Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said he "wholeheartedly supports the decision."

Judges Grant Indefinite Stay Of Injunction Against Steel Union

Injunction Against Steel Union

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three federal judges today granted an indefinite stay of a Taft-Hartley injunction against the striking steel workers.

on the basis of briefs filed in the U.S. District Court in Pittsburgh. Government lawyers said they desired to proceed promptly because this is a national emergency.

Goldberg said the union has stated again and again, and repeated its offer today, that it will meet any time schedule which the Circuit Court may establish.

There came a time, he said, when the need was apparent for development of what he called the big booster rockets. He apparently had in mind such projects as the Saturn program, where the aim is to develop about a million and a half pounds of thrust.

Nobel Literature Prize Awarded Italian Poet

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Italian poet Salvatore Quasimodo, 58, was awarded the 1959 Nobel Prize in literature today. He is an associate of leftist causes who says he has always fought for world peace and friendship.

Others reported in the running for the world's richest literary prize this year were Alberto Moravia, Italian novelist; Isak Dinesen, Danish woman writer of short stories; and Ivo Andric, Yugoslav diplomat-writer.

Soil-Testing Campaign To Open Nov. 27

A campaign to have soil tests conducted on every farm in Pitt County will be begun Nov. 27 — the day after Thanksgiving.

Plans were also made for a series of township meetings to get the program underway.

The steering committee for the campaign decided on that date for beginning the drive yesterday afternoon. It will continue through Dec. 15.

Faces Threat

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro mobilized Cuba's workers today for another show of strength to combat the gravest threat yet to his 19-month regime, a threat sparked by defiance of anti-Communist revolutionary army officers.

Castro used the same strike technique in whipping up popular support for his ouster of President Manuel Urrutia last July after the president spoke out against the Red menace.

First Pitt Brochures Introduced

Laudatory comments flowed freely from Commissioners last night as Economic Consultant L. A. Weston presented the first five of eight brochure-folders on Pitt County to the October meeting of the Pitt County Development Commission.

Pitt Sen. Robert L. Humber commented that the information contained in the folders "is condensed, factual, and highly informative."

Art Discussions Planned At Center

Mrs. Metz T. Gordley, former instructor of art, will present a series of art appreciation discussions monthly, beginning Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Art Center, located in Sheppard Memorial Library.

Founder Of Girl Scouts Program Topic

The life of Julia Gordon Lowe, a native of Savannah, Ga., a favorite of London and Paris society, and in her later years, founder of the Girl Scouts organization in the United States, was the subject of a talk by Mrs. A. A. Hines at a meeting of the Round Table Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Royce Munsuck.

The speaker traced the far-reaching effects of widely diverse family backgrounds and a heritage which included the best of the North and the South. In Julia Gordon these grew into a personality capable of initiating and launching a nationwide movement which continues to inspire and to train thousands of girls through directed activities.

Preceding Mrs. Hines' talk several matters of business were discussed, one of which was the approval of a donation to the United Fund.

from traditional and expressionistic art to abstract art. She will emphasize the intellectual and physical aspects of art, as well as the emotional aspect, relating them to human experience.

MRS. M. T. GORDLEY

was a Doctoral candidate at Ohio State University. She gave instruction for members of a civic organization in Norman, Okla. and in St. Louis County, Mo. Mrs. Gordley has presented exhibitions in St. Louis, Mo. and in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Mrs. Howard Entertains Club, Dr. Bradner Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. John L. Howard entertained the Delphin Book Club at her home Tuesday afternoon. Arrangements of fall berries and evergreens were used to decorate the home.

After a short business meeting, the hostess invited members and guests into the dining room where Mrs. Cameron Dudley poured Russian tea, and Mrs. Wesley Johnson served the dessert course. The dining table was centered with a fruit arrangement.

The president, Mrs. Warren Aldridge, welcomed the guests, Mrs. B. D. Armistead and Dr. C. J. Bradner, guest speaker.

Bradner, director of religious activities at East Carolina College, chose for his topic "Contemporary Philosophic Thought." He stated that some important questions a person should ask himself are: Who am I as a man, as a part of the universe or who am I as myself? Do you have something you will not break, some rule or some thought? and Do you always have an open mind?

He gave a list of books which dealt in this field. They were: "History of Philosophy," "Readings in Philosophy," "Age of Analysis," "The Dark Ages," "The Age of Adventure," and "The Age of Enlightenment."

In closing, Dr. Bradner said that the main thing one looks for is the identifying of oneself. During the brief business meeting the recording secretary, Mrs. William Jenkins, called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting.

European Tour Reviewed

Members of the Athenium Book Club met Tuesday noon with Mrs. Miss Jane Hancock.

On arrival the hostess served a two course luncheon assisted by Mes. James K. B. Pace and J. Knott Proctor.

Guests were seated at the dining room table which was centered with an arrangement of fall flowers. Auxiliary tables were placed throughout the living rooms.

Mrs. Perkins presented her sister, Mrs. Lee Hannah, as the guest speaker. Mrs. Hannah told of her trip abroad last summer and selected England as her topic.

She told of many incidents which occurred during her travels. She described historical places visited and paid tribute to the friendliness of the people of England.

Guests included Mrs. Luther Bowling, Mrs. Alton Berrett, Mrs. Richard Stokes, Mrs. Ralph Garrett, Mrs. Edward Tergell and Miss Jane Hancock.

The president, Mrs. J. J. White, presided over a short business meeting at which time books were exchanged and the club adjourned.

Bridge Parties

GRIFTON—Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Mewborn were hosts last Thursday night at a bridge supper at their home on McRae Street. Throughout the home floral decorations were noted.

In the dining room the table was covered with a lace cloth and held as a center arrangement a relish dish with assorted pickles, olives and celery.

A fried chicken supper was served buffet style and later as dessert, cherry pie with ice cream and coffee.

After supper, bridge was played at three tables. Compiling the highest scores were Mrs. Brown Hodges, Mrs. H. P. Quinerly, W. I. Bissette and J. L. Quinerly.

Other guests included Mr. Hodges, Mrs. Quinerly, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Quinerly, Mrs. Henry Oglesby, Mrs. Richard Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cobb.

Supper Party On Friday night members of the Thursday Contract Club were guests of Mrs. Louise J. McCotter at a supper party at her home on the Greenville Highway.

Late summer flowers were used in the living room and in the dining room the supper table was covered with a green linen cloth and held a bowl of berries and tall lighted candles. A ham supper and strawberry shortcake for dessert were served.

Mesdames H. P. Quinerly and J. S. Chapman received the prizes for club members and Mrs. G. L. Tucker, guest high. Making up the tables were Mesdames Eleanor Gower, L. L. Mewborn, Robert Mewborn, J. W. Short, Richard Nelson, Thurman Williams, Dewey Wall, Misses Marie Chapman, Louise Mewborn.

