

Partly cloudy, little change in temperature tonight and Friday with a few scattered showers or thundershowers likely in middle and lower coastal area.

Garment Industry Prepares For Early Opening Farmville Plant

House Committee Votes Penny Boost In Gas Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee today voted a one-cent increase in the federal gasoline tax effective Sept. 1 to keep the super highway program going.

Labor Bill Debate In House Is Moving Toward Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The outcome of the bitter House battle over labor racketeering controls hung on a razor-thin balance today.

Large Early Morning Turnout Seen On Dollar Day

CROWDS . . . jam the entrance of a local department store awaiting its opening and the bargains to be had inside today—Dollar Day. Many Greenville stores took on this same appearance as shoppers crowded the streets taking advantage of the many bargains being offered by the local merchants.

As a whole, Greenville merchants were well pleased with Dollar Day crowds and sales today.

FARMVILLE—A children's and infants' garment industry with a $400,000 annual payroll and an employment of some 150 workers has announced it will begin operations August 24 in the Duke Bulk building in Farmville.

Initial employment in the Duke building will be about 80 workers but will be expanded to between 140 and 150 when the firm moves into its new building.

Representatives from the State Employment office will be in the Farmville High School lunchroom today and tomorrow interviewing applicants and giving examinations to prospective employees of the new factory.

The announcement came after negotiations, which had been underway since the first of the year between the firm and the Farmville Economic Council, were completed and Thomas E. Anderson has been named manager of the new Farmville industry.

Named the Farmville Manufacturing Company, the new firm's new industrial contract is expected to receive final approval by the Farmville Industries at a meeting next week, according to T. W. Willis, director of Farmville's Economic Council.

According to Anderson, the factory will operate in the Duke building for six or seven months until a new factory building can be completed.

Farmville citizens have raised about $150,000 to erect a 30,000 square foot building for the new garment firm which has some 8,000 customers in all the 50 states and Hong Kong and Israel.

The factory will be capable of producing some 3,600 garments per week but an anticipated increase in sales of $1.5 million annually is expected.

The announcement was the third of its kind since January, 1957. The other two were the Formica Flakeboard plant and the FCX grain mill. Formica has already begun operation while construction is due to begin on the FCX project in February, 1960.

All plant personnel with the exception of Anderson, who is a Kentucky native; J. D. Ray, another Kentucky native who will serve as head machinist; and plant superintendent Daniel McLaughlin of Smithfield, will come from the Farmville area.

Several different sites are under consideration for the new building to house the garment firm, with a site at the end of Waverly St., south of the Norfolk and Southern Railroad, getting the most attention.

Anderson stated that he found in Farmville a group of interested, well-informed men who "knew what the score was."

Two Arrested In Henderson Unrest

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Two minor flare-ups Wednesday in connection with a textile strike here resulted in two arrests, and more is expected.

Police Chief C. C. Harris said a "number of people will be cited to court on charges of violating a restraining order prohibiting mass assembly at the struck Harriet-Henderson Mills.

Fred Lee Collier, a striker, was arrested and charged with interfering with an officer in the performance of his duty.

Harry Ward Lockemy of Bellevue, Ky., and formerly of Henderson, was arrested Wednesday night after a rock throwing incident near the struck South Henderson Mill.

He was charged with damaging a car driven by a mill worker, Henry Shearin. The incident occurred about a block from the mill.

Harris said 15 to 18 persons gathered at the gate of the South Henderson plant when the afternoon shift changed.

Segregationists Quiet In Little Rock Today After Wednesday's Brief Melee

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Three Negro girls strolled back into Hall High School for a second day of integration there with only a slight stir from segregationists.

Before the three Negroes arrived, two attractive white girls drove by in a convertible bearing signs: "Integration Is Communism" and "We Are For Faubus."

The 25 policemen standing by paid no attention to the car which did not stop.

Three white boys were arrested near Central High School. They drove up in a convertible with Confederate flags attached to it.

Police seized a rubber hose weighted at the end with brass, a tire tool and a lug wrench.

Greenville Falls Short Of Blood Donation Quota

Greenville fell far short of the 120 pint quota for the bloodmobile with only 54 pints of blood being donated in the six-hour stay of the unit.

According to official reports, only 54 pints were donated with seven people being rejected due to medical reasons.

It was pointed out that if Pitt County fails to meet the 1,450 pint quota that has been set for this year it will be in danger of losing the blood program entirely.

Last year only 71 percent of the 1,500 pint quota was reached, making a total of 1,065 pints of blood donated.

The Textile Workers Union of America began its strike here last Nov. 17 after the company insisted that an arbitration clause be removed from the contract.

About nine policemen were on duty at the South Henderson plant when Wednesday's first incident occurred.

Collier was sentenced last March 7 to 30 days in jail and fined $110 and costs on a charge of violating an original restraining order issued Feb. 13.

Judge William Y. Bickett later issued a second restraining order that contained more restrictions.

Air Cars

NEW YORK (AP) — Curtiss-Wright Corp. today said it will produce cars which travel on air.

A company spokesman said production at its South Bend, Ind., plant would start in Nov. but the rate had not been set.

The company's "air car" travels on a cushion of low pressure, low velocity compressed air. It is a 300 horsepower, two-engine vehicle which carries four passengers.

The 21 by 8 foot car reaches a maximum speed of 60 miles an hour. It has no wheels, transmission or clutches.

The company said the car would move over unpaved land, water or swamps or any unobstructed terrain 6 to 12 inches off the ground.

Alimony-Payer Hid In Woods 3 Months

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Bernard J. Blechars, divorced and saying he was behind in his alimony payments, was troubled and fearful that police were looking for him.

He stayed there three months. Police found him along a highway Wednesday in fashionable suburban Bloomfield Hills.

He weighed 80 pounds. He was a husky 175 when he began his self-imposed exile from society.

"I'm divorced," Blechars mumbled to incredulous officers. "I was behind in my alimony. I thought the police must be looking for me. I found this place. It looked like a pretty good place to me."

For three months, Blechars drank water with his hands from a muddy creek and covered himself at night with a piece of plywood.

Otherwise, the segregationists were quiet. Officers used clubs and fire hoses on some 200 men, women and children near Central High School Wednesday to break up a mass protest.

Central reopens at 1 p.m. (CST) for its second day of integration. Only one Negro, Jefferson Thomas, 16, is expected there today.

The three Negro girls walked into Hall at 9:26 a.m. (CST), four minutes before school opened.

The car moved up in the regular line of traffic, cars bumper to bumper with police directing them.

The Negro girls walked down the street, crossed a driveway and walked into the school.

Peace had been predicted for today, after Wednesday's violence and parade.

The paraders, coming from a rally at the state capitol where Gov. Orval E. Faubus addressed them, shouted "Cowards!" at the policemen. Twenty-three of them were arrested.

In the schools themselves, officials said everything was normal.

One segregationist said he knew of no plans for any rallies today.

Two Negroes went to Central Wednesday, but only one will go back today, said Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

She said Elizabeth Eckford went the first day of school only to consult with her counselor, Elizabeth, one of nine Negroes enrolled at Central in 1957, has gained enough credits through correspondence to enter college.

That leaves Jefferson Thomas, 16, another veteran of 1957, as the only Negro at Central. He is a senior.

At Hall High School located in the fashionable Pulaski Heights area, three Negro girls returned to classes today.

They are Effie Jones, 17, and Estelle Thompson and Elsie Robinson, both 16.

Caribbean Peace Study Proposed

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The United States today proposed setting up a special peace committee to study the Caribbean crisis.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told a plenary session of the Inter-American Foreign Ministers' Conference that this committee would report to the 11th conference in Quito next February.

It would look into the causes of the tension that has spread throughout the area since Fidel Castro's forces took over Cuba Jan. 1.

"This committee might also be authorized to extend its cooperation to any of the states of that region in the solution of the problems that disturb their peaceful relations and which they are not able to resolve through direct negotiation," Herter said.

He called for a permanent organ of the Organization of American States such as the inter-American peace committee to consider problems of that sort that have plagued the Caribbean region before they reach the point of becoming threats to peace.

Seven Latin American governments at the conference already have declared they oppose interference by Castro and his Cuban revolutionaries in the affairs of other Caribbean nations.

Mexico's Manuel Tello was applauded when he warned the ministers to be "extraordinarily cautious" about changing the principle of nonintervention.

None of the speakers mentioned Castro or Cuba specifically. But the Cuban revolutionary, and to a lesser extent Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt, have been generally accused with being chiefly responsible for the wave of unrest in the Caribbean.

Tello emphasized that Mexico is a traditional supporter of nonintervention and he stressed the importance of the countries in the Western Hemisphere maintaining the principle strictly as well as giving it lip service.

Brazil, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Guatemala and Costa Rica also spoke strongly in favor of continued adherence

Radio Station Is Moving To City

Numbers of Greenville citizens and store owners were "shaken up" yesterday when a local construction firm began clearing a block-long strip of land on the bank of the Tar River between Reade and Side Sts. with aid of dynamite.

According to information, the land is being cleared for the erection of a 196 foot radio transmitting tower for radio station WOOV in Washington, N. C., which plans to move to Greenville in the near future.

Rufus Armstrong, operator of the station, said plans now call for the new station to start operation here between September 15 and 30, at which time the Washington station will close.

According to Armstrong, plans now are to operate 20 hours a day, bring news, weather, music and sports to the surrounding community.

Armstrong said he hoped to open the station with 1,000 watts power during the day and 250 watts at night. Studios and offices for the station will be located in downtown Greenville, possibly on Evans St., he added.

The Greenville station will operate on 1340 kilocycles.

Armstrong commented he is planning to re-open the Washington station, within a short time after the opening of the new Greenville unit, on 1320 kilocycles with 500 watts power.

The present WOOV station broadcasts on 1340 kilocycles with 250 watts power.

Maj. Gen. Shoup Is Nominated To Top Marine Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nomination of Maj. Gen. David M. Shoup, commander of the Parris Island (S.C.) Marine Corps Depot, to be commandant of the Marine Corps is expected to go soon to the Senate for its approval.

President Eisenhower announced Wednesday the nomination of the 54-year-old Medal of Honor winner from the temporary White House at Gettysburg, Pa.

Shoup would succeed Gen. Randolph Pate, whose second two-year tour as Marine commandant ends Dec. 31.

Shoup, who joined the Marines in 1926, won the Medal of Honor as a lieutenant colonel in command of the 4th Marine Regiment of the 2d Marine Division. The action was against the Japanese at Betio Island, perhaps the most bitterly contested island at Tarawa Atoll in World War II.

Postpone Ruling On Rail Service

RALEIGH (AP) — A hearing on Southern Railroad's controversial bid to eliminate passenger train service between Goldsboro and Greensboro was postponed from Aug. 20 to Oct. 6.

Ass. Atty. Gen. Ken. Keul. said Southern has failed to abide by procedural regulations of the State Utilities Commission.

This, he explained, is just cause for the postponement ordered Wednesday by the commission.

To sum up the general feeling of the merchants, a men's shop manager said, "we are very pleased with the crowds, which are even bigger and better than last year. The general public is going home with a lot of good merchandise at good prices."

Bridge Parties

GRIFTON—Mr. and Mrs. Howard "Buddy" Holcomb Jr. entertained their bridge club last Thursday night at their home on St. David Street. An arrangement of mauve colored pinias in a silver bowl with tall white candles in silver holders was the focal point of the home decorations. During the bridge games, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hart received the high and low score prizes, respectively. The hostess served German chocolate cake with iced tea as the games were completed. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. George Gardner Sugg, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutton.

