

Castro Takes Charge Of Arresting Commander On Alleged Treason Charges

HAVANA (AP)—Havana radio station VOZ said today Prime Minister Fidel Castro's forces have arrested Maj. Hugert Matos, his military commander in Camaguey Province.

Matos had taken refuge at his headquarters in Camaguey, the provincial capital, after two of Castro's other commanders accused him of treason against the Cuban revolution.

Castro himself flew from Havana to Camaguey for an assault on the headquarters. He paced up and down the main street there while his radios appealed to workers and farmers to join him in the assault.

Ike, Sec. Herter Talk Approach To The Summit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower met with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter today apparently to consider France's go-slow approach to an East-West summit meeting.

In a 40-minute conference at the White House the two were believed to have talked over ways to settle the backstage Allied dispute on the timing of a meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Afterward, Herter declined to say anything about their talk, leaving all that to the President.

Driver Charged In Traffic Death

Phillip Ray Jones, 18, Route 6, Greenville, has been charged with manslaughter and reckless driving in connection with the death of Bernice Ray Tripp, 43, and Lasele Edwards, 44, both of Route 5 Greenville, October 10.

Tripp and Edwards died after being struck by the Jones car as they were walking east on the Paeolus Highway.

Investigating officers quoted Jones as saying he was attempting to pass a truck, headed west, when he saw the two men walking on the roadway. He attempted to miss the pedestrians by cutting to the left but failed.

Boy Struck By Car Early Today, Suffers Injuries

A three-year-old Bell Arthur boy narrowly escaped death early this morning upon being struck by a car near the Tyson Primitive Baptist Church on the Stantonburg highway.

According to investigating Patrolman W. K. Chapman, the youth, Richard Dean Edmondson, allegedly ran from behind a parked car into the path of an oncoming vehicle operated by Carrol Wooten, 21, of Farmville.

The child was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital suffering from a fractured right leg, lacerations to the forehead and multiple bruises.

Parade Of UN Flags To Climax Observance

United Nations Week observance will be climaxed here Saturday morning, United Nations Day, with a parade of flags sponsored by the Pitt County Home Demonstration Clubs.

A total of 82 flags representing United Nations countries as well as corresponding costumes worn by home demonstration clubwomen will highlight the parade.

Also participating in the parade will be 4-H Clubs, American Legion, veterans from Pitt County, the National Guard, ROTC of East Carolina College, Future Farmers of America and Future Homemakers of America.

Lengthy Conference Holding Up Court's Steel Strike Injunction

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Resumption of a federal court hearing to determine if a Taft-Hartley injunction will be used to end the 99-day steel strike was delayed today as the presiding judge pored over his law books and conferred with attorneys.

million striking steelworkers back to the mills for an 80-day cooling off period.

Meanwhile, the industry and the union would be under court order to try and negotiate a permanent settlement in the long and costly dispute.

"He got up at the crack of dawn," said an aide of Judge Herbert P. Sore.

The hearing, which began Tuesday, was to have resumed at 10 a.m. At noon, Judge Sore was still in his chambers conferring with government attorneys and counsel for the United Steelworkers.

Under terms of the Taft-Hartley law the workers could be kept in the mills for 80 days. After that if a settlement is not reached they would be free to resume the strike without government interference.

George A. Rouse Dies In Farmville

FARMVILLE—George Alexander Rouse, age 73, died this morning following an illness of several months. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mr. Rouse organized in 1910 Rouse Printery which publishes the Farmville Enterprise and also does commercial printing.

He was a past president of the East Carolina Printers Association, a former member of the Fair Trade Compliance Board of North Carolina under Graphic Arts Code, a member of the Advisory Committee of N. C. Safety Association, and a charter member of the Farmville Rotary Club.

Supreme Court Gives Caryl Chessman Another Stay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today granted a stay of execution for Caryl Chessman, under sentence to die Friday in California's gas chamber.

The stay was granted to permit the convict-author to file a new appeal. The appeal must be filed by Nov. 3.

Counsel for Chessman had asked Justice Douglas to grant a stay, but Douglas referred the request to the full court.

UN Nears Vote On Tibetan Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The General Assembly headed for a vote today on Tibet, an issue that has sparked sharp East-West exchanges and caused apprehension among many Asian delegates.

The resolution received strong support from the United States, which accused the Communists of trying to frighten delegates away from discussing the issue.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge made the charge after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov declared consideration of Tibet by the assembly would only aggravate the cold war.

Decision Hinted On Fate Of Army Missiles Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker hinted today that the fate of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, deeply involved in the space race with the Soviet Union, was settled at a White House conference today.

The problem is that Saturn has no immediate and direct military application. Its huge thrust is five times more than is needed to fling atomic warheads between continents. Its value is in the exploration of space.

Brucker was a late—and not previously announced—participant in a meeting between President Eisenhower and his top space advisers. The session was set up to solve the problem of how to push the United States into strong competition with the Soviets in the outer reaches.

Emerging from the talks some time after the others had left, Brucker was asked if there had been a decision on the missile agency and its crack team of space experts headed by Werner von Braun.

He first replied that was a matter in the province of the President.

Asked if that meant there had been no decision, Brucker answered: "I didn't say that."

About the same time the White House said Eisenhower probably will make a statement about the meeting after he arrives in Augusta, Ga. The President left directly after his space conference for a five-day rolling vacation.

Specific questions before the White House conferees included the disposition of the agency and specifically what to do about the Huntsville, Ala., project for development of the Saturn booster, a huge cluster of eight rockets with 1 1/2 million pounds of thrust.

That is half again as much thrust as anything the Soviet Union is known to have and would hurl bigger payloads farther into space.

But the Pentagon does not need that much push for military rockets, and has been pulling back on supporting the program.

There has been talk that Saturn support might be shifted to the civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and NASA at one time made a direct bid for the whole Huntsville operation.

The Saturn program has been suffering from maintenance. Word has come down that its funds have been cut from 135 million dollars to 70 million. Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, who has headed this effort, has just resigned, although he says his resignation was not a protest action.

AAUW Hears Of Life In Congo

On Monday evening the Greenville Branch of the American Association of University Women met at the Mamie Jenkins Faculty Alumni Home at East Carolina College.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostesses: Mrs. C. A. Bowen, Miss Christine Johnston, Mrs. Hugh Patterson, Mrs. Clyde Hollowell, Mrs. David Proctor, and Miss Elizabeth Walker.

Dr. Kathleen Stokes, president of the branch, gave a report on a workshop in Raleigh on September 26. Three members of the Greenville branch, Dr. Kathleen Dunlop, Dr. Elizabeth Utterback, and Mrs. Robert Lee Humber, had participated in the program at the workshop.

Mrs. Marquerite Perry introduced the speaker, Miss Bessie

McNeil, the head of the Home Economics Department. Miss McNeil told about her recent trip to the Congo and gave facts about the customs and the status of women in the Congo.

Two years ago Miss McNeil began a correspondence with a missionary couple. When they invited her to visit them, she flew to the mission field in Africa.

Miss McNeil told of unusual foods that were served: buffalo meat; reedbeak, a kind of antelope; palm nuts, papayas, and mangoes. A substitute for apple sauce is made by cooking green mangoes. Palm oil is used a great deal in the cooking. Flour and coarse cereal are made by pounding the roots of manioc. Rice also is one of the staples.

Life is rather hard for the women of the Congo, according to Miss

McNeil. Laundry is done in the streams. The women also do the gardening and often have to walk for some distance to do it. They cut their own wood for fires and do the cooking in a small yard or shelter after building a fire in the midst of three stones, bricks, or ant hills. They carry many heavy burdens, usually on their heads.

Wives may still be bought in Africa. Formerly, three copper crosses and a goat constituted the price, but inflation has brought about an advance, and the price of a wife today is the equivalent of $140.

As to education, very few women are literate, but they are eager to learn. Miss McNeil attended a literacy class, which was very well attended. She also conducted a month-long Daily Vacation Bible School.

Miss McNeil told also about attending the graduation exercises at a teacher training school and at a school of Home Economics. One young bridegroom told her that the young men went to the school of Home Economics to look for their wives.

Miss McNeil also visited Leopoldville, a modern city of 400,000, and attended an Art Exhibit there.

Mrs. Edwards Reports To Circle

FOUNTAIN—Mrs. J. J. Edwards, Community Missions chairman, gave a report to the members of the Louise Beasley Circle Friday when the group met in the Fountain Baptist Church. Miss Lucille Yelverton was hostess.

During the report, it was announced that cards and flowers had been sent to Mrs. Jack Speight's mother and William Moore, patients in a hospital. Also, that a baby gift had been given to Mrs. Paul Pittman.

Mrs. Albert Bell, program chairman, spoke to the circle about a social hour.

She also urged the members following her talk to read their Mission Study books, she being the Mission Study chairman.

Miss Yelverton asked the members to help with the lunch to be given for the minister and his family who moved yesterday. Canned foods and other items were asked for to be placed in the parsonage.

Ten members and three visitors, Mrs. Rebecca Owens, Mrs. Margaret Madaris and Mrs. D. T. Cox, were served cake and ice cream by the hostess which was followed by a social hour.

Halloween Party Planned

All children of school age in Greenville and the surrounding community are invited to participate in a Halloween Party October 26, sponsored by Modern Woodmen of America and Greenville Modern Woodmen of America Junior Club. The invitation was extended today by Larry R. Stox, general chairman.

Boys and girls have been asked to sign pledge cards which say "I promise to respect the property of other people and will cooperate with leaders to make this party a success." Pledge cards will serve also as registration in the Witch Wagon game. According to Miss Evelyn Robinson, the party will start at 7:30 and will be held at 1517 Broad St. where costumes will be judged, souvenirs and candy distributed.

The chairman also stated that a special feature will be the "Witch Wagon," attended by a number of witches in typical Halloween style, who will award special prizes to five of the costumed paraders, who can be found at home 30 minutes after the curfew is sounded ending the celebration.

Souvenirs and prizes consisting of Counselor Attache case, Scoop Ball set, Crazy Autograph Alligator, Pre-Sketched Artist's set and charm bracelet have been donated by Modern Woodmen of America, as well as many prizes furnished by local club and Junior Director.

Mrs. Myrtle Stox called attention to last year's Halloween Party in which 138 children participated, and stated that she felt confident that this year's event would draw still a larger crowd of participants.

She urged parents and school authorities to encourage children to take part in the event, stating that "similar affairs here and elsewhere have proven their worth in promoting enjoyable, sensible Halloween celebrations."

Larry R. Stox, local representative, said "Modern Woodmen of America is sponsoring similar costume parties in hundreds of communities in the United States as a part of its program for furthering the general welfare of the youth of the nation, and in conformity with its policy of contributing to local community progress."

New Concept Of Stewardship Presented By Mrs. Basnight

A new concept of stewardship was presented by Mrs. Virginia Basnight in a program entitled "God's Dare You," at the meeting of the Women of the First Presbyterian Church Monday night.

Mrs. Basnight presented stewardship based on the dedication of the whole life. Three points for true stewardship, dedication, motivation, and transformation, and the willingness for God's directing and using the whole life were stressed in her talk. She concluded "talk with this thought, that an investment gives returns when the investment is in God and God's dare to one is to test his investment.

Mrs. W. E. Roseveare, president, presided and opened the meeting with a scripture reading and words of thought on "Usefulness Through Patience."

Following the reports from the various committees, Mrs. H. H. Bryant presented the devotional. Using background scripture taken from Mark, Mrs. Bryant described stewardship as a school raising men and women into Christian maturity.

WSCS Begins Fall Study With Program On United Nations

BETHEL—The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Bethel Methodist Church started its fall study with "The Role of the United Nations in World Affairs" in the church last week.

Mrs. J. L. Garganus Sr. opened the session with a meditation on "What Are Our Christian Responsibilities in a Changing World?"

Miss Camille Staton introduced the study by explaining the structure of the U. N. and its agencies.

The following took part in discussing the problems facing the U. N. and some of the agencies helping to solve them:

Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst, "The Population Crisis;" Mrs. Elizabeth Benton, "The Status of Women;" Mrs. Leighton Blount Jr., "Oil In World Affairs;" Miss Camille Staton, "The World Water Supply;" Mrs. J. C. Wynna Jr., "The Laos Question;" Mrs. W. C. Whitehurst, "Total Disarmament;" Mrs. Carl Barbee, "WHO;" Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst, "UNICEF;" Mrs. Harold Staton, "Technical Assistance;" Mrs. David House, "U.N. In Korea;" and Mrs. C. G. Garrenton, "The Woman's Responsibility."

At the conclusion of the morning discussions and talks, a lunch with hot coffee was served in the Fellowship Hall.

The afternoon session dealt with more of the agencies of the U. N. discussed by Miss Staton, after which she played a record of the Woman's Division, "The U. N. Has Been Here."

The study was concluded Sunday night by showing the movie, "We The People of the United Nations." Everyone was urged to contribute to the UNICEF Trick or Treat Program sponsored by the Christian Social Relations Committee of the W.S.C.S.

Shirtwaist Dress Easy To Make For Beginners

THAT ALL-AMERICAN FAVORITE, the shirtwaist dress, sails triumphantly into fall in many versions. One of the most effective is the slim-skirted silhouette in light weight wool, tweed, jersey or flannel.

An ambitious home seamstress could make several of these flattering, useful dresses in different fabrics and colors, using the same basic pattern. Local sewing center experts chose a black-and-white wool tweed with collar and belt of black velvet for a first fall dress. It's easy to make if you follow their tips.

They recommend that you reinforce underarm seams where extra strain occurs. This is done most easily by using a fine zigzag stitch on either your automatic slant-needle sewing machine or the zigzag attachment for straight-needle machines. This stitch adds flexibility and allows the fabric to "give" without ripping.

The velvet collar of the dress will have a crisper, more tailored look if an interfacing is used. To do this, mark the seam allowance and the fold line of the collar on the interfacing. Set your machine for a medium-large zigzag stitch. Multiple rows of the zigzag stitching placed across the back and covering the area from the fold line to the neck edge will make for a more easily shaped collar. You are cautioned not to stitch into the seam allowance.

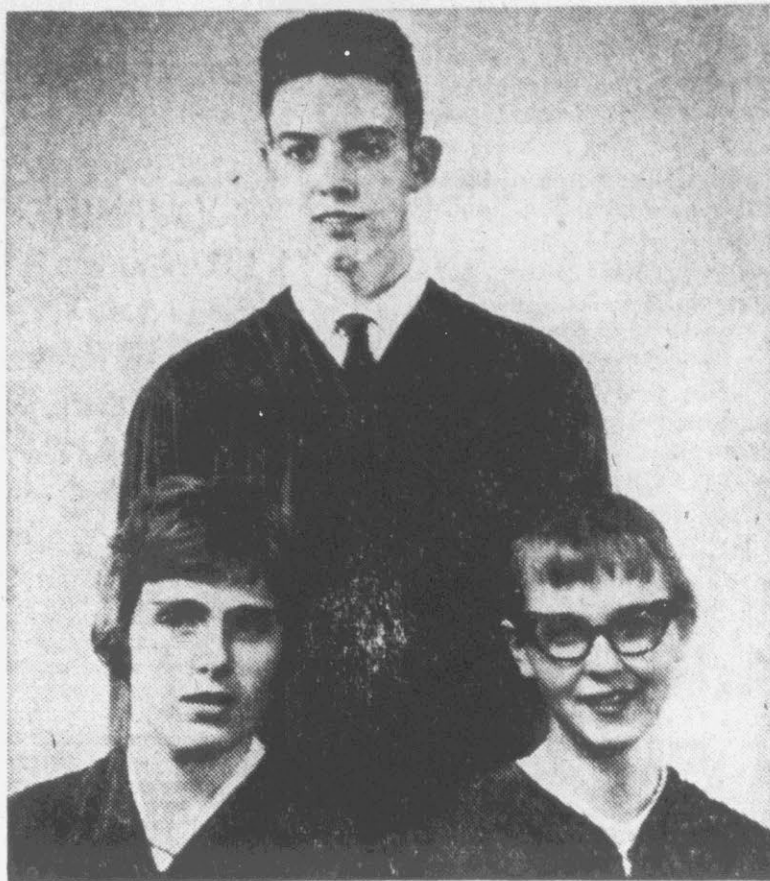

To prevent sagging and stretching of the slender skirt, a half skirt lining is advised. This also helps prevent wrinkling.

