichita Mountains near Lawton, other thousands gather for a similar observance. Other dawn or predawn services are scheduled for Boston.

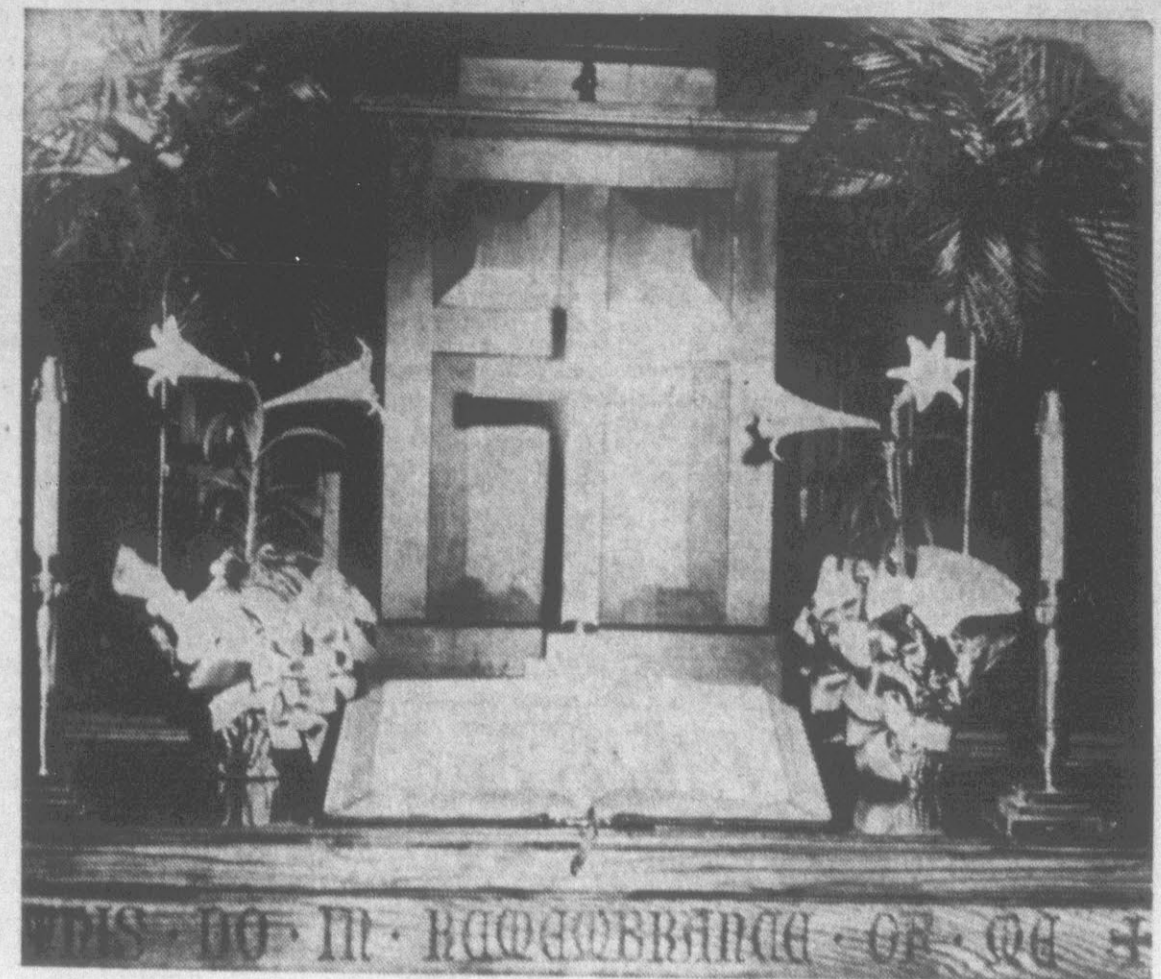

Protestants aboard the USS Constitution at a Naval code there; for Mountville, Ala., at the site of Indian mounds where early American tribes once gathered; for Indianapolis, 300 choristers will greet the sunrise in Monument Circle.

At Sierra Madre, Calif., the Youth for Christ movement will hold dawn services beneath a 45,000-square-foot canopy of Wisteria blossoms.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower are spending Easter weekend at their Gettysburg, Pa., farm. The traditional Easter egg roll on the White House lawn will be deferred to Monday.

In New York, Radio City Music Hall will be transformed by lighting and other stage effects into a giant cathedral for the Protestant Council's "The Glory of Easter" service.

Easter Message Awaits

For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. (John 3:16,17)

Tractor Wrecks, Girl Loses Leg

A 17-year-old girl lost her left leg yesterday when a tractor on which she was riding overturned on a farm path, pinning her beneath it.

Mrs. Henry Stallings Jr., Route 6, Greenville, mother of two children, was pinned by her left leg beneath a tractor when the vehicle hit a bump on a down-hill curve and overturned, according to Deputy Sheriff Duke Andrews.

The tractor, carrying four persons, was being operated by M. L. Stocks, of near Greenville, Andrews said.

Mrs. Christine Stocks, wife of the driver, was also injured in the accident but doctors described her injuries as slight.

Attending physicians said Mrs. Stallings' leg was crushed below the knee and had to be amputated.

The fourth passenger on the tractor, Mrs. Henry Stallings, Sr., as well as Stocks, the driver, escaped without injury.

Investigating officers stated the speed of the tractor was apparently too great to enable it to make a curve in the path.

Girl-Strangling Story Disproven

MARSHALL, N.C. (AP) — A young North Carolinian who told police a hazy story about the strangling of a nine-year-old girl in Spokane, Wash., actually was in Colorado at the time of the crime, authorities say.

Sheriff E. Y. Ponder, who questioned Tommy Lee Miller, 23, for several hours, said Sheriff William Riley at Spokane informed him that Miller was in Eaton, Colo., on March 6.

That was the day Candice Elaine Rogers, making the rounds of her neighborhood selling candy for the Camp Fire Girls, was raped and strangled. Her body was found in a wooded area last Sunday.

Sheriff Ponder said Miller was picked up for questioning Wednesday after he left a bus at Hot Springs, N.C., and began trying to get into moving automobiles.

Another Nuclear Sub Sails To North Pole

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear submarine Skate is heading homeward today after dramatically proving that atomic subs can maneuver under Arctic ice within missile range of the Soviet Union any time of the year.

The navy said the Skate had completed a 12-day voyage under the Polar ice cap—and in the process surfaced through relatively thin ice several times.

The Navy mentioned only of the scientific aspects of the trip but the military significance was obvious.

The 267-foot submarine surfaced 10 times during its 3,000 polar journey—either in open rifts in the ice or through thin spots in the ice pack. Once, on March 17, the Skate surfaced exactly at the North Pole.

The Skate, which made a similar trip last summer, is now headed for New London, Conn., the same base from which it departed several weeks ago. Until it arrives there April 6 full details of the voyage will not be known.

Kept Talking

LA PUENTE, Calif. (AP) — A La Puente woman says party-line talkers refused to let her make an emergency call even though she informed them her husband was dying.

Mrs. Madeline Urraga told sheriff's deputies Friday that she finally made the call from a neighbor's telephone—resulting in a 22-minute delay.

By the time an ambulance got her husband, Gene, 48, to the hospital he was dead of an apparent heart attack, Mrs. Urraga said.

Smith-Mills Speak Vows

The marriage of Miss Nicoll Elizabeth Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Moye Mills of Greenville, to Charles Russell Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Smith of Atlantic, took place Friday afternoon in a double ring ceremony at the Salem Methodist Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alton Lancaster.

The church was decorated in an arched effect, banked with palms and lighted tapers. There were large floor baskets of white gladioli and mums with green palm leaves which formed the background. The entire church was decorated with Southern Smilax. Matching ribbons marked the pews down the center aisle of the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chantilly lace. The basque bodice featured a scalloped neckline, re-embroidered with pearls and iridescents. The gown had short sleeves with elbow length lace mitts. The bouffant skirt of lace with a taffeta bow over tiers of lace and crystal pleating extended into a chapel train. Her three tiered veil of silk illusion was attached to a Swedish crown of lace and pearls. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of American Beauty Roses.

Mrs. Luke Harrell of Red Springs was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Bob Edwards of Pactolus and Miss Carolyn Bilbro of Washington. Little Miss Lois Edwards of Chocod was junior bridesmaid.