Couples Club
Mr. and Mrs. Mark Phillips honored the members of their couples club at a session in their home on McRae Street. Garden flowers decorated the living room where three tables were placed for the games.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nelson compiled the highest scores for the evening and were awarded prizes. Other players were Mr. and Mrs. David Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hart, and the hosts.

Informal Dance Marks Birthday

GRIFTON—Mrs. Thomas Ward Jr. entertained Friday night at an informal dance at the Park Community Building honoring her son, Tommy Lewis, who celebrated his 16th birthday, and her house guest, Patsy Ward, of McClellanville, S. C.

The building was decorated throughout with the color note in yellow and green using garden flowers, streamers and colored balloons. The refreshment table was covered with a white damask cloth and held the decorated cake as its centerpiece. The cake was cut and served with party foods and iced drinks. Twenty-five friends were present.

Church Honors Reynolds Family

The Rev. and Mrs. Walter Reynolds and family of Bethany Free Will Baptist Church, Route 1, Winterville, were entertained by the members of the church at the parsonage Sunday afternoon.

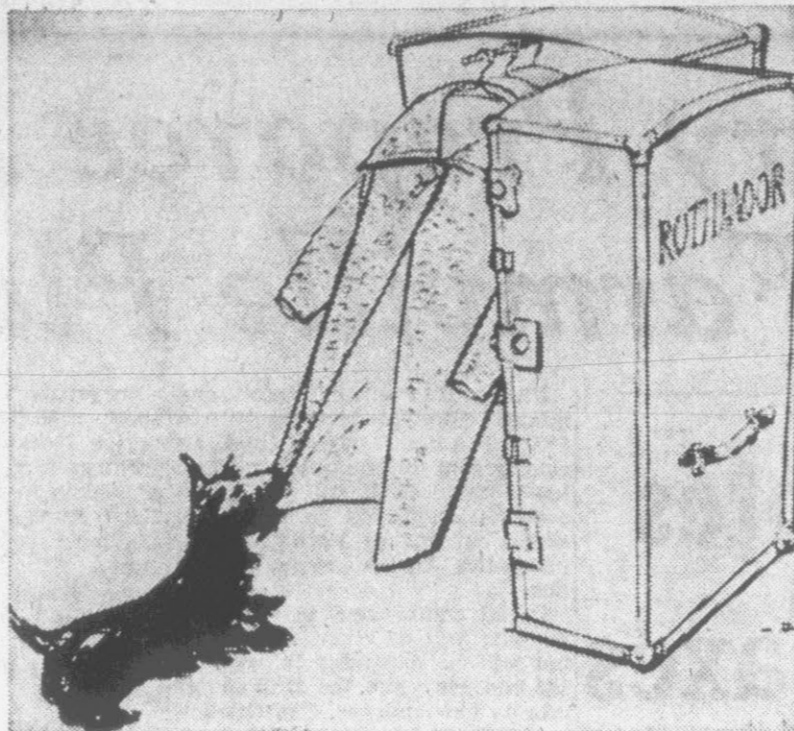

As the guests arrived, they were greeted at the door by Mrs. Jack Cheek, who introduced them to Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, Sammy, Judy and Steve. Mrs. Reynolds and Judy wore corsages of roses.

Mrs. Ely Nobles directed the guests into the dining room where the table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of roses. Mrs. Norman Savage served iced punch and Mrs. B. T. Manning, Mrs. Tom Nobles, Mrs. Kermit Tyson and Mrs. Powell Speight assisted in serving party cakes, cheese straws and nuts. Music was rendered by Mrs. H. W. Nobles and Miss Arlene Cayton with Tommy Manning playing the piano.

The Reynolds family was remembered by members of the church with a set of crystal as a departing gift. They will be leaving the last of August for Hull Road Free Will Baptist Church near Snow Hill.

Mrs. Bill Tucker presided at the register and goodbyes were said to Mrs. Linwood Baker.

Salmon Sparks Summer Menus

AP Newsfeatures
SALMON is one of the staples of our diet, offering vitamins and minerals for summer menus. The King, Chinook or Spring salmon is the largest of the salmon family, weighing about 22 pounds, color ranging from deep red to pinkish white. It is soft in texture, rich in oil and flavor. It separates into large flakes, making it desirable for salads. The Red, Sockeye or Blueback Salmon weighs about seven pounds, with flesh a deep red in color and firm in texture. It is one of the favorites with fishermen of the Pacific Northwest. The Coho or River salmon averages eight to nine pounds, some run as high as 30 pounds. The flesh is firm, red but lighter in color than Sockeye. It is an all-purpose salmon. The pink or Humpback salmon is the smallest of all salmon, averaging four pounds, ranging in color from light to deep pink. It is appropriate for creaming, casseroles, soups, sandwiches. Chum or Keta salmon, weighing about nine pounds, are large-flaked salmon, coarser in texture and less delicate in flavor than the pink. They are of great value in cooked dishes where color is unimportant. In canning salmon, nothing is added to the can with the fish except salt. The liquid contained in the can is juice, and the oil coming from the fish itself during the cooking process should be used, says one packer, Sam Rubinstein of the Pacific Northwest group of salmon fishermen. He suggests adding it directly to cold, flaked salmon, to sauces, fish chowders and other salmon dishes to reap the full benefits of the salmon. Unopened cans stored in moderate temperatures may keep indefinitely. Once cans are opened, keep contents covered and refrigerated. Salmon may be kept in its original can in the refrigerator. The can itself is just as safe as any other container.

Four Young Ladies Celebrate Birthdays

GRIFTON—Little Miss Nancy Deldrick celebrated her sixth birthday recently at a luncheon given by her mother, Mrs. George Deldrick, at their home in Pine Villa. Guests were invited for 12 noon and enjoyed games and contests until they were invited into the dining room for lunch. The appointed table was covered with a birthday cloth and held the cake decorated in green and yellow. It was served as dessert with lime sherbet.

Favors of balloons, pin wheels and candy were given to each young guest. Mrs. Robert Sanford and Betty Brayden Sanford assisted Mrs. Deldrick in entertaining. Guests included Olivia Reeves, Ann Sanford, Laura Lanka; Gail Spellman, Debbie Branscome.

Olivia Reeves
Mrs. Edwin Reeves entertained on Monday afternoon at an outdoor party for her daughter, Olivia, who celebrated her sixth birthday. The guests enjoyed a number of games and a contest. Diane January and Glenn Tucker were winners and awarded prizes. The birthday table was centered with the cake which was a "Raggedy Ann" doll cake holding six candles.

Jo Anna Paul
On Monday afternoon little Miss Jo Anna Paul was feted by her mother, Mrs. Joe Paul, at their home in Forest Acres at a party in celebration of her sixth birthday. As the guests arrived they were invited into the den for an hour of story telling and games. Later they were invited into the dining room for refreshments. A color note of pink and white was carried out with table appointments and the cake. Individual tables were set up for the guests and centered with tall pink candles. The guest of honor cut the cake which was served with ice cream. Mrs. Bill DesVerges assisted Mrs. Paul in serving.

Guests for the afternoon included Patricia DesVerges, Alma Parker, Beth Gnagey, Linda Moore, Deborah Leonard, Olivia Reeves, Debbie Branscome, Deborah Phillips, and Pam McLawhorn.

Save Steps And Live A Longer Life

TORONTO (AP) — Save steps and live longer, is the advice of Dr. John Armstrong, medical director of the Heart Foundation of Canada. This can be applied directly to housewives, who often waste steps beating a path back and forth across their kitchens. "Not only by saving steps, but by using slightly different methods, you can accomplish the same amount of work with less energy, and be less tired," he says. In 1949, a "heart" kitchen was constructed by the New York Heart Assn. committee on cardiovascular diseases in industry. Dr. Lillian Gilbreth of "Cheaper By the Dozen" fame, headed the committee. Methods applied in industry are equally helpful in housework. Although the booklet was written primarily for women with heart disease, it has suggestions for every busy housewife who would like to enjoy extra time and extra energy. Some of them: Pre-positioning equipment and supplies can save hundreds of steps. Store articles where they are most often used and group things that are used together near a work area. Seasoning, canned goods, serving dishes and platters should all be stored near the stove where they are to be used. Soaps, knives and strainers and vegetables that don't need refrigeration should be kept near the sink where they are first used. Baking ingredients are natural companions for rolling pins, measuring cups, mixing bowls and baking pans. If lunches are to be prepared, assemble the wax paper, bread and other necessities near the perishable foods used in the lunch. To save stair climbing, store small things in a box or basket, along with the broom, mop and sweeper. Work simplification can become a game for everyone in the household and can save up to 60 per cent of the time once spent on a job. The best way to start is to unclutter the kitchen. Good advice from the Heart Foundation is that "with a bit of drawer searching and soul searching you can gather together a box full of gadgets you never use. Throw them away."

Barnhardt Out, Picture Changes

North Carolina's gubernatorial sweepstakes picture changed abruptly this week when Lt. Gov. Luther Barnhardt, the only Piedmonter prominently mentioned in the unofficial race, announced he will not be a candidate for governor.

For the time being at least, Barnhardt's announcement leaves only Easterners among the leading unofficial candidates for the office. It projects young Melvin Broughton of Raleigh, highway commission chairman, into the limelight along with Terry Sanford of Fayetteville, John Larkins of Trenton and Addison Hewlett of Wilmington.

It will be a major change indeed—at least from recent gubernatorial elections—if there does not emerge a strong candidate from the Piedmont or West to challenge the Easterners. There was a time in North Carolina when it was generally conceded that the governor would come from the Eastern part of the state one term and from the Western part of the state the next. For the most part, however, that situation has now changed. The tradition of governors alternating between East and West has more or less been abandoned primarily because of the increase in the voting strength of the Piedmont.

It should not be surprising, therefore, to see an increase in the activity of gubernatorial hopefuls in the Piedmont section of the state as a result of Barnhardt's announcement. Since 1957 most observers have generally looked upon him as a potential candidate for governor in the 1960 election. That, in part, may account for the fact that the leading contenders in the race at the moment are all from the East and none are from the Piedmont or the West. The Piedmont hopefuls, voluntarily or otherwise, took a back seat to Barnhardt's position.

At the moment the Eastern candidates appear to have the edge simply because of the efforts that already are being made on their behalf. . . in this section of the state and in the Piedmont as well. That picture could change appreciably in the next few months, however. Some of the Easterners prominently mentioned for governor could suddenly eliminate themselves as Barnhardt did, and new candidates from this or another part of the state could appear just as quickly.

This latest development at least should add interest to the forthcoming gubernatorial campaign and send both the unofficial candidates and other hopefuls into new strategy sessions to meet a new situation.

They Have Reason To Be Gravely Concerned

The misgivings held by people of the coastal area of North Carolina and Virginia toward dumping radioactive waste off our coast is understandable despite reassurances from the Atomic Energy Commission.

Should the atomic waste have an adverse effect on marine life off the coast of the two states, the economics of such a tragedy would immediately be heavily felt. The coastal waters of North Carolina and Virginia comprise one of the most productive commercial and sport fishing grounds along the Atlantic Coast. Literally thousands of people are directly dependent upon fishing for their livelihood and other thousands are engaged in processing and marketing seafood from the area.

The AEC has declared there is positively no danger from the reprocessed atomic waste which is to be deposited in the ocean dumping grounds. The waste will be low in radioactivity, it says, placed in protective containers and dumped in 1,000 feet of water 100 miles off the coast.

While the AEC scientists are sure of the lack of danger from such a process, the people of the ocean area of the dumping ground to see that no harmful effects from the process are detected. They should also be given the assurance that every precaution will be maintained to see that no harmful effects result from the dumping of atomic waste.

