By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector City Editor

Mayor Eugene West was returned to his office yesterday as he defeated veteran Council member J. A. Collins for the city's top elective office.

The 2,909 votes cast yesterday is a record vote for a municipal election.

West won out over Collins by a slim margin of 75 ballots.

At the same time the city's voters placed three new faces on the City Council which will be sworn in next Wednesday. Veteran Council member C. W. Harvey, Jr. was re-elected to his seat. He will be joined by W. S. Stafford, Dr. M. W. Aldridge and Charles M. King.

Lester E. Turnage, a member of the City Council for the past two years, failed to gain enough votes for re-election. The fifth member of the council, W. L. Whedbee, did not seek re-election.

West polled 1,382 votes to defeat the challenger, Collins, whose total vote was 1,307.

In the Council race, W. S. Stafford, a former mayor of the city, was high man in the balloting with a total vote of 1,535. Next high was Dr. Aldridge who received 1,508. King ran third with 1,181 votes and Harvey fourth with 916.

Edwards Winner In Farmville Vote

FARMVILLE — Farmville voters returned Mayor Charles S. Edwards to office for a new two-year term here yesterday while naming three new men to the Board of Commissioners.

Edwards defeated former mayor O. G. Spell by 88 votes in an election which saw more than 93 per cent of the town's eligible voters cast ballots. The unofficial count gave Edwards 641 votes to 553 for Spell.

The new town board, which takes office July 1, will be composed of incumbents John D. Dixon and W. C. (Lumi) Wooten, and newcomers W. E. (Will) Joyner, Howard D. Moye and Oliver Murphrey. The three newcomers were top vote-getters in the balloting, with Moye first, Murphrey second and Joyner third.

Incumbent Commissioner Frank K. Allen, who went on the board for the first time in 1957, was eighth in the nine-man field for the five commission seats.

In the voting for commissioners, Moye drew 740 votes, Murphrey polled 725, Joyner got 697, Wooten got 673 and Dixon got 667. Other candidates and their votes were Cedric Davis, 651; W. R. Duke, 628; Allen, 529; and G. W. (Shorty) Ansley, 250.

A new registration ordered by the present board of commissioners saw 1,274 persons qualify for the election. Of that number, 1,194 cast ballots in the mayor's race, one of the most hotly contested municipal political campaigns in recent years.

This year's race was the third between Edwards and Spell. Edwards, secretary of the Farmville Chamber of Commerce and sales supervisor of the Farmville Tobacco Market, took the mayor's post from Spell in 1955 and defeated him for a second time in 1957.

The races for seats on the Board of Commissioners opened up when Glenn Newton and B. B. Turnage who led the ticket in 1957, did not file this year.

Khrushchev Claims No Berlin Stress Is Ahead

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says there won't be any trouble in Berlin, whatever length and course forthcoming international talks may take.

He made the remarks to a group of visiting West German Socialist editors in Moscow. The interview was carried in several German and Austrian newspapers today.

Khrushchev reiterated, however, that if no agreement on a German peace treaty were reached, the Soviet Union would go ahead and sign a separate one with East Germany.

Then, said Khrushchev, the Allied occupation of West Berlin would come to an end, and control over Western access routes to Berlin must be exercised by East Germans.

It was Khrushchev's warning that the Soviets would cede control rights over Allied communications with Berlin that brought on the German crisis and led to the calling of an East-West foreign ministers conference in Geneva to start next Monday.

Khrushchev said the problem of a European security system should not be linked with a peace treaty for Germany. This was an apparent rejection of a package plan for settling European problems that the West has ready to present at Geneva.

He said that a German peace treaty was the top issue for the present.

He said the Soviet Union was agreeable to the withdrawal of all foreign troops from East and West Germany.

Steel Producers Consider Mutual Aid During Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The chief negotiator for the steel industry said today the industry is considering a mutual assistance plan to share profits if one or more companies are shut down by a strike, instead of the entire industry being struck.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for U.S. Steel Corp. and the steel industry, told newsmen steel producers are considering a mutual aid strike plan similar to one adopted last fall by major airlines when faced with a rash of separate strikes.

Cooper emphasized that the industry right now is concentrating on reaching a new contract agreement before present pacts expire June 30.

David J. McDonald, union president, also stressed in a joint news conference with Cooper that the union too is not considering any strike at the moment, either piecemeal or industrywide.

"We're not a strike-happy union," McDonald said. "We want to reach an amicable agreement right here in the Roosevelt Hotel before June 30."

Present contracts expire June 30 when an industrywide strike could occur, although both union and management negotiators pledged an all-out drive to reach a peace pact before then.

In a key bargaining session between the union and U.S. Steel the subject was foreign competition.

This has been minimized by the union, but the industry said: "Aided by favorable investment conditions abroad, modernized and expanded steel plants, and a wide advantage in wage costs, foreign steel producers have recently demonstrated their new ability to compete with American producers — not only for world markets but also for the U.S. market."

The industry said the "only important effective solution is less disparity between the labor costs of steel production in the United States and abroad."

The union's response is that present inroads of foreign steel is only temporary and sharply rising productivity of the American industry will keep it favorably competitive.

The dozen negotiating sessions are expected to boil down to industrywide talks represented by four-man teams from the union and industry.

William G. Caples, vice president of Inland Steel, which has its main producing facilities in the Chicago area, proposed a one year freeze on present wages averaging $3 an hour.

Caples said "the general good of all concerned would be served best if the status quo was maintained for a year." But similar proposals by other steel companies have been rejected by steelworkers President David J. McDonald.

Caples said in a statement U.S. steelworkers are "envied by workers all over the world, including those of other industries of the United States." He said they enjoy high wages and security.

The union's economic statement, however, said industry claims of steelworkers' earnings are exaggerated on the basis of government and independent studies of minimum living standards needs.

Moreover, the union contended practically all other groups of workers in America are receiving wage boosts and steelworkers must get one too.

Wages in the basic steel industry now average $3.03 an hour. The average steel price is estimated at $150 a ton. The current three-year contract brought the workers a package gain of 62½ cents an hour. Steel prices went up $24.50 a ton during the contract term.

Incumbents Win In Fountain Vote

FOUNTAIN — Fountain voters returned all incumbent candidates to office for new two-year terms in municipal elections here yesterday.

Mayor J. M. Horton was given a fourth term in his office with opposition on only one write-in ballot. Incumbent commissioners W. C. Redick, F. D. Turnage and C. G. Smith easily defeated two announced newcomers and two write-in selections.

Mayor Horton received 156 votes to one for J. E. Owens, a write-in choice of one voter. Turnage led the balloting for the Board of Commissioners with 131 votes, followed by Redick, with 118 votes, and Smith, with 101.

Newcomers to the commissioners' race, E. E. Ellis and J. L. Peele, got 83 and 89 votes, respectively. Two write-in votes for commissioner went to J. H. Hinson and A. C. Gay got one write-in vote.

Horton, president of the Bank of Fountain, has been mayor for the past six years. The holdover Board of Commissioners is composed of a service station operator, Redick; a retired mail carrier who is now farming, Turnage; and a feed mill operator, Smith.

A total of 184 votes were cast in the election.

Calmly Describe Murder Of Sons

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A mother and her unemployed boy friend calmly told officers Tuesday how they planned and carried out the murder of her two young sons.

The couple, who had been in San Diego only two weeks, were quoted by sheriff's deputies as saying they killed the boys last Saturday "because they were bad" and left their bodies in the mountains east of here.

Kenneth Archie Merriam, 36, an unemployed painter, told officers and reporters he strangled the boys at the suggestion of their mother, Wanda Brogdon, 33.

"She talked me into it," Merriam said. "It's a shame." He had been asked to explain why he strangled David Wayne Brogdon, 3, and Virgil Brogdon Jr., 5.

Merriam put his own hands to his head and neck in demonstrating how he choked the boys.

Dist. Atty. Don Keller said Merriam and Mrs. Brogdon would be arraigned on two counts of murder.

They are accused of taking the boys—along with a 19-month-old sister, Cynthia, who was not harmed—into the Laguna Mountains about 50 miles east of here where Merriam confessed he took first the older boy and then the younger boy from the car and strangled them.

Sheriff's Lt. Tom Isbell said the mother told the boys "that they wouldn't need their shoes because they wouldn't be coming back."

The couple, after a round of bars early Tuesday, returned to the murder scene, put the bodies in their car, and drove to the home of Merriam's sister, Margaret Schmitter, in suburban Spring Valley.

When Mrs. Schmitter learned what had happened she telephoned the sheriff's office, saying: "There are two dead kids in the car and they're going to get me."

Mrs. Schmitter said later she served Merriam and Mrs. Brogdon coffee to keep them from leaving before deputies arrived.

Merriam, Mrs. Brogdon and the three children came here from Rockford, Ill., where Merriam said they met when both lived in the same apartment.

In Rockford Virgil Brogdon, 42, father of the boys, said he and his wife had been separated a year. He filed suit for divorce, charging his wife with desertion, April 16.

Raising Possibility Of Nat'l Guard In Henderson

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—The possibility loomed today that National Guardsmen will be sent to the textile strike scene here to replace highway patrolmen who have been helping maintain law and order.

Gov. Hodges told his news conference Monday it was possible this would happen if local officials request such action.

Henderson Mayor Carroll Singleton said Tuesday he and Sheriff E. A. Cottrell plan to send a telegram to the governor requesting that Guardsmen be sent in if the patrolmen are removed from strike duty.

Singleton said he would send the wire after the Legislature has formally ratified a bill spelling out the power of Guardsmen to make arrests when called out on an emergency duty. The bill was enacted Tuesday when the Senate concluded in a House amendment. Meanwhile, police reported that the strike scene at the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills was quiet Tuesday afternoon and night when workers entered and left the plants.

Singleton was reelected mayor in Tuesday's municipal election. Unofficial returns gave him 1,980 votes to 538 for W. L. Adcox and 115 for James Harold Ranes, a former policeman and son of a union local official.

Testimony in the trial of a case stemming from picket line violence began Tuesday in Vance Superior Court after more than a day and a half was spent in selecting a jury. Leonard Barham, a striker, is charged with assault and property damage.

Barham is one of a number of defendants awaiting trial at a special three-week term on charges growing out of strike violence.

At Washington, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC) announced the Senate Rackets Committee will begin hearings within the next three or four weeks on violence which has marred the Henderson strike since the mills reopened on limited operations Feb. 16.

She asked that substitute workers feel responsible for the hours they sign up to work and not plan other meetings at that time.

Mrs. James T. Little, Coffee Shop chairman, reported that inventory had been taken at the shop. She requested all provisional members meet at the hospital Tuesday to discuss coffee shop duties. No outside orders of chicken salad will be sold at the Coffee Shop in the future. Mrs. Little discussed plans for enlargement of the Coffee Shop next fall.

Reporting for the nominating committee, Mrs. Milo Smith presented a slate of officers for the next year. They were Mrs. Norman Pierce, recording secretary; Mrs. Leonard Bloxam, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Charles Wilkerson, treasurer.

This slate was approved unanimously by the members. These officers will be duly installed at the luncheon meeting May 27. The Executive Board will meet May 15 and all chairmen and officers are asked to bring their yearly written reports.

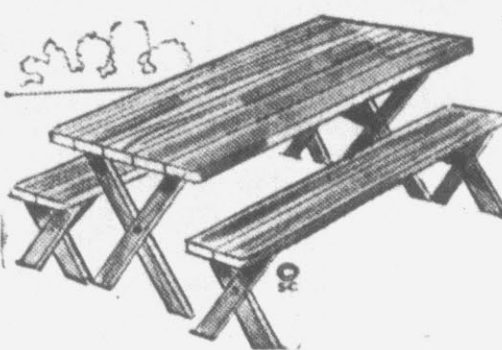

Officers To Be Elected
Election of officers of the American Home Department will take place Friday evening at 6 o'clock when the group meets for an outdoor hamburger supper at the home of Mrs. Eli Bloom. In case of rain, the meeting and supper will be postponed. All new members for the past year will be recognized at the session.

