Prof Asks Probe Of His Firing

Dr. Lebaron Claims Dismissal At ECC Due To His Integration Views

STATESVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A former professor at East Carolina College has charged that he was fired because of his views on racial integration.

He is Dr. Earle Lebaron, former professor of history, political science and philosophy.

Dr. John Messick, East Carolina president, denied Lebaron's accusation.

The Rev. James P. Dees, a Statesville Episcopal minister and president of the North Carolina Defenders of States Rights, Inc., said Monday Lebaron had asked the defenders to press for an investigation of his dismissal.

The minister said the organization took no action. He said Lebaron told the group at a meeting in Greensboro Sunday that he had been dismissed because of his stand for the "preservation of states rights, racial segregation in the schools of our state, and our system of free enterprise and democracy as opposed to socialism and communism."

Dr. Messick said in a statement:

"Dr. Earle Lebaron draws conclusions as to why he was dismissed. But the fact is that he was not on tenure and was within the three-year probationary period before permanent employment. As early as January, when asked for recommendations concerning continued employment for members of this status on the faculty, Dr. Paul Murray, chairman of the Social Studies Department, recommended that Dr. Lebaron not be employed because of his lack of compatibility and other disturbing factors. He was not dismissed because of being anti-Communist or anti-integration."

Meanwhile, the Rev. Mr. Dees released a statement drawn up at the Defenders' Sunday meeting in which North Carolina Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell was criticized for statements regarding school integration at a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee hearing in Washington on civil rights.

The statement said:

"According to press reports, Mr. Seawell indicated in his testimony that the people of North Carolina are gradually and willingly capitulating before the Supreme Court's decree demanding racial integration of public schools."

"We feel that Mr. Seawell, in making this statement, did not speak for the people of North Carolina generally but only for a few of the liberals and left-winged who are willing to sacrifice public education in North Carolina to the melting pot of racial amalgamation."

Hold Father For Beating Of Son

GRIFTON — A St. Johns man has been accused of badly beating his nine-year-old son.

Grifton Police Chief Ralph Coley said Alonza Lee Mann, 39-year-old Negro has been charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

He is accused of beating his son, Spencer Lee Mann, with a tobacco stick, biting him on his right arm, taking him by the feet and throwing him on the floor, injuring his leg and hitting him in the temple with a Coca-Cola bottle.

Mann is being held in Grifton Jail under $500 bond. He will be tried in Recorder's Court here tomorrow afternoon.

Chief Coley said Mann gave no reason for the alleged assault but the boy said he was beaten nearly every day.

The youngster was treated at a local physician's office and returned to his home.

St. Johns is located about three miles east of Grifton.

No Signs Yet Of Polio Epidemic

RALEIGH (AP)—A state health official said today there is no indication of a polio epidemic in North Carolina, although there has been an upsurge in the number of cases in the last three weeks.

Dr. Fred Foard, director of the division of epidemiology of the State Board of Health, said that through Monday a total of 28 polio cases had been reported in North Carolina this year compared to 13 for the same period last year.

"Practically all of the cases were reported in the last three weeks," Dr. Foard said. "We are just now starting the polio season. I would like to urge that everyone take the polio vaccine as early as possible beginning from the age of two months on up."

Of the 28 cases reported this year, 22 were of the paralytic type, Dr. Foard said.

DOWN TO 3 BASES

MANILA (AP)—The United States has agreed to limit its military holdings in the Philippines to four major bases, informed sources said today.

The board did not list the "conditions and requirements." It said the children would be permitted to enter the Graham A. Barden and Havelock elementary schools near the base.

The board said its action was prompted by difficulties involved in transporting the Negro children to the James City school.

County School Supt. Robert L. Pugh said he did not know how many Negro pupils would apply for admission to the white schools. But he said he thought the number would not be large.

He said about 700 white pupils attended each of the two elementary schools at Havelock last year.

A Negro youngster, the son of an Air Force master sergeant, was enrolled during the past school year at a Goldsboro school near Seymour Air Force Base.

A total of 11 Negroes also attended previously all-white schools in Charlotte, Greensboro and Winston-Salem during the past year, the second year of token desegregation in the three cities.

Steel Strike Looms Inevitable As Negotiators Talk Fruitlessly

NEW YORK (AP) — A steel strike at midnight loomed inevitably today with union and industry negotiators going through the motions of fruitless last minute bargaining sessions.

The chief industry negotiator, R. Conrad Cooper, said there was no change in the bargaining stalemate.

However, Cooper and Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald kept talking with fellow negotiators about a possible new contract.

Cooper said the process of closing down the industry in advance of the expected midnight walkout was already well along.

McDonald and Cooper shook hands and willingly posed for a news photographer before starting their final round of sessions. They engaged in their usual banter with newsmen but conceded that neither had any real hope for averting the walkout.

The industry pictured itself as putting a finger in the dike against inflation.

The steel industry stuck firmly to its position that any extra wage and other concessions would be inflationary and contrary to the nation's interest.

David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, said that the industry profits could pay for substantial pay and other contract increases without accompanying price boosts.

In a last-ditch proposal Monday night, McDonald said the union was willing to settle for a package increase in pay and benefits worth 15 cents per hour in each year of a three-year contract.

Steelworkers now average $3.10 per hour earnings, well ahead of most manufacturing workers. But McDonald maintained that his members are entitled to further substantial increases.

President Eisenhower for many months has been urging steel negotiators to be moderate. The steel industry said its position was grounded on the President's position.

There were other issues of managerial rights to make economies, but the central issue was expressed by R. Conrad Cooper, U.S. Steel Corp. executive vice president, who is calling the shots for the entire industry:

"Actually, the fundamental issue is the union's determination to extract wage and benefit increases of substance that would inevitably have inflationary effects."

The union said the steel industry's total wage bill, despite concessions to individual workers, actually is lower now than it was in 1958 or 1957 even though production is higher — making unit costs lower.

Eisenhower three times has intervened in the negotiations seeking to keep them going and forego a strike.

At his urging in late June, the union agreed to delay a strike from July 1 until tonight. Last Wednesday he asked for another, and indefinite contract extension, which was refused by the union.

Then, with all negotiating sessions suspended in a complete deadlock, the President again Monday urged the disputants to get together. They resumed talks, but got nowhere.

Besides the union's wage — welfare increase — demands and the industry's complete refusal to grant them were industry demands for more rights to end what the companies called labor dead-heading and featherbedding and other alleged wasteful labor costs.

McDonald denied flatly that his union members are loafers or stand in the way of industry economy moves.

The union proposed a two-year study of the problem. But Cooper said the industry needs a solution now.

Eisenhower said in Washington that plenty of time remained to reach a peaceful steel settlement.

McDonald responded in a telegram to the White House saying a deal could be concluded in an hour.

Cooper, however, said a strike was inevitable because the unresolved issues were so complex and important that there was insufficient time to consider and resolve them. He proposed more negotiating time via a contract extension—a proposal flatly rejected by the union.

Final peace efforts by the industry and union continue today, with the union holding to its position that its demands need not touch off an inflationary rise in steel prices.

West Accuses Gromyko Of Stalling At Geneva Talks

Hat In Ring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota formally entered the race for the Democratic presidential nomination today just one year before the party's national convention in Los Angeles.

The announcement of his entry—making him the first major contender to fling his hat in the ring—came from Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.) and Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota.

McCarthy, at a news conference here while holding an open telephone line to St. Paul with Freeman on the other end, said in response to a question as to whether Humphrey approved of the move:

"The candidate knows we are making this formal announcement, and of course approves."

McCarthy said Humphrey is ready to compete in Democratic presidential primaries but is "disposed to concede" primaries where genuine favorite sons are entered.

GENEVA (AP) — The Western ministers accused Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today of obstructionist tactics with his demand that German representatives be included in secret Big Four talks. They said he was slowing down negotiations for a Berlin agreement.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany met for an hour and 40 minutes this morning at Herter's headquarters on the "tactics for the remainder of the conference," a U.S. spokesman announced.

Their chief immediate problem is what to do about Gromyko's unexpected bid to win new Western recognition for Communist East Germany.

Asst. Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding said "no initiative has yet been taken by the West on that subject"—that none of the Western ministers has made an effort to get Gromyko to drop his requirement.

"The Gromyko move," said Berding, "is regarded by the Western ministers as being obstructionist and having the effect of slowing down the conference."

Asked what he meant by a slowdown, he said: "It simply means that we had hoped that right today we would be in a private session with Gromyko at Secretary Herter's villa, it being his turn to act as host. We should be right in the midst of serious work here. The only way you can get serious negotiations is in private sessions and Gromyko has put the kibosh on private sessions, at least for the time being."

German representatives did not take part in any of the informal, secret sessions in the first six weeks of the conference. They sat in the formal meetings as advisers.

Gromyko declared it was unjust to exclude the Germans.

Herter, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville instantly rejected this.

As a result of the procedural dispute, a secret session Herter proposed for today was not scheduled. There is no indication when the ministers will get down to bargaining in private. Another plenary session was called for Wednesday.

Aides said one of the Western ministers probably would be designated to call on Gromyko and urge him to drop his new demand on behalf of East Germany's satellite regime.

American officials said they are determined not to give the East Germans any more status. The United States, Britain, France and West Germany do not recognize the Red German regime as a legitimate government. The West agreed at the outset of the talks to let both Germans sit at preliminary sessions as advisers, but that was all.

British officials said they were sure Gromyko would back down from his new demand rather than tie up the conference more than 24 to 48 hours. American officials were less certain.

Rebellious Cons Holding Out In Their Coal Mine

PETROS, Tenn. (AP)—Rebellious convicts reportedly booby-trapped a coal mine with dynamite at Brushy Mountain State Prison today and refused to give up after releasing one of three hostages.

The state assistant corrections commissioner, Pat Patterson, discussed grievances with the 95 convict miners, and said a spokesman telephoned to the mine entrance:

"We've talked it over and we're not coming out."

State authorities said Shirley Bunch, the hostage who was released, said the convict miners had booby-trapped the entrance with dynamite. The report was unconfirmed from any other source.

Convict spokesmen made it clear, however, that they did not intend to harm anyone — citing their release of Bunch, who said he was having chills.

Bunch, 63, was one of three unarmed mine foremen whom the convicts seized as hostages Monday morning. He had not been harmed.

Patterson told newsmen later that Gov. Buford Ellington had ordered that there be no concessions to the rebels.

This, Patterson said, includes no food, no water, no clothing.

Patterson said the prisoners' demands included more pay for coal they mine.

Patterson promised revisions where desirable but declined to make any major concessions.

The prisoners now receive 25 cents a ton for coal mined in excess of six tons a month. A spokesman said they average about $1.20 a month.

The first break, Bunch's release, encouraged officials to believe the rebellion might be nearing an end. But it was a false hope, Patterson said.

Will Testify On Red Infiltration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Questioning of the former chief of the Cuban air force at a Senate hearing was suddenly halted today and spectators sent from the room. Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) said he had been told "an attempt would be made to injure the witness."

Eastland said the information came in a telephone call just after the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee had begun questioning Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz.

Diaz resigned his post June 30 with a blast at the regime of Fidel Castro. He charged Communists were infiltrating Cuba's military forces.

About 20 minutes after the hearing was suspended, four U.S. soldiers arrived and went into the room. They carried cases which possibly contained bomb detection equipment.

After a survey of the room by the Army men, Capitol police announced that the hearing would be resumed.

Eastland declined to tell newsmen what had happened or to discuss the mission of the Army men.

The suspension of today's hearing came before Diaz had given any testimony of consequence.

The 32-year-old Diaz had been escorted into the hearing room by men in civilian clothes. He smiled at times and at other times seemed nervous.

Diaz had just begun to tell about his trip to Miami and his arrival in the United States when the interruption came.

June's Highway Traffic Heaviest

RALEIGH (AP)—More people were going places on North Carolina highways during June than for any other month on record.

The State Highway Department said Monday that tallies taken at its 29 permanent counters, scattered throughout the state, gave a daily average of 125,378 vehicles for June.

This was 11.75 per cent over June, 1958, and also a healthy increase over the months of July and August last year. Traditionally, the July and August counts rank as the year's top because of summer vacation travel.

