Find 214 Gallons In Bootleg Raid

By Stuart Savage . . . Reflector Staff Writer . . . Pitt County ABC officers arrested a 39-year-old Negro man on charges of possession of non-tax-paid whiskey for the purpose of sale after officers found 214 and one half gallons of illegal booze in his home on Vanderbilt Drive late last night.

Hodges' Week Has 8 Speeches

RALEIGH (AP) — Eight speeches, a press conference and several board meetings are on Gov. Hodges' busy schedule for next week. He will deliver talks Monday at Elon College, in Greensboro at the Inter-city Rotary luncheon, and in Durham at the first annual meeting of the North Carolina Civil Defense Assn.

Nine jars not contained in boxes were also found in the two closets, making a total of 429 half-gallon jars of whiskey. According to the officers the illegal spirits would sell for four dollars per jar, bringing the total selling price of the confiscated liquor to $1,716. Production costs are about one dollar per gallon. Federal tax on the cache would total $2,232.25 at $10.50 per gallon. Williams told officers it was not his whiskey and denied knowing the whiskey was in his house. He is in the city jail under a $500 bond for appearance in court here Monday.

N.C. Pay Hikes Given Approval

RALEIGH (AP) — Pay raises for doctors in state mental hospitals and for Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt were approved Friday night by the Advisory Budget Commission. Budget Director D. S. Coltrane said the money group also took a look at public welfare costs. Under a law passed by the 1959 Legislature, the Advisory Budget Commission has new authority over welfare spending.

N.C. Cadet Dies In Plane Crash

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Naval aviation cadet Poe W. Eskridge, III of Winston-Salem, N.C., was killed Friday in the crash of his training plane. The 21-year-old cadet was returning from a gunnery training flight when his T-28, propeller-driven, plane crashed in a wooded area about 10 miles south of Bagdad, Fla., the Navy reported.

Among Other Things, Jailed For Attacking Police Officer

A 23-year-old Negro was placed in city jail under $1,000 bond on multiple charges placed against him after he allegedly assaulted a Greenville police officer early this morning. The Negro, identified as Edward Langley of 1857 Third St. N. W., Washington, D.C., formerly of 1606 South Railroad St., was arrested about 4:15 a.m. after a high-speed chase down Dickinson Ave and Ridgeway St. and a fight with Identification Officer Walter Thomas.

Other officers were called to aid Thomas by a night watchman in the area who heard the commotion and thought someone was being hurt. Doctors who treated the wound at the hospital termed it "not serious." In addition to the three charges lodged against him this morning, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, careless and reckless driving, and speeding, Langley faces two other charges, a capias and a second warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon on a female, last May. After jumping bond in the assault case and failing to appear in court, the capias was issued for him. Langley is now in city jail under a $1,000 for appearance in court here Monday. Thomas was not injured in the fight.

Reds Rush Friendship For U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — America is getting the full friendship treatment in Soviet newspapers and on radio and television. Nothing like it has been seen here in recent years. Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States has really thawed the air in Moscow. The Soviet press has blown hot before only to blow cold again later. But a sample of how warm it can get came in a brief Tass dispatch reporting the arrival of a U. S. military delegation in the Iranian capital of Tehran.

Set-Back Lines Asked By Mayor

Mayor S. Eugene West has asked the Planning-Zoning Commission to establish set-back lines on certain streets in the city. In a letter to Commission Chairman Frank L. Little, the mayor said, "I would appreciate very much if you and your board will make a study on this concerning a set-back line for the following streets and any others you or your board feels should be considered at the present time." Mayor West listed: Greene St., Evans St., Dickinson Ave., Fifth St., Tenth St., Boyd and Tyson Sts. from Fifth to 14th and 14th St. from Boyd to Mill Run.

Rejection Seen For Khrushchev Plan Of Complete Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's four-year plan for a world without armies or arms struck most non-Communist diplomats today as a propaganda maneuver—but not worthy of study. Western delegates at the U.N. promised to give consideration to the plan but the prediction was they would eventually reject it as a Utopian dream everyone shares—but only a dream at the present stage of the East-West struggle.

Herter said in a formal statement the scheme "will require very careful examination though it seems to repeat proposals for total disarmament made by the Soviet Union in 1932 and 1955. 'The United States,' Herter said, 'will go as far on the path of controlled disarmament as any other country. I stress the word 'controlled' because up to now the previous proposals have founded on the Soviet government's refusal to agree to effective controls.' British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told newsmen on arriving back in London this morning 'control is the essence' of any disarmament plan. Lloyd declared the plan he submitted to the U.N. on Thursday and Khrushchev's contained similar elements. 'We need to work on both plans and see whether anything can be made of them.'

The British plan aimed at the abolition of nuclear weapons and reduction of conventional weapons to low levels in three stages and with controls. Both plans will come before the 10-nation East-West disarmament talks in Geneva early next year. Communist delegations — Hungary and Poland—hailed the Soviet leader's proposals as a big step forward. Suspicious were widespread among other diplomats at the U.N. and in the non-Communist world capitals. 'Alice in Wonderland,' commented one Western diplomat here. 'It sounds so easy. I think they (the Soviets) must take us for morons,' quipped a prominent Asian.

between and behind the lines." Khrushchev told the General Assembly in a 65-minute speech "the essence of our proposals is that over a period of four years all states should effect complete disarmament and should no longer have any means of waging war. 'At the disposal of states there should remain only strictly limited contingents of police with small arms to maintain internal order.' The Soviet Premier gave the impression he holds slim hopes for the success of his sweeping program. He said, 'if due to certain reasons' the Western powers won't go along, the Soviet Union has an alternate program. His alternate plan sounded like the Soviet Union's old program and called for: 1. Creation of a zone of inspection, control and 'reduction of foreign troops' in Western Europe. 2. Creation of an atom-free zone in Central Europe. 3. Withdrawal of all foreign troops from Europe and liquidation of all foreign bases everywhere. 4. A non-aggression pact between North Atlantic Treaty and Warsaw Treaty countries.

5. An agreement to prevent surprise attack. Khrushchev failed to give ground to meet the West's big objections by declaring that the Soviet Union is against control organs becoming 'organs for the collection of intelligence information in conditions where they would be no disarmament.' Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph M. A. H. Luns said the Soviet Premier's plan was 'propaganda—but moderate.' 'The sweeping proposals are impossible,' he said. 'The alternative proposals are what the Soviets have always asked for.' Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, the assembly's special representative on Hungary, said the speech deserved study but he did not think Khrushchev 'moved any further' in the direction of the controls which West wants. Chinese Nationalist Delegate Tingfu F. Tsiang boycotted the address. Later, he said Khrushchev's remarks on China were 'the cold war at its worst' and showed 'ambition for the ultimate domination of the world by international communism.'

Russian Proposal Draws Cautious U.S. Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington's cautious reaction to Nikita Khrushchev's four-year total disarmament plan in general is that the plan deserves careful study, but that it may be a meaningless propaganda gesture. President Eisenhower, spending the weekend at his Gettysburg farm, reportedly was studying the text of Khrushchev's 65-minute speech Friday to the United Nations. The President made no immediate comment. Some congressional spokesmen called the disarmament proposal a grandstand play, designed to catch the eye and capture the hopes of the world for peace. They noted that the ways and means of disarming, the checks and inspections needed to enforce it, were left pretty vague by the Soviet premier.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, at his home in Bonham, Tex., said 'part of it is good, but until conditions settle down in Europe, especially around Berlin, I don't believe we can go for all of it.' Rayburn said the proposal would be a fine thing for Khrushchev and Eisenhower to talk about at their coming private meeting. 'If they can come to an agreement they will ease the fears of all the world. But we need a binding agreement that all nations would honor.'

San Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), ranking GOP member of the Foreign Relations Committee, called it a grandstand play. 'Characteristic of his tour of the United States,' Wiley said, 'Khrushchev speaks sweet words of peace. Yet, however, he failed to offer any real formula or Soviet effort for establishment of a real foundation for peace.' Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), chairman of the subcommittee on disarmament, said 'We ought not to pass it off as a mere propaganda stunt. We should give it careful scrutiny and study, and pursue every avenue and effort toward a meaningful disarmament program which must include adequate inspection and controls.'

Assistant Democratic Leader Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana had this to say: 'We did disarm after World War II and were caught short in Korea. 'Therefore we have to be extremely careful of any proposals. However, we should not reject out of hand Mr. Khrushchev's proposals. The details and fine print should be spelled out, and any roadblocks, they should be considered by Mr. Khrushchev and President Eisenhower at Camp David later this month. It is there, if anywhere, that proposals along this and related lines, if warranted, must be made.' U.S. officials here found a striking parallel between Khrushchev's speech and the one President Eisenhower made to the U.N. on April 16, 1953. Eisenhower, also talking of disarmament, said then: 'This world in arms is not spending money alone (on the arms race). It is spending the sweat of its laborers, the genius of its scientists, the hopes of its children.'

Kirkintilloch, Scotland (AP) — Rescue workers today poured millions of gallons of water into the blazing coal mine in which 47 men were trapped Friday. All hope of rescuing the men has been abandoned. The aim now is to douse the fire so that the bodies can be brought out in safety. Grief-stricken wives and children of the dead clustered around the colliery yard, some still clutching at hope. But officials believe all the men died within minutes after the fire broke out Friday morning. Rescuers toiled for 18 hours but were forced back by concentrations of deadly carbon monoxide gas. The disaster is the worst in Scottish mines this century. 'Altogether 47 men are missing in the colliery and are presumed dead,' an official of the government's coal board said Friday night. 'There is practically no hope of survivors.'

Unions Warned Of Swift Crackdown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Labor secretary James P. Mitchell told the AFL-CIO convention Friday the government is cracking down swiftly against racketeers and subversives in union leadership under the new labor control law. Mitchell disclosed he wired a demand to Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa that he produce within 10 days a list of all Teamsters Union officers or employees with criminal or Communist records. The Landrum-Griffin labor law, which President Eisenhower signed last Monday, bans anyone convicted of certain crimes or a Communist party member from serving as a union official for five years after such conviction or membership. Mitchell also demanded that Hoffa advise 'what action your organization is taking regarding these individuals.'