Biggest Issue Is Measure's Value

North Carolinians for the most part did not send legislators to Raleigh to vote for or against a measure tagged pro-administration or anti-administration.

Tar Heel voters sent their legislators to Raleigh to enact laws and chart the direction of state government in the best interest of North Carolina as a whole.

When the House takes up the proposed highway reorganization bill this week, the proposal should be considered on its merits and on its merits alone. It should not be decided on the basis of whether it is tagged pro-administration or anti-administration legislation.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Walter Jones of Farmville, proposed the State Highway Commission be changed from the seven-man body authorized by the 1957 General Assembly back to a 14-man board with one member coming from each of the highway divisions of the state.

Obviously, there is a demand from the grass roots level to bring the Highway Commission back into closed contact with the people of the state. The close contact which formerly existed was obliterated when the seven-man commission was formed. Many people in many areas throughout the state have felt that under the present system the people of the state have little if any voice in the highway program.

While the new proposal would not remove the state-wide highway viewpoint which was sought in the 1957 re-organization, it would provide the people of the state with more ready access to members of the State Highway Commission.

The proposed reorganization offers a number of advantages over the present commission organization, and at the same time it has no serious liabilities so far as carrying out a good highway program for North Carolina is concerned.

To argue whether the proposal is pro or anti-administration is not the paramount issue involved and members of the House should not allow that consideration to become a paramount issue in debating the bill.

So far as the legislators are concerned, their vote on the bill should be determined solely on the basis of whether the reorganization is in the best interest of the people of North Carolina.

The Daily Reflector feels it is.

Pressure Relaxes For Hold-The-Line Crowd

The $16 million upward revision in state revenue estimates for the coming biennium has taken a great deal of pressure off the hold-the-line advocates in the legislature.

It has cleared the way for legislators to give the green light to a number of needed appropriations not included in original budget recommendations without winding up with any red figures. It also eases the legislative tension which has been mounting in anticipation of a bitter struggle between the hold-the-liners and others who felt that essential needs of the state had not been met by the original recommendations.

Among the most pressing of these needs which were not met in the original budget recommendations were those pertaining to schools and institutions of the state. With the additional $16 millions in revenues now in sight for the next biennium, the legislature should give further consideration to bringing appropriations more in line with the requests that these needs be met.

The additional $16 million, to be sure, is not enough to fill all the budget requests which have been received by the legislature over and above recommendations of the governor and the Advisory Budget Commission. Even so, this additional windfall of revenues should place the legislature in a position to increase appropriations sufficiently to assure that more of the essential needs of the state will be met during the coming biennium.

It is also important that this additional money will enable the state to increase its appropriations without increasing the existing tax burden upon the people of North Carolina. On top of that, the hike in revenue estimates also points to a continued upward turn in North Carolina's economy during the next two years which should be good news for all the people of the state.

Both Had That Extra Quality

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two aging men out of the history books who visited Washington this week — Harry S. Truman and Sir Winston Churchill — had in good measure what any leader of history needs as a minimum: courage, vision, and determination.

Some never had much more than that. Others had something extra: flamboyance, or extravagance, or daring, or recklessness, or cruelty, or cunning, or patience or great compassion.

Both Truman and Churchill had an extra something — call it an attitude — which set the tone of their leadership in such a way that it symbolized the spirit of their countrymen at a time of great trouble.

Churchill, who worked under more terrible handicaps, will surely hold the larger place in history. But Truman, responding to the less glittering requirements of his time, shaped and changed the world.

Churchill, by his mastery of Britain's greatest pride, its language, articulated for the masses of his countrymen their reactions to terror and barbarism.

He did more than that. He became their rallying point. The nobility of his phrasing — so plain and understandable that all could identify themselves with him — gave Britons a sense of historic mission.

If any man in history can be said to have carried his people to victory with him on the sheer strength of his indomitable and incorruptible spirit, it was Churchill.

Truman had tone of a different kind, but only in details. Less colorful. That was sure. Less articulate, too. But his attitude was the same.

He was never able to be the magic of his language — for he lacked the knowledge, the feeling and the mastery of Churchill in that field — to lift his people to heights that exceeded their own imagining.

But then, of course, Truman never had to. His problems were different and he did not have to arouse his country from its shattered ruins, to confront its crises.

Nevertheless, many millions of his fellow Americans were able in one way or another to identify themselves with him.

He was a plain, unpretentious man, self-made, self-confident, with a quick temper, a quick response to danger, and a profound sense of the importance of remaining free.

With this natural and well-understood foundation, what Truman symbolized when danger from the Soviet Union came was America's own historic conception of itself: A strong land which wishes no ill will to anyone, will endure pressure but only up to a point, is willing to fight for what it believes is right, and confidently believes in the ability of human beings to achieve a good life if given a chance.

There was a measure of self-interest in this country's willingness, under Truman's leadership, to pump billions of dollars in economic aid into Western Europe. It helped stop the onrush of communism.

But there were also sympathy and concern for both the welfare and the freedom of the Western Europeans. They were given another chance, at American expense, to achieve a good life.

When Stalin began his first postwar pressure on Greece and Turkey, Truman unhesitatingly reversed the whole historic course of America's peacetime isolationism by rushing aid to the Greeks and Turks.

This action was more than an historic reversal of America's foreign policy. Through it Truman acknowledged and accepted for the United States the responsibility thrust upon it by the second World War. The immediate effect was to stop communism in southern Europe.

When Stalin tried his luck with the Berlin blockade, he was thwarted again with the bold and imaginative Berlin airlift.

In all these things, which required American sacrifices, Truman had the support of his country. When Stalin for the last time in his life tested American willingness to go to any lengths to stop him, and let the Korean War begin, Truman answered instantly by taking the United States into war.

Communism was stopped cold. It was the last time the Reds tried direct aggression.

Between the decade seventy and eighty. One had been a quite distinguished man but always a bit of an invalid. Early in his seventies he adopted some new health rules and is going stronger at eighty than he was at fifty. The other man changed his mode of life slightly, found by physical checkup that he needed a little medication, and then, when he thought his career was over, plunged into new activity and is now regarded by all who know him as a man of real distinction.

We should work as long as we live, even if we live to the middle-eighties or to ninety. Age is not tied up exclusively with the calendar as we sometimes believe it to be. It is also a matter of continuing purpose.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

ACTIVE TO THE LAST

Nothing is harder on one's morale than the feeling that his career has come to an end. People who retire are frequently unhappy. They conclude that they are on the shelf now and that there is nothing to do about it.

As a matter of fact, no one should ever consider his career closed until he lies upon his death bed. No one should ever give up all activity and settle down to take things easy. There is still work in the world for the old men to do as well as for the young.

Recently my attention was called to two elderly men who have had two distinguished careers

This Brochure Is A Gem

A sixteen-page publication describing the history and role of tobacco in America has been prepared by The Tobacco Institute, Inc.

It's a gem.

At one time or another, just about every industry, field of business, governmental agency, lobbying group and promoters come up with a brochure. Some are good, some are indifferent. The Tobacco Institute came up with a really good one.

Illustrations include photographs, a chart, reproductions of paintings and old engravings. Some pictures come from the New York Public Library, the Arens Collection, the Bettmann Archive, the Free-Lance Photographers Guild . . . and similar other good sources.

The text is a delightfully simple, colorful and wide-ranging story of the ancient weed. It is neither too long nor too short. The editors encompassed precisely what they wanted to say in exactly the right number of words to avoid an atmosphere of pedagogy or of casual coverage.

Of course, all the details of the tobacco story couldn't be told in five thousand pages; but how many people are going to read 5,000 pages? The amazing thing is that so much can be compressed into so little space.

James P. Richards, president and executive director of the Institute writes in a brief foreword that "Hold a leaf of tobacco in your hand and you hold important Americana. Tobacco cannot be separated from the record of agricultural growth in our country, of our nation's economy and of the social customs of our people." Those sentences summarize the whole pitch.

That isn't a North Carolina story; it involves all the tobacco-producing areas, such as Maryland, Virginia, both Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, Missouri and Alabama, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin and Minnesota areas are not forgotten.

Whether one approves or disapproves of tobacco, the fact remains it has played a big role in the development of America from the time of the early colonies to the present. Tobacco made secure England's uncertain foothold in North America and built up a pattern of trade. Tobacco helped finance the American Revolution and has since become a major source of revenue for many governments.

One is reminded that prior to establishment of the income tax in 1913, for many years the second largest return to the Internal Revenue Bureau came from the impost on manufactured tobacco and related taxes. Over $2.5 billion is now collected annually from tobacco taxes.

But all this is the statistical side. The brochure does not neglect the romance.

Inasmuch as this is a tobacco-conscious part of the land, it occurred to me that a great many people would be interested in this venture of the Tobacco Institute.

Copies are being distributed without charge by The Tobacco Institute, Inc., 910 Seventeenth St., N.W., Washington 6, D.C. You might be able to get one.

One of the trends in newspaper work that is regarded with growing fear is the tendency of government officials to deny the public information.

This goes from the township to the national level. Newspapers, radio and TV stations are fighting this with everything at their command. The most flagrant cases are in Washington where bureaucrats decide what the American people are entitled to know. Newspapers have no quarrel with suppression of news concerning national safety. But this is carried far into other fields. There is only one basis on which to go. The public is entitled to every fact about every governmental operation, outside of national safety. — Marion (Iowa) Sentinel.

British Wit Is Quick?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — As if our world weren't already topsy-turvy enough, now along comes a Frenchman who says the English can see the point of a joke quicker than Americans.

"The English have a very good sense of humor," said Robert Dery, star, author and director of the hit Broadway revue, "La Plume de ma Tante."

"They love gags. It's funny, because they seem so strait-laced and serious."

"They can see a gag coming. They laugh quicker, louder — and shorter — than here. They give a sharp laugh, then quit, and you have to have another gag ready."

"The Americans laugh slower and longer."

Dery also has found a difference between French and American audiences.

"I like it here because the audience comes to the theater ready to laugh and enjoy itself," he said. "In France they go to see whether you can make them laugh. There is a difference."

Dery, the slender, mobile-faced son of a Chicago miller, has been in some 20 films. He is also one of the busiest revue directors in Paris.

"Few revues in Paris last as long as six months," he said. "And people there book their tickets only a few days ahead at most."

"Here a man and his wife may buy their tickets as much as four months ahead. Then on the night of the show their seats are empty. When I see this it makes me mad. I can only suppose they have died in the meanwhile."

One American theatrical custom which both Dery and Collette, his blonde wife and costar, find an utter abomination is the matinee.

"Collette has 17 costume changes. On matinee days she has to change her clothes 34 times. If she did nothing but this, she would be tired," he said.

Asked what impressed them most about America, Collette said, "I can only suppose this is the way they live. They are so busy. They are so heavy. We have nothing like them in England or France," he said.

The Derys have found Manhattan a cultural wonderland.

"I cannot understand your buffet parties," said Dery. "They are so crowded there is no place to sit down."

"I went to one buffet party where there were 200 or 300 guests. I glanced into a bathroom, and there was a young lady enjoying her meal all by herself. It was the only place she could find to sit down."

"Problem of automobile producers is to design a car that is a thing of beauty and joy for 12 months."—Miami Herald.

"A small town is a place where everybody knows most of your business, and the nose set is always trying to find out the rest of it."—Sparta (Ga.) Ishmaelite.

"Communism, in one century, has gained vastly over more people than Christianity in twenty centuries. With socialism, its younger brother in short pants, Communism is mopping up the world. Can we stop it? Nobody else can and we can only if we get our own snowball rolling, pushed by dedicated men who believe in freedom, have the integrity to stand up for it, the intelligence to recognize the enemy in its disguised forms, and the moral faith by which alone freedom can survive."—Hartford (Wisc.) Times-Press.

New Lottery To Tap U.S. Dollars

By ELMER ROESSNER

Another Irish lottery is extending operations to the United States. Its promoters hope it will pump as much money out of this country as does the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes.

