The Elizabethan Garden Is Subject Of Garden Club Meet

"This is something we have all been a part of," said Mrs. S. H. Mitchell as she talked to the Greenville Garden Club on "The Elizabethan Garden" at the meeting of the club on Friday afternoon.

Building and plantings at The Elizabethan Garden have been made possible by gifts of members and friends of the garden clubs which belong to The Garden Club of North Carolina, Inc., of which the Greenville Garden Club is a member.

This club has been a regular contributor to the maintenance of the Elizabethan Garden. Created as a living memorial to the Lost Colonists, the ideal of the Elizabethan Garden was conceived by Mrs. Charles Cannon and Mrs. Ingles Fletcher, both Life Members of the Garden Club of North Carolina, and Sir Evelyn Wrench, founder of the English Speaking Union.

Some of this land had not been used since the English attempted colonization there. The wilderness that it was, and the growth and improvement of the Garden in the past five or six years, was well illustrated by slides shown by Mrs. Mitchell.

Some of its natural state has been preserved on the outer edge of the Garden, but the greater part is a formal garden enclosed by a wall of antique brick. "Pinks are used in many of the plantings to harmonize with the brick," said Mrs. Mitchell.

The Garden includes a plant nursery where plants will be propagated and used for replacements and further beautification. The fountain, a focal point of the Garden, marble benches, balustrades, steps, a water gate, a sun dial, a well head beautiful shrubs and rare flowers have all been made possible by gifts of many people.

Large supplies make poultry products an outstanding protein food buy this week for Pitt County feed shoppers.

Eggs, both large and medium sizes, are at the lowest price level of the year. The large size is the most economical on a weight-per-dozen basis.

Broiler prices have shown some fluctuation during the past weeks but remain an "exceptionally good buy." Decreasing prices on heavy hens have also been noted, making this item an economical budget.

Although pork prices have been fluctuating somewhat, pork remains the "most economical red meat buy." Attractive prices are now appearing on loins, chops, bacon, spare ribs and sausage. Some stores are featuring other cuts as "specials."

The best buys in beef will be found in featured selections. Slight price declines will be found on chuck roasts and some steaks. Current price spreads make choice grades good buys at the meat counter.

On vegetable counters celery, cabbage, old potatoes, and carrots still carry a relatively low price tag. Local greens are of good quality, with uncostly prices. Prices remain generally high for Florida cucumbers, tomatoes, snaps, squash and new potatoes. Processed vegetables may be considered as a supplement for fresh vegetables. Many food stores are featuring specials in processed vegetables. Look for increased production of peppers, sweet corn, eggplant and squash in the next few weeks, weather permitting.

Worthington-Nichols Wed

Miss Martha Linda Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nichols, and Poe Worthington, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Poe Worthington, Sr., of Winterville, were united in marriage at the Arthur Christian Church Sunday afternoon.

The Rev. Carlton Best of LaGrange performed the double ring ceremony before a background of native greenery, arrangements of white gladioli and other white flowers flanked by seven-branched candelabra holding lighted white tapers. White satin bows centered with white flowers marked the family pews.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Bruce Strickland of Bell Air, pianist, and Elbert Bennett of Greenville, N. C., soloist. Bennett sang "Because" by Guy d'Hardelot, "Oh, Promise Me" by Scott & Koven and "The Lord's Prayer" by Albert Hay Malotte. Mrs. Strickland's piano selections were "The Voice That Breathes 'O'er Eden'" by Herbert G. Tovey, "Melody of Love" by H. Engelmann, "Luchestraume" by Franz Liszt, "Evening Star" by Richard Wagner, "Traumerie" by Robert Schuman and the traditional "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white waltz length wedding gown fashioned along princess lines. The fitted bodice was accentuated with a white satin lace and she wore a short fitted coat with elbow length sleeves. Her Gouble tiered veil of imported silk illusion fell from a tiny scalloped cathedral cap. She carried a white prayer book centered with a white orchid and surrounded with white feathered carnations.

Mrs. Jay W. Perry of Greenville, S. C., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her tea length dress was a urus blue lace over taffeta with a blue satin cummerbund which ended in a tiny bustle in the back. She wore a small rhinestone tiara and carried a nosegay of pink carnations and pink streamers.

Charles Hardee, of Winterville, cousin of the bridegroom served as best man. Ushers were Curtis Nichols of Fayetteville and Leroy Nichols of Petersburg, Virginia, brother of the bride. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Nichols wore a sheath dress of venetian blue lace over satin with a draped sash with matching accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Mrs. Worthington, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy shantung dress with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The guests were registered in the vestibule of the church by Miss Sandy Perry of Greenville, S. C.

voice of the bride. She wore a full skirted blue mingled dress with black patent accessories and a pink cymbidium corsage. After the ceremony, the couple received congratulations in the vestibule.

For a northern wedding trip, Mrs. Worthington wore a navy blue silk shantung dress with a fitted short coat. She used white accessories, white hat and her corsage was the white orchid lifted from her prayer book.

The bride is a graduate of Winterville High School and attended Atlantic Christian College. She is presently employed at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The bridegroom also graduated from Winterville High School and attended East Carolina College. He is presently employed by a furniture store in Greenville.

Dr. S. R. Bartlett Jr., president of the Pitt County Medical Society, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Arles Book Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Dallas Clark.

During the business session, Mrs. Clark announced that the Fine Arts Festival Luncheon will be held at East Carolina College on May 2, and urged everyone to go. Dr. Bartlett stated that ignorance of the signs of cancer and of the fact that cancer can be cured causes many deaths. He said that many people who think they have cancer will not go to their doctor for an examination for fear they cannot be cured, while, actually, if found in time, there is a good chance for recovery.

Cancer is a disease characterized by an uncontrolled growth of body cells and may be treated effectively by X-ray, radium, and surgery.

One of the best ways to combat cancer, he said, is for everyone to have an annual check-up. "Simply call your family doctor and tell him what you want. Do not go and tell him your toe hurts and expect him to check you for cancer," Dr. Bartlett urged his listeners. He concluded by saying that the money raised during the Cancer Drive will be used for indigent cancer patients and to provide for research.

