

Modern Design For Churches Supported

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A church building, thinks the Rev. Edward S. Frey, has something in common with a newspaper—each is a medium of communication.

"The visible evidence of a church and its faith is its church structure," he says. "It stands as a 24-hour witness to faith. What does it say?"

What is says is of particular importance to Pastor Frey, who is executive director of the Department of Church Architecture of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Both Pastor Frey and his associate director, the Rev. John Whetstone, are of the modernistic school of church architecture.

"Until quite recently," says Pastor Frey, "Protestants did not know what they were doing when they built a church. They were content merely to copy the past without knowing why."

"But copying the past often turns out a forbidding structure. It is something that speaks out of the past, not the present. It might not communicate to the people of today."

Pastor Whetstone defines a good church structure as one that "bears adequate witness to man's relation to God in man's own day."

"The only way to make a church stand out today is to make it unique," says Pastor Whetstone. "Provided of course it still bears adequate witness to man's relation to God."

Both Pastors Frey and Whetstone endorse the modernistic design of the controversial Air Force Academy Chapel which has been called on the floor of the U. S. Senate "a deliberate insult to God Almighty."

"An odd shape doesn't bother me unless I see no reason for it," says Pastor Frey. "Some churches may be designed strangely to create an artistic splash but I think the honesty of the Air Force Chapel is unquestionable."

Pastor Whetstone attributes the opposition to the Air Force Academy Chapel and other modernistic churches to the fact that "the church is traditionally the most conservative element in society."

"No matter how radical a person in some things," he says, "he usually has one basic anchor point of conservatism. In most people it is religion. They don't like to see it changed in any way."

But, whether they like it or not, people are going to see a lot of change in church architecture in the next decades.

Reedy Branch FWB Announcements

"Things That Hinder" will be Rev. Henry Melvin's sermon topic at Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The choir will sing for the musical portion of the service "All the Day Long" by Benson with Jimmy Stokes as baritone soloist.

Levy Corey Jr., a member of the local congregation and student at Free Will Baptist Bible College, Nashville, Tenn., will be the speaker Sunday night at the 7:30 service. Mr. Corey will use for his subject "The Christian and the Lord's Return." The chorus choir will sing and two more of our "junior musicians" will be presented, with David Dall playing the clarinet solo and Billy McLawhorn a piano solo. The entire group of "junior musicians" will be presented in a surprise number.

New Emphasis On Ending Violence

Whatever portion of the blame for the Henderson situation must be borne by management of the mill and leaders of the union, it should be obvious to everyone concerned—and that includes all the citizens of North Carolina—that continued violence in connection with the strike will serve no useful purpose in solving the problem.

Gov. Hodges, has minced no words in leveling blame at management of the mill for not giving the full employment picture at the mills at the time a settlement apparently was reached in the strike. Neither has he held back in specifically placing upon the shoulders of union officials the responsibility for the violence which has occurred in Henderson since the settlement was rejected by these officials.

Twice in recent weeks Gov. Hodges has personally intervened in the dispute in an effort to bring about a settlement. And twice he has seen his efforts fail . . . the last time after both parties had tentatively agreed to terms for the settlement.

While we would hope that the chief executive of the state could do more in bringing together the principals in the dispute, it is entirely out of the question for Gov. Hodges to disregard everything else at this particular time to devote his time entirely to the settlement of the strike. He has used his influence to bring about a settlement, and he has used members of the state highway patrol in an effort to prevent violence which repeatedly has occurred in Henderson.

And in spite of these efforts, the situation has grown worse rather than better.

Biggest Single Issue At Hand

By LYNN NISBET
CONSTITUTION — If it has appeared that undue space has been given to discussions about the proposed constitutional revisions, especially as it relates to courts, the explanation is readily at hand. This is in many ways the most important matter to be considered by the sitting General Assembly. Appropriations and tax bills can be changed by the next Legislature, or even by this one if subsequent information seems to justify. So can any of the measures dealing with statutory reorganization of State government, including the courts.

Once the provisions are written into the constitution through the process of legislative submission of issues to the people and their approval at the polls, no change can be made except through the same tedious process of amendment. That is why more careful consideration is given to constitutional matters than to wholly statutory law.

Many of the proposed changes can be classed as "lawyers' bills" because laymen do not quickly sense their legal impact on popular rights.

At the question and answer session of the joint committee, restricted to questions directed by the committee to staff members of the study commissions, only two important phases were covered: Proper distribution of powers among the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government to maintain balance; and placement of responsibility for establishing jurisdiction and selection of judges in all inferior courts.

BALANCE — Bell and Bryant differed widely on their interpretations of the provision, carried over since 1776, for balance of power among the three branches of government. Bryant said his group considered the dictum that "The legislative, executive and supreme judicial powers of the government ought to be forever separate and distinct from each other," as a statement of philosophy. Bell said his group regarded this as the heart and soul of the whole matter. He said that the original concept of equality of responsibility prevailed in early days, but the judiciary was weakened in 1868 and 1875 revisions, because at that time the native responsible citizens of North Carolina had recaptured control only of the legislative branch. So the constitutions adopted then placed extraordinary powers in the Legislature.

An interesting side exercise in discussion came over where responsibility should be vested for establishing jurisdiction of the lowest level of courts — whether designated as justices of

So long as there is a possibility that reasonable grounds between union and management may be found for settlement of the dispute, certainly Gov. Hodges should continue to devote what time he can to mediation. In the meantime, he must exert every possible force to protect the lives and property of those who find themselves in the midst of the violence in Henderson.

The company and the strikers are not the only ones being hurt by the dispute. It has directly affected all the citizens of Vance County, and it has severely damaged the good reputation North Carolina formerly enjoyed for union-management relationships.

Continued violence in connection with the labor dispute can only lead to bloodshed and the creation of conditions under which no settlement can be reached.

If Gov. Hodges can do no more at the moment to bring agreement between officials involved in the dispute, he must concentrate on doing more than already is being done to put down the violence which has grown out of the strike.

On A Party-Line Vote, Tobacco Growers Safe

Tobacco legislation, which used to be a farm issue, now apparently has become a target for Republican Congressmen who have decided tobacco legislation falls into the category of partisan politics rather than farm legislation.

There has been, to be sure, opposition to tobacco legislation every time the matter has come up in Congress for the past quarter century. Heretofore, however, it has not been a matter of party politics. The line has not been drawn by proponents and opponents along party lines, although Democrats admittedly have been those most interested in a sound tobacco program.

The fact that a new effort to stabilize support prices for tobacco for the next several years has been made a partisan matter by Republicans on the House Agricultural Committee is disturbing. In all probability this turn of events at this particular juncture is because of the administration wish to force the desires of Agriculture Secretary Benson upon the tobacco program . . . something the administration has not been able to do in the past in spite of its efforts.

If the federal program for tobacco does become a matter to be supported or opposed strictly along partisan lines, at least so far as Republicans are concerned, it could pose a serious threat to a sound program for the tobacco farmer. After all, there certainly has been in the past opposition to the tobacco program from Democrats of highly urban areas. If now these Democrats are lined up with a solid front of Republicans in the House against any reasonable tobacco program, there will be rough sledding ahead.

