

The Wreckage Is Piled High

THE GROWING WRECK HEAP—Patrolmen Howard Winslow, J. B. Surlis and Cpl. T. M. Martin look over the growing heap of wrecked cars at a local junkyard. The Patrol is holding a meeting Tuesday night in an effort to curb the rising toll of traffic accidents in the county.

All-Out Campaign Against Traffic Accidents Slated

An all out campaign to reduce the soaring accident rate in Pitt County will be launched Tuesday night at a meeting of public officials at the Troop A headquarters building here in Greenville.

Representatives of all law enforcement agencies; city, county, and school officials; and representatives of all civic clubs in Pitt, are invited and are urged to attend the 7:30 meeting.

According to Cpl. T. M. Martin, one of the highlights of the meeting will be an explanation of the "point system" by Ed Peters, Driver Training Representative of the N. C. Department of Motor Vehicles from Kinston.

Soviets Launch New Icebreaker

LENINGRAD (AP)—The Soviet atomic-powered icebreaker Lenin was launched today and will set out on test runs within the next 48 hours, the Soviet News Agency said.

The dispatch said the 16,000-ton vessel had left its berth in the admiralty shipyard in Leningrad and headed out into the Neva River.

John Ray Hardy Announced As Director Of United Fund Drive

The Chairman of Pitt County's annual campaign for the newly-organized United Fund is John Ray Hardy, according to an announcement coming from the Fund's president, Dr. Ray D. Minges.

In announcing the appointment, Dr. Minges expressed optimism about the Fund's drive, which is only two weeks away. "We feel our chairman will do a fine job of organizing and directing the drive," he said.

With the Sept. 28 opening date for the campaign just around the corner, Chairman Hardy is busy coordinating a county-wide canvassing program.

This year's campaign for Pitt County's United Fund, which supports eight separate organizations, has set its goal at $107,222.05.

"We should easily reach our goal in a county the size of ours," says Hardy. He points out that the campaign will work "like an umbrella" to completely cover the county's 15 townships.

There been 14 chairmen appointed to conduct the campaign throughout the entire county. One is in charge of each township (Carolina and Swift Creek townships have been combined into a single unit for campaign purposes).

Hardy believes that if donors to the drive understand that "giving the United way" accomplishes "many purposes with a single campaign and donation" the current drive will be highly successful.

Included in the beneficiaries of United Fund activity are the American Red Cross, Pitt's Boy Scouts of America and Girl Scouts of America, Pitt County

Russia Fires Another Rocket On Moon-Shot Attempt Early Today

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union fired another rocket toward the moon today and said it would help open the way to interplanetary flights.

This new rocket was launched into space at 25,162 m.p.h. on the weekend before Premier Nikita Khrushchev makes his heralded visit to the United States.

The announcement of the new launching made no mention of any passenger, not even a dog such as previous Soviet rockets had carried.

The United States fired a rocket carrying a 13-pound satellite past the moon and into solar orbit last March 2. It sent back clear radio signals from more than 400,000 miles out in space and then went dead four days later.

Today's Soviet moon rocket was the Soviet Union's second attempt.

On Jan. 2 the Soviets announced firing a 1½-ton satellite into orbit around the sun. It passed close to the moon. Radio contact with this first Soviet moon shot was lost at 374,000 miles.

Today's launching had great political significance here.

The announcement electrified this nation, which is preparing an enthusiastic send-off for Premier Khrushchev, who leaves Tuesday for conversations with President Eisenhower.

The rocket's various parts were crammed with scientific instruments designed, among other things, to make studies of the magnetic fields of earth and moon. Soviet scientists appeared confident the shot will be successful.

The announcement, for which all Moscow Soviet radio programs were interrupted, said: "In accordance with the program for space exploration and preparations for interplanetary flight, the Soviet Union today successfully launched the second space rocket."

"The rocket has been fired to study the cosmic space en route to the moon."

"It is expected to reach the moon at 12:05 a.m. Moscow time Sept. 14," the announcement said. That is 4:05 p.m. Sunday, Eastern Standard Time. The moon is a target about 2,160 miles in diameter about 240,000 miles away from the earth.

Like the first Soviet cosmic rocket, fired the first of the year, the new one will shoot out of a sodium cloud that should be visible from the earth, the announcement said. But it will not be visible over the United States, the announcement added.

The "shot at the moon" today beat the cosmic time schedule of U.S. scientists, who reportedly were planning to send up a 375-pound satellite to go into orbit around the moon some time in October.

The Soviet scientists did not disclose the nature of the rocket's sources of energy.

The Soviet Union's first cosmic rocket, named Mecha (Dream), was launched Jan. 2 and the Russians said it whizzed past the moon two days later.

They said it finally rocketed out into space and went into orbit around the sun—believed to be the solar system's first artificial planet.

The Russians now have announced two moon probes. There is no indication whether there have been others that were not as successful.

The U.S. Pioneer IV also is orbiting around the sun. It shot past the moon on March 4 and is now circling the sun.

Civil Rights Battle Deters Hope Adjourning Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the Senate embroiled in a hot civil rights battle, House leaders today gave up hope for congressional adjournment tonight. They set their sights on Monday for ending the session.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) put over until Monday House action on a compromise bond-interest bill and said he will ask the House to adopt a resolution later today definitely setting Monday for adjournment.

The Senate would also have to pass the resolution for it to be effective. However, it is customary not to offer such a resolution in either chamber until there is agreement between leaders of both the Senate and House.

The House was in no position to transact any controversial business today because more than half of its members are not in town.

The Senate battle raged around a proposal to extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission for two years. It was proposed as a rider to a catch-all $3,691,269,508 appropriation bill, which carries $3,281,813,000 for foreign aid.

This is the last major piece of legislation standing in the way of early adjournment of Congress.

The Senate met at an unusually early hour, at 9 a.m. EDT, and for three hours discussed various things before getting around to the foreign aid-civil rights issue.

Southern senators began firing away, however, at the Civil Rights Commission in speeches prepared for later delivery. They denounced the commission as an anti-state rights agency.

that he would offer amendments to cut the foreign aid bill even more sharply than the Senate Appropriations Committee has recommended.

However, giving a boost to adjournment prospects, a Senate-House conference committee introduced differences over a bill to permit an increase in interest rates on government savings bonds.

The agreement would allow the treasury to boost interest rates on "E" and "H" savings bonds to a ceiling of 4½ per cent. These bonds, the types held by individuals, now pay a top of 3.25 per cent. The treasury has announced it plans to raise the rate to 3¾ per cent.

Although the foreign aid total is $48 million dollars below President Eisenhower's original request, the big fight was expected over a move to hook a civil rights rider on the appropriations measure.

The rider, strongly opposed by Southern senators, would extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission for two years and give it $500,000 for the current fiscal year. The commission is scheduled to go out of existence Nov. 9.

Attaching the extension measure to the money bill requires a suspension of a Senate rule barring legislation in an appropriation bill. It takes a two-thirds majority to do this. If attached, the rider could be adopted by a majority vote.

Southerners could filibuster against the move. But they are aware that if they do, they may touch off a drive by civil rights advocates to pass a measure the Southerners would find harder to stomach.

New Miss America Is To Be Chosen Tonight

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A new Miss America will be crowned tonight.

Who she'll be is anyone's guess, but the 54 young women entered in the pageant aren't guessing—they're hoping.

Each is hoping she'll be the one to receive a $10,000 scholarship and about $75,000 in personal appearances.

All preliminaries are over, and soon thousands of people will flock into Convention Hall to witness the conclusion of the event. Thousands more across the country will be able to tune it in on television.

Friday night Miss Michigan, British-born Ann Penelope Marston of Wyandotte, Mich., won the final preliminary talent award with a display of her prowess in archery.

The swimsuit competition was taken by Miss Wisconsin, Mary

Alice Fox of Sheboygan, Wis., who caught the judges' eyes with her trim 35-23-34½ figure, clad in a white bathing costume.

Here are the winners of the talent and swimsuit preliminaries held Wednesday and Thursday nights:

Wednesday—An unprecedented three-way tie climaxed the talent competition. Winners were Miss Pennsylvania, Lois Janet Piercy of Springfield, Pa.; Miss Connecticut, Diana Martha Klug, 21, of Torrington, Conn.; and Miss District of Columbia, Virginia Noble Pales, 21. The swimsuit competition was won by Miss Washington, Sharon Joyce Vaughn, 21, of Seattle.

Thursday—The talent award was won by Miss Illinois, Suzanne Ingeborg Johnson, 21, of Chicago. Miss New York State, Bonnie Jo Marquis, 19, of Huntington, N.Y., took the swimsuit event.

In Friday night's competition, balloons, candles and an apple perched atop a cardboard William Tell were easy prey for Miss Marston, who holds 11 national titles in archery.

"It's just wonderful, a high point in my life," said the Michigan entry. "It's a great night for me and a great night for archery."

Miss Marston won her first archery title in England when she was 10. Her father, who was with her Friday night, helped her set up props and remove arrows.

He was asked his reaction. "I haven't come down yet," he replied in a clipped British accent. Marston herself is also an accomplished bowman.

As for Miss Wisconsin, she confided after winning her award that she owns only two swimsuits and uses both of them a lot.

City's Building Nears $3 Million

New construction valued at $285,700 was approved in August to push the total authorized for the year to $2,923,688.

Building Inspector J. W. Wilson reported that permits for the construction of 13 residences were issued during August. The dwellings have a total value of $246,000.

There were permits for three residence additions valued at $3,200 and three residence alterations valued at $1,400.

Permits for four garages and car ports were issued with a value of $4,100 and there were two residence storages authorized valued at $400.

The building inspector issued permits for two business buildings valued at $17,000 and three business additions with a value of $15,000.

Food Poisoning Fatal For Boy

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP)—Food poisoning has killed one member of an Edgecombe County farm family and hospitalized three others.

The victim was six-year-old Alton Owens, who died Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Owens and their 12-year-old daughter, Debra, have been hospitalized here.

Dr. D. L. Knowles said Owens reported that he and his family became ill after eating some boiled peanuts. County health officials are investigating the case.

U. S. Experts See Soviet 'Gamble'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union apparently took a calculated risk in firing a moon shot at a time that will provide the most propaganda value for Premier Nikita Khrushchev's U. S. visit.

Some scientists here said that the Soviet space experts picked the least favorable time—from a strictly technical viewpoint—for hurling the rocket into space today.

This seemed to indicate that considerable weight was given to propaganda purposes with Khrushchev scheduled to arrive in Washington next Tuesday.

Some diplomatic sources speculated that Khrushchev himself might have ordered the timing.

Scientists pointed out that in case the moon is in a good target position for a shot from earth, in that period there are about four or five days that are especially favorable. On those days the moon and earth are only about 220,000 miles apart.

The next period considered most favorable with the moon and earth nosing close together covers the three days beginning Oct. 2.

On the other hand, scientists here say, the present period, 18 days away from the especially good days, has to be labeled as "least favorable."

Press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters President Eisenhower was informed of the official Moscow announcement on his arrival by helicopter at Gettysburg, Pa., this morning.

There have been reports that the United States might fire another space probe vehicle toward the area of the moon during the next favorable period.