Though the possibility of danger is slight, the people of the coastal area are keenly aware of the devastating effects which might result if an error occurs which results in contaminating the ocean off North Carolina and Virginia.

To many of those coastal residents, the ocean is their source of livelihood. When scientists begin using it for an atomic dumping grounds, it is only natural that they should be gravely concerned.

Eisenhower In Toughest Period

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP) — For President Eisenhower, now pushing 69, his last 17 months in office may be his toughest. He looks well after his illness—a heart attack, a stomach problem, and a slight stroke. But these next four months alone will be a grinding strain, certainly mentally, perhaps emotionally. He will be 69 Oct. 14 and over 70 when he leaves office Jan. 20, 1961.

Here's a sample of what's ahead:

1. Later this month he flies to Europe to consult American Allies on his mid-September meeting here with 65-year-old Premier Nikita Khrushchev.
2. Upon his return he will almost surely undergo intense briefings on world details in order to cope with the well-informed Khrushchev.
3. His conversations with the Soviet leader will be no cinch. Khrushchev is volatile, unpredictable, maybe erratic.
4. Eisenhower won't be free of worry about the Russian's safety during his entire stay here. And Khrushchev may create other problems along the way.
5. Eisenhower, after talking with Khrushchev, may decide a summit meeting with him and Western leaders is needed quickly or later. That would mean more tension, preparation, and travel.
6. Before or after such a summit conference Eisenhower must visit Khrushchev in Moscow. More talks. That's part of their exchange-visit deal.
7. Meanwhile, Eisenhower must concern himself with the programs and budget he will offer Congress when it returns in January. They must be ready by then. His aides already are at work on them.
8. And in 1960, his last full year in office, he must do what he did this year: fight Congress for what he wants or be side-tracked.
9. Also in 1960 — according to his present thinking — he would like to travel to some other countries as a gesture of American goodwill.
10. And, since 1960 is the big political year of conventions, campaigns, and a presidential election, Eisenhower will get up to his neck in politics. He's bound to take some part in the campaign for a Republican president.

So his remaining time in office — now just a few days over 17 months — will be no frolic. In addition, there will be problems, maybe crises, unthought-of now. No wonder he plans, before leaving office to recommend to Congress that new arrangements be made — perhaps special assistants — for future presidents to relieve them of some of the burdens of the presidency.

Americans returning from talks with Khrushchev in Moscow — including Vice President Richard M. Nixon — report he's extremely well versed on East — West problems, sharp on details. All the Soviet leaders seem to be. They do their homework.

That's why Nixon did his before journeying to Moscow last month. He crammed for the trip: reading, briefings, talks with experts.

Eisenhower can do no less, particularly since he already has a healthy respect for Khrushchev's ability in conversation. He thinks the Soviet is perhaps the best debater in the world.

Eisenhower used to depend on the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to worry about details while he considered problems in a broad way. But through most of 1959, because of Dulles' illness and death, the President has been pretty much on his own.

The reason: The new secretary, Christian A. Herter, has been out of the country most of the time since taking office last spring. Herter's time has been almost entirely taken up with negotiating with the Soviet Union over Berlin.

Eisenhower will probably have Herter by his side when he talks with Khrushchev. It still remains to be seen — because he hasn't had much chance to demonstrate it yet — whether Herter has the same mastery of detail as Dulles.

Although Herter had the No. 2 State Department spot behind Dulles, the older man so completely dominated foreign policy and policy-making that Herter was left far in the background, shadowy and voiceless.

Opinions In Brief

"If there's one thing the youngsters of today don't like to hear, it's that old one about how their grandfathers used to slog two miles to school through the weather, good or bad. You can't exactly blame them. There isn't much sense in manufacturing hardships just for the sake of testing the kids' mettle. But it still is an uncomfortable fact that they don't get many physical tests of any kind, manufactured or otherwise." — Savannah Evening Press.

"Too many people work themselves into a lather with soft soap." — McAnad News, McAlester, Okla.

Split Sewed Up

REG-MANNING

By HENRY HOWARD

Why Didn't Everybody?

Well, they were about ready to close up when we got there, and, as a matter of fact, now that we were there, it really wouldn't be too bad if they DID go on and close up.

We got out of the car and went on inside to find everyone in the whole place looking as if they had been waiting for us. One last thought — that we just might be too late — flashed through and then we were right in the middle of it. No way out now!

In the earlier part of the day and on the trip out there, it seemed that such a thing as this would surely be worth while and it was easy to say: "Aw, this ain't really all as bad as everybody might think — I don't mind at all!"

After all, everybody was saying that they'd take the thing away from us if SOMEBODY didn't do it and there's no other way about it — we've just GOT to keep it. Well, there were 50-odd persons who were there or had been there before we arrived. Small number relatively speaking, but anyway WE felt better!

Actually, everybody had said that it was no bad ordeal anyway, and, of course, we'd said the very same thing, but here we were and, all of a sudden, being there for the very first time, all kinds of crazy thoughts were running rampant.

Thoughts like this: "Wonder if it hurts?" or "Bet it takes an awful long time!" or "Bet it takes an awful long time!" or "What if that thing doesn't work just right?" or "What if that thing doesn't work just right?" or "Looks like you wouldn't feel so good after that!" or even "By Gosh, I think I'll get th' heck outa here right now!"

The ole mind's a pretty powerful thing and influential too — when you let it run about as loose as it'll do sometimes, but this time it was out short. There just wasn't time enough to do much wild thinking, much less enough to follow such a wild mind's direction.

We were in that place now and we weren't about to get out! There were three of us, but the other two had been there before! We lined up as directed and began our trip through what looked like sort of assembly-line set-up. We went from place to place until all was ready.

All that preliminary testing and whatever those people were doing was not the best thing in the world for such a wild bunch of thoughts that threatened to bolt into the open and contrive some sort of escape.

Boy, it didn't take them long. They had us stretched out in a matter of minutes and we were doing what we had come for.

Wild thoughts became milder and milder and then much less irrational. After all, this was nothing bad at all! It didn't even hurt! Seconds after we started accomplishing our mission, we were chatting quietly with the people who at first had almost seemed like ogres when we first arrived.

A much warmer and calmer feeling began to replace the torrent of jumbled emotions. When it was all over, we got up, feeling fine, and calmly walked away from what turned out to be a very pleasant experience.

By golly, it even seemed like we'd done a small measure of something really worth while.

We sat around for a few minutes in that big cold-looking room that suddenly wasn't so cold-looking any more and sipped hot coffee. It was real good coffee and sort of knocked the chill off the air conditioning. Everybody looked happy!

What's more, everybody looked just as healthy as before and much more relaxed. All three of us were something of a very pleased look.

Then, a few minutes later, as we were driving back to town, the only thought that could be noticed went like this: "Wonder why everybody didn't give a pint of blood?"

Relies On Her Spirit

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "My husband loved me for the strength I had of spirit and soul," said Joan Crawford, "and he'd come back and haunt me through eternity if I didn't go on now with happiness and joy.

"I still can't bring myself to have a date, I go out with married couples."

Joan, a real-life Cinderella herself, played dozens of Cinderella roles in her 30-year career as a film star. But what happens when Cinderella becomes a widow?

This role was thrust upon her when her fourth husband, Alfred Steele, board chairman of the Pepsi-Cola Co., died of a heart attack.

His sudden death left Joan stunned. The two had been constantly together for four years. She had handled much of his correspondence, traveled more than 200,000 miles with him.

"I can say what few women can say," Joan recalled. "I had perfection in love. Every day of those four years he told me he loved me. He was a wonderful, wonderful man. I'm the luckiest dame that ever lived.

"At first after his death I just wanted to stay home and sit. Lethargy set in. I finally had to tell myself, 'Pick yourself up and be the glamorous person you're supposed to be.'"

"Alfred was always proud of what I'd done, and told me he never wanted me to give up my work."

Miss Crawford plans a dual future as business woman and actress.

She was elected a director of Pepsi-Cola the month after Steele died. Recently she finished a role as a lady paperback editor in Jerry Wald's production of "The Best of Everything."

"I'm on the screen only seven minutes," she said. "But I liked the part, and I want to do other movies and TV films if I can find what I want."

What can an actress do for a soft drink firm?

"I'm not under contract to them," she said, smiling. "But I still do work for them. I'd like to help carry out my husband's promotional thinking."

Her four adopted children are currently in her West Coast home. Joan lives alone with a maid in the big showplace Manhattan apartment in which her husband died.

At 51, she is still slender, glamorous and one of the world's best-dressed women.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

GOD AND MAN TOGETHER

We often think of the creation of the world as something which is finished.

The Bible indicates quite the opposite. God created the world in the beginning, that is, He started off the project of creation, but through the ages He has been sustaining that creation and by so doing has been forming it. So that having once begun creation, God has continued it to this very hour. We live in a world and universe which is only partly made. It is not yet finished. Even after it will continue building up and becoming more complex. "In the beginning God created. . ." and at present He is creating, and in the future He will continue to create.

What does this mean to you and me? It means, first of all, that we are part of a most exciting enterprise. Creation is going on around about us all the time. We are part of that continuing process. Life prevades the whole universe. New life is being born into the world every day. The life which is here is being deepened. Of one thing we can be sure about God's creation and that is that it never stands still.

The second thing we can know about this creative process is that we contribute to it. We are cocreators with God. Life is everywhere. God is everywhere. We are joining with God in the furtherance of His creative work.

Other Editors Saying Chancellor And A Credo

(Greensboro Daily News)

We are delighted that the trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina have overridden piecemeal opposition and named Dr. John Tyler Caldwell chancellor of North Carolina State College.

In selecting Dr. Caldwell for this important post trustees not only expressed their confidence in him, his qualifications and his ability but placed overwhelming stamp of approval upon the judgment of President William C. Friday and the method followed in selection of chancellors at all three units of the Consolidated University.

Dr. Caldwell's post-election statement has given all the more reason for welcoming his coming to North Carolina. Cognizant of the arrival of the nuclear age, the new demands to be made upon institutions of higher education and the particular challenge to such institutions as State College to re-examine their curricula, their responsibilities and their role in a changing world and society, N.C. State's new chancellor is dedicating himself to "turning out well-educated technicians." Along with technical training must go courses in the humanities and in social sciences lest education lose its soul and its spiritual qualities.

"The total organization of the structure of the Greater University of North Carolina affords to the chancellor an opportunity for education unusual in America.

"N.C. State College now is being watched by educators all over the United States because of the vigor it has shown in meeting its problems and opportunities."

Therein is set forth the educational concept of the kind of leader North Carolina needs and welcomes wholeheartedly. He and the state to which he is coming should be completely in step.

How To Make Fortune In Toys

By ELMER ROESSNER

One way to make a fortune in toys is to think up something irresistibly simple (such as hula hoops) and slam into production. That's the hard way because there are so many imitators nobody makes any money.

The easy way is to sign up an idea, spend $100,000 and two years in development, get Dr. Seuss to flop across his studio floor at La Jolla, Calif., to show how a "Many-Footed Lion" looks in three dimensions, and toss in $200,000 more for dies and promotion.

That's what Revell, Inc., did. Even competitors concede that Dr. Seuss's Zoo will be the biggest toy hit since hoops.

The zoo consists of four animals so far, each made up of up to 29 snap-together pieces, all interchangeable. There's Godly, the Dowdy Grackle; Roscoe, the Many-Footed Lion; Norval, the Bashful Blinker; and Tingo, the Noodle-Topped Straddle. By combining parts of these animals, up to 14,000 mutations are possible.

LONG GESTATION Dr. Seuss's square name is Ted Geisel, who invented the cartoons for the "Quick, Henry, the Cat!" advertisements, who created Gerald McBoing-Boing, and who has written and drawn countless children's books that grown-ups read.