While we must wait and see developments of the next several weeks, we may find some hope in this thought:

If the federal tobacco program is to become strictly a partisan matter with Republicans on one side and the Democrats on the other, the Democrats certainly have sufficient power to push through Congress legislation needed for tobacco growers.

Castro Failed To Dispel Doubt

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Fidel Castro's visit to the United States apparently has done a world of good both for him and for American understanding of what happened in Cuba. But unless Castro puts to work what he appears to have learned in this country, his future and that of the Cuban revolution will be in danger.

The Castro I saw Thursday, when he was the guest of the Overseas Press Club in New York, was still an astonishing personality. But in some respects he differed much from the Castro I saw in Havana after the revolution overwhelmed the Cuban capital.

He seems to have learned some humility. Watching him fielding tough questions from veteran overseas reporters, one felt he had concluded that if there is to be proper understanding between North Americans and Cubans, he would have to be a heavy contributor to it. In fact, he said part of his mission was to "wipe out the prejudice of us to you and you to us."

The young Prime Minister still wearing army fatigues, bushy beard and innocent look, captured and captivated his audience. But he failed to dispel all the nagging doubts about him and some of those who surround him.

Eloquently he defended his own ideas of revolutionary justice. The firing squads, he insisted, were an example to present and future police and soldiers "so they never again will torture for political purposes."

The ideas he propounded seemed noble enough. But often 32-year-old Castro seemed to be a man way off on cloud 9, far removed from the realities of politics, economics, government and life.

Castro's uniform itself is disquieting. A prime minister in uniform indicates a military government. Military government suggests dictatorship. It would seem wise for him to discard his hero's garb, to don civilian dress and get down to the hard work of making a government function. Cuba's economy is shaky. Castro needs help if he, his government and hopeful revolution are to survive.

There are forces at work inside and outside Cuba anxious to bring Castro to his knees. His enemies outside the country have much more money than backed Castro's revolution. His internal enemies included trained soldiers discharged from the Batista army. They may number many thousands more than the rag-tag band of guerrilla fighters who took to the woods with Castro and his 26th of July Movement in 1956. Perhaps a counter-revolution would not have much popular support now, but support would tend to mount if disillusion set in.

The disillusion can come if the economy of the rich island nation is unable to recover from a post-revolutionary tailspin. Castro has won much public support in the United States by his visit. He probably can win important U.S. government assistance if he has a mind to, he also may reactivate the confidence of American private investors in Cuba's economic future. But, as Castro said, it is a matter of removing "prejudice of us to you and you to us." He cannot accomplish these things unless he and the Cuban government can get seriously to work.

Castro still is adored by his followers. But in Cuba, they cannot live forever on enthusiasm. If his economic policies and, indeed, his approach to politics, eventually breed disillusion, the disappointment and bitterness will be all the greater because he was such a popular hero.

In broken English, Castro quoted Abraham Lincoln as saying "nobody can fool anybody for long time." He would be well advised to heed those words. If his followers believe Cubans will not live forever on enthusiasm, they will be fooling themselves.

Opinions In Brief

"Once there was a woman who wasn't curious why so many cars were parked at her neighbor's house." — Crawfordville (Ga.) Advocate-Democrat.

"The old-fashioned girl blushed when she was embarrassed. The modern girl is embarrassed if she blushes." — Waynesboro (Ga.) True Citizen.

"There is validity in the contention that there is a violation of the sense of justice when a tax system places an almost impossible burden on those whose leadership is essential if the American free enterprise system is not to be stifled." — Asheville Citizen.

"There is considerable nepotism in government because blood is thicker than water, and a politician's hide is thicker than anybody's." — Chase City (Va.) Progress.

Plenty Of Talent There

"Kiss Me, Kate" has come and gone so, of course, local people who didn't see it won't have another opportunity.

"Kiss, Me Kate" in case you didn't know is the spring musical presented by the Student Government Association of East Carolina College.

But for those who missed it, I have words of advice: See the spring production next year, whatever it might be.

Your columnist saw last year's "Carousel" production staged by the ECC students. That was a good show, but this year's presentation was perhaps better.

It is amazing that talent can be found year-after-year to stage the musicals which on Broadway cost fabulous sums to produce.

Flaws in the local production? Sure there were some, but assuredly they were minor and none of them detracted from the overall enjoyment which the show brought. Leigh Dobson was a showstopper (to borrow a sophisticated Broadway term) with her rendition of "Always True to You (In My Fashion)." She must have been the one Tennessee Ernie Ford had in mind when he talked about the girl "with the hitch in her gait-ang."

A couple of Damon Runyon type underworld characters brought real belly laughs from the audience time and again. The two, played by David Doolittle and Bob Kornezay, truly brought the house down as they sang a ditty song entitled "Brush Up Your Shakespeare" toward the end of the production.

While we are at it, there's a hand for the probably sorely underpaid stage hands, whose tongues certainly must have been hanging out after taking care of the 17 scene changes required for the show. On Thursday night when I saw it, not a single dropped chair, lamp or table was heard from behind the curtain during the entire three hours the show ran. Nor was there any shuffling of feet.

Jerry Powell, who played the leading male role in the show, turned in an excellent performance. Hannah England, who was a Miss Greenville contestant, showed she had an excellent voice.

On Thursday night, incidentally Donald Hayes, director of the show presented a bouquet of roses to Miss Elizabeth Utterback, dramatic director, and the audience roared its approval.

Your columnist has been exposed but rarely to real Broadway musicals. In fact, he has only seen one. That was a production of "Can-Can" seen on one of my two trips to New York. So that makes me far from an expert on the subject. But from the standpoint of entertainment there is little around these parts that measures up to the spring musical productions at East Carolina.

Furthermore, there is courage in the faces of the young scholarship winners. They are the ones who have dared to defy the social censure that so often beats down competent and capable students of junior and senior high school age. To have stuck to studies through 12 years is no small accomplishment, when the pressures of student conformity are considered.

There are many causes for thankfulness that these reminders come along in the spring. We are proud that American industry and business are more and more accepting the responsibility of assuring the best possible education to outstanding and deserving students. We are happy that the colleges and universities are more interested in raising their own standards by encouraging attendance by top students.

But in particular our spirits are raised by the proof that the present contingent of youth has lost no vigor, that the arts and sciences and the creative spirit still flourish in young minds, and that the future of American society—despite the continual howl of headlines and sociologists—has a healthy potential.

Other Editors Saying The Balance Of Youth

(The Commercial Appeal)

The time of the scholarship is at hand. This has become the traditional season for passing out grants-in-aid, assistantships, fellowships and other kinds of help for the deserving student. Some of these go to adults laden with degrees and immersed in worthy research or creative endeavor. Right on down to the high school senior they are passed out across the land, the gifts of big business, foundations, civic and social groups and the colleges themselves.

It is a particularly good time because it reminds us over a period of weeks of how society balances its operation. Just when we are depressed because there are so many instances of so-called juvenile delinquency, ranging from pellet-gun raiders to bomb-club hoaxes to irresponsible destruction of golf courses to teenage drinking—then come the news stories about the brilliant students.

Here is a youth who has a lifetime A average in grades; for him a large foundation has assured a four-year education at the college of his choice. It may be that other scholarships will take him on to post-graduate study, and in the years after college it may well be that his work will be of such value to society or industry that there will be grants or fellowships in addition to his own earnings. This story is retold many times in the spring. The faces are different, but there is the same clean-cut appearance, the alert eyes, the eagerness to learn and to achieve.