It has this advantage over the hospital sweeps. Instead of prizes based on three horse races a year, it will pay prizes weekly on games of the county soccer teams.

The lottery is the Gael-Linn, with headquarters in Grafton St., Dublin. It was started in 1953 and is now operating in 32 countries, most of which are more tolerant of a bit of gambling than the United States is, officially.

Unlike the British football pools, players in the Gael-Linn need know nothing about soccer or the teams. Such knowledge is useless.

There are 32 county teams, playing almost every week. Results of 14 games each week determine lottery winners.

Tickets are 25 cents a week, and $1 tickets for four weeks are the smallest units sold. Each ticket bears the numbers of certain teams, and teams are assigned different numbers each week. For example, 14 might be the number of the Galway team one week and the Donegal team the next.

The top prize each week is $6,000 giving each ticket-holder the possibility — rare, "his true" — to win $24,000 for his dollar.

SEVEN PRIZES
The first prize goes to the holder of the ticket whose numbers correspond with the six teams making the highest scores. There are also prizes for the six lowest, the five highest and the one lowest, the five lowest and the one highest, the four highest and the two lowest, the four lowest and the two highest, and the three lowest and three highest.

There will be two or more sets of prizes, to make sure there are winners in both the United States and Ireland.

The importation of tickets into the United States, and the circulation of tickets through the mails, is contrary to Federal laws. But the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes gets its tickets in and throughout the country so freely that the Gael-Linn promoters expect little trouble.

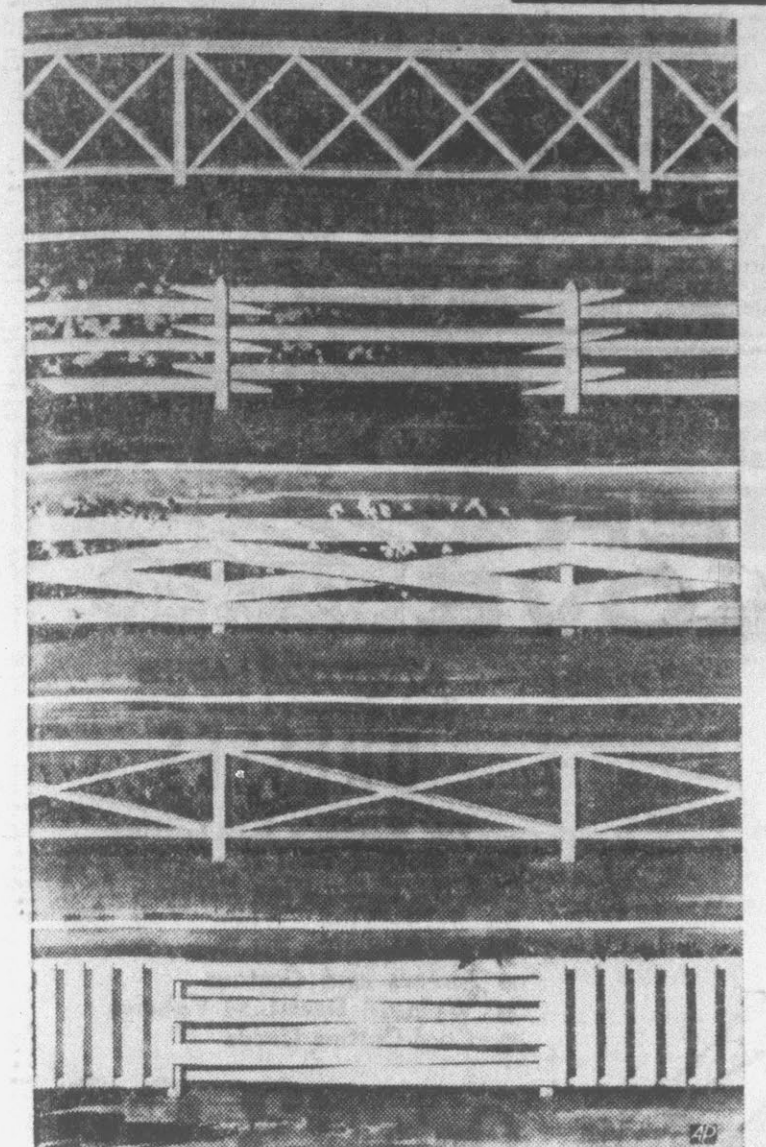

The first pool in which American-owned tickets figure will be for the week of June 7.

So you can expect to see more Irish soccer results appear in the Irish weeklies and, perhaps, in other papers here. And you can expect the young fellow in the shipping room, a stenographer in the next office, and a stranger in a bar to say to you, "How about it, pal? Want a ticket in the Irish soccer pool?"

ON THE HOUSE

SOMETHING TO PICK FROM—Here are five types of fences. The top four are variations of the "stretcher" style. The one at bottom is a combination of basketweave and vertical board.

By ANDREW C. LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Like houses, wooden fences come in a variety of styles. And like houses, they can be made to fit your pocketbook.

The best way to cut the cost of a good fence is to build it yourself. Even if you do not have anything except ordinary tools, you should be able to install an attractive wooden fence because of the tendency of many lumber dealers to carry basic fencing styles in packages of pre-cut materials.

The most important factor to consider in choosing your fence design is to determine the degree of privacy and protection you want as well as the appearance that best suits the style of your house and neighborhood. Wooden fencing styles can range from the open-view simplicity of the pocket fence to the dramatic, maximum-privacy afforded by the new basket-weave design. Before deciding on the size and type of your fence, take a drive around the community. You probably will get many ideas from the ingenuity and planning of others.

Vertical lines can become tiresome if carried on a straight run of more than 100 feet. If you need a string of fencing, you should plan your design to capture the horizontal line of the "stretcher" fence or the post-and-rail.

In setting the lumber, be sure to find out whether the wood is already preservative-treated or whether the design of your choice is available in one of the naturally decay-resistant woods. If you have to treat the lumber yourself, it usually is a simple matter of dipping the wood into a preservative at a reasonable cost.

When you have all the needed materials on hand for actual construction, stake out the fence location with mason's twine or fish-line about a foot above the ground and then mark the post locations. When strength is required, post-holes should be two feet deep and not more than eight feet apart. One or two shovels of portland cement can then be dry-mixed with the soil and tamped firmly around the post — with water added at intervals until the posthole is filled. If your fence is to serve primarily to confine children and-or pets, rather than for a purely decorative purpose, it should be at least four feet in height.

Here are some other installation hints:

Use an auger for digging post-holes in rock-free soil; a clamshell digger for rocky soil.

Use a carpenter's spirit level to be sure posts are vertical and stringers level.

For drainage, put a 2-inch layer of gravel in the posthole.

Use non-rusting nails to prevent later staining of the finished surface.

Drive nails at least one inch from the end of the board to avoid possible splitting as the lumber weathers with age. Where nails have to be located closer to the ends of fence boards, holes should be drilled for the nails to prevent splitting.

A good rule-of-thumb for fence finishes is to harmonize the color with that of your house. You can paint the fence to match either the trim of your house or the house itself. Or you can use the color of your fence to contrast pleasingly with the house color, setting it off as a picture frame does the painting.

The trend today is toward the natural look in fences. Natural stain emphasizes the warm, woody look that blends well into the browns and greens of garden and lawns. But whatever the style or finish, a tastefully-planned and sturdily-installed fence increases the value and beauty of your home.

Music Students To Give Recital

By SHIRLEY WHITEHURST

Music students of Mrs. J. Henry Whitehurst will present their recital Friday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Students who will participate in the recital include Cherry Ann Lewis, Claudia Barnhill, Jane Forbes, Olivia Whitchard, Marsha Perkins, Linda Faye James, Jo Ann James, Jimmy Congleton, Jeffrey Rawls, Betsy Rogers, Ann Edwards, Brenda Gray, Kathy Watson, Jewel Perkins, Jill Warren, Shirley Meeks, Diane Whitehurst, Judy Bullock, Judy Warren, Jennie Katherine Forbes, Jean Fleming, Rosalyn Fleming, Helen Briley and Angeline Haddock.

Members of the Junior Class sponsored a "Spring Frolic" last Friday night in the school gymnasium. Decorations included pines and crepe paper streamers. Refreshments were served from a candle-light table.

Astaire May Be Big Emmy Star

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Television's big annual show—the Emmy awards—beams tonight. Most eyes here are expected to be on Fred Astaire and an unnamed guy with a stopwatch.

The ageless Astaire is the favorite of the Vine Street bettors to become Emmy's man of the year. His single program, which took months of rehearsal time to get that relaxed look, has nominations in three major categories.

Most of the so-called experts figure that Astaire will be called to the podium three times—for best single program, best special musical or variety program and best single performance by an actor.

The fellow with the stopwatch comes into his own tonight. The Television Academy doesn't want any repeat of what happened to the annual Oscar show on April 6 when 100 stars were left on stage with nothing to do—and 21 minutes of TV time to fill.

It's more likely that there won't be time enough tonight as the 90-minute show is faced with how to get rid of winners in 42 categories among 197 nominees. Some technical awards will be handed out before showtime.

The golden statuettes will be awarded by the biggest names in television — Dinah Shore, Jack Benny, Ed Sullivan, Shirley Temple and others.

No official reason was given for this omission, but it's remembered that last year Danny Thomas took too long to tell one of his famous jokes, and Milton Berle turned his turn into an audition—one that stole the show and got him back on television after a two-year layoff.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon will present the award for the best news and public service program. He will be cut in from Washington. Most of the show will originate at the Moulin Rouge here, with cut-ins to New York for the winners there.

Gracie Allen has the chance to become the first winner while re-

Summer Arts And Crafts Workshop Offered At East Carolina College

The department of art at East Carolina College announces the scheduling of Art 370G, an Arts and Crafts workshop, during the first two weeks of the summer session, June 9-19. The workshop will be held for three hours every afternoon during the period, and is open to any student of senior or graduate standing.

Planned especially for the eletired from show business. She is nominated for best actress in a comedy series—for her work before she quit.

Another interesting race has three Western stars shooting it out with three private eyes for the best dramatic series actor. They are James (Gunsmoke) Arness, Richard (Have Gun, Will Travel) Boone and James (Maverick) Garner versus Raymond (Perry Mason) Burr, Craig (Peter Gunn) Stevens and Efrem (77 Sunset Strip) Zimbalist, Jr.

Airtime is 10 p.m. EDT.

Bob Hope was originally scheduled to appear on the program, which will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company. Hope canceled his appearance when physicians warned him to take a rest.

mentary teacher to help her in her daily classroom work where she is the one who teaches art, the workshop was first instituted last year for the summer session. A total of 102 teachers and college students was enrolled during that session.

This workshop may be used to renew certification or to obtain certification for primary and grammar grade majors, art majors, and school administrators.

The program consists of individual work on problems in arts and crafts decided on by the class. Work planned includes T-Dee loom weaving, enamelling on copper, printmaking with all kinds of materials from potatoes to rubber innertubes, problems in papier mache and paper sculpture, and picture making.

Dr. Wellington B. Gray, director of the department of art, is to be the teacher for the course. For further information those who are interested are asked to contact him or Dean Leo W. Jenkins, East Carolina College.

Propose School Of Ten Months, Eleven Grades

By LYNN NISBET

RALEIGH — Adding one month to the public school term and taking one grade out of the curriculum is Rep. George Uzzell's answer to the problem.

The Rowan legislator introduced a bill Tuesday implementing that idea. He has been talking about it for a long time and has obtained some assurances of support, although mostly the professional school people are not sympathetic.

Uzzell has collected data tending to show that the 12th grade added some years ago has not accomplished the purpose many of its sponsors expected. Instead of providing in high school courses which previously had been taught in college freshman classes, his conclusion is what really happened was practically distributing the work of the eighth and ninth grades into three grades with no great enrichment of the curricula. The intended effect of the Uzzell bill is to reduce the number of teachers required by eliminating a grade, and use the savings to help finance an extra month, thus giving each pupil more real educational opportunity in eleven years than they now get in twelve.

