

Steel Industry Meeting Today Can Decide Result Of 95-Day-Long Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel industry leaders kept secret today the place of a meeting that could decide the outcome of the 95-day steel strike.

They had been expected to meet in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at 10 a. m. to consider a union compromise offer. But at that hour none had appeared.

There was no immediate announcement as to where they would gather. The scaled down union proposal reportedly called for about 21 cents an hour in wage-benefit gains over a two-year period.

Uncertainty Faces Big Auto Industry

DETROIT (AP)—With its steel shortage pinch turning into an actual squeeze, the auto industry faced huge uncertainties today.

On the one hand was General Motors' reduced car production with its manpower layoff at the 60,000 mark. GM has not promised production beyond Nov. 1.

In addition to the fate of an early October sales prospects for new 1960 model cars was in question. The industry has enjoyed its highest sales in five years in the new model introduction period.

Two Injured As Car Fails Curve

Two Greenville Negroes received hip injuries after the car one of the men was driving went out of control on a curve about one and one-half miles West of Joyner's Cross Roads on the Stantonburg Highway late last night.

Investigating Patrolman W. E. Williams said Leroy Williams of 807 Fleming St., the driver of the car, was pinned beneath the auto for a short while following the wreck. The other Negro, a passenger in the car was identified as Thelbert Warren of 1012 Mack St.

Williams said he was pursuing a 1955 model car at the time of the accident. According to the officer he spotted the vehicle about one-half mile East of the intersection at Joyner's Cross Roads near Farmville and clocked the speeding car at 85 miles per hour as it went through the intersection of N. C. 121 and the Stantonburg Road.

Leap-Frog

Robbers played leap-frog with a 1955 model car in order to steal it from a local used car lot last night, according to investigating police.

Officers said the robbers entered the Jenkins Motor Company Used Car Lot off at the intersection of Cotanche and Fourth Sts. and took several sets of car keys from the building. One set fitted the car they liked.

In order to drive away with the car, the robbers were faced with a problem—a wire cable completely surrounding the lot. They simply jumped a low-lying wire with the car.

Farmville Market Prices Hold Up

FARMVILLE—A sales average of $50.11 was recorded here yesterday on the tobacco market as a total volume of 266,020 pounds of rough growers a total of $133,312.69.

According to Sales Supervisor Charles S. Edwards, volume on the market here is decreasing as the season nears its end, but prices, grade-for-grade, are steady.

Season's totals: total volume—19,710,532; total receipts—$11,254,870.40; and sales average—$57.10.

Producer Stunned By CBS Ban On Quiz Shows

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am stunned. Honest programs are being taken the rap because there have been phoney ones."

This was the reaction Friday of Walt Framer, independent producer of "The Big Pay-Off," one of the television quiz shows to be dropped by the Columbia Broadcasting System in the wake of disclosures that some top TV quizzes were fixed.

Framer's statement followed an announcement in New Orleans by CBS President Frank Stanton that his network is eliminating all TV shows involving awards of big money or expensive prizes.

U. S. Soldier-Statesman George C. Marshall Dies Friday Night

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, who guided America's armed might in World War II and created the postwar Marshall Plan to safeguard free nations against communism, is dead at 78.

Marshall had been seriously ill since he suffered a stroke last Jan. 15 at his winter home in Pinehurst, N. C. He was brought to Walter Reed Army Hospital March 11. Death came to him there Friday evening.

Perhaps no man of his time had been called great by so many of his countrymen as George Catlett Marshall.

Three presidents—Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower—almost revered his awesome abilities as a soldier, statesman and diplomat.

He led the gigantic war machine of the United States as Army chief of staff throughout World War II. Then in the evening of his life he was recalled to duty as secretary of state and again, during the Korean War, as secretary of defense.

These pictures were taken at four different stages in the career of Gen. George C. Marshall who died last night. Allies Honor Marshall For Twice Bringing Salvation

LONDON (AP)—"Britain owes a monument to George C. Marshall," a London newspaper headline declared today.

The words expressed the feelings of millions of Britons who joined the rest of the free world in mourning the death of America's soldier-statesman.

"Twice in our lifetime," said the London Daily Mail, "the new world has come to the rescue of the old and each time the instrument of recovery was George C. Marshall."

In Paris, French Marshal Alphonse Juin said of Marshall: "He not only was a great soldier but also in the years following the Second World War victory a shrewd and wise statesman, and author of the generous plan which was precious help to the nations of Western Europe impoverished by the war."

Where despair and poverty once held sway, there are smiles, the comforts of a good life and money in the bank.

Acquit Woman In Robbery Trial

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—write each of them and thank them but first I have to settle down."

The verdict tore away the composure she maintained through the five-day trial.

Tears streaming down her face, she stood up, turned to her husband and said: "Let's call Damon so we can go home."

"Thank you, thank you," she told the jurors as they filed past her out of the courtroom.

Mrs. Anderson broke down momentarily but upon regaining her composure turned to her husband and said:

Pitt Road Work Funds Set Up

RALEIGH — The State Highway Commission has approved and set up funds for improvements to four Pitt County roads.

Grading, draining and stabilization is scheduled on road 1256, from NC 121, to road 1255, a distance of 1.2 mile. Grading, drainage and surfacing is planned for 0.75 mile road 1237, from US 238 to NC 222; 0.75 mile road 1738, from road 1736 to 1739; and 0.3 mile road 1546, from NC 903 to NC 33.

Estimated cost of the improvements is $51,750.

BUBONIC OUTBREAK

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—Doctors and health officials are fighting an outbreak of bubonic plague near the industrial town of Uitenhage, 20 miles north of here. They expressed belief today the outbreak has been checked.

Ayden Man's Death Last Night Is Ruled A Suicide

AYDEN — A 48-year-old Ayden resident and long-time employee of a local oil distributing firm shot and killed himself in the company's warehouse some time last night, according to Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey.

Harvey identified the victim as being William Claxton Rogerson. According to friends, Rogerson, originally from Aulander, had no relatives living in Ayden. It was reported he had a sister living in South Carolina and a brother in Aulander.

Rogerson was found in the warehouse by his employer Joe Tripp about 7:15 this morning when Tripp went to the plant to see if he could find Rogerson. He noted he received a phone call about 7 o'clock from Rogerson's landlady saying Rogerson had not been in all night.

When he arrived at the office, Tripp said, he found the latch on the door to the warehouse open and checked inside, finding the body of Rogerson. Tripp told officers he then called a local doctor who pronounced Rogerson dead.

It was reported the dead man had been suffering from a cold for the past week but refused to see a doctor.

Long Service And Fame In Life Of Geo. C. Marshall

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Outside a Carolina cottage on the last day of 1958 an Army band played some marching tunes for the aged general.

It was his birthday. There had been 77 before this. There would be no more.

George Catlett Marshall first heard the brass bands and cadence drums sound out those lively airs when he was a shavetail lieutenant of infantry, wearing a broadbrimmed Army campaign hat, no medals on his chest.

That was before three wars, two cabinet posts, fame—and a brief flurry of controversy in later life. When the Army band came to Pinehurst from Ft. Bragg to play a birthday serenade, illness and age already were heavy upon the general.

But the 78th birthday was a time for memories and a talk with a few old friends.

A time to look back, to remember Uniontown, Pa., where he was born in 1880; schooling at Virginia Military Institute; the humid heat of Army duty in the Philippines; the dust of Oklahoma's Fort Reno; slow promotion for junior officers; until World War I came and with it assignment to Gen. John J. Pershing's headquarters for the American Expeditionary Staff.

That was Marshall's strong point—staff work. He began ascending, obscurely at first, a captain, a major, a lieutenant colonel. A five-year tour after the war to aide to "Black Jack" Pershing, that personification of the precise, cold, aloof commander. Some of Pershing's characteristics rubbed off on Marshall.

He developed two personalities. As an officer, he cleaved closely to the code. He was severe, smiled little, kept to himself, expected instant response when he pushed a buzzer, an immediate answer when he asked a question.

At some point early in his military career he adopted the military practice of addressing subordinates, both in and out of the military, by their last names. He made perhaps no more than a dozen exceptions, and these in the case of very old and very close associates.

Until the day of Dwight D. Eisenhower's inauguration as president, Marshall addressed him only as "Eisenhower," never " Ike."

Marshall's official aloofness may have been something of a protective device, as well as too literal acceptance of military custom. He dreaded that some acquaintance, close or casual, might ask him to use influence of office to grant a favor. So, in a way, he avoided people. When he entered his office in the morning he passed through the reception room at almost a run, left in the same way.

The bright young brigadier, who appeared to know how to get things done fast even in the maze of military red tape, began to move up rapidly. He was chief of the War Plans Division, deputy chief of staff, acting chief, then chief of staff in 1939—when war already had come to Europe and when Marshall's staff ability had brought the attention and support of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

World War II broke for the United States on a Sunday morning. Marshall was horseback riding. There were some who seemed surprised, and even shocked, that the Army chief of staff should have been horseback riding at a moment when the enemy struck Pearl Harbor. But there were many others, in high and low places, at home and overseas, for whom war came with stunning suddenness.

As Army chief of staff, Marshall was in a preeminent position in the war councils, a senior member of the American military chiefs of staff, member of the combined chiefs of staff, essentially an Anglo-American organization.

The prominent part which Marshall had in those wartime councils later was to become a subject for some senatorial critics of the general. So too did these critics make charges about his actions as a diplomat, after he left the Army chief's post.

Marshall had difficulty in trying to step out of active life, retire to a home in Leesburg, Va., and a winter cottage at Pinehurst, N. C.

New matters kept bobbing up. When he stepped down in November 1945 as Army chief of staff he and Mrs. Marshall packed up and made ready to move to the quiet life of a small Southern town. They didn't go. Instead, Marshall accepted President Harry Truman's request that he go to China with the personal rank of ambassador.

That assignment lasted until 1947. How about retirement then? He became secretary of state the month in which he finished the ambassadorial job.

The Marshalls scaled down their retirement plan, the general accepting the presidency of the American Red Cross for two years.

Retire then? No. Truman named Marshall secretary of defense and he took over on Sept. 12, 1950.

He had on his hands his third war. The Korean conflict had been under way three months. It was going badly.

Involved were questions not merely of tactics for defeating an enemy but of broad international policy. How hard could the limited war be pushed without bringing in the Soviet Union and precipitating a third world war—with nuclear weapons?

CROSSROADS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Here's what happens when four super-highways meet—a far cry from that simple "plus mark" we used to call an intersection!

Life is becoming more complex, isn't it? No longer is it simply a matter of finding the right road. Today you can't even get on the right road until you find the right approach. And you had better be mighty sure of the direction you want to go, or you'll find yourself speeding away from your destination on a turnpike that permits no U-turn.

