Help Housecleaning

Housecleaning has been made easier in Perquimans County, according to Miss Ila Gray McIlwain, assistant home economics agent.

The girls were taught to make a dustless dust cloth, to clean walls and woodwork using a broom cover, to sweep, to dust upholstered furniture, and how to plan for housekeeping. Only 78 out of 226 girls reported that they had vacuum cleaners in their homes so this type of training was needed.

Mass. Superior Court Judge Named Mother Of The Year

By DOROTHY ROE
 NEW YORK (AP)—Jennie Lottman Barron of Brookline, Mass., judge of the Superior Court of Massachusetts and grandmother of seven, was named today the American Mother of 1959.
 Announcement was made by Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, president of the American Mothers Committee Inc., before a distinguished group of mothers chosen from each state, assembled at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to hear the decision of the national jury.
 Judge Barron is the mother of three daughters. Throughout her life she has been active in community, state and national organizations. Although she has been outstanding in her profession of law since her marriage, she always put her duties as wife and mother ahead of professional demands.

 Born and educated in Boston, Judge Barron is the daughter of Russian immigrants. She received her B.A., LL.B. and LL.M. degrees from Boston University and in 1918 was married to Samuel Barron Jr., a lawyer. They practiced law as the firm of Barron and Barron.
 Their daughters, all graduates of Wellesley College are: Erma, now Mrs. Philip Wernick, mother of three sons; Deborah Blazer, who died in 1956, leaving three children; Joy, the youngest, also a practicing attorney, mother of one, and wife of Dr. William B. Rachlin, a surgeon. Both surviving daughters are active in community work in and around Boston.
 Selection of the mother of the year is based on six qualifications: First, she must be a successful mother. Second, she must be an active member of a religious body. Third, she must embody the traits of courage, cheerfulness, patience, affection, kindness, understanding and homemaking ability. Fourth, she must exemplify in her life the precepts of the Golden Rule. Fifth, she must be active in public affairs. Sixth, she must be qualified to represent the mothers of America in all responsibilities attached to her role as mother of the year.

JUDGE JENNIE BARRON

Six Streamlining Facts

RALEIGH—If you're that rare girl with a figure in perfect proportion, this is not for you. If you're not figure-perfect continue reading.
 Correctional clothes can improve figures, says Miss Mary Em Lee, clothing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service. She suggests six streamlining facts to make the most of your figure:
 Make good posture your most important asset.
 Choose well-fitting garments, including foundation garments.
 Remember the relationship of color and design to line.
 Accentuate good figure lines, minimize bad ones.
 Wear the latest fashion only when it's kind to your figure.
 Remember—your shape is more important than your size.
 Now, with these streamlining facts, line up your figure!

Hints For Vegetable Freezing

RALEIGH — Get the heat into the center of the vegetable and out again before packaging for freezing.
 There is no question about it—blanch your vegetables before freezing, says Miss Nita Orr, frozen foods specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service.
 Unscalded vegetables develop a hay or shuck-like flavor, lose color, toughen, and lose food value. The heat stops changes in the vegetables that occur if they are not scalded. Poorly scalded or poorly chilled vegetables will not be good either. Work quickly during this process.
 Miss Orr relates the experience of one processor who lost $6,000 just on asparagus because he did not blanch during the processing.
 Save your money, food, and food values by blanching and chilling before you freeze, advises Miss Orr.

Shoe Styles Are Producing Stiletto Heels

We're producing a new generation of "wobbling Winnies" in shoes with needle toes and stiletto heels, says Dr. H. L. Collins of Columbus, Ohio director of public education for the American Podiatry Assn. and a podiatrist and foot surgeon for 27 years.
 "If older women want to wear these precarious shoes, that's up to them," says Dr. Collins. "But we foot specialists are alarmed about what the current shoe styles are doing to teen-agers' feet."
 "Young feet are not yet set in their shape, and young girls haven't learned how to walk in these pointed, high-heeled shoes without wobbling. They are developing bunions, ingrown toenails and foot infections."
 Dr. Collins says toes are designed to grip the ground and heels provide the greatest support for the body.
 On the other side of the fence are numerous shoe designers and foot health experts who contend that the tapered toe is well adapted to the shape of the normal foot. A recent survey by the American Foot Care Institute, for instance, reports that a well-fitted tapered-toe shoe causes no discomfort, fatigue or foot ailments.
 Dr. Joseph Lelyveld, chairman of the National Foot Health Council, shares these views.
 "If shoes are big enough and carefully fitted, there is no reason why they should cause foot damage or discomfort," he says.
 Dr. Collins, however, insists that toes should have "wiggle room," and says the currently popular stiletto heels not only are dangerous, but are unbecoming.
 "When a girl teeters along on these thin, high heels, she throws her posture out of line," he says. "Because of her wobbling gait, she puts more strain on ankles, thighs and hips, tending toward over-development in these areas. A teen-ager in high heels is very likely to present a 'rumbl seat' effect, when viewed from the rear."
 This outspoken critic of fashion also reports that the incidence of sprained or fractured ankles has increased 30 to 40 per cent since the very high, spike heels became fashionable.
 For all-day wear he advises low or medium heels, and adds: "Use extreme shoe styles as you do dessert in your diet."

Legislative Field Can Offer Little

North Carolina legislators, in an effort to curtail illegitimate births and the accompanying drain on welfare funds, have considered and discarded one ill-advised piece of legislation and are now considering another.

The new proposal to make it a crime for a woman to give birth to two or more illegitimate children is less objectionable than the former proposal which included sterilization. Even so, it hardly is a sound approach to the problem of illegitimate children or the financial program of welfare support of these youngsters.

Suppose a mother of two or more illegitimate children is prosecuted under the proposed law and is guilty.

The court will mete out punishment in one of three ways:

1. By a warning accompanied by a suspended sentence or probation;
2. By ordering the defendant to pay a fine;
3. Or by sentencing these women to jail.

The first of these alternatives probably will have little deterrent effect so far as future illegitimate births are concerned. So far as the second alternative is concerned, the defendant in all probability doesn't have sufficient money to do more than pay for absolute necessities for herself and her children. In order to pay a fine, the children as well as herself probably would have to sacrifice some necessities.

If the third alternative were chosen, the county welfare officials would be faced with the problem of taking over completely the care of the youngsters while their mother was serving time for her violation of the law. That would impose a greater financial burden on welfare funds than already exists.

The problem of illegitimate children in North Carolina will not be solved by the passage of such a law or the cutting off of welfare funds for the support of indigent children. Illegitimacy will decrease only as the moral fibre of our citizenry increases. It has been a problem down through the ages and it will continue to be a problem for countless years to come.

The proposal that mothers of two or more illegitimate children be subject to prosecution in the courts offers little in the way of a constructive approach to the problem. The state in all probability will be as well off without such a law as it will with it.

The New Leadership Will Need Support

No one will know until tonight when the ballots are counted which five men from the field of candidates have been chosen by Greenville voters to head the city's government for the next two years.

Regardless of which of the candidates are successful in their bids for public office, however, the elected officials should have the support of the citizens when they assume the responsibilities of governing Greenville.

The coming two years will be important years indeed for Greenville as they will be for every growing city in this area. It will be a period in which important decisions will have to be made. It will be a period in which controversial issues will have to be resolved. It will be a period in which challenging and perhaps unprecedented steps will have to be taken to see that Greenville keeps pace with its potential.

The next two years will be a trying time for those men elected today by the voters of Greenville to head the city government. The officials, we are confident, will seek the advice and counsel of the citizens in deciding important issues. Even so, there will be conflicting views on important matters. There will be times in which many citizens of the city will not agree with the decisions made by the government, and conflicting viewpoints are essential to resolving problems in the best interest of all the citizens.

Notwithstanding these things, it is of vital importance to Greenville in the two crucial years ahead that the elected officials have the support and confidence of the people of the city in carrying out their duties. The citizens must pull with their elected leaders in the continuing task of making Greenville a better community in which to live and make a living.

Some Shooting Not 'Ruled Out'

WASHINGTON (AP)—What is the likelihood of war with the Communist world any time soon? And where, since communism is dedicated to conquering the earth, will the Soviets and Red Chinese do their pushing? The State Department has provided careful answers to both questions. It doesn't rule out some shooting on a limited scale, if the Communists think it worth the price and the danger.

But the department says: for the foreseeable future it is likely the Soviets and Red Chinese will avoid all-out war and try to push their programs by political, economic and psychological means. The State Department gave written answers to a series of questions from the Senate's Disarmament subcommittee.

Although the department is optimistic about avoiding a world war, it said enough to show it expects this country to have its hands full trying to cope with the Red bloc for years to come.

One thing the department made clear: it is satisfied that Premier Nikita Khrushchev, having eliminated his rivals, is undisputed boss of the Soviet Union and that therefore the political situation there should be stable for years.

It is ironic that just a few days before the May 11 meeting at Geneva—between the Western and Soviet foreign ministers to talk about troubles in Europe—the department should be anticipating no end of trouble from the Communist bloc around the world.

This is the picture. So long as the West remains as well armed

Opinions In Brief

"The great trouble with the political system of the United States is that too many folks are too lazy or too uninformed, or too selfish to acquaint themselves with political procedures, the needs of their cities, counties, states and nation to do something about it. They had rather sit on the sidelines and sneer, but they in effect are exhibiting themselves as perfect examples of poor citizenship."—Scotland Neck (N. C.) Commonwealth.

Are you so busy that you have forgotten how to live? Some people make a success out of everything in life except life itself. They apparently get what they want. They increase in worldly affluence year by year. They are personable, good looking, popular. Yet many of these people who outwardly appear the most fortunate in the world are haunted by a sense of frustration and failure. Many people upon whom we look, saying that of course these are the happiest people on earth, are, in reality, the most miserable people on earth. There is many a social dowager who knows that she has done nothing but spoil the lives of others, inter-

New Art In Photography

Your columnist has just returned from a three day stay at the Carolina Inn in Chapel Hill where I was attending the Southern Short Course in Press Photography.

Some of the best minds in the country so far as photography is concerned were assembled there to instruct 50 or 60 newspaper and television cameramen in the art of taking pictures.

Included was one of the best in the business, Alfred Eisenstaedt, whom many people will recognize as a crack photographer for "Life" magazine.

Eisenstaedt's lecture consisted of showing of slides taken throughout the world as he covered various assignments for his magazine.

There were pictures taken deep in the jungles of South America. The beautiful color slides were taken in an area where Eisenstaedt said guides could point out snakes and even then, the "Life" photographer could not see them.

There was also a picture, which he considered his best taken from hundreds of feet in the air where Eisenstaedt was perched on a ledge on a Cathedral spire. It showed a church procession winding into the cathedral.

He also showed a picture, in color, of thousands of candles held by worshippers in a hill side taken during a religious ceremony.

And there were pictures taken more than 30 years ago by Eisenstaedt with older films and cameras. They were amazingly good.

Seeing pictures taken by Eisenstaedt and other photographic masters makes it obvious that a new art form has grown up in this world. Photography is rapidly taking its place alongside painting, music and other arts as a way man can express himself creatively.

I really don't dig these Carolina cats. Witness this comment from one Carolina man to another, heard on the streets of Chapel Hill:

"Well, who else can you get a whole weekend date with?"

Nor do I particularly understand the mind of Carolina coed which, obviously is different from the mind of any other coed in the world!

This conversation between two University sweet things, overheard in the line at the Carolina Inn cafeteria, will illustrate:

First coed: "What have you got in the bag?"

Second coed: "Lunch."

First coed: "Well, what are you doing in line?"

Second coed: "Eating with you."

First coed: "Oh, Thanks."

And while I'm at it I must say I don't understand members of the North Carolina Dietetics Association, which met in the Carolina Inn last week.

One of the members spied a vase of Chrysanthemums in the lobby.

Now I can take my Chrysanthemums or leave them along. However they look all right to me at any time.

Not to this lady though.

Her comment:

"Do you know, Chrysanthemums irritate me this time of the year because they're a fall flower."

for the carnation were: "Favorite of all nationalities and races, of people such as President McKinley and as a flower of all areas of our nation."

This brought Keating to his feet, ever loyal to the "proudest, oldest, and loveliest flower—the rose, New York State, like Iowa, Georgia, and North Dakota, has adopted the rose as its state flower. The gentleman from the Blue Grass State, Sen. Morton, then spoke a few high words in praise of grass. It was grass, he said, with its deep, penetrating roots, that gave fertility and protection to the great plains and prairie soils of America. He neglected to mention that the state flower of Kentucky is not blue grass but the shining goldenrod.