Of course the number of teachers cannot be reduced by one-twelfth because there will be the same number of pupils. On the other side of the picture, Uzzell says an extra month's pay will help to attract and keep good teachers. Certainly the physical facilities could be used more efficiently, he says.

Voters in local elections ground their axes Tuesday, chopped down incumbents right and left, and swept a host of political newcomers into office.

This was the case in Charlotte and Greensboro particularly, and to some extent in many other communities.

But one veteran — Democratic Mayor Marshall C. Kurfess of Winston-Salem — was elected to an unprecedented sixth term.

Kurfess swept past Republican William E. Morrow with greater ease than was the case two years ago. Kurfess polled 6,205 votes to 4,223 for Morrow. In 1957, Kurfess' margin was only 534.

In Charlotte, four members of the Citizens For Better Government ticket were elected to city council, along with two incumbents and one independent. Mayor James S. Smith, who eliminated Mrs. Martha Evans in the April 27 primary, was unopposed for reelection.

The Better Government candidates elected were Herbert Hitch, the top vote-getter, Randolph Babcock, Brevard Myers and Gibson L. Smith. Most were making their first try for public office. The four led in the balloting, and James B. Whittington, the independent, placed fifth. Incumbents Claude Alben and Steve Dellinger placed sixth and seventh.

Incumbents defeated were former Mayor H. H. Baxter, Hermap Brown and Ernest C. Foard. John Hicks, the only Negro candidate, ran 12th.

Greensboro voters sent four new men, including one Negro, to the seven-member city council. The newcomers are William L. Trotter Jr., who led all others, David Schenck, Roy C. Millikan and Waldo Falkner. Falkner was the only Negro candidate. Incumbents reelected were Elbert F. Lewis and E. R. Zane.

In Raleigh, James W. Reid, a newcomer to politics, led the balloting, and two other newcomers were elected to the city council. Four men were returned to office. Those were incumbents William G. Enloe, the mayor, Joe S. Correll, John Coffey and Jesse A. Helms, and newcomers Paul Hoover and Robert L. Sessoms, Jr.

In Gastonia, Mayor Robert A. Ferguson won his second term, polling 2,239 votes to 1,263 for Heber K. Brunner, councilman and mayor pro tem. J. Q. Falls, a 41-year-old Negro insurance man, was unopposed for one of the six city council seats. He succeeds another Negro, Nathaniel Barber, who did not offer again after serving three terms.

Here's the way other elections turned out:

ASHBORO — Mayor John C. Bunch was reelected for a second term without opposition. The five town commissioners elected were Emory C. Loflin and incumbents Tommy Cranford, Bill Trolinger, Hank Klepacki and Lloyd Brown.

BURLINGTON — C. Almon McIver was the top vote-getter and is in line to be elected mayor by other members of the council. Others elected were Jack M. Nuss, William LeLoudis, an incumbent, and Guy E. Parker and Roger Morris.

DAVIDSON — Mayor F. L. Jackson was reelected. Elected to the town board were T. E. Lothery, who has been off the board for two years, and incumbents E. T. McEver, C. A. Potts, J. T. Kimbrough and J. Barry Caldwell.

GRAHAM — The five-member council was reelected. They are Carson Hardie, Myron Ryan; Carlisle Wooten, Thomas Harden and Durwood Stokes.

HENDERSON — Mayor Carroll Singleton was re-elected. He polled 1,980 votes to 538 for W. L. Adcox and 115 for James H. Ramey, son of the president of a Textile Workers Union of America local.

HIGH POINT — Mayor Jesse Washburn was re-elected.

Hopper Tuesday Tax Withholding Bill Hit House

By BUNNY HARRIS

Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — It's beginning to appear that the tax withholding plan is an ugly country cousin on the verge of being accepted.

A bill calling for the withholding of taxes from wages was finally dumped into the legislative hopper Tuesday by Rep. Clifton H. Blue of Moore, chairman of the powerful House finance committee.

The timing was pretty good in that the plan, despite continued opposition, has picked up supporters since the opening of the session and has a better than 50-50 chance of passing.

Important, too, is the fact that the $27.5 million "windfall" which budget experts predicted could be derived from the withholding plan could possibly now be revised upwards to $30 million or more. The budget estimates for total anticipated revenue for the 1959-61 biennium have been raised in the amount of $16 million. A substantial part of that increase is expected to come from individual income taxes. Raising the total estimate would naturally mean more windfall.

If enacted into law, the plan would go into effect Jan. 1, 1960. Deductions would be made each payroll period on the basis of 10 per cent after personal exemptions, but not exceeding $500 per calendar year.

Among those exempted from the withholding plan are agricultural workers engaged in the production, harvesting and transportation of farm products to market; and domestic servants in private homes, local college clubs or local chapters of a college fraternity or sorority.

Wages paid for "odd jobs" not in the usual course of an employer's trade or business, if under $50, would also be exempted from tax withholding.

Pasternak Novel Called 'Trivial'

COPENHAGEN (AP)—The expulsion of Nobel Prize winner Boris Pasternak from the Soviet Writers' Union, was "a trivial affair which everybody in the West may forget within a few years," says Soviet author Mikhail Sholokhov.

Pasternak's disputed novel "Dr. Zhivago" was "artistically a weak book," the visiting author told a news conference.

Romeo & Juliet Opening Tonight

When Shakespeare's "star-crossed lovers" act out their tragic romance in "Romeo and Juliet", opening tonight for a two night run in conjunction with the Greenville Arts Festival, the role of the lovely Juliet will be in the hands of a capable actress with years of training and professional experience behind her.

Lois Garren, who stars in the world famous love story, has appeared only once before to Greenville audiences — in the leading role of Ruth in the Greenville Little Theater production of "My Sister Eileen" two seasons ago. However, many local theater enthusiasts enjoyed her performance in the leading role of Eleanor Dare in Paul Green's "The Lost Colony" at Manteo last summer, a role which climaxed for her several past seasons with the company in such varied capacities as understudy for Eleanor, and Queen Elizabeth, an Indian dancer, assistant choreographer, and as Marjorie Harvey. She has also appeared with the professional companies of "The Founders" and "The Common Glory" in Williamsburg.

LOIS GARREN
... plays Juliet

Before her marriage to Claude Garren, who is now on the English staff at ECC, Lois studied dancing and drama in New York. She was a student at the Ballet Arts School, and has worked under Hanya Holm and dancing star Peter Gennaro. As an actress, she gained considerable experience in television, and has appeared in several productions of the Good-year Theater. Among the outstanding personalities she has worked with she recalls the names of Fred Coe and Gwen Verdon. Also to her credit are three movie roles for EBF films, makers of educational pictures. She has had roles in "Peer Gynt", "Dark of the Moon", "Green Grow the Lilacs", and "Charley's Aunt", and has also appeared with the Carolina Playmakers in "The Crucible" and "The Darkening Storm", with the Utah State Theater in "Sull the Night Wind" and "Suzanna and the Elders".

Also appearing in "Romeo and Juliet" are such veterans of local theater productions as Gus Laube as Romeo, Del Driver as Mercutio, George Perry as Friar Lawrence, Shirley Dixon as Lady Capulet, Bea Chaucey as the Nurse, H. D. Rowe as Capulet, Dick Heller as Benvolio, and Kip West as Peter.

The Shakespearean play, which is a joint production of the ECC Playhouse and the Greenville Little Theater, will be presented free of charge tonight and tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Sylvan outdoor theater on the ECC campus. It is under the direction of Dr. Joseph Withey.

Boy Stabs Young Girl 48 Times

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A boy killed a pretty girl by stabbing her 48 times and seriously slashed her girl companion Tuesday, police said, in a wooded area where they were picking berries.

The dead girl was Kathy Fehler, 12. Her companion was Judy Guillot, 11.

The boy, identified as Edward A. Herty, 13, told police in a signed statement he was helping the girls pick berries when they tried to rob him. Police quoted him as saying he took the knife from one of the girls and stabbed them with it.

All three were white. The wounded child, when Herty, wearing a blood-spattered T-shirt, was brought before her at the hospital, said, "That's him. All I want to know is why he did it."

Herty, about 5-9 and 170 pounds, appeared exceptionally calm. Judy refused to answer the pleas of her mother, Juanita Guillot Struber, to tell her what happened.

"Mother, I don't want to discuss it. I just don't want to discuss it with anyone—not even you. It's too horrible."

Herty was turned over to juvenile authorities to be held for delinquency by "reason of murder and attempted murder."

A friend of the boy's family described him as an honor student and a Boy Scout.

Aging Churchill Visits Ailing American Friends

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a visit that tugged at the heart-strings — timeworn Sir Winston Churchill paying a call on two gravely ill old friends.

Accompanied by President Eisenhower, his host, Britain's former prime minister went to Walter Reed Army Hospital Tuesday afternoon to see cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles and Gen. George C. Marshall, who has suffered two strokes.

Marshall, now retired, was U.S. Army chief of staff in World War II and worked closely with Churchill. Dulles, whose illness forced his resignation as secretary of state last month, also had participated in many a conference with the grand old man from England.

Churchill now is 84 and — as Eisenhower put it at his news conference Tuesday — is showing the wear and tear of advancing age. So it was something of a physical effort for him to go to the hospital from the White House.

He and the President first spent about two minutes with Marshall, who recognized him but could say little. Mrs. Marshall told the visitors, however, that her husband was delighted they had come.

Newsman were not permitted to accompany Churchill and Eisenhower. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty gave reporters an account of the sessions.

It was Hagerty who supplied the picture of deep emotion—a picture of the President escorting one somewhat enfeebled old friend on the visit with two others who are critically sick.

Dulles occupies the suite which Eisenhower himself had when he was ill with ileitis in 1956.

Dulles, wearing a blue and white robe over pajamas, was brought into the room in a wheelchair. It was the first public disclosure that he no longer is doing much walking when out of bed. A State Department spokesman said Dulles still can walk, but finds the wheelchair more convenient.

"It was so good, Sir Winston, of you to come and visit me," Dulles said in shaking hands with Churchill.

"I wouldn't come to Washington without seeing you," Churchill assured him. The Britisher's eyes lighted up when Eisenhower pointed out above the sitting room fireplace an oil portrait of Churchill done by the President.

Churchill, also an amateur artist of note, examined the painting closely and told Eisenhower: "It's good—very good."

On the way to the hospital Eisenhower took Churchill to see an Agriculture Department display of azaleas in bloom. Churchill raises azaleas at his home in England. Tuesday night the President was host at a state dinner honoring his guest. There were 15 others present at the affair in the White House state dining room.

They included Vice President Richard M. Nixon; Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell; Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, the President's brother; the British ambassador, Sir Harold Caccia; and a group of retired U.S. military officers who had prominent World War II roles.

Navajos Barring Retired General

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — A retired Army general has been formally barred from the Navajo reservation by the Navajo Tribal Council Advisory Committee.

Brig. Gen. Herbert Holdridge (Ret.) and Craig Carpenter, a non-Navajo who was with Holdridge when he was arrested last Saturday, were barred by the Council under the terms of an 1868 treaty. The treaty, which is between the United States and the Navajos, allows the tribe to remove "undesirables" from the reservation.

Holdridge attempted a citizens arrest of Navajo Tribal Council Chairman Paul Jones on April 21. He was arrested by Navajo police Saturday on a warrant charging simple assault on Jones.

Obscure Demo Tops McKeldin Of Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Democrat J. Harold Grady offered a modest explanation today for his rocketing from political obscurity to mayor of Baltimore in a few short months.

"You can't attribute this to any political organization," he said after Tuesday night's thumping victory over Republican Theodore R. McKeldin, former mayor and governor of Maryland.

"It just showed the people are turning away from the old faces," Grady suggested.

McKeldin is the second old face turned away by Baltimoreans in favor of Grady this year. The 42-year-old lawyer and former FBI agent, elected to a four-year term as state's attorney only last November, defeated three-time Mayor D'Alesandro in the March 3 Democratic primary.

Until then Grady's only political experience had been as an unopposed 1958 candidate for the prosecutor's job to which he had been appointed a short time earlier. His predecessor had been named to a judgeship in mid-term, and the professional politicians decided to give the young, ruggedly handsome Grady a free ride.