As life has become more complex, the value of a deep and abiding religious conviction has become more evident. Against a background of confusion and uncertainty the confident assurance of Christian faith is sharply silhouetted.

And the millions who have turned to the Church for truth and guidance have made a thrilling discovery. The Way of Christ is still just as clear, direct, and inspiring as it was to those who heard it first by the Galilean road.

Colonial Dames Presents Picture To Library

HOME OF GEORGE MASON . . . "Gunston Hall," home of the author of the Virginia Declaration of Rights, source of the Bill of Rights, is the subject in a picture given to Sheppard Memorial Library by the Lenoir County Committee, National Society of the Colonial Dames of America. Mrs. James S. Fickler, a member of the committee and vice-president of the East of the National Society, State of North Carolina, and Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian, are shown admiring the new possession.

Giant Plaids Take Campus Honors

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

THE BIGGER THE BETTER is the rule for campus-bound plaids this fall. Giant blanket plaids show up in everything from skirts and shorts to kilts, shorts and slacks. If they're vivid as a neon sign, so much the better. This year's college girls do not intend to be dull. There's a hemline holiday around the campus, too. Above-the-knee kilts and skirts pinch-hit for the perennial Bermuda shorts on many campuses, most effective when worn with solid-color stretch tights. The new shorties may vary in length from one inch above knee level to the vicinity of the hips, depending on the taste and figure of the wearer. Kilts continue to be top favorites with the school crowd. In traditional tartans, they appear with fringed hems and rows of buttons. These also are preferred with colored tights, finished off with walking boots in leather or matching fabric.

For off-campus wear at coed schools, or on-campus at women's colleges, skinny pants in wool plaids are popular, sometimes with a matching new sleeved shawl called a "kaboodle."

Along with the plaids and the wandering hemlines, the rain dress and the rain shirt are making news this fall. The rain-dress is a water-repellent version of the popular shirt dress, keeping the wearer dry in any weather. Jumpers and jerkins will be in high favor this fall.

And latest news flash is that college girls are buying men's fedoras and derbies for a new look on campus.

KABOODLE . . . That's the name of the shawl with fringed armholes, in giant turf plaid wool to match the tapered slacks, slated for campus popularity this fall.

RAIN DRESS . . . The shirt dress that goes out in the rain is olive green water-repellant cotton poplin, with matching scarf, designed by Ricci of Haymaker.

School Participates In Radio Newscasting

By CRAIG WORTHINGTON

Approximately 65 High School students from Greenville, Bethel, Belvoir, Winterville, and Kinston participated in the practice radio newscasting session sponsored by the National Forensic League Tuesday night. Robert B. Starling, social studies instructor, advises this group.

At the National Forensic League's regular meeting Wednesday morning, the new president, Carole Wilkerson, was installed. Also the other new officers—Ann Briley, vice president, Betty Caraway, corresponding secretary, Goldis Starling, recording secretary, Brenda Harris, treasurer, and Andrew Kilpatrick, parliamentarian—were announced. Paula Pollard read a monologue for the program.

Juniors Attend Party The three junior homerooms who were low salesmen in the juniors' recent magazine sales drive entertained the two winning homerooms with a buffet supper Thursday night in the school cafeteria.

The hosts—Mrs. Ruth T. Bing's, Mrs. Nellie R. White's, and Robert B. Starling's homerooms—served sandwiches, fried chicken, salads, desserts, and tea to Miss Frances Smith's and Mrs. Lucy Worsley's homerooms. After eating, the juniors danced for the remainder of the party.

Students Receive Holiday Because of an important teachers' meeting in Rocky Mount, lasting the entire day, Rose High students received a holiday from school yesterday.

Delegates Attend Convention Six students representing Rose High School's student publications are today attending the Eighteenth Annual North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute in Chapel Hill.

N. C. Jeanette Taylor and Vicky Avery represent "Tau," the yearbook, while Giel Guice, Barbara Brooks, Jimmy Eatmon, and Craig Worthington represent the school newspaper, "The Green Lights." Mrs. Lucy Worsley is attending as adviser of "The Green Lights."

A full day's program of talks and demonstrations will include such subjects as newspaper production, yearbook production, news writing, make-up, columns, sports, advertising, feature writing, and editorials.

Speakers include professional newspapermen and yearbook experts, and experienced advisers and students who have learned to solve many publications problems. Speakers will allow students to ask questions about their particular problems.

The Institute is sponsored by the University School of Journalism, the University Extension Division, the "Daily Tar Heel," and the N. C. Department of Public Instruction.

Miss Evans Attending Freshman Seminar

Miss Margaret Anne Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Evans of 1501 East Fifth Street, is attending a freshman seminar at Salem College, Winston-Salem. The discussion about "Individual Help — Study Habits" is conducted by Dean Amy R. Heidebreder.

The seminars began on September 22 with "Adjustment to Group Living." Understanding oneself, Salem's history and traditions, religion and vocations are other topics. The seminars will end on January 15 when President Dale H. Gramley will discuss "A Liberal Arts College. Its Contributions to Women Students." There will be two testing periods, one in October and another at the end of the discussions, to determine what the girls have gained and what individual problems are.

Uncertainty about vocational goals was the area which caused most freshmen difficulty last year, with inadequate preparation for college and difficulty in budgeting time causing many girls concern. Only 4 per cent felt that social activities hindered their studies, but 28 per cent felt that freshmen should have closed study halls.

ECC Sorority Becomes Colony Of National Group

Delta Sigma Chi, local sorority at East Carolina College, became a pledge group, or colony, of the national sorority Kappa Delta at a ceremony conducted in the Alumni House on the campus Thursday. Delta Sigma Chi is the second local sorority at the college to begin national affiliation.

Julia Ober of Norfolk, Va., National Panhellenic delegate for this area, conducted the pledge service and a dinner-business meeting which followed at the Silo Restaurant in Greenville. Alexandria B. Bethune of Linden, president of the East Carolina chapter, was in charge of arrangements for the two meetings.

Dean of Women Ruth White of East Carolina and Sophie Fischel, dormitory counselor at the college and advisor of the sorority, were installed as honor initiates of Kappa Delta at Thursday's ceremony.

Mrs. Mitchell Guest Speaker

A program on "Flower Arranging" was presented by Mrs. Sam Mitchell to the members of the Dig and Delve Garden Club Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. J. B. Spilman Jr.

Mrs. Mitchell stressed the basic principles of design. She illustrated her talk by making a couple arrangements of fall flowers.

Mrs. Spilman, the hostess, served coffee with coffee cake prior to the meeting. The president, Mrs. Troy Dodson, presided over the short business meeting. A workshop is scheduled for the next meeting. Members are asked to bring materials for flower arrangements.

The First Area Conference of the North Carolina Department of American Legion Auxiliary was held recently in Enfield. Attending from Greenville were Mrs. Alfred Kennedy, Second District president; Mrs. W. C. Eagles, president of Greenville Unit; and Mrs. C. J. Allgood, Mrs. Ann De La Mater, Mrs. C. L. Dupree, and Mrs. J. E. Whichard.

The meeting was held in the Enfield Methodist Church and Gold Star Unit No. 325, Enfield, was hostess. Mrs. C. M. Miller Sr. of Enfield, First Area vice-president, presided.

Mrs. J. L. Chestnut of Edenton, National Executive Committee-woman, introduced Mrs. X. E. Murrell of Jacksonville, N. C., department president, who gave the address. Mrs. Murrell referred to the importance of Past Presidents Parley which takes care of ex-service women.

She stated that Education and Scholarship, the President's Project, is separate and apart from the committee project of Education and Scholarship. She said that each individual is a member of the membership committee and recruited that many good members were being lost over the nation. Mrs. Murrell said we should ask God to be our partner when the way gets rugged in this, the world's largest patriotic organization of women.

Mrs. Andrew J. Bailey of Elizabeth City was elected First Area vice-president for the coming year and Elizabeth City Unit invited the First Area Conference to meet at Elizabeth City in 1960.

The Greenville Unit received an award of $500 for having the largest number present from the farthest.

A luncheon was served in the church parlors.

Agriculture Research Value Shown

One example of what research is doing for agriculture in North Carolina came the other day with the announcement that a major break through has been made in the fight against black shank disease which costs flue-cured tobacco growers an estimated $10 million a year.

Dr. J. Lawrence Apple, a scientist at State College in Raleigh, has used a new source of black shank resistance from South American tobacco and transferred it to varieties popular in the United States without any apparent loss in quality of the tobacco. According to reports, the new resistance given these U. S. varieties affords "complete protection" against black shank.

In recent years tobacco farmers — particularly those in North Carolina — have found themselves confronted with purchaser demands for better quality leaf. The buyers have emphasized particularly their desire for old-line tobaccos with body and aroma.

Many of the resistance varieties which a large portion of Eastern Carolina farmers have to produce, apparently do not provide the qualities that are in highest demand today by purchasers. Neither do they provide complete protection from diseases, so the grower in North Carolina finds himself caught in the middle. He finds himself at a distinct disadvantage in competing with growers in sections farther to the south which are not handicapped by the many tobacco diseases that plague growers in this immediate area.

In all probability it will be three or four years before the results of this major break-through will be available to growers in the form of new resistant varieties of tobacco. Nevertheless, it is difficult to over-estimate the importance of this discovery to the tobacco producers of North Carolina. It could mean millions of dollars additional income from the principal cash crop of the state and it could place farmers in this area in a more advantageous position to compete for purchasers dollars with other tobacco producing sections.

Some times we are prone to underestimate the importance of agricultural research that goes on in North Carolina. We fail to realize that without constant work in agricultural research such announcements as this one concerning black shank would not be possible. Agriculture, which continues to form the backbone of the state's economy, must be accorded increasing research emphasis if the agricultural potential of North Carolina is to be realized.

Pupils, Schools Enjoy Rare Harmony In N.C.

When the U. S. Supreme Court announced Monday it would not review lower court decisions in two North Carolina segregation cases, it gave further indication that the state's pupil assignment law may provide a workable, satisfactory answer to the problem of integration in the South.

Unlike some other states, North Carolina has not been afflicted with violence and mob action as it has quietly complied with the law of the land that segregation on the basis of race is illegal in public schools. Through the use of its pupil assignment law integration of schools has been started in a number of cities in the state. And from this latest action by the high court it appears that such assignment laws are winning the approval of the tribunal which outlawed racial segregation in schools five years ago.

Certainly North Carolina's experience with integration has been much more satisfactory than that of a number of other states. Though the law has proved a stumbling block to those few who would like to see so-called complete integration of public schools throughout the state, there is every indication the law is being fairly administered and that proper legal procedure is being provided for those citizens who are dissatisfied with the assignment of pupils to various schools.