Last March, an Army Juno launched a 134 pound package past the region of the moon and into orbit around the sun.

This followed Russia's Mecha sun-orbiting rocket which was launched Jan. 2.

Presumably Khrushchev would like to persuade American leaders that his country has made such strides in space exploration and is catching up so rapidly in the Twentieth Century industrial production race that the Western system of trade controls against the Communist block no longer makes sense. He would like to break down the economic barriers to speed Soviet industrial expansion.

The Army Signal Corps station at Monmouth, N.J., believes the Russian rocket may come within line of its tracking station about 3:30 p.m., EST.

The Monmouth station said it was preparing to listen in on four radio frequencies—about 20 megacycles, 40 megacycles, somewhere between 70 and 76 megacycles and 138 megacycles.

Question Law On Negroes In Guard

RALEIGH (AP)—A state civil rights group has questioned the constitutionality of a 1917 law which bars Negroes from membership in the North Carolina National Guard.

The North Carolina Advisory Committee of the Federal Civil Rights Commission said Friday that the law "affords slender support for policies which it is designed to sanction."

There are no Negroes among the state's 11,345 guardsmen, who receive virtually all their salaries from the federal government.

The committee, in a report submitted at a hearing in Raleigh, said the exclusion of Negroes results in a deprivation of a means of livelihood, and discourages Negroes from entering a military career.

"The policy of the federal government is one of nondiscrimination in the military services. Since membership in the National Guard is, at least, quasi-federal in nature, it should be possible to extend such policy to the state guards," the committee said.

The head of the Guard, Adj. Gen. Capus Wayne, said he was questioned recently by a committee member regarding the racial bar. "I advised the inquirer that state law limited the militia to all-white units," he said.

The report concluded: "The constitutionality of the statute is beyond the special competence of this committee. But, even to laymen, it would seem to afford slender support for policies which it is designed to sanction."

The law provides for Negro guardsmen only where white troops are unavailable.

The advisory group said it also would investigate possible discrimination in the State Employment Service.

Marion A. Wright of Linville Falls said the committee had received information that the service maintained separate job lists for Negroes and whites, and generally referred Negroes to the more menial positions.

The group assailed recent newspaper stories quoting the Southern Regional Council as charging the state with discrimination in its administration of literacy tests for voting. Wright is a former president of the council.

Committee member R. H. Wilkins of Mount Olive said the council gave the state "an unjustified black eye."

Another member, Paul R. Ervin of Charlotte, said the committee reported recently to Washington it had found no case of discrimination against Negroes in voting rights.

School Closed By Outbreak Of Sudden Illness

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Wayne County health officials are investigating a mass outbreak of illness that forced the closing of the William Street Elementary School here Friday.

The chairman of the Goldsboro Board of Education, Dr. A. N. Pate, estimated that 90 per cent of the school's student body of 1,096 was ill Friday. Some 115 of the children were so sick Thursday they were sent home. The school was later ordered closed for the weekend.

Pate described the illness as a violent form of infectious diarrheas. He said some children ran temperatures as high as 104.

The county health officer, Dr. A. N. Chesnut, said tests were being made of the school lunchroom menu and water supply. He said the lunchroom itself was found in excellent condition and none of the food handlers became ill.

WRONG NUMBER TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP)—Love is getting put back a pace or two in this tiny east Alabama town. City officials said they plan to renovate telephone booths—with more glasswork and better lighting—to reduce necking in the booths.

It's That Time Again

STRIKING A POSE—Alice Cannon, Greenville High majorette, pauses momentarily during a 15-minute fire baton-twirling routine by the band's majorettes last night at the half-time intermission of the Greenville-Ahosekie football game. Lights at East Carolina's stadium were turned out for the performance.

First Presbyterian Announcements

rooms, and at an appointed time the teacher will accompany the ones being promoted to their new department. The public is invited to worship at this church.

School Menu

School luncheon menus for the coming week, as announced by the supervisor of cafeterias for the city schools, are as follows: Monday—cheeseburger, tossed salad, buttered potatoes, chocolate cobbler and milk; Tuesday—macaroni and cheese, mustard greens, pickle relish, crowder peas, corn bread and butter, apple sauce, milk; Wednesday—chicken salad on lettuce, buttered corn, sliced beets, homemade roll and butter, fruit cup, milk; Thursday—vegetable chicken soup with crackers, sliced cheese and bologna sandwich, pear salad with cottage cheese; Jello with topping, milk; Friday—fish stick, cole slaw, creamed potatoes, corn muffin and butter, spice cobbler, milk.

School-Closing Bill Introduced

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A new bill in the Alabama Senate would give the governor unchallenged power to close public schools and colleges to avoid racial integration. Schools could be closed when the governor decides it necessary to prevent "violence or public disorder" or when life is endangered. The governor would also have the final word as to when the schools would open again and no court or other authority would have the right to review his decision.

Through All Of Life... THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH... Perhaps you see no significance to the hourglass superimposed on the Bible. But to the believer, it means that all of life is sustained by God's promises. Every day, every hour, He gives strength and help to His followers. The light of His Word shines steadily through the passing of time. The more you read, the deeper will be your understanding, the greater will be your joy. By entering wholeheartedly into the work of the Church, by giving it your support, you increase the value of your own life, and help others to see the light shining through each day's experience. Throughout life's entire span, the Church will help us, the Bible will speak to us of God. Does the picture mean that to you? It will, if you look at it through believing eyes. # Cheerers Open Season In New Outfits

By CRAIG WORTHINGTON
 Rose High School's cheerleaders showed off the results of their many weeks of practice last night at Greenville's football opener with A-oskie. Wearing new uniforms, the girls lead cheers throughout the game, cheering the Phantoms to victory over favored A-oskie.

The cheerleaders started yesterday selling sets of pep cards, one for each game in the year. They cost thirty cents per set and the proceeds will be used to defray the expenses of Homecoming. They urge all students to buy these cards and support the team and their homecoming project.

Meeting at Florence Scott's house, the cheerleaders Tuesday made pom poms for this season's games.

Yesterday afternoon, Rose High School's students gathered around the flagpole in front of the building for a pep rally, sponsored by the cheerleaders. The band provided music while the cheerleaders lead cheers and the singing of the school song. Jane Reynolds, head cheerleader, introduced all of the football players to the student body.

The cheering squad includes Jane Reynolds, head; Ginger Melton, Carol McGowan, Melinda Coleman, Sara Collier Webb, Myrtle Moon Bilbro, Linda Morton, Lois Tunnell, Frances Clark, Florence Scott, Frances Moseley, Phyllis Moore, and Janice Bentley. Miss Carolyn C. Matthews, health and physical education instructor, advises the group.

Student Teachers Begin Work
 Twenty student teachers have been assigned to Rose High School for the fall quarter. Sallie Jean Carden, Varina, and William G. Warren, Greenville, teach English under Miss Deanie Boone Haskett.

Other practice teachers include Joanne Smith of Deep Run, English under Mrs. Nell C. Everett; Hilda Mae Roberts of Washington, and Mildred McGrath of Greenville, business under Mrs. Ruth T. Bing.

Miss Laura Bell directs Frances M. Aiken of Fuquay Springs, and Robert L. Needs of Beaufort in business. Teaching physical education under Miss Carolyn C. Matthews are Hilda Ann Roberts of Raleigh and Frances Ann Sessions of Salemburg. Mary L. Ketter of Lillington, and Mrs. Maxine K. Tingle of Alliance teach home economics under Mrs. Rachel Welborn. Janice Gibbs of Manteo and Donald R. Lemmon of Leland teach social studies for Robert B. Sarling, Clinton O. Davis of Edenton instructs Mrs. Kemp H. Baldwin's math classes while Linda G. Harris of Dunn and Thurman F. Garriss of Lillington, teach for Miss Estelle F. Greene. Science instructors for James D. Nickolson include Kermit A. Thompson of LaGrange, and Pinkney B. Young of Washington. Joseph Ray Jackson of Winterville and Louis Gaskins of New Bern teach science under Mrs. Chris-line W. Tripp.

1959-60 CHEERING SQUAD . . . made their first appearance last night at the A-oskie-Greenville football game.

Units Present Half-Time Show
 The band, under the direction of James Rodgers, the majorettes, and the Phantomettes presented half-time entertainment for the spectators at last night's football game. The band marched onto the field and made intricate formations, showing evidence of many hours' work.

The drill team, now in its second year, did marching and dancing routines. The majorettes presented marching and baton routines and did a colorful fire baton routine.

With all of the field lights off and only the light from the band members' music lights and from the batons, this proved a spectacular routine.

Officers Give Program

PROGRAM PRINCIPALS . . . at the Business and Professional Women's Club session last night were, left to right, Mrs. Kemp Baldwin, president; Mrs. Evelyn C. Harris, district director; Miss Dee Williams, district secretary; and Mrs. Bertie Reed, vice-president and program co-ordinator.

The officers were in charge of the program at the meeting of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday night, using as their theme "Effective Membership Leads to Individual Development".

Mrs. Bertie Reed, program co-ordinator, introduced the program which was preceded by a solo, "Getting to Know You" by Mrs. Marie Parsmore. The duties of the ten standing committees were explained in a television-type quiz show, each committee having a representative who gave the clues to help identify her committee. Mrs. Reed acted as moderator.

Mrs. Evelyn C. Haire of New Bern, district director, inducted eight new members. In her introductory remarks, she gave a summary of the objectives of the standing committees. The induction service was made very impressive by the use of candle lighting and the club creed. The following new members were welcomed into club membership: Mrs.

Katherine Adams, Miss Mary C. Brogden, Mrs. Jessie Cathey, Mrs. Jill Grooms, Mrs. Olive Jones, Mrs. Arle's Mallison, Miss Ellen Maske, and Mrs. Norton Stewart.

The club president, Mrs. Kemp Baldwin with Miss Alya Taylor, and Mrs. Catherine Walsh reported on the Regional conference recently held in Richmond.

The club voted to send hose to Japan again and to continue aid to an Austrian family, as recommended by the International Relations Committee. The club also voted to support the Public Affairs Committee in a community project.

It was announced that the Ninth District meeting would be held in Washington on September 27 at 1 o'clock. It was also announced that October 4-10 would be observed as National Business Women's Week. It was decided that the club members would attend church together Sunday night, October 4, and have a get-together afterwards at the home of Miss Mary Bell.

Other plans for the week included appropriate library displays, window dressings, and news articles.

One of the most unusual romantic interludes ever staged for a movie takes place in "North By Northwest," with Cary Grant and Eva Marie Saint as the pair who fall in love when Miss Saint fakes fugitive Grant in her dressing room on a Chicago-bound train. James Mason also stars in the new Alfred Hitchcock thriller for MGM.

What Is Enriched Corn Meal?

RALEIGH—What is enriched corn meal? North Carolina 4-H Club girls know that it is corn meal with the three B vitamins added. Thiamine or B-1, riboflavin or B-2, niacin, iron and sometimes calcium are added to make it more nutritious.

About 50 per cent of the people in North Carolina eat corn meal and grits daily. An average of one-third of the daily consumption of cereal products are made of corn. But some of the corn meal and grits used are not enriched.

According to Miss Jo Earp, food and nutrition specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, many 4-H girls between ages of 10 and 14 are participating in the corn meal program this year.