Following a discussion on this timely topic, Mrs. Clark served a sweet course and coffee to the members and guests, Mrs. Jack Gates, Mrs. Harry Forbes, and Dr. Bartlett.

No Legislative Leadership Sighted

Where is the forceful, recognized leadership in this year's session of the General Assembly which for years has been one of the principal lubricants that made the wheels of the legislature move smoothly?

The 1959 session of the General Assembly is more than half over now. It is gradually picking up speed toward the final hectic days in which major decisions must be made. And yet, there is yet to come to the fore any central leadership to steer it in a steadfast direction.

To some extent this is probably due to the situation which existed prior to the session and the first few days after it convened. But situations similar to that which existed this year have existed before, and always a recognized leadership developed to give direction to legislative work.

This year there has developed no clear-cut group to give the legislature effective leadership. Speaker Hewlett, after winning the hot struggle for his post, has proved himself most capable, but he has not acquired sufficient control even in the House to point the way and make sure his desires are followed.

Neither have the anti-administration forces which were so much talked about before the session began, formed themselves into a unified body to give direction to the session. Further, Gov. Hodges, while he has spoken out mildly on some issues, has not put the full force of the administration behind legislative matters as has most often been the case in the past.

As a result there have developed no clear-cut lines in this session of the General Assembly. On various legislative matters members of the pro-administration and anti-administration forces have found themselves on the same side of an issue. The same is true of the pro-Hewlett and pro-Venters alignments which existed prior to February 4 and to some extent since that time.

While this general situation may be healthy for the state from one viewpoint—with no group having complete control—it may also make the final, normally difficult days of the session, even more confusing than normal. It may mean that less real progress for North Carolina will be realized from the 1959 session than normally is the case.

There could, in the four to six weeks, emerge a working force which will provide recognized leadership for the General Assembly. But unless the situation changes from what it appears to be now, it may well be that the various factions and forces within the legislature will continue in their present form throughout the session. What the end result of such a situation will be cannot now be accurately evaluated.

Herter Expected Keep Up Dulles' Policies

Appointment of Christian Herter as Secretary of State to succeed John Foster Dulles assures a continuation of Dulles' policies in carrying out the foreign affairs of the nation.

Herter's appointment to the top foreign affairs post has been expected by most observers since it was announced earlier this week that Secretary Dulles would retire. The only question seemed to be when the President would make the announcement.

For the past two years Herter has worked closely with Secretary Dulles, and since failing health forced Dulles to limit his work in the top post, Herter has assumed a major part of the responsibility for the State Department activities.

Previously it had been announced that Herter would represent the United States at both the conference slated for this month, and likewise the foreign ministers conference in Geneva scheduled for May. To these conferences he will now carry the title as Secretary of State.

The fact that Herter has worked so closely with Dulles during the past two years—and particularly because he has partially filled Dulles' shoes in recent weeks—leaves little doubt he will follow generally the same policies that Dulles has set for the State Department for the past six years. And with Dulles remaining as a special advisor to the President on foreign affairs, there can be little doubt that the Dulles hand will continue to be seen in the nation's foreign policy in the immediate future.

The new Secretary of State, who suffers from arthritis of the hips, probably will not spend as much time traveling from country to country as Secretary Dulles did. He probably will not be able to maintain the strenuous schedule which his predecessor set. But in that respect, he will follow more nearly the pattern which was followed by the Secretaries of State before Dulles.

The new Secretary already has proved himself an astute student of international affairs. His experience with the problems which confront the United States and the West should stand this nation in good stead particularly in the trying months of negotiations immediately ahead.

Job Situation Getting Better

By RALPH ROBEY

Unemployment declined significantly in March. While there still is room for concern, the job situation is obviously getting better.

Employment during March increased by 1.1 million to a total of 63.8 million. Manufacturing employment rose 153,000 more than in February, and that in durable goods up more than 100,000. Out of the broad divisions into which employment data are published, only mining showed a drop.

Unemployment declined 390,000 leaving the total at 4,360,000. This drop was substantially more than normal between February and March. The total is now 5.3 per cent of the civilian labor force, as compared with 6 per cent at the end of last year.

The primary reason for concern about this total of unemployment, aside from the personal problems it makes for those out of work, is that the economy as a whole is now back to pre-recession levels. This means that unemployment has not declined as rapidly as business has advanced.

This raises two questions: What has caused the delay in the improvement of the unemployment picture? When shall we return to full employment?

On the slowness of the unemployment decline there are several factors which must be considered.

First, over the past few years business has invested billions of dollars in new plant and equipment. These investments are now paying off. Not as many employees are needed to produce a given quantity of goods as formerly. In time, as business volume continues to climb, more employees will be needed.

Second, it is customary during a down-cycle for business to eliminate its less efficient workers, at all levels, and that took

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS THE ULTIMATE COST

Jesus in one of his parables tells the story of a man who discovered a great treasure in a field. He went and sold everything he had and bought the field with it, of course, the treasure.

There is more to this parable than meets the eye. The man did not just buy the treasure; he bought the whole field. He went the whole way to get the treasure, and he did this with joy. He did not give a portion of his possessions for the field; he gave all that he had. He wanted the treasure. To get it he would have to pay the price, and he did it with eagerness. Such is the Christian life when we live it to its depth. And when we come to know the joy of its towering heights and its peaceful fellowship with God, we know that it is worth whatever it costs—all that we have! The whole field to get the best of treasures. And all this not with a grim sense of duty, but with joy. Too often we think of the Christian life as a burden to be assumed. The New Testament sets it forth as a privilege to be enjoyed. It is treasure in a field. It is worth all it costs—and the cost is our all.

Moral Forces Active

By ROGER PARK MASS

BABSON FARK MASS. — I have recently received a booklet entitled "LOOK INTO THE FUTURE," forecasting boom and inflation ahead. It is written by the editor and staff of one of the leading investment advisory services.