He decided to run for mayor after D'Alesandro failed to win election to the U.S. Senate in November and then announced he would seek a fourth term in City Hall. Returns from 567 of 572 polling places gave Grady 144,025 votes. McKeldin 71,981. Democrats also won seats for comptroller, City Council president and all 20 places on the Council, which they had held before.

The turnout was a shade over 50 per cent of the registered voters, among whom Democrats outnumbered Republicans nearly 4-1. McKeldin, whose reputation as an orator had led to his selection as the principal nominating speaker for Eisenhower in the 1952 Republican National Convention, had successfully overcome this registration disadvantage three times. He was elected mayor in 1943 and governor in 1950 and 1954, the only member of his party to spend two terms in the governor's mansion.

Now 58 and blocked from a third-term bid by the state Constitution, he had sought to prolong his once-brilliant career by becoming the first man to have served as mayor, governor and mayor again.

But this time there were no major Democratic organizations openly in his corner from the start, as there had been in his successful races. It was more like the lonely years in which he lost for mayor, 1939, and for governor, 1942 and 1946.

D. M. Branch Named Huggins' Successor

RALEIGH (AP)—Dr. Douglas M. Branch of Rocky Mount will take office July 1 as general secretary of the Baptist State Convention, succeeding Dr. M. A. Huggins who is retiring June 30.

Dr. Branch, 51, was elected by a standing vote Tuesday night at a special session of the convention. In defeating two other candidates, he received an estimated 80 per cent of the votes of 2,100 messengers (delegates) present.

Other names placed in nomination were the Rev. A. Leroy Parker of Greensboro, convention president, and the Rev. M. O. Owens Jr. of Lenoir.

An 11-member nominating committee had recommended Dr. Branch, a former president of the state convention. Names of the other two candidates were placed in nomination from the floor. After the report of the nominating committee was made the Rev. Joseph Larrimore of Tarboro moved that the nominations be closed and Dr. Branch be elected by acclamation. This was defeated after protests by several messengers.

Following the announcement of Dr. Branch's election, the Rev. Mr. Parker and the Rev. Mr. Owens moved that the election be made unanimous.

Dr. Branch told the convention he was pleading to God "and this convention... whatever abilities, whatever strength shall be at my disposal... I ask simply your patience, your understanding and your prayers."

On recommendation of the General Board, the convention voted that the general secretary's salary be $12,000 a year, with a housing and utilities allowance of $2,600 annually.

Dr. Branch, a graduate of Wake Forest College, attended the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He formerly served pastorates in Scotland Neck and Kaniapolis before being called to the First Baptist Church in Rocky Mount.

Acting on his doctors' advice, Hope canceled a trip to San Francisco Tuesday and another to New York City May 13 in connection with his movie, "Alias Jesse James."

UN Committee Told Of A Future In Space

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States told a Soviet boycott U.N. committee today that the world can expect great things from earth satellites in the fairly near future if every nation cooperates in exploring space.

"In no field of endeavor is co-operation among nations more appropriate or more necessary," U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said in the organization meeting of the U.N. Committee on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space.

"The job is far too big for any one nation, no matter how big or how advanced in technology that nation may be. Every nation has a part to play and all peoples stand to gain from the results."

Lodge did not mention the boycott of the 18-member committee by the Soviet Union.

Delegates of four other members also stayed away. These were Communist Czechoslovakia and Poland, which backed a Soviet charge that there are too many Westerners on the committee; and India and the United Arab Republic, which said that to meet now serves no useful purpose. Representatives of all the other 13 were on hand.

Lodge said that, with full international cooperation, earth satellites in the fairly near future could:

1. Scan the whole earth for weather data and make forecasts possibly weeks in advance;
 2. Become reflectors and repeating stations for radio messages and perhaps be used for intercontinental TV;
 3. Gain geographic details for mapping unexplored lands, and
 4. Possibly enable ships, by tracking satellite radio signals, to calculate their positions within less than a mile in any weather.
- Scientists, he added, hope to set up an astronomical telescope in outer space to view the stars without atmospheric distortion.
- "Finally," he said, "there is the near certainty that man himself will circle the earth in satellites within a few years — and that, sooner or later, he will travel in interplanetary space."

The United States took the lead in pressing for today's meeting, which was to elect officers and set up subcommittees. Military aspects are ruled out of the committee's jurisdiction.

Thursday nations on the committee will present working papers on which the subcommittees can draft special reports before June 15. These will be turned over to the parent committee so it can write a combined report for the General Assembly meeting next fall.

On U.S. initiative, the Assembly set up the committee last Dec. 12 to investigate (1) what the U.N. family is doing about outer space, (2) how the U.N. can foster international cooperation in peaceful uses of outer space, (3) "future organizational arrangements" deemed necessary and (4) legal problems likely to arise.

Other members of the committee beside the United States and the five boycotting nations are Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Britain, Canada, France, Iran, Italy, Japan, Mexico and Sweden.

Student Evaluation Of Teachers Is Under Way

Faculty members at East Carolina College are learning this week what their students think of them as instructors. In an evaluation program conducted in all college classes, students are preparing rating sheets in which they grade the work of their teachers.

The program, second to be carried out at East Carolina, is sponsored by the Dean's Advisory Committee of the Student Government Association. The purpose is "faculty self-appraisal in the light of student opinion."

The committee in charge of the evaluation of the faculty is headed by Dr. Frank G. Fuller of the education department. Other members are Dr. Audrey V. Dempsey of the business department, Ellen C. Fleming of the mathematics department, Dr. Frank A. Scott of the psychology department, and Dr. Robert R. Haurich of the science department.

Faculty members will be given an opportunity to see the ratings given them by their students and will also receive a tabulation sheet in which the ratings given other teachers at the college are indicated. Anonymity of both students and teachers on these individual and collective rating sheets is being carefully guarded.

Questions on the rating sheets cover such aspects of teaching as mastery of subject matter, organization and presentation of material, grading and testing, teacher-student relationships, and personality traits.

Injured Seaman Regains Speech

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A Soviet seaman, unconscious when rushed here in an international air-sea rescue mission nearly a month ago, is now talking—both Russian and English.

Evgenij Ivanovich Gneushev, 23, Vladivostok, "has completely regained his ability to speak," a bulletin from Elmendorf Air Force Base Hospital said Monday.

Gneushev was transferred to the hospital here April 9 by U.S. Coast Guard cutter and amphibian, four days after he was injured in a fall into a hole of a Soviet refrigerator ship.

Not So Hot In Starting A Fire

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Huntington firemen are not so hot when it comes to starting fires.

They set fire to a vacant house as part of a training program for rookie firemen. Then they pulled an alarm box lever.

The rookies rushed to the scene. Only trouble was—when they got there, the fire was out.

The veteran firemen took a half hour to get the blaze going good again. It took the rookies nine minutes to put out the flames.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Are you satisfied with this salary?" the judge asked.

"Well, I think it's pretty good," replied actress-singer Connie Stevens. "I'm only 20."

The judge then approved a seven-year Warner Bros. contract which starts the pretty blonde at $300 a week and will pay her $1,250 weekly in seven years if all options are exercised.

Loses Count Of His Re-Elections

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP)—Barring an unexpected write-in campaign, Harry Clissold, 66, will be elected to his 12th or 13th term as mayor next Tuesday.

"It's been so long I can't remember," Clissold said when asked the date of his first election. It was 1935 or 1937.

"I've been trying to get someone to take the mayor's job for years, but just can't seem to get rid of it," he remarked.

Winterville Wins Baseball Crown

A seven-run outburst in the fourth inning paved the way yesterday for 8-5 Winterville victory over Chocoma to settle the Pitt County Conference's 1958 baseball championship.

Winterville will represent the county in a playoff game Friday at 3 p.m. at East Carolina College, against Gatesville, Gates County champion. The winner of that game will play next week for the District One, Class A championship.

The Wolves' big seven-run fourth inning was highlighted by a bases-loaded triple by Wilton McLawhorn. It also included singles by Tommy Braxton, Lee Worthington, Bobby Hoggood and Richard Gorman.

Braxton went the distance for Winterville, giving up six hits, striking out five and walking three. All of Chocoma's runs off him were unearned.

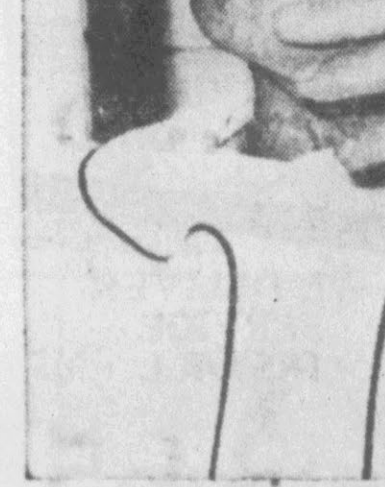

Chocoma's big hit in the game was an inside-the-park home run, by Hudson, in the third inning. Two men were on base at the time.

Hudson led Chocoma's hitting with three hits in four trips to the plate. Hoggood had three for three and Gorman had two for four for Winterville.

Yesterday's game, played on the East Carolina College diamond, was a playoff game for the county championship. Both Winterville and Chocoma completed the regular season with 7-1 records in conference play.

Scoring summary:
Chocoma . . . 004 100 0-5 6 4
Winterville . . . 110 700 9-8 9 6

Giardello, Mims Clash Tonight; Hopes At Stake

WASHINGTON (AP) — Title hopes of Holly Mims and Joey Giardello clash tonight in a 10-round middleweight mixture at Capitol Arena.

The even-money match of opposite styles—Mims the change of pace boxer and Giardello the socker—will be on view on the regular Wednesday night TV fight channel ABC, 9 p.m. EST.

With Sugar Ray Robinson partly dethroned and middleweight opportunities expanding, none could be more concerned over the outcome than Mims and Giardello.

The National Boxing Assn. has ruled Robinson undeserving of its version of the title for failing to defend in more than a year.

Two ex-champs, Carmen Basilio and Gene Fulmer, will meet for the NBA crown this summer.

Robinson is still recognized but coldly, by the New York State Athletic Commission. That group has ordered Sugar Ray to sign for a defense by May 15.

Under the NBA program, the Basilio-Fulmer victor must promptly risk his title against a recognized challenger. Snider Webb of Chicago would appear to have the edge, but Giardello contends a triumph over Mims will get him a match with Basilio here this summer—provided Carmen beats Fulmer.

Mims, a 30-year old Washington veteran, has won 45 of his 68 fights, including a decision last year over Webb. He has kayoed 11, never been kayoed himself but lost 17 decisions. He also has six draws.

Giardello, kayoed by Webb in seven rounds last November, has lost three in a row but still ranks with Mims among the top eight challengers listed by NBA and Ring magazine.

Joey has won 75, lost 16, had five called a draw and one no contest. He has kayoed 26 and been stopped three times.

ELIZABETH CITY—A slumping Rose High almost bowed out of the Northeastern AA picture yesterday as Pat McDowell pitched a two-hitter and was backed for some timely hitting to give Elizabeth City a 4-1 victory.

The loop-leading Yellow Jackets avenged an earlier defeat by knocking off their nearest challenger in a game that was marred by five errors.

Pat McDowell, one of the greatest athletes produced at Elizabeth City, was once again the star as he hurled the distance for the winners, allowing only two hits.

Merrill Bynum went the route for Greenville and gave up only six hits while striking out ten. Bynum had defeated the Jackets earlier this season.

The win gave Elizabeth City a 9-2 over-all mark and left Greenville in second place with a 7-3 record.

The Jackets scored a single run in the opening inning but were forced to come back with three in the fifth for the win. Greenville had pushed across a single run in the third inning.

John Tatum provided the big blows for the winners as he pounded out two hits—a triple and single.

Greenville has three games remaining and will need wins in all three to keep their hopes alive. They meet Washington and Kingston on the road and play Roanoke Rapids at home.