The public schools of North Carolina have not been the focal point of violence as has been the case in other states. Our schools have been able to operate normally without disruptions which penalize the student. Public education in North Carolina has been able to continue its progress while in other states school closings, confusion and conflicts have either eliminated entirely or seriously handicapped progress in public education.

North Carolina's pupil assignment law so far has enabled the state to comply with the decision of the Supreme Court and at the same time keep its public schools operating on an even keel. The fact that the law has been upheld by federal courts and the decisions of these courts have not been reversed by the Supreme Court is indicative of the high court's token approval of the way the school problem is being handled in North Carolina.

Both the students and the school system as a whole in North Carolina are better off than in other states.

Minorities In Soviet Protest

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
The Soviet press had just disclosed a shakeup in the security apparatus of some Soviet republics bordering on other Asian countries. The development hints at rising resentment among minority peoples in the Soviet Union, which may yet give Premier Nikita Khrushchev serious trouble.

The reason for the shakeups was internal. The announced changes came in Kazakhstan, Turkmenistan and Azerbaijan, each of which got a new Russian security chief.

For all his promises to minority nationalities, Khrushchev still exhibits a passion for pan-Slavism, meaning domination by the Great Russians over the minority peoples in other Soviet republics.

Kazakhstan, a sprawling province bordering Red China, seems to have been having the serious troubles. Only recently the central theoretical magazine of the Soviet Communist party, Kommunist, complained of "bourgeois nationalism" in the Kazakh province. The term means any sort of opposition to the Russian domination. The magazine flayed those elements opposing the study of the Russian language and of Russian culture.

In Uzbekistan, another Central Asian province, there have been hints that some opposition may have been violent. About a month ago, the central Moscow government gave a posthumous award to a member of the Young Communist League of Uzbekistan who had been "tragically murdered while standing guard over public order" in an Uzbek town.

In Turkmenistan the ruling Russians seem to have been having more and more trouble with the indigenous Turkmen people, who are kin to the Persians. Around the beginning of this year the party in the province underwent a thorough purge. The first secretary of the Turkmen party, a local national named Babayev, was fired. Clearly his sin had been that of taking too seriously Moscow's promises of greater rights for the local nationalities. He had been slowly "de-Russifying" his organization.

The party organization went to work and denounced what it called a tendency to "pit cadres of indigenous nationalities against cadres of other nationalities."

"This, the party warned, was an 'exceptionally harmful' approach. Khrushchev long has been noted for his pan-Slavism. For him, as well as for the rest of the leaders among the Great Russians, resistance to Russification is matter of international security. In Kazakhstan, the resistance may have assumed serious proportions.

Moscow sent a big man to Kazakhstan to take over the job of security. Konstantin Fedorovich Lunin, the new security chief, has been deputy chairman of the central government's KGB Committee of State Security, which succeeded the Stalinist MVD police organization. He was on the judicial board which approved the executive of Stalinist police boss Lavrenty Beria. The Kazakhstan job must be a big one to require the talents of such an expert.

Khrushchev himself has just concluded a tour of some of the provinces. He may have been a bit shaken by bold questions asked by ordinary people. When they wanted to know, would consumer goods prices go down? Khrushchev replied by asking them to be "realistic."

When would there be better goods, better housing? Khrushchev replied that the question was legitimate enough, but he was no miracle man and couldn't produce these things overnight.

Nobody was bold enough to ask Khrushchev when there might be a letup in the Russification and the extension of rights to local minorities he had promised. But the security system shakeup indicates Khrushchev knows the question is being asked behind his back.

They Had Feet On Ground

This business of backgrounds for pictures is a constant problem for the newspaper photographer. He snaps countless pictures of one, two, three, four and five persons and there is always the question of what to have in the background.

Sometimes it's just a blank wall which everyone will admit is pretty unimpressive and at times the subjects stand in the middle of the room so that the background is entirely black.

But often the photographer tries to find a background in keeping with the subjects. Thus when a photographer took a picture of Librarian Elizabeth Copeland accepting a donated book the other day, a book case was used as the background.

She pointed out at the time that a bookcase was used every time and it never seemed to show up. This time a row of books did show up, though.

Anyway, your columnist went to City Hall the other afternoon to take a picture of Mayor West buying a Christmas tree ticket from Johnnie May, co-chairman of the Optimist Club project.

Practically everything in City Hall has been used as a background in the past so we turned to a big aerial map of the city in the lobby.

This we figured, should indicate the city-wide aspects of the sale plus showing the mayor's domain.

Well, if you saw the picture, you might have noticed the aerial map looked like the real thing. In other words, the mayor and May looked like they were either standing on the side of a 40-story building or else hanging from a helicopter hovering over the city.

We can assure you neither was the case. And we might add that the picture was not supposed to show either the mayor or the Optimist Club that is up in the clouds.

I just looked that way in the picture. We know Mayor West has his feet firmly on the ground. So does the Optimist Club in conducting this sale.

Actually the Optimist Club is pretty down to earth with this project. The tickets they are selling will be applied toward the purchase of a Christmas tree by the individual purchasers.

The trees will be available at Elm St. Park Dec. 10-19. Tickets are now being sold by club members and boy scouts and the proceeds will be used for the club's permanent project, boys work.

Anyway the picture backgrounds, no matter how original we try to be, don't always turn out to indicate just what we want them to.

Other Editors Saying ... An Answer Needed

(Greensboro Daily News)
Two overwhelming considerations face Governor Hodges in the welfare mess.

One is the fact that average welfare grants to the needy, aged and permanently disabled will be slashed sharply beginning November 1 and January 1. The other is that the state must vote on a $34,400,000 bond issue authorized by the General Assembly and scheduled for October 27.

On the surface these two matters have no connection.

But throughout North Carolina ruminations of dissatisfaction with the welfare cuts could make themselves felt adversely in the bond election. Many Tar Heels believe the General Assembly was misled on the welfare budget.

Strictly speaking, Governor Hodges and the Advisory Budget Commission may claim with justification that legislators knew the alternatives.

Yet the more we examine the complicated formula for arriving at welfare payments and the confusion surrounding this matter, the more we are convinced few legislators actually understood what was involved. Until the last few weeks some of the best brains in Raleigh did not understand details of the welfare controversy. There are serious grounds for belief that the State Welfare Board itself did not understand the full implications.

All matters of "intention" aside, the truth is simply this: Average welfare payments, which have been steadily rising during the last few years, will be cut back between 5 and 6 per cent beginning next month. The argument can be made that even with these cuts the average amounts will probably equal payments made last year. The argument can also be made that average welfare payments have been rising roughly more than the cost of living during the last five years.

But when you get down to the nub of the matter, here is the important thing: North Carolina's welfare payments are miserably near the bottom of the heap. Only Mississippi offers more miserly North Carolina offers payments of $37 a month for old age assistance against $64 for the national average.

All talk about Tar Heel payments equaling last year's grants are beside the point. The issue is whether the people of this state want to cut back an already inadequate amount still further.

If the matter had been presented in this light to the 1959 General Assembly, we feel sure it's members would have supported grants sufficient to prohibit even a temporary rollback.

But unfortunately the matter was not presented that way. A hold-the-line sentiment pervaded the General Assembly. It raised salaries for high officials and appropriated funds for a state legislative building. But spokesmen for the widows and old people were largely ineffective against the more affluent projects.

The only effective answer to the welfare dilemma lies in a new attempt on the part of the attorney general's office to assess the meaning of the words "emergency" and "inadvertently."

Otherwise we fear the wholly unconnected items up for vote in the $34,400,000 bond issue—including vital mental hospital and state institutional needs—will suffer.

In this impasse only fair-minded and vigorous leadership by the chief executive can produce the needed answer.

Change River Route

By STAN HUTCHINSON
CANNBERA, Australia (AP)—An exciting dream is coming true in Australia. The waters of the Snowy River soon will flow west to water the rich but dry plains of the interior.

Through the ages, this river, fed by the melting snow from Australia's Southern Alps, has emptied into the sea at the southeast corner of the continent.

Water has run to waste in the sea while the inland has been parched.

For a century Australians have dreamed of diverting the Snowy through the mountains to water the inland.

The dream is becoming a fact through the development of the billion dollar Snowy Mountains hydro-electric scheme.

The first major power station in the scheme, the size of a cathedral hollowed out of the solid rock 1,000 feet underground, is being opened this month.

The station will use water diverted under the mountains through a 14-mile tunnel.

Smaller power stations have been operating for some years, but the fundamental idea of diverting the Snowy River westward becomes a fact with the opening of the first underground power station.

Diversion of the Snowy waters will extend the prosperous irrigation areas along the banks of the Murray and Murrumbidgee rivers that meander through the states of Victoria, and New South Wales into South Australia.

These rivers today lack sufficient water for more irrigation without the Snowy diversion. The coastal country that will lose much of the Snowy River water is well-watered anyway.

The Snowy scheme is now 10 years old, and will take at least as long again to finish.

When complete it will have 11 power stations generating 25 million kilowatts of electricity, nine major dams and 58 miles of diversion tunnels.

It will make available every year enough water to cover two million acres to a depth of one foot.

Economists claim the electricity alone will be sufficient to justify the great cost.

The huge water diversion, paid for by electricity charges, will enable Australia to lift her food production by 6 million dollars a year.

Engineers estimate the Eucumbene Dam, biggest in the plan, will take 10 years to fill, allowing for water that will be used.

This dam has a capacity of 3,860,000 acre feet, enough to put nearly an inch of water over all of England, Scotland, and Wales.

Its 381 ft. high wall, half a mile thick at the base, contains nearly nine million cubic yards of earth and stone.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
WORTHY TO STAND

Can you stand before God? Not, of course, in the flesh. God even required the matchless Moses to hide himself in the cleft of a rock that he might not be overcome as the glory of the Lord passed by. The Bible assures us that the supernal light of God's presence is such that man in the flesh would quail and die were he to come face to face with the divine glory.

But the Bible assures us also that the day will come when, transformed as regards our spiritual nature, we shall stand before God and marvel at His divine glory. Most important of all we can at this present moment stand in the divine presence and be reinfused with new power as a result.

"I swear it, as God is my witness." This is a solemn oath. It means "As I stand before God and He witnesses the truth of my statement." In other words, no man had better play fast and loose with words such as that. You may have an earthly witness brought into court to testify in your behalf, but when you ask God to be your witness, that is something strikingly different. "God is my witness." That is a solemn statement indeed.

In other words, keep your conscience so clear that you can ask God to come in and witness to its soundness, its cleanness, and its veracity. Make and keep yours of worthy as a man to stand in the presence of God.