ONE SUBJECT OMITTED This famous writer does not in any way refer to the present moral and nonreligious conditions of the nations. This same criticism applies to most other writers on the future business outlook. President Eisenhower and his Army Chief of Staff are the only prominent people in Washington who are now doing so.

Members of the Cabinet and most Members of Congress act as if these great moral forces are now out-dated and other "old fogies" worry about them. To me this is a serious situation. This subject is discussed by me in a book published by the Fleming H. Revell Co., of Westwood, N.J., entitled "FUNDAMENTALS OF PROSPERITY." I have also discussed the matter in another book, "RELIGION AND BUSINESS." When times are bad, these books have a good sale, but in times like today such books are not wanted.

Fundamentals, however, should not change with time. The Ten Commandments apply today as they did thousands of years ago. In substance, they are recognized by all religions. Now, with radios, airplanes, and other means of communication and transportation causing a constantly smaller world, these Ten Commandments must become more realistic. It may be that we are entering a so-called "New Era" when morals will not count and churches will become social clubs; but I definitely doubt it.

I further believe that what has happened during the past 150 years should be known by businessmen, whether or not history is to repeat itself. So here goes!

WHAT ECONOMIC HISTORY TEACHES

In 1789 General George Washington was elected first President of the U.S. This country then consisted of only a few states, all very poor and constantly harassed by Indian Wars. There was no money, no credit, and considerable discontent. Conditions, however, gradually improved until 1812 when we again got into war with England. As usual this spruced up agriculture and general business. Following peace with England, our nation witnessed its first employment boom — which reached its height in 1827. This boom was under the conservative administrations of Thomas Jefferson, the Adamses, James Madison, and James Monroe.

During this first era of prosperity, there developed unemployment, dishonesty, graft, and inefficiency. This reaction was followed by the election of Andrew Jackson in 1828, our first "turn to the left. The moneyed interests lost confidence and business declined when the panic of 1837, when we experienced our first real business panic. This caused a reform in government and economic conditions which continued until 1861, when the War between the States started. Following this war, U.S. Grant was elected President and prosperity continued, but with accompanying dishonesty, graft, and the ruthless "carpet bagging." This resulted in the panic of 1873 and the depression which followed.

1874 UNTIL AFTER THE SPANISH WAR

The panic of 1873 brought people to their senses. Government became more honest, business more efficient, labor leaders more reasonable, and personal morals improved. Again the economic situation advanced greatly for about sixteen years. During 1890-1892, however, many scandals occurred in connection with the building of railroads. This resulted in the people's loss of confidence as well as of money. Furthermore, the new settlers on Western farms were encouraged to borrow heavily on mortgages sold to Eastern investors. These mortgages were later largely defaulted when the country was hit by the great panic of 1893. Again these losses brought government officials, bankers, and businessmen to their knees in repentance. Then came World War I.

Other Editors Saying... Presidential Aspirants

(Washington Daily News)

The Republicans over the nation are hammering away now at the theme that the GOP has two front line presidential possibilities while the Democrats have about a dozen second rate presidential possibilities.

And that campaign line seems to be appealing to many Americans if we can judge by the reaction in many quarters.

Republicans are pointing toward Richard Nixon, vice president, and Nelson Rockefeller, governor of New York as two first rate candidates. Around these two men are being built such political assets as strength, popular appeal, leadership, ability, and political acumen.

While pointing proudly at its two presidential possibilities, the Republicans at the same time are pointing the finger toward the Democratic party and in effect saying "we have two quality hopefuls while the Democrats have a dozen or more mediocre aspirants."

The Republicans point toward Senator Kennedy, Stuart Symington, Adlai Stevenson, Senator Humphrey, Senator Lyndon Johnson, and many others.

At this point the Democrats must admit that no one party candidate has been built up to the point where he has a commanding lead over his rivals. The conventions are little more than a year away. It is time the Democrats did a little more thinking in the direction of presenting the various candidates in terms of such factors as ability, popular appeal, strength, and political acumen.

When one stops to analyze the picture as it is right now, it is evident that the Democrats have many capable men who would make good presidents. The Republicans surely have more than two, but they are keeping the home fires burning only under Mr. Nixon and Mr. Rockefeller. The GOP strategy seems to be very evident. Either Mr. Nixon or Mr. Rockefeller will be nominated. Whichever one gets the nod will already be in a position of being well known over the nation. And the presidential campaign buildup will be much easier. At the same time the Democrats must nominate a candidate and build him up in the eyes of the American public.

Today in America there are more registered Democrats than Republicans. If those registered according to party affiliations vote for their party, then the Democrats are sure to win. But experience has taught political leaders that voters often cross party lines. And the candidates with the most political appeal will have to have a way of grabbing off votes in an election.

Democrats saw that a man like Dwight Eisenhower can do. There was a man without political experience. But he had a name and he had appeal. And the American voters twice went for him in the national election.

It would seem today that the Democrats cannot wait too long to present the full qualities of a few candidates to the American people.

More vests. Manufacturing tailors after having eliminated millions of vests in recent years (thereby increasing returns without raising prices) are turning back to the vest. Now it can serve as a reason for stepping up suit prices.

A good second quarter. All surveys indicate that the April-June quarter this year will be wonderful, with almost all indexes rising into July, when the nation comes face to face with the steel-wage situation.

ON TUNA, BRONZE, SHOES Cheaper tuna. Tuna prices have been rising in the last year, partly because the Japanese have been restricting exports of their cheap-labor catch. Indications are now that Japanese are stepping up exports to an extent that will depress prices.

More bronze uses. Modern research may not have recaptured the methods the ancients used to temper copper and bronze, but it has developed new alloys with many desirable properties. Consequently a wider use of bronze in farm and garden tools, transportation, construction and shipbuilding seems certain ahead.

More composition shoes. Rising leather prices are causing shoe manufacturers to use more synthetics, especially in low-price shoes.

AP Directors Say Challenge Is Met

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of the Associated Press said today that during the past year the AP had met the biggest challenge of world news events since World War II.