Purpose of the program is to know the value of enriched corn meal in the diet as a good low-cost food; influence others to use enriched corn meal and make better corn muffins; learn skills in food preparation; develop an appreciation for good quality muffins; and to improve personal and family health through the development of better food habits.

Dinner Party

BETHEL—Tuesday night Mrs. C. E. Brown and Mrs. J. S. Moore were joint hostesses at a birthday dinner given in the home of Mrs. Brown on Bethel-Greenville highway honoring Mrs. M. T. Whitehurst, Mrs. Brown's sister.

The dinner consisted of home-cured ham, English peas, corn off the cob, baked apples, pickles, hot biscuits, cake and iced tea or coffee. The home was decorated with seasonal flowers.

In the center of the table, which was covered with a white linen, was an arrangement of fruit. Other guests were M. E. Brown, Marshal T. Whitehurst and Joseph F. Whitehurst.

Rev. Hadden Speaks To PTA

At its first meeting of the current school year, the Elmhurst PTA had as its principal speaker the Rev. William J. Hadden of the Eighth Street Christian Church in Greenville.

Hadden, addressing a group of 300 parents and teachers on the subject of "The Responsibilities of the Home to the School," urged parents to show an ever increasing interest in the education of their children, not only from the standpoint of their formal education (which is the responsibility of our schools), but from the standpoint of arousing and encouraging their curiosity in the world around them, which alone will lead them to the deeper precepts of learning.

Following Hadden's short address, Mrs. E. E. Rawl, president of Elmhurst PTA, conducted a short business meeting during which the group approved the operational budget for the current year.

As their special project for the year, parents agreed to sponsor a drive to increase the facilities of the new Elmhurst School Library. It is hoped that each family having a child in the school will contribute for the purchase of a new book for the library.

After the meeting was adjourned, an informal reception was held. Refreshments were served by the Recreation Committee of Elmhurst PTA.

Pitt Farm Bureau Women Re-Organize

"The purpose of the Farm Bureau Women is to assist in an active, organized way in carrying forward phases of the Farm Bureau programs which interest them," said Mrs. Irby Walker, state treasurer of the N. C. Farm Bureau, as the opening statement of her talk last night.

She was the guest speaker at a re-organizing meeting of the Pitt County Farm Bureau Women at the Agricultural Building.

While introducing the speaker, W. W. Wooten, president of Pitt County Farm Bureau, stressed the "great need for women helpers in the Bureau."

Mrs. Walker, a Farm Bureau worker for 19 years, reminded the group that the organization embodied the entire farm family in its program and activities.

"As Farm Bureau women, we are interested in all phases of the program of our organization . . ." she stated. "But I want to tell you of certain subjects we are trying to put special emphasis on."

Among the projects mentioned were the participation in matters of organization, promoting citizenship, take part in commodity activities, public relations, and community welfare.

She commented that among the special activities was the Heart Fund which is divided and given to the three schools in North Carolina which have a Heart Research Department.

During the re-organizing session, Mrs. E. G. Hardee was named as the chairman of the Pitt County woman division.

Others to serve with her are Mrs. L. R. Jones, assistant chairman, Mrs. F. W. Oakes, secretary, and Mrs. Herman Baker, public relations.

Church Circles

BETHEL—On Monday Mrs. D. O. Speir with Mrs. C. G. Garrenton as co-hostess entertained the women of Sarah Whitehurst Circle in the home of Mrs. Speir.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst.

Mrs. J. C. Wynne had charge of the devotionals and put special emphasis on Self-Denial and Week of Prayer which is to be observed in October.

Mrs. C. G. Garrenton gave a program on the present difficulties the Africans are encountering.

At the social hour a sweet course with iced drinks was served.

Circle No. 1

Monday afternoon Mrs. F. C. Martin entertained Circle No. 1 in her home on Main Street with 13 members present.

The meeting opened with the devotionals which were given by Mrs. W. P. Thigpen.

Prayer cards were explained and each member signed her card.

During the program, problems facing Africa were discussed and the leader said, "It is a time when the churches can help meet their needs."

Mrs. J. L. Gurganus presided at a short business session after which a salad plate with iced tea was served.

The group was dismissed with the benediction.

Exchange Book Club Meets

BETHEL—Thursday afternoon the Exchange Book Club met for the first time after the summer vacation in the home of Mrs. Willard Whitehurst on McWhorter St. with Mrs. L. G. Manning as co-hostess.

Mrs. Manning, program leader, introduced Gene Carson and Joe Hinnelcutt, who gave an account of their experiences while attending the Boy Scout Camp in New Mexico.

Being the beginning of a new year, the new officers presided. These officers are Mrs. Herbert Brown, president; Mrs. W. H. Rogerson, vice-president; and Mrs. L. Whitehurst, secretary-treasurer.

It was announced by the president that the Virginia Power and Light Company is sponsoring a contest in which awards will be given to the most outstanding decorations in the homes during the Christmas holidays.

At the social hour the hostesses served frozen pie, toasted nuts and iced drinks.

No Principles Will Be Sacrificed

With Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit to the United States only three days away, President Eisenhower has made it clear to American citizens, our allies around the world and to the Soviets that the United States will sacrifice no principles of the free world in an effort to reach ground which would pave the way for a summit conference to relieve international tension.

The firm manner in which the President reiterated the position of the Free World in respect to inroads by Communism should make it clear to Khrushchev and his associates that they have failed in driving a wedge between the Western allies. Neither will it offer the Soviets an opportunity for gaining ground from the major western nations at the expense of smaller nations in any part of the globe.

President Eisenhower, in short, has stated clearly that he is ready and willing to discuss the causes of world tension with Khrushchev, but he is not ready to make any major concessions on the part of the United States or its allies. He is hoping the discussion will lead to summit talks that can clear away some of the obstacles to a more permanent world peace, but he is not willing to sacrifice the Western position in order to assure such talks.

By reiterating the position of the United States on the eve of Premier Khrushchev's visit, the President has put his cards on the table. He spoke with full assurance of the backing of the other Western nations and he has made it clear that the West in the forthcoming talks will talk from a position of unity and strength rather than from a position of uncertainty and weakness.

Only if the West maintains such a position can it hope to make any genuine advances toward easing world tension in this or any consequent discussions with Soviet officials.

True Leader Of N. C. Press In 'Miss Bea'

The death of Miss Beatrice Cobb, publisher of the Morganton News-Herald and for 37 years secretary of the North Carolina Press Association, takes from the newspaper circles of the state one of its true leaders and one of the most beloved personalities it has ever known.

Miss Bea, as she was known to old and young alike associated with newspapers from the mountains to the coast, was active and aggressive at the age of 70 as she had been throughout her newspaper career which began in 1916. Less than a week before her death early Friday she had returned from a trip to England.

Miss Bea afforded North Carolina leadership not only in the newspaper field, but also in the field of government and politics, having served the Democratic party of the state as National Committeewoman for 18 years before she resigned from that post in 1952. For many years she had been active in civic and charity projects of local, state and regional nature.

Throughout her long career as a newspaper publisher and as secretary of the state press association she contributed immeasurably to the building of better newspapers for the people of North Carolina. Her death brings to a close one of the most constructive journalistic careers the state has known in several decades.

Someday We'll Know The Score

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—THIS IS THE KIND OF STORY YOU CAN PASTE IN A DRESSER DRAWER AND LOOK AT IT YEARS FROM NOW TO SEE WHO WAS RIGHT: President Eisenhower or Sen. William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat?

The TV talk Eisenhower made to the nation Thursday night on his discussions next week with Premier Nikita Khrushchev came one day after Fulbright made a stinging attack on him. Fulbright is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

There wasn't any real news in the President's talk. He's going to confer with Khrushchev on world problems. He talked mostly in generalities, and what he said had been reported before.

He could not be expected, of course, to show his hand if he is holding any cards to use on Khrushchev. He knows the whole Western world, now more than ever, is looking to him for leadership.

But it was the quality of that leadership which Fulbright questioned, even though Eisenhower in 1953 has shown an increasing active leadership at home and abroad.

Fulbright, in a speech Wednesday, accused Eisenhower of timidity. Fulbright's statements can be summed up this way:

1. He thinks this country is doing far less than it should—in the way of work and greater sacrifices—to achieve its maximum strength in dealing with the Soviet Union and the cold war.
2. He said Eisenhower has been feeding the nation tranquilizing pills instead of using the full power of his office and prestige to get the maximum effort from Congress and the people.

The senator complained "it is nonsense to say we cannot afford" to do anything this country wants to do or should do. Here are some of the things Fulbright thinks need doing:

Spend a great deal on public school education; arm ourselves better; put foreign development loans on a long-term basis. He cited the steel strike as an example of wasted American resources and manpower.

He said that if this country undertook to do all the things he thinks are necessary the "Kremlin would be a great deal more impressed than it is likely to be by evidence of our determination to balance the budget."

Eisenhower himself, in private talks, has mentioned the need for greater American work to compete with the Soviets whose long hours and national dedication have impressed him. But he hasn't called publicly for it.

Fulbright's complaint is that Eisenhower doesn't have enough confidence in the American people's willingness to work and sacrifice.

There is no doubt that Eisenhower, in his desire to keep down spending, has deliberately refrained from calling on Congress or the people for anything approaching all-out effort in work, spending, taxes, or production.

Fulbright particularly complained that Eisenhower has failed to use his prestige to get from Congress "the full arsenal of means he needs if America's purposes are to be successfully advanced around the world."

But Fulbright in turn failed to complain about his own Democrats in Congress where they overwhelmingly outnumber the Republicans and could have asserted leadership if they didn't think Eisenhower was providing it.

Instead, they followed the President meekly, despite occasional bleating that he wasn't thinking in big enough or broad enough terms.

To sum up for future reference: Eisenhower insists he knows what he's doing and the programs he asked for are sufficient in the cold war duel which will get tougher as the Soviet Union gets increasingly stronger, militarily and economically.

Fulbright says he's doing far less than enough.

The Change Is Underway

It all happened so suddenly... you'd wonder just when the change began. But there's no getting around the fact that summer's end is in sight.

Those days of looking out at the motionless, leaf-bright greenery of trees have ended. Now the leaves, though still green, have darkened; and the rustle with tentative breezes that are mildly cool is for real. No more days (for awhile, anyhow) that feel as though they were spawned inside a blast furnace.

The trimmer-of-lawns runs into another bit of conclusive evidence: the grass is tougher, growth seems slower.

Fog is more apt to form these nights, too.

You can look out a window of an evening and see the first wisps of ground mist form, then be lost in the gradually spreading smokelike vapor.

These days people are apt to greet each other in the morning with a "Golly, but I really slept"; spelling an end to restless nights of mid-summer.

Of course, the prosaic could look at the calendar; others could prove their point by a look at the sports pages.

But the big story these days is the bowing out of summer. She was quite a gal.

If you've never been a Boy Scout, or had one in the family, you just wouldn't understand what it means to get the Eagle Badge.

Not a whole lot of scouts get that far. Still fewer are 13-year-old Eagle Scouts. That's what makes young Thomas Taft, of Greenville, a very remarkable sort of guy.

