RECORD - BREAKING BUDGET
APPROVED BY CITY COUNCILPropose Holding
The Line On TaxPitt Commissioners
OK Interim Budget

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector City Editor

A tentative budget calling for the expenditure of $810,423.11 during the 1959-60 fiscal year was approved by the City Council in special session yesterday.

The record breaking city budget holds the tax line at $1.38 per $100 evaluation—the same rate in effect during the 1958-59 fiscal year.

The big budget was more than $200,000 out of balance Tuesday but councilmen met with the Utilities Commission Tuesday night to request that the commission turn over an additional $20,000 to the city during the coming year in order that the budget might be balanced.

The commission agreed to purchase seven acres of city property needed for a sewage disposal plant for $7,000 and to turn over an additional $13,000 to the city.

That amount will be in addition to the $150,000 permanent amount which the Utilities Commission normally passes on to the city government annually.

The budget approved yesterday calls for spending $41,735.29 more than was appropriated during the fiscal year just ended, but City Manager Leonard Bloxam said all of the increase is taken up in operational costs.

Capital improvements for the coming year amount to only a few hundred dollars more than last year.

"The town is growing and it is taking more to operate and maintain services," Bloxam said this morning. "The community is growing faster than revenues from tax sources are keeping up with it."

A major item in the capital improvements budget for next year is $7,500 which is to be used for construction of a new Carver Negro Library building. The new structure is to replace a dilapidated house which has been used for the library for many years.

Other items in capital improvements call for trading various pieces of equipment, repairs to buildings and equipment, addition of office machinery, furniture and other lesser equipment.

The budget calls for capital improvement expenditures of $2,900 for administrative and general government, $1,000 for the Fire Department, $5,334 for the Police Department, $16,900 for the Public Works Department, $1,100 for the Recreation Department, $712 for Sheppard Memorial Library and $7,652.30 for Carver Library.

Funds for the Carver Library construction were added by the council to the original budget which was proposed by City Manager Bloxam.

The council also instructed the city manager to include an additional sum of approximately $7,200 to cover the addition of two policemen to the city Police Department.

City councilmen added $500 to the $1,000 originally proposed for improvements at Greene Springs Park, $2,000 to the Public Works contingency fund, and $1,000 to the Sheppard Memorial Library funds.

The operational budget by departments with 1958-59 appropriations first and 1959-60 second are as follows: administrative and general government, $136,066.82; $148,290.82; law and judicial, $11,030; $10,900; Police Department, $136,259; $145,594; Fire Department, $78,165; $80,632; Public Works Department, $239,078; $164,501.58; Recreation Department, $42,230; $47,153; health, $9,980; $9,980; city debt service, $52,601.25; $51,433.75; capital outlay and special capital outlay, $34,670.75; $35,098.30; special appropriations, $28,667; $31,470.50.

Bloxam explained to the council that the Public Works Department operating budget took a drop this year because some items carried last year in the Public Works budget have been transferred to the Powell Bill budget. Powell Bill funds come from the state and are to be used for maintenance and construction of the city's street system. The change was a book-keeping matter.

City Clerk H. H. Duncan said the budget will now be open for public inspection at his office for a 20-day period as required by law. At the end of the 20 days it will be adopted as the final budget for the coming year.

Councilmen yesterday also adopted an interim budget to allow city departments to continue spending money until the budget is finally approved. The fiscal year actually began yesterday.

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners yesterday afternoon in a special meeting adopted an interim budget until the new one for the 1959-1960 fiscal year can be finalized and adopted.

It is expected that the new budget will be adopted and put into operation at the regular Board meeting next Tuesday.

All but five of the departments have their budgets tentatively finalized. Appropriations for the School Capital Outlay, School Current Expense, Health Department, Mental Health Clinic, and Debt Service funds still have some adjustments to be made before the meeting next Tuesday if the budget is to be adopted then.

In the special session yesterday, the Board asked Supt. D. H. Conley of the county schools and City School Supt. J. H. Rose to try to reduce their respective budget requests. Conley was asked for a $50,000 reduction. The Commissioners wanted $5,000 off the City Schools' request.

Supt. Conley expects to have another recommendation ready for the Board's approval by next Tuesday when the Commissioners meet. Rose agreed to the $5,000 cut in City Schools request.

An $80,000 segment of the request for county schools capital outlay was to be for classroom construction during the coming year. Conley agreed to attempt a large part of the school budget cut from this request and allow the construction to cover a two-year period rather than one.

Rose agreed to postpone a $5,000 land purchase for the city schools until a later date provided the Board of Commissioners will appropriate the request when it is immediately needed.

Arthur Alford, speaking for county school maintenance, told the Commissioners that 23 of the 26 county schools are now undergoing some type of renovation or improvement work. Alford also stated that many pupil desks are being refinished rather than replaced. The work is being done at a $2-per-unit cost as compared with replacement costs of $10 per unit.

Yesterday's special session marked the fourth Board meeting on the budget since its presentation June 1. According to County Auditor H. Reginald Gray the budget for fiscal 1959-1960 should be finalized and adopted at the Board's regular meeting next Tuesday.

Nixon And Kozlov Engage In Sharp Surprise Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov, still smiling after a sharp surprise debate with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, prepared to press on the American people to carry his view that what the Soviet Union really wants is world peace.

Kozlov talked Wednesday with President Eisenhower, Nixon, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and leading senators. The outcome: a standoff.

Authoritative sources reported that in his 70-minute White House conference, and in an hour-long session with Herter, Kozlov only repeated the Soviets' familiar theme at the deadlocked Geneva talks on Germany.

Eisenhower and Herter countered with the American stand: that the Allies are going to stand firm against what they say is Moscow's threat to oust them from Communist-surrounded West Berlin.

The 50-year-old Soviet leader's unexpected joust with Nixon erupted at Nixon's reception for Kozlov Wednesday night at the President's guest house. The verbal battle could resume tonight, when Nixon will be Kozlov's guest at a Soviet Embassy reception.

Nixon, with Herter's help, admittedly scored at least one round in the debate.

Kozlov had complained to Eisenhower earlier about America's attitude toward the Soviet Union. For example, he said, the United States forced the Soviet Union to pay in gold for famine-relieving food sent the U.S.S.R. after the Bolsheviks seized power late in World War I.

Nixon shot back that only last Monday former President Herbert Hoover, U.S. relief administrator after World War I, had shown him a letter from the Soviet government expressing thanks for the outright gift which Congress had approved. Nixon said the record should be kept straight.

"The question is not one to be discussed, it is not disputed," Kozlov finally admitted through his interpreter. He seemed somewhat shaken, but he never lost his smile during the spirited discussion. Neither did Nixon or Herter.

As perspiring guests eavesdropped, Nixon told Kozlov he is "a hard man—you never answer a question." And the vice president advised the Kremlin against believing reports of widespread differences in the administration, saying he and Herter spoke as one on foreign policy.

Kozlov said, "We know that as Republicans and Democrats you are as one on foreign policy."

"The difference between you and us is that you never have any arguments among yourselves," Nixon told Kozlov. "We certainly do," replied Kozlov. "There is never a day when we do not argue among ourselves."

"The difference is," Nixon said, "we publicize ours, and you don't."

Kozlov pointed to Herter. "You never publicize any difference with Mr. Herter," he said. "We never have any," Nixon said. "Absolutely," Herter added.

Many Closing
For The Holiday

According to all reports, July 4, will be a holiday.

The Greenville Merchants Association Board of Directors recommended all businesses be closed Saturday in observance of Independence Day, and it is thought most firms will take a holiday.

City Manager Leonard Bloxam said all city offices will be closed Saturday in co-operation with the Merchants' Association.

Spokesmen for the county said all county offices will close Saturday and remain closed through Monday, while all state offices that normally close Saturday will close Friday and all offices usually open Saturday will close Saturday only.

The local Post Office and banks will also be closed in observance of the national holiday on Saturday.

Saturday marks the first date on which it is legal to display the new 48-star American flag, representing Alaska's entrance to the union.

The Daily Reflector will print as usual Saturday.

Highway Patrol
Is Reinforced

RALEIGH (AP) — The 590 man State Highway Patrol, reinforced by 13 newcomers, will be out in full force in an attempt to forestall highway accidents over the Fourth of July weekend.

The patrolmen will concentrate on the speeders and the slowpokes.

Two-Year Foreign Aid In Development Loans Voted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today voted for a two-year, two-billion dollar program of foreign development loans to be financed by direct appropriations from Congress.

It was a compromise, offered by the Democratic and Republican leaders, of a hot issue that had developed between the Eisenhower administration and influential members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The Senate accepted it by a voice vote.

While the total amount is greater than President Eisenhower had advocated, the Democrats yielded to his view that the funds should be handled as appropriations, subject to congressional review.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and others had wanted a five-year, five-billion-dollar program to be financed by simply authorizing the foreign aid administration to borrow the money from the Treasury.

Eisenhower had originally proposed a one-year, 700-million-dollar loan program but had indicated he would go along with a larger program based on direct appropriations.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, had presented the administration viewpoint in contending that the borrowing plan amounted to "backdoor raids" on the Treasury.

The compromise washed out a scrap which saw the administration win a 48-42 initial vote Wednesday night.

Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) raised a point of order that an authorization for direct Treasury borrowing had the effect of appropriating money in a legislative bill. He contended that was improper in the foreign aid bill under consideration.

Case ran into stiff opposition from other senators who contended that if his point were upheld, it could be raised also against housing, rural electrification, farm subsidy and other programs also financed without direct appropriations.

But backers of Eisenhower — supported by Democratic opponents of foreign aid spending — defeated a motion to kill the point of order when Case appealed a parliamentary ruling against him.

The Senate votes today directly on the point Case raised. If sustained, it would scuttle the five-year, five-billion-dollar program of development loans the committee proposed to provide direct from the Treasury.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) and other members of the committee blocked a vote on the point Wednesday night after losing on the preliminary effort to kill it. They wanted more time to muster strength.

The fight brought into sharp focus the issue between the Democratic-controlled Congress and the Eisenhower administration over what Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois calls "raids on the Treasury" and "backdoor financing."

Fired Official Is Asking For Probe

RALEIGH (AP) — "I'm not going to take his malicious insult lying down," former ABC official Ronald Hocutt declared Wednesday after he was fired by Board Chairman William S. Hunt.

In replying to charges that he was dishonest, disloyal and incompetent, Hocutt leveled a few of his own and called for an investigation of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

"At the proper time," he warned, "the people of North Carolina are going to have the privilege of knowing some things that have been going on in Raleigh and it may be that these matters will be discussed in a statewide campaign in the next primary."

The board named Lee Phillips, Hocutt's assistant, to succeed his former boss as director of the ABC wine and malt beverage division.

Hocutt suggested an investigation of some occurrences "about which Mr. Hunt either knew or should have known, will reveal that beer permits have been issued improperly and in violation of the law."

Hunt, who fired Hocutt Tuesday in a strongly worded, four-page letter, said he would have no comment on Hocutt's assertions.

Hocutt attended Wednesday's meeting of the three-man board. He was flanked by his attorney, L. L. Levinson of Benson, and a friend, State Rep. Roy Coates of Johnston County.

Coates said he regarded the dismissal as abrupt and cold-blooded.

Hocutt said he was not surprised as he had suspected Hunt "was out to get me and was not too particular as to what method he would use."

Levinson and Hocutt asked for evidence to support Hunt's claims as listed in the letter of dismissal. Hunt pulled a file from a desk drawer which, he asserted, contained affidavits backing up his claims that Hocutt had been untruthful in dealings with the board and incompetent in his job.