Opinions In Brief

"It doesn't make sense to think of commodity prices solely in dollars-and-cents terms. The most accurate yardstick is to relate prices to incomes and purchasing power — in other words, to find out how much of the family budget is needed to buy some article or other today, as compared with past periods." — Industrial News Review.

The Rich May All Move Abroad

The United States may some day be a nation of poor people. The rich who can do so may largely be living abroad to escape confiscatory income taxes.

Mario Lanza died a long-term expatriate in Italy. William Saroyan says he can't come home until he catches up with back taxes. Italy, the Riviera and Paris are crowded with American actors and writers who are legally and ethically avoiding American tax bites.

Why do you stuff for 10 cents on the dollar in Hollywood when you can do it for 90 cents on the buck in Cannes or Capri? These tax exiles shouldn't we call them taxiles? have repercussions on American companies. If James Michener were a resident of a low-tax island in the Pacific instead of Hawaii, a $300,000 price for the movie rights on his latest book might have been better than the $600,000 he is said to have received. Corporations with foreign establishments find it easier to recruit talent if they can offer a tax shelter.

RULES FOR TAXILE
If a business executive has business abroad for an extended period, he can take advantage of the shelter. Your mere presence in foreign countries for at least 510 full days during any consecutive 18-month period allows you to exclude your income earned abroad, up to a rate of $20,000 per year, says Prentice Hall in its "Executives Tax Report."

Of course, if your move is permanent—like Charles Chaplin's—you can escape taxes on foreign earnings forever.

But if you are abroad for business, you can take advantage of this mink-lined loophole without giving up citizenship, as long as you establish a foreign residence. You can even come back to the U. S. for visits.

Prentice-Hall offers this checklist for proving foreign residence:

1. Give up your U. S. home and take your furniture with you. HAVE AN ADDRESS

2. Rent or buy a home in the foreign country. Living in a hotel on a week-to-week basis does not establish a residence.

3. Acquire periodicals, associations and the like of the termination of your U. S. residence and of your new foreign residence.

4. Notify the Director of Internal Revenue in your district, and state tax authorities, of your change in address. Where applicable, your Selective Service officials.

5. Join churches, clubs and associations to identify yourself with the new community.

6. On all official documents, such as passports and wills, in all correspondence and in all hotel registrations and the like, set forth your foreign residence. File your U. S. tax returns as a bona fide foreign resident.

7. ACT NOW, IF—
The report adds this timely note: "If you're scheduled for overseas duty next year, see if you can get your company to advance your assignment so that you can get there by December 31. Reason: The sooner you can get started on qualifying as a bona fide resident for an entire taxable year, the better off you'll be. This way, 1960 may qualify. If you don't get over there until after January 1, 1960, then 1961 would be the first possible year you could use."

CIVILIZATION MARCHES ON?
Chun King, the Duluth manufacturer of Chinese foods, has arranged to display chicken chow mein, meatless chow mein, sub gum chicken and noodles and bean sprouts at the World Agricultural Fair in New Delhi, India starting in December. The manufacturer hopes that Hindus, despite recent troubles with Red China, may take a liking to Chinese foods, as long as they are made in free Minnesota.

Ayden Tornadoes Lose To La Grange, 15-0

Pirate Cagers In Workouts; Smith In Rebuilding Job

Coach Phillips Praises Work Of Footballers

Ayden player Jimmy Persinger breaks away from the scrimmage and drives to get past La Grange's Jasper Lewis in last night's conference tilt. Ayden bowed 15-0 to the strong Bulldog team.

By TOM JACKSON

LaGrange took the ball on their own 23 but on the first play, a pass, Ayden intercepted the ball. Ayden fumbled on the first play and LaGrange recovered on their own 29 to go for a first down in four plays.

Their next first down came when Randolph Pridgen ran 38 yards to the Ayden 19 yard line. From there, on the first play, Robert Allison passed to Jerry Burr in the end zone for the first TD of the game. The extra point pass from Allison to Ray Lewis was good.

Ayden took the ball on the 40 and moved it to the 10 in a 50 yard drive that was stopped when LaGrange's Robert Allison in the end zone and brought out to the 20. Two plays later the quarter ended with LaGrange in possession on the 26 yard line. The score at the half was 7-0.

As the third quarter got underway, LaGrange kicked off to the Ayden 15. Ayden returned the ball to the 47 but were unable to get a first down, and after losing ground back to the 35 they punted to the 49. In a series of plays LaGrange drove to the 27 yard line and on a running pass from Allison to Pridgen went over for the TD. A jump pass over center by Allison for the extra point was incomplete.

In the fourth quarter Ayden took over on their own 18 following a LaGrange punt and after a series of plays Ayden punted from their own 22 to drive to their 39. LaGrange took the ball on the 39 and drove to the Ayden 6 where they had to give up the ball on downs.

Both teams battled back and forth in a 10 yard area near the goal line with both gaining possession of the ball. Ayden took over again on the seven yard line and on the first play William Edwards dropped back to pass and was trapped in the end zone for a safety, and the final score of the game.

Outstanding man on the Ayden team was Dennis Mills, defense linebacker. Brunson Tripp also showed up well in play.

Basketball practice at East Carolina College officially opened Wednesday and new coach Earl Smith has a tough task ahead in preparing for the 1959-60.

Smith who succeeded Howard Porter last spring will be faced with a rebuilding job during his first year at the post. Smith will inherit a team with only one starter returning and lettermen are scarce.

Smith, a former player and graduate of East Carolina, steps into the top slot after serving as assistant coach in all three sports since 1953.

The new coach will have to start with almost scratch with such former stars as Joe Plaster, Jessel Curry, Charlie Adams, and Nick Nichols missing. Ike Riddick will carry a large bundle of the Pirates hopes of returning to "king bee" in the hardwood sport.

Riddick, a Greenville native, was a starter last season and will work at a guard slot for Smith. The smooth-working senior is a strong candidate for All-Conference laurels.

Don Smith is another returning letterman expected to figure largely in ECC's future. The 6-5 junior was a starter as a freshman but was hampered most of last season with illness.

Others with game experience will include Benny Bowes of Burlington and Charlie Lewis of Kingston. Both are short on experience.

"Cotton" Clayton and Lucy West are a couple of freshmen that Smith hopes will help make his first year here a pleasant one. Both boys have outstanding high school records but have not been

The Greenville Phantoms defeated Elizabeth City 13-0 last night on the Elizabeth City field. The game got underway with Greenville kicking to Elizabeth City who ran two plays and punted on the third down.

Greenville took the ball on the 20 to start an 80 yard drive that took 19 plays for the TD. Included in this drive was a 15 yard clipping penalty. Alan McArthur, Wayne Sumrell, Robin Wilfong and Erskine Duff alternated in the carry in pass and ground plays to the two yard line. From here Duff sneaked over for the TD. Duff passed to McArthur for the extra point.

The second and third quarters saw a lot of action on both sides but neither scored.

In the fourth quarter with two minutes left to play Randy Bass intercepted a pass from Gerry Berard on the Elizabeth City 34 yard line and brought it back ten yards to start the final TD drive. From here Wilfong went first, Sumrell went 12 on first down, Bass went for two and Sumrell went the final distance for the TD. A pass attempt for the extra point failed.

Greenville Coach Bud Phillips commented this morning, "On offense McArthur, Sumrell, and Duff were good. Duff's running and passing was especially good. On defense Ronnie Williams, Lewis Dail, and Randy Bass showed up well."

The Greenville squad is still not at full force. There are four players still out of play due to a virus that has affected the team. Three of the boys are regulars. The four players are expected to return to practice next week.

Farmville Loses To Beaufort, 14-18

Farmville	0	0	0	14-14
Beaufort	6	6	0	6-18

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Red Devils bowed 14-18 to a strong Beaufort team in a conference game on the Farmville field last night.

Farmville's Dannie Dilda drives down the field on a 60 yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter as Mitchel Cannon clears the way in last night's conference game against Beaufort. Beaufort edged an 18-14 win over the Red Devils.

The game opened with Beaufort kicking to Farmville. Farmville fumbled on their own 41 yard line and Edward Nelson recovered for Beaufort.

On second and ten Beaufort lost five yards by penalty and on the third down a 15 yard pass from quarterback Butch Hassell to Ray Hassell resulted in a 26 yard run for the first TD in the game. The extra point attempt failed, and the first quarter ended with Beaufort leading 6-0.

As the second quarter got underway Beaufort kicked on fourth down from the Farmville 43 yard line. Farmville fumbled the return and David Jones recovered for Beaufort on the three yard line. From here Butch Hassell went over on a quarterback sneak for the TD. The extra point attempt was no good and the score at the half was 12-0.

In the third quarter both teams battled but neither scored. In this quarter Farmville lost a lot of ground on penalties.

Following Dilda's 15 yard carry in the action-packed fourth quarter a handoff from Moye to Cash resulted in an end sweep for the Farmville TD. Cash went around right end on a handoff for the extra point.

Following this Farmville kicked off to Beaufort and David Jones took the ball on the Beaufort 30. Hugging the right boundary, Jones ran 70 yards for a Beaufort TD. The extra point attempt was no good.

Beaufort kicked off to Farmville who returned the ball to the 40. On first and 10 Dilda on a pitch-out went around right end for a spectacular 60 yard TD run. Moye went up the middle for the extra point.

Following these three successive touchdowns, Farmville kicked to Beaufort who lost the ball on downs. Spryke by a 24 yard pass play from Moye to Hodges, Farmville drove 40 yards. A pass from Moye to Monk was intercepted by Ray Hassell with about one minute left in the game and Beaufort ran out the clock.

The final score was 18-14.

Outstanding players for Farmville were Ralph Cash (halfback), Clarence Moore (fullback), Jerry Weisner (tackle), and Billy Walker, a new man on the line.

Using a crushing ground game and an abbreviated but deadly passing attack, Eppes High's Bulldogs rolled over favorite P. W. Moore High School of Elizabeth City last night 28-6 in a conference battle before an Eppes homecoming crowd of nearly 500.

A 60-yard pass play on the second play from scrimmage brought the first score of the game for the Bulldogs. Quarterback Freddie Watson tossed a short aerial to Gatlin and he scampered the rest of the way. Another Watson pass to Larry Hardy accounted for the extra points, and Eppes took an 8-0 lead as the first quarter ended.

In the second period, Hardy took an Elizabeth City punt on his own 30 and raced all the way for Eppes' second touchdown. The extra point try failed and the first half ended with the Bulldogs leading 14-0.

During half-time ceremonies, the Eppes band performed and Phyllis Leary was crowned Homecoming Queen. Johnny Wooten, band director, was commended for his production of the half-time show. The homecoming L.eme was "South American Way."