Toy manufacturers have long pursued him, usually with fat cash offers for rights to his incredible animals. Revell had a new approach. It promised to love his animals—and to let Dr. Seuss supervise their construction.

"The elephant's period of gestation is 20 to 23 months," said Henry Blankfort, Revell official. "It took 24 months to produce Dr. Seuss's progeny."

His original sketches, in India ink on Bristol board, were two-dimensional. To get them into the third dimension, Revell assigned two sculptors. They sculpted and sculpted. For one animal, they molded 400 legs until Dr.

Seuss was satisfied. And to show what he wanted, he often slithered across the floor, making faces and twisting his joints out of shape.

ORDERS POUR IN He was just as particular about colors and texture. He didn't want ordinary plastic colors, nor the typical plastic finish. W.R. Grace plastics engineers were called in and he selected colors from several thousand samples. He also approved a suede-like plastic.

The animals were shown, in hand-made samples at the Toy FAIR IN New York in March. They were an instant hit. Pictures of them appeared in newspapers and magazines; they were selected for mention in this column.

Orders poured in, but Revell couldn't deliver. It had to put $150,000 more into molds, get production lines rolling. Today it has $1,500,000 in orders, and is stockpiling boxes of the animals around the country. Deliveries will be made simultaneously to all dealers in the West on September 17, and to all dealers in the rest of the country on September 24.

There's no telling how much Dr. Seuss will make. On a typical royalty basis, it could be $75,000 to $100,000 a year for all the years his fantastic zoo remains a hit toy, with lesser amounts as long as there is any buying interest. Meanwhile, the toy will increase the sale of his books; bookstores are already ordering the animals; toy stores are beginning to stock his books. His Boing-Boing movie and television shows, already reruns, will probably become reruns and re-reruns. Dr. Seuss has resisted offers for a television show of his own, but his animals may make those offers irresistibly bigger. One million dollars ought to be easy. Meanwhile, Dr. Seuss is working on still more strange animals for his 200.

Don't just sit there reading this column; Go invent the NEXT toy sensation!

Squabble Could Cost Los Angeles Demo Convention

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A squabble that could cost Los Angeles the 1960 Democratic National Convention neared a showdown today.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler warned that unless a convention ticket dispute is settled by Monday he will start looking for another site.

Ask Charlotte's Stations To Avoid Cutback

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Gov. Hodges and the City School Board have asked Charlotte's two television stations to try to avoid cutting down on time devoted to educational TV this fall.

Officials of WSOC-TV and WFTV had said they each could offer only one-half hour for classes taught by television for school children. And they said it would be the same half hour. So only one subject, American history, could be taught by TV to the pupils who depend on the Charlotte stations.

Last year, the two stations offered a total of 1 1/2 hours, at different times. The signals were received here and at Shelby, Gastonia, Hickory and Albemarle, N.C., and Chester, Gaffney, Clover, Duncan and Inman, S.C.

Charlotte stations also relayed the signal from WUNC-TV at the University of North Carolina to WLOS-TV in Asheville and WSJS-TV in Winston-Salem for broadcast to schools in their areas.

Larry Walker, WSOC-TV vice president, said the station is trying to work something out. "But right now," he said, "I don't know what can be done."

ler talked by telephone Wednesday, said he expects a compromise will be worked out by Saturday.

But, Hahn said, if that fails a new group is ready to finance the convention.

"I learned from a very high Democratic official that another group is ready to put up the $350,000 to underwrite the convention," Hahn said. "It is willing to accept the 1,500 tickets offered by Butler."

He would not identify the Democratic official for the group.

The ruckus started when oilman Edwin Pauley, chairman of the host committee, demanded 5,000 daily tickets to help pay of the $350,000 guarantee. He later agreed to a compromise of 3,123 tickets suggested by Los Angeles Mayor Norris Paulson.

Butler insisted that many tickets would not be available after necessary demands were met.

He said in Washington he would not budge from the 1,500-ticket allotment.

Pauley, contacted from Mexico City, stuck to his demand for 3,123. As far as he is concerned, the oilman added, the dispute was "settled a long time ago." He declined to comment when asked if there was a chance the host committee would back down further on the number of tickets.

The newly built sports arena in downtown Los Angeles is the scheduled site of the convention. The arena has a seating capacity of about 17,000. About 3,500 delegates are expected.

Because of the dispute, ticket allotments for the state delegations have not been completed.

Hahn, speaking of compromise possibilities, said he expects Pauley and Butler "will give a little."

Of Butler's statement that he wants the dispute settled by Monday, Hahn said: "It was no ultimatum. The National Committee simply has to begin making convention plans and can't be embroiled forever in a ticket hassle. Its position has been clear from the outset."

Miami Beach quickly made plain it was eager to jump back into the convention picture. Mayor Kenneth Oka said: "If they even suggest the possibility again of holding it here, we will come running. Miami Beach can show them a convention the likes of which they have never seen before. The door is still open."

Army Recordings For Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has presented a free record album to every congressman.

The music is by the Army Band, and one of the features is "The Congressional Honors March."

In a dedication on the record cover, Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker writes "it is our hope that this music will be an audible symbol of the bond which exists between the Congress and the Army."

Social Season Is 'Cancelled'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has canceled its formal social affairs for the 1959-60 season because of a heavy international schedule this fall and winter for President Eisenhower.

The President previously had cut down on the state dinners and White House receptions. Last year there were only five state dinners.

But there still will be official White House entertainment for foreign dignitaries making state visits.

Mary Jane McCaffree, Mrs. Eisenhower's secretary who announced the cancellations, said these would provide an opportunity to include diplomats and others among the guests.

Next Marine Commandant Is Tough, Uses Few Words

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. David Monroe Shoup, selected to be the new commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, is a tough Marine of few words. He didn't talk his way to the top.

A quick look at the record tells how he got there.

The citation which went with the Medal of Honor he won in World War II makes it clear he's a Marine's Marine. It reads in part: "He was shocked by an exploding shell, suffered from a painful leg wound and was exposed to terrific fire... but rallied his hesitant troops and led them across the reefs to reinforce hard-pressed, thinly held U. S. lines. "Once ashore... took command of all troops, worked without rest under fire for two days... conducted smashing successful attacks against strong and fanatically defended Japanese positions."

Shoup, now 54, won the Medal of Honor as a colonel while commanding the 2nd Regiment of the 2nd Marine Division against the Japanese at Betio Island in 1943. This was perhaps the most bitterly contested island at Tarawa Atoll in the Gilberts.

Shoup's reputation in the Corps as a man of few words keyed his first meeting with reporters after Wednesday's announcement that on Jan. 1 he would succeed Gen. Randolph McC. Fite, who is retiring at the end of this year.

Reporters, noting that he wears glasses, asked whether he was near or far sighted. He answered: "Both."

Asked about his favorite hobby, he gave reporters another one-word reply: "Shooting."

Shooting at what? The general didn't say.

But when pressed for more information about this interest,

Shoup said that when he heard recently that a Marine marksmanship team had won a championship, he felt so "exhilarated that I went out and fired 30 rounds in the air."

Beyond that, his recreational interests run to chess, checkers, billiards, poker and golf. That's the order in which he named them.

He is known in the Corps as an officer who can be tough on inefficiency, and who doesn't waste words any more than he would permit. The Marines to waste money while he was fiscal director and inspector general of the Corps.

The son of a farmer, Shoup was born Dec. 30, 1904, in Indiana. His home town is aptly named Battle Ground. He entered military service in 1926 after graduation from DePauw University in his home state.

Shoup has served with the Marines in many parts of the world and was one of the first Marines to go overseas in World War III. He has commanded the 1st and 3rd Marine Divisions. Three months ago he was named commanding general of the 2nd Marine Division at Parris Island, S.C.

Congress Hopes Adjourn Before Khrushchev Arrives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration apparently will be happy if Congress goes home before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev comes to town. That is the definite impression Vice President Richard M. Nixon has obtained from his Capitol Hill associates. Many members of Congress have let it be known they hope Congress will have finished its work before Khrushchev arrives Sept. 15. The adjournment date still is uncertain.

Nixon and other administration leaders apparently believe that if the legislators have returned to their homes, blasts by individual members will be less likely to draw national attention. A concentration of adverse remarks, they feel, could create embarrassing incidents while Khrushchev is in Washington and touring the country at President Eisenhower's invitation.

Meantime the verbal reactions to Khrushchev's forthcoming visit continued.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), the assistant Senate Republican leader, said in an interview he thinks Americans "have been told quite enough times now to be courteous to Mr. Khrushchev."

"Americans will be courteous," he said, "but we don't roll over and play dead for anybody. We need not apologize for demonstrating, courteously of course, our hatred of enslaving peoples, by communism or otherwise."

Church Session At Falcon Is Set

FALCON, N. C.—Ministers and lay delegates from churches of the North Carolina Conference of the Pentecostal Holiness Church will assemble here for the three-day-long 49th annual session beginning Friday, August 21.

The Rev. W. Eddie Morris of Goldsboro, conference superintendent of the denomination, has announced that the Rev. Joseph A. Eyan, D. D., of Hopewell, Va., presiding bishop of the Pentecostal Holiness Church, will be presiding officer at this annual session.

Under the two-year system of pastoral assignments, there will be very few changes in ministerial appointments. These will be to fill vacancies resulting from the death of a pastor or where advancement of some ministers is deemed advisable.

Also, officers elected at the 1958 session will continue to serve for the ensuing year. The conference is likely to consider plans for observance of the 50th anniversary of the organization of the conference during 1960.

Committees have been appointed by the conference board and their reports will be received on Friday and Saturday of the conference weekend.

Ministers admitted to full connection in the conference will be administered the rites of ordination in a special service to be conducted by Bishop Eyan on Sunday, August 23, at 2:30 p.m., preceding the conference World Missions Rally.

VEOTES PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed invitation to Red China Premier Chou En-lai to visit the United States has been vetoed by President Eisenhower, says Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore). Porter, prompted by the coming visit of Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev, had suggested a similar exchange of visits between Chou and the President.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) said in a prepared Senate speech that while he does not object to a meeting between Eisenhower and Khrushchev "let there be no cheers for the Red dictator, no crowds assembled to greet him, no flattery or flowers."

Dodd, who has announced he would move to adjourn the Senate if an effort were made to bring Khrushchev into the chamber, said he thinks "bringing Khrushchev to this country is a dreadful wrong."

"It is bound to hurt us and the causes we represent," he said.

A proposal by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) that Eisenhower introduce Khrushchev for a speech to the Senate drew immediate opposition from Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio).

Lausche said nothing could be gained by anybody by having the Soviet leader reiterate his views.

NOTICE OF SALE FOR TAXES

Under and by virtue of the power vested in me by the laws of the State of North Carolina, particularly Chapter 310 of the Public Laws of 1939, as amended, and pursuant to an order of Pitt County Board of Commissioners, I will offer for sale and will sell at public auction for cash to the highest bidder, at the courthouse door in Greenville at 12 o'clock noon on Thursday the 3rd day of September, 1959, liens upon the real estate described below for the non-payment of taxes owing for the year 1958, the name of the owner or person who listed the real estate for taxes, the real estate which is subject to the lien, and the amount of the lien being set out below. Reference is made to the records in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County and in the office of the Tax Supervisor for more particular description of said real estate, and notice is hereby given that the amount of the liens set out below are subject to the addition of penalties as provided by law, and the cost of sale.

This 6th day of August, 1959.

Steel Industry Reportedly Has Rejected Price Cut Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The steel industry, it was reported today, has rejected a suggestion that it cut steel prices $10 a ton in lieu of granting a wage increase in the current strike situation.