Reviewing events, the directors said:

"The cold war continued. There were political upheavals and crises on every continent. France underwent a fundamental change in government under De Gaulle. A divided Berlin keeps Europe in turmoil.

"The datelines from Iraq, Lebanon, Quemo, Tibet and Cuba remind us of the scope of the news coverage problem.

"There were obstacles to fair and factual news reporting the world around, including restricted access to public information in the United States."

"The Associated Press has a strong position in meeting its responsibilities," the directors said. "It is a cooperative world-wide news organization answerable to no government, no group of stockholders or to any special interest. "It bears a great obligation and equal opportunity to serve its members, its readers and listeners everywhere. The need for a cooperative news service, owned and controlled by its users, has never been greater."

The report was read at the AP annual membership meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The program included election of six directors, because of expiring terms, and action upon regular membership applications from 18 associate member newspapers.

Tabulation of the vote for directors will not be completed until late tonight.

Looking back to 1939, the directors said:

"The board recognizes a significant anniversary: it was 20 years ago that the membership instructed the board to make Associated Press news available to qualified radio stations for commercial broadcast."

Recalling that this action had followed years of debate as to whether The Associated Press should serve newspapers exclusively, the directors commented:

"While both the printed and broadcast services develop specialties peculiar to themselves, there is a community of interest in the basic news report.

"Radio not only pays for its own distribution and overhead costs, but makes a substantial financial contribution to the general service which has been increasingly important in financing necessary expansion during the past two decades."

"Radio members now provide news from almost 600 communities in which there are no member newspapers. In increasing numbers, television members are contributing spot news pictures to the Wirephoto network."

The directors said the AP staff recorded notable achievements and that the AP also "went outside its own staff for some unusual material which was widely used."

"With our own staff barred from Communist China, we obtained an excellent series on conditions there written by Dr. Sripati Chandrasekhar, Indian scholar and authority on population problems," they said.

Also, the report said, Dr. Paul Dudley White, who wrote of President Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955, summarized what has happened in heart research since then.

"The Associated Press continues to pioneer in teletypewriter delivery of news," the report said. "This summer for the first time teletypewriter transmission of complete tabulated stock market lists will be extended to afternoon members. Delivery will be over high speed circuits at the rate of 265 words per minute."

The directors reported "a moderate growth in newspaper membership in The Associated Press," continued gains in broadcasting outlets at a gratifying rate and continued expansion overseas on a sound basis.

Adenauer Party Expected Retain Control In Vote

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party is expected to retain control of the state governments in Lower Saxony and Rhineland-Palatinate despite Socialist election gains.

Both of West Germany's major parties picked up support in the elections Sunday of new legislatures in the two states. The Socialist gains were slightly larger.

The Christian Democrats retained their majority in the Rhineland-Palatinate House.

In lower Saxony—a traditional labor stronghold—the Socialists were still the biggest party but again lacked a majority. The Socialist-Christian Democrat coalition government was expected to continue, with the Adenauer party having the dominant voice because of backing from the third-place German party.

With the Geneva foreign ministers' conference in the offing, foreign policy was the major issue in the campaign. The 83-year-old chancellor claimed that only Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would benefit if the voters endorsed the Socialist demand for more flexibility in bargaining with Moscow.

Socialist Chairman Erich Ollenhauer said his party's gains showed widespread support for the socialist foreign policy platform. It calls for a freeze on atomic weapons and reduction of conventional forces in central Europe to prepare the way for German reunification.

The Christian Democrats won 52 of the Rhineland-Palatinate legislature's 100 seats and the Socialists 37, a gain of one each. The right-wing Free Democrats won 10 and the Nazi-like German Reich party, a newcomer, took one seat.

In Lower Saxony the new lineup in the 157-seat legislature is 65 Socialists, 51 Christian Democrats, 20 German party, 13 Refugee party, and 8 Free Democrats. The Socialists gained eight seats and the Christian Democrats five.

Legislators Explain To Youngsters Why Assembly Is--Isn't--In Session

By BUNNY HARRIS

Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH—A handful of legislators had the somewhat embarrassing duty of explaining to 74 bright-eyed and eager Negro students from Wilmington why their state governing body "was—but was not" in session on Saturday.

The few lawmakers—apparently the only ones left in Raleigh over the weekend—had showed up as usual to hold nominal sessions as required by law. This generally lasts a couple of minutes and consists of a prayer, the minimum formalities and motion for adjournment.

But at the stroke of 10 o'clock, as the House was preparing to go in session, it became apparent that all was not going according to Hoyle.

True, Rep. Lillian Cover of Cherokee was in her place as was Rep. Brantley Womble of Wake. And Rep. Bucky Harris, also of Wake, had mounted the Speaker's rostrum.

But the formalities were delayed by the sound of footsteps—score and scores of them—mounting the circular stairway to the high gallery overlooking the House. The students marched in row on row, all the seventh grade classes of Williston Junior High School at Wilmington.

They took their places, observed the empty seats beneath them, and started filling out almost as quickly as they had filed in.

"Wait!" called Representative Womble.

The students hesitated, filed back in, and sat down.

Representative Harris, meanwhile, had gone hurriedly to Mrs. Cover.

"We don't have a chaplain," he said. "Would you lead us in prayer?"

"Oh!" said Mrs. Cover, flustered. "You do it."

"The Lord's Prayer," Harris urged.

Back in place, he sounded the gavel and asked the House "including those in the gallery" to rise and lead in prayer by Representative Cover, the lady from Cherokee. From the gallery the voices rose full and strong; seldom has such prayerful volume filled the House on a Saturday.

Meanwhile the Senate, blissfully unaware, had concluded its session by the time Williston seventh graders marched across the hall. Senators Spencer Bell of Mecklenburg and Arthur Kirkman of Guilford were, in fact, the only two members present. It was about seven minutes after 10. They blinked, sized up the situation and then Senator Bell suggested to Senator Kirkman: "Why don't you get back up there and give them a welcome."

