Attacked Patrol Plane Limped In After Damaging House Amendments

On Two Engines

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — A U. S. Navy plane crew told today how Communist MIG fighters raked their patrol plane with 15 to 20 bursts of machinegun fire and sent it limping home with two of its four engines out and one of the 14 crewmen wounded.

The attack was broken off as the plane started to limp back to Japan. It was met by two Air Force Sabre Jet fighters that answered its call for help, but the MIGs had vanished long before.

The injured tail gunner, Aviation Electronics Mate 3.C. Donald E. Corder, 20, of Jacksonville and Farmer City, Ill., suffered more than 40 painful but not critical wounds from shrapnel and flying plexiglass. He was hit in the neck, arms and hands, and suffered a fracture of the kneecap and a head wound.

Rear Adm. Frederic S. Withington, commander of U.S. naval forces in Japan, said emphatically U.S. patrols would continue in the area.

Approve Bills To Spend $229,500

RALEIGH (AP) — Eleven bills calling for total appropriations of $229,500 were approved by the House Appropriations Committee Tuesday night.

One of the measures provides $20,000 for the Law Enforcement Officers' Retirement Fund. Of this, $10,000 each would go to the wives of two highway patrolmen killed a year ago by Frank Edward Wetzel.

Another bill appropriates $21,000 to raise the pay of members of the State Utilities Commission and to provide retirement pay for two retired members.

Other bills approved would appropriate $16,000 for a study of the economic status of sports and commercial fishing; $10,000 for restoration of the Wade Hampton Museum; $45,000 for a swine diagnostic center in Lenoir County; $15,000 for the Confederate Women's Home at Fayetteville; $81,000 for the retirement system for National Guard employees; $1,000 for the construction of Moore's Creek Bridge; $5,000 for the celebration of the 250th anniversary of New Bern; $15,000 for grants-in-aid to the Highlands Biological Station; and $500 for added possible state cost of Atlantic States Marine Fisheries.

Appointed

Lester Page Is Appointed Clerk Municipal Court

Former Mayor of Greenville Lester D. Page has been appointed clerk of municipal court, City Manager Leonard Bloxam announced today.

Page, who also served as chief of police at one time, was employed by the city from 1928 until 1950. Bloxam said that Page was Greenville's clerk of court for many years. At the same time he served as identification officer for the police department and assistant chief of police.

"We believe there will be times when he can help the police department to a great extent," the city manager declared. However, he emphasized that Page's first responsibility will be to city court officials.

Bloxam said Page has been self-employed since 1950.

The 58-year-old Page was chosen from among 13 applicants for the job. He replaces E. Johnson Dees who died a few weeks ago. Since Dees' death members of the police department have been handling the duties of the clerk of court's office.

Bloxam said the salary range for the office is $300 to $390 per month. Page's starting salary has not yet been established, the city manager stated.

Eisenhower Says Summit Meeting Not Yet Sighted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the Geneva foreign ministers talks seem to have reached an impasse, and prospects for a summit conference are no brighter.

The President told a news conference, however, that he still would be willing to go to a heads-of-government meeting if any kind of reasonable progress can be made at Geneva.

And, Eisenhower said in response to a question, that he doesn't necessarily mean there must be progress specifically on the Berlin situation.

He said he has in mind any kind of reasonable progress on East-West problems generally.

The President was asked whether he believes that prospects for a summit conference have grown dimmer in the last couple of weeks.

He replied that prospects certainly have not brightened. He said the Geneva talks seem to have reached an impasse—or at least an unreadiness for fruitful discussion.

A bit later the President was asked whether his idea of progress at Geneva is that there must be some advance toward resolving differences over Berlin.

Eisenhower said he never had meant to the prospects for a summit conference to the Berlin situation exclusively.

He added that if the foreign ministers talks can make such progress as to result in a profitable summit conference, he would be glad to attend a heads-of-government session.

Eisenhower spoke out against any idea that the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and Russia lack sufficient authority to achieve progress.

Any acceptance of such a thesis, he said, would make traditional diplomacy useless.

The news conference drew 223 reporters for Eisenhower's discussion of the Geneva talks and these other matters:

STEEL — Eisenhower rejected the idea of calling steel management and union representatives to a White House conference in a move to smash the deadlock in contract talks.

That course has been advocated by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

The President said that for the government to get into that picture — for it to apply political or other kinds of pressure — would do more to hurt the situation than help it.

Eisenhower said once again that both management and the steel workers union must recognize the great danger of touching off any new inflationary spiral.

He praised a suggestion by Raymond Brandt of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that the government gather and make public impartial figures on wages and productivity in the steel industry.

The President said it had not occurred to him, but that he would have someone look into the possibility of having the government make available such information.

NAVY PLANE — This government still does not know the nationality of the Communist jet fighter which attacked a U.S. Navy patrol plane over the Sea of Japan Monday.

One member of the crew was seriously wounded in the encounter.

Eisenhower was asked for comment on reports the U.S. crewmen were unable to fire back because of missing gun parts.

He replied that the whole episode is being studied carefully.

The President added he has no new information on the incident at this point but that it is a matter which causes him great concern as a former military man.

As for whether the episode was timed deliberately to increase East-West tensions, Eisenhower said it did seem to be a strange coincidence that the attack occurred at a time when the Geneva talks are going on.

But, he added, he did not care to speculate regarding motive.

OLYMPIC GAMES — The International Olympic Games Committee seems to be getting into politics, rather than dealing exclusively with international athletics, Eisenhower said.

He made that remark when asked for comment on the committee's refusal to recognize Nationalist China, as such, as one of the nations which will participate in the 1960 games.

The committee has ruled that the Nationalist regime's athletes must participate as representatives of Formosa.

ing to an early East-West summit conference. The Western price for that is an end to the Soviet threat to freeze the Allies out of West Berlin.

The Soviet Foreign minister was to give his answer to the latest Western proposal in secret session with his opposite numbers from the United States, Britain and France.

If Gromyko says yes—or even maybe—the Geneva meeting soon may produce an agreement lead-

House action was taken.

Several House members voiced the hope that they would be called back in special session later to work out something on the court reform issue.

"The people are demanding a change," said Rep. John Y. Jordan of Buncombe.

Rep. John Kerr of Warren, a leader in the fight against the court changes, told the House Uz-zell's motion did not come from his group.

Kerr led a group which succeeded Tuesday in tackling several crippling amendments to the court reform proposals.

The bill was based heavily on recommendations of a State Bar Assn. committee and the Constitutional Study Commission.

The measure passed through the Senate, but it came to the House as part of a packaged rewritten constitution which included a controversial provision preventing any county, regardless of size, from having more than one senator.

During debate Tuesday, supporters of court reform sought to modify or remove this provision because, they felt, it would kill the whole constitution when it came to a vote of the people.

Some legislative observers had predicted that the measures would be killed after the crippling amendments were adopted Tuesday.

Rep. W. C. Harris Jr. of Wake-who led the House fight for the proposals to give North Carolina a uniform court system, said, "We're in a position where it might be wiser to scuttle the whole thing rather than submit it to the people of North Carolina."

He made the statement after the House had approved an amendment by Rep. John Kerr of Warren to give the Legislature the final say over rules of court procedure adopted by the State Supreme Court.

Rep. Ed Kemp of Guilford declared, "They've emasculated the bill. We've torn up four years of work in one day." He was referring to a four-year study on North Carolina's court system.

Harris said, "A lot of good is gone. It has been severely damaged by crippling amendments."

He declared the Kerr amendment "puts a knife into the heart" of one of three major provisions in the court reform proposals.

Under Kerr's amendment, he General Assembly would have the right to alter or completely suspend the rules of court procedure at any time. Before it was amended, the bill would have given the Legislature the power to veto the rules drafted by the Supreme Court.

Kerr declared his proposal would not destroy the court reform proposals, adding the amendment was offered "to safeguard the rights of the people."

Geneva Meeting's Success Hinges On Gromyko Reply

GENEVA (AP) — Success or failure of the Big Four foreign ministers' conference turned today on Andrei Gromyko's reaction to a new Western offer for a face-saving deal on Berlin.

The Soviet Foreign minister was to give his answer to the latest Western proposal in secret session with his opposite numbers from the United States, Britain and France.

If Gromyko says yes—or even maybe—the Geneva meeting soon may produce an agreement leading to an early East-West summit conference. The Western price for that is an end to the Soviet threat to freeze the Allies out of West Berlin.

If Gromyko says no, the foreign ministers conference probably will end Thursday or Friday without an agreement to go to the summit.

This would revive the threat of serious trouble over the future of West Berlin, surrounded by Communist territory 110 miles from West Germany.

The five-point plan representing the final Western bid for agreement was delivered to Gromyko's headquarters Tuesday night.

The heart of the proposal, Western informants said, is a provision for the Big Four to guarantee the existing arrangements on Berlin.

The West is asking the Soviets to promise to avoid any action that would menace its air, rail, and road lifelines between Berlin and West Germany.

That is less demanding wording than any used in similar proposals put to Gromyko.

The new plan drops the West's earlier insistence on a specific Soviet guarantee of the Allies' right to remain in Berlin as postwar occupation powers. It gets around the legal question of occupation rights by simply not mentioning them.

The West figures that Soviet acceptance of the plan would mean a quiet end to the Communist one-year deadline for the Western reasons to get out of Berlin.

Gromyko reportedly told U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at a 70-minute secret meeting that the West must agree to end its occupation. But some hope remained among Western diplomats that the Kremlin would find the new wording acceptable as a compromise.

QUICK SHUTTLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A film of Queen Elizabeth II departing from London to join President Eisenhower in Canada in dedicating the St. Lawrence Seaway will be seen on television in the United States Thursday, only 2½ hours after it is taken. It will be on NBC-TV from 9:15 to 9:30 a.m. EST.