It remained for Douglas to take the floor for the corn belt. Corn, he pointed out, was indigenous to North America; it is now the "chief farm crop in the U.S." His nominee? The golden corn tassel, symbol both of beauty and the bounty of the nation.

The fighting was not exactly bitter, but it wasn't according to Hoyte, either. Allott said grass, whatever color, could never be a flower, nor could the corn tassel. There were side remarks about the uses of corn in liquid form. Defenders of the rose pointed out that "unlike the corn tassel, the rose does not need price support to enable it to flourish."

Screwball, eh? There's another strange angle: The company tried to mail only 2,000 cards. Isn't that a puny mailing for one of the biggest movie concerns? Doesn't the smell of fish grow stronger?

'Sees' With Ears

By DAN HONOHUE

BALTIMORE (AP) — A doctor from Texas, who had left Baltimore 20 years before, dropped in unexpectedly one day at the hospital where he used to be a resident surgeon.

He walked up to the information desk. A small woman with neatly combed gray hair was behind the counter.

As soon as he spoke, she recognized him. The doctor returning from a medical meeting, was delighted, and they chatted for some time.

Not a bad stunt for a normal person. The woman in this incident is totally blind.

No one at Church Home and Hospital was particularly surprised. It was just one of many such performances by Miss Audrey Birch, the woman who sees with her ears.

Her memory is phenomenal. She knows the majority of the staff by voice and, on any given day, knows the names and room numbers for most of the hospital's 170 or so patients.

All day long, Monday through Friday, she handles with ease a flow of visitors and telephone queries that would fluster many other women of 59.

"Good morning, I'd like to see Bill J. . . ." said a man at the counter.

"Yes, he's on the fourth floor," replied Miss Birch. "His visiting hours won't start before 11. The elevator is over to the right there through the green door." Someone once mentioned it was green and her blotting-paper memory soaked it up.

Miss Birch, who was born blind, has become quite an institution at Church Home and hardly an employe passes through the lobby without stopping to say hello to the smiling woman in a black skirt and frilly white blouse.

Hospital Director William F. Morrison said, "She has a knack for remembering every patient's name in the house. Just to make sure, she maintains a braille directory of her own composition."

Miss Birch came to Church Home 35 years ago, in December of 1923, as a telephone operator. She had been trained at the Maryland School for the Blind and worked a similar job for three years at another hospital.

A big, modern operation went in in 1951 and Miss Birch switched to the information job. She likes to listen to grand opera on the radio on Saturday afternoons and also enjoys baseball. She likes bathing too. She has a home in Berlin, Md., near the resort city of Ocean City and frequently goes to the ocean in the summer.

Miss Birch lives at the hospital and knows it intimately. She has no dog. When she goes out, "I usually use cabs or go with someone. I don't travel alone on the streets."

One of the most revealing testimonials comes from Henry W. Matthews III, director of the development program at the hospital.

"I was here half a month before I knew she was blind," he said.

Public Forum

Growth is a challenge to progress, we should meet this challenge by planning tomorrow, today, our churches, schools, banks — and every thing we have in our town are deeply rooted in good soil. We have far more in common than we think. We have some very important and far reaching decisions to be made by the mayor and city council you elect, thinking together is unity working together is success. The only limit to our realization of tomorrow, will be our doubts today. Voting is a great privilege, and one that should be exercised by every registered voter in our town. Show your interest in your town government by voting for the candidates of your own choice and liking, but be sure to vote. I am anxious to see the citizens of our town, look forward on a unified basis to planned progress, and a development program, and tune our town to the progress of a fast growing town and community. Progress makes opportunities to build a brighter future and a more profitable and happier way of life for all of us. We can not stand alone, the task that lies before us will be light, if together we share the toil. With an abiding faith we will continue our forward look. For an ever bigger and better Ayden.

Post Office Appears A 'Patsy'

By ELMER ROESSNER
In most libraries in the nation. Spain once reproduced the painting on a stamp. The Duchess, if that's who was the model, is naked all right. But the United States Post Office delivered mail from Spain bearing the stamp. And no postman, as far as available records show, ever became corrupted by delivering a letter with that stamp. And you can buy the stamp from almost any dealer. Right through the mails.

Well, said the Post Office, the painting in its proper setting is not obscene. The advertisement is not obscene. But you put them all together and they spell wickedness.

Screwball, eh? There's another strange angle: The company tried to mail only 2,000 cards. Isn't that a puny mailing for one of the biggest movie concerns? Doesn't the smell of fish grow stronger?

Your correspondent has a theory: Some movie press agent took up the whole idea to promote the movie. Had only 2,000 cards prepared because he was planning to get them held up.

All he would have to do would have been to frighten somebody. The Post Office is mighty huge these days because parents have been complaining that dealers in filthy pictures have been using the mails to reach their children. So all he had to do was to whisper to some petty official, "Say, if you let this go through, you might get into trouble. Look, she's NEKKID!"

COMMEMORATIVE, HUH? Once something is called obscene, few people have the courage to question it.

This time, one of the few was the Civil Liberties Union, which jumped into the fray declaring the ban was a violation of civil liberties. If the Union keeps on building up publicity stunts, it ought to have its income tax exemption re-examined.

Meanwhile, it looks as if the taxpayers of the United States

MacLeish Wins Third Pulitzer Prize For 'J.B.' Play

NEW YORK (AP)—"J. B." a verse play which retells the book of Job in a modern setting, has brought Archibald MacLeish his third Pulitzer Prize, the 1959 award for drama.

MacLeish is the eighth American to win at least three Pulitzer prizes. His two previous awards, in 1933 and 1953, were for poetry. The 1959 selections, announced Monday by Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia University, also put William H. (Bill) Mauldin of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch in select company. His second prize for cartooning places Mauldin among 34 individuals who have won more than one Pulitzer Prize.

His prize-winning cartoon was published after the Soviet Union forced Boris Pasternak to give up the Nobel Prize in literature. The cartoon's caption was: "I won the Nobel Prize for literature. What was your crime?"

A campaign against vice, gambling and corruption in Utica, N.Y., that achieved sweeping reforms won the 1959 Pulitzer Prize medal for meritorious public service for the Utica Observer-Dispatch and the Utica Daily Press members of the Gannett group of newspapers.

"The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters," the adventures of a boy and his father during a wagon-train trek to California in the 1849 gold rush, was named the best American novel of 1958. Its author, Robert Lewis Taylor, 36, of Sharon, Conn., has written eight other books and numerous magazine pieces.

In the field of newspaper editorials, the prize went to Ralph McGill, 61, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, who is celebrating his 30th year with the paper. McGill was cited for his work through the year as exemplified by an editorial calling the bombing of a synagogue in Atlanta and a high school in Clinton, Tenn., the work of "rabid, mad dog minds."

Other journalism prizes included:

International reporting—Joseph Martin, 45, and Philip Santora, 47, of the New York Daily News, both of whom started out as copy boys, for their series detailing brutalities that forecast the downfall of the Batista government in Cuba.

National reporting—Howard Van Smith, 48, of the Miami, Fla., News for a series of articles that forced a cleanup of a Florida migrant labor camp.

Local reporting on edition time—Mary Lou Werner, 32, assistant state editor of the Washington Star, for coverage of the school integration crisis in Virginia.

Local reporting under nonstandard conditions—John Harold Brislin, 47, of the Scranton, Pa., Tribune and the Sunday Scrantonian, for "displaying courage, initiative and resourcefulness in his effective four-year campaign to halt labor violence in his home city."

News photography—William

Seaman, 34, of the Minneapolis Star, for a picture of a traffic death. It shows a small child's blanket-shrouded body at a city street corner, an overturned toy wagon, a policeman making notes and an ambulance doctor walking away. The caption: "Too late—the doctor walked away."

MacLeish's triumph was announced three days before his 67th birthday. The tall, gray-haired former librarian of Congress is professor of English at Harvard and lives at Cambridge, Mass.

His winning play opened on Broadway last Dec. 11. Last month it won the American Theater Wing's Antonette Perry award as the best Broadway play of the season.

As a three-time Pulitzer Prize winner, MacLeish is bracketed with Carl Sandburg, Lincoln scholar and poet; Thornton Wilder, novelist and playwright; and cartoonists Rollin Kirby and Edmund Duffy.

Only three men have won four prizes each. They are poet Robert Frost, playwright Eugene O'Neill and Robert E. Sherwood, playwright and biographer.

Mauldin, 37, won his first Pulitzer Prize in 1945. As a wartime cartoonist for "Stars and Stripes," the Army newspaper, Mauldin made Willie and Joe, a bedraggled pair of G.I.s, symbols of the fighting American infantryman.

The prizes for journalism, except for the medal, carry $1,000 cash awards. Awards for literature and music are for $500 each.

Others in the latter category included:

History—"The Republican Era: 1869-1901," by Leonard D. White, with the assistance of Jean Schneider.

Biography—"Woodrow Wilson, American Prophet," by Arthur Walworth, 56, Newton Centre, Mass.

Poetry—"Selected Poems, 1928-1958," by Stanley Kunitz, 54, who teaches at the New School in New York City.

Music—John La Montaine, 39, for his "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra." A Navy veteran and a bachelor, he lives in New York City.

The history prize will be divided between the estate of White, who died in February 1953, and Miss Schneider, his research assistant, awarded by the Columbia University trustees on recommendations in the will of Joseph Pulitzer, University of Chicago, by the Advisory Board on Pulitzer newspaper publisher who died in 1911. The 43rd annual prizes were given since 1917 through a bequest in the will of Joseph Pulitzer, newspaper publisher who died in 1911.

Goldwater Views Nixon GOP Choice

WASHINGTON (AP)—A republican who has checked on his party's prospects in 22 states says that as of today Vice President Richard M. Nixon is the hands-down favorite for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said in an interview he has found little active support for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York as a possible nominee.

"If the convention were being held today, there is no doubt in my mind that Nixon would win the nomination hands down," Goldwater said. "Of course, conditions can change and a lot will depend on what Nixon himself says and does in the next year."

Goldwater said that "as of now" he is backing Nixon. He said he could change his mind "but I haven't seen any better candidate yet."

The Arizona senator said he found relatively more interest in Rockefeller's candidacy in California than in any state he has visited. California is Nixon's home state.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), who has been campaigning in California for support of his expected bid for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, said there that Rockefeller would make "a very formidable" candidate if nominated by the Republicans.

Rockefeller has avoided adding publicly to the speculation over his possible candidacy but Goldwater said individuals interested in getting the New York governor into the race have been making surveys at local political levels.

"Some of the pros are talking about Rockefeller but I don't think they have too much encouragement among rank and file Republicans," Goldwater said. "In that group there is an awful lot of sentiment for Nixon."

Goldwater, who lists himself as a conservative, said President Eisenhower's firm stand for a balanced budget is enlisting strong Republican support and helping bring divergent elements of the party together.

"It is surprising how many people who were mad at the President a short time ago are coming back to him because he has stood firm on the budget issue," Goldwater said.

"If the Democrats don't think the balanced budget issue is a powerful one, they are going to be surprised."

Water Unsafe

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—The use of rainwater for drinking and food preparation purposes has been banned on the island of Saltholm after studies showed "a heavy increase of radioactivity."

Officials of the University of Copenhagen, where the studies were made, refused to state specifically the degree of radioactivity.

The island, measuring some eight square miles, is situated in the Sound east of Copenhagen. There are only a dozen permanent residents, mostly farmers, but in the summer thousands of one-day tourists go there.

At present, there is no other drinking water than rain water. The Taarnby municipality, which issued the ban, is planning to transport drinking water to Saltholm by boat.

Dr. Hilde Levi of the university said the fallout was caused by nuclear tests over recent years.

To Demand Proof Of Fraud Claim

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Space Committee plans to demand that a magazine writer come up with proof of his assertion that the Soviet Union's Lunik sun probe was "the biggest hoax in history."

Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La.) said today that a subpoena will be issued for the correspondent, Lloyd Mallen of True magazine.

A committee aide said, however, Mallen has agreed to testify.

Rep. Victor L. Anfuso (D-NY) brought the matter up.

Brooks was challenged by Rep. George P. Miller (D-Calif.), who said a hearing would just be giving the magazine a great deal of publicity.

C-of-C At Odds With The Police

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—Police and the Chamber of Commerce of this staid city, which fancies itself a bit of Old England, are ready to do battle.

The Chamber tourist group wants police to wear the tall London bobble's helmet.

Chamber official Sam Lane said: "The use of the tall helmet would counter criticism that Victoria is losing its Old English charm and is becoming just another American city."