Miss Mewborn Hostess At Dinner Party

GRIFTON—On Wednesday evening Miss Jane Mewborn was hostess at a dinner party at her home on McRae Street. In the living room bowls of roses were used and in the dining room white gladiola and other summer flowers.

The table was covered with a green linen cloth and held a bowl of gladiola flanked by candles in silver holders. Covers for eight were laid and a three course dinner was served.

Guests for the evening were Misses Kitty Newman of Clinton, Lynn Parnelle of Lumberton, Paul Moore of Clinton and E. C. Newman of Clinton, who is on vacation leave with his parents, from the Air Force Academy at Denver, Colo. Later in the evening 25 of the younger set were invited in to meet Miss Mewborn's guests and enjoy conversation and dancing. Mrs. Robert Mewborn, mother of the hostess, assisted in entertaining. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and held gladiola and candles in silver holders. Party sandwiches, crescents, nuts and fruit punch were served.

GRANDMA'S POTATO PANCAKES

Ingredients: 3 pounds pared long white potatoes, 1/2 small onion, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 egg, 1-3 cup sifted flour, 1-4 cup cracker meal, black pepper (to taste), fat for frying.

Method: Grate potatoes and onion very fine into large bowl; stir in remaining ingredients. Drop tablespoons of mixture into 1-4 inch deep hot fat in skillet; brown on both sides. Drain on brown paper or paper toweling and serve warm. Makes about 2 dozen—6 servings.

Note: In electric skillet use 380 degree setting for frying.

Baths For Firemen

The firemen in a California town recently rebelled like small boys because their new chief ordered them to take baths after every fire. The chief said that it's "just plain common sense."

The men—who definitely claimed no prejudice against soap and water—were burned up and in a lather mainly because the boss' dictum was tied in with a restriction against watching television before 6 p.m.

Bethel News

Mr. and Mrs. Heber Cannon and children, Joe Ellen and Margaret, spent sometime last week at Kill Devil Hills in the Watson family cottage. Miss Annette Watson and Mrs. G. M. Watson were there for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Watson, Mary Sue and John, have returned to Bethel after a trip to Tallahassee, Tenn. to visit Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. White, Mrs. Watson's brother. They were accompanied by Mrs. Watson's mother of Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Robert Whitehurst and Billy Andrews have returned from Virginia Beach where they spent sometime after accompanying her daughter, Barbara Ann, on the trip.

Mrs. J. S. Moore, Mrs. Ralph Highsmith and Miss Peggy Highsmith are visiting relatives in Washington, D. C.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whitley went to Vancouver to visit his brother, A. F. Whitley, and family. They also went to Bayboro to visit another brother, R. B. Whitley and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Bullard and baby, Melany Ann, are spending this weekend with her parents.

Mrs. Manning Party Honoree

BETHEL—Mrs. Anna Manning, who is convalescing after a recent confinement in Pitt Memorial Hospital, was honored on her birthday by her daughters, Mrs. Hoke Stephens of Willow Springs and Mrs. John B. Robertson of Clayton.

Present for this occasion, other than the hostesses, were her two sisters, Mrs. Lula Carson of Greenville and Mrs. Lucy Manning of Bethel, also her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. X. E. Manning. Grandchildren and great grandchildren were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Butterworth, their children, Cotton, Gray and Joe, and Mary Helen Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoke Stephens. Close friends were Mr. and Mrs. L. N. James and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Riddick.

The pink and white theme was used throughout the lower floor. In the dining room the appointed table, covered in white, was centered with an arrangement of pink carnations and white baby's breath. From this table Mrs. Stephens served the birthday cake and Mrs. Robertson served ice cream. A variety of party dainties was served buffet style. A display of her gifts was on a side table.

Wigs Are Back In Style

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Well, it does seem as how the era of the wig is as firmly upon us as it was in the days of Madame du Barry and Queen Elizabeth I.

In those days, it's said, some of the greatest beauties were practically bald-headed, but nobody ever knew about it but the maids who took care of their wigs.

Nowadays when you hear a girl say, "I must send out my wig to be laundered," it probably isn't a joke. She may be dead serious. The extent of the wig craze didn't dawn on me until recently, when I was sitting under a drier in a plush New York beauty salon, getting my very own hair dried and listening to the gossip going on about me. A beauty salon, as any woman knows, is the world's best place to catch up on the latest news.

In dashed a breathless young woman with a small box under her arm. She approached my hair dresser and said:

"Oh, Mr. Ralph, can you shampoo and set my wig and have it ready for me by 5 o'clock? I've got to go to a cocktail party."

She left the box and departed, while Mr. Ralph fumed:

"This is getting to be a real pain, this wig business. Women rush in to leave their hair pieces to be washed and styled while they go shopping. Then they come back and pick them up. But the girl on the appointment desk books us up solid with real live customers, and we are expected to work on the wigs in between times."

"Actually it takes longer to shampoo and set a wig than it does to do a live head of hair. It's a problem, that's what it is. And it's getting worse all the time."

"Women have found it's less trouble to leave a wig and get it washed and curled than it is to spend an afternoon in a beauty salon themselves," sighed Ralph. "Where it's all going to end, nobody knows."

There's a growing number of women who are paying up to $300 for real hair wigs which they wear over their own close-cropped hair, saving time and trouble.

It's all very well, but it's going to make it a lot easier for a girl to flip her wig—and then where will she be?

Bridge Parties

GRIFTON—Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Mewborn were hosts recently at their home on McRae Street at a buffet supper for members of their bridge club.

Throughout the home roses and other garden flowers were used. The buffet table was overlaid with a pink linen cloth and held a low bowl of white and fuschia gladioli. A fried chicken supper was enjoyed with apple pie a la mode as dessert.

Three tables were placed for bridge. During the games Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hodges were highest scorers among the bridge club members. Mrs. Robert Mewborn was winner of the guest high.

Others playing were Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Bissette and their house guest, Miss Isabelle Dawson, of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cobb, Mrs. Thurman Williams and Mrs. H. O. Oglesby.

Dessert Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. David Parker had as guests for a dessert bridge players for three tables on Friday night. Colorful garden flowers decorated the playing rooms. At the dessert hour the hostess served blueberry pie with ice cream, salted nuts and coffee.

The prizes for high score went to Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn. Others playing were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hart, Mrs. Ed Owens, and Mrs. Robert Wheeler.

Like Mother, Like Daughter:

They Lead A Model Life

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

MEET TWO of New York's most famous models, Leonora and Lorell Leiss. They're not sisters—they're mother and daughter.

Both make their living modeling some of the world's most fabulous evening gowns, in the plush showrooms of Celi Chapman, who outfits glamor girls of stage, screen and television as well as the general public.

Leonora has been modeling for Miss Chapman for 15 years. Lorell has been at it for five. Says the model mom:

"I guess Lorell just naturally grew into her job. When she was a little girl she used to come into the showrooms, and Miss Chapman would say to her: 'Are you going to be a model when you grow up?' Lorell always said yes—and she meant it."

Lorell started modeling when she was 15, and continued during summer vacations from the University of Miami. Now she's working full-time, and is engaged to Ruddy Morgan, an engineer.

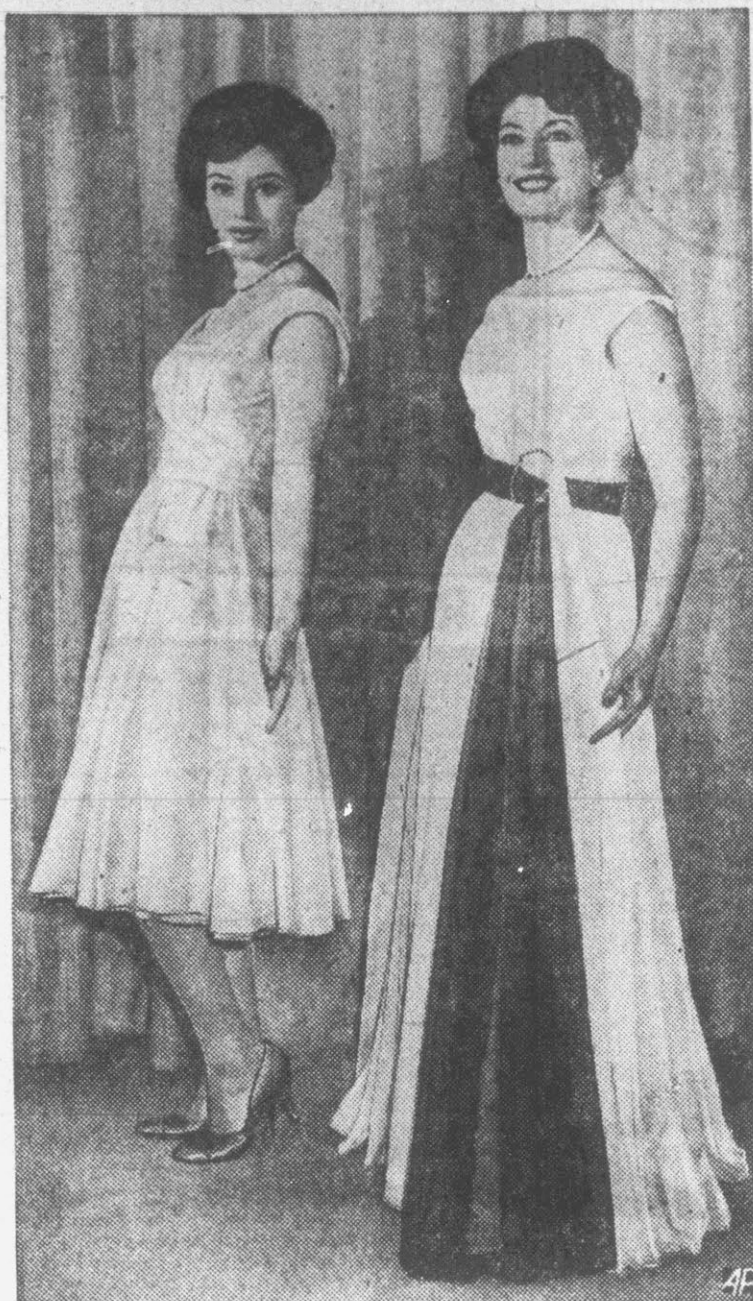

Mother and daughter are almost exactly the same size—35-24-35. Leonora is 5-feet-8½, in heels, Lorell is one inch taller. Some buyers take them for sisters, and some rub their eyes and think they are seeing double. One recently mistook Lorell for her mother and said:

"I come back every year to see if you've gotten any older, but you never seem to change a bit."

How does Mom Leonora keep her figure?

"I eat everything, including pie and ice cream," says she. "I just never seem to get fat."

Mrs. Leiss is married to a New York banker, who is proud of being the only man in Wall Street with two models in the family.

Come Home Safe After The Holidays

After several days of one of the worst heat waves in years, literally thousands of Tar Heels will be seeking cooler places in which to relax during the July 4th week-end.

Some, as is usually the case, will stay at home over the Fourth. Most others, however, will be headed for their favorite water holes, the mountains, the beaches . . . anywhere they think they might escape the heat.

Highways will be crowded, driving conditions will be poor. And as always on a holiday weekend, highways will be crowded, driving conditions will be poor. And as always on a holiday weekend, there'll be a few careless drivers to add to the hazards which already exist on crowded highways.

So far this year on the highways of North Carolina more than 535 people have lost their lives. That figure represents an increase of almost 25 per cent in the number of highway fatalities in the state compared with the first six months of last year. There is a similar increase in the number of injuries in highway accidents over the same period for last year.

Unless drivers are unusually careful on their trips during the coming weekend, North Carolina may well expect at least a 25 per cent increase in the number of injuries and deaths caused by highway accidents during the coming weekend compared with the same holiday a year ago.