Personal Income Now Concedes His Measure Is Costlier

Reaches Record $376 Billions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief author of the House-passed veterans pension bill conceded today that it will cost the government an extra 10 billion dollars in the next 40 years rather than save 12 billion as was claimed.

Rep. Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.) made the concession after Reps. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.) and H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) said the cost of the measure had been camouflaged in Monday's debate. It passed the House 226-34 and was sent to the Senate after limited debate.

"This is nothing but a deception and a fraud on the members of the House," Hoffman said.

Strongly denying any deception, Teague, who is chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, said that all House members were supplied last weekend with "full information as to the effects and costs of the bill."

He said that the cost of a provision adding many more widows to pension rolls was not mentioned in debate "because of lack of time." That provision is expected to cost 22 billion dollars through the year 2000.

Hoffman told a reporter that when the bill was brought up for House passage Monday the sponsors "assured us there would be a saving of 12 billion dollars by the year 2000."

"It wasn't until afterward that I learned that rather than saving 12 billion it would cost an extra 10 billion," Hoffman said.

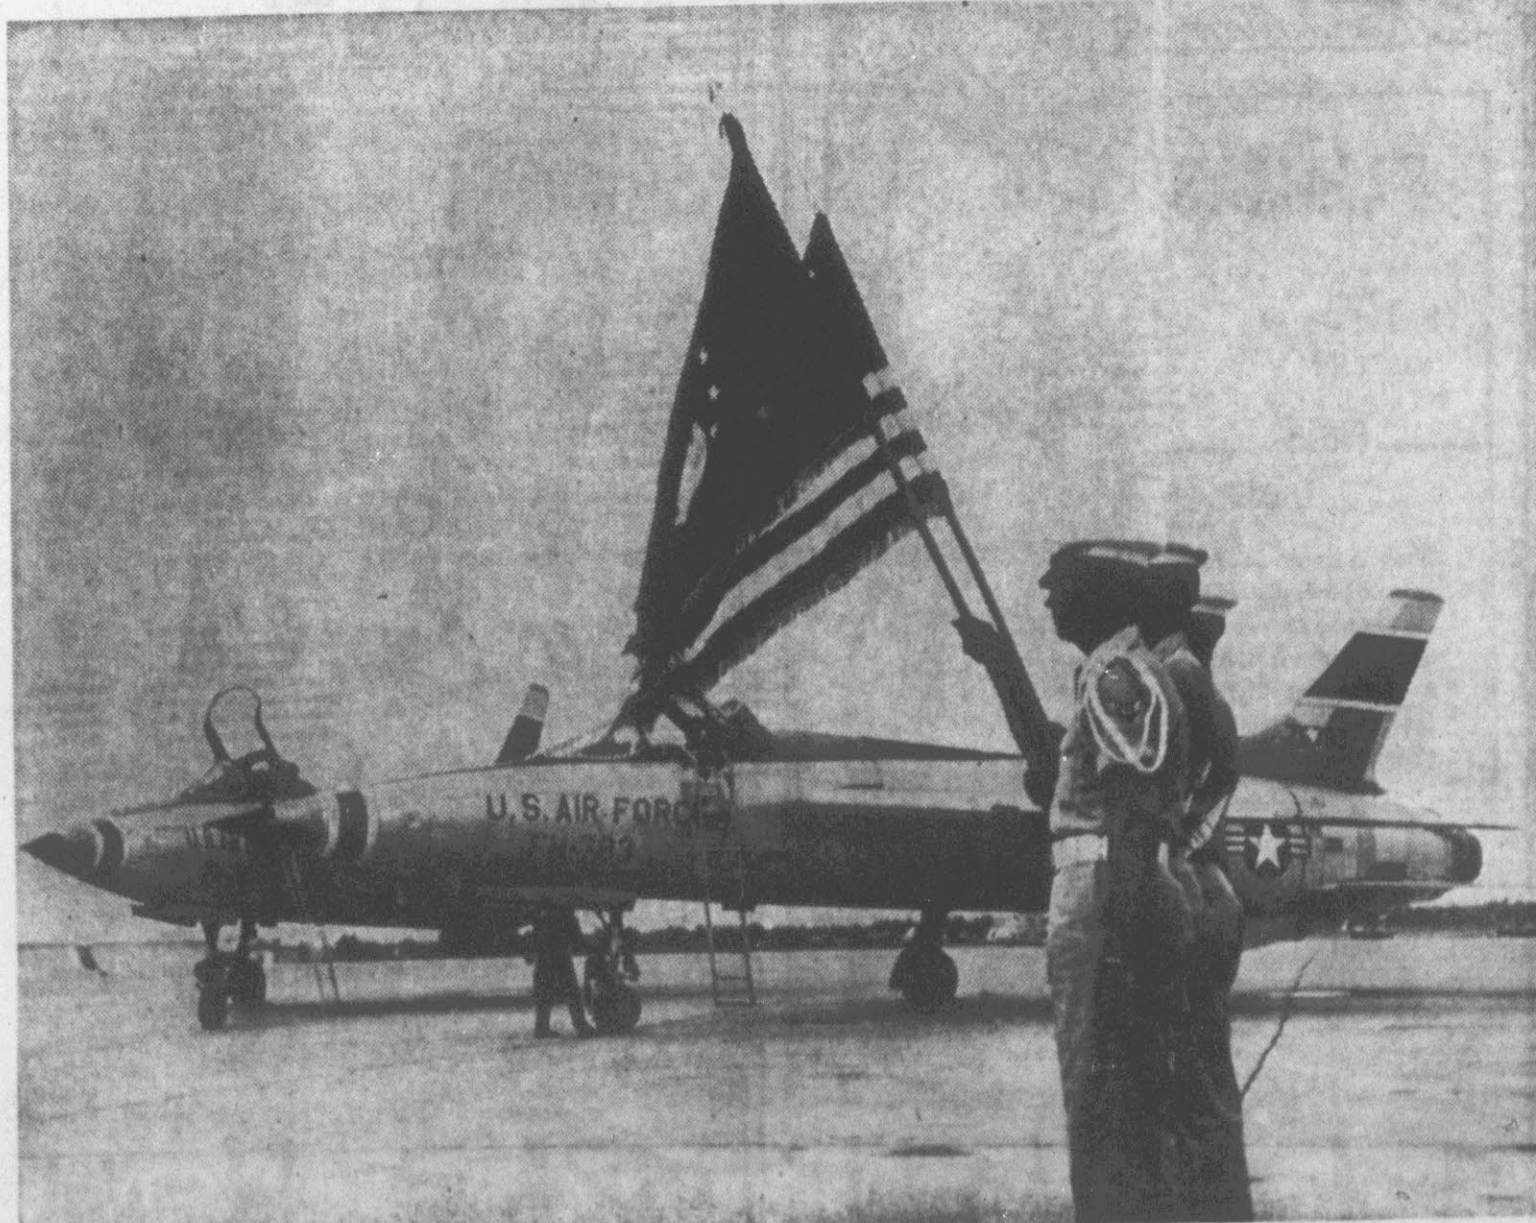

Gross said that if he had known the bill would have boosted pension costs "I wouldn't have voted for it."

Burning Wheat Field Said Poor Procedure

BURNING WHEAT . . . An often seen sight in Pitt County recently has been wheat fields ablaze. According to County Agent Sam Winchester, farmers burn the field after harvesting the grain in order to clear the land for soy-bean or mulo planting. It is much better, Winchester added, to plow the wheat under in order to add organic matter to the soil.

New Fighter-Bomber Welcomed At Air Base

Color guardsmen at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base stand near two of a four-plane element of F-105 fighter-bombers which arrived yesterday at the base near Goldsboro. The lead plane in the element, flown by Brigadier General J. H. Moore, commander of the Fourth Tactical Fighter Wing, was christened "Miss North Carolina" by Mrs. Luther H. Hodges, wife of Governor Hodges. The F-105, largest fighter-bomber in the world, is 63 feet long and has a 34-foot wingspread. Library Worker Will Now Read

MRS. CHARLES S. FORBES, SR. . . . to retire from library position.

By PEGGY SMITH
Reflector Woman's Editor

After 13 years of serving Sheppard Memorial Library, Mrs. Charles S. Forbes, Sr. is retiring at the end of this week.

And what is she going to do in retirement?

"I'm going to read books at the library," she said. Although I won't be working there, I hope to spend a great deal of time catching up on reading."

She will probably be reading some type of non-fiction book, since "the more you read, your interests turn toward non-fiction," she explains.

Being more active in the Sans Souci Book Club, her bridge club, and Memorial Baptist Church are among her primary intentions for the future.

Persons entering Sheppard Library for the past several years probably have seen Mrs. Forbes at the main desk where she has been principally active. Helping process books for the shelves is among the various types of work Mrs. Forbes has performed since her arrival in 1946.

Mrs. Forbes listed the outstanding changes in the library as being the additional service hours, the increase of books in the children's department, and the overall increase of all kinds of books "which offer things of interest to many types of people."

"Being in contact with children and people in general will be the outstanding part about the library which I'll miss," she continued.

Graduating from Meredith College in 1903, Mrs. Forbes came to Greenville and taught the third grade during the fall of 1904 in the Greenville Grade School, which was in the present location of the library.

She has two children, Mary Forbes and Charles S. Forbes, Jr. and one grandchild, Charles Forbes, III.

Bethel Man Weds In Alabama

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — Miss Ann Harris Uptain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Uptain of Huntsville, was married to Durwood White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles White of Bethel, N. C. Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Arthur J. Yunker performed the ceremony at the Central Presbyterian Church.

