Steel Settlement Outlook Is 'Hopeless' To McDonald

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said his Wage Policy Committee home today. He said steel strike settlement prospects appeared hopeless.

Hartley, McDonald again called for appointment by Eisenhower of a public fact-finding board to sift the strike issues and recommend a settlement solution.

Eisenhower has expressed distaste for such a board but has said he would name one if the industry joined the union in endorsing the idea.

Docks Strike Hearing Is Rushed By Fact-Finders

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's emergency fact-finding board completed a fast public hearing today on the strike of East and Gulf Coast stevedores with an appeal to the parties to resume bargaining at once and hammer out a solution.

Following Waldman, Alexander P. Chopin, chairman of the New York Shipping Assn. Inc., told the fact-finders his organization and the IILA agreed to the contract extension last Wednesday.

The union was to allocate the sum among higher wages, pension and welfare contributions, holidays and vacations.

The hearing was finished in one hour and 45 minutes. As it ended, Farmer reminded spokesmen of the striking International Longshoremen's Assn. and the waterfront employers that Taft-Hartley "will not bring about any solution of this dispute."

He urged the parties to "make every effort to get together to bring about a peaceful settlement."

Spokesmen for both sides agreed—but their positions, as outlined in sharp and hostile terms to the three-man panel, gave little promise of early agreement.

In presenting their case to the panel the stevedores contended employer demands would result in "wholesale" elimination of jobs.

Management came back with an accusation that the walkout is an "irresponsible and illegal" violation of an agreement to extend for 15 days the contract which expired Sept. 30.

Louis Waldman, attorney for the International Longshoremen's Association got in first with the argument about job elimination.

He told the panel in a statement that the employers wanted a free hand in automation of cargo handling methods. In the

OK Line's Use Of N.C. Ports

RALEIGH (AP)—The huge American Export Lines has been given the go ahead to dock its Mediterranean cargo vessels in North Carolina's state-owned facilities at Wilmington and Morehead City.

The Maritime Administration gave its approval to the move after four months of negotiations with the State Ports Authority and the Tar Heel congressional delegation.

As a result, American Export will be able to bring Turkish and Grecian tobacco to the doorstep of Southern cigarette firms.

The decision was announced Tuesday by State Ports Director D. Leon Williams.

American Export, which operates liners and cargo vessels between the United States and the Mediterranean area, Black Sea, Red Sea, India, Ceylon and Burma, has a fleet of ships equipped to handle tobacco shipments.

The 16 1/2-knot cargo ships are equipped with temperature and de-humidification controls.

Farmville Board Names New Superintendent Of Streets

FARMVILLE—Farmville's Board of Commissioners appointed E. G. Carray as the town's new Superintendent of Streets last night at its regular meeting.

The Board further scheduled a special meeting for tonight to discuss with a property owner the development of a new Farmville subdivision called Langdale.

It has been requested that the town install paving, curbing, and gutters as well as water and sewer systems in the new development.

Carray was appointed after the Board reviewed applicants for the Street Superintendent position. He has served as temporary superintendent during the last month. After previously considering the purchase of a street sweeper for Farmville, the Board postponed further action in the matter up on hearing bids which ranged from $7,992.50 to $9,838.

The bids came after the town clerk had been instructed to advertise for them at last month's meeting.

Two different companies offered the bids which concerned three different machines.

The Board declined action until the Langdale project has been settled.

In other action, the Board voted to extend the appointment of

Three Students Semifinalists In Nat'l Tests

Principal O. E. Dowd of Junius H. Rose High School announced today that two students there have been named semifinalists in the 1959-60 National Merit Scholarship competition.

One other Pitt County student was included in the semifinalist listings furnished by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation—Sharon E. Stone of Grifton High School.

The Rose High students are Andrew Kilpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Kilpatrick, and Lawrence Behr, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Behr.

The Pitt students are among 10,000 of the highest scorers on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, the nation-wide test of educational development given in over 14,500 high schools last spring.

The semifinalists named today outscored over 550,000 classmates and thus moved a step closer to the ultimate goal—winning one of the Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the 1959-60 program.

Semifinalists now face another rigorous three-hour examination, the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board, which will further confirm their high scores on the NMSQT.

Eleven Names In Nomination

RALEIGH (AP)—Eleven names were placed in nomination at a morning session of a special convention of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina, meeting today to select a bishop coadjutor.

The prospect of further nominations after lunch raised the possibility of a drawn-out session. Bishop Richard H. Baker told the 500 or so delegates he would set an evening meeting if it became necessary.

A nominating committee gave the convention the names of three out-of-state candidates. They were the Very Rev. Our Hour Before Midnight, Asserts Humber

"This is our hour before midnight" if we are to use our preimminent position in international affairs to set up a World Federation and so to assure mankind of peace and freedom, Dr. Robert Lee Humber of Greenville said at East Carolina College last night.

The addition of the new man brings Bethel's three-man police force to full strength.

The survival of the human race in peace and freedom, he stated, is our aim. We must find some formula, he maintained, by which this aim can be realized.

Lanza was born in the Little Italy section of Philadelphia. His real name was Alfredo Arnold Cocozza. He later adopted his mother's name of Lanza for professional use.

"We are in the world community for keeps," he said. "We cannot secede. We must face our destiny."

The seven member group will hold a two-day meeting in Morehead City and will take a boat trip to Portsmouth Island and Core Banks.

"The legacy," he said, "is the target of obliteration, of annihilation. It may, on the other hand, just fade away. We are faced with the issue of preserving it, and I believe we will meet the challenge."

Lanza had been in the hospital for about a week, reportedly for treatment of a minor illness.

"He was a sick man," his friend Irving Aronson said of the period in which Lanza ballooned in size, failed to fill a Las Vegas engagement and was accused of breaking a Hollywood movie contract.

"The United Nations," he stated, "is the greatest step forward yet made, but it is still not enough." It is still relying, he explained, on the voluntary cooperation of members.

"Some form of government is essential for laws to be made, he continued, pointing out that there is no government in the world community today which can make laws."

Lanza two years ago undertook a new movie career in Europe after several years of controversial activity in the United States.

"We are in the world community for keeps," he said. "We cannot secede. We must face our destiny."

Norman-Stokes Say Double-Ring Vows

STOKES—On Saturday afternoon in a ceremony characterized by beauty and dignity, Miss Billie Sue Stokes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming Stokes of Stokes, and James Pierce Norman, Jr., son of Mr. James Pierce Norman, Sr. and the late Mrs. Norman of Greensboro, were united in marriage in the Stokes Methodist Church.

The Rev. W. D. Sabistan, III of Graham, former pastor of the bride, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Paul Callahan, pastor of the church. The double ring ceremony was used.

Prior to the ceremony a program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Robert K. Adkins of Robersonville, organist, and by Mrs. Moya Dail of Greenville, soloist. As vocal selections, Mrs. Dail rendered "All of You", "Oh Promise Me", "I Love Thee", and "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore her sister's wedding dress which was a frosty white gown of imported Chantilly Rosepoint lace. Appliqued lace medallions formed the portrait neckline. The long tapered sleeves ended in lily points at the wrists. The voluminous lace skirt, poised over satin, was ornamented with fluted nylon tulle dust ruffles.

Her veil of illusion was attached to a bandeau of satin, studded with baby pearls. The bride's flowers were a colonial bouquet of lily-of-the-valley and bridal roses centered with a white orchid and showered with bridal ribbons.