A union knowingly employing a criminal offender violates the new law's provisions as does the official himself. Hoffa said in Detroit he would turn Mitchell's telegram over to his lawyers for study 'if and when I receive it.' He indicated he was familiar with the contents of the telegram but declined comment. The labor secretary said he sent similar messages to officials of some other unions, too. He did not name them. The Department of Justice and his own staff, Mitchell said, are undertaking immediate investigations of 'certain officers and employees of some unions.'

Mitchell said his staff already has started working through 2½ years of Senate probers testimony in which some union leaders and labor management consultants were identified as criminal offenders. He declared he made a special point of calling Hoffa's attention to the provision because of the public interest generated by the McClellan committee hearings. 'These disclosures have involved only a few unions, and only a few union representatives,' Mitchell told the convention delegates. 'But they have shown that the criminal elements do exist.'

Record Income For N.C. Farms

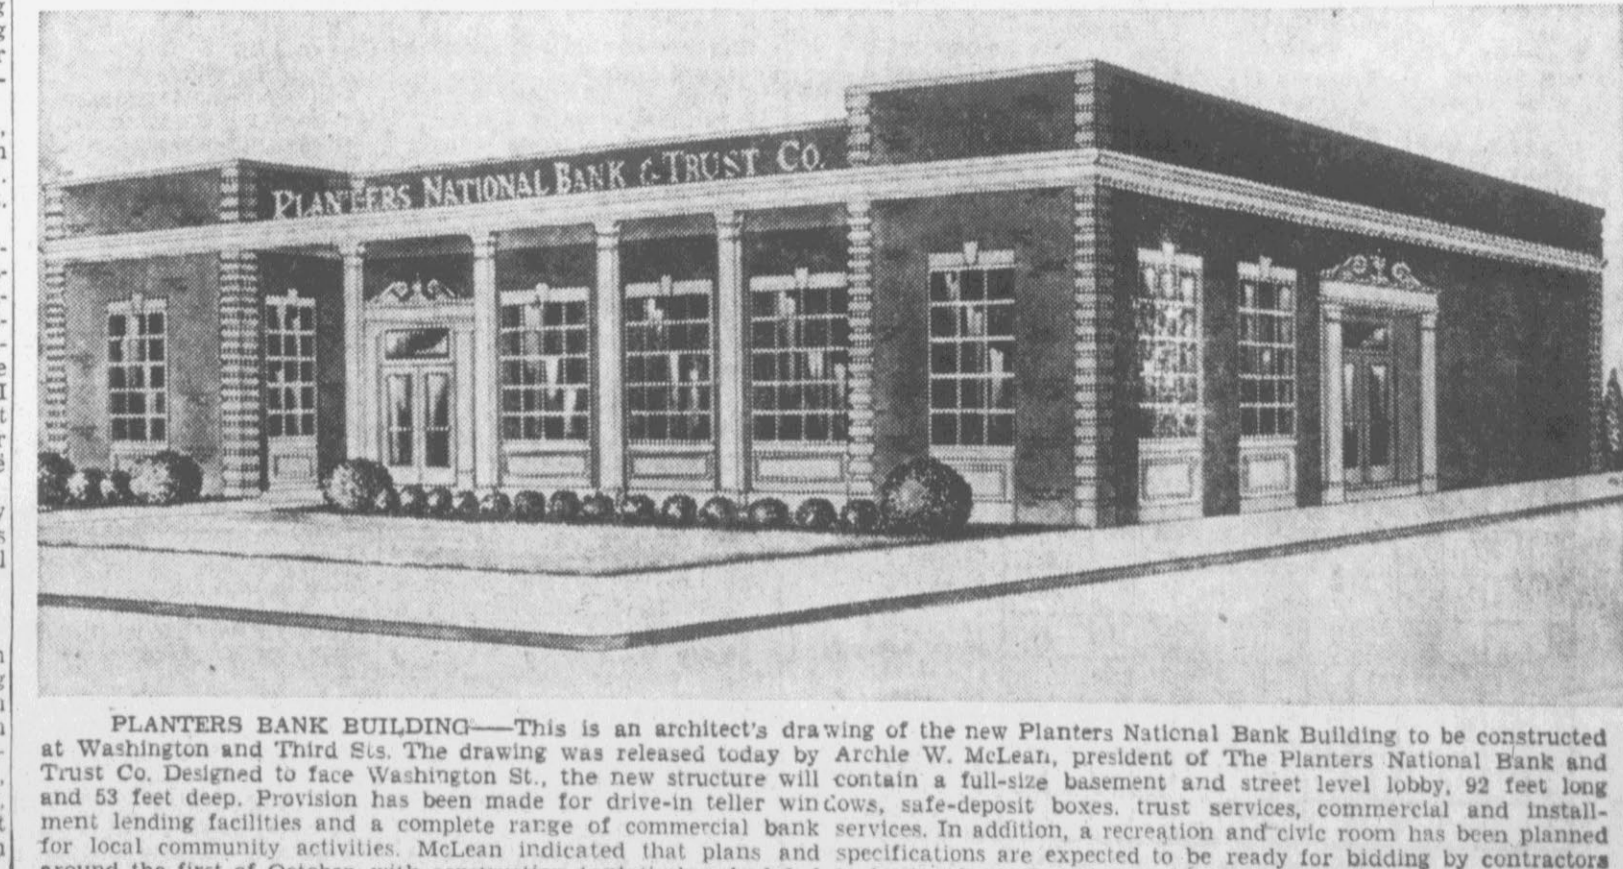

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina farmers received a record income of more than one billion, 48 million dollars in 1958. This was an increase of 154½ million dollars over 1957, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said Friday. Tobacco accounted for 70 million dollars of the increase. Thomas Green, 50, was the miner who was rescued. He had collapsed while crawling through the smoke to warn fellow miners. He

Laos Says 'No' To Conference

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian government today rejected a Soviet proposal for another Geneva-type conference to end the fighting in Laos. 'We will not accept any conference that would jeopardize our unity, independence, and territorial integrity,' Acting Foreign Minister Sisouk Na Champassak told newsmen. Sisouk said Communist North Vietnamese radio broadcasts continued to support the Soviet proposal, which said Red China should be included in such a conference. The Geneva conference of 1954 ended the war in Indochina and resulted in the partition of Viet Nam into two antagonistic states, one Communist and the other pro-Western. Sisouk confirmed that royal Laotian forces Wednesday had recaptured Samtue, a village 10 miles from the North Viet Nam border which Communist rebels had captured twice. The U.N. mission, a Security Council subcommittee which arrived here Tuesday is still awaiting written documents from Laotian government.

Sketch Of New Bank Building For Greenville

PLANTERS NATIONAL BANK & TRUST CO. This is an architect's drawing of the new Planters National Bank Building to be constructed at Washington and Third Sts. The drawing was released today by Archie W. McLean, president of The Planters National Bank and Trust Co. Designed to face Washington St., the new structure will contain a full-size basement and street level lobby, 92 feet long and 53 feet deep. Provision has been made for drive-in teller windows, safe-deposit boxes, trust services, commercial and installment lending facilities and a complete range of commercial bank services. In addition, a recreation and civic room has been planned for local community activities. McLean indicated that plans and specifications are expected to be ready for bidding by contractors around the first of October, with construction tentatively scheduled to begin about the first of November.

Recordings Help To Spread The Gospel

By RAY SHAW

NEW YORK (AP)—Recordings played on tiny, toy-like phonographs are the newest method of spreading the Gospel to high illiteracy areas of the world.

For $1.50 a Congo tribesman, a Nigerian or an Indian in Mexico speaking a Mayan dialect can buy the phonograph—and six records telling in his own tongue the life of Jesus.

The American Bible Society, which in its 143-year history has distributed millions of Bibles, believes the program is an answer to need for some means to project Christianity to nonreaders.

In the last year the program has reached 12 foreign countries and several Indian tribes in this country. About 10,000 recordings have been distributed, most of them to native preachers. The Bible society hopes to have 100 dialects on record in three years.

The finger fono, made of plastic, costs less than $1 to manufacture and weighs under a pound. It has no speaker system—a metal diaphragm crudely amplifies the sound. A record is spun by hand with a small crank-like gadget atop the turntable.

"The phonograph is as simple as it can be," says Richard Crane, field recorder for the project. "A breakfast cereal even was offered something similar as a premium not long ago."

In a year Crane has traveled 40,000 miles by air and hundreds more on foot, horseback and in jungle jitneys to record the dialect.

He was downed by malaria, had a nervous encounter with a hostile tribesman in Africa, came within inches of tumbling over a 1,000-foot cliff in Mexico.

Next month he'll pack his 80 pounds of battery-powered recording equipment and be off for the Philippines. Later he hopes to go to Thailand and Burma, and next year South America.

In the field he works with Protestant missionaries and native readers. He sets up his recording equipment in the quietest spots he can find in the jungle or village.

"Regardless of what spot you pick," Crane says, "you still get the sound of the jungle or of bystanders. But this seems to add something to the records."

It usually takes Crane a day or more to record the reading of 36 passages of the Bible picked to tell the story of Jesus' life.

He takes the tapes back to his home in Hackensack, N. J., for editing.

She'll Never Neglect Him...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wednesday, the Mormon-aires of Salt Lake City, Utah, a group of 12 missionaries for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, better known as the Mormons, presented a program of sacred and secular music to Rose High students.

Elder Melvin Murphey, who served as emcee, told something about the history of the Mormon Church and told several jokes. Also, the choral director, Elder Lawrence Apshian, led the group in singing several choral numbers. Various members of the group sang solos, while there was also a quartet. A guitar player was the most popular with many of the students.

Parents Pose Many Problems
By VIVIAN BROWN
"MY PARENTS are going to Europe for a couple of months, and I am staying home," writes a 17-year-old boy. "They have mixed parties while they are away. My steady girl says she will not visit my house while my parents are away. She thinks my parents are out of order and says her parents would be shocked at the idea. I told her my parents had confidence in me, and that she should see it that way. Don't you think she is showing a lack of trust in me?"
The question is not that your Love or Grades?