Lorene Shandley, president of the Victoria Policemen's Union, commented: "Policemen will dress up and act like damned fools if the tourist group will go around in three-cornered hats, knee breeches and wigs."

FEW JOBLESS NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—Unemployment in West Germany has reached its lowest seasonal spring level since 1948, the Federal Labor Office reported today. The number of unemployed was down to 396,345 by the end of April, which is 191,553 less than in March and 200,000 less than in April 1948.

DAR HEAD—Mrs. Ashmead White of Lubec, Me., was elected the president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution at convention in Washington, D.C.

Negotiations Open Today On Steel Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Formal negotiations open today for a new steel industry labor contract that could have a powerful influence on the nation's economy.

After waging a verbal duel for months, representatives of steel management and the Steelworkers Union finally start real slugging in the biggest labor-management bout of 1959.

The outcome will have its traditional effect on wages and prices nationally and provide the answer to whether there will be a steel strike after June 30 when present steel pacts expire.

The formal talks open first with U.S. Steel Corp., the industry's top producer, and later in the day with Bethlehem, Republic and Kaiser Steel. The union starts negotiating with eight other top industry firms Wednesday and Thursday.

Within a few days a dozen sets of negotiations, all with separate firms, will be under way, all in the Roosevelt Hotel here. Altogether there will be about 500 union negotiators and nearly as many management representatives engaged in the talks.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America is pushing for higher wages, shorter working hours and more liberal pensions as well as other contract gains.

He has pledged that the 500,000 workers in basic steel already among the best paid in the nation averaging $3.03 per hour, will emerge with their best contract in history. McDonald says steel profits warrant worker gains without requiring any steel price increase.

The industry, on the other hand, is resisting any contract changes, arguing that increased labor costs would cause steel price increases and thereby spur inflation.

Roger Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel, told the corporation's annual stockholders meeting at Hoboken, N.J., Monday that the company intends to avoid a price hike if it can.

President Eisenhower has called on both the industry and union to reach an agreement that would avoid any price increase that might disturb the price situation.

Eisenhower said he could not sit idly by if negotiations started pointing to price boosts. But he has never spelled out what he might do in that event.

The contract talks are starting two weeks early at McDonald's suggestion.

McDonald's hand in the negotiations was strengthened Monday with announcement that an opposing faction in the union was supporting him in the drive for a new contract.

Donald C. Rarick, president of Pittsburgh Local 27 and a surprisingly strong opponent to McDonald for the union presidency two years ago, said his rival group stands 100 per cent behind McDonald's leadership in the contract fight.

N.C. Medical Group Approves Insurance Plan For The Elderly

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—So you're 65 and have no medical insurance. You can get it now if you wish and at a cut rate. If you're single, $1,500 must be your maximum income. If you're married, the maximum is $2,400. This is the approximate income from social security benefits. This is the only requirement for the insurance. The cost for Blue Shield coverage, which covers surgery, in-patient care, and X-ray treatment and diagnosis, will be about $2 a month. For Blue Cross coverage, which pays hospital costs such as room rent, the charge will be about $4. The House of Delegates of the Medical Society of North Carolina approved the Blue Shield insurance plan Monday. Doctors support the Blue Shield plan, under which they agree to accept the fee schedule as full payment for their services. There are 1,630 participating doctors in the state. A reduced fee schedule was approved by the delegates.

Hospital Saving Assn. which handles both Blue Shield and Blue Cross coverage in the state, announced the Blue Cross plan for persons 65 and over.

Until this time, persons 65 and over could not buy the medical insurance if they had not had it before reaching the age of 65. The Medical Society is here for its annual convention.

The action on insurance programs for older citizens is interpreted as ammunition against the Forand Bill being studied by a congressional committee.

The bill would amend the Social Security Act so that the government would pay hospital and doctor bills for persons retired under the act.

Doctors have called the bill "the foot in the door to completely socialized medicine."

Meanwhile, Dr. John C. Reece of Morganton will take over tonight as president of the medical society, succeeding Dr. Lenox D. Baker of Durham.

Dr. Amos N. Johnson of Garland was named president-elect Monday and will take office next year.

Other new officers elected Monday include Dr. Charles M. Norfleet Jr., of Winston-Salem, first vice president; Dr. Walton Ketchum of Clinton, second vice president; Dr. Donald B. Lounce of Wilmington, speaker of the House of Delegates, and Dr. Edward W. Schoenholt of Asheville, vice speaker.

Long On Relief, Had A Fortune

CINCINNATI (AP)—Miss Matilda Krohne, 77 had been on relief since 1940 when she died last week.

Welfare workers rummaging in her home discovered cash and stock worth nearly $30,000.

A hoard of $7,500 in five, ten, twenty and hundred dollar bills was found in an old chamber pot, hidden in a cardboard box.

Shares worth $22,000 in a real estate development firm were discovered.

J. J. Flynn, manager of the Aid For The Aged office, said he would file suit in Probate Court to recover funds equal to the aid given Miss Krohne through the years.

Miss Krohne left no will, Flynn said. Her only known relative is a cousin who once lived here.

More Rain And Storms Strike In Midcontinent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More rain fell in the storm-stricken midcontinent today after a rash of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms erupted across a wide belt from South Dakota to Texas.

More than a dozen tornadoes, as well as funnel clouds, were reported in at least five states, most of them in Kansas. The twisters, try caused damage to farm buildings which struck mostly in open counings and a few homes but no injuries were reported.

Small tornadoes skipped across sections of Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Tornadoic winds, in violent thunderstorms, lashed the Midwest prairie lands into Texas. Heavy rainfall in many areas caused some flooding.

A tornado alert was in effect in Wichita, Kan., a city of 250,000 for two hours Monday night as an intense storm battered the southeast Kansas city. A half dozen funnels were reported in and near the city.

Twisters also were reported in open country near more than a half dozen other Kansas communities—Viola, Hutchinson, Chase, Osborne, Pratt and Valley Center; in Oklahoma near Lenora, Blackwell and Hennessey; in Maryville, Mo.; Black River Falls, Wis., and New Ulm and Wells Minn.

The Weather Bureau reported the tornadoes struck near Wells, about 60 miles southwest of Rochester, early this morning and damaged some farm buildings.

Drenching rains and hail were reported in many areas in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Omaha was soaked by nearly three inches of rain in six hours.

In other parts of the country, thundershowers were reported in the Carolinas and Virginia and from Montana across northern Idaho into Washington and Oregon.

Princess Was Distracting To Shah

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—The Shah of Iran today began an official visit to Britain reportedly with two unofficial problems on his mind—a future wife and closer ties with the West.

The moment the dark-eyed, twice-divorced potentate stepped off his train, some of the very people who could make those dreams—if they are his dreams—come true, appeared before him.

Standing in spring sunshine in the center of a quarter acre of red carpeting at flag-draped Victoria Station were: Pretty Princess Margaret, Queen Elizabeth II, Prince Philip, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, and two of his Cabinet members.

Nobody in London is suggesting a romance between the 39-year-old Mohammedan Shah and the Church of England princess.

But with royalty, like thoroughbred horses, nothing is safe at 100-1.

So, when he hit the carpet at Victoria Station and found Margaret waiting there, the heads in the diplomat box began to wag.

Margaret has seldom looked lovelier.

She wore a tight fitting soft brown suit that hugged her curvy figure. The neck of the suit was well scooped.

He took her hand and looked her in the eyes—light blue eyes said to be the most beautiful in England.

Then Margaret stepped back from the formal presentation to the Shah by her sister, the Queen. For a second the Shah's eyes roved.

No one ever has accused his highness Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of possessing a perfectly static eye.

It fell on pretty Princess Alexandra, cousin of Margaret and the Queen. Then it swung back to Margaret.

She stepped back and Macmillan was presented, then Home Secretary R. A. Butler and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

The Shah took a quick glance at Margaret—standing alone in the center of the carpet. It looked as if he might move toward her.

But if he had such plans he was too late.

At his elbow, the Queen produced a general for the Shah to meet.

At this juncture, Prince Philip edged up to Margaret, whispered something in her ear and smilingly escorted her—behind the Shah and the Queen—to their royal carriages.

Executed After Ten-Year Wait

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP)—Cleveland Thompson died Monday night in Pennsylvania's electric chair for slaying a Pittsburgh bartender nearly a decade ago.

Thompson, 36, was strapped into the chair at Rockview State Penitentiary at 10:02 p.m. and pronounced dead at 10:05 by Dr. J. G. Weixel.

Two guards half dragged the limp Thompson into the chamber. Once in the electric chair, Thompson slumped over and closed his eyes.

The straps were buckled around his sagging body and executioner Jerome Kermer sent 2,000 volts of electricity surging through the convicted slayer.

An unsuccessful appeal to Gov. David L. Lawrence for executive clemency last week ended a series of court appeals and 10 reprieves that delayed Thompson's execution for 9½ years.

The State Pardon Board last month denied a request for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment.

In two trials, Thompson was convicted of slaying Pittsburgh bartender Wallace Russell on Sept. 13, 1949. At each trial he was given the death sentence.

Speaker Says Practical Cars Seeing A Return

"This year automobile manufacturers are going back to giving people the kind of cars they want and need," T. I. Wagner told Greenville Rotarians last night in a talk on the automotive industry.

In recent years, the speaker said, automobile manufacturers have been appealing to the vanity of the buying public with high horsepower automobile, fancy fins and other aspects in automobiles. Now they are placing greater emphasis on more practical automobiles, more economical operation and the like, he stated.

Pointing to the importance of the automobile industry to the American economy, Wagner pointed out that one out of every seven employed people in the United States is directly dependent on the automotive industry for his livelihood.

He added that the figure does not include other workers in steel and other industries who are indirectly dependent on the automotive industry.

From a tax standpoint, he said, the automobile produces tax revenue for various levels of government from the time it rolls off the assembly line until it reaches the junk heap. Approximately 25 per cent of the sale price of average new automobile is represented in taxes on materials which go into the building of the car and the car itself, Wagner declared.

Through licenses, property taxes, gasoline taxes and other taxes, the automobile continues to produce tax revenue as long as it is in existence, he added.

The speaker asserted 1955 was the biggest single year in the history of the automotive industry with approximately seven million vehicles being produced and sold.

There was a rapid drop in production and sales from that peak until 1958 "when sales and quality of automobiles hit rock bottom."

In general the 1959 models of automobiles are perhaps the best quality automobiles ever produced, Wagner said.

F. Badger Johnson, who also took part in the program, pointed out that in the United States each year approximately four million new automobiles go to the scrap pile. He also pointed out that quality control this year has become one of the biggest items in automotive manufacturers' budgets.

Third To Die In 2-Car Collision

SHELBY, N.C. (AP)—A 30-year-old minister-welfare worker died at a hospital early today, third victim of a two-car collision near here Monday night.

The Rev. Franklin E. Lattimore of Polkville was driver of one car. Killed in the collision were Paul Gene Hastings, 21, and his sister, Mary Sue Smith, 18, both of Casar.

Their spouses, Mrs. Patsy Hastings, 16, and Ruffin Billy Smith, 21, received leg fractures. Their condition was not believed serious.

The Rev. Mr. Lattimore was pastor of Polkville Baptist Church. During the week he was a worker for the Cleveland County Welfare Department.

Officers said Lattimore's car struck the other vehicle broadside about eight miles north of here on N.C. 26. An investigation was continuing.

Goes To Jail For One-Eyed Hound

ENID, Okla. (AP)—Curtis Phillips started a 15-day jail term Monday for allowing his one-eyed hound dog Oscar to roam free.

The city dog catcher saw Oscar running loose and issued a complaint against Phillips, his neighbor.

The city court judge gave Phillips, 42 and retired, his choice: a $15 fine or 15 days in jail.

"I don't do any work so I might as well stay in jail," said Phillips. But his defiant wife said Oscar would run free all the time, instead of taking his usual early morning sprint, as long as Phillips is in jail.

Travel Promoters Find Attractions In Touring East

By LYNN NISBET
 Reflector Raleigh Bureau
 RALEIGH — Consensus of the more than two dozen travel promotion executives from outside the state was that they had discovered a lot of new attractions to tell their back home folks about on the land-sea tour of eastern North Carolina last week.

The tour began at Raleigh Sunday night with a dinner at Ed Swain's Charcoal Steak House and a breakfast at the Mansion with Governor and Mrs. Luther Hodges next morning and ended with a luncheon in "Red" Balentine's Cardinal Room in Raleigh at noon Saturday. Between the starting and ending points were "adventures in sailing" at Rocky Mount and Edenton (where yaupon tea was served), Elizabeth City (a roast mullet outdoor dinner), Nags Head, (the Sea Ranch, Beacon Motor Lodge, Carolinian Hotel), Buxton on Hatteras Island (Cape Point Restaurant), Ocracoke (where luncheon was served in the school house by the local civic clubs), Morehead City (Morehead-Biltmore Hotel and Tony Seamon's Restaurant) and the Governor Tryon Hotel at New Bern.