June Sees New Record High For National Employment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment surged to a record high of 67,342,000 in June. A gain of 1,328,000 was built on strong factory hiring and seasonal rises in farming and construction.

The Labor Department reported that unemployment rose simultaneously by 593,000 as two million students and new graduates flooded the job market.

The number out of work totaled 3,982,000 for the month.

As a result unemployment remained at 4.9 per cent of the civilian labor force, after allowing for seasonal fluctuations.

But the steep climb in employment—a gain of 4,600,000 since February — has seldom been matched in history. It attested to the force of the business recovery, department officials said.

Factory workers' average weekly earnings also reached a record at $90.54. The workweek lengthened to 40 hours and 36 minutes on the average, a longer work week than in any June since 1955.

The report issued today by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell stressed the June gain in factory jobs. The increase was 244,000, about double the usual rise for the month. It pushed factory employment to 16,400,000, only about 400,000 below the pre-recession level in mid-1957.

The heaviest rehiring was in the metals and machinery industries—those which would be hit first if the steel strike threatened for midnight tonight causes prolonged shutdown.

Auto employment held steady for June, and job improvements were reported in the stone, glass and clay industries.

Dr. Seymour Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor, noted that the increase in joblessness in June was concentrated among young people of 14 to 24 years—mainly those released from schools and colleges.

Unemployment in that age group rose by 800,000, meaning that unemployment among adults—especially adult male breadwinners employed in factories—declined during the month.

Government sources had anticipated a rise in unemployment because of the influx of job-hunting students.

Over 5 Inches Of Rain; River Rises

Pitt Countians cast gloomy glances at the still-overcast skies this morning as the clouds left by Hurricane Cindy hung over this area for the sixth straight day.

There have been only brief glimpses of the sun during the day and moon and stars at night with the blanket of clouds obscuring the view recently.

There has been plenty of rainfall from the prolonged cloudy spell. The Greenville Utilities weather station reported that precipitation has amounted to 5.07 inches since the rains first began Wednesday night through 11 a.m. today.

In addition, the rain is believed to have been more than that in certain sections of Pitt County.

Tar River stood at the 7.06 foot level this morning, a rise of over three feet in a 24-hour period. Only little more than a week ago, the river level had been under three feet following a long, dry period.

The Daily Reflector was informed this morning by the U. S. Weather Bureau at Raleigh that the Tar should crest at 14 feet by Friday in the Greenville area. However, the weather bureau said the forecast is subject to revision if heavy rains fall again upstate. The river is muddy at Greenville.

The rains did bring relief from the 100-degree temperatures prevailing in the county two weeks ago.

Highest temperature yesterday was a comfortable 80 degrees and the lowest last night was 72 degrees. At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometer stood at 77 degrees.

The Daily Reflector was informed this morning by the U. S. Weather Bureau at Raleigh that the Tar should crest at 14 feet by Friday in the Greenville area. However, the weather bureau said the forecast is subject to revision if heavy rains fall again upstate. The river is muddy at Greenville.

Global Bomber Arriving Friday

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The Air Force's latest global bomber, the eight-jet B52G, comes to North Carolina for the first time Friday.

The plane, first of 15 to be assigned at Seymour Johnson Air Force base near here, will be named "The City of Goldsboro" by Mrs. Scott B. Berkeley, wife of the Goldsboro mayor who helped reactivate the base.

Assignment of the seven-million-dollar bomber to the 73rd Bombardment Squadron, 4241st Strategic Wing, was announced by Col. Osce V. Jones, base commander.

He said several Air Force generals will attend the Friday christening ceremony.

Hoffa Concedes Dickering For A Pact With Longshore Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa acknowledged defiantly today he is dickering for a pact with the West Coast Longshoremen's Union, expelled by the old CIO in 1950 for allegedly following the Communist line.

Hoffa denounced the ouster of the Longshoremen as a phony act and defied Harry Bridges and Louis Goldblatt, the Longshoremen's president and secretary-treasurer.

But he flung a shouted warning at the Senate committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy: "Don't put me in their (Bridges' and Goldblatt's) class."

Hoffa told Kennedy that "you'll get good and sued" if Kennedy makes any speeches linking Hoffa's name with communism.

Kennedy firmly retorted "I'm certainly going to make speeches and point out the facts" of Hoffa's acknowledged negotiations for an agreement of some sort between the Teamsters and the Longshoremen.

The nature of the alleged pact remains in dispute. Hoffa called it an agreement on jurisdictional and organizational problems growing out of automation and mechanization of industry.

Bartley C. Crum, a New York lawyer, had testified Monday it was described to him as a move toward forming a "single, giant transport union."

The table-thumping, shouting exploded after Hoffa had denied vigorously before the Rackets investigating committee that he joined in a scheme to seize control of a court-appointed board of monitors assigned to help combat corruption in the Teamsters Union.

The committee has asked the Justice Department and federal court here to examine charges made by Crum that Hoffa tried to obstruct justice by buying control of the monitors.

Denying he was behind the reported move to seize control of the monitors, Hoffa said earlier that first overtures for such a scheme were made by Crum who testified reports were made to pack the board with friends of the union.

Craven Schools Accept Negroes

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—Children of Negro personnel at the Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station who meet "certain conditions and requirements" are to be admitted to two all-white Craven County schools next fall.

This was announced Monday by the Craven County Board of Education. The children primarily affected have been attending the James City Negro elementary school about 20 miles from the base.

The board did not list the "conditions and requirements." It said the children would be permitted to enter the Graham A. Barden and Havelock elementary schools near the base.

The board said its action was prompted by difficulties involved in transporting the Negro children to the James City school.

Johnson-Butler Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

KINSTON—In a candlelight ceremony at half after four o'clock Sunday, July 12, at the Queen St. Methodist Church, Miss Anne Waynick Butler and Mr. Loyd Harold Johnson were united in marriage. The Rev. T. Marvin Vick Jr., pastor of the bride and groom, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lindsey Butler of Greenville, formerly of Kinston. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lloyd Johnson of Milwaukee, North Carolina.

The church was decorated with palms and candles in seven and nine branched white candelabra. Baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli were intermingled with fern.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Henry H. Johnson, organist, presented a program of instrumental selections and accompanied Mrs. Lonnie W. Hudson Jr., who sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" by Gounod, and for a benediction, "The Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta designed with a pointed bodice. The scalloped neckline and sleeves were of Chantilly lace trimmed with iridescent sequins. The floor length skirt featured tiers of Chantilly lace and a brush train. She wore elbow length mitts of silk organza, which extended to a point at the wrist. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a lace cap interspersed with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Curtis Wilson Daughtry of Chapel Hill attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of mint green silk organza over taffeta and tiered net ruffles. The dress was designed with a portrait neckline and the empire bodice was overlaid with white lace. The bouffant skirt featured a bow and flowing panels in the back. Her headpiece was of matching organza and tulle with a pleated bow design. She carried a yellow basket of mixed summer flowers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Max Gardner Abernathy of Henderson, Miss Nancy Carolyn Johnson, cousin of the groom, of Milwaukee, Mrs. Joseph Earl Hunter and Mrs. Emmett Ranson Waller Jr. of Kinston. Their dresses were identical to that of the matron of honor and they carried white baskets of mixed summer flowers.

The groom was attended by Henry Irving Cogges Jr. of Richmond, Va., as best man. Usners were John W. Montgomery Jr., J. Robert Hassinger, John T. MacDowell, all of Kinston, and Curtis Wilson Daughtry of Chapel Hill, brother-in-law of the bride.

For the ceremony, the mother of the bride chose a rose lace-tied sheath dress with a square neckline and short sleeves. Matching accessories and a purple orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

The groom's mother wore a mauve lace dress with a folded neckline, short sleeves, flared skirt and matching accessories. Her corsage was a purple orchid.

The bride and groom greeted guests in the vestibule of the church.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride wore a brown and white checked linen suit and white accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Granger High School in Kinston and an alumna of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. She attended Hardbarger's Business College, and is currently employed by Motors Insurance Corporation, Kinston.

The groom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina where he was a member of Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity. He is employed by E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, at the Kinston Dacron Plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at home at 1108 Candlewood Drive in Kinston.

Entertain at Cake-Cutting Immediately following the rehearsal on Saturday night, the bride's parents entertained members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests at a cake-cutting at the home of Mrs. Nelson G. Brogren at 1205 West Lenox Avenue.

The home was decorated throughout with a pink and white color scheme. In the dining room a white satin cloth, floral arrangements and silver appointments completed the decor. The silver cake knife was garnished with white satin ribbons and orange blossoms.

Mrs. Butler, mother of the bride, completed serving the wedding cake, which was cut by the bride and groom. Mrs. Johnson, mother of the groom, poured punch.

Mrs. Loyd Harold Johnson

Assisting in greeting guests and serving were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Max Abernathy, Mrs. Joseph Hunter, Mrs. Emmett Waller Jr., Mrs. Curtis Daughtry, and Miss Nancy Carolyn Johnson. Mrs. John Montgomery Jr., Mrs. Lonnie Hudson of Kinston and Mrs. Henry Cogges of Milwaukee also assisted in serving.

During the evening, attendants of the bridal couple were presented gifts of white prayer books and gold tie pins.

Mimi Happiest Married Woman

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Mimi Hines is one of the world's most happily married women, and nobody can understand why.

As half of the suddenly famous comedy team of Phil Ford and Mimi Hines, Mimi has broken all the rules for a happy marriage. She doesn't darn her husband's socks, or cook big juicy steaks for his dinner. She doesn't stay demurely in the background when he tells a funny story.

Since their marriage seven years ago, Phil and Mimi have never had a home, or even an apartment. Most of the time they live on trains and planes, with an occasional hotel suite.

"Once we did buy a 37-foot trailer, all painted silver and big as a locomotive," says Mimi. "I decided I would be domestic and put up frilly curtains and learn to cook."

"Mimi's idea of learning to cook was to stick to one thing until she mastered it," says Phil, "so we had roast duck with orange sauce every night for a week. Then the trailer burned up when a brake caught fire going down a mountain road and we gave it all up."

Mimi and Phil have been on stage almost since birth. Mimi made her debut at the age of 2 and Phil was not much older.

They met in Anchorage, Alaska, where each was doing a separate night club act. Mimi's club went broke and Phil's partner quit, so they formed a team. They've been playing hotels and clubs ever since, but just hit the bigtime after a guest appearance on the Jack Paar television show which had the audience rolling in the aisles.

There followed an engagement at New York's Copacabana and the Waldorf Astoria.

This summer they're booked to appear in Paris, and at the Moscow Exhibit. What do they plan to dish out for the Soviets?

"Oh, just our usual act," says Phil. "Mimi's brand of humor is sort of universal. When she falls on her face, you can laugh even in Japanese."

Red Oak HD Club Has Family Night

"Family Night," an annual affair sponsored by the Red Oak Home Demonstration Club, was attended July 8 by 88 people. Mrs. J. T. Manning Jr., president, welcomed the group and explained that this meeting was one of the projects of the Red Oak Club to promote wholesome social life.

Games and contests were conducted by Mrs. B. L. Tyson and Mrs. Charles Jackson, who were assisted by Nesa Ann Page and Joyce Jackson. After the Rev. Howard James gave the invocation, the group was served a hamburger and hot dog supper. The food committee was composed of Mrs. F. L. Allen, chairman, Mr. Thurston Wynne, and Mrs. Lucy Allen.

All visitors were invited to the next regular Home Demonstration Club meeting on Aug. 5.

Scout Writes Of Round Up

"Food is good, lots of space, and beautiful ceremonies" is the description of the Senior Scout Roundup in Colorado Springs, Colo., sent back in a letter by Shirley Harrell.

The two Pitt County Scouts, Shirley Harrell of Greenville and Noel Lang of Farmville will leave Colorado and the annual scout roundup today for the trip home. These girls, along with 16 others from North Carolina, have spent the past two weeks with 10,000 scouts from all over the world and will arrive in Goldsboro on Friday morning. The trip home includes a four-hour tour of Chicago.

Below is part of a letter from Shirley to Mrs. David J. Whichard III telling about the first part of her trip.