Senator Kirkman mounted the rostrum and explained in apologetic words: "I'm sorry . . . we have held our session this morning. It lasted about two minutes and is held only because it is required by law."

The students looked down upon him solemnly.

"I will try to explain to you what is not going on this morning," he said, launching into a brief description of the Senate in action.

"Had you been here yesterday," he told them, "you would have found a full session with virtually every member in attendance."

Again, said Senator Kirkman: "I'm sorry—but you are welcome and we regret that you did not get to see the Senate in session."

The students marched out happy as larks. The fact is, a teacher confided, they knew there were no real sessions on Saturday but it was a good day to make the trip and they thought "they'd just drop by and see the inside of the Capitol!"

Seek Compulsive Gambling Cure

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gamblers Anonymous is playing for big stakes in this legalized gambling center.

It is trying to rehabilitate the admitted compulsive gambler.

Dr. Donald R. O'Connor, pastor of the First Methodist Church, started the Las Vegas unit of Gamblers Anonymous. There are other chapters in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Gamblers Anonymous is non-sectarian. There are no dues or fees.

It takes no stand for or against legalized gambling, Dr. O'Connor says. It is not concerned with those who gamble for entertainment.

Dr. O'Connor explains that Gamblers Anonymous is for the person "who gambles because gambling is an addiction he cannot stop or control."

"I realized the need," he says, "because I have seen many homes broken by this disease. Some people simply cannot live this close to gambling."

The group works in much the same fashion as Alcoholics Anonymous.

"Two or more members get together and help strengthen each other," says Dr. O'Connor. "It is simply the old, old principle where two or more indulge in mutual sharing of confession."

What causes a compulsive gambling addiction?

"Most of us sense a deep feeling of rejection, of insecurity," one member says. "I wanted to be a 'big shot.' I couldn't find how to do it so I turned to gambling. I wanted large masses of wealth, the material things of the world. I lost my car gambling. I stole. I borrowed. This was insanity."

The new Las Vegas chapter has about a dozen members.

What do casino operators think about it?

"I think it's a good organization," says Milton Prell, executive director of the Sahara Hotel. "We don't want anyone to gamble more than he can afford. We want our patrons to treat gambling as entertainment."

which prosperity continued until 1929. During the boom, another increase in dishonesty, speculation, and labor troubles occurred. These national sins culminated in the Stock Crash of 1929 followed by the Great Depression of the "Thirties." After the slump of 1938, World War II broke out, which stimulated business until 1945 when another short adjustment took place. Following this, due largely to the groundwork laid by the Roosevelt Administration which favored borrowing, installment purchases, legislation favorable to labor, social security, and leaving the gold standard, occurred our present so-called "New Era" with its crime, waste, and reckless spending.

It may be that this present era is not yet approaching an end. It may be that unemployment has been corrected by federal and other legislation. It may be that the stock market can go to greater heights. I don't know; nobody knows. All I know is this—Unless crises, inefficiency, waste, the crime for liquor, and the reckless borrowing of today cease and we return voluntarily to honesty, efficiency, temperance, and thrift, we will suffer a long and severe corrective depression.

This cannot always be postponed by legislation, but only by repenting of our sins and returning to the teachings of the Church. Since 1789, abnormal prosperity has always resulted in eras of godlessness; these eras have been corrected only by unemployment and a return to godliness.

Robey Col...

My personal opinion is that these forecasts are reasonable, and may actually be on the high side. The only development which appears at all likely to hold unemployment above 3 million in October would be if the labor force grows more rapidly than now is indicated. There will be, as always, a sharp increase in June, as students out of school start looking for jobs, but from then on through October the total will decline month by month.

This leaves the question of whether we will have full employment with 3 million out of work. Of course that total is higher than anyone likes to see, but nonetheless that is certainly close to as low a figure as we can expect in the near future, and perhaps from here on.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A small boy pulled a name from an envelope Sunday, and Mina Albaramoussy Almetawahed, 52, became the 116th successor to St. Mark as patriarch of the ancient Coptic Church.

Spectators shouted "It's a divine choice," and quoted the biblical verse "The last shall be first and the first last."

The envelope contained the names of three candidates who had polled the most votes in an election Friday in which five nominees were entered. Albaramoussy ran third.

The prelate will head Egypt's Coptic Church, with more than a million members, and the Ethiopian Church, numbering four million. Tradition says the church was begun by St. Mark in the first century.

American Is Named International Prelate In Worldwide Anglicanism

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne Jr., of Seattle, Wash., will take over next Jan. 1 a new post that will make him the second most influential figure in the worldwide Anglican communion.

Bishop Bayne who has headed the Olympia Diocese of Western Washington will become executive officer of the global family of 40 million Christians. His appointment is a move to strengthen church ties across national borders.

Appointment of Bishop Bayne was announced Sunday. He was chosen for the post by the Most Rev. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Church of England.

Bishop Bayne, who will be out-ranked only by the archbishop, is the first American named as an international prelate in Anglicanism.

The new position was created last summer by the Lambeth Conference, a gathering of Anglican bishops from throughout the world held every 10 years.

Bishop Bayne, 50, will have his headquarters in London. He will administer two key agencies of world Anglicanism—the Advisory Council of Missionary Strategy, which serves as the central planning group for missionary work, and the Consultative Body of the Lambeth Conference, which serves as an interim executive body between Lambeth conferences.

Anglican churches, like the Episcopal Church in the United States, are wholly independent, self-governing bodies.

Truman Asserts It's Like Being 'Dug Up' Again

LAMAR, Mo. (AP)—"It's like being buried and dug up while you're still alive."

That was former President Harry S. Truman's comment Sunday when the little house in which he was born was dedicated as a public shrine.

"I'm glad they dug me up," Truman added with a grin.

He told a cheering crowd of 2,000 that usually "they don't do this to former presidents until they have been dead 15 years."

Truman, who will be 75 May 8, said he was overwhelmed by the tribute.