That took care of the heavy eating assignments, and sandwiched among them were a big luncheon at Coquina Beach in the Hatteras

National Seashore Recreation Area, breakfast on the State commercial fisheries flagship Hatteras and numerous "social hour" functions all along the route.

While the eating was important and enjoyable, it was incidental to the main purpose of the tour. The out-of-state visitors were as much or more interested in historic and scenic attractions, accommodations for camping, fishing, picnicking and sleeping for the people they expect to direct to their section for vacation trips.

The tour was sponsored jointly by the State Department of Conservation and Development (advertising division) and the Carolina Motor Clubs. There were just enough attaches of these agencies and home-state newsmen along to help the out-of-staters get necessary information to pass on to their travel-minded customers. The home folks discovered some situations that can be improved and made note of them. Heading the list of needed corrections are inadequate bridge and ferry service for the Outer Banks and lack of co-ordination of efforts of interested people in some of the communities. For most part everybody (including the weather man) co-operated fully. The deep sea fishing trip had to be called off because of high winds and rough waves. That disappointed the visitors but gave them opportunity to see more of the Hatteras park area. Next day the weather was perfect for the cruise across Pamlico Sound from Hatteras to Atlantic by way of Ocracoke, proving that it is not always bad—and also proving it is unpredictable. Mrs. Lucille Winslow told the group she would not apologize for the water, because if it hadn't been for bad weather the Wrights would never have come to the Outer Banks.

There is little indication of fear of hurricanes. It is almost impossible to get out of sight of new construction along the beach fronts from Kitty Hawk to Salter's Path. Sleeping accommodations on Hatteras Island have doubled in three years. Visitors unfortunate enough to miss the last ferry across Oregon Inlet can be assured of comfortable lodging on the island. An interesting sidelight on the new motor courts and enlarged hotels is that with the whole Atlantic Ocean in the front yard,

Wilfong Named Lab Director

KINSTON — Dr. Robert E. Wilfong of Greenville, Technical Superintendent at the Kinston DuPont Plant, has been named Director of the Research Laboratory. He is replacing Dr. George F. Lanzl, who has been appointed to a post in the Wilmington (Del.) offices.

Dr. Wilfong started his DuPont service in July, 1944, and has been Technical Superintendent at the Kinston Plant since June 1, 1953.

R. E. WILFONG
 He received his B. S. degree in chemistry and his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in physical chemistry from the University of Wisconsin.

He joined DuPont in 1944 as a Research Chemist in the Acetate Research Division at Waynesboro, Va., and later became Research Supervisor. From July 1, 1951, until he came to the Kinston Plant, he was Research Manager of the Nylon Research at Wilmington, Delaware.

Dr. Wilfong and his family reside in the Lakewood Pines section of Greenville.

Slope Slew 'em In Elysian Park

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A slippery, slimy slope slew 'em in Elysian Park Monday.

First victim was Tracy Smith, 12. He skidded into a steep ravine. There was no climbing out. Witnesses called an ambulance.

Ambulance attendant Sidney Krueger leaned over the edge. Oops, he slipped. Down he went, on top of Tracy. Two down.

Ambulance driver Ray Barry peered over the brink. His feet went out from under him and there they were, the three of them. The heavy grass was too slick to climb.

A fireman's rope got 'em out—unhurt.

Gift To Benefit Blind Students

The Theta Chi fraternity at East Carolina College has presented to the Student Government Association at the college a tape recorder for use by blind students.

Funds for purchasing the recorder were raised by the fraternity by a recent benefit dance, in staging which Theta Chi members were assisted by the Kappa Delta Kappa sorority on the campus.

James E. Trice of Blades, Del., pledge marshal of Theta Chi, presented the gift from the fraternity to Dallas S. Wells of Williamston, president of the college Student Government Association.

New Receiving Home For Babies To Be Dedicated

GREENSBORO — Governor Luther H. Hodges will speak to members and friends of the Children's Home Society of North Carolina when its new Receiving Home for Babies is dedicated in formal ceremonies Friday at 1:00 p.m. at the Aycock Junior High School Auditorium in Greensboro.

Headquarters for the voluntarily supported adoption agency which offers statewide services is Greensboro.

Upon the advice of a committee of pediatricians and psychiatrists, the Board of Directors last year decided to expand nursery care for babies under four months of age.

The former nursery was a two-story frame structure. The new location of the Receiving Home is one block nearer Cone Hospital and the pediatricians who provide free care for the babies.

The new building at 746 Percy Street which was completed earlier this month at a cost of $85,000 is a one-story fireproof brick structure of Georgian type architecture. New equipment totalling $10,000 was recently installed.

Loewenstein-Atkinson architects designed the new building to provide every modern protection for infants, President Myers commented.

A home-like atmosphere has been retained, but the five nursery rooms which have four cribs have been designed to give better care for each baby, he further pointed out. Glass partitions divide the rooms, making it possible to isolate babies when necessary and keep them under observation from a central nursing station.

Adequate storage space has been provided for the supplies necessary in caring for 20 babies daily.

New examining and isolation rooms will insure that babies who enter the nursery rooms are free from infectious and communicable disease.

Each year 200 babies come into care in the Receiving Home and more than 500 children come under the protection of the Society. Since 1902 the Society has operated to provide security and happiness for the 7,000 children who were without families to care for them.

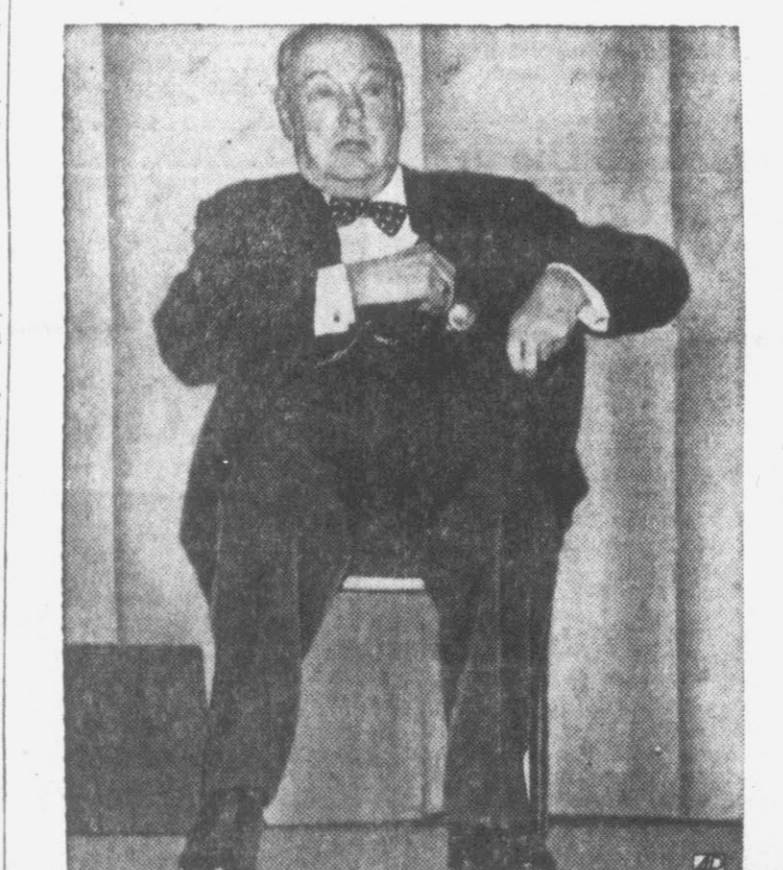

They are building expensive modern swimming pools.

Disappointment caused by canceling the fishing party was compensated next day by perfect weather for visiting and photographing historic spots in Beaufort and Tryon Palace. The charming hostesses at the palace in their bright-hued quaintly styled 18th century dresses delighted the color camera-men. Graydon Paul at Beaufort was not so photogenic but his narrative patter made up for it. He convinced his listeners that history can be fun.

"This is better than New Castle," said one of the visitors who is very familiar with the old Delaware town and its attractions.

Some of the visitors found other differences in North Carolina.

"I never heard of such a thing in my life," exclaimed one member of the out-of-state travel group when told that the highway

Doesn't Like His Portable Throne

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII says he does not like being carried around on a portable throne. But he says he will go on using it because it gives more people a chance to see him.

Speaking Sunday to 100,000 persons at the New Roman Church of Saint Giovanni (John) Bosco, the 77-year-old pontiff said he preferred to walk "like other persons."

The portable throne is carried on the shoulders of 30 papal chair bearers. Last December, the 205-pound Pope ordered a bonus of 15,000 lire ($25) paid to each bearer.

Want Billy To 'Represent God'

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—The men's Bible class of the Myrtle Beach Methodist church has adopted a resolution calling on President Eisenhower to send Billy Graham or some other distinguished Christian leader "to represent God" at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva, May 11.

Businessman R. G. Hanna said "This may sound foolish to some of you. But I sincerely believe that if God is given an opportunity to take a hand in the negotiations of the Big Four at this meeting, it will not only end the Berlin crisis, but end the cold war."

Harmless Hydrogen Halo Said To Surround Earth

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The earth is surrounded by a harmless halo of hydrogen at altitudes between 50 and 20,000 miles, a California scientist reported today.

Another researcher said a known weak spot in the earth's magnetic field may account for the gap between two dangerous doughnuts of radiation discovered in space.

These separate phenomena were described to the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union in reports prepared by scientists of the Lockheed Missiles and Space Division, Sunnyvale, California.

Dr. Francis A. Johnson told of the hydrogen halo, which he described as a glowing veil.

He said it is a cloud of hydrogen gas made up of electrically neutral atoms of the chemical. Its existence became known from radiation detectors aboard satellite and missiles.

Gen. Kuter Said Likely Successor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, Air Force commander in the Pacific, is considered the likeliest successor to Gen. Earle Partridge as commander in chief of the North American Air Defense Command.

Partridge will retire at the end of July, the Air Force said, for "mandatory" reasons in that he will have completed 35 years of commissioned service after having served more than five years in his permanent grade of major general.

Air Force and defense officials scoffed at published reports that Partridge is quitting because of unhappiness over the way his command is set up.

At first it was believed to be something coming from far out in interplanetary space. Johnson said, but new research shows that it is actually a part of the earth's outer atmosphere.

Though it has a certain glow, he related, it can not be detected from the earth's surface because the radiation is absorbed in the earth's atmosphere at an altitude of about 50 miles.

Dr. Alexander J. Dessler of Lockheed offered the new theory to explain the gap between the two belts of Van Allen radiation which encircle the earth. They are considered potentially hazardous to space travel.

These two belts—named for Dr. James Van Allen of the State University of Iowa—hang suspended like monster doughnuts around the earth, but with openings above both the north and south polar regions.

The first belt begins at about 1,300 miles altitude and extends to about 3,000.

Then there's a 5,000-mile gap before the second belt begins at about 8,000 miles.

Dessler believes the 5,000-mile radiation-free gap between the two doughnuts is due to the Capetown anomaly. That is a weak spot, approximately 1,000 miles long and 300 miles wide, in the earth's magnetic field near the southern tip of Africa.

The existing bands of Van Allen radiation consist of charged particles—either electrons or protons—that are trapped by lines of magnetic force extending in great bows upward from the earth's surface. The particles of radiation spiral back and forth from north to south along these lines of force, and at the same time drift eastward around the earth.

According to Dessler's concept, the bowing line of force that starts at Capetown is so weak that it can't keep the particles trapped. Thus, some particles, in falling into this weak spot, are absorbed by the earth's atmosphere—thereby causing the radiation-free zone.

British Hint At Nuclear Project
 LONDON (AP)—Britain was reported today seeking nuclear independence from the United States by developing its own warheads for guided missiles.

Two British newspapers said the program is aimed at freeing this country from reliance on American nuclear warheads supplied to Royal Air Force rocket crews.

Government officials declined comment.

Sports Scope

by Johnny Hudson

It was 19 or 20 years ago when Carl Stott saw a couple of his nephews turned away from a sandlot ball game because they were too young. His next move was a historical feat in the American athletic program and one that is now known not only in North Carolina but throughout the nation as "The Little Leagues."

This organization has grown by leaps and bounds and will continue to grow, for baseball is, and will be for some time the "American pastime."