Thirteen years old; and by virtue of a lot of work and study in acquiring the necessary number of merit badges, he's picked up a considerable amount of knowledge and skills far beyond the ordinary. Additionally, the Eagle Scout has learned how to learn... it's something he can use forever.

Other than that, these elite among Scouting's ranks are marked as having ambition, ability and a great promise for the future.

All this is an old story to men closely associated with the movement, but one worth repeating over and over again.

Advance-Fee Racket Flourishes

By ELMER ROESSNER
Despite warnings by every Better Business Bureau in the country and despite crackdowns by the Federal Trade Commission, the advance-fee racket is flourishing more than ever. It can be expected to increase even more in the fall.

It's a hard racket to silence, first because the take is so high and, second, because the schemes are based on essentially legal practices.

The racket takes two forms. The operators offer to arrange loans for businessmen, or they offer to find buyers for their businesses.

There is nothing illegal in offering to find a lender, nor to charge a commission for so doing. It is done every day, legally and aboveboard.

collect in advance and then do so little that the victim never gets a loan.

HOW RACKET WORKS
The racketeers advertise that they can obtain loans at modest rates of interest, that they have affiliations with lending institutions (they have $10 deposited in a savings bank) and that they can solve financial difficulties.

When a sucker nibbles, a salesman calls and gets the facts for a loan prospectus. The businessman is told that there will be a charge, usually around 5 per cent. If that gives him pause, the salesman assures him that he won't have to pay it now; it can simply be added to the total of the loan. The victim is then asked to sign the application and several other forms.

Although not usually pointed out to him, one is a promissory note. The racketeers discount the note at the victim's own bank. They also mail out an "offer" to borrow to banks, savings and loan associations, factors and other institutions around the country. A careful reading of the contract shows that it is all they agreed to do. Lenders normally ignore such offers.

BUSINESS ALES RACKET
In the other form, the racketeers offer to find buyers for businesses. That, too, is done every day by respected business brokers.

But the racket boys usually advertise that they have eager, get-loaded buyers waiting. When a business-owner inquires, a salesman inspects his property and asks what the owner expects. The owner is always told he can get much more. If the owner asks $30,000, he is told he can easily get $50,000. In his elation, the owner is a ready signer of proffered papers.

Again they include a promissory note; again the racketeers circularize possible buyers or place a few advertisements, which is all they have agreed to.

The FTC has obtained consent orders from some of the advance-fee operators. In this process, the operator consents to a court order prohibiting specified illegal practices, such as misrepresenting connections with lenders and buyers. But court orders rarely if ever prohibit the offender from starting a new company under a different name, or making his brother-in-law the dummy head of a new firm.

In the areas hit by the steel strike, many businesses will need fresh financing for sur-

Tourist Story Switch

By GEORGE MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a time, not too long ago, European immigrants flocked to these shores by the thousands. Times have changed. Now Europeans swarm to this country as visitors, simply to see the wonders of the New World, and then go home.

"Even in the travel boom of the roaring twenties Europeans didn't show today's tourists in the United States," says the American Express Co., which handles a big volume of travel trade.

The United States Department of Commerce reported that in 1958, 60 per cent of the 190,000 residents of Europe and Mediterranean countries who visited the United States were pleasure-bent.

The year before only 44 per cent of the visitors from the same area were tourists.

Last year people who entered the United States from Europe and the Mediterranean area for business, pleasure, educational and other reasons spent 86 million dollars on their travel. In 1955, 131,000 European visitors spent only 68 million dollars.

Biggest bloc of pleasure-seekers was from the United Kingdom, 42,000, with Germany, France, the Scandinavian countries, the Benelux countries and Italy following in that order.

Major spur to the flow of tourism probably has been Western Europe's rapid economic growth. Many countries, no longer impoverished, have lifted currency restrictions and raised travel allowances.

In their new-found prosperity, many Europeans now have more money and more leisure to do what Americans have done for generations—to go and look at things they've read or heard about.

Other factors figure in the swing: relatives coming to see war brides and their families, sports contests, fraternal and professional conventions.

Thomas Cook and Sons, another worldwide travel organization, attributes the rise "primarily to the new economy fares on air lines," and to greater travel allowances permitted by some European countries to their citizens.

To find out what lure foreign visitors to this country, American Express conducted a survey through its 187 overseas offices.

The travelers' interests ranged from New York's United Nations headquarters to San Francisco's Chinatown, from great cities like Boston, Chicago, Detroit and New Orleans to glamor spots of Miami, Hollywood and Las Vegas, from scenic areas like Yellowstone and Grand Canyon to historic points like Williamsburg and Gettysburg.

New York used to be a place where you boarded a steamer to go to other places. Now it's becoming a port of call for cruise liners originating outside the United States.

The trend began last year when the liner Iberia of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Co. made what was widely heralded as the first post-war cruise ship stopover in New York.

During the past summer three ships, one Dutch and two British, brought in visitors for short stays, long enough in some instances for passengers to look over the sights in New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Niagara Falls.

By the end of September, nearly 4,000 foreign-cruise passengers will have come into port this year.

Illustrative of the growing awareness of tourism's effect on the economy is President Eisenhower's recent proclamation designating 1960 as "Visit USA Year."

The Commerce Department has reported that foreigners, more than half of them Canadians, spent 825 million dollars in the United States in 1958. Overseas visitors accounted for 256 million dollars of the total.

Backed by the National Assn. of Travel Organizations, anxious to spotlight the nation's role as a host country, the drive has earned support from the State Department, the Voice of America, many state tourist office and others.

Continuity For Party Records

By LYNN NISBET

DEMOCRATS—Nineteen men have served as chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee since the turn of the century, according to the best available information. Reliable records in the State Democratic headquarters go back less than 20 years. Prior to the early 40's no permanent records were kept. Each biennial election campaign was virtually a de novo proceeding. When a chairman retired such records as were deemed worth preserving were regarded as his personal property, or were stored in some place without indexing and presumably later destroyed.

During the 1944 campaign Chairman William Umstead purchased some filing cabinets (previously they had been borrowed or leased for the duration), and after the election he rented a room in which to store the records—but without anybody in charge. It was not until 1950, when Everett Jordan was chairman, that a permanent office with an almost full-time person in charge was established in the Sir Walter Hotel. Since then, under supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth (W. P.) Johnston, there has been continuity and correlation in the record of Democratic party activities, including the biennial election campaigns, Jefferson-Jackson dinners, and other matters (such as nominations for the county boards of election) for which responsibility is imposed upon the State chairman by statute or by party rules.

Except for extra help on special occasions, Mrs. Johnston has constituted the "staff" of Democratic State headquarters. The Executive Committee in 1952 authorized appointment of a full-time assistant to the chairman, who would serve as a field representative, but that position has never been filled.

CHAIRMAN—When your reporter was asked the other day by a young friend to tell him who was chairman in a certain year, he thought it would be easy to find the answer. Knowing that the old records, he visited the State Library, the Supreme Court Library and the News and Observer offices. He discovered that many volumes of the North Carolina Yearbook, published for 40 years or more by N&O, were missing from all the shelves.

The official State Manual did not begin listing political party committees and officials until 1941.

From all available documentary information, (except exhaustive check of newspaper files), supplemented by personal recollections of oldtimers, the following list of chairmen has been compiled—and is believed to be accurate.

Furnifold M. Simmons was named chairman in 1892 and served through succeeding campaigns including that of 1906—the longest tenure of any chairman of record. He was succeeded for the 1908 campaign by Hugh G. Chatham of Elkin. Chatham was followed by A.H. Eller of Winston-Salem in 1910, who was succeeded by Charles A. Webb of Asheville for two years.

Thomas D. Warren of New Bern took over in 1914 and continued until succeeded by J.D. Norwood of Salisbury in 1920. John G. Dawson of Kinston was chairman from 1924 through 1927. The N&O Yearbook lists Dennis G. Brummitt of Oxford as chairman in 1928, but the Brummitt biography in the State Manual does not mention that service, and he did not handle the 1928 fall campaign. Brummitt apparently held the post for a few months between campaigns, as did W.P. Horton 20 years later between the 1946 and 1948 elections.

Odis M. Mull of Shelby was named chairman in 1928, handled that general election campaign (the Al Smith debacle) and the one in 1930. He was followed in 1932 by Wallace Winborne of Marion, who continued until appointed to the Supreme Court in 1937.

Chairman Mull originated the idea of the congressional district rallies, but it was Chairman Winborne in 1932 who put the practice into general use as it has been followed ever since.

When Winborne was appointed to the Supreme Court in 1937 he was followed by Gregg Cherry of Gastonia, who served until Emory B. Denny of Gastonia was named in 1940. Denny was appointed to the Supreme Court the following year, and Monroe Redden of Hendersonville was named party chairman. Redden handled the 1942 election campaign and was succeeded in the summer of 1944 by William Umstead, who managed the campaigns of 1944 and 1946. He resigned in 1947, after having been appointed to the U.S. Senate, and W.P. Horton of Pittsboro was named in his place.

Horton was replaced in 1948 by Capus Waynick. Waynick was appointed a few months later as ambassador to Nicaragua, and Everett Jordan of Saxapahaw was chosen as chairman. Jordan served through the 1950 and 1952 campaigns. In 1954 he switched to National Committeeman and John D. Larkins Jr. of Trenton became party chairman. Larkins held the post through the 1954 and 1956 elections. Before the 1956 election Jordan had been appointed to the U.S. Senate, resigned as National Committeeman, Larkins was recommended for that post, and Woodrow Jones of Rutherfordton was named State chairman. Jones directed the 1958 general election campaign, is now on the job as chairman, and barring unexpected developments will continue at least until after the 1960 convention.

PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE—The time is after midnight and yours truly, hardly able to keep his eyes open, hovers over a typewriter in the muteness and lull of this South Carolina College campus, awaiting what the 1959 football season holds for East Carolina College.

It was only two years ago when we made our way over this same trail, a badly beaten ball club preparing to close out the season and with some twenty straight defeats hanging over our heads. Then came the Cinderella story which has started East Carolina back to football prominence.

Success Is Sweeter Than Wine

A large remnant of that club which ended that long and dry losing streak by pulling off a touchdown in the final minute of play, to win 7-0, will don the Purple and Gold once again tonight and trot out to that same field.

That one victory gave Coach Boone something to start off with last season and with that spark came a 6-4 record, the best in several years. Another year is ready to unfold and this team could be the contingent to bring new prestige to Greenville.

The atmosphere among the coaching staff and team is that this is "a big game and a victory is badly needed." This is the opener, and a win would make the Bucs tough while a defeat will mean an upward climb.

Boone Predicts Open Game From PC

To say that PC has always contributed to ECC success would be wrong. Following their 1957 upset, Coach Frank Jones installed a new offense, caught the Bucs by surprise, and the results saw a 24-16 victory for the Blue Hose last fall. The series now stands even at one game apiece.

Coach Jack Boone expects this PC team to be tougher than ever. "We expect a more open game from Presbyterian than last year," concludes Boone, "and we expect to see them pass more."

"This is their first game and we don't know exactly what to expect but we believe that basically they will use the same stuff. They have a lot of boys back and this will be a real tough opener for us."