STRAIN CUSTARD
It's a good idea to strain custard (cooked on top of the range) after cooking. This way you can get rid of any tiny amount of coagulated white that has clung to the yolks used in the custard.

IN CHOOSING CHEESE
A cheese classified as "hard" is firm enough to be sliced or grated; one classified "semi-hard" is firm enough to be sliced but soft enough to spread.

Miss Staton Tells Of Visit To U.N.

BETHEL—Miss Camille Staton was guest speaker at the Bethel Home Demonstration Club last Wednesday when she met with Mrs. H. L. Tetterton and Mrs. Marshall Whitehurst. Her topic was the United Nations which she visited last November.

She stated that the prime purpose of the United Nations was to promote international peace by preventing war, removing causes of war and raising standards of living.

She described the different phases of the organization; the commission on the status of women was a very important agency.

The women of Asia and Latin America are denied many privileges and more education is considered necessary to correct this situation, according to Miss Staton.

Miss Staton emphasized that the population explosion of some countries was one of the worst problems facing the United Nations. Continuing, she said rapid population increase had not been matched by the amount of food produced and other necessities of life and in some instances space was also a problem. Population increase is considered a greater threat than the atomic bomb.

Leader reports were heard from Mrs. P. C. James, home beautification, and Mrs. R. B. Edmondson, publicity leader.

The meeting was turned over to

Mrs. Sue May, home economics agent, who gave a demonstration on "Pork Around the Clock." She stated that pork was a good supply of iron and very high in nutritional values, as well as an excellent source of complete proteins. Pork liver has three times as much iron as any other liver. Mrs. May distributed sketches of the hog to see if members could identify the various cuts of pork.

Mrs. Russell James, recreation leader, led the group in a game. The hostesses served lemon tarts, hot coffee, nuts and pickles. Sixteen members were present and guests were Mrs. Carl Barbee, Mrs. R. S. Whitehurst, Mrs. D. C. Carson Sr., Mrs. Earl Andrews and Miss Staton.

Today's Menu

- Eggplant, Crabmeat and Mushrooms
- Salad Bowl
- Lemon Souffle
- EGGPLANT, CRABMEAT AND MUSHROOMS

Ingredients: 1/2 pound (medium) mushrooms, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 can (6 ounces) crabmeat, panfried eggplant, cheese sauce.

Method: Separate mushroom caps and stems; chop stems fine. Cook mushroom caps with butter in 8-inch skillet over moderate heat. Remove caps; add chopped mushrooms and onion to butter in skillet; cook slowly about 5 minutes. Stir in parsley, salt, mustard and lemon juice. Drain crabmeat; remove cartilage; flake; stir into mushroom mixture in skillet; push to one side. Arrange cooked mushroom caps on other side of skillet; reheat. Spread pan-fried eggplant slices with most of crab mixture; top with mushroom caps; stuff caps with remaining crab mixture. Serve with hot cheese sauce. Makes 4 rich servings.

FRUITED SPICE CAKE

Ingredients: 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1/2 teaspoon allspice, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1-3 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup molasses, 2 tablespoons water, 1-3 cup golden raisins (chopped), 1-3 cup chopped candied fruit, 1-3 cup chopped blanched almonds.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, ginger, allspice and cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs one at a time. Stir molasses and water together. Stir sifted dry ingredients into creamed mixture alternately with molasses-water mixture; stir just until smooth after each addition. Fold in raisins, fruit and almonds. Turn into baking pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches) that has been greased and lined with greased waxed paper. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 40 to 45 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on cool rack; strip off paper; turn right side up. Serve warm.

Don't Neglect Tiny Speck In Your Eye

THERE IS hardly a person who hasn't at one time or another got something in his eye. The tiniest little speck can cause a lot of discomfort. For the most part nature takes care of bits of foreign matter that fly into the eye. Tears wash out the offending substance. But when it doesn't wash out by itself we must do something about it. Specks which remain in the eye can cause serious trouble.

Simple home remedies will work in many cases.

The first which almost everyone knows is to take hold of the eyelashes, pull the lid away from the eye and downward. This gives the tears a better chance to wash out the speck.

If this doesn't work, try an eye cup, which every home medicine cabinet and every first aid kit should have. It amazes me how few people know how to use this important first aid device.

Eye Cup
Wash the eye cup before you use it. Fill the cup with plain clear water. It's a good idea to boil and cool the water first. The child tips his head down, opens his eyes, applies the filled eye cup to the eye socket, tips the head back and blinks several times into the cup. If the first washing doesn't remove the speck the procedure can be repeated several times. Often this procedure will clear the eye.

If the eye still hurts after ample washing we must do more. For should go to the doctor. However, if your child is cooperative and you are skilled you can take the next step yourself. This is to turn back the lid and remove the speck with a swab.

Locate the speck first. Have the child follow your finger with his eye as you move your finger in an arc in front of his eyes. When the eyeball goes over the speck it will hurt and the child can tell you where the hurt is.

Have the child look down and keep on looking down.

Take hold of the eyelashes, pull the lid down, then turn it back over a matchstick you have laid horizontally across the lid. Look on the under side of the upper lid with a good strong light and if you see a speck remove it with a cotton swab moistened with sterile water.

If the pain stops you have been successful.

Rub split or quartered chicken with French dressing before broiling; frying-chicken pieces may be marinated in French dressing a couple hours and then broiled.

Civic Interest Is A Prerequisite

Greenville Industries, Inc., a local corporation formed a number of years ago as a community project to promote the economic development of the city, is now engaged in the sale of stock to enable the corporation to purchase a 269-acre tract of land near the city to be developed as an industrial area.

The success of this undertaking may well determine whether Greenville pushes forward with its program for greater economic development. Community leaders who have worked most closely with industrial prospects in the past few years have pointed out that the lack of availability of good plant sites at reasonable prices has been one of the major stumbling blocks they have encountered. If the present undertaking of Greenville Industries is successful, that stumbling block will for the most part be removed.

If Greenville citizens provide the capital to purchase this tract of land that can later be sold to worthwhile industrial prospects, the city will have taken another important step in preparing itself for further industrial development. If, on the other hand, local citizens refuse to accept this challenge, we will have our own apathy to blame if industries select communities other than our own for their new plant sites.

Industries are building new plants throughout the South at the fantastic rate of about two million dollars a day. In order to participate in this tremendous economic expansion, a community must prepare itself to meet the needs of industrial prospects. And one of these important needs is to have suitable plant sites available when a prospect comes to look.

Since 1954 some 1,500 new industrial plants have been constructed in North Carolina. For the most part the communities in which these plants have been located have been those that aggressively sought new industry. Those communities which have not obtained their full share of this industrial growth probably have only themselves to blame.

The proposition now being placed before local citizens by Greenville Industries, Inc. is one which must be met if the city is to move forward as it should with its economic development. If local citizens do not exhibit enthusiastic interest in the economic development of our community, how can we expect outside industries—with so many communities to choose from in selecting new plant sites—to be enthusiastic about coming to Greenville?

Only When It's To Their Own Advantage

That the Soviets engage in overtures of friendship to the United States and other Western Nations only when it is advantageous to them has been illustrated again with the renewed Soviet jamming of Voice of America broadcasts.

When Premier Khrushchev visited the United States recently, Soviet jamming of Russian-language VOA broadcasts suddenly stopped for the first time in a decade. During Khrushchev's visit the VOA broadcasts were beamed behind the Iron Curtain without interference. Since that time the jamming of VOA broadcasts has been sporadic.

Apparently the Soviet's full jamming facilities were turned on to prevent the VOA from giving the United States version of the incident in which an embassy official in Moscow had been accused of spying. Russell A. Langelie, top security official at the U. S. embassy in Moscow was arrested by Soviet authorities last weekend and ordered back to the United States. Langelie said he got "pretty rough treatment" from the Soviets and the United States has flatly denied the charges made against him.

The incident is another indication that the Soviets want to be friendly to the United States only when it suits their own purposes. They were willing for the people of Russia to hear from the VOA about Khrushchev's visit to the United States, but they are unwilling for the American side of this latest incident to be told to the Russian people.

In respect to jamming American broadcasts, it should be clear now that Khrushchev's visit here brought only a temporary—not permanent—change in Soviet policies which appeared expedient at the moment.

Prayers For The United Nations

The following prayers by three distinguished clergymen, were prepared for use in connection with the Thirtieth Anniversary of the United Nations, particularly on the Sabbath preceding United Nations Day, October 24.

By EDWIN T. DAHLBERG, President of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.

Eternal God our Father, who in the beginning of Thy creation brought order out of chaos, we pray that Thou wilt bring quietness and peace upon the earth in our time. Forgive us our wrong attitudes toward other races and nations. Inspire an effective spirit of penitence among us. Banish the fear and hunger and drives for power which impel us to arm ourselves against each other. Fill our hearts with humble compassion for the impoverished peoples of the earth, that they may be better rejoiced in Thy goodness and believe in their fellow-men.

We thank Thee that in the United Nations Thou hast created an instrument whereby we may bring these things to pass. We praise Thee for victories already won for humanity. As the delegates from all continents continue to plead their cause in this great forum of world understanding, we ask Thy counsel for them. Direct the statesmen, scientists, journalists, news commentators, religious leaders and other interpreters of the events of the hour, civilian and military, that they may excite a spirit of confidence rather than of terror, and of good will rather than of contempt and hatred. Dedicate us to the massive reconciliation necessary to our survival in the Nuclear-Space Age. Thus may we enter into the vast dimensions of Thy wisdom and love, and witness the coming of Thy holy kingdom among the nations. In Thy name, Amen.

By Rabbi Theodore L. Adams, President, The Synagogue Council of America

Avine She-bashomayim, Our Father Who Art In Heaven, Reign over all the Universe in Thy glory, and in Thy splendor be exalted over all the earth. Shine forth in the majesty of Thy triumphant power over all the inhabitants of Thy world, that every living form may know that Thou hast formed it, and every living creature understand that Thou hast created it, and all with life's breath in their nostrils may declare "The Lord God of Israel is king and His dominion ruleth over all."

O God, do Thou bind us ever more closely into the brotherhood of peoples, the United Nations, that we may labor unceasingly against the vices of malice and greed, fear and ignorance, hypocrisy and corruption, avarice and violence.

Prosper our country, O Lord in all its worthy endeavors, so that future generations may praise Thee and call us blessed for the spirit of fellowship implanted in the hearts of all thy children. Vouchsafe Thy blessing upon the Secretary General of the United Nations and his associates and upon the President of the United States and his advisers.

Fashion Thou our hearts anew and bend our will to Thy purpose so that the call to war and the clash of arms may never resound in our land. Grant that our country may lead the way in the pursuit of peace and the fulfillment of the Vision of Thy Prophet: "Men shall do no evil and work no destruction on all God's holy mountain, for the earth shall be filled with knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." Amen.

By MOST REVEREND ROBERT E. LUCEY, S.T.D., Archbishop of San Antonio

Almighty God, in whose hands are the destinies of men, we pray that the United Nations, in its search for peace and justice, may enjoy Thy guidance and Thy blessing. Too many of Thy children place their hopes for peace in the achievements of men, while others, detaining human efforts, believe that only fervent prayers can save the world from chaos.

We recognize, O Heavenly Father, that the finest organization in the world will not of itself teach the nations to practice justice and good will. On the other hand, Thou hast given us intelligence and free will that we may use them to work out our salvation. It is not enough that we should pray; we must also work and plan and organize. Peace by organization alone makes man independent of heaven and peace by prayer alone is presumptuous. It is not difficult for evil men to throw the sand of nationalism and selfishness into the machinery of world peace and thus destroy it. We must use the good oil of justice and generosity to make it work, and these virtues, O God, come only from Thee.

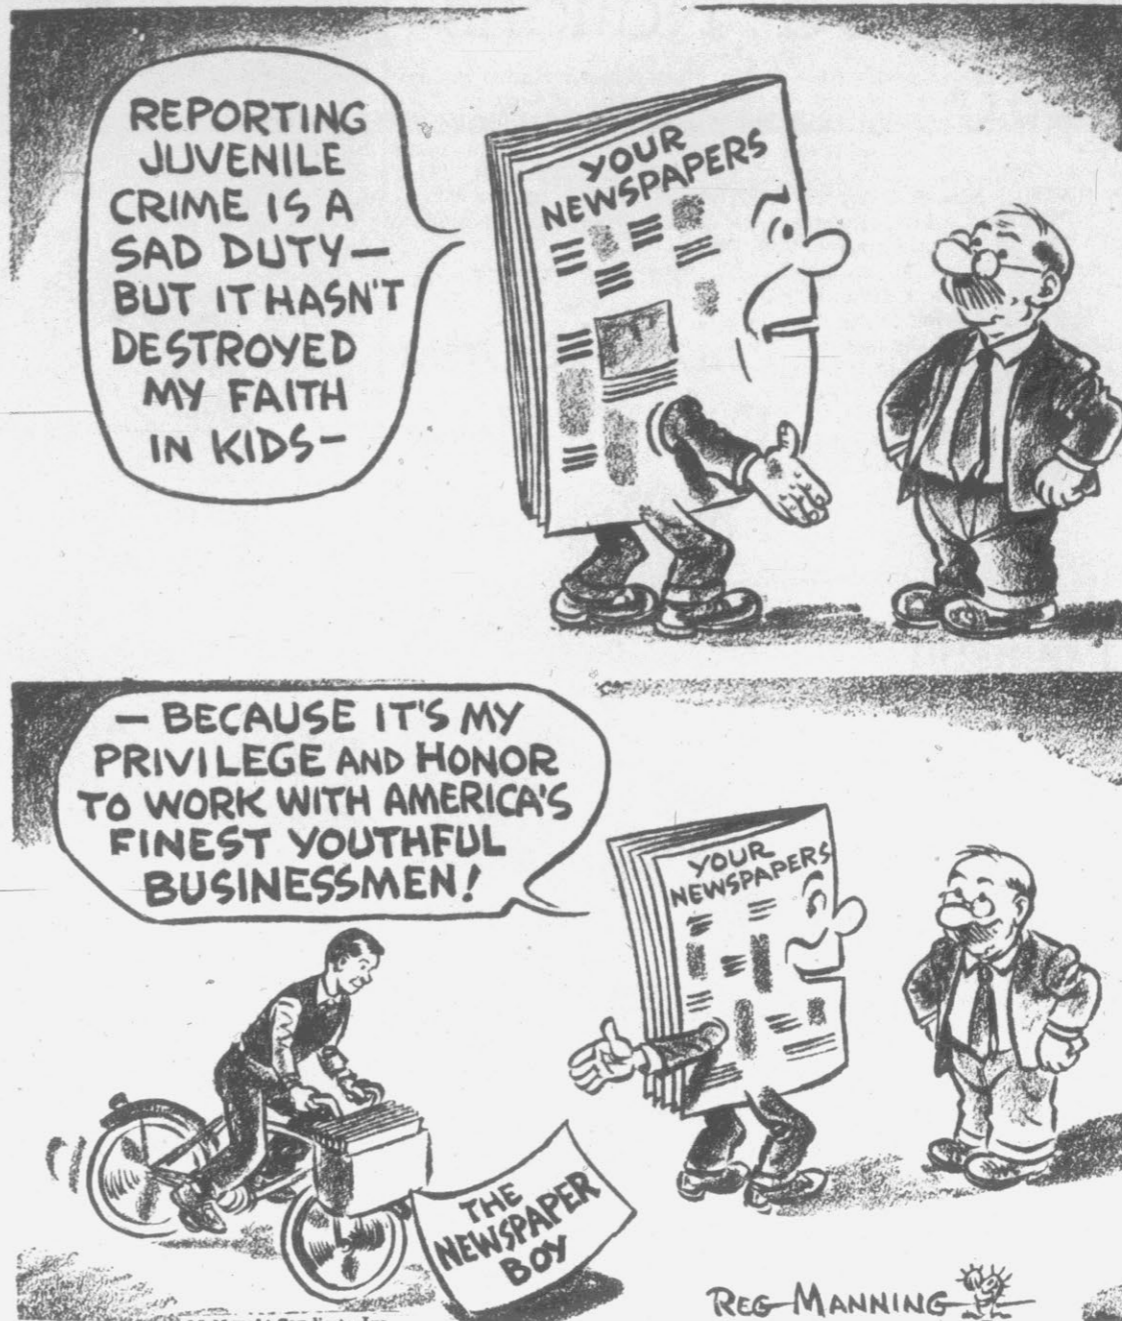

Give us, we pray, an understanding of international unity and human solidarity. Let us not forget that all men are one in their creation, in their redemption and in their sublime destiny. Give us the light to see that our country belongs to the family of nations; our people belong to the human race.