Many arguments have been put up as to the harm of Little League baseball and those opposed will probably continue to do so but the benefits derived will outweigh the bad. Little League baseball is the first step in building tomorrow's citizens.

Recent Start

The forming of a Little League in Greenville came about in 1951 and has made great expansion. The local organization seems to be on sound footing but the big problem has been the large number of boys interested in playing.

Under present conditions, the two leagues are unable to accommodate all the boys capable of playing Little League ball. The turnout this season exceeded that of any other year and has caused the executive heads to go to work toward providing more facilities.

Headed by Grady Nichols, a group is now in the process of raising money for a new field. At the present time, only one field is available but the group has set a goal of $3,500 for the new field and are optimistic over the project.

Two new teams have been formed this year with one added to each league—the Tar Heel and the North State. There was talk of forming a new league, but with only one field this would complicate matters more.

Provides Initiative

W. C. James has been one of the big men in Greenville toward the development of the Little League program. He serves as head of the outfit and it is easy to recognize when talking to him that he has a sound knowledge and background in Little League ball.

James points out that Little League ball is a community project. "We want to take care of every boy capable of playing ball and our entire support comes from parents and others interested. The community finances it almost completely. The Recreation Department aids, but most of the burden is put on parents. The workers are on a volunteer basis and receive no money."

The Little League does not operate as a "fly-by-night" affair but works on small major league scale. Sales are held at the first of each season to allow the coaches to buy the new boys that they need or either make trades. Each coach is allowed so many points and this is how he purchases the athletes that he wants.

Pressure Is Built Up

The big fault in the Little League set-up is the pressure which is sometimes applied. The desire to win can sometimes become too great in adults and this can lead to a fallacy.

The parents are encouraged to take part in the program and show as much interest as possible. The meetings which determine the policies are open to the public and anyone attending is able to help lay the groundwork for further improvement.

But it should be remembered that the purpose of this program is not only to win but to develop sportsmanship and to help create better citizens. Most parents will agree that they would prefer to have their kids on the baseball diamond than in some juvenile gang.

Season to Open

For the little Yogi Berras, Al Kalines, and Bob Fellers, the season is just around the corner. Opening date has been set for May 13th and all the teams are prepared to get off to a rousing start.

The youngsters will be banging the ball for the couple of months and when watching them, it will be hard to determine the harm in Little League ball.

Spectators are urged to come out and see the kids in action when possible but the kids really aren't concerned over their attendance. As one put it "Shucks—we just want to play ball."

A salute goes to W. C. James, Grady Nichols, and all the others who have helped the Little Leagues function in Greenville. May it continue to grow and provide Greenville with baseball interest.

Seven Of ACC Teams Go Into Action Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven of the eight Atlantic Coast Conference baseball teams see action today, but only two games are conference clashes.

The league contests are North Carolina State at North Carolina and Wake Forest at Duke, the first of three important games this week for the Deacons.

Wake Forest—now leading the league with a 7-2 record—can go a long way toward wrapping up the title by sweeping its three conference games this week. The Deacons meet Maryland Friday and Virginia Saturday.

Clemson is second in the ACC at 8-5 and North Carolina third at 6-4.

Maryland, fourth in the standings with a 5-4 record, is the only ACC team with no games scheduled today.

Today's other tilts have Clemson host to Georgia Teachers, South Carolina entertaining Newberry, and Virginia Tech of the Southern Conference at Virginia.

In Monday's games, South Carolina dropped a 4-1 decision to Erskine in the first of two seven-inning contests, and won the second 7-2, and Clemson tripped Georgia Teachers 5-2.

Erskine pitcher Robbie English was ripping along with a no-hitter in mind going into the seventh inning of the first game. But singles by Jim Roof and Bob Bridges spoiled things for English. Those were the only hits he allowed. He even lost a shutout as South Carolina scored once in that last inning. Two walks after the two singles did it.

Roger Brown was the losing pitcher.

In the second game, Erskine outthit the Gamecocks 6-5 but South Carolina took advantage of bases on balls and errors. The Gamecocks scored four runs in the third inning on three walks, two errors, and a single. Everett Newman was the winning pitcher.

Clemson, meanwhile, got only five hits, compared to seven for Georgia Teachers, but the five hits were good for as many runs. The Tigers took advantage of some wild pitching. Two runs were scored in the fourth on three walks and a lone single.

Doug Hoffman homered for Clemson in the sixth with one on. Dave Sprouse got credit for the victory, and now has a 2-0 record.

Baltimore Fans Lined Up Early

BALTIMORE (AP)—It's a long time before the opening of the National Football League season but Baltimore Colt fans are taking no chances of missing any of the team's home games.

Some 500 persons waited in line as long as eight hours Monday when the Colts put season tickets on sale at 10 a. m.

National League Race Warming Up As Lead Again Changes Hands

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Brush back pitches and dusters now are spicing the hot National League pennant scramble that has seen the lead change hands three times in three days.

San Francisco and Cincinnati grappled in one of the double-biased duels Monday night as the Giants put across four ninth-inning runs, then stood off a rally by the Reds for a 6-5 victory. That boosted the Giants back into the lead, by a mere .008 percentage points over Los Angeles.

Los Angeles closed in by dropping Milwaukee from first to third with a 5-3 victory over the Braves and southpaw Warren Spahn, the ace the Dodgers always trump.

Pittsburgh reached .500 for the first time and took fifth place from Chicago by beating the Cubs 2-1 in the only other NL game scheduled.

Boston defeated Kansas City 8-4 in the lone game scheduled in the American League.

The dusting started early in Cincinnati. The Giants' Willie Mays hit the dirt getting away from Bob Purkey's low, inside pitch in the first inning. Then Purkey was plunked on the leg in the eighth inning by winning reliever Gordon Jones. Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants was banished for arguing the call that waved Purkey to first base.

Just Sunday, St. Louis and Pittsburgh jawed at each other over pitching tactics. Earlier, the Red's Frank Robinson found Pittsburgh's Bob Friend and George Witt unusually wild.

Purkey, the right-hander who ran up a 6-0 string against the Giants from 1955 to last August, had a 3-2 lead going into the ninth. Then a three-run double by Jim Davenport and Willie Kirkland's RBI single made it 6-3. Red Worthington, replacing Jones, gave up two runs in the Red ninth, one on Frank Robinson's homer, before Jack Sanford hurried in to get the final out.

The first five runs in the game came on homers. The Giants counted theirs on solo socks by Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda. The Reds scored on a two-run homer by Pete Whisenand and a bases-empty blast by Frank Thomas, both off starter Mike McCormick.

Gil Hodges, part of the old guard right-handed power that made Spahn a seldom-starter against the Dodgers, was 4-for-4 at Milwaukee and all were for extra bases—two doubles and a pair of solo home runs.

Don Demeter, one of the Dodgers' new generation of right-handed batters, broke a 2-2 tie and wrapped it up with two-run homer in the seventh. Southpaw Johnny Podres gained a 3-2 season record with Art Fowler's relief in the ninth.

The Pirates were shut out on three hits by rookie Bob Anderson. Before they scored their two in the eighth, Dick Groat's double and singles by pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson and Bob Clemente handed Anderson his first defeat in three decisions. Ron Kline (2-1) won it, giving up but four hits and blanking the Cubs until Jim Marshall unloaded his first home run in the seventh.

Play 2 Games In Carolina Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While rain washed out the Burlington-Greensboro baseball game, Durham beat Raleigh 9-4 in a rain-delayed Carolina League contest and Winston-Salem downed Wilson 6-3.

Durham vaulted into a 5-0 lead at Raleigh after four innings and kept that spread to gain a split in their two-game series. Rain delayed the action in the top of the sixth.

Durham's starting pitcher, George Schmid, did not allow a run but went out in the seventh when the Caps filled the bases with one out. Reliever Cliff Adams worked out of the jam but yielded two runs in the eighth and two in the ninth.

Winston-Salem exploded for five runs in the fifth to defeat Wilson 6-3 at Wilson. Winston-Salem's four hits all came in the big fifth. The big blow was a bases-loaded triple by second baseman Jim Gilchrist.

Tonight's games: Greensboro at Wilson, Raleigh at Burlington and Durham at Winston-Salem.

Tomy Lee Heads West Today For Deserved Rest

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky Derby champ Tomy Lee, sound but tired, heads West tonight for a rest.

Like Determine five years ago, the little English-bred colt got the big one and is bypassing the other legs in racing's triple crown, the Preakness and the Belmont.

Trainer Frank Childs said he'll rest Tomy Lee until the Hollywood Derby June 27, then bring him to Chicago for a couple of big stakes later this summer.

"He's had three hard races in a row and is kinda off his feed," Childs said, adding that he wants to give the colt a "chance to catch his breath."

In the derby, Tomy Lee raced head and head with Sword Dancer from the backstretch to the wire, getting there by only a nose.

Dethroning Of Sugar Ray's Bound To Stir Ring Action

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Boxing Assn.'s title-vacating action against Sugar Ray Robinson is bound to stir up plenty of activity in the rings and possibly the courts.

Instead of just one middleweight title fight this year, there may be three—provided by a couple of champions.

Why two champions? Well, there's still Sugar Ray, who says he's not retiring. Then there will be the winner of the Carmen Basilio-Gene Fullmer scrap to determine the NBA's successor to Robinson.

The Basilio-Fullmer winner will have to face another leading contender, undoubtedly Spider Webb of Chicago, by NBA edict.

The NBA's long heralded move against Sugar Ray was announced Monday by Dr. Ward Wylie, president of the ring body. Dr. Wylie said members of the NBA's executive committee were polled and voted unanimously to strip Robinson of his title.

Sugar Ray, hasn't fought since he regained the middleweight crown from Basilio in Chicago, March 25, 1958.

"Robinson has failed to keep his agreement with the NBA to defend his title," said Dr. Wylie in Mul-len, W.Va.

He said the NBA would recognize the Fullmer-Basilio winner, Syracuse promoter Norm Rothchild said he had signed both of these top contenders and ex-champions for Syracuse in the summer.

Robinson had been warned several times by the NBA that he was long overdue to risk his title under the six-months defense rule.

New York, which is not a member of the NBA, has given the dapper Harlem businessman until May 15 to sign for a title fight with Basilio.

Robinson moaned that the NBA has "dealt me a foul blow. They can have their own champion and do what they want about it. But I'm not retiring."

He indicated he still may fight Germany's Gustav Scholz, the European champion, and possibly in Europe. The New York Athletic Commission, in taking its action against Sugar Ray, ruled Scholz was not a fit opponent at this time. The German is ranked as the No. 4 contender.

If Robinson does fight Scholz, he undoubtedly would have billing as world champion in Europe at least.

ECC Football Co-Captains Named

CO-CAPTAINS . . . Ed Emory (left) and Bill Cain (right) have been elected to serve the 1959 East Carolina College football team as Co-Captains. Emory hails from Dancaster, S. C. and Cain is from Rockingham. Both boys are rising seniors.

A hot and humid day hung over the East Carolina College campus yesterday but despite the weather, football once again returned to the spotlight as Coach Jack Boone announced that Ed Emory and Bill Cain had been elected co-captains for the 1959 gridiron club.

The two were selected at a meeting held last week by the lettermen on the club. They will succeed Ralph Zehring and Lynn Barnett as the team's spokesmen. Both boys are seniors.

Emory, a big tackle, hails from Lancaster, S. C. and will be a starter next season for the fourth consecutive year. Emory hit the ECC camp in 1956 as a rugged athlete with plenty of football experience behind him.

Emory earned a starting slot early in the season of his freshman year but a knee injury sidelined him and put a sudden doubt as to his gridiron future. He underwent surgery on his knee during the winter and after plenty of work came back in his sophomore season ready to take off where he had left off.

He has played guard and tackle for Boone but last season at guard was his best year. He reaped All-Conference laurels and was one of the toughest linemen in the state. Boone plans on using his star at tackle this year and this should give strength to his interior line. Emory is being groomed for All-State honors.

Cain is a soft spoken Rockingham native who had rather do anything than lose. The 185 pounder has been a regular end for the past two seasons and is considered as one of the top defensive flankers in the conference.

Cain played ball at ECC his freshman year before entering service. He played during the Dick Cherry era and thus is accustomed to a winning team. He returned from service in 1956 and by the second game had earned a starting slot.

Cain, a hard worker, stays in shape the year round. During off-season, he works with weights to stay in condition. Last summer, he spent his time working with the Recreation Department in Rockingham and also the Rockingham High School team.

Coach Jack Boone stated, "I think the boys made a good choice. Both boys love the game and have played real good ball for us in the past."

