SEARCH FOR BOMB . . . Walter Thomas and Police Chief S. G. Gibbs search under the stage in Austin.

East Carolina College's Austin Building was evacuated for an hour and a half today while officers and college officials searched without success for a bomb said to have been planted in the building.

$100 Reward

The Daily Reflector offered $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the bomb hoax on the East Carolina College campus.

D. J. Whichard Jr., publisher of the newspaper, said in offering the reward:

"No community can condone such things as bomb hoaxes even as a prank. It is at best a dangerous prank. To aid in apprehending those responsible for this incident, and to aid in preventing the recurrence of such an incident, The Daily Reflector is offering $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties responsible for the call."

man who made the call, but she could not identify the accent. He hung up after saying a few words.

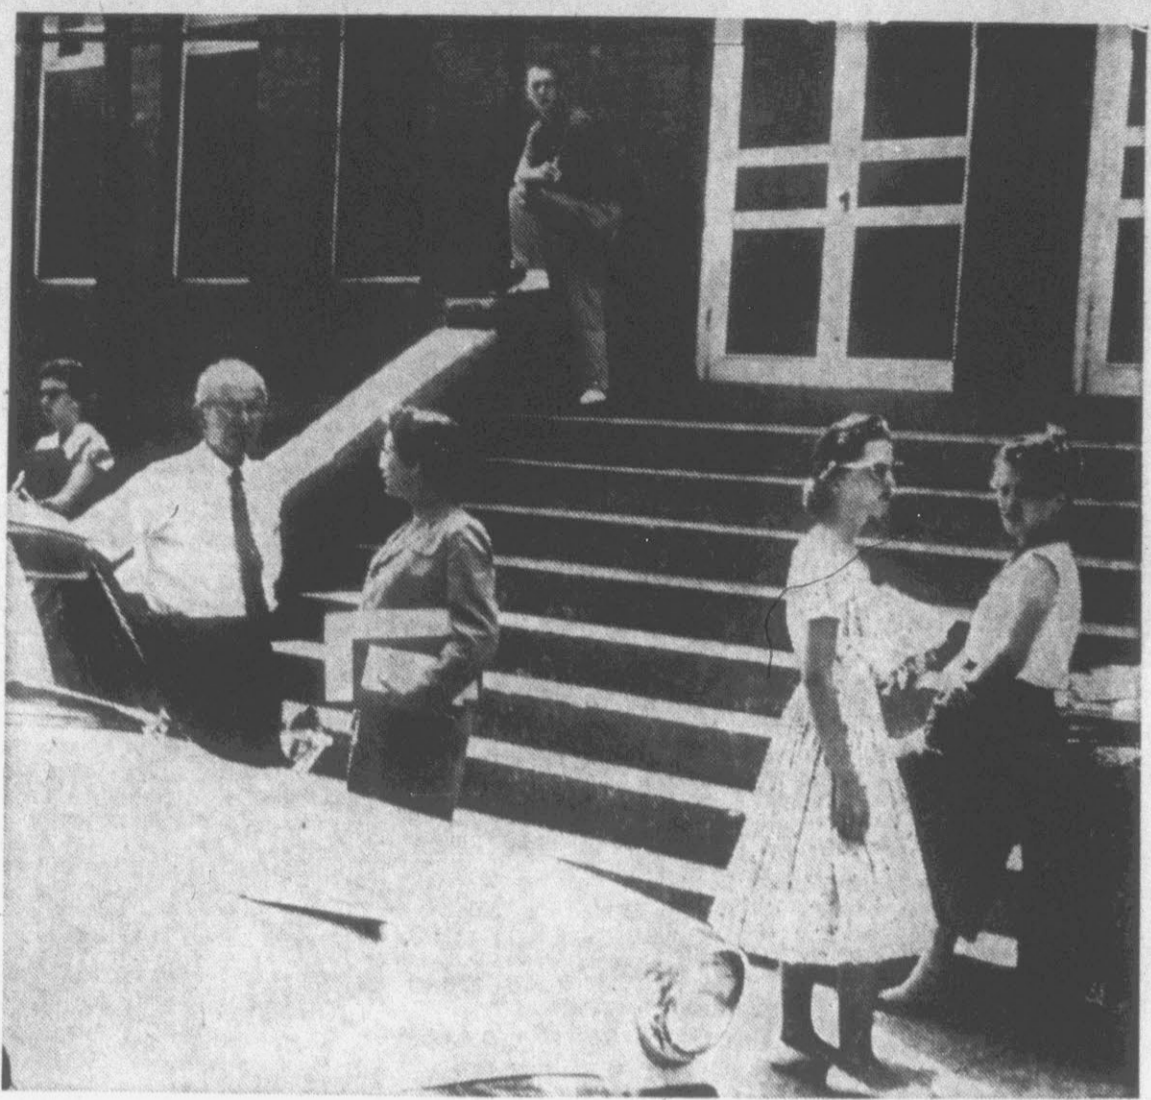

Officers of the Greenville Police Department, Pitt County Sheriff's department and campus officers immediately began a floor-by-floor search of the huge four-story building.

A student in the building at the time of the evacuation said the exodus from classrooms was orderly. The teacher in his class, he said, told students a practice evacuation was being held and for them to leave the building.

Following evacuation of the building, a number of students remained in the vicinity of the building while officers conducted their search inside.

The evacuation came when practically every classroom in the building was in use. Dr. Leo Jenkins, dean of the college, said approximately 1,300 students were in the classroom building when it was evacuated.

Dr. Messick said a similar hoax bomb call was received two years ago with information that a bomb had been planted in Austin building. No bomb was found then either.

Panama's Invaders Begin March To Panama City

PANAMA (AP)—The main body of the Cuban invaders left the town of Nombro de Dios today and struck out toward Panama City, a government spokesman reported.

National Guardsmen were sent to intercept the rebel column. It was not immediately clear whether the invaders were leaving to surrender or to try to escape capture.

The leader of the Cuban invasion had said earlier he and his men were ready to surrender unconditionally and submit to Panamanian courts.

The spokesman said the government's information was that about 60 men left the Caribbean coastal town of Nombro de Dios and the remainder of the 89-man group stayed behind.

Cesar Vega, the former Havana night-club owner who led the expeditionary force ashore six days ago, had said a quick opinion poll showed the discouraged adventurers want a quick settlement.

A government official said an agreement concluded with the help of neutral diplomats from the Organization of American States gave Vega until noon to signal a final surrender.

After that the National Guard planned to move in and try capturing any holdouts, he said.

The invaders headed out of Nombro de Dios well before noon for a jungle road connecting with the main highway, the government reported.

The road emerges onto the main highway about 30 miles from Panama City. The government spokesman said no contact is expected for several hours.

"We are optimistic about reaching a settlement within a few days," said a spokesman for the inter-American team of diplomats trying to end the threat to Panamanian President Ernesto de la Guardia's government.

Vega said he was responding to direct surrender appeals from Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, his brother Raul, commander of the Cuban armed forces, and the Organization of American States.

Vega and three others of his party were flown to the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone Thursday to talk with the peace mission sent from Washington by the 21-nation OAS.

Insisting the expedition had no support from the Cuban government, Vega said the invaders had been told Panamanians would rally to their support and a general strike would paralyze the country after they landed. Nothing like that happened.

He said the invaders, inspired by reports Panama is unhappy under its present government, paid for their own arms and uniforms and are not mercenaries as the Panamans' government has charged.

Vega also denied government claims that Roberto Arias, husband of British ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn and son of a former Panamanian president, helped organize the invasion.

An OAS spokesman refused to divulge details of the all-night conference held at the U.S. Albrook Air Force Base.

De la Guardia had demanded unconditional surrender of the invaders, who he charged were hired by Panamanian opponents of his regime. He did promise to spare their lives.

Col. Bolivar Vallarino, chief of Panama's National Guard, had countermanded orders to attack the invading expedition holed up in the small town of Nombro de Dios, 20 miles from the northern end of the canal.

"I think everything is going to be settled," he told newsmen.

The strike, in progress since last Nov. 17, has been marked by dynamite, rifle fire and other violence. The mills reopened on a one-shift basis Feb. 17 and put on a second shift April 20.

Police reported several rifle shots and firecrackers broke the calm at both mills last night before the second shift changed. No one was injured. When the workers left the mills, police said, there was the usual heckling and jeering but no disorders.

Rifle shots also were reported at the North Henderson mill Wednesday afternoon. Deputy Sheriff K. K. Robinson said a bullet glanced off a steel beam and grazed the arm of Barbara Wood of Oxford, working in the winding room. The bullet did not break the skin.

In New York, the executive council of the Textile Workers Union of America issued a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the violence-marked strike.

The TWUA, terming the dispute a "lockout," asked Congress to make a "thorough" on the scene study. The union asked Gov. Hodges to deny the company "the aid and comfort which the State Highway Patrol is providing the company by its presence in Henderson."

Field Of Nine Candidates For Farmville Election

FARMVILLE—The final line-up of candidates for Farmville's elective municipal offices was completed yesterday afternoon when filing books closed for Board of Commissioners candidates.

Nine persons have filed for the town board's five seats, including three incumbents and the sixth man in 1957 balloting. Incumbent Charles S. Edwards and former Mayor O. G. Spell are seeking the mayor's seat in Tuesday's municipal elections.

was to undertake." She did not mention Sen. Morse by name, but she noted that "the American author of these charges" is also chairman of a Senate subcommittee which handles Latin American affairs.

Morse tried to block Senate approval of her appointment but was defeated by a 79-11 vote in her favor Tuesday.

A few hours after this, Mrs. Luce caused an angry uproar by saying in New York that her troubles began when Morse was "kicked in the head by a horse" in 1951.

Morse called her remark proof she was not fitted for the diplomatic post. "I regret, with all my heart, that I will not have the opportunity to be of this service to you, to our country and to inter-American relations."