The bride wore a gown of imported hand-clipped Alencon lace and tulle over taffeta. The full skirt was fashioned in wide panels of lace and tulle with a border of lace at the hemline. The bodice was cut in a square scalloped neckline and short sweetheart sleeves. Her veil of illusion fell from a Queen's crown of sequins and pearls over lace. She carried a white prayer book and a bouquet of a white orchid and lilies of the valley. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's matron of honor, Mrs. Melvin J. Kidd of Birmingham, wore a pale yellow silk organza dress with a floral overlay print. The bouffant skirt was caught at the hemline with tiny bows. She wore a white bridesmaid hat trimmed in pale yellow ribbon. She carried yellow roses.

The junior bridesmaids, Miss Toney Tyler and Miss Patricia Ann Mitchell, cousins of the bride, wore white organza dresses with fluted bodice and bouffant over skirts screen printed in pink and blue. Their bridesmaids' hats were trimmed in pink and blue. They carried nosegays of pink roses.

Robert B. Edmondson Jr., of Bethel, N. C. was the bridegroom's best man. Ushers were James H. Bryant of Battleboro, N. C., Richard M. White of Richmond, Va., Robert Nelson of Bethel, N. C. and Melvin J. Kidd of Birmingham.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue gown of silk, tiered lace over taffeta, white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a gown of pink lace over taffeta with white accessories and a white corsage.

Reception

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Blue Room of the Russell Erskine Hotel, Mrs. John D. Nilsson greeted the guests. Mrs. Loren Childress cut the wedding cake assisted by Mrs. Virgil J. Uptain. Mrs. Harris I. Mitchell poured punch assisted by Mrs. Cherie Tyler. Mrs. Dorsey C. Uptain presided at the bride's guest book.

Rehearsal

A rehearsal dinner was held Friday night in the Blue Room of the Russell Erskine Hotel for the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

Wedding Trip

The couple left from the reception for a wedding trip to Florida. The bride wore a pale green and white dress with white accessories. Upon their return, the couple will live at 2211 Brandon St., Huntsville, Ala.

Afternoon Tea Honors Miss Frances Osborne

BETHEL — A Saturday afternoon tea honoring Miss Frances Osborne was given by Mrs. Tom Purvis and Mrs. Ernest Purvis at the home of Mrs. Lee House.

The bride-elect and Mrs. Ernest Purvis greeted the 25 guests as they arrived. They were invited into the dining room where refreshments were served from an appointed table covered with white linen and centered with an arrangement of daisies, lilies, and feverfew in a silver bowl flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers.

Mrs. Tom Purvis served the punch while the guests helped themselves to chicken salad in patty shells, pimento-cheese sandwiches, sand trats, mints and nuts.

Miss Osborne, daughter of Mrs. Linwood Osborne of Rocky Mount, was presented a corsage and a crystal salt and pepper shaker in her chosen pattern by the hostess.

red and white checked cloths and centered with lanterns.

Hois doeuvres were served during the social period prior to dinner.

The dinner menu consisted of Barbecued chicken, baked potatoes, tossed salad, French bread and iced tea.

After dinner the 15 couples present were invited to dance

Bride-Elect Given Dinner-Bridge

AYDEN—Miss Shirley Moseley and Miss Suzanne Taylor were hostesses at a dinner-bridge party honoring Miss Barbara Worthington, bride-elect, Friday evening.

Lighted tapers and early summer flowers were used for decorations throughout the home. Bridal bouquets centered the auxiliary tables.

Upon arrival the honoree received a white carnation corsage which complimented her floral spring dress. She also was remembered with a wedding (bridal) book by the hostesses.

After scores were tallied following the bridge play, Miss Frankie Davis was named high scorer while Miss Connie Dunn was runner-up.

Clubs Meet Jointly

FOUNTAIN — Members of the Falkland Home Demonstration Club were guests in the home of Mrs. Alton Moore when the Fountain Home Demonstration Club met for their regular meeting Monday.

Mrs. Joe Gay gave the devotional using as her topic "Foundation Work." Following the devotional the two clubs separated for a short business session, and met together for the demonstration which was presented by Mrs. Alton Moore, who used as her topic "Quick Meal" and served the foods which were prepared for the demonstration.

Since June is Dairy Month, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Ruel Dilda, dairy leader for the Fountain Club, had as special guests, two 4-H Club members, Ruth Ann Wooten and Betty Ruth Dunn, of the Fountain Junior and the Busy Beaver Clubs, who gave a demonstration on Dairy Foods. They prepared a Quick Dip and it was served to members of the two Home Demonstration Clubs. During the business session of the Fountain Club, presided over by club president, Mrs. Albert Bell, reports were heard on a special interest meeting "Home Meals for a Crowd" which Mrs. Gay attended and special activities of 4-H Sunday by Mrs. Alton Moore who reported that members took part in two church services and one member joined the church as a result of this activity.

Reports were also heard on food conservation, Gardens, recreation, markets, and arts and crafts.

Several announcements were made among which were the recreational meeting to be held on June 20 at 7:00 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bell and the club will meet in regular session again in August with Mrs. Fred Moore as hostess.

Mrs. Johnson of Wilson, former member of the Fountain Club, was guest of Mrs. Bell for this meeting.

Bridge Clubs

BETHEL—Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McWhorter entertained the Couples Bridge Club Thursday night with 11 members and two visitors, Mrs. Sylvia Jackson and S. J. Skelton of West Point, Ga. During the first progression iced drinks were served.

After the third progression, scores were counted. W. A. Mizelle and Mrs. Sylvia Jackson were awarded prizes for scoring high after which the hostess served ice cream float, nuts, cookies and iced water.

Last week when Mrs. Robert Weeks entertained at bridge the following guests were present to enter the game: Mesdames J. R. Bunting, J. A. Manning, L. L. Andrews Jr., Jule Pollard, E. E. Dennis and Ed Hemmingway.

Soon after the guests arrived iced drinks and potato chips were served. At the end of play drink floats and angelfood cake were served.

When scores were tallied, Mrs. J. R. Bunting was found winner of high and Mrs. J. A. Manning won consolation prize.

Brief Respite For Tobacco Folk

From farmers to manufacturers, the tobacco industry has an important four-to-five year period ahead of it in which to make necessary adjustments which will secure the industry's future at home and abroad.

Passage by Congress of the bill which will freeze tobacco support prices at the 1958 level for the next four to five years awaits only the signature of the President to become law. And in spite of the opposition by Secretary Benson and the Republican administration generally to the bill, it appears assured for the President's signature. Even President Eisenhower and Secretary Benson cannot disregard the fact that the administration's substitute proposal for a three-year freeze on tobacco support prices was defeated 123-65 in the House.

The freeze on tobacco support prices at the 1958 level affords the tobacco industry an opportunity to make important and vital adjustments which will assure a place for American flue-cured tobacco in the world market. It will slow the pace at which American producers have been pricing themselves out of world markets, and it will afford an opportunity for rebuilding lost world trade.

Further the freeze on support prices greatly reduces the economic hazard which has previously faced the Stabilization Corporation that has been a backbone of the support program so far as farmers are concerned. It has been evident that Stabilization could not withstand indefinitely the financial pressure put on it in the past few years. And if Stabilization ever collapsed, the entire tobacco program would collapse with it.

While the freeze of support prices at the 1958 level is good news for farmers in the long run, the move may well produce some immediate problems which producers will have to seek to overcome. Support prices will not increase year-to-year as has been the case in the past. That means, of course, that farmers can no longer expect the increase in support prices to overcome the increase in production costs which he experiences from year to year. He must pay closer attention to his costs and seek to hold them down.

The new law also means that farmers, in order to maintain their relative position in the overall economic picture must strive to produce a better quality of tobacco in order to command a higher price on warehouse floors. They must place greater emphasis on producing the kind of tobacco most in demand by both domestic and foreign purchasers.

This breathing spell offered by the freezing of tobacco support prices is not in itself an answer to the severe problems which face the tobacco industry. It provides, however, a period in which greater security is offered the tobacco industry while it works out solutions to its problems.

If the time gained by this Congressional action is not used constructively to make readjustments in the tobacco industry, producers undoubtedly will find themselves in a worse position at the end of the price-freeze period than they are now. During this four-to-five year breathing spell diligent efforts must be made at all levels of the tobacco industry—from the producer to the manufacturer—to bring about more permanent solutions to the problems which face the American tobacco industry.

Unless the time is used wisely, we have merely postponed the day of execution . . . not prevented it from coming about.

A Little Nest-Egg To Be Used In The Future

Gov. Hodges' withholding tax windfall idea which has made such a big hit with the legislature this year seems to have put a windfall idea into the heads of those legislators who hope to be back in their old seats in Raleigh two years from now.

It looks like they might be eyeing a little windfall of their own to help cope with the huge tax problem which appears inescapable two years from now.

The legislature has tentatively given approval to the withholding system for collecting individual income taxes. It balked on making the same provision for all corporations although it did write into the law a provision which would make the 41 largest corporations in the state subject to a pay-as-you-go income tax system.

By holding off on putting all corporations under the withholding method, perhaps the legislature is seeking to defer a little tax windfall until 1961. If in 1961 all corporations are put under the pay-as-you-go system for income taxes, the state would collect two years corporation taxes in one year just as it will do next year with individual income taxes and taxes of the 41 largest corporations.

Such a windfall in 1961 would not be nearly as large as the one next year, but at least it would help overcome a portion of the need for more state revenue.

Actually, there is little real reason for not putting all corporations of the state under the pay-as-you-go system if some of them are going to be under it. They all should be treated alike just as all taxpayers—businesses or individuals—should be treated alike.

Most of the legislators probably realize this. And most of them probably realize that with the need for increasing state revenue after the coming biennium, the 1961 session probably will expand the withholding idea for income tax collections. Every extra dollar they can get then by double collections in one year will ease the new revenue problem by that much.