Mrs. Harold Watson of Stokes, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in an all-velvet dress of Limoges blue, styled with a portrait neckline which featured a bow attached to soft folds of the bodice, bracelet length sleeves and a very full waist-length skirt. She wore a matching half bandeau in Limoges blue and a rhinestone studded circular veil as a head piece. Her flowers were a Cascade of variegated pink asters tied with American beauty ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Howe Wallace of Cos Cob, Conn., sister of the bride; Mrs. W. D. Sabistan, III, of Graham, and Mrs. Edward Livingston of Greensboro, sister of the groom. Kathy Watson of Stokes, niece of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid. The bridesmaids were attired in dresses identical to that of the matron of honor and their accessories and flowers were similar in design and color.

James Pierce Norman Sr. served his son as best man and ushers were Charles Hall and Edward Livingston of Greensboro, Harold Wallace of Stokes and Howe Wallace of Cos Cob, Conn., brothers-in-law of the bride.

The bride's mother was attired in a lace dress of misty rose, a matching hat ornamented with sequins, and wore an orchid corsage.

The home was decorated for the occasion with arrangements of bridal flowers and burning tapers.

The Rev. and Mrs. Sidney Boone of Williamston greeted the guests at the door and Mr. and Mrs.

sheer wool, a beige feather hat, brown accessories, and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Norman is a graduate of Stokes High School. She attended Peace College, Raleigh and is a graduate of Florida Southern College, Lakeland, Fla. where she was a member of the Sigma Sorority. She was a member of the Goldsboro School faculty during the past school year.

Mr. Norman attended Campbell College and is a graduate of Cincinnati College of Embalming where he was a member of Pi Sigma Eta fraternity. He served two years with the Marine Corps in Korea. At present he is associated with Williams Funeral Home in Wallace where the couple will reside.

Immediately following the wedding, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at their home in honor of the bridal couple, the wedding party, and out of town guests.

The home was decorated for the occasion with arrangements of bridal flowers and burning tapers.

The Rev. and Mrs. Sidney Boone of Williamston greeted the guests at the door and Mr. and Mrs.

Clifford Whichard introduced them to the receiving line.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Congleton, Jr. invited the guests into the sun room where Mr. and Mrs. Walter Latham presided at the Register. Mrs. J. B. Congleton, Sr. and Mrs. Ethel Tyson received at the entrance to the dining room, where Mrs. Frances VanDyke and Mrs. Charles DiCola served bridal lace and petit fours from an appointed dining room table.

Punch was served in the gift room by Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Brinson of Tarboro and goodbyes were said to the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Callahan.

Following the announcement of her engagement, Mrs. Norman was entertained extensively. Among the festivities in her honor were: bride parties by Mrs. Slade Congleton, Miss Kathy Watson, Mrs. M. T. Barnhill and Mrs. L. H. Roberson; a luncheon at the Town and Country in Williamston by Mrs. B. L. Stokes and Mrs. J. M. Kilpatrick; an informal party by Mrs. Ray Fuchs, Mrs. Charlie James, Jr. and Mrs. Milton Spain; a tea by Mrs. Z. E. Brinson of Tarboro; a dinner at The Club Rio in Rocky Mount by Mrs. Frances Van Dyke; buffet supper by Mrs. J. B. Congleton, Sr. and Mrs. J. B. Congleton, Jr.; a rehearsal party by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Howe Wallace, and a wedding breakfast by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Latham of Bethel.

A Turning Point In Steel's Future?

As the steel strike continues and new thousands of people in dependent industries are put out of work each week, one is prone to consider whether a nation as diversified and resourceful as the United States will continue indefinitely to rely so heavily upon steel as it does today in its economy.

Remember a little more than a decade ago when the wheels of industry of this great nation turned on the energy which was provided from the huge coal fields? And remember the rash of mining strikes which staggered the economy and left thousands of families shivering in their homes because the flow of coal from the mines to their home furnaces had been cut off?

Perhaps the nation would eventually have changed to sources other than coal for heat and industrial energy under any circumstances, but coal strikes and the decline of coal for industrial and domestic use appeared to come one behind the other.

In the past decade coal has become less and less important to the overall national economy. A strike in the coal fields now does not have nearly the repercussions throughout the nation as was the case a decade or more ago. Most industries manage to keep their operations on an even keel in the face of a coal strike and most of the nation's homes and commercial buildings remain warm and comfortable. The nation turned to other sources of heat and energy that were not as likely to be cut off by bitter disputes between labor and the companies.

With the nation now feeling the pinch of the pinch of the longest steel strike in history—and remembering other such strikes in recent years—may well wish it were not so heavily dependent upon steel to keep its wheels of industry and commerce turning. There are probably many company officials today who are looking for substitutes for the steel they use in their products. It may well be that many have intensified their search for substitutes since the longest steel strike in history began.

In recent years other metals and various forms of plastics have taken the place of steel in many manufactured products. Even under normal circumstances we would expect the trend to continue. Under the abnormal circumstances brought about by the steel strike, it would not be unsound to expect the trend to be accelerated.

Is the steel industry in the nation today headed down the same road that the coal industry took a decade or more ago?

If there is a national steel strike two years, five years or 10 years from now will manufacturers find themselves in the same position as they do today with their primary source of raw material cut off and their plants shut down because the steel furnaces are cold? Or will they have altered their operations in an effort to prevent being caught in the same situation?

Long Range Traffic Planning Gets A Boost

Highway Commission approval of Greenville's thoroughfare plan along with those of three other cities places Greenville a step closer to a comprehensive, long range program for coping with its traffic problems.

In the case of Greenville, Raleigh, Canton and Roanoke Rapids whose thoroughfare plans have been approved by the Highway Commission, the plans are merely preliminary programs designed to offer one answer to the increasing traffic problems which each of the cities will face in the years ahead. From time to time the plans will have to be revised and altered to meet changing conditions in each of the cities. Notwithstanding these changes which will have to be made, however, each of the cities now has a definite plan, and each has won approval of its plan by the Highway Commission.

As the long range program is put into effect bit by bit in each of the cities, the municipality and the state will work closely together in seeking to cope with intra-city and inter-city traffic. More and more North Carolina cities may be expected to join in the program of long range traffic and street planning with the State Highway Commission. In view of the fact that Greenville is among the first four cities to enter the program and get its preliminary plan approved, it should follow that it will be one of the first cities to begin carrying out the comprehensive program.

Continued growth will mean that most cities in the state will face increasingly difficult and increasingly expensive traffic and street problems in future years. The fact that they will be able to rely upon the state for various kinds of assistance in formulating and carrying out long range programs to cope with problems will be of tremendous importance to the municipalities.

Suspicious Over Peaceful Views

The recent activities of Nikita Khrushchev have been generating some wishful thinking in the West. Yet, upon examination, the Soviet Premier's China trip actually should tend to cast suspicion upon the peaceful sentiments he expressed during his tour of the United States.