Taking the opening kick-off in the second half, the Elizabeth City eleven marched 65 yards for its lone score of the game. With fullback George Williams providing the big punch, Donald Cartwright scored from the three to climax the drive. The PAT attempt failed.

After receiving the kickoff after Moore's TD, Adams took a hand-off from Watson and raced 90 yards for the Bulldogs' third touchdown. A pass from Watson to Gatlin added the extra points.

From this point, the visitors were held in check by the Bulldogs' defense. Moore failed to cross the 50 after Eppes' third TD.

Just before the game's end, Woodrow Wilson returned an Elizabeth City punt from his own 35 to the visitors' 35. On the first play from scrimmage and the last play of the game, Watson carried for the final 35 yards on a quarterback sneak to add the Bulldogs' fourth score and run the final count to 26-6.

Next week, Eppes takes on Dillard High School of Goldsboro in another conference tilt under the lights on the Bulldog's home field.

Quarrels Upset NFL Family

CHICAGO (AP) — Family arguments are disrupting the serenity of the National Football League and from the confusion of contradictory and acid-spiked statements from club officials one fact stood out clearly: The league definitely is planning expansion.

The rumpus, following closely on the heels of the death of Commissioner Bert Bell, was touched off by a positive statement by Edwin J. Anderson, president-general manager of the Detroit Lions, that the league is making every effort to add four teams—two teams each in 1960 and 1961.

"But all the mechanics and the cities are yet to be decided," Anderson added. He listed Buffalo, Boston, Miami, Louisville, Dallas and Houston as in the running for franchises, with Boston, Dallas and Houston as the strongest possibilities.

George Halas, owner-coach of the NFL Expansion Committee took a moderate view of Anderson's pronouncement.

"We will have something definite to say about the league expanding next week," Halas said Friday. "Anderson's statement is premature. We can't say anything

Rigney's Future Status With Giants Uncertain

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Will Bill Rigney manage the San Francisco Giants again in 1960?

President Horace Stoneham is due to answer that question early next week amid continuing disappointment over the club's collapse in the final 10 days of the last National League baseball campaign.

Indications point to a return for Rigney, perhaps with only a one-year contract. One reason for this speculation is an apparent absence of candidates for the job.

Another is a feeling that Rigney, although charged with some mistakes, did a good job with his available material. He lacked relief pitching and bench strength.

Leo Durocher and Los Angeles Dodger Coach Charlie Dressen have drawn press mention as possibilities for 1960. Relations between Stoneham and Durocher weren't considered the best, and Leo quit the club after the 1955 season to go into broadcasting.

Historically, with the exception of Durocher, the Giants have chosen their managers from within the organization and haven't made frequent changes.

One of Stoneham's first announcements on his arrival in San Francisco in late 1957 was that Rigney had a two-year contract covering the 1958 and 1959 seasons. His clubs had finished sixth the past two years in New York.

In San Francisco for 1958, the Giants gambled with rookies and finished a surprising third as the youngsters came through.

Then last spring they traded for starting pitchers Sam Jones and Jack Sanford in an obvious bid for the pennant. From July until Sept. 19, the Giants led the league. With eight games to go, they held a two-game bulge.

Made It Easier On Scorekeeper

INDEPENDENCE, Kan. (AP) — At halftime Friday night, Independence and Fort Scott junior colleges agreed to make the last two periods of their football game 12 minutes each instead of the usual 15.

Players agreed it would be easier on everyone — fans, players, officials and especially the scorekeeper.

Independence led 5-0 at the half, 7-0 at the finish.

Althea, Karol Launching Pro Careers Dec. 28

NEW YORK (AP) — Althea Gibson, ranked No. 1 in this country, and Karol Fageros, the glamorous girl of the amateurs will launch their professional tennis careers Dec. 28, the Associated Press has learned.

They will meet in a preliminary to the Harlem Globetrotter basketball show at Madison Square Garden on that date in the first of a series of matches that will take them on a world tour. Official announcement of their plans will be made next week.

That Miss Gibson, the pride of Harlem who won the Wimbledon and U.S. titles in 1957 and 1958, was contemplating a pro career was an open secret. She took a leave of absence the past year to work on her autobiography and her singing career, and did not compete in the nationals.

Miss Fageros, who has been screen-tested for the movies, received considerable publicity for the gold panties she wore on the court. She was ranked No. 5 nationally in 1957 and No. 8 in 1956.

Powerhouses In Contest Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

East Carolina, topping the North State Conference race with a 3-0 record, travels to Western Carolina tonight for a meeting with another powerhouse.

ECC, 4-1 overall, has quarterback Ralph Zehring, who has passed for 420 yards this season; and halfbacks Glenn Gass and James Speight, who have gained 821 yards rushing between them. The Pirates have scored 150 points in their five games and yielded only 33.

WCC, 3-1-1, boasts the passing and running of quarterback Bobby Cooper, who leads the North State in total offense with 550 yards, even though he missed last week's game. Cooper has passed for 432 yards. In their five games, the Catamounts have scored 111 points, given up 28.

In the other night game, Lenoir Rhyne plays Guilford at Thomasville in day games. Appalachian was at Catawba and Elon faced Presbyterian at Burlington.

Lenoir Rhyne, defending conference champion, has a 3-0 mark and one win in the conference. The Bears swamped previously unbeaten Appalachian 29-6 last week.

Appalachian, in third place behind ECC and Lenoir Rhyne, was expected to down Catawba. The Indians have lost four and tied one.

Elon, winless in three conference starts, had a 1-4 overall record going into today's game.

The Other Day

A friend was talking about how often great inventions and advances stem from someone's desire to serve or help others, although in the beginning of the idea there was no obvious relationship to the end result.

As an example, he cited that Alexander Graham Bell was put on the path to his invention of the telephone by his desire to help deaf children to talk. He was not an engineer, as one might assume, but began his career as an instructor in speech and music.

In his desire to teach deaf children to talk he hit on the idea that if he could devise a way for them to see sound they would soon be on their way to better articulation. So he devised a way for them to see their own speech vibrations. This he did by developing a membrane that would vibrate from speech sounds, and he did this at a time when electrical transmissions of Morse Code was already in use. Thus he had the seed of the idea that he was to develop into the telephone. The next step was causing the vibrations to be transmitted electrically through the vibrations causing variations of intensity of the current.

In March of 1876 he obtained his patent on the telephone and delivered the first spoken sentence ever transmitted electrically over wires to prove that it worked. We don't expect to come up with any great inventions, but we certainly do have as a first desire the goal of serving you to your very best advantage.

First Messiah Rehearsal Set

The first rehearsal of the chorus that will sing "The Messiah" December 13 at East Carolina College will be held in the Austin auditorium Thursday evening, October 22, from 6:15 to 7:15, and will continue each week at the same time until the presentation in December.

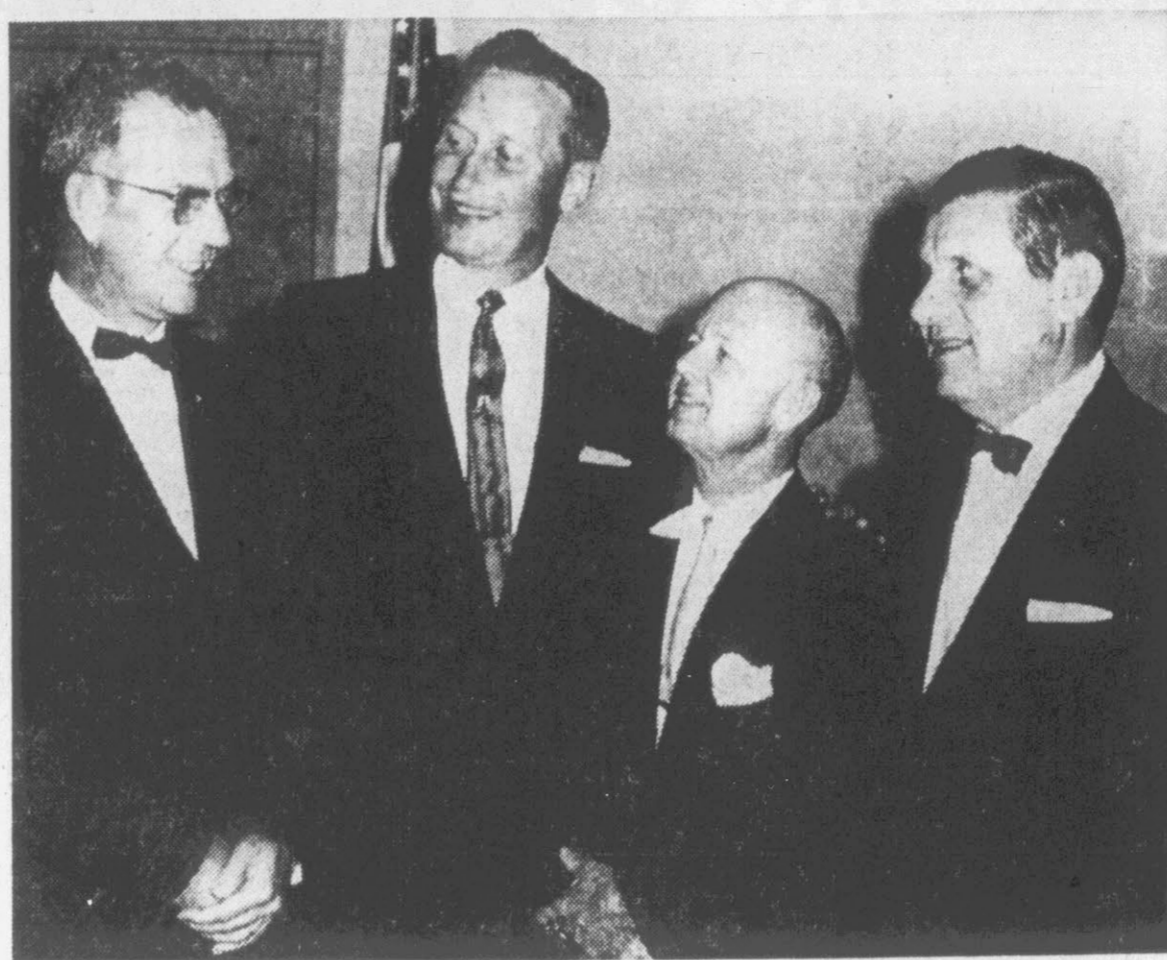

The chorus is open to all students and faculty and staff members, and also to anyone in the community who is interested in singing. Those who have never sung in "The Messiah" before are also invited to join the chorus. Sections will rehearse separately several times; so there will be no difficulty in learning parts.

Soloists for "The Messiah" will be chosen early in November. Soloist auditions will be held before an audition committee on dates to be announced next week.