Games and contests were conducted by Mrs. B. L. Tyson and Mrs. Charles Jackson, who were assisted by Nesa Ann Page and Joyce Jackson. After the Rev. "Dear Mrs. Whichard, 'On the way here we went through the following states: N. C., Tenn., Ky., Ohio, Ind., Ill., Iowa, Neb., and Colo. We had four extra hours in Chicago because our engine broke down. 'We arrived here at 4 p.m. July 2. Then we set up our tents with the help of some girls from La. They also fixed supper for us. 'Since then we have made a table cleaned off the grounds, and we have also swapped things native to our part of the country for things native to theirs. 'We have very good food, lots of space, and beautiful ceremonies. 'Yesterday we went on a tour through the Garden of the Gods, to the Air Force Academy, and then to a ranch to have a chuck wagon meal. 'The Roundup is in the 10th largest city in Colo. We have about 10,000 girls here. 'Sincerely Yours, Shirley Harrell'

'Yesterday we went on a tour through the Garden of the Gods, to the Air Force Academy, and then to a ranch to have a chuck wagon meal. 'The Roundup is in the 10th largest city in Colo. We have about 10,000 girls here. 'Sincerely Yours, Shirley Harrell'

Music Scholarship Anson County was recipient this year of two music scholarships to attend the music workshop in Greensboro sponsored by the music committee of North Carolina Home Demonstration Clubs.

According to Mrs. Ada Dalla Pozza, home economics agent, Mrs. Jodie Lee of the Red Hill Club, and Miss Becky Lowry of Morven Y-H Club received the scholarships for their interest and love of music.

Films Available At City Library

The following films are available at Sheppard Memorial Library from July 13-Aug. 7:

CAPITAL CITY BIS 1952, 10 min., sd., b&w—Here is the story of London, the heart of the British Empire for many centuries. Today ten million people live and work there within a radius of 20 miles. A tour showing historic landmarks as well as modern, up-to-date buildings.

CHANGING COTTON LAND (Southeast U.S.A.), UW-Ed., 1949, 20 min., sd., b&w—Although much of the land in the Southeastern United States has been destroyed through wasteful farming practices, this film shows how County Agents are working with today's farmers to rebuild the land. The introduction and growth of new industries in the region is also shown as the economy becomes more diversified.

RICHARD STRAUSS, World Artists Inc., 1954, 24 min., sd., b&w—Several episodes in Strauss' life, his home and activities as a composer and conductor. Featured are excerpts from his compositions, "Don Juan," "Salome," "The Elective Affinities," and "Der Rosenkavalier."

FOUNDER OF VIRGINIA, EBF, 1955, 20 min., sd., b&w—Describes the struggles of the men who planted the first permanent English colony in the New York. Starvation, Indian attacks, and disease slowly killed off the colonists, but Smith held the few survivors together, putting them to work building shelters and trading with the Indians. Recreates Smith's capture and his subsequent release through the intervention of Pocahontas.

With Farm Women

By MAIDRED MORRIS

Home Improvement

In order to get extra bedrooms at minimum cost Mrs. Newlin Shaw of Alamance County took a few feet from the living room to make a permanent stairway to the attic. Ample floor space was available to make two nice-sized bedrooms.

According to Miss Katherine Millsaps, home economics agent, Mrs. Shaw is using one room downstairs for a looping machine which makes extra income possible.

Food Conservation

Canning is under way in Carteret County. Pressure canners and other equipment was thoroughly checked before using.

Mrs. Floy Garner, home economics agent, is advising the Home Demonstration women to always can their low acid food in pressure canners. Young homemakers are learning to can the recommended way in order to save on the family food budget.

Pouch Freezing

"Pouch freezing sounds like just what I need," said many young mothers at recent Home Demonstration Club meetings in Burke County. Mrs. Evelyn Watson, home economics agent, explained that pouch freezing could be especially helpful for busy homemakers since the food is cooked in the freezer bag.

Mrs. Watson advised the women not to fill their freezers with space-wasters such as bones, corn cobs, air filled bags and excess wrapping material.

Remodeling Project

Plans were made several months in advance for remodeling the home of Mrs. Lester Roebuck in Martin County. By having a plan, work could be done as time permitted.

According to Mrs. Helen L. Hoskins, home economics agent, Mrs. Roebuck recently painted four rooms saving at least $120 by the do-it-yourself method.

Nixon's Proposed Trip Is Snarled Up In Red Tape

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's proposed visit to the Soviet Union is snarled in Soviet red tape—only a week before he is due to take off for Moscow.

After two months of backstage negotiations, Soviet and American authorities have yet to agree on exactly what cities Nixon will visit, how long he will stay and how much freedom his party will enjoy. But top officials are confident these problems will be settled in time for Nixon to leave by jetliner July 22 as scheduled.

Prospects are he will visit Moscow, talk with Premier Nikita Khrushchev, then perhaps seven other Soviet cities in an unprecedented good-will visit lasting about two weeks.

Most authorities blame the present uncertainty on Soviet bureaucratic delay.

Officials are plainly growing impatient at the Soviet delay in answering some important questions Nixon has raised in connection with his trip.

These include:

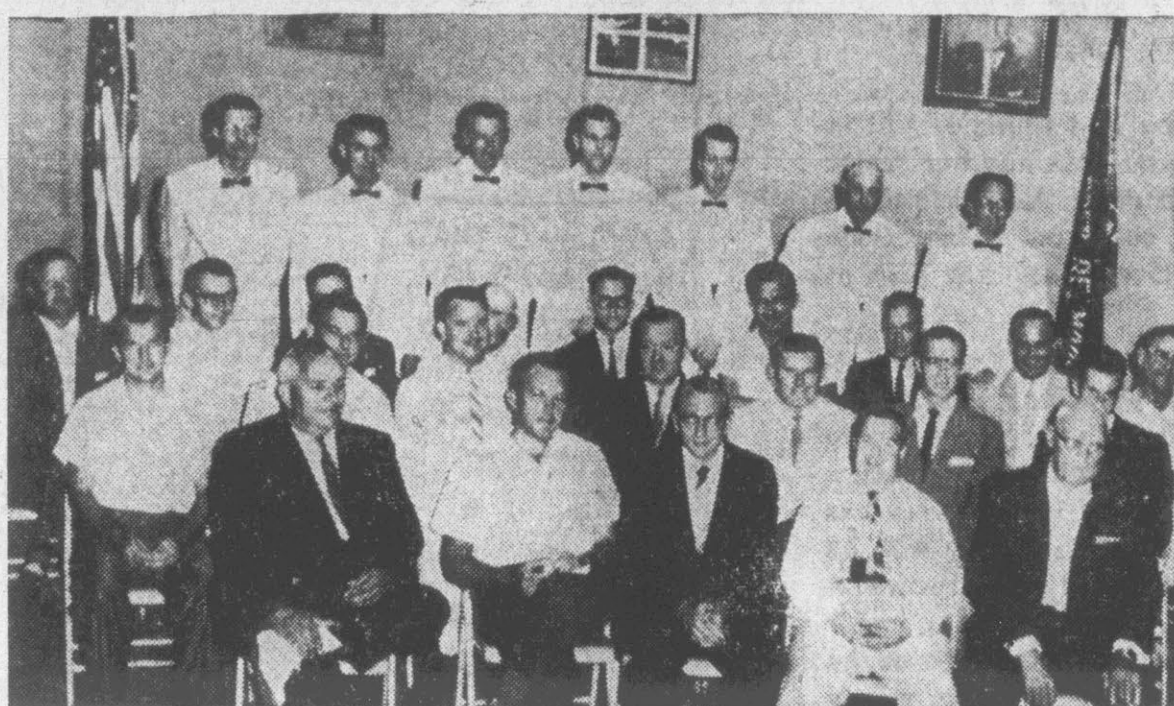

1. Will Nixon be allowed to tour some of the closed defense areas he wants to visit instead of the usual tourist attractions?
2. Will the 70 newsmen accompanying him be allowed to report his activities without Soviet censorship, as Nixon insists?
3. Will Nixon and his party be allowed to use his own American jet planes during their travels inside the U.S.S.R. as Nixon has proposed?

The return to Moscow of Deputy Premier Frol B. Kozlov after a warm official welcome during his American trip may hasten favorable Kremlin replies.

Peanut Support Rate Announced

The support rate for 1959-crop Virginia type peanuts in this State will be $205.30 per ton, according to J. Lyman Edwards, Chairman of the Pitt. ASC Committee. This, he said, is an "interim" support level. This means that when support rates are finally determined, if the final rates are higher than those announced today, any farmers who may have placed peanuts under loan at the "interim" level will receive additional payments to reflect the higher level.

The support price for individual loans will be calculated by the same method as was used in this State last year. The value of loose-shelled kernels, however, will be calculated at six cents per pound as compared with the seven cent rate last year.

To qualify for "Virginia type" price support, Virginia peanuts must contain not less than 30 percent fancy size.

Loans and purchase agreements on 1959-crop peanuts will be available to individual producers and grower associations from the time of harvest through January 31, 1960. This newly announced support rate, according to Edwards, is at the rate of 75 per cent of parity. Support in 1958 reflected 80.8 percent of parity.

Harassment Nets Fine For Negro

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—A 15-year-old Negro was fined $200 and given a suspended six-months jail sentence Monday for making telephone calls to a white girl of the same age.

Cleon Flowers Jr. pleaded guilty to a charge of harassment by telephone, a misdemeanor.

Municipal Court Judge Wilton Steed suspended the jail sentence during good behavior.

Police Chief Norman Young said the youth admitted calling the unidentified girl several times and writing her a letter in an attempt "to establish a romantic relationship."

A charge against Dr. Cleon A. Flowers, the boy's father, of interfering with an officer was dismissed.

NAACP Officer's Case To Be Heard

NEW YORK (AP)—The case of a county official of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People who advocated that Negroes meet violence with violence will come before the annual NAACP convention this week.

The official, Robert F. Williams, was suspended recently from his post as branch chairman in Union County, N.C., for making the remark.

At the convention's organizational meeting Monday, it was announced that the Williams case was referred to the resolutions committee for presentation to the convention. The NAACP is celebrating the 50th anniversary of its founding.

Brubeck And Ecsedy To Present Concerts Here

The Dave Brubeck Quartet and Aladar Ecsedy, pianist, have been announced as artists who will appear during July on the Summer School Entertainment Series at East Carolina College.

The Dave Brubeck Quartet, en route to Miami, Fla., for a recording session, will present a concert in Wright Auditorium on Friday, July 17, at 8 o'clock. It is the only appearance of the group in North Carolina this season, according to Brubeck's management.

The piano performance of Ecsedy will be in Austin Auditorium at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, July 22. A native of Budapest, the young Hungarian pianist has concertized extensively in Scandinavia and other European countries and has given many concerts in the United States in principal cities.

The Brubeck Quartet has a habit of winning polls for its manner of presentation and the musical development of modern themes. Its outstanding engagements include Carnegie Hall and Lewisohn Stadium in New York, Symphony Hall in Boston, the Newport, Monterey, and French Lick Jazz Festivals.

Brubeck continues to reach more and more people through college concert tours and Summer Music Festivals throughout the United States and Canada.

Early in 1958, immediately following the Brubeck Quartet's first appearance at East Carolina, the group played most of Europe and the middle East on a four-month tour, the major portion of the tour sponsored by the U. S. State Department.

Brubeck, leader and founder of the Quartet, is a student of serious music, a composer and conductor, who has tried to avoid musical "strait jackets" in his playing.

Two N. C. Men Killed In Crash

BOWLING GREEN, Va. (AP)—Two North Carolinians were killed Monday night in the head-on collision of their foreign auto and a station wagon near this eastern Virginia town.

State police identified the victims as Robert Samuel Hammock Jr., 32, Winston-Salem, N.C., and William Grant Walker, 19, High Point, N.C. Police said Hammock was driving.

The crash occurred 14 miles south of Bowling Green on U.S. 301 at a dip in the highway, police said.

Hospitalized were the occupants of the station wagon, Theodore Roosevelt Mitchell, 56, of New York City, the driver, and Esther Mae Davis, 27, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Langley said he spoke with Mercer for about three minutes when he arrived at the service station, which had closed for the night.

Police said Langley was captured by Raymond Cox, son of the owner of the service station after a brief chase during which Cox fired three warning shots with a pistol.

Langley was indicted Monday.