"My father is a college professor. I attend the school where he teaches and we live near the university. I have an attractive boyfriend, although I am overweight and not very pretty. We have a hobby of photography. This boy was in one of my father's classes last year, and my father did give him some special attention. I have not heard from him since school was out, and my girl friend says he was only interested in my father's tutoring, and that I will not hear from him until next fall, if then." I would not worry about what the friend thinks. Your guess is as good as hers in this case, and she is being very unkind to make such comments. If the boy does communicate with you, don't remind him of the lapse. It could be that this boy does consider you a good friend, and has no serious intentions.

Rev. George Nickels Marries

BALLSTON SPA, N. Y.—Miss Jane Austin Stewart of Lodi, N. J. and the Rev. George Nickels of Greenville, N. C. were married in early August in the Ballston Center Presbyterian Church. The wedding vows were spoken before an arrangement of gladioli, palms and greenery. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bridal gown featuring a scooped neckline trimmed with seeded pearls, a lace bodice and a gathered tulle skirt over taffeta. She carried a bouquet creation of a white orchid with Stephanotis and her personal Bible.

Miss Elizabeth Edling of Schenectady, N. Y. was maid of honor. She was dressed in a turquoise blue gown with a powder blue cummerbund. White accessories and a bouquet of white roses completed her attire. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Stewart, sister of the bride, Mrs. Henry Trombly of Saratoga and Mrs. Robert McCoubie of Hebron, Maine.

Their gowns and bridal bouquets were in exact design as the honor attendants. The bride's mother and the bridegroom's mother both chose blue brocade dresses and white accessories. Both wore cymbidium orchid corsages. William Nickels Jr. of Leesburg, Va. acted as best man. Ushers were Charles Nickels of Bristol, Conn., brother of the bridegroom, Rev. Edward Thornburg of Greenville, N. C., and Malcolm Brown of Philadelphia, Pa.

Immediately following the ceremony approximately 200 guests attended a reception at Hickory Inn in honor of the bride party. After a wedding trip to northern New York and through New England, the couple will reside in Greenville, N. C. The bridegroom is the pastor of Chicod and Hollywood Presbyterian Churches near Greenville.

Sweaters Are Now Popular With Young And Old, Men Or Women

RALEIGH—Sweaters are now popular with young and old, women and men. Miss Mary Em Lee, clothing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says that everyone should know how to choose sweaters wisely. Here are some pointers to help: Check the knit to see that it is firm and close rather than loose and flimsy. A loose, flimsy sweater may lose its shape easily. Firm ribbing for finishing the neck, sleeves and body of the sweater is a "must." You can test this firmness by gently stretching the ribbing at the bottom of the sleeve. Good ribbing will quickly spring back into shape. There are two kinds of necklines—merrowed and looped. The merrowed neck has an inside seam that joins the separately made ribbing to the body of the sweater. The looped neck has no seam; it's a continuation of the sweater body. It's smooth, firm, and looks hand finished. Sweaters made with looped necklines are more expensive, but they wear well, and do not stretch or sag out of shape. Look at the cut of a sweater. It should be cut full size with armholes large enough for complete comfort and ease of movement. Seams should be straight and even. They should not twist. "Buttons and buttonholes are good indicators of the quality of the sweater," says Miss Lee. "Buttons should be smooth and even. Buttonholes should have deep, closely-spaced stitches. Firm stitching helps prevent raveling. And they should be equally spaced." Remember—how a sweater is made often explains its price.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Gov. Hodges, who has surprised Tar Heels time and again with his successful schemes to attract industry to North Carolina, will launch the most far-reaching of the industry hunting safaris October 31 when he leads a group of North Carolinians to Europe.

From various sources throughout the state, there is coming an increasing amount of questioning of the wisdom of this jaunt to Europe to attract investment capital and foreign trade to this state.

Although the 50-odd persons who will make the trip to Europe with Gov. Hodges will pay their own way (about $1,000 each), estimates of what the trip will cost the taxpayers of the state range from $10,000 to $35,000. There has also been speculation that some of those who go will use the trip for looking over investment possibilities for North Carolina capital in Europe at the same time they are seeking to attract European capital for investment in this state.

Those who have raised these points for the most part have raised this question: Wouldn't the money spent on the industry hunting trip to Europe bring more benefit to North Carolina if it were used to promote the state in this country?

Only time will provide even a partial answer to that question. It will be difficult to evaluate accurately for months or perhaps years just how much good the promotion trip to Europe will do North Carolina so far as attracting new industry and new trade are concerned.

Industry hunting trips led by Gov. Hodges to various parts of this country during the past several years apparently have paid off handsomely for North Carolina in terms of new plants, new jobs and new payrolls. It may well be that Gov. Hodges is making another wise move by tapping a source farther from home for investment capital to be used to provide new jobs, new plants and new payrolls in this state. Certainly there is no ground for arguing with the proven industry-attracting strategy Gov. Hodges has used in the past in behalf of North Carolina.

After all, nothing succeeds like success, and Gov. Hodges has success on his side in his efforts to develop North Carolina industrially.

For The Present, A Surprising Harmony

The harmonious manner in which the Democratic National Committee accepted proposals of chairman Paul Butler for allotting convention votes and exacting a "good faith" pledge from delegates came as a surprise.

Before the meeting in Washington this week it was generally expected that the South would at least pose token opposition to Butler's proposals if for no other reason than to show its opposition to the chairman who has frequently taken pokes at Democrats in this section of the country.

As it was, however, Butler's proposals were accepted without a hitch once they were formally presented. The "good faith" rule is the same which was accepted and followed in 1956 and is acceptable to practically all Democrats, North and South. The proposal to increase the number of convention votes was modified to guarantee every state at least one more vote than it has had before. Even so, the 11 Southern states, under the proposal, will have about one per cent less of the total convention vote than they previously have enjoyed.

Whether that one per cent will appreciably alter the Southern influence in the convention will depend on the situations that arise.

The harmony which radiated from the meeting of the National Committee suggests there will be more harmony at the national convention next year than previously has been indicated. It might well be that Chairman Butler has more support in the South than he has been given credit for. Or it may be that Chairman Butler has come to realize that his tactics that have brought criticism from the South have not helped the party as a whole. Perhaps he will now adopt a more positive program to promote party unity than he has followed heretofore.

Whatever the reasons, the greater degree of harmony than expected at the meeting of the Democratic National Committee points to a healthy situation for the party as it begins to develop plans for next year's presidential campaign. A great many changes can take place in the next year, but for the present at least, old wounds haven't been re-opened and perhaps that is a sign greater efforts will be made to see that they are not re-opened.

Item: The rumor-mongers are certain that Terry Sanford will have Ben Roney as his manager and Roy Wilder as his publicity man. Roney was a chief lieutenant of the late Kerr Scott, both in the Governor's office and in the U.S. Senate, and Wilder was on Senator Scott's staff. Here, once again, the obvious purpose is to inextricably identify Sanford with the Scott faction. Sanford says of course he wants the votes of all the Scott people—and of all the rest of the voters—but when he formally announces his candidacy he will seek support on his own qualifications without factional alignment.

Item: Addison Hewlett spent a day or two last week in Halifax county, and was escorted around by Joe Branch, a former legislative colleague and who was Governor Hodges' legislative counsel in 1957. A mutual friend wrote that he did not know whether the incident had any significance, but another volunteer scout for this department called to say he "understood" that Branch would manage Hewlett's campaign.

GROUNDLESS — So far as your reporter can discover there is no factual basis for any of these managerial rumors. Their circulation is evidence of the general uncertainty prevailing in political circles and the inherent desire of politicians to get in "on the ground floor." Or, to change the simile, to be first on the band wagon.

Prediction is made that there will be no formal announcements of consequence as to candidacies before Thanksgiving, and no campaign organizations publicized until after the first of next year.

Nothing Ever Like It Before

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev is putting on one of the great shows of the 20th century. But how it looks depends on whether you're sitting in the United States or elsewhere.

There's never been anything like this in our time.

Here he is, an ordinary-looking man, not too well educated, a one-time miner who struggled up the ladder from the coal pits to become the boss of one of the most powerful nations in history.

More than that. Despite this country's long hostility to communism and the billions it has poured into defense against the Soviets, the top man in world communism has been invited over.

He gets a 21-gun salute, he stays at the Waldorf-Astoria, he's guest of honor at a White House dinner. And it goes further.

No matter how distasteful he and all he stands for may be to millions in this country, he practically compelled the United States to invite him in the hope that this may be the way to find a peaceful solution to the Berlin dilemma.

This is not hard for Premier Khrushchev to see in himself a symbol of all the backward people and nations who dream of rising out of poverty and ignorance to a place of equality with, or even superiority to, the best over earth.

Whether Americans like it or not the invitation to Khrushchev—meaning the blackjack, Berlin circumstances which brought him here—is frank recognition that the Soviet Union, long despised by some as primitive, is equal to us in power.

His whole performance has been like that of a man who knows he has the Western world puzzled and guessing.

He speaks of himself as the harbinger of peace (but warns of the horror of war if there is no peace); he says the ice of the cold war has begun to crack since his arrival (but he hasn't so far yielded an inch on anything); he remains jolly, the trading man, not too well educated, a one-time miner who struggled up the ladder from the coal pits to become the boss of one of the most powerful nations in history.

THE PROBLEMS PERSIST

Saint Paul in preaching to the Athenians declared that "God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation." A little further on in that passage of Scripture, he declared that "we are the offspring of God," and he also observed that "in Him we live, and move, and have our being."

There have been hundreds, probably thousands, of books written about international morality and proper race relationships. Saint Paul in these few words says more on these subjects than all the books that have ever been written. We are all of one blood. Human beings are unique among

The Phantomettes Drill Team which performed last night with the Rose High band at half time, deserves a lot of credit.

There are approximately 30 girls making up the team and they performed their routines to perfection. The girls stayed in step perfectly and there were few mistakes by the young performers individually as they lined up before the stands to present their portion of the half time show.

The band, itself, incidentally did a good job of staying in step as it marched across the field during half time of the Greenville-Jacksonville game.

All-in-all it was a good half time show, almost matching the thrilling game ending. As today's sports page will show, Greenville won the game on a last play touchdown.