The suggestion was made by Rep. Chester A. Bowles (D-Conn.) in a letter to President Eisenhower, who in turn had it referred directly to Chairman Roger Blough of the U.S. Steel Corp.

Blough is said to have turned down the idea on the ground that in settling the monthlong strike, the steel companies are going to have to give the strikers some sort of wage increase anyway.

So far the industry's position is that it cannot, in the public interest, increase steel labor costs and thus spur inflation. The striking United Steelworkers contend that this is an attempt to reverse traditional American economic policy that workers are entitled to regular sharing in profits.

Bowles told a reporter if the industry went along with his proposals, he felt sure the steelworkers' union would have to abandon its wage increase demands in the public interest. Bowles was the government's World War II price administrator.

"The effect of a steel price cut would help the entire economy," Bowles said. "It would probably mean that prices of new 1960 automobiles would have to be lower too."

"We've just gotten out of the habit of cutting prices. But once started the idea would catch on."

With steel negotiations continuing in a complete stalemate in New York, other facets of the situation became known.

1. The administration has no intention of invoking the Taft-Hartley law's national emergency provisions at least until Sept. 15 or Oct. 1. Officials are convinced there will be no sizable steel shortage until then.

2. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who is studying the strike situation as a fact-finder for Eisenhower, has conferred several times with top figures in the steel companies and striking union.

3. The union is convinced that with no settlement likely the government soon will have to intervene, either by invoking Taft-Hartley other method.

Graduating At Nursing School

WINSTON-SALEM — Barbara Allen Nobles (above) of Greenville is among the 55 members of this year's graduating class of the North Carolina Baptist Hospital School of Nursing.

Diplomas will be presented by Brantley C. Booe of Winston-Salem, chairman of the board of trustees of the hospital, at commencement exercises to be held Sunday afternoon, Dr. Douglas M. Branch of Raleigh, executive secretary of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, will speak.

Miss Nobles is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Nobles of 1308 Cotten Road, Greenville, and was graduated from Greenville High school in the Class of 1956. She has accepted a position at Pitt County Memorial in Greenville.

Space Monkey To Be Married

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—The Navy is planning to get a husband for Miss Baker, the half-pound monkey which made history as one of the country's first space travelers.

And a brand new home is being built here for the prospective couple—a home that is swank enough for a honeymoon cottage, though not much larger than a couple of telephone booths.

But the Navy's cupid—playing role is largely scientific rather than romantic.

The "marriage" was disclosed today to a reporter checking on the status and future prospects of the tiny, goggle-eyed squirrel monkey that survived a 1,700-mile-long, 360-mile-high, 10,000-mile-an-hour ride through space May 28.

The Navy is interested in a romance for Miss Baker because scientists at the Naval School of Aviation Medicine here want to find out if the monkey's space flight could result in "any abnormalities in reproduction" due to possible radiation exposure.

The room being prepared for Miss Baker and her bridegroom is seven feet wide, five feet deep and seven and one-half feet high. The walls and ceiling are covered with formica; there is a tile floor; and there will be special lighting and air conditioning.

It looks like a young bride's dream.

RISKY THEFT
GADSDEN, Ala. (AP)—It was only a routine building check, so police officers H. K. Downey and J. W. Brock didn't worry when they left their patrol car. But when they returned it was gone. Fifteen minutes later the embarrassed officers found the car parked in front of a nearby cafe.

Pleading Guilty To Arson Effort

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—An 18-year-old library page boy will plead guilty Friday to charges of setting a $30,000 fire in an art museum and scrawling swastikas on Jewish synagogues, authorities say.

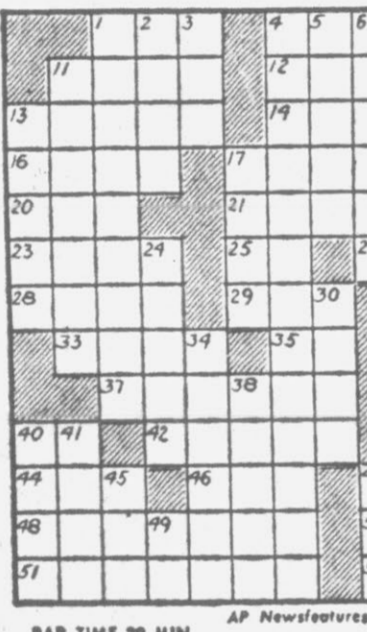

Solicitor General John Land described the youth, Richard V. Smith Jr., who likes to read Nazi philosophy, as "very intelligent but misguided."

Land said Smith would be allowed to enter guilty pleas to charges of second and third-degree arson, which carry prison terms of 1-10 and 1-3 years respectively; and two counts of malicious mischief.

Arrest Boys

Greenville police yesterday arrested four juveniles on charges of breaking, entering and larceny in connection with the theft of a small amount of money on two occasions this month from Concrete Products Co., 1727 Smith St.

According to Detective H. F. Lawson, the youths ranged in age from nine to 14 and admitted entering the building August 2, and August 9.

On August 2, the youths allegedly took three or four dollars in change from a desk drawer in the office and last Sunday the boys are accused of taking about a dollars worth of peanut butter, crackers and candy and 50c in change.

According to the officers, the youths have been turned over to juvenile authorities for action.

Nematode Topic For Field Meet

A field meeting on the latest nematode control procedure will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock on the P.M. Moore Farm.

The farm is located one mile south of Greenville on the Hooker Road.

F. A. Todd, extension plant pathologist, will explain the procedure for making root readings for nematode damage to the tobacco root systems. He will also explain a nematode control procedure for individual farms based on the root reading index.

"Several farmers have discontinued the practice of soil fumigation for nematode control on tobacco fields on their farms," Assistant County Agent S. J. Weeks said. "This was a correct decision for some fields, but for other fields a mistake was made by not fumigating."

"By attending this meeting farmers can get complete information on the procedure for making nematode root readings and planning the most practical nematode control program for the tobacco fields on their farms."

Unique Jail May Now Get Its Bars

LANCASTER, Wis. (AP)—When the Grant County Jail opened here in 1958 it gained considerable publicity as one of the few in the Midwest without bars.

Recently a special Grant County Jail Committee was formed. Its purpose: To study the feasibility of putting bars on the jail in view of two attempted and one successful escape during the past year.

Plastic Surgeon Claims 'Help' Given Japan's Miss Universe

TOKYO (AP)—A Tokyo plastic surgeon said today he gave a bust-enlarging plastic injection to Akiko Kojima before she won the Miss Japan and Miss Universe contests.

"Miss Kojima is just one of many such Japanese beauties who received plastic surgeon's treatments. A number of famous Japanese actresses also received similar operations," Dr. Toshizo Matsui said in an interview.

But Miss Kojima's mother today angrily denied the report.

"It's a lie. I have never taken her to such a place," Mrs. Hisako Kojima said.

Matsui was not available for immediate comment on Mrs. Kojima's denial.

He confirmed a Tokyo newspaper report that Miss Kojima, a Tokyo fashion model had liquid plastic injected into her bosom at Matsui's hospital.

A spokesman for the newspaper Sankai Shimbun, sponsor of the Miss Japan contest, said the report is unfounded. "We have seen her for the past four years, and there was no need for her to get bust surgery of any kind," he said. "We are still studying the report."

The doctor said the 24-year-old beauty came to his clinic a short time before the Miss Japan contest in June. He said he didn't measure her bust, but when she won the Universe title in Long Beach, Calif., last month her statistics were 37-23-38.

Miss Kojima is due here Friday.

The newspaper Sports Nippon reported: "The operation is simple but painful. A coffee cupful of liquid plastic is injected into the bosom. In order not to injure the bosom, the injection is done by one shot. The operation takes only one hour with local anesthetics. When the anesthetic wears off, the part aches."

A spokesman for the American Medical Assn. said bust-enlarging injections and operations are not common in the United States.

He said doctors generally have frowned upon insertion of liquid plastic, wax or any foreign matter into the body. They regard such substances as a possible cause of breast cancer.

The spokesman reported that a few plastic surgeons in the United States have increased bust size through operations in which a solid, spongy piece of plastic is inserted beneath the breast.

Sox Pitchers Falter But Still Winning

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

At the start of the year the Chicago White Sox were given an outside chance at the pennant because of only one thing—their strong pitching staff.

Sox 2 1/2 games ahead of Cleveland, a 9-5 winner over Kansas City. Boston defeated Baltimore 5-4 and Washington nipped New York 3-2.

Today the first-place White Sox are a slud favorite to represent the American League in the World Series—despite their pitching.

Milwaukee moved into second place in the National League race, defeating Cincinnati 6-4 while the Chicago Cubs were outslugging the Los Angeles Dodgers 11-8. Pittsburgh whipped Philadelphia 6-2.

Only Early Wynn of the highly touted Big Five—Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan, Ruy Moore, Barry Latman and Wynn—has been pitching as advertised. He has a 15-7 record.

Latman started for the White Sox but left under fire in the fourth when Detroit scored four times to overcome a 3-0 Chicago lead. Staley halted the Tigers and picked up his fifth relief victory when the White Sox scored eight runs in the fifth and sixth on only three hits. Serm Lollar's three-run homer was the big blow. Lowm pitched the last three innings.

Pierce is 12-12. Donovan, plagued by arm miseries is 7-5 and hasn't pitched since July 21. Moore is 2-6 and Latman 5-4.

Gar Bell, who went the route for Cleveland with an eight-hitte4 for his 13th triumph. The Indians whacked five Kansas City pitchers for 15 hits, including home runs by Minnie Minoso, Jim Baxes and Russ Nixon.

What's keeping them up there then? The answer lies in their speed, their defense, their ability to win the close games—and their bullpen aces, Gerry Staley and Turk Lown.

The Senators, who had won only one of their last 13 games, snapped the Yankees' six-game winning streak although they made only four hits. One of them was a home run by pinch hitter Julio Becquer. It came with two on in the eighth to overcome a 2-0 Yankee lead. Ryne Duren, in relief of Art Ditmar, threw the home run ball.

Staley and Lown figured prominently in Wednesday's 11-6 triumph over Detroit which kept the game series. The victory widened Raleigh's league lead to five games. Each team has 18 games left to play.

A ninth-inning home run by Gary Geiger broke a 4-4 tie and gave Ike DeLoach and the Red Sox their uphill victory.

Lefty Phil Klier pitched a six-hitter to lead Durham to a 6-0 victory over Burlington. It was Burlington's sixth loss in its last seven games.

Winston-Salem shoved across an eighth inning run to break a 5-5 tie and added an extra run in the ninth to beat Greensboro 7-5.

Tonight's games: Greensboro at Durham, Burlington at Wilson and Raleigh at Winston-Salem.

Only 25 years from now, the Bureau of Mines estimates the United States may need twice as much oil and twice as much natural gas as the country now uses.

The tournament will be played Saturday and Sunday at the Edge worth Club in nearby Sewickley, Pa. The American team began practicing Tuesday.

"Our girls will reach a peak by the end of the week," Miss Hopps said.

US Girls In Top Shape

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Despite a late start in practice, Janet Hopps of the U.S. Wightman Cup team believes her squad will be in top shape for the weekend tournament against the British tennis stars.

The tournament will be played Saturday and Sunday at the Edgeworth Club in nearby Sewickley, Pa. The American team began practicing Tuesday.

"We have the kind of club that could go either way," he explained. "We lost quite a few men but we have a good bunch of aggressive sophomores. And we like our rookie crop, especially some of those big linemen and fullback Nick Pietrosante."