Firemen Respond To False Alarm

Greenville firemen answered a call to 12th and Greene Sts. last night at 10:30 when a false alarm was turned in at box 222.

The alarm was the first for the department in the past several weeks. According to fire department records, only one box alarm was turned in during June. It was also false.

Now It Is Peiping's Turn To Move

Dark clouds again are forming over the strategic and sensitive Formosa straits that suggest Red China may be planning new moves to remind the United States and the free world she is a major power which cannot be ignored in world affairs.

During the past several years Communist leaders in Moscow and Peiping have alternated occupying the center stage in trouble spots of the globe.

There was the Middle East crisis in which the Kremlin played a center role. Later the emphasis shifted to the Far East with intensified heavy shelling of the Nationalist held island off the China mainland. Tension mounted in the Far East and then tapered off as Communist emphasis shifted to West Berlin with an indication of the crisis that was in the making. Red China made its big push in Tibet to shift the world's eyes back to the East for a brief time, then the current crisis over West Berlin became full-blown to capture complete attention.

Now it apparently is Peiping's turn again at mounting a crisis in the East, perhaps in an effort to lessen the emphasis on Berlin as negotiators possible move toward a solution.

Reports again are circulating that Red China is preparing to invade the off-shore island and perhaps even Formosa; that the Reds have missiles poised behind their coastline for use against Nationalist territory and presumably the U. S. Seventh Fleet which patrols the Formosa Straits.

Though this new threat by Red China is still in the early stages, it could mount into another major crisis in the Far East. It could move the world again to the now-familiar "brink of war" and then become secondary to a Communist move in another part of the globe.

This series of events points up the Communist pattern of alternating it's crisis provoking efforts between the Soviet Union and Red China. There is also some significance in the fact that alternating rather than simultaneous efforts by these Red powers has been the trend in the past few years. It may well be part of the Communist probing effort to find a weakness in the Free World defenses without risking major catastrophe in two different areas of the globe at the same time. It suggests that the Reds still are primarily interested in gaining what they can by bluff rather than risking actual armed conflict to achieve their goals.

All signs point to Red China being on the move again, and the development of a new crisis in the Far East.

Slow, Steady Growth For Greenville Area

Permits for more than two and one-half million dollars worth of new construction issued by Greenville's building inspector during the first six months of 1959 point to continued growth of the city both from the standpoint of housing and from the standpoint of business.

While the value of permits issued since January are about on a par with those for the corresponding period of 1958, they show clearly a continuing healthy growth for Greenville.

Unlike some other communities of comparable size in North Carolina, Greenville has experienced no real boom at any one particular period in the past decade. Even so, it has maintained from year to year a steady and substantial growth in terms of new dwellings and new business buildings. The record of building permits by Greenville over a period of years compared favorably with those of other cities of this area which, because of their size, might be expected to expand much more in terms of dollars and cents invested in new construction.

The fact that new construction in Greenville continues at a substantial and yet relatively stable rate over a period of years indicates a solid, steady growth rather than sharp building spurts followed by periods of slight activity indicated in new construction records of some cities. It also indicates the city is growing on a sound basis, constantly attracting newcomers, and absorbing them in the community without the boom-and-bust fluctuations that some cities of comparable size have experienced.

Growth is important to every community the size of Greenville because it is a sure barometer of progress that is being made. The healthy growth of Greenville reflected by its new construction record of the first half of 1959 and previous years are good signs that the growth will continue in the future.

Butler And His Double-Think

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman, has had a severe case of double-think. Five years ago, he says, he did not consider segregation a political issue. Now, he says, he does.

This may seem incredible to those Democrats in Congress already mad at him for criticizing them. The question of civil rights, which includes segregation, has been a political issue many years.

It gives them a chance to ask: "Mr. Butler, you've been in politics 32 years but where have you been?"

Life has not been exactly jolly for the peppery, 54-year-old Indian lawyer since he became his party's chief of staff in 1954. He has pol-shotted at the Republicans ever since. Last week he fired on his own troops. He said the Democrats in Congress are not doing enough and are playing too much ball with President Eisenhower. They responded in various ways, including the suggestion he shut up or get out.

Over the weekend he cut loose with more of the same criticism of Democrats and also accused Eisenhower of saying too little on segregation.

Eisenhower has never said whether he thinks the Supreme Court's 1954 ban on public school segregation is good or bad. Last week he said he thinks segregation is immoral when it interferes with a citizen's political or economic opportunity.

This is another way of saying when it interferes with a Negro's right to vote or earn a living. But Eisenhower still left unsaid whether he thinks the principle of segregation itself is immoral.

At a news conference Butler said Eisenhower didn't go far enough. He said: "Segregation is immoral period."

He was then asked about a story in the Atlanta Constitution which reported that Georgia's Democratic chairman, Jon Sammons Bell, has a pledge from Butler, written on the back of an envelope, that he would not try to make segregation a national issue.

Butler tried to brush aside the story as "old political business."

He said he signed the paper in 1954 when he was elected Democratic chairman; that segregation then was a legal matter "and I did not see any reason to make it a political issue."

He said that was the way he felt about the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation of May 1954. He was named chairman in December 1954. But he added: Through the "force of circumstances" integration has become a major social interest.

"Any problem that affects any segment of the population must become the concern of a political party," he said.

This is where Democrats angry at Butler could point out that by his reasoning — since the Negro segment of the population has been affected by the segregation problem for generations — it has been a political problem a long time.

They could point out — just taking the past 10 years — that it has actually been a very real and explosive political problem particularly in the Democratic party, although Butler didn't seem to think so until recently.

For example: The Southern Democrats' filibusters against civil rights legislation. Their opposition to President Truman's civil rights program which asked a ban on racial discrimination in voting and employment, the two fields in which Eisenhower says segregation is immoral.

The split in the Democratic party in 1948 when Southerners walked out of the convention because of the party's platform plank on civil rights which proclaimed the right of racial and religious minorities to life, work, vote and get full protection of the laws.

Butler could also be reminded of 1952 when he was an original supporter of Adlai Stevenson for president and how the party's platform that year also contained a civil rights plank. By the time the 1956 presidential year came around Butler was condemning the Eisenhower administration for not doing enough on civil rights and promising the civil rights plank in the 1956 Democratic platform would be stronger than in 1952.

Lightning's Odd Impact

Does lightning go from the ground up as well as coming from the clouds to earth?

Something happened in front of Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloxam's home Thursday morning which indicated to him that it does.

"It was sort of a Ripley Believe It or Not," Bloxam said in telling of the incident.

Seems the superintendent had arisen shortly after 5:30 a.m. He was standing at the front window watching the rainfall, a common sight these days. At 5:50 there was a sudden blinding flash of lightning and accompanying thunder which virtually shook the foundations of houses on North Elm St.

Bloxam found his water pressure gone and therein lies the unusual part of the event.

He went out to investigate and found the lightning had struck the six-inch water main beneath the street in front of the house. The lightning had split a section of the pipe for a distance of approximately eight feet.

But the thing which made Bloxam feel that the lightning had come from beneath rather than above is the fact that the pavement over the pipe was bulged up for a distance of about 15 feet.

"This pretty well indicates to me that it started at the ground and went up," he declared.

The situation was so peculiar "because we think of water mains as being good ground," he said. "I had never heard of it," the superintendent continued. "I haven't found anybody who has heard of lightning striking a water main before."

The flash of lightning also burned out a transformer in a radio at the Bloxam home and it burned out the telephone cable.

But it didn't affect the lights. Bloxam said he doesn't even remember them flickering.

After Utilities repairmen had fixed the damaged pipe and turned water back into the system, they reported they saw smoke coming from faucets.

On the Reflector's automatic plate making machine in the press room, there's a water chamber where the plates are cooled before they are taken to the printing press.

The hot printing plates are placed in the chamber, the top closed and a handle pressed to spray them from beneath with water. Of course, if the handle is pressed while the top is opened water goes all over the place.

With that little bit of background information, we give you the following incident.

Pressman Linwood Owens came in the other afternoon. A repairman was standing by the plate making machine. He was all wet. The top was up on the cooling chamber.

The repairman wouldn't tell Owens how he got so wet.

Today Fun Is Bigger

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Do the kids of today have more fun than those of yesterday?

At the risk of giving indignant cramps to a lot of nostalgic old gramps, we vote, "Yes!" Modern children, when it comes to enjoying life, get more kicks out of living for a very simple reason. They have more things to enjoy.

Your average grandpa — say a fellow crowding 65 — likes to brag about how much tougher life was when he was a boy. To hear him tell it, he got up at 4 a.m. every morning and milked a dozen cows before breakfast.

He had to walk five miles to school except in winter. In winter he crawled the five miles through waist-high snowdrifts, carrying his lunch basket in his chattering teeth.

He did endless chores around the house. He helped churn the butter. He started the furnace before dawn and banked it at night. He carried out the ashes. He chopped and brought in firewood for the kitchen stove. He cleaned the stable. He worked from morning until long after dusk.

But if you suggest that he didn't have much fun as a kid, his eyes bug out in quick anger.

"What do you mean I didn't have any fun?" he asks. "Why, we had twice as much fun as these sissy youngsters they're spawning nowadays."

But grandpa's list of home-made joys, when he enumerates them, sounds a little dated now.

Going barefoot, riding the mare bareback in from the fields, collecting toads, making kitchen judo, dunking himself in the old swimming hole, which contained more mud than water.

Come, grandpa, you didn't learn to drive an automobile until you were 30. Today's youngsters are on wheels with their own jalopy at 17, and his dad doesn't dare object if the boy wants to take a cross-country tour with his pals during summer vacation.

You didn't goose-grease your hair and go out on a date until you were 18. Girls were a complete and awesome mystery to you. But now the lads are giving friendship rings to girls at 10, and dating steady at 13.

You were 25 before you could eat your soup in public without feeling self-conscious. But today's kids are social veterans at 15, and by 20 they're regular young Lord Chesterfields, at ease in any company.

The only toy you can remember getting as a boy was a sled. Kids today are surrounded with toys from birth, everything from a dime balloon to a $150 chemistry set.

Nobody made a business out of entertaining you. But trying to keep today's kids entertained is now a major industry in America.

What do you mean you had more fun, grandpa? Maybe you didn't know it, but fun hadn't even been invented when you were a lad. It came along later.

Opinions In Brief

"Seems that, when it comes to crime, a lot depends upon where it happened and the viewpoint."

"The Tallahassee Democrat complained the other day case there by the northern press, particularly by the New York Journal-American. The latter carried an eight-column streamer, 'Terror in Tallahassee. A day later an inter-racial rape case that happened in New York drew a two-column headline on the third page of the New York Mirror."

"Could it be that crime is so rampant in New York, Chicago and some other northern cities that it isn't news any more?" — Ft. Pierce (Fla.) News-Tribune.

"To the ranks of such great liberals as Gov. Williams of Michigan comes Samuel H. Beer, 47-year-old Harvard professor who has just been named national chairman of the American for Democratic Action. Soapy, meet Sucky." — Charleston News and Courier.

Opponents Urge Humphrey To Get Started

WASHINGTON (AP)—His likely competitors waved Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) on today toward a six-months' head start in the official scramble for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

Humphrey's scheduled formal entry into the race a year before the party's nominating convention found none of his potential rivals edging toward the official starting post.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) expressed surprise at Humphrey's early public unveiling of his ambitions. But the Massachusetts senator said this will make no change in his own plans.

Kennedy, who has been unofficially beating the bushes for convention delegates for months, said he will decide at the end of this year or early in 1960 whether he will become an active candidate. Few doubt that he will.

Instead of bolting for the starting gate, Kennedy intends to stop even his indirect campaigning for the summer. With the exception of an Aug. 1 appearance at the Oregon state convention of the AFL-CIO, he said he will fill no more speaking dates until fall.

Friends said neither Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) nor Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas can be expected to announce officially as candidates until their states give them favorite son labels next spring.

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the party presidential nominee, intends to say and do next to nothing about the nomination until convention time. Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan seem likely to remain content with favorite son designations.

Neither Symington nor Johnson is expected to enter any primaries. Kennedy will get into as many of these contests as he can, beginning with New Hampshire's first. If he finds it necessary in order to demonstrate widespread support, Kennedy is likely even to challenge some favorite sons.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.) who joined with Minnesota's Gov. Orville L. Freeman in announcing Humphrey's availability, said he has no doubt Humphrey will enter some of the primaries.