Other Editors Saying... Congress Adjourns

(Washington News)

This session of congress, often stormy and often frustrating, adjourned until next January.

There seemed to be a deadline to meet, and that deadline was adjournment before the arrival of Nikita Khrushchev, Russian premier, who arrived in this country less than five hours after congress quit shop.

Perhaps the most noteworthy achievement of this session of congress was the passage of a labor reform bill. And even then it is too early to tell just what this law will mean in the effort to realize this reform. There could be loopholes in the law, and if there are, one can be sure that labor leaders will be quick to find them.

Another accomplishment is the passage of a bill which makes Hawaii the fiftieth state in this union.

In looking back on what congress has done and what it has not done, there are many misgivings. The liberal-conservative fight among members of that great body seems to linger with us and it promises to be with us for a long time to come. Then the fight of Southern members against extension of civil rights proposals always presages a fight. In this field the Civil Rights commission had its life extended. As an act, this has little real significance, but it could herald a more tension packed fight when congress opens again next January.

In discussing the work of this congress, it would be almost wrong to think of the work done without passing out a little praise for one man who has worked so hard and so long for his country and his people. Lyndon Johnson as the majority party leader in the United States senate has been criticized often and he has had many political pot-shots taken at him. Senator Wayne Morse has taken him to task many times, and Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin has taken many pot-shots at him.

Senator Johnson has had a most difficult job to do, and from all indications he has done a brilliant job. Claude Pepper, former senator from Florida, summed the picture up well recently when he said "Lyndon Johnson has done a great job; he is in the position of commanding an army made up entirely of generals." If we can imagine how an army would be which contained no privates but all generals, we can imagine the difficulties of any man trying to be majority leader in the U.S. Senate.

This session of congress is also the first one in six years which has been able to pass legislation over the veto of President Eisenhower. The accomplishment was realized only once on the law which has come to be known as the pork-barrel bill. It was passed over an Eisenhower veto.

This session of congress will continue to be discussed. Some will say it did little but argue. Others will point to the accomplishments in terms of pride. It all revolves around what individuals are doing the talking.

From a political standpoint, the session beginning in January will have more real political impact because it comes just before an election year and to a member of congress the sessions in elections years always seem to take on more importance.

Congress has adjourned, and for many members it gives opportunities to go back home and point with pride to the record and to do a bit of grass roots "politicking."

Opinions In Brief

"Of note to us is the fact that in two years, it was necessary to pass so many bills under which we are ruled and regulated. People are their own worst problem." — Wyandotte County (Kans.) Record.

"Harry Bridges would advocate a strike to keep American there were an invasion of the arms from reaching Chiang if Chinese mainland. And that's one of the Bridges we'd like to cross before we get to it." — New Orleans States and Item.

"Job security that is real—and that is something every American should want—must be based upon intelligence and integrity, ability and alertness, just labor and just regard." — Chattanooga News-Free Press.

"Employers the nation over can tell you stories of young applicants and workers who make astonishing demands in the way of salary and benefits, without offering convincing evidence of either ability or the willingness to work hard and learn. If the demands are not met, they look elsewhere, with a presumptive arrogance that would ill behoove them even if they were loaded with talent." —Waynesboro News-Virginian.

The state levy represents only about 15 per cent of the property tax take. Schools, which receive no state general fund aid, pocket more than half of the revenue.

Little Enthusiasm For Taxes

Efforts to enact sales or income taxes with a view to easing the burden on property owners develop regularly at each legislative session—so far, without success.

The state resorts to most of the other going revenue-producing devices, however.

It has a seven cents per gallon state gasoline tax and a four cent per package tax on cigarettes. Liquor and insurance taxes, licenses and fees also help the cause.

Only this year did the state get around to taxing pari-mutuel race betting, albeit modestly. Bingo also was legalized this year but not principally for revenue purposes.

Indebtedness, while banned at the state level, is common at lower levels of government. A 1956 survey showed counties, cities, schools districts and other sub-divisions, excluding public power districts, carrying bonded indebtedness roughly equivalent to the amount of money, federal funds included, spent by state government in an entire year.

Under a recently-set state levy, the owner of a home worth $10,000 will pay about $30 in state property taxes next year.

But cities, counties, schools and other subdivisions also make their levies, with the result that a $10,000 home becomes subject to taxes totaling anywhere from $60 to $800.

State Free Of Debts

By ODELL HANSON
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The guide who escorts tourists through Nebraska's capital building has one line that's usually good for an arched eyebrow.

"It cost 10 million dollars to build," he says of the architectural showpiece. "And the day it was finished it was paid for."

Outsiders accustomed to the buy-now, pay-later policies of governments go away with the impression that Nebraska is something of a fiscal freak.

Well if pay-as-you build construction of a capitol makes Nebraska an economic oddball, consider this:

No State Debts

Nebraska has no state debt and manages to keep enough money in the bank to meet month-end bills.

It has no state sales tax and no state income tax. Only one other state, Texas, can make this claim, and Texas enjoys the largesse of severance taxes on oil and gas resources unmatched in Nebraska.

State government during the year ended June 30 cost the average Nebraskan $55.60 in taxes, lowest such per capita figure in the nation.

Gov. Ralph Brooks returned from the 1959 Governors' Conference in Puerto Rico to report that other governors thought it wonderful that Nebraska manages without sales or income taxes.

"They didn't listen to the second half," he complained. "We have no parks, no roads, no schools!"

It was his facetious way of saying, he explained later, that the state's economic Spartanism has not been without some sacrifice.

The state's debt free status is nothing new. In the 1930s it led to a vigorous promotion of Nebraska as the nation's "white spot"—a campaign to counteract the bad publicity attending several years of drought.

Indebtedness by state government—in excess of $100,000—is unconstitutional in Nebraska.

Framers of the constitution in 1875 decreed that "the state may, to meet casual deficits, or failures in the revenues, contract debts never to exceed in the aggregate of $100,000, and no greater indebtedness shall be incurred except for the purpose of repelling invasion, suppressing insurrection or defending the state."

Factors That Limit Estimate

By ELMER ROESSNER

The government's estimate that industry will spend $33.3 billion on new plants and equipment this year may not be justified by hard facts.

The estimate is made by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission, and is based on reports from corporations.

In June, the agencies estimated the year's total would be $32.5 billion. Last March they estimated it would be $31.8 billion. The actual total in 1958 was $30.3 billion. The record high was in 1957, when $37 billion was invested.

INVESTS IN THE OILMENT

There are several reasons for questioning the $33.3 billion estimate. They are:

1. There is a time lag in gathering the data; hence the government's estimate is based on industry's planning of about a month ago. Since then money has become tighter and many estimates have shot up. Many postponing plans right now, in hope that financing will be easier later on.

2. The steel strike has continued far longer than industry itself expected; steel supplies are getting tighter. Even if corporations do not cut back recent plans, they may not be able to get the materials for either plants or equipment. Some of those $33.3 billion may not be spent until 1960.

3. Settlement of the steel strike may or may not result in a rise in steel prices. If they go up, every corporation must review its plan for plant and equipment investment. That's standard order of procedure. Stand drain on retailers' sales

And the probabilities are that almost all changes will be down.

THE INFLATIONARY DELUSION

Even assuming that the $33.3 billion figure is correct, it is misleading. The Commerce-SEC report says that figure is 2 per cent higher than the March estimate and 9 per cent above the 1958 actual investment.

Even if that is true in dollars, it may not be true in terms of plants, vehicles, machinery and other accessories. The gain over 1958 may be very small.

Prices have risen since 1958. They have not gone up as much as 9 per cent, the predicted gain, but they are up enough to shrink the gain considerably.

ONE WAY TO LIMIT UNNECESSARY ABSENCES

Absence because of imagined or pretended illness is a con-

and profits. It becomes even more critical in the last quarter of the year when most sales are made and when, because of weather and parties, more people are out.

Because replacements are almost always less efficient than the regulars, the losses are compounded.

One retailer has devised a partial solution. He offers every employee who reports every work day from November 1 to December 31 a bonus in January. He expects it will be better than aspirin in keeping people on the job.

IRS GIVES $250 TILT TO SOME PINBALL MACHINES

A pinball machine that can be adapted for gambling is "a coin-operated gaming device," even if there is no payoff, the Internal Revenue Service has ruled. It is therefore subject to the $250 tax.

Rose High of Greenville is still undefeated but only by the skin of its teeth. It took a final defensive effort and then a scoring pass on the last play of the game to give Rose High their second win of the season last night over Jacksonville, 20-14.

Erskine Duff, with a 14-14 dead-lock starting him in the face, faded back on the final play of the game, hit Randy Bass with a looping pass and the flashy little halfback scooted for the touchdown, being hit on the two but falling into the end zone.

The final-second pass combination of Duff-Bass overshadowed one of the best prep passing performances seen in College Stadium in some time. Jacksonville's Stewart Ellington, 152-pound quarterback, fired his team up in the final quarter and put on a brilliant individual show before bowing to the Phantoms.

Greenville, after being stopped twice with a fumble and intercepted pass in the scoreless first quarter, broke the tie in the second period with a 44-yard drive.

PHANT SCORE . . . Robin Wilfong (No. 30) bulls over for the second Greenville touchdown. The score put Greenville ahead 14-0 but they had to battle back to score on the final play of the game to win 20-14.

Beginning with a touchdown in the second play of the game, the Ayden Tornadoes walloped Vanceboro's Red Raiders last night in a 51-6 conference tilt on the Ayden field.

The Ayden team, playing with two of its top notch players benched with injuries, showed up well against the weak Vanceboro team. Included on Ayden's squad last night were many players relatively new on the gridiron, but the inexperienced boys had no trouble against the Raiders.

The game opened with Ayden receiving and on the second play from scrimmage Rudolph Cannon took a pitchout and went 40 yards for the first TD. The Tornadoes failed to run the extra point.

In the next few minutes of play, J. D. Willoughby ran 35 yards on a right end sweep for another Ayden TD. Again the Tornadoes failed on the extra point attempt.

Steele also bucked over for the extra point.

Jacksonville held Greenville once again and had an opportunity to go ahead with less than three minutes remaining. Taking over on the Greenville 30, three plays netted a loss of 24 yards and the Greenies were prepared to make their victory bid on the Jacksonville 46.