This will be the ninth presentation of "The Messiah" to be given on the campus. It will be presented in the Wright auditorium on December 13 at 3:30 p.m. Dr. Carl T. Hjortsvang of the college music department will conduct the performance again this year. It is planned to have the East Carolina College Orchestra provide the accompaniment for the chorus.

Accompanists for the soloists will again be Mrs. Eleanor Toll at the piano and George Perry at the organ. All persons interested in singing in the chorus should come to Austin auditorium at 6:15, October 22.

Light Damage In 2 Accidents

Two accidents causing light damage were investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

According to investigators, vehicles owned by James Edward Locke, Jr., 29-year-old Negro of 1000 Bancroft St., Jack R. Roper, 53, of 998 East 14th St., and Mrs. Grace B. King of 2808 Jackson Drive, collided on Dickinson Ave. between Washington St. and Five Points yesterday.

Officers said Mrs. King allegedly pulled from a parking space and struck the Roper car which in turn hit the Locke vehicle.

Total damage to the three vehicles was listed by officers at $185. No injuries were reported.

Mrs. King was charged with failure to yield the right of way. A truck driven by Lee Green, 42 of Route 2, Grifton and a car operated by Margaret Shell Hayes of 2203 East Fifth St., collided at 2203 East Fifth St., causing an estimated $90 damage to both cars.

Greene, charged by police with following too closely, allegedly struck the Hayes car in the rear as the car slowed down.

Churchwomen To Hold Corporate Communion

The Episcopal Churchwomen will meet Sunday for a Corporate Communion. Joining hands spiritually with ladies of the Diocese of East Carolina on this great day the Women of St. Paul's Parish convene at 11:15 a.m.

The Holy Communion of the church will be celebrated by the Rector, the Rev. John W. Drake Jr. The Churchwomen will receive this sacrament as a group. The congregation will also communicate.

Mrs. W. H. Charice, Parish Custodian of the United Thank Offering, announces that the Churchwomen will present this Thank Offering at this service. This offering is the loving gift from grateful women, who place these gifts regularly in the familiar blue box at home. St. Paul's Churchwomen's thank offering will be added to that of the Diocese. Every three years the total amount is presented at a national meeting. Last year in Miami Beach the amount was more than $2,000,000 from thankful women of the Episcopal Church.

Mrs. J. Hampton Thomas, president of St. Paul's Churchwomen, invites all the members to be present for the corporate communion this Sunday.

At the family service on Sunday the rite of Holy Baptism will be administered to the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kendrick. This is the initiation rite of the Christian Church whereby persons become members. St. Paul's Church has this family service every Sunday at 9:30 a.m. with Holy Baptism as an added feature. The entire parish family receives this new child through this apostolic and ancient rite. The godparents or sponsors promise to carefully

Pianist Richard Case In Recital Here Monday

Richard Cass, young American pianist, will appear in recital at East Carolina College October 19 under the sponsorship of the College Entertainment Committee.

The program, offered as a special event of the 1959-1960 Entertainment Series, will take place at 8 p.m. in the Wright auditorium and will be open to the public.

Cass was 1953 winner of the Young Artist Auditions of the National Federation of Music Clubs. In 1957 he gave his first New York recital, appearing at Town Hall in December. It was a highly successful appearance at which the New York critics hailed him as a "Genuine musical personality."

Soon after being selected from a large field of outstanding young American artists for the Federation's coveted honor, the young pianist was awarded a Fulbright Scholarship for study abroad. He worked at the Ecole Normale de Musique in Paris with such great musicians and teachers as Alfred Cortot, Nadia Boulanger, and Jules Gentil.

While abroad, he was chosen winner in the Viotti International Contest in Verceil, Italy, where he competed with young musical representatives from countries all over the world.

He has appeared in recital in cities throughout Europe and was heard in broadcast performances over radio Bordeaux and radio Paris. He made his first nationwide American tour during the 1955-1956 season. Praise and enthusiasm greeted his appearances in recital and with orchestra on a heavily booked itinerary throughout the United States and Canada.

TB Associations Offer Another Television Show

Tuberculosis Associations in Eastern North Carolina continue a series of television programs Monday on the Washington station with another 30-minute production beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Dr. Frances Noblin of Eastern Sanatorium at Wilson will discuss the problem of acceptance of patients by society after treatment for tuberculosis.

After first discussing the actual physical condition of TB patients after release from treatment, Dr. Noblin will explore the problems of acceptance of the patients upon returning to their homes, communities, and jobs.

According to Pitt County TB Association Executive Director Mrs. Milton V. Clarke, patients are currently having difficulty in these respects. "Especially, in the employee-employer relationships," she told the Daily Reflector this morning.

Monday's program is another in a series of half-hour shows being sponsored by Eastern N.C. TB Associations on alternate Mondays. Currently, the associations have scheduled programs through next March.

On Nov. 2, the next program in the series will be aired. It will present a dramatization of the story and origination of the Christmas Seal—the principal fund-raising item in TB associations' work—in America.

Raleigh Student New President Of ECC Frosh

David A. Rock of Raleigh has just been selected by freshmen at East Carolina College to act as president of their class during the 1959-1960 term at the college. In an election conducted by the Student Government Association and completed Thursday of this week, October 15, Rock and other officers of the college's newest class were chosen for the year. James E. Trice of Blades, Del., acted as elections chairman.

Bryce Cummings of Greenville was elected as vice president of the class. Katrina Crumpler of Rt. 2, Roseboro as secretary, and Ann Smith of Garland as treasurer.

Senators from the freshman class chosen to serve this school year on the legislative body of the Student Government Association are William F. Crisp, Jr., of Raleigh and Nancy Coggins of Rocky Mount.

Grifton's Honor Students Named

Grifton High School Principal E. B. Bright announced yesterday that two students, a junior and a senior, had made the school's Honor Roll at the end of the first grading period.

Sharon Stone of the 12th grade and Bette Jo Gaskins of the 11th were listed by the principal as having completed with Honor Roll requirements.

Requirements are that a student receive an "H" (honor) on his conduct and that all academic work receive a grade of "A."

In addition to releasing Grifton High's Honor Roll, Bright announced the school's "Principal's List." Requirements for this are grades of "A" on at least half scholastic work with no less than "B" on the remainder and a grading of satisfactory on conduct.

Included on the "Principal's List" were:

Ninth grade: Warner Burch, Mary Jo Quinerly, Margaret Ellen Hudson, and Cynthia Gravelly.

Tenth grade: Ann Lynn Davis, Barbara Beeson, Mary Lee January, John Triplett, Nannie Davis, and Edna Harris.

Eleventh grade: Ann Dixon, Marian Nelson, and Jerry Causey.

Twelfth grade: Charles Cannon, Dorothy Groat, Jack Groat, Carolyn Hart, Franklin Hill, and Brenda Rose.

Each Found Worth In FHA Work

By PEGGY SMITH, Reflector Woman's Editor

What is FHA?

Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of pupils who study homemaking in junior and senior high schools.

It's an organization which helps develop our teen-age daughters into future career women, wives and mothers.

Members of FHA work together for better and happier home life for everyone. They think that helping to make happy homes, now and in the future, is the most important thing that youth can do for democracy.

The over-all goal of the group is to help individuals improve personal, family and community living. Each year, members of local chapters develop a program of work including projects and experiences which will help them work toward their goal.

Their motto, "Toward New Horizons," is a challenge. It reminds them that their contributions to home life today will influence the kinds of homes they have tomorrow; that the family life of members will influence the community and the world.

In order that the public may know how this organization affects its members, the Daily Reflector has pictured the presidents of each FHA chapter in Pitt County on this page and reported "What FHA Means To Me?" Each president tells of their school activities and their beliefs in FHA.

SEWING IS NECESSARY . . . in the life of a homemaker. Janie Jackson, a first-year student in home economics at Winterville High School, is shown learning the mechanism of the present day machine.

SUE ELLEN HUNSUCKER, Winterville FHA

Sue Ellen Hunsucker, a senior, is president of the Winterville Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America this year. Her work in the organization has included holding the office of historian during her freshman year and the office of vice-president during her junior year. She has received her Junior and Chapter degrees. Sue Ellen is also first alternate for the state office of parliamentarian.

Her interests include books, music, and sports. She plans to study English and Speech in college and is interested in combining dramatics and writing as a career. She thinks of the FHA as a service. "Any organization of which one is a member offers opportunities and responsibilities, but the Future Homemakers of America does more. It gives the girls the inspiration and the incentive to work and to accomplish. FHA members in every activity, are given the responsibilities of leadership and of following—each being involved in an intricate system of cooperation. Our work in the organization prepares us for bigger duties in the future and introduces problems that we are obligated to solve.

"The work of our organization is vital to our nation. The purposes for which we stand should be the basis for every home. I am proud that I can have a small part in our magnificent purpose—to serve our communities, our nation, and our homes as Future Homemakers of America."

SHIRLEY SPAIN, Belvoir-Falkland FHA

Shirley Spain is the incoming president of the Belvoir-Falkland F.H.A. Chapter. She has been a member of the B.F. chapter for three years.

Shirley has attended many of the State and County F.H.A. Rallies and was reporter for her chapter the past year. Currently serving as Parliamentarian of the Pitt County Chapter, she has a Junior Homemaker's Degree and is at present working toward her Chapter Degree. She won the Homemaker Award last year.

While active in many school activities she has shown leadership ability. She was a Cheerleader her freshman year of high school and played basketball her sophomore year.

In her freshman year she was class Devotional Leader and Annual Staff Representative, initiated into the Monogram Club, and active in the Glee Club.

As a sophomore she was in the Monogram and Glee Clubs, F.H.A., and she was reporter for the Future Teachers Association.

"In F.H.A. I've had an opportunity to go a great many places with my advisors. This has helped me to become a better citizen of my community."

CARRIE LEE WHITEHURST, Stokes-Pactolus FHA

Carrie Lee Whitehurst, a member of the Stokes-Pactolus High School, is considered very active in many club activities other than the Future Homemakers of America, of which she is president.

She holds membership in the Beta Club, Monogram Club, Future Teachers of America, Glee Club, Student Council, basketball team, and has held the position of Sophomore Class president.

FHA is important to this president because:

"The Future Homemakers of America organization seems to me to be one of the most important school organizations which a girl can belong to. My participation in this club has profited me—not only in learning about cooking, cleaning and caring for a household, but also in my relationship with those around me.

"I believe this to be the most important thing that the FHA has taught me. It is true that we, as young women, have much to learn about the ideals of happy and profitable home living.

"What better place could we learn these ideals and acquire those qualities of understanding, patience, and love than in the FHA? We are the homemakers of tomorrow. Let us trust in God—the very strength of our organization—and develop into women proud to have belonged to the Future Homemakers of America."