Mrs. Luce declined to say what her future plans are.

In advance of the meeting, a top government official said her answer to this question was "up in the air."

Eisenhower was reported ready to urge her to take on the diplomatic assignment, even though he said a comment she made about Morse was ill-advised. He reportedly signed her formal commission Thursday.

But she had conflicting advice from her husband, Henry R. Luce, editor in chief of Time magazine. A few hours after the Senate confirmed her appointment Tuesday, he publicly urged her to quit on the grounds that her Democratic political life would make it possible for her to carry out her diplomatic task.

The 56-year-old Mrs. Luce, a playwright, author and former Republican congresswoman, has been quietly considering her decision since then.

Landfill Operation Now Serves Farmville For Garbage Disposal

FARMVILLE — The Town of Farmville has begun operation of a sanitary landfill for disposal of garbage which was formerly dumped and burned in an open garbage pit.

The landfill, an acre in size, is adjacent to the town's sewage disposal plant near Contentnea Creek. It has been in use about three weeks.

Procedures used in operation of the landfill include cutting trenches, dumping of garbage which is packed with a crawler-type tractor, covering with at least two feet of dirt and packing a second time.

Plans call for repeating the procedure until the site is built up to the level of surrounding land.

Chief Sanitarian E.L. Kilpatrick of the Pitt County Health Department said today the land fill will not be forthcoming from the subcommittee chairman (Morse).

"A continuing harassment of my mission, with a view to making his own charges stick, is the natural course the chairman would follow. And the sad fact is not that I, but Brazilian-American policy would be the victim."

"It therefore seems indisputable that at this time of grave economic difficulties in Brazil, the best interests of that country, as well as of the United States, will be served by your selection of another plenipotentiary."

Negotiations In Henderson Mills Strike Resumed

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Mediators resume negotiations today in the drawn out Henderson textile strike. Neither the Harriet Henderson Cotton Mills or the Textile Workers Union of America entered the session with any optimism.

John D. Cooper Jr., president of the troubled mills, and Boyd Paxton of Charlotte, Carolinas, director of the TWUA, issued similar statements earlier in the week. Both said, "I don't know what we could negotiate."

Nevertheless, the two sides agreed to meet with mediator Yates Heafner at the request of Gov. Luther Hodges, who canceled a trip to the Kentucky Derby to stay in close touch with the situation.

An apparent settlement was negotiated by Hodges April 17. It collapsed when the union complained that fewer jobs were available for returning strikers than anticipated.

The strike, in progress since last Nov. 17, has been marked by dynamite, rifle fire and other violence. The mills reopened on a one-shift basis Feb. 17 and put on a second shift April 20.

Clare Booth Luce Decides To Quit Ambassadorship; Sees Harrassment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clare Booth Luce quit today as ambassador to Brazil because of her public row with Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore).

President Eisenhower regretfully announced her decision after an hour's talk with her at the White House.

"It is no longer possible for me to accomplish the mission which you have entrusted to me," Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference that Eisenhower sought to persuade Mrs. Luce to reconsider her decision to quit.

"I regret, with all my heart, that I will not have the opportunity to be of this service to you, to our country and to inter-American relations."

Mrs. Luce declined to say what her future plans are.

Members of the Pitt County Board of Education are expected to return an answer Monday to a request that a new principal be named at Chicod School.

The board was petitioned a week ago not to renew the contract of Kelley Wallace, principal of the school for the past two years. At that time, the board deferred final action until its regular meeting Monday.

Petitions carrying the names of 381 persons, who said they wanted a new principal at the school, were presented to the board. In addition, attorneys for the group seeking Wallace's ouster said affidavits would be presented to the board prior to Monday's meeting.

Wallace has been recommended for another year in the principalship by Superintendent D. H. Conley and the Chicod District School Committee.

The board's meeting is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. in the Tucker Building.

Open Bids For 2 Cars Monday

Pitt County Commissioners will open bids Monday for two automobiles to be assigned to the Sheriff's Department.

The bids will be opened at the commissioners' regular monthly meeting, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. in the Commissioners' Room of the Court House. The cars for which bids have been asked will replace two cars which have been in use since 1956 when the county began operating a fleet of automobiles.

485 Pitt Club Women To Observe HD Week

MRS. WILBUR WORTHINGTON . . . president of the Pitt County Home Demonstration Council.

By Mrs. Wilbur Worthington HD Council President

The 485 Home Demonstration Club members of Pitt County are enthusiastically planning the observance of the Fourteenth National Home Demonstration Club Week from May 3-9. "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World," the theme which will be used nationally for this observance, expresses our belief that homemaking is the most important job in the world, and that any community, state and nation is only as strong as its homes.

Because of our enthusiasm for and our belief in our work, we plan to visit every non-club family in rural Pitt County and tell the Home Demonstration Club story. Each of the 21 clubs in Pitt County has made plans for their members to visit the people in their communities during the week. Definite plans have been made, and we hope every family will be contacted. We will invite non-club members to visit our office in the Old Hospital Building on Johnston Street in Greenville. Our capable and willing Home Economics Agents, Mrs. Sue May, Mrs. Lois Freeman and Mrs. Helen Mohan, are so happy to help with any problems in Homemaking or Community activities, and other things too numerous to mention. If they do not have the information you may need, either of them will gladly help you get it from some other source.

Many clubs will attend church services in a group. Some will place flowers at the altar in their churches, signifying their thankfulness to God for His blessings. Rural pastors will be notified of the observance. Sermons and services will be planned around the theme "Home."

Club women plan to emphasize the State Home Demonstration Magazine, "Green 'n Growing," during this week, and strive to make each club a 100% in subscriptions.

Special recognition will be given Adult 4-H Club and Community leaders.

On Friday, May 8, Open House will be held in the Home Demonstration Department in the Old Hospital Building in Greenville, between the hours of 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Some of the accomplishments of Home Demonstration Club women will be on display at that time. All Pitt County club women and their guests, including all Pitt County rural women, are invited to attend this Open House.

Over 62,698 women in North Carolina alone are now participating in this great organization that teaches the fundamentals of Homemaking, and the personal development of each individual.

Other articles and pictures will appear in this paper from day to day during the week. Watch for details of Home Demonstration work in Pitt County.

Frame Should Add Beauty To Picture

RALEIGH — "The purpose of a picture frame is to enclose and add beauty to a picture," says Mrs. Josephine Bond, housing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service.

Picture framing is important and should relate to the subject and type of a picture, and the space it is to occupy.

According to Mrs. Bond, 25 4-H girls in Hertford County recently attended a picture frame refinishing workshop. The frames ranged from huge oak and plaster models to ones which just needed a coat of paint. The assistant county home economics agent, Miss Barbara Stephens, instructed the girls during the workshop. The girls were encouraged to give careful thought to the selection and use of frames.

As a result of the workshop, 4-H girls in Hertford County will probably not be discarding old picture frames before examining them. Although the paint may be flaked off, the corners chipped and broken, or the finish cracked and peeling, 25 girls will know the possibility for refinishing.

Final Plans For Art Festival Set

Final plans for the 24th annual Fine Arts Festival were announced today by Steering Committee chairman, Mrs. S. H. Mitchell.

An author's luncheon honoring Mrs. Frances Gray Patton of Durham will begin the week's activities. Mrs. J. C. Galloway, Jr. will preside during the one o'clock luncheon to be held in the South Dining Room on the East Carolina College campus.

Immediately following the luncheon, Mrs. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Humber, and all artists represented in the Portrait Show will be honored guests at an open house in the Art Gallery located in the Sheppard Memorial Library.

Under the direction of Mrs. Madge Allen, Interpretative Negro Spirituals will be presented at Eppes High School Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

A Flower Show sponsored by the Greenville Garden Club will take place at the Woman's Club Auditorium Tuesday at 3 p.m. Decorative exhibits will be on display in the front parlors.

Mrs. John Clark, Jr. is scheduled to be available for discussion concerning the exhibits.

The Fifth Annual Sidewalk Art Show will be held Wednesday and Thursday at Elm St. Park.

Paintings, graphics, ceramics, enameling, industrial arts, and handicrafts will be sold by North Carolina artists and craftsmen.

The exhibiting hours will be from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday and from 10:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Thursday.

A buffet supper is planned to follow the Sidewalk Show.

Artists and art enthusiasts will gather Wednesday and Thursday night at 8 o'clock at Flanagan Theatre to see the Shakespearean play, "Romeo and Juliet." The cast will include players from East Carolina College and the Greenville Little Theatre.

The four Negro Greenville Schools will combine their bands and coral groups for a concert to be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The concert will be heard in the Eppes High School Auditorium.

Committee Extends Invitation

The Sidewalk Art Show Committee cordially invites everyone to attend the opening ceremonies at 1 p.m. Wednesday at Elm St. Park of the Fifth Annual Sidewalk Art Show.

Mayor Eugene West and City Manager Leonard Bixom will share the honors in cutting the ribbon to officially open the art show sponsored by the Greenville Woman's Club.

This year there will be many firsts for the art show. Photography entries have been included in the art exhibits. Through the courtesy of Buck Johnson, free transportation to Elm St. Park will be furnished beginning at noon Wednesday. The special "Sidewalk Show Taxi" will depart from Fourth and Evans St.

There will be two cars available for public use Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The exhibits committee wishes to remind anyone who still desires to enter art work to register no later than Sunday evening. They must get their dinner reservations also.

Anyone showing their work at the Sidewalk Show is eligible and invited to attend the dinner at the Moose Lodge May 7 after the show at 7 p.m. Art material awards will be given at the dinner.

Reservations and registrations may be obtained from Mrs. Donna Tabar, 130 N. Library St.

Gardening Today

By JOHN DUNCAN

The holly can be used in quite a few places in the landscaping plan. You can use the Japanese Holly entirely in planting around the house. At the corners upright Japanese Holly (Ilex Crenata) fits well. At the entrance the Round-leaf Holly (Ilex Crenata Helleri).