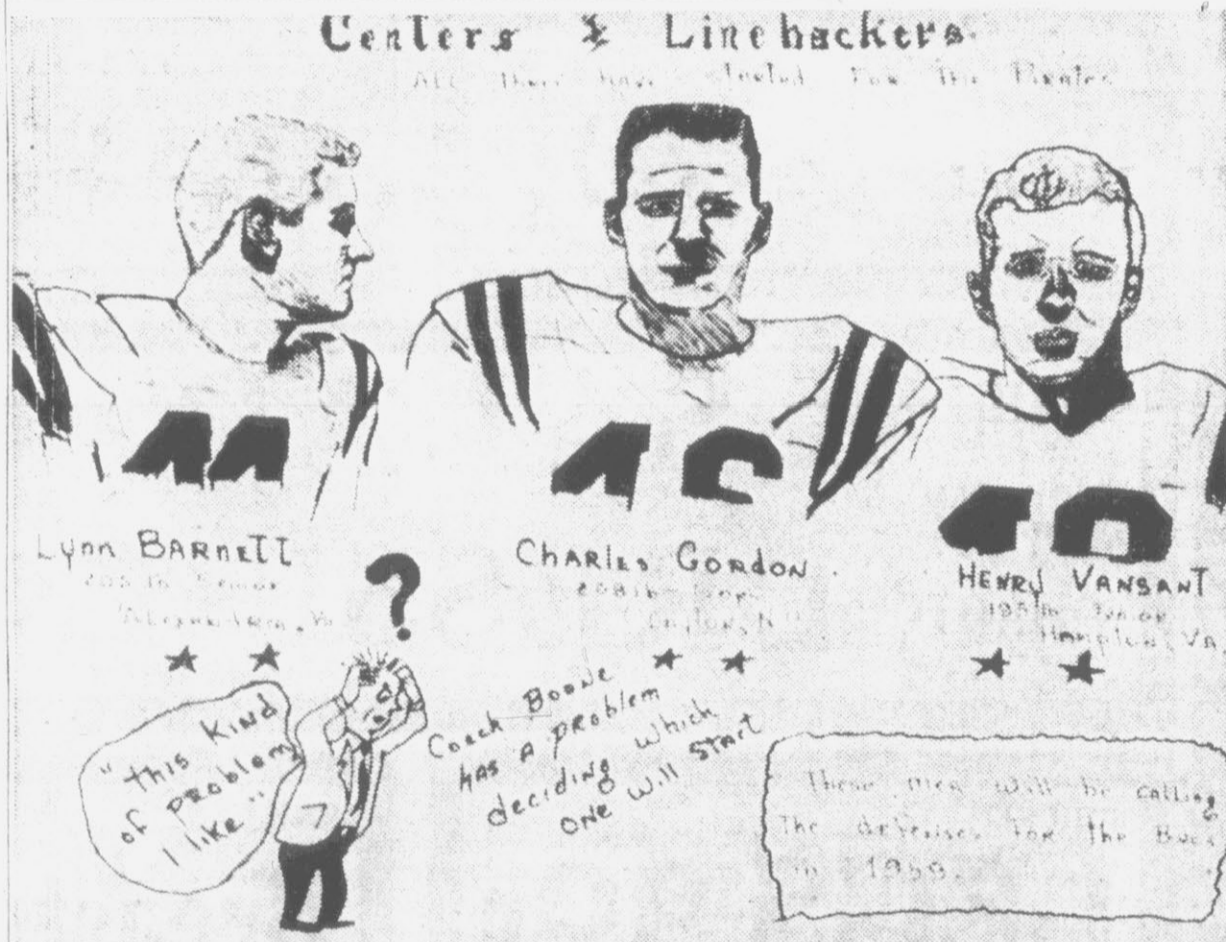

Wilson is inclined to believe the life will be with his club.

Indications are that the Lions, who had a shabby 4-7-1 record last year, are blessed with fine ends and a good defense. Big question marks in camp now are the offensive line and the scoring punch, or lack of it.

Rote, 31-year-old veteran of nine NFL campaigns, was off-stride last season after taking over the No. 1 quarterback spot by himself when the club dealt off Bobby Layne to Pittsburgh.

Rote said his trouble stemmed from an aching shoulder. Off-season surgery repaired the damage and Rote is confident of a good season. Challenging him for the job are Earl Morrall and Jerry Reichow.

The Lions' ground offense was one of the league's weakest last season. Johnson hobbled around all year with an assortment of injuries and the rest of the runners were so ineffective that Rote himself was the club's leading ground gainer with 351 yards gained.

When Team Is On Road Game Strategy Discussed

ON THE ROAD By Coach Jack Boone

As we leave Greenville, the boys start taking their coats and ties off and get comfortable. There is a lot of talking going on, some are reading books and newspapers and some have their ears to a radio.

It is now Friday, and the manager is knocking on the doors and awakening the boys for their long trip by bus to Clinton, South Carolina. Breakfast is at 7:00 o'clock so they'll have to eat in a hurry—everybody is up for breakfast—they'll have to go back by their rooms for their suitcase—bus arrives at gym around seven o'clock. The managers are busy putting gear on. The coaches are checking to see that everybody is ready. The door of the bus is closed by the bus operator, Roy Parker of Raleigh. He has been driving for us for the past five years. During this time we've had only one narrow escape on a trip. I was dozing in the front seat when I heard a boy holler—I looked on my left side, I saw a train coming through the woods—it was really bearing down on us. Since we could not stop, Roy (the driver) guined the bus and the train took the paint off the back of the bus!!!! For several minutes no one could say a word, for it sure was close.

A lot of responsibility is on these boys shoulders and in the meantime Coach Medigan is talking to his defensive quarterbacks. This is a good chance to talk to each boy personally and assure him that he is ready and will do a good job.

College All-Stars Taper Off For Friday's Game

Graham Will Not Use Unit Substitution

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
 CHICAGO (AP) — Head Coach Otto Graham has discarded the unit substitution strategy and will insert his All Star collegians on an individual basis against the Baltimore Colts Friday night.

The National Football League champion Colts are 16-point favorites to gain the 16th pro victory against eight collegiate triumphs in the series. Two of the games were tied.

Soldier Field is the setting for the summer football classic and upward of 75,000 fans are expected. It will be telecast and broadcast by ABC starting at 8:30 p.m. EST.

Graham put the final polish on his squad under the Soldier Field lights Wednesday night. The Colts arrive today and also will have a private practice at night in the huge lakefront arena.

Graham's new substitution tactics are a reversal of the unit system he used last year in the All Star's 35-19 record offensive display against the Detroit Lions. Observers say his decision to spell offensive and defensive players frequently, until all able bodied men on his squad of 49 have had a turn, indicates his manpower is not as deep as last year.

The starting quarterback spot is unsettled, Graham saying that all four of his candidates are good and leave little leeway to base a choice.

The quartet includes Lee Grosscup of Utah, Buddy Humphrey of Baylor, Bob Newman of Washington State and Bob Placeck of Michigan. Tulane's Dick Pettibon is also a fine offensive threat but will be used only on defense.

There is little question but that the All Stars will fill the air with passes with such fine receivers as Buddy Dial of Rice, Rich Kreitling of Illinois, Dave Sherer of Southern Methodist and Boyd Dowler of Colorado as targets.

Sports Scope

by Johnny Hudson

Coach Bud Phillips, Rose High football mentor, has high praise for former halfback Charles Roberts. The shifty runner was a regular on the 1958 Rose High club at left halfback and will enroll at East Carolina College this fall.

Phillips rates the scatback as a good college prospect. "He was one of the best backs in the conference last fall," states the Greenville coach.

Not First To Make Good

Roberts should have an outstanding future in a Pirate uniform but he will not be the first Greenville prep back to make good at the local college.

Greenville has supplied Coach Jack Boone with some outstanding backs in the past. Bobby Perry and James Speight rank as a couple of all-time ECC stand-outs.

Perry graduated last fall after finishing his final year in flying colors, gaining a spot on the All-Conference eleven. Speight will be back for his final fling this fall and bearing no injuries, the Greenville flash should stop at no less than All-State laurels.

Following in the footsteps of Perry and Speight is Mack Roebuck, former Greenie quarterback who showed plenty of improvement during the past year. Now, Roberts will join the ranks.

The college has been blessed in being able to lure the outstanding local stars. Boone and his staff have been well rewarded with their efforts.

Phillips Is In The Best Shape

The new football season is just around the corner and for the high school gridders, their days of relaxation and loafing are over.

Most of the state prep schools will open their drills Saturday and others will delay the opening day until Monday. But by the end of next week, there will be some weary youths around the state.

Phillips will launch his season Saturday morning. His work is cut out as the Greenies take on a strong Ahsokie outfit September 11th. It is the first season that Ahsokie would play Greenville and reports state that they expect to field one of their strongest teams in many years.

Fifteen lettermen will be on hand for the opening workout Saturday morning and the Greenville mentor feels that he is starting in better condition this year than in any of the other seasons that he has been here.

Injuries Can Be Fatal

It is quite a job in rebuilding or building a football power—especially in such a strong conference as the Northeastern AAA. A lot of patience is involved and an over-all scope is necessary.

The work of Phillips started to show in the latter part of the 1958 season when the Phantoms finished strong. With a strong nucleus returning, they could take over where they left off and give Rose High one of its most interesting clubs in years.

Yet, several key injuries during the early part of the season could be disastrous.

Gifted Gifford by Pap'

Allie Sherman has returned to the New York football Giants as offensive strategist, succeeding Vince Lombardi who left to take over as head coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers. Sherman established himself as a bright young architect of offensive plays back in the days when Steve Owen coached the Giants. Now, he's back to do the same job for Coach Jim Lee Howell. You can bet Sherman has a bag full of new tricks—backs flowing opposite the ball, reverses, roll-outs, wide stuff and lots of passing.

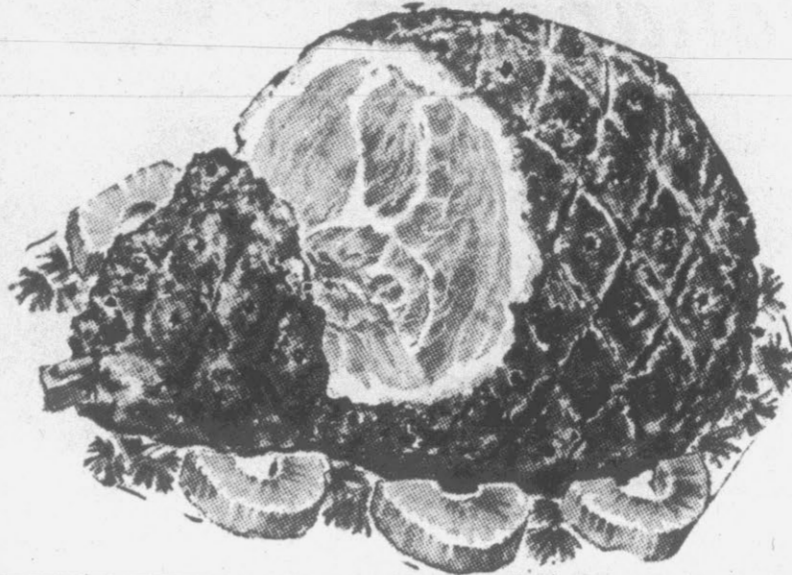

Sherman's ace-in-the-hole is an attempt to make a quarterback out of All-Pro halfback Frank Gifford, a bit of strategy designed at giving the Giants greater versatility and striking power at all backfield positions. Allie is a strong Gifford roofer. If Gifford can throw out of the pocket as well as he has thrown on the run, he'll make it. The idea of switching to quarterback is Gifford's own plan. Frank figures the switch would add four or five years to his playing days in the National Football League. With this notion in mind, Gifford worked all summer on ball-handling and passing at his home in Bakersfield, Calif. He pressed several Bakersfield Junior College players into service to get as much practice as possible.