SHIRLEY WHITEHURST, Bethel FHA

"Because I am a teenager, I know that the homes established in the near future will be done so by girls—and boys who have beliefs, attitudes and training similar to mine.

"We want for ourselves and our future family the best opportunity will provide. To have this, we must study and learn those things that will make for better living.

"Future Homemakers of America is just one of the many phases in Homemaking Education, but it is one whose goals and aims are forever reaching toward new and better horizons. Being a FHA member today means a better family member tomorrow."

These statements were made by Shirley Whitehurst when she was asked what the chapter meant to her.

Being president of this group at Bethel High School, she has held the position of reporter and vice-president during the four years of her membership.

Other activities in which she participates include: Beta Club, Future Teachers of America, Future Business Leaders of America, Science, Basketball, cheerleader, and marshal.

She is also active in the Community Fund raising campaigns. Among her church schedule she is a Sunday School teacher for young people at the Bethel Baptist Church, secretary of the Baptist Training Union, president of the Women's Auxiliary, Sunday School president and secretary, and assistant Girls Auxiliary leader.

After school hours, Shirley is employed as a clerk in a local firm.

ANN SHEA, Greenville Jr. FHA

President of the Junior Future Homemakers of America Club at J. H. Rose High School, Ann Shea is a former resident of California.

She moved to Greenville during the summer of 1958 and lives with her parents at 412 Greenview Dr. Her father, J. R. Shea, is a captain in the Marine Corp stationed at Cherry Point.

Although heading the FHA activities, Ann finds time to be a member of the Future Nurses Club.

GERALDINE DAVIS, Farmville FHA

What has Future Homemakers of America meant to Geraldine Davis, president of the Farmville High School chapter?

"It has meant a great deal to me for it has helped me to understand people and their ways. In FHA we learn to get along with people and how to work as a group. I can say truthfully that it has helped me to understand other girls and to get along with them."

A senior in high school, this president has been a member of the club for four years. She has attended two district and two county rallies.

Geraldine attended summer camp for two years at White Lake. While there she studied Degrees. She now holds her Junior Homemaker's Degree and is working on her Chapter's Degree.

She is a member of the Free Will Baptist Church in Farmville.

JOYCE BOYD, Grimesland FHA

Having only two years membership in the Future Homemakers of America, Joyce Boyd feels it is an honor to be chosen the club's president. She has attended local, county, district, and state meetings and plans to earn her Junior Homemaker's Degree this year.

To her, FHA is an organization which helps girls to be better homemakers and through FHA girls can learn to work together as well as looking toward the future with ambitious minds and hearts to be the best homemakers of tomorrow.

Joyce has been a member of the Grimesland 4-H Club for two years and served as vice-president for one year; secretary of the Sophomore Class; library assistant; and a member of Salem Methodist MYP.

Her interests are drawing, reading, dancing, playing basketball, and taking part in church activities.

BETSY BRYANT, Rose FHA

Betsy Bryant, a junior at Rose High School, could easily be called an all-round girl.

Other than being the leader of the Future Homemakers Club, she is a member of the National Forensic League, traffic committee of the SCA, judicial committee of the SCA, and is vice-president and program chairman of Senior High Fellowship in the First Presbyterian Church.

She holds the following positions in various organizations: publicity chairman of the United Christian Youth Movement of Greenville, secretary of the Future Teachers of America, homeroom president at school, and feature editor on the "Green Lights."

Betsy has had two years of homemaking and plans to take her third year during the senior year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bryant of 1908 East Sixth St., Greenville.

SANDRA PRICE, Grifton FHA

During the past three years, Sandra Price, president of the Grifton F.H.A. Chapter, has attended seven rallies.

With only one year of Home Economics, she is county treasurer of the chapter. During her freshman year, she received her junior degree and later the chapter degree.

"FHA means to me, the learning of how to build a home for my future family. It means that I have a chance to meet new friends and to learn better ways of improving my home and surroundings," stated this president.

Her activities are: vice-president of the senior class, chaplain of Tri-Hi-Y, business manager of the school annual, and a member of the Grifton band.

GLORIA FAYE HIGHSMITH, Ayden FHA

"I, as a member of the FHA for a fourth year, feel I have achieved much in my work. The Future Homemakers of America has given me a new and greater sense of accepting responsibility and fulfilling my duties.

"I have been given a chance to work for an organization, to make gains toward setting goals for myself, to participate in home, school and community activities, and help me understand better how other people think, feel and live.

"FHA means to me a better life in the future as a homemaker, wife, and mother."—Gloria Faye Highsmith, president of the Ayden High School FHA.

Gloria, a senior, has held some type of office in the FHA organization since her freshman year. She is a member of the Ayden Free Will Baptist Church.

MARY LOUISE HUDSON, Chicod FHA

Mary Louise Hudson, chapter president of Chicod High School, believes FHA is an important factor in becoming a good homemaker.

She has been in this organization for two years and is considered an outstanding club member. She has attended her Junior and Chapter degrees, is the Pitt County Song leader for FHA, has modeled in PTA fashion shows, attended rallies and FHA camp.

Mary Louise has also participated in 4-H being president and secretary and winning outstanding recognition for good camping. She is a basketball player, member of the Monogram Club, president of the Glee Club, and Future Teachers of America.

A member of Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church, she holds the positions of president of the Junior Choir, secretary-treasurer of Sunday School class, and a member of the church league.

Mary Louise is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hudson of Rt. 3, Greenville.

Pitt 4-H Youth Announced As Winner At State Fair

RALEIGH—Tommy Braxton, 18, of Pitt County was announced as state 4-H Wildlife winner at the North Carolina State Fair last night.

Braxton was among the 33 club members from throughout the state who received 4-H highest honor by being named state winners in various 4-H club projects.

Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Braxton, Jr. of Rt. 2, Winterville.

He is now a freshman at East Carolina College and a member of the Winterville - Greenville 4-H Community Club.

A total of 75 activities in six years of 4-H wildlife projects have been carried out by Tommy. The wildlife projects have been well distributed over Pitt County.

The farm ponds of six neighbors were surveyed this year for fertilization and proper recommendations given.

Five years a county 4-H wildlife winner, Tommy has attended two state 4-H Wildlife Conferences. His 72 4-H demonstrations have resulted in a state and national placing in fruit and vegetable demonstrations and livestock conservation work.

Two adults were also honored last night. A man and a woman were named the state's most outstanding adult 4-H leaders in a new program which got underway this year. Like many of the boys and girls, the adults will receive expense-paid trips to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago later this fall.

The huge State Fair crowd stopped for a brief but highly colorful ceremony during which the winners were recognized. The fair this year is helping the state's 164,000 club members celebrate the 50th anniversary of organized 4-H Club work.

L. R. Harrill, state 4-H Club leader, made the announcement of winners in the giant State Fair Arena amid bursts of applause from some of the state's highest officials, agricultural and home economics leaders, other 4-Hers and just plain fair-goers.

Each of the winning boys and girls reached the pinnacle of state 4-H success by competing with hundreds of others. They first were named county winner, then weathered district competition. Finally they competed with the most outstanding boys and girls on a statewide basis.

Many of the state winners receive expense-paid trips to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago where they will compete for national honors. Traditionally North Carolina has produced its share of national 4-H winners.

Following are North Carolina 1959 state 4-H Club project winners:

William Warren, grain marketing, Beaufort County; Bill Jones, boy's achievement, Buncombe; Eve Anthony, safety, Catawba; Gwendolyn McLaurin, girl's achievement, Cumberland; Kitty Bernhardt, canning, Davidson; Jerry Myers, boy's community relations, Davidson; Smith Stokes, dairying, Davidson; Jane Sink, food preparation, Davidson; Norman Nifong, tractor, Davidson; Polly Lee James, forestry, Duplin; Henry Brake Jr., poultry, Edgecombe; Mary Lou Howe, frozen foods, Gaston; Gwen Stevenson, agricultural program, Halifax; Gene McGaha, entomology, Haywood; R. Gilbert Whitley, male adult leader, Hertford; Reynolds Cowles Jr., boy's citizenship, Iredell; Preston Cornelius, boy's leadership, Iredell; Lucille Mares, girl's citizenship, Iredell; Lynn Goforth, swine, Iredell; July Brown, girl's leadership, Iredell; Mrs. Ernst Hostettler, female adult leader, Iredell;

Rebecca Ann Parker, clothing, Johnston; Elizabeth Ann Ammons, beef production, Macon; Harold Vick, garden, Nash; Betty Jean Nance, home management, Northampton; Carroll McDonnell, home improvement, Perquimans; Tommy Braxton, wildlife, Pitt; Jane Blakely, home economics, Richmond; Eddie Rogers, grain marketing, Robeson; Nelta Stout, recreation, Rowan; Stephen Sinclair, soil and water conservation, Rutherford; J. Z. Little, field crops, Stanly;

Sue Childress, better grooming, Surry; Nancy Crocker, girl's community relations, Vance; Thomas West, beautification of home grounds, Wayne.

Alumni Day For Old Army Grads

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (AP) — If the words Alma Mater call up for you fond memories of clustered barracks, an obstacle course and stacks of dirty mess hall dishes, you can revisit the hallowed grounds at this infantry training center Oct. 30.

Maj. Gen. Christian H. Clark, commanding general, has designated the date as Alumni Day for all the old grads who received their army education here since 1917.

The public also is invited. There will be open house, a parade and other ceremonies.

Arms-Making Grows In W. Germany; U.S. Money And Know-How Helping

By HERB ALTSCHULL
BONN (AP)—Arms-making is on the increase in West Germany, and American money and technical know-how—almost by accident—are giving it a big boost.

Just how far it will go remains to be seen.

U.S. government officials say they are watching the development with interest and some concern.

The Defense Ministry says it has no desire to see a major arms industry grow up again in Germany but adds it can't do anything to prevent Americans from spending their money where and how they wish.

American and German industrialists agree that arms-making is not the major concern of American investors here.

But a German official said, "who can say where arms production begins and ends."

The statement came from Rudolf Richter, director of the stock market division of the influential German Bank.

He and American experts agree there are three major factors in the flow of U.S. dollars into German industry:

1. Americans want to get a firm foothold in the European market, particularly in Germany, before the six-nation common market erects a formidable tariff wall against American goods.

2. American investors estimate their money can go further where production costs, particularly labor, are cheaper than at home.

3. Americans feel that West Germany is going to grow more and more important as an arms producer and that profit is to be had in the field.

"But the latter point is essentially a by-product of the first two," says Richter.

American officials point out that the major area of U.S. investment in the field of defense production has been aircraft.

U.S. money is going chiefly into the building of wholly owned subsidiary plants rather than in purchase of shares in German industry.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce office in West Berlin reports there are now about 350 wholly owned American firms operating in West Germany and Berlin.