Both the roundleaf and small leaf hollies make fine hedges. In planter boxes the cushion holly or small leaf holly can be used. All of these hollies trim nicely and can be kept in bounds with minimum care.

As hedges both Chinese Hollies, the horned holly (Ilex Cornuta) and the shiny leaf holly (Ilex Cornuta Burfordi) do well. You can use Burfordi in some places in the foundation planting.

The American Holly (Ilex Opaca) familiar to all is used as specimens or for screening. It is also used as a hedge. Yapon (Ilex Vomitoria) can be used as hedge or in groups. This holly was highly esteemed by the Indians who lived where it grew. From the leaves, which the toasted, they made a tea. This concoction restored their health, improved appetites, and made them nimble and courageous. Ilex glabra (inkberry or gallberry) can be used in massing. Pruned low, it makes a good hedge. It will grow on the shady northside of the house. The holly is a storied plant. Many tales tell of its curing of diseases. Some thought wearing it brought victory in battle. One Indian tribe is said to have made a beverage of its berries which when given to the squaws was said to calm them down and prevent them wandering off.

It can be said that the Holly is rich in legend and interesting as part of any landscape plan.

The Holly miner makes twisted yellowish or brownish yellow mines in the leaves. Pick off and burn leaves (if you can reach them). For safety first, use one of the following sprays:

D.D.T. 50% wettable powder—2 tablespoons to 1 gallon of water; Lead arsenate—2 tablespoons to 1 gallon of water; or Dieldrin 25% wettable powder—2 tablespoons to 1 gallon of water. Spray two times, starting about April 15th, and then again in 10 days.

All toxic materials should be used with caution. Follow instructions on containers.

Mrs. Wagner Entertains Club With Fashion Show

The new Wagner home on Country Club Drive was the scene Tuesday when Mrs. T. I. Wagner was hostess to members of the Atheneum Book Club.

Throughout the home there was a profusion of mixed spring flowers. The dining room table was centered with a silver epergne filled with yellow roses, white narcissus and grapes.

The first part of the three course luncheon was served on the terrace at the rear of the home. Guests when found places at small tables placed throughout the house. Each table was centered with a small arrangement of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Preceding luncheon, Mrs. Lee Folger presented a fashion show. Modeling Bermuda shorts and shirts were Mrs. C. H. Edwards Jr. and Mrs. Ed. Rawl Jr. Models wearing casual dresses and suits were Mesdames Fred Webb, Wiley Forbes, Reid Perkins, H. L. Ormond, J. T. Cheatham, Walter Harrington and R. M. Garrett Sr.

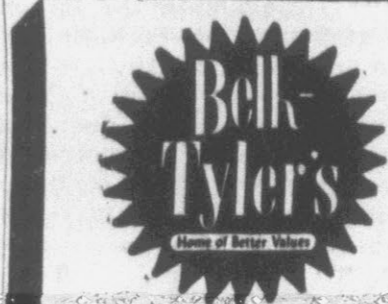

The only dressy costume, an afternoon cocktail dress in printed silk, was modeled by Mrs. Hoyt Minges of Kinston, daughter of Mrs. Wagner. As each model descended the circular stairway Mrs. Folger described the costume and the materials in which each was available. All clothes were fashioned by Don Casper.

A short business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Walter Harrington.

Other special guests in addition to some of the models were Mesdames E. Graham Flanagan, J. D. Messick, L. S. Ficklen, W. E. Debnam, Cleveland Bradner, W. J. Haden Jr. and Miss Mattye Barnes.

History Of New Bern Reviewed

Mrs. J. R. Moye Jr. was hostess to the Clio Book Club Tuesday at her home on Longmeadow Road. Artistic arrangements of spring flowers were used throughout the home.

Mrs. Moye presented Richard Tomlinson of the East Carolina Music Department, who rendered Mendelssohn's Variations Series, Opus 54 on the piano.

Following the selection, Mrs. A. C. Ruffin reviewed the history of New Bern, using as her chief source the book "Governor Tryon and His Palace." She began with the year 1663, when the first settlers came from Virginia and Maryland. It was in 1764 that Lt. Col. William Tryon came with his family to North Carolina to become Royal Governor.

She continued by saying he soon decided what the province needed most was a settled capital and a building there to impress the people with the dignity of royal government and to provide a fitting background for his own ambitious career. An English architect was imported to construct at New Bern, the chosen site, a building "in the pure English taste." The palace became a reality in 1770 and Governor Tryon occupied it for only one year. In the year 1797 the palace was burned.

Mrs. Moye, assisted by Mrs. J. J. Perkins, served a salad plate with party accompaniments and coffee. Guests for the afternoon were Mesdames Edward Tuggle, A. C. Ruffin, J. J. Perkins and Mr. Richard Tomlinson.

Panama's Invasion Out Of Focus

This business of the invasion of Panama seems blown up all out of proportion to the importance which should be attached to the landing of 100 or less men on the coast of a foreign country.

It has thrown the whole Western Hemisphere into turmoil, it has almost caused chaos in the Panamanian government, and it has all but caused a breaking of relations between Panama and Cuba.

A hundred armed invaders with revolution on their mind can be a menace to any community to be sure. But do 100 such men constitute a real threat to a whole nation—even if it is a nation as small as Panama?

If such an invasion were made on the coast of North Carolina, Gov. Hodges probably would send the Highway Patrol into the area with orders to "bring 'em in." If he decided to keep the patrol on the highway, he might call out a couple of nearby National Guard units to do the job. But we doubt seriously that such an invasion would become a matter to call out all the nations of the Western Hemisphere to help guard our shores.

After all, if the government of a country is doing what it should for its people, it should have little fear of 100 revolutionists whether they be invaders from other nations or home folks. If there is mutual confidence between the people and their government, mutual understanding of problems and mutual efforts to resolve those problems, the government and the citizens collectively should be able to defend themselves from 80 to 100 invaders.

If the situation in Panama is as serious as all the conferences on the matter would indicate, then it is our guess that the government of Panama was in rather serious trouble with its own people even before the invaders came. And if that is the case, rounding up the invaders will not get to the seat of the problem. Neither will observation ships from other American nations watching for more invaders seeking to enter Panama do much to alleviate the situation. The Organization of American States, if it is to offer something really constructive in the Panamanian situation, might suggest to the existing government of Panama that it look with greater scrutiny for the reasons behind the invasion and at its own exaggerated fears of a hundred or so invaders.

Unreasonable Delay In Settling Of Claims

It is inexcusable that the federal government, with scores of billions of dollars at its disposal, should make a little guy who suffers a loss directly attributable to a government agency or employe, wait months or even years to collect damages.

More than a year ago a jet plane crashed into a two-story home in Charlotte, damaging the home and belongings of two families. This week, after 13 months of waiting and wading through countless miles of government red tape, the two families were paid for the damages they suffered because of the plane crash. One family received some $3,400 and the other slightly less than $5,000 for the damage done in the crash and resulting fire.

Certainly it shouldn't take even Uncle Sam—in spite of his endless roll of red tape—13 months to adjust damage claims amounting to less than $10,000. There can be no doubt that the undue delay in settling the claim caused considerable hardship to the two families involved.

If such an incident happened only once in a great while, one might assume it was a unique case which took considerably more than the normal amount of time to settle. It is the rule rather than the exception, however, that such damage claims against Uncle Sam usually take several times longer to settle than do comparable situations where Uncle Sam is not involved.

In fairness to those who suffer losses because of some accident such as the plane crash in Charlotte, steps should be taken in Washington to eliminate the red tape and unreasonable delay involved in settling such cases.

Plenty Of Promoting For The New Ports

Opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway from the Atlantic to the Great Lakes opens a whole new world of foreign commerce to the midlands of the United States and will bring to a broad inland area of this nation a new link with important domestic and foreign markets.

With Chicago becoming a deep-sea port the economy of that area will take on a new vigor. Already an important center of trade and commerce, the midwestern city will become a gateway to the sea hundreds of miles inland. The same will be true of countless other smaller cities in the Great Lakes area.

Recognizing the importance of these new deep-water ports to a broad inland area of the nation, should impress upon North Carolinians the importance of their own deep-sea ports to the commerce and industry of this state. The new deep-sea ports of the midwest will be vigorously promoted. Is North Carolina doing enough to promote its deep-sea ports which have existed for a number of years?

Needed: Ideas On Middle East

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a pleasant, warm, sunny day outside as President Eisenhower answered questions at his news conference Wednesday. The question about Iraq was just one among others.

The President's answer didn't take long. Yet the question and answer threw across the room a somber shadow hardly noticeable as the reporters pressed ahead with other questions of their own.

For in Iraq — and what may happen to it and the Middle East later — lies the possibility of one of America's greatest cold-war defeats.

Just the day before, Allen Dulles, head of the Center Intelligence Agency, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: Communists are in almost complete control in Iraq.

If they are, then it would seem in a short time they should be able to take over. If they delay, it will be because of these two things:

1. That Moscow, for reasons of its own, will order the takeover delayed.

2. That the United States and all allies can find some way and some policy to prevent it. Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the committee, said the situation is not hopeless if such a policy can be found.

But none is in sight now. Two years ago Iraq was linked with the United States through its defense agreement with Iran, Turkey, Pakistan. That was when Eisenhower asked, and Congress approved, a declaration that the President could use U.S. troops to help any Mideast country against armed aggression from any country controlled by international communism.

One of the weak spots in that policy has always been this: What can the United States do if native Communists take over a country from within, and without obvious outside aggression? Last summer when the Iraqi army overthrew the government — which had linked itself with this country — by killing the King, Eisenhower sent American troops into neighboring Lebanon.

Lebanon itself at the time was torn by civil war. Eisenhower said he acted then on the request of the Lebanese President, Camille Chamoun, to guard American lives and protect Lebanon against indirect aggression.