Charles C. Smith, father of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Luke Harrell of Red Springs, Bob Edwards of Pactolus, Lindy Edwards of Chocod and David Smith of Atlantic. Timothy Mills of Greenville, brother of the bride, was junior usher.

The matron of honor wore a ballerina length gown of white chiffon and lace. The empire bodice was of chiffon with a taffeta cummerbund. The bouffant skirt was of lace. She wore a matching half hat of scalloped chiffon outlined with pearls and a veil. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of American Beauty Roses.

The bridesmaids wore dresses like that of the matron of honor and carried old fashioned bouquets of red carnations.

The mother of the bride wore a beige street length dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of tan cymbidium orchids. The mother of the bridegroom wore an ice blue street length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

After the ceremony, the couple received their guests in the vestibule of the church.

Coloring Hints

RALEIGH — It's time to get out old cracked cups and dishes — to use in coloring Easter eggs!

For $1 you can buy an entire evening of family fun, as the eggs coloring project is an activity all will enjoy.

The less expensive eggs will be best if they are only to be used for coloring and the Easter egg hunt.

If the eggs will be eaten, then use grade A eggs, advises Mrs. Ruby P. Uzzell, consumer marketing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service.

If you question the safety of eating dyed eggs, check the instructions on the package. If the color is harmless, it will say so.

White-shelled eggs generally are the shopper's choice because they dye in clear, bright colors. However, brown or speckled shells may give unusual effects.

Remember, the hard-cooked dyed eggs should be eaten within two days after they have been colored.

DAFFODIL CHOCOLATE CREAM CAKE

Ingredients: 2 sponge-cake layers (8 or 9 inch), 1-3 cups heavy cream, 1-4 cup drained syrup-preserved chopped chestnuts, 1-4 cup instant chocolate-flavored drink mix, salt, 1-4 teaspoon vanilla extract, fresh daffodils for decoration.

Method: Brush any crumbs from sponge-cake layers. Beat 1-3 cup of the cream until thick; fold in the chopped chestnuts; put layers together with this. Without washing beater, beat remaining 1 cup cream with chocolate-flavored drink mix and a dash of salt until stiff; fold in vanilla. Cover top and sides of cake with chocolate cream; refrigerate until serving time. Cut daffodils and bouquets of the flowers and leaves in center of cake in a pretty arrangement. The yellow flowers, pale green leaves and light-colored chocolate cream make a pretty springtime dessert for the Easter table.

NEW ADDITIONS

You have probably noticed that hydrogenated shortenings contain mono and diglycerides — these are added in small amounts to improve the all-around baking performance of the shortening.

The Most Unfair Of Tax Proposals

North Carolina has made a great to-do in the past two years over the elimination of a corporate tax structure which was said to be discriminatory toward out-of-state firms with plants in North Carolina.

Now the state legislature has before it a measure which is the worst possible example of singling out a small group of Tar Heel business firms for discriminatory taxation.

The proposal is that which would impose a tax of one to one and one-half cents per bottle on soft drinks.

It represents a proposal to place a tax of at least 20 per cent on a six cent item. Furthermore, it would go a long way toward wiping out a considerable number of small businessmen in the state, depriving North Carolina of the considerable taxes already paid by these bottling firms and their employees.

As The Reflector has stated previously, North Carolina should not adopt any tax which singles out a group of business firms or individuals for discriminatory taxation. It is not in keeping with the policies North Carolina has followed in its tax structure, and in the long run it would surely be harmful to the general welfare of the state.

The proposed crown tax without question would seriously curtail sales of soft drinks in North Carolina. In many instances it would spell ruination for many small bottling firms which, like their larger competitors, depend on volume for their successful operations. In 1957 when prices of soft drinks went generally from a nickel to six cents in North Carolina, it represented the first price rise for bottled soft drinks in almost half a century. It was necessary from an economic standpoint if bottlers were to survive the constant round of increases in the cost of materials which they used, overhead and wages.

In 1948 there were 202 bottling plants in North Carolina. But by January of this year that number had decreased to only 139... and that in spite of the price increase which went into effect two years ago.

Certainly the legislature of North Carolina would not consider placing a 20 per cent tax on new automobiles sold in the state, or on appliances, clothes, pencils or any other item for that matter.

Why then should the General Assembly give serious consideration to a crown tax which singles out the bottlers of North Carolina for a discriminatory tax? Obviously it is because it would provide a relatively easy source of tax to collect. The bottler would have to advance payment to the state before he could get the crowns for his bottled drinks. And the bottler in turn would have to pass the tax along to the consumer as best he could.

In actual practice, however, it is entirely possible that the increase in revenue realized from a discriminatory crown tax would be more than off-set by losses in other forms of tax revenue the state would suffer by forcing a number of bottling firms out of business.

The soft drink bottlers of North Carolina are now paying their fair share of taxes in other forms just like most other businesses in the state. Certainly there is no justification for singling out this one group of Tar Heel businesses for a discriminatory and perhaps ruinous tax burden.

The legislators of North Carolina should without hesitation kill any tax proposal which is as unfair and discriminatory as the crown tax proposal now before them.

Might Better Attend To Business At Hand

We find ourselves somewhat amused and at the same time somewhat disappointed that with the present General Assembly only six weeks old, campaigns already are being launched by House Speakership hopefuls for 1961.

Such is the way of politics and politicians, and it has been for decades. Even so, it does seem that the candidates could wait until this session of the legislature is a little farther along before making political plans for the next.

To be sure the Hewlett-Venters race for Speakership should have given most of the House members sufficient political fireworks to last them more than six weeks. It created strong political factions that should be allowed to dissolve before new factions are formed for a 1961 Speakership race.

Rep. Clyde Harris of Rowan, Joe Hunt of Guilford and H. Cloyd Philpott of Davidson already have avowed their candidacies for the Speakership two years from now. While tending to legislative chores, each is also pushing his candidacy, and it is logical to assume that each has supporters in the legislature who are dividing their attention between writing laws and button-holing potential voters.

People in all the 100 counties of North Carolina probably would feel much better if their representatives in the House paid more attention to the legislative business that must be transacted between now and June, and less to a Speakership race which is still two years away.

Little Change In Pros And Antis

By LYNN NISBET

DIVISION — At the end of the seventh full week of the 1959 General Assembly the dividing lines between pro and anti administration forces are almost exactly where they were drawn on opening day. The terms "pro" and "anti" admittedly are misnomers as applied to large part of the membership.

Among the 50 Senators about one-third can be counted upon to "view with suspicion" or oppose measures labeled as administration favored. Another third will be inclined to accept the administration viewpoint. The remaining third, among whom are some leaning one way or the other, are classified as more independent, considering bills on merit rather than on sponsorship. Needless to say this is the popular third, the men who are courted by their colleagues, and by reason of their situation exercise large influence.

The first test vote came on selection of a President pro tem at the pre-session caucus. The predicted close vote developed, with the administration candidate winning by 26 to 21. The next test came on a very minor issue, of no consequence except to Columbus county. Sen. Arthur Williamson, avowed anti-administrationist, sought suspension of rules to pass a bill delaying revaluation in Columbus county. He was supported by Sens. C. V. Henkel of Iredell, John Jordan of Wake and several others. Sens. Lunsford Crew of Halifax, Pat Cooke of Gaston and two or three more administrationists took the floor to oppose rule suspension. Williamson got his little bill on the calendar and passed it.

TEST — A more significant test vote came this week when by a vote of 23 to 22 the Senate postponed action on the bill, which had passed the House, to set up a State building commission for planning construction of legislative-office building. The bill carried no direct appropriation, but involved the budget approved item of $4.5 million. Action was deferred until the main budget biennial appropriation bill is reported out of committee.

There was quite a stir around capitol corridors and the Senate chamber Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning as administration leaders sought support for a vote to reconsider and recall the bill to the floor now. Most observers agreed they had the necessary margin of votes to reverse the previous action. Undoubtedly the procedure would have increased emotions and perhaps jeopardized more important legislation to come up later. Counsel of older heads prevailed and the recall attempt was not made Thursday.

Another test, less conclusive so far as administration strength is concerned because of the basic policy involved, was the vote on the prison industries or compulsory purchase bill, which had passed the House by large margin. The bill passed and was regarded as an administration victory — although it had strong support from several Senators who are generally counted on the other side, and some staunch administrationists opposed it.