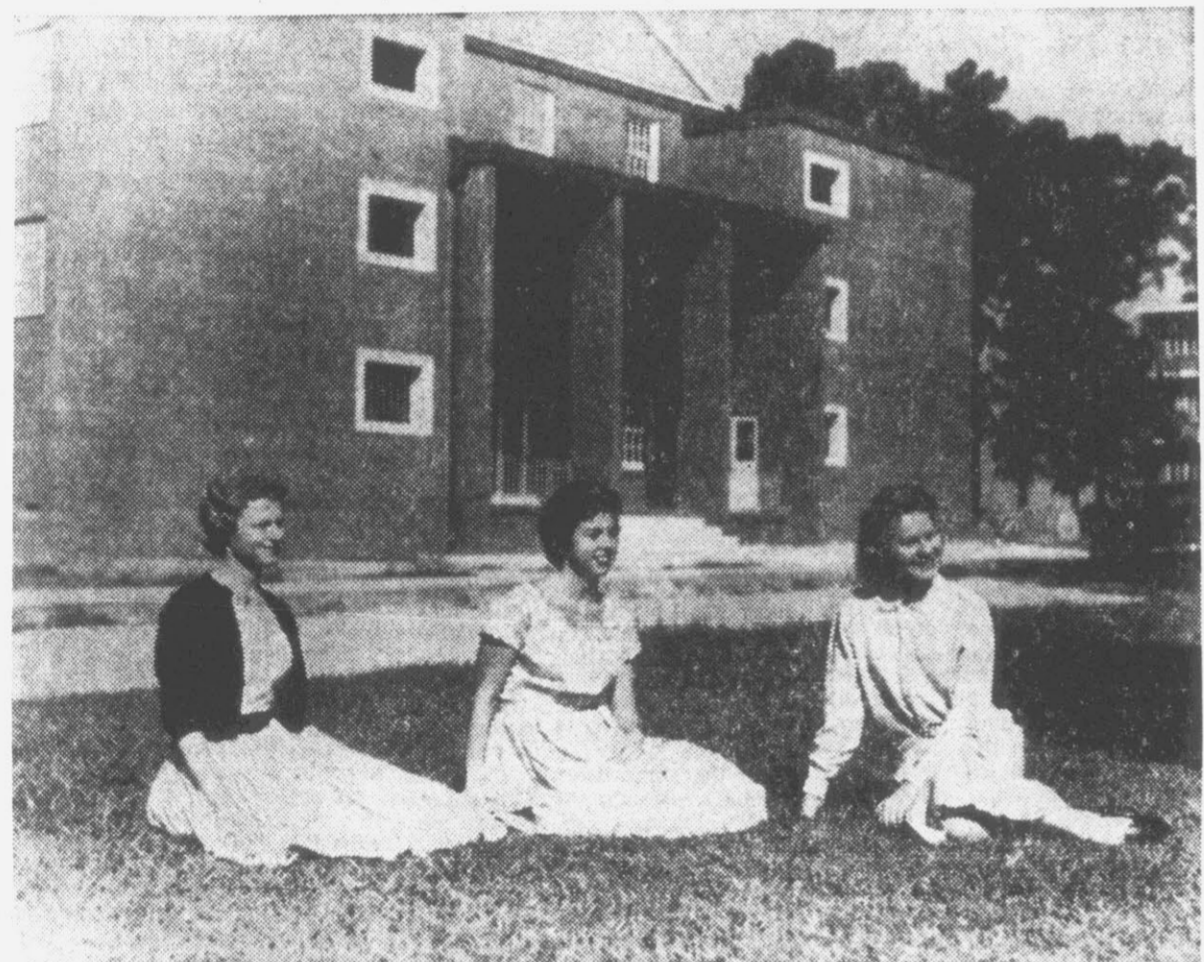

Dessert Bridge Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wheeler were hosts on Thursday night at their home on St. David Street to members of their couples club at a dessert bridge.

Three tables were in play with Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn highest scorers for the evening. Players were Mr. and Mrs. David Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nelson and Mrs. George Saleeby.

A dessert with coffee was served at the refreshment hour.

Chicken Dinner C.M.F. of Hooker Memorial Christian Church is sponsoring a chicken dinner at Kiwanis Elm Street Park Tuesday, October 27, between the hours of 5 and 7 p.m.

The Organizations Work Together

From questions being asked, it appears that a number of Pitt County residents are confused over the number of economic and industrial promotion organizations which have come into being in the county in the past year or so.

The various organizations all have the same goal—that of promoting economic development—but their functions are different in that their functions are separate and each is devoted to a specific phase of the development program.

First there is the Pitt County Development Commission, county-wide in scope and supported by a special county-wide tax levy. This organization seeks to promote Pitt as a whole and interest industrial prospects in locating plants in the county. It prepares brochures on the county, assembles information for prospects, contacts potential prospects and seeks to bring together representatives of industries and representatives of communities throughout the county.

In practically every community of Pitt County now, there is a local development group geared to work with industrial prospects interested in locating in their particular community. These groups, with the cooperation of the county-wide commission, work with individual prospects to show them how the community can meet the prospect's needs. It falls the lot of the local group, in the final analysis, to sell the prospect on their community and to finalize arrangements for a new plant.

In the case of Greenville, there are two local development groups that handle specific phases of the community program. Greenville Committee of 100 is a purely promotional group whose purpose is to advertise Greenville to prospective industries, make surveys for prospects, send representatives to visit prospects and generally to interest new industries in Greenville and to sell them on the idea of locating here.

The other Greenville organization is Greenville Industries, Inc. which is primarily a financing organization designed to help prospects work out financial arrangements for constructing a new plant here, acquiring plant sites and matters of that sort.

At a glance it may seem that there are many overlapping functions with a number of such organizations all working toward the same goal. Actually, each of the organizations has a specific purpose, and while it is closely allied with the others in the overall development, each of the organizations play an important role. Jointly—rather than separately—they are affording the county the best overall organization for economic development Pitt has ever had. It is the kind of total organization the county must have on a county-wide and community basis to complete most effectively with other areas in seeking to attract industry.

No Time For Family Squabbles In The Race

Dr. Wernher Von Braun has the right idea about the United States' space program when he asserts that "instead of wasting time and energy in ponderous reappraisals and re-examinations we ought to pitch in to get the show on the road and get into space."

Certainly that should be the purpose of the space program, and obviously the U. S. has to pitch in and get its program on the road if it is to regain the ground (or space) it has lost to the Soviets.

To bring the space-age program of the nation to a virtual standstill while a re-appraisal and reorganization takes place is out of the question. It is also out of the question for the United States to continue to operate its space development program under the present confused set-up. Some readjustments and streamlining of the program must be brought about if we expect to match Soviet space progress. And certainly the American people will not be satisfied until the United States regains its superior position in the space age.

While the matter of getting "the show on the road" is not as simple as Dr. Von Braun's statement might imply, he has succeeded in cutting through to the core of the problem. Too much time and money already has been wasted in the country's space program by red tape and inter-agency squabbles.

It's high time these stumbling blocks were removed so the program can move forward as it should. Otherwise the United States will expend its energies in family squabbles rather than competing effectively in the space-age race.

Someday, Ideal A 'Dead Duck'

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—The two dirtiest words—for big unions and big management—are "compulsory arbitration." But that's what they may be headed for. In time, at least. The steel strike shows why.

Under a compulsory arbitration law the government would step in—when union and management failed to agree on wages and working conditions—and dictate a settlement which both sides would have to accept.

The ideal in labor-management relations in a free society is for both sides to have complete freedom from government interference in settling disputes. Freedom includes freedom to shut down a plant or strike it.

This ideal is shared by the Eisenhower administration and perhaps by most Americans. Nevertheless, it is a limited ideal: It begins to lose its appeal when a labor dispute begins to cause broad damage.

There wasn't much of a national problem when American society was more primitive and injury from a strike or shutdown was pretty much limited to the union or company or companies involved. This is no longer the case.

In this present complex society, with its various parts growing more interdependent, a prolonged strike in one vital industry can throw millions out of jobs in other industries and start an economic tailspin.

And this nation's complexities and interdependencies of today are only a shadow of what they will be in the years ahead as the population increases and industries interlock in their needs.

It is possible—and this writer strongly believes it is likely—that the time is coming when the government, for the sake of the nation, will not permit strikes in vital industries.

That, of course, raises a nice question: What is a vital industry? At this time and offhand it is easy to think of some which fit that category because a strike in any of them affects the national welfare:

Railroads, Steel, Airlines, Communications. But right there an argument begins. Many industries are engaged in communications in some form, such as telephone, telegraph, newspapers, television, radio.

Would all of them be considered vital? If the time comes when Congress considers a ban on strikes in communications or any other vital industry it will have the fight of its life on its hands, and for this reason:

Each industry, like each individual, and each union would want to retain for itself the maximum amount of freedom.

But if a ban on strikes comes, then the government will have to provide a settlement and that, in the end, could only be done by imposing compulsory arbitration.

The steel strike is now in its 15th week. At the start of it President Eisenhower refused to permit direct government intervention. He wanted the union and the steel industry to have the utmost freedom to reach a settlement of their own through collective bargaining.

The union and management between them made the collective bargaining process a farce. And on Oct. 19, when Eisenhower decided to seek an injunction to stop the strike for 80 days, he said:

"In order to protect the interests of all the American people, this leaves me with no alternative. American hopes for a voluntary responsible settlement have not been fulfilled. It is a sad day for the nation."

He acted only when the effect of the strike began to spread into other industries with the danger, unless something was done to stop it, that the country might go tumbling back into recession.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
IS SATAN A MYTH?

Few people today believe in the existence of a personal devil. One recalls, however, the oft-repeated statement of the evangelist Billy Sunday: "I know there is a personal devil." Sunday often shrieked as he pounded the pulpit, "and the reason I know is that I've done business with him."

Someone has said that the smoothest piece of work the devil did was to spread the report that he had died. "Do you believe in the devil?" said a little boy to his pal. "Naw," said the other little boy. "Y'see, it's like Santa Claus, it's your Pop."

But the Bible undoubtedly teaches that a supernatural evil personality (referred to as Satan, which means "Adversary") is at work contravening the plans of God and destroying men's souls. Martin Luther thought he beheld Satan on one occasion and threw an inkwell at him. We may smile at Martin's excitement, but that doesn't explain away the devil.

The Bible writers knew nothing about impersonal power was personal. They believed and taught that there is a supernatural power working evil in the world, just as there is a divine supernatural power working for good. And even a cursory reading of the Gospels reveals that Jesus shared this belief.

Caribbean Tirade Winds

By ALVIN TAYLOR

Getting Used To It All

Local folks are becoming accustomed to having their teeth rattled about twice a day by explosions.

And there is little doubt the big noises are caused by supersonic jet aircraft breaking the sound barrier.

The noises come so frequently these days, that few folks pay much attention to them anymore. They're simply accepted as symbols of the jet age.

Over in Goldsboro, people are bothered with the same thing, apparently. This prompted the Goldsboro News-Argus to query officials at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base.

"Seymour Johnson Air Force Base officials said the jets and noises felt in the Goldsboro area yesterday and again this morning (Tuesday) in all probability were caused by planes flying through the sound barrier," the Goldsboro newspaper said.

"There is no way of knowing whether they were Seymour Johnson-based planes or not. Base officials said that while pilots are instructed not to exceed the speed of sound over populated areas, some of the planes at the base now are extremely fast, and can ease through the sound barrier before the pilot realizes it.