As forecast earlier, the Pirates will not be at their full strength. Chuck Gordon and James Gordon have been banged up this week and their action may be limited. Yet, this 1959 club has strength and Boone plans to open with two units.

Forward Wall Looks Tough

This forward wall that East Carolina sends up against the PC club is good. Wayne Davis, Ed Emory, Bill Cain, and Lynn Barnett are no rookies at this game with "rough and tough line play". They know that the games are won up front.

The Presbyterian student body has not converged upon the campus but the stadium is expecting a capacity crowd to witness the two small college powers clash.

This is a big game. A victory will ease the pain and bruises on the trip back to Greenville. A defeat means a long ride back and there is that feeling of no reward. Not only those hard licks bring on pain but there is that hurting from within.

Ayden Bows, 19-7 To Benvenue

Table with 2 columns: Ayden, Benvenue. Rows include Rushing, Passing, Fumbles, and Punt average.

"I knew they were fast, but I didn't know they were as fast as they proved to be. They were tremendously fast. It was the speed of their two quarterbacks that beat us."

Ayden's Tornados bowed 19-7 to a fast Benvenue eleven last night after winning the young season's opener with Havelock High last Monday.

The Benvenue team received the opening kickoff and moved down the field until J. D. Willoughby, Ayden halfback, intercepted a Benvenue pass.

From his own 25, the Tornado halfback Dunn threw a screen pass to Willoughby, who made it to the Benvenue 22 before being hauled down from behind. There Benvenue stiffened and took over on the 30.

On the first play, Matthews, a very fast player, broke through one line and ran 70 yards to paydirt. The extra point attempt was blocked.

The Tornados returned the kickoff to the 30 and drove to the Benvenue 38 where they punted to the 17. On the second play Matthews again broke through and went 81 yards for his second TD. Again the kick was blocked.

The entire second quarter was played in Ayden territory but with no further scoring.

At the beginning of the second half Ayden received the kickoff and was forced to punt. Edwards sent it to the 15 where Matthews led the Benvenue squad back up the field 85 yards in 18 plays. Ray Bonns went the final four yards for the TD with Larry Matthews following up by running the extra point.

After a series of downs Ayden again kicked. Then Benvenue kicked to the Ayden 25 and Ayden drove 75 yards in 9 plays with a 44 yard pass from sophomore Tommy Dunn to Emmitt Gibson. Dunn ran the last five yards for the TD and Dinky Mills ran the extra point.

Benvenue was in Ayden territory when the game ended. Donnie Matthews led the Benvenue team in rushing with 209 yards in 11 carries.

Mills got 73 yards in 8 tries to be Ayden's top man. Ayden Coach Stewart Tripp said,

"I knew they were fast, but I didn't know they were as fast as they proved to be. They were tremendously fast. It was the speed of their two quarterbacks that beat us."

The Tornados, with a one-loss-one win record will meet Vanceboro at Ayden Sept. 18 and coach Tripp commented that the Tornados hoped to win the Vanceboro contest. He added that he thought they stood a good chance.

Wrap-Up

Local golfers will conclude the Labor Day Tournament today when they play the final 18 holes of the rain-postponed tournament.

Don Conley Jr. heads into the final round with a three stroke lead over Erel Webb.

Both will be shooting in the same foursome and spectators are invited to follow the four leaders in their championship round today.

2 Hot Putters Take Early Lead In Dallas Open

DALLAS (AP) — A couple of hot putters, Bo Winger, who's seeking his first tournament victory, and Bob Rosburg, who already has won his, led the close $25,000 Dallas Open into its second round today.

Winger and Rosburg each shot a 3-under-par 67 over the dry, windy 6,744-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course Friday to tie for the lead at 18 holes.

Strung out behind them were 13 players with a range of three strokes.

Rosburg, the National Pga champion from Palo Alto, Calif., and Winger, from Odessa, Tex., who has finished second three times this year but never on top, were dropping those puts like mad.

Phantoms Take 28-12 Win Over Ahoskie

By TOM JACKSON Reflector Sports Writer The Greenville Phantoms started their 1959 gridiron season Friday night by taking a 28-12 victory over Ahoskie's Indians in the East Carolina College Stadium.

The game opened with Greenville's Alan McArthur returning Ahoskie player Norman Ray's kickoff to the 37 yard line. From that moment the scales seemed to tilt toward victory for the Phantoms.

During the first quarter Greenville's Robin Wilfong and Randy Bass both made touchdowns with center Jeff Fountain successfully kicking for the extra points. The quarter ended with Greenville leading 14-0.

The second quarter saw the Phantoms still in fine form, but with Ahoskie fighting hard. Alan McArthur received a pass and scored another TD and Fountain followed up by once kicking the extra point. Ahoskie rallied their forces enough to score, bringing the half time score to 21-6. McArthur, still hot during the third time period, went over for Greenville's fourth and last touchdown of the game with the extra point once again kicked by Fountain. Ahoskie fought a losing battle and reached the end of the third quarter with the score board showing a 28-6 tilt for the Phantoms.

In the final quarter the Greenville squad fought hard but failed to score while the Indians carried the ball over for their second TD. The game ended with a 28-12 victory for Greenville.

Final tabulations show Greenville with a total of four touchdowns with one attributed to Wilfong, one to Bass and two to McArthur. Greenville center Jeff Fountain successfully kicked for the extra point each time. Greenville ended with a total of 14 first downs, three attempted and two completed passes.

McArthur and Wilfong showed up as very strong players with McArthur's evasive running especially outstanding. Not to be overlooked this season is center Fountain, who showed excellence in his kicking.

Other attractions at the game included music by the Greenville High School band and fire baton twirling exhibition by the Phantomes during the half time.

Spectators were distracted momentarily during the third quarter when thick clouds of smoke, apparently from a home made smoke bomb, billowed up through the stands.

The victory was taken with enthusiasm by Greenville fans and was a good beginning for coach Bud Phillips and his Phantoms' 1959 season. One fan commented, "This game isn't even sporting."

Farmville Takes Opener By 13-6

Farmville High School took a 13-6 win over Contentnea on the Contentnea field last night, getting the Red Devils off to a good start in their opening game.

The Farmville squad showed up strong with a touchdown in the first two minutes when Alton Hedgepeth took a handoff from Howard Moye to go 45 yards for the score. The extra point was missed, but before the first quarter had ended the Farmville club had scored again. This time Walker intercepted a 16 yard pass from Moye and ran 10 yards to give the Red Devils their second TD.

The extra point was successfully run by Howard Moye, bringing the score up to 13-0.

The second quarter began with Monk taking a long pass on the 35 yard line and going all the way for a score. However, there was a penalty on the play and the ball was brought back to the 35 where Farmville again put the ball in play.

During this quarter the Contentnea squad pushed to within 10 yards of the Farmville goal line but the Red Devils held them there for four downs.

Then Farmville took over but fumbled, setting up a TD for Contentnea. Hill carried the ball over to pull the score up to 13-6 at the half.

In the third period Contentnea fumbled and Weisner, Farmville tackle, scooped up the loose ball and went for a TD but the ball was declared dead so the score remained 13-6 at the end of the quarter.

Neither team scored in the last quarter, but a lot of yardage was picked up by Farmville.

The game tallied up with a 13-6 win for the Red Devils who had on their record six passes attempted and three completed.

Outstanding players in the game included backfield fighters Howard Moye, Alton Hedgepeth, and Ralph Cash who weighed heavily in the decision of the conference battle. The game saw a lot of good blocking with Danny Dilda's kicking pulling the Farmville squad out of some tough spots.

Eppes Defense Stars In Taking 18-0 Win

The Eppes High Bulldogs battled their way to an 18-0 victory over the Mary Potter Rams on the Oxford team's home field Friday night.

With Freddie Watson and Willie Adams as the chief yard gainers, the Bulldogs' backfield speed seemed to be one of the decisive factors of the game.

The Bulldogs showed excellent defense, keeping the Rams, who had beaten Roanoke Rapids, 14-0, behind their own 40 yard line the entire night.

The game opened with the Bulldogs receiving the kickoff only to lose control of the ball after almost a quarter of tottering play. Rufus Huggins took a reverse around end from the Rams' 10 yard line to tilt the scales 6-0 for the Bulldogs. The conversion was missed.

In the second quarter, halfback Willie Adams went up the center to score, bringing the half time score to 12-0 for Eppes.

The third period started with the Rams attempting a passing attack. The Bulldogs put up a good defense and scored their final TD when Watson intercepted a Rams' pass and ran 40 yards to put the Bulldogs over again.

The fourth quarter saw no score but Eppes stayed deep in the Rams' territory and provided a strong threat.

Also outstanding in the Bulldogs' victory were Linwood Hardison, Alton Harris, David Newton, Joe Tyson, Larry Hardy, and Dalton Davis.

More Pitt Farmers Go To Polls In ASC Elections

In Thursday's ASC election, 1,242 farmers went to the polls to vote for community committeemen. The number voting represents a 25 percent increase over the 925 who voted in last year's election, according to Walter Hasty Jr., office manager of the local ASC office.

"This certainly indicates farmers are becoming more and more interested in participating in the administration of their farm program," Hasty said.

He pointed out that the chairman of each of the community committee will attend a county convention on Sept. 25 to elect the county committee. This committee will consist of a chairman, vice chairman and regular member.

"There have been a lot of legislative changes in the farm program recently which brings to bear more and more responsibility on the shoulders of the county committeemen," Hasty said. "With these important decisions to be made, it is important that we have good leaders."

The committee members elected in each of the county's 22 ASC communities with the chairman listed first, vice chairman second and regular member third, are as follows:

Pasternak Emerges; Hails N. Y. Philharmonic's Music

MOSCOW (AP) — Controversial poet Russian and novelist Boris Pasternak made a surprise public appearance Friday night, first since he was shunned by fellow Soviet authors for writing his novel "Doctor Zhivago."

He attended a concert of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, cheered its musicians, cried over the music and then emotionally embraced and kissed Conductor Leonard Bernstein.

Pasternak, whose "Doctor Zhivago" won him the 1958 Nobel Prize for Literature and caused him to be denounced as a "pig" by fellow Soviet writers, showed up unannounced.

The 69-year-old author had lived in seclusion outside Moscow many months after being awarded the prize he first accepted and then rejected. His novel has been banned in the Soviet Union. It deals with the misery of a group of Russians in the last years of the czars and the first years of the Communist revolution.

Pasternak appeared in good health and told reporters he is living well and working at capacity. He said he is writing a prose play about the emancipation of serfs in the mid-19th century.

"But it will be no more happy nor pleasing for me than my novel," Pasternak said.

He said he had heard rumors of plans to publish "Doctor Zhivago" in the Soviet Union "a little while ago, but I do not believe

Ready To Take Bumps In Self-Imposed Exile

MOSCOW (AP) — Nicholas Petrulli, a man without a country, said today he is willing to take whatever comes along.

Petrulli, 38, of Valley Stream, N.Y., came here as a tourist, but handed his passport over to the U.S. Embassy with a signed statement renouncing his American citizenship. He asked the Soviet parliament for Soviet citizenship. Later he filed to withdraw his renunciation.

Petrulli said the U.S. Embassy has not told him if withdrawal of his renunciation has been approved, and the Russians have not told him anything about his nearly month-old application.