But could Eisenhower use these powers to send American troops into Iraq to prevent a Communist takeover from within? It seems unlikely.

For one thing, Iraq's Premier Abdel Karim Kassam, who led the revolution against the King, has surrounded himself with Communists. If they took over, they'd be his boys, not outsiders.

And even if he tried to disown them at the last moment, he might be eliminated too fast to do what the Lebanese President did: ask for American help.

If the Reds take over in Iraq, which is completely shut off from border contact with the Soviet Union by its neighbors, the Soviets would have their first firm foothold in the Middle East. It would be a colossal disaster for the West.

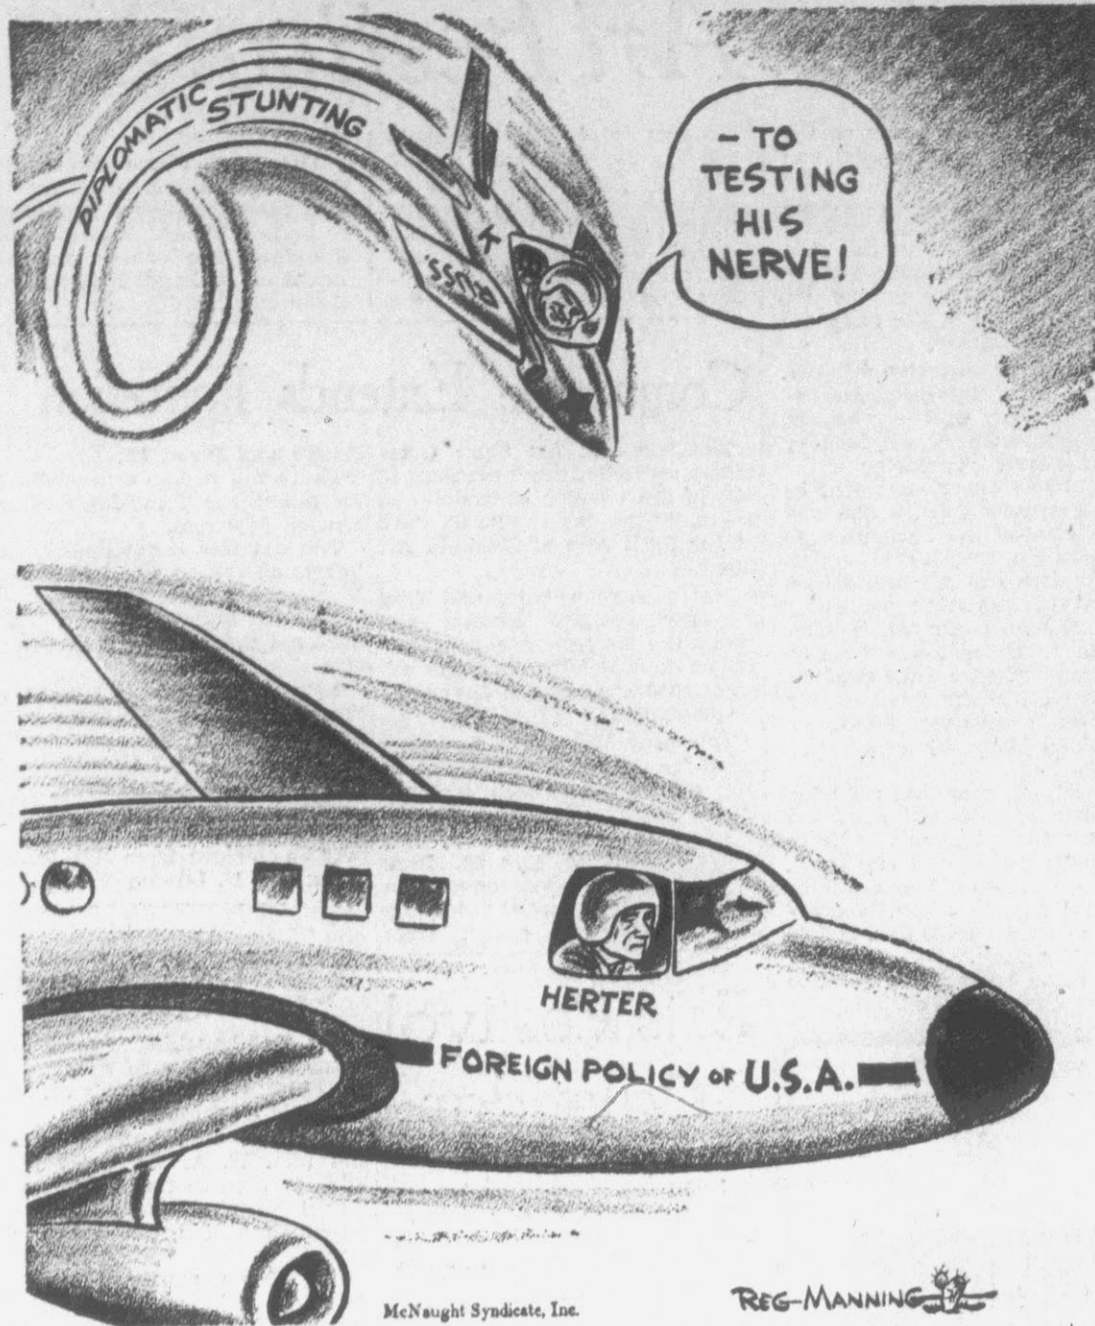

At his news conference the President was asked if there was any way to save Iraq from slipping behind the Iron Curtain. There was nothing concrete in the President's answer.

Most of what he said can be summed up in his last paragraph: "If there is anything we can do to promote better relations with this country without making other enemies in the same region, why that is a good policy to follow. And we do follow it."

"I cannot comprehend any thinking individual ever opposing the submission of any proposition to a vote of the people or their elected representatives," — Sen. Herman Talmadge, Ga.

"The great majority of our people want the integrity of their money protected, their form of government preserved and our free enterprise system to survive. We must intensify the national crusade to end spending and save representative democracy. From long experience in the Senate, I can say that the voice of the people will over-

Another Buzzing Job

By DON SCHLIENZ

Ideas That Get Nowhere

At one time or another just about everybody comes up with an idea for an "invention" to cope with a minor inconvenience they've encountered.

In a moment of frustration they'll blurt it out as a sort of compensatory inspiration; and then forget it 'til the next time.

Usually it isn't a real "invention" they want; but an adaptation or modification of something already in general use.

For instance, Why can't electric clocks have a tiny built-in battery that will go into action when the power is off for a little while?

(That one was pulled out of thin air, but at one time or another I've shown up late for something or got into an unexpected rush because an electric clock lost time during a power cut-off.)

Then several weeks ago I remember an acquaintance telling of a change he'd like to see in telephones. It consisted of a blinker light to signal a busy telephone that another party was calling. If the current conversation had little immediate importance, the user could hang up and then take what might be a more important message.

Yet another burst of inspiration came from a motorist fuming about encountering cars with turn-indicators blinking, and the drivers apparently unaware they were signalling turns that would not be made.

Conceding it inadvertent, the indignant one wanted a louder clicking sound to be heard when the turn-indicator was in use. It had happened to him, too.

A dozen people in a room could probably come up with a dozen more ideas for meeting minor frustrations they've encountered.

Trouble is, that's usually as far as the ideas go.

I wasn't a circus fan until Wednesday night when our four-year-old pride and joy turned to me with wide, shining eyes, and breathed

"Isn't it just beautiful?" Up to that point I'd been sort of looking down my nose at the little one-ring show. But he changed all that.

Yes, it was "beautiful". Even his fall from the tiered seats, or the chill following consumption of flavored ice, or the cotton candy smeared on his face . . . all that didn't change his excited attention.

It seems to largely depend on the eyes you have. If they're relatively new, there's a wonder to be seen in what appears to be commonplace to long-used eyes.

On moving to our new home, a neighbor told us one tree in our backyard was a cottonwood. Sure enough; yesterday "cotton" was being shed by the tree.

Remarked the Head of the House: "Now, if only we could have it baled."

"I guess that's the real thing about the theater, and show business generally — it gives you an inside feeling."

"I don't know," said Miss Ritter. "The average professional actor works under three months of each year, and earns only about $1,200."

"Remember one time years ago when I became tired and disgusted with the life. I threatened to quit and take a 9-to-5 job, and my roommate just laughed and said, 'You won't be happy. You'll meet nothing but squares.'"

Star System Change

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran actress Thelma Ritter says she thinks Hollywood could take a tip from the Pentagon.

The word "star" has been kicked around so much it has lost its meaning, she said. "Some very fine actors aren't stars, and some very big film stars aren't actors."

"There should be one-star stars, two-star stars and three-star stars — just as the military has one-star generals, two-star generals and three-star generals."

If the movie industry ever does adopt such a system, it would be quite a problem to figure just how many stars Miss Ritter herself should be accorded. For Thelma thrice has been nominated for an Academy Award in supporting actress roles. She is widely recognized, by producers and the public, as one of the most dependable performers in show business.

The love of acting has been a major mainstay of her life, and it started young. She was born in Brooklyn, the only child of a church soloist and his wife. "The French have an old saying, 'An only child makes three fools,'" she said, "and there is some truth to it."

"But an only child has a great luxury — the luxury of being lonely. People today don't appreciate the advantages of being lonely individually. They seek loneliness en masse."

Lonely Thelma Ritter at the age of 8 was doing monologues in clubs and churches. At 16 she went to work in an office to earn the money to attend a drama school.

"I could afford only one year at the school," she said.

There followed 14 years of stock throughout New England, low-paid years of hard work during which she played literally hundreds of roles. But looking back on them now, she thinks of them as pretty wonderful.

During that time she met and married a young actor, Joseph Moran, now a retired advertising executive. They have been married more than 30 years, have two children.