"It was explained that there is no sensation in the cockpit when the plane breaks the barrier. 'The only way you can tell it is by looking at the speed gauge.'"

"Base spokesmen said the planes are flying so high when they go through the barrier that there should be no threat of damage. Force of the 'boom' dissipates as it travels."

The article said one Goldsboro resident complained that a window pane in his home cracked from the sonic boom.

This supersonic jet and space age is strange one. Aircraft we can't even see now cause explosions which rattle windows and startle earth bound individuals.

In this month's issue of "Tireless Wheels" the North Carolina Motor Carriers Association publication, there appears an article on the rescue squads of the state.

It is written by Roy Hardee, state commander of the North Carolina Association of Rescue Squads. Roy, of course, is from Greenville.

Illustrating the story are several pictures of various rescue squads in action. Included is one of Greenville Rescue Squad members dragging a lake in search of a drowning victim.

The article points out that rescue service is relatively new for this state, but it is fast growing. It points out that one year ago there were less than 40 rescue squads in the state. At the present time there are over 80 squads in North Carolina. Others are in the formative stage and countless others are being talked.

We are not calling for some nebulous national moral resurgence, though the problem is a moral one. We are saying that if there is softness in America today it is not primarily inferior education or "inadequate" public spending but this union and socialist-sponsored philosophy of indolence. There are other countries, some friendly and some otherwise, where that philosophy does not obtain.

And we are saying that a little moral indignation ought to be directed at the salesmen of sloth that weaken our society.

They Deal In Condensed Time

By ELMER ROESSNER

One of the most fascinating things about space travel is the theory that time runs differently. A man gone 10 years orbiting a distant star might be only two years older on his return. By extension, a spacefaring might return before he left. Off in October, he may be back last February.

Mundane, we have something that approaches this time distortion. So far, it is not possible to recreate last Saturday night in a laboratory. (For which I am thankful.) But it is possible to compress two years into two months. A scientist, for example, can look at a transistor on next December 22 and see what it would be like if it were in constant use from today until October 22, 1961.

This can be done because there are dozens of private and collegiate laboratories around the country which, although they cannot make time stand still or speed up, can measure the effects of years in the space of months.

PRESIDENTIAL PROFESSOR—One of these laboratories—where we happened to run across some facts about—is headed by George Pihl, for 15 years a professor of Electronic Engineering at Northwestern University. He is president of Acton Laboratories, Inc., named for its home town, Acton, Mass. (It gives to think: suppose it had been started at Milltown, N.J.)

One of the specialties of this laboratory is the reproduction of weather, and on an accelerated scale. Suppose a manufacturer invented a plastic lawn hose. He thinks it's tough. But could it be left outside all winter? For seven winters

He can answer the first question himself by leaving a hose outdoors from now until March 21, 1960. But he can't wait until 1966 for the answer to the second question. By that time, better hoses may be invented, or lawn-growing given up as impractical.

TIME LAID ON THICK

He can go to Acton, where the moisture, temperature and weathering conditions of several years can be compressed into a short time in the laboratory. There he can learn, for a fee, whether his hose is as rugged as he hopes it is.

A maker of a new paint can get similar services. It can be applied to a surface which will then be subjected to salt spray and salt fog; several years worth in less than two months. Meanwhile, it will be tested under intense conditions of sand, dust, sunlight, rain, grease and so on. It is possible to apply the equivalent of a year of sun's rays in a few hours.

At Acton and at other laboratories around the country, manufacturers can get the verdict of the future on their products in a short time.

They are rewarded doubly. They can pass up products that seem doomed to fail; they can use the laboratory's verdict to

Scores On The Stage

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—If Broadway has a king today, he is David Merrick, a lawyer turned producer.

On this theatrical boulevard which is so often a highway to bankruptcy, Merrick has ridden to a fabulous financial success.

In the last five years 10 of his 11 plays have been hits, returning seven million dollars in profit.

"I've sort of been running a 10-horse parlay. Now I'm patiently waiting for the six flops in a row that are sure to come," he says.

"But I'm not at all afraid of flops. That would be fatal. I'm not exactly looking for the sure thing. I like to be adventure-some."

With the opening tonight of "Take Me Along," Merrick again will have five shows on Broadway for the second year in a row. By the end of the season he hopes to have seven or eight running simultaneously, a record unmatched in the history of modern theater.

Stage-actress all his life, Merrick abandoned his legal career in 1946 in St. Louis, Mo., after winning a big case. He began an intensive study of the theater, working at everything from press agency to play reading.

"I never wanted to be an actor," he said. "I would prefer to be a playwright, but I don't have the talent. So, being stage-struck, I put on the other fellow's plays."

Merrick has no personal explanation for his high batting average of hits in an industry where failure is the rule rather than the exception.

"If I read something I like, I simply put it on," he said.

But Merrick is known for a showman's skill rivaling that of the late Phineas T. Barnum. His promotion genius has enabled him to take shows that opened to mixed critical reviews and turn them into big hits.

"I've been able to show that critics are human and sometimes err," he remarked.

He plans each season as a general might plan a series of battles. He keeps a talented staff that moves on from play to play in turn. Merrick takes a direct interest in every detail of production.

He has started a custom that endears him to stars, directors and playwrights—but annoys his fellow producers no end.

"The banker usually gets 50 per cent of the profits for putting up his money," he said, "and the other 50 per cent belongs to the producer—if he can keep it."

"I never have. I always split it with the creative artists involved in the production."

"You can't take it with you, so I believe in passing it around. Besides, I didn't come into the theater to make money. That's not my motive."

He still gets a heady joy from the excitement of the theater, would like to make it even more exciting.

"There was a flamboyance about Broadway in the 1920s if later lost," he said. "I'd like to help bring it back."

Quote...

WHEN IS DIVIDEND CAPITAL GAIN?

Here's the problem that will keep lights burning late in Internal Revenue Service offices in Washington:

To conserve cash, Atlas Corp. offered a year's dividend to stockholders in stock, with the proviso that it would buy a certain amount of the stock back at the market.

If a stockholder sells, will he get a capital gain or dividend income? Normally, sales of stock dividends result in capital gains, with low taxes. But this looks like a dividend, fully taxable. Or is it? Suppose the net earnings are enough to pay the market value of the stock? Suppose they are more? Or less? Ask your accountant to write his opinion, and check it against the Revenue Ruling that will come along eventually. That's one way to find out if he knows his stuff.

CORN HARVESTING UNDERWAY—A corn picker-sheller is at work on a Pitt farm as harvesting of the crop gets underway. Last year Pitt farmers planted 79,000 corn acres. This year a larger number of acres may be planted. Assistant County Agent Bob King said corn harvesting now is "well underway" and Pitt County's corn seems to be averaging out as "a right good crop." Charlotte, Birmingham, Macon To Be SAC Targets

SEYMOUR JOHNSON AFB — Charlotte, Birmingham and Macon, three of Dixieland's principal cities, will be "bombed" on an average of 23 times a night during the Strategic Air Command Bombing, Navigation and Air Refueling Competition to be held October 25-28 at McCoy and Homestead Air Force Bases in Florida.

On an aerial stage 1,300,000 square miles, comprising the entire southeastern United States, the cream of the Strategic Air Command Bomber and Tanker crews will display their talents in competition for the World Championship in Bombing, navigation and Aerial Refueling. From altitudes of seven to eight miles B-47's and B-52's will bomb pinpoint targets in Charlotte, North Carolina, Birmingham, Alabama, and Macon, Georgia.

The two runways at the Municipal Airport will be the target in Macon. The Strategic Air Command Bombing Competition is an annual meet in which the best crews in each of the SAC's Bomber Wings and Air Refueling Squadrons assemble at a predetermined site to compete for the Fairchild Trophy. During these competitions, no bombs will be dropped, all simulated bomb drops will be scored through an intricate radar system which determines the effectiveness of the crews ability to hit a given target.

Air routes for the SAC Bombers and Air Refueling Tankers participating in the 11th annual World Series of Bombing were announced by Eighth Air Force Headquarters. For the most part, routes will vary to some extent, to compensate for the greater speed of the B-52 and KC-135 "heavy" aircraft over the B-47 and KC-97 "medium" aircraft. Longest routes will be flown by B-52 Stratofortresses, which will cover more than 3,125 nautical miles. B-47's flying primarily the same course will travel shorter distances, flying approximately 3,050 nautical miles. Bomber missions will be flown at speeds in excess of 500 miles an hour and should be completed in approximately six and one half hours.

First target on their missions will be the main building of the Parks-Cramer Company in Charlotte, North Carolina. At Birmingham, the target is the center of a single smoketack of the Alpha-Portland Cement Company. The intersection of the centerlines of (Continued from page four) Before Congress ever goes so far as to ban strikes and impose compulsory arbitration, it almost surely will seek some less drastic measure but one sterner than any now available.

That may work for a while. But in the end, in the years ahead, this writer believes a strike in an essential industry affecting the national welfare will not be permitted.

Many Guests At Shrine Club's Ladies' Night

The Pitt County Shrine Club entertained about 115 Shriners and their wives at its annual Ladies' Night held Tuesday in the Moose Temple in Greenville.