Consequently, "I would stay here" if the Soviet government granted him citizenship, he told a reporter.

Petrulli also said he has heard nothing from his brothers in the Valley Stream area, nor has he received a reply to his request for $300.

He has return plane tickets to the United States but needs money to settle his bills in the luxury Hotel Ukraina where he has been living off the cuff for two weeks.

Petrulli came here Aug. 11 on a regular tourist visit for which he paid $965.

After arriving, he said he had decided that in the Soviet Union "people are not hurrying around getting nervous, and square pegs are put in square holes by a planned economy."

Petrulli said he had held several jobs in the United States since he received an army discharge for what he called a nervous breakdown in 1945, but none of the jobs lasted longer than eight months.

"Either I didn't like the boss or the boss didn't like me," he said. He considers himself a sheet metal worker.

Petrulli says now that "it doesn't look like I could go back. Asked what would happen if neither the Soviet government nor the American government responds to his various requests, Petrulli replied: "I suppose I would be a stateless person."

He carries pictures of his divorced wife and 4-year-old daughter living in California but complains the pictures "are not very good."

Discloses Gift Of Appreciation Expanding Adult Recreation Role

Fire Chief George Gardner announced today a $50 donation was received Thursday from the Rose's Dime Store Company to be applied to the cost of constructing a smoke house at the fire department drill tower in West Greenville.

According to J.A. Taylor, Manager of the local Rose's Store, the firm wanted, in some way, to express its appreciation to the local department for the way in which the firemen held the damage to a minimum in the costly blaze. The store took this means to do it.

Chief Gardner said the building would be used to train men in the use of gas masks and aid in instructing firemen in correct methods of fighting confined fires.

Gardner in thanking the firm, said the donation would not only benefit the Fire Department, but would aid the City in that the firemen would be better trained to cope with modern fire fighting problems and be able to give better service to the community.

An organizational meeting of the Senior Citizens Group will be held at Elm Street Park at 2:30 p.m. Monday at this meeting, plans for the year's activities will be drawn up, an executive board appointed to act as a governing body until officers can be elected, and an open discussion on the recreational activities most wanted will be held, Goodman stated.

Senior Citizens include people of age 60 and older.

Everyone interested in this program is urged to attend this meeting and if transportation is needed they may contact the Recreation Department and a ride will be furnished.

Planning Give Firemen Supper In Appreciation

Greenville firemen will be treated to a free supper September 18, given to them by individual citizens and business firms of Greenville, in appreciation for the work the department has been doing.

The idea of the supper originated with Mrs. Kirby Thompson of 910 Cotanche St., a resident of Greenville for the past two years.

Mrs. Thompson told reporters she came from Beaufort, where the citizens and business firms would treat the fire department to a free meal immediately after a long drawn-out fire such as the Rose's fire here two weeks ago, where firefighters missed one or more meals during the course of the blaze.

Mrs. Thompson pointed out the both her father and uncle were former chiefs of the Beaufort department and knew how much the firemen appreciated the free feed. Mrs. Thompson said she has been soliciting contributions from businesses and individuals and "everyone contacted has had nothing but praise for the department."

Fire Chief George Gardner, when told of the plan, said neither he nor any of the firemen expected such a gift for just doing their duty but he added, the department appreciates the gesture.

The supper will be held at Jim's Quick Lunch on East Fifth St. and anyone wishing to help with the meal may contact Mrs. Evans, the manager of the restaurant or Mrs. Thompson.

A collision at the intersection of 10th and Clark Sts. caused an estimated $10 damage to a car and truck.

Driver of the car was identified as David Lee Sanderson of Route 1, Ayden, while operator of the one-and-one-half-ton truck was listed as Andrew Norfleet, Negro, of 1103 Clark St.

No charges were placed by officers in either accident and no injuries were reported.

Leaf Mart Sold 25,352,278 Lbs

Greenville tobacco market has sold 25,352,278 pounds of tobacco through yesterday which was the 18th selling day of the season.

Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee said the market has paid out $14,368,392.29 to farmers so far and the season's average now is $56.44.

For last week, in which there were only four selling days because of the Labor Day holiday, the market averaged $56.70 in selling 6,011,686 pounds of tobacco for $3,408,632.29.

Friday's average was $56.26 as the market sold 1,455,008 pounds for $818,545.52.

Whedbee pointed out that the U. S. Department of Agriculture now estimated the Eastern Belt farms produced 378,550,000 pounds of tobacco this year. That is 5.7 million pounds under the forecast of a month earlier.

"Tobacco is selling mighty good in Greenville right now," Whedbee said. "Next week should see some of your better tobacco on the floors. This week there was a bigger amount of damaged tobacco and of cigar type tobacco."

Sales Average Slightly Up On Farmville Market

FARMVILLE — Sales average here on the tobacco market climbed slightly to $57.32 per hundred pounds yesterday as a volume of 608,492 pounds brought a total $348,785.14.

"We're having more better quality tobacco on the market here every day," Sales Supervisor Charles S. Edwards said this morning. Yesterday's average was slightly higher than the season's mark.

After 18 selling days on the market here a total volume of 10,119,464 pounds has been sold for a total receipt figure of $5,715,900.12. The season's sales average now stands at $56.48, nearly three dolleaving average here of $59.20.

Lee Completes Banking Course

Robert E. Lee, recently elected Vice President of McDaniel Lewis & Co., Investment banking firm of Greensboro, has returned to Greenville, following the successful completion of a four week resident advance summer course in Investment Banking at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

The course is sponsored by the Investment Bankers Association of America, and represents a course of study in the investment industry corresponding to the American Bankers Association Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University. Graduates have the qualifications of registration for stock exchanges.

Lee completed the concentrated studies with one of the highest grades awarded, and holds a certificate from Northwestern University for the investment school.

Monitors Plan Contempt Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The monitors of the Teamsters Union reportedly plan to seek contempt of court action Monday against union President James R. Hoffa to get compliance with their reform suggestions.

The monitors, named by the courts to police the 1 1/2-million-member union, are expected to tell a U.S. Dist. Court Judge Hoffa has defied their clean-up orders.

A monitor source said Friday night they had held two meetings this week with Hoffa trying to get him to agree to their suggested reforms.

The Work Is Easier -- Hours As Long

GARDENING ENTHUSIAST . . . She enjoys getting out in the yard and creating beauty with a few flower seeds.

'OLD FAITHFUL' . . . This skillet still used in the modern equipped Waters' kitchen.

TALENTED IN ARTS AND CRAFTS . . . During a home demonstration workshop Mrs. Waters learned how to make this brass planter and decorate a mirror frame.

By PEGGY SMITH
Reflector Woman's Editor

"Since the installation of electricity and modern conveniences in our home, my work has been easier; but, the hours have been just as long as before," states Mrs. Wiley Waters of near Winterville, a Pitt County farm wife.

Twenty-four years ago when Mrs. Waters was married, doing household chores filled the daily schedule. At present, she not only does her household duties but takes part in many activities such as club and church work.

Being a mother of four children, Roselyn, Alice, Moye and Monroe was the reason for Mrs. Waters' participation in extra activities. She is a member of the Renston-Nobles Home Demonstration Club, Winterville PTA, and Winterville Baptist Church. Since 1952 the Winterville-Greenville 4-H Club has gathered in her home for their regular meetings.

"I enjoy helping the children with their various 4-H projects," added Mrs. Waters, their adult leader.

Prior to her marriage, she graduated from a nursing school in Washington, D. C., and for the past six years has attended the 4-H camp at Manteo as camp nurse.

Mrs. Waters believes that "a parent must encourage and support their child in whatever they do in order for them to succeed."

Her belief stems from an incident which happened to her at the age of ten. She had just become interested in clothing her dolls when her mother suggested that she learn how to use the sewing machine. At that time, a sewing machine was an innovation in the home; and Mrs. Waters recalls "being frightened to death" by the machine. But her mother's understanding encouragement eventually led to its acceptance and use.

After this experience, she knew how to handle the situation when her daughters began to become disgusted while making dresses for the 4-H Dress Revue. "I told them that you must never be a quitter; that the best way to learn how to sew is whenever you make a mistake, don't stop; but take it out and re-do it," she said.

Among her many household duties, cooking heads the list as her favorite. "Fried chicken, string beans, apple dumplings with cream, and hot biscuits can be found on my table more than one time a week," she added. "I don't know what my husband would think if he didn't get hot biscuits at least one time a day."

In this type of weather Mrs. Waters has been spending many hours washing and ironing for her two sons, one in the eighth grade and the other in college.

Last week the wedding of her daughter, Alice, brought to a close three months of preparation for the big event.

Her advice to any mother whose daughter is planning to wed "is to jot down things to be done each day as you think of them beginning three months prior to the wedding date, and maybe you won't forget anything!"

This farm wife thinks of gift-giving when she cans and preserves her garden foods for she is known to give cases of canned goods to new brides and relatives.

Besides raising vegetables, she enjoys planting gladioli and dahlia seeds which enable her to give cut flowers to friends who are ill.

"Now I'm interested in rooting cuttings of shrubs" Mrs. Waters added.

PACKING WEDDING GIFTS . . . Mrs. Waters will have the next several days filled getting bridal gifts packed away for her daughter, Alice.

ALWAYS LENDS A HELPING HAND . . . Monroe, youngest son, and Mrs. Wiley Waters are shown completing his 4-H records which are due in October.

SEWING IS HOBBY . . . When she isn't sewing clothes or things for the house, Mrs. Waters refinishes furniture and makes oil lamps into electric ones.

Books & Stuff

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG

Next Monday marks the first anniversary of HORIZON, the hardcover Magazine of the Arts that was started to provide a voice for what its publishers believed was a heightened interest in the cultural life. Thinking back over its first year, publisher James Parton commented recently that the number of HORIZON subscribers "exceeds even our most optimistic estimates. Americans are obviously eager to know more about a variety of cultural topics. We hope each issue of HORIZON, by presenting the thinking of good contemporary minds and great art from all ages, will help to satisfy this need." Next week we'll give you a run-down on the latest issue, which comes out on the 14th.

On Antiques
Just arrived from Doubleday is a handsomely got up and beautifully illustrated copy of HOW TO DECORATE FOR AND WITH ANTIQUES, by Ethel Hall Bjerkoe. It's a book that purports to tell you all about how to buy, judge and use antiques, and if you're interested in things like early American furniture, architectural styles and the proper creation of the right kind of interior for your home, it's for you. There are chapters on wall-papers, furniture, handicrafts, and color designs for interiors. Then for architectural styles Mrs. Bjerkoe goes into detail on the four chief periods—Early American, Colonial, Federal and Victorian, providing rich descriptions and useful tips on how to restore old houses and build genuine imitations if you want to start from scratch. In a section on "The Early American Home of Today" she describes in detail what you ought to have in every room if you really want your home to be in this style. She does the same for the Colonial, contemporary Federal and Victorian styles of interiors. With plenty of time and an unlimited budget you could really make yourself a beautiful place to live if you followed out some of the ideas in this book. For us right now, it's Mortgage Modern style—but maybe some day we'll be able to get a Hepplewhite serpentine sideboard, a Martha Washington chair and a Salem secretary—just for the kicks.