The six-room, white frame cottage was bought by the United Auto Workers Union for $6,000 and given to the state of Missouri. The deed was handed to Gov. James T. Blair by Leonard Woodcock, UAW international vice president.

The State Park Board has restored the house, furnished it in period style and opened it to the public.

Truman was only 11 months old when his parents moved from Lamar to a farm in Jackson County near Kansas City. But that makes no difference to the residents of Lamar, a town of 4,000 population 122 miles south of Kansas City.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) agreed with them in his dedication speech.

"Starting today," Symington said, "people will come to Lamar to study the beginnings of this man's life. All can learn that greatness can be bred in humble surroundings. All can learn of the American ideal of progress by ability."

"All can learn that here, in our country, we have been able to create a very special kind of man—common and extraordinary, lighthearted and determined, kind and firm, able to love his family and care passionately about the future of the world."

Even if Truman never had been president he would be worthy of note, Symington said, and character have been a mirror of America."

NOT HIS KIND OF SOUND—David Carter, four, is obviously not impressed by the skill of percussionist William Schneiderman. David was among 800 kindergarten youngsters entertained at a special concert by the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra.

Wet Belt Over Eastern States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wet, stormy and cool weather prevailed across most of the eastern half of the country today. A spring storm in the Rockies and northern plains appeared tapering off.

The major wet belt extended from the central Rockies eastward to the Atlantic Coast and southward into the lower Mississippi Valley. Thunderstorms, hail and strong winds hit Missouri and extreme northern Arkansas and headed into southern Illinois and western sections of Kentucky and Tennessee.

Showers were reported in scattered areas south and southwestward through the lower Mississippi Valley and parts of eastern Texas, throughout the Ohio Valley and into the middle Atlantic Coast states. Scattered showers also sprinkled areas along the East Coast to eastern Florida.

The snow belt was confined to areas in southern Iowa and westward through South Dakota and Nebraska into Wyoming and parts of Colorado. Snow falls over the weekend measured more than nine inches in parts of South Dakota and Wyoming.

Cool air from Canada continued to drain southward during the night and covered areas through New England, most of the Ohio Valley and northern sections of Oklahoma and New Mexico as well as the north central region and plains into the Rockies.

Temperatures dropped into the 20s in the northern Great Lakes and the snow-covered regions but they were in the 30s in most sections cooled by the Canadian air.

Pepsi Chairman Dies In Sleep

NEW YORK (AP)—Soft-drink matriarch Alfred N. Steele, husband of actress Joan Crawford, is dead at 57. He died in his sleep of a heart attack early Sunday at their lavish penthouse, just off Fifth Avenue.

Miss Crawford found him dead in bed about 9:30 a.m. He had gone to bed around midnight, complaining he felt unusually tired, Miss Crawford was placed under a physician's care.

In 10 years with Pepsi-Cola, Steele introduced radical changes that tripled sales. He was board chairman and executive officer of Pepsi-Cola at his death.

Steele and Miss Crawford eloped in May 1955. She described their marriage as more exciting than some of her screen roles. It was his third and her fourth.

After the marriage, Joan, now 51, dropped her career and shared her life as a busy executive. "Dug is a husband and wife team," she said. She once estimated they had flown 125,000 miles around the world.

Steele was born in Nashville, Tenn., and attended Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Steele would have been 58 Friday. He had just finished a whirlwind six-week business trip with Joan, and they were to leave today on a 10-day vacation to Jamaica.

Varied Reaction To Herter Choice

LONDON (AP)—Britain's press over the weekend greeted Christian A. Herter's appointment as secretary of state with varying shades of emotion ranging from sharp criticism to hopeful enthusiasm.

The British Labor party organ cited Herter's arthritic condition and said his new job is "too much for any pain-racked invalid." In a blunt editorial, the Daily Herald declared that sick old men cannot rule the world and said President Eisenhower "is a broken man, incapable of the energy required to grasp important matters for any length of time."

Space Capsule Reward Offered

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A $500 reward was offered today to any civilian finding the container ejected from the Discoverer II satellite. The capsule is believed to have fallen in the Spitsbergen islands north of Norway. The U.S. Embassy announced the reward, offered by the Lockheed Aircraft Co., makers of the Discoverer.

The search for the little container in the extensive arctic wastes of Spitsbergen and the surrounding sea and ice got under way last Friday. Nine American sea rescue planes and two Norwegian helicopters are taking part.

Door Smashed By Boy's Tiny Car

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Deputies who rushed to a supermarket to answer a burglar alarm found a plate glass door smashed and a tiny, 2½-horsepower car inside. The driver was Gregory Skeen, 5, who had driven straight through the door. The boy had been practicing driving in the store's parking lot, police said. He wound up in the hospital with minor cuts and bruises.

Seven Ordered To Pay Damages

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — Seven young men, who damaged a sawmill in the belief that the owner hired Negroes, were fined Saturday, given suspended road sentences, and ordered to pay for the damage. Rowan County Sheriff Arthur Shuping said the seven admitted going to the sawmill the night of April 3 where they scattered and damaged machinery because, they asserted, the owner "hires colored people."

However, D. L. Bame, who owns the sawmill at Rockwell, testified that his four employees all are white. James Mathew Shuping said two of the seven—18-year-old Joseph Harold Kitchie of Rt. 1, Richfield, and Chester Andrew Moore, 17, Rockwell—admitted being members of a pro-segregation Black Shirt gang. The seven were ordered to pay Bame $72.43 each for the damages and were placed on good behavior for two years. James Mathew Harwood, 20, of Rt. 5, Salisbury, and Alvin Miller, 21, Rt. 7, Rockwell, were sentenced to 18 months each suspended on payment of $100 each. The others were sentenced to 12 months, suspended on payment of $50 each. They were Kitchie, Moore, Howard E. Hill, 20, Rockwell; Roby Edward Swink, 17, Rt. Salisbury; and Persell Frank Smith, 18, Rockwell.