J. W. H. Roberts, Pitt County Shrine president, said visiting Shriners came from Kingston, New Bern and Rocky Mount.

Music for dancing was furnished by Herbert Carter and his East Carolina combo. Roberts said. Dancing lasted from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Also in attendance were the Potentate of Sudan Shrine, Clyde G. McAuley; Potentate's Aide, Louis B. Scraggs; and Recorder, J. Ed Rooker Jr.

Program chairman of Ladies' Night was Roy Alcock. Committee members were J. Ed Ricks, Bobby Whitehurst and Walter Chery.

Night Of Panic Hands Torn By

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP)—School children found a terrified old man lying in a pasture nursing his lacerated hands Wednesday.

For Joe Blahnik, 73, it had all begun when a gust of wind blew off his hat. He ran shakily after it. Then he lost his glasses.

Unable to see, he stumbled into a barbed-wire fence. He groped his way along it, seeking an opening.

All night he followed the fence, tearing his palms on the wire barbs as he felt his way. Finally, drained of strength, he dropped to the ground.

Blahnik was hospitalized here. His condition was listed as good. The pasture was four acres, and the fence completely surrounded it.

Complains Wife Refuses Visits

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Matron Braddo says his former wife won't let him visit their 17-month-old son.

The actor filed a contempt affidavit Wednesday in Superior Court against actress Anna Kashfi, who divorced him last April. He asks the court to enforce divorce terms that entitle him to visit Christian Devi Brando.

The actor said Miss Kashfi has repeatedly denied him access to her home and at other times has taken the baby away before he arrived. A hearing was scheduled for Oct. 30.

Watch For Investment Trend In Wake Of Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government financial leaders are keeping a close watch to see if the conservative victory in the British elections inspires a new wave of American investment in Britain and continental Europe.

International finance experts at the Department of Commerce and federal reserve board said today they have no evidence yet that this is happening. However, they are watching the situation because such a trend might weaken this country's international financial position.

Should more American private capital go abroad, the deficit in the United States' balance of international payments would increase in proportion. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and other top officials are concerned about this deficit because it could lead to a heavier outflow of gold.

After the conservative victory, stock prices in London soared to new highs. However, reports from Britain indicated that American investors sold to take profits during the rise.

A reserve board technician said profit-taking would be the natural reaction to the price spurt. He said any significant influx of American money into the London stocks might be postponed by investors hopeful of lower prices later.

He said it will take several months to determine whether the British elections will have a major influence on American investment abroad.

American buying of foreign stocks hit a peak early this year and then fell off sharply, beginning in June.

At the Commerce department, it was pointed out that the slump in American buying began before plans for the elections were announced. Officials said that because of this, they doubted possible investor fears of a Labor Party victory were an important factor.

Available reports place the total known dead for the season in Asia at 7,066, the missing at 1,679 and the injured at 37,312.

First came typhoons in Communist China in mid-June which, according to Peiping Radio, left 187 dead in Kiangsi and Kwangtung provinces.

Then came Typhoon Billie, which killed 67, left 22 missing and injured 58 in Japan, Formosa and the Philippines.

Formosa counted 669 dead, 347 missing and 852 injured after torrential rains and floods Aug. 7.

Other major typhoons of the season were Georgia, (137) dead, 108 missing, 712 injured in Japan; and Sarah (125) known dead in South Korea and another 22 in Japan.

Playwright Tennessee Williams once was an usher in the Strand Theater on Broadway.

The channel of the Hudson River extends out to sea about 120 miles beyond New York Harbor.

Less Decay

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Tooth decay in Winston-Salem children is off 50 per cent or more because of fluoridation of the city's drinking water says the county dental officer.

The city began adding fluorine to its water eight years ago. Dr. A. C. Jent, Forsyth County dental officer, said Wednesday he compared the teeth of second graders in the city schools and in the county schools where the water is not fluoridated.

He said the second grade city youngsters, most of them 8 years old, began drinking the fluoridated water as infants. He said there are far less cavities in the teeth of the city school children than in the county children.

"The evidence is definite. From looking into the mouths of 12,000 children—both county and city—we have found that tooth decay in the Winston-Salem child is 50 per cent or more less than in the child living in the county," he observed.

Typhoon Season Finally Ended

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's Central Weather Bureau announced today that Asia's most devastating typhoon season on record has finally come to an end.

Japan was hardest hit, with 4,500 persons killed, 685 still missing and 5,285 injured in Typhoon Vera late in September. Other Asian countries also suffered heavily.

The agency said the Pacific gave birth to 19 typhoons from July to mid-October. Some hit populated land areas, others dispersed harmlessly over water.

Not Taking Any Costume Chances

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—A cautious woman called police headquarters and explained her bunny rabbit Halloween costume is basically a suit of long underwear. She asked if she was apt to be arrested if she appeared on the street in it.

Lt. H. K. Brown told her he couldn't find any ordinance that covers the situation. "Go ahead. It's okay," he said.

SHADOW OF GULL

A NEW THRILLER by PATRICK QUENTIN

Connie sat down on the arm of a chair. She sat just as straight as she always did. She turned from profile to look at me, smiling again.

"As it turned out," she said, "now that we know what Don Saxby was, prudery paid off, didn't it? Perhaps, without admitting it, I always realized he was a phony. But there it is—the not very edifying story of me and near infidelity. Then of course, all the things with Ala began. That certainly paid me for my giddiness, didn't it?"

She threw out a hand. "So there it is. Ala—you—Don Saxby. I made a fool of myself all along the line, but once you get kicked out of a fool's paradise, at least it's a comfort to understand why you had the kick coming to you."

Listening to her had been terrible for me, not for what she'd done, but for the light it shed on me. In her merciless self-accusation, she hadn't accused me. There had never been a moment when she'd even hinted that any inadequacy had been mine.

But I stood accused, and as I looked through her eyes back into the years of our marriage, back long before Eve, the realization of my own hypocrisy blazed out at me like a building suddenly illuminated by floodlights.

There I'd been smugly committed to my own self-elected conception of what marriage to Consuelo Cortiss had involved; the humiliation of being the husband of a rich woman had Connie ever by word or deed showed she'd thought of me that way?); the strain of being the "average-guy" husband of an icily efficient, universally admired social figure (had Connie ever wanted her own position?)

Poor George Hadley. That's what I'd chosen to think: that the marriage was too tough for me, never that I had been too feeble for the marriage. Poor George Hadley, no warmth at home for him, Ala's phrase again. No warmth!

Connie was still sitting on the arm of the chair, still smiling at me with her bright, almost impersonal smile, making no demands whatsoever. She would, I knew, rather die than make me feel she had been implying there were any seeds for reconciliation in what she'd revealed.

She knew as well as I that it was far too late for us to pick up the pieces now. We might have, if this had happened before Eve, but this sort of thing never happened "before" anything. That was one of life's axioms.

And that was what made the situation unbearable now. I knew my love was completely committed to Eve and I knew, although now there was no smugness in it, that indeed it was Eve's league where I belonged and not Connie's.

There was nothing left to face my wife with but offerings which she would never accept—pity, regret and, of course, my own awareness of my total failure as a husband.

Connie got up. "George, about the bracelet. You got it at Carter's, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"What if Lieutenant Trant is able to trace who bought it?"

It was indicative of how far we had got from the pressure of the moment that, until she'd said that, I'd given up thinking of Lieutenant Trant. I'd hardly thought of Don Saxby either except as a thing which had happened to Connie and me—certainly not as a corpse.

She was looking at me, her face very calm but very solemn.

"If he does identify it, if he finds out it's mine . . ."

No, I thought. After all that had happened, they—whoever they were, the fates—who'd do this to us.

"Won't he think I killed him, George?"

She said that without emotion as if she were merely bringing up a fact to be considered.

The confusions in me steadied themselves. "But he can't. At least we can be sure of that. You have an alibi. He knows that Miss Taylor."

"Yes," she said. "Of course, Miss Taylor." She gave a little smile. "So that's one thing we don't have to worry about, isn't it? And we don't have to worry about you either because I'll call her right away. She'll say you came home before three-thirty. I know she will. She'll do anything for me."

"All right," I said. "Try her." There didn't seem to be anything more to say. I looked at my watch. "I'd better get down to the office. Lew Parker wanted to see me this morning."

I went to the Consolidated office. Connie telephoned to say that Miss Taylor had left for South Carolina early that morning because her mother had suddenly been taken sick.

"It's maddening, George. But it'll be all right, I'm sure. I'll call her father and leave a message for her to get in touch with me the moment she arrives. Oh, and there's something else, too. Vivien's just heard about Chuck and she's wild with enthusiasm. She insists on giving a family celebration party tonight."

"I'll have to go, of course. But—well, with the board meeting and everything I'm sure you won't have a proper chance to talk to Mrs. Lord at the office and I really think—I mean, for her sake—that you should let her know it's all right. So I told Vivien not to count on you. I said you were working late. Wasn't that the best thing?"

As I listened I wondered whether there was anyone in the world except Connie who would be having like this—arranging my alibi for me, stalling Vivien, thinking about Eve under circumstances which would have turned any other wife into a vengeful fury. Once again I felt the same old mixture of emotions: admiration, gratitude and a faint, very faint resentment that she should still be organizing me.