This year also, with the Fourth coming on Saturday, most people will be planning longer trips for their holiday travel. Congested traffic conditions may be expected to exist from Friday afternoon until late Sunday night.

The Reflector urges all its readers to exercise extreme caution while on the highways during the coming weekend.

We want you to be around to read Monday's edition too.

No Real Solution For Errors In Late Rush

How many more new laws that supposedly were not enacted by the 1959 General Assembly will be discovered on the books during the next few months?

The legislative snafu by which a 50c tax is called for on every property transfer recorded in the Register of Deeds office in every county of the state, is an example of what can happen during the last rushed days of a legislative session.

Although this matter may be clarified by rulings by the courts of the Attorney General, it points up the glaring errors that can be made when the legislature has to work under conditions like those of the closing days of the most recent session.

Under such circumstances there is bound to be confusion. There are bound to be hasty decisions made by legislators individually and collectively as members of the House or Senate. And in every legislative session it appears that inevitably there will be the last-minute rush toward adjournment.

North Carolina has been extremely fortunate over the years that more poor legislation has not come out of these final days of sessions than has been the case. It will be fortunate in the future if the mistakes which are made continue to be minor rather than major.

Legislative process being what it is, there is no real solution to the problem. The situation magnifies the point that neither the legislators nor the public can be too careful in watching every move that is made during the final days of a session.

A Vote Of Thanks To Helpers In Emergency

It is difficult to imagine the number of real emergencies which existed for the three and one-half hours Monday when Pitt Memorial Hospital was without its normal supply of electric power.

Had it not been for the availability of emergency power equipment locally which could be used at the hospital during the period, the situation would have been much worse.

Had it not been for the efforts of doctors, nurses, members of the hospital staff, members of the local Rescue Squad, electricians, utilities officials and employees and all the others who answered the emergency call, the situation could not have been successfully coped with.

The Reflector salutes all those who responded to the emergency which existed at Pitt Memorial. They deserve the gratitude of all the people of the county who depend so heavily on the hospital for the care of its ill.

Despite Dream, More Spending

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has found it a lot tougher to cut government spending than he seemed to think it would be when he was on the outside wanting in.

He set a low spending goal he has never been able to get down to. He promised to balance the budget but has been able to do it only twice since he took office. Tuesday the government wound up the fiscal year with the biggest budget deficit in peacetime history. It reached almost 13 billion dollars.

Back in the 1952 presidential campaign Eisenhower banded away at Democratic spending and promised to do better, a lot better. He promised that if elected the Republican administration would:

"First, provide a sound dollar. A major step is to reduce government spending from the then rate of 81 billion dollars a year to something like 60 billion dollars within four years.

"Such a cut would eliminate the deficit in the budget and would make way for a substantial tax reduction."

What has happened since Eisenhower took office in January 1953? This is the story of the budget, starting with fiscal year 1954 which began July 1, 1953.

For fiscal 1954 — budget deficit of $3,100,000; fiscal 1955 — budget deficit of $4,200,000,000; fiscal 1956 — budget balanced, with $1,600,000 to spare; fiscal 1957 — budget balanced, again with $1,600,000,000 to the good; fiscal 1958 — budget deficit of $2,800,000,000; fiscal 1959, which ended Tuesday — budget deficit of around 13 billion.

In short: Eisenhower managed to balance the budget only twice. Never in that time did government spending get down to the 6-billion-dollar figure he talked about in the 1952 campaign.

Nevertheless, in 1954 the Republican-run Congress of that year made good on one of Eisenhower's expressed hopes of the 1952 campaign. It cut taxes.

But the public debt, which was around 271 billion when he first took office, is now around 285 billion. As for the sound dollar, Eisenhower spoke of in 1952, it, too, has lost some ground.

The government uses the years 1947-49 as a base period to show changes in living costs and the purchasing value of a dollar.

Now you would have to spend $1.24 to purchase what cost a dollar when Eisenhower took office.

But the President has never given up his hope for a balanced budget. He hopes to achieve another in the 1960 fiscal year which started today. He has set a goal — a budget of 77 billion dollars, balanced and with 70 million or more left over.

It will be a tight squeeze, perhaps, but Eisenhower has made a fiscal 1960 balanced budget a personal crusade and is beating the Democratic-run Congress on the head to keep down spending so he can achieve the balance.

Strength For Today

THE DIVINE POLICY OF CONSERVATION

Every mechanical engineer is desperately aware of the loss of energy which takes place in most mechanical processes. Eighty-five percent of the energy of coal is said to be shot out of the smoke stacks. Some day we shall look back on those grimy uncomfortable decades when we used our soft coal resources and allowed a great percentage to go out over the landscape in black, drifting smoke.

There is power in all these wasted substances. Years ago the meat packers discovered that there is a lot more to the carcass of an animal than the fine lean meat served on the dinner table. Up-to-date meat packing establishments today have about as large a business in by-products as they have in meat itself.

God, as He manifests Himself through nature, seems to be prodigal. Millions of eggs are produced but only a few living creatures come out of those eggs. But this is the divine persistence behind the creative process. Life must be kept going at all costs. The Almighty never wastes anything.

Above all He is insistent that nothing in human persistence be lost. He picks out the most unlikely people and exalts them to high position. What we consider weak and of little account, He lifts up in His strong hands and glorifies.

Only man is wasteful. God never wastes anything.

Other Editors Saying Measure Of Interposition

(Washington Daily News)

The United States House of Representatives has given approval to a bill which, if finally enacted into law, provides that a federal law does not necessarily take over from a state law in the same field unless congress says so specifically or unless the two statutes cannot be reconciled.

To the average layman, such an explanation as that above might not be understood easily. What it means is that where there are two laws on a subject, with one a state law and the other a federal law, the state law will prevail within the boundaries of a given state unless congress specifically says otherwise, or unless the state law is contrary to the federal law.

There are many laws in this land. A state will have a law on some subject and the individual state will have a law on the same subject. There is a question on many occasions as to what to do with a violator, shall he be tried for violating the federal law or for violating the state law?

If this bill is finally passed and approved by President Eisenhower, then in normal cases the state law will prevail.

There is more behind this proposed legislation than meets the eye. Opponents of this measure in the House argued that it is a weapon pointed at civil rights, a law designed to hit organized labor, and a law which would slap the Supreme court.

It is easy to see how opponents of such a bill would argue that way. But the very fact that 114 Republicans lined up with 111 Democrats, mostly from the South, to pass this bill in the lower branch of the congress, gives it a color which extreme liberals find difficult to accept.

In recent years there has been a cry that the judicial branch of our government, namely, the Supreme court, has not only been engaged in judicial matters, but a cop followed. We just turned the other way, however and never learned what happened.

Another night we were walking in front of the Pavilion and the police hauled a fellow wearing cowboy boots away. A while later we were told just by chance that the man was one of the ten most wanted criminals in the nation. Didn't check to see if it were true, however.

One afternoon a police car roared by our cottage with red light blinking. Someone said a man had been struck by lightning. Did it interest us? Nope.

But you know when you think about it, wonder what that fellow on the roof had actually done. And you reckon that was one of the ten most wanted men? And I wonder if the man supposedly hit by lightning was really hurt?

Oh well, it was a vacation.

We took a peek at an FBI flyer in the sheriff's office the other day. Seems the one we saw urged law enforcement officers to keep their eyes peeled for a desperado who carries a drug which produces unconsciousness.

This man who had attracted the FBI's attention, masqueraded as a physician. He finds folks who are worried about excessive weight and administers his special drug for weight reduction.

The FBI notice didn't say what happens after that but we'd guess Victim Fat Man awakens minus his money.

If all the world loves a fat man, this character must go right along with the crowd.

Among the other problems which confronted the hospital staff when the electricity went off the other day was the fact that the heating system is controlled by pneumatic valves. As the electricity failed the valves popped on and all the radiators in the building became piping hot.

The temperature that day was, if you recall, above 100 degrees.

Hospital Administration C. D. Ward said the fires had to be pulled from the hospital furnaces to cease the wrong season heating of the building.

Wives Insist: Arise!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Mankind's hardest industry is getting out of bed every morning. It is the greatest test of the human will.

Civilization only makes the problem worse. In cavern days, a man got out of bed for only one reason — he was hungry. It made sense for him to arise rather than lie there and starve.

But today everybody is on a diet. It is fashionable to starve. Therefore it makes more sense to stay in bed. Why starve on your feet when you can starve comfortably lying down?

The worst demand of civilization is that a man get out of bed every morning — or at least five days a week — at the same hour. It is inhuman and unnatural. Can you name any other animal in nature that gets up every day at the same time?

Bears don't. Tigers don't. Rats don't. Mice won't. Even at a racetrack the starter is unable to wake up all the horses at the same moment — particularly the horse you have bet on.

Man's normal attitude toward a bed is very simple. It is the last thing he wants to go to at night — and the last thing he wants to leave in the morning. He fights sleep as long as he can. But once he surrenders, he surrenders all the way.

Now and then you hear a fellow brag about how he likes to leap out of bed, nimble and clear-eyed, eager to greet the rising sun and meet the fresh challenges of another day. I always feel a bit sad when I go to these fellows' funerals later — cut off, as they so often are, in the very prime of life.

Getting out of bed is a real test of character. Obviously, anybody who can jump easily and merrily out of bed has no character. And that's what eventually mows them down in the stern strain of living — lack of character. Also lack of strength. They wear out all their strength leaping out of bed in the morning. By noon they are hollow-eyed. By 50 they are dead, and unmourned.

After awaking, one should think the problem through for a full half an hour. Then should follow 15 minutes of careful exercise — consisting of yawning and scratching. After that you should sit up slowly, and let your feet dangle over the side of the bed one foot at a time.

An hour from the time the alarm clock first sounds you should, if all goes well, be looking at yourself in the bathroom mirror and wondering why such a fascinating devil has to work for a living.

There are, of course, mechanical aids to getting up — such as being awakened by a clock-radio delivering the morning world news broadcasts. But world news is so terrible now that, listening, one has more of an urge to cover under the bed sheets than to arise and face such a terrible universe.

More helpful is the psychological approach. When you wake up you start brooding about how all the people you hate probably got up early this morning and are out making money. Before you know it you are out of bed, too — trying to catch up with them.

But the best solution of all is to marry. A wife will insist not only that you get to bed on time, but that you get out of bed on time — I mean to earn her a living. She will take the responsibility for your worn shoulders.

Opinions In Brief

The Wackier Side Of Business

By ELMER ROESSNER

At midyear, let's look once more at some of the new things that are making business strange, wonderful and, at times, a bit wacky.

A survey shows that of all contest prizes, autos, trips, etc. — the big favorite is money, spelled C A S H . . .

To grab more supermarket counterpane, some manufacturers are reported to be making their packages wider, without any increase in contents . . . An Ohio barber wants vacuum cleaner manufacturers to put on an attachment he can use for whisking clipped hairs off customers' necks.

It may be better to give away old furniture and equipment than to sell it, says Milt Grey, California market consultant. An old desk may bring $10 from a dealer, he says, "but it may justify 'reasonable' charitable deduction of $30, perhaps $40."

RENTS THE AIR

Chase Manhattan Bank has leased a New York-England radio channel to speed communication between home offices and the field . . . "You can rent a typist, stenographer . . . or other office worker," one temporary help-agency advertises . . .

Guava paste and other tropical fruit products are now being produced in Puerto Rico by production-line methods.

A promoter is now offering American firms offices in Switzerland, where they can operate with low taxes, bank secrecy, stable currency and neutrality.