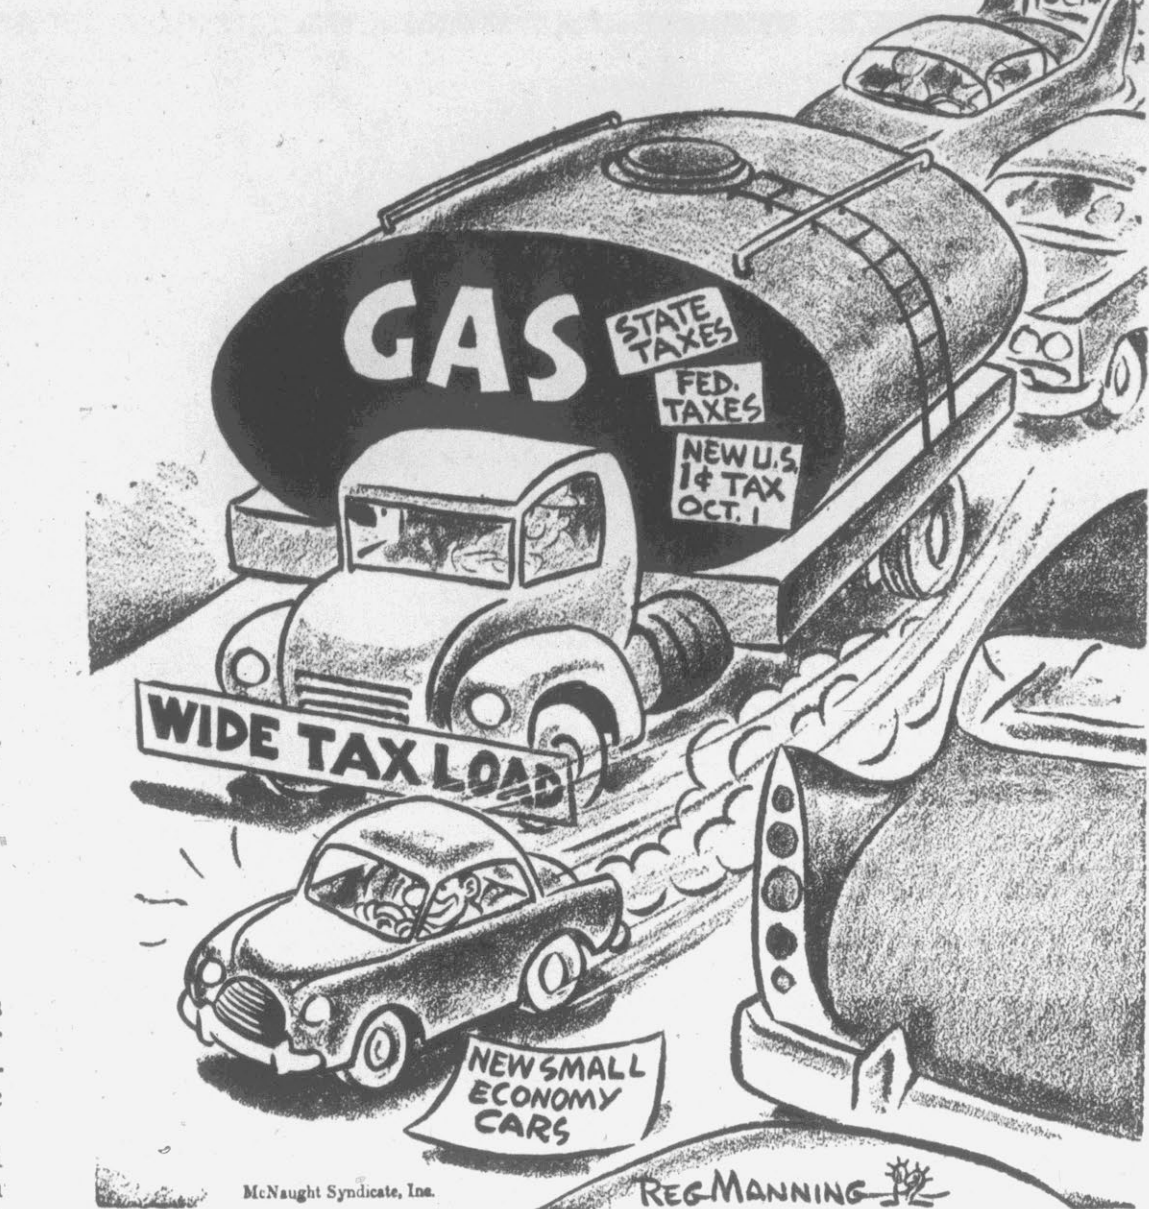

In Red China, Khrushchev attended the 10th anniversary celebration of the Communist takeover. What went on appears to have moved some in the West to speak hopefully of a Soviet-Chinese cleavage.

But how much of what it hears about this can the West afford to trust? From outward appearances, there would seem to have been some coolness between the Soviet chief and the Red Chinese leadership. However, assessing this, one finds it difficult to forget that the men now ruling the Communist world spend most of their lives in the school of deviousness and subterfuge.

Possibly there are some points of conflict between Khrushchev and the Red Chinese. Perhaps there are ruffled Chinese feathers. But the evidence indicates a broad area of collaboration in foreign policy between Moscow and Peking.

The Soviet leader's Peking trip coincided with a meeting of top-ranking Communist leaders and delegations from all corners of the earth. The Peking celebration, as similar occasions in Moscow have done, provided a convenient excuse for a Communist international session.

It would be naive to believe all that took place in Peking was broadcast or published, or, indeed, that anything was made public which was not in the interests of the Communist lead-

The Fair Ass'n Is Safe

On one day of the fair's tenure I don't recall right now which day, the promoters have announced you could get in for a nickel.

Not just any old nickel will do, of course; but a special one . . . of a vintage illustrating the durability and anniversary of the Pitt County Fair . . . is required.

More to the point: show up with a 1934 nickel and Kid, you're in!

Nickels like that they don't make any more. They haven't made 'em for 25 years. Still, you'd think that a 1934 nickel would be no great rarity. Surely the tax collectors haven't taken them all.

That was the way I looked at the situation when this particular announcement was made, and to myself thought "on that day the Fair Association is going to take a licking. They'll have a whole lot of 1934 nickels to count and roll up, and every one of them will represent a financial loss."

To prove it, I spilled out a few dollars worth of nickels (the kids' piggy banks are lighter now) and began pawing through the coins. As nickel collections go, this one was about "par". You couldn't find a more average pile of nickels this side of the U.S. Mint.

And do you know how many 1934-model coins were in the lot?

Exactly one.

It took some eye-straining to convince me that that coin of the realm bore a 1934 date; au-other person with weaker vision or less determination that it was so, might dispute it. The date was badly worn. The first two digits were worn smooth and the remaining two were barely distinguishable.

The pile of coins included four other nickels of similar design to the '34 model, but their dates were completely worn away. Twenty-five years of service represents a heap of living to a nickel.

So unless somebody has been hoarding 1934 nickels in the family vault, and drags them out to confound the Fair people, I just don't see a rush of five-cent ticket sales this year.

With my curiosity aroused, I hope they announce how many 1934 nickels appear . . . just for the record.

Curiosity scores again: Thursday afternoon is the day you can enter the fairgrounds on one of those rare (I think) twentieths of a dollar. I had to ask around.

Other Editors Saying.. Our Speeding Visitors

(Goldboro News-Argus)

An item of a few lines in the Selma "Johnstonian — Sun" spotlights a special problem which North Carolina has. It is the problem of the motorist from another state who violates our highway traffic laws.

Eleven defendants were found guilty of speeding in Kenly district Recorder's court last week," says the "Sun." "They were from Canada, and 10 states: North Carolina, Florida, Connecticut, New York, California, New Jersey, Georgia, Rhode Island, Michigan, and Oklahoma."

Kenly, you know, is a Johnston county town through whose limits flows the traffic of U. S. Highway 301, mostly the heavily traveled north-south route in the State.

The Kenly Recorder's court is set up to bring the services of a court of this rank to that art of the county. So it is not to be confused with the justice of the peace court.

The defendants haled into court for traffic violations in Kenly will, almost without exception, go their way loudly complaining and berating North Carolina for its action against them. It makes no difference whether the party was guilty or the arrest was for the protection of the driver and the public under the law. All he realizes is that he has been arrested and convicted. He will spend many following days exclaiming to all who will listen about those North Carolina speed traps.

It makes no difference that the highway was plainly marked as to speed zones and he was guilty. He goes right on giving the State the black eye.

What could we do to help correct this situation? At one time out - of state cars as they entered North Carolina got a "Welcome" pamphlet which gave our speed laws and emphasized they were enforced with electric timing devices, and unmarked patrol cars. We understand such pamphlets are passed out at intervals now but distribution to drivers at State lines lasted only a short time. Many wrote to commend this service.