Emory received the announcement with a blush and a big grin. "It's a big honor," said the big tackle. Cain was unavailable for comment.

Preparations for the Junior High Field Day were completed today. The event will take place tomorrow afternoon at the East Carolina College track field. Starting time is slated for 12:00.

It's The Same Team, But It Keeps Losing

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Yankees aren't the Yankees, and everyone is wondering what has happened to the erstwhile scourge of the American League.

Casey Stengel's New Yorkers have lost nine of their last 10 games. They have averaged only two runs a game in their last 11 games. Once they could be counted on to settle an extra-inning contest with one tremendous blast. Now it is their opponent that does the blasting, or punches across the winning runs.

Stengel has his own version of what is wrong. "We ain't hitting," said the club's field boss today. "They're pitching us low and we go fishing for the ball. Our pitching staff ain't dead."

"The players have their own ideas. "The club is tight," says the veteran Enos Slaughter. "We have too many serious guys here." "We've been playing in a lot of lousy luck, and we're not hitting," says Mickey Mantle.

"We need one really big day to get us back on the beam," says reliever Ryne Duren.

Whatever is wrong, it is the same club that won the pennant and world championship last year. In fact, it is the same club that has been holding forth at the Stadium the last two years.

It has been suggested that that is what is wrong. Other clubs have been catching up, particularly in pitching, while the champions have been standing still.

Whether that means a sudden change in the Yankee roster is a question. Stengel insists he will not part with any of his players, but George Weiss, the general manager, made an abrupt trip West Sunday, a. . . that could mean action on the trade front.

Weiss said in Detroit when asked about trade possibilities, that it was too early to tell. He added that the Yankees are better than they have shown to date.

In New York co-owner Dan Topping belittled the idea that something was radically wrong with the club.

"Everybody's worried but us," he said. "Up to Sunday the whole story was a series of very close games that might have resulted either way."

Topping also snubbed the idea of a trade.

"What for?" he asked. "We have a fine team. We'll come through all right."

But the Yankees are worried. And others, recalling that the last two months of the 1958 season the club was anything but a ball of fire, suggest that the club started to slip then, and that the New Yorkers have had it.

Herb Carper was forced to miss the 1956 Olympic track and field tryouts with a leg injury but the former Pitt sprint champion never gave up hope for another chance in 1960. That's Carper's goal — the Olympic Games in Rome next year.

A lot of things have happened to Carper since May of 1956 when he won the 100-yard championship in the intercollegiate title meet on Randall's Island, New York, in 09.4 seconds. He was hailed as a great prospect for the Olympic squad. Then came the heart-breaking muscle pull. Uncle Sam tapped him for military duty, and little was heard of him for a spell. Last winter reports from Germany had Pvt. Herb Carper, a member of the Army garrison defending Communist-encircled West Berlin, twice running 60-yards indoors in six seconds flat, a new record. The performances took on added credibility when noted that his victims included three of Europe's top sprinters — France's Jocelyn Deleour, Britain's Peter Radford and Germany's Armin Hary. Three weeks later Carper repeated the performance at the Paris Sports Palace.

Keeping in shape for sprinting while performing the everyday duties of an Army private, is not an easy chore. It's a far cry from the pampered days at the University of Pittsburgh where he was a college champion. But Carper never lost sight of his goal — to represent the U.S. in Olympic competition — and worked hard to fashion his comeback. Herb's great performances in Germany have earned him a trip back home to compete in the interservice championships at Fort Lee, Va., next month. If he does well, he hopes to be allowed to compete in the National A.A.U. championships as his next big step toward his Olympic goal. Carper has 11 months of Army service left, but he is already planning to complete his college work and get his degree . . . after the Olympic Games in Rome.

Pike And Chemicals Seem Right Rein For Panfish

By TOM SHAWVER

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Pike and fish-killing chemicals, mixed in the right proportions, appear to be the best formula yet devised to put a checkrein on oversupplies of panfish in warmwater lakes of Michigan and similar states.

For years, fishermen have complained about the stunted bluegills, perch and other panfish three or four inches long that made up the bulk of their catch in many lakes. Too many fish competing for too little food was the obvious reason.

Removal of size limits and boosting creel limits on most panfish helped some, but not enough. After three years of experimenting on 25 or 30 lakes in the southern two-thirds of the Lower Peninsula, Michigan fish experts are convinced they're on the right track in finding an answer to the problem.

Chemicals were only part of the answer. Fish populations gradually built back to levels before chemical treatment and continuous treatment was obviously out of the question.

A natural predator to act as a year-around "policeman" on panfish populations clearly was called for. That's where the pike, a meat-eating fish, came into the picture.

From about 1,000 brood stock, many thousands of pike have been spawned in controlled marshes in some 15 lakes. When they become fingerlings, they're released in chemically treated lakes.

Wilt Will Sign With Warriors

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt (The Silt) Chamberlain will sign a contract this week to play for the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Assn.

Warriors' owner Eddie Gottlieb and the 7-foot plus Chamberlain will meet today or Wednesday. Chamberlain, former University of Kansas star, said he earned more than $65,000 last year with the Harlem Globetrotters, but he is willing to take a slight cut if necessary to play with the Warriors.

Detroit Pitcher Says Yanks No Longer Frighten

DETROIT (AP) — The New York Yankees can be taken, says Frank Lary, a fellow who takes them regularly.

The Detroit Tiger pitcher said the Yankees 7-12 record is no accident. Of course, neither Lary nor anyone else for that matter believes the defending World champions will long occupy seventh place in the American League standings.

"But the Yankee lineup doesn't scare pitchers as it used to do," said the veteran righthander. "Now I'm not saying I ever was scared of them, but I think I used to have more respect for their hitters."

Lary, who whipped the Yanks seven times in eight decisions last season, has a 17-5 lifetime mark against the champs.

Neither he nor the Tiger management tries to explain how he beats the Yankees, so long as he keeps doing it.

Stiff Duty For Gifts Imposed

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslavia today imposed stiff duties on gifts from abroad — except money orders and such staple foods as meat, cheese, butter, flour and edible oils.

The government said that there was no longer a shortage of consumer goods in the local market. It charged that some gift parcels were being sold in the black market. Until now every Yugoslav was entitled to receive a gift parcel to the value of $66 duty free four times a year.

Farouk Becomes Monaco Citizen

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Ex-King Farouk of Egypt today became a citizen of the sunny tax-free principality of Monaco.

Prince Rainer III welcomed the former Egyptian monarch into the fold with an ordinance listing the new citizen of the little Riviera territory as "His Royal Highness Prince Fouad Farouk."

Like all other Monacan citizens — there are only about 2,800 in the principality's total population of 21,000 — Farouk will enjoy complete freedom from taxes.

Top story of tower contains the bells. Visitors climb iron rungs to window to get better view of the city of Pisa below.

HOLD THAT TOWER!

From tower 179 feet up, two young visitors view cathedral and city below. They climbed inner staircase of 300 steps to reach top.

Italy's famed Leaning Tower of Pisa, whose defiance of the laws of gravity has been keeping the world in suspense for nearly 800 years, may really be in trouble.

For most of the last 50 years experts have been giving the 179-foot tower another 300 years before falling, but now, some maintain, it will topple before the year 2000. Their reason: the rate of incline has been increased at an alarming rate in the past few years. In 1958, the rate had increased to .046 inches as compared to an average .027 in the years before.

To keep its incline stable, the tower since 1907 has been given periodic concrete injections around its base, but they haven't appeared to help much. Prof. Giovanni Boaga, Rome scientist, has the support of many who claim the only solution is to dismantle the tower, sink a concrete slab about 40 feet deep and rebuild the tower over it. But the tower would be rebuilt with a modest lean, otherwise it would lose its attraction. And attract it does. Each year some 200,000 tourists admire it.

Construction of the tower began in 1174. It was completed in 1350. The ground beneath the tower started to sink after the first three stories were built. The tower began to lean, and kept on leaning until it was 16½ feet out of line. It has tipped one foot during the last 100 years alone.

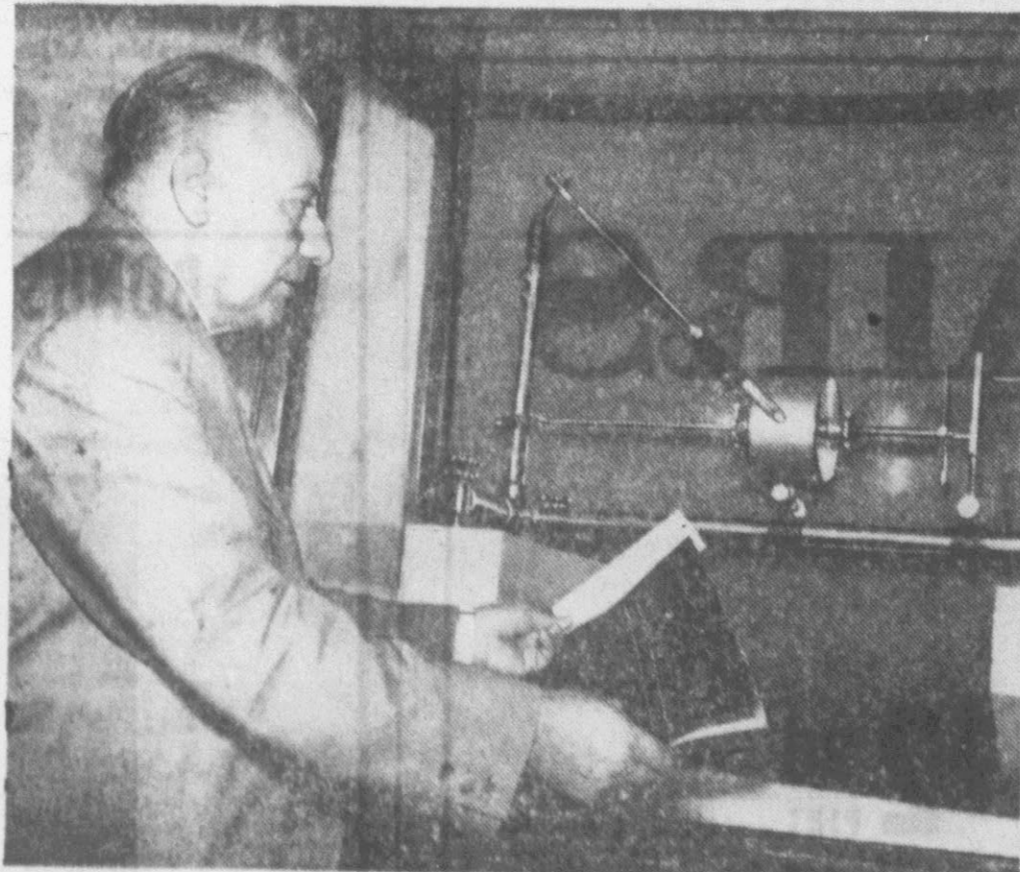

Now scientists study the tower anxiously while tourists, quite unaware of what is happening, climb the winding stairs for a breathtaking view of the city of Pisa below.

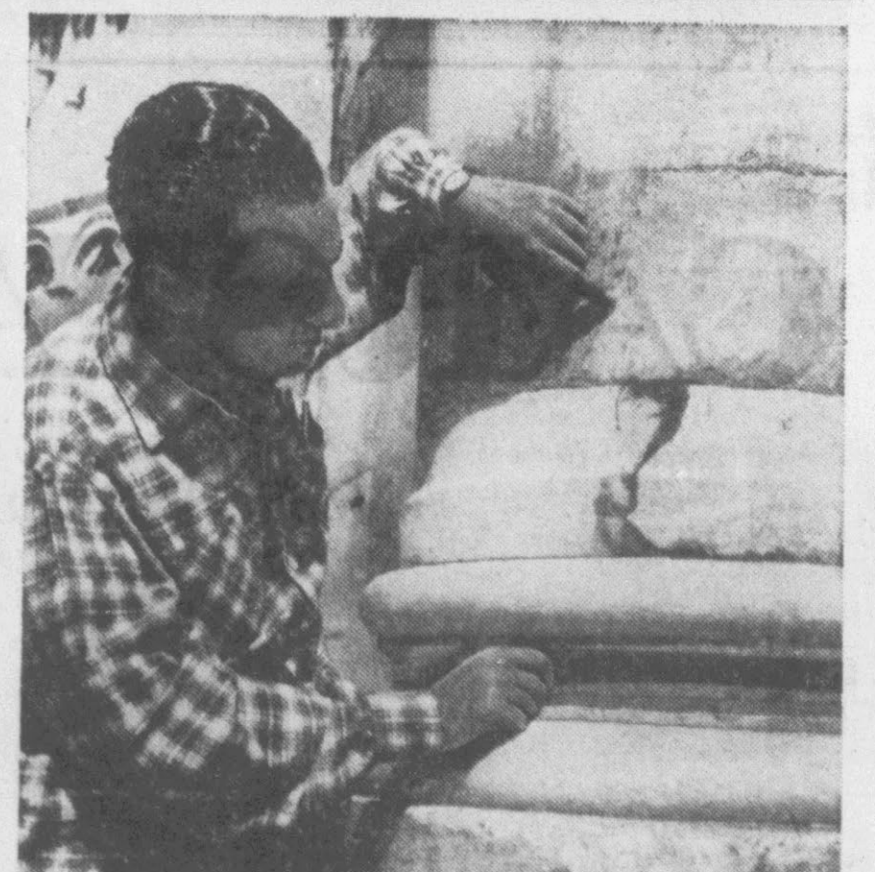

The white marble Tower of Pisa, with the cathedral at right. Structure sank into soft earth and started to lean during time it was being built.