Wearing Well by Pap'

Early (Gus) Wynn made his first start of the season a memorable one by beating the Detroit Tigers to post the 250th victory of his brilliant pitching career. The 39-year-old right-handed ace of the Chicago White Sox leads all active major league pitchers in victories. He also started the season with more strike-outs than any active hurler, 1813, and added six more at the Tigers' expense.

The knuckleballing veteran started his baseball career in 1937 and was brought up to the big show by Washington in 1941. He won 72 games for Washington and 163 with Cleveland before he was traded to the White Sox after the 1957 season. He posted a 14-16 record for the 1958 season and again proved one of the "workhorses" in the league by pitching 240 innings. His 179 strikeouts paced the league for the second successive season. His capacity for work and his amazing durability is the result of an intense and unending conditioning program that few big leaguers would care to undertake.

"For the past six or seven years, I've pitched batting practice five or six times a week and done at least an hour's running each day in spring training," Wynn explained. "I run every day during the season, except when I'm scheduled to pitch. I always could pitch a nine-inning game and then come back the next day and pitch batting practice. I weight 220 pounds right now and my usual weight is only a couple of pounds less. I do notice that spring training is getting tougher every year. It used to be a romp, but now it's torture, and getting worse. Once I get in condition, I stay in shape, and I feel as strong as ever."

Now that he has reached the 250 mark, will Wynn go on to seek 300? "I'm through setting goals," said Wynn. "I just want to win as many as I can."

Wake Forest's Title Aspirations Get Jolt

Wake Forest's Atlantic Coast Conference baseball title aspirations were jolted Tuesday as Duke posted the Decatur 8-4 victory.

At the same time, North Carolina beat North Carolina State 3-2 to move into second place behind Wake Forest.

In non-conference games Tuesday, South Carolina tripped Newberry 7-5, Georgia Teachers beat Clemson 2-1, and Virginia Tech trounced Virginia 9-3.

Wake Forest, of course, remains on the top rung. . . . 11-11 on 7, moved onto an advantageous position, replacing Clemson in second place. North Carolina's percentage is .536 to .615 for Clemson. Maryland is fourth with a .5-4 record.

The league leaders, except for Clemson, have several conference games remaining. Clemson has only one game left. Each team plays 14 conference games.

Tuesday's big surprise was Duke's victory. The Blue Devils, last in the conference, went into the game with a 2-8 record. Duke is now 7-13 in all games.

Duke starter Ron Kalish (4-4) was the winning pitcher. He had to have help in the ninth from Lefty Bob Byers, Jim Harrell, who retired in the fifth with Duke leading 4-3, was the loser. Bill Taylor drove in three runs for Duke with a triple and a homer.

John Burgwyn's two-run homer in the sixth inning gave North Carolina its victory. Wayne Young scattered six State hits to pick up his fifth victory of the year. He has lost one.

Three Clemson errors helped Georgia Teachers edge the Tigers, defending ACC champions. The winning tally was scored in the eighth when Don Lord doubled home a run after two Clemson errors.

Clemson's only run was a homer by Doug Hoffman in the ninth inning.

South Carolina scored five runs in the eighth inning on five bases on balls, a Newberry error and two singles. Newberry led 5-2 going into the eighth.

Virginia's seven errors, the pitching of Bill May and some solid hitting by Virginia Tech led to the Cavaliers' downfall.

Duke has been hunting a man to succeed Hal Bradley, who resigned to take the coaching job at the University of Texas. Athletic Director Eddie Cameron, who said last week he would recommend a replacement to the athletic committee early this week, called the press conference.

Recommend New Teachers Be Required Take A Test

RALEIGH (AP)—A House Education subcommittee recommended today that beginning school teachers be required to take an examination to determine how well they are prepared for their jobs.

Under the proposal, new teachers who make a score meeting "minimal standards" would receive 10 per cent salary supplement above present pay schedules.

The subcommittee also proposed that teachers seeking a higher certificate—advancing from a B to an A certificate, from A to graduate certificate, or advancement to supervisor, principal or superintendent—also would be required to register a "minimal standards" score on the same kind of test.

"We do not recommend examination for any other teachers at this time," said the subcommittee in a report to the full House Education Committee.

In tentative proposals made public several days ago, the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Grace Rodenbough of Stokes, suggested examinations for all teachers as a means of determining which are entitled to pay increases. However, it changed its mind on this after conferring with leaders in the teaching profession.

The subcommittee said teachers felt that "any test for the experienced teacher should go beyond mere testing for minimal standards of knowledge and also test performance." It said that no one has claimed that tests such as the national teacher examinations "are designed to measure performance."

In proposing the examinations for new teachers, the subcommittee said they would "look beyond what the colleges say teacher preparation is in individual cases and furnish an objective appraisal which may, or may not, confirm the view of the college."

It added, "We will never solve this problem as long as we pretend that all teachers are adequately prepared when we know that some are better prepared than others."

Salary increases would depend on passing the test for advancing from a B to an A certificate under the committee's proposal. No additional salary differential was recommended for those advancing from A to graduate certificates because the graduate certificate already "Carries an automatic, substantial salary increment" under present pay schedules.

Doctor Discloses Mercy-Killing

BURTON - ON - TRENT, England (AP)—A doctor disclosed publicly Monday that he gave a lethal drug to a suffering cancer patient—and gently ended her life as she had asked him.

Dr. Maurice Millard, 58, told the story of the mercy killing to a Rotary Club meeting.

"I did it on compassionate grounds and would do the same again under similar conditions," Millard said.

He gave this account:

It happened some years back. The patient, a devout Christian woman, once had asked him that in the event she contracted an incurable disease would he give her a drug to put her to sleep.

The woman was fit and well at the time. But some later what the woman feared did happen: Surgery showed cancer was killing her.

She asked Millard to give her the drug.

"What was I to do?" Millard said. "The woman was in pain. She had only a week to live. A strong feeling of compassion came over me and I gave her the drug. She went into a coma and passed peacefully away."

The British Medical Assn. opposes strongly any move to legalize euthanasia—the mercy killing of hopeless imbeciles, criminals, the old, and the incurably ill.

"But the association does feel that it is up to a doctor's own conscience to decide whether to alleviate suffering in the last stages of an illness," said a BMA spokesman.

WILL TEST SITE

LONDON (AP)—Technical tests have been ordered to see if the U.S. Air Force Base at Burton-wood, England, which the Americans will abandon soon, can be made into an international airport. Area residents called this encouraging news in efforts to get a new international air field in northern England.

Businessmen In France Greeted By Good News

By SAM DAWSON

PARIS (AP)—The French are greeting American businessmen these days with four pieces of good news and a couple of promises.

And the Americans are asking their French opposite numbers three as yet unresolved questions: 1. Will French labor upset the economic apparatus with insistent demands for higher wages? 2. Will the French farmer stand for any clamping down on his prices? 3. How and when can the Algerian bloodletting be stopped and the financial drain on France ended?

But the French seem very confident today.

They are particularly proud of the good news which in recent days has pointed to success for President Charles de Gaulle's austerity program.

For one month at least France's exports have topped her imports—the first time in many months.

The French franc is so stable at present that even the tourists are not looking for bargains on the black market but getting their francs at the banks.

The cost of living index for the first time in many months was stable in April.

The Bank of France is so confident that the threat of further inflation is licked for the time being at least that it has lowered the discount rate from 4.25 to 4 per cent giving the go sign to industry (French and American firms here alike) to borrow more for expansion of plants or activities.

The two promises the French are giving American business are: 1. That French import quotas on American goods will be relaxed further in the not too distant future—they already are relaxed on 90 per cent of France's trade with other European nations; 2. That some of the red tape that American firms wanting to build plants here complain about will be cut away.

The cost of living stability at the moment and the expectations it will last for a time is credited to three things: wages have been held fairly level; so have prices on manufactured goods; and on food the big hope is the weather. It's been excellent for farming so far, meaning that the new crop of vegetables and fruits should come to the market earlier and in abundance.

Shave, Haircut For Castro Men

HAVANA (AP)—At least 1,100 of Fidel Castro's long-haired, bearded revolutionaries are going to get shaves and haircuts.

They are members of Cuba's National Police Force. Police Chief Efigenio Ameijeiras issued an order for shaves and hair trims and said uniformity was his goal. He explained that policemen who didn't serve with Castro's guerrilla forces are clean shaven.

Life Magazine To Reduce Price

NEW YORK (AP)—Life magazine announced it will reduce its regular newsstand price to 19 cents a copy by June 1. The magazine has sold for 25 cents a copy.

Publisher Andrew Heiskell said that subscription rates would be reduced correspondingly. It will be the magazine's first reduction since it began publishing in 1936 when it was 10 cents a copy.

Competition with the "free media of the air" was cited as one reason for the reduction.

Want The Dents In Old Punchbowl

QUONSET POINT, R. I. (AP)—Officers love every dent in an ancient punch bowl in the wardroom of the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The bowl was damaged back in 1898 aboard the battleship Indiana when she took a mortar shell hit in the Spanish-American War.

Recently officers sent it to a New York jeweler for cleaning. The jeweler removed the dents. The officers rushed it back with orders—restore the dents at our expense. The jeweler did. The officers picked up the chit.

A Library In The Home

A READER'S PARADISE . . . is the library in Mrs. S. M. Crisp's home.

STARTING EARLY . . . in discovering the pleasures of reading.

KNOWLEDGE . . . can be found in the encyclopedia offered today.

By PEGGY SMITH

Reflector Woman's Editor

The day of the home library is not yet dead. The enjoyment of reading and the reliance on books for knowledge persists long after one's school days.

"Reading has been one of the greatest pleasures of my life," said Mrs. S.M. Crisp who has a library filled with English novels and poetry. Her husband, the late Dr. Crisp, collected a series of books on John Paul Jones and medical biography and history.

"I'm a true Anglophile," Mrs. Crisp added, a taste which stemmed from her college days when she was an English major.

Of the many novels she has read her favorite is "The Forsyte Saga" by John Galsworthy.

Miss Carolyn Clapp, Miss Mary Eakes, and Miss Margaret Simmons, who are bachelor girls, explain that their books help them run the house smoothly and give them a perspective on life.

"We rely on book clubs for most of our novels and classics because they usually have the best sellers and are cheapest," stated Miss Clapp.

From the age of three to teenagers, books are a way of learning.

At bedtime Mrs. John Clark, Jr., reads favorite stories to her daughter, Michele, and Graham.

Little Helen and Betty Moseley, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft Moseley, enjoy reading from their library composed of many series of children's books.

In their collection are "The Book House", a series of books for children learning how to read and through the eighth grade; "Miss Flora McFlimsy," the story of a doll's life after the children are asleep; and "Madeline" by Ludwig Bemelmans.

Mary Sugg, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harding Sugg, could easily be called a "bookworm." This year, her second year in school, she has read 137 books on the second grade level.

With her vast desire for reading, she finds that the home library must be helped with the wide assortment of books at the Sheppard Memorial Library.

The Sugg Library is composed of educational, fiction, and religious books.

Ann, age 11, and Gray, age 9, have found that more than one set of encyclopedia help during school homework.

With three older sisters who love to read, Harding Jr. gets his daily reading quota.