"Thanks, Connie. Thanks a lot."

Bob Driscoll came for me then, and for the rest of the day I was tied up. The meeting wasn't over until five and I hurried back to my office. It was the first time I'd had a chance to see Eve alone all day. When I told her about Connie, her reaction was far less complicated than mine.

"She really gave us her blessing."

"Not only that. She figured we'd want to be alone for a while so she got me out of going to Vivien's party."

"And all these months . . . ! George, she is wonderful, isn't she? How am I ever going to let her know how grateful I am?"

That was when Vivien swirled into the office.

"George, darling! Hello, Mrs. Lord." She ran to me and enveloped me in a hug. "What's all this about working late? Today of all days? Are you out of your mind? I'm just through having my hair done right around the corner and I said to myself: This is ridiculous. I'll just plunge into that office and drag George off by the scruff of his neck."

She swooped around to Eve. "You see, don't you, Mrs. Lord? The nightmare's all over. Chuck's free again. He worships Ala. Ala worships him. It's all exactly as if nothing had happened, as if they'd turned back all the clocks. Tell him, Mrs. Lord, tell this dreary man he's simply got to come and celebrate with the others."

I looked at Eve. She looked at me. I knew we were both feeling the same way. Whatever had happened to her own marriage, Connie had finally succeeded in getting Chuck and Ala together. One small way of repaying her was for me to see that the whole family was united at the moment of the celebration.

"All right," I said. "I'll call you later at home, Mrs. Lord. If there's any time, we still might get through some of the reports."

Lieutenant Trant has an announcement awaiting George: "Since I've found out about the bracelet, I have a very good idea who killed Don Saxby." Continue the story tomorrow.

Paid For Hearing Others' Troubles

INDIO, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Peggy Scott gets paid for listening to other people tell of their troubles. She calls herself a "professional listener." She has no particular training for her work and doesn't try to assume the role of psychiatrist or psychologist.

"If you're like a lot of people, you have problems you can't discuss with your friends and you feel the need of some one who is interested, but not personally interested," Mrs. Scott says.

"You need to talk it out. I'll listen."

She offers no advice—"People don't want it. They want to be able to think it through for themselves. You've got to do that."

"By talking out our problems the answers just seem to come to us and sometimes we find we know the answer almost before our problem is off our lips."

When she feels the "talker" needs professional help, she'll tell him she can do nothing for him and recommend that he see a psychiatrist or psychologist.

Her limit for listening is three one-hour sessions. In that time, the person should have been helped, she says. And, she boasts, "either all of my customers have been helped or are being helped."

Bridged The Gap In A New Career

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—When he was a midshipman at the Naval Academy in 1912, William H. Rabe was plagued with seasickness. So he found a new career bridging the source of his difficulty.

He'll retire from the Ohio Highway Department this year after 45 years of service as an engineer, during which he helped build 5,000 bridges.

Some Slips In Type Provided Amusing Results

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Newspapers, just like humans, sometimes make mistakes, and occasionally with amusing results. The Florida Women's Press Club listed these as some of the more humorous bloopers:

"Mrs. Collins (wife of Gov. LeRoy Collins) chose for the occasion a white faffle sheath with brief sleeves and square neckline. Bordering the neckline and repeated the full length of the dress was a wide band of biscuits and watermelon pickles."

"The bride's gown featured a floor-length neckline."

A high school principal stated firmly: "In our school, we gear our curriculum to the asses, and we'll continue to do so until the people provide otherwise."

"John Jones just returned from a visit of a few days with his mother-in-law. Mr. Jones is now undergoing treatment in the Winter Haven hospital."

Found Greatest Reward Teaching People How To Live

(Another in a series of interviews with Pitt County citizens who have passed their 80th birthday).

By PATSY MOORE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pattie Elizabeth Kearney, now 88 years old, sat in her bedroom and recalled a life dedicated for the most part to other people.

She taught school for 45 years, was instrumental in founding the George Washington Carver Library for Negroes here and remembers the initiation of a Negro recreation system right in her backyard on Clark Street.

Strangely enough, most of her time still is spent with other people, giving them advice and counsel.

"Lizzie" Kearney says the boys and girls she trained from youth until adulthood come to see her weekly for advice and counsel in the different ways of life.

"If I cannot help them in one way, then I try in another," she said.

Teaching people how to live is the thing Lizzie Kearney "adores most in life." Some of her old students are in their 60's and still come for guidance.

Excluding church work and missionary work, Mrs. Kearney says she next loves children. They frequent her home, also.

Mrs. Kearney was born in Pitt County near Greenville on Feb. 22, 1871, an only child. Her education included five years in a school in Tarboro and completion of requirements in the Normal and Collegiate Department of Shaw University in Raleigh.

Then she began her teaching career, which was interspersed with supervisory positions and briefly with a millinery and ladies furnishings business here in Greenville. She first taught at the Rock Spring School in a rural district of Pitt County—where she has spent most of her life.

She taught in the first public school that Pitt County had, the Greenville School, located near the Greene Street Tar River bridge. Mrs. Kearney also taught in Greene County, Scotland Neck, at Allen's Schoolhouse near here, at Berte Academy in Berte County, at Shiver's Schoolhouse, and later in Ansonia, Conn., and Newark, N. J.

Because of the cold climate in the North, Lizzie Kearney says she came home to Greenville to stay. She worked in the educational field under the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt as a superintendent of adult education, training teachers.

Mrs. Kearney still has newspaper clippings of the library she was instrumental in founding. She keeps them in a little purse near her bed, so she can take them out and read them in her leisure.

In the last five years, Mrs. Kearney has slowed her pace somewhat—due to an attack of pneumonia and three heart attacks. She seldom goes out.

But her only daughter, Vivian, who lives with her mother, says Lizzie Kearney loves to work with flowers and to plant grass—and still gets out in the yard to work with them. In the backyard, now filled with various flowers, she says the local Negro recreation system was started.

Beginning at the age of 12, Mrs. Kearney joined the Sycamore Hill Baptist Church near here. By the time she was 14 years old, her elders wanted to send her to Africa to organize missions. Since she was an only child, Mrs. Kearney says her mother did not want her to leave home.

So the young girl stayed to organize home mission circles in this area and in other parts of the state. She later taught Sunday School at the church for many years.

Her interest in her church has carried into her whole life. She firmly believes that "every man and woman should strictly comply with laws of God and the country as best they can, and the laws of the state and the county. By doing this they make worthwhile citizens; otherwise, they fail."

And she has a "recipe" for living past the age of 80. She says we should live by the laws of God and follow the Ten Commandments.

Wants Pay Cut, But It's Illegal

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—W. O. Murphy wants his pay cut. But it can't be done legally.

Murphy, of Georgetown, draws $1,800 yearly as Scott County commissioner. If he could get it reduced to $1,200 he would be eligible for Social Security.

The attorney general says he's barred by the state constitution from having his pay changed during his term in office.

Says Broadcasting Industry May Set Up Checks

BOSTON (AP)—Harold E. Fellows, president of the National Assn. of Broadcasters, said today the industry is prepared to set up additional safeguards in its television code if necessary to prevent rigging of quiz shows.

Fellows, in a speech prepared for an NAB fall conference, said Washington testimony about rigged quizzes may result in "a challenge to our system of voluntary self-regulation."

"This industry has proved, in its four decades of service, it can clean its own house when necessary," Fellows said.

He said he and his association are concerned over the Washington testimony. He said he would not try to "explain or justify this unfortunate episode in broadcasting, wherein outside packaging producers have hoodwinked the public and the broadcasters whose facilities they use. I assure you that we at NAB are fully aware of the broadcaster's responsibility to our viewing public."

Radio and television are popular "whipping boys," said Vincent T. Waslewski, manager of government relations for NAB.

ment (freedom of press) to ward off or ridicule those who would like to tamper with freedom of speech and communication. Too, broadcasting is unique because it has to obtain that all important license," he said.

Dreams Shattered By Senseless Attack

CHICAGO (AP)—Ronald Fraier has wanted to be a doctor for as long as he can remember.

With the years of pre-med study and the many rejections from crowded medical schools it was a long struggle. But on Sept. 28 the 23-year-old Flushing, N.Y., student entered Chicago Medical School, seemingly on the last leg of a lifelong dream.

A week ago on the West Side a vicious, senseless blow on the head may have brought Ronald's plans and hopes to a stunning halt.

He awoke in the University of Illinois hospital, his skull smashed and his left side paralyzed. He is regaining the use of his leg but faces the possibility that his left arm may swing uselessly at his side for the rest of his life. Ronald is left handed.

"I was just walking along, going to lunch," he recalled Wednesday. "This fellow came up to me and said 'are you with that guy?' I still don't know what he was talking about. He had a crowbar in his hand but I didn't think he would use it. I said 'no' and walked away. He hit me—once. That's all I remember."

A burly, part-time car washer, Ernest Le Grone, has admitted the attack and said it was a case of mistaken identity. Le Grone, a Negro, told police he was drunk.

Faced with the bleak possibility that he may never use his arm Ronald said: "I couldn't be a surgeon without a left arm. But I still could be a general practitioner."