"I threw footballs until my arm almost fell off," said Gifford, "but I think I made a lot of progress. I'm going to give quarterbacking a real whirl and I am confident that I can make it."

Two Chevy middleweights prove their rawhide stamina!

Top hands on high-country hauls!

Ask any trucker who's been over Wolf Creek Pass, 10,850 feet up in the San Juans: a 9-mile pull to the summit and low gear all the way down. Mr. C. H. Phillips of Alamosa, Colorado, has a 6403 and a 6503 Chevrolet truck that are up over this route the year round, taking sheep and beef to pasture, later marketing the stock in Denver. In less than a year, his Chevy middleweights have averaged about 50,000 miles of this kind of treatment—and they're going stronger than ever! Watch Chevy trucks at work out in range country. It's a sight to see the way they pack into high-up mountain pastures and handle through brush and rock like a cowman's favorite cutting horse. Take any truck work for that matter. Chevy middleweights probably handle a bigger variety of jobs than any trucks alive. About anything you name, including work that used to be reserved strictly for bigger rigs. When a truck's built the way a Chevy is, lean-muscled and rawhide-tough, it takes to ugly trails the same way most trucks roll over the highway. It just keeps going, without a big to-do, but looking good every mile of the way. How they do it is your Chevrolet dealer's department. He'll be glad to supply details and specifications on the type of models you need.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

Nancy Has A Job In Proving Can Emote

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"The biggest problem I have is convincing producers I want to act. They wonder where they have heard the name Nancy Valentine. Then they say, 'Oh, yes, she was the Maharajah of Cooch Behar. She must be so rich that acting is just a hobby.'"

Found A Hotter Place In Dryer

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—It was hot out in the sun but 6-year-old Philip Flannigan found a hotter place.

While his parents worked in their garden, he climbed into an automatic clothes dryer, the type which starts when the door is closed.

Philip closed the door. A short time later, an older brother heard him bumping around in the machine and pulled him out.

Except for being pretty hot and shaken up a bit, Philip wasn't hurt.

UPSET BY GREED
NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—The sign in the window of a specialty shop read: Shoplifters Are Welcome But Please Don't Be Greedy. The owner reported to police that thieves broke in and stole $1,200 and 60 coats valued at $3,000.

daughter. And she's making headway: She is now doing her first feature movie.

Nancy is admittedly a publicity-created personality. To the general public—and film producers, too—she is one of those elusive names that pop up in the news and gossip columns.

"But can she act?" "I've appeared on hundreds of TV shows," she says, "but producers always ask me 'What have you done?' It's disheartening."

Between scenes of movie-making Nancy recounted some of her amazing history. She first came to Hollywood from New York as one of the long parade of Howard Hughes discoveries. She grew restless with inactivity and became an acting hopeful for David Selznick and Mervyn Leroy.

Enter the Maharajah. Their alliance is clouded in legend, but it appears that they met in a Hollywood night club, he fell head over turban for her and took her to India as his wife.

"But India was undergoing an economic shakeup," she said. "If the country recognized our marriage, it would have meant the loss of investments that the royalty had in banks overseas. About this time, my relations with the Maharajah were getting a little shaky anyway, so I decided to call it off."

She returned to Hollywood and three years later married wealthy Frederick Tillinghast III. This broke up after two years and one daughter. Now at 31, Nancy Valentine is working hard to make her career catch up with her publicity.

Hans Conried Bemused By Aspects Of 'Personality'

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Hans Conried was brooding the other day over the new phenomenon of "personality" as introduced to modern life by American television.

After years of steady employment as a perfectly respectable actor (everything from Shakespearean roles to mad scientists) Conried went on the Jack Paar Show and quite soon found himself a "personality."

"At first I felt naked," he recalled. "There I was, Conried playing Conried, with no role to hide behind. I had to talk, and that wasn't too hard, of course I've been talking since I was a year old. Then, I guess, I began creating the personality of Hans Conried, a role to hide behind."

But who, asked a fellow, really is Conried? What is he? Conried fixed his dark eyes on the fellow somberly and offered an item, a clue: The true Conried lives happily with his wife and two sons in a large California house that contains 7,000 books, most of which he's read. But he refused to divulge anything further about the secret life of Hans Conried except that he wants another bookcase in his house and there doesn't seem to be room for it.

Conried has become a "personality" thanks to his appearances on the Paar show and other TV panel programs. But it hasn't hurt his professional career as an actor. In fact, his career has been enhanced, with more offers for better roles.

Next Sunday, for example, he will co-star with William Bendix in "The Ransom of Red Chief," an NBC-TV special which also features Mickey Rooney's 9-year-old son, Teddy.

A new idea in network programming comes on ABC-TV Oct. 18 in a weekly half-hour series called "Championship Bridge with Charles Goren."

In the Sunday programs Goren won't teach you to play, but he'll offer tips to make you a better player—if you'll concentrate on it.

Two teams of players will go four hands during each half-hour program. The actual contests, played in a studio, will be observed by Goren and Alex Drier from another studio so that their comments won't disturb the players.

Rock Hudson will make his TV debut as host and star of a 90-minute special on CBS-TV Oct. 8. Other stars signed for the variety program include Tallulah Bankhead, Sammy Davis Jr., Mort Sahl and Esther Williams.

Big New Radar Program Sought

OTTAWA (AP)—The defense ministers of the United States and Canada have agreed that a big new radar program is needed to plug the gaps in North America's "Pinetree" warning system. The expansion is expected to cost at least 100 million dollars.

Agreement in principle was reached in talks Tuesday between Neil McElroy of the United States and Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes of Canada. The Canadian Cabinet still must approve the plan. The United States would foot at least two-thirds of the bill for the project.

Continued Rains Harming Crops

RALEIGH (AP)—Continued rainfall last week caused some deterioration in the Tar Heel tobacco and cotton crops, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said today.

Condition of tobacco in the Eastern and Border belts ranged from poor to good. Most reports described it as fair to good.

On the Old and Middle belts, tobacco was listed in good condition, except for a few scattered areas in which it was either fair or very good.

Normal harvesting progress was reported in most localities. Harvest of the Border Belt crop was almost completed and a large amount of Eastern Belt tobacco also was picked.

Farmers in the Old and Middle belts made ample progress. About one-fourth of their crop was taken in by the end of the week.

The rains also brought further harm to the cotton crop. Most of the crop, however, remained in good condition.

Reports on corn and peanut crops were optimistic.

Beaten To Death For Her Crying

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Police say a teen-age boy beat his 2-year-old step-sister to death because he couldn't stand her crying. Fussell Harris, 16, goes before Juvenile Court today for a preliminary hearing on a murder charge in the death of little Nadine Leary.

Police quoted Harris as saying he beat Nadine when she cried while he was baby-sitting with her Tuesday night.

MORE ACCIDENTS?
PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A traffic safety expert says automatic cars are making it possible for more accidents to happen, shouldn't.

Allen E. Hawkes, state supervisor of research and highway safety promotion, told the Kiwanis Club automatic transmissions, power steering, power brakes and other improvements make driving possible for too many people who shouldn't.

A Dictator? Castro Just Doesn't Permit Any Doubts

EDITOR'S NOTE: In this second article of a series of three, William L. Ryan, Associated Press Foreign News Analyst, gives some answers to the question of whether another dictatorship is likely in Cuba. Ryan has just conducted a new survey of developments in Cuba since he was last there as the Batista dictatorship collapsed.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
HAVANA (AP)—It can be unwise for a Cuban to be careless about questions nowadays. He might ask casually of the wrong person: "How do you think things are going these days?" and be told parly: "That's a counter-revolutionary question."

El Jefe Maximo — the topmost leader — of the revolution, Prime Minister Fidel Castro has a strange idea of democracy. To win Cuba seems to represent the purest form of Athenian democracy because the crowds come out at his beck and call to cheer for his leadership.

Castro rails against dictatorships in Latin America, and it is likely he is completely sincere in believing himself a champion of liberty. On the surface there's liberty in Cuba.

A man can talk openly if he chooses. But if he is overheard, he can be in for trouble. A news man can print what he wants without a censor looking over his shoulder. But when it appears in print he can find himself in hot water.

There seems little prospect for free elections in Cuba for years—nor is there much prospect for formation of real opposition political activity.

Castro, however, does not appear to relate these things to dictatorship. It's just that he does not seem to permit Cubans any doubt about the road they're traveling.

Some aspects of the developing revolution have an ugly look, though on the surface they might appear innocent enough.

For example, there are the "Patrullas Juveniles"—the youth patrols. On the surface these are little more than Boy Scout-type organizations devoted to fine and patriotic ideals. But underneath they seem something else again.

The youth patrol made its appearance in olive drab uniforms in the big parade celebrating the July 26 anniversary of Castro's movement. The boys were executing a curious little twisted goose-step. They are part of Castro's revolution.

The "Patrullas Juveniles de la Policia Revolucionaria" is billed as an organization intended to "help the police." The youths in the patrol are supposed to inform the police of what happens in their neighborhoods.

In the old days under Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship, such a person would have been called a "chivato"—meaning a little bleating goat, informer or, to put it in the proper colloquial English, stool pigeon. Now they are being called "young civic citizens."

Up to the present about 27,000 are enrolled in the organization, operating thus far only in Havana under the direction of a dynamic middle-aged woman leader named Caridad Alvarez Alamo. It is supposed to enroll youngsters from 7 to 14 years, but the age actually ranges up to 17 or 18.

Leader Alvarez has been quoted as saying she wants to indoctrinate the boys in "comradeship, courage, class spirit and democratic conscience." This has a melancholy similarity to the regimentation slogans that have become familiar in recent decades. One parent who refused to enroll his son in the organization got a furious reaction and says he expects unpleasant consequences.

Other ominous portents include the notion of many workers, including some sugar cane campesinos, that the revolution permits them to strike at the drop of a hat for the most outlandish demands. While this may be a temporary phase spring from workers' glorying in unaccustomed freedom, it is being used by Communist agtators to foment restiveness.

In some areas Communist-infiltrated unions now are sufficiently powerful to become a clearing-house for the labor force with full control over job assignments and wages.

These are only symptoms. Perhaps much of this will be overcome. On the whole, even among the harassed middle class, there is much well-wishing for Castro's revolution, and much confidence it will succeed in the long run despite gloomy portents.

Tomorrow: Hope Amid Confusion.

Food Is Abundant And Unemployment Is Down

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Cheaper, or at least stable, food prices and the wherewithal to pay them are implied today in two government reports.

One predicts abundant harvests. The other reports record employment as the nation heads into the period that usually sees the lowest volume of unemployment for the year.

A prolonged steel strike could cause layoffs in factories that need the metal. This would cut total consumer incomes. But if settlement can be made by mid-September, unemployment should dwindle further. Any more paychecks would add to the increasing total of personal incomes.

Abundant supplies of most foodstuffs is reported by the Agriculture Department. And the chances for cheaper meats soon are based on two factors: above-average production of feed grains and the steady buildup in livestock herds so that more animals will be shipped to the market this fall and next year.

The corn crop is expected to be the biggest in history, topping last year's record by 10 per cent. The hay crop is larger than the 1948-57 average. The department estimates total production of feed grains as 135 per cent higher than the 1947-49 average.

This means that livestock raisers will have abundant feed for fattening cattle, pigs and lambs. They have been bush building up herds depleted during the drought years. This will soon be pushing more steers into the stockyards. And it should end the policy of recent years of withholding breeding stock.

The hog population seems sure to stay high through the fall and spring. Big corn harvests tend to boost hog production.