Should this procedure be made a permanent and regular one?

Is the system of marking speed limits according to the condition of the highway, allowing 60-miles - an - hour zones, for instance, a confusing one? Does a speed law which changes every mile or two put too much upon the driver? Would it be better to return to a statewide limit regulated by conditions for safety?

Should a special study commission be set up to seek correct answers to such questions?

"Dr. Robert B. Corbett, president of New Mexico State University, said in a speech recently that a few years ago young men were told not to take engineering because engineers were a dime a dozen. Today, he stated, men trained in engineering are the scarcest and most demanded in our economy. The same situation could conceivably develop in farming. Our population is increasing so rapidly that in 10 years, according to Dr. Corbett, unless the nation is careful, it may wake up and find itself incapable of providing food for that sharply expanding population." — Newberry (S.C.) Observer.

"When the day comes that the U.S. dollar is a weak currency, and when devaluation and inflation follow one upon another, to a considerable degree, then the strength of the U.S. will be ebbing, and we will have frittered away a sound dollar and much of our power. The wild spenders should keep this in mind in their efforts to arrange for the government to furnish every taxpayer with everything he needs." — Bandon (Ore.) World.

Naivete Shared By All

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments of a pavement Plato: Most people are surest of what they do not know.

For example, many feel that folk more famous than themselves have better solved the puzzle of living.

Haven't you ever envied a celebrity? Haven't you ever pondered what he or she had that you don't have?

Well, whether it was the ears-against-the-world assurance of Clark Gable, the relaxed billowness of Marilyn Monroe, or the stentorian frontier of John Foster Dulles, they all shared one thing with you.

Yes, sir, you have one thing in common with them. All people do. The thing you share is naivete.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has it, the lady next door has it, the man who picks up the garbage has it.

Everybody has an opinion. High or low. They are all sure in their own minds about certain things.

But the human mind is a funny thing. The more it insists on the acceptance of ideas, the more vulnerable it is to ideas which it is unsure of. Naivete creeps in.

It is partly the old saying come true that "a salesman who can sell can be sold."

Behind the wisest man who ever lived was an eternal naivete, either about himself or others. His confidence cloaked a doubt. When the busy voice was stilled and the tireless limbs rested, doubt came and whispered, "What you are so much about, is it so? Is this all?"

The question came to Alexander, to Napoleon, to the old lady next door.

To be naive is to be human. To be nonnaive is to be divine.

Naivete is such a hard thing to define in a world of twilight words. Is the woman who stamps out a varant bloom that disturbs the plan of her garden naive? Is the statesman who stamps out an idea that will force him to regroup his thought naive? Is a mother who is sure her favorite son is marrying himself into a marital hell naive? Is father who envies the same boy going into a marital heaven naive?

Ah, so, as the Japanese say. It is so. The power that is treckles with dandelions the lawn that doesn't wish them, plimples the face that yearns to be flawless, troubles the mind that would be restful, interrupts the peace we yearn for but do not have, confuses with fresh views the old vistas we were sure were scenic enough for our time.

Grudgingly we grow. To be naive is to be alive.

Steel Strike Story 'Fantastic'

By ELMER ROESSNER

The effects of the steel strike are fantastic and even incredible. It may be necessary to rewrite some of the textbooks on economics.

Nationwide steel strikes are supposed to clobber the economy. Strikers stop drawing wages. Others, such as railroad workers and auto workers, are thrown out of work. Everybody is supposed to panic a bit and stop buying luxuries. Stores are supposed to shutter, small businessmen are expected to go broke.

But the utterly amazing thing about this steel strike is that retail sales have shot ahead substantially. Furthermore, merchants are looking forward to one of the greatest seasons in history—if not a new record for October-December sales.

Industrial production—a very important index of prosperity—is down. The Federal Reserve index considers the 1947-49 average as 100. On that basis, industrial production was 155 in June (that is, 55 per cent above the average) and 149 in August.

Quite a dip, eh? Yes, but the August, 1958, figure—when there was no strike—was 136.

We let the steel industry close down, a man cuts off his left foot; the year-to-year index rises, the man runs faster than ever.

Even more curious is the fact that although industrial production dropped from June to August, total retail sales declined very little and remained for above year-ago marks.

Total retail sales in June were $18.7 billion; in August, $18.1 billion. Back in August, 1958, they were $17.0 billion.

DEPARTMENT STORE PICTURE

Even harder to believe are the Federal Reserve's department store figures. At hand are the figures for the week ended September 19. In that week, total sales were 16 per cent higher than in the corresponding, no-strike week in 1958.

In the preceding week, they were 8 per cent under the 1958 figure. That might seem to reflect the strike.

But in the preceding week, the one ended September 5, when the strike was two months old, sales were 20 per cent above the preceding year.

Those are nationwide figures; they take in Miami and Pasadena, far from the blasts of the steel mills.

SPENDING RISES

But let's look at the steel towns. In the week ended September 19, here are the gains in percentages made in metropolitan areas over a year ago:

Readings, Pa., 4; Scranton, Pa.; Wilkes-Barre and Hazleton, Pa., 17; Cleveland, 27; Youngstown, 17; Erie, 26; Pittsburgh, 15; Birmingham, Ala., 8; Chicago, 13; Detroit, 31; Buffalo, 17; and Duluth-Superior, 7. Wheeling, W. Va., was minus 1.

There are several explanations as to why, in the midst of one of the biggest strikes in history, business has gone ahead so vigorously:

1. There really hasn't been a strike at all.

This can be dismissed as not in accord with the findings of competent observers.

2. Stockpiling in expectation of the strike eliminated layoffs by steel users, such as auto manufacturers.

3. Full employment and overtime to fill stockpiling orders before the strike fattened the savings of the strikers.

4. Strike benefits have kept strikers buying customers.

5. Unemployment benefits have helped laid-off workers and, in some states, the strikers themselves.

While those are valid reasons, somehow they do not seem sufficient by themselves. Perhaps there is another factor that

ECC Playhouse To Perform Tonight

First major production of the East Carolina College Playhouse for the current school year will be presented tonight and Thursday night, when the 1959 Freshman Plays are given at 8 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium.

The program will be made up of two one-act plays, "Night Club" and "Why I Am a Bachelor." The public is invited to attend.

The East Carolina Playhouse sponsors the Freshman Plays each year with the three-fold purpose of providing new students with a worthwhile project, searching for new talent for the dramatic club, and offering good entertainment in drama.

All members of the casts of the Freshman Plays come from the Freshman Class and were selected through tryouts conducted early in the school year. Several Pitt County students qualified for parts. The plays this fall are directed by two experienced members of the Playhouse, Constance Erwin of Roanoke Rapids and Daniel Yanchisin of Kinston. "Night Club" a dramatization by Dan Totheroh from the popular short story of the same name by Katharine Brush, and "Why I Am a Bachelor" by Conrad Seiler promises to make an interesting evening in the theater. The Totheroh play is dramatic and exciting; the Seiler play is a rollicking comedy.

The scene of "Night Club" is the powder room of the Club Francis, and the action of the play provides glimpses into the comedy and tragedy in the lives of the women who come and go during the evening. In spite of the drama around them, two maids, played by Betty Gardner of Pinebluffs and Nancy Jane Collins of Franklinton, are unimpressed by the interesting disclosures of the club patrons, and complain of their humdrum existence.