Furthermore, there is courage in the faces of the young scholarship winners. They are the ones who have dared to defy the social censure that so often beats down competent and capable students of junior and senior high school age. To have stuck to studies through 12 years is no small accomplishment, when the pressures of student conformity are considered.

Protection For Textile Designs

By ELMER ROESSNER

Textile designers have been given much greater protection under copyright laws as a consequence of a series of decisions by Federal Judges Dimock, Herlands and Bryan in the Southern District of New York, the Prentice-Hall legal service reports.

The cases grew out of two designs, "Byzantium" and "Grecian Glory" by Peter Pan Fabrics. The defendants were accused of printing and selling fabrics with designed almost indistinguishable from one or both of the Peter Pan designs.

Each defendant offered a different defense.

One, Brenda Fabrics, agreed that it had copied the design but held that a design was not a proper subject for copyright. Another, Acadia Co., also admitted the similarity but argued that the designs were old Grecian motifs, and were in the public domain.

A third, Martin Wiener Corp., among other defenses, argued that it had changed the design so that there was no infringement.

NO ONE REACHES FIRST

Here is Prentice-Hall's summary of the decisions.

Brenda: Under section 5, Title 17, U.S. Code, copyright material includes "works of art" and "prints and pictorial illustrations" including prints or labels used for articles of merchandise.

The U. S. Supreme Court has held that "works of art" has a broader meaning than "works of fine art." In other instances, "works of art" in the Copyright Act have been held to include "applied design." Peter Pan's design, therefore, is a proper subject of copyright both as a work of art and as a print.

Acadia: A copy of something in the public domain can still be copyrighted if it has a distinguish-able variation — that is, something more than a merely trivial change. The two designs are highly intricate and detailed, reflecting creative originality and a substantial degree of skill, labor and independent judgment. Peter Pan's design is original and the copyright stands.

LIGHTS ON COPYING

Weiner: Weiner altered each minor detail of design. But the effect was as if the composition and design of a mosaic were slavishly adhered to while the size and shape of each individual tile have been somewhat altered. Said the court in defining "copying": "A copy is that which ordinary observation would cause to be recognized as having been taken from the work of another." Defendant's design is practically indistinguishable from Peter Pan's and thus must be considered a copy.

This is the first time that the

Enjoys Rapid Pace

By STELLA ROBERTS
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "Keeping everybody in clothes and ready to go" is her biggest problem, says the wife of Oklahoma's young chief executive, J. Howard Edmondson.

Just managing a home for three lively youngsters and a busy governor-husband would be a big chore for a lot of women — but smiling, attractive Jeannette Edmondson supervises her home and handles her duties as the state's official first lady with calm, unruffled efficiency.

As the governor's wife talks, the youngsters Jimmy, 11, Jeanne, 9, and Patty, 7, play in the broad driveway behind the rented two-story brick house which is the temporary "executive mansion." The governor, trying his hand at a few basketball goals with Jimmy, admits he is out of practice. The girls have recruited Highway Patrol Lt. Bill Fisher, Edmondson's driver, to throw their jump rope.

"Mills' getting to be a pretty good baby-sitter," says Mrs. Edmondson.

The occasion is one of the family's few evenings together. And Mrs. Edmondson says it is pretty typical of their evenings at home—the kids playing outside until dinner time, then a session of television or listening to records.

Asked about entertaining at home, Mrs. Edmondson says because of her husband's busy schedule—"I can hardly plan anything."

However, the Edmondsons don't lack for visits from friends. Nodding at her husband, Mrs. Edmondson quips:

"He always seems to come in that door with a group with him."

The 33-year-old governor's wife, who took an active part in his gubernatorial campaign last year, still travels a lot with him. She rarely accepts weekend appointments so that she will be free to go with him.

Although Mrs. Edmondson does little of the cooking and house-keeping these days, she takes time to help her housekeeper, motherly Mrs. Clyde Wilson, plan meals. She also does all the children's clothes shopping—and she admits keeping three growing youngsters clothed is her biggest problem.

"I just hope Jimmy's white coat will fit," she says, thinking of spring wardrobes.

Asked about her family's favorite meal, Mrs. Edmondson says, "Fried chicken would be about as close as you can come." But she adds:

"Of course my husband always votes for steak, which he likes to eat on an outdoor grill. He charcoals it outside, even in the snow."

Mrs. Edmondson doesn't know when the family will move from their rented "home" into the official residence. They decided to move into the 10-room brick house while waiting for the mansion to be renovated and re-decorated. It is big and roomy and Mrs. Edmondson is enjoying it.

"I love being spread out. It's easier to keep."

Does she wish the pace were a bit slower at times?

"Gracious, no!" says Mrs. Edmondson. "I hate it when things get too quiet. I get more done when I'm working under pressure."

Now calm down. It has included better and more important people than ourselves — St. Paul, for instance, and St. Augustine, and many admirable persons who did not have the word "saint" placed before their names.

But the hopeful aspect of the situation is that dress and presentation does not end the matter. There is a triumph awaiting every human soul who exercises his will and bestirs his heart to take advantage of it.

Quote . . .

"With the population of the world growing so fast, ambitious little towns may find it to their advantage to stay little. Chambers of Commerce may see the time when they will tell the world that their towns are big enough and to kindly move on." —Pittsburg (Tex.) Gazette.

Jacksonville Visitors Trim Rose High By 10-3 Margin

Scored All Runs In Big 1st Inning

Jacksonville's Cardinals could do no wrong here yesterday against Rose High's baseball nine as the visitors poured across 10 big runs in the very first inning to win by a 10 to 3 score.

In the fatal first inning it was a combination of walks, hits and errors that opened the gate to the Northeastern Conference team. In fact, Merrill Bynum completely lost his control and could get but one man out of the first nine that faced him. After striking out the leadoff hitter, Bynum walked six batters and gave up three big hits. What really hurt though were two big errors in the same opening frame, both of them coming with the bases loaded.

Coach Bo Farley had no choice but to yank his ace righthander as soon as he could get another

Army To Review Its Ban Against Postseason Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Army's ban against postseason competitions, including the football bowls, is going to be reviewed by its athletic board.

This doesn't mean that the West Pointers are going to make any immediate about-face on their previous stand. But the fact that the five-man board is going to look into the subject appears significant.

Col. Francis J. Roberts, Army's director of athletics, said Friday the question of bowl play would be one of many things which will be taken up by the board appointed last week.

He said the group, which is made up of three professors (all colonels), the commandant of cadets, and the athletic director also will discuss the possibility of Army's appearances in NCAA tournaments, such as basketball, and then make recommendations to Supt. Lt. Gen. Gar Davidson.

"The superintendent has the final say," said Col. Roberts.

The no-bowl policy is believed to be one of the reasons behind the January resignation of Col. Earl (Red) Blaik as football coach and director of athletics. The Cadets had an unbeaten season and were ranked third in the nation.

The military academy is the only one of the three service schools playing major football that doesn't go bowl-bound.

Army and the Air Force Academy will clash for the first time at Yankee Stadium this year on Oct. 31. Roberts announced the shift of this game from Michie Stadium. Also transferred from 70,000-seat Michie Stadium to 70,000-seat Yankee Stadium was the Army-Oklahoma contest for Nov. 10, 1961.