Through the centuries men have prayed and worked for peace. Often they did not have it because the rulers of tribes and nations were proud and selfish. In our time the United Nations under God seems to be our last best hope for peace. Heavenly Father, give to the leaders of the people a sense of justice and good will that this great hope may become a reality. Amen.

Inflation Here And There

Yesterday, we had a report here from the Congo regions concerning the beginnings of the marriage ritual there.

Obviously, there must be a man and a woman all "lined up for the blessed and happy event. Usually, even in America, the man is the character who takes the initiative in "lining up" the other half.

In times past — at least in Africa — the ordeal of obtaining a mate was a relatively inexpensive matter. Nowadays, since inflation has hit the Congo as well as Greenville (and Hollywood, etc.), an aspiring husband must pay dearly for a mate in the African jungles.

The "going price" for strong and healthy wives today is, according to our report, the equivalent of about 140 American dollars. This doesn't sound too bad, unless you've heard the former price.

A young native, before inflation gripped the Congo, could buy as good a wife as could be found in the entire river basin for as little as "one goat and three copper crosses."

At a meeting last night, it was interesting to note something that previously had not been called to our attention. Pitt County has a chapter of the SPEBSQSA. It had its regular (weekly) meeting last night on the East Carolina campus. In fact, last night's was the group's fourth meeting since organization.

The actual need of such an organization had never before occurred to many of us, probably, but, since it's here, maybe we can see that our chapter of SPEBSQSA can service any community.

If last night's meeting is any indication, the newly formed group will be a successful movement in and around Greenville and Pitt County.

Everyone present showed bright enthusiasm and seconds after the group was assembled, the evening's business was underway — and with total participation.

The session was carried out harmoniously with every present member having his say. It was a successful meeting.

With such evidences of harmony and participation, the local chapter of SPEBSQSA is certain to be a resounding success. In fact, it has already reached its membership requirement for national affiliation. However, it's president informs that the group will operate under a temporary license for about one year.

It's a fine thing to have such a harmonious group in our midst. Incidentally, it might be interesting to note that SPEBSQSA is spelled out: the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Incorporated.

Opinions In Brief

"Someone has said that freedom is like a handful of sand. The second you relax any of your fingers, it starts slipping away from you. We've relaxed our grip on freedom for a hand-out — for 'security'. The only people who have 'security' are the inmates of institutions; three hot a day and a place to flop. The government can't give you security without making you an inmate. And if you are an inmate of the Welfare State you still haven't really got security because the state itself will surely decay and be destroyed. They always have." — Muskogee (Oklahoma) Independent.

"The United States achieved greatness on the basis of individual freedom, free enterprise, free competition. The United States built up the highest economy the world has ever known when free enterprise was given a reasonable incentive." — Roseburg (Ore.) News-Review

Other Editors Saying ... Crossed Up Experts

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

The man generally nominated as least likely to succeed among the member of President Eisenhower's 1953 Cabinet approached his final year in office as one of the lonely trio of survivors of that original body, and certainly the most influential of the three. That would be, of course, Ezra Taft Benson, whose tenure as Secretary of Agriculture at this time six years ago was already viewed in some quarters as over-extended.

But Benson continued through the years to combat rigid farm supports—pegged when he took over at the hallowed level of 90 per cent of parity—and by and large he's been able to make his victories stand up, although not always popular.

Benson's greatest victory came as the climax of a year — long struggle between the administration and the Democratic Congress a year ago. The Agriculture Act of 1958 became law only after Democratic farm leaders failed in several attempts to write farm measures more to their liking. The 1958 Act represented the longest step Congress had taken away from the post-war policy of seeking farm prosperity through production controls and high price supports.

The price support for wheat when Benson took office was $2.21 a bushel average; for the 1960 crop it's $1.77 a bushel. Nevertheless the wheat glut continues to grow. The forecast for the 1959 crop was 1,117,430,000 bushels, as against the 10-year average of 1,075,391,000 bushels. That means a carry-over by mid-1960 of 14 billion to 15 billion bushels, enough to meet domestic needs for two years.

Corn production, with acreage eliminated, will come to a record 4,429,154,000 bushels, further swelling the corn glut. The cost to the government of storing farm surpluses runs in excess of $1.5 million each day.

So look for Benson to propose an extension of the soil bank program, with a goal of 35 million idle acres within three years. And as an inescapable corollary — from Benson's point of view—lower price supports, with the eventual aim of a loan-plus-storage program that would give the farmer protection of a price floor just under the open-market levels. Even in the election year ahead, Benson as usual can count on the firm backing of President Eisenhower.

Don't Cry For Help The Charleston, (S.C.) News And Courier

By refusing to turn to Washington unless absolutely necessary for help in cleaning up after Hurricane Gracie, Gov. Hollings has shown a sense of fiscal responsibility of a kind which we wish were more prevalent.

Washington is full of bureaucrats ready and eager to extend federal handouts to all comers. In order to qualify for such assistance, however, the state must spend about a million dollars of its own money on rehabilitation.

Though they may recognize many ways in which federal money could be used to repair damages caused by the storm, South Carolinians should stand on their own feet as far as possible in bad times as well as good. Nothing weakens the independence of people so much as willingness to run crying to Washington every time they get into trouble.

New Array Of Business Oddities

By ELMER ROESSNER Here is another array of business curiosities proving—well, that business is curious.

The U. S. Brewers Foundation is dropping its "beer is good for you" campaign despite assertions that it has medical proof. It has decided it can't fight Treasurer censors. A transcontinental van line offers to help find homes for people ordered to move from one place to another. Black pepper prices recently firmed on reports that Russia, Czechoslovakia and Hungary were making heavy purchases in India.

Because of the steel strike, there's a surplus of bed ticking. Lacking steel, manufacturers of mattresses have cut back production, cutting ticking demand. Minneapolis expects to save half the storage costs by using an inflated plastic warehouse for school supplies and equipment.

MORE NIPS There will be bigger pushes behind small bottles of liquor in states where they are legal. Constantly higher taxes are cutting into sales of "man sized" bottles. One mutual fund is offering a full refund if investors aren't satisfied within 30 days.

In the first half of independence of people so much as willingness to run crying to Washington every time they get into trouble.

The "66" has been retained, but colors of those famous gas-line station signs are being changed from yellow and black to red, white and blue. The stations, too, are getting brighter, attention-calling paint. There are 5,000,000 skiers in the U. S. reports — of all people — the American Automobile Association. The amount of money Americans spent on alcoholic beverages would pay for a new $1,232,877 schoolhouse every hour, says Mrs. Glenn G. Hays, president of the W.C.T.U.

A refrigerator company has ordered its 500 salesmen to wear gray berbes on sales calls. PLAN FOR DEATH OF 15 PER CENT

The Gallagher Report newsletter is proposing a three-year campaign for the elimination of the 15 per cent commission paid advertising agencies by media. A quicker way would be to start calling it "the 15 per cent kickback." Bedstraw can be eliminated in birdsfoot trefoil pastures with silvex, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Translated: It has a new chemical that can kill a bad weed in certain pasture growths.

Sales of frozen vegetables in Britain are shooting up, following price cuts. A total of 13,000 Americans will take round-the-world trips in 1960, American Express estimates. Industry is spending $16.5 billion for packaging this year, doubling the amount spent 12 years ago. The Canadian

Never Gets Upset

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP)—Ira Gershwin says he has enjoyed an inferiority complex all his life and it's a wonderful thing to have.

"If you're conscientious," he remarked, "an inferiority complex will make you work hard to refute your own opinion of yourself."

At 62 Gershwin, a lyric genius assured of immortality, is painfully honest about himself and his work, has no desire to be thrust upon a pedestal of personal recognition.

"My biggest goal is not to get too upset about anything," he said. "I don't want to be a celebrity. It means too much responsibility—too much mail to answer."

It was back in 1917 that Ira, a Lower East-Side kid-first learning the magic of words, mailed a half-page fable to the old Smart Set magazine. Back came a check for $1.

"Sure, I cashed the check," he recalled. "I needed the money." In the 42 years since then, Ira has written the words for some 800 musical works, including such standard songs as "The Man I Love," "Embraceable You," "Love Walked In," "They Can't Take That Away from Me."

He teamed memorably with such noted composers as his brother, George Gershwin, Jerome Kern, Kurt Weill, Harold Arlen and Arthur Schwartz. He has captured the flavor of those historic years in the American musical theater in a new book.

Although a single song has earned him more than $20,000, he insists neither fame nor fortune is the greatest reward.

"Many fine plays and novels, unfortunately, fall by the wayside after three or four years," he said. "But if you are lucky enough to turn out a good song, 30 years later you can hear it and still feel you're active."

"That's the real reward. It makes you feel young-as if you just wrote the song yesterday."

Tolerant of imperfection in everyone except himself, Ira is stout, slow-moving, wryly friendly to all. He is a compulsive reader, complains he feels guilty if he puts down even a catalogue without reading all the print in it. He collects dictionaries, paintings and cigars.

"My favorite hobby is staying home," he said. "And my second favorite hobby is not going out much."

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS FAMILY LIFE

Recently the newspaper carried the story of an elderly couple who committed suicide in their tiny apartment. They had led sober, industrious lives and had retired in their old age on a small pension. But the inflationary rise in the cost of living left them without money to pay for their food, rent, and medical expenses. Distressed by poverty and debt, they could not bear to go on living.

In the tragic overtone to this story is that the couple had a son in easy circumstances who could well have helped them. Perhaps they did not want to ask him. Perhaps he had lost touch with them. Somehow, the tragedy occurred.

Events of this kind are a symptom of a sickness in our society—an increasing weakness in the family relationship. Families do not stick together as they used to do. The old idea of a strong family group living generation after generation in the same locality, knowing their cousins, nephews, grandchildren, and so on, supporting each other in times of stress—this idea is no longer prevalent.

"Honor your father and your mother, that your days may be long in the land which the Lord your God gives you." The Fifth Commandment is still valid. A strong, wholesome family life is still the foundation of our society. And we may look for worse days to come upon our land unless we heed it.

Congressman Says U.S. Must Help Channel Latin America's Energies

"An epic revolution is under way in Latin America," Congressman Charles O. Porter of Oregon said at East Carolina College last night. "We must help channel it in the right direction." He emphasized ways of aiding in the establishment of democratic governments in countries to the south of us.

Speaking under the sponsorship of the Danforth Foundation Project at the college, Rep. Porter concluded a series of four addresses made at the college Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Cites Outlays To Few Students

GREENSBORO (AP)—The business manager of Greensboro A&T College says the school is operating an 80-acre dairy farm for the benefit of 4 per cent of the student enrollment.

E. Ray Hodgkin, business manager of the state-operated school who has been at odds with the college president, Warmoth Gibbs, Tuesday discussed the farm, the school's faculty and a vocational institute operated by the school with a group of state officials.

Heading the state officers was Paul Johnston, director of the State Department of Administration.

Hodgkin said in his opinion the school is spending too much money for instruction and services for the benefit of a few students. He said about 106 students are majoring in specialized agricultural courses.

"We're operating a dairy farm for two students and a poultry flock for one."

He said in his opinion some departments of the school are top-heavy with faculty members. He said also that it cost the college's vocational school last year $30,000 to teach 38 students.

of the great opportunities offered this country in our relationships with our neighbors to the South. Porter stated last night. He outlined a four-point program through which he said we can maintain a strong foreign policy toward Central and South American countries.

We must, he said, stand strongly for democracy by adopting negative policies toward dictators. We must refuse to help them, he explained, while at the same time we must preserve "correct but cool" diplomatic relationships with them.

On the positive side, we must offer help, he declared, to the nascent democracies struggling to establish and maintain free forms of government.

For better understanding and better relationships, he advocated exchange of people between North America and Latin America.

"We must," he declared, "be generous in making loans and offering economic assistance."

Misunderstanding between the United States and the countries of Latin America has increased in recent years, he said. "It is not too late," he continued, "to change our policies, but we must make a very serious effort to restore good relationships and to achieve hemispheric solidarity."

Vice President Nixon's tour in 1958 brought into focus, he said, the resentment of our neighbors toward us. This resentment, he stated, was not against Nixon personally but against the policies and attitudes of the people he represented as a government official.

The countries of Central and South America, he said, are determined to establish for themselves a democratic way of life. That is why, he stated, such leaders as Castro are important as they seek better government and better conditions for the people.

Differences in background explain why we achieved a democratic form of government sooner than our neighbors did, Mr. Porter said. We inherited the English system of government, he explained, while Spanish and Portuguese colonists brought with them a feudal system of government in which the vast majority had no opportunity to participate. Revolution, he said, became in Latin America the regular method of overthrowing the power of dictators.

Though revolutions have changed forms of government, he continued, they have not rooted out such evils as poverty and lack of educational advantages.

Economically also, he said, the Latin American countries, areas of great wealth, are underdeveloped. The appalling pattern of economic life there, he explained, is wealth in the hands of a few while the many live in hunger and poverty. The people in these countries have, he stated, an intense desire to share in the prosperity of more fully developed nations.

The people of Central and South America, Porter declared, will keep trying to establish democracy in their countries. Already Peron and other dictators have been overthrown, Porter predicted an early end to the two existing authoritarian governments in Latin America—those in the Dominican Republic and Venezuela.

That is why, he stated, such leaders as Castro are important as they seek better government and better conditions for the people.