Passing in and out of the powder room are Martha Ann Davis of Clayton as the Dark Girl; Evangeline Banks of Hubert as the Doll-faced Blond; Frances Allen of Greenville as Vera, Patricia Hackworth of High Point as Amy; Joanne Eagles of Greenville as Sylvia; Gail Pittman of Durham as the Second Girl; Barbara Graham of Roanoke Rapids as Babe; Linda Gale of Lumberton as the Third Girl; Freddie Skinner of Ayden as the Woman with Gardenias; and Francine Cannon of Ayden as Marilee.

James E. Smith of Newport News, Va., heads the cast of "Why I Am a Bachelor." He has the part of a sophisticated man of the world who in lecturing on his reasons for remaining single uses for illustration of his point the difficulties in courtship and marriage of a couple played by Playhouse 90 (ton't) Robert A. Gooden of Clarkton and Laura Gurganus of Greenville.

Others in the cast include Pat-Tyler of Lexington, and Gwendolyn Adams of Clayton, Marthaly Leach of Rockingham.

Laura Gurganus of Greenville and Robert Gooden of Clarkton are among freshmen at East Carolina College chosen to appear in the 1959 Freshman Plays sponsored by the East Carolina Playhouse.

A NEW THRILLER by PATRICK QUENTIN

CHAPTER 19

I'd never felt at ease with Mal Rysen. As a brother-in-law, he'd always seemed too impressive, too consciously a personage for any intimacies. Seeing his emotions bared like this made me feel uncomfortable and inadequate.

"Chuck is just sitting there," he said, "hour after hour, saying absolutely nothing. Just like his mother. Don't tell Connie. I wouldn't want her to worry. But when I looked at him, sitting there on that chair, he reminded me of Sally. That's always been my dread, ever since it happened to Sally, that maybe Chuck..."

All the time, I'd been straining my ears to catch the murmuring sound of Connie's voice on the phone outside. Now I heard a faint clatter as she put down the receiver. In a second she was hurrying into the room.

"It was Lieutenant Trant," she said. "We've got to go to Centre Street, you and I, George. He wants to see us."

"Did he say why?" I said, thinking of a dozen reasons each more alarming than the last.

"I don't know. He just said we must come right away."

Connie's executive personality had returned in full spate. I knew her so well. The only thing that totally defeated her was inaction. Now, hopeless as the situation must have seemed to her, there was something to do and she was herself again.

"The car's outside, George. I used it this afternoon." She turned to Mal. "Mal dear, you'll want to hear what's happened. Why don't you stay here? Just sit quietly until we come back. You can call Vivien if you like and have her come over, too. Ala's upstairs, but I know she doesn't want to inflict herself on you, so there'll be no one to disturb you. And you mustn't worry. Please. It's going to be all right. I'll do something. I'll speak to the District Attorney. I'll make him realize there's been some mistake."

In a surge of vitality, she organized us all, and in a few minutes she and I were driving downtown. She sat next to me, instructing me all the way. For once I wasn't irritated by all that excess confidence. I even got some comfort from her idiotic optimism.

"It's all going to work out. We've just got to make them see."

I'd never been in New York police hqs. before. It was much as I

Pollyanna 1959 Not Quiet Mousey Type

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is the 1959 Pollyanna a quiet, mousey little girl who is too good to be true? No, she is a pleasant teenager who is so normal she likes Elvis Presley.

I learned this upon getting acquainted with Hayley Mills, 13, talented daughter of British star John Mills and authoress Mary Hayley-Bell. The girl has the best star-making role for a youngster since the Shirley Temple heyday. Hayley plays "Pollyanna" in the new Walt Disney version of the Eleanor H. Porter classic.

But she isn't the same Pollyanna as portrayed by Mary Pickford to a prior generation.

"Oh, no," said pretty young Hayley. "Our Pollyanna isn't the same as in the book. She was too sickeningly sweet. If you met any girl like that today, you'd want to kick her in the pants."

"This girl sees the nicer side of life, but she's a real girl, too. She can stick out her tongue when she is angry. She is much more believable."

Hayley is a real girl, too. Though barely in her teens and attending ballet school in England, she showed a knowing interest in rock 'n' roll.

"I'm very fond of Elvis Presley," she commented. "I like Kookie, too, and I'm crazy about Fabian."

Her beginning in films was strictly an accident. A British director came to the Mills farm in Surrey to sell Hayley's father on a role in "Tiger Bay." He met the girl and decided she was perfect to play the role of an orphan who witnesses a murder.

Both Millses did the film and Hayley earned an award from the Berlin Film Festival for her performance. Though she played a young girl in the film, she caught the eye of Disney as the girl he needed for Pollyanna. He now terms her the finest young talent to appear in Hollywood in 25 years.

Gross has been sentenced to one to 10 years in prison for the gunshot death of his wife's grandfather.

Gross pleaded guilty Tuesday to manslaughter in the fatal wounding of Harry Black, 84, during an argument over a $2,000 loan he made to Gross. Gross maintained the firearm was discharged accidentally.

Grand theft charges against Gross, by two men who alleged he bilked them of $27,000 in a cafe purchase plan, were placed off calendar. A previous trial of this case resulted in jury disagreement.

Even Connie was feeling it. I could tell, although with her embarrassment merely manifested itself as a heightening of the grand manner.

With a great effort at dignity, she said, "I'm sorry, Lieutenant. I realize now it was very wrong of us."

"I'm sure you do," said Trant, "and I'm sure that you and your husband will now be ready to co-operate."

"Of course," said Connie. "Good. Then I'll be around at your house tomorrow morning."

"You mean you're finished with us for now?"

"For the moment, Mrs. Hadley. The D.A.'s waiting for me and—"

Instantly Connie was the "boss lady" again. "In that case, please let us see Chuck right away. His father tells us he refuses to say what he was doing on Sunday afternoon. I know there's some perfectly good explanation and I'm quite certain I can persuade him to tell you the truth."

"I'm quite certain you could, too," said Trant, "but as it happens, there's no longer any need for your kind offices as an aunt. Chuck has already given us a full statement."

"There Chuck was, sitting on one of the flimsy wooden chairs, looking quite different from what I'd steered myself to see . . ." George's narrative continues here tomorrow.

War On Moon Is Held Possibility

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A moon war is within the realm of possibility, says an aircraft engineer.

It could be touched off by rivalry between the United States and the Soviet Union in establishing nuclear missile bases on the moon. R. L. Johnson told the Society of Automotive Engineers Tuesday.

"But at least," he added, "the nuclear blasts would be on our satellite—not on earth."

Johnson directs missiles and space systems programs at Douglas Aircraft Co.

Clothing Bank Collections Scheduled This Sunday

FOR CLOTHING BANK — Drive Chairman Boykin gets an armful.

The weather is still warm, but Greenville Moose are looking ahead and planning for the cold days of winter. Their annual collection of children's clothing has been set for this coming Sunday. Chairman James Boykin today announced plans for the Underprivileged Children's Clothing Bank, and with them a plea for local citizens to collect clothing items their own children have outgrown or will not need this winter.