Yankee Stadium also is a possibility along with Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium for the Army-Notre Dame game of Oct. 1965, said Roberts in announcing resumption of the famed rivalry for 1963 and 1966. South Bend will get the '66 contest.

Sime To Meet Foreign Stars

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Dave Sime of Duke, fit as can be and eager to run, matches strides with the sprint champions of England and France today in the 200-yard dash at the annual Virginia-Pilot Relays.

Challenging the Duke flyer in the 100- and 200-yard dashes are Peter Radford of England and Jocelyn Delecor of France, who never have raced in the United States before. The special races feature a 20-event program that is principally for Virginia high school athletes—are expected to lure a crowd upward of 15,000 to Foreman Field.

Sime's coaches say he's probably in the best physical shape of his distinguished career, and Sime has made no secret of his eagerness to win what amounts to a match race with the two European Olympic hopes.

Sime has run the 100 in 9.3 seconds on four occasions, tying the world record, and holds the world mark for the 220 with a 20-second clocking.

Radford holds the English record in the 100 at 9.4 and the 220 at 20.9. Delecor established the French 100-meter record at 10.3 and the 200-meter mark at 20.9.

Besides Sime, Radford and Delecor, three Virginia collegians were to run in the two races—Art Brandriff and Howard Moss of VMI and Tony Sepp of Virginia.

Penn State May Have Broken Ice

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Penn State, unable to win a major race at the Penn Relays since 1951, happily held the distance medal crown today as it appeared usually certain of grabbing the two-mile and four-mile titles.

Ed Moran of Kane, Pa., one of America's greatest middle distance runners, was unchallenged as he breezed through a 4:15.8 mile anchor as Penn State literally ran away from 19 other college quartets in Friday's opening program at Penn's biggest outdoor carnival in its 65-year history. The time was 9:58.2.

The distance medley was the only championship relay completed.

Today's championship mile relay is the last on the 106-event program in which 3,971 athletes from 381 schools, armed forces units and clubs are competing.

Requires 'Copter For Schedule

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eddie Clements of American University in Washington is a high jumper, and a good one. He's also a catcher, and a good one.

The Eagles' track team is host to the Mason-Dixon Relays today. But the baseball team will be here for an important baseball double-header.

So what do you do with Clements? Just hire a helicopter.

After he has competed in the high jump, first event in the 1 p. m. track meet, they'll fly him the 40 miles here for the baseball game beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Mathews Is Again Hammering Homers

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

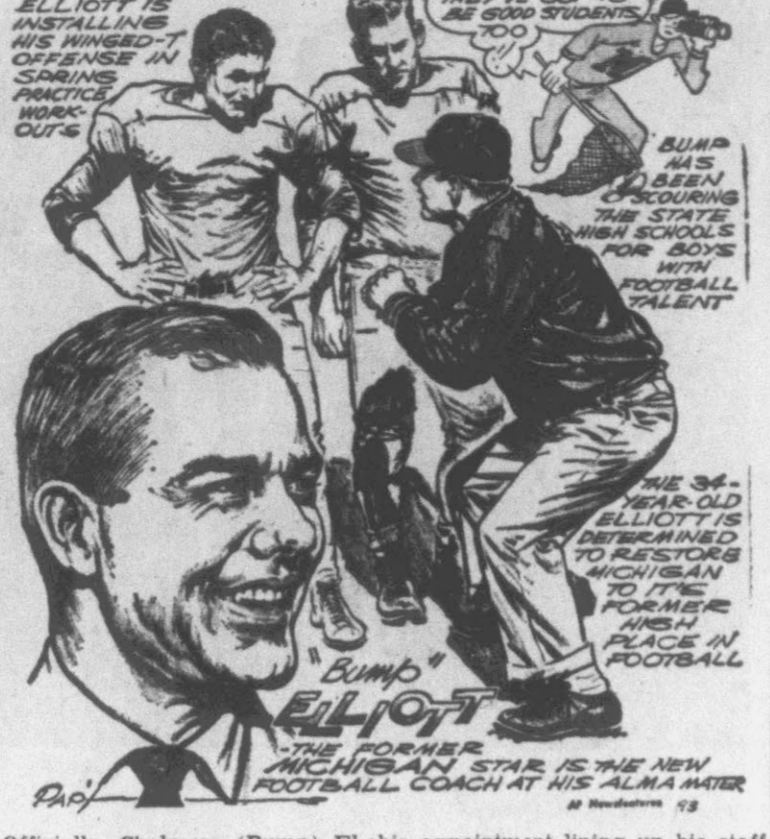

After that startling slump in last fall's World Series, Eddie Mathews is back doing what comes naturally — hammering home runs.

It was Mathews who was, perhaps, the Milwaukee Braves' best disappointment as they blew a 3-1 lead in games and lost the world championship to the New York Yankees last October. The strong-armer, third baseman, who had hit 31 home runs during the regular season, managed just two doubles and two singles in 25 at bats for a .160 average and set a Series record by striking out 11 times.

If there was any suspicion that the Series slump would leave a mark, Mathews has clubbed it away. At the moment he shares the National League home run lead, swatting his fifth and sixth home run during the Baltimore game last night with No. 6 grand slam that carried the first place Braves to a 10-7 victory at Cincinnati.

Mathews' slam, his fifth in the majors, not only gave him a tie

Spring Planting by Pap'

Officially, Chalmers (Bump) Elliott took over as head coach of football at the University of Michigan on Jan. 1, 1959, but he actually started running the team after the Northwestern game, late October, when Coach Bennie Oosterbaan practically turned the reins over to his assistant. In a few weeks the Elliott touch was apparent—the unbalanced line and traditional Michigan single-wing attack was practically abandoned, as Bump moved to install the Winged-T attack he learned as assistant to Forest Evashevski at Iowa. Elliott's first actual contact with his players as head coach took place when a squad of 100 eager Wolverines reported for spring practice.

The 34-year-old Elliott who started as a halfback at Michigan a dozen years ago was most impatient to get going with spring practice. He had been busy since his appointment lining up his staff of assistants; making the banquet circuit and recruiting vigorously when he wasn't mapping his plans for restoring Michigan as a football power.

"I don't anticipate a contender next fall," said Elliott. "I hope we can be one, but it's only a hope. Our material is too thin. I don't expect much help from the freshman squad which was just average. If we get three or four players I can use, we'll be fortunate."

Elliott's younger brother, Pete, has been head coach at California for two years. Pete was a quarterback at Michigan. His father, Dr. J. Norman Elliott, took time out from practicing medicine to coach football at Illinois Wesleyan and Northwestern, so the youngsters got early indoctrination in the fundamentals of the game.

Deacs Now Stand Alone At Top Of Standings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After nearly a week of rain-enforced idleness, Atlantic Coast Conference baseball went to bat with a vengeance Friday and reshuffled the loop standings to put Wake Forest alone on top.

More shuffling in the close race may be in store today with South Carolina at North Carolina, Clemson at Wake Forest, Duke at Maryland, and North Carolina State at Virginia, a doubleheader.

In Friday's games, Maryland's Terps edged State 5-4 in the opening of a twin bill but the Wolf pack came back with a 7-4 win that dropped Maryland into second place behind the Deacons.