There are no clearcut factional lines, and no outstanding individual leadership.

HOUSE — On the House side it is more difficult to classify members as pro or anti, although on several votes the division was as close as in the Senate. Governor Hodges did not take as much hand in selection of a Speaker as he did in the Senate pro tem presidency, but it was generally understood his close associates favored Carl Venters, Addison Hewlett won, which meant that some of the stalwarts of past sessions lost committee chairmanships.

Not many of the big issues have yet come to the floor of either branch for action. The real tests will come on some of the government reorganization bills, the money bills and constitutional revision. Even here the alignments may not be clearcut, because Cloyd Philpott of Davidson, who served as chairman of the reorganization study commission, is an avowed candidate for Speaker next time. He is very popular and some of his colleagues will go along with the recommendations of his committee because of affection for him rather than allegiance to the Governor.

Another working candidate for Speaker is Joe Hunt of Guilford, chairman of the municipal finance study commission. He too will get personal support for his bills from some who do not subscribe to all the provisions.

Another Man's Poison

One man's meat is another man's poison, they say; and I'll go along with that.

Now you take the field of music.

A person can encounter a song, a march, a dancing theme, a fugue, a symphony, and all of a sudden his (or her) ear is attuned to the one melody. The melody is rooted in that person's subconscious, and may linger for years.

It's a perfect nuisance when one simple little tune dominates your day... but those instances when a musical phrase plagues the conscious mind for one day, and then forgotten, is not the topic for today's dissertation.

Rather, it is the long-term favorite under brief surveillance; the one particular arrangement of musical notes which satisfies the subconscious personality.

To illustrate:

A wartime acquaintance aboard ship (who was not of Irish extraction) was a tremendous admirer of the song "MacNamara's Band". As long as I knew him, the only time he displayed this musical failing was when drinking. Then he was prone to below the song and march around as though he were a Son of Erin. It was something to hear and see;... especially hear.

Then, another friend was fascinated by "Begin the Beguine".

Wherever I went with him, he'd call on the piano-player, the combo or band to play that number. Once, in Australia, he bribed an entertainer in a pub to play "Begin the Beguine" for three straight hours. He was then evicted.

Those examples are the extreme side of my theme. Not everybody is so afflicted.

Last night I heard my melodious falling, "Baubles, Bangles and Beads". It reminded me for the umpteenth time how versatile that particular song could be.

I heard it for the first time maybe four years ago, maybe five, when the musical production "Kismet" first appeared (I didn't see it). Perhaps my first encounter was via radio, but it caught my fancy in one hearing. I didn't know the song's name, but tried to buy a recording both here and during a trip to Virginia; and failed. It was still too new.

Why did B E & B appeal to me?

I don't know. It sounds, personally speaking, equally exciting when played by a three-man jazz combo, by a string ensemble, by a full orchestra or by a soloist. One vocalist, a duet, a chorus, can do equal justice to the lyrics. They're elastic that way.

Then I've noticed "my song" can be played in almost any tempo, barring march-time, and retain its allure. Again, it's a matter of opinion; but that's the theme of this whole piece.

Whenever I hear this particular song a part of me pauses to listen. Perhaps it's the unusual blending of music, lyrics and sentiment which draw me.

Not everybody is aware of a musical theme catching their attention whenever it's heard. But I'd guess there's such a song in the lives of us all. All that is, but the tone-deaf. They really miss something.

Don't they?

Quote...

"When you were figuring up your income tax returns did you remember to deduct all of the 'hidden taxes' you had to pay during the year? Likely as not you did not. But these hidden taxes took a big bite out of your income last year, probably much more than you paid in property and income taxes." — The Asheville (N.C.) Herald.

Fame Came Quickly

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Fame touches people at the oddest moments.

Even now Janet Gaynor, Hollywood's first Academy Award winner, gets a chuckle remembering how she first realized she had reached stardom — on a trip to the powder room.

It was in 1927, that she and Charles Farrell, another screen newcomer, teamed to make the unforgettable "Seventh Heaven."

"Success sometimes comes so unexpectedly," Miss Gaynor mused. "No one even noticed me when I walked into the theater for the premier of that film."

"But when I got up at the intermission to go to the ladies' room, the crowd would hardly let me through. I went into that theater as an unknown, and came out a star."

"It all happened in a single hour."

Janet went on to the heights. For three years in a row she was the nation's top star at the boxoffice.

In 1936, weary of the screen grind, she retired. The next year she married Gilbert Adrian, the designer, and settled happily into a relative obscurity from which she emerged three years ago when she resumed her career.

Janet, a Philadelphia-born honey-blond with quick brown eyes, stood only five feet and weighed 160 pounds when she first went to Hollywood in 1926 — with no stage experience. She now weighs 105 pounds and is three-fourths of an inch taller.

"I can't understand it myself where that extra three quarters of an inch came from," she said, smiling.

She doesn't in any sense regard the two decades away from the screen as a lost period.

"You don't really ever lose anything — you gain something," she said. "They were wonderful happy years. I always loved to act, and still do, but strangely enough I didn't miss it one bit when I wasn't doing it."

"Miss the glamor? No, indeed. I had an even more glamorous life after I retired. The only reason I quit was because I wanted to live another kind of life for a while. It was as simple as that."

This is Janet Gaynor's philosophy today:

"I never want to stick at any one point in life, and think that it is everything. You have to learn not to hold on to the past or look too hard to the future, but live each day."

"The essence of life is change, and we can hope the change means growth."

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS DESPAIR

It was all over. As one of the disciples of Jesus put it: "We had hoped that it was He that would redeem Israel."

But that now was behind them. It was a dead dream. This Jesus had been a great man, a noble teacher, a miracle worker, a loving friend to many. But of course He was not the Messiah, they reasoned, else He would not have died. God would have protected Him with legions of angels. The good would have recognized Him and risen up in His defense. How dreadful that so much good should perish!

We can picture the disciples, each in his home weeping and shaking his head and asking over and over again how this awful thing could have taken place. And yet they must have reminded themselves that a thing as grand as the enterprise Jesus tried to establish must necessarily fail. The world was not ready for that kind of goodness. Humanity would just have to go along as best it could, serving God, and hoping for the best in the end.

God's wisest and best had tried something better — and had failed. Goodness and hope such as Jesus stood for just could not be made to work. The cross had apparently proved this.

What they did not realize was that within twenty-four hours they would be delirious with joy over the Resurrection. Easter was about to dawn.

Hardly Worked Up Good Sweat

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, having hardly worked up a good sweat over what it accomplished so far this year, has now gone home for its usual Easter breather.

Its work to date is about par for the course. It really has to start toiling when it returns in April.

By now the biggest issues of the first three months of 1959 have become pretty clear: inflation, the American economy in general, defense spending, and the Berlin crisis.

Congress has begun an extensive investigation of what makes the economy tick. It has held extensive and necessary hearings on many subjects, granted Hawaii statehood, prepared some legislation for later action, and voted on money bills.

Both houses of Congress stand firmly behind President Eisenhower on the Berlin crisis which the Soviets created. They have given him some suggestions. He hasn't budged an inch on Berlin.

Nevertheless, discussion has been intense and will continue right up to and through the summit conference next summer — if there is one.

For months now Eisenhower has been hammering against the danger of inflation and seems to have singled out the steel industry for special attention. He has addressed his appeals both to steel management and to the steel workers union which soon will be asking more wages.

He has cautioned both sides — since steel prices affect the whole economy — against upsetting for too much money; management by using higher wages as an excuse to raise steel prices.

But while he's been warning steel to be careful, inflation has been increasing in other industries and it is questionable whether workers and management in the steel industry will stand still while prices go up around them.

This week the government's monthly report on living costs came down.

Practically every spending category except food went up. Prices for housing and most fuels went up in February. So did the cost of medical care, gasoline, and such items as toilet goods, haircuts, household appliances, TV sets, radio and movie admissions.

Another argument bound to continue: the Democrats contend that Eisenhower, in his desire to show a balanced budget after three consecutive years of deficits, wants to spend too little on defense.

The Republicans—but not all of them—rally around Eisenhower's rejoinder that he is in the best position to know what defense this country needs.

What seems the biggest illusion of 1959 is Eisenhower's insistence that the budget can and must be balanced in the way he proposed. He figures that if the country in fiscal 1960 spends only 77 billion dollars it can take it in revenue $77,100,000,000. His figuring is amazingly paper-thin.