Carthy said Humphrey deserves the nomination because he has "championed great causes, both national and international, with the voice of authority based on detailed knowledge, intelligence and integrity."

"His record on civil rights, agriculture, labor, small business, immigration and foreign affairs is clear and candid," he said.

Need A 'Miracle' For U. S. Exhibit

MOSCOW (AP)—With the opening of the U.S. Exhibition in Moscow by Vice President Richard M. Nixon only 10 days away, the fair grounds still look more like a bomb site than a shiny advertisement of the American way of life.

The staging in Gorki Park is so far from completion it looks as if only a miracle could finish it on time—but Soviet workmen are promising to work the miracle.

Seventy-five young, Russian-speaking Americans, brought over to act as guides at the exhibit, were finding pans immediately on arrival.

Two of the girls were led to hot plates to fix snacks for superintendents and foremen too busy to leave the grounds to eat.

There is plenty of enthusiasm—and optimism—about the outcome.

John C. Folger, U.S. ambassador to Belgium, visited the fair site and predicted the American exhibition here would surpass that at the Brussels World Fair in 1958.

The exhibit is to show off "American life, industry and culture" to the Soviet people as a companion piece to the Soviet exhibition being held in New York.

The framework of the main exhibition hall is still being bolted together but the structure is essentially complete. Some individual exhibits are already in place.

Bulldozers are still tearing up and replacing earth for the landscaping, drain pipes are still being laid. The grounds are a mud patch with no grass.

The Americans are particularly annoyed at Soviet insistence that a network of steel braces be built around the outside of the vast aluminum dome of the main exhibit hall.

The mass of ugly steel bracing takes away much of the airy lightness of the gold-tinted aluminum dome — the architectural centerpiece of the exhibition.

There have been all sorts of aggravating little hitches but the workers generally have shown genuine enthusiasm.

The Soviets refused to allow skilled Finnish carpenters to assemble a prefabricated building made in Finland and insisted on doing the work themselves. The Finns patiently taught the Soviets how to do the job.

Humber Tells Rotary N. C. Starting Historic Period

Sen. Robert Lee Humber, reviewing highlights of the 1959 General Assembly for Greenville Rotarians, said last night, "North Carolina is embarking on the greatest effort in its history."

One of the primary questions before the legislature, he said, was how the state's resources could best be implemented.

Sen. Humber pointed to the 75-cent an hour minimum wage bill, the withholding tax bill, and legislation pertaining to public schools and higher education as among the most important enacted by the General Assembly.

The state's minimum wage bill, he declared, is having significance throughout the nation. It was a controversial piece of legislation, he said, "because it is impossible to bring satisfaction and complete agreement in any changes of the status quo." He added that the minimum wage law is an important step in the economic progress of North Carolina.

The withholding tax, Sen. Humber said, was designed to prevent the levying of any new taxes by the legislature this year.

"It was my own thought that non-recurring revenue such as the windfall from the withholding tax should be spent for non-recurring items such as capital outlay," he told his audience. "Two years hence 27 million dollars, less what is made up through the state's economic growth, will have to be made up from new taxes. I hope the anticipated prosperity will materialize."

Turning to education, Sen. Humber declared the legislature "did not succeed in raising public school teachers' salaries as much as it desired to." He said he was among the group favoring more for teachers, "and I voted to break the budget if possible to get more funds for public education. We must create greater security in teaching in North Carolina. We must see that public education is built to a high level."

Sen. Humber also discussed a bill introduced by him, co-signed by 46 other senators, designed to provide minimum standards for all state-supported institutions of higher learning. Properly implemented, he said, the legislation will eliminate discrepancies in curriculum standards in the state's colleges.

Montana Hunter Loses Fight, Life To Wounded Bear

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—Authorities pieced together a tragic story Monday of how a Missoula hunter lost a battle with a bear.

The hunter's belongings were found near a lonely camp in rugged mountain country northeast of Missoula.

The victim was Sam Adams, 39, who disappeared last Oct. 27 on a hunting trip with two friends.

The two, Ed Hodges, 40, and Calvin Trusty, 52, both of Missoula, had been looking for Adams on weekends ever since. Sunday they found a campsite, with Adams' hat, boots, belt, billfold, socks, knife and broken gun. One boot bore a bear's teeth marks.

Director Charles Schmiedekne of the Missoula Sheriff's Search and Rescue Assn. pieced together this account of Adams' last hours:

The hunter wounded a bear. It charged Adams and wounded him.

Adams made his way to camp and fired two remaining cartridges in an effort to summon help.

The bear invaded the campsite. Adams tried to fight it off with his empty rifle, but the bear won.

Stripper Quits To 'Stick By' Friend

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Stripper Barbara Bennett, who says she knows figures and is looking for a bookkeeping job, intends to stick by her accused boy friend "come hell or high water."

Barbara, 19, buzzed up to the Houston police station Monday after a motorcycle trip from Danville, Ill., to boost the sagging spirits of Grover Lee Baker, also 19.

Baker, a former auto firm clerk who disappeared last April 22 on a bank deposit errand, awaits trial on charges of taking $3,020 in cash and $23,741 in checks from the motor company. Police recovered the checks and said he told them he spent the cash. He was arrested last week.

Miss Bennett, who says she has performed under the stage names of Pammy and St. Louis Pat, said her stripping days are over if Baker goes to prison. "There are plenty of waitress jobs and I'm a good bookkeeper. I know figures," she said.

E. Jane Murray Going To August Music Convention

E. Jane Murray of Roxboro, president of the East Carolina College Chapter of the honorary music sorority Sigma Alpha Iota, will represent the college chapter here at the national convention of the organization in San Francisco August 6-10.

Sigma Alpha Iota at East Carolina has a membership of 32 carefully selected students who maintain high scholastic records in music.

Miss Murray has been a member of Sigma Alpha Iota at East Carolina for the past two years, last year served as vice president of the chapter, and will head the group as president during the 1959-1960 term.

Last year she was student director of the East Carolina College Choir, soloist in the campus performance of Handel's "The Messiah" and with the East Carolina College Orchestra in its spring concert, and had a leading role in the production of Smetana's "The Bartered Bride" by the Opera Workshop of the college.

She is among a small group of students chosen by the college music faculty to give senior honors recitals during the coming school year.

Cubans Flee In Hijacked Plane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Four Cuban servicemen fled here Monday by hijacking a Fidel Castro air force plane with 17 persons aboard.

They predicted more Cubans will follow them into exile because of rising Communist influence at home.

The Cuban air force mechanics used pistols to persuade a pilot to land them in Miami. They said their plane had been bound for Camaguey with reinforcements and ammunition.

The quartet was paroled for a hearing on their petitions for political asylum. The pilot was allowed to fly the plane and its other 11 occupants back to Havana.

Candido Baldrich Gonzalez, 39, Ezequiel Paula Viamontes, 30, Silvia Aquila Entenza, 31, and Homero Garcia Perera, 30, said they decided to hijack the two-engine C47 "rather than see our own people killed by the bullets and rockets we were carrying."

The defectors said that anti-Castro elements were building up in the central Cuba hills around Camaguey and that eight rockets and 42 boxes of 20-millimeter shells on the plane were destined for use against these groups.

The fugitives said they are anti-Communist followers of Major Pedro Diaz Lanz, former Cuban air force chief who fled Cuba July 1 after charging the Communists have infiltrated Castro's forces.

Garcia said "the government is afraid that Cuban pilots will steal planes and leave the country, so today most of the pilots in the Cuban air force are from Chile, Nicaragua or Venezuela."

New Outfielders For Satellites

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—Two more "outfielders" have been added to a satellite team that will attempt to recover an instrumented capsule from Discoverer V.

The ships Dalton Victory and Haiti Victory, now outfitting in Hawaiian waters, will be part of the group of planes and ships waiting to snag the capsule from Discoverer V, expected to be launched soon from Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Air Force planes will attempt to catch the capsule as it descends by parachute. If they fail, the Victory ships will attempt to fish the capsule from the ocean.

The United States Weather Bureau has been administered by the Department of Agriculture since 1891.

Teen-er League All-Stars Announced

Williams, Musial Will Stick Around

NEW YORK (AP)—If Ted Williams and Stan Musial, two of the greatest hitters of our time, decide to call it quits at the end of the 1959 season, it will not be because they feel they no longer can hit big league pitching.

The two future Hall of Famers made it plain in interviews during the All-Star break in Pittsburgh they are far from washed up, as has been indicated in some quarters.

The 40-year-old Williams, fiercely proud of his reputation as the most feared hitter in baseball for the past 16 years, refused to subscribe to the theory of slowed reflexes, lost timing and inability to cope with the new crop of fine young pitchers in the American League.

"I don't believe that hogwash," he said. "It's not the pitchers at all who are responsible for my failure to hit. And it's not my age either. It's that damn neck of mine."

"I don't like to talk about it because those newspaper wise guys will accuse me of alibiing and I've never alibied in my life. But this thing is killing me."

Handicapped by a neck condition which sidelined him the first month of the season, Ted got off to the worst start of his career and was hitting a microscopic .217 at All-Star game time.

"I've been hitting a little better in the past two weeks," he said, "but it's going to be a real battle for me to hit .300."

In 16 seasons, Ted has never hit below .317 and owns a lifetime mark of .349.

Had he given any serious consideration to hanging up his spikes?

"Well, I don't want to make any decision now," he said. "It all depends upon this neck of mine. If it comes around, I see no reason to quit. The weather should have a lot to do with it. The doctors seem to think that's all I need—warm weather. I'll let you know."

New Orleans — Henry Hank, 159½, Detroit, stopped Neal Rivers, 160½, Las Vegas, Nev. 2:40 of 10th.

San Jose, Calif. — Eddie Chavez, 139½, Portland, Ore., outpointed Kildo Nunes, 138, Tijuana, Mexico (10).

Tijuana, Mexico — Gaspar Ortega, 147, Tijuana, outpointed Ray Terrazas, 146, El Paso, Tex. (10).

Playoff Time

The Jaycees, first half winners, and the Lions, second half winners, opened their two out of three game playoff series yesterday with the Lions taking the first tilt, 4-2.

The Lions scored all their runs in the fifth inning after being held to only two hits by John Flanagan over the first four innings.

Ray Hudson had a homer to contribute to the Lions big rally. His blow came with the bases empty.

The second game of the series was slated for today, weather permitting and the third, if necessary, for Wednesday. All games will begin at 5:00.

The Elks won the Tar Heel League without a play-off as they won both halves of their loop.

1st Place Race Tight; Bulls Gain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A split doubleheader Monday night did exactly nothing to settle the tight race between Raleigh and Wilson for the Carolina League first place.

The Caps took the opener, 2-1, but the Tobs retaliated with a 9-4 victory in the finale. The results left the Raleigh team still ahead by a half-game margin.

Durham got better mileage out of its twin bill with Alamance. The Bulls made it seven wins in a row by beating the Indians twice, 2-1 and 5-1. Gaining a full game on the two leaders, third-place Durham pulled to within five games of first.

Winston-Salem defeated Greensboro, 10-5. Chuck Behrens, on the mound for the Red Birds, gave up eight hits.

Warren Hodgdon allowed four hits for Wilson batters in winning the opener for Raleigh. In the second game, eight errors by the Caps was a strong factor for the Wilson victory.

Larry Foster and Dickie Smallwood provided the sterling pitching for Durham's pair of wins. Foster gave up two hits, and Smallwood hurled a one-hitter.

Games tonight: Winston-Salem at Wilson, Greensboro at Burlington, Durham at Raleigh.

Title Rematch Might Go To LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An American Legion official says he thinks Los Angeles has a good chance of landing the Ingemar Johansson - Floyd Patterson rematch.

Pittenger, director of special events for the Legion's County Council, said Monday night that promoter Bill Rosensohn has given the Legion a 10-day option to sponsor the heavyweight title fight.

"I feel we are very much in the running," Pittenger said. "He (Rosensohn) believes the rematch would do three million dollars either in the Coliseum or the Rose Bowl. It would probably cost one million to put it on."

Matthews' Bat, Spahn's Tosses; They Beat Giants

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves have found a simple formula for handling the ambitious San Francisco Giants. Just mix the slugging of mighty Eddie Matthews and the pitching of Warren Spahn or Lew Burdette.