The Deacons, meanwhile, outlasted South Carolina 1-0 in 10 innings to take first place by a half game. Clemson held on to third place with a 2-1 victory over Virginia's Tar Heels while Virginia trounced Duke 8-3.

After the Deacons (4-1) and Maryland (4-2), the ACC lines up this way: Clemson (5-4); State and Virginia tied (3-3); South Carolina (4-6); and North Carolina (2-4) and Duke (1-3) bringing up the rear, 3½ games behind Wake Forest.

The Tarps' 5-4 win—their seventh straight, including three in the ACC—came in the fifth inning when, the score tied 4-4, Maryland scratched out an infield hit and parlayed a throwing error and a single for the fifth tally.

State took the second game, a seven-inning affair, with a run in the second, four more in the third, and single scores in the fourth and sixth. It yielded only three hits, his third win against one loss.

Clemson, league defending champion, was behind 1-0 going into the ninth against the Tar Heels, but capitalized on a throwing error after a single, a walk and a punt to bring in two runs.

Thirteen hits and Rod Brown's hurling gave Virginia its 8-3 win over Duke. Brown, now with a 3-1 record, held the Blue Devils to four hits while his mates pounded out four runs in the first two frames.

After fumbling several opportunities to score, Wake Forest nailed a 1-0 win over South Carolina on Jay Franklin's triple in the 10th inning. Pitcher Bob Plemmons, who held the Gamecocks to two hits, was on base.

Chicod Defeats Greenville JVs

CHICOD — Chicod's Hornets punched across a run in the bottom of the seventh inning to eke out a 2-1 victory over Greenville Jayvees here yesterday.

Raymond Fornes scored the winning run, riding home on a two-base hit by Marvin Wilson. Fornes had reached safely on a walk before stealing second to set up the winning play.

John Bailey pitched four-hit ball to get the win for Chicod. He lost his stoutest in the seventh inning when a Greenville run was scored on a passed ball.

Chicod's next game will be Tuesday against Bethel. The game will be played on the Hornets' home field. Chicod will take a 7-1 over-all and 5-1 conference record into the game.

Play For Title At Pinehurst

FINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, who came here heralded as a rapidly maturing "boy wonder" of amateur golf, and veteran Gene Andrews, who arrived with no fanfare, met today over 36 holes for the North and South Championship.

Nicklaus, at 19 is 25 years younger than his insurance man rival from Pacific Palisades, Calif. Both are playing in their first North and South.

Nicklaus, Walker Cup team member from Columbus, Ohio, won his semifinals test from Bob Cochran of St. Louis, 2 up Friday. Andrews led from the first hole in a 3 and 2 defeat of Jack Penrose, Miami, Fla.

Surprising Cleveland Pads Lead In AL With 6-4 Win Against Chicago

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Home runs or singles, they're all the same to Cleveland as the surprising Indians pad their lead in the American League race.

Their homer spree was ended by Chicago Friday night — after the Tribe had belted 19 in eight consecutive games — but the Indians won their fourth in a row anyway, coming from behind for a 6-4 decision in their first run-in with the White Sox this season. That gave Cleveland, beaten only once in 11 starts, a 3½-game lead over New York's idle second place Yankees.

It also dropped the White Sox four games behind in a third-place tie with Boston and idle Baltimore. The Red Sox moved up with a 7-2 victory at Washington. Kansas City smashed Detroit 10-1, the Tigers' 10th defeat in 11 games.

In the National League, Milwaukee retained a half-game edge by beating Cincinnati 10-7 while second-place Los Angeles went 10 innings for a 3-2 victory at St. Louis. San Francisco held on to third with a 4-3, 11-inning decision over the Chicago Cubs. Pittsburgh rallied in the ninth and defeated Philadelphia 8-5.

The Indians, with a wild Herb Score going only three innings, trailed 4-1 until the seventh inning while getting just two hits off Sox starter Dick Donovan. Singles by Minoso, Russ Nixon and pinch hitter Tito Francona, who drove in a pair with two out, tied it in a three-run seventh.

Caps Break Out Hitting Togs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Raleigh's Caps—held to seven hits in two previous games—broke out their hitting togs Friday night and routed Durham 16-4 with a 17-hit attack in a Carolina League game.

Greensboro marred the home opener at Graham for Alamance's Indians by winning 3-2, while Wilson whacked Winston-Salem 9-5 at Winston-Salem to gain a split in their two-game series.

Raleigh spotted Durham four runs in the first inning, then built an 8-4 margin by the end of the third in winning their home opener.

Bruce Swango, 22-year-old righthander, was the star in Greensboro's victory, yielding eight hits. He scored what proved to be the winning run after getting a double, the only extra base of the game, and struck out 11.

Wilson exploded for five runs in the first inning and got three more in the second in defeating Winston-Salem. The Togs collected 12 hits while southpaw Bobby Veale allowed Winston-Salem only five.

Tonight's games: Winston-Salem at Durham, Wilson at Greensboro and Alamance at Raleigh.

Long, Long Ball

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—With the score tied 4-4 and one on in an intrasquad game, shortstop Dan Trovich of Montana School of Mines unleashed a mighty belt.

The ball cleared the outfield, which is not fenced, and landed in a car of a passing ore train. It was carried to Anaconda, 24 miles away.

The official scorer ruled it a homer and Trovich's team won 6-4.

Souchak Is Still Well Out Front At Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Mike Souchak held a firm grip on first place today as the field of 26 professional golfers went into the third round of the $46,620 Tournament of Champions.

The big fellow from Grossinger, N.Y., had rounds of 66-70 for a 36-hole total of 136 and a four-stroke buffer over his nearest challenger.

The scene is the Desert Inn Country Club, whose 7,073-yard, par-36-72 course, plus gusts of wind, put a damper on some of the hopes in the second round.

Deadlocked at 140 were four pros—Art Wall Jr., Julius Boros, 23-year-old John McMullin and Ernie Vossler.

George Bayer was alone at 142, and tied at 143 were Gene Littler, three-time winner of the event, and Arnold Palmer.

The tournament's final round Sunday will be televised via NBC, starting at 3 p. m., PDT.

Honorable Mention

Mr. Henry Chason, Eastern North Carolina's State Life Insurance Company's manager, is proud to announce that Gene Baker through sales and service to the people of Greenville has greatly exceeded the qualifications for the company's national convention that will be held in Galveston, Tex. the first week in May.

Congratulations to Mr. Baker for a job well done.

Then Vic Power's infield hit, an error, intentional walk and a passed ball broke the tie in a two-run eighth capped by Woody Held's sacrifice fly.

Gerry Staley (1-1) was the loser in relief. Humberto Robinson, late of the Milwaukee Braves, won in his first AL appearance with two innings of one-hit, shut-out relief for the Tribe.

The White Sox scored two in the first inning when Score walked the first four men he faced and Ray Boone hit a sacrifice fly. Score walked seven in his three innings, but allowed just one hit—Boone's solo home run in the third.

Vic Wertz, rebounding quickly from a bout with the flu, drove in five runs for Boston. He doubled home two in the first against loser Vito Valentini, then counted three in the third with his second home run in two days. Jackie Jensen also homered in the five-run third, with both shots off left-handed rookie Jack Kralick.