Americans eat 180 varieties of beans, but more than half of all beans eaten are of the pinto and navy types . . . Overexpansion of the Social Security system would increase payroll taxes so much that people will sour on the idea. Benjamin B. Kendrick, of the Life Insurance Association of America, told a Conference on Aging . . .

A Los Angeles television station is starting half-hour programs consisting of nothing but commercials "as a public service."

For the first time in recorded history, no fiber flax will be harvested in Northern Ireland this year. There's too much competition from synthetic and other fibers — and the government has withdrawn subsidies.

$10,000 FOR AN ERASURE
Imperial Oil, Ltd., of Canada, changed its name to Imperial Oil Limited. Cost of stockholders' vote, stationery, legal services, etc., is estimated over $10,000 . . .

A helicopter dropped 2,500 table tennis balls on Birmingham, N.Y. Each was worth $1 at stores of 40 sponsoring merchants . . . Australia is considering adding artificial terylene fibers to its banknote paper to make it stay crisper longer.

Because sunspot activity this year compares with that in the great vintage years of 1929 and 1947, speculators are buying up the French champagne crop in advance of bottling.

Builders of small pleasure boats are generally sold out for the season already . . . Housing for the elderly will create a demand for $1 billion worth of housing a year in the next decade, Herbert M. Rosenthal, Chi-

Women have been allowed in liquor ads now, but so far most of them are shown standing by while husbands drink.

FREE CANADIAN TRADE
REVIVED 45 YEARS LATER

Economic integration with Canada was a great dream of William Howard Taft. Friends said it would be a monument to his career as president, and so it might have been if Canada had not rejected his "reciprocity" plan.

Now, 47 years later, William H. Peterson, New York University economist, proposes a common market with Canada with quantitative restrictions on the flow of goods and limits to monetary payments. It's a good guess that Canadians are still fearful of being swallowed up economically and would rather put up with current discomforts.

Housewives Watch Daytime TV Shows

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the low esteem in which daytime television is held by most critics, recent research indicates that two out of three housewives manage to sandwich in some TV-look between the housework and shopping.

The survey for the trade magazine Television Age indicated that more women watch during the afternoons than during the morning—and watch regularly, too, Monday through Friday. Apparently a lot of youngsters watch also for the top-rated daytime shows currently are the Price Is Right, a give-away show beloved of the ladies, and American Bandstand, starring the teen-agers' darling, Dick Clark.

The handful of Monday-through-Friday soap operas seem to have come in for more than their share of abuse. Recently, however, one critic (female) came up with a new complaint. After repeating the familiar charges that books never decorate soap sets and that the bad characters invariably drink hard spirits while the good ones are either teetotalers or—at most—dry sherry sippers, Marya Mannes insists that worst of all is the inevitably tidy condition of soap opera kitchens.

Criticism is not all bad, however. A constant viewer of one TV serial—a friend of mine—quit her set for a lengthy visit in a televisionless household. The last thing she saw as she left home was the heroine held at gunpoint by a crazed murderer. For 10 days my friend worried. Then, back home, she tuned in and found the two women in exactly the same positions on either end of the gun. She was very grateful she hadn't missed anything.

ODDS and ENDS: There's a new fashion in TV giveaways: Rolls-Royces instead of those Detroit-built land cruisers. ABC is bragging about its Trendex 20-city rating on the Dick Clark special Sunday which showed that the musical documentary Impromptu drew the opposition attraction more than half the audience from such sturdy staples as the Hitchcock show, Richard Diamond (both CBS) and the NBC's Chevy Show and Loretta Young. Most of the opposition, however, was repeats.

Loretta Young wants to open her fall season with a full hour's show, shot early this season in Lourdes, in which she plays a woman with brain tumor. She's asked NBC to clear extra time for the show, but if this is impossible, she plans to do the show in two parts in her regular half-hour spot.

Dr. Cook To Again Teach At University In Germany

Dr. George A. Cook, assistant professor of English at East Carolina, who is now on leave of absence from the college, will be the first to hold an associate professorship in American Literature recently established at the University of Saarbrücken in Germany. During 1958-1959 Dr. Cook served on a Fulbright grant as lecturer in American Literature there.

For the 1959-60 school year Dr. Cook has been granted a year's leave of absence from East Carolina College. During this period he will be connected with the English Institute of the University of Saarbrücken and will hold the title of "Professor Extraordinary."

A member of the East Carolina department of English since 1956, Dr. Cook served during 1956-1958 as chairman of the Northeastern District High School Debate Contest, regional division of the State High School Debate School Contest.

A native of Unionville, Mo., he received his education at the University of Missouri and Columbia University, where he was awarded the Ph. D. degree. Before coming to East Carolina, he taught at Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo.; and at Wagner Lutheran College, Staten Island, N. Y.; and held lectureships in English at Columbia University and Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the Modern Languages Association, the American Association of University Professors, and other educational organizations. His published works include "John Wise, Early American Democrat," King's Crown Press, Columbia University, and poems in a number of periodicals.

Pays Long-Term 50-Cent Debt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Note to taxicab driver Oakley Teater at Austin, Texas: Your 50-cent debt to the cafeteria in the Agriculture Department, incurred on your visit here in 1937, has been paid.

On a recent trip to Austin, Dr. Ellis L. Klein of the Naval Research Laboratory, rode in Teater's cab. The driver recalled that on a visit to Washington, he had eaten at the department cafeteria, but in an oversight had walked out without paying.

"It's been on my conscience ever since," Teater said. "Here's the 50 cents. Take it back and pay the bill for me."

This Klein has done.

Lowering Color Bar In Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—Bermuda's movie houses have joined the island's leading hotels in lowering the color bar.

A governor's committee announced desegregation of the island's theaters Tuesday night.

Earlier there was an announcement that Negroes can now dine and dance at Bermuda's leading hotels formerly open to whites only.

Strike Menaces British Papers

LONDON (AP)—Britain today faced the threat of the biggest shutdown of newspapers since the general strike 33 years ago.

A strike of printing ink workers supplying Fleet St.—London's newspaper row—cut off supplies to the big national newspapers which circulate 20 million copies a day throughout the nation.

A spokesman for the Newspaper Proprietors' Assn. said the papers had stocks only for four days and would be forced to suspend publication with Sunday's editions.

Record Building Boom All Over The Country

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—That old joke "New York would be a nice city if they could ever get it built" is now applicable to most of the nation.

Construction for the United States as a whole is proceeding today at a record pace.

It's likely that the entire year will set new peaks. Two things that might prevent that are a steel strike—structural steel is one of the products in shortest supply—and a tightening money situation that could cut off mortgage funds.

But the construction industry is confident for the long run. America's backlog of needs for homes, offices, highways, schools, hospitals and various public buildings seems to grow faster than builders can put new installations into place.

The Labor and Commerce departments report that the value of construction, put in place in June, set a record for the month. For the first half of the year the spending is put at 25 billion dollars, or 3 1/4 billion more than in the first six months of 1958, and a record setter.

Much of the increase over last year has been in home building—10 1/2 billion dollars this year against 7 1/2 billion last. Many construction industry analysts expect this pace to slow. One of them, George Cline Smith, economist of F. W. Dodge Corp., however, says, "I don't expect the decline to be severe."

But another form of building is expected to pick up after a year of contraction. That is industrial building. During the recession it was apparent that many industries had built facilities beyond the demand at that time for their products.

With the recovery and the indications that a new business boom is starting, the excess of capacity is expected to disappear. A new industrial expansion will start—if construction industry experts are right.

Public construction spending has been increasing. In the first half of 1959 it is put at 7 1/2 billion dollars, nearly one billion more than in the like period last year.

Recent large flotations of state and local bonds indicate that the construction of state and civic facilities to meet past population growth will continue. And since all signs point to still greater population growth, the construction industry expects to be kept busy for years to come.

Baby Girl For Wheelchair Pair

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A couple confined to wheelchairs by an incurable disease have become the parents of a baby girl.

Doctors said the couple will have to decide whether to try to keep their daughter with them or to place her in a foster home.

Alexander Quadrozzi, 32, has had to use a wheelchair for the past two years; his wife Janice, 21, for eight years.

They both have muscular dystrophy, a progressive weakening of the muscles.

Doctors said the chances that the baby, born last Monday, will have the disease are greatly increased by the fact that both her parents have it.

Both mother and daughter were reported doing fine.

Bigger Cigarette Production Cited

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cigarette production during the year ending June 30 set a new record of 480 billion. This number was 7 per cent larger than the previous year.

But tobacco growers did not cash in on the gain, the Agriculture Department said in reporting the production. It said that while cigarette production was 18 per cent larger than in the 1954-55 year, the quantity of domestic tobacco used was only slightly higher.

The reason for this, it said, is that today's cigarette tends to have less tobacco than its predecessors. For example, one pound of tobacco made 380 cigarettes during the year just ended compared with 330 in the 1954-55 year.

The broad use of filters and changed dimensions of the cigarette were said to be factors reducing usage of tobacco leaf.

Looking ahead, the department said production of cigarettes in the current year is likely to set a record.

Colonel Urging Parental Care

TOKYO (AP)—A U.S. Air Force colonel is urging parents in his command to stay home and take care of their children.

Col. Charles W. Johnstone, of Sacramento, Calif., commander of the 6000th Support Wing, said he is deeply concerned with some parents' shirking of moral responsibilities for child guidance, child training and child discipline.

"A large number of children have been for all practical purposes deserted by their parents," he stated in the wing's weekly newspaper.

"There have been many serious incidents involving American children which can be traced directly to a lack of parental control. Almost invariably, the parents of the children were not at home at the time of the incident."

Johnstone did not elaborate but, there have been reports juvenile delinquency by American kids. Last April, five youths were sent back to the United States after an 18-year old Japanese girl said she was raped by nine Americans.

"No maid however competent can be expected to properly control and discipline her employers' children," Johnstone said. "No maid should be expected to accept this responsibility."

"The combination of low-priced entertainment in the military clubs and low-priced domestic help in the homes (in Japan) has given many couples the freedom they have missed since their first child was born."

Kansas City, Mo., combines with Kansas City, Kan.; North Kansas City, Mo.; and Independent, Mo.; to make up what is known as Greater Kansas City, with a total population of 720,000.

Pope Urges Heads Of Rival Nations Attempt Every Approach To Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII appealed today to the leaders of rival nations to "try every approach" for peace because a war with nuclear weapons would destroy victor and vanquished alike.

The Pope also appealed for Christians to unite. He urged the press, movies and television to counteract what he called a spreading tendency toward falsehood and immorality.

"Truth, unity and peace" were the subjects of his first encyclical letter to the bishops since his coronation eight months ago.

The encyclical began with the words "Ad Petri cathedram"—"Near Peter's chair." It was dated June 29, feast day of St. Peter, and was released for publication today.

The pontiff warned that if nations do not aim at "fraternal unity which must rest on the precepts of justice and be nourished by charity, conditions of gravest crisis remain."

"As a result, all prudent men complain and grieve that it seems to be uncertain whether the same events are moving toward the establishing of a solid, true and genuine peace, or are slipping in complete blindness toward a new and frightful warlike conflagration."

"We say in complete blindness: for if—which God prevent—a new war breaks out, nothing else will await or confront all peoples (such are the dreadful armaments which our age brings into play) but appalling destruction and ruin; and this, whether they are victor or vanquished."

"We therefore ask all, and statesmen in particular, that they ponder these matters prudently and earnestly before God the Judge; and, as a result, with genuine good will, be ready to try every approach which may lead to the essential unity. This harmony and unity, by which alone, we say, the joint prosperity of nations will undoubtedly be increased, will only when minds are at peace and the rights of all recognized, and due freedom shine forth for the church, for peoples, and for the individual citizen."