Two passes from Duff to McArthur were incomplete as the Greenies fought a battle against time. With only six seconds remaining, a penalty moved the ball to the 31 and then Duff and Bass combined their all-out effort for victory.

Bass headed down the left sidelines, cut back across center, took the pass, and scampered for the touchdown.

Bass, Sumrell, Wilfong, and McArthur were outstanding runners for the winners with Duff's passing offering an added touch.

The Greenville forward wall looked strong on defense. Led by end Skip Wright and Bert Aycock, the Phants held their foes to only 20 yards rushing in the first half and a total of 67 all night.

Ellington was the big star for the losers with his passing and running. The little junior hit 113 out of 17 pass attempts for 112 yards.

Anthony Wants Try Out Machen

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Tony Anthony, although aching in the body from the wild and woolly punching of Alonzo Johnson, still wants to go on fighting heavyweights.

He'd like to try Eddie Machen next, said the former ranking light heavyweight. This was after the New Yorker's boxing earned him a unanimous but close decision Friday night over Johnson, a professional fighter of only two years.

Johnson, former barber from Braddock, Pa., was fierce in flurries but raw. He ripped Anthony with searing punches to the stomach in the third and sixth rounds but lacked the finesse to finish the job with his combinations to the head.

Gordon Resigns As Indian Boss

By FRANK CRAWFORD

Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Joe Gordon resigned as manager of the Cleveland Indians Friday and there was mounting evidence his successor would be Leo (Lippy) Durocher, former manager of the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Gordon's resignation came in the face of mounting criticism from his outspoken boss, Frank Lane, who had said he would try to get someone else to manage the Indians in 1960.

While Gordon was writing his resignation, Lane and Vice-President Nate Dolin of the Indians were in Pittsburgh talking with Durocher, who has said he will not return to his $65,000 job with the National Broadcasting Company.

Lane said his conference with Durocher was only preliminary and Leo also was negotiating with other clubs. But there was a growing conviction among those traveling with the Indians that Durocher would lead the club next year.

Lane said he intended to talk to others besides Durocher today and needed permission from other clubs to do so. This meant he might try to hire a manager now under contract to another major league club.

Gordon, relaxed and amiable, said he had no definite plans. Whether he would finish the season with the club was up to Lane, he said.

"We just did not see eye to eye," said Gordon, "and since he is the boss I just decided to step out of the picture for 1960."

Lane said he "liked" Gordon's courage but not his judgment. "He said he would decide today about a manager for the remainder of the season."

The fiery general manager has made no secret of his keen disappointment in Cleveland's failure to stay in first place in the American League. He has blamed Gordon's judgment for the loss of a number of games and in recent weeks a bitter dispute became public. Lane criticized Gordon's handling of pitchers and his strategy.

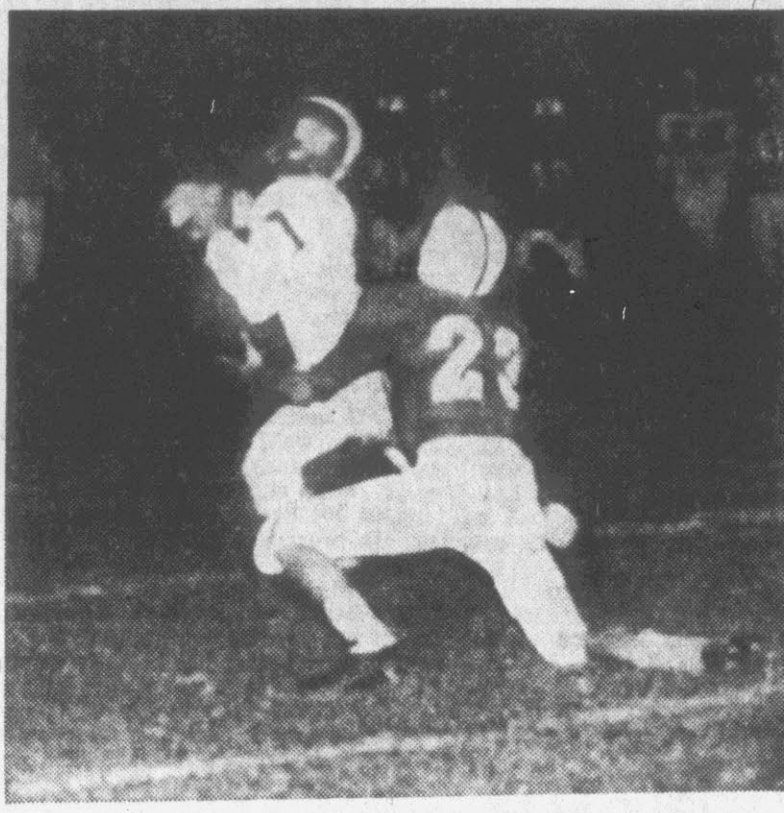

"If Lane wants to run the club on the field he should sit somewhere close enough to signal to me and not second guess me after the game," replied Gordon.

One bone of contention was Gordon's failure to use regularly Billy Martin and Jimmy Piersall, two players Lane acquired in winter trades.

Gordon didn't care to discuss these disagreements Friday night.

"We have been hurt a lot by late inning errors," Gordon said. "We have lost 21 games by errors in the last three innings, several of them with Chicago. But this is a good ball club and the boys never quit. It will be a good ball club for some time to come. It has enough good pitching to last 10 years."

Nor would Gordon discuss a rumor he might replace Jimmy Dykes as manager of Detroit next year.

OUT OF NOWHERE—Randy Bass, pint-sized halfback, darts in front of Jacksonville's Albert Jernigan to intercept a Stewart Ellington pass. The Greenville halfback raced 35 yards to set up the winners' second touchdown.

Farmville Fights To 6-6 Deadlock

Benvenue deadlocked Farmville last night in a 6-6 non-conference game on the Benvenue field.

Farmville kicked off to Benvenue to start their second game of the season.

On the fourth play of the game Benvenue was deep in their own territory and tried to punt their way out, giving Farmville quarterback Howard Moyer the opportunity to pick up the ball on the 45 yard line and fight his way to the seven. Moyer then took the ball from the seven to sweep around the right end for a TD. The extra point attempt was no good.

The Farmville defense showed up good in the first quarter by holding the Benvenue team the whole quarter to keep them from getting a first down. At the end of the quarter the score was 6-0 for Farmville.

In the second quarter Benvenue's Larry Matthews fired a pass from the 20 yard line to teammate George Rogers for a 12 yard gain with first down and 10 to go. Benvenue halfback Barnes carried for an eight yard TD. The extra point attempt failed, bringing the halftime score to a 6-6 tie.

Neither team moved the ball much in the third quarter because of strong defensive playing. There were two penalties in this quarter. A five yarder against Farmville for being offside and a 15 yard clipping penalty against Benvenue.

In the final quarter Farmville's Howard Moyer intercepted two passes returning one for 20 yards and the other for five. Neither team scored in this quarter.

There were three fumbles in the game with two attributed to Farmville and one to Benvenue.

Doubleheader May Be Answer To NL Winner Standings

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The high tension National League pennant race could be all but decided when tomorrow dawn.

Or it could be completely tangled.

Everything depends on how the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers come out in their crucial day night doubleheader and the Milwaukee Braves and Philadelphia Phillies wind up in their single night game.

Going into battle, the Giants lead by two games with the Dodgers and Braves tied for second. Each has eight to play.

Friday night's single Giants-Dodgers game was called because of rain, so starters Johnny Antonelli and Don Drysdale had an extra day to rest. They go in the day games.

In the nighter, young Mike McCormick starts for the Giants and Roger Craig gets the call for the Dodgers.

As for the defending champion Dodgers, they are out in their traditional purposes, will be out in their running. The Dodgers then would be four games back with only six to play.

The day's delay was welcome to both teams because Antonelli and Drysdale, alike, are tired. Drysdale, though, has been ineffective in the last month and a half, so Manager Walt Alton is taking a necessary gamble with him.

Alton knows that if the Dodgers are to win the pennant, Drysdale must be his big man. In July, the lanky righthander won seven in a row, but now he has lost seven of his last eight.

A split also would benefit the Giants because that would mean one less game the Dodgers have to make hay.

As for the defending champion Braves, they like the Dodgers, are on the spot with time running out on them. If San Francisco wins two and they lost to the Phillies, they, too, would be in bad shape—3 1/2 games back with seven to play.

Pirates Have Rough Foe In Home Debut

East Carolina College football Pirates, seeking their first victory of the 1959 season, are set for the home opener here tonight when Albright College, an eastern football power, invades College Stadium.

With one game of experience already checked off, Coach Jack Boone says he is expecting his veteran band of Pirates to be much tougher this weekend when the Bucs go up against the hefty line of the Pennsylvania visitors.

The Pirate coaching staff has sent the squad through a fast and rough pace all this week, attempting to iron out the miscues in the 18-13 licking at Presbyterian College last Saturday.

East Carolina will be expected to unleash a balanced attack in the play for the first win of the upcoming grid season. James Speight, Mac Thacker, and Glenn Bass gave the Bucs more than an ample running attack last Saturday and the passing of Ralph Zehring and Jerry Carpenter was effective for the opening game.

ECC Coach Boone did not pick a "softie" for his home opener, and the squad of Coach John Potoklan will bring a tradition-laden background into College Stadium tonight.

The Lions, boasting a line averaging 200 pounds, have a couple of classy backs in Michael Varano and Thomas Olivio. Their starting fullback, Co-Captain Gerald Brickner, has high praise in the Albright camp this Fall and the linebuster will be the big man to stop.

The guard slots are the strong points for the visitors with James Doremus and Robert Meyer slated to throw their weight at the Buc strong forward wall.

Basing their offense around the "belly series," Albright lost only two starters from their 1958 club and will be favorites over their new Southern rivals.

All-Conference Ed Emory will race the veteran Pirate line which will include David Thomas and Howard Beale at ends; Emory and Vernon Davis at tackles; Wayne Davis and James Gordon at the guards; and Lynn Barnett at center.