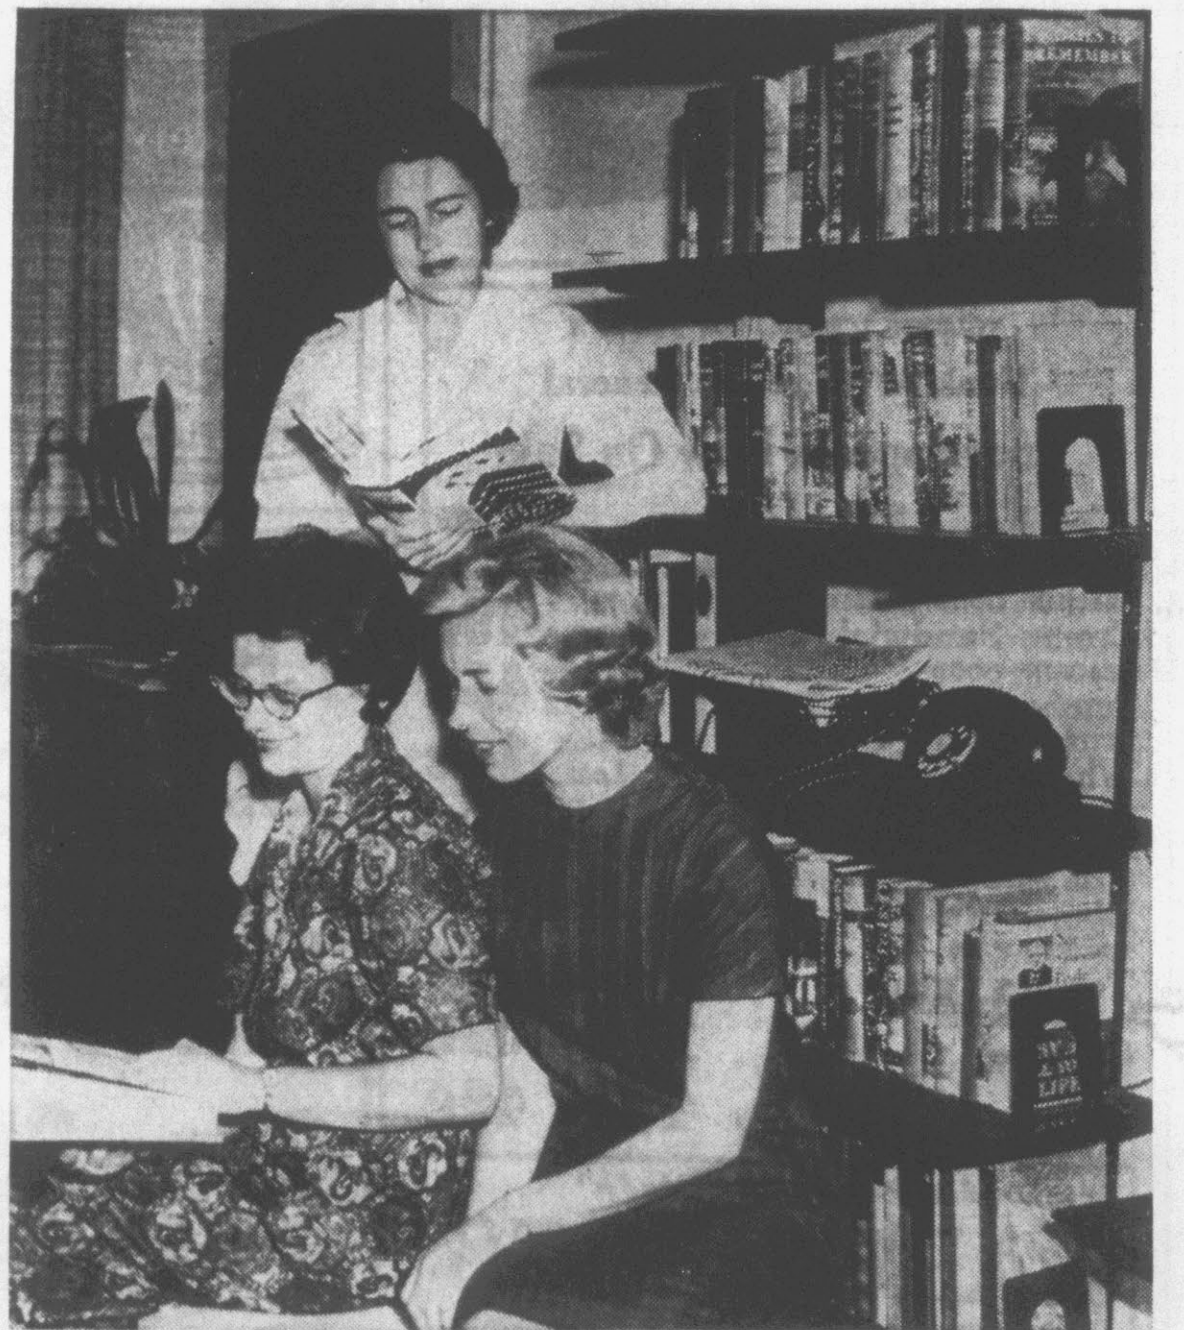

Although television is popular in the home of teenagers, the Bert Aycock home still finds time for reading enjoyment.

Gordon and Howard Aycock have access to some of the best works written by Shakespeare, Charles Dickens, O'Henry, and Rudyard Kipling.

"The home with a well-stocked book shelf to which children have been taught to go, need have no fear of its power to hold them later on the right track. It is hard to think of any other things belonging to childhood that are a more all around 'permanently good investment.'" Miss Elizabeth Copeland stated. She is the librarian at Sheppard Memorial Library.

BEDTIME STORIES . . . have become a tradition in the homes of children.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The belief is growing among Democrats that Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas is quietly making himself available for the 1960 party presidential nomination.

Party members who have rallied around former President Truman on his current visit to Washington have been talking in terms of four principal candidates—Sens. Johnson, John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) and Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the presidential nominee.

Truman, whose influence on the outcome of the nomination scramble may not be great, has kept the situation cloudy so far as he is concerned.

He has suggested that as the likely favorite son of Missouri, Symington will be his initial candidate. But the former President has indicated he would be prepared to ride another horse if he felt he was picking a winner.

Truman's position is not clear to Symington. The Missouri senator has told friends he learned long ago not to try to gauge another man's thinking. For that reason, he is sitting tight, awaiting developments.

By every criterion, Kennedy is running hard. Stevenson apparently is not running at all but remains the sentimental favorite of many Democrats. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) is interested but seems to be having some difficulty getting under way—at least among the Democratic leaders in Washington.

For a man who says he isn't a candidate, Johnson is making a lot of moves that politicians find familiar. He is looked upon as a middle-of-the-road Democrat who might have an appeal for all party factions—especially if he succeeds in getting the Senate to pass a moderate civil rights bill.

Both houses of the Texas Legislature Tuesday passed a bill to change that state's primary elections to May and June instead of July and August. If signed by Gov. Price Daniel, it would permit Johnson to seek Senate re-nomination before the Democratic national convention in July next year.

The Legislature completed action April 28 on a bill which would let Johnson's name appear twice on the state's ballot—for Senate and for president or vice president.

Johnson turned out for a luncheon honoring Truman Tuesday and praised the former President warmly.

After a quick check on the Senate to see that everything was in order, Johnson took off for Harrisburg, Pa., to speak at a Democratic victory dinner.

Possibly to offset the contention that he isn't partisan enough often enough, Johnson aimed some haymakers at the Republicans.

He said the time had come to end divided government, with one party in control of Congress and the other occupying the White House.

Johnson also expounded his favorite theme—that the Democrats must be the party of "responsibility."

He spelled out this middle-of-the-road creed: "Democrats must be candid and courageous. As we must have the courage to be liberal when public well-being requires it, so we must have the candor and integrity to be conservative when responsibility demands it."

LIMIT ON WOMEN ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Women will get a chance to serve in Parliament after Ghana becomes a republic next year, the ruling political party promised. The number that can be elected will be limited to six.

Goose Bay Now Luxury Air Base

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (AP)—This glittering air base with its aluminum-trimmed living quarters, ice rinks and swimming pools is a far cry from the makeshift field that greeted wartime bomber ferrying crews in 1942.

Now, as then, the U.S. and Royal Canadian air forces are based on opposite sides of the air field.

The RCAF maintains the network of 9,000 and 11,000-foot runways and most of the base radar facilities.

The USAF unit is under Strategic Air Command and its commitments through scores of KC97 tanker planes are to keep SAC's airborne B47s and B52s fueled. Interception and protection is also the USAF's role at Goose Bay. Based here is a squadron of 640 m.p.h. F89 Scorpions equipped with Falcon air-to-air missiles.

The Goose Bay perimeter has some 18,000 residents. More than half live on the American side. Also quartered in Goose Bay are schoolteachers, Army Service Corps personnel, a seven-man Canadian mounted police detachment, a Newfoundland provincial magistrate, and employees of the Hudson's Bay Co., an oil company and the Canadian Broadcasting Co.

Two morale boosters are the local radio and TV stations. The radio station is operated by the RCAF and broadcasts daily from 7 a.m. to midnight. The TV station broadcasts from the American quarters with American personnel, but it presents a cross section of Canadian programming, all of it filmed and flown in.

Airmen are allowed to ship in their own cars and there are hundreds on each side of the base.

I drove around the block twice sizing up the place.

It was dark and I couldn't tell too much about it, but there was a light on in a front room, and the place seemed quiet and settled. Certainly there were no evidences of excited activity.

It was steeped in respectability with heavy vines growing all over the front porch. The place fairly radiated quiet dignity.

I parked the agency car, walked up the steps, and before I rang the bell I took the jade idol I had with me and hit it in the deep shadows of the vine. I didn't feel it would be a good idea to take that idol in there with me. If the guy was teamed up with Sylvia Hadley and she had stolen that idol for him, it was a cinch he'd know all about me and all about the idol by this time.

I pulled the vine over the idol and rang the bell.

The man who came to the door was even shorter than I was. He was somewhere around fifty and there was an air of apology about him.

"I'm looking for Mortimer Jasper," I said.

"I am Mortimer Jasper," the man said, his watery blue eyes looking me over with mild curiosity.

"Donald Lam, I'm a private detective. Can I talk with you?"

"I don't see why not, Mr. Lam. Would you like to come in?"

I followed him into the house. We went through a small reception hall and into the front room where I had seen the light glowing in the window.

The room was fixed up as a combination study, den and workshop. There was a big desk, a little jeweler's bench with some tiny jeweler's lathes, a big safe with a double combination, a binocular microscope, some books, a big, heavy swivel chair back of the desk and two old-fashioned leather-bottomed chairs on the other side of the desk.

"Sit down," he told me in a quiet, gentle voice. "Tell me what I can do for you, Mr. Lam."

"I'm on rather a delicate mission."

"Perhaps you can tell me?"

I kept watching him, trying to find the best angle of approach. "Do you know a model named Sylvia Hadley?" I asked.

He picked up a pencil and started doodling on a pad of paper. He waited several seconds before he looked up and asked, "Does it make a difference?"

"It may make quite a difference."

"Perhaps you'd like to talk?"

I said, "I'm a professional, Mr. Jasper."

"A professional?"

"A detective."

"You told me."

"I get money for the work I do."

"Shouldn't you?"

"I came to tell you something that I think may make a difference."

"Tell me then."

"You knew that Dean Crockett was dead?"

"I read the papers."

"Dean Crockett had two very valuable carved jade Buddhas."

"Interesting," he said, still doodling.

"The night before Crockett was murdered one of these jade idols was stolen. Three weeks before his death, another one had been stolen. Mr. Crockett considered them absolutely priceless."

The watery eyes looked up from the pad on which Jasper was doodling.

"I know who took the idols," I said.

"Do you indeed?"

"Within a short time the police will know."

"Go on."

"Sylvia Hadley," I said, "is an opportunist. She is a young woman who gets around. She is beautiful. She is clever. She is talented. But she has had very little experience with the police.

"When the police interrogate her, she will break down and tell them that from time to time she has, in addition to other things, stolen small but very choice articles of jewelry."

I said nothing and Jasper said nothing. The pencil kept doodling along on the pad.

"She will mention your name," I said at length.

"She has no reason to," he said, without looking up.

"The police," I said, "will make an investigation. They are probably securing a search warrant right now. They will come here. There is not much time. Can I be of help to you?"

"In what way?"

"I represent the estate of Dean Crockett. I am working for his widow, Phyllis. I have been charged with recovering the stolen idol, you would receive three thousand dollars reward from the insurance company."

"The insurance company would, of course, want to be certain that it was not dealing with the thief or with any representative of the thief before they would pay the reward. That is where I fit into the picture."

"I could state that you had called me before the police had any lead to Sylvia Hadley. I could state that you told me you had this article of jewelry; that you had purchased it from a young woman who had said that it had been in her family for some years, having descended through her grandfather who was an old China trader; that it wasn't until you read of Dean Crockett's death and a description of the missing idol that you realized perhaps you had the mate to that idol and, therefore, you called me."