Even The Judge Takes Pictures

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Division 63 of Municipal Court is in session things really begin to click. Judge Leo Freund permits news photographers to take pictures, just so they don't bother courtroom decorum. And why not? Judge Freund is an enthusiastic amateur lensman, himself. A small camera focused on the witness stand rests on the judge's bench hidden by a paper. When Judge Freund is ready to take a picture he taps the paper lightly, quietly triggering the camera. "I take pictures of police officers or other persons I know who are testifying," Judge Freund said. "I have even taken pictures while talking to the subject. "And some of them are quite good."

Discoverer II May Be Down

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Discoverer II is on the way down. It may have already perished, according to an Air Force spokesman. He said the shape of the satellite's orbit indicated it would burn up in the atmosphere between 7 a.m. EST today and 10 a.m. EST Tuesday. Discoverer II was fired into a polar orbit April 13 from Vandenberg Air Force Base, 150 miles north of here. It ejected its nose capsule over the arctic. The cone is still being sought. Each orbit has been bringing the satellite closer to the altitude where the friction of thicker air will burn it up. Sunday night it was 150 miles from the earth at its closest point.

American Businessmen Pushing Firms Abroad

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — That man in a hurry to act like and think like a native employee and customer. It pays. More and more American firms are building plants abroad or talking about it. Here are some rules of thumb on how to succeed as given by one old hand. Stanley C. Allyn, chairman of National Cash Register, says that 40 per cent of his firm's sales are overseas—and 65 per cent of these sales were of machines built abroad. Overseas operations have set new sales records in each of the past 13 years. He employs 22,000 people abroad and only six are Americans. But Dayton, Ohio, executives are constantly traveling to the overseas plants, and sales offices, visiting 30 countries last year. The overseas personnel frequently come to Dayton headquarters. Personal contact is the key to success, says Allyn. The first rule, however, he says, is to go into a country to stay regardless of wars, revolutions or depressions. Another is to plow back the profits you make abroad. His firm has paid for the plants it built since the war largely out of profits of overseas operations. To Americans planning to manufacture overseas—whether it's to take advantage of usually lower operating costs or to slide under the barriers of currency restrictions or import quotas—Allyn has other pointers. One is to treat foreign employees as you do those at home. This goes for working conditions, recreation facilities and benefit programs. Wage scales, like the price of raw materials, are governed by local conditions. Another is to study the local market conditions and when necessary adapt your product to meet it. Allyn notes that in some cases ideas and product changes originating abroad have been put into use here. One of the best ways to hold foreign markets is to put service ahead of sales, he believes. That often gives American products the competitive edge they need. But if your firm wants to prosper, or even stay alive, in its overseas location and market, there is one prime thing to remember. Always respect the customs, traditions, religions and sensitivities of foreign peoples. What infuriates everyone does in Ohio might infuriate the people in Calcutta or Lisbon. Remembering that, Allyn says, is one reason his firm has built the total of its sales from overseas plants to 33 million dollars a year and its export sales to 19 million dollars.

PANAMA (AP)—The U.S. Caribbean Command has increased security measures in the Canal Zone because of the Panamanian government's fear of a rebel invasion.

Meets Few Males Who Are Very Good Dancers

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Thelma Tadlock, a raven-haired, blue-eyed girl from Texas, is equally at ease in a hula skirt, Scottish kilts, an East Indian sari—or on a ballroom floor.

But to her disappointment she doesn't meet many American males who are very good dancers. Except, she says, on "The Arthur Murray Party" (NBC-TV, Mondays, 10 p.m., EST) in which she regularly appears as a dancer.

She will be visible tonight, along with guests Constance Bennett, Marie McDonald, Jimmy McHugh, Bob Carroll, Betty Ann Grove and Phyllis Newman.

Since she left her home in Fort Arthur, Tex., to become a professional dancer, she has appeared in Broadway hits, nightclubs and TV shows. With the company of "Your Hit Parade" she made an extensive tour of the Far East and—"If I have a specialty, you might say it's the international dance."

In short, she can dance everything.

On "The Arthur Murray Party" she has been amazed, she says, by the ballroom proficiency of guests who are not professional dancers. Who was the greatest? "I just dance and don't judge," she said. "But I'd call Caesar Romero one of the nicest guys we've had on the show—a real smoothy, on and off the dance floor. After only six minutes of rehearsal he led me through just about the best tango I've ever danced to."

Stern Discipline Returns After Brief Prison Revolt

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP)—Iron discipline behind their cell doors took the place of a 36-hour madness for 433 inmates of the Montana State Prison today.

Armed National Guardsmen whose early morning blitz foiled a convict escape try and rescued 21 hostages continued on duty.

The soldiers and prison guards began a search of the prisoners Saturday, within hours after the uprising was quelled. Two convict ringleaders died in the furious action which ended the worst prison incident in years. A deputy warden was slain late Thursday.

Warden Floyd E. Powell ordered the convicts to their cells, without privileges, they are being given sandwiches and coffee in their cells.

Powell said he expects to conduct extensive convict interviews to pinpoint the cause of the violence that began last Thursday.

Three members of Atty. Gen. Forrest H. Anderson's staff were here, too, to determine whether criminal charges will be brought against any of the surviving rebel leaders.

Anderson commented Saturday that the prison offers 19th century facilities for 20th century hoodlums.

Gov. J. Hugo Aronson noted that Montana is planning construction of a 10-million-dollar institution on prison ranch property near here.

An estimated 15 convicts were said by officials to have planned and executed the revolt. Warden Powell described the rebellion itself as a clever cover for the prisoners' efforts to tunnel to safety—an effort that failed when the diggers ran into an underground concrete slab.

The troublemakers, Powell said, have been isolated. They were given a change of prison clothes, a bucket and a mattress.

"Discipline is firm and tight but fair," the warden said.

One of the two ringleaders killed during the final assault, Jerry Myles, 44, was believed to have been digging when National Guardsmen burst in under a cover of bazooka, rifle and machine gun fire.

Myles and Lee Smart, 19, retreated to the prison's northwest tower. There, Smart apparently killed his companion with a rifle shot, then took his own life as the troops closed in.