HIRSHBERG

Coming Up
For those of you who are bachelors and glad of it, or even for those of you who are married and might enjoy a nostalgic look at what might have been, we will recommend HOW TO AVOID MATRIMONY, by Herald Froy, scheduled for publication next week. Illustrated with intriguing drawings by Dennis Mallet, the book is full of little cracks like "Half the troubles of this world can be put down to the itch to get hitched," and "Marriage . . . is a community consisting of a master, a mistress and two slaves, making two in all." Mr. Froy, we conclude, is a bachelor himself—and not sorry about it. . . .

Local Scene
We extend orchids to the Shepard Memorial Library for its successful summer book-reading campaign that has just been concluded. In case you haven't heard, more Greenville children read more books this summer than ever before. . . . Speaking of children, we watched a lot of them, along with the other things, at the circus a few days back. One thing we noticed was that they didn't clap much at the individual performances—an artist would take a bow and most of the kids didn't seem to know what to do about it. Watching TV and the movies all the time, they are not aware that live performers like applause. Maybe somebody should tell them. Anyway, we applauded—and were glad to see the circus and hope it comes again. . . .

THE SEVENTH DAY, by Hans Hellmut Kirst. New York: Doubleday & Co., 1959.
This is a terrifying novel. So masterfully is "The Seventh Day" written that the reader may find himself quaking as he contemplates the results if the catastrophe should reach America, a ghastly possibility. Let us pray that mankind never becomes so insane as to destroy itself in the manner described by author Hans Hellmut Kirst.

This is a story of the last days before the Soviet Union unleashed atom bombs on Europe, and the world-wide implications. Even if you cannot resist a glimpse into the last chapter, and early know how the story ends, you will be compelled to read with intensity each page, for you will be driven to know why the catastrophe was not averted, the details of the terror, and, very humanly, how the terror affects each of the characters. The characters seem representative of most of the types we come across in everyday life: Marie and Martin, young but mature lovers whose only concern was for each other; Iside and Peter, young, but childish in their love; Constantine Schubert, spoiled, devastatingly insecure; Ruth Winters, successful businesswoman and prostitute who wanted only the steady love of a good husband; Charley, the goodnatured American newspaper correspondent; Dr. Reiners, intellectual, dedicated to the lost cause of peace, and executed for his convictions; scientist Henry Engel; Wolf Beck, whose first thought was for money; enlisted men and army officers; and many others. Such fine characterizations are given that the reader feels personally concerned with how each one meets the seventh day. I think most readers of modern novels will enjoy "The Seventh Day", despite its grimness. By Margerya Cramer

Generally Firm Tobacco Prices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Carolina flue-cured tobacco markets have completed another week of activity that featured heavy volume and generally steady prices.

The Carolina Border Belt registered gains of $1 to $4 for smoking leaf Friday with volume and quality about the same as Thursday.

The Federal-State Market News Service said Eastern North Carolina Belt markets had more gains than losses with most changes limited to $1 and $2 per 100 pounds.

The majority of grades on the North Carolina Middle Belt averaged $1 to $3 above or below Thursday's quotations. Sales were heavy and most markets had to-bacco left on the floors for auctions Monday.

Thursday sales on the Border Belt totaled 5,987,499 pounds and averaged $60.79, a decrease of 73 cents from the preceding day.

South Carolina markets sold 2,041,374 pounds for a $58.75 average and North Carolina markets disposed of 3,946,125 pounds at a $61.85 average.

Eastern Belt sales totaled 11,517,075, selling for a $57.27 average—down 28 cents. On the Middle Belt, growers obtained a $55.07 average for 4,392,008 pounds. The average was identical with Wednesday's.

Auction bid averages Friday on a limited number of Middle Belt grades:

Leaf—Fair orange $66, down $1; low orange $62, down $1; low variegated orange $51, unchanged; poor variegated orange $43, down $2.

Smoking leaf—Low orange $69, up $1; low variegated $64, up $1; poor variegated $56, unchanged.

Lugs—Fair orange $69, up $1; low variegated $53, down 1.

Discrimination Studies Slated

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Broad studies on discrimination in housing, voting and administration of justice are among goals of the Civil Rights Commission.

The proposed investigations hinge upon Congress extending the life of the agency and doubling its $500,000 budget. Rufus Kuykendall, director of the commission's Division of Plans, Laws and Research, said Friday.

He said problems of civil rights of Negroes are of prime concern because of their numbers but the commission would like to check complaints of other minority groups including Spanish-Americans and American Indians.

Shaken Father Lost Wife And 6 Children In Wreck

WASECA, Minn. (AP)—"I've worked hard. I had a lovely wife, wonderful children. Now everything is gone. Everything. It's an empty feeling."

James Zimmerman sadly shook his bowed head in voicing his heartbreak over the train-car crash that snuffed out the lives of his wife and six children. A Minneapolis & St. Louis freight train smashed into their station wagon Friday at a crossing just half a block from the Sacred Heart Catholic School, where four of the children attended classes.

Killed at the scene were Michael, 10; Connie, 8; Barbara, 7; James Jr., 5, and Janice, 2. Kathryn, 13, died shortly afterward, and Mrs. Zimmerman, 39, three hours later at a Waseca hospital.

All but James and Janice were enrolled at the school—they had just gone along for the ride from the Zimmerman farm, 4 1/2 miles east of here.

A coroner's jury viewed the bodies Friday night, then recessed until next week, after the funeral, for its verdict.

Neighbors said the Zimmermans used their own station wagon as an economy measure.

Sheriff Stan Bailey said witnesses told him the flashing red lights on U.S. Highway 14 as it crosses the tracks were working. He added that it was a supposition one of the children may have distracted Mrs. Zimmerman momentarily.

The impact hurled the car into a depot loading platform, then it went on to smash into a parked freight car.

Bodies of the mother and her six children will be at the family farm from Sunday until Tuesday morning when solemn high mass will be held at Sacred Heart Church.

Zimmerman lives on the farm where he was born, in a house abutting that of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zimmerman. The latter had attended early mass Friday and were on their way home when informed of the tragedy.

Zimmerman was out in a field cutting silage when his brother came out to tell him "there's been an accident." He arrived at the hospital to learn all six of his children were dead. He himself then was put under treatment for shock and was informed later by a priest of his wife's death.

An eighth victim of the crash, Robert Szyzka, 15, was reported in good condition at the hospital. A student passing near the scene, Robert was struck in the back by a piece of flying metal.

To Face Charges Of Killing Widow

ATLANTA (AP)—A 43-year-old Washington handyman will be flown back to California today to face charges of murdering a wealthy 72-year-old Washington widow.

"I want to clear up the charges against me . . . and lead a normal, free life," said Larry Lord Motherwell.

A California warrant charges the handyman and carpenter with the murder of Mrs. Pearl Ida Putney, whose skeleton was found in Sierra County, Calif., last Aug. 16, a year and a day after she was last seen alive.

Motherwell said he and his attorney, John T. Reges of Washington, "both think it best that I go back and get this thing straightened out."

Gov. Ernest Vandiver signed an order for Motherwell's extradition.

TAKES TWO—Pretty Miss Terry Tripp, an EOC student, of Route 3, Greenville, is shown above with Louledell Daniels and an eight pound bass, the largest caught in Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tripp's lake. Fishing with an ordinary pole, it took cooperative effort by the two to bring the fish in, with the pole breaking in half.

Party Affairs Steal Spotlight

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—It's billed as a farm policy meeting, but party affairs are tending to dominate the Midwest Democratic Conference here.

State chairmen, vice chairmen, and national committee members of 14 states make up the membership of the conference. They were to engage today in a full-scale panel discussion of the knotty farm problem. Then they'll draw up recommendations for the party's 1960 farm platform.

But most of the hotel-room chatter has focused on presidential aspirants and a piece of advice Former President Harry S. Truman recently gave Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler.

"I told him the business of the chairman is to keep the party together and not tear it apart," Truman said.

Truman told of a "frank discussion" he had with Butler recently in commenting at a news conference Friday on the controversy swirling around the chairman.

Butler recently touched off demands that he resign by criticizing the Democratic congressional leadership. He has particularly drawn the ire of some Southerners.

"Nobody should be read out of the party," Truman said. "His (Butler's) business is to keep Democrats in line so we can get all the votes we can."

Butler is not here. Officials said he was invited, but they noted he has attended only one Midwest Conference in the past.

Civilian Pilot's Death Still Open

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP)—Carter County Coroner W. D. Munden says the case of a civilian pilot killed in an air collision with a Marine jet still is open.

Munden reported Friday he had received a copy of a 1952 Marine Corps letter which permitted civilian pilots to fly in a restricted zone where Jesse Taylor was killed three weeks ago.

Munden said he will make no ruling in the case until he has received reports from aviation boards that are investigating the death.

The official letter, according to Munden, gave Taylor and other flyers permission to fly at will in the Beaufort-Morehead City area at an altitude of 1,000 feet or less. The letter, bearing the signature of the then commanding general of the nearby Cherry Point Marine Air station, apparently was never rescinded.

Taylor's light fish-spotting plane collided with the jet on an altitude of about 1,000 feet, according to witnesses. The jet pilot bailed out safely.

Munden said that before receiving the letter, he intended to rule the accident unavoidable since the air station had control of the air in the Beaufort-Morehead City area.

As a result of the accident, Cherry Point officials have halted civilian flying unless the pilots obtain clearance from the air station.

Set Free After Four-Year Term

ATLANTA (AP)—A Puerto Rican sentenced to prison for six years for his part in the 1954 terrorist shooting in the U.S. House of Representatives was free today.

Santiago Castro was released from the U.S. penitentiary here Friday.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich) was seriously wounded when gunfire from a spectators gallery sprayed the House March 1, 1954. Four Puerto Ricans were accused in the shooting, which occurred at a time when certain elements in Puerto Rico were seeking independence from the United States.

Castro was convicted of conspiracy in U.S. District Court in New York. He earned 576 days off his sentence for good behavior.

Top Singers Of Era: Crosby And Sinatra

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If you want to get a good argument going at your next party, casually ask opinions on who is the greatest male singer of the modern showbusiness era.

Bing is the first to admit that he isn't singing as well as he did in the 30s. "But then," he adds, "I'm not doing anything as well as I did in the 30s."

ECC Opens TV Series Sept. 27

East Carolina College will resume broadcasting of its "Let's Go To College" television program, discontinued during the summer months, by presenting September 27, a "Presidents' Program". During 1959-1960 term the weekly program will be televised each Sunday afternoon over the facilities of WNCN, Channel 9, from 4 to 4:30.

President John D. Messick of the college; Z. W. Frazelle of Kenansville, president of the East Carolina Alumni Association; Acting Chairman of the Board of Trustees J. Herbert Waldrop of Greenville; and Dallas Wells of Williamson, president of the Student Government Association will be featured speakers on "Let's Go To College" September 27.

It's true that Bing is not singing much these days, whereas Frank is singing better — and more — than ever. The tonsils of both have earned millions, probably more for Bing than Frank — but not much more. Bing holds the record for the greatest single record sale of all time — "White Christmas" — now past the 10-million mark. Frank is the all-time champion album seller.