Novel Museum Is Opened Today

By W. G. ROGERS
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—A museum built round and round like a corkscrew opens here today to the public.

The only major contribution to the looks of this metropolis by the late pioneering architect Frank Lloyd Wright, it is the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, on 5th Avenue between 88th and 89th Streets.

Outside, it looks like a giant loasted popover. The diameter at the summit is 123 feet and only 100 feet at the base.

Inside a ribbon of wall and inclined floor circles upward from the main central court, with pictures hung only on the outside wall. Stand on the ground floor and look up and you see a great expanding bowl rising in soft white spiraling stripes to a glass dome.

The ramp's floor rises at a 3 per cent grade.

The daring design represents a radical break with traditional structures in Europe as well as in this country. Though the building occupies only a corner of a city block, the display ramp is more than a quarter mile long.

For the show for today's first visitors (admission 50 cents) Director James Johnson Sweeney chose 134 pieces from the works of 75 painters and sculptors.

The building in theory accommodates 1,500 spectators. They view the show from a ramp wide enough to let them stand back for the necessary perspective.

Recognition And Bargaining With Union Is Advised

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trial examiner for the National Labor Relations Board has recommended that the Jesse Jones Sausage Co. and Jones Abattoir Co. of Garner, N.C., recognize and bargain collectively with the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, AFL-CIO.

Examiner James A. Shaw's findings, announced today, were made on protests filed by union and management following a supervised election Jan. 6, 1959.

Of 76 eligible voters, 34 cast ballots for the union, 35 against and 14 ballots were challenged. However, on May 29, the NLRB issued a "revised tally" of votes, finding 43 for the union and 36 against representation.

Employees affected by Shaw's order included the head chopper, head grinder, smokehouse men, garage employees and employees in the plant who drive trucks.

The earliest cigarette-making machine was patented in the 1870s.

President Leaves Today On Five-Day Visit To Augusta

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower left today for a five-day visit to Augusta, Ga., hoping that golfing in sunshine there would help him shake off a lingering cold.

The President flew in the Colombine II, the four-engine propeller plane he used when he first entered office.

Some rain was forecast for the Augusta area today and Thursday but it will be warmer than Washington. The temperature was 54 degrees as Eisenhower left.

Accompanying the President on the trip were two of his golfing companions, Cliff Roberts, president of the Augusta National Golf Club, and Ellis Slater, a member of the club and chairman of the board of National Distillers.

Eisenhower plans to return to Washington Sunday evening or early Monday morning.

While Eisenhower still has lingering traces of the cold he caught last month, press secretary James C. Hagerty said this was not a major factor in the decision to go to Augusta. He also said the President's general health is excellent.

Hagerty announced late Tuesday that in mid-afternoon Eisenhower had made up his mind "just like that"—and the press secretary snapped his fingers—to pay his 23rd visit to the Augusta National Golf Club since his election in 1952. The famed course—shut down each year from May until mid-November—is being opened about three weeks early to receive the President.

Hagerty said Eisenhower's decision to go was prompted by forecasts the Augusta weather will be warm and sunny the rest of the week.

In order to make the trip the President canceled a news conference he had scheduled for this morning in Washington. He did arrange separate White House meetings, just ahead of departure, with Secretary of State Christian

A. Herter and leaders of the government's space and missile programs.

In response to a question, Hagerty said the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, had not urged Eisenhower to go to Augusta.

"There is no serious health reason," Hagerty said in repeating that traces of the President's cold do remain. "He just wants to get some exercise and sun. He is going to try, whenever possible, to get away for a few days to a warmer climate."

On Snyder's recommendation the President spent from Sept. 30 to Oct. 8 in Palm Springs, Calif. The doctor prescribed a warm, dry climate at that time because of the cold Eisenhower caught about Labor Day.

A couple of days before the President went to Southern California he was noticeably hoarse at a Washington news conference. At the end of the Palm Springs visit Snyder reported that Eisenhower's health was greatly improved.

Shortly after the President returned to Washington, Mrs. Eisenhower came down with a cold which has kept her indoors for more than a week. She is not accompanying her husband to Augusta.

On A Hillside

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall rests today on a Virginia hillside overlooking Washington, where he served so long as a man of war and a man of peace.

He was buried Tuesday at Arlington National Cemetery near the Tomb of the Unknowns.

Two men whose careers were closely intertwined with Marshall's attended the services at Ft. Myer Chapel.

They were President Eisenhower, who was plucked from obscurity by Marshall to become Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces in Europe in World War II, and former President Harry S. Truman.

Eisenhower and Truman, cool to each other since politics put them on opposite sides of the fence, nodded solemnly and shook hands. They had not met face to face for six years.

Surprise, Owed Taxes On His Subscriptions

RALEIGH (AP)—A businessman got a surprise recently when a state tax auditor informed him that he owed a 3 per cent tax on the business magazine subscriptions he had paid since 1955.

And, Revenue Commissioner James S. Currie said, the tax auditor was correct. He pointed out that the state's use tax, put on the books in 1939, requires Tar Heels to pay a 3 per cent levy on articles they buy in other states.

Prior to 1957, most printed matter was exempt from the sales and use tax. However, the law was amended that year. As a result, Revenue Department regulations were changed to say that "sales of magazines, periodicals and all publications other than newspapers, whether made over the counters or by subscriptions are subject to the sales or use tax."

Currie said that technically the use tax applies to most magazine subscriptions by Tar Heel householders, but he said "there is no way in the world to police all the little stuff."

He said, however, that when a magazine subscription shows up on a businessman's records during a tax audit they are "easy to see."

The Legislature enacted the use tax to protect Tar Heel merchants who must collect the sales tax from competition from out-of-state merchants. But there is little the Revenue Department can do to collect the tax in many cases.

Currie said that of the five million dollars the state collected last year in use taxes, motor vehicles accounted for by far the biggest part.

On cars the tax is easy to collect. "If you don't pay the use tax," Currie said, "you don't register the car."

Registration

Registration is scheduled to begin at 9:30 tomorrow morning for the Annual Carolina Parents-Teacher Conference of District 10 to be held in the St. Pauls Episcopal Church.

Mrs. J. Z. Watkins, president of the N. C. Congress of Parents and Teachers, will give the main address at the conference after an official "call to order" at 10:00 a.m.

Others taking part in the program will be Mrs. W. L. Flowers, second vice president of the N. C. P.T.A. Pitt County Representative Walter Jones, Dr. Frank Fuller of East Carolina College, Mrs. George Douglas of Greenville, and Mrs. Lacy Harrell, president of the Greenville P.T.A. Council.

Counties included in District Pamlico, Jones, Lenoir, Craven, Carteret, and Onslow.

Mrs. J. H. Spotanski of Elkhart is director of the District while Mrs. Lacy Harrell of Greenville is vice-director. Mrs. Mable Bunch of Bath is secretary.

Harmony Move, But Segregated

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Negro Democrats have been invited to the Arkansas Democratic harmony dinner here on Oct. 30, but they will be seated at segregated tables.

Harold Jinks, regional party representative, said Tuesday that Negroes "are certainly welcome at the dinner. But in line with the policies of the South they will be seated at their own tables."

Oyster Shucker Found 48 Pearls

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—An oyster shucker at a local sea food market, Charles Wanz, found 48 pearls in an oyster Tuesday.

Prof. John S. McDermott, biologist at Franklin and Marshall College, said that "48 pearls in a single oyster are unheard of as far as I know."

Wanz gave the pearls to the school's biology department after jewelers said they were irregular and worthless except for science and curiosity.

Rockefeller Beachhead Established In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York wound up a Chicago visit today after establishing a beachhead from which he could battle Vice President Richard M. Nixon for midwestern support for the Republican presidential nomination. Rockefeller made no sweeping inroads during a two-day stay here on the strong support Nixon commands in the Midwest. But the New York governor gained a little ground in meetings with newspaper executives and Republican leaders. Several conceded that, while they were not sold on Rockefeller, they were impressed by him and would not rush into any final decision on a presidential candidate. Rockefeller met Tuesday night with several prominent Midwestern businessmen at the exclusive Chicago Club. The list of guests was kept secret but it reportedly included some of the top contributors to GOP campaigns. The Rockefeller forces hope this foot in the door will expand into a full-fledged Rockefeller for president boom in the Midwest. The Chicago visit was the first of a series Rockefeller plans into politically-strategic areas throughout the country. He will visit California, Oregon, New England and probably Wisconsin next month. His approach probably will be the same it was in Chicago—speeches on top national issues before large groups and emphasis on personality and charm in meetings with small ones. While the Nixon-Rockefeller contest grows increasingly more prominent on the national political scene, Rockefeller insists "I am not now a candidate." But Chicago treated him as a candidate. The New York governor provided ample ground for this view. He told a meeting of the Inland Daily Press Assn. Tuesday that he plans to speak in various parts of the country on such topics as foreign affairs, national defense, the nation's economy, farm policy and education. He met here with a group of Wisconsin Republicans interested in seeing him run for the party nomination and made tentative plans to appear next month in that state, site of a strategic presidential primary next year.

Housewife Claims Role As FBI Agent

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A housewife says she served in the Communist party for 15 years as an undercover agent for the FBI. "My principal job was to infiltrate the Douglas Aircraft Plant in Santa Monica," Moisele Clinger, 42, told the House Un-American Activities Committee Tuesday. "I was asked to supply the names of engineers and technicians whom I considered to be 'liberal.'" She said she left the Communist party three years ago. "I reported to the FBI at least once a week," Mrs. Clinger told the committee. "I decided to quit when, after 15 years, I became sick of it all. I thought I had done all I could do, physically. In other words, I'd had it."

Trapped By Fall Of Live Wires

DETROIT (AP)—Live electrical wires trapped a dozen passengers inside a city bus for 20 minutes Tuesday. Driver David M. Murdock blamed the whole thing on a dispute over a transfer. Murdock, 55, told police the bus rammed a utility pole when he leaned over to take a swing with his fist at passenger Oscar Horton, 54. Murdock said Horton struck him first when the driver questioned the validity of a transfer.

Tot Strangled Self In Window

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Little Susan Kirk, 2½, was playing in the family station wagon. A button which sends a window glass up and down caught her interest. She leaned out the window and pushed the button. The window rose, forced her neck against the top of the door and she strangled. That is the way police reconstructed her death Tuesday. Two boy scouts found her wedged in the window. Susan was the youngest of the Rev. Jon W. Kirk's five children.

Strikes Cost Showing In Very Personal Way

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The toll of strikes in steel and other industries is showing up in a very personal way. The total of individual incomes is falling and the total of personal debts continues to rise.

This is embarrassing to the individuals whose incomes have tumbled. It's disturbing to the merchants and manufacturers who want to sell their consumer products.

And it just makes that much more troublesome the pressing problems of the U. S. Treasury now trying to make up its mind about how to handle the billions of outstanding U. S. securities about to come due.

The Commerce Department now figures that personal incomes hit their peak in June, before the steel, glass, copper, and meat industry strikes started.

A few weeks ago it had estimated that the peak was reached in July. Now it finds that its first guesses on July and August incomes were too high. And it finds

His Role In Long-Running Play Stretched 26 Years

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If Neely Edwards seems bereft today, there's good reason. He has just finished what must be by far the longest run of any actor in American show business.

"The Drunkard" finished its historic run at the Theater Mart last weekend. The Victorian melodrama, first produced by P. T. Barnum, began its run in 1933, when the nation was engaged in New Deal alphabetics.

Trespass Case Now In Hands Of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Supreme Court had under advisement today the case of five Greensboro, N. C., Negroes convicted of trespassing on a golf course where they were playing.

The High Court Tuesday heard arguments on whether racial discrimination was involved.

The five were arrested as they played on the city-owned Gillespie Park golf course, which had been leased to a private corporation. They were convicted of trespassing by a Greensboro city court and the convictions were upheld by the State Supreme Court.

The five appealed, contending they were excluded from the course because they were Negroes.

The state, which claimed no racial discrimination was involved, said the five did not show that they were members of the club or that they might be eligible to play as visitors from another golf club.

incomes in September down from June about 4 1/2 billion dollars at an annual rate. The drop is largely in the wage and salary category.

The Securities and Exchange Commission puts individual debts at a record total of 158 billion dollars. It reports that this year has seen a record rise in residential mortgage debt and a near record jump in consumer debt.

Most economists insist that personal incomes, rising this year until June, are high enough to sustain the gains in, and the total of, individual debts.

The embarrassment to the Treasury is along two fronts.

First, it is trying to balance a federal budget where the line between income and outgo is very slight at best. A falling personal income total can mean a lower tax collection than the Treasury first counted upon.

Second, falling incomes can lead to less total savings. And savings are what government and business tap when they need new funds for operations or expansion.

Through earthquake, flood, recession, war and prosperity, the show continued its high-hearted attachment against demon rum. Rising costs and dwindling business finally caught up with "The Drunkard," putting Neely Edwards out of a job for the first time in 26 years. But he isn't worried.

"I never had to look for a job in my life," said Neely, now a spry 76. "Even when it looked like a catastrophe for me, something always came up. I'll let God take his course."

Firemen Called, But No Blaze

The entertainer fell into the job by chance. He had started his professional career in New York in 1904, worked his way up through burlesque to bigtime vaudeville as partner with Ed Flanagan, sire of Dennis O'Keefe, and also Bunny Granville, Bonita's father.

"I had made comedies at Universal for six years," Neely recalled, "and then I went East to appear with Ed in the last 10 or 12 weeks of bigtime vaudeville. I came back to free-lance in pictures when they offered me the job in 'The Drunkard'."

He started on New Year's eve in 1934, a few months after the show opened. There he remained, playing the comic bartender and singing and hoofing in the after-show.

Greenville firemen were called to Box 71 at the intersection of Bancroft and Battle Sts. about 6:32 p.m. yesterday.

According to Fire Department officers, no fire was found and no one was at the box when trucks arrived.

Hodges Asserts State 'Moving Along Road'

SHELBY, N.C. (AP)—Progress on the farm and advances in industrialization are moving North Carolina along the road to its full economic potential, Gov. Luther Hodges declared today. "Only with the influx of new industries and the revolutionary changes that have taken place in our overall economy, have we become fully aware of the great potential that we possess," he said. His comments were in a speech prepared for delivery at the dedication of a big Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plant which will turn out fiber glass.

FBI Finds Infant Taken By Babysitter

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—FBI officials said today a 10-week-old child taken from its Covington, Ky. home by a babysitter nearly three weeks ago is in good health. The FBI located the infant here Tuesday. Special Agent Wallace R. Hoagland said the baby, Martin Van Mason, had been left in the care of Mrs. Barbara O'Neill, 34. On Oct. 3, Mrs. O'Neill asked permission of the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Darryl Mason, to take the child to Ft. Bragg, N.C., where she said she had to transact some business. Mason said Mrs. O'Neill communicated with him after leaving Covington but did not return when she said she would.

The FBI in Covington filed a complaint Monday with William Seidenfaden, U.S. commissioner in Newport, charging the babysitter with violation of the federal kidnaping statute. The woman was arraigned Tuesday before Commissioner T. L. Hon at Fayetteville. She is being held at Cumberland County, N.C., jail pending return to Covington. The charge filed in Covington said: "She did knowingly transport an infant in interstate commerce from Covington to Fayetteville, the infant having been unlawfully abducted and carried away and having been decoyed and inveigled from his parents, and then held the infant with the intention of retaining custody of the child and representing him as being her lawful son."

The child is at a hospital in Fayetteville. Mason planned to come to Fayetteville today to return the child to Covington.