Italian scientist, Prof. Carlo Vallini, studies tower's inclinometer which measures precise degree of tower's constantly changing incline.

Seismograph in tower records slightest earth movements including miniscule shifts in soft undersoil. It's checked daily. Prof. Carlo Vallini takes reading.

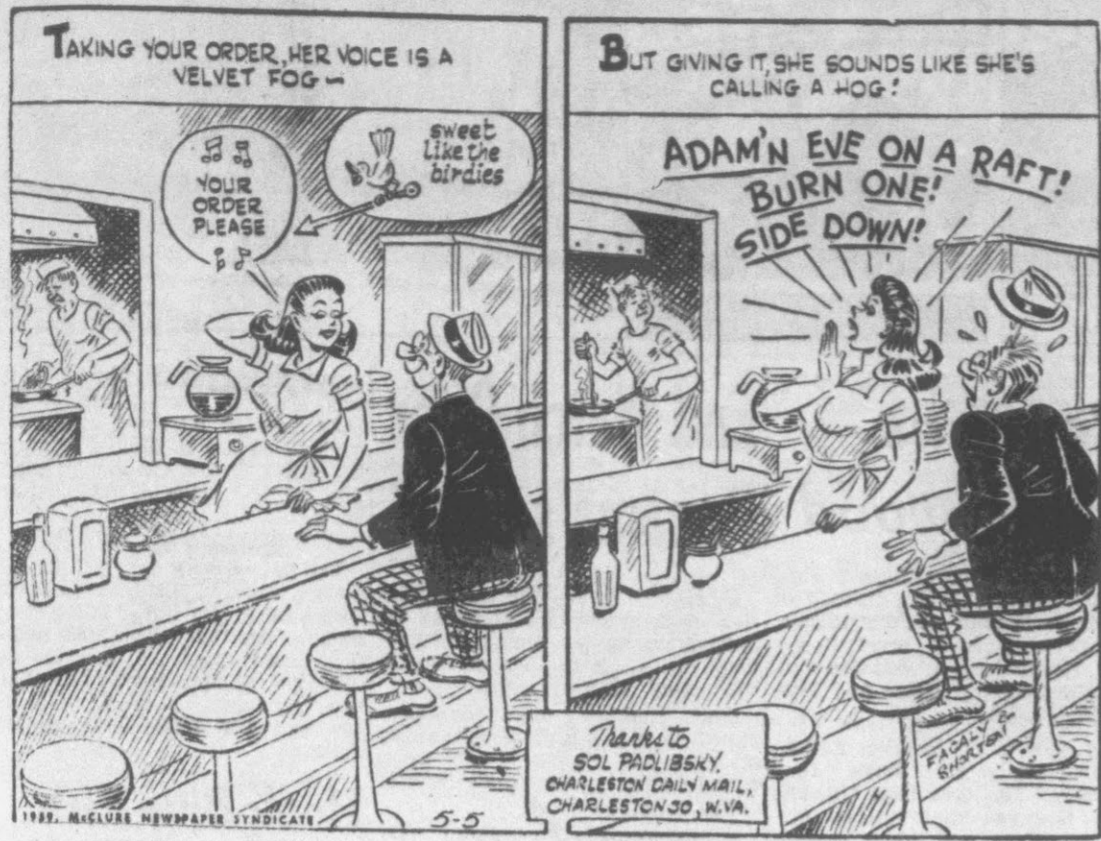

Constant settling at an angle creates cracks in structure. Patching is done as soon as cracks are observed.

Exhibition Of Photographic Work By Art Student Is Now Being Shown

More than thirty photographs, selected because of their artistic values, make up an exhibition by James R. Harper of Enfield, student of art at East Carolina College. The exhibition will be on view during the next two weeks in the Austin building on the campus. It is included this week among attractions of Art Week of the Greenville Fine Arts Festival.

Harper's exhibition was arranged under the direction of Paul Minnis of the East Carolina College department of art. Included are landscapes, portraits, sports shots, pictures of buildings, and other types of work.

Special Session Of Grand Jury To Hear Charges

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Leon County grand jury has been summoned into special session Wednesday to consider the case of four white men charged with the mass rape of a Negro co-ed.

The jury had been scheduled to take up the case June 1, but the date was shoved up by Circuit Court Judge W. May Walker at the request of State Atty. William D. Hopkins because of "the great public interest."

The four are in the county jail. They have made no request for arraignment or bond.

"We would resist any request for bond between now and Wednesday," Hopkins said. Florida A. & M. University students who boycotted classes Monday as part of a demonstration to focus attention on the case said they would return to school today. Another mass meeting was called for tonight.

The 19-year-old Tallahassee girl was taken from her escort at gunpoint early Saturday following a college dance. A sheriff's deputy captured the four men after a 95-mile an hour chase. The girl, bound and gagged, was still in their car. Florida forbids publication of a rape victim's name.

Those arrested were Patrick G. Scarborough, 20, Tallahassee, an Air Force man on leave from a change in station from Alaska; William Collinsworth, 24, a telephone lineman; David Ervin Bagley, 18, a high school student; and Ollie Stoutamire, 18.

Florida's maximum penalty for a rape conviction is death. No white man has gone to the state's electric chair for raping a Negro.

Roberts Cites Negligent View

"We are taking our system of government too much for granted," declared J. W. H. Roberts, local attorney, as he spoke to members of the Greenville Lion Club, last night.

"It is too easy just to think everything is going to be all right, rather than to exercise our rights to make sure our government is properly administered," Roberts stated. "We have reached a point where there are many pressure group seeking legislation favoring minority groups rather than legislation for the good of all of the people."

Roberts went on to say that he believed in the separation of Church and State, but not in the separation of Religion and Government. "Our leaders must have faith in a God, and we should demand of leaders, 'What is your faith built upon?' No government can or will ever stand alone on the works of man," said Roberts.

Lions President John Biggs announced that next Monday night the club will conduct its annual Broom Sale in the city. Guests at the meeting included Junior Lion, Jimmy Jenkins, student at Rose High School.

HD Club Proud Of Its Food Conservation Goal

By MRS. WILLIE M. HAWKINS Grimesland HD Club In North Carolina there are more than 62,000 rural women doing things to improve themselves and their families through better family relations, proper nutritional and health practices, and other things that make a well-rounded person in the modern world.

In Pitt County there are 18 home demonstration clubs under the direction of Mrs. A. S. Capehart, home economics agent.

This article is focused on the achievements and activities of the Grimesland club.

The club is quite proud of their food conservation goal which is 75 quarts of food per member per family and last year four Grimesland club members exceeded this goal.

Mrs. Maggie Whichard, club secretary, won the county prize for food conservation. Freezers have been purchased by seven members and each club member is taking a part in the new program, "Raising A Square Meal Around Home."

Polio control and chest X-rays have been various ways in which the members have tried to improve their health conditions. On May 20 the group will go to Rocky Mount to attend the clinic at the Cancer Detection Center.

To further better their families' health, they have learned to use more milk and milk products in their daily diet.

Clothing Construction, Correct Storage, and What to Wear When, are some of the projects the club have taken part.

During this week, Home Demonstration Club Week, each Pitt County club will observe in some way the designated observance.

The Grimesland club will attend Sunday church services in a body and will furnish flowers for the church at that time.

Officers of the club are Mrs. Fleeta Tetterton, president; Mrs. Cora Hardy, vice-president; Mrs. Maggie Whichard, secretary; Mrs. Thelma Little, assistant secretary; and Mrs. John Wilson, treasurer.

Win Recognition At Science Meet

Thomas S. Hopkins of Washington, N.C., and Santa Rosa, Calif., junior at East Carolina College, as presented the Derieux Award of a certificate and an award of $50 at the Fifty-Sixth Annual Meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science May 1 and 2 at Catawba College in Salisbury. He was also elected president of the Collegiate Academy of Science.

Dr. R.M. Helms, faculty member of the department of science at the college, was elected chairman of the Physics Section of the Academy. Dr. Robert R. Haubrich, also of the East Carolina Science department, was appointed to serve on the three member Board of the Collegiate Academy.

Hopkins who is specializing in biology won the Derieux Award on the basis of significant and original research by an undergraduate student. His study deals with variation in the central body cover of sea urchins and is entitled "Morphological Variations in the Periproct of Arbacia Punctulata (Lamarck) of Beaufort, N.C."

Dr. Helms new chairman of the Physics Section of the Academy, has held the post of secretary and program director of the section for the past five years. He was a leader in the organization of the Physics section in 1952.

During the meeting at Catawba College Dr. Helms presented Academy awards to outstanding high school teachers of physics in this state. Two graduates of East Carolina College were among the four teachers receiving recognition.

They are Estelle McClees of the Grainger High School in Kinston and James N. Smith, Jr., of New Bern.

Twenty-one students of science from East Carolina College attended the meeting of the Academy during the weekend.

TAX RECOVERY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev himself has been asked what happened to 11 American airmen whose plane went down over Soviet Armenia last September.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson discussed the matter with the Soviet premier Monday on orders from President Eisenhower.

Details of their discussion were not made public. But presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said "The ambassador's representation dealt particularly with the President's concern for the fate of the 11 members of the crew who are still missing and unaccounted for."

Seventeen men were aboard the unarmed C130 transport plane when, this country alleges, it was shot down Sept. 2 by Soviet fighter planes near the Turkish border.

The plane admittedly was off course and inside Soviet territory. The Soviets returned six bodies to American authorities. They insist they don't know what happened to the rest of the crew. They denied attacking the plane.

Three months ago the U.S. government made public a dramatic tape recording of what it said were radio voices of Soviet fighter pilots as they closed in on the American transport.

The Kremlin denounced the tape recording as a farce, a fraud and a forgery.

Oil Firms In France Operate Under Control

By SAM DAWSON

PARIS (AP)—Few American firms operating in France are under closer government control than the oil companies. They must follow rules aimed first at aiding the French economy and only second at making money for American stockholders.

That is because France needs more oil all the time. But oil imports are one of the chief drains of its gold and dollar reserves—until recently in almost constant jeopardy.

Americans have learned to live with the rules. They are expanding their operations in France. They are joining up with the French to exploit oil deposits in the Sahara Desert. They are optimistic about the future.

France has some oil fields in the southwest part of the country, but gets most of its supply from the Middle East, where French companies are active, and some from Venezuela. Even if the Sahara oil flow comes up to the most optimistic expectations—and that's far from sure yet—France will still need to import oil.

American firms coming here must build refineries. France wants to import only crude oil, which costs fewer dollars on pounds. It imports aviation gas and asphalt but few other oil products.

One American company here for some time—Esso Standard S.A.F., an affiliate of Jersey Standard Oil—built a refinery to get in, joining in the venture with Gulf Oil and Atlantic Refining. Later, Jersey bought out Atlantic Refining and now owns 63 per cent of its affiliate. Gulf owns 18 1/2 per cent. The remaining shares are held by French interests. Esso has recently opened a new and larger refinery near Bordeaux.

The parent company, Jersey Standard, has applied for rights to prospect in the Sahara, on a 50-50 basis with the Compagnie Francaise des Petroles, which is one third owned by the French government.

Other foreign companies entering into similar Sahara projects are Phillips Petroleum, Sinclair, an Indiana Standard Oil subsidiary, a Cities Service subsidiary, Royal Dutch Shell and British Petroleum.

The French company, which cooperated with a wholly government-owned oil company in exploring the Sahara, reports 30 wells there are now producing. One pipeline is being built through Algeria to the Mediterranean, to start operating early next year. A second, through Tunisia, is to be finished in 1961.