He is not estimating that revenue figure on the basis of taxes already on the books.

He is asking Congress to get revenue up to that amount by raising 600 million more in revenue through boosting postal rates and the gasoline tax. Since Congress almost certainly won't, that leaves him about 600 million dollars shy to start with.

But the crowning blow was struck this week when tax experts working for Congress figured revenue would be at least a billion dollars below Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar spending budget.

Compare that with the fact the Democratic-run Congress seems bent on voting more money than Eisenhower asked for in his budget — on the grounds that he did not ask for enough — and his budget-balancing looks long gone.

But, like the Berlin crisis, the economy, and inflation, this argument over the budget will go on and on.

Other Editors Saying... State Of New York City

(Henderson Dispatch)

New York City — or at least some people who live there — wants to become a State in its own right. It would have the area sliced off from up-State and made into a separate unit.

The whole agitation stems back to finances. The metropolis is Democratic, while up-State is largely Republican. When the big city wants to spend money freely, somebody at Albany seems to apply the brakes. City employees are up in arms over the prospect of being denied a pay raise, and some nine thousand of the public school teachers have threatened to strike. Others are talking of a one-day stoppage to emphasize their demands.

At the capital in Albany the furor elicited laughter, so far as the new-State idea was concerned. But the City Council of the metropolis appointed a committee to study the possibility and legality of seceding from the rest of every State wanted to break up into segments because they could not have their way, this country would soon become a hodgepodge of government that would create greater problems and new schisms to disturb the unity that has existed these many years, and at the same time diminish the strength that exists by reason of the efficient manner in which government has been carried on from the beginning.

Agitation in New York City may fade out, but the metropolis feels its oats because of its size. It would probably have as much to lose as it could gain by separation from the neighbors to the north.

Profitless Poultry Prosperity

By ELMER ROESSNER

You'll find fewer broilers at 29 cents a pound if the National Broiler Council can persuade supermarkets that they are wringing their own necks with such sales.

Chickens at 29 cents a pound — and sometimes at 25 cents — is a strange phenomenon of 1959 poultry economics.

In an era when almost everything else except chicle has been going up, poultry has been becoming amazingly cheaper.

It was pointed out yesterday that the addition of chemicals, hormones, antibiotics, and vitamins, plus the introduction of production-line methods, has reduced the cost and time of raising eating broilers. This in turn has resulted in an upsurge of production. And rapid changes in markets often cause bizarre results.

Why everybody loses.

Those who got into broiler raising early made splendid profits. This attracted thousands more into the field. Low prices and better birds have been increasing consumer demand, but production has risen faster than demand.

The overproduction factor has been worsened by two others. One is that broilers must be slaughtered after six or seven weeks because the cost of feeding after that point is unprofitable. The other is that weekly broiler statistics are readily available.

For example, in 22 major chicken-producing states in the week ended March 7, a total of 34,722,000 day-old chicks were put in production.

So everyone in the business, including brokers and chain-store buyers, knows that in the week beginning April 12, so many broilers, less non-survivors, will be coming on to market.

If the number is greater than estimated demand, buyers can beat prices down to cost. One chain will announce a 29-cent sale; other chains will insist sellers give them a price on which they can compete, and there's another one of those cackle splurges.

PROFITLESS PROSPERITY

There is no profit for anybody at 29-cent prices. Neither the retailers, processors nor producers can make anything. Many producers have barely made wages (if the $60 a week for seven 16-hour days is wages) for months. Even their suppliers lose, because they can't pay their bills.

The Broiler Council, its brokers, its promotional agencies and some government aids are trying to convince the markets that this system is screwy.

The markets lose. They make nothing at that price; most lose. The sales do not attract others' customers because the competitors, too, have simultaneous sales. The sales cut into beef, pork and lamb sales, which carry reasonable markups. Housewives buy in advance at these sales, hence for a week or more thereafter they are interested in neither poultry nor other meats.

The processors lose, because their income is less than the cost of slaughtering, preparing, grading and shipping broilers when prices are that low. The growers make no money. Many have guarantees of 5 or 6 cents a margin over costs but the guarantee amounts to cooie wages. And breeders, hatchers, feed suppliers and all others lose because growers have difficulty in paying their bills.

SOLUTIONS, ANYONE?

Some in the industry want government subsidies. Others want amendments to antitrust laws so that producers could limit output to demand.

But most of the leaders think the answer is increasing demand: to encourage the average family to eat chicken two and three times a week, instead of once; to sell more chickens to barbecuers, school lunches, plant restaurants, and so on. They won't care if somebody starts a fad for rubbing chicken fat in the hair. They insist that even at prices well above 29 cents, chicken is cheap and delicious, and if they can get the message over, demand will soon catch up with production.

Camellia Society Elects Lyman Ormand President

At the last meeting of the season, Pitt County Camellia Society members elected the following slate of officers for the 1959-60 year: president, Lyman Ormand; vice president, Henry Smith; and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. F. F. Hendrix.

Mrs. Effie Vines Gordon, retired Home Demonstration agent from Rocky Mount, was guest speaker. She spoke on various phases of camellia culture and especially about varieties which have come through the severe winter and produced good blooms. She illustrated her talk with blooms from her own garden.

Mrs. Gordon declared that camellias are a lazy man's flower, costing no more than a good rose bush but requiring much less care. They grow to be a century or more old, attaining a height of 20 feet in 30 to 60 years and producing blooms up to seven inches in diameter. They originated in China from the tea plant, Camellia sinensis. The Chinese sold the flowering variety to British shippers for the cultivation of tea in England. The British prized the plants for their blooms even though they were unsuitable for beverages. She stated that one must give them a suitable location, shade, water and fertilizer to have pretty blooms. The members voted to eliminate the December meeting as it falls so near Christmas. A vote of thanks was given the program committee for the programs for the year. Mrs. J. I. Thorne and Mrs. L. H. Ellis received door prizes, camellia plants from John Barnhill's garden. The next meeting of the Pitt County Camellia Society will be held on the fourth Tuesday night in October.

'Dry' Oklahoma Pushed Toward Vote On Repeal

By JIM MONROE

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — One of the last outposts of prohibition — Oklahoma — is wavering in the face of another drive for legal liquor.

Surveys and vote samplings indicate the state may go wet. But drys are predicting its onslaught will be defeated as were six previous repeal attempts.

Oklahomans vote April 7 on changing the state constitution to allow privately owned package stores. They also vote whether to turn the entire state wet or leave that decision to individual counties.

Campaigns are being waged vigorously by the Oklahoma United Dry Assn. and the United Oklahomans For Repeal.

Scores of pastors, mostly Protestants, are asking their congregations to pledge votes against repeal.

"Hang down your head, bootlegger, 'cause you're bound to cry," is a repealist campaign ditty heard over Oklahoma radio stations.

Both sides seek support "for the sake of children."

Dr. Sam Scantlan, executive director of the dry group, said: "Oklahoma mothers are becoming alarmed about the safety of their children. They know that more people will be killed under repeal and that their own children will be subjected to new dangers if the liquor interests should win."

H. W. McNeil, coordinator for repeal forces, declared: "Liquor in bottles, plus some in fruit jars, is readily available throughout Oklahoma and will continue to be. Mothers and fathers are greatly disturbed by these facts, and the easy access their children have to liquor under our present system of illegal control."

Both drys and repeal advocates probably are concentrating more on getting out the vote than on changing people's minds.

Previous elections indicate the drys have some 300,000 votes and a turnout of over 600,000 is necessary for a repeal victory. A simple majority decides the issues.

A federal agent this week called Oklahoma "the only bone dry state in the union," referring to statewide prohibition. Sooner citizens will testify it is drier now than ever before in 51 years of prohibition.

Under a policy set by Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, the State Crime Bureau and Highway Patrol are waging warfare on bootleggers.

Norman Hunter, inspector of the crime bureau, estimates half the whiskey merchants have been driven out of business. Whiskey prices and 3.2 beer sales have bolted upward.

Kiwanian Bill Drum, chairman of the Support of Churches Committee, had charge of the program. B. B. Sugg, retired banker, introduced the speaker.

Kiwanis President John A. Collins, Jr., who welcomed the guests and thanked Dr. Hadden for his lecture, said the message was especially appropriate for delivery on Good Friday Night.