AP specialist in military and space affairs, interviewed Maj. Gen. Medaris in September on the progress of the Saturn program. His story, released in October, had repercussions in high places. Here he analyzes what led up to Medaris' decision to resign.

By BEM PRICE WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. John Bruce Medaris, stepping down as army missile chief after four years of rocket successes and political defeats, says he is not quitting because of dissatisfaction with the U.S. space program. The announcement that he will retire Jan. 31 came just seven days after the White House reportedly told him to shut up.

From Church Killed On Way

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Mrs. Essie Gayle Nash, 69, was hit and killed by an automobile near here Tuesday night as she walked home from church, police reported. The motorist told officers she was crossing the road in front of him. Patrolman J. M. Taylor said the car driven by Brownie Moore, Query of Rt. 4, Matthews skidded 34 feet before hitting Mrs. Nash, skidding another 69 feet and overturning. Query was treated for minor injuries.

Medaris said, however, he had submitted his resignation more than 60 days ago. "That should make it plain to you," he told a New York news conference Tuesday, "that some present-day problems were in no way connected with my decision." The resignation, he said, was "not a matter of protest or personal dissatisfaction."

Medaris, 58, said he had been under strain for seven years and was very tired. But he conceded there was some inter-service top echelon "dickering, argument and debate" over the nation's space program. He estimated the Soviet Union is about five years ahead of the United States in space and "we'd better just go like hell" to catch up.

Early in September Medaris received word that his big missile and space team, the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, might be transferred to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The two-star general already had received word that his funds for project Saturn, key to the U.S. big leap into space, had been cut from 135 million dollars to 70 million.

Saturn is the code name for the effort to develop a 1 1/2 million pound thrust rocket engine. In an interview at his headquarters in Huntsville, Ala., Sept. 16, Medaris appeared touchy and irritable. He finally admitted he was "mad enough to go through the roof." The interview was to be the basis for a story on Saturn due for October release.

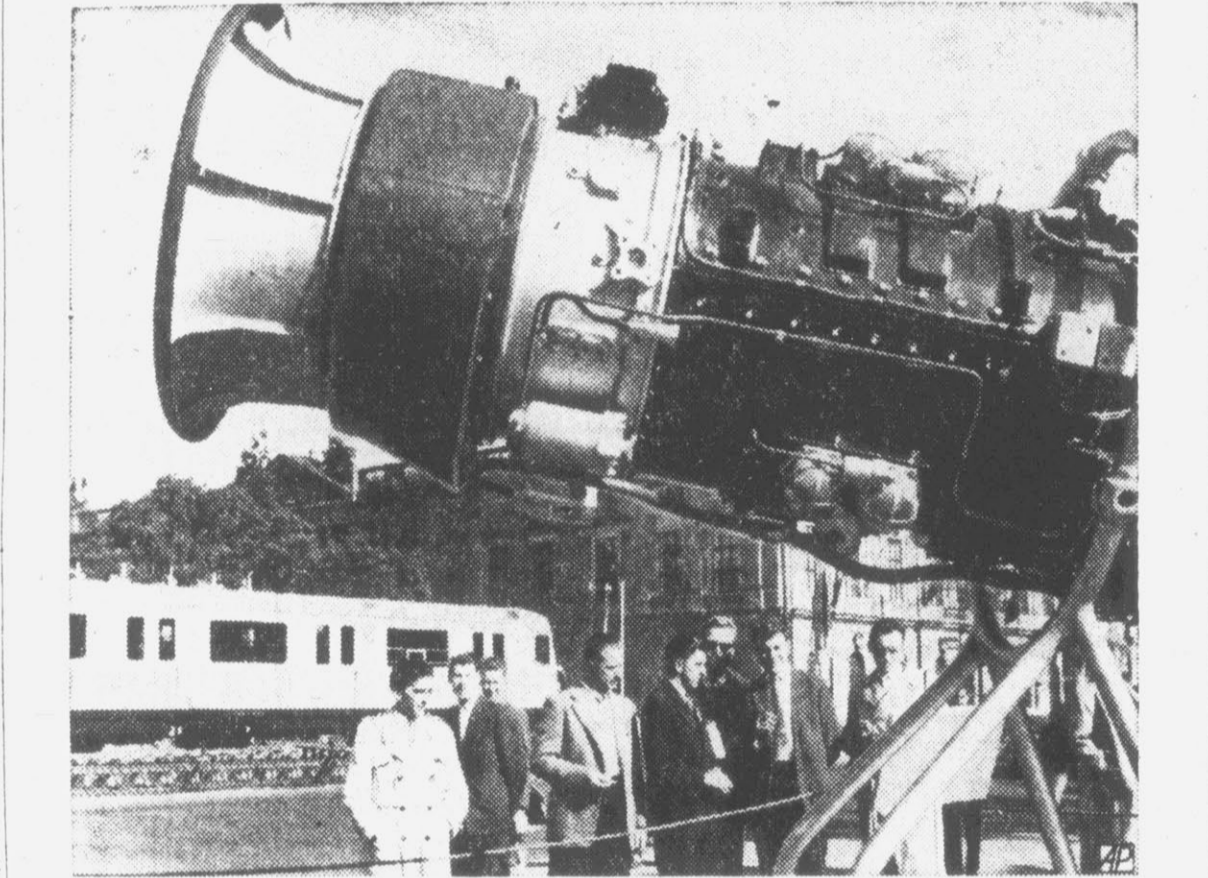

Shortly after this interview the fact that the Nike-Zeus antimissile missile program was undergoing a re-evaluation became public.

On Oct. 12 the Medaris interview of Sept. 16 was published. Medaris was critical of the progress being made on the Saturn program and, indeed, the whole U.S. space program. "The basic problem is simple," he said, "There must be a positive decision. Are we or are we not going to compete with the Russians? If we are there has to be a solid, well-financed program. Right now we are straddling the issue."

On Oct. 13 an army general, who cannot be identified, reported that "the Medaris story has certainly raised hell. The White House complained to Gates and Gates complained to Lemnitzer and Lemnitzer was told to tell Medaris to shut up."

The general was referring to Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas Gates and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff.

The general would not say who in the White House had made the complaint.

CHESSMAN NEAR DATE WITH DEATH—Caryl Chessman gestures during a news conference in California's San Quentin Prison Monday after Gov. Edmund G. Brown refused to commute his death sentence to life in prison. Chessman has been under the death sentence since 1948 after conviction on a long series of kidnaping and robbery charges. He is scheduled to die in the gas chamber Oct. 23. Legal maneuvers have delayed execution of his death sentence for 11 years. (AP Wirephoto)

South Carolina, Clemson Near Time Of Hot Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Was that quivering salvo of righteous indignation from Clemson football Coach Frank Howard the first phase in a new offensive aimed at South Carolina?
While South Carolina officials ponder Howard's figures on ticket allotments, will Clemson trip up the Gamecocks in their final Big Thursday game?
The traditional series at the State Fair in Columbia dating to 1896 will end with Thursday's game. Thereafter, it will be played on a home-and-home basis. Howard was the chief lobbyist in ending the State Fair game; the University of South Carolina wanted it continued.
The booming sound of Howard's voice Tuesday may cause more commotion than the game, a feat in itself since 45,000 frantic fans annually witness the emotional battle. Howard threatened to end the series if Clemson doesn't get an even split of the tickets.
Howard complained that South Carolina wants to allow Clemson 5,000 tickets as visiting team, that South Carolina's 58 per cent cut in the Big Thursday tickets was unfair and that the Gamecocks have been running their entire athletic program on the annual Thursday game.
Don Barton, athletic information director for South Carolina, offered a tight-lipped reply. He said the two schools have agreed to 12,000 tickets for the visiting team. He said the 58 per cent figure is not a true indication of how many tickets actually are available since South Carolina handles all the complimentary obligations and has a bigger student body.
Howard, meanwhile, moved his squad of 47 nearer to the battle scene with a Wednesday stop at Batesburg. Tuesday's contact drills were the first since the start of the season that he had all of his team in shape to play.
While he unleashed his verbal offensive, he worked his players on defense.
South Carolina Coach Warren Giese, who had predicted several times recently that Clemson is stirring up a new offensive wrinkle for his team, sought to hone his blades with a non-contact drill and hinted darkly he may have a new offensive wrinkle of his own. However, all of the pre-game wrinkles have been in the coaches' foreheads.
The preliminary fireworks haven't dimmed the fact that both teams are 3-1 overall; that Clemson leads the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 3-0 record and that South Carolina, with a 1-1 ACC mark, needs to win the game to stay in contention.
Things were less bombastic in other ACC camps Tuesday.
Duke, which invades North Carolina State Saturday, held a light, non-contact practice because of the large number of injuries. But State held a long practice concentrated on defensive assignments and blocking. State sophomore quarterback Roman Gabriel likely will miss the game because of injuries but Duke's sophomore caller, Don Altman, may be able to play despite a shoulder injury.
Wake Forest and North Carolina will meet at Winston-Salem. Wake Forest quarterback Norman Snead's passing ability caused a stress on his defense in the Tar Heel camp. Coach Paul Amen, pointing out his line has yielded an average of 210 yards in five

Illinois Guard Is Standout

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
It's a rarity when sports writers at a football game peg their stories on a lineman. To achieve such a distinction the usually unsung boy up front has to do something extraordinary.
Bill Burrell, Illinois guard, hit the headlines in spectacular fashion last Saturday against Minnesota. His sterling play against the Gophers brought him added recognition today as lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.
Burrell made 16 tackles, recovered a fumble and stole a pass in a 14-6 triumph over Minnesota.
The 207-pound Negro captain of the Illinois from Clifton, Ill., recovered a Minnesota fumble at mid-field in the second quarter to start his team's first scoring drive.
Another guard, Bill Davis of Wichita, gained honor as the Missouri Valley Conference lineman of the week for his play that helped the shockers gain a 28-28 tie with Cincinnati. Davis made seven unassisted tackles and intercepted a pass.
A couple of ends—Lee Folkins of the University of Washington and George Van Vleet of Southern California—were honored for their play in the same game.
Folkins was named the Big Five's lineman of the week. He played nearly the whole game against the victorious Trojans. He caught four passes good for 52 yards and was a standout on defense. Vlet made seven tackles, recovered a fumble which led to Southern Cal's first touchdown and caught a pass for a 2-point conversion in a 22-15 triumph.
Ken Rice, Auburn tackle, led the 71-yard drive that led to a 7-6 surprise that knocked Georgia Tech out of the unbeaten ranks. The 250-pounder constantly opened the holes for Auburn.

Moore Batters British Champ In First Round

LONDON (AP)—World featherweight champion Davey Moore took just 2 minutes, 55 seconds to batter Bobby Neill, British titleholder, to a humiliating defeat Tuesday night.
With barely a bead of sweat on his body after the fight, the 26-year-old champion from Springfield, Ohio, said:
"Boy, I wish they all were like that. I caught him right on the button."
It wasn't Moore's fastest victory though. He beat "Bird" Marino in 2 minutes 28 seconds.
Neill, 26, who made three comebacks after suffering crippling injuries in road accidents and a broken jaw in a fight had no time to show anything but courage.
Four times he smashed to the canvas only to hoist himself painfully back into a battle that was never more than a massacre.
Near tears in his dressing room after Referee Tommy Little mercifully stopped the fight with five seconds of the first round still to go, the plucky little Scot said he had no plans to quit the ring.

Bass Keeps Lead In North State Rushing Stats

GREENSBORO (AP)—Western Carolina's Bobby Cooper and East Carolina's Glenn Bass have kept their individual leaderships in North State Conference football action.
Cooper strengthened his margin slightly in the total offense department, picking up 105 yards in his team's victory over East Carolina, with a total of 655 yards.
Cooper maintained his passing leadership with 41 completed passes in 70 attempts for 49 yards. Elton's Charlie Maidon with 40 completions in 99 attempts for 50 yards was behind him.
Bass and his teammate James Speight remained 1-2 in the rushing department. Bass has picked up 476 yards and Speight 423. Guilford's John Meroney was third on 96 yards.
Ralph Zehring of East Carolina surprised in 1958, will continue to rely on his most potent weapon—the forward pass—to keep it among the gridiron greats.
That's the word from Ben Martin, who coached the Falcons to an undefeated season last year and to a scoreless tie with Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl.
"We're going to throw one pass in approximately every three scrimmage plays this season," says Martin, whose Falcons wound up with a 9-0 record during his first year as boss.
Martin has just the fellows he wants to fill the air with passes—"complete offensive units, each possessing what Ben describes as a 'different look.'"
The aerial ringleader is quarterback Rich Mayo, who finished fourth among the nation's passers last year when he completed 98 to 174 passes for 1,019 yards and 11 touchdowns. He's fully recovered from a wrist fracture.
The Falcons' No. 2 passer is southpaw Johnny Kuenzel, whose split pitches last year found their marks 31 times for 289 yards and two touchdowns. He threw 51.
In addition, the Falcons have a varsity newcomer in Johnny Goodiey, a rangy, 180-pounder from Evansville, Ind., who specializes in long passes.
"Goodiey will help us," asserts Martin. "He's a good thrower and a good ball handler."
Martin has four outstanding ends in Bob Brickey, Jim Kerr, Sam Hardage and Charles McCain, all with fine speed.
Rounding out the first unit backfield with Mayo are halfbacks Mike Quinlan and Phil Lane and fullback George Pupich, a 1953 halfback.
Kuenzel likely will call signals for a second backfield that will also consist of halfbacks Ron Stoner and Don Baucom and fullback Monte Moorberg.
"Our No. 1 unit is not designed to be our passing unit any more than our second unit is the running team," explains Martin. "If

Mooty Becomes Top Candidate

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Speedy halfback Jim Mooty, after twice quitting the Arkansas Razorback football team, has become a candidate for All-American honors. And his loudest booster is his coach, Frank Broyles.
"I don't know what criteria they use for judging All-American football players," Broyles said after his team's tough workout in preparation for the Mississippi game Saturday. "But Jim Mooty has done everything you could ask of any player."
Mooty, a 165-pound scabback who loses 10 pounds per game but gains it back during the week, was named All-Southwest Conference last year as a junior. That was after leaving the team for two games, then asking to return and being unanimously voted back by his teammates.
Last spring, doctors told him he would have to quit football because of recurring headaches and dizzy spells, but treatment and new examinations this fall cleared him for combat.
Since then he's been the backbone of a Razorback team that has won four games and lost one—to third-ranked Texas.
Mooty ranks second in the Southwest Conference in rushing yards. He has gained 297 yards in 54 tries, an average of 5.5 yards per carry. He ranks 50 yards behind Texas Christian's great fullback, Jack Spikes.
"But he's been vital to our entire game," Broyles said, "as a tremendous runner, a touch blocker, and a great defender. There has been absolutely nothing lacking."
Mooty averaged 5.5 yards per try last year. Among his credits were a 100-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against Hardin-Simmons.
And he wants to play professional football. "I don't think I'm too small," he said. "Maybe I could play defense or kick or something. The Calgary club in the Canadian League already has drafted him."

Burdette And Bunning Pace

NEW YORK (AP)—Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves gave up 38 home runs in 1958, the most allowed by any major league pitcher. This was 20 more than he yielded in 1957.
Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers paced the American League in kopher balls the past season with 37.
Burdette's chief tormentors were the Chicago Cubs, figures released by the Associated Press showed today. The Cubs slammed 11 homers off the right-handed veteran. Ernie Banks of the Cubs and Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco tagged Burdette for four homers each.
Burdette worked 290 innings, winning 21 games and losing 15. In 1958, he pitched 275 innings, allowing only 18 homers with a 20-10 record.
Bunning, also a right-hander pitched 250 innings the past year and had a 17-13 record. The Cleveland Indians hit him for nine homers and Kansas City for seven.