The fact that most of the state's corporations have escaped the pay-as-you-go income tax collection for the coming biennium is not, in our opinion, grounds for thinking these corporations will escape the system two years from now.

It looks to us more like the legislators who hope to be back in Raleigh in 1961 are creating for themselves a little artificial nest egg with which to begin their all-out search for new revenue sources to get the state by the 1962-63 biennium.

Other Editors Saying . . . How Long?

(Washington Daily News)

People of North Carolina are beginning to ask an embarrassing question, and as of this date no real answer has been given.

How long will National Guard troops remain in Henderson at the strike bound Harriet-Henderson mills?

The question is becoming more pronounced with the news that Vance county has again refused to hire additional law enforcement officers so that guardsmen can be relieved. The county takes that attitude that maintaining law and order at the mill premises is a matter of state responsibility rather than county responsibility.

We are told that it is costing the state of North Carolina about $5,000 a day to keep the troops around the mill. In the course of a month that means that the State of North Carolina will spend approximately $150,000. And the state of North Carolina is bearing the entire expense.

Of course, there is the argument that it is better for the state to bear such an expense rather than see death and property destruction ride in the wake of this costly strike.

If the guardsmen are withdrawn, will law and order break down? Many people honestly feel that if the guardsmen leave the scene that violence will erupt to a degree not yet seen during all the long weeks and months of this strike.

The state has shown its interest in maintaining law and order because of the presence of the troops. But if the union and management are as interested in law and order as they profess, why couldn't they at least pay part of the expense of maintaining peace there? The union has called for the removal of the troops many times.

A special force could be hired to keep the peace there. If the mill, the union, and the state would each bear one-third of the cost of such a special force, it wouldn't take long to bring some semblance of real peace there.

We want to see order maintained. But we see in the present situation a never ending situation. If the agitators are just waiting for the removal of troops to engage in all out violence, then certainly law abiding citizens will think twice before leaving the premises unguarded.

We can't keep postponing an ultimate decision in this matter in Henderson. There is coming a time when the people are going to demand that the state withdraw the troops to avoid the heavy financial costs. That might be a dark day for the people of Henderson and Vance county. The rates are so high that to make taxes bearable, Congress has cut many loopholes. There are special concessions for the blind and the wedded, the lame and the halt, the young and the old, and the poor and the rich. Those aren't just fancy words. Each of those groups get special benefits under the Internal Revenue Code.

New Blue-Water Fisher

A glowing "nicest time I can remember" was her verdict; and the lady had a point.

She was still living in the heady excitement that lingers after a good day's fishing. But there was more to it than that.

Mrs. Thelma Elks has lived the "typical life" of a Pitt County farmwife. . . and when one has said that, the details are superfluous.

In the summer months, when the pressure is briefly eased, I've known her to occasionally go fishing. I rather think the peace and ever-present anticipation were important factors involved; it couldn't have been the few fish she caught.

And sometimes when we were fishing she'd say "Some day I want to try some deep-sea fishing." And I'd say something about salt water fish being as uncertain to catch as fresh water fish. But she still wanted to try it, and we'd pass the time talking about the big ones.

Last week she had her chance. . . was invited to go with a party to Morehead City, and accepted in a hurry.

I first learned about it when we returned home one evening to hear the "phone ringing. It was Thelma, trying to remain calm and just bubbling over with excitement. If she had struck gold, the delight couldn't have been greater. Naturally we had to go see.

There she was, in a shed, up to her elbows in glory and the chore of cleaning a big tub of fish. Most of them ran a pound or so; there were larger ones, including a 40-pounder she had caught.

With eyes snapping, Thelma told how fish were at times biting so heavily the party was pulling them in two at a time. They caught something around 400 pounds of fish, not counting the ones that were thrown back.

The boat had gone out about 35 miles, and the accommodations, the expanse of calm water and sun-bright sky were just so much frosting to a perfect day.

Some of the party napped, but not Thelma; to her, napping when fish are biting is something one just doesn't do.

Of course, everyone was happy for her.

You can go fishing time and again, and run into a good biting-day maybe once every other year—if that often. But Fortune smiled on Thelma.

A little later, called away from the still-unfinished fish-cleaning chore to eat a late supper (fish, of course), the high pitch of excitement began to fade, leaving in its wake a weary though still enthused convert to deep-sea fishing.

Just before we left, Thelma confided her ambitions included more Gulf Stream fish-catching. You can understand why.

With her kind of luck, I hope I go along, too.

France Rising Again

By HAL BOYLE
PARIS (AP) — Leaves from a touring notebook:

Those who have been weeping for La Belle France can dry their tears and throw away the crying towel.

She is again the belle of Europe.

Those who remember a France prostrate from World War II would hardly recognize her now.

The air of suspicion has disappeared. A fresh air of self-confidence is evident everywhere. The sound of the builder's hammer echoes from one end of the country to the other. Industry is rapidly being modernized. Tall apartment dwellings are rising to house the new generation of a more hopeful France.

"The standard of living here has been rising faster for the last six years than it has in America," said a veteran U. S. business leader.

"The French standard of living is now higher than that of Britain or West Germany," said a spokesman for the U. S. Embassy. "It is the highest in Europe."

Most observers seem to feel that a developing financial stability under the leadership of President Charles de Gaulle has accelerated France's economic betterment. This view also seems shared by most Frenchmen, even by those who disagree with De Gaulle politically.

If there is any strong anti-Americanism among the French today, it isn't visible to the average U. S. tourist. His welcome may not be effusive — the French rarely throw their hats in the air at the sight of strangers — but it will be cordial and polite.

"Recent polls show Germans now are the most popular foreign visitors among the French," said U. S. Minister Cecil Lyon. "Americans are second, British third, Italians fourth, Russians are the least popular."

Why should the French so willingly extend the glad hand to the Germans less than 15 years after the close of the last great war?

Lyon feels it is a result of two things: Closer economic ties, and De Gaulle's open admiration for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Germany.

The tourist gets about 17 per cent more for his money now than he did before the devaluation of the franc. But France is still no Mecca for the retired man seeking a place to live cheaply.

"The necessities of life here are still relatively high," said one resident. "A meal that costs a dollar in Washington or New York would cost $2 to $3 in Paris."

"But luxury is relatively cheap. An evening in a Parisian night club costs about a fourth as much as an evening in a Manhattan night spot."

This does not mean that there is not a "place" called heaven and another "place" called hell in every way meets the Biblical description of hell. Certainly full justice in this life can only be achieved in another world. Life on this planet is partial, fragmentary, transitory. There is about life something of an eternal quality which existence on the planet Earth cannot confer. Something has to be made up and fulfilled. Evil has to be reckoned with and settled. It is not so much a matter of rewarding or punishing people as of getting the scales in balance again. They are out of balance. Life here is constricted. The broad field of God's love calls for something vastly bigger and greater than anything we know.

But it is also true that heaven and hell begin here on earth. We can make our own little heavens and our own little hells, and the strange thing about it is that some people seem to like their little hells better than most people like their heavens.

Heaven and hell are definite "places" which humanity will know after death. But heaven and hell are also states of mind. Attitudes can change heaven into hell and hell into heaven. Desires inordinately sought after, the fever induced by frustration — these can have both heaven and hell in them.

Heaven and hell are real.

Tax Monster Feeds On Itself

By ELMER ROESSNER
The American tax monster feeds and fattens on itself.

That's one of those sweeping statements that, by its very nature, stirs doubt. Let's see if we can prove it.

American tax rates are high — so high that many underdeveloped nations think they cannot afford democracy.

"Indefinitely" is a word which has been banded around a great deal of late. And when people are told that troops will be there "indefinitely," they also realize that it will cost $5,000 per day "indefinitely."

How long is the big question now. And when we realize that so many of the strikers own their homes close to the mill and that they can't pick up and leave easily, that word "indefinitely" takes on added significance.

part of his income and I'll show you a man in need of a good tax consultant.

One of the most handsome benefits is the grant of tax exemption on interest paid on bonds by states and subdivisions.

A wealthy person with his money invested in stocks paying $400,000 a year might have only $82,000 left after Federal taxes. But if he put his money in tax-exempt bonds, the income would be far better than $400,000 of taxable income.

Consequently, the rich divert their investments to tax-free securities.

REASON FOR EXEMPTION The reason for this exemption is that if interest on their bonds were taxable, states and subdivisions would have to pay 3 to 10 per cent for funds. However, those seeking tax-exempt income have supported the idea vigorously.

With the public clamoring for more schools, roads, parks and jobs, and with plenty of money searching for tax-free havens, state and local officials are surely and sorely tempted to recommend the issuance of more and more bonds.

EFFECTS ON TOTAL TAXES But bonds must eventually be paid off from tax revenues. As the total of bonds outstanding rises, sums to pay them off must also increase, hence state and local taxes must go up.

"State tax increases are sweeping the country in a record number of state legislative sessions," Commerce Clearing House, a tax and law reporting service, stated a few days ago.

This, then is the pattern: high Federal tax rates result in more loopholes; loopholes have resulted in tax-free bonds; these bonds require higher state and local taxes to pay principals and interest.

Thus higher taxes beget even higher taxes.

BIG TRAVEL YEAR IN PACIFIC FORESEEN

While most of American international travel spending will be for journeys to Europe this year, the Pacific area will get a sizable share, according to William D. Patterson's annual report on the travel industry for Travel News, published by the American Society of Travel Agents. Mr. Patterson is associate publisher of Saturday Review.

"Boom is the word for the Pacific," he wrote. Tourists will spend $100,000,000 and military and government officials $16,000,000 more in Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong and other Pacific places, he calculated.

Old Tunnels Are Air War Center

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Aviation Writer

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany (AP)—An air war control center, as nearly immune from atomic attack as a structure can be, is nearing completion deep inside a mountain not far from this West German town.