Jerry Carpenter, the little Gastonia field general, will probably get the opening call at quarterback with Zehring ready to step in, Speight, the Greenville flash, is expected to be joined in the backfield by Glenn Bass and Mac Thacker.

Sonny Baysinger, Wingate Junior College All-American, will be ready to spell either of the starting halfbacks. The Concord youngster was impressive last week against Presbyterian and Boone will give him a good chance to show his worth Saturday night.

The Albright game, first of a five-game home card, will be played before a capacity crowd, and gets under way at 8:00 p. m. in College Stadium here.

Football Touch In Final Match

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—There's a touch of football in the 36-hole final match today between Charlie Coe and Jack Nicklaus for the U.S. Amateur golf championship.

Coe, 35, sports an Oklahoma football coach's cap—a fiery red with a big "O" as he bids for his second straight title against the 19-year-old husky from Columbus, Ohio.

The Other Day

A sociologist was talking about disciplining children, and the importance of striking a happy balance in handling children.

Obviously it is a most important subject to parents, and like so many other things, we've got to find the happy medium if we are going to do it right.

Too much or too severe discipline, is definitely bad, but too little or none at all is even worse from the sociologist's point of view. When parents go soft-hearted in handling kids, the sociologist says they do them irreparable harm, not just more harm than good. The dictionary gives this definition of discipline: "Training which corrects, molds, strengthens, or perfects," and we suppose none of us would want children to go without such proper training, but alas, quite a bit of severity must be used to make such training effective. It is just young human nature not to understand this, and therefore to resist to the fullest.

To clinch this point, the sociologist says, he has never heard of an adult thanking his parents for a lack of discipline in his youth, but many a happy person thanks his parents for starting him off right with a well disciplined childhood. In business, disciplined training carries over in many benefits to customers, and with us it is a prime goal that you get maximum satisfaction.

Khrushchev Party Takes Off For West Coast Tour

WOOV Planning 24-Hr. Program

It's true, radio station WOOV has been transmitting here the last couple of nights between 12 and 6 with test programs, says sales manager Dick Jones.

"We should be able to go on the air with full time test programming in the next week or so," says Jones. "We're just awaiting FCC approval."

The station, assigned 1340 on the dial, will operate on a 24-hour schedule, according to Jones, with a format of music, news and sports.

"If we can come up with sponsorship, we'll carry the college football games," he says.

Main studios for WOOV will be at 304 Evans Street and plans are to broadcast right in the window. However, the studios won't be ready for another 30 days, so the station will operate temporarily from the transmitter building.

C. Bob Ray has been designated general manager of the station. He is presently assistant manager of a radio station in Burlington. Ray is bringing his wife and four children to Greenville.

Jones is formerly of New Mexico. He is married and they have one child.

Local Firemen Treated To Free Supper

Greenville firemen were treated to a free steak supper last night, given to them by individual citizens and business firms in appreciation for the work the department is doing.

Mrs. Kirby Thompson, a two-year resident of Beaufort, originated the idea, planning it after similar occasions in Beaufort. According to Mrs. Thompson, citizens and business firms in Beaufort give the firemen a meal after large fires, such as the recent Rose's Store fire here.

Mrs. Thompson collected the money, giving receipts for the donations and turned the money and duplicate receipts over to Mrs. Jim Evans at Jim's Quick Lunch, who fed the firemen.

According to Mrs. Evans, the potatoes, bread, cake and ice cream served were donated by merchants, with the only expense being the coffee and tea, tossed salad, and the large steaks.

Fire Chief George Gardner, in thanking Mrs. Thompson and the people who helped with the meal, said the local firemen did not expect to be fed and had no idea of such a plan until Mrs. Thompson told she was collecting money for such a supper. Chief Gardner added the thought behind the meal and not just the meal itself meant a great deal to the members of the department.

AT FIREMEN'S SUPPER . . . Mrs. Kirby Thompson and Fire Chief George Gardner talk with other firemen after meal.

Carnival Is Opened By Barbecue Supper

FARMVILLE — The local Kiwanis Club's annual Scholarship Carnival got underway here last night with a barbecue-chicken supper kicking off a two-day stand.

Some 500 people of in and around Farmville were customers of the Kiwanis supper which served about half the group in the Framville High School cafeteria.

An estimated 250 plates were prepared there and carried to private homes.

Around 7:30, the amusement park began operations with a 14-year-old miniature train, the "Kiwanis Special," making its first of many 10-minute tours.

According to Farmville's Mayor Charles S. Edwards, the Kiwanis scholarship fund some $2,500 since its initiation. Train fare is ten cents per person.

By far, the main attraction, the tractor-drawn, three-car train, pulled load after load of youngsters on a brief tour of Farmville.

Each time the simulated locomotive pulled its payload to the "Passenger platform," the waiting kids quickly reloaded the three cars headed South at the time.

Radio Jammers Of Soviet Again Are In Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet radio jammers are back at work again, but now they're being selective.

The United Nations speech by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was okay — that went through without jamming on the Voice of America.

But Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's speech to the same body—nothing doing. Soviet jamming transmitters thoroughly garbled that one for most Soviet receivers. U.S. officials said Friday night.

The Soviet jamming transmitters, which cost the Moscow government a good deal to operate, have been steadily cluttering the air waves for 10 years.

Then when Khrushchev arrived here Tuesday the jamming suddenly stopped. For several days the VOA's Russian language broadcasts went through clearly. They included Khrushchev's talk to the National Press Club and President Eisenhower's news conference the next day.

Ex-Treasurer Wins Acquittal On Embezzlement

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP)—J. P. Coleman Jr., former city schools treasurer, has won acquittal in his embezzlement trial, but still faces trial on 55 other counts of embezzlement and forgery.

A jury deliberated an hour and 15 minutes Friday before returning the acquittal. Coleman was tried on three counts of embezzling school and Veterans Administration education funds amounting to about $12,000 of the $17,000 shortage charged to him.

Judge Susie Sharp continued bond at $10,000 for Coleman, pending trial of the remaining counts.

Throughout the two-week trial, Coleman denied responsibility for the shortage. Other witnesses testified that he had admitted responsibility and had repaid a portion of the shortage. Coleman countered that other school officials, including Supt. B. H. Lohr, had promised to help repay the money and that the shortage would be kept secret.

Minor Damage As Truck, Car Collide Today

Minor damage resulted about 8:35 this morning when a truck and a car collided about nine miles south of Greenville on N.C. 43.

This morning when a truck operated by Ernest Stanly Spain, 65, of Route 3, Box 335, Greenville, was attempting to make a left turn off the highway and was struck by a car driven by Bobby Gene Howard, 21, of Route 3, Box 16, Greenville.

Patrolman Winslow quoted Howard as saying he started to pass the truck when it turned into the path of his vehicle. He said he saw no turn signal. Both vehicles were headed South at the time.

After investigation of the mishap, Spain was charged with having improper turn signals on the vehicle.

Damage to the truck was set at $35, while damage to the car was placed at $100.

No injuries were reported in the mishap.

Bob Cummings Says His New Fields Just Die Out

"Once again it was the same thing. I too sighed.

A radio progressed it began lumping more and more stars together, he said, until TV pushed big-time radio over the brink.

Cummings plunged into the movies in 1935.

"But I could see the movie industry was starting to die around 1938," he remarked. "The war came along and kept the business going until 1946 or 1947, when the movies began to hurt. They started throwing six or seven stars in a picture, but that didn't help."

Ever agile, Cummings leaped into yet another medium, television. After the tepid "My Hero" series, he scored with a five-year run of the Bob Cummings Show.

Now he's worried.

On Sept. 22, Bob will emcee NBC's Salute to Jerome Kern with costars Howard Keel, Patricia Munsel, Carol Channing, Louie Prima, etc.

First Graders Still Settling Down

By ROSALIE MOORE
Reflector Staff Writer

After three weeks of school, first graders of Grimesland School are still settling down, according to their teacher, Mrs. Pansy Edwards.

Presumably this applies to any first grader in any school over the country.

The first year of school for first graders is the beginning of something entirely different; a new way of life and a new experience.

Though their introduction to school has been brief, the new pupils have shown a desire to learn and their chief interest is reading.

A typical school day for the youngsters in Mrs. Edwards' room is something like this: learning the alphabet, supervised writing, number work, singing and art. Followed by time out for recess, lunch and a play period in the afternoon.

Each day the boys and girls practice health and safety rules they have learned at school. These rules include washing their hands for lunch, brushing their teeth before coming to school and not pushing while standing in line.

"The first month of school is a readiness period in which the children start to learn and adjust," stated Mrs. Edwards. She further commented that praise will accomplish more in the classroom than fussing or nagging and the children do better work in the mornings than in the afternoons.