The Nats managed just six hits off Ike Delock (2-0), who went all the way for his eighth consecutive victory over the Senators since May 12, 1957. Washington scored on Bob Lemon's third homer, a two-run, 420-foot blast in the fourth inning.

Bob Cerv drove in four runs for the A's with three hits in four trips. Ralph Terry gained his first victory and complete game with an eight-hitter, blanking the Tigers after Gail Harris' RBI triple in the first inning.

The Tigers, who had beaten Terry four times in a row since July 6, 1957, again wound up without a complete game from their staff. Billy Hoft, credited with their lone victory, was chased with the defeat in a six-run fourth inning. Detroit has been smacked for 44 runs in its last four games.

Jordan Retains His Welter Title With One Good Hand

ST. LOUIS (AP)—World welterweight champion Don Jordan, who one-handedly retained his title Friday night, is on the prowl for a match with abdicating welter king Carmen Basilio.

"I'm looking towards a nontitle June bout, probably in Madison Square Garden," said Jordan after his comparatively easy conquest of Virgil Akins despite a damaged right hand.

"But I like the big gate and Basilio could really bring the big gate," added the 24-year-old boxing dandy from Los Angeles.

Basilio is playing ring-around-the-rosy with Sugar Ray Robinson, who diveded him of the middleweight title last year and has been avoiding him ever since.

In the war of nerves, Basilio could give up on Robinson and try for a fat pay check in a return to the welter ranks.

Everything important in Friday night's fight before 8,428 in Kiel Auditorium happened in the second round.

It was then Akins, 31-year-old former champ, made his last bid to stay in boxing's big time with a couple of shots to the jaw which really staggered Jordan.

It also was then that Jordan badly bruised his right hand in a poke on the top of Akins' head. Although Jordan wound up with a

Drake Relays To Wind Up Show With Records

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The Drake Relays closed out their golden anniversary show today with high hopes for a string of records.

Friday's opening day produced two records, one bettering the American mark for the sprint medley relay.

A record seemed certain to come from Bill Alley, the Kansas javelin thrower who has surpassed the recognized American mark with a toss of 270 feet, 1½ inches.

Friday, Jamaican George Kerr anchored Illinois en route to the fastest American collegiate sprint medley relay mark in history. Illinois' time was 3:17.8 and Kerr had an unofficial half-mile 1:46.6 clocking.

The team time topped the recognized American record of 3:18.8 by California last year.

Oregon, getting two good miles from sophomore George Larson and Jim Grelle, came up with a four-mile relay record of 17:15.2 that knocked out the 17:15.9 by Kansas in 1952.

Italy's Social Security Tax Rate Is Really Big

By SAM DAWSON

ROME (AP) — Americans who remember the unpleasant drop in take-home pay in January when the Social Security tax rate went up should look at Italy.

And U.S. employers whose contributions to Social Security funds advanced in the same proportion should be thankful they don't have to put up with what the Italian opposite numbers do. It comes to about 35 per cent of payroll, perhaps a little less, perhaps a little more depending on the type of business.

An employer reports to as many as six Social Security or similar agencies. Some concerns are required to file declarations in advance as to how much overtime is expected in a coming period and they must pay a 15 per cent tax on the overtime pay.

Employers also must withhold income taxes from employees in the same manner as in the United States; it's only the investors, businessmen, professional men, entertainers and similar persons who find ways to evade.

Look at just one instance of what an employer has to pay in various forms of Social Security to an employee—not to mention what he has to pay if the employee quits.

Giovanni has a fairly good job.

He earns $200 a month from which his employer deducts 4.5 per cent ($9) as Giovanni's contribution to various Social Security taxes. Also deducted is 7 per cent ($14) for income tax. Then the employer pays, from his own pocket, 12.8 per cent ($25.60) to one old age pension agency, 6 per cent ($12) to another pension agency, 2.25 per cent ($4.50) to a health insurance agency, 1.15 per cent ($2.30) to a government housing agency, and finally 8 per cent ($16) to an agency that pays the employe a monthly family bonus. Total cost to the employer: 33.20 per cent ($66.40) monthly.

But that isn't all. The employer also must pay Giovanni a "13th salary" every Dec. 31. It's simply a year-end bonus of one month's pay, but all Social Security charges must be paid on this too.

And if Giovanni quits he gets a liquidation bonus of one-month pay for each year of employment. If he has worked for 12 years he gets a full year's bonus. If he's fired he usually gets even more depending on his type of work.

Dr. G. C. White And Wife Honored At Luncheon

AT LUNCHEON HONORING DR. WHITE YESTERDAY . . . Drs. Messick, Purks, White, Murray and LeConte

Dr. Goodrich C. White, chancellor emeritus of Emory University in Georgia, and Mrs. White were honor guests at a luncheon Friday at the Cinderella Restaurant in the city. Hosts and hostesses were faculty members at East Carolina College who have attended Emory University and Agnes Scott College.

Dr. White, a visitor on the East

Carolina College campus this week, has made a series of talks to faculty members on problems of education with special attention centered on the curriculum, general education, and the humanities.

Dr. Paul Murray, director of the department of social studies at East Carolina College, greeted luncheon guests and presented to Dr. and Mrs. White those attending the social event.

Special guests included President John D. Messick of East Carolina and Mrs. Messick; Vice President Leo W. Jenkins of the college; Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, formerly Acting President of East Carolina; and Dr. J. Harris Purks, Director of the State Board of Higher Education.

Dr. White spoke briefly on recent developments at Emory University. He recommended on the growth of the physical plant of the university since World War II, on changes brought about by the admission of women, and on various aspects of the future of the institution.

The dining table, placed in T shape, was attractively decorated with an arrangement of yellow gladioli and carnations.

Dr. Murray and Dr. Joseph LeConte of the department of science were chairmen in charge of arrangements for the luncheon.

City Is Covering Garbage Daily At The City Dump

The city has begun covering garbage daily at the city dump behind Greenwood Cemetery in an effort to eliminate fires and rodents at the dump.

A tractor has been obtained on a rental basis to determine how the modified land-fill method will work out before a permanent system is begun.

In addition a carefully-screened prisoner operator for the tractor has been obtained from the State Prison system through its recently initiated policy of making prison labor available to municipalities.

Bloxam said the prisoner operator can be obtained for "one-fourth" the amount it would cost to hire a civilian operator. Thus it was decided to use the prisoner at least until it is determined if the system of covering the refuse will become permanent.

Bloxam said the tractor is used to compact the garbage when it is brought in and dumped by collection trucks. Then dirt is pushed over the compacted refuse.

It is hoped the system will eliminate fires which normally develop spontaneously in the dump. The blazes cause a considerable smoke problem for the eastern section of the city.

Car And Tractor Collide In Night

A 1958 automobile received considerable damage when it was involved in a collision with a tractor pulling a transplanter on U. S. 264 west of Greenville around 7:20 last night.

Investigating patrolman Howard Winslow identified the driver of the car as C. Dubose Boyston of Spartansburg, S. C. The tractor was being operated by Leroy Hill, 19-year-old Negro of Rt. 2, Box 92, Farmville. It was owned by George S. Hines of Rt. 1, Box 378, Greenville.

Boyston told the patrolman he didn't see the white light on the rear of the tractor. He said he was unable to turn into the left lane to avoid the collision because another car was approaching in that lane.