Cuban Favored In Fight Tonight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Luis Rodriguez, the Cuban welterweight whose technique of pouring on the punches has brought him undefeated through his last 24 fights, is a 2-1 favorite to lick Isaac Logart in their 10 round bout tonight.
The 22-year-old Rodriguez, sixth among welters, beat the No. 2 contender, Rudell Stuch, and former champion Virgil Akins earlier this year. The 10th ranked Logart, defeated in his last three

Robbins Is Man To Beat

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Long Tom Robbins of Pinehurst loomed as the man to beat in the North and South Seniors Golf Tournament which moved into its second round today.
The 66-year-old missed by only three strokes shooting his age as he won a brilliantly played first round match Tuesday from James McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill., 3 and 1.
Robbins, 1956 winner of the tournament and the 1958 U.S. Golf Assn. senior champion, weathered a late birdie flurry to close out McAlvin with a birdie of his own on the short 17th hole. He played out the final hole for exercise and added a par to finish the round three under with a sparkling 69.
That performance and the 1-up defeat of medalist Allen Rankin of Columbus, Ohio, by Paul Dunkel of Hackensack, N. J., were the first day features.
Robbins has a 55-13-7 record.
Both men are natives of Camaguey, Cuba, but Rodriguez now lives in Havana and Logart in New York. Rodriguez, who throws an unusual number of punches per round, holds the Cuban welterweight title.

Air Force Club Uses Forward Pass Weapon

By ROBERT L. MOORE
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The Air Force Academy college football's biggest surprise in 1958, will continue to rely on its most potent weapon—the forward pass—to keep it among the gridiron greats.
That's the word from Ben Martin, who coached the Falcons to an undefeated season last year and to a scoreless tie with Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl.

Second Team QB Leads VMI Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One lesson the Southern Conference is learning the hard way this football season is that it pays to look twice before trying to assess the strength of Coach John McKenna's VMI Keydets.
Scarcely more than a month ago, most people believed it would be a long, miserable autumn for McKenna, who had an undefeated team in 1957 and a 6-2-2 team last year.
"We think we have some good boys," said McKenna. "They just haven't played much because our 1957 and 1958 personnel was so good. We hope they'll come along."
The new talent has, in truth, "come along"—so well that today the Keydets have a 3-1-1 record at the mid-point of the season and seem likely to give McKenna another winner. The only loss was to eighth-ranked Penn State.
Even a juggling of quarterbacks hasn't adversely affected the VMI passing attack. Letterman Jimmy O'Dell was the initial No. 1 quarterback but was injured. Howard Dyer stepped in, completed 21 of 39 passes for 317 yards, and in turn was injured. So last week sophomore Bobby Mitchell took over and pitched for 123 yards in VMI's 26-7 conference win over William and Mary. O'Dell and Dyer will be back this week when VMI meets Davidson at Lexington in its homecoming game, but McKenna says they'll have to beat out Mitchell—"he's shown me he can do the job, sophomore or not."
Davidson Coach Bill Dole, whose team has a 1-3 record, probably would like to borrow one of these excess quarterbacks, for his own top pitcher—Charlie Benson—may be out for the season with an injury. In practice Tuesday for the conference collision, Dole had Benson's replacements, Tom Redding and Duncan Morton, working hard.
A knee injury sidelined halfback Gary Morrison at Furman as the Hurricane worked on defense in a live scrimmage, preparing for this week's game at The Citadel. Morrison probably won't play Saturday.
The Citadel, 11 top physical shape, worked in the mud and had rough work on both offense and defense.
Sophomore Charlie Martin replaced ailing Pete Tolley at guard in West Virginia's 30-minute scrimmage. The Mountaineers met Syracuse Saturday.
Guard Bob Sizer, who has a pinched nerve in his neck, joined the long list of injured at Richmond, where the Spiders worked on pass defense. At William and Mary, halfback Roger Hale's running and quarterback Cal Cox's passing featured what Coach Milt Dwyer called a "very spirited" workout.
Virginia Tech had a long, rugged scrimmage in which every phase of the game was covered.

Large Purse In Tourney

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 34th annual Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament Jan. 7-11 will be played for a purse of $44,500, highest in its history.
The previous high was $40,000 last January. The tournament will be played again at the Rancho Municipal course in West Los Angeles.
Announcement of the prize money was made today by Chairman Don Seltzer of the sponsoring Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Report Nikita Relayed Offer

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Sun-Times, in a dispatch from Washington, said today that a letter from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to President Eisenhower "is said to contain a new offer from Red China to the United States."

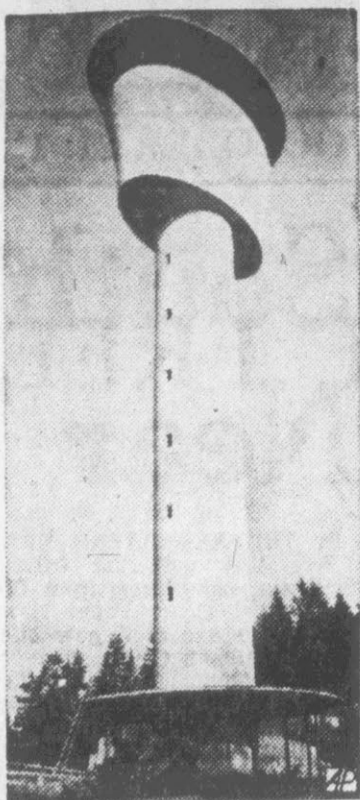

"The charge d'affaires of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, Mikhail Smirnovsky, delivered the Soviet Prime Minister's message to Undersecretary Robert Murphy at the State Department last week," the Sun-Times said.

"It is a report on certain aspects of Khrushchev's conversations with Chinese Communist leaders in Peiping. Khrushchev is reported to have written Mr. Eisenhower that Communist China is ready to accept the principle that international problems should be settled by peaceful negotiation and not by force. This is the formula Mr. Eisenhower and Khrushchev adopted in their Sept. 27 Camp David communique."

The dispatch, by Frederick Kuh, said that according to a version which it has not been possible to corroborate, the Chinese would even extend the no-force principle to the Formosa problem on certain conditions.

UNDERGROUND CITY
ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—A Cornell University team is designing a bomb-proof underground city. There are no plans actually to construct such a city, but the design could serve as a model.

Killer Of Five May Be Sent To Mental Hospital

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The 41-year-old widow of a Peruvian diplomat who admitted killing her five children may be sent to a Pennsylvania mental hospital.

Warden George Albright of the Lehigh County Prison said Tuesday that he wanted Ruth Mae Urdanivia transferred "where they have better facilities for caring for her."

Urdanivia was taken to the prison after being arraigned. She was charged with five counts of murder.

A prison suicide watch has been placed outside her cell, Albright said, because she "made it clear to me when she came here that she was going to keep trying to take her life until she succeeds."

Mrs. Urdanivia said she gave her five children large doses of sleeping pills in orange juice a week ago after financial burdens became too heavy for her.

Says Guerrillas Fighting Castro

NEW YORK (AP)—A former brother-in-law of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro says he heads a movement called the "White Rose" with thousands of guerrillas fighting the Castro regime in Cuba.

Dr. Rafael Diaz-Balart, 33, said Tuesday night his movement "respects everyone that works against Castro but is working with absolute independence from every other group."

Diaz-Balart, who said he has known Castro since both were students at the University of Havana in 1943, said the White Rose movement was organized in cells with an underground in every neighborhood of Cuba. He said guerrilla fighting was going on in Oriente, Pinar del Rio and Las Villas provinces.

Believes Nixon Is Strong Rival

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—The brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) says Vice President Richard M. Nixon would give the Democrats a real tussle if the Republicans nominate him for President.

Edward Kennedy, 27, a Boston lawyer, told a "Dollars for Democrats" dinner Tuesday that "Nixon's stoning in South America, his quarrel with Khrushchev in Russia, and his trip to Africa have all helped to build up his following."

"Nixon also has a very close relationship with all members of the Republican National Committee. He knows most by their first names. He is formidable opposition," he said.

Kennedy was in Maine to sound out support for his brother, should he announce for the Democratic nomination for president.

Avers Teamster Pension Plan Is Boon To Hoffa

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A former Senate prober says the Teamsters Union altered its pension plan to benefit President James R. Hoffa and his aides at the expense of veteran union organizers.

The union denied the accusation by Robert F. Kennedy, ex-counsel for the Senate committee investigating rackets.

Kennedy told the American Trucking Assn. Tuesday that the new plan would pay Hoffa $20,000 a year for life "even if he were ousted tomorrow." He said it guarantees Hoffa and his associates large pensions regardless of their length of service.

He said the changes would be financed by cutting back the pensions of veteran organizers and making the new pension retroactive for 15 years.

A Teamsters spokesman in Washington said Kennedy was in error. "No one will take a beating," he said. "When the program is finally formulated, it will be published."

Stranger Fooled Him Completely

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Matthew Samperi found a stranger in his bathroom Tuesday.

"Who are you?" he asked. "Plumber," replied the man, prying his ear against the wall.

"Is it still leaking, Joe?" the man shouted down the bath drain. No answer.

"Tell you what," the man said to Samperi. "You turn on the shower and I'll check the apartment below."

Samperi turned on the shower and listened quite a while to the running water.

When the man didn't come back, Samperi discovered that $450 in jewelry was missing from his apartment.

Suggest Wait In Anti-Polio Shots

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Waiting until babies are about 6 months old could be the best time to give anti-polio shots, a new study suggests.

Otherwise, the vaccine might fail to protect many babies. The reason is that the vaccine curiously seems to be nullified by natural protection which many babies temporarily inherit from their mothers, the research finds. When they are 5 or 6 months old, they lose this natural protection.

The findings based on detailed blood studies were presented to the American Public Health Assn. meeting here by Drs. Gordon Brown and Pearl L. Kendrick of the University of Michigan.

Salk vaccine, containing dead polio virus, stimulates the human body to create its own protective antibodies against future invasion by living, dangerous polio viruses.

But babies are often born with antibodies against polio and other diseases. They have them because their mothers had them floating in their own bloodstreams, which are shared with the infants before birth.

Known as passive antibodies, these antibodies protect for a time, then disappear. The baby has no more unless he gets vaccines, or is invaded by specific germs.

PINT-SIZE SKIPPER

Patrolling the lake in his own boat, Doug is ever on the watch for trouble.

"That's dangerous!" Doug cautions a woman against riding on the bow of a boat.

Doug prepares to take to shore a boatman who's tied his swamped craft to a fixed anchor on the lake. Doug often goes after people who tie up their sailboats for the evening to off-shore floating buoys. They have no way to get to shore unless they swim or somebody comes and gets them.

KEEPING IN TOUCH. Wearing his skipper's cap to which a Marine Patrol badge is pinned, young Doug helps out with the patrol radio operation from his father's big boat. He drives the boat as good as his father.

Doug Beachen is the envy of the junior set at Lake Lanier, a North Georgia boating and fishing mecca. The pert, sun-tanned youngster — he's seven — has his own outboard, a snazzy, snub-nosed runabout powered by a 10-horsepower motor.

Sometimes he talks something like a hotrodder: "My boat carries three and it goes 23 miles an hour and I can pass almost anything on the lake."

But he is very safety conscious: "I have to follow all the rules. You see, this year the Marine Patrol made me their mascot. I am the Junior Marine Patrol and I have to set an example."

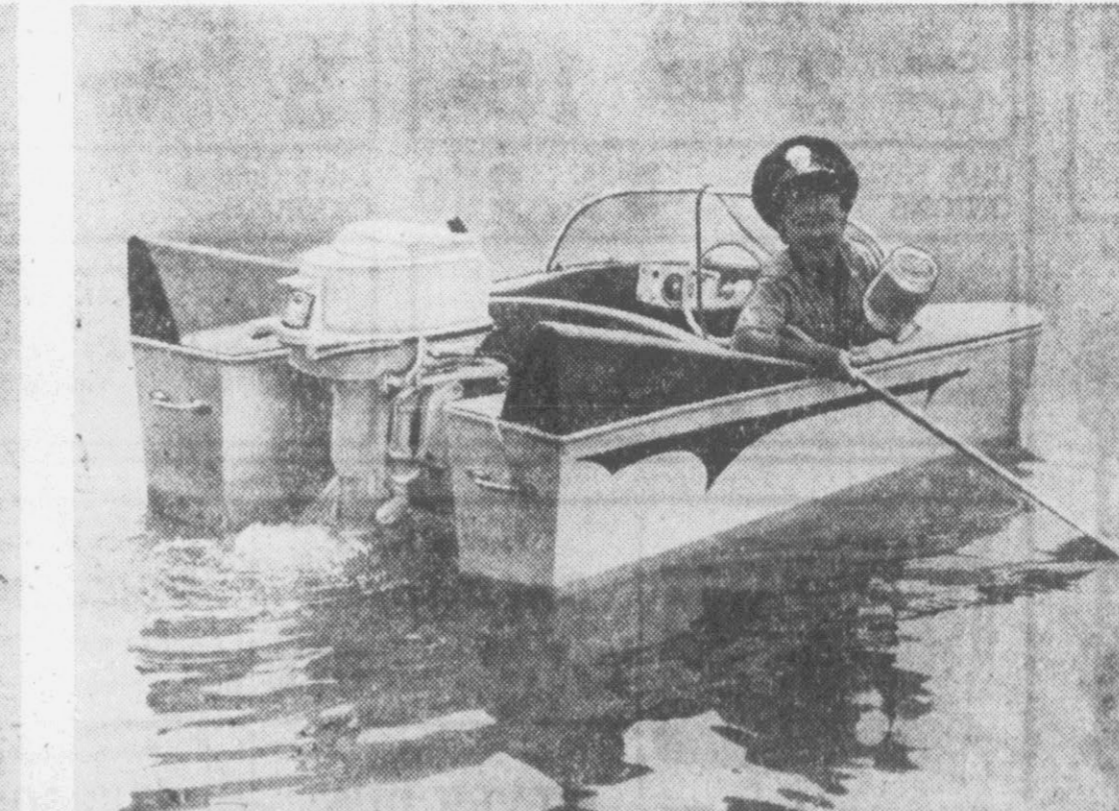

Doug's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Beachen of Atlanta and Lake Lanier, gave him the boat for his sixth birthday and his father checked him out cautiously all last summer.

Now he's on his own on the largest body of water entirely within the state, about 30 miles long.

Doug takes his duties seriously. When there are sailboat races he patrols the course and warns motor boats to stay away from the sailboats and swimmers. He goes around teaching kids not to sit on the bow of a boat, hauls in floating tree limbs and sinks all bottles and cans before somebody's prop hits them. And the siren on his boat can let go with an authoritative scream if the occasion demands.

Doug christened his craft the "Jr. Access" after a big cruiser owned by Dr. A. L. Sanders, a dentist, who was so impressed with Doug's ability he taught the youngster to handle his big boat.