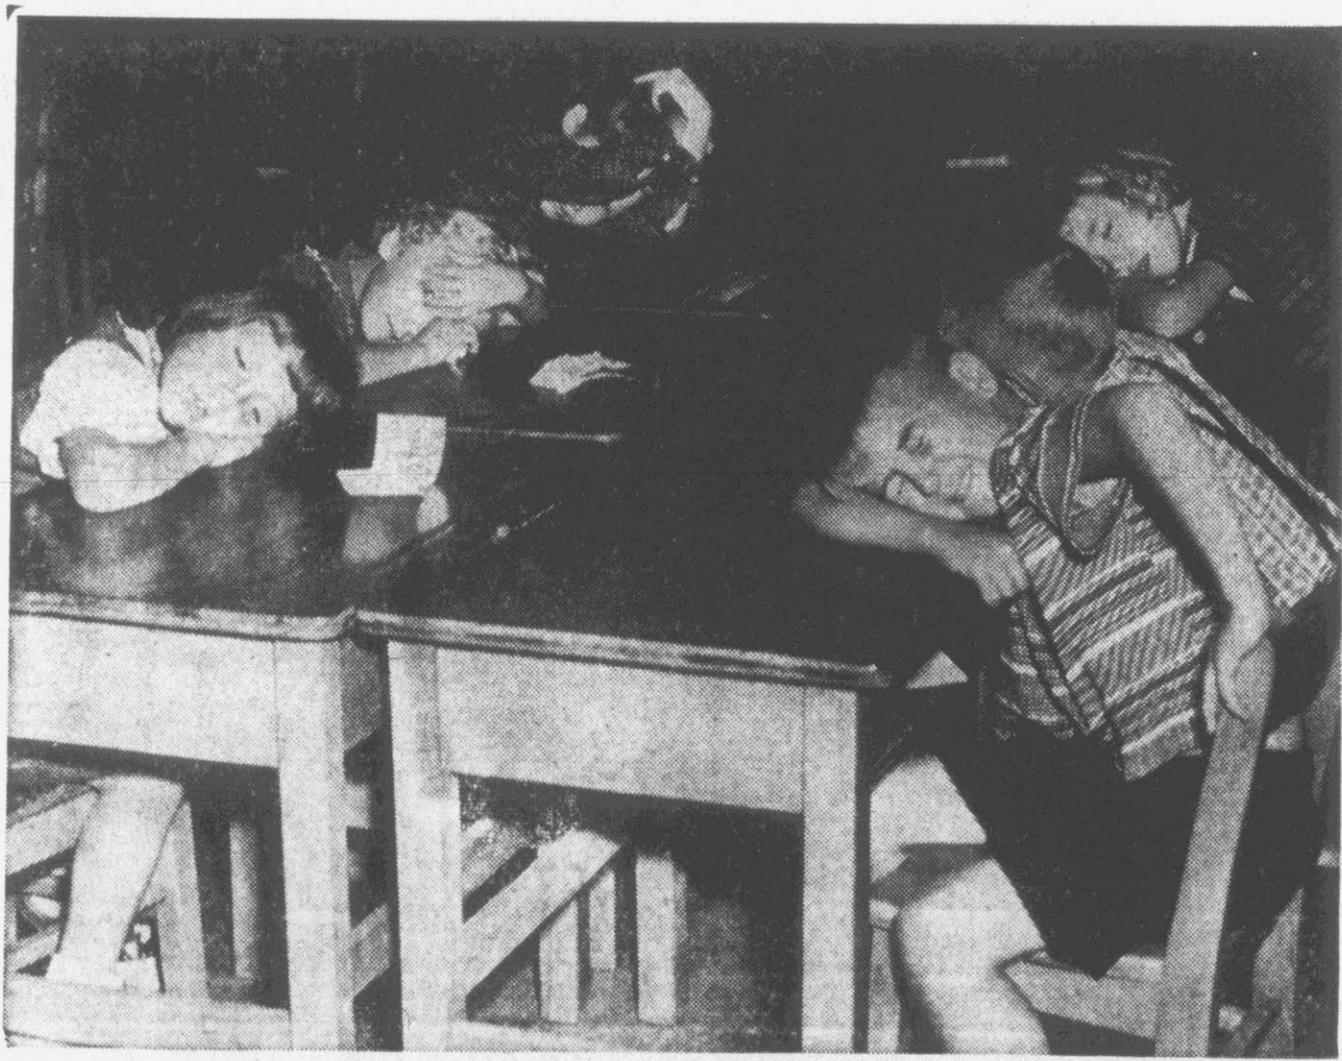

Teaching table manners, how to share and play with other children, and what the different pieces of money constitute a few of the suggestions that Mrs. Edwards made for parents who have boys and girls starting to school next year. "Teaching children how to count and the alphabet before starting to school can be done at home by the parents," she said.

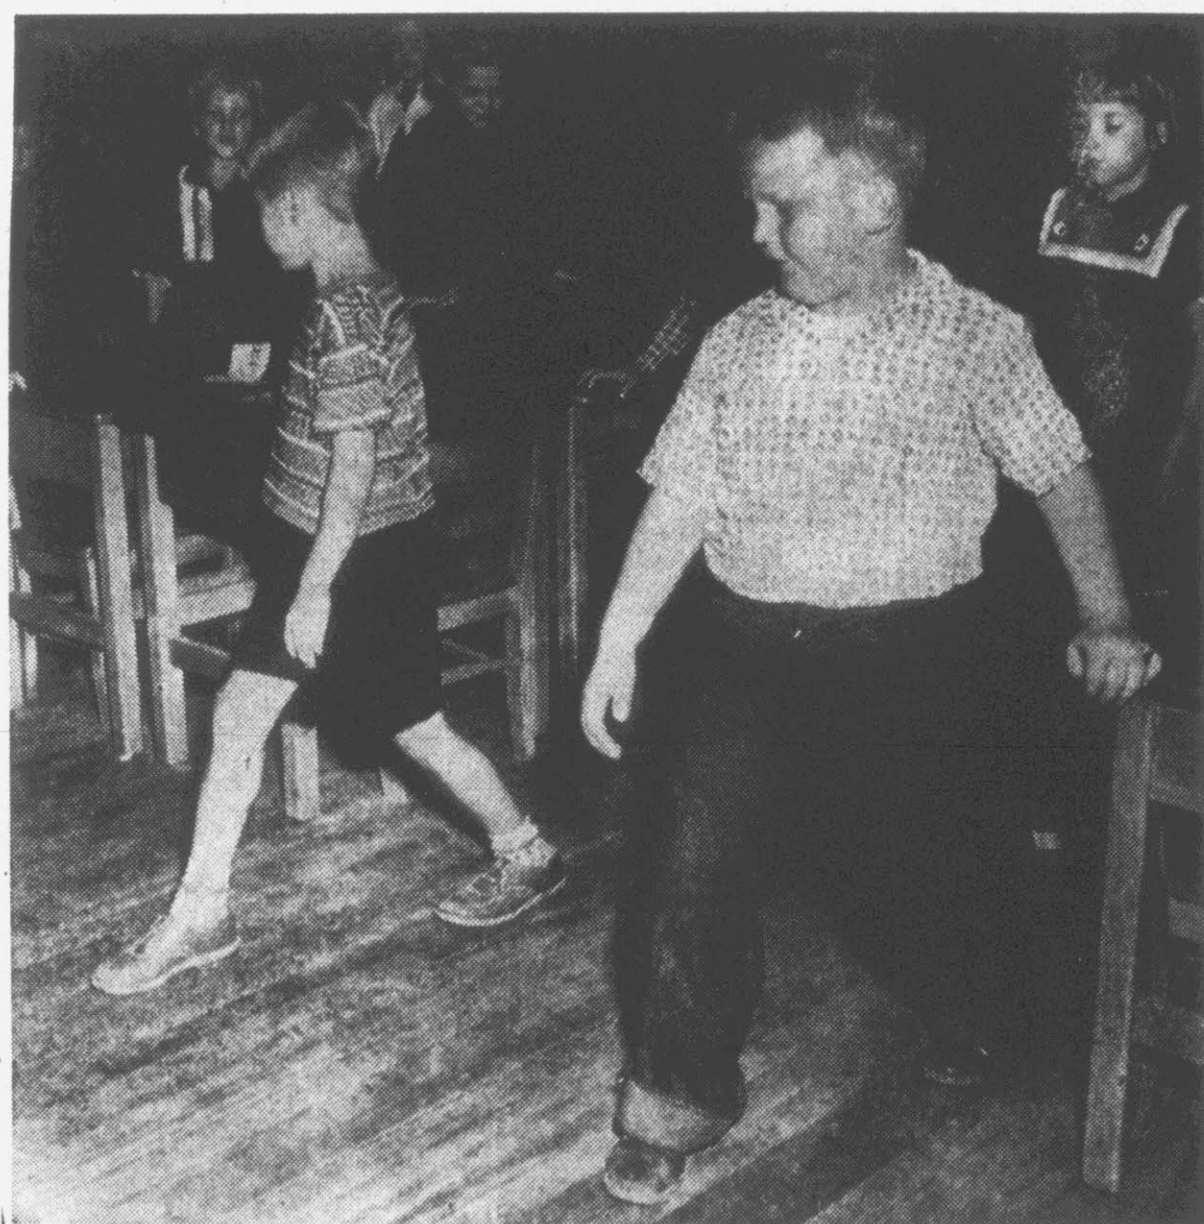

THE SCHOOL DAY . . . is started by fixing the calendar.

CLASSWORK . . . includes writing, with the help and supervision of Mrs. Edwards.