There also are numerous firms in which Germans and Americans share ownership. The number of these could not be listed.

A similar growth of U.S. investment is reported in France, and, to a lesser degree, in the other four countries of the common market—Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The German Defense Ministry is in a bit of a box. It does not want to let the impression get abroad, particularly in the Communist world, that Germany is once again to become a war arsenal.

At the same time Defense Minister Franz-Josef Strauss says increased arms production will give West Germany more of a say in NATO councils.

A spokesman for Strauss said Friday, "It is entirely untrue that West Germany will develop a great arms industry with or without the help of U.S. capital."

West Germany is barred by treaties from producing the more powerful weapons of war, such as atomic bombs, battleships and long-distance missiles.

But it can build aircraft, tanks, short-range missiles, sophisticated electronic equipment and the like.

Many of these items are produced by companies which have their primary interest in civilian production.

The biggest single military project in the foreseeable future is the production under license here of the Lockheed F104 Starfighter, selected by the Defense Ministry as the new Luftwaffe's basic jet fighter.

The Germans plan to have about 300 of these aircraft but are buying less than a third of them in the United States.

Many of the others are being built under license at the Heinkel and Messerschmitt plants, former makers of German military aircraft in World Wars I

Church To Hold Laymen's Day

St. James Methodist Church will observe Laymen's Day Sunday, October 18 at the 11:00 a.m. Worship Service.

Dr. E. J. Carter will preside over the service of worship with Mr. R. C. Merritt, and Dr. S. M. Walker assisting in the service.

Mr. P. B. (Bill) Carter, Lay Leader, will bring the message of the morning. His topic, "You Have Been Called." Mr. Carter is the lay leader of the church, a lay speaker and has been teaching Sunday School for the last five years. He is employed by Carolina Sales Corporation as a sales engineer in the heating and conditioning department. He is married to the former Miss Ann James of Greenville, and they have one child, Cathy, age five months.

COLLECT A FOX
TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — A group of teenagers, canvassing the city during a polo fund drive, came back with more than money.

They captured a desert fox running wild through a residential area.

Paralytic Polio Cases In Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of paralytic polio cases reported last week dropped to 229, the Public Health Service said today.

That was 50 less than in the week ended Oct. 2 and 103 fewer than the 332 in the peak 1959 week, which came in mid-September.

There were 4,245 paralytic cases reported by the states in the 40 weeks between Jan. 1 and Oct. 9, compared with 2,069 in the corresponding 1958 period. In 1955, the first year Salk polio vaccine became available, there were 3,290 cases in the first 40 weeks.

Domestic demand for Salk vaccine has begun to drop, the service reported. Shipments to U.S. communities by manufacturers during the week ended Oct. 9 fell to 712,185 doses, the first time the weekly total had dropped below a million since last April.

There were 320 cases of all types of polio listed by the reporting states, which compares with 319 in the corresponding 1958 week. But in the 1958 week there were only 158 paralytic cases as compared to the 229 this year.

From Jan. 1 through Oct. 9 there had been 6,738 polio cases reported, compared with 4,348 in the similar 1958 span.

Composers Will Be Visiting U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dmitri Shostakovich and four other leading Soviet composers arrive a week from today for a cultural exchange tour.

They'll visit New York, Washington, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Louisville, Philadelphia and Boston. Several concerts have been arranged to feature their compositions.

Christian Science

The healing and redemptive power of the Christ, Truth, will be explained in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Matthew's account of the healing of the leper by Christ Jesus (8: 2-4) is included in the passages to be read from the King James Version of the Bible.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this selection will be read (19:6): "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin and death by the law of Spirit—the law of divine Love."

Atlantic City, N. J., is the windiest American city. Its average hourly wind speed has been set at 15.2 m.p.h. over a period of years.

SHADOW OF GUILT

A NEW THRILLER by PATRICK QUENTIN

CHAPTER 28

Connie's voice was rasping with bitterness. "Protect the rotten people, that's what they say!" She stormed at Ala and me. "Stand up for them, cover up for them, understand them, straighten them out. It isn't their fault. Oh, no, something went wrong.

"If an eighteen-year-old girl lies to her family, sneaks off with a married man... if that same girl, only a year later, when she's about to marry a fine boy as she'll ever meet, sneaks off again with a shoddy criminal blackmailer who gets himself murdered... Protect her! If you know how sick I am of protecting her."

She glared down at Ala. "The time's come to protect the good people, the innocent people for a change. I you think you can't face what you've brought on yourself, then that's too bad because you're going to have to face it. If you don't tell Lieutenant Trant the truth and if George doesn't—then I will."

For a moment she stood swinging her contempt at us like a sword. Then, with a toss of her head, she started toward the door.

"Connie," I called.

"There's nothing more to say."

"Oh, isn't there?" It was Ala who suddenly spoke. The fierce challenge of her voice made Connie turn back.

Ala got off the bed. She was as cold now, as cold and deadly as she had been. She flashed a glance at me. It repudiated all connection with someone who had betrayed her.

"Okay, Connie," she said, "you're going to tell Trant, are you?"

Connie didn't speak. She stood there with her arms folded in front of her.

"All right," said Ala. "Tell him. It'll be lovely for all of us. Love for you too. Maybe loveliest of all for you."

Still Connie said nothing, and the antagonism in the atmosphere was suffocating.

"You see, there's one thing you forgot to ask George, isn't there? He came there to Don Saxby's. He heroically got me away. All right. But why was it George? How do you think he happened to get there? I'll tell you. I'll put you out of your suspense.

"When I was at Don's, when I found him dead, when I was in a panic of terror, who was there for me to turn to for help? You? Don't make me laugh.

"There was only one person I could trust to be kind, to be human—Mrs. Lord. She was the one I called from Don's and George was the one who came because he was there with her. And do you know why he was there? He was there the way I went off with Gene and with Don Saxby. He was there snatching a few moments when he got the chance, just the way I snatched a few moments when I got a chance. That's something for you to tell Trant, too.

"Dear Lieutenant Trant, I've managed to turn my daughter into a juvenile delinquent, but that's not all. Oh, no. I've achieved that. I've driven my husband into keeping his dear little secretary in a love nest."

She spun around to me. She was smiling but it was more a grimace than a smile, a grimace of loathing for herself, for me, for all of the world.

"Don Saxby told me all about it when we were driving up to Massachusetts," she said. "He caught them kissing in a restaurant, and George admitted it, Don said. George told him it had been going on for months and months.

"I wasn't going to tell. I thought it was fine. Good for George, I thought. Get a little warmth. More power to George. But—but if you're going to tell Trant about me, all right, tell him. But, while you're about it, you might as well tell the world

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, who took another step toward canonization last week, is still a long way from becoming one of the many thousand saints on the Roman Catholic calendar.

The announcement by Pope John XXIII that the American-born nun has "passed the ante-preparatory stage" means she is somewhere in the middle of the canonization process, with the highest hurdles ahead.

The Catholic Church doesn't take sainthood lightly.

Mother Seton, who could be considered the first native American saint, died in 1821, but canonization proceedings did not get under way on the lowest official level (the Baltimore diocese) until 86 years had passed.

Four years later, the documents painstakingly collected and examined in Baltimore were forwarded to Rome to a "postulator," a sort of clerical attorney who would plead her case before the Congregation of Rites.

Further examination by a commission in Rome, delayed by World War I, lasted another 29 years. It was not until 1940 that her cause was formally introduced and she was being considered for beatification. Catholic spokesmen in the United States are not sure exactly how far along the road toward beatification—the last step before canonization—Mother Seton has passed.

Apparently these three points have met approval: She has a reputation for sanctity; she has not been venerated publicly; and her writings, even personal letters, express the saintly ideals.

She can be pronounced beatified—and bear the title "blessed"—only after the church has satisfied itself that two miracles can be attributed to her intercession.

Church spokesmen say it is unlikely that beatification can be considered and approved until 1960 or even much later.

Canonization, the final step to sainthood, is achieved only after the church proves to itself that her intercession has brought about two more miracles since her beatification.

This final step can take years or even decades.

Thus, the church's investigations of sainthood have come a long way since the informalities of the 13th century, when St. Peter of Castelnau could be canonized less than two months after his death.

The elevation to sainthood of Pope Pius X in 1954 required an

Must Make Up Their Lost Time

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—State capitol employees will have to make up any working time lost due to future bomb hoaxes, the governor's office says.

Anonymous bomb calls to city police caused the evacuation of the state capitol twice Thursday. No bombs were found.

Dick Valdez, administrative aide to Gov. John Burroughs, announced after the second hoax that "we definitely will establish a policy that the working time lost in the future will be made up."

"We're not accusing anyone here (at the capitol), of course," Valdez said, "but we can't disregard anything."

School Menu

School lunchroom menus for the coming week, as announced by the superintendent of city school cafeterias, are as follows:

Monday—hot dog with chili and onions, cole slaw, buttered green peas, doughnut, milk;

Tuesday—macaroni and cheese, fresh collards, pickle relish, sliced tomatoes, cornbread and butter, fudge cake, milk;

Wednesday—roast turkey with dressing and giblet gravy, celery strips, cranberry sauce, string beans, homemade roll and butter, cookies, milk;

Thursday—vegetable soup and crackers, pimento cheese and deviled egg sandwich, cake squares with cherry sauce, milk;

Friday—fick sticks, ETAOINSHR, Friday—fish stick, tossed salad, buttered corn, corn muffin and butter, lemon pie, milk.

Grace F. W. B. Announcements

Each Sunday morning at 9:45 is a time of Bible study as families come together in the Sunday school. "The Second Coming of Christ" will be the subject for the pastor's message at 11 o'clock. The choir will render special music.

At 2:30 p.m. the deaf people of the Coastal Plains will come together at the church for a Sunday school class. At 6:45 p.m. members of the Grace church will meet with their friends in the Free Will Baptist worship hour. At 7:45 evening worship will feature a message by the pastor and special singing.

Monday night at 7:30 members of the Grace church will go out and visit their friends in the homes. The Free Will Baptist Student Fellowship of ECC will present a program in the prayer meeting on Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. Good News Clubs will be conducted for the children. The choir, also, will meet on Wednesday night.

The Sunday School Council will meet on Thursday night at 7:45.

COMING EVENTS: November 8-15, Missionary Conference. November 22—Pictures from the Children's Home will be shown.

Small Children Will Neither Understand Nor Appreciate This Movie

Here's What "Parents' Magazine Says About 'Blue Denim':

"Explored with dignity and insight, the problem of decent young people whose early sex drives get them into trouble is forcefully brought home in this worthwhile film to both parents and older boys and girls. We urge both parents and teenagers to see this film. Rated by 'Parents' Magazine EXCELLENT for adults and young people."