"Young actors now need 10 times the equipment I needed when I started," she said. "Except for the work of a few writers, such as Eugene O'Neill, the plays were pretty bad. They often didn't require much talent."

"Much more is demanded of young actors today. Modern plays are written with a deeper insight of how people really are."

How does any young person ever summon up the courage to try for a career in a field as capricious as the theater?

"I don't know," said Miss Ritter. "The average professional actor works under three months of each year, and earns only about $1,200."

"Remember one time years ago when I became tired and disgusted with the life. I threatened to quit and take a 9-to-5 job, and my roommate just laughed and said, 'You won't be happy. You'll meet nothing but squares.'"

Facets Of Farm Income Report

By LYNN NISBET FARM PRODUCTS — The products sold from North Carolina farms in 1958 had an estimated value of more than one billion dollars—$1,082,208,199. That was $261,308,523 above the 1957 value, or a gain of about 32 percent.

These figures were compiled by the Agricultural Extension Service at State College from reports of county agents throughout the state in releasing them for publication. Dr. David S. Weaver, director of extension, emphasizes two points: First, they are estimates and not verified final figures, although he says he thinks they are fairly accurate; and, second, 1958 was a good year on the farms of North Carolina while 1957 was a very bad year, so the ratio of increase is larger than normal.

"In other words," he says, "true progress does not come this fast." There are other interesting facets of the compilation. Tobacco, as would be expected, leads all farm products in total value and in dollar volume of increase, going from $363,177,107 in 1957 to $435,550,143 last year, an increase of more than $72 million or about 20 percent. The phenomenal increase was in the classification of "Hay and other crops, including Forest Products." That class moved up from $17 million to $87 million, an increase of about $70 million or more than 44 percent. (Information in that pulpwood sales accounted for most of the increase in this bracket.) Next biggest dollar increase came in poultry and eggs, $34,437,072, from $119,047,911 to $153,484,983, or about 30 percent.

DISTRIBUTION — Every one of the 100 counties showed increase in value of farm crop sales except Rowan, which took a $337,000 licking on cotton and cottonseed to show a net loss of $33,210. Biggest gains were noted in the east central part of the state, with Duplin coping honors at $17,770,374 above the previous year. Nearly half the Duplin gain is in poultry products, but increase was shown in every classification, with tobacco running second to poultry, followed by fruits and vegetables, hogs and corn.

Corn is grown in every county and almost on every farm in North Carolina and in aggregate value, including that used in the farms, ranks high. However, as a cash crop in the sales value tabulation it ranks sixth. Thirteen top products in order of sales value as listed to the nearest million dollars are: Tobacco, $436 million; poultry products, $153 million; hay and other crops (including forestry) $87 million; hogs $66 million; milk $59 million; corn $49 million; cotton $48 million; other grain (including soybeans) $44 million; cattle $44 million; fruits and vegetables $36 million; peanuts $34 million; potatoes $17 million; other livestock and products $9 million.

The more than one billion dollars value represented in the foregoing list does not include an undetermined volume of home orchard and family garden produce used on the premises, chickens fried when the preacher comes visiting or firewood burned in the home and a number of other items which are never mentioned in bookkeeping records of farm income.

GARDENS — The vegetable garden on the farm is an important source of food, and whether or not the bookkeeping records take full account of the cost and profit in most instances the value of the produce far exceeds the cost. The flower and vegetable gardens of town residents come in different categories. Small town and suburban gardening is an expensive hobby.

A recent story in the New York Times says that having "green thumbs" will cost home gardeners and estimated $3.2 billion this year. Of that amount some $400 million will go for grass, flower and vegetable seeds, and about $750 million for nursery stock. More than $2 billion will be spent for garden tools, supplies, equipment and insecticides.

MOM WINS — The Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association estimates that spending for Mother's Day this year will approximate $900 million, an average of $17 per family in the United States. Papa runs a little more than a third of that, with Father's Day spending estimated at $50 million, or $7 per family. Brides, during May and June, will equal Father's Day in the aggregate, but the average per bride is figured at $1,003. The other big seasonal item is graduation, reckoned at $10 per graduate for total of $22 million.

If the advertising boys are right — the mamas on their special "Mother's Day" will take almost two hundred million dollars more out of the family budget than all the papas and brides and graduates combined.

Other Editors Saying... Teacher Merit System

(Goldstone News)Argus) The Legislature again is wrestling with a merit system for teachers. The idea would be to write a law which pays the extra good teacher extra for her special fitness.

It is a beautiful dream. But how can it logically be worked out and put down in black and white printing so that paid workers can measure?

How is it possible to devise a form or system that would be wise and fair and just enough to evaluate a human soul? After all, what are school supervisors for? Or to begin with, what are school committees and school boards for? What are principals for? And school superintendents, what is their function?

Isn't their job, or the job of all working and consulting together, to evaluate the applicant for a teaching job? And after that isn't there the continuing responsibility of school administrators, principals, supervisors to form a conclusion as to the merit of the teacher's work in the classroom?

Is it logical or possible that some cold system of question and answer can be substituted for the day to day observation of associates? They even talk of trying to work out some system which would evaluate the work of the teacher preparation by the colleges. Isn't that actually interfering? If a college is certified by its association, if a college is approved for transfer of teachers, if its graduates make good, it has standings in the education world, does this not guarantee that those who are graduated from it will have the basis for a fair teaching job?

Continually the criticism arises that the teacher may get so much instruction in the gobbledook of how-to-teach that she flits or get an education. But this can be an unfair criticism. A good teacher will get a solid education foundation despite too much emphasis on courses on how to teach.

Actually, it seems to this writer, to put too much dependence in some magic questionnaire which would determine what teacher is entitled to a merit extra pay. To do this, is to fall into the same ditch of putting too much dependence on the forms of the educational philosophy, the very thing against which some complain.

By ELMER ROESSNER The drain on the United States gold board continues. Between February 26, 1958, and April 22, 1959, a total of $2,291,000,000 was withdrawn by foreign nations. That left us $20,409,000,000, the lowest holding since February 26, 1947.

How? And more importantly, why? The "how" is easy. Foreign governments are entitled to get gold for their American credits. Foreign citizens can't get gold directly for their credits, but they can turn the credits over to governmental banks which can convert them to gold.

A French exporter, for example, may sell 400 small autos to an American distributor for $1,000,000. He turns the dollars over to a government bank, getting francs in exchange. The bank can get American gold for the million.

Foreign governments hold perhaps $8 billion of American credits and foreign citizens hold slightly less than $7 billion. These consist of American currency, bonds, checks and deposits on American banks. Foreigners also hold several billion dollars worth of American securities and real estate which could be turned into currency, and then into gold.

Therefore, foreign governments could conceivably demand all the gold in Fort Knox, where half our gold supply rests, and in the other depositories.

They wouldn't do it all at once, because if they tried Congress would embargo gold shipments. Besides, as long as foreign governments have faith in the dollar, American credits are just about as good as gold in their own vaults would be.

Reasons why foreign governments have claimed more than $2 billion in gold in the last fourteen months are somewhat more complicated. EXPORTS DIP

One important reason is the decline in exports. Last year the United States imported about $3 billion more in goods than it exported. This built up foreign holdings by that much. For various reasons, some traders and gov-

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS WATCH THE MORAL TREND Great peoples and civilizations have appeared on the earth and after some centuries deteriorated. The Roman civilization was one of the greatest the world has ever known viewed from the standpoint of political power. The Greek civilization surpasses all others in culture, beauty, and aesthetic values. Also there were great civilizations in Assyria and Babylon. These have passed on. Egypt is an ancient civilization which still continues and is definitely tied up with the never-ending fertility of the Nile valley.

Today we have a civilization which is more and more coming to be dominated by the English speaking people of the Western Hemisphere. There are ways in which this civilization is the most outstanding the world has ever known. Much of it has its conception in religious dissent. A vast, empty continent welcomed the coming of hardy pioneers. And these built up a liberty-loving nation. Today the people of the United States and Canada are making a contribution to the world civilization, comfort, and power which is almost immeasurable.

But shall we, with the passing of time, pass away as did the others? Precisely, if the same weaknesses and diseases are injected into the body of our civilization as were injected into the bodies of previous civilizations.

The moral character of our population is the thing of greatest importance. Will men of faith, vigor, and moral determination continue to dominate our national life?

If so — increasing achievement. If not — deterioration and discard.

Godfrey Doing Well After Long Lung Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey slept under sedation after five-hour surgery Thursday for removal of a lung cancer.

The 55-year-old, red-haired radio and TV star spent the night in the recovery room at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital. His wife Mary remained at the hospital.

Facing an uphill fight for survival, Godfrey stood up well under the operation.

A hospital bulletin, after surgeons took out a tumor in his left lung, said: "The upper lobe of the lung was successfully removed with the contained tumor. He withstood the operation well. His general condition immediately postoperative is good."

A physician said Godfrey's pulse and blood pressure were excellent. Doctors said it would be at least two months before Godfrey can return to the air. Oct. 5 is Godfrey's 30th anniversary as a radio-TV performer—a career which has made him a millionaire and, at times, a controversial figure in the entertainment world.

After X-rays disclosed a chest tumor several weeks ago, Godfrey said on a TV show: "Keep your fingers crossed. I think I'll be back again one day."

Generalized figures on lung cancer from the American Cancer Society put Godfrey under 25-1 odds against complete recovery. The society considers a lung cancer victim as "surviving or saved" if he is alive five years after treatment.

Under the best circumstances, including prompt surgery, the society said, the survival rate is 34 per cent.

In 1931, Godfrey was severely injured in an auto accident. Six years ago he underwent a hip operation as a result of that crash. He still walks with difficulty, using a cane.

Godfrey, a veteran plane pilot, flew north from his 1,700-acre farm near Leesburg, Va., to enter the hospital Monday.