Life Sentence Is Given To Rapist

Student Union's Program Is Set

The East Carolina College Union, celebrating this month the fifth anniversary of its opening with a birthday party for students, has begun a series of special events for the 1959-1960 term. The program for the year is in charge of the College Union Student Board, volunteer group headed by Ronald Lee Stephens, Fayetteville senior.

TOUGH SADDLE

By MATT STUART

© By Matt Stuart, 1959; from the Dodd, Mead & Co. novel; distributed by King Features Syndicate.

CHAPTER 34
A REALIZATION came to Sage Wingo which dulled the fine edge of his buoyant mood. For if he were to head directly out of this part of the country tonight, he'd certainly leave behind a big debt of unpaid vengeance.

The one he owed Link Asbell. It was a debt of long amassing, starting the first time he and Asbell met, when they looked each other up and down, formed their opinions, made their judgments.

In Asbell's eyes he had seen the forming of a strong and scathing distaste. And from that moment the smoldering coals of dislike and animosity had burned in Sage Wingo.

Nothing that had happened since had in any way lessened that fire of enmity. Just the opposite was true. That first dislike had long since become a solid, enduring hatred, a hatred particularly virulent since the night in Ben Dillon's Imperial bar not so long ago, when Asbell had beat him savagely, man to man.

Added to this were the happenings back at Double Diamond headquarters, earlier this day. Caught between Asbell and Tom Grant, he had had to surrender his rifle, and then been forced to watch Asbell lever the weapon empty into the watering trough, and, as a final insulting gesture, drop the gun into the trough after the cartridges.

So, at this moment, Sage Wingo knew the conviction that no matter where he rode, or how far, he'd never be free of a nagging discontent unless he settled his debt of hate with Link Asbell. However, it was something that shaped up as far from easy, and he had to think of it carefully, figuring how and when.

He always thought better on such things with a shot or two of whiskey under his belt, so where he'd been riding directly west, he now reined north and west, where the lights of Garrison town were distant yellow pinpoints in the night.

Coming into town from Running M, Link Asbell rode down Center

Street to the Prairie House, where he dismounted and tied. He climbed to the porch and walked in. When he knocked on the door of Room Seven, the first response was a considerable period of silence. Finally, after a second knock, Charley Tunison answered, a definite note of wariness in his voice.

"Who is it?" Asbell told him, and was summoned in, in a tone which, if not exactly cordial, was at least somewhat relaxed.

Tunison was propped up in bed, the lamp on the bedside table throwing a muted yellow radiance. The lawyer spoke past his face — muffling bandages, faint sarcasm threading his words.

"This surprises me, Asbell. I didn't think you cared a damn."

"I don't," returned Asbell bluntly. "In fact, I liked the idea of Frank Dalmar clouting you. And while I'm about it I may as well tell you that from here on out, there is no welcome for you long ago, when Asbell had beat him savagely, man to man."

"You bothered to come in here to tell me that?" "No, but it is something I wanted to get off my chest. What I really came to see you about is Doc Jerome's affidavit on the real cause of Packy Lane's death. I want it."

Startled, Tunison blurted: "You want?" "Yeah, me." Then Asbell caught him up quickly. "Somebody else has been after it? Jonas Dalmar and Bardo Sampson?"

Tunison retreated a little. "They're interested," he admitted cautiously. "Of course I wouldn't let them have it. It was entrusted to my care. So, you're out of luck."

"No," Asbell said curtly. "I'm not out of luck. Doc Jerome didn't say Dalmar or Sampson could have it. But he did say I could. He told me to see you and get it from you."

"Your saying Doc said that, still isn't authorization enough—"

"It's all the authorization I need," Asbell cut in. "You're stalling, Tunison—and I don't know why you should. But I'm in no mood for stalling. I came for that affidavit and I'm going to get it. Where is it?"

Charley Tunison's thoughts began to race a little frantically. Not half an hour ago, Bardo Sampson had been in this room with the same demand Asbell now made. There had been no offer of money in return for the affidavit, and when reminded of this fact, Bardo had cursed and threatened. Whereupon, Tunison had flashed the same gun he had on Jonas Dalmar, and drove Bardo from the room under the authority of it.

But what about Asbell? It wouldn't do, Tunison knew, to throw a gun on him. That would be playing the hand all wrong. The tug-of-war he'd been having with Jonas Dalmar and Bardo Sampson was one thing. Faced as he was now with Link Asbell's flat demand, was something else again. Which way to turn?

It was the instinct for politics in Charley Tunison, to if possible, always identify himself with the side which he figured carried the most weight. He knew exactly what Dalmar and Sampson intended, the full import and scope of their scheming. He knew how far that scheme had advanced, what irrevocable steps had already been taken. But the final issue was far from settled.

Earlier, along with the lawyer's supper, Husk Greeley had brought word of Frank Dalmar's clash with Wiley Goss, of Goss getting lead into Frank, and then being himself shot to death by Link Asbell.

These facts, Husk Greeley had said, he'd gotten from Doc Jerome. And, concluded Tunison now, they were facts to throw an altering light on things. That Frank Dalmar and Wiley Goss had gone to the gun, one against the other, suggested all was not what it might be inside Double Diamond. And any outfit, fighting within its own ranks, was hardly the soundest bet in the world.

On the other hand, the lengthening shadow of Link Asbell was now spreading all across the picture. How much enduring substance did that shadow hold?

Charley Tunison had never cared particularly for Link Asbell, mainly because he saw him as an obstacle in the path of his own secret schemes and ambitions. Such as some day getting his hands on all that was Big Five, including the vibrant, lovely girl who owned 'he ranch.

Who made Big Five go, these days? Link Asbell. Who made Double Diamond go? Jonas Dalmar. But Jonas Dalmar was well along in years, and dependent on others to handle the rough chores. And Link Asbell was a young man, perfectly capable of handling those rough chores himself, as he had already proven in his clash with Wiley Goss.

Grudgingly, Charley Tunison recognized the inevitable. Gone now any chance of milking a thousand or two from Jonas Dalmar and Bardo Sampson through the double-edged deal he'd figured on. In the meantime and for the moment, it would seem that Big Five carried the weight. So the smart thing was to go along.

"The affidavit," Tunison said, "is in the safe, over in my office. If you want it, you'll have to wait until I'm well enough to go there and open the safe."

"You're well enough now," Asbell said. "You can see, and there's nothing wrong with your hands, which are what you open the safe with. If you need a steady shoulder along the way, I'll loan you mine. Now get some clothes on!"

Caught against the dull glow of the windows, Asbell glimpsed "The head and shoulders of a young man, a man who is definitely trying to kill him!" The story continues here Monday.

Plans A Sample Of 'Good Old Russian Hell'

Editor's Note—What does Nikita Khrushchev expect the United States to look like? William L. Ryan, in this last of a series, tells how the Soviet leader regards Americans.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev, in his own words, intends to give the United States a bit of "good old Russian hell."

The prospective guest of the American public appears to have a low opinion of the United States—or at least that portion of it he calls the ruling circles.

The ruling circles include anybody who owns property, anybody who is in a directing position in labor unions, the entire military, the entire government and the entire middle class from lower to upper.

There is little chance Khrushchev's visit will do much to change his mind. It may, however, have some effect on the timetable the world Communist leader has worked out. The premier of the Soviet Union and first secretary of the Soviet Communist party may learn some surprising things.

Khrushchev has staked his niche in Soviet history upon a challenging declaration of economic war against the United States. In a broadcast just over a year ago, Khrushchev said a shooting war is not necessary for a world victory by communism.

He has other means to fight the class enemy, my dears," he said to Americans in general. "And in this, victory for us is assured. We will raise our economy, raise labor productivity, produce more per human being, so that soon, gentlemen, you understand, the time will come, you Americans, when we shall, as you say, give you good old Russian hell."

Khrushchev's plan to give us all hell involves overtaking and surpassing the United States in all phases of economic development, including the consumer side.

Next week he will have a chance to note the size of the chew he has bitten off.

Since Khrushchev got his invitation, the Soviet press has been oozing good will toward the United States, though carefully larding this with frequent attacks on those shadowy, frightening "ruling circles."

Over the years Khrushchev has been unsparring in a constant stream of invective leveled against the United States and its leaders—vilifying, taunting, challenging.

Men who have talked privately with Khrushchev report he shows profound ignorance of the United States—its people, workers, living standards, economy and political system.

To Khrushchev, all American politicians are alike. The American worker, choosing between parties, merely chooses between exploiters.

Factory managers in the Soviet Union have no strike problem. Strikes are forbidden. The state operates labor unions. But Khrushchev professes to believe labor unions in America are all "tools of monopoly capital."

If American workers strike, it is a phenomenon which could not be controlled by union bosses. To him, this indicates decay of the whole American system.

Khrushchev is enraged by suggestions that the Soviet government cares little about the consumer, aims only at industrial power and war might.

"The American politicians often shed crocodile tears about the Soviet government allegedly giving little attention to developing those branches of industry which directly meet the people's needs," he shouted Khrushchev in Czechoslovakia last year. (Aware of possible envy in the U.S.S.R., he does not make such statements for home consumption.)

"So," he continued, "we decided to make a practical test of their attitude and let them show whether the American imperialists really care for the peoples of the Soviet Union, that they should consume more, or whether they care for having the economic potential undermined and making it incapable of defense, and thus have the opportunity to carry on their cold war policy and dictate conditions from a position of strength."

Khrushchev has been least violent in his treatment of President Eisenhower, among all American leaders. Yet he has accused the President of being directly responsible for a "brink of war" policy. Stung by Eisenhower's proclamation of Captive Nations Week, in sympathy for communized Eastern Europe, Khrushchev accused him of crude interference with the intention of increasing world tensions, inciting passions and provoking an arms race. The President's suggestion that there might be a clean hydrogen bomb, free from fallout, Khrushchev has scoffingly labeled "stupid."

But Khrushchev's pet targets are American military men. He has suggested some of them should be committed to lunatic asylums.

Khrushchev's best propagandists are now suggesting that the United States government had no choice but to invite a great peace champion to its shores, because that was the "will of the people."

Novelist Ilya Ehrenburg put forward this idea in an article recently about the "energy, the tirelessness, yes, and the thorough-going humaneness of the head of the Soviet government."

The U. S. government, suggested Ehrenburg, really didn't want Khrushchev to visit America, but the American people forced it.

To Khrushchev, there is a difference between what he calls the people and what he calls the ruling circles. And in the back of his mind Khrushchev may have a picture of a tired, struggling, browbeaten American people waiting eagerly for a sunlit ray of hope from the chief representative of the Kremlin and world communism.

should be committed to lunatic asylums.

Khrushchev's best propagandists are now suggesting that the United States government had no choice but to invite a great peace champion to its shores, because that was the "will of the people."

Novelist Ilya Ehrenburg put forward this idea in an article recently about the "energy, the tirelessness, yes, and the thorough-going humaneness of the head of the Soviet government."

The U. S. government, suggested Ehrenburg, really didn't want Khrushchev to visit America, but the American people forced it.

To Khrushchev, there is a difference between what he calls the people and what he calls the ruling circles. And in the back of his mind Khrushchev may have a picture of a tired, struggling, browbeaten American people waiting eagerly for a sunlit ray of hope from the chief representative of the Kremlin and world communism.