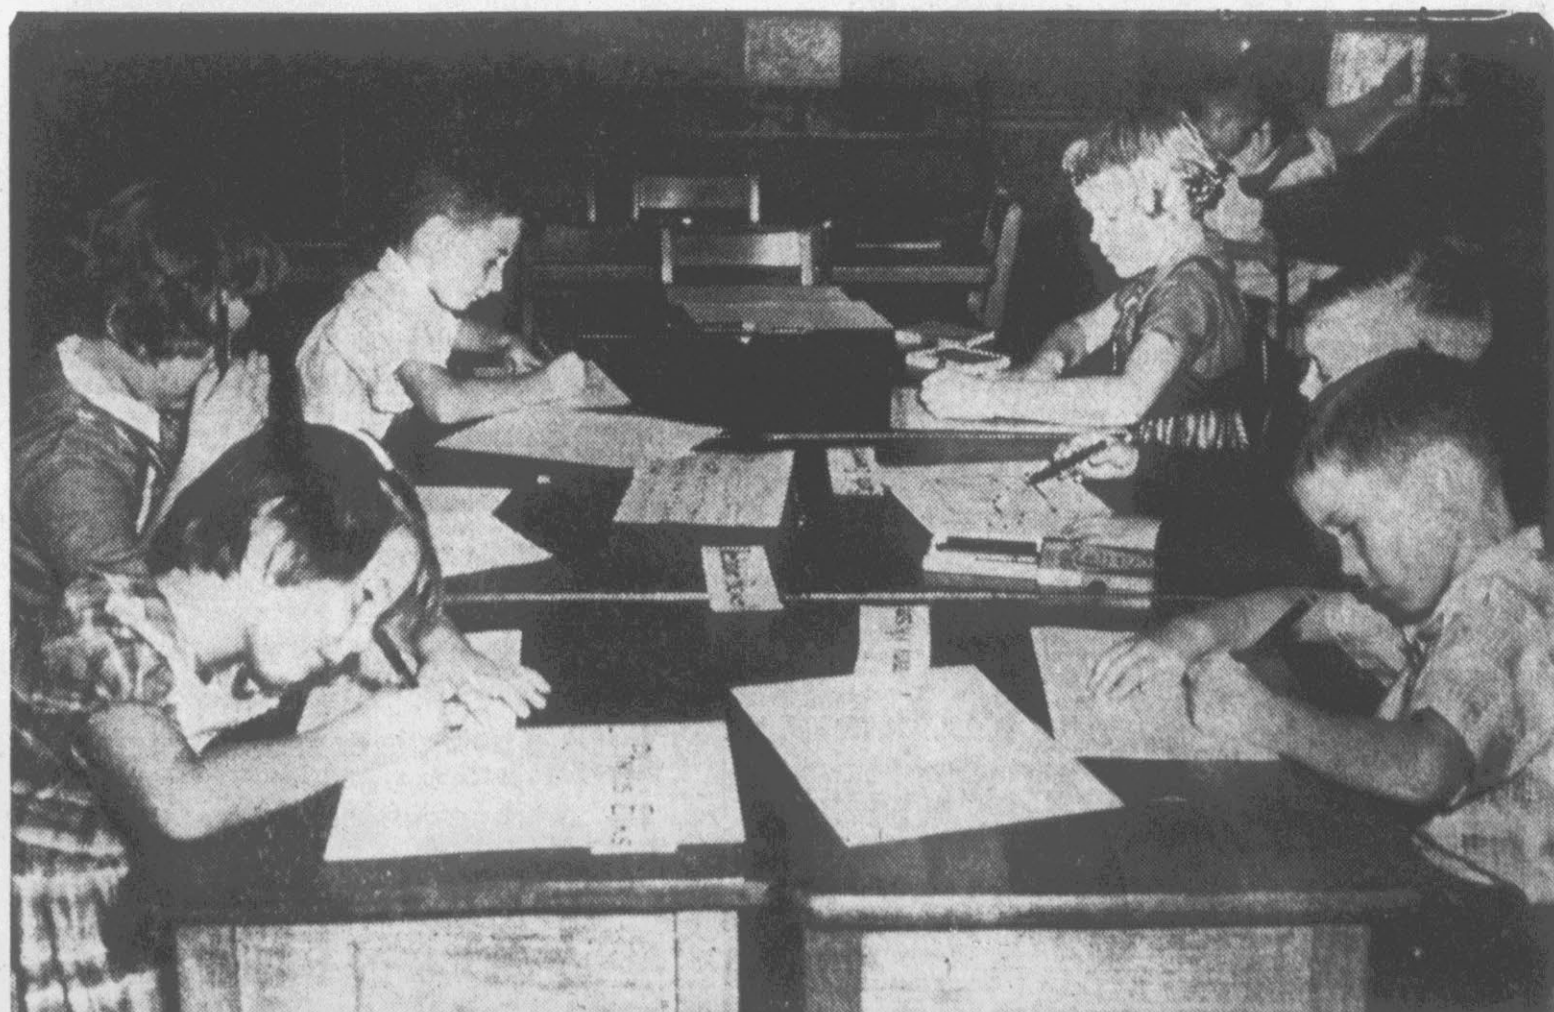

AFTER LUNCH . . . some rest, others try to fool their teacher by pranking.

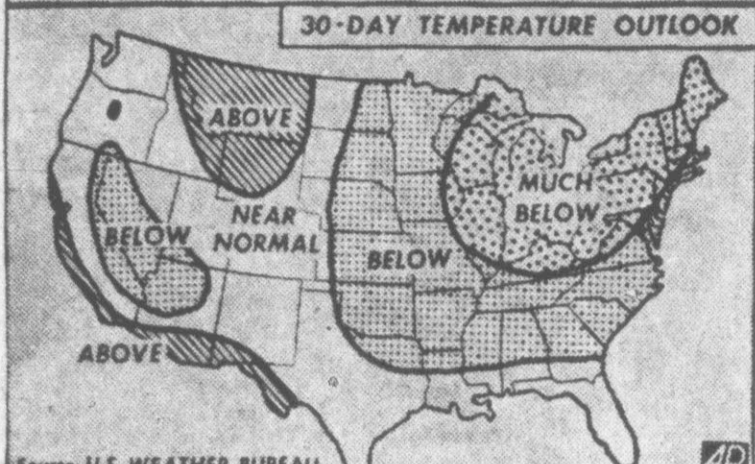

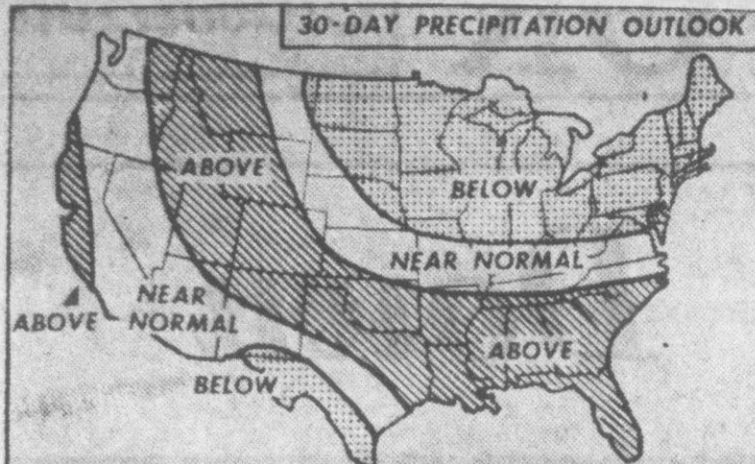

SONGS . . . with actions, are fun and enjoyed by all.

EAGERNESS . . . to learn to read, is shown by class participation in the reading circle.

DRAWING . . . pictures are a part of the school day also for the first graders.

Red China Army Shakeup May Herald Big Purge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The convulsive shakeup in the top echelons of the Red Chinese regime may turn into a sweeping purge, State Department experts say.

The department's experts on China say the violent reshuffle on the eve of Communist China's 10th anniversary of power can mean only one thing: Deep trouble over the commune system set up a year ago, a system that tried to organize the Chinese peasantry into semi-military production units.

At least four members of the powerful Communist Central Committee have been thrown out with no announcement that they will be assigned to other jobs.

These are Chang Wen-tien and Wang Chia-hsiang, vice ministers of foreign affairs, Marshal Peng Teh-huai, minister of defense, and Gen. Huang Ko-cheng, former army chief of staff.

These names mean nothing to most Americans. But put in American terms: Suppose the secretary of state's two top duties, the secretary of defense and a top army advisor all were suddenly fired out of hand by President Eisenhower.

That gives a rough equivalent to the upheaval that is going on in Mao Tse-tung's China.

On top of that, a long list of second and third rank Chinese officials also are getting the gate.

State Department sources say a long secret meeting of Red China's top leadership was held during July and August. The present shakeup appears to be an outgrowth of that.

The U. S. experts believe Red China's trouble is mostly domestic, but the firings reflect dissatisfaction with foreign policy too.

It has been known for some time that the Chinese regime's production has been falling far short of its announced goals, for all the talk about a blast furnace in every backyard.

These shortcomings are believed to be the basic cause of the changes in Red China's top officialdom.

Bomber Begins Prison Sentence

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—One man accused in the Labor Day bombings here has begun serving a five-year prison sentence imposed after he pleaded guilty. Four others charged in the case are scheduled for trial within the next two months.

J. D. Sims, 35-year-old truck driver, pleaded guilty Friday and threw himself on the mercy of the court.

"This court will have no mercy on you," said Judge William Kirby. Kirby then pronounced the maximum sentence on the charge of dynamiting public property.

Sims also was fined $500.

The other men, who pleaded innocent, are Jesse Raymond Perry, 24, truck driver; John Taylor Coggins, 39, auto salesman; Samuel G. Beavers, 49, carpenter, and E. A. Lauderdale Sr., 48, lumber dealer and prominent segregationist.

They are charged in bombing the Little Rock school board offices, the business office of Mayor Werner Knoop, and a station wagon of Fire Chief Gann Nalley.

No Ill Effects From His Effort

DEDHAM, Mass. (AP)—Patrolman Eugene J. McCarthy, 29, quarantined for two weeks because he tried to revive a dying polio victim with mouth-to-mouth respiration, is back on the job.

McCarthy suffered no ill effects from his futile effort to save the life of a woman being taken by ambulance to a hospital.

The Dedham Board of Health physician ordered McCarthy to avoid contact with the general public.

For two weeks he was forbidden to kiss his wife, Patricia, 22, or his son, Eugene, 2. He had to eat all his meals from paper plates, sleep on the living room couch and avoid exercise.

The former President scheduled an afternoon call on Richard Cardinal Cushing, Catholic archbishop of Boston, by the cardinal's invitation.

Doctor To Head N.C. Seal Drive

Kinston—A physician here has accepted the state chairmanship of the 1959 Christmas Seal Campaign to open November 16.

Dr. Paul F. Whitaker, a native of Trenton who grew up in Kinston, will be the titular head of 98 local chairmen throughout the state who contribute their time and energy to gain public support for the fight against TB.

His appointment was announced by Thomas H. Woodard of Wilson, president of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, at a meeting of the Lenoir-Jones-Greene Tuberculosis Association this week.

Woodard said, "Dr. Whitaker is one of North Carolina's finest citizens and an outstanding medical leader. His interest in the general health of his state make him an excellent choice for the State Christmas Seal Chairmanship. We are grateful he has accepted."

"Tuberculosis remains a serious problem in North Carolina as shown by 1,776 North Carolinians being under sanatorium treatment as of March, 1959. Many lives have been saved due to good medical treatment, but the decline in the case rate is only a gradual one," continued Woodard.

Bird Gets Lift To Sunny Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A hummingbird which forgot to migrate is getting an airliner lift from the chilly north to Florida. Audubon Society officials in Miami have prepared a warm reception for the tiny bird, due today by plane. Its $4 fare was paid by Mrs. Eugenia M. Moody, 75, vice president of the North Woodstock, Vt., Humane Society. The $4 represented shipping charges on the bird and its cage. Mrs. Moody found the hummingbird half-frozen in Sunday's low temperatures at North Woodstock. The bird will be released in Coconut Grove, a Miami suburb.