Since he has been hospitalized, he has been deluged with letters and telegrams wishing him well. The entertainer has a two-room suite and bath on the 10th floor of Harkness Pavilion, overlooking the Hudson River.

Strangers Just Took Over Home

SAN CARLOS, Calif. (AP)—James Sanduval complained to police that two women and five men:

1. Parked their auto and two motorcycles in his driveway.
2. Removed the outdoor furniture from his garage and set it up in his patio.
3. Broke into the house, removed his liquor and sat comfortably around in the patio sipping highballs.

Worse, he said, they took the liquor with them when he surprised them upon his return from a movie Wednesday night. He had no idea who they were.

Four Mice Will Take Space Ride

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Four black mice sail into space next month in an American attempt to prove that a living creature can leave earth and return alive.

The mice will ride in a specially designed "life package" capsule in the nose cone of Discoverer III. The satellite is expected to be launched into polar orbit from this West Coast missile base in about 30 days.

The little astronauts will be chosen from 50 black mice now under observation at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M.

Scientists will measure their reactions to blastoff, weightlessness and the stresses of re-entry. The main object, though, is to get something alive into orbit and back to earth again safely. This has never been done with any animal.

One unofficial source said there was about one chance in 100 of success.

The Air Force had no comment.

How long the four black mice will stay aloft was not disclosed. The Discoverer III capsule, painted a yellowish green, will be almost a yard wide and two feet high. If all goes well, it will drift earthward after ejection over the Pacific beneath a bright orange parachute.

Hawaii-based planes will try to snatch it with nets as it descends. If they miss, the buoyant cone's radio beacon is designed to send out signals for at least 10 hours

Welcome Dillon In No. 2 Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. Douglas Dillon's elevation by President Eisenhower to the No. 2 spot in the State Department was welcomed with enthusiasm on Capitol Hill today.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant Senate majority leader, said "Mr. Eisenhower could not have made a better choice" when he nominated the former New York investment banker Thursday to replace Christian A. Herter in the second-ranking position.

Mansfield proposed that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee waive its six-day rule—as it did when Herter was promoted to secretary of state—and approve Dillon's nomination when he appears Monday to testify on next year's foreign aid program.

The senator also predicted speedy approval of administration legislation to enable Dillon to continue to handle the international economic matters. Such matters, including the foreign aid program, have been Dillon's particular field as undersecretary for economic affairs in the No. 3 spot. Dillon moves up to Herter's former position.

The White House announced also it intends to advance career diplomat Robert Murphy to undersecretary of state for political affairs. Murphy's position as deputy undersecretary will go to Livingston T. Merchant, now assistant secretary in charge of European affairs.

Phants Bounce Back Into Win Column With Shutout

Finch Hurls 7-0 Win In New Bern

NEW BERN—Ronnie Finch, a stylish southpaw, threw a no-hitter at the New Bern Bears yesterday afternoon as Greenville dealt the home club a 7-0 defeat and their fourth straight loss.

Finch, a veteran on Coach Bo Farley's pitching corps, hadn't seen action in over a week but returned in rare form to hurl his third victory of the season and break a two-game Greenville losing streak.

In hurling the first no-hitter for Greenville in some time, Finch struck out seven men and walked only three. Only one man reached third base and that was in the first inning when Jimmy Conway picked up one of the three walks off Finch, stole second, and went to third on an infield grounder.

Table with columns AB, R, H for various players like Greenville, McArthur, James, Cox, Bynum, Moyer, Noble, Harrison, Bass, Riley, Finch, and New Bern.

Greenville clouted the New Bern pitching for four more runs in the seventh and final frame. James led off with a triple and Cox and Bynum drew walks. Moyer then slammed his second hit of the day to drive in two more runs.

Patterson A Prohibitive Favorite In 'Tuneup' Bout; But Upsets Happen

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Floyd Patterson risks his world heavyweight championship and a half-million-dollar June purse to night in a 15-round title fight against belittled Brian London of England.

This regally garbed "tuneup" session could turn into a monumental disaster for the 24-year-old American if the burly Briton should get lucky and knock out or outpoint the ring-rusy defender.

NBC will broadcast and telecast the fight nationally at 10 p.m. EDT. Patterson, making his fourth title defense, is a prohibitive 10-1 choice to win.

But upsets have happened before in heavyweight title fights—ask Maxie Baer and Ezzard Charles—and the husky ex-British champ is at least physically equipped to spring one. He will collect $60,000 for the attempt.

Brian, 24, is a six-foot 205-pounder with strong legs and fast hands. He apparently punches faster with his right than Pete Rademacher and Roy Harris, a couple of challengers who decked Patterson in title fights before being put out of commission.

The 183-pound titleholder, however, is much faster afoot and with his hands. Floyd should wreck the aggressive, wide-open London with dazzling combinations to that inviting jaw.

A London triumph—which nobody is predicting—would knock Patterson out of his scheduled June 25 defense against Sweden's Ingemar Johansson at New York's Yankee Stadium. Patterson, who goes over the million dollar mark in earnings with tonight's purse of about $185,000 figures to make $300,000 or more against the Swede.

Under this plan conference members would look more favorably on a game in the Jacksonville, Fla., Gator Bowl. This game pays about $85,000 to each of the competing schools.

Another important topic on today's agenda was the matter of football bowl receipts division. The present formula allows an ACC school to retain half its receipts from a bowl game. The balance goes to the conference and its members.

Clemson has proposed that the competing school be allowed to retain at least $60,000, or one half of its bowl payoff, whichever sum is greater.

Grant-in-aid and revision of recruiting laws figure in other items on the agenda, several of them holdovers from last fall's meetings when further study was deemed necessary.

Clayton permitted one more walk before retiring the side and chalking up East Carolina's ninth conference win and stretching their over-all mark to 11-3.

East Carolina blew a six run lead yesterday afternoon but staved off a ninth inning rally by High Point to win their ninth straight game by a 7-4 score at College Field.

Larry Clayton went the distance in chalking up his fifth win of the season but had plenty of trouble in the ninth. The freshman southpaw gave up six base on balls but struck out twelve and scattered five hits in receiving the win.

A newcomer in the Pirate lineup, Herbert Castelow, provided the offensive spark for the winners. Castelow, replacing the slumping Bob Hart at third base, drove in three runs with a single and out-of-the-park homerun.

The lanky freshman opened the game's scoring with his four bagger to open the second inning. Following Castelow's blow, ECC went on to record two more runs on the wildness of High Point's Phil Blair.

Glenn Bass, Doug Watts and Larry Clayton drew base on balls and then Wally Crockett did likewise to force in the second run of the frame. Jerry Carpenter hit a long fly to score Watts from third with the final run.

Evenly-Matched Field Of 18 Set For Fast Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An evenly matched field of 18, packed with horses who take off like a missile, gives promise that Saturday's Kentucky Derby will be one of the swiftest in recent years.

Whirlaway's 2:01 2/5 record, clocking of 1941 doesn't appear in danger. But there is so much early speed in the race that the time for the 1 1/4-mile trip around Churchill Downs may be the fastest since Swaps stopped the clock at 2:01 4/5 four years ago.

Fair skies are expected to greet the Derby Day crowd, annually estimated at 100,000.

Some say this is the most ordinary field of 3-year-olds since Count Turf triumphed in 1951. In winter and early spring stakes the leading candidates beat each other with almost monotonous regularity.

Hardly without exception, favorites for the 85th running of America's most colorful turf event are horses that prefer to run in front or stay close to the pace.

ACC May Curtail Its TV Policy On Football Games

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The stay-at-home football and basketball fan in the Atlantic Coast Conference area may not be able to follow his favorite team next season by settling back in an easy chair and flipping on his television set.

There's a growing concern among ACC school officials, assembled here for today's spring meeting, about the falloff in attendance when ACC games have been televised regionally the last two years.

Some school representatives favor calling a halt, at least for a year, to such telecasts to allow a re-examination of the conference TV policy.

They maintain that the drop in receipts have not been balanced by TV revenue. They favor a thorough review of the situation to determine whether TV is primarily responsible for the drop.

Spahn Adds 45th Shutout To Record

By ED WILKS AP Sports Writer Warren (The Wonder) Spahn did it again.

Already well established as one of baseball's all-time great left-handed pitchers, he added his 45th victory and 45th shutout Thursday night, getting all the help he needed from Hank Aaron's home run for a 1-0 victory over St. Louis.

The victory retained Milwaukee's slim (.945) percentage point lead over Los Angeles in the National League race.

The Dodgers, with Old Guard Duke Snider's two-run, inside-the-park homer capping a four-run seventh inning, won 6-4 at Philadelphia. San Francisco, rained out at Pittsburgh, regained third place as the Chicago Cubs' Bob Anderson and Bill Henry quieted Cincinnati's bats for a 3-2 victory on Ernie Banks' 10th-inning homer.

Tennis Tourney Slated May 2

First invitational tennis tournament for high school tennis teams and individual players will be held on the East Carolina College courts Saturday, May 2. Competition will begin early Saturday morning and continue through the day.

ECC Tennis Coach Ray Martinez said Thursday the meet is co-sponsored by the Junius H. Rose High School and the East Carolina College Tennis Club and is sanctioned by the North Carolina High School Athletic Association.

Entries by the five participating high schools include: Bobby Andrews, Walter Williams high school of Burlington; Richard Helms, Pete Mitchell, Allen Wells, Bill Crow, Buddy Jordan, Church Tate, and Lindsey Pratt, all of Goldsboro; Walter Brown of Ralph Fike high school of Wilson; Bobby Fitzgerald, Billy Orander, and Doug Stewart of Grainger high school of Kinston; Rhett Honeycutt and George Saied of Junius H. Bill Veeck Now In Driver's Seat

CHICAGO (AP)— Bill Veeck is in the driver's seat at Comiskey Park at last.