"That would take you off the hook as far as receiving stolen property is concerned, and you would get a three-thousand-dollar reward from the insurance company—perhaps more."

"And what do you want in return?"

This was where I had to make it good. If I made it too cheap, he'd get suspicious; if I made it too steep, he'd throw me out.

I waited until the watery eyes looked up into mine. "One thousand dollars," I said. "Cash."

"And if I shouldn't have one thousand dollars—cash?"

"I think you do have."

"Pardon me," he said. "The telephone."

He got up and walked past me out of the room, down the hall. I heard him pick up a telephone and say, "Hello, hello... yes." Then a door closed and I could hear only the rumble of his voice without making out anything that was said.

Evidently there were two phones in the house; one in the office and one which was on a separate line which rang in the back of the house.

I sat there for a while, thinking.

My ears are good, but I hadn't heard any telephone ring. How did I know there were two separate lines?

I jumped up, moved over to the desk and picked up the telephone gently.

I was in time to hear Jasper's voice saying, "You take care of it, then," and the line clicked.

I dropped the telephone as though it had been hot and was back in my chair smoking a cigarette by the time Jasper came padding in through the door.

Donald Lam is going to have to try to think with the ominous cold circle of a gun in the back of his neck. His story continues here tomorrow.

Astronomers Say Sun Is Brighter

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — For five years the sun has been getting brighter, says a team of Lowell Observatory astronomers. They said that the sun is 2 per cent brighter now than when they started a study five years ago.

Harold Johnson, head of the project, said the brightness probably moves in cycles and may decrease.

"But we are not sure now," he said. "Our studies will have to continue at least six more years for a definite answer."

The astronomers agreed there is no danger of the earth or other planets being reduced to ashes.

But what if the brightness increase continues? In 50 years the sun will be twice as bright as now, one astronomer said.

What would that mean to mankind? "Don't ask me," Johnson said.

More brightness does not necessarily mean an increase in energy—or heat—produced by the sun, Johnson said. This, however, the astronomers said, needs more study.

Some Textbooks Called 'Radical' By Committee

ASHEVILLE (AP)—An investigative committee of the North Carolina Medical Society condemned as "radical" Monday certain textbooks used in the state's public schools.

The committee said that sociology textbooks used in North Carolina public schools advocate socialized medicine and lead students to assume that "Socialism affords the only solution to our economic problems."

The state society's House of Delegates, acting on the report, voted overwhelmingly to bring pressure both locally and at the state level to substitute "good" courses for the "objectionable" ones. A resolution asked for a "good American history course" instead.

The committee also criticized the National Education Assn. for what the group termed "a virtual monopoly over courses of study and educational programs in the public schools."

Tooth-Pulling By Painless Music

BOSTON (AP) — Now it's "Music to have your teeth pulled by."

Dr. Edwin Sturges, President of the Massachusetts Dental Society, told the group's annual meeting that teeth have been extracted with no other pain killer than a process called "audio analgesia."

He said receivers are put over the patient's ears and he selects the music from a tape recorder, regulating the volume himself. The recorder also simultaneously transmits a noise like the distant roar of Niagara Falls.

NEW YORK (AP)—Space age stocks ran up sizable gains in a stock market which posted only a moderate rise overall early this afternoon. Trading was at the most lively pace of this week.

The big pivotal issues which govern the averages advanced irregularly, showing a patchwork of losses and gains mostly within a 1-point range.

Motors was delayed almost an hour in opening due to a rush of buyers. It rose fractionally then widened its gain to about 9. A huge boost in quarterly earnings helped the stock to a jump of 8 1/2 Tuesday.

Thiokol's new split stock added more than 2 points. Zenith rose 4 and Thompson Ramo Wooldridge about 3. Wagner Electric was another 3-point gainer.

Gains of around 2 points or better were made by Radio Corp., Admiral, General Tire, General Precision and General Instrument, all concerned with space age techniques.

Maytag spurred 2 on news of a raised dividend and proposed 2-for-1 stock split. Martin Co. was ahead about 3 and General Dynamics more than a point on word of government contracts.

Great A&P, in its first annual report to be issued since voting shares went to the public, was ahead a point. Earnings were

Baptists Postpone Decision On Papers

RALEIGH (AP)—A special session of the Baptist State Convention decided today that proposals regarding the future of two church papers, The Biblical Recorder and Charity and Children, should be given further study.

By a close standing vote, messengers voted to refer recommendations of the committee of 25 concerning the two papers to the convention's General Board and governing boards of the two papers for further study.

The committee had proposed that Charity and Children, printed at the Mills Home in Thomasville, should henceforth be a house organ for the orphanage and no longer fill the role of a denominational paper in competition with The Recorder.

It also had proposed creation of a Baptist press at Thomasville, using facilities at the Mills Home, and recommended that The Recorder be printed there—instead of in Raleigh—if a five-year contract with a Raleigh printing firm could be satisfactorily terminated. The messengers first adopted an amendment by the Rev. Henry Anderson of Durham. It called on the Recorder's trustees and the General Board to make recommendations after making studies of the comparative costs of printing The Recorder in Raleigh and in Thomasville.

Later, by a close standing vote, the messengers approved a motion by the Rev. M. O. Owens Jr. of Lenoir calling for further study of the future status of the two papers by the three agencies—the General Board and the two boards of trustees.

The question brought on the longest discussion so far as the special convention continued to act on a host of recommendations by the Committee of 25 for changes in Baptist organization and operations.

The Committee of 25 took some of the fight out of The Recorder issue by announcing at the start of the discussion that it had not recommended moving of The Recorder to Thomasville—just the printing. Members said that statements in the committee report calling for a complete move to Thomasville resulted from "an unfortunate typographical error."

Radioactive Fallout Hits Earlier Than Anticipated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Radioactive fallout from huge Soviet nuclear weapons tests is concentrated in the Northern Hemisphere and reaches the earth much faster than expected, top government scientists now believe.

The testimony on the Soviet-produced fallout was presented to a Senate House Atomic Energy subcommittee Tuesday.

The scientists said fallout from United States and British tests also was descending faster than they had originally estimated, though not at the rate of the Soviet-produced debris.

Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John A. McCone said in a rearing note. In a speech to the National Press Club, McCone said a scientific advisory committee soon "will give further reassurance to the people of the world about the very small hazard resulting from fallout."

The three nuclear powers—the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States—are in the Northern Hemisphere where the fallout rate is highest. At Geneva they now are trying to reach agreement to suspend all atomic tests.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, the scientist member of the AEC, told the subcommittee in 1957 he believed the radioactive debris falls to earth in 5 to 10 years.

Tuesday he said he had modified his thinking considerably. He estimated that Soviet fallout, mostly from tests in the Far North, descends in one year. That from U.S.

Boys Plan Shoot White Mouse In Six-Foot Rocket

NEOGA, Ill. (AP)—An ambitious rocket experiment by three high school pupils has gained the attention of the country's top missile scientist, Dr. Werner von Braun.

Rick Jakle, David Carruthers and Paul Braden plan to launch a 6-foot rocket—carrying a white mouse—sometime in June. They hope to recover the mouse and the nose cone.

The boys arranged to meet Von Braun when the famed rocket expert was lecturing at the University of Illinois April 16. He spent an hour counseling them. Since then he has exchanged letters with the boys.

"Keep up the good work," he said in his latest letter. "Someday you can join my team at Huntsville"—the Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

Preparations for launching have been made on the Carruthers farm near Neoga, a Cumberland County town of 1,200.

Veil Of Secrecy In Lynch Inquiry

POPLARVILLE, Miss. (AP)—A mantle of secrecy hung over the Mack Charles Parker case today as officers continued to look for clues that might lead to the lynching of the 23-year-old Negro truck driver to death.

A six-man coroner's jury ruled Tuesday that two bullet wounds killed Parker. He was awaiting trial on a charge of raping a pregnant white woman when a band of eight or 10 masked men kidnapped him from an unguarded jail here April 25.

No bullets were in the body when an FBI agent and a highway patrolman pulled it from the Pearl River near Bogalusa, La., Monday. But FBI Agent Joseph Myers told the jury there were two holes in the body, one in the side and the other near the breastbone.

Two hours after the inquest about 100 Negroes attended funeral services for Parker in a cemetery about one mile from his home outside Lumberton.

daughter. Mayor by Popular Vote

Voters yesterday were choosing a mayor by popular vote for the first time since 1951. Under the council-manager form of government, the voters elected five councilmen who chose a mayor from among themselves.

Following the 1957 election, however, a city code change was voted which made the election of mayor by popular vote possible.

W. L. Whebede served as mayor from 1953 to 1957. West was chosen for the job in 1957 and has served for the past two years.

The new council will meet for the first time next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. All members will be sworn in and the five will choose a mayor pro-tem. Harvey has been mayor pro-tem for the past two years.

There is also one more meeting of the old City Council on schedule before the new group takes over. A lame duck session is to be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in City Hall.

City Clerk H. H. Duncan said 2,909 persons cast ballots in yesterday's election. He said this is a record vote for a Greenville City election as far as he could determine from the records.

The total was far ahead of the 2,421 ballots cast in the 1957 election which was considered a heavy vote. It was also ahead of the 1953 election when 17 candidates were vying for the five positions on the city's first council.

In yesterday's election, 1,354 votes were cast at the courthouse where persons living north of Fifth St. were voting. At Central Fire Station where persons living south of Fifth St. voted, 1,555 ballots were cast.

New Rangers Are Eating Crow

SCHONGAU, Germany (AP)—Ranger troops of West Germany's new army are eating crow—as a matter of diet.

It's part of a toughening process in training for survival, given in "courses for airborne individual fighters" in this Bavarian alpine region.

A reporter for a Munich newspaper, Ernst Baumann, visited the training camp in a forest near the Lech River. He reported the rangers live in tents made from parachutes. They are rigidly trained in noiseless commando techniques.

Cigarettes and alcohol are rationed for all trainees. The menu is chiefly crows, game and fish.

Believes Soviet Is Prepared To Go To The Brink

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union does not want war over Berlin, a congressional observer said today, but is "prepared to go to the brink of war."

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.) said the Allies must make plain "our determination to remain in Berlin, come what may."

Bentley visited Berlin as a member of a two-man house Foreign Affairs Committee study mission last month. He said "the present situation is to our relative advantage compared to that of the Soviets."

Allied presence in West Berlin and its continuance as a prosperous showplace of the West behind Iron Curtain, he said, "is probably the greatest problem which the Soviets face in Europe today, which explains their intense desire to effect a change."

Bentley's assessment of the Berlin situation was in the form of a preliminary report to the committee.

Voters Disagree, He's Re-Elected

WHITAKERS, N.C. (AP)—Richard S. Cutchin, who has served three 2-year terms as mayor, wasn't a candidate in Tuesday's municipal election. He had said he figured he'd done his stint and it was time for a change.

Voters didn't agree. They wrote in 118 ballots for Cutchin to 110 cast for H. G. Barhill, an ex-mayor who supposedly was unopposed.

Cutchin said today he'll serve again.

Peiping Stakes Out Tibet Claim

TOKYO (AP)—Red China served notice today she holds full sovereignty over Tibet and will tolerate no interference by "any foreign country or by the United Nations."

Peiping radio accused India of trying to prevent China from exercising full sovereignty in the revolt-torn religious state.

Although not abusive in tone, it was a firm reply to Indian Prime Minister Nehru's recent statement in Parliament that he thinks the Tibetan revolt can only be settled by giving the area autonomy.

State Offices Closing Monday

State offices will be closed Monday in an observance of Confederate Memorial Day, which falls on Sunday this year.

The memorial day is recognized as a legal holiday by state governments in North Carolina and South Carolina. Other Southern states observe the holiday on either April 26 or June 3.

All state offices which are closed Monday will resume regular schedules Tuesday morning at 8:30.

The average family in the United States uses 860 tin cans a year.