Thus meat supplies should grow more plentiful and prices should ease.

After Labor Day—if the steel strike ends in a few more weeks—employment, workweeks and earnings all should rise.

The auto makers will be starting work on the new models. Other manufacturers will be turning out goods for the Christmas and general winter trade. It could mean another boom.

Humming As He Killed His Wife

CLIMAX, N.C. (AP)—Dick Cockerman, 48-year-old tenant farmer, was humming a melody as he walked into the kitchen Wednesday.

"I am going to kill you now," he told his wife Minnie, 47. Their 10 children looked on in terror.

Mrs. Cockerman pleaded with her husband. He had made threats before, and she tried to calm him.

Then Cockerman pointed his .45 caliber pistol at her. As she turned and tried to escape, three bullets struck her in the back, killing her.

The children ran screaming from the house. Cockerman fired a shot into his head and stumbled from the house.

Police found him lying behind a barn near the house. He died four hours later in a hospital at Greensboro, 12 miles away.

Randolph County Coroner Hayden Walker held the deaths were murder and suicide.

County police quoted neighbors as saying Cockerman had often threatened to kill his wife and himself.

The couple's children range in age 5 to 22.

Teacher Is Circus Clown During Summer Months

LOS ANGELES (AP)—School teacher Tom Kelly thinks a teacher should do something really different in the summer. So he's doing it—as a circus clown.

Kelly, 28, has been teaching the fifth grade at Lowville Academy in Powville, N.Y., for six years.

In the summer he hits the road with Cristiani Bros. Circus, which opens here Aug. 20.

It was in 1956 that he got the idea that a circus ring would be a good contrast to a classroom.

"I had always been interested in the theater," he says. "I had done some work in the East, always in character parts."

He wrote of his ambition to Ernesto Cristiani at Sarasota, Fla., and was invited to join up.

"It is fascinating," he says. "We move almost every day. We don't play in a building but under the big top. We live in house trailers and eat in the cookhouse."

Kelly works with an Italian clown, John Bogogh, a veteran of 40 years.

"He's the hobo," Kelly said. "I'm the neat clown. I'm all in white with white makeup. It's an old European style."

Tom's no relation to the famous clown Emmett Kelly.

"I don't even come from a theatrical or circus family," he says. "You might say I came in over the side wall."

Tom says he's found a lot of satisfaction in amusing people.

"In this day and age there just doesn't seem to be enough laughter," he says.

But even under the big top he can't get away from teaching entirely. Each morning he holds class for the circus people's children.

Excitement Over 3 Sonic Booms

RANDOLPH, Mass. (AP)—The pre-dawn stillness of Randolph was shattered today by three explosion-like sounds and a fire alarm.

Hundreds of persons gathered in the business district where fire-fighting equipment pulled up.

But everything was in order. Later, police explained that a patrolman heard the three explosion sounds and at the same time saw what appeared to be smoke coming from one of the stores. He pulled the fire alarm.

The explosions, however, were probably jet planes breaking the sound barrier and what appeared to be smoke was fumes from the store's air-conditioning equipment.

Surveying Beach Area Coverage

RALEIGH (AP)—Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold has launched a survey to determine how many insurance companies providing extended coverage in North Carolina beach areas.

He asked companies which provide extended coverage insurance to fill out a questionnaire stating whether or not they are providing such coverage.

Gold told the companies Wednesday he thought it only fair that all companies carry their proportionate part of extended coverage insurance in the beach area. Extended coverage protects property owners from loss caused by windstorms.

Following devastating hurricanes on the coast in 1954 and 1955 many citizens in beach areas complained that they could not obtain extended coverage insurance.

Gold pointed out that rates for extended coverage insurance were increased last Feb. 2. He said that since the revision "reports have been received that some companies have increased the writing of extended coverage on property in the beach area (and) reports have also been received that other companies have not done so and have cancelled coverage in that area."

TOUGH SADDLE

By MATT STUART

CHAPTER 8

South, some two-thirds of the way from Rosebud Creek to where Burro Creek broke down out of the Saddleback Hills, Nels Madison's Running M range began.

His flat land holding was a strip along the base of the Saddlebacks, spreading some two miles into the plain and reaching south to a point almost due west of the town of Garrison, where the rugged, but passable slopes of the Saddlebacks merged with the sheer and virtually impassable ramparts of the Palisades.

Headquarters of the Running M lay in a little meadow just south of Burro Creek and tucked in close to the hills.

When Link Asbell rode up to the place, Mandy Madison, neat and crisp in starched gingham, was busy with a broom on the wide porch of the ranchhouse. Asbell swung his buckskin to a stop by the steps and touched his hat.

"Morning, Mrs. Madison. Where might I find that bull-voiced husband of yours?"

She paused in her chore, leaned folded arms on her broom and looked at him, gently smiling. There was a touch of Nez Perce Indian in Mandy Madison and it gave her a definite dark charm.

"There," she declared, "speaks the ever practical male. Ranch business—always ranch business. Sue Vincent has had nothing but that, all her life. And Link, a big ranch can make virtual slaves of its people."

"To a man, this can be welcome slavery, for it represents challenge and achievement and a way of earning a living. For a girl, however, who lost a mother while very young and grew up surrounded by men, it could figure out a rougher life than you think. Oh, then changed his mind, quieting the buckskin.

"There's something you can tell me, Mandy. I got troubles. Most of them I got some idea how to handle. But there's one I'd sure appreciate some feminine advice on."

"Which would be about Sue?" guessed Mandy shrewdly.

"That's right. You're just about her best friend and you know her better than anybody else. So maybe you can tell me what the devil's got into her? Sue Vincent is no fool. She's an intelligent girl, too intelligent, I would think, to go on acting the way she's doing."

"You mean, all this feverish running around in search of a good time?"

Asbell nodded. "It's like Hughie Logan says. She doesn't seem to care a lick for anything any more but a continual round of whoop-de-do. But she's the owner of a big and mighty good ranch, Mandy, and it sure seems she'd be more concerned with the affairs of that, than all this other empty hurrah."

The musing smile on Mandy Madison's lips remained.

The musing smile on Mandy Madison's lips remained.

"There," she declared, "speaks the ever practical male. Ranch business—always ranch business. Sue Vincent has had nothing but that, all her life. And Link, a big ranch can make virtual slaves of its people."

"To a man, this can be welcome slavery, for it represents challenge and achievement and a way of earning a living. For a girl, however, who lost a mother while very young and grew up surrounded by men, it could figure out a rougher life than you think. Oh, not in material things, necessarily, but in the gentler values which can be so dear to any woman's heart.

"It was quite natural for Sue to year for some of the kind of social life she goes in for, now. So she's like a spirited colt, free and eager to run."

"I can understand that," Asbell admitted. "But there are limits to all things. I go along with something Tonia Diaz said. Life can't all be fiesta."

"There was something else that Big Five did not give Sue Vincent," Mandy Madison went on. "That was romance. And to a girl like Sue, vibrant and full of eager dreams, romance can mean a very great deal. In her activities now, more than anything else, I think, that is what she is searching for."

"Maybe then," Asbell suggested, a faint touch of bitterness in his tone, "that's why she's seeing so much of Frank Dalmar?"

"Quite likely, and understandable. Frank's an admirer. The fact that he is and that she knows it, offers a certain comfort, a refuge."

"But he's a Dalmar," Asbell said darkly. "Which should cross him off."

Mandy Madison's regard became strictly sober.

"Link, I know you've been a pretty faithful disciple of Mike Vincent's philosophy of life. Also, you've been fairly long-headed in your own judgements. But are you sure you're not now letting some of Mike Vincent's old hates warp that judgment?"

"Frank Dalmar is a Dalmar," Asbell said grimly.

"Link Asbell, that's feudal thinking!" charged Mandy Madison spiritedly. "Just because their respective fathers put in a lifetime of snarling and growling and hating each other is no reason Sue and Frank should feel the same. I say it's to their credit that they run around together. I see nothing wrong with Frank Dalmar. Would you have Sue live like a recluse, not to be seen or spoken to? Sue is a beautiful girl. Or hadn't you noticed?"

"Yes," said Asbell quietly. "I've noticed. It was so the first time I laid eyes on her, back when she was just a kid. She's always been lovely."

To herself, Mandy Madison murmured, "Ah! So that is how it is! Her eyes softened with the thought. Aloud, "Have you ever told her so, Link?"

Color darkened the heavy bronze of Asbell's cheeks as he shook his head.

"That's small talk," he said gruffly. "I'm no hand at it."

"Small talk! Oh, you well-meaning, bumbling idiot. What have you ever told Sue Vincent?"

"Last night I told her Frank Dalmar was to stay off Big Five land from now on."

"Link Asbell — you didn't!"

Mandy Madison's look was one of near horror. "You didn't actually say that to Sue?"

"I said it," Asbell said. "I mean it, too."

"Did I call you a bumbling idiot? All of that!" Mandy said. "Ten times so! That you would say such to a girl as proud as Sue Vincent! I swear, was I in her place, I'd fire you this minute, Link!"

A frown not far removed from a scowl, furrowed Asbell's brow. "Believe it or not, Mandy—I try and ride a balanced, reasonable trail in all things. Here and there along the way I see things. Not it could be that some of these things are imaginary, but I'm certain not all of them are. I was trying to make Sue understand that. Well, thanks for listening to me and giving me your opinion. As the old saying goes—your kindness is only exceeded by your good looks, proving to me that Nels Madison is one of the world's luckiest men. I'm going to look him up now and tell him so."

He touched his hat again, pulled the buckskin around and headed south at a reaching job.

Claim A Tip On Strike's Length

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Steelworkers said today they have a hint how much longer the month-long steel strike will last.

The union found out some time ago, before the strike began, a union official said, that steel company strategists took a lease until Oct. 15 on special strike-use office space in the Chrysler Building in New York.

Only Took Bets From Friends

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Joseph Anton Kaleel has been cleared of bookmaking charges because he only took bets from friends.

Several witnesses told U.S. Judge David W. Ling they made bets with Kaleel on just a friendly basis, not as professional bookmaker and customer.

Kaleel was charged with avoiding the federal use tax for bookmakers. Patrick Coleman, assistant U.S. Atty., said Kaleel handled $50,000 a month in bets.

SHOWN BRITISH

LONDON (AP)—Northern Ireland (P)—The U.S. Navy nuclear submarine Skipjack took 30 British observers for a 12-hour demonstration run today. The Skipjack is on her way to visit England.

The F-105 fighter-bomber can fly 1,300 mph.

"Link Asbell, that's feudal thinking!" charged Mandy Madison spiritedly. "Just because their respective fathers put in a lifetime of snarling and growling and hating each other is no reason Sue and Frank should feel the same. I say it's to their credit that they run around together. I see nothing wrong with Frank Dalmar. Would you have Sue live like a recluse, not to be seen or spoken to? Sue is a beautiful girl. Or hadn't you noticed?"

"Yes," said Asbell quietly. "I've noticed. It was so the first time I laid eyes on her, back when she was just a kid. She's always been lovely."

To herself, Mandy Madison murmured, "Ah! So that is how it is! Her eyes softened with the thought. Aloud, "Have you ever told her so, Link?"

Color darkened the heavy bronze of Asbell's cheeks as he shook his head.

"That's small talk," he said gruffly. "I'm no hand at it."

"Small talk! Oh, you well-meaning, bumbling idiot. What have you ever told Sue Vincent?"

"Last night I told her Frank Dalmar was to stay off Big Five land from now on."

"Link Asbell — you didn't!"

Mandy Madison's look was one of near horror. "You didn't actually say that to Sue?"

"I said it," Asbell said. "I mean it, too."