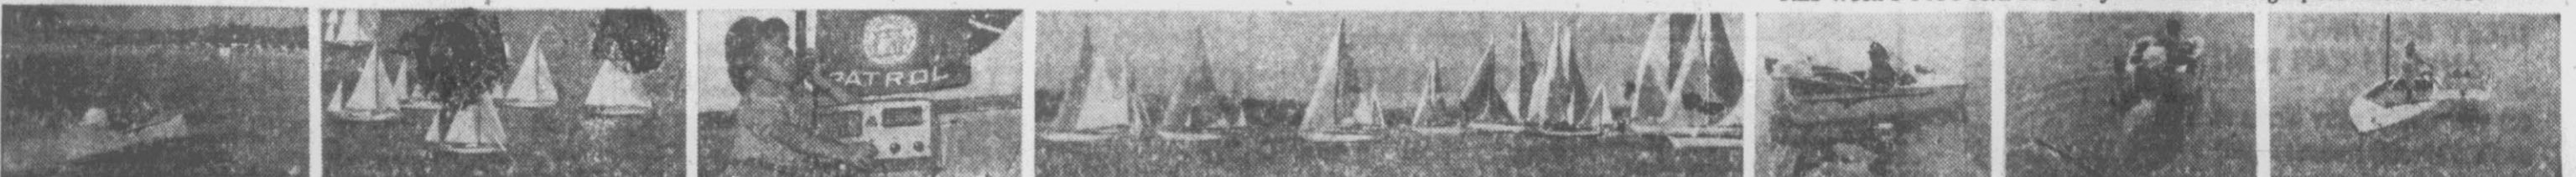

Doug holds bottle he's pulled in out of the water. He says his job is to grab and sink all bottles and cans before somebody's prop hits them.

After a hard day of boating, Doug throws off his clothes and takes a swim. The youngster is good at everything in the water.

This Week's PICTURE SHOW by AP Staff Photographer Horace Cort

SHADOW OF GUILT A NEW THRILLER by PATRICK QUENTIN

CHAPTER 31 "Well, Mr. Hadley," Police Lieutenant Trant said to me, "now that the ordeal's over, you might be interested to hear a new development that just came up. Of course, this may have nothing to do with the case, but at least it's indicative of the line which we and the D. A. will now have to follow. This morning early, Don Saxby's cleaning woman, Mrs. Cassidy, came to pay me a visit."

"She's the woman who discovered Saxby's body. When I first interviewed her, she was very rattled. She gave her testimony and that seemed to be that. But early this morning she showed up at my quarters. Mrs. Cassidy, apparently, is a woman of very high principles. She'd come to unburden her conscience, she said. She also brought with her a bracelet she'd found in Saxby's apartment."

"There's nothing particularly strange about it, but her story is quite strange. Apparently, about six weeks ago, when she was making the bed in Saxby's bedroom, she pulled it out from the wall to fix the sheets and she found the bracelet. "It had fallen to the floor between the bed and the wall; quite a valuable bracelet. She was standing there with it in her hand when Saxby came back into the apartment. He saw the bracelet in her hand and told her to keep it. "Finders, keepers!" he said. Mrs. Cassidy protested that it was much too valuable, but he insisted. "He said, 'It's about time I gave you a little present. But just one thing. It belonged to a lady, a married lady. She won't want it back. I'm sure. But if ever I ask you to come and meet her, I'd like you to tell her just where you found it.'"

"Trant paused with suddenness that seemed consciously dramatic. "We understand, don't we? Don Saxby was back at his very dirty tricks. A married woman had compromised herself. And now he had a witness. "I wanted to put the screws on her, he could always produce Mrs. Cassidy as a threat. Pay up—or my cleaning woman can tell your husband she found your bracelet in my bed. There's motive for murder there, isn't there? And of course, it's only one instance we happen to have stumbled on. From now on we'll have to go in for a thorough investigation of Don Saxby's other professional activities in New York, and I'm sure that eventually we'll find that one particular blackmail victim who saw Chuck's gun there, picked it up in a moment of rage—and killed him."

"He rose, Connie and I got up too. He went to Connie holding out his hand for one of his abrupt, unexpected leave-takings. "I'm very sorry, Mrs. Hadley, that you and your family have had to bear the brunt of the scandal. Let's hope it'll all die down now and that your names will be out of the papers. I'll do everything I can."

Connie took his hand. "Thank you," she said. "Trant turned to me, holding out his hand to me too. But then, just before I could take it, he withdrew it again. "Oh, by the way, perhaps you'd like to see the bracelet."

As his hand went into his pocket, he shifted the smile to face. This time the smile was in his eyes too—a steady, indestructibly friendly smile, directed from his eyes to mine. His hand came out of his pocket. Lying over its palm was a bracelet of baroque pearls, the bracelet I had given to Connie on our fifth wedding anniversary. He put the bracelet back in his pocket. He shifted the smile to Connie for a moment, then he moved toward the door. I opened it for him and went with him down the hall. On the steps I watched him stroll down to the street and into his black police car. He waved and drove away. I went back into the library, feeling numb. Connie had risen. I looked at her; not, I hoped, as an accusing husband. To have accused her in my circumstances, would have been revolting. I didn't say anything, either. I'd seen the bracelet, so had she. Whatever there was to say had come from her. She moved to a window. For a moment she stood there, gazing out. Then she turned. "It isn't what you think," she said. "It's your bracelet."

"Of course it is. But Don put it where—where it was found. You've got to believe me. That must have been one of his filthy, blackmailers' tricks."

"You've got to believe me. I never had the slightest idea. That's why I wasn't in love with Don Saxby. I was stupid enough to think I still had what I wanted, not quite the way I wanted it, of course, but I thought that would come back too."

I felt a terrible embarrassment. What could I say? Fortunately—or more probably considerably—she didn't give me a chance to say anything. "Of course, with Don it was a temptation. I'd felt so—so unnecessary as a woman for so long. And when I met him in that gallery, when he seemed to admire me... He called the next day; he took me to lunch. I went once, twice, again. He was always so charming, managing to make me feel amusing and pretty and clever. We even went to the movies. He bought popcorn. We held hands. I knew it was ridiculous for a woman my age, but somehow it didn't feel ridiculous. And then, after the movies, we'd go to his horrible little apartment for a drink. I liked it fine, but always around quarter to five or five I'd think: George will be home soon, and I'd always make a point of getting back before you because I always felt that was one of the good times between us, when you came back from the office."

She gave a little shrug. "Then the last time... about a month ago? Anyway, after the movies, we went to his apartment and he made love to me. He'd never done it before. But he did it then and I—I almost went through with it. But at the last minute... well, I guess I'm not cut out to be an unfaithful wife. I shirked it. I just ran out. That was the last time I saw him alone."

Connie is worried by the question, "What if Lieutenant Trant is able to trace who bought the bracelet?" The story will continue here tomorrow.

Smithfield Gets A New Industry

SMITHFIELD, N. C. — (AP) — Fieldcrest Mills Inc. will bring to Smithfield an electric blanket plant expected to eventually employ several hundred persons. A $750,000 plant to house Fieldcrest's operation here will be built by the Selma Field Area Development Corp. of Selma and Smithfield. It is due for completion next spring. Fieldcrest President H. W. Whitcomb told a luncheon of Smithfield and Selma businessmen Tuesday that the company first thought it would put the expansion in another Southern state. "After looking them over... we decided that North Carolina had everything the others had with some additional advantages," he added. Whitcomb said part of Fieldcrest's automatic blanket operation will be moved here from Spray and all manufacturing operations will be discontinued at its St. Mary's, Ohio, plant. Machinery and equipment will be moved to the blanket mill in Draper and the finishing plant at Spray. Whitcomb revealed. He said an overall expenditure of $2,450,000 will be made to modernize the Draper and Spray plants.

Compliment By Bandit Suspect

EL MONTE, Calif. (AP) — "I want to compliment the police force for doing such a good job," said Gordon Powell, arrested on suspicion of robbing a bank. A teller at a Bank of America branch said the unemployed truck driver, 37, walked up to her cage, handed her a note demanding money and left with $1,737. Ten minutes later, police spotted Powell's car. Bank employees had given them the license number.

Never A Visitor In Her 66 Years

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — In 1893, while Grover Cleveland was president, Miss Emma McDaniel, then 32, was admitted to a mental institution. Last week she died there after 66 years without receiving a single visitor or letter. Records show she was committed for "simple melancholia." Staff doctors in 1941 described Miss McDaniel as a "very nice, quiet, agreeable old lady."

Harriman Says Bergman Skilled In Her First TV Role

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingrid Bergman made her first television appearance Tuesday night in a ghost story. It was an NBC dramatization of Henry James' 1898 novelette, "The Turn of the Screw."

Miss Bergman handled her role of the terrified, yet determinedly courageous governess with skill and conviction. The tale concerns a governess who is placed in charge of two strange and beautiful children in a remote English country house. Soon, she comes to realize they have been possessed by the evil spirits of two former servants, now dead, and she sets about freeing them. There are the usual ghostly goings-on—faces appearing through windows, flowers that wither in a few hours, flickering candles, eerie shadows, and dense, swirling fog. But it wasn't quite as chilling a story as it might have been a few decades back—before horror movies were an ordinary evening's entertainment. There was, however, the welcome sight of Miss Bergman, and two very talented children—Alexandra Wager and—Hayward Mors—had roles more meaty than the star's. Students of James debate whether he had more in mind than merely to write a ghost story. James Costigan, who did the dramatization, more than suggests that the governess also was corrupt, for she was able to recognize the faces of evil invisible to the innocent housekeeper. Altogether "The Turn of the Screw" was superior entertainment, even if it didn't succeed in freeing us in horror.

ABC's unusual Western, "The Rebel"—it's unusual because it's only a half hour long—seems to specialize in shocking opening scenes. The first show opened with a view of a dead horse; the most recent one opened with a dead man riding a live horse. Seattle's Radio station KING surveyed 100,000 Washington state residents and concluded that rock 'n' roll was the most unpopular type of popular music, while easily-recognized standards were most popular with all age groups. Bourbon Really For His Poodle

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — "I don't drink bourbon," tavern owner Floyd Baker told Judge C. Clyde Myers in City Court Tuesday. The partly-empty pint bottle of bourbon that vice squad officers found in his beer parlor was "my French poodle," Baker said. "Now does your poodle drink whiskey regularly?" Baker was asked. "No," he replied, "just at certain times." Specifically, just those times when the poodle was about to become a mother. Judge Myers fined Baker $200 on charges of possessing liquor and maintaining a nuisance. The hippopotamus, now found only in Africa, roamed the plains of northern India a million years ago.

Last Of Air Force Family's Quintuplets Dies Today

ADMITS KILLING FIVE CHILDREN—Mrs. Ruth Urdanivia, widow of a Peruvian diplomat, admitted to police at Allentown, Pa., that she killed her five children by giving them a potent concoction of 74 sleeping tablets, sugar and orange juice. The children were found dead in their apartment at Allentown. This picture of the mother and children was made during a happier period in their lives. The children, left to right in front: Carol, 4, and Christine, 12. Standing, Luis, 9, Ruth, 10, and Anna Marie, 7. (AP Wirephoto)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Baby D, the last survivor of the Hannan quintuplets, died at 6:40 a.m. today.
Word of the death of the last baby spread rapidly through this vast modern hospital which is called the largest and finest in the entire Air Force.
The basement cafeteria was crowded with nurses, and military personnel coming to work.
"Oh, my God, they were just like baby dolls," half sobbed a technician in a blue dress. The word spread quickly from table to table. Several persons left their breakfast uneaten.
The mother and father were asked at the time of the last quint's death. They were not told immediately.
Both had been in a near shock status at times during the night.

Indicate Racing Caused 2 Deaths

MONROE, N.C. (AP)—Two Union County men were killed Tuesday night in a traffic accident on U.S. 601, eight miles from here. A patrolman said investigation indicated racing was involved.
The dead are Furman Lee Crenshaw, Jr., 25, of Rt. 2; and Livy Joe Elms, 34, of Monroe.
Admitted to a hospital here with head and chest injuries was Spencer Simpson of Rt. 1. He was a passenger with Crenshaw and Elms.
James Henry Wilson, 36, of Charlotte, driver of a florist's truck, told Patrolman V. A. Brown Jr. the car crashed into the back of his vehicle. He said it was racing with another car, which managed to pass the truck.

hospital spokesmen said, and had been given sedatives in an effort to ease their nerves.
The last baby to die was the fourth born.
The physician who made the last desperate effort to save the baby was Capt. William D. Munroe who had been on duty since 1 p.m. Tuesday. He had worked almost constantly on the one child throughout the long night.
Four of the five toylike girls died within 9½ hours of their birth Tuesday.
They were the children of 1st Lt. Charles G. Hannan, 29, and his 27-year-old wife, Cecelia, already the mother of two small boys.
"You wanted a girl," the blonde, pretty mother told the crewcut father. "Now you have five."
But Baby B, so designated to indicate order of birth, died at 5:40 p.m. CST. Baby A died at 6:10 p.m. Baby E died at 9:25 p.m. and Baby C at 10 p.m.
Capt. William D. Munroe, pediatrician on duty, said at 1 a.m. that the diagnosis then for Baby D "is guarded and the outlook is not good for the surviving child."
He added that he is "not very hopeful" that the baby would survive. Doctors warned from the first that the babies' chances of survival were slim.
The births, a 42-million to one medical rarity, represented the third set of quintuplets in United States medical history and only the 47th in all recorded annals. They were three months premature.
Baby A weighed 1 pound 9 ounces, B 1 pound 8½ ounces, C 1 pound 8½ ounces, D 1 pound 13 ounces, and E 1 pound 13 ounces. Baby D, the strongest, was weighed several hours after her birth. The others, because of their condition, were not weighed until after their deaths.
Spokesman at Lackland Air Force Base Hospital told newsmen that everything that medical science can do, including artificial respiration, is being done to save the remaining baby.
"I have said lots of prayers," the youthful appearing, crew-cut flying navigator told reporters after the first baby died. "My wife has, too, and it has done lots of good before and now."
Hannan interrupted a news conference to go to his wife's room on the third floor of the hospital when the death of the second baby was announced.
The mother, joyous at the first news of the quintuplet births, was reported doing well. Her husband described her to newsmen as a "pretty blue-eyed blonde with short hair." He said she was about 5-foot-3 in height and weighed about 120 pounds. The Hannans were childhood sweethearts at a Catholic school in Taylor, Tex., before their marriage there Sept. 7, 1953.

The couple has two sons, Robert, 5, and Pat 4. They had spent more than two years in Japan before returning to the United States Aug. 1, 1959.
Hannan told reporters he and his wife both had hoped for a girl this time, and when he walked into his wife's hospital room after the births, she smiled at him and said, "Well, you wanted a girl and now you've got five."
He said he kissed her for each of the newly born quintuplets.
Physicians said the babies' color and breathing were good but that they had not had a chance to develop fully.
The world's only living quintuplets are the Diligentis of Buenos Aires, Argentina, who celebrated their 16th birthday last July 15. The Dionne quintuplets, probably the world's most publicized, survived for 20 years, until Emilie Dionne died at 20 in 1954.
Olivia Dionne, father of the Canadian quintuplets, was one of the first to express congratulations and best wishes to the Hannans. "Mrs. Dionne and I," he told a Callender, Ont., newsmen, "want to send along our best wishes to the parents." His comment was made before the deaths were announced.

Hannan's reaction Tuesday recalled Dionne's 25 years ago. "I'm flabbergasted," the lieutenant said first.
Obviously unerved at the multiple births in his log cabin home, Dionne ran dazedly from the house crying, "A man like me should be kept in jail."
The Argentine quintuplets were born, when their mother was over 40, at a midwife's home in Buenos Aires. Because the wealthy father, Franco Diligentis of Italian birth, wanted to avoid publicity, their birth was a secret for eight months.
Here in the big white stone, 10-story Lackland hospital, an office and reception room was quickly turned into a press information center.
And Hannan, though nervous and under mild sedation, talked free with reporters.
Newsmen apparently learned all details within minutes either from hospital spokesmen or the father.