The Braves bounced back into second place, a half game behind San Francisco, by defeating the Giants 3-0 Monday night on the long ball by Matthews and Spahn's 46th shutout in the National League.

Matthews crashed his 27th homer while Spahn followed up Burdette's neat pitching Sunday to enable the Braves to sweep the two-game series at County Stadium.

"Matthews did it for Buddy Lew, so he had to do it for me, too," Spahn said. "But he got three RBI on his homer Sunday. He only got two Monday night."

The homer by Matthews with Johnny O'Brien on base in the third inning was his sixth off San Francisco pitching this season. Five of the blasts have sent across deciding runs for Milwaukee.

The Braves collected only three hits off San Francisco's Sam Jones in seven innings, but Matthews' homer enabled Spahn to collect his 11th victory — and No. 257 of his career — with a six hitter.

Spahn, a 38-year-old veteran who needs only nine more victories to equal Eppa Rixey's all-time mark for southpaws in the league, was at his best in defeating the Giants for the third time this year.

He struck out four and didn't walk a man.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching — Warren Spahn, Braves, allowed only six singles, walked none and struck out four for 3-0 victory over Giants that pulled Braves within .002 percentage points of first place San Francisco.

Hitting — Frank Robinson, Reds, was 4-for-5 and drove in three runs with a pair of homers that twice produced leads in 13-5 victory over the Dodgers.

New Champion Has Pulled Muscle

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Military Hospital doctors said today that Jose Becerra, new world bantamweight boxing champion, is suffering from a pulled muscle in his right thigh.

His manager, Pancho Rosales, said this "will keep us from complying with the contract clause for a return match in 90 days" with Alphonse Halimi of France.

Becerra won the title by knocking out Halimi in the eighth round of their bout at Los Angeles last Wednesday. Rosales did not say what extension of the return match period he might ask.

'Telling Days' Say Sad Words To Tigers, Yanks

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The "10 telling days" are over in the American League race, and if they failed to tell the whole story, they told a horror tale for the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees.

It all began June 30, when the Cleveland Indians were first by one game over the Chicago White Sox. Baltimore was third, 2½ games back; Detroit and New York were tied for fourth, trailing by four games.

In the 10 playing dates over that span—during which two of the three western confederers, Cleveland, Chicago and Detroit, were at each other's throat every day—Cleveland came off with an 8-4 record. So did the White Sox, still second and a game behind after splitting two games with the Indians.

The Injuns and White Sox moved in tandem, but the point is—they moved, picking up two games on Baltimore and 3½ on both Detroit and New York. The Orioles were 6-6 for the 10 days, the Tigers and Yankees each 5-8.

The Yankees, confused, bothered and bewildering defending champions, have lost five straight—all at Boston. The Red Sox pulled off the five-day sweep in the only game scheduled Monday with a 13-3 send-off that chased the champs home for an eight-game stand against Cleveland and Chicago.

In the National League, Milwaukee whipped San Francisco 3-0.

Ambitious Grid Slate For ECC

(Editors Note: This is the second of a series of articles concerning the Pirates Club at East Carolina College.)

With the addition of Albright College, of Reading, Pennsylvania, the 1959 home football schedule for the East Carolina College Pirates has been completed.

In addition to Albright, the Pirates home schedules Elon, (Homecoming), Lenoir-Rhyne, Appalachian, and Apperentia—a truly ambitious schedule. In fact the total athletic program is expanding at a tremendous rate. At present, ECC competes on an inter-collegiate level in football, basketball, baseball, swimming, golf, tennis, and track. Opponents in most of these sports come from the Southern and Atlantic Conference Institutions. So you see, the college is moving up. The past season witnessed the second N.A.I.A. Swimming Championship in the last three years. ECC baseball's team won the North State Conference Championship with a 14-0 record. The Pirates retained the Tennis championship. Fans feel encouraged about the basketball and football prospects for the coming season, (more about this later).

In order to carry-on, the Pirates Club continued support of all members. Thus, soon—as in the past Pirates Club memberships will be mailed to all old members. It is hoped the response will be the greatest ever. Address correspondence to the Athletic Office, Pirates Club, East Carolina College.

Returned the Bike COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Alfred Guy, 21, escaped from jail Friday on the bicycle of the sheriff's daughter. Monday, Sheriff Harold Knapp got a letter from Guy wishing him "the best of luck" and saying the bike had been left in a parking lot. They found it there all right. They're still looking for Guy, who was serving a 180-day sentence for driving an unregistered vehicle.

3-0 on Warren Spahn's six-hit pitching and Ed Mathews' two-run homer, reclaiming second place and closing within .002 percentage points of the first place Giants. Los Angeles, a game behind, slipped from second to third with a 13-5 loss at Cincinnati in the only other game scheduled.

The Red Sox, frolicking through the Yankee series with 58 hits and 50 runs, put away the sweep with a four-run first inning, then chucked through a nine-run sixth—their biggest inning of the season.

Jackie Jensen's three-run homer, his 20th, triggered the first inning against loser Don Larsen after the Yankees had taken a 2-0 lead on Yogi Berra's 10th home run.

Jensen, who had a double and scored three runs, also forced in a run with a bases-loaded walk for four RBI. He has 10-for-19 with 10 RBI in the series.

Frank Sullivan, the winner in the series opener, took the finale for a 6-3 record, breezing in although allowing 10 hits. He struck out seven.

Larsen (6-4) now has lost three in a row and four of his last five decisions.

Curry Stars In Doubleheader

Jessel Curry offered his pitching services to Carolina Dairy for their out-of-town tilts with Carolina Mobile Homes of Fayetteville and the strong right-hander saved the first game of a doublebill and then won the second.

Curry came on in the final inning of the first tilt to save a 4-3 victory for Haywood Outland and then threw a three-hitter to down the visitors 6-4 in the nightcap.

The local club piled up four runs in the first two innings to take the opener although the visitors were consistently chopping off the margin before Curry came on to finish up.

Ike Riddick and Tom Boyd had two hits each to pace the win while Tyson delivered a double for the visitors' only damaging blow.

Although pitching a three-hitter and striking out nine, Curry and his crew trailed in the second game until the fourth when the Dairy exploded for four runs. A homer by Curry highlighted the rally.

Brownie Tripp had two doubles to pace the offense along with Curry who added a double to his second game appearance.

Fayetteville 101-10-3 Carolina Dairy 220-08-4 Hedrick and Milton; Outland, Curry (5th) and Dash.

Carolina Dairy 020-40-6 Fayetteville 111-01-4 Curry and Dash; Arnett, Hedrick (4) and Peele.

MAN WHO MISSED THE MOON

by EDMOND HAMILTON

Star of Science Fiction, The Star of Life, published by World Books, Inc., New York, N. Y.

CHAPTER 18

Two clean-cut young men in black uniforms entered Kirk Hammond's room. Hammond knew that the emblem of clustered golden disks which they wore was the insignia of the Federated Suns government. And since Vramen had no official part in the government, these must be Hoomen.

One of them said quietly, "Please come. We are to take you to your trial."

Hammond shrugged and went with them.

There was a small crowd in the corridor—a half-dozen other uniformed men, and all the men and women of Jon Wilson's band, with Rab Quobba's massive head towering above everyone. Hammond went to them.

"Wilson—Iva—you're all right? I was afraid."

The words trailed into silence. Jon Wilson was looking at him with a stony hostility. Gurth Lund looked as though he wanted to kill him. Even Quobba and Tamm avoided his gaze and Iva stared unhappily at the floor.

"Look," said Hammond. "I know what you're thinking. I don't blame you for feeling that way. But please—"

A guard officer came up to him. "You can't talk here. The court is waiting."

They were marched quietly along the corridor and into a small metal room that proved to be a lift which was suddenly downward with breathtaking speed. Hammond found himself beside Iva Wilson.

"Iva, don't they realize that Thayne Marden tricked me, that I didn't do it purposely?"

She glanced at him briefly, then away again. "They say you did it deliberately—that you betrayed us all for Thayne Marden."

The lift stopped and they were led from it into a large and austere beautiful hall. There was a large audience of men and women in the place, sitting in semi-circular rows. Upon a dais facing them sat a man wearing the clustered-suns emblem of the Federated Suns.

Hammond saw no jury, no provision for attorneys, nothing else like a Twentieth Century court. He did see, on one of the front row seats, Thayne Marden sitting with three men.

"The damned Vramen are here to see that we get our proper punishment," he heard Rab Quobba mutter to Tamm.

As Hammond and his fellow prisoners were led to stand directly under the dais of the judge, he heard a murmur of voices from the spectators and became suddenly aware that everyone was looking at him. Apparently news of his strange history had spread.

Even the Hooman judge, a stern-faced, middle-aged man, examined him with a keen and particular interest. Then he spoke to them all.

"You are charged with the offense of attempting to construct an illegal star-ship. During this activity and as a direct result of it, you caused the deaths of two Vramen, whose patrol flier you destroyed by means of a vortice-gun, an illegal weapon. You further put with extreme injury a third Vramen."

He picked up a sheaf of papers. "These are the official encephalogram records of your minds. You have had a chance to examine them. Do you protest any part of these records?"

Jon Wilson, bitter-eyed, said, "We will not protest the records."

The judge looked at Thayne. "Thayne Marden, as the person bringing the charge against the accused, you also have been permitted to examine the records. Do you protest any part of them?"

"I do not," Thayne answered.

It became apparent to Hammond from the speed with which all this was carried through that it was a mere legal formality, that no one expected the encephalogram findings to be challenged.

How could you challenge a precise, scientific recording of a man's mind? In this super-modern court there was no place for lawyers and legal tricks.

The judge was speaking again to the prisoners. "You knew that you were breaking a basic law of the Federated Suns when you attempted to build an unauthorized star-ship. You know that this government long ago entered into an agreement with the Vramen providing that no starship would be built or licensed without the incorporation into it of their Restrictive Control device."

Wilson answered that, with harsh passion. "We do not recognize that agreement as binding on all Hoomen for all time to come. We see no reason why the Vramen should hold such restrictive power merely to bar us from attaining the long life they enjoy."

"The validity of our agreement with the Vramen is not in question here," said the judge. "It was made freely, as a small return for all the benefits the Vramen have conferred upon humanity. By breaking it, by using violence and forming hostility toward the Vramen, you have committed a crime of state. Since you can offer no extenuating circumstances, and since you have not protested the probe records, your guilt is beyond dispute. You are sentenced to life on the penal planet of Spica."

With quiet dignity Jon Wilson said, "We expected no other judgment."

"Our sentence applies to all the defendants except the one named Kirk Hammond," said the judge.

"I understand that the Vramen representatives here wish to ask for commutations of his sentence."

He looked at Thayne Marden. The Vramen woman rose.

"That was our intention," she said, "but the man Kirk Hammond has utterly refused his cooperation, so we withdraw the request."

The judge looked down at Hammond, frowning. "That is unfortunate. Your history is known, and as a man cast by almost miraculous chance from your far past age into our time you would ordinarily be an admired and honored guest among us. But you have conspired with these others in full knowledge that you were breaking our laws. Only if the Vramen representatives request it can I suspend your sentence."

"We are still quite willing to make the request if the man Hammond will agree to aid our historical researches," Thayne said calmly.

The judge said earnestly to Hammond, "You would advise you to comply with that request?"

Hammond looked across at Thayne. He felt full of rage, against her for putting him into this position, against the Vramen for arrogating to themselves the space he had helped to conquer, against the whole universe for trapping him in this intolerable exile from his own world and time. And all of his frustrated rage and resentment came out in his answer.

"I'm damned if I will!"

"Then you must serve your sentence on Kuun, the penal planet of Spica," said the judge. "You will not be released unless you change your mind and agree to do as the Vramen ask."

Hammond walked out of the courtroom with the others, in a curious state of shock.

It had all happened so fast and so smoothly that he had trouble realizing that he had actually been sentenced to a life term in prison.

Kirk Hammond will be made to realize that "A man who loves a Vramen woman cannot be trusted." Continue the story tomorrow.

Operation Not As Bad As Lost Pet

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—For little Carla Cox, the prospect of a second corrective operation on her eyes was bad enough, but the loss of her Pomeranian dog, Yo-Yo, was worse.