Known as the Combat Operation Center of the Advance Echelon Headquarters of the U.S. Air Force in Europe, the complex of tunnels was inspected by a party of U.S. newsmen touring NATO installations in Europe.

Snores His Way Out Of The Jail

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Sleepy Travis Zellis, 28, literally snored his way out of the county jail Tuesday.

Zellis had been given a 90-day sentence May 1 for stealing an amplifier from a night club.

But soon after Zellis was jailed, Judge Simon L. Leis and probation officials began receiving calls from Charles Junker, the jail warden; Joseph Hesselbrock, his assistant; and Sheriff Dan Tahan.

It seemed that Zellis snored day and night. He couldn't stay awake on any job. He snored so much during the day that other prisoners couldn't work and made so much noise at night they couldn't sleep.

Judge Leis and the Hamilton County Probation Department decided he had to be released—on three months' probation.

Col. Edward S. F. Newbury of Bakersfield, Calif., director of the center, said the German contractor will turn over the completed project to the U.S. command in about three weeks. The underground headquarters is already in operation.

The center maintains an air defense screen over the central part of Europe day and night to protect the Atlantic Alliance from sneak attack.

Manned by a staff of 125, the center constantly plots by radar all air movements within its area of responsibility on both sides of the Iron Curtain. It can dispatch tactical air weapons at a moment's notice.

As newsmen watched, more than 30 unidentified aircraft were being tracked on the far side of the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

"It is a beautiful, clear day and the Communists are doing a lot more flying around than usual," Newbury said.

The center is housed in three parallel corridors, 450 feet long, tunneled horizontally into the mountain. Sixty-seven long, narrow rooms are air conditioned with equipment designed to filter out radioactive material.

German engineers drilled three tunnels at the site from 1937 to 1939 for ammunition storage. The German west front command occupied the tunnels from 1944 until the end of World War II, after which the French used them as an ammunition depot.

The American Air Force started using the tunnels as a combat operations center in 1954.

Atlanta Ordered Submit School Integration Plan

ATLANTA (AP)—A federal judge has ordered the Atlanta Board of Education to submit a desegregation plan for the city's public schools within a reasonable time.

The ruling did not set any deadline. U.S. Dist. Judge Frank A. Hooper said he would allow sufficient time for the Georgia Legislature to act upon the plan if necessary.

The next regular session of the Legislature will be in January 1960.

Mayor William B. Hartsfield of Atlanta said the ruling "allows time for both the city and the state to save the public schools."

In Washington, however, Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga.) said he hoped the Atlanta school board would "use every means at their command to resist this effort... to enforce an abhorrent alien doctrine on a people who are proud of their belief in the right of the several states to control their local affairs."

In a written decision Tuesday, Hooper confirmed a ruling he made on June 5 and said he was compelled to enjoin racial discrimination in the Atlanta public schools.

"This court fully realizes the difficult position in which the defendants are herein placed," the court order said. "If they integrate the schools, all state, money under existing laws will be cut off and it may be that such funds are necessary for the operation."

The continued operation, however, with discrimination as in the past will not be tolerated.

Hooper's order interpreted the U.S. Supreme Court's call for integration with all deliberate speed as meaning speed "consistent with the welfare of all our people, with the maintenance of law and order, and with the preservation if possible of our common school system."

The jurist assumed that any plan would call for a gradual desegregation process with careful screening of applicants to determine their fitness to enter the school to which they apply.

This was a repetition of Hooper's earlier broad hint that the way to go about handling the problem is to adopt a pupil placement law.

Hooper directed attorneys for the 10 Negro parents who brought the suit to draw up a decree carrying out his order and to notify defense counsel. The school board then will have 10 days to notify him of any objections to it, the jurist said.

SWING IS COSTLY

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Messenger, 61, swung her large shopping purse at fighting dogs, one of them her own.

Nations Choosing Up Sides For Trade Blocs

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The nations seem to be choosing up sides today for world trade.

American manufacturers, miners and farmers who sell their products overseas, or would like to — and American businessmen who see foreign products competing with them here at home — have something new to deal with: trading blocs.

The latest taking shape is the Outer Seven.

Reserves Chance At West Point

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Carl Durham (D-NC) has granted the wish of 7-year-old Robert Childress. The congressman has reserved an appointment for the lad to West Point.

But Robert may never get the chance to fulfill his ambition to attend the U.S. Military Academy. He has nephritis, a kidney disease, and doctors say that unless there is an unusual development Robert won't live to grow up.

Rep. John McMillan (D-SC) learned of the boy's desire, but left a West Point reservation would mean more if it came from the boy's own congressman.

Robert, who has been attending Linton Hall Military Academy at Bristow, Va., received a letter which read in part:

"It has come to my attention that you are from Durham, N.C., and that you have an ambition of several years standing to attend the United States Military Academy at West Point."

"So that your ambition may be fulfilled, I am placing your name in my files to this effect."

Mrs. Childress, the boy's mother, now lives in Washington.

Said Durham, "...who knows but that research may result in the cure for Robert Childress to grow up to be the military man he hopes to be."

Ask Red Cross Act In Dispute

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A group of South Koreans appealed to the American Red Cross today to intervene in the dispute over Japanese plans to repatriate destitute Koreans to Communist North Korea. The appeal was presented to U.S. Ambassador Walter Dowling.

Japan and North Korea agreed on the repatriation in principle last week, and negotiators for the two governments are now working on a detailed agreement.

South Koreans claim the repatriates are being sent to Communist slavery.

Pupil Assignment Law Is Praised

SANFORD, N.C. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell said here Tuesday night the use of the pupil assignment law is the best approach North Carolina can take in dealing with school segregation problems.

Seawell told the Sanford Jaycees the pupil assignment law is "for the purpose of living within the law and preserving our schools."

He said North Carolina is facing its school problems thoughtfully and calmly and "therein lies our hope."

Seawell declared "the militant activity of the NAACP" is doing "irreparable harm in racial relations throughout North Carolina and the South."

REBEL LOSSES

Reassignments Asked In School Merger Moves

GREENSBORO (AP)—The merger of a Negro school and a white school situated on the same campus has resulted in reassignment requests from about 90 per cent of the parents of the 250 children who have been attending the white school.

City School Supt. P. J. Weaver made the disclosure Tuesday night.

The Greensboro School Board announced in May that the Caldwell School and the all-Negro Pearson Street School, located on the same campus, would be merged. About 220 Negro children attended the Pearson Street school.

Token integration has been in effect here for two years, as it has in Winston-Salem and Charlotte.

Cracking Down On Gasoline

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In an attempt to reduce smog, Los Angeles County is cracking down on gasoline sold to its motorists.

The Board of Supervisors ordered Tuesday that after June 30, 1960, all gasoline sold must contain less than 18 per cent olefins.

Some scientists contend the eye-irritating hydrocarbons are a major contributor to smog. The air pollution control district asked the restriction.

Oil industry spokesmen took no stand on the restriction. They say the effects of olefins as smog ingredients still are undetermined.

Over 1,000 Children In City's Vacation Bible Schools

By MARTHA PIERCE
Reflector Staff Writer

Over 1,000 children from pre-school age through 15 years old are participating in one and two-week vacation Bible schools being sponsored by Greenville churches June 3 to 19.

Similar program schedules employing worship, Bible study, handicraft and play are being conducted by each church. The Bible schools open between 8:30 and 9 a.m. and finish between 11 a.m. and 12 p.m. Marantha Free Will Baptist Church held the only afternoon Bible school from 2-4 p.m. each afternoon June 8-12.

Two-week Bible School
Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church is sponsoring a Two-week Vacation Bible School under the direction of Mrs. H.T. Patterson. Average enrollment for the first week was 100 children and 25 teachers and helpers.

"God and His World," theme of the 9-11:30 a.m. Bible school activity, is being carried out in nature study for the kindergarten and primary groups. The junior department took a nature hike through the college woods Monday in connection with their nature studies.

A pet hamster and various insects are available for study by the younger groups.

"Work and Worship"

"Study through work and worship" is the theme of the two-week vacation Bible school continuing through June 19 at the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. M.P. Bailey is director of the Bible school which is in session from 9-11:30 a.m.

The Junior department plans to make living pictures using students against student-drawn backgrounds. They are studying religious paintings related with worship. Percy Cox was a guest speaker for the department last week.

The primary department is making shadow boxes illustrating Bible stories, poppicle baskets, and scatter prints. Each student has planted a pumpkin seed as a part of his nature study.

Ends with Picnic

The Salvation Army closed their week of vacation Bible School last Saturday with a picnic. The Bible school was headed by Hubert Jennings of East Carolina College.

A record number of attendance certificates were awarded to the children with 62 certificates for perfect attendance and 28 for three and four-day attendance. Average attendance totaled 106 and the groups were led by 12 teachers and assistants.

The smiling and attractive daughter of the late Hideki Tojo, is visiting a former college classmate here. She will leave for the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor Wednesday to study international politics on a scholarship.

Clifton Webb Is Ordered To Rest

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Doctor's orders have forced Clifton Webb to step out of a movie role.

The 62-year-old actor was ordered to take an extended rest at home after he was hospitalized over the weekend. The nature of his ailment was not announced.

Webb will be replaced by James Mason in the 20th Century-Fox science fiction film "Journey to the Center of the World."

8:30 a.m. After the younger children divided into classes, the Junior department had a worship service. Each department learned songs and did craft work.

Mrs. J.D. McGlohorn, director, reported that 132 children were enrolled in Bible school.

Commencement Sunday

Memorial Baptist Church Vacation Bible School ended Sunday with a total enrollment of 125 and an average attendance of 119. Mrs. Rodney Roberson was in charge of the Bible school and directed the Bible study and creative activity included in the one-week Bible school.