Chairman Charles M. King announced that the Kiwanis miniature "Chop-Choo Train" will begin operations Easter Sunday afternoon at Kiwanis Park.

Adler's home was listed as Raleigh.

Tommy Calhoun, of Greenville, driver of the Adler car, and the two girl passengers, Miss Jean Capps and Miss Nancy Cox, both of near Smithfield, were said to be improved.

The driver of the second car, William Curle, was taken to a Kingston Hospital Thursday with only slight injuries.

Sunrise Communion Service Sunday At St. James Church

On the lawn in front of St. James Methodist Church worshippers will gather tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock for the fourth annual Easter Sunrise Communion service. In celebration of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, the service begins in the open air and then moves into the Church.

Promptly at 6 o'clock the congregation will sing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." The choir will then sing the invocation "Jesus, Stand Among Us In Thy Risen Power," and the minister will proclaim that "the Lord is risen indeed!" The people then affirm their faith in the Risen Christ in the Second Century words of the Apostles' Creed and sing the Doxology, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

An anthem by the St. James Choir will be followed by the people singing "Christ Arose." All outdoor singing will be accompanied by Mr. James Parrish, French horn; Dr. Stanley Walter, trumpet; and Mrs. William Norwood, piano.

After ten minutes, the people process into the Church to celebrate the Sacrament of Holy Communion. Rather than kneeling at the Altar rail as is customary in Methodist Churches, the people will sit around a long banquet table within the Church.

Radio Station WGTC will broadcast the service from St. James at 6 o'clock as a public service for those unable to attend in person. The public is invited to attend. The 11 o'clock regular Worship Service, not on radio, will feature a sermon entitled "He Is Risen!"

At the end of the meal each child was given ice cream and a small cup cake with a candle in it. With all the candles lighted, everyone sang Happy Birthday.

After this, John Behr, who was in charge of the program, introduced "Taddo-The Magician" who is Bill Tadlock of Washington. Assisted by Mrs. Tadlock, the magician mystified the children and adults with tricks of magic.

Receives Award For Suggestion

R. L. Martin, Greenville agent for the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, has received a $25 award for an improvement he suggested as part of the company's Employee Suggestion System.

Martin suggested that the term "local points" be eliminated from the railroad's rate structure, and all points treated as competitive points. He said there no longer remained a "local point", due to increased competition from other forms of transportation, and suggested that so-called local points should be given the same privileges as competitive points with regard to stop-offs.

All awards made under the suggestion system are based on merits of the suggestion and value of benefits derived by the company. Minimum awards are $10 and maximum awards are $100.

HIGH-LEVEL PLANNING BY RESERVE OFFICERS — Major Wellington Gray and Major Gordon Berry of Greenville and Lieutenant Colonel George S. Dewey of Goldsboro

UNIT PARTICIPATION IN CLOSE-ORDER DRILL — One Phase Of Weekly Meetings Conducted by Army Reservists

SECTION TRAINING TO IMPROVE INDIVIDUAL SKILLS . . . Directed By Lieutenant George H. W. Johnson

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Staff Writer

Less than a week ago, a $155,000 training center was formally dedicated for use by U.S. Army Reservists in the Greenville area.

It serves, and will serve, as the center for activities aimed at preparing civilians to become capable soldiers in a time of national crisis.

The training center — the building itself — is not an elaborate facility. In a sense, it is like the mission for which it was designed, quiet and unassuming but modern and functional.

The training center is also like the number of men who utilize its facilities. It is deceptively large and far-reaching, with effects that few people realize at first glance.

In Greenville, the active Army Reserve directly affects about 140 people who are members of Detachment 1 of the 3015th USAR Reception Station and the 398th USAR Engineer Field Maintenance Company. They are, for all practical purposes, civilians for all but a small percentage of their time.

They come from almost every walk of life and almost every general job category in Pitt County.

Not all of them are volunteers, as the active Army Reserve once was. Some are members because of military obligations incurred under selective service (draft) laws. Some are Reserve Officers, working for retirement points. Others are in it because they enjoy it. Then, there are some persons who are members of the units because they get paid for it.

The pay delivered quarterly to Army Reservists in the Greenville area is one of the large aspects of the program. Members are paid a full day's pay, according to rank, for each weekly drill period. When they participate in the two-weeks summer training encampment, they receive full pay and allowances, according to rank, for the two-weeks period.

Conservative estimates of the Army Reserve payroll in the two local units is between $60,000 and $75,000 annually. The actual amount varies constantly, because of promotions, discharges, enlistments and other personnel changes.

That payroll alone makes the local Army Reserve program a business of respectable size. When it is coupled with the annual payroll of Regular Army personnel and full-time civilian workers — estimated at about $90,000 per year — it becomes a big business from the standpoint of effect on local economy.

Regular Army and full-time civilians — there are 14 of them — who work with the Reservists handle most of the administrative details of the units. The Reservists themselves do the rest of the work, however.

A normal training schedule for a weekly meeting calls for members of the units to participate in group close-order drill, section training in specific job classifications, and individual training in basic military subjects such as first aid, camouflage and concealment, and basic weapons instruction.

In addition, the two units have a minimum of one multiple drill every two months. That involves field training for a full day, during which the Reservists make a practical application of their classroom work.

By Reserve standards, both units do their jobs well. In addition, the 3015th has received particular recognition in the past year by being selected as the outstanding non-tactical Army Reserve unit in North Carolina.

Although both units are classified as "good units," they are "progressing all the time," according to Lt. Col. Beverly Brockdorff, Senior Army Advisor and commander of the North Carolina Army Sector.

"The units are getting better facilities, more and better equipment, and the ratings of individual Reservists are being raised constantly," Colonel Brockdorff says. "Local reaction to the Army Reserve program is constantly improving and it is particularly good in Greenville."

"Morale among the individual Reservists is good and most look forward to their annual two-weeks tour of active duty. That gives the men a chance to go back into the Army for a brief period, keeps them current in Army life and it gives them an opportunity to shop in facilities on bases where they train."

Classification of the units as "good units" goes beyond increasing facilities and equipment, commanding favorable local response, and high morale on the part of individual members, however. The classification comes in part from effect of the unit on outsiders and reactions from those groups.

Each Reserve unit undergoes a weekly inspection by local Regular Army personnel. Reports of those inspections are given to unit commanders, with promises of follow-up inspections on weak points.

A senior Reserve Officer, usually a lieutenant colonel or a major, from another area inspects the units at least once every three months. Reports of those inspections are forwarded to various Army Reserve command levels.

Once a year, representatives of the XVIII Airborne Corps at Fort Bragg conduct a command maintenance inspection of the Reservists and their training program.

Also annually, officer personnel from the Third Army Inspector General's office at Fort MacPherson, Ga., examine administration, supply, records maintenance and other phases of operations.

The inspections by "outsiders" are the same as those given Regular Army units. They are, according to Colonel Brockdorff, "rigid and uncompromising" in demanding definite levels of excellence for high ratings.