He gained operational control of the Chicago White Sox Thursday in a quickie stockholders' meeting. It was held shortly after Circuit Court denied a temporary injunction sought by Vice President Chuck Comiskey to prevent such a meeting.

Veeck and the corporation he heads control 54 per cent of the stock and now have a 3-1 majority on the board. The board can function with a quorum even if Comiskey refuses to participate.

Plan Pre-School Party

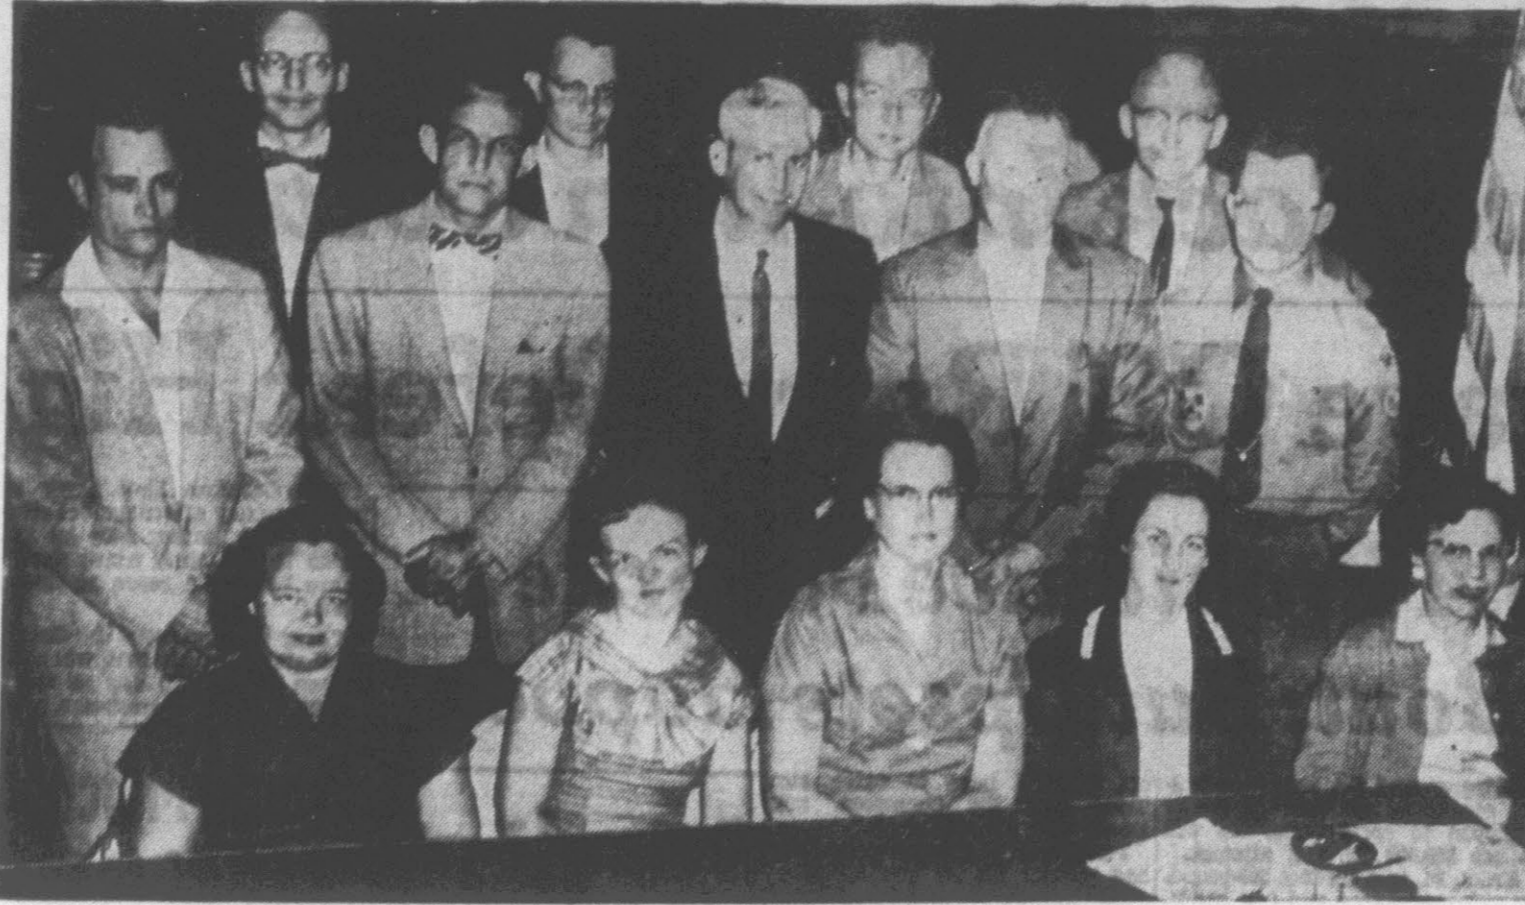

Changes in dates for pre-school parties at two Greenville elementary schools were announced today by city school officials.

Elmhurst School will hold its party Tuesday at 2 p.m. and Third Street School will have its party May 13 at 1:30. Original announcements concerning the parties had set Elmhurst's for May 4 and Third Street's for May 8.

The parties are planned as "get-acquainted" affairs for children who will enter first grades in September. Parents are requested to accompany their children to the meetings at which information about the 1959-1960 school year will be relayed by school officials.

Each of the city's elementary schools will conduct a party during the next two weeks.

Governor Attends Paper Plant's Dedication Today

CANTON, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Hodges took a respite from the "politically-charged" atmosphere of Raleigh today and took to the mountains to dedicate a new paper-making machine here.

In his prepared address, he expressed relief at being able to rest from his torrid pace which has included watching over his legislative program and attempting to settle Henderson's cotton mill strike.

"It's good to get away from Raleigh and its politically-charged atmosphere. "It's good to be here in a plant that pays among the highest wages in the county, and not have to listen to discussions as to whether 75 cents an hour is too much wage for people."

"It's good to be here where there is industrial peace instead of dissensions, where management fulfills its corporate, community and public relationships — where a company recognizes its obligations to deal fairly and openly with everyone."

The governor spoke at commissioning ceremonies of Champion Paper & Fiber Co.'s new machine which adds 200 to 300 tons of paper a day to the mill's production.

Praising Haywood County, Hodges continued: "Where else but in North Carolina would the governor be able to visit the leading beef cattle producing county in his state and stand on the highest-priced farmland in the South for the purpose of commissioning the largest fine paper machine in the world?

"Add the fact that within the same county you find one of the state's largest rubber factories, one of its largest shoe factories, its second largest burley tobacco crop, one of its largest vacation and recreation areas, a flourishing hatching-egg business, a huge hydro-electric power plant — and it becomes fairly obvious why North Carolina is proud of Haywood County and why Haywood County should be proud of itself."

Greenville F. W. B. Announcements

R. B. Crawford, pastor of the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church, invites the church members to bring their friends to the Homecoming celebration Sunday.

A spread dinner will follow the morning worship service on the church grounds. In case of rain, the dinner will be served at Raynor and Harris Warehouse, Hwy. 264.

Retrieved Ball, But Head Stuck

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — John Peterson, 45, was unable to get between his legs during a sandlot game. The ball rolled into a curb sewer.

Undismayed, John went in head-first. He got the ball but couldn't get his head out.

Neighbors tried applying oil and cooking grease to his head. He remained stuck. Then police and firemen teamed with a Pittsburgh Railway Co. road crew to jack up the sewer from the curb and free the boy.

SHOES ARE DEADLY

TULARE, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Ruby Smith heard a buzzing as she got out of her car in Sequoia National Park. She saw her high-heeled shoe had nailed a rattlesnake to the ground. She removed the other shoe and beat the snake to death.

SWELLS ENDED

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP) — Ocean freighters whose big swells were damaging bathhouses and docks here have slowed down, and the huge waves have been stopped. Apparently the big ships were racing to be the first into the port of Toronto after the St. Lawrence Seaway opened last Saturday. The race is over and the big swells ended.

Canada had an estimated population of 17,048,000 on June 1, 1958. Montreal is the largest city with a population of 1,109,439.

Red Oak Christian Announcements

The Rev. Howard James will give highlights of the N. C. State Convention of Christian Churches held in Charlotte during the morning worship hour. He will preach on the theme "Does Your Family Belong?"

The Sanctuary Choir anthem will be "How Great Thou Art" by Hine. Flowers will be provided by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Heath.

Members of the Red Oak Home Demonstration Club will be special guests. Mrs. J. T. Manning Jr. will give the morning prayer.

CYP, Chi Rho, CTF and Chi Rhoettes will meet at 6:00 p.m. for supper provided by Circle No. 2. A filmstrip on Stewardship will be viewed by all groups and will be followed by separate programs.

Functional Committees of the church's Official Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. followed by the monthly meeting of the board at 8:00 p.m.

On the agenda will be consideration of the budget for the new church year beginning July 1. Pledges will be made by the membership at the 11 o'clock service on May 17.

As a feature of Family Week, a mass wedding ceremony will be held on May 10. All couples who wish to "reaffirm their marriage vows" are invited to participate.

Predicts Action On Twin Issues

RALEIGH (AP)—A Democratic senator from Indiana says in his opinion "this Congress will move toward the solution of the twin problems of our national economy — unemployment and depression."

Sen. Vance Hartke told a fund raising dinner of North Carolina Young Democratic Clubs here Thursday night:

"I predict we will attack the causes of rising living costs and not just the symptoms. I predict we will balance the budget and provide that which is necessary to give America peace, prosperity and progress."

In his political talk, Hartke said, "We have had stumble, study and install. And we have had brinksmanship. Now we have veto-ship, government by threat of veto."

He charged "The administration is selling a campaign for something which does not exist at this moment, a balanced budget. It is balanced only if we do some of next year's spending this year and throw this year's Republican budget even more out of whack than it is."