Little Change In Tobacco Prices

Flue-cured tobacco price averages were mostly unchanged to higher Tuesday on the Eastern North Carolina Belt. Middle Belt prices generally were unchanged and averages were down on the North Carolina-Virginia Old Belt. Sales volume declined on the Middle and Eastern belts. Old Belt—Losses ranged from $1-$7, with most decreases $1-$2. Several small gains were recorded, and a few grades were firm. Quality was lower. Sales Monday totaled 8,501,672 pounds for $55.58 per 100 pounds. Season sales are 86,350,371 pounds at $54.04. North Carolina markets have sold 3,738,962 pounds at $53.45. Virginia 4,762,710 at $57.25. Eastern Belt—About twice as many gains as losses, variations mainly $1-$2. Quality and volume down. Monday's sales 8,023,492 pounds at $60.20, up $1.19 from Friday. Season sales 309,209,824 for $58.35. Middle Belt — Variegated lugs and some grades of primings and nondescript lost $1-$3. Remainder fairly steady. Volume down, quality better. Monday's sales totaled 3,954,944 pounds at $58.32, up $1.54 from Friday. Season, 89,307,574 for $57.18. The cross on the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, England, is 365 feet above ground level.

clothing bank may telephone the lodge (PL 2-3382) and arrangements can be made to pick up the items at another time. The clothing bank program has been an annual project with Greenville Moose. Past Governor John Behr, who has watched many of the past drives terms it "an invaluable contribution to our underprivileged children." Boykin put emphasis on the cumulative results of many small contributions. "One sweater, one pair of socks, one dress, one shirt, one pair of pants . . . multiply them by a hundred and you've got something," he went on. Governor J. G. Proctor, in announcing names of volunteers who will be collecting clothing Sunday, said other members of the Moose will probably join the campaign. Those who are going to canvass the city, include: George Johnson, Frank House, Norris Merritt, Aubrey Taylor, Dick Everett, Maynard Stowe, Leroy Campbell, Andy Carrigan, Bill Smith, Charles Martin, Elmer Davis, Bruce Hudson, Floyd Simmons, Dr. Charles MacAndrew, D. E. Brown, J. A. Harris, John Behr and James Boykin.

Accomplice In Effort To Rob Bank Is Caught

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Thank God it's over, I'm so tired of waiting." That summed up the feeling of Alma Helen Stevens, 26, object of a nationwide search as the woman accomplice of a man who killed himself in a bizarre but futile bank holdup here two weeks ago. She was arrested by two patrolmen Tuesday night in an East Side rooming house on a tip that a man and a woman were having a loud argument and disturbing other occupants. Mrs. Stevens told detectives she was forced to remain in Cleveland since the day of the robbery attempt because she was broke. The first two days she slept under a bridge, not more than a mile from where the getaway car was abandoned near East 105th St. and Euclid Ave. Mrs. Stevens said she lived in the rooming house with a 39-year-old man since the third day of his flight. "I saw my picture on TV once and I was afraid to go out of the house," she told detectives. Mrs. Stevens had admitted her part in the bank robbery attempt. A native of Abilene, Kan., Mrs. Stevens also had been known as Alma Malone and Billy Jean Carroll, police said. Her mother lives in Salina, Kan. Married four times, Mrs. Stevens has a son, 12, living with her mother, officers said.

Hardee Elected To Ass'n Post

Ralph R. Hardee of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company in Greenville was elected second vice president of the trust division of the North Carolina Bankers Association last week at a Greensboro meeting of the group. Hardee, elected along with J. Bruce King of Wilson (president), Claude Watkins of Greensboro (first vice president), and Fred L. Rodenbeck, Jr., of Asheville (secretary-treasurer), will begin his one-year term next May 1. The association's October meeting featured speakers Guy L. Fairbanks, Jr., representative for the Atlanta, Ga., firm, Bowles, Andrews, and Towne; Executive Vice President Charles W. Buck of the United States Trust Company of New York City; Dave McNeill, American Commercial Bank Trust Officer of Charlotte; and Tax Attorney Windfield Blackwell of Winston-Salem. Buck told the group in his talk that it is advisable today to invest in bonds if a customer wants more income from a trust fund even if it means selling stocks.

Brimley Speaks To NCEA Unit

Ralph Brimley, director of public relations at East Carolina College, spoke to last week's meeting of the Belvoir-Falkland chapter of the North Carolina Education Association in the school's library. Mrs. Dorothy Hardy, chairman of the local unit, presided at the meeting. The school's Principal Ed Warren made a number of announcements concerning the school program and introduced the speaker. Brimley, after speaking to the group on "Teacher Welfare," conducted a question-and-answer period and answered questions raised by members of the group. Mrs. Mary Mayo was elected secretary of the chapter for the current school year. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Mary Alice Hendrix, home economist of the district, served refreshments. Some 25 members of the NCEA chapter attended.

Pupils Picked Up Old Hypodermics

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Hundreds of scrapped hypodermic needles gave alarmed school officials a prickly feeling today. Pupils at three schools turned up in class Tuesday with the medical syringes. So far, police said, the needles had been used as squirt guns. But they warned of possible dangers such as the youngsters playing doctor. The plastic needles the police have collected were rejects from a nearby plant which makes them. They had been put out for trash collection, but the children picked them up.

Oil Well Blows, Killing Two Men

LOVELL, Wyo. (AP) — An oil well in a Wyoming field blew out Tuesday, claiming the lives of two men. A Mobil Producing Co. spokesman said the well was being re-worked and pump rods being pulled from the well casing when it blew, filling the area with oil and poisonous hydrogen sulfide gas. AIMING FOR CHOWAN—Paul Eilers, a back, and Dennis Hampton, a barefooted kicker, will be a couple of guns that Coach Gary Mattocks will throw at Chowan Junior College Thursday night. Eilers, a senior, is noted for his punting ability.

EC Freshmen Work For Tilt With Chowan Thurs.

With only one touchdown scored against them thus far this season, the East Carolina freshmen will rely on their defense in hopes of gaining their second victory of the season Thursday night when they meet Chowan Junior College.

Coach Gary Mattocks worked his club on defense yesterday against another freshmen unit and then put his regulars up against the varsity's first and second units.

A 6-0 winner over Frederick Junior College, the "Baby Bucs" gave up a fourth period touchdown to The Citadel last Thursday and lost their first game of the season, 8-0.

Mattocks is hoping to come up with an offensive punch tomorrow night to go along with his stout defensive weapons. The freshmen have shown little scoring ability in their first two games but Mattocks feels that the needed seasoning has been gained and his yearlings should brag loose one of these nights—maybe tomorrow.

Dan Rouse, the 17-year-old Newport News quarterback, will once again guide the local outfit. Coming along at a fast pace, Rouse may take to the air more tomorrow night than in the past two games. A sought-after prep star, Rouse has struck to the ground in earlier tilts.

Fast Backs
BBI Torrence and John Tatum will be running at the halfback slots. Both are fast with good power. Johnny Stevens has also been impressive as a runner and will see some service.

The big gun in the running attack is expected to be Fullback Bill Strickland, a converted guard. Strickland has gained rave from the freshmen coaches for his running ability and his alert defensive play.

Charles Roberts, a defensive specialist from Greenville, will be at either a halfback slot or at safety when the freshmen eleven goes on defense.

A couple of boys from this area—James Strawbridge and Paul Eilers—will head the forward wall. Strawbridge, a Williamson native, will get the starting slot at either tackle or guard. Eilers played his prep ball at Rocky Mount High and will work at a tackle slot.

Game time for the Thursday night tilt is at 8:00 in College Stadium.

One of the highlights of the night will be the kicking of Dennis Hampton, ECC's barefooted booter. Hampton, expected to be a big use to Coach Jack Boone for his punting ability if nothing else, was hurt at the first of the season but is fit as a fiddle now and will do the punting for the yearlings tomorrow night.

Hampton, an end, is expected to join the varsity squad in the short future to render his kicking ability. In his few kicks with the freshmen club, he is averaging well over 40 yards per boot.

The ECC freshmen - Chowan Junior College game is being sponsored by the Greenville Jaycees and the Touchdown Club. Proceeds will go toward purchasing a new scoreboard for College Stadium.

Linemen Moved Up In ECC Camp; Bass Leads Stats

A rugged hour scrimmage, both offensively and defensively, highlighted East Carolina College's practice session yesterday. The Bucs, boasting a 3-1 record and 2-0 conference slate, met Elon here Saturday afternoon in the annual homecoming affair.