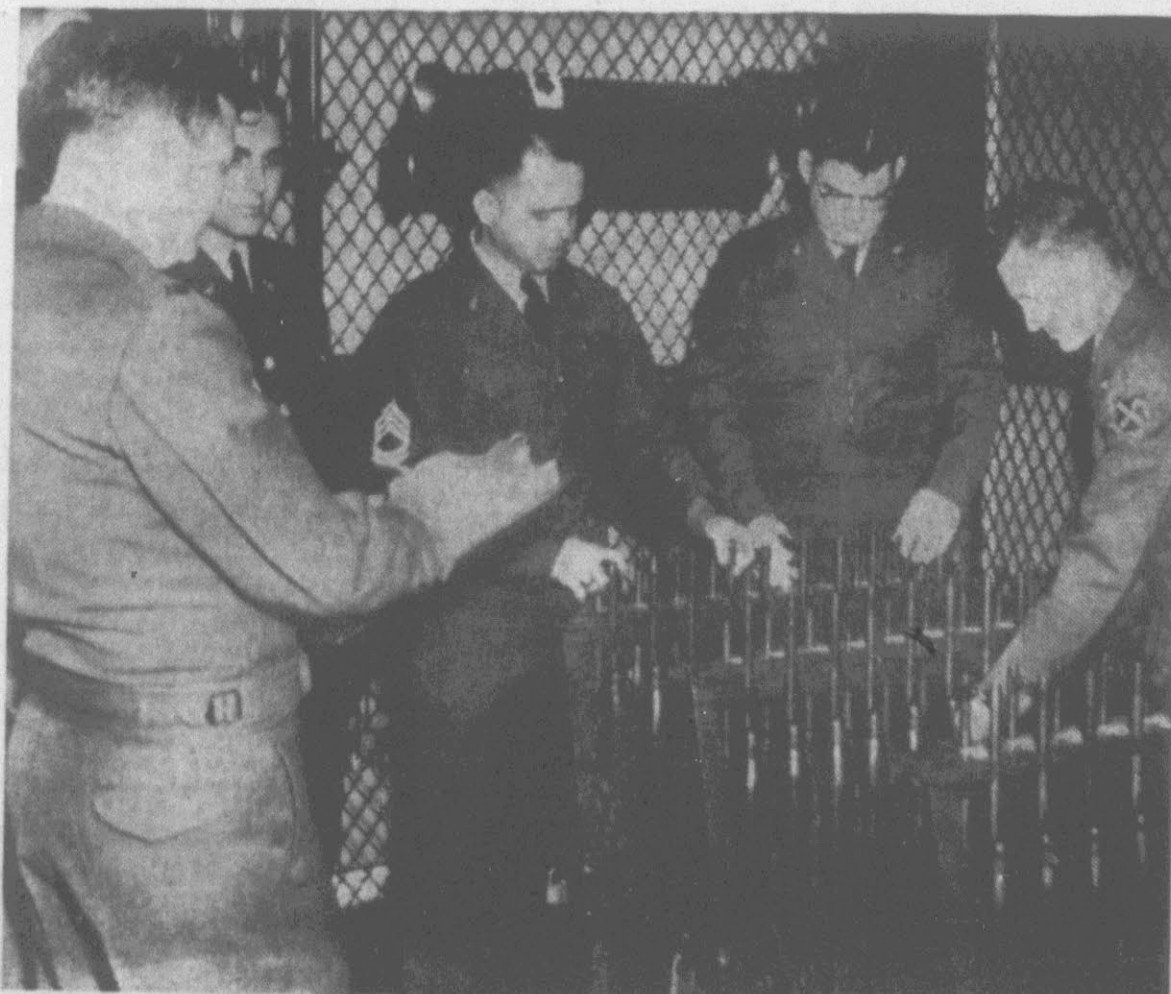

On the basis of his past performances on inspections, the 3015th is classified as "capable of stepping in and going his job on a par with a Regular Army unit, in the event of mobilization." It is at 100 per cent authorized strength, with experienced men in most slots.

The 398th, recently shifted to Greenville in a reorganization of area Army Reserve activities, is not up to full strength and some of the specialized, highly technical slots in its table of organization are not filled. It is, however, progressing, Colonel Brockdorff says.

Progress, in the colonel's view, is essential in the Reserve program. And, as he sees it, it goes on every day in what local Reservists are doing.

Pirates Meet Delaware Here Monday

Crayton To Pitch Against Touring Club

By JOHNNY HUDSON
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina College has recessed for the Easter holidays but Coach Jim Mallory and his merry band of baseball players have failed to take a timeout period and will be back in Greenville Monday following a weekend tournament at Camp Lejeune.

The Pirates will be here Monday to take on an old rival and a team that is becoming a jinx to East Carolina. Coach Tubby Raymond and the touring U. of Delaware will provide two days of opposition for the Bucs.

Delaware has made it a point the past few seasons to add luster to their southern visit with victories over East Carolina. Last year the Hens took a 4-1 triumph.

An inside interest to the game is the fact that Mallory and Raymond have been working together on a book which deals with the diamond sport. Both have made quite a name in the coaching field and the tilt will not only pit a couple of strong teams but a meeting of two utmost figures in the coaching fraternity.

Delaware left Newark early Thursday morning and had a game scheduled with Newport Apprentice School today before coming to Greenville. They are expected to arrive at ECC sometime tomorrow afternoon.

Hens Lose Three
The visitors will move on to Camp Lejeune and then to Wake Forest before starting their return trip. The Deacons were one of the few teams which was able to claim a verdict over Delaware last season. The Hens finished the season with a 19-3 mark and were rated as one of the best in the East but exams kept them from competing in post-season play.

Raymond states that Delaware should be strong again with pitching being a factor in their favor. Al Nelger and Vern Welch are a couple of veterans back from last year's club and both are expected to pitch against ECC.

The Hens copped a couple of exhibition games last week before making their tour and their foes were able to come up with a total of only two runs.

Speed-baseman Jack Turner and leftfielder Dick Duerr give Delaware a couple of power hitters who have already made a habit of connecting with the long ball this spring. Both hit homers in their exhibition games.

Crayton To Pitch
East Carolina opened strong this week with a couple of wins over the U. of Indiana and then battled the U. of Delaware on Thursday. Crayton will pitch with a young team which shows plenty of potentials but hitting has caused the head tutor some concern.

The Bucs had the same problem last season when they were forced to use strong pitching to gain a second place finish in the North State Conference.

Larry Crayton, the strong left-hander, will probably get the starting chore against the Hens Monday. The Greensboro native is 1-1 for the season and has given up only two runs while striking out 16 men.

Johnny Ellen, another freshman, or Earl Boykin will be next in line for duty when the Bucs meet Delaware Tuesday.

Gary Pierce, husky football tackle, has been the lone Pirate to show much of a hitting touch in the opening games. The sophomore outfielder batted out four singles in his first five times at the plate to make a loud noise toward gaining a starting spot.

Mallory has indicated that he will continue to substitute freely in determining his best material. The ECC coach has platooned his club during the opening games, sending his left-handed hitters against right-handed pitching and vice-versa against southpaws.

Monday and Tuesday's games are slated at College Field on the ECC campus and will begin at 2:45.

Home Court Is Big Advantage In NBA Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks and the Boston Celtics will take the lead today in the National Basketball Assn. divisional playoffs if the home court trend continues.

The Hawks and Minneapolis Lakers are all-square at 2-2 in their best-of-seven series for the Western division playoff title. So are the Celtics and the Syracuse Nationals in their battle for the Eastern division championship.

So far each team has won twice on its home court. Today's games are at St. Louis and Boston, with the latter scheduled for televised treatment (NBC) at 3 p.m. EST. The sixth game of both series will be played Sunday at Minneapolis and Syracuse.

If the Lakers are to break through tonight they must get top production from Elgin Baylor and Dick Garmaker, both of whom have been hot at Minneapolis but something less than sensational at the Hawks' court.

The Hawks also are looking for Bob Pettit, the NBA scoring champ, to break out of what is only 26.8 points against a regular season record of 29.2. Cliff Hagan has been the Hawks' big gun of the series with a 33.5 point average.

The Celtics have won twice at the Boston Garden by 22 points. At Syracuse they lost by two and 12 points.

Both teams are at full strength. Dolph Schayes, the Nats' scoring ace, has recovered from an injured right foot.

Cubs Boast Same Team Of Last Year; Pitching Weak

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs have finished in the second division of the National League 12 solid years. And, unless they achieve overnight pitching prosperity, they may have trouble keeping better company this year.

This is almost exactly the same team that finished last season in a fifth-place tie with St. Louis. Even this, modest achievement is a bit misleading because the Cubs wound up only a game out of seventh place.

Chicago's leading man of course is Ernie Banks. Behind him are long-ball hitters like Walt Morry, Dale Long, Bobby Thomson and Lee Walls.

Manager Bob Scheffing thinks his pitchers have good potential, but admits he's not certain the potential will be realized this year. "When you've got a staff of young pitchers," he said, "and none of them is proven, you haven't got much to go on in trying to figure out how you're going to do. Now, we've got Drabowsky and Drott and Hillman. I know something about them. But some of the others — well, we just don't know."

Dave Hillman, who was 4-8 last year, could be the only starter over 25. He's 31. Moe Drabowsky (9-11) is only 23 and Dick Drott (7-11) is 22.

Other youngsters looking for starting jobs include Bob Anderson (3-3), Glen Hobbie (10-6) and southpaw Taylor Phillips (7-10).

The regular starting lineup will look something like this: Cal Neeman (259) or Sammy Taylor (259) at catcher, Long (.271) at first, Tony Taylor (.235) at second, Banks (.315) at short, Al Dark (.295) at third, and Walls (.304), Thomson (.283) and Morry (.264) in the outfield.