The other victim of the revolt was Dept. Warden Ted Rothe, 40. Smart is believed to have killed him with a rifle shot in the back.

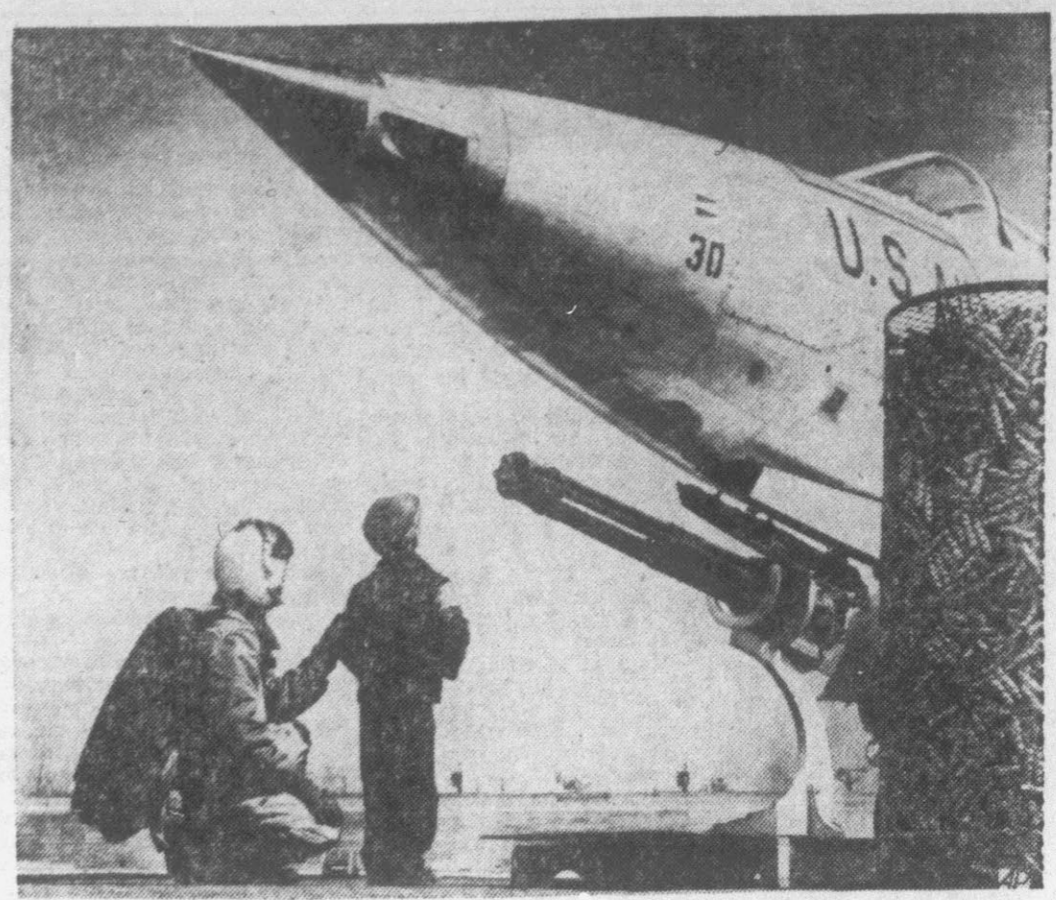

The rioters took captive 18 prison officials, including 17 guards, and five convicts described as stool pigeons. Two of the prison employees were released Friday. The others were threatened with death time and again before their rescue.

The convicts complained of poor prison sanitation, lack of segregation for young offenders and, primarily, the difficulty of obtaining paroles.

Denmark's only land neighbor is Germany.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The first aircraft designed to fly in the uppermost reaches of the earth's atmosphere will make its first gliding flights — without fuel or power — within one to two weeks. This was disclosed by pilots of the North American X-15 rocket plane at the World Congress of Flight Friday.

After the plane proves its ability to glide satisfactorily, the X-15 will make its first powered flight. The X-15 already has been aloft as a passenger beneath a B52 mother ship.

Panama Hunts Ex-Ambassador

PANAMA (AP)—Panamanian sea forces today hunted former Ambassador Roberto Arias, husband of famed British ballerina Margot Fonteyn, with a warrant charging him with revolutionary activity.

Arias, former ambassador to Great Britain, and his wife were reported on a fishing trip in the Gulf of Panama. Minister of Government Max Heurtematte said their launch was spotted once Sunday but disappeared.

Heurtematte said Arias' arrest was ordered after an informant said he planned to lead an attack on the National Guard post in Chorrera, about 20 miles from Panama City.

Arias, 41-year-old son of ex-President Harmodio Arias, is the latest prominent politician implicated in a revolutionary wave which President Ernesto de la Guardia Jr. charges is building up against his regime.

Three small rebel bands, mostly of students, began operating from mountainous sections of the country early in April, apparently trying to ape the guerrilla tactics Fidel Castro used to overthrow the Cuban dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista. Four rebels have been killed and six captured in skirmishes with the National Guard, Panama's army and police.

DRIVER IN SERIOUS CONDITION... car went out of control near Winterville.

WINTERVILLE—John Butts of Route 4 Greenville is in critical condition in Pitt Memorial Hospital as a result of auto accident here late Saturday afternoon.

According to Bill Whitehurst, investigating patrolman, the accident occurred about two and one-half miles west of Winterville on the Renston highway, about 3:05 p.m.

Whitehurst said the vehicle, a 1947 model sedan, was totally demolished after going out of control for 225 feet and turning completely over three times, jumping both a ditch and a wire fence.

According to doctors, Butts is suffering from multiple injuries, including a broken left hip, a concussion of the head and a possible spinal fracture.

Butts was riding alone at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Obed Castelleo of near Winterville, reported that she was delayed for several minutes in calling for the Greenville Rescue Squad and the highway patrol because parties on her line would not surrender the line to her even after she said it was an emergency call.

The matter was reported to the telephone company and company officials said this morning they would look into the matter.