Next year it is expected to start off with 33 1/2 million barrels a year flow.

The French government will take the first half of the proceeds from the oil. American companies will get one half of the remainder.

But they insist it's a good risk and that a growing French consumption of oil products makes their markets here tempting.

Letters Will Be Sent In Pipeline

NEW YORK—George S. Patterson, president of the Buckeye Pipe Line Company and chairman of the Pipe Line Message Committee of Oil Centennial, Inc., revealed here today that General E.O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, will start the messages from Governors of the nation's oil and gas producing states on their cross-country trip through a crude oil pipeline on May 5.

Patterson said that the launching will take place at 11:00 a.m. (CST) at the Corsicana, Texas, station of the Magnolia Pipe Line Company.

Three to five hundred oil men and local citizens are expected to look on as General Thompson seals microfilm copies of the letters in a specially made container and attaches it to the 20 inch pipe line scraper that will carry them on the first leg of their 1,255 mile journey to Titusville, Pennsylvania, where the oil industry's centennial year Celebration of the Century is centered.

Award $16,560 For Researchers

CHAPEL HILL—The National Science Foundation has awarded a grant of $16,560 to the University of North Carolina School of Medicine to be used for research projects by UNC medical students.

These basic research projects are called "Short Term Research by Medical Students." The grant will be administered by the Dean of the School of Medicine and by a faculty committee of five members.

These research projects are conducted by medical students during the summer months while school is not in session. This grant will provide for eight fellowships a year for the next three summers.

Although the program of summer research for medical students has been in effect at the UNC Medical School for a number of years, this will mark the first summer that it has been supported by a grant from the NSF.

Approximately 40 students are engaged in research work each summer. Each student works under the supervision of a faculty member.

The UNC School of Medicine is one of the few medical schools that requires a written thesis for the M.C. degree. Many of the students use these research projects as the basis of their thesis.

Threatens Seek Help From Reds

CARTHAGE, Tunisia (AP)—An Algerian rebel minister today warned the West if it doesn't persuade France to work out a peace settlement for the Algerian war, the rebel government will seek help from the Communists.

M'hamed Yazid, information minister of the rebel government in exile, issued the warning in an interview here.

"If the West does not make pressure upon France to accept negotiations with us for a peaceful settlement of the Algerian question," he declared, "the situation in North Africa will deteriorate until it becomes a major cold war issue."

Fluoridation Is Hailed At Meet

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—The president-elect of the American Dental Assn. declared Monday that fluoridation "is the greatest story of the dental profession and dental research of the past 100 years."

The speaker, Dr. Paul Jeserich, predicted that within the next 100 years, fluoridation will have such an impact on dentistry as to require a shifting of emphasis in education and training.

Dr. Jeserich, dean of the School of Dentistry at the University of Michigan, was the main speaker at Monday's sessions of the 103rd annual convention of the North Carolina Dental Society.

Noting that the American Dental Assn. is observing its centennial this year, Jeserich compared dentistry of 100 years ago with dentistry today. Despite fluoridation and its reduction of tooth decay, he said, to keep pace with the present ratio of one dentist for every 2,500 people, American dental schools within the next 10 years must double their graduation of 3,500 dentists annually.

Dr. Sandy Marks, a Presbyterian dental missionary to Belgian Congo who helped found the first school of dentistry in that African land, addressed Sunday night's opening session of the convention.

New Talent Remains Neglected In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film industry moguls are always talking about the need for new talent, but they seldom do anything about it.

With a dozen top stars demanding fabulous salaries, new box office draws are a must. Just as urgent is the need for new talent in the creative field of movies.

Two young fellows exemplify this neglect of new creative talent. They are the brother team of Denis and Terry Sanders, who are now hitting the big time.

Terry is tall, slim and 27. Denis is shorter, chunky and 29. They both like to write and cut their own films, though they share the duties with others. Principally, Terry is producer, Denis the director.

"It wasn't easy to convince studios that we could make a picture," said Denis-Terry, "even after we made 'A Time Out of War.'"

"A Time Out of War" was the film the Sanders made while they were students at UCLA. A two-reeler about a Civil War encounter, it won an Academy Award and other film festivals.

Did this convince the major studios? Nope. The boys still had to prove themselves.

They did it by whipping up their

End Watch Over Panama's Coast

PANAMA (AP)—The Organization of American States ended its four-nation air-sea watch for new invasion attempts against Panama's coast Monday night.

OAS military observers prepared to pull out as Panamanian officials said reports of new mystery landings on Panama's Pacific coast appeared false.

A government spokesman said that some 30 men who reportedly landed in small boats Saturday night at Bahia Honda, 150 miles from Panama City, may have been fishermen.

Air observers spotted the landings while scanning the shores for any further invasion attempt by forces opposing President Ernesto de la Guardia's government.

The United States, Colombia, Ecuador and Guatemala partici-

Pilot Films Of New TV Show Impressed Viewer

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Let's address this one to responsible executives in the television networks—ABC, CBS, NBC—with the hope that somebody will try to make a great viewing treat available to you.

My role is frankly that of pitchman. I'm trying to promote a TV series. It is "Theater For a Story," produced on tape by Robert Herridge for CBS films—an independent corporation which can sell its works to anyone.

In the course of my job I see a great many television shows, some of which never reach the home screen. But I've never viewed two finer half-hour TV programs than I just saw in a Manhattan projection room.

The taped shows, produced by Herridge in the projected "Theater For a Story" series, are "A Trip to Czardis," a drama, and trumpeter Miles Davis making his television debut in a laconic half-hour program of jazz.

"A trip to Czardis" is a faithful rendition of the 1932 O. Henry Memorial Award short story by Edwin Granberry. A tale of innocence and helplessness in the face of tragedy, it concerns two boys in the Florida scrub pine country many years ago who

Churchill Arrives For Visit With Old Friends

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sentimental journey has brought Sir Winston Churchill to Washington once again "to see some of my comrades of wartime days."

Sir Winston, now 84, stepped slowly and carefully from the plane Monday as Eisenhower and a crowd of about 500 persons welcomed him at Washington's National Airport.

But his voice was clear and vigorous. The Churchill wit was there too.

"I always love coming to America, but I shall not say—as most people who are traveling nowadays about the world seem to do—everything I think," he remarked.

Eisenhower grinned, and the crowd laughed, at this apparent reference to another wartime figure, Lord Montgomery, retired British field marshal, criticized American leadership in a television program just before a recent trip to Moscow for conferences with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Churchill's last visit to this country was in June 1954, when as prime minister he came for a series of official conferences with Eisenhower. This visit is described

Eighteen Voted In Grimesland

GRIMESLAND—A slate of five candidates was elected to serve as Grimesland's board of aldermen as they ran without opposition yesterday.

The five will be sworn in July 1. Registrar Mrs. Ben F. Buck said only 18 of the 138 registered voters cast ballots yesterday.

Those elected to the board and the number of votes they received are: Josh T. Bell, 17; Mrs. Lelia Bell Hoell, 15; Leslie Elks, 16; J. Dalton Heath, 17 and R. Fred Elks, 15.

The five aldermen will choose a mayor from among themselves after they are sworn in. Prior to this year Grimesland's mayor has been elected by popular vote. A town code change made since the last election put the new system of choosing a mayor in effect for this election.

Leslie Elks is the town's present mayor, appointed to the position after Ernest Elks resigned from the job. Mrs. Hoell and Heath are present members of the board who were re-elected. Bell and Fred Elks will be newcomers to the board of aldermen when the group is sworn in July 1.

Present board members L. A. Moore and Dan White did not seek re-election.

FARM WORKERS OFF TO MOREHEAD-BEAUFORT AREA—Fifteen to twenty Negro farm laborers left this morning for Carteret County to cut cabbage. The local Employment Security Commission office assisted farmers in the Carteret area in obtaining the workers. Farm Placement Interviewer Douglas Amerson said any workers interested in obtaining jobs in the area may contact his office. The workers will be paid 60 to 75 cents per hour and transportation and lodging are provided free of charge. The workers are expected to be in the area four to five weeks. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Payton Says Lie Detector Confirms Story; Will Sue

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Union official Boyd Payton, a key figure in the bitter Henderson textile strike, said today the story of a March 26 attack on him has been completely supported by the results of a lie detector test.

Payton said a private detective, Lloyd B. Furr, gave him the polygraph test in Washington last Thursday.

Payton, Carolina director of the Textile Workers Union of America, said Furr informed him that the test "supports my statement in full."

According to Payton, an object was hurled through the windshield of his auto as he was driving to Henderson March 26. He said he suffered severe cuts.

Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell announced later that a probe by the State Bureau of Investigation showed that no object could have been thrown through the car window and that Payton's story was a hoax.

Payton said he intends to file a slander suit against Seawell, "probably this week."

"The results of this test," he added, "will go a long way toward proving the whole story. Of course, there is much more evidence that we have to present."

Annual Lunch Held Yesterday

A former advertising and sales promotion man addressed Greenville ministers and their wives yesterday at the annual luncheon. Now pastor of Vanceboro Methodist Church, the Rev. Jim Jones told of his life in the advertising business with and without Christ.

"At first there was no place in my business for the Lord," he said. "Then alcohol, a thing I had used in my business, began to control me," he added, telling of his eventual conversion.

Mixing humor with his testimony,

Calling Inquest Tomorrow Night

An inquest into the death of Jefferson McDuffy will be held in the county court room at 7:30 Wednesday night, according to Pitt coroner E. W. Harvey.

The 39-year-old Negro was shot in the leg with a shot gun late Saturday night and apparently bled to death from the wound.

Officers are holding McDuffy's step-son, Jessie Ray Anderson, 18, in connection with the shooting.

Sheriff Ruel Tyson said McDuffy's wife told investigating officers her husband had been drinking and started an argument over two ten-dollar bills McDuffy had given her earlier. She told investigators that McDuffy then chased her into Jessie's room with a pocket knife and Jessie picked up the 410 gauge shot gun and shot him.

REV. JIM JONES

The World War II veteran, related how Christ changed his business practices and how God "poured out blessings in a material way."

Telling the room full of ministers and their wives, how God called him to preach, Jones said "I told the Lord I could not preach, I had just learned how to make money." His wife left a home in Cincinnati for a life in unknown rural parsonages.

The Rev. H. Glenn Haney, former minister of Eighty Street Christian Church, was presented a gift book signed by all Association members. The Rev. William M. Howard, president, presided. The Rev. J. Malloy Owen introduced Mr. Jones. The luncheon was held in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Light Turn-Out In Bethel Vote

BETHEL—Only a light vote was recorded here yesterday as the entire board of commissioners and the mayor ran unopposed for reelection.

There were 31 votes cast in the election which returned five commissioners and Mayor Clifton Everett to office.

The commissioners who were re-elected are: J. M. Butterworth, R. J. Whitehurst, M. L. James, J. R. Cullifer and W. E. Andrews. All the elected officials were sworn in at the commissioners' meeting in July which falls on the first Tuesday of the month.

Farmville Pupils Sweep Annual Field Day Event

Students from Farmville School swept first place honors yesterday in the annual Pitt County Schools Field Day at Guy Smith Stadium.

The Farmville students won by a 27-19 margin over second-place Stokes-Pactolus, Chioed and Pactolus Elementary School tied for third place with 13 points each. Twelve schools were entered in the Field Day program.

Other participating schools and their points included Ayden, 12; Belvoir-Falkland, 6; Bethel, 1; Falkland Elementary, 8; Fountain, 3; Griffin, 0; Grimesland, 5; and Winterville, 7.

Trophies were presented to Farmville, Stokes-Pactolus, Chioed and Pactolus Elementary for leading team standings. Individual first place finishers received medals and blue ribbons while second place winners were given red ribbons and third place winners were awarded white ribbons.

Some Think No Tax Hike Needed

RALEIGH (AP)—Some legislators feel that revised estimates of increased state tax collections for the next biennium have virtually eliminated the necessity of tax increases.

Gov. Hodges told his news conference Monday that estimates on expected revenues for 1959-61 were being raised by 16 million dollars. He said this after taking a look at the encouraging April income tax collections.

The news was greeted warmly by lawmakers. Rep. J. K. Doughton of Allegheny former House speaker, said Monday night he expected estimates to be raised but it was "a little higher than I anticipated."

Asked if it would eliminate the need for tax increases, Doughton said: "I've not been very strong for higher taxes any of the time. I think this is assurance that increases won't be necessary."

Other comments included: House Speaker Addison Hewlett: "I think it helps solve a lot of problems."

Lt. Gov. Luther Barnhardt: "It's very fine news."