The Pope urged the leaders of nations to remember that "God created men not as enemies but as brothers."

He warned repeatedly and in plain language of the ruin which will result "if the fires of discord are set ablaze" again in a world which he said already has seen too much of war.

"Why prepare death dealing weapons against our brother?" he asked. "Already there has been enough strife among men. Already too many cemeteries of those fallen in war cover the earth's surface and solemnly warn that all should be, at long last, brought back to harmony, unity and a just-peace."

In the first section of the pontiff wrote of the search for truth. He referred specifically to the responsibilities of the press, the movies, and television.

In the second part, he wrote of unity in the desire for peace on the part of mankind, peoples and social classes.

In the third section he mentioned the Ecumenical (universal) Council of the Roman Catholic Church which he has called. He said this council would contribute to the unity of the church.

The Pope said the Roman Catholic Church is "the father house of all Christianity" and that its doors are open for all to re-enter.

Dirksen, Byrd See Good Chance To Balance Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) and Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) agreed today there is a good chance that the federal budget will be balanced this year.

Dirksen, Senate Republican leader, said that if this is done, President Eisenhower will deserve most of the credit.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, disagreed on that point in a separate interview. He said that rising revenues—rather than actions by either the President or the Democratic Congress—will account for any balance reached.

Eisenhower told his news conference he is working not only to balance his 77-billion-dollar budget for the current fiscal year but to build a surplus from which the country can start paying something on its debt.

Byrd tabbed this as a laudable objective, but he said any balance is going to be a tight one, with little surplus.

"If the budget is balanced, and I think it may be, it will be balanced by increases in revenue brought about by improved business conditions," Byrd said. "I would like to see it brought about by reductions in expenses because that is the solid way to do it. You can't always depend on the upward trend in tax receipts being sustained."

Dirksen said congressional approval of some longrange spending programs could threaten future budgets.

"If we get a balance, the lion's share of the credit should go to the President," he said. "The President led the efforts to take this issue to the country and the country has responded."

Ellender Pledges Another Attempt To Enlarge Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new effort to increase the size of the Army to 900,000 men was promised today by Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.).

His proposal, for which he claimed strong support, would add another 100 million dollars to a defense appropriations bill already about 900 millions higher than the total voted by the House. The Senate Defense Appropriations subcommittee completed action on the bill Wednesday.

"I think we have the votes in the full Appropriations Committee to hold the Army to a minimum of 900,000," Ellender, a committee member, said in an interview. The administration wants to hold the Army to 870,000 men, and the House held to that figure despite efforts to increase it.

Chairman Dennis Chavez (D-NM) said the subcommittee defeated Ellender's Army buildup move by a narrow margin. It did vote to add 43 million dollars to build the Marine Corps back to 200,000 instead of the 175,000 asked by the administration and approved by the House. It also added 400 millions for Army modernization.

Chavez said subcommittee appropriations would run 900 millions more than the House voted and about 300 millions more than the $29,248,200,000 asked by President Eisenhower.

Subcommittee increases would beef up the Navy with a new 380 million-dollar nuclear-powered aircraft carrier and step up the long-range ballistic missiles program as well as planned defenses against such missiles.

The group also approved nearly 60 million for the Air Force to buy new jet trainers and some turbojet cargo-passenger aircraft which had been denied by the House.

And it gave the secretary of defense broad authority to save or shift many millions from smaller anti-aircraft missiles to the larger ocean-hopping ballistic missiles.

Miss Maryland Abandons Title

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A statuesque blonde who stands 5 feet 9 gave up her Miss Maryland title after a reign of only 4½ days Wednesday because she didn't want to try for more starchy heights.

"Since the excitement has died down, I don't desire a very glamorous career," said 25-year-old Marie Litz.

The right to represent Maryland in the Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, Calif., went to the runner-up in the state contest, 24-year-old Diane White, a brunette who's only 5-4½.

Both women are secretaries. Miss Litz, who measures 36-24-36, is a divorcee but said that had nothing to do with her decision.

Sponsors here said being divorced was no bar to entering the Miss Universe contest. The West Coast event was thrown into turmoil two years ago when Miss Maryland, Leona Gage Ennis, turned out to be a Mrs. with two children after winning the title of Miss U.S.A.

Miss Litz also said she didn't want to "deprive Diane of an opportunity to go into the movies or theater."

Miss White, whose vital statistics are 35½-24-36, was overjoyed. "I still can't believe it," she gushed. "I wanted to be Miss Maryland so badly and still do."

The new beauty queen will fly to California July 15.

First Jetliner Crosses Pacific

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australia's first jet airliner landed at Sydney today after crossing the Pacific in 16 hours 10 minutes on its delivery flight from the United States.

The time—from the San Francisco control tower to the Sydney tower—clipped 11 hours off the lower-to-lower record. This is the first of seven Boeing 707 jets which the Australian international airlines Qantas has ordered.

Presume All Ten Died In Company Plane Crash

By BERNARD H. GOULD

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Search crews fanned out through a near-by wheat field early today, looking for the remaining seven victims of an airliner crash that left little doubt all 10 aboard perished.

The plane, owned by the Continental Can Co., carried eight top company executives and a crew of two. It hurtled out of an overcast sky late Wednesday and crashed with such tremendous impact that bits of wreckage were showered over a 300-yard area.

The plane literally dug the graves for most of them. Only parts of three bodies were found. The others evidently were buried under the earth.

Eight were top executives returning to New York, where the firm has its headquarters, after a meeting of company officials in Chicago, Continental Can said.

The plane, carrying a crew of two, was believed to be a twin-engine B26 Martin. It was demolished almost beyond recognition. The wreckage was spread over an area 150 yards in diameter, a sheriff's deputy reported.

The aircraft hit with such impact that only one engine was found, said the deputy, Robert Obenour. The other engine presumably was buried with the victims.

The plane crashed shortly before 6 p.m. on the farm of H.F. Smith, six miles east of this north central Ohio city.

Smith was in his barn when he heard the aircraft approaching from the north. He said he thought it was going to hit the barn, but it passed over and crunched into the wheat field 100 yards away.

It was raining lightly at the time, a midafternoon thunderstorm having blown itself out.

Shotgun's Blast Stopped Rioting

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A blast from a guard's shotgun put a sudden halt to a riot by 300 Navy men and Marines at a brig here Wednesday night, the Navy reported.

Two of the rioters were wounded by pellets. The Navy said they were in fair condition.

Capt. V.A. King, commander of the Camp Elliott Naval Retraining Command barracks, termed the riot a "disturbance." He said it "just snowballed." Cause of the riot was not disclosed.

Four other prisoners suffered minor injuries as rioters broke windows, threw rocks at guards and turned on fire hoses during the 20-minute disturbance. Names of the injured were withheld.

The installation rehabilitates sailors and Marines who have had court-martials or disciplinary action.

The pilot had reported by radio to Marion Municipal Airport a short while before that he was flying over Findlay, in northwest Ohio. He said he was trying to skirt a thunderstorm north of Marion, and that he would report again when he reached Mansfield, 74 miles to the southeast.

He traveled about half that distance when, unexplained, the craft lunged out of the cloud-covered sky and crashed.

Alvin DeVore, a service station operator, said he watched as the plane soared over his station at 700 to 1,000 feet altitude, then suddenly dipped down and nosed into the field half a mile away.

In Chicago, a B26 Martin took off from Midway Airport at 3:30 p.m. This undoubtedly was the doomed craft. The pilot, in making out his flight plan, gave his name as Dunham, and his destination as Baltimore, Md.

Continental Can identified the pilot of its plane as John R. Dunham, Madison, N.J. His copilot was Donald Martin, Dover, N.J.

All the passengers, except one, lived in the New York metropolitan area. One resided in Baltimore, and it may have been that Dunham was going to take him directly home before continuing to New York.

The company identified the passengers as: Abbot W. Sherwood,

Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., product sales manager of Eastern Division; J.R. Wallace, Pound Ridge, N.Y., product sales manager; R.I. Wellmerskirch, Westwood, N.J., manager of products and materials; W.J. Mutschler, Mamaroneck, N.Y., general manager of production engineering; M.D. Sandine, Baltimore, manager of the Mid-eastern District; H.G. Schler, Wood-Ridge, N.J., production engineer for equipment and maintenance; J. De Bleeck, plant manager at Passaic, N.J.; and J.M. Kelly, Darien, Conn., manager of production engineering of the Eastern Division.

As of Wednesday night, authorities had recovered the bodies only of Sherwood, Wallace and Dunham, the pilot.

Continental Can, which has sales of more than a billion dollars a year, has 145 plants in 31 states with 53,000 employees.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 2, 1959

Parry O'Brien is a proud champion. He won the Olympic shot put championship in Helsinki in 1952 and successfully defended his laurels in the international games at Melbourne in 1956. He's made a habit of winning national championships, indoors and out. Most of all, he's mighty proud of the fact that he holds the world record for tossing the 16-pound iron ball. And he intends to keep the title of world's greatest shot-putter as long as he feels like doing so. That could be at least through the 1960 Olympic games in Rome. No one has ever won three straight shot put events in Olympic competition.

O'Brien can't maintain his lofty perch without lifting a finger. Not so long as there are some mighty fine looking prospects coming along with definite designs on Parry's records. Young Dallas Long, the 6-foot-5, 250-pound University of Southern California freshman, has been breathing on O'Brien's neck all spring. Long has been flirting with O'Brien's listed world record of 63 feet, 2 inches and has even topped that mark with a couple of unofficial throws. All this has stirred O'Brien to greater efforts to raise the bar. And that's just what he did recently—boosted his own world record to 63 feet, 8 inches. What's more, Parry insists he will add an inch or two whenever it's needed to preserve his position as top man. "I'm not kidding myself about having this thing sewed up for a long spell," said O'Brien. "Why, there's a youngster at my old school (Southern California) named Dallas Long who is going to be tough to hold off for very long. He's got too much strength to go anywhere but up. I just hope I can fight him off for another year or two." With Long looking over his broad shoulder, O'Brien is likely to keep one step ahead as long as he feels like making the effort. He's that kind of competitor.

Columbus Team To Play Out Season At Gastonia

DOTHAN, Ala. (AP) — South Atlantic League directors voted to allow the Columbus team to finish the season at Gastonia, N.C. President Sam C. Smith Jr. said today.

Although some of the directors approved the switch with reservations, he said, a majority were agreeable to do everything possible to help the people of Columbus.

Smith stressed that the move is a "stopgap measure" for the rest of this season only.

"We'll have to wait and see how the club fares at Gastonia," he said "before making a decision on whether to keep the franchise there another year."

Smith said the baseball fans at Gastonia appear to be enthusiastic about having Class A baseball in their city and "we are hoping they will support the club in a big way."

League directors had voted earlier this week to allow Columbus to move its franchise to Gastonia, but some later asked Smith to make another survey to sound out sentiment for returning it to Columbus.

Smith said the second poll, taken by telephone and telegraph, stood as did the first — five for the transfer with Jacksonville opposing and Charleston not voting.

Smith said the second poll stemmed from fear among league directors that more of the same attendance problems at Columbus would repeat themselves at Gastonia.

Worry that Gastonia might prove an unsuccessful venture, he said, was based on the city's smaller population and the fact that Charlotte, another Sall member, is only 20 miles away.

Dairymen Defeat Quality Oil By 10-2 Margin

Bob Moore continued to terrorize the Greenville Industrial Softball League last night as he paced the Carolina Dairy to a 10-2 victory over Quality Oil.

Following up his perfect night at the plate Monday night, Moore slammed out three hits last night, including two doubles, to back Jerry Warren's three-hit pitching.