As to his plans when he is released from the hospital Ronald declared, "I'm going right back to Chicago Medical School. I fought too hard to get there to give it up now."

Le Grone appeared in Felony Court Wednesday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. His case was continued to Nov. 20.

More Visitors Than Residents

TWO CREEKS, Wis. (AP)—An estimated 4,000 persons jammed this eastern Wisconsin community and the roads leading to it to help the citizens celebrate its centennial.

The residents were bursting with pride over the turnout. Two Creeks has a total population of only 36 persons.

Matched Finger With A Suspect

WACO, Tex. (AP)—A burglary suspect and the State's exhibit A arrived at Providence Hospital about the same time.

Exhibit A was the first joint of a finger a burglar left in a screen door when he dashed through it, without bothering to unlatch it, as his intended female victim screamed.

Police, scenting a clue, took the finger portion to a hospital to preserve it in alcohol.

About the same time, Alfred Battle, 38, arrived with a portion of his finger missing. Exhibit A AND Battle's missing digit

Being a secretary is sometimes a thankless job but after 23 years as executive secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association, Mrs. Cora Powell still finds the job rewarding.

According to Mrs. Powell, she started working with the Association in 1936 when there were only 19 members of the group and she has seen it grow to the present 293 members.

Working directly under the different planning committees appointed by the President of the Merchants group, it is her duty to see the plans are carried out.

The three main divisions of her work are the trade promotion program, the collection division and the credit report section. She also published a weekly bulletin which all members receive.

Trade promotion programs such as the twice-a-year Dollar Day and the Greater Greenville Days put much work on the Secretary's time is spent keeping records of the collections.

During her "spare" time, Mrs. Powell acts as secretary for the Furniture Dealers Association, the Oil Dealers Association and the Service Station Association, all subsidiaries of the Merchants Association. Serving as Secretary of the Pitt County Safety Council and a member of the advisory board of the Salvation Army are two of her additional activities.

Being Secretary of this merchants-and-business-men owned Association is a hard job but, according to Mrs. Powell, "I love it."

by Johnny Hudson

Many fans will be following the outcome of the East Carolina-Newberry game this weekend at Newberry. The game is almost a "must" for the Bucs as they prepare for the roughest part of their season.

The Bucs dropped their first conference decision to Western Carolina last week and will be trying to heal the wounds this week before taking on conference leaders Appalachian and Lenoir Rhyne in succession home games.

A win at Newberry would be a big boost to morale in the Pirate camp and help prepare for their task ahead. A loss to the strong Indian club would make Coach Jack Boone's job of preparing for the conference giants a tougher assignment.

Lost To Indians In 1958

The series between these two clubs is a short one—starting last season. The Boonemen saw a three game winning streak kicked out the window when they took on the Indians and fell 28-7.

The loss sent ECC scaring to a couple more defeats before they could gain their sense of balance. The Pirates are hopeful that the results will not be the same this season.

It will be the second invasion of East Carolina into South Carolina and the squad still remembers the bitter taste of defeat to Presbyterian in the 1959 curtain-opener.

Pirates Always Dangerous

In past seasons, ECC has jumped off to a quick start but faded in the background in the final stretch. Many observers feel that this will be the season when the locals make a strong finish for a change. Playing at home gives them a good advantage and they are still a definite threat for the title. It is very doubtful that the 1959 winner will finish the season undefeated.

Few backfields in East Carolina's history have shown the strength of the 1959 club. Glenn Bass and James Speight are potential All-Conference halfbacks and Ralph Zehring has moved up as one of the top passers in the loop. He has accounted for more yardage by passing than either Bobby Cooper or Charlie Maidon.

The defensive line has shown "greatness" at times but has also committed some costly mistakes. They have good beef in the forward wall and the final stretch in the conference should divide the men from the boys.

SATURDAY'S SCHEDULE . . . sees East Carolina's Bucs at Newberry for a non-conference scrap. The Catamounts of Western Carolina tangle with Lenoir Rhyne's Bears in this week's North State headliner at Cullowhee. In the other conference action, Catawba's hapless Indians struggle with the floundering Elon Christians in the fight to avoid the North State cellar. Guilford takes the weekend off and Appalachian travels to Carson-Newman.

Defeat At WC Drops Bucs In States; Zehring Moves Red Devils Favored Over Weak Vanceboro

The fireworks should fly Saturday night when Lenoir Rhyne and Western Carolina meet at Cullowhee.

Naturally, the game is a big one in the North State's championship race, and thus it is a perfect setting that the game brings together the conference's two top offensive teams.

Western Carolina, according to latest compilations by the conference service bureau, maintains its leadership as the loop's No. 1 team on offense, Lenoir Rhyne, in rolling up the yardage in its victory over Guilford, moves into the second-place spot in two of the three offensive categories.

In addition to all this, Western Carolina, according to the figures, is the loop's best all-around defensive team.

It should be quite an interesting evening at Cullowhee.

Western Carolina paces the conference in total offense with an average of 342.2 yards per contest. Lenoir Rhyne is right on the Catamounts' heels with an average of 323.5 yards per tilt.

Western Carolina leads the conference in pass offense with an average of 124.3 yards per contest through the air. Once again, just behind is Lenoir Rhyne at 114.5 yards per contest.

Western Carolina is No. 1 in rushing offense with 217.5 yards per game. Appalachian is second at 212.2 yards, but just behind both is Lenoir Rhyne with a 209-yard average.

Defensively, the story is a bit different. Western Carolina has allowed the opposition an average of only 160.3 yards per game, but Lenoir Rhyne is fifth at an average of 264.7 yards, a good-sized difference.

Appalachian rates No. 1 in rushing defense at 68.4 yards per tilt. Western Carolina is second at 96.1, while Lenoir Rhyne again is fifth at 183.2.

Catawba claims the No. 1 record on pass defense with an average of only 64 yards per game, while Lenoir Rhyne once more is fifth at 81.5.

The figures indicate that Western Carolina holds a bit of an edge offensively, and is far ahead

Old Timers Head Pairings

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) A meeting between the two oldest players in the field headed today's quarter-final pairings in the North and South Senior Golf Tournament.

P. C. Jarboe, 70-year-old Cape Elizabeth, Maine entry, met 66-year-old Tom Robbins of Pinehurst.

The next oldest pair also was down for head-to-head combat. Paul Dunkel, 65, of Hackensack, N. J., was paired against Vincent Fitzgerald of New York City, two years his junior.

Col. C. D. Callister, retired Air Force officer from Orlando, Fla., who is 60, drew W. E. Norvell of Signal Mountain, Tenn., 58-year-old investment banker, in a rematch. Norvell beat Callister 3 and 2 two weeks ago in the U.S. Golf Assn. senior quarter-finals at Memphis, Tenn.

The "baby" of the field, 56-year-old attorney Walter Pease of Plainfield, N. J., met George Frick, a 59-year-old Pittsburgh steel executive, in the other match.

Red Devils Favored Over Weak Vanceboro

The Farmville Red Devils will travel to Vanceboro this week for a conference game with the Red Raiders Friday night.

Farmville Coach Elbert Moye commented this week, "I hope we win the game and I think we will, but you never can tell about these things. It doesn't pay to be over-confident. Two years ago we went down there with a much better team, but the score at the half was 6-6."

Vanceboro has won no conference games while Farmville has lost only one, but Coach Moye said, "You don't win a game on paper, you win it on the field. We never have played a good game at Vanceboro. While I think we will take them, I don't want to be too sure because the football can take some funny bounces."

Coach Moye reports that the Red Devils have had a good week of practice and will be at full force for the game.

Last week Farmville lost 18-14 to Beaufort in an exciting conference match which saw all Farmville's action in the last half.

Coach Moye commented, "Last week our boys were not much good in the first half and we got behind, but in the second quarter they woke up and played football like a team of tigers. But it was too late and we lost. We should have won that game."

"This week I hope we can recoup our forces after that disappointment and start rolling again. I think we will."

Big Four Prepare For Another Rough Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clemson and South Carolina, both pointing for the Atlantic Coast Conference football title, clashed in Columbia today in the windup of the hard-fought "Big Thursday" games.

Clemson, with its squad at top shape, entered the game a slight favorite on the basis of its 3-0 ACC record and 3-1 overall. South Carolina, 1-1 in the conference, also is 3-1 overall.

Next year, the series will be played on Saturdays on a home and home basis.

If luck has anything to do with winning football games, the winner of the North Carolina State-Duke affair Saturday may be the team that gets the fewest bad breaks.

Earlier this week, Duke Coach Bill Murray said, "You might call this one the 'Tough Luck Bowl.'"

In losing four of five games thus far, the Blue Devils have been beaten twice in the final minutes, have lost four men for the season through injuries and had miserable luck with their pass defense.

N.C. State, with one victory in four starts, will go into the game without three first string backs, including ace passer, sophomore Roman Gabriel.

Dropped passes and fumbles have been the undoing of the Wolfpack.

"I don't know of anything which can make a boy hang onto the ball," says Coach Earle Edwards. "Actually, it's just one of those things."

Murray, mourning the loss of two of his four top ends, believes lack of being able to make the "big play at crucial moments" has cost Duke.