Make Picture Frames

Making picture frames and bird houses were projects completed in the vacation Bible school conducted by the Eighth Street Christian Church. Younger groups made bells from tin cans and made paper weights. Mrs. Louis Gaylord, Jr., was director of the Bible school.

Erect Ball Goal

The vacation Bible school program directed by the Rev. Mark Owens of the Arlington Street Baptist Church included the construction of a basketball goal and general improvement of play facilities. The older youth also made toys for the younger children.

Total enrollment for the week was 120. A picnic supper on Friday concluded the week's activity.

Afternoon Bible School

Average attendance of the Marantha Free Will Baptist Church Vacation Bible School was 67. Total enrollment was 78. Fifteen workers, intermediate-adults, conducted the Bible school under the direction of the Rev. Larue Davis.

Tourney Is Success

The first Invitational Tennis Tournament at Washington this past weekend was proclaimed a huge success by the officials.

The response from the spectators was good and most of the netters participating left raving on the way that the tournament was held.

Maurice Everette, a crew-cut East Carolina College graduate student, was top-seeded and did eventually win the tourney although forced to the limit by former teammate, John West.

Dean of Tennis

Everette is the dean of tennis in this area and his college record at East Carolina will stand for some time. During his tenure on the ECC tennis team, he won 65 matches while losing only 16. During this span of time, he won the North State singles championship for three consecutive years and teamed with a teammate to cop the doubles freshman year.

The Robersonville native finished his college days in 1958 but served as an assistant tennis coach this past spring while doing graduate work, and has also been active in tournaments throughout this section of the country.

Champ High on Tourney

Commenting on the Washington tournament, Everette had high praise. "It was well-run and one of the most organized tournaments that I have played in."

Everette also had plenty of praise for his final round opponent and former teammate, John West. "John (West) played real good tennis and was real hot in the second and third set. He put the pressure on me and it didn't seem that he could make a mistake."

"In the final two sets, I was able to take the net more and forced him to make some mistakes. John is a real good player and should have a fine season next year."

West was in a depressed mood following the match but cited the tournament as an outstanding one in receiving his runner-up trophy.

Has Strong Serve

For Everette, it was only one of many tournaments on his summer schedule. Future activity calls for the Georgia Invitational, Roanoke Rapids Invitational, and naturally he will be around to defend his hometown title in the Robersonville Invitational.

The strength of Everette's tennis game lies largely in his serve. He has plenty of power and his second serve usually equals that of his first in speed and deception.

Everette has good speed, a good net game, and almost all the assets necessary in becoming a top star. He has had several pro offers but has chosen to keep his amateur status for the present time. He has indicated that he may consider turning pro in the future.

He will continue graduate work this summer and plans to enter the coaching field at Methodist Orphanage in Oxford this fall. He expects to devote his future summers to playing tennis and also in giving instructions.

Odds and Ends

Ronnie Finch continued his jinx over the rest of the teams in the Beaufort County League this past weekend as he hurled a 7-3 win, his sixth against no defeats. His club leads the eight team loop with a 14-4 record.

Merrill Bynum received credit for the first legion victory for Kinston. They defeated Jacksonville behind the Greenville star pitching. He also plays a regular outfield slot while not pitching. Joe Moye has opened the season as the regular first sacker for the Kinston legion club. Coaches Jack Boone and Jim Mallory got good response from a football clinic that was recently conducted at the college. The Double-Wing was one of the main formations discussed.

Exchange Again
Opens Campaign
With A Victory

The Exchange opened their second half of the Tar Heel League yesterday afternoon in the same manner of the first half as they downed Greenville Tobacco Company, 10-3.

Exchange scored all their runs in the fourth inning and needed only three hits to do it. The Tob players gave up a total of seven walks in the inning and were not helped any by three errors.

Gary Bostic, Sidney Mills, and Jack Boone had the big hits of the frame, each driving out a double with men on base.

Malcolm Beamon, the fixture in the Tob lineup, started on the mound and had a no-hitter going for the first three innings before running into control problems in the fourth.

He struck out eight in the three and two-thirds innings that he worked but was charged with the defeat.

Beamon and John Horne had put the first half season co-champions out in front with a couple of doubles following a walk in the first inning.

Exchange opened the first half of the season like a house afire but cooled down after winning three straight and entered yesterday's game with a four-game losing streak.

The Elks and Pepsi-Cola will meet today with the Exchange getting back in action Friday against the Elks.

In the North State loop, the Lions meet Texaco today and Kilwanis will play VFW tomorrow.

Wilson Boosts
Its League Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wilson's Tob increased their Carolina League lead to 3 1/2 games Tuesday night by defeating Burlington 8-2 while second-place Raleigh was dropping a win bill to Winston-Salem, 10-4 and 6-2.

Wilson pounded Dave Tryver for nine hits and eight runs in the first three innings. It was Tryver's first defeat after five victories. Wilson's lefty Aaron Flores, effective in allowing eight hits, chalked up his ninth win against one loss.

In defeating Raleigh twice, Winston-Salem broke a jinx with proper ceremonies. In between games, a funeral was held for the Raleigh jinx and it worked. The Caps had won nine straight from the Red Birds this season.

Raleigh jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first inning of the opening game, but Bobby Moegle tied it up in the bottom of the inning with a three-run homer. The Birds went ahead with four runs in the second.

Raleigh got off to a 2-0 lead after three innings of the second game, but Winston-Salem came back with three in the sixth and three in the seventh.

Greensboro and Durham battled to a 15-1 tie in a scoring marathon at Greensboro that was called at the end of 10 innings because of the midnight curfew.

Tonight's games: Greensboro at Durham, Burlington at Wilson and Raleigh at Winston-Salem.

Pitching — Art Ditmar, Yankees, gave up only four hits for 5-1 victory over the White Sox, walking but one, striking out four and allowing only a pair of singles over the final eight innings.

Hitting — Don Hoak, Pirates, had three hits in four trips breaking a 1-1 tie with a two-out, two-run double in the ninth inning for 5-2 victory over the Cubs.

The 32-year-old who started in Brooklyn, lost six straight for the Dodgers in Los Angeles last year before being traded to the Redlegs.

There were snickers last spring when Manager Mayo Smith figured the big guy on his pitching staff might be Don Newcombe. Sure, Newk had won 27 in 1956, but he was washed up, hadn't been able to win 20 over two seasons since.

So who's the ace of the Redlegs staff? Big Newk, winner of six straight, all complete games, with a 3.00 earned run average and 4-0 against the slugging San Francisco Giants after he chopped them down again Tuesday night 2-1.

It was Newcombe's seventh victory of the season, matching his total for last year when he lost 13. This one slipped the Giants two games behind the National League leading Milwaukee Braves who came off with a 5-4 victory at Los Angeles.

Pittsburgh lightened its hold on third, just a game behind the Giants, by beating the Chicago Cubs 5-2. St. Louis swept a twi-night pair from Philadelphia, 8-1 and 5-2.

In the American League, Cleveland made it seven in a row, 4-1 at Boston, and took a full game lead over Chicago's second-place White Sox beaten 5-1 at New York.

Detroit at Baltimore and Kansas City at Washington, were rained out.

Newk, who hasn't lost since he dropped his fourth May 10, stretched the Giants slump to three games with a six-hitter, walking none and striking out three. The sixth-place Redlegs didn't give him a lead until they roughed up Mike McCormick for both runs in the eighth inning on Vada Pinson's 11th homer, a single by Frank Robinson and a double by Frank Thomas.

The Giants scored in the third on Hobie Landtrith's double, a sacrifice and Jim Davenport's sacrifice fly. It's the only run Newk has allowed in 18 innings.

The big right-hander put it away when Daryl Spencer tapped into a game-ending doubleplay with the tying run on third and the winning run on first after two singles.

Lew Burdette won his 10th for the Braves, but failed to go the distance for the fifth time in a row when the Dodgers, shut out for seven frames scored twice in the ninth. John Roseboro's double and a walk brought on reliever Don McMahon, who gave up a two-run single by Charlie Neal before getting Wally Moon on a pop up that ended it. Moon, who was 4-for-5, had tripled home a run and scored himself in a two-run eighth.

The Braves, shut out for 22 innings before a bases-loaded walk gave them a two-out run with four runs in the seventh after two were out. Ending Johnny Podres' winning string at five. Singles by Casey Wise, Hank Aaron, who slipped below .400 for the first time, and Frank Torre, and Del Crandall's two-run double did it.

Bob Friend (3-8) won it for the Pirates, who broke a 1-1 tie with four runs after two were out in the ninth. Don Hoak's two-run double and Friend's two-run single beat Dave Hillman (3-5) as the Bucs won their fifth decision in the last six.

The Cards made it 8 out of 16 as Wilmer Mizell (8-3) beat the Phils in the opener and Ernie Broglio, who had lost five, won his first in the majors with Lindy McDaniel's perfect two-inning mopup. Hal Smith homered in the opener for the Cards and Gino Cimoli hit a two-run homer in the first inning of the nightcap, clinched on Stan Musial's triple in the fourth.

Dave Philley homered and singled for both second game runs by the Phils, who managed only three runs despite 21 hits in the doubleheader. Ruben Gomez (1-4) and Jim Owens (4-4) were the losers.

State Bank Has
13-7 'Revenge'

Billy James continued to boast the big stick in the Teen-er League last night but his attempts were futile as State Bank revenge an earlier licking by edging Guaranty Bank, 13-7.

James' booming bat kept Guaranty Bank alive all night but they were never able to overcome a 13-0 deficit. Playing third base, first base and finally finishing the game as a pitcher, James slapped two homers in the seven inning contest to account for five of Guaranty's seven runs.