Riding the crest of a three game winning streak, the Pirates worked out in light gear Monday. They reviewed film of the Catawba ECC game and received a scouting report on Elon.

Yesterday the work was rougher with Ralph Zehring and Jerry Carpenter sending their offensive units against defense composed of freshmen.

Much of the offensive scrimmage was devoted to passing but halfbacks James Speight and Sonny Basinger reeled off several touchdown gallops in the workout. Zehring's passing proved to be effective with Glenn Bass being his main target.

The Pirate third unit ran Elon offensive patterns against the first two units and were able to move the ball very little. Quarterback Bert Stafford—acting as Elon passing whiz, Charlie Maldon—was trapped several times by hard charging linemen and had little time in picking his receivers.

Bob Gregson and Henry Kwiatkowski were promoted to the first unit following impressive performances against Catawba Saturday. Gregson, a Wingate Junior College transfer, moved into a guard slot ahead of injured Wayne Davis. Kwiatkowski, playing his best game as a Pirate last Saturday, took over a tackle position.

Wayne Davis and Tommy Matthews, sophomore halfback, did not take part in yesterday's scrimmage due to injuries. Fullback Mac Thacker saw only limited action.

Cumulative statistics following the Catawba game show Glenn

Bass still at the top in individual rushing and scoring. The Wilson speedster added a couple of touchdowns to his NAIA leadership total and also stacked up 132 more yards in his rushing offense.

James Speight, rapidly approaching the college individual rushing record, is close behind Bass. An All-Conference halfback, Speight has been the target of most of the ECC foes but is still picking up yardage and has been the "bread and butter" runner in the Pirate backfield.

Thomas Has 75 In Kinston Golf Tourney

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — Al Smith, the little Danville, Va. golf pro with the big game, is off to a flying start in pursuit of the prize he just missed catching the last two years — the Carolinas PGA championship.

Smith has been second the last two years in this fall classic.

Today he took a one-stroke lead into the second round of the 34-hole event which runs through Thursday at the Kinston Country Club.

The curly-haired Virginian, a former member of the national tour, opened Tuesday with a 65, five under par for the 6,100-yard course in the field of 55.

He had nines of 33-32 against par of 36-34. Al birdied Nos. 7, 8 and 9 to turn three under and all.

Fires 75

Harold Thomas, Greenville pro, fired a 36 on the final eighteen holes yesterday afternoon after a 39 in the first round for a 75 at the end of the first day in the Carolina PGA tournament.

Thomas was four strokes behind noted pro Mike Souchak, and was ahead of many other top notch golfers in the field, including Kinston's Avery Beck.

so birdied 13 and 17 coming home.

This left him with a one-shot edge over Ducky Miller of Camp Lejeune (32-34) and Joe Cheves of Morganton (35-31).

Cheves birdied four of the last five holes for a whirlwind finish. He was low pro last summer in the Carolinas Open, won by amateur P. J. Boatwright.

Last year when Thorne Wood, the Asheboro southpaw, won at Greensboro, Smith was second, two shots back, losing two strokes on the next-to-last hole to miss the top money.

In fourth place here with 68 was Chuck Alexander of Rocky Mount, one shot ahead of Al Goodrich of Goldsboro.

Wood shot a par 70 to tie for sixth place with four other pros—Bailey Glenn of Roaring Gap, John Ruedi of Wilmington, Charlie Farlow of Greensboro and Melvin Hemphill of Columbia, S. C.

Farlow and Hemphill tied for the lead in special 36-hole competition for senior pros. Joe Zarthardt of Spartanburg, S.C., was third with 72.

Mike Souchak of Durham, resting from a successful national tour before next month's Ryder Cup play in California, opened his Carolinas bid with a 71. Mike had a par 36 on the front nine, but bogeyed 15 with a missed green and 16 with three putts. He had to birdie No. 18 to get back to only one over.

The pros shoot for a pot worth $1,000 plus entry fees.

Phillips Hopes Club Will Be Ready Friday

The Greenville Phantoms are working out this week in preparation for Friday night's contest when they journey to Tarboro for a conference game.

In last Friday night's game the Phantoms were defeated 19-6 by Washington, with nine of the Greenville squad out of the game with flu.

Coach Bud Phillips said, "I think our boys did a mighty good job under the circumstances. We were playing six boys who had never been in a varsity game before and these boys gave a good account of themselves. I couldn't have asked any more of the boys."

"I definitely think we could have won the game if our team had not been weakened by this flu. It was our defense that hurt us. We had no trouble moving the ball, we just couldn't get it often enough."

Last year in the Greenville - Washington game the Phantoms had the same bad luck in that game the first string halfbacks were out.

One of the telling points in the game Friday night came in the first quarter when the Phantoms were stopped just two yards short of the goal line.

In relation to this week's game Coach Phillips commented, "Tarboro has a good ball club. Their right halfback, Bruce Owens is a triple threat man who was all conference last year."

He added however, "I think we can take them if our performance is as good as it was last Friday night. Some of our players are be-

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—It took three games, but the American League pennant winners — the Chicago White Sox everyone knows — finally showed up for the World Series at the Coliseum.

And now that they're free of the snake pit that passed for a ballyard in Los Angeles, they're sure they can sweep the final two games in their own park and win the series.

After winning the opener 11-0, then losing the next three when they out-hit themselves but could not get the runs, the White Sox finally returned to form Tuesday, barring the Dodgers' bid for a clinching victory in the fifth game with a 1-0 decision.

To stay alive, they went back to doing what comes naturally, winning with just five hits, all singles, clutch defense and the first three pitcher shutout in series history.

Back home behind Early Wynn, who'll be making his third start, the Sox are favored at 11-10 in Thursday's sixth game, after a day off for travel.

But the Dodgers, who'll send southpaw Johnny Podres after his second victory, are 5-2 choices for the world championship. They two games.

Dodger manager Walter Alton said ahead that his Dodgers have an advantage over any team playing in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum for the first time.

The Coliseum, filled with gold and bright sun, sent this 56th World Series rolling toward money highs with record crowds for each of the three games played in Los Angeles.

But it was an open-air dungeon full of horrors for defense, with ground leaving fielders blind.

"Our defense ought to be better in our own park," said White Sox manager Al Lopez. "Defense has been the best part of our club all year, but over there in Los Angeles it was hurting us."

"I said on the bench that if we won yesterday, we'd win the series. We haven't done anything easy all year."

It was a tremendous relief job by Dick Donovan, the third game loser, that put it away for the White Sox. But it was Jim Rivera's running stab in right-center that saved the Sox something to put away.

A walk and a two-out single, Junior Gilliam's record-tying fourth hit of the game, had Sox starter Bob Shaw on the spot in the seventh with Charlie Neal coming to bat. It was Neal who had walloped a pair of home runs to beat Shaw in the second game.

Lopez made his move then, benching rookie Jim McNamany and shifting Al Smith from right to left to have a more experienced hand playing the Coliseum's left field screen. That left right field open, and Lopez plugged it with Rivera.

After a wild pitch put the runners on third and second, the right-hand-hitting Neal sent a drive deep to right-center — past center fielder Jim Landis, but not past the rambling Rivera, running toward the fence.

"Honest," said Lopez, laughing, "I made the move for left, not for right! And I think Smith would have made the catch, too."

The White Sox got their run in the fourth, when Nellie Fox led off with a single and right-center on Landis' single to right-center got off later Sandy Koussar. Fox came home when Sherm Lollar rolled into a double play.

Shaw, the winner, gave up all of the nine hits by the Dodgers, who left five men on base in the seventh and eighth. Donovan left the bases loaded in the eighth, getting clutch guy Carl Furillo on a pop up to third, and retiring Don Zimmer on a fly to right.