"And maybe this George Altman," Scheffing added. Altman, who hit .325 for Pueblo last season, has performed ably in the outfield this spring.

In 1958, the Cubs were second only to San Francisco in team scoring. Banks was the major run producer with 47 homers and 129 RBIs. But Morry, Walls, Thomson and Long hit at least 20 homers each and none drove in fewer than 72 runs.

NCAA Records Fall As Michigan Takes Lead

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—They'll be hollering next to "break up" Michigan's mighty swim dynasty.

The aquatic marvels from Ann Arbor have rolled over their opposition like a tidal wave in the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships here at Cornell.

More of the same undoubtedly will be dished out again this afternoon and tonight when the final seven of the 16 events are reeled off in Teagle Hall's 25-yard pool.

Michigan, with its third straight team title all wrapped up in maize and blue, led the onslaught on four American, five NCAA and six meet records Friday.

Coach Gus Stager's Wolverines already have piled up 80 points, they won last year with a total of 72—and appear headed for a record 120 or more. The top thus far is the 96½ amassed by Bob Kiphuth's Yale team of 1953.

Michigan has won three of the nine titles in this meet and had piled up more points with five seconds, four thirds, three fourths, two fifths and one sixth. They were almost tempted to toss back the last.

Far back in second place came Ohio State with 26 points. Michigan State has 20, Indiana 19 and Stanford and Yale 16 each. The others are out of sight.

Michigan's winners were soph Dave Gillanders, who took the 200-yard butterfly by a touch over teammate Tony Tashnick, the defender, in American record time of 2:02.5, Olympian Dick Hanley, 220-yard freestyle, in 2:04.3, and the 400-yard freestyle relay in meet record time of 3:21.6.

The other three American record-busters, which also became NCAA and meet marks, were: Frank McKinnay, Indiana, 200-yard backstroke, 2:01.4; Gordon Colle, Oklahoma, 100-yard breaststroke, 1:03.02, and George Harrison, Stanford, 200-yard individual medley, 2:06.7.

Fred Westphal, Wisconsin senior, captured the 50-yard freestyle in 22.3 seconds after smashing the NCAA mark with a 21.9 job in his afternoon heat.

Ohio State held its grip on the one-meter diving crown with the one-two finish by Ron O'Brien, 468.95 points and Sam Hall, 468.15.

Tar Heels Win Close Ones

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina's baseball team has just started the season, but the Atlantic Coast Conference club has had enough cliff-hangers to last the rest of the year.

The Tar Heels, winners in all four games so far, have won three of them by one run, the other by two runs in a come-from-behind effort. Their latest thriller was Friday at Tallahassee, Fla., where they downed Florida 7-6 in a ninth inning uprising.

It looked as though Florida, ahead 6-5 and with ace Ray Oestricher on the mound, had it licked. But North Carolina's Tommy Santsingrove drove a single, advanced when the throw went late to second base on a sacrifice. On another sacrifice, Oestricher threw the ball wild and the bases were loaded.

Tom Camp then hit a short single to tie it up. With two out, John Burwyn took two strikes, then slammed a pitch to the base of the center field fence 400 feet away. It would have gone for a triple, but since only one run was needed it became only a single.

The Tar Heels were to try their fortunes again today against Illinois at Tallahassee. In other games involving ACC teams, Maryland played Clemson at Orangeburg, S.C.; Wake Forest faced New York University at Winter Park, Fla.; Virginia was at South Carolina; and North Carolina State was host to Ohio University.

Clemson, opening defense of its ACC title, clubbed Virginia 13-1 Friday. Virginia pitchers gave up 10 walks and 10 hits. The Tigers got two home runs, including a grand slammer by Tyrone Cline.

Maryland downed South Carolina 3-2 on the nine-hit pitching of Dick Reitz and a three-run inning featured by Pat Clarke's single that drove in two runs. Melvin Quick was the loser.

Rollins College pitcher Chuck Allen scattered four hits to defeat Wake Forest 4-1 at Winter Park, Fla. The Deacons' only run came on Jay Franklin's triple and an error.

Two games were cancelled because of rain—Connecticut at N.C. State and Ohio U. at Duke.

NCAA Records Fall As Michigan Takes Lead

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—They'll be hollering next to "break up" Michigan's mighty swim dynasty.

The aquatic marvels from Ann Arbor have rolled over their opposition like a tidal wave in the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships here at Cornell.

Tennis Club Has Strong Schedule

East Carolina College tennis team, holder of the North State Conference title for 1958 with one win already for the 1959 season, includes on its schedule this Spring a series of matches with Atlantic Coast netters as well as playing in its own league.

Cornell University of Ithaca, N. Y., on the card for Easter Monday, is the only team slated from north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Coach Ray Martinez of the tennis team, in addition to his swimming team coaching duties, already notes three wins this season before the 1959 card was completed. In two "pre-season" series, East Carolina defeated Lynchburg College 5-2 and 4-3, and William and Mary 5-2. A loop win, 7-0, was posted in the Elon-ECC matches here, the Pirates victorious in that one.

The remaining matches:

March 30, Cornell University, Greenville; April 3 and 4, Western Carolina, in Cullowhee; 6, Atlantic Christian, in Greenville; 17, North Carolina State, in Raleigh; 18 (a.m.), Elon in Elon; 18 (p.m.), Wake Forest, in Winston-Salem; 23, Atlantic Christian, in Wilson; May 1, Guilford, in Guilford; 2, High Point, in High Point; 11 and 12, North State Conference tournament, in Greensboro.

Howell Heads Raleigh List

RALEIGH (AP)—Mississippi State's All America Bailey Howell headed a list of outstanding senior players for today's second annual North-South basketball game here.

The roster of St. John's Coach Joe Lapchick's North squad and North Carolina State's Everett Case's South team included five performers who were among the top 15 in national scoring this season.

The top scorer represented was Leo Byrd of Marshall, who finished second in the national rankings to point leader Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati.

Other big point makers on hand were Howell, Notre Dame's Tom Hawkins, St. John's Seiden and New York University's Cal Ramsey. Howell played for the South, the others for the North.

New Plan Issued For U.S. Open

NEW YORK (AP)—It will take 73 qualifying competitions to determine the 150-man field which will vie this year for the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

The U.S. Golf Assn. issued a blueprint today for its new plan of a double series of playoffs, all at 36 holes. The first series is scheduled in mid-May—50 of them May 18 and another at Chicago May 19.

The second series at 13 strategic centers is slated for June 1. The open will be played at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N.Y., June 11-13.

The 72-hole championship will carry a record purse for professionals, totaling $40,000.

Adcock Wants To Play Daily

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Joe Adcock doesn't want to be traded. The Milwaukee first baseman isn't angry at anybody. He likes his manager, Fred Haney. But Joe isn't happy.

"I don't want to sit on the bench," Joe complained today. "I don't like playing one day and sitting on the bench the next. I can't do either myself or the team justice playing part time. I know I'm a better ball player when I play every day."

The record backs Joe up. In 1956, the 6-4 slugger from Coushatta, La., batted .291, slamed 38 home runs and drove in 103 runs in 137 games. In 1957, North Carolina State, in Raleigh; 18 (a.m.), Elon in Elon; 18 (p.m.), Wake Forest, in Winston-Salem; 23, Atlantic Christian, in Wilson; May 1, Guilford, in Guilford; 2, High Point, in High Point; 11 and 12, North State Conference tournament, in Greensboro.

Adcock hasn't seen much action this spring. For one thing, he was a late signer. For another, the rainy weather has kept the exhibition games down to a minimum.

"I know their plans are for me to play against left-handed pitching only," said Joe. "But I'm not happy about the situation. I want to play every day. And I'm a first baseman, not an outfielder. It's tough to stay in shape shuttling in and out of the lineup."

King Shoots 71 In Azalea Tourney

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Twenty-six golfers were blanketed by four strokes going into today's second round of the $15,000 Azalea open tournament.

Twenty-five of them were chasing pro Bob Goaly, who plays out of Belleville, Ill.

One of the late first-round finishers in the field of 135, Goaly went on a late birdie binge Friday to shoot a two-under par 70 for a one-stroke lead.

His five closest pursuers, two of them amateurs, were only one stroke behind.