Yo-Yo strayed away when the 4-year-old was brought to a hospital here last week.

Her father, E. L. Cox Jr., of North Wilkesboro, appealed to the Greensboro DAILY NEWS. "If only we could be able to tell her before the operation that Yo-Yo had come home," Cox said.

The story and a picture appeared in the paper Monday morning. Greensboro policeman C. Robert called Cox before 7 a. m. to say he had found the dog.

That cheered Carla considerably. Then doctors gave her some more good news. They decided the first operation two weeks ago was so successful that another was not necessary.

Russian Exhibit Has Its Hidden 'Surprises'

By JOHN BARBOUR

Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—This device is Soviet in idea and manufacture. You probably can't buy one anywhere else in the world. Unless you're a scientist, you may not care.

But this ultra-sensitive sort of a king-sized Geiger counter is one of the hidden surprises of the Soviet exhibit at the New York Coliseum.

Many of the visitors to the Soviet science display look at it in puzzlement, concluding that it is either a small rocket, an atom bomb or a hot water heater.

It is labeled mysteriously as "spontaneous fission counter."

Dr. Lyle Borst, New York University nuclear physicist, was asked by The Associated Press for an evaluation of the Soviet Scientific and Technological Exhibit.

He singled out the strange-looking invention. It is, he said, one of the few original pieces of Soviet research at the science exhibit.

The Soviet exhibit, a scientist, explained that the device measured the rate in which atoms of uranium split all by themselves. The figures he quoted raised Borst's eyebrows.

On one of the element, Thorium, U.S. measurements were more than a thousand times of the Soviet measurements. If the figures are correct, U.S. scientists could be relying on information badly in error.

Borst's fission counter, the Soviets showed off a difficult to design but highly efficient telescope and a compact device that can prepare ultra-thin slices for microscopic slides.

These were the most original of the Soviet exhibits, Borst said. The Soviets also showed in a quiet way a device that converts the hot flame of a kerosene stove into enough electricity to operate a radio.

The small device is especially useful in remote areas where no other power source is available. It uses about a cupful of kerosene an hour. Borst said that about seven per cent of the kerosene's energy is converted into electricity by the device.

Using sunlight and atomic sources of heat, the United States also has devices that generate electricity.

They are based, as the Soviet devices are, on two metal plates. One metal plate collects electrons, and one metal plate spits them out. When the two plates, joined together, are heated, they change. The one that liked electrons, and collected them, suddenly begins to expel them. The other metal plate begins to collect them. The movement of the electrons generates electricity.

For the new visitor, the most impressive sight must be the gigantic final stage rocket that propelled Mecha into orbit around the sun. It's about as big as a small car, and is of course only a small part of the total rocket.

MORE
You get the idea that the Soviets are saying: "This is only the tail. You should see the size of the dog."

Most of the exhibits Borst had seen at the Brussels Worlds Fair. The Soviet nuclear energy exhibit was the hardest to evaluate.

Will Investigate Airport Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency has announced it will investigate reports of widespread confusion on the ground during preparations for landing a crippled jet airliner.

At the same time the Port of New York Authority, which runs Idlewild Airport, said the same thing is bound to happen again.

The Port Authority reported that 50,000 thrill-seekers headed for the airport when news bulletins on television and radio disclosed that the airliner, with 113 persons aboard, was circling the field and would make an emergency landing with damaged landing gear.

After four hours the big Pan American World Airways plane came down safely early Sunday. The pilot said later that the 4,000 people near the runway were the biggest menace he had to face. He said hundreds could have been killed if the airliner had overrun the crowd.

The federal investigation was announced by James T. Pyle, deputy FAA administrator, in Washington Monday. "I was disturbed to hear that so many people were allowed on the runway. It sounds like bad management and we will look into it," he said.

Joseph D. Blatt, FAA regional administrator, demanded a guarantee against any recurrence. But Executive Director Austin J. Tobin of the Port authority had said: "No one could keep the 50,000 people off the field. No police force in the world could have kept them back."

"The exact type of emergency can happen again and will happen again."

Meanwhile officials were still trying to determine what caused the landing gear damage to the big Boeing 707 during takeoff.

Price Boost For DC8 Jetliners

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Prices on five models of DC8 Douglas jetliners will be increased up to 10 per cent after Aug. 15.

Douglas Aircraft Co. announced Monday that the increases on the five-million-dollar planes resulted from higher labor and material costs.

Russian Exhibit Has Its Hidden 'Surprises'

By JOHN BARBOUR

Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—This device is Soviet in idea and manufacture. You probably can't buy one anywhere else in the world. Unless you're a scientist, you may not care.

But this ultra-sensitive sort of a king-sized Geiger counter is one of the hidden surprises of the Soviet exhibit at the New York Coliseum.

Many of the visitors to the Soviet science display look at it in puzzlement, concluding that it is either a small rocket, an atom bomb or a hot water heater.

It is labeled mysteriously as "spontaneous fission counter."

Dr. Lyle Borst, New York University nuclear physicist, was asked by The Associated Press for an evaluation of the Soviet Scientific and Technological Exhibit.

He singled out the strange-looking invention. It is, he said, one of the few original pieces of Soviet research at the science exhibit.

The Soviet exhibit, a scientist, explained that the device measured the rate in which atoms of uranium split all by themselves. The figures he quoted raised Borst's eyebrows.

On one of the element, Thorium, U.S. measurements were more than a thousand times of the Soviet measurements. If the figures are correct, U.S. scientists could be relying on information badly in error.

Borst's fission counter, the Soviets showed off a difficult to design but highly efficient telescope and a compact device that can prepare ultra-thin slices for microscopic slides.

These were the most original of the Soviet exhibits, Borst said. The Soviets also showed in a quiet way a device that converts the hot flame of a kerosene stove into enough electricity to operate a radio.

The small device is especially useful in remote areas where no other power source is available. It uses about a cupful of kerosene an hour. Borst said that about seven per cent of the kerosene's energy is converted into electricity by the device.

Using sunlight and atomic sources of heat, the United States also has devices that generate electricity.

They are based, as the Soviet devices are, on two metal plates. One metal plate collects electrons, and one metal plate spits them out. When the two plates, joined together, are heated, they change. The one that liked electrons, and collected them, suddenly begins to expel them. The other metal plate begins to collect them. The movement of the electrons generates electricity.

For the new visitor, the most impressive sight must be the gigantic final stage rocket that propelled Mecha into orbit around the sun. It's about as big as a small car, and is of course only a small part of the total rocket.

MORE
You get the idea that the Soviets are saying: "This is only the tail. You should see the size of the dog."

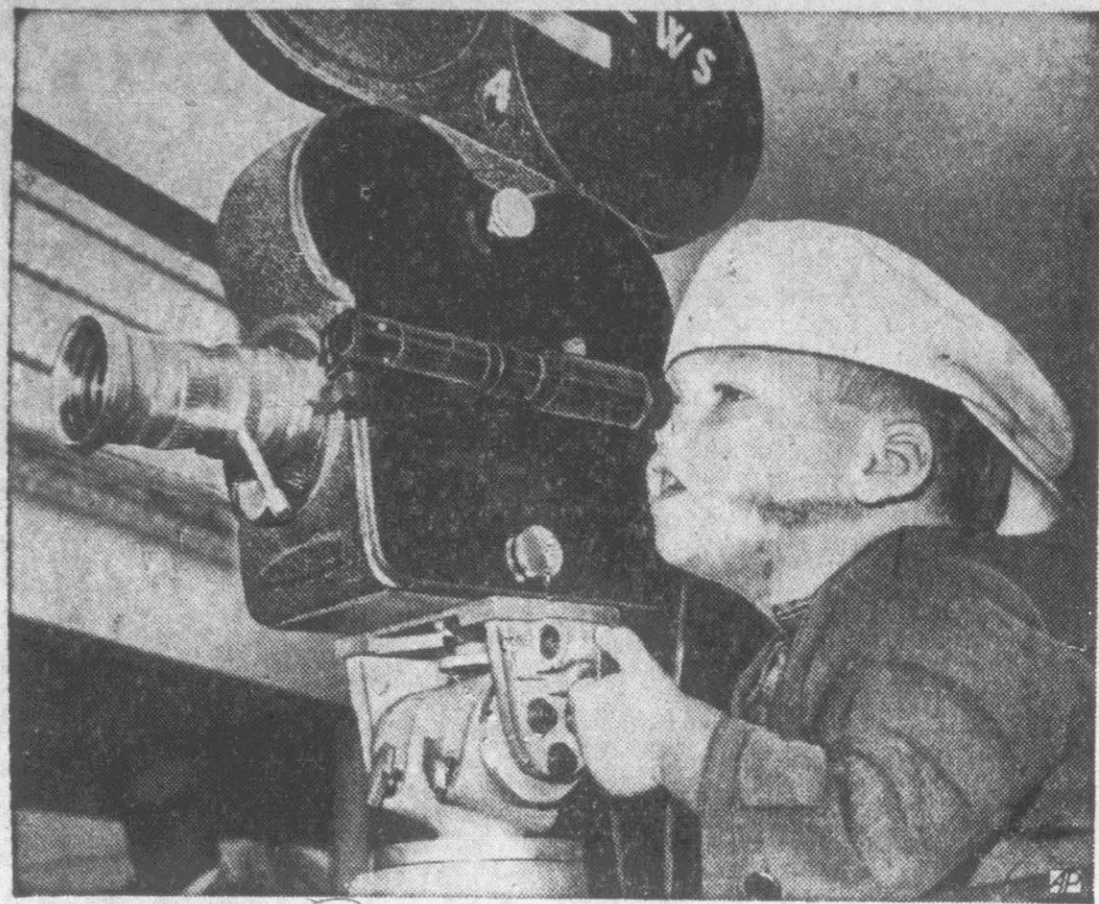

Most of the exhibits Borst had seen at the Brussels Worlds Fair. The Soviet nuclear energy exhibit was the hardest to evaluate.

Will Investigate Airport Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency has announced it will investigate reports of widespread confusion on the ground during preparations for landing a crippled jet airliner.

At the same time the Port of New York Authority, which runs Idlewild Airport, said the same thing is bound to happen again.

The Port Authority reported that 50,000 thrill-seekers headed for the airport when news bulletins on television and radio disclosed that the airliner, with 113 persons

Young People Anxious To Learn Practical Politics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Youngsters may soon be hanging from the chandeliers in the office of bachelor representative Ken Hechler (D-W.Va.).

Girls from Wellesley and Stephens College, from Cornell University and Washington's Western High School, and boys from Swarthmore, Williams College and the University of North Carolina are getting in the ways of juniors from West Virginia's fourth Congressional District high schools.

They're even crowding Hechler out of his private office, but he isn't complaining because it was his idea.

Hechler's two - room business suite in the old House Office Building is doubling as a school for practical politics.

The 14 people now occupying Hechler's offices share desks, tables, typewriters and what Hechler wistfully calls his private office.

The unpaid students perform such jobs as typing, filing correspondence, preparing press releases, clipping newspapers, greeting visitors, guiding sightseeing tours, conducting research, and advising the boss on legislation.

Most of them are "interns" who come to Washington in organized and supervised groups to see what makes their government tick. They stay from a week to several months.

The one-week "interns" are students who have won contests sponsored by Hechler in the high schools of his district. A new boy and a new girl arrive each week. All are juniors, the idea being to put to good use in their senior year the knowledge gained in Hechler's office.

Hechler pays their train fare both ways, provides free housing, usually with a West Virginia family living in the Washington area, and gives them $20 for food and incidentals. He estimates it costs him about $1,200 every summer out of his own pocket.

The day usually starts off at 8:30 a.m. with a staff meeting. Ideas are exchanged and assignments handed out. Hechler presides.

The day ends around 5 p.m. It's not all work for the high school juniors, for they get some time off for guided visits to the House and Senate chambers, the Supreme Court and the Library of Congress.

After 5 p.m., Hechler, 45, a former professor of political science, is serving his first term in Congress.

"These kids have plenty on the ball," he said. "They think things out and come up with sound and constructive suggestions. If they think I'm wrong on some legislation, they won't hesitate to tell me about it. They know the score."