Donovan faced only five men in his 1-2-3 innings, and Zimmer was the only one to get the ball out of the infield.

Still, Lopez and everyone else tagged Rivera's catch "the big play."

A guy asked Smith if he thought he could have made the catch.

"I don't know, really," he said. "There's a lot to getting the jump on the ball and things like that. Let's just say I'm just as glad we didn't have to find out."

"That's a heckuva park," he added, shaking his head.

"You get to prayin' the ball isn't hit to you at all."

A record attendance of 92,706 was on hand in Los Angeles. No more mobs like that here though.

You couldn't fit that many in Comiskey Park with a shoe horn. In addition, the advance weather prediction is cool and cloudy for Thursday.

Herter Believes Nikita Unable Ease Peiping Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently has run into trouble in his campaign to get Communist China to join in reducing East-West tensions.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, summing up his impression of Khrushchev's visit to Peiping following his Camp David talks, told newsmen: "I would say that I can see no visible easing of tensions as between Chinese Communists and ourselves."

Herter also suggested the possibility of a split in the foreign policy lines of the Soviet and Red Chinese governments. He noted that Khrushchev had "talked quite eloquently" during his Chinese trip about solving international problems by peaceful means and that Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung "never made any statement at all."

This striking contrast of behavior coupled with the Chinese Reds' continued denunciation of the United States as "imperialist" and "aggressive" seemed to indicate that Khrushchev and the Soviet government "are taking a rather different line," Herter said, "from that of the Communist Chinese."

Khrushchev went to Peiping after touring the United States. He is believed to have given the Chinese Reds a full account of his talks with President Eisenhower during which Eisenhower and he agreed that "all outstanding international questions" should be settled by peaceful negotiations.

Herter, in his first news conference here since early July, said he thought the Khrushchev trip to the United States had resulted in some easing of tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union.

As to the long-range value of the visit, Herter said "time will tell," but I would like to be optimistic.

The Eisenhower - Khrushchev agreement on Berlin — providing that future negotiations may run indefinitely — has had the effect of lifting the Soviet threat to try to force the Western Allies out of West Berlin, Herter said in response to a question. But there was no agreement, he added, on any new plan for settling the Berlin dispute.

As to a summit conference Herter would say only that whether the new negotiations on Berlin will be conducted by heads of government or foreign ministers, and when and where the next big East-West conference should be held are matters for consultation among the Allies.

Throughout the news conference Herter seemed to be speaking on the assumption that Khrushchev seriously wants a major improvement in Soviet-Western relationships.

He credited the Soviet Premier with "a degree of real sincerity" in proposing complete, world-wide disarmament.

Similarly, Herter evidently assumed that the Soviet leader was seriously trying in his private talks with the Chinese Communist rulers to get them onto a more peaceful foreign policy line.

Eisenhower's Hand Forced By Impact Of Twin Strikes

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Deadlocks in the steel and copper disputes are teamed up with the tie-up of ports from Maine to Texas to force President Eisenhower's hand.

The situation Tuesday, as he prepared to get tough, was clear. Many companies are watching their supplies of metal dwindle. And in recent days they haven't been getting deliveries of foreign steel, either.

Because of the longshoremen's strike, the one big U. S. custom smelter still operating says it can't take any more orders for copper products. All supplies available to it will be used up in filling present orders.

The dock strike also sent crude rubber prices back up just when importers were looking for a decline.

Dealers in secondhand steel have raised their prices as other sources fade away.

Railroads report net income in August shrank 26 million dollars, with roads in the East showing a five-million-dollar loss. The story for September could scarcely be any better.

These were the current effects of the wave of strikes while the nation awaited the expected invoking of the Taft-Hartley Act to get the longshoremen or the steelworkers, or both, back on the job for at least 80 days.

Whether the 80 days will change the thinking of either management or labor on the issues that divide them is open to debate.

If it doesn't, the nation will be in for a repetition of the deadlocks that threaten to undermine the current prosperity.

Users of steel and copper expected the strike and laid in big supplies. What they didn't expect was that both sides would be so set on not giving up on the issues they consider fundamental. So the big supplies have now dwindled to quite small ones.

Although pinched for supplies, many steel users are reported feeling that steel management is right in trying to halt further price rises and in demanding more say in operating its mills.

It's one of the bitterest labor battles in years. To date, the public has been hurt only in those areas where steel mills operate and in those industries, like railroads, that look to steel for a major part of their income.

But the President warned that from now on the effects would spread rapidly. Both management and labor were prepared for his intervention.

Some steel mills began ordering coal again and buying steel scrap in anticipation of returning to production.

How long it will take before hard-pressed steel users will get all of it they want is in doubt, with guesses running from two weeks to four, or even more.

Buried Alive, 2 Men Are Rescued

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two St. Louis men were buried alive Tuesday but escaped.

Walter Jackson, 29, and Lemmie Burden, 23, were working at the bottom of a 10-foot hole on a construction job in north St. Louis County.

The sandy sides of the hole collapsed, burying them under more than a foot of dirt.

Several co-workers attacked the loose earth with shovels and bare hands. It took half an hour before the victims were fully uncovered.

They were reported in satisfactory condition at De Paul Hospital.

Points To Usual Red Subversion

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A U. S. intelligence official today challenged Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's peaceful co-existence theme, saying the Communists organized and armed several thousand Laotian guerrillas in North Viet Nam.

Gen. C. P. Cabell, deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, also cited Soviet and Red Chinese moves in Africa in saying that the Communists are actively trying to subvert the free world.

"To the free peoples of the West the bold evidence of Communist aggression is not very palatable," Cabell said in a speech prepared for a National Guard Assn. conference.

"Calling this 'peaceful co-existence' does not make much sense to me."

Peaceful co-existence is a Communist doctrine which Khrushchev stressed time and again during his recent U. S. visit.

Sees Return

OMAHA (AP) — The French air force chief of staff predicts U. S. Air Force planes will be permitted to return to their former bases in France.

Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, arriving at Strategic Air Command headquarters Tuesday night, hinted a compromise is being worked out between his government and the United States.

Last spring French President Charles de Gaulle told the United States it could no longer store nuclear weapons in France unless American nuclear secrets were shared with his government. The Air Force withdrew some 250 aircraft from France.

But negotiations are now in progress between the two governments and the dispute "most certainly will be resolved," said Gen. Jouhaud.

Gains of 2 points or better were scored by Zenith, Thiokol and Texas Instruments.

World Art Authority Berenson Dies In Italy

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Bernard Berenson, 94, the world's leading authority on Italian Renaissance art, died today.

An American and a graduate of Harvard University, he left Boston shortly after graduation and had lived in Italy for 73 years. Later in life he said he still considered Boston his home. He willed his beautiful 40-room Villa I Tatti, just outside Florence, and its superb collection of art treasures to Harvard for use as a center for scholars abroad.

Some of America's greatest art collections are monuments to Berenson's scholarship and taste. He began his career as art buyer for Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston, assembling the nucleus of the Fenway Court collections she left as a museum.

But his biggest influence came as chief adviser to the late Lord Duveen, the dealer who assembled most his private American collections before World War II. In the process Berenson amassed a comfortable fortune for himself.

Berenson also produced a succession of books on Renaissance art which are considered classics in the field. Among the most famous are his first, "Venetian Painters of the Renaissance," published in 1894, and "Drawings of the Florentine Painters." In his later years his will at Seltignano became a trust for the world's famous, rivalry and commoners. Former President Truman was among those who called to pay his respects. Tiny and fragile, well-read and elegant, Berenson was a witty, charming host to all, known to everyone as "B.B."

The United States bought 20 per cent of Turkey's exports and supplied 18 per cent of her imports during the first seven months of 1959.