The tractor to Boyston's car was set at $900. The transplanter received $200 damage. There were no injuries. Boyston was charged by the investigating patrolman with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

Grading, Paving Work For Road

Improvements are underway on the Sharp Point Road, in Western Pitt County, it was announced today by the State Highway Commission.

Grading and paving is being done along 3.77 miles of the road which runs from near the Edgecombe County line to a point on N. C. 43 about one and a half miles north of Falkland.

Local traffic is being maintained along the route. Through traffic, however, is being directed over a paved county road to N. C. 222 and to N. C. 43.

The project is expected to be completed by October 1.

Greenville Youth Places Third In Essay Contest

Lawrence Behr of Greenville received a $75 cash award yesterday for winning third prize in an essay contest, conducted by the Governor's Commission for the Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

Governor Luther H. Hodges and Commission Chairman J. H. Rose of Greenville made the award in ceremonies in Raleigh. First prize in the contest went to Carolyn Nichols of Rocky Mount, and David Gergen of Durham taking second place.

Other award winners in the essay contest are Betty Duke of Cary, fourth place, and Margaret Pope, Rt. 3, Garner, fifth place. All of the contestants wrote on "Hiring The Handicapped In Our Town."

Rev. Best of Stantonsburg received the Governor's award as "Outstanding Handicapped North Carolinian of 1958." Best, a gasoline and oil distributor in Wilson County, is a victim of rheumatoid arthritis.

Talked Down And Tattled On

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—Talked down by a woman and tattled on by a companion, a 23-year-old Gastonia man is charged today with a robbery attempt that failed to get the $12,000 cash receipts at the city water and light department office.

Accused is Donald R. Caldwell. He was arrested Thursday, police said, after he sought to cash a payroll check that allegedly was among $500 worth of checks taken from the Winget Mill.

Police said a companion had informed on him.

The robbery attempt occurred March 24. Mrs. Nadine Clark, a clerk in the water and light office, refused to hand over the money, despite threats by an armed, masked bandit. He fled when a customer entered.

Firm Is Developing Sound That Can Kill

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Los Angeles firm is developing an out-of-this-world sound—but it won't be heard on your hi-fi set or anywhere else.

This sound can kill you, said William Thomas, president of James B. Lansing Sound Inc.

He explains the sound is so loud that "You can't hear it because you would be dead before you heard it. It's perfectly capable of destroying human tissue, and a human being subjected to such high frequency sound waves actually would be homogenized—or scrambled—in seconds."

How loud is this big noise? Can't say, said Thomas, because no one has ever heard it.

The only noise comparable to HISS, he added, is the close-roar of a giant missile just as it thunders off a launching pad, powered by several hundred thousand pounds of thrust.

That Busy Last Morning In Camp

EARLY RISERS GREET THE MORNING SUN . . . and prepare for breakfast.

No one enjoys camping any more than the boys of Scout Troop 340, here in Greenville, and according to their leaders, the scouts have spent 25 nights at their five acre camp site known as "340 Outpost" since Thanksgiving.

The boys are happy when they have an opportunity to visit the camp, located on the Willie J. McLawhorn farm just East of Greenville on 14th St., but when it comes times to leave, their faces sag.

Being boys they are up at the break of dawn, preparing their camp fires and cooking breakfast. After they have eaten "the last meal", the scouts gather 'round the near-boiling water to wash their plates and silverware.

By this time it is 8 o'clock or after and they police the area, cleaning up any trash that may have been left, and start packing their packs for the long hike back home.

According to scout officials, "340 Outpost" is the only Troop operated, permanent camp site in Eastern North Carolina.

The boys, while at the camp, stay in tents or one of six Adirondack huts. The material for the huts, valued at $200 each, was donated by a firm in the county and they were built by adult scout leaders. The huts are designed to sleep four boys on two double-deck beds.

Future plans for the area call for the erection of four more huts and a campfire circle.

After the area has been cleaned and the packs made, it's just a matter of waiting until the leaders say "let's go". Until then, the scouts just sit around and talk over the good times they have had.

After everyone is packed and the leaders have checked the area and inspected the shelters they all start the long journey home after a weekend filled with fun and enjoyment.

Members of the Senior Class were entertained last week by the Pactolus Marlin Club, at a supper given in their honor. Dr. Leo Jenkins, Dean at East Carolina College, was the guest speaker.

Senior class members left April 24 on their senior trip to Washington, D. C. They were accompanied by W. J. Edwards, Jr., principal, and senior advisor, Mrs. Elsie Lewis.
The group arrived in Washington about 7:30 after a trip through the mountains and stops at Monticello and the Luray Caverns. Other places visited while in Washington included Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Capitol, Washington Monument, Smithsonian Institution, FBI Building, Proctor's Kitchen, Lincoln Memorial and the Zoo. Students were able to sit in on a session of the House of Representatives. Representative Herbert Bonner talked with the group during a coke party.

On Saturday night the group went on the Moonlight Cruise down the Potomac River. The boat stopped for an hour at an amusement park before it headed back to dock.

During their stay in Washington they were at the Annapolis Hotel. On Sunday the students surprised their bus driver, Norman Frank with a cigarette lighter for being such a good driver. On Sunday the seniors returned home. They stopped at the airport and Arlington Cemetery and watched the changing of the guard in front of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldiers. The group arrived in Stokes at about 6:30, and then, the long anticipated Senior Trip was over for a bunch of weary, but happy

Explorers Host To Guest Units

Boy Scout Explorer Post 340 of Greenville, is playing host to several visiting units in what is believed to be the first organized Explorer camping program on the local council level in the U.S.

The national council maintains Packman Scout Ranch in New Mexico, for summer camping trips, but there is no program such as the Boy Scout Camporee. This "Bovovac" as it is called, is believed to be the first of its type in the scouting program.

Program highlights for the three-day event which started yesterday includes swimming in the college pool, demonstrations by the Greenville Rescue Squad, the Greenville Police Department, Pistol Team and County Forest Warden N.S. Tyson.

The Explorer units are using Boy Scout Troop 340's camp site East of Greenville on the Willie J. McLawhorn farm.

INDIFFERENCE CHARGED

ST PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Dean James Fogarty of Fordham University said in a speech here that society's "extraordinarily apathetic attitude toward the appalling problems of alcoholism" is a grave modern weakness.

GREENBORO GROUP TO PERFORM—The Greenboro Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., will appear in Greenville May 2 in McGinnis Auditorium. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. Frank Hill, chairman of the Jaycee project, said there are three quartets along with a chorus in the group. Tickets may be obtained from any Jaycee.

Music Organizations Will Present Program

The College Singers, assisted by the Women's Chorus, music organizations at East Carolina College, will present a program of songs Tuesday, April 28, at 2 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Dan E. Vornholt of the college music department will direct the two groups of student singers, a vocal ensemble of 80 people, in selections ranging from "In These Delightful Pleasant Groves" by the early English composer Purcell to "Let's Dance" — Chopsticks Paraphrase by Howarth.

Members of the College Singers are ten students of voice at the college who were chosen because of their talent. Included in the group are Marjorie Kennedy, Mary Lee Lawrence and Dorothy McCleary, soprano; Martha Ann Davis, Nancy Harris, and Larisa Uniphlett, alto; Francis Swanson and James J. Williams, tenors; and Rhessa Hart and Al Krekeler, baritone. Rose Lindsay is accompanist of the group.