Warren gave up three hits in the early innings but pitched hitless ball after the third inning. The chunky pitcher also aided his own cause with a double and single.

Tom Boyd, playing at shortstop, made a couple of outstanding plays to keep Warren out of hot water. Quality Oil — 010 001 0—2 Carolina Dairy — 208 000 x—10 Brantley, Wheeler and Wall; Warren and Dash.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Gene Conley, Phillies, underscored his selection for the All-Star game by blanking the Pirates 1-0 on five singles, walking only one and striking out eight.

Hitting — Luis Aparicio, White Sox, had two hits in two trips, scored twice and drove in two runs in 6-5 victory over the Indians, belting a two-run triple for early lead and counting the winning run after a hit in the ninth.

Seven-Run Blast Beats Exchange

Greenville Tobacco Company broke a long dry spell yesterday afternoon, using a seven-run third inning uprising to trip the Exchange 10-4.

John Horne and Malcolm Beamon, the winning pitcher, provided the big sticks for the winners, rapping out two hits each. Horne and Beamon rapped out two doubles each to account for four of the five hits off Exchange pitching.

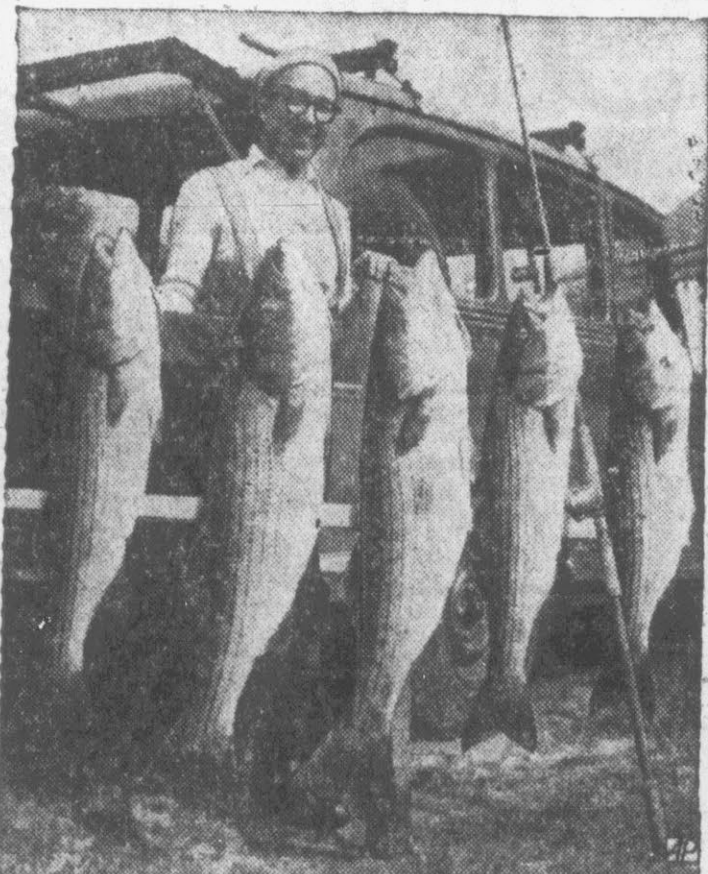

Trailing 3-0, the Exchange fell apart in the third when five consecutive walks were given out and Horne and Bill Calloway added to the attack with back-to-back doubles.

Gary Bostic, Staton Martin, and Van Stubbs had doubles in the final frame to spur the lone rally for the Exchange. Their last-inning attempt fell short as they scored only three runs.

Yanks Still In Running As Other Clubs Fight Over Prized Pennant

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

If somebody's going to grab the American League pennant from those New York Yankees, the rest of the clubs better stop squabbling over who is to do it.

Take Cleveland and Chicago, the two most likely to succeed. The White Sox dropped the Yankees to fifth last Sunday with a three-game punch. But while they scuffled through two games with the Indians, the Yankees jumped back to third.

The second-place White Sox split the series at Cleveland with a 6-5 victory Wednesday night, cutting the Indians' first-place edge to one game. More important, it also trimmed the Indians' lead to three games over the Yankees, who beat Baltimore 4-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Ralph Terry.

Detroit, one percentage point shy of New York, beat Kansas City 5-4. Washington whipped Boston 4-1.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs defeated St. Louis 6-5, and Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 1-0 on the five-hit pitching of Gene Conley.

The White Sox won on Jim Landis' ninth-inning sacrifice fly and a clutch relief job from Turk Lown. Woody Held's two-run homer, his 15th, chased Gerry Staley, second Sox pitcher, in the ninth, but Lown then retired the side. That saved it for starter Barry Latman (2-2).

Terry (3-5), reacquired by the Yankees from the A's May 26, walked only one and struck out six for his first victory and complete game since May 3. Billy Gardner doubled and singled for half of Baltimore's hits. Hee Brown lost it.

The Tigers beat Ned Garver (6-7) with a four-run seventh. Eddie Yost's single broke a 1-1 tie, and a double by Harvey Kuenn and singles by Charlie Maxwell and Gus Zernial put it away with two out against reliever Johnny Kucks. Paul Foytack was the winner for a 7-7 record.

Lions Punch Out Win Over JCs

The Lions became a strong challenger for the North State title yesterday afternoon as they pounded John Flanagan and the Jaycees for a 7-1 victory.

Graham Register worked on the mound for the Lions and scattered four hits in spilling the high-riding Jaycee club.

James Gilliam and Aubrey Taylor provided the offensive punch for the winners, collecting two hits each.

Mitchel Jones accounted for the only Jaycee run with a homer in the first inning.

had Boston blanked on two hits with two out in the ninth. Then singles by Vic Wertz and Frank Malone sandwiched an error for an unearned run, leaving him with a four-hitter and a 7-7 record. Norm Siebern and Gil McDougald homered for the Yankees, who had eight hits. Siebern's 10th came in the second inning, but Brown (5-3) then blanked the champs on one hit until successive singles by Yogi Berra, Bill Skowron and Hector Lopez made it 2-0 in the seventh. McDougald homered in the ninth against reliever Billy Loes.

Stengel Taps Ted Williams For His Roster Of All Stars

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — The American League announced its All-Star squad today and the name of Ted Williams was on the roster for the 15th time.

Williams was not selected by his fellow players on the basis of performance.

But Casey Stengel, who will manage the AL Stars, said: "If you had to look down the bench for someone to hit for you, who'd you like to have?"

Stengel's decision to select Williams came two days after Fred Haney selected Stan Musial, veteran star of the St. Louis Cardinals, who like Williams, is having a rough year.

Haney, Milwaukee manager, will pilot the NL Stars in the interleague match of baseball's best July 7 at Pittsburgh.

Williams, although hitless in the 1957 and 1958 All-Star games, has compiled a .317 average in the 14 years he played on the American League team. He has hit four homers and driven in a dozen runs.

Williams will replace Jim Lemon of Washington in the second-line outfield, which also includes Mickey Mantle of New York and Harvey Kuenn of Detroit.

Stengel made one other change. He named Gil McDougald of the Yankees as an infielder in place of Rocky Bridges, runner-up for shortstop.

Stengel explained through Cronin: "McDougald gives me three players, you could say. I can use him at any of three positions."

As pitchers, the manager's prerogative, Stengel selected Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers, Bud Daley of the Kansas City Athletics, Ryne Duren and Whitey Ford of the Yankees, Billy Pierce

Reports Vary On TV Experiences

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — The National Assn. of Collegiate Commissioners has been told that experiences with the live telecasting of afternoon basketball games varied considerably.

"In the Big Ten our afternoon telecasts in basketball proved successful," Big Ten Commissioner Tug Wilson told the group's opening meeting Wednesday. Wilson, president of the organization, added:

"We had a 13-game TV program under good sponsorship. The program was so successful that several of the schools are going to play all of their home basketball schedule in the afternoon next season."

"At first several of the basketball coaches were opposed to playing afternoon games. Now they seem to be in favor of it, citing the better travel arrangements and the advantages resulting for the athletes in their studies."

On the other hand, Jim Weaver, commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference reported a drop in attendance at most basketball games that were televised in the ACC last season.

The ACC has dropped regional basketball telecasts next season, but Weaver indicated several member schools may try it on their own.

and Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox, and Hoyt Wilhelm of the Baltimore Orioles.

The team selected by the players has Bill Skowron of the Yankees at first, Nelson Fox and Luis Aparicio of the White Sox at second and short, Washington's Harmon Killebrew at third, and Rocky Colavito and Minnie Mingo of the Cleveland Indians, and Al Kaline of the Tigers in the outfield and Gus Triandos of the Orioles catching.

Stengel added Logi Berra, Yankees, and Sherm Lollar, White Sox, as catchers. Lollar was runner-up in the player poll to Triandos.

Stengel also added to the infield Frank Malone and Pete Runnels, Red Sox; Vic Power, Indians; and Roy Sievers, Senators.

For coaches Stengel chose Harry Craft, manager of the Athletics, and Tony Cuccinello of the Chicago White Sox.

Training Traditions Upset By Johansson

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson's sensational knockout of Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight championship may revolutionize the training methods of American boxers.

From now on managers are going to have a tough time convincing their fighters that the spartan, monastic life is necessary to prepare for a fight.

Johansson lived in a luxurious ranch house just off the grounds of the plush Grossinger resort on the Catskill Mountains. He had most members of his immediate family and his fiancée, gorgeous, 22-year-old Birgit Lundgren with him.

He golfed, he swam and he danced.

True, he worked out about 15 rounds daily, including seven or eight rounds of boxing.

But as far as American, as well as most foreign observers were concerned, he might just as well have been a professional. For in the ring he held back his vaunted right, the right that was mockingly called the "mystery" right. Most experts didn't believe he used it. If he did, why didn't he use it?

"I don't want to hurt my sparring partners," Ingemar patiently told one interviewer after another. "What good are they to me on the floor?"

Lowly Phils Look Like Contenders---With Conley

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — Gene Conley makes the last-place Philadelphia Phillies look like pennant contenders. Yet when he was with the National League champion Milwaukee Braves last year he couldn't win a game.

The big right-hander shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates 1-0 Wednesday night on a five-hitter. It was his sixth victory against four defeats.

With the Braves last season, he had a dismal 0-6 record. He was traded to the Phillies after a dispute with the Braves. He had insisted he be allowed to finish out the season with the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn. This meant a late reporting date for spring training.

"You know I really wasn't as bad a pitcher as that 1958 record indicates," he said after Wednesday night's game. "I pitched some pretty good ball last year but most of the time in relief. Sometimes records are deceiving."

Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney

thought enough of Conley's pitching to select him for his National League All-Star team.

Conley said he relied on his fast ball in the early innings. Then he switched to curves and sliders, and went back to the fast ball hitter Ted Kluszewski in the eighth.

"You get a pitch belt high and Klu can murder it," he said. "I had to shake off a fast ball sign for a curve. Klu swung for an outside pitch and it broke down over his knees. That was really a heartening strikeout."

The seven other strikeouts Conley notched didn't hurt either.

Field Day

A Fourth of July Field Day is in the works for Little League players at Elm Street Park.

Plans for the fourth annual event of this kind were announced today by J. G. Proctor, Governor of the Greenville Moose Lodge.

The Saturday afternoon program will get underway at 2:00 o'clock and culminate in a picnic served to Little Leaguers, their parents and guests.

A program of contests for players, divided according to age groups, as well as 2-inning Pop's All-Star game, has been arranged.

The regularly scheduled game between Pepsi-Cola and the Elks Little Leaguers will also be staged.

Field Day contest winners will be awarded prizes.