Paroled After 12 Years Outside Life Feels Good

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Sam Thompson sampled life outside prison today, visiting relatives and friends.

"It feels good to be out. I've been working for 12 years now for nothing, and I've got a chance to start working for money," he said Monday when he left Central Prison in Raleigh on parole.

Thompson, 32, said he wasn't bitter over the time he served. He first confessed to a murder, but later changed his story. A State Bureau of Investigation probe supported his second version.

"I don't hold any bitterness against anybody because it was about half my fault anyway," explained the sad-eyed, heavy set man.

Lemuel Parrott of Kinston was sentenced to die for the murder of Kenneth Taylor, an elderly bakery worker, as the result of Thompson's first confession.

When Thompson repudiated the story, Parrott won a new trial and acquittal. Nothing was done to change Thompson's 30-year sentence.

The confession he now claims was a fake was made as a result of tactics used by two policemen.

Even with the time he served, Thompson doesn't figure he came off too badly. Five serious charges pending against him have been dropped. "I believe if I had been tried for the five charges against me, I'd have gotten more time than the time I served for nothing," he said.

After his visit here, Thompson will return to Raleigh. He was paroled in the custody of Paroles Chairman George Randall and a job will be waiting for him.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LAND NORTH CAROLINA

Gas Tax Refunds Up 4 1/2% This Year

RALEIGH (AP)—There'll be a 4 1/2 per cent increase this year in the gasoline tax money refunded to North Carolina cities and towns for work on non-highway streets.

Checks from the $6,646,091 kitty, representing one-half cent per gallon of the state gasoline tax, will go out early in October, the State Highway Dept. said Monday. Municipalities have until July 20 to get in their applications.

Thus far, 410 cities and towns have put in their bids. The total of 407 for last year may be further exceeded, since six towns have incorporated during the year.

Children's Books Being Exhibited

An exhibition of 600 new and recent books for children is now being displayed in the Joyner Memorial Library at East Carolina College and will continue through July 17. Parents, teachers, librarians, young readers, and others who are interested are invited to visit the exhibition.

The collection of library books breaks down into some 31 subject categories and covers all grades from kindergarten to high school. Subjects range from arts and biography to science and religion, from adventure and aeronautics to picture books and social studies. Fiction represented divides into 15 sub-categories.

A feature of the exhibition is an annotated, graded, indexed catalog, which lists by grade every book in the collection. The catalog is available for free distribution to teachers, librarians, and other school people.

'Miss Wool' Now Is 'Mrs. Wool'

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—Miss Wool isn't a miss any more, and officials of the National Wool Pageant here are wondering what to do next.

Miss Beverly Bentley of Albuquerque, N.M., the current Miss Wool, disclosed Monday she is now Mrs. Kenneth McCormick of El Paso, Tex.

Pageant rules call for Miss Wool to reign over the August pageant until a new Miss Wool is chosen from candidates entered by more than a dozen wool producing states.

Officials say they will have to decide whether to replace her with last year's runnerup, Miss Miriam LaCour of Raywood, Tex., or let Mrs. McCormick reign as Mrs. Wool.

CAUGHT ON BRINK

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Police caught two boys wading into the water on the brink of Niagara Falls Monday night to retrieve good luck pennies tossed by tourists. The boys, whose name were withheld, were turned over to their parents. They had collected 34 cents.

POLIO DEATHS

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Paralytic polio has claimed the lives of two New Haven infants. They are the first reported polio deaths in Connecticut this year.

Crane To Catch Dummy Missiles

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—The Navy has disclosed a giant floating crane which will catch dummy Polaris missiles used in underwater test launchings and permit them to be used again and again.

The crane, called Operation Fishhook, will save "many millions of dollars," the U.S. Naval Ordnance test station said.

Chief exports of Iran are petroleum, opium and lambskins.

Eggs — Prices paid producers for clean, sized, minimum 90 percent A quality: Charlotte and Raleigh about steady, large 30; prices paid on graded out basis: Asheville slightly weaker, A large 39.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tonight's steel strike deadline put the stock market in a cautious mood early this afternoon. Prices were narrowly uneven.

Trading was moderately active as most key stocks showed narrow changes, most of them well within a point.

Some trading interest rotated to the aircrafts and this group displayed a string of moderate gains. Aluminum advanced.

A handful of more speculative secondary issues also got a bit of a play. Gains among some of the more flashy chemicals and electronics went to 3 or 4 points.

Most of the major steels were lower. Rails were mixed. Motors showed little change except for the smaller automakers. Airlines had minor plus signs. Most oils and coppers were lower.

American Motors was up about a point.

Fractional losses were posted for Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin. U.S. Steel managed a slight gain.

The revival of aircrafts was highlighted by gains of around a point by North American Aviation and Douglas.

Reynolds Metals added more than 2. Kaiser Aluminum was ahead well over a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 10 cents to $231.40 with the industrials down 30 cents, the rails unchanged and the utilities up 10 cents.

U.S. government bonds were steady.

Wins Award For Photo Series

Photographer Roy Hardee has won an honorable mention award for a series of pictures which appeared in the Daily Reflector.

The series, showing a woman heckler during the Harriet-Henderson strike, took an award in Region Six (southern) of the National Press Photographers' Association photo contest. Awards are made monthly for the best published pictures.

Winning in the monthly contests carries points toward selection as Southern Photographer of the Year.

Announcement of the win was made by Fletcher Moore, Region Six Chairman.

It is believed to be the first time that a series of pictures has won in the contest. Usually single pictures are declared winners.

The series of four candid shots of the heckler were taken when the National Guard moved in to keep order at the Henderson strike scene.

State Docks At Wilmington Not Able Meet Rush

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — The flow of general cargo has congested state ports at Wilmington and made it necessary to divert some ships to private docks.

This report on operations over the past two months was given Monday by Executive Director D. Leon Williams at a meeting of the State Ports Authority.

In contrast, he said, activity has been slow at Morehead City ports. Signs of picking up have been noted recently, Williams added.

A construction budget calling for $500,000 work at Wilmington and $357,400 at Morehead City was approved by the Authority. The money, made available by the 1959 Legislature, will provide 80,000 square feet new warehouse space at Wilmington and 60,000 square feet at Morehead City.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Johnny Baker, Havre De Grace, Md., Mrs. E. C. Eason, Maclefield, Mrs. William Dunn, and Mrs. Ben (Junior) Thigpen, Fountain, and Miss Maxine Horton of the home. Also surviving are three sons, J. Floyd Horton, Fountain, Archie W. Horton, Maclefield and George W. Horton, Silver Springs, Md.

N. C. Board Frowns Upon AEC Waste Dump Proposal

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — The State Board of Conservation and Development today prepared to end its summer meeting, after opposing the dumping of radioactive wastes in North Carolina off-shore waters.

In a telegram to Tar Heel members of Congress, the board Monday urged steps to prevent dumping of radioactive materials in any form or manner in any area that would adversely affect either commercial or sport fishing on any part of the North Carolina coast.

A spot off the North Carolina coast is one of 11 ocean dumping grounds for atomic wastes proposed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

A compromise to end a fuss between commercial and sports fishermen won approval of the board's commercial fisheries committee Monday.

The compromise would make it illegal to set gill nets, pound nets, or to pull seines in the area between the Albemarle Sound highway bridge and the Norfolk-Southern Railroad bridge, five miles to the west, for the purpose of taking shad, rock, herring and other commercial fish between April 25 and July 1.

It also would make it illegal to set gill nets in the Chowan River from March 1 to Sept. 1 for taking shad, rock, herring and other commercial fish and to set pound nets or pull seines in the Chowan River from April 25 to July 1.

The committee asked to repeal a regulation forbidding taking of shrimp counting 70 or more to the pound. It recommended a regulation forbidding fishing with nets more than 900 yards long in Currituck Sound, its tributaries, or North River.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fish and wildlife experts testify today on a problem that is growing increasingly threatening in this atomic age—the disposal of radioactive waste.

They were scheduled before a House Merchant Marine and Fisheries subcommittee. The committee plans no legislation in the field this year, Chairman George P. Miller (D-Calif.) said, but members wanted "to educate ourselves."

As the hearings opened Monday, an Atomic Energy Commission official said economics alone seemed to point clearly to disposing of radioactive wastes by burying them on land, rather than dumping them in the sea.

I. E. Wallen, AEC aquatic biologist, added that in any case the dangerous high-level wastes always are placed in steel tanks underground on land.

Another AEC official, Dr. Joseph A. Lieberman, said low level wastes could be dumped at sea under certain conditions without danger. But he, too, said only very minor use will be made of this method.

Committee members asked about present offshore radioactive waste dump areas, in some cases as close in as 20 miles, and wondered if economics had entered into the choosing of these sites.

Lieberman said the cost of carting the waste materials to sea might be a factor, but the AEC would never put economic reasons above safety.

Lieberman said six or seven private contractors now are licensed by the AEC to dump enclosed low level wastes at sea. Sites being used are about 120 miles off New Jersey, about 60 miles off San Francisco and about 110 miles off Virginia.

These spots were checked 18 months ago, he said, and no increase in radioactivity could be detected in the areas.

Testifies Court Order Belittled

ASHEVILLE (AP) — A government witness today quoted a union official as saying an order of Federal Judge Wilson Warlick "doesn't mean anything at all."

The government began presenting its evidence in U.S. District Court against Hugh Rutledge and the Teamsters, in which Rutledge, secretary-treasurer and business agent of local 35 here, and the Teamsters' Union must show cause why they should not be cited in contempt of court. They are accused of ignoring a court order restraining four trucking lines from "refusing to accept and handle freight" from a non-union fifth line.

U.S. Dist. Atty. James M. Bailey Jr. examined Fred M. Dover of Asheville, terminal manager for the Silver Fleet Motor Express Co., one of the unionized lines. Bailey asked if Rutledge was shown a copy of the court order signed by Judge Warlick concerning handling Overnite freight.

"Yes, I showed Mr. Rutledge the order and told him I had ordered Silver Fleet to handle Overnite freight, and that I was just trying to keep out of trouble," Dover answered.

"And what did Mr. Rutledge say to that?" Bailey asked.

"Mr. Rutledge said I was already in trouble and that that order doesn't mean a thing," Bailey said. "Doesn't mean a thing at all."

On further questioning, Dover said he had read the court order to employees of Silver Fleet and directed them to handle Overnite freight pending settlement of the case in court.

Rocket Probing Solar Activity

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) — After running out of sunlight on its first attempt, the Navy said it would try again today to launch a rocket equipped to probe solar activity.

The first of 12 shots aimed at gathering information about solar flares was scheduled to be fired from the Navy's new missile facility here Monday night. But the loading of instruments into the 21-foot-long Nike-Asp rocket took longer than expected and the sun went down before the job could be completed. The tests must be conducted in daylight.

Mental Patients In Brief Riot

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — Twenty-five screaming mental patients broke up furniture, smashed windows and surged into the yard at Central State Hospital Monday night, but the disturbance was quickly ended.

Supt. J. K. Ogden said he believed the patients staged the 45-minute riot to draw attention to grievances rather than to escape. It began when three patients from Ward No. 4 overpowered two attendants and took their keys. The patients rushed through the corridors and into a yard surrounded by a 16-foot wall.

Dr. Wilbur Hammon, in charge of the maximum security building, persuaded them to return after assuring them they would not be punished and that they would get a hearing.

Father Barricaded In Home, Held Off Police

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP) — A father barricaded himself and his four sons in their home early today and held two dozen police at bay with rifle fire.

A priest finally talked him into giving up.

Hidden in a dark second-floor room, Victor Jones, 27, a roofer, shouted: "Get out of here. I mean business."

From outside, his wife Glenda, 18, pleaded with him to release the children, aged 1 to 4.

"I got a gun against John's head," Jones yelled back.

Lions Give Ball To Young Players

Each member of the Lions Club Little League team last night received a baseball as a gift from the club.

The presentation was made by Bob Stirling, one of the club coaches, at the weekly Lions meeting.

A baseball was also presented to the other team coach, Clint Joyner. It was autographed by all the members of the team.

It was announced at the meeting that the club picnic will be held at Elm St. Park Aug. 3.

President Richard Worsley read a letter of thanks from Laura Lee Gurganus, Miss Gurganus was recipient of the Lions Club scholarship to East Carolina College this year.