Buddy Baker of Florence, S.C., holder of the U.S. Golf Assn. junior title, and Claude King, Virginia Beach, Va., and three pros shared runner-up honors.

Don Whit of Borrego Springs, Calif., and Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex., regular members of the pro caravan, and Joe Worrell, golf company equipment salesman from Charlotte, N.C., rounded out the scanty list of par busters. Day-long wind and showers that persisted until early afternoon made for some of the most difficult golfing weather of the year. The Cape Fear Country Club's 6,800 yard course, thanks to the elements, was one of the most formi-

Gomes Wins Big Decision

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Harold Gomes, a sturdy little belter who doesn't know when to stop belting, has hopes of a title shot, or at least a place among the top 10 featherweights.

The little man from Providence, R.I., Friday night spouted the No. 2 contender, Paul Jorgensen of Port Arthur, Tex., two pounds and won a unanimous decision in the 10-round nationally televised bout at the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Gomes, weighing 130½, won largely by carrying the fight to the handsome Texan, who relies chiefly on a punishing left hand.

For a time in the middle rounds it appeared Jorgensen's left and his occasional whipping right would wear out his tough opponent. Gomes seemed to sag, but he apparently was saving energy for a stout finish.

There were no knockdowns, but it was a bruising battle which left both men exhausted. Jorgensen weighed 132½.

Promoter Chris Dundee said before the fight he had been in contact with Willie Ketchum, manager of the new champion, Davey Moore, concerning the possibility of a title bout in midsummer of the winner of Friday night's affair.

Judge Carl Gardner had it 98-95, Judge Fred Aaronson scored it 97-95, and Referee Billy Regan 96-95.

It was Gomes' 43rd victory in 47 fights, and the fifth loss for Jorgensen in 84 fights.

Reds, A's, Pirates Win In Citrus Loop

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Look here, what's happening to the pitchin'-poor Cincinnati Reds? A 4-1 victory over St. Louis on Wednesday as Orlando Pena goes the nine-inning distance on a five-hitter. A 2-1 victory over Los Angeles Thursday on a complete game seven-hitter from Brooks Lawrence. And now a 12-1 whipping of Philadelphia as Bob Purkey matches Pena and Lawrence with a five-hit job.

Three complete games, low hit totals back to back—and this for a club supposed to be long on power and short on pitching. Every manager should have the kind of pitching "shorts" Mayo Smith seems to have.

The Reds' victory came at Tampa, Fla., in the feature of a Good Friday exhibition baseball program limited to three games. At Port Myers, Fla., the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 and at St. Petersburg, Fla., ex-Yankee Whitey Herzog slammed four hits and led Kansas City to a 5-2 decision over New York.

Cincinnati collected 15 hits off Ruben Gomez and Ray Semproch. The Reds' Del Ennis hit two home runs and Roy McMillan and John-gie scored one each.

R. C. Smith, Bennie Daniels and Joe Gibbon combined on a five-hitter for the Pirates, who broke a 3-3 tie to beat St. Louis after two were out in the eighth inning. A double by Ray Mejias, a wild pitch and an error by rookie shortstop Julio Gotay produced the winning run.

Herzog, one of 10 ex-Yankees on the Kansas City roster, led a 1-0 assault on Johnny Kucks with a double and three singles in support of steady pitching by A's left-handed Bud Daley. Daley limited the champions to seven hits in seven innings.

Moore's climb to the featherweight championship really got underway in 1955 when he placed himself in the capable hands of Willie Ketchum, a veteran manager who had guided fighters like Lew Jenkins, Jimmy Carter, Lou Salica and Solly Krieger to the top.

After winning the National A.A.U. 118-pound championship, team and won two bouts at Helmsink. He was eliminated in the quarter finals by Joon Ho King of Korea. His disqualification came about when, contrary to Olympic boxing rules, he weaved below his opponent's waist and hit him with an uppercut. Davey turned pro the following year but made little progress although he was winning regularly. When Ketchum took over, Moore started getting better matches. His campaign for a title shot started in 1957 when Ketchum decided to camp in Los Angeles area where smaller fighters were very popular. There Moore climbed steadily until he was rated the top challenger among the featherweights and eventually got his chance to meet Hogan (Kid) Bassey for the title.

"The thing that makes Moore a great fighter," says Ketchum, "is the fact that he has no weakness. You want him to box, he'll box. You want him to hit, he'll hit. He is built solidly, has great strength and tremendous stamina. He doesn't take many solid

Fear Nationalist Guerrilla Fight

SALISBURY. Southern Rhodesia (AP)—Fear was expressed today that rebellious African nationalists in Nyasaland who eluded a security roundup are going underground to prepare for guerrilla warfare.

An uneasy quiet prevails in black Nyasaland after three weeks of rioting and clashes that brought death to 50 militant Africans fighting white rule. Seventy others were wounded. There were no white fatalities.

SUDDEN END
CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Less than two weeks ago Romeo Giacini, a 49-year-old timber dealer, and a friend won $384,000 on a football pool. Giacini died early today of peritonitis after an emergency appendectomy.

Farm broiler prices April through June are expected to average between 16 and 17 cents.

Books & Stuff

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG

During this week of hope we've been deeply saddened by the death of Dr. Joseph Joyce, who was a true Christian in every sense of that word. As you know, he came to Greenville last year from Canada, as interim pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Many others besides the members of this church crew to love him and his strong, kind wife. Our personal acquaintance with him was fostered by our mutual love of books. To him the one building that was nearly as important as a church was a library, and he spent many of his happiest hours in Greenville in the two good libraries we are lucky enough to have here. One of his best friends was Miss Elizabeth Cope-land, librarian of Sheppard Memorial where she often saw him on his home visits.

HIRSHBERG

One of the candidates for Miss Greenville, beauty queen Alice Ann Horne, will play the feature role of Cherie—who was Marilyn Monroe in the movie—in the Greenville Little Theatre production of BUS STOP, scheduled for April 16, 17 and 18 at Austin Auditorium. Miss Horne will give Miss McCreoe a good run for her money, from what we've seen of the rehearsals. Featured performer as Cepule, Juliet's father, in ROMEO AND JULIET, coming in May, will be Your Columnist. Need we, in our modest way, say more? The movie version of the funniest book we've read in many years, Max Schulman's RALLY ROUND THE FLAG, BOYS! will be coming to the local minnema soon. KISS ME KATE, E.C.C. Student Government Assn Musical extravaganza, hits the boards of McGinnis Auditorium in April.

This week marks the anniversary of the births of two great American creative artists—poet Robert Frost and photographer Edward Steichen. Frost was 85 on March 26. Steichen was 80 on the 27th. Though both have gone well beyond their three score years and ten, neither shows signs that his powers are diminishing—an encouraging thing for all of us to think about. In a tribute to Frost in Sunday's Times Book Review, J. Donald Adams asks why Frost hasn't been given the Nobel Prize for Literature, and we will add our two cents—certainly Frost deserves it as much as many who have received it in recent years.

One of the things about him that has taken the imagination of so many of us is his essential practicality—he's not way up in the clouds, as most poets are supposed to be. For example, one unique idea he has that's also very practical is that high-school teachers should be recognized as very important people in the community because their jobs are so important—and we will go along with that one, too.

Photographer Edward Steichen isn't as well known as Frost, but he's had almost incalculable influence in the development of photography as a fine art. He has a story in this week's Saturday Review, called "My Life in Photography," that we recommend to you as a contribution to your understanding of the graphic arts and their history in this country—and that includes everything from the grim war pictures you saw in Life Magazine to the slim silhouettes of fashion models that grace the pages of Harper's Bazaar.

Old Story In October, 1915, a ship called the Endurance broke up and sank, leaving 28 men stranded in the middle of the wastelands of Antarctica, about a thousand miles from the South Pole. The full story of how the survivors managed to get back to civilization is told in the May selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club, ENDURANCE, by Al Lansing. Based on diaries of some of the men in the expedition, including that of its intrepid leader, Shackleton, the book is an incredible chronicle of suffering and triumph, according to its author. What we wonder about is why such a good story has taken so long to be told—but for the answer to that one maybe you'll have to wait until the book comes out.

Travel Books Adlai Stevenson took a trip last summer all around the Soviet Union, and his impressions of it have just been published in book form, 11:00 a.m. Mrs. Herbert Carter will direct the choir, Mrs. Ed Hirschberg at the organ.