Hartke said he "resented the notion that a balanced budget is the goal of government. Government is to serve, to help solve national problems, to protect the citizens and to help keep the peace. . . the goal is peace, prosperity, progress."

Pitt Has A Tradition Of Respect For Law, Order

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of two articles on Law Day U.S.A. prepared by members of the Pitt County Bar Association. Today's article was written by William C. Brewer, Jr., chairman of the Pitt Bar Association Law Day Committee.)

Pitt County has always been fortunate to have a citizenry which placed respect for law and order among the foremost of its thoughts and objectives. Almost before the first crops had been harvested on the freshly cleared land along the Tar, the menfolk were making plans for the erection of a courthouse. This was at a time when Pitt County was part of Beaufort, and when the settlers clustered along the river which led to the sound and then to England. Late in 1760 an Act passed by the Assembly at New Bern provided that on and after the first day of January, 1761, the upper part of said Beaufort County would be and be known as Pitt County and St. Michael's Parish. "John Hardee, John Simpson, William Spier, George Moy, and Isaac Buck were made commissioners for building a court house, prison, pillory and stocks on the lands of John Hardee, on the south side of the river near Hardee's Chapel. A tax of two shillings on each taxable poll in the county was levied for two years, to pay for building of the court house, stocks, prison and pillory. Courts were to be held at the house of John Hardee until a court house could be built."

Thus, Pitt County, from its creation, had respect for law and order as a cornerstone of its heritage. Successive generations of its citizens, recognizing that responsibilities go hand in hand with rights, have dedicated themselves to perpetuate that heritage. On this May 1, Law Day-U.S.A., we can examine with some objectivity the many faceted history of a rule of law in Pitt County. Such examination will guide us in providing for stable progression under law in this period of economic and populous expansion. Certainly, the foundation of a successful rule of law in Pitt County has been, as it is in any democratic society, citizens who have daily pledged themselves to respect and obey the law. The broader aspects of this foundation show a citizenry which has not only pledged willingness to respect and obey the law in their personal endeavors but also ready to assist public officials in preventing crime, the courts in giving evidence, and the courts, in serving on juries. Without such assistance from a dedicated citizenry law enforcement officers would be unable to properly perform their duties, or the courts to administer the law. But, like a rolling river which receives its flow from countless trickles and streams, the strong heritage of a rule of law in Pitt County gained its force from many sources, large and small. A community living under a rule of law needed more than the written law. Its peoples needed education to understand and respect the law and the reasons for it. Its peoples needed motivation by forces of good, in order that they would respect the law for the justice and equity it seeks to attain. Its peoples needed opportunity under the law in order that they would not gravitate against it. Its peoples needed to be an enlightened group, in order that they would not be misled or be inflexible in their opinions and judgments. In retrospect it seems that these needs were filled in Pitt's early years in desultory fashion. Schools were often inadequate. Churches were few. Communication was poor. Yet, the sparse population, which in 1790 was only 8,275, had leaders of wisdom and understanding who guided all the citizens in living under a rule of law. Pitt always found stability under the law, and its citizens always had faith in its courts. In recent decades Pitt County, like many other areas of our nation, has seen its population grow and its economy expand. During this period the needs of its citizens have generally been met. Schools have increased in number and quality. Churches have been strengthened and their influence has widened. Newspapers and other forms of communication have brought profound enlightenment to a goodly percentage of its people. There is no singular reason to believe that the people of Pitt County are not better able at this time to move forward under a rule of law than they were in prior years. Several generations of leaders in Pitt, however, could verify that stability and progress under a rule of law is never absolutely secure. Day to day action is necessary for its success. Recent world history has proven that one generation of misguided youth can turn an entire nation away from a rule of law and into the palm of dictatorship. In some areas of our nation there is cause for alarm. Figures from city police reports show that since 1952 the population group under 18 years of age has increased 22 per cent, while arrests in this age group has increased 55 per cent. This is graphic evidence that some communities have already failed in impressing a segment of our young population with the values of living under a rule of law. Pitt County has not failed its citizens in this respect. Still, this May 1, Law Day-U.S.A., is designated for us to rededicate ourselves to the perpetuation of a heritage of a rule of law, which had its beginning before the county was formed.

Boxing Derelict Let Off Light
LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — "A lot of people are rooting for you, Bobby," the judge told Bobby Woods, one of boxing's derelicts at 24. Woods, blind in one eye and lame from brain damage suffered in the ring, got a break from Superior Judge Lewis A. Drucker Wednesday. The judge sentenced him to 90 days in the county road camp and three years probation on a robbery charge. He could have gotten a 10-year term for attempting a liquor store robbery. Last March 11, Woods lurched into a store and demanded money. Rebuffed by the owner, he shuffled out and was arrested moments later on the street. During his brief career, Woods met such top-ranking prizefighters as Willie P. P. Sandy Saddler and Jimmy Carter.

DIVORCE CAPITAL
MEXICO CITY (AP) — A Mexican judge says Ciudad Juarez, on the Texas border is the divorce capital of the world with about 10,000 granted a year. Judge Gregorio Espejel told an interviewer most of the cases involve U.S. citizens pleading incompatibility. Espejel said he himself heard 300 cases last month.

Books Given Home For Children

Last night members of the Greenville Exchange Club journeyed to the Kennedy Memorial Home for Children near Kinston and presented the Home with a set of Encyclopedia Britannica Jr. as an addition to the library. The presentation was made by Exchange Club President John Hassell (right) to Supt. William A. Smith of the Home. Members of the Exchange making the trip were John Hassell, Secretary Ed Parkinson, J. R. Newell, R. S. Moyer, and Jack Wallace. S. Lee Rowland accompanied the Exchangeites. Kennedy Memorial Home is a home for about 150 children and is supported by the Baptist churches of North Carolina. (Photo by S. L. Rowland)

Wins 3 Photo Contest Honors

Roy Hardee, chief photographer for television station WNCN, won three top places in television news film competition of the annual Southern Photographers contest.

Hardee won first and second places in spot news movie competition and first place in the general news movie division. Announcement of winners in various divisions of the contest was made today in Chapel Hill where a three day Southern Photographers Short

ROY HARDEE

Course is being held. Winning first place in the spot news movie division was Hardee's "Helene Story" which was made as Hurricane Helene lashed coastal North Carolina. Taking second place in the division were his movies of the St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Washington. The first place winner in the general news movie division was made during a Tar River flood at Tarboro.

Contest awards will be presented in Chapel Hill tonight at 7 o'clock.

Executives Begins Tour Of State

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Some of the nation's leading executives today began a two-day tour of northwestern North Carolina. The tour is to show them the development potential of the area.

Under the direction of the Northwest North Carolina Development Assn., the group toured Winston-Salem industries today. Saturday they will tour the 11 counties participating in the association.

Again Approved

RALEIGH (AP)—A bill which would give National Guardsmen the same arrest powers as peace officers, was overwhelmingly approved on second reading by the House today and then held for final legislative action Monday night.

The bill, which was introduced last Monday night, was proposed in case it becomes necessary to send Guardsmen to duty in strike-harassed Henderson.

A scattering of "No" votes were heard as the bill was approved after a lengthy debate. However, many of those speaking pleaded against hasty action rather than opposing the measure.

Five Candidates Are Unopposed

BETHEL—Bethel's incumbent mayor and five commissioners are practically guaranteed of new terms in their offices, although municipal elections are scheduled for Monday.

None of the candidates is opposed on the general election ballot. They include Mayor Clifton Everett and Commissioners W. E. Andrews, J. R. Cullifer, J. M. Butterworth, M. L. James and R. J. Whitehurst.

Although there is no opposition the elections will be held, with polls scheduled to be open from 6:30 a. m. through 6:30 p. m. Mrs. C. M. Hurton is registrar and poll holders are Mrs. W. R. Honeycutt and J. R. Bunting.

Bethel, which has election laws set up under special legislation provided by the North Carolina General Assembly, usually conducts a Democratic primary prior to general elections. The primary was not held this year, however, because of lack of opposition to incumbent candidates.

Openings For 64 Men In Farmville Guard Unit

FARMVILLE—Farmville's National Guard unit, an infantry rifle company, has openings for 64 enlisted men, Captain John J. McDavid, Jr., commanding officer, announced today.

The openings cover all enlisted ranks, Captain McDavid said. He added that the company is especially interested in recruiting prior service personnel, although non-prior service personnel are also being sought.

Openings in the company's strength allotments were provided when North Carolina Army National Guard headquarters reorganized the 30th Division recently. In the reorganization, Farmville's unit was changed from a heavy weapons company to a rifle company with the designation of Company E, Second Battle Group of the 119th Combat Arms Regiment. Persons interested in becoming members of the unit can obtain further information from either Captain McDavid or SFC James L. Allen, the unit's Administrative Supply Technician who maintains a full-time office in the Farmville National Guard building.

At the present time, the unit has a membership of 55 enlisted men and six officers. The authorized strength is 119 enlisted men and six officers.

Unit drill meetings are held each Monday evening from 7:30 through 9:30.

FLORENCE-MAYO GAS CURERS
A SAFE INVESTMENT
FM 100% SAFE "FIRST LINE" MODEL
Used from Florida to Canada for 6 years and never burned a barn!
• Super Safe • Extra Efficient
• Automatic • Bigger Value
FM "LOW-PRICED" MODEL
• Easiest on market to install
• "Magic Automatic"
• Thermostat Control
These 2 great Florence-Mayo Curers are 5 to 10 times safer than old fashioned independently-spaced gas burner curers with side port burners and small heatspreaders that are expensive to operate. In fact, such inferior gas curers have caused hundreds of barn fires in the past 6 years. BUT with an FM gas curer you get automatic safety at the burner—5 to 10 times more safety!
FM Gas Curers are engineered to use LP, Propane or Natural gas.