Of N.C. State, Murray says, "We play a good football team which probably has had worse breaks on the gridiron that we've had. Somebody's luck is bound to change and I hope it will be ours."

"Maybe it's better to be lucky than to be good," Edwards observed.

The Blue Dukes got a spark of encouragement Wednesday with the return to practice of halfback Danny Lee, who played well on defense before being injured. The week was light with the emphasis on polishing plays. Sophomore quarterback Don Altman was back in light equipment despite a shoulder injury.

Defense and offense got equal time in the Wolfpack camp. Gabriel was in light togs but probably won't play and fullback Arnold Nelson, injured in the Clemson game, may see some action.

New plays to pep up their offense came in for attention at the University of North Carolina which invades Wake Forest Saturday. Halfback Rip Slusser dislocated a shoulder and will be out 10 days.

Offense was stressed by Wake Forest with running and passing plays being put to the test by the receivers.

With the powerful Vanderbilt Commodors invading Virginia Saturday, Coach Dick Voris gave his winless team work on defenses and then polished the offense.

Maryland, with an open date Saturday, continued its practice for South Carolina Oct. 31.

Greenville Wins

The Greenville Junior High made it four straight yesterday afternoon, trouncing an out-manned Tarboro club, 40-0. The local club is undefeated and unscored on.

Coach John Jones' outfit had little trouble from the opening kickoff with all their backs figuring in the win. Dale Gidley scored twice for the winners.

The key to the victory was once again the defense. The Junior High club remained unscored on as their defensive line held Tarboro to little yardage and set up several scores.

Jones will be seeking won number five next Wednesday afternoon when Greenville meets Jacksonville on the Rose High practice field.

Gamecocks Play Tigers In 'Big Thursday' Tilt

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — South Carolina and Clemson football teams met here today in the finale of their "Big Thursday" series, one of the most colorful of the nation's rivalries.

A capacity crowd of 45,000 was expected. The weatherman cooperated with a forecast of rain, ending by the 2 p.m. kickoff.

The series started in 1896. Starting next year the game will be played on a Saturday home-and-home basis, the desire of Clemson Coach Frank Howard who contended he lost any home field advantage by having to play the game annually in the South Carolina stadium as a feature of the State Fair.

Despite this, Clemson entered with a decided edge in the series with 22 wins to 21 for South Carolina and three ties.

Both teams had identical 3-1 overall records. However, Clemson leads the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 3-0 mark and a victory would go a long way in Tiger hopes for their second straight conference crown.

South Carolina, coached by young Warren Giese, was 1-1 in the conference and held a good title chance with victory today.

Because of the intense rivalry, the game, as always, was a toss-up. Clemson, ranked 17th nationally, has defeated North Carolina, Virginia, and North Carolina a State, and lost to Georgia Tech.

South Carolina beat Duke, Furman and Georgia and lost to North Carolina.

The day, as usual, was an official South Carolina holiday with most private businesses as well as government offices closed.

Athletics Cost 7,100 Injuries

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — High school athletic programs resulted in injuries to 7,100 students in Wisconsin during the 1958-59 school year.

State Medical Society figures, based on insurance claims, showed football accounted for 3,984, or more than 64 per cent of the total. Basketball added 1,184 to the injured list, wrestling 401, track 271, and baseball 194.

Creel Limit Is Increased

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina fishermen now can have a creel limit of three days instead of two.

The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission approved the increase in the creel limit during a meeting here Wednesday. This means that a fisherman's catch can total the limit for three days.

The commission also agreed to start the entire waterfowl season in Currituck Sound on Nov. 20 and extended the daily closing hour from 4 to 4:30 p.m.

Fishing in Currituck Sound at night also was approved.

Syracuse Tags Club With New Name In Colorful Grid Scene

Greenville Wins

By JACK CLARY

Syracuse has banded together a football wrecking crew it calls the "Sizeable Seven." And at the rate this group is going the traditions of two other famous "sevens"—Fordham's Seven Blocks of Granite and Notre Dame's Seven Mules—will be upheld to the highest.

But what makes the 226-pound average unit so remarkable is that six of the seven came to Syracuse schooled in positions other than the ones they now play. It didn't seem to have an adverse effect for the Big Orange tops the nation's defense with a 99.0 average for four games, topped by a miserly 20.0 average on the ground.

This, more than the lack of a "name" back, has kept Coach Floyd Schwartzwalder's lads undefeated and has helped jack up

Kepley Lost To Tar Heels

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Starting center Dick Kepley will be lost to the North Carolina basketball team until late December.

Coach Frank McGuire said Kepley injured his ankle during the Tar Heels opening practice and underwent surgery Tuesday. McGuire said Kepley will be out six or seven weeks and likely will not be able to play before the Dixie Classic in late December.

Also lost to the Tar Heels for the first semester is Doug Moe, North Carolina scoring ace who was ruled scholastically ineligible.

Kepley, 6-8 from Roanoke, Va., will miss three scheduled games and the Kentucky Invitational Tournament at Lexington.

South Carolina and Clemson play their Big Thursday game for the last time today at South Carolina's State Fair. Both teams' Navy, the "Sizeable Seven" and Co. allowed only 59 rushing and did even better in a 29-0 win over Maryland, giving only 8 yards on the ground and 21 passing.

This defensive prowess has been used to good fortune on offense. The ground attack rolled to 228 yards over Maryland, 185 over Navy, and 277 over Holy Cross.

Against unbeaten Holy Cross last week whom they humbled 42-7, they allowed a minus 28 yards rushing. In a 32-6 victory over

ECC Rivals Look Good

Since taking an embarrassing 45-0 loss at East Carolina, Albright has a three game winning streak going. The Lions have paraded past Drexel Tech, 23-12; Lebanon Valley, 18-0, and Lycoming College, 19-0.

Another non-conference foe, Presbyterian, is also having a banner season. Victors over East Carolina, 18-13, the Blue Hose are currently ranked number three in the nation among small college clubs. They have five straight victories including wins over Southern Conference foes Davidson and Furman.

Beware Of Newberry

Coach George Tucker scouted Newberry this past week and contends that they have one of their better teams. The Indian club is an interesting one. They have an all-senior line which is tough. Their quarterback is one of the smallest in the nation—weighing 135—but is capable of running circles around the big men. At fullback, they have one of the best backs ECC will face—Richard Seastrunk.

The fullback is the workhorse in the Indian backfield and has ripped enemy lines in past weeks with consistency. He will be the man that the Bucs must stop.

William Holden's Family Has Made Home In Europe

BERLIN (AP)—William Holden has moved to Europe, and he doesn't care who knows it.

A few years back press agents would have thrown up their hands if an American movie star came out with a statement like that.

Now, times have changed. The movie people are fond of saying that 55 per cent of the money American movies earn comes from other countries, where television is less widespread. A lot of American filming is now done in Europe—it cuts costs.

It used to be, Holden explains, that no film star could get a big international reputation without working in Hollywood. That isn't true any more. He himself hasn't made a picture there since 1953.

"I love my country," says Holden, who was born in O'Fallon, Ill. "But I love my family too. Last year I logged about 100,000 miles in the air and spent about six weeks in the United States. After awhile I got to figuring how much it cost me for every dip I took in my own swimming pool."

Holden is the businessman type of actor, with interests as far afield as Nairobi and Hong Kong. Next year he will be established in a house at St. Prex, near Lausanne, Switzerland, and hopes to cut 25,000 miles from his air travel.

Holden has been married 18 years to the former Brenda Marshall, who used to be an actress herself. Their sons, West, 15, and Scott, 13, have already started school near their new home—which isn't quite ready yet.

An older daughter, Virginia, is studying and working in California but will make it to the new home for Christmas.

Away He Goes—In Reverse Gear

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP)—Donald Griffin's car stalled in a supermarket parking lot.

Griffin, alone, figured he could fix it if he could work at the engine while having the gas pedal depressed. He put a heavy box on the accelerator, lifted the hood and started tinkering. The car, left in reverse gear, suddenly roared backward, made several wide circles in the parking lot, broke off a parking meter post and came to a stop in the street.

Griffin, arrested for failure to have his auto under control, was fined $50.

Ousted Langelle Returns To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russell A. Langelle, central figure in a bizarre diplomatic incident in Moscow, returned to Washington early today for consultation with State Department officials.

Langelle, a security officer at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, was expelled by the Soviets on espionage charges.

But his version of what happened—which is backed up by the State Department—is that he was seized by five Soviets at a bus stop near the embassy. He said he was taken to a nearby building, questioned for nearly two hours, and finally offered a bribe to spy for the Soviets. He turned it down.

Langelle, arriving in New York from Europe Wednesday night, told newsmen he thought he was seized because "I was responsible for the physical security of the embassy and for the classified documents, codes and personnel."

Langelle said Western diplomats in Moscow were shocked and amazed by the incident and "like myself, couldn't believe that such a thing happened."

Contest Offers Vacation Trips To Farm Couples

Bermuda and New York City will be February vacation spots for 20 farm couples, according to Hendrix-Barnhill, local Allis-Chalmers farm equipment dealer.

Winners in the nationwide Allis-Chalmers fall purchase contest will get the expense-paid vacation trip to Bermuda with a stopover in New York.