Hints Wilhelm Is AL Starter

BALTIMORE (AP) — Casey Stengel hasn't named the starting pitcher for the American League in the All-Star game next week at Pittsburgh but he hinted broadly Wednesday night that it would be Hoyt Wilhelm.

After the Yankees beat the Orioles 4-0, Stengel was asked the topic of his long pre-game conversation with Orioles catcher Gus Triandos at home plate.

"I told him that I was happy to have him on my All-Star team again," the Yankee manager replied.

"And I told him he was going to get a chance to catch a fella he was very close to."

Still there was no mention of Wilhelm, Baltimore's master of the knuckleball. But Stengel indicated that in selecting a starting pitcher he must take into consideration the feelings of Yogi Berra, Yankee catcher named to the All-Star squad by his manager.

Berra, it seems, is not anxious for the assignment of batting down Wilhelm's elusive knuckleball.

"Mrs. Berra wants him (Wilhelm) to pitch first," Stengel said. "So I have asked Mr. Berra that his good friend, Gus, is going to get that dirty job."

Australian Rod Laver Reaches Wimbledon Finals

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Rod Laver, the red-haired southpaw from Australia was within one step of the peak of the Wimbledon tennis world today after clouting a glorious, unseeded path to the finals of the men's singles championship.

Laver did it with the help of a wristy forehand that finally upset America's Barry MacKay in an epic, 87-game semifinal Wednesday.

The 20-year-old Aussie thus became the first unseeded player to reach the men's singles final since Kurt Nielsen of Denmark did it in 1956.

Laver will meet Alex Olmedo, the favorite from Peru, in the final Friday.

Laver's forehand could spell trouble for the United States in future Davis Cup matches.

The 5-foot-8 inch Aussie took 3 3/4 hours of thrills and spills to defeat the 6-4 MacKay, 11-3, 11-9, 10-8, 7-9, 6-3.

Olmedo reached the finals by blasting another Aussie, Roy Emerson, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

EC Providing Off-Campus Courses For 4 Localities

East Carolina College, in addition to its regular program on the campus, is offering this summer a series of off-campus courses taught at Wilmington, Cherry Point, Camp Lejeune, and Chowan College in Murfreesboro. Enrollment in these courses will be by the end of the summer session top the 500 mark, Dr. Ralph Brinkley, director of public relations and extension, has announced.

Classes offered at Wilmington continue summer programs presented there by East Carolina College for the past several years. Planned largely for the benefit of teachers, courses include Directed Observation in the Elementary School, Principles of Guidance, Children's Literature, Phonetics, and Psychology of Childhood.

Six classes now in progress at Camp Lejeune started June 9 and will cover a period of eight weeks. Two courses in Freshman Composition, and one each in Russian, American History, Algebra, Business Law, and Psychology of Adolescence are being taught.

At Cherry Point the summer program of classes got under way June 15 and will continue through the first week in August. Language courses include a class in Spanish and two in Freshman Composition. Investments, Algebra, and American History complete the program.

East Carolina is offering in Murfreesboro in cooperation with Chowan College three courses, each covering a period of two weeks. Mental Hygiene, already completed, began the series June 9. Now in progress is a graduate course in Phonetics, and scheduled to begin July 6 is a course in Social Studies for the Elementary School.

All classes in the off-campus program of work this summer are taught by qualified members of the college faculty.

Nab Escapee On Drunk Charges

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP) — A convicted slayer who escaped last week from the state hospital for the criminally insane at Raleigh, N. C., was seized here Wednesday on a charge of drunkenness.

A city policeman arrested Clarence (Percy) Penley, 20, of Lenoir, N.C., as he staggered down a street.

He was booked initially for drunkenness. He pleaded guilty before City Recorder C. C. McDonald.

However, McDonald delayed sentence until Penley's identity could be confirmed. Officers called Lenoir and learned that Penley was being sought as an escaped killer.

Penley was sentenced in 1957 for the slaying of William Robert (Bill) Dyson, a drinking companion.

Dyson's body, officers testified, contained five gunshot wounds, 19 stab wounds, and two slashes across the throat when it was found in a field near Hudson.

Police said Penley admitted being "pretty drunk" at the time of the slaying but said he knew what he was doing. He admitted taking three dollars from Dyson's wallet.

Anti-Red Indians Are Being Jailed

MADRAS, India (AP) — Kerala state's Communist government has jailed 5,280 Indians picketing schools and government offices in an attempt to oust the red regime.

Another 19,141 arrests were reported since the campaign began June 12, but these were released. The anti-Communist groups are trying to get Prime Minister Nehru's government to unseat the Kerala government and call new elections on the ground that the Communists have lost the support of the state's people.

Accidents Claim Five In Family

BRENNHAM, Tex. (AP) — In just a few months accidental death on the highways has claimed five members of the Raymond Parr family.

Wednesday, Jackie Parr, 17, died of injuries received June 21 in a motorcycle crash. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parr, and two young brothers died in a fiery collision of an automobile and pickup truck near Lamarque, Tex., last October. Three Parris are left—Jackie's two sisters and a brother.

Prince Solemn, Bride Giggled

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Prince Albert of Liege, heir presumptive to the Belgian throne, today married a beautiful blonde Italian princess who broke down with giggles midway through the glittering church wedding.

The radiant 21-year-old bride, Dona Paola Ruffo di Calabria, was asked by Joseph Cardinal Van Roey, the officiating clergyman, "Have you come here of your own free will to engage in marriage?"

"Yes," she replied in French—and then suddenly halted, giggled and couldn't go on.

She blushed, raised her left hand to her lips and finally smothered her laughter. Her solemn, 25-year-old bridegroom, kneeling on her right, gave his bride a sympathetic look. This seemed to steady her.

With only an occasional faint trembling smile she completed the long ceremony performed amid medieval pageantry and splendor in the Roman Catholic church of Sts. Michael and Gudule.

When she took communion, she broke down and cried, her long hands once more flying to her face.

The bridegroom, younger brother of bachelor King Baudouin, was grim and nervous through the long ceremonies that began with a civil marriage service in the royal palace.

Riding in an open car along the procession route from the palace to the church for the religious ceremony, the bride waved gaily. The crowds loved it with excited cries of "Paola!"

Albert looked nervous and glum, giving only an occasional salute. Just before reaching the church, his pretty bride moved closer to her handsome husband in the back seat and squeezed his arm.

She wore a gorgeous high-necked ivory satin gown with a long-trained veil of snow-white Brussels lace. Albert wore a Belgian naval commander's dark blue uniform.

Cardinal Van Roey, during the church ceremony, called her a "lovely princess" and said Italy "sends you to Belgium as a ray of its beautiful sun and a reflection of its ardent soul."

Threatening skies failed to curb the enthusiasm of the crowds for the show of medieval splendor—trumpets blending with booming cannon and pealing church bells. Ancient Brussels was festively decorated.

The following projects and demonstrations were observed:

The Council's eight room home consisting of three bedrooms, bath, kitchen, living room with dining unit, room, was toured. The home featured adequate storage space in every room, central heating system, hardwood floors, and business office.

All curtains in the home were made by Stella Council, a Senior 4-H'er, with the assistance of her mother, Mrs. Council, and the Home agent.

The tour of the home was conducted by Mrs. Amelin S. Capehart, Miss Addie Goretainshrdlu hart, home economics agent, Miss Addie Gore, Asst. Home Economics Agent, Mrs. Hattie Thompson, Simpson Home Demonstration Club; Miss Stella and William Council, Senior 4-H Club members.

Ben H. White, Pitt county FHA supervisor, spoke on "How You Can Obtain a New Home" and FHA loans.

The group observed a Simazin weed control demonstration on corn; a 24-D Amine weed control demonstration on corn; a Dowpon demonstration to kill Bermuda grass (wire grass); a strawberry result demonstration; a 20 variety corn demonstration; a soybean and fertilization demonstration; a movement for utilizing 12 acres of land that had been in the majority useless in the past.

After touring the new home and observing various demonstrations and projects, a picnic dinner was spread and lemonade and barbecue was served.

T. W. Flowers, Negro extension horticultural specialist, and S. J. Hodges, extension agronomy specialist of A. and T. College, Greensboro, attended and participated in the event.

Pitt County Negro Agricultural Agent, James M. Goode and County Negro Home Economics Agent, Mrs. Amelia S. Capehart said "the Field Day and observing the new modern home was of valuable interest to the farmers and farm women."

Doctors Think Gov. Long May Have Failing Heart

COVINGTON, La. (AP) — Doctors say Gov. Earl K. Long, working restlessly day and night on fourth-term campaign plans, may now have a slightly failing heart.

Dr. Victory Lief, one of four doctors attending the 63-year-old governor, said Long had a slight heart failure Wednesday.

There was no indication the Louisiana governor suffered a coronary attack, he said, but doctors are concerned about the condition. They stayed through the night at his motel headquarters here.

The governor suffered a heart attack in 1950.

Earlier, Long announced plans to adopt a 14-year-old youth he met while they were both patients at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, Tex. The boy's parents said they had not consented.

The youth is David Rankin, son of Mr. and Mrs. F.H. Rankin of Texas City, who was hospitalized with a high blood pressure condition.

Long, in the midst of a separation suit from his 58-year-old childless wife, said simply: "He got to likin' me and I got to likin' him...I've always wanted to have a son. Well, I've wanted a daughter too, but I can't chaperone one under the present circumstances."

Long said he and David had whiled the time away playing poker and dominoes.

David's parents said their boy and Gov. Long got to be good friends but they said it was untrue they agreed to adoption. They said Gov. Long phoned David last Friday. The governor invited David to visit him in Louisiana and the boy will make his own decision on whether to accept.

Rankin, a chemical plant power department foreman, has another son, Bobby, 27, and a daughter, Betty Ann, 15.

Long had a busy day Wednesday. He announced plans for a whirlwind vacation trip west to the Pacific Coast and up to Canada, then down through the Midwest, possibly to Mexico. He said he would leave next Thursday.

He said he was determined to appear before the Louisiana public in four Fourth of July campaign speeches, if his doctors say he is well enough.

He said his wife tried to buy his assassination, then recanted a few hours later with the comment, "I doubt if it's true."

Mrs. Long filed a countersuit for divorce after Long sued for separation.

CHAPTER 8
A nightmare came to Kirk Hammond as he slept. It seemed to him that he was not sleeping at all but frozen and lifeless.

With the strange quality of dreams, he looked and saw himself sitting in icy dignity inside a metal sphere as upon a throne. And the throne upon which this frozen Hammond sat was far from Earth, moving out through the great darkness between the planets in vast and sweeping curves.

He was a king indeed of space and of time, for what was time to the dead? For year upon year, age upon age, he held his icy royal state and all was well until he heard a despairing voice say, "Oh, God, I could be bounded in a nutshell, and count myself a king of infinite space, were it not that I have bad dreams."

And then the nutshell, satellite crumbled away around him and he was alone in space and not a king at all but a dead man who must live again.

Hammond awoke yelling aloud that line from Hamlet and fighting hands that tried to hold him down; until there was a sharp needle of pain in his arm and sleep came that had no dreams.

He half-awoke again, and again, and then there came a time when he awoke completely. He had a feeling that many days had passed.

He lay for some minutes, looking up at the smooth rock ceiling in which one bright globe shone softly. It had been no mere dream, then, that nightmare. It had been a deep memory carried by his physical body, the very texture of his being, of something his mind could not remember.

A whimpering dread came upon Hammond at the thought.

How could he ever get the cold of space out of his bones, how could he keep the nightmare vision out of his soul? It would come again, and again, and he would go mad with it, and . . .