Among selections which they will include on their program Tuesday are Morley's "Now is the Month of Maying," "Turkey in the Straw," a paraphrase, in an arrangement by Schaffer; Kosma's "Autumn Leaves"; and "The Silver Swan" by Gibbons.

Krekeler, accompanied by Scott Parsons, pianist, will appear as soloist in Flegler's "The Horn" and Lehmann's "Myself When Young" from "A Persian Garden."

With Carolyn Petty as accompanist, the Women's Chorus will sing "Trilomba," an Italian folk song; "In the Still of the Night" by Porter; "I'm Only Nineteen," a Kentucky Mount song, in an arrangement by Winter, and other selections.

Telephone Company Cited By Defense Department

TARBORO — The "Department of Defense Award" given for outstanding cooperation with the Armed Forces Reserve, was presented to Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company here Thursday.

Presentation of the award came at a luncheon meeting of the Tarboro Rotary Club held at Hilton Country Club.

On hand to make the presentation was Colonel Thomas O. Keithly, Commander North Carolina Sector Command, XII U.S. Army Corps (Reserve).

H. Dall Holderness, president of Carolina Telephone, accepted in behalf of the company.

The presentation was made in three parts — an award certificate signed by the secretary of defense; a Department of Defense pennant; and a citation.

Colonel Keithly read from the citation, "Carolina Telephone is cited for outstanding cooperation with the reserve program of the Armed Forces. By pursuing policies which do not discriminate because of reserve affiliation and which grant military leave in addition to regular vacation periods, its employees have been encouraged to participate in reserve activities. Further, compensation for any pay differential during reserve duty tours has enabled employees to fulfill reserve obligations without loss of salary. In addition, close contact has been maintained with employees on extended active duty through the medium of its house organ. The excellent cooperation of Carolina

Telephone, in support of the reserve program, is worthy of commendation and reflects great credit upon its management at all echelons."

Prior to making the award, Colonel Keithly gave a short talk concerning the history and functions of the reserve program as well as its place in today's defense program. Colonel Keithly was introduced by W. C. Darrow, program chairman.

Special guests attending the meeting were Lt. Col. Paul F. O'Hara, U.S.A.F. Advisor, Greenville Area Command; Lt. Col. Beverly Brockhoff, U.S.A.F., Area Commander, Greenville; Major Carl E. Gilmer, U.S.A.F. Unit Advisor, Rocky Mount; William P. Carpenter, Jr., Information Officer, N.C. Sector Command, Raleigh.

Building Permits Up 11 Per Cent

RALEIGH—Building permits totaling $16,744,840 were issued by public officials in 30 North Carolina cities of more than 10,000 population during March, the State Department of Labor reported today.

The March building total was 11 per cent above the $15,031,466 reported in the same month last year, said State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane.

Combined permits for the first quarter of 1959 totaled $43,935,652 for a 10.5 per cent gain over the same period last year, Crane said. Raleigh led the cities in March with estimated construction costs totaling $3,195,650. Charlotte was second with $2,765,291. Greensboro third with $1,848,522. Winston-Salem fourth with $1,444,668. Gastonia fifth with $1,211,690, and Durham sixth with $1,175,968.

Former Beauty Queen 'Fed Up'

DEDHAM, Mass. (AP) — Miss Massachusetts of 1951 has filed a petition for divorce on the ground her husband didn't think she was beautiful enough.

Mrs. Ralph E. Erikens, 29, declared in Norfolk Probate Court that her husband, a sailor based at Newport, R.I., ridiculed a birth mark on her face so much that she underwent an operation to have it removed.

The Erikens married in 1952 and have three sons. The couple has been separated for nine months. She works in a Boston night club as a photographer.

REVIVAL WANING?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The upsurge of popularized religion of the past decade "seems to be waning" Methodist Dr. Ralph W. Rieckman of New York told a church meeting here. He predicted a "spiritual recession."

Plans For ECC Alumni Day, May 2, Announced

Program features of Alumni Day at East Carolina College, to be held Saturday, May 2, will include the annual business meeting of the Alumni Association, a luncheon, reunions of ten classes, presentation of special awards, and social events in honor of guests on the campus, according to an announcement by Robert B. Morgan, president of the Alumni Association.

Alumni have been invited to attend also, as a special attraction of the day, the annual May Day Festival Saturday afternoon. Elizabeth Ann Bowman of Liberty, senior at the college, will be crowned May Queen at ceremonies conducted in the Flanagan Sylvan Theatre on the campus at 2 p.m.

Installation of new officers and directors of the Alumni Association will be made at the business meeting at 10:15 a.m. in the Austin auditorium.

Presentation of the annual Award to a Distinguished Graduate of East Carolina College will be made at the luncheon meeting at 12:15 in the New South Cafeteria. For the first time, a faculty member at the college will be announced as the recipient of a Recognition Award. President John D. Messick of the college will address alumni.

Classes holding reunions during the day are those of 1914, 1919, 1924, 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954, and 1958.

Other events of the day will include a tea for alumni in the Marmie E. Jenkins Alumni-Faculty Building at 4:30 p.m., the May Queen's Ball at 8:15 in the Wright building, showing of a feature film in the Austin building at 7 p.m., and an art exhibition on display during the day in the Austin building and the Joyner Memorial Library.

A Reminder For IRS Workers

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — An invitation to all Internal Revenue Service workers to take part in their annual golf tournament May 8 in Oklahoma City contains this note of caution: "Be sure you're honest in claiming golf scores to get your handicap."

After the original 13 colonies, the first states to be admitted to the union were Vermont, Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio.

Summer Music Camp Program Plans Completed

Plans for the Sixth Annual Summer Music Camp at East Carolina College have been announced by Earl E. Beach, director of the college Department of Music.

The event, one of the most popular of summer activities on the campus, is scheduled for July 19 - August 1 and is expected to have an attendance of several hundred junior and senior high school students and music teachers.

Activities of the camp will include both music and the fine arts and techniques for majorettes and drum majors. The music program will include work in band, orchestra, and choir; music theory; voice; conducting; piano; and the brass, woodwind, and string instruments.

Music campers will be housed in college dormitories and will have their meals in college cafeterias during their stay on the campus. The college physician and his staff will be on duty during the camp, and the infirmary will be open to those in need of medical care.

A staff of twenty-six members, headed by Dr. Beach as director, will participate in the educational program of the camp. Faculty members at the college, outstanding instructors of music, art, and the dance from schools in North and South Carolina, and experienced majorettes and drum majors are included. An adult counseling staff of five members will also assist with the camp.

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG Last weekend we went to a big conference on WHAT IS A COLLEGE FOR? at Miami University out in Oxford, Ohio.

is to teach the student what he needs to know in order to keep on learning. . . . David Shepard, vice-president of Standard Oil of N. J., claimed that what business needs most is not specialists but men with balanced backgrounds.

More on the Colleges

While we're at it, we'll recommend highly for your considered perusal two articles in this week's April 18-Saturday Review. "The Inarticulate Professor" by Richard Hovey, who teaches English at Western Maryland, is a disquieting account of just how little professors have to do with education in America.