Student Officers Are Installed At South Ayden

AYDEN — Following a recent school-wide election of student council president and vice president, a special inauguration and installation ceremony was held at the South Ayden School.

Oaths of office were given by J. J. Brown of the faculty. Speeches were given by Pres. Charlie Lester Williams and Vice Pres. Thelma Sugas.
The student body made its pledge to support the student organization to which each class sends representatives.

Honor Students List Announced

FARMVILLE — Five Farmville High students have been named to the term's first honor roll and 18 more have been included in the "Principals List," according to an announcement today from Farmville Principal Sam D. Bundy.
Honor students, who received grades of "A" on all courses taken, were Louise Speight, ninth grade; Jean Allen and Sally Donat, 10th grade; and Eva Mae Lewis and Monty Pickett, 11th grade.
To qualify for the "Principal's List," students must receive "A's" on at least half the courses taken and no grade less than "B".

The 18 are: ninth grade—Bobby Bass, Melvin Gay, Irene Baker, Dottie Newton, Daisy Tyson, and Becky Young; 10th grade—Jimmy Everette and Anne Everette; 11th grade—Eddie Thomas, Billy Walker, Ben Moore, Junior Cannon, Donnie Cerraway, Jane Hobgood, and Noel Lang; and 12th grade—Rod Williams, Anne Palmer Hodges, and Caroline Lewis.
Principal J. W. Ormond announced South Ayden's homecoming and Harvest Festival activities this week as being scheduled for Nov. 5-7.
All South Ayden alumni are invited to attend the two-day event. A pair of highlights will be the annual mile-long parade on Sat-

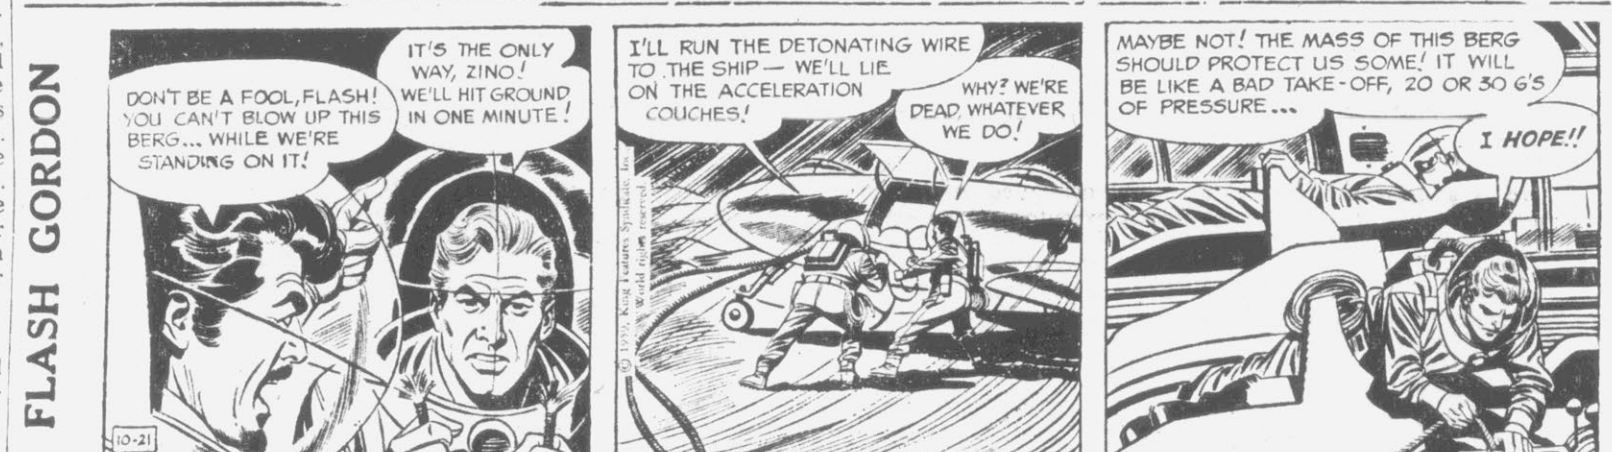

Bartender Says Strikers Glum

MORRISVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Take it from bartender Tom Kane, most of his steelworker customers aren't too happy about the prospects of going back to work under Taft-Hartley injunction. And they're 100 per cent behind United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald.

"It's like a hammer over their head," Kane declared today. "They're eager to go back to work but not under the Taft-Hartley law. They'll follow their leader, McDonald, and if he says go back to work they'll go back."
Kane said that about 80 per cent of his customers at the Morrisville Gardens are steelworkers from the Fairless Hills Plant of U.S. Steel Corp. here. The long strike has idled some 7,000 employees of the plant.
One of the customers, Harry Lykens, 33, said that he felt very bitter about the situation.
"The steelworkers that I've talked to," Lykens said, "are opposed to the Taft-Hartley injunction. And they're very bitter. Even the ones with eight or nine kids who are really hurting."
"The people who never have seen the inside of a steel plant and the conditions we work under don't know how bitter the steelworkers are today."
"I'll bet you ten dollars to a nickel we'll be out on strike again at the end of the 80-day period if the Taft-Hartley is invoked. That's not going to help the country."

NEW EDITOR . . . J. Marse Grant of Thomasville, editor of Charity and Children at the Baptist Children's Homes since 1949, is the new editor of the Biblical Recorder, official organ of the Baptist State Convention. He was elected Monday to succeed Dr. L. L. Carpenter, editor for the past 17 years who retires Dec. 31. The newly-elected editor is the first layman to head the recorder since the late U. S. Senator Josiah W. Bailey stepped down as editor in 1907.

Eight EC Cadets Sign For Flight Instruction

Eight cadets of the East Carolina College Air Force ROTC are now enrolled in the Flight Instruction Program offered by the detachment here. Each graduate of the program will complete 35 hours of flight instruction and will be eligible to apply for a Federal Aviation Agency Private Pilot's certificate.

The program, now in its second year at East Carolina, has as its objectives motivation of qualified AF ROTC cadets to careers in the Air Force, encouragement of the qualified basic AF ROTC cadets to enroll in the Advanced Course as pilot training applicants, and provision of a screening service which will identify those pilot training applicants who possess the basic aptitudes for Air Force pilot training.

Cadets presently enrolled in the Flight Instruction program are Dennis M. Biggs of 112 E. Second St., Greenville; Kirby P. Branch of 2601 Dickinson Ave., Greenville; Melvin P. Edwards of Washington; Henry A. Leeuwenburg of Wilmington; Linwood C. Johnson of Rt. 1, Angier; Glenn C. Dyer of Greensboro; Willard K. Baker of Rt. 4, Elizabeth City; and Thomas T. Turner of Greensboro. The program provides 36 1/2 hours flying time, including 35 hours of flight instruction and 1 1/2 hours final flight check. Thirty-five hours of academic instruction are provided. Of this time, 30 hours are included in the established AF ROTC Advanced Course curriculum.

The contractor for instruction in the East Carolina program is Rocky Mount Air Service, and instruction is given at the Pitt-Greenville Airport in Greenville.

The type of plane used for instruction is a PA-12, a three-surface-controlled, 100 horsepower aircraft, which is certified by the Federal Aviation Agency as suitable for flight instruction and is approved by the Commandant of the Air Force ROTC.

Broadcasting Day Event At ECC Is Held Thursday

Approximately 75 students from high schools in the state attended "Broadcasting Day" at East Carolina College Tuesday, October 20.

The event, sponsored by the college and the N. C. Association of Broadcasters, afforded participants opportunity to see campus radio and TV equipment in operation and to discuss some of the values, techniques, and opportunities of broadcasting.

U. S. Congressman C. O. Porter of Oregon and Jack Hankins of Winston, president of the NCBA, were principal speakers at a luncheon. Mr. Porter, discussing the power of broadcasting as a means of communication, emphasized that radio and television personnel need to understand not only the techniques but also the human values involved in their work.

"There is a great need of upgrading the quality of people engaged in broadcasting," Mr. Hankins said. He urged those interested in broadcasting as a vocation to seek adequate preparation for the present and for the heightened competition of the future.

W. W. Smiley, East Carolina librarian who has been closely associated with the radio and closed-circuit TV programs at the college, outlined a two-year course in television which is now being discussed by college officials as a possibility of the future at East Carolina.

A tour of the campus radio station WWWW AM-FM and of the college closed-circuit studios and control rooms was chief event of the morning.

The Television Guild of the college staged for visitors a closed-circuit broadcast of Anton Chekhov's comedy "The Boor." The cast included E. T. Rogers, High Point; Alice Corianno, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; H. Rudolph Jenette Jr., Goldsboro; and Elizabeth Smith, Farmville. John Edward Whitehurst of Bethel and Wayne Johnson of Greensboro were in charge of production.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels declined while electronics and selected motors advanced in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate. The market awaited a court ruling on the government's application for an 80-day cooling-off period in the steel strike. Whether it is granted or not, however, the outlook regarding steel shortages was a discouraging factor. Steels were virtually at a standstill in early trading but slipped as the session wore on, some taking losses of more than a point. Gains and losses of fractions to a point prevailed among pivotal issues throughout the list. Most leading rails were down fractionally. Some of the electronics advanced 2 points or more. Aircrafts and oils declined. Airlines and tobaccos moved slightly ahead. Chemicals, rubbers and farm implements were irregular. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 10 cents to $221.90 with the industrials down 20 cents, the rails down 20 cents and the utilities up 10 cents. Corporate bonds improved in fairly active trading. U.S. government bonds also advanced in fairly active dealings.

Legs Broken, He Swam To Rescue

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — In spite of two broken legs, Alphonso Woodall swam into Lake Erie's rough waters to save a drowning man Tuesday night. Woodall's legs were broken last March while he was in California, stunting for motion pictures with a man-carrying kite. He was hobbling along on crutches at Gordon Park beach Tuesday night when out of the darkness came cries for help: "God, somebody help me! I'm going under!" The cries came from a man clinging to an overturned motorboat about 20 yards offshore. Woodall, 36, a Negro, grabbed a rope at a boathouse and took a life jacket from his car. He fastened the rope around his waist, gave the end to a passer-by, then dove into the lake. Swimming to the capsized craft, he tied the rope around the boatman. Men on shore pulled them to safety. Woodall reinjured his left leg when waves threw him against the seawall. The rescued man, Louis Fabri, 30, was in fair condition, suffering from shock and exposure. Fabri's companion on a duck-hunting trip, Eugene Marsh, 29, was swept away when the boat overturned. The body was not found.

Chinqua-Penn Plantation Now Is University's

REIDSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Fabulous Chinqua-Penn Plantation is now part of the Consolidated University of North Carolina. In time, the 826-acre property in Rockingham County will include a 4-H Club camp, a cattle experiment farm, and a museum and tourist attraction. Gov. Luther Hodges, a Rockingham County native, accepted the plantation Tuesday from Mrs. Betsy Penn, who developed the sprawling farm with her late husband, Paul A. Schoellkopf of Niagara Falls, N.Y., a nephew of Mrs. Penn, made the presentation. Mrs. Penn will retain certain life rights to the real and personal property, and will continue to live at the plantation. Overall, the gift has an estimated value of 6 million dollars. Over a period of years, an endowment of $750,000 will be presented to the university to maintain the plantation. Upon Mrs. Penn's death, the gifts will be set up as "The Jeff and Betsy Penn Foundation."

Funds Allocated To Duke Univ.

DURHAM (AP) — U.S. Public Health Service funds expected to total $113,610 during the next five years have been allocated to Duke University for an expanded study of fungus diseases. Dr. Roger D. Baker, professor of pathology at the Duke Medical Center, will conduct the studies at the Veterans Administration Hospital here. Dr. Baker and his associates will try to find why certain diseases — such as diabetes and leukemia — breakdown the body's normal resistance to fungus infection; and why this same breakdown occurs when steroids and antibiotics are used in treating illness.

SPEBSQSA Chapter Seeking Charter

SIGNING UP—Officers of the Pitt County Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America sign preliminary papers for application for a national charter. Left to right are: Director Donald Hayes, Secretary Bill Ellington, and President Frank Hill.

A community barber shop chorus has been organized recently under the name of the Pitt County Chapter of the Society of the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. Under the direction of Donald Hayes, the Pitt chapter now has 28 members — more than enough to qualify for national affiliation. A meeting last night at the East Carolina College Music Hall was the fourth for the new group. Meetings are scheduled for each Tuesday night at 8:00. Officers for the new organization here are Hayes as director; Frank Hill, president; Leslie Garner, treasurer; and Bill Ellington, secretary. The new chapter is currently in the process of obtaining a charter. According to Pres. Hill, the group will first operate on a "sort of probationary license for about a year" before formally applying for the charter. Members took the initial step in getting the charter at last night's meeting as papers were signed to apply for licensing — a preliminary to charter application — of the local chapter. Membership requirements for license and charter are 10 to 25 members, respectively. Membership is open to any interested person.

Salvation Army Board Has Meet

The Greenville Salvation Army Advisory Board met at the Olde Towne Inn Tuesday afternoon for a dinner meeting. Business discussion was conducted by the chairman, Dr. James W. Butler. Other members of the local board are: J. Hicks Corey, vice chairman; J. H. Waldrop, treasurer; D. J. Whitchard, Jr., secretary; E. H. Bennett, B. D. Johnson, R. V. Keel, Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, H. Lyman Ormond, Mrs. Cera S. Powell, Mrs. Ruel Tyson, W. H. Watson, and Mayor S. Eugene West.

Give Necessities To Fire Victims

A Salvation Army spokesman said yesterday necessities of housekeeping had been provided for a young Negro couple whose Grimesland farmhouse and belongings burned Saturday. The couple, Thomas and Christine Hardy, and their two sons, aged seven and three years, were away from home when the fire occurred. Provisions included 34 items of household goods, 86 pieces of dishes and cooking utensils, 92 garments, four pairs of shoes and eight articles of furniture. Mrs. Laura Carawan, welfare secretary of the Salvation Army here, said the items included only bare necessities. She said the organization currently was low on children's clothes.

Contempt Cases Before Tribunal

RALEIGH (AP) — Contempt of court cases stemming from industrial strife at Henderson were set for argument today before the State Supreme Court. The arguments were on appeals by members of the Textile Workers Union of America from convictions for violating an order prohibiting violence in connection with the strike at the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills. Nine criminal cases growing out of the Henderson strike were argued Tuesday. The principal case was one in which Boyd E. Payton, Carolinas TWU director, and seven other union men were sentenced to prison for conspiracy to blow up mill property. Hill Yarborough of Franklinton, attorney for the union men, concentrated his fire on testimony of Harold Aaron, star witness at the trial in Vance Superior Court. Aaron, 33-year-old Leaksville mechanic, worked as an undercover man with the State Bureau of Investigation in gathering evidence which resulted in arrest of the union men. Yarborough contended the facts did not fit conspiracy as defined by law. "It was a case of deception from its inception," he insisted. "Aaron repeatedly said he never intended to go through with any of the plans," he added. State Asst. Atty. Gen. Harry T. McCall maintained Aaron's testimony was legally sound. Despite other deceptions Aaron might have pulled, McCall said, "the question is this: Did he deceive the jury?"