He did not know that he was sitting up on the bunk and crying out until Quobba ran into the room, with the girl Iva close behind him. The blue man forced him back down with his big hands, speaking to him loudly and cheerfully as one might to a frightened child. Iva peered at him, startled and distressed.

Hammond quit struggling and lay back. He said dully, "All right, I'm okay." Then he realized that they could not understand, and forced himself to smile and nod his head.

They both looked relieved. Quobba said emphatically, "Ez nund do Vramen." He went to a corner of the room and brought back things he held up for Hammond to see, exhibiting them with the air of a defense attorney who has won his case.

Hammond recognized his own zipper-jacket and a few small things that had been in his pockets—a book of astrological tables, a small slide rule, a vial half full of the stimulant tablets that had been supposed to get him through the blast-off shocks more comfortably.

Quobba grinned all across his massive face as he showed them, and Iva smiled at him too, though with a touch of awe in her eyes. They believed him, Hammond realized. And suddenly he understood. Those simple objects would be in this age relics of an ancient past. No words on his part could have been a tenth so effective in convincing them that he was what he claimed, and not one of their enemies, the Vramen.

He thought he might as well make the point again, though, and he said "Vramen," and touched himself, and shook his head as vigorously as he could. Then he pointed to them and asked on a rising note, "Vramen?"

Iva shook her head fiercely, and blue-black hair brushing her shoulders. Her eyes flashed.

"Nun! Sin do Hoomen!"
Hoomen? Was that what these people called themselves? It sounded very much like "human." He would have liked to learn more, but Iva pressed him back down on his pillow with firm hands. She spoke to him and he guessed that it was a command to sleep.

He was afraid to sleep, afraid that the nightmare would come again, but he could not fight the drug that had been given him. He slept, and he did not dream.

Time passed, measurable to him only as sleep and waking periods. In the waking times, he felt strength slowly returning to him.

Iva spent long hours teaching him, when he was able to sit up. She worked with pictures and gestures, building up his vocabulary little by little.

When Hammond was able to frame simple questions, he lost all patience and demanded to be let out of his underground cell.

Iva looked grave. "Wait," she said, and left the room. She did not come back, Jon Wilson, the leader of these people came instead.

He stood looking down at Hammond, and Hammond again got that chilling feeling that it was old John Brown of Osawatimie whose deep eyes he met.

"You cannot go out yet," he said. "You are fortunate to be living. For a time we did not think you would survive."

Hammond asked, "How long—?" And then he stopped, his mind and tongue unable to frame the question.

But Jon Wilson understood. He said, "All the physical evidence of your body and your possessions puts your origin in a remote period. By the old chronology, the 20th or 21st Century."

"I was born in the year nineteen-forty-nine," whispered Hammond.

Wilson thought for a moment.

"Then by that chronology, though we no longer use it since the conquest of space, this would be the year twelve thousand oh-nine-four."

Then it was true, and the star-clock had not lied, but still it was a truth too vast and terrible for Hammond to accept.

He put his head between his hands and shut his eyes. Then after a moment he took refuge from this staggering revelation in a side issue. "You said that space is conquered?"

"Yes," said Wilson.

Hammond felt a heavy leaping of his pulses. Then the dream of his own time had come true. The oceans of space were open to all men.

He said that, and Jon Wilson laughed. "Oh, no," said Wilson. "You're wrong. Space was conquered by men like you and by men like my own ancestors. But it does not belong to us. Space belongs to the Vramen."

Hammond said, "Who are the Vramen?"

"They're why you can't go out," said Wilson. "They're your enemies, and they're your enemies too. They're still hunting over this whole coast. Their radar installations would have caught your satellite as it fell back to Earth and their fliers must be hunting for you, Hammond."

Planning Another Cruise By Raft

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Capt. Devere Baker is at it again.

The 43-year-old raft skipper, who drifted to Hawaii last summer, laid the keel for his new raft, Lehi V Wednesday.

He said he plans to drift 18,000 miles in 1961 from the Red Sea, up the coast of Asia and across the north Pacific to California and Guatemala.

His goal: to show that builders of ancient cities unearthed in Central America lived on the Red Sea until they followed ocean currents across the Pacific more than 2,000 years ago.

Sees Weakness In Slow Action

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers says the great weakness of the legal profession is that it is chronically slow.

In an address Wednesday, Rogers said, "The public can't understand why it takes so long to get a case tried."

He chided lawyers for having done what he called a bad job on the picture they have given the public of the administration of justice.

"We lawyers have a solemn duty to improve the administration of justice," he said.

Sidney Lanier, one of the most important of American poets, fought with the Confederates in the Civil War.

Houston School Integration Plan To Be Reviewed

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Plans for integration of what is now the nation's largest segregated school system will be ready for review by a federal judge next week, school officials have indicated.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ben. C. Connally ordered the Houston School Board Wednesday to report to him by Aug. 17 on steps taken to comply with a 1957 integration order.

The 1957 ruling did not specify a date for integration, saying such action should be "with all deliberate speed." Parents of two Negro children asked Connally May 20 to reopen the case and set a deadline.

Dr. John W. McFarland, superintendent of schools, said Connally's order represents "nothing new or alarming or unexpected." "The board attorney and I will have a conference about the matter next week," McFarland said. "Then he will submit to Judge Connally the report that was asked for."

The Houston district has 170,000 pupils.

Report Khrushchev Talked Tough In Discussing Berlin With Harriman

NEW YORK (AP) — Two New York newspapers report that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in his interview with former New York Gov. Averell Harriman, adopted a very tough line in discussing the Berlin crisis.

The New York Times, in a Washington dispatch by Harry Schwartz, quotes an "informed source" as saying: "Khrushchev was very rough in his talks with Harriman."

"Khrushchev indicated he is determined to get us out of Berlin and apparently thinks he can do so because he judges that the world balance of power has shifted in his favor."

The New York Herald Tribune in a copyrighted Washington story by Joseph Alsop, said of the interview, held a week ago Tuesday at Khrushchev's office and country villa: "The crude threats that the Soviet leader indulged in, the

Salvation Army Man To Lead Prison Revival

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A Salvation Army officer who was credited by a judge with "cleaning up a canned heat jungle" in Goldsboro will conduct the annual revival at Central and Women's Prisons here.

Capt. Jim Hipps, commanding officer of the Goldsboro Salvation Army Corps, has accepted an invitation to conduct the revival July 6-10.

Chaplain William H. R. Jackson of the North Carolina Prison Department extended the invitation to Capt. Hipps, who was named "Young Man of the Year" in 1958 by the Goldsboro Junior Chamber of Commerce. This will make the fifth year the Salvation Army has conducted revivals at the state prisons, and the second consecutive year for Capt. Hipps.

Capt. Hipps, a native of Asheville, and president of the Goldsboro Ministers Assn., will preach daily at 4:45 p.m. to the men inmates, and two hours later he will conduct services for the women prisoners. Music will be provided by prison musicians and Salvation Army songsters from nearby cities. Between services Capt. Hipps will enter Death's Row to pray with the men there.

It is not compulsory for the prisoners to attend the revival. Last year there were 452 women confined at the time the revival was held, and daily attendance averaged 375. Approximately 400 of the 1,100 men prisoners attended the services. The Salvation Army said there were 375 converts during the 1958 revival.

This year the services will be held in a new chapel, which recently was dedicated at Central Prison.

WILLIAMSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Nobody wants to be queen of Williamstown. Not one application was received. "We don't understand it," said John F. Plummer, president of the sponsoring Williamstown Drum Corps. "We're canceling the contest."

NOTICE OF COMMISSIONER'S RE-SALE
NORTH CAROLINA
PITTS COUNTY
Under and by virtue of an order of the Superior Court of Pitt County made in that special proceeding, Number SP6534, entitled "Elva J. Corey, Administratrix of the Estate of Mattie Wilson Jenkins, & Elva J. Corey, Individually & husband, W. H. Corey, Henry Bernice Jenkins & wife, Georgia King Jenkins, Mabeline Nutter, Widow, Ruby J. Lundy & husband, T. W. Lundy, Minnie J. Stancil & husband, Claxton G. Stancil v. State Bank & Trust Co., Guardian of the Estate of Emily Carolyn Jenkins," and under and by virtue of an order of resale upon an advance bid, made by said court, the undersigned commissioner will, on the 17th day of July, 1959, at twelve (12:00) o'clock noon, at the Pitt County Court House door in Greenville, N. C., offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash upon an opening bid of forty-two hundred and fifty dollars ($4250) that certain house and lot lying and being situate in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, and more particularly described as follows:

That certain lot of parcel of land lying and being in the City of Greenville, County of Pitt, State of North Carolina, more particularly described as follows: BEGINNING on the south side of Ninth Street 83 feet east of the southeast corner of the intersection of Ninth and Washington Streets, and runs thence south 73° 0' east with the south side of Ninth Street 65.5 feet; thence south 17° 20' west 82.5 feet to Dr. Joseph Dixon's line; thence north 73° 40' west 65.5 feet; thence north 17° 20' east 82.5 feet to the BEGINNING point on the south side of Ninth Street, being the same premises conveyed to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company by Branch Banking & Trust Company, Trustee, by deed dated February 17, 1933, and recorded March 3, 1933, in Book M-19, page 160, and the same lot conveyed to A. S. Jenkins and wife, Mattie D. Jenkins, by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company by deed dated November 19, 1934, and recorded in Book S-20, page 257, all in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County.

The resale of this property is for the purpose of making assets, and the successful bidder will be required to deposit TEN (10%) PER CENT of his bid, to show good faith, pending final confirmation by the court, or resale in the event of an unsold bid.

This the 29th day of June, 1959
J. W. H. ROBERTS
Commissioner of the Court
July 2-10

NOTICE

NOTICE OF SALE
Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in those two certain Deeds of Trust executed by J. C. Gaskins and wife, Hester P. Gaskins, to J. H. Wal-drop, Trustee, one dated the 29th day of August, 1958, and recorded in Book L-30, at page 331, and the other dated the 10th day of December, 1958 and recorded in Book Q-30, at page 319, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured, the undersigned will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for CASH, at the Courthouse door in Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, at 12:00 Noon, on Friday, July 17, 1959, the one-half undivided interest conveyed in said Deed of Trust in the following described property, to-wit:

FIRST TRACT: That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being situate in Greenville Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, about four miles west of Greenville on the south side of Tar River and on the north side of the Greenville-Falkland hard surfaced road, and bounded on the North by Tar River, on the South by the Greenville-Falkland hard surfaced road, on the East by the lands of Mrs. Nannie Evans, on the West by Lot No. 2 in the Division of the Lands of Edward and Gordon Evans, and continuing 61 acres, more or less, and being Lot No. 1 in the Division of Lands of Edward and Gordon Evans, made during the year 1926, as shown on map of W. C. Dressbach, C. E., dated September 17, 1926, and filed in Special Proceeding No. 2726, in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, to which map and Proceeding reference is hereby made for a more accurate and complete description.

The two tracts of land above described being the same land conveyed to Susan G. Whitehurst by Emma Patrick, Mortgagee, by Deed recorded in Book J-17, at page 81, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County.

This sale will be made subject to all outstanding taxes and subject to Deed of Trust from C. F. Gaskins and wife to Dink James Trustee, in the amount of $11,000.00, plus interest, dated the 20th day of July, 1953, and of record in Book F-27, at page 352, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County.

This the 17th day of June, 1959.

They Teamed Up On Fashion Show

IMPERIAL BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Women of St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church put on a charity fashion show only after an assist from police and the Navy.

With models ready and 300 women waiting, the sound system quit. Police Chief Charles W. McIntire, whose wife was a model, dispatched a police car — with siren and red lights — to the Navy's Ream Field, where a sound system was obtained. The show went on.