His first four-bagger was in the fifth and came with the bases loaded. His final blast was a solo clout in the seventh.

Nellie Fox Believes No
Batting Titles For Him

NEW YORK (AP)—Nellie Fox, I'm not even thinking about it. What I want more than anything else is for us to win the pennant. We've been second so often it's getting monotonous.

"I think this is the year, though. We've got the best chance we've ever had. Know what I think? The way this race is shaping up, the team that has the best record in September will win it."

Nellie now has played 573 consecutive games, a record for second basemen.

Play For Right
To Final Round

OMAHA (AP)—Fresno State Oklahoma State will meet in a win-or-go-home NCAA college baseball world series game tonight with the winner to battle with Arizona for the championship.

The three teams are 3-1 following the surprise win of Fresno State over Arizona, 2-0. Tuesday night and Oklahoma State's 4-3 elimination of Penn State, Arizona won today's bye in a drawing and remains the favorite because of the day of rest.

Heavy Scoring In Church League

Greenville Free Will Baptist took a big win over Eighth Street Christian Church last night, 17-4, in the Church Softball League.

Smith Worthington and Marvin Mills led the winners at the plate. Worthington had two homers and Mills had a three-run blast in the sixth inning.

CHAPTER 23

Mark Travers moved as fast as he could in the shadow of the buildings. When he was almost opposite the black sedan, he threw himself on the ground.

Crawling on his belly, he covered the last three feet that separated him from the door. Then, all in one movement, he reached for the handle, pulled himself up, and, throwing open the door, grabbed the driver's legs, forcing him out of his seat and into the street.

The next moment a heavy instrument hit his shoulder, hurling him back onto the ground. And all he could feel was the heavy weight of the man's body, pressing the air from his lungs. All he could smell was sweat, the hot, foul odor of fear. All he could hear were the horrible groans of excitement that broke from the other man's lips.

They rolled across the cobblestones, against the wall of a house and back into the street again, two equally strong men fighting for survival.

At one point Mark tasted blood, not knowing if it was his own or that of the other. And for one instant, then, he managed to look up. Poised over him he could see the lights of the car shining on the blade of a knife.

But with the closeness of death, an unknown strength shot through him, made him hold his breath, pull out his legs from under the other's terrible weight and kick with all the force he could muster. Then he was on top of the man, the knife out of reach for both of them.

Something stronger than anything he had ever experienced made his hands span the throat of the other, choking him, lifting his head and bumping it against the ground until the body underneath his gave, became quiet, motionless.

He got up, shaking with disgust and triumph, and leaned against the car, trying to breathe evenly and deeply until his heart had quieted down and he could look for Fleur.

She was lying on the floor of the car, her hands tied. A piece of cloth shoved into her mouth. He freed her quickly, massaged the delicate wrists around which the cord had left angry, red wheels.

"Are you all right?" Mark asked.

She could only nod.

Mark went back to the man. He was still unconscious. "Anet?"

"Yes," said Fleur, her voice weak. "He came in and when he saw me, he said Guy had driven him home and was still outside. That's why I went out with him. And then he seized me."

She came to stand next to Mark. "You are bleeding," she said. And then she could not control herself any longer. She began to sob violently. He let her cry and turned to her only after he had managed to get Anet back into the car and tied his arms behind his back. "Fleur, I am sorry. Now I will have to call the police."

"I know," she said. "There is nothing else to do."

They had been at the police station only about twenty minutes, when Inspector Perrier, whom Mark had called at once, threw open the door to the office in which they were waiting.

"Congratulations," he said, putting down his dachshund, and pumped Mark's arm. "I'm afraid I would feel very humiliated that you, an amateur, should have discovered such a vital lead if I had not, in the meantime, come upon an important trail myself."

A light, almost shy smile showed in the inspector's deep brown eyes. "The reason you could not reach me was that I was busy in Nice. We've got the Arab who threw the bomb."

He turned in the direction where Fleur was standing at the window. "Inspector Perrier, Mademoiselle Constant," said Mark.

"Constant?" repeated Perrier, suddenly concerned showing in his face. "In that case, would you stay, Mademoiselle?"

Fleur seemed to hesitate, then she nodded. "I'll stay."

"Thank you," Perrier bowed stiffly. Then he turned back to Mark. "I just told the captain that I'd handle this case myself."

He went to the door, opened it and nodded to someone outside. A moment later two policemen brought in Louis Anet.

Filthy with the dirt of the street, a big bag across one cheek, Anet stood teetering in the middle of the room.

"Sit down, Anet," Perrier said, dismissing the men who had brought Anet in.

At mention of his name, Anet looked up abruptly, then he walked slowly to the chair to which Perrier pointed with a movement of his chin. Like the inspector, Anet was a stockily built man of average height. His eyes were set close to the root of his nose which was a little crooked.

"Cigarette?" asked Perrier, pulling a package from one of the pockets of his coat. Anet shook his head and crossed both arms over his chest, rocking slightly back and forth.

Perrier shrugged, put back the cigarettes and took out his pipe, lighting it slowly; then, with the pipe in his mouth, he walked around the chair, circling it several times, rather like a dog his prey, before he seated himself on the edge of the office desk, legs dangling, his dachshund sitting pertly at his side.

"If I were in your shoes," he said, in a slow, sleepy voice, "I would make up my mind to play ball. We have enough evidence against you to send you to the guillotine, so you'd better tell us the truth. On whose orders did you act?"

Anet did not answer. Perrier waited for a while before he spoke again.

"You were born Louis Marie Anet in 1925 in Oran, Algeria. When did you begin to sympathize with the Algerian rebels? When you went back to Oran after the war, or only lately?"

Anet remained silent. One of the inspector's feet shot out and kicked him sharply on the knee. Anet seemed to pay no attention. Obviously he was not going to talk.

"All right," said Perrier. "Then let me tell you something. I just found out that as early as 1955, the Anemone was instrumental in getting boats with ammunition through to the rebels. You used a code. Don't trouble to deny it."

Anet's face showed neither surprise at this news nor fear. It remained a mask. Without taking his eyes off it, Perrier addressed Mark. "You know, of course, Travers, that the Anemone had permission to anchor and move within the five-mile zone of the Algerian coast. So it was easy enough for them to watch the shore, to know exactly what was going on, and where there would be a gap for one of the boats standing out at sea to risk running the blockade."

"The code is a rather ingenious bit of work, on the surface completely inconspicuous, just messages telling what Constant's moves were, to what depths he was descending, what he was encountering in the way of marine life or discovering at the bottom of the sea. Pleasant little conversations between bored radio operators. I am sorry, Mademoiselle," he added, his eyes leaving Anet for an instant to look at Fleur.

Mark followed his glance but Fleur had turned her back on them and he could not tell what she might be feeling at the moment.

His impulse was to take her in his arms, to hold her close, to tell her nothing mattered but her happiness.

Her happiness, he thought. He had done his share to ruin it.

Anet opens up . . . "and the silence that fell over the bare little room of the police station was filled with surprise." Continue the story here tomorrow.

New Drug Has Quick Results In Mental Cases

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A new drug has scored a major breakthrough in the treatment of depressed mental patients, says a psychiatrist.

Dr. Nathan Thal, senior psychiatrist at Western State Hospital, Steilacoom, Wash., said Tuesday 144 of 180 patients treated with the drug recovered so rapidly they were discharged within six weeks. None has suffered a relapse.

Dr. Thal said the remaining 36 patients improved so much that electric shock—conventional treatment for depression—was not needed.

The drug—beta phenylethylhydrazine sulphate—is described as a psychic energizer with effects opposite to those of tranquilizers. "I'm excited about the possibilities of the drug," Dr. Thal said. "prior to this we haven't had any safe, effective drug for the depressed patient."

He will report on his experiments at the New York Academy of Science conference Thursday.

'Superman' To Many, But Not To Himself

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—George Reeves was Superman to millions of television fans—but not to himself.

The husky 45-year-old actor committed suicide Tuesday morning after his fiancée predicted in jest: "He's going to shoot himself."

Reeves, a jut-jawed natural for the role of Superman, was selected to portray the cape-flying marvel nine years ago.

Television filming of the Superman series stopped a year and a half ago with 105 episodes completed—enough, a friend said, to last the producers "for the rest of their lives."

Friends said the series brought Reeves financial security (he was paid for each TV showing) and some fame—but not fulfillment as an actor.

Reeves felt doomed to play Superman. He once explained why he couldn't get other roles: "It's like Hopalong Cassidy trying to get an acting job in white tie and tails."

Why did he shoot himself? Lenore Lemmon, his fiancée said: "Because he was known as Superman. He couldn't get a job."

"That combined with the fact that a woman (a former girl friend) never got off his back. 'I think everything just kind of swooped down on a very sensitive man.'"

Reeves and his house guests—Miss Lemmon, 35, an erstwhile New York cafe society figure, and writer Robert Condon, 45—retired to their respective bedrooms late Monday night. They were awakened about 2:30 a.m. by two friends, William Bliss and Mrs. Van Ronkel. Reeves argued with Bliss over the lateness of the hour, then went upstairs.

Miss Lemmon blurted: "He's going to shoot himself." A noise was heard upstairs. She continued, inexplicably: "He's opening a drawer to get the gun." A shot was heard. "See there—I told you!" she exclaimed.

They found Reeves' nude body on his bed, a bullet in his temple.

Russians Display Electronic MD

MOSCOW (AP)—An electronic doctor flashing diagnoses of 100 illnesses on a lighted screen was one of the exhibits of a "National Achievements" fair the Russians opened here today.

The doctor is made up of two electronic memory bases into which physicians feed data on the patient's symptoms. The newspaper Soviet Fleet said it should be a great aid as an assistant physician in hospitals.

BAD LUCK TRIPLED

FLORENCE, Ala. (AP)—For Mrs. Jim E. Campbell, tragedy came in triplicate. Her son Doug, 23, lost a leg in an automobile accident, and her son Charles, 30, suffered a broken leg in the same accident. While she was checking on the injuries, she was notified that her son Billy, 14, had fallen from a tree. Both his arms were broken.

Thanks To Generous People, Girl's Problem Dies; Opportunity Lives

By JERRY HALL

Rock Hill Evening Herald
Written for The Associated Press
ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Two months ago, Frances Elizabeth Arrowood was a girl with a big opportunity and a big problem.

Today, thanks to people throughout South Carolina, she is a girl with a big opportunity.

As a sophomore at Winthrop College in Rock Hill, Frances was notified two months ago that she had been selected as one of five students in the United States to study abroad for one year.

The Board of Missions of the Methodist Church agreed to sponsor the five students at schools of their choice overseas.

Frances chose Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, India.

There was one drawback.

Frances was required to raise approximately $2,000 to cover expenses for her year of study.

Friends advised her to forget the whole thing. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Arrowood of Union "were a bit dubious," but agreed to pay half the bill.

Frances was confident the money would take care of itself and began making preparations for the trip.

The Rock Hill Evening Herald ran a story on her financial problem. The S.C. Methodist Advocate magazine reprinted the story. Other newspapers across the state carried stories.

Money began to trickle in. It came from church groups, business houses and individuals.

An elderly man in Greenville penned a short note, "May God be with you in your journey," he said, enclosing a wrinkled dollar bill.

At last count, Frances had received $1,300.

"It was a wonderful response," said Frances. "I'm convinced now that if you want to do something bad enough, nothing will stop you."

Now home in Union, she is busy making preparations for her trip.

On June 24, she will leave by plane for India. On July 10, after a series of short stopovers in Europe, she will arrive at Lucknow.

The new term at Isabella Thoburn begins July 12 and runs through May 1.

Frances has been advised to buy a sleeping bag (no beds at the college) and a bicycle. She has been warned that she will be arriving at the beginning of the monsoon season.

"I hope I can get used to monkeys," she said. "They take over the camp in the summer."

The weather at Lucknow will range from very hot to very cold. Frances said one of her most important decisions will be deciding what to leave behind. She can take only 44 pounds of luggage on the flight and duty is high on packages from home.

Isabella Thoburn is a small liberal arts college for women with a regular enrollment of 350 girls. A typical college day will go something like this during the summer: 6:30 a.m., dine on tea and crumpets and go to class; 10 a.m., eat dinner and return to classes at 1:30 p.m.; keep in the shade and do as little as possible until 4 p.m., when more tea and crumpets are served. Lights go out at 10 p.m.

Four evenings each week Frances will instruct illiterate Indians. She also will make frequent field trips to the rural villages in Lucknow for visits with the people.

A winsome girl with cocoa brown eyes, raven black hair and a dark olive complexion, Frances believes she could pass quite easily as a native Indian.

"Whatever happens," she said, "I know it will be a wonderful experience."

Best Paid TV Stars Are Those Sharing In Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—For some reason, the most popular estimate of a top-salaried television star's income is "around $250,000 a year."

The Internal Revenue Service would be amazed at the number of performers authoritatively rumored to garner this impressive sum.

Since the government stopped reporting individual salaries, about the best anybody can do about figuring how much who makes is to elicit some educated guesses, average them off and then shave them a bit.

The best paid TV stars are the good business men and women like Desi Arnaz and Lucille Ball, Dick Powell and David Niven, Loretta Young and a handful of others who not only act but own all or an important chunk of the properties in which they appear.

Many a big star, however, is regularly employed on a TV series and does quite well without taking the risks involved in gambling on the success or failure of a package.

Guesses on actors' pay checks indicate that James Arness, the popular Marshall Dillon of "Gunsmoke," draws something between $50,000 and $70,000 a year.

James Garner, the alternate week hero of "Maverick" last season made something like $25,000 for 13 shows. Will Hutchins, a comparative youngster among the shootin', fightin', ridin', veterans, made perhaps $1,000 each for 20 of the "Sugarfoot" series.

Probably the best paid in the whodunit area is Raymond Burr who has the title role in "Perry Mason." Burr makes somewhere between $80,000 and $100,000 a year.

The ones who are doing best, however, are the actors who have a slice of a successful package. Blake Edwards, who dreamed up and produces Peter Gunn, gave Craig Stevens an interest in the show. That is policy, too, for Ziv, one of the big packaging companies in TV, which last year grossed 42 million dollars. Some of its stars include Lloyd Bridges with "Sea Hunt," Broderick Crawford with "Highway Patrol," and Richard Carlson with "MacKenzie Raiders."

Under Ziv's share-the-profits plan, Bridges is expected to make about $300,000 by year's end; Crawford, $250,000 and Carlson, $235,000.

Atoms-For-Peace Display Hours Reported Changed

PORTABLE GEIGER COUNTER... in "Atoms for Peace" exhibit.

The time for showing of "Atoms for Peace" exhibit has been changed, Roy Hardee, chairman of the Jaycee-sponsored visit, announced today.

The Atomic Energy Commission's mobile exhibit will be shown from 11 o'clock until 6 p.m. tomorrow, Hardee said. Originally the exhibit had been scheduled to appear in Greenville from noon until 8 p.m.

Hardee said the mobile unit will be parked at Five Points on the east corner of Fifth St. where it will be open to the public free of charge.

The exhibit is one of five "Atoms for Peace" mobile units now touring the country under the sponsorship of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Visitors to the free exhibit will obtain a comprehensive picture of the many ways in which the peaceful atom is playing a more and more important role in everyday life.

The exhibits, some of them operated by the spectator himself, explain research and development in the atomic energy field, ranging from the mining and refining of radioactive ores to the construction of nuclear reactors designed to provide electric power.

The mobile "Atoms for Peace" exhibit is operated for the AEC by the Museum Division of the Oak Ridge Institute for Nuclear Studies.

To Talk Outlook For Adjourning

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislative leaders will confer Thursday to determine whether the General Assembly can adjourn this week.

Gov. Luther B. Battle, who presides over the Senate, said the group will evaluate the situation to see if it will be necessary to extend the session until early next week.

Both the House and Senate made progress Tuesday in disposing of legislation, but much work remains to be cleared away before the lawmakers can head for home. The Senate calendar committee cleared 61 bills, mostly local legislation.

The House Finance Committee cleared its decks by killing a batch of bills, including a proposal to apply the 3 per cent sales tax to food.

The Senate enacted into law a motorboat regulation bill to impose a $3 annual fee on owners of boats of more than 10 horsepower.

The Senate approved a bill to allow servicemen to institute divorce proceedings in state courts if they have been stationed in North Carolina for six months. The bill goes back to the House for concurrence in an amendment requiring servicemen to pay travel expenses for out-of-state wives who might want to contest such proceedings.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill which would allow Wrightsville Beach to issue non-taxable bonds to finance construction of a convention hotel.

Faculty Member Joining Maine Summer Theater

Beatrice Chauncey, faculty member of the department of music at East Carolina College, has accepted appointment as a member of the acting company of the Bar Harbor Theater, New England summer playhouse, located at the Casino, Bar Harbor, Maine.

Miss Chauncey is scheduled to arrive in Bar Harbor, June 27, to prepare for the season at the theater, which runs from July 2 to August 22.

Plays on the summer program of the theater are "Visit to a Small Planet," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "Pygmalion," "The Importance of Being Earnest," "Bus Stop," "Outward Bound," and "Death of a Salesman."

In a number of plays produced locally by college groups and the Greenville Little Theater, Miss Chauncey has had leading roles and has several times served as director for productions. This spring she had the part of the Nurse in the East Carolina Playhouse — Greenville Little Theater production of "Romeo and Juliet."

Light Damage In Auto Collision

Light damage was reported by police when cars driven by Mrs. Howard Sumrell of 1621 Woodland Drive and Mrs. Ann Duke DuVal of 309 Student St. collided at the intersection of East Fourth and Student Sts. yesterday.

Damage to the Sumrell car was set at $50 while investigators listed damage to the DuVal auto at $100.

Mrs. DuVal was charged with failure to yield the right of way following investigation of the accident.

Rid Of A Snake, Burned Church
SPRING HOPE, N.C. (AP) — J. D. Williams, janitor of Faith Hope Negro Church, discovered a snake in the sanctuary when he prepared to sweep out Tuesday.

He then set about devising a scheme for getting rid of the snake. So he went outside, built a fire in an old tub and pulled the tub against the church entrance with the idea in mind that the wind would blow smoke into the church and chase the snake out.

Then he went back inside to watch the snake's antics when the smoke got to him. Outside, however, a lively breeze sprang up and fanned the fire. Flames lapped against the building and set it afire. The church burned down. Loss was estimated at $2,500. And Williams had got rid of the snake.

Group Named To Tobacco Role

The board of Directors of the Greenville Merchants Association appointed a subcommittee at their meeting Monday night to work with the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade and other groups in formulating plans for advertising and promoting Greenville's tobacco market.

Committee members include A. Hartwell Campbell, Chairman; J. T. Marston, Jr.; Dr. Warren Aldridge; J. H. Waldrop; Morris Brody and B. D. Johnston.

The directors recommended that Greenville merchants observe Saturday July 4, as a holiday.

The public relations Committee reported Newcomers had been written and assistance in securing employment had been offered.

J. H. Blount, Jr. was elected at the meeting to fill the unexpired term of E. E. Featherston who has moved to Elizabeth City.

A report from the membership committee showed that a new member, Parnell Tile and Marble Company has joined the Association.

The Board of Directors will not meet in July unless something should arise which needs immediate attention, the next meeting will be held in August.