Hendrix-Barnhill says any farmer is eligible to enter the contest by simply buying, between September 25 and the end of the year, some of the farm equipment he needs for 1960. His firm has all the information.

Sobering Ride For One Driver

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—County police have found a new way to sober a drunken driver.

Moments after officers put a drunk motorist in the back seat of their car another auto sped past. The patrolmen gave chase, stopped the second car, and arrested an escaped convict.

The officers reported they "released the drunk we had in the back of the car since the chase completely sobered him."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Wednesday night indirectly, condemned Red China for violating the basic rights of Tibetans but the U.S.-backed move lacked important support from nearly one-third of the 48-nation General Assembly.

The assembly voted 45-9 to approve an Irish-Malayan resolution urging respect for the fundamental rights of the Tibetan people to determine their own way of life.

Twenty six nations abstained from the balloting, including Great Britain, France and Belgium. The three U.S. allies voiced strong sympathy for Tibet's plight but they insisted Tibet is part of Red China, and that the U.N. has no right to interfere in the internal affairs of nations.

The Peiping regime made clear in advance that it will disregard the resolution. "We will carry on the revolution in Tibet to the end, no matter how madly the imperialists howl," declared the Panchen Lama, the Communist-appointed ruler of Tibet, in a speech in the Chinese capital Wednesday.

Fight Shapes Up On Flynn Estate

NEW YORK (AP)—Errol Flynn left the bulk of his estate to his estranged wife, actress Patricia Wynne. Immediate reaction pointed to a court battle over the will.

The value of the estate, filed for probate Wednesday in surrogate's court, was listed simply as being "more than $20,000." Reports, however, estimated the estate at more than $100,000 but well under a million dollars.

Flynn, 50, died of a heart attack Oct. 14 at Vancouver, B.C. At his side was his 17-year-old girl friend of the past two years, Beverly Aadland.

No mention was made in the will, drawn up in 1954, of Miss Aadland. The blonde Beverly told newsmen several days after Wynne's death that it didn't matter if she was not mentioned in his will.

In San Francisco, however, her attorney, Melvin Belli said he was "utterly amazed" at lawyer Justin M. Golenbock of New York city, named executor along with Miss Wynne.

"Considering the documents Golenbock has and what we have" concerning the estate's obligations Belli said, "he (Golenbock) forces us to do something. I'm only going to do what Errol instructed Mr. Golenbock to do."

In Los Angeles, Flynn's second wife, Nora Eddington, said she is sure there is a later will.

Deidre, 14, and Rory, 12, Flynn's daughters by Miss Eddington, were bequeathed $10,000 each, to be used solely for education.

To Sean Flynn, 17, his son by his first wife, ex-actress Lili Damita, he left $5,000.

Only the Soviet bloc voted against the mildly worded resolution. The resolution did not mention Red China or the charges that it crushed an anti-Communist uprising in the Himalayan land last spring. But the two-day debate that preceded the vote re-sounded with condemnation of Peiping.

The Soviets warned at the outset that discussion of Tibet would only aggravate international tensions. The United States accused the Soviets of trying to scare off delegates from the issue by raising the specter of the cold war.

British Delegate Sir Pierson Dixon expressed distress over the events in Tibet and maintained the international body had taken the right step in discussing the matter. He added, however, that anything beyond discussion would be intervention in internal affairs of a nation.

Also abstaining was India, which has granted asylum to the Dalai Lama, Tibet's fugitive ruler, and about 13,000 of his followers. India's V. K. Krishna Menon said he hoped a reconciliation could be effected between Peiping and the Dalai Lama.

Others abstaining on the vote were Afghanistan, Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, Ethiopia, Ghana, Indonesia, Iraq, Lebanon, Libya, Morocco, Nepal, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, the United Arab Republic and Yemen, all members of the Asian-African bloc; one Latin American member, the Dominican Republic, and Portugal, Spain,

South Africa, Yugoslavia and Finland. Nationalist China backed the resolution. Before the Communists won control of the mainland, the Nationalist government claimed sovereignty over Tibet but was never able to exercise more than a bare semblance of control. After the Tibetan revolt against the Communists, the Nationalists promised Tibet the right of self-determination if the Nationalists ever regained control of the mainland.

With the Tibetan issue out of the way, interest shifted back to the disarmament debate in the assembly's main political committee. France was the chief speaker today. Informed diplomats reported that outside the committee the Soviet Union and the United States were trying to agree on a resolution on disarmament that they could sponsor jointly.

These sources said the two big powers in a week of private talks had agreed to ask the assembly to pass along to the new 10-nation disarmament committee both Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's four-year total disarmament plan and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd's step-by-step, balanced-disarmament scheme.

But the informants said the Soviets want the assembly to endorse Khrushchev's principle of "general and complete disarmament" in four to six years, while the Americans want no such favoring of the Soviet plan.

Labor Secretary To Push For Changes In T-H Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said today he plans to recommend changes in the Taft-Hartley law's national emergency provisions relating to strikes. These provisions have now been invoked in the steel strike.

The main change he wants, Mitchell said, is to "give the federal mediation and conciliation service the right to ask the president to appoint a board of inquiry, a board to clarify the issues" at any time during the mediation process, perhaps even before a strike occurs.

At present, the secretary said, the President has no right to appoint such a board until a national emergency has been reached because of a strike.

Regretfully, He Had To Decline

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Local newspaper editors recently were invited to a dinner of the Greater Columbia United Fund.

One editor regretfully declined and wryly noted in Wednesday's issue of his newspaper that he must do so because of being "unavoidably" detained by previous commitments.

He is editor of "About Face," the weekly newspaper published by convicts at the State Penitentiary.

Deer Crashed In Beauty Shop

BRANSON, Mo. (AP)—Two young sisters were sitting quietly under hair dryers in a beauty shop when a buck deer crashed in through a plate glass window.

While the deer scrambled through the shop in panic, Rachel and Muriel Hartzell ran screaming out the front door. They weren't hurt.

Police shot the animal.

difficult to do." Mitchell said he would promote discussion of such changes in the Taft-Hartley law within the administration. Asked if the President went along with these ideas, Mitchell said: "Well, we haven't formulated specific recommendations but the President has indicated to me that he would like the whole area studied."

Mitchell added, "I still think that collective bargaining will work in this country. I still think that the government should not intervene in terms of dictating wages and conditions by compulsory arbitration because that inevitably leads to dictation of prices, and government domination of our economics."

Tiny Quintuplets' Funeral Rites Scheduled For Friday

Space 'Lifeboat' Plans Are Drawn

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—You're in a space ship bound for the moon or mars.

A meteor suddenly strikes the craft. The collision disables the rocket's mechanism.

Your air supply begins to escape.

You must abandon the ship, but how?

Two astronomical engineers here think they may have the answer in a "space lifeboat" where future travelers to the moon or the planets could escape in an emergency.

Robert P. Haviland and Harold L. Bloom, of the General Electric Co. said Wednesday they have drawn plans for several types of space lifeboats. They hope to submit them to the government.

One of the lifeboats would be a 30-foot rocket about six feet in diameter. It would shelter three men in space for a week.

Say a space ship carrying three men is hit by a meteor. They must abandon ship. They quickly climb into the smaller rocket, which would be fastened to the side of the mother ship or which could be launched from within it. The smaller rocket would be equipped with most of the essentials of the mother ship such as an air purification system, food, signal generator, battery, oxygen supply and water.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Lt. Charles G. Hannan and his pretty wife, Cecelia, prepared today for the funerals Friday for their doll-like quintuplet girls.

The mother apparently will not be able to attend, however. Doctors said it was doubtful she would be able to pose for pictures today.

The small girls were born Tuesday in 12 minutes beginning at 12:22 p.m., a 42-million to one medical rarity that had news channels of the world spinning until the quint's deaths. The father scheduled a final news conference today.

The last of the five girls died Wednesday morning at 6:40 a.m.

Her tiny, toylike sisters died Tuesday at 5:40 p.m., 6:10 p.m., 9:25 p.m., and 10 p.m.

Newsman and hospital attendants joined the parents in prayers that they might live. But despite the facilities of what is described as the Air Force's finest hospital here at Lackland Air Force Base, the tiny girls died one by one.

The parents and doctors knew beforehand that they had scant changes to live. They were born three months prematurely.

Not named while they lived, the funeral announcement Wednesday said the girls, in order of birth, had been named Deborah Lynn, Janet Lee, Karen Denise, Melissa Jane, and Suzanne Kay. Janet Lee was the first to die, Melissa Jane the last.

The funeral will be held in the hometown of the 29-year-old father, Taylor, Tex., about 95 miles north of here, where he and his wife, 27, met when they were school children at St. Mary's School.

The final rites will be Catholic.

One of the physicians attending the birth baptized the girls in the Catholic faith, the religion of their parents. Such baptism, by doctors and laymen, are sanctioned by the church in emergencies.

Stricken with grief, Lieutenant Hannan and his wife were visited Wednesday by their own parents. All live at Taylor. They returned after brief talks with the bereaved couple.

Couldn't Decide On The Alcohol

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—Was the alcohol the policeman smelled on Wilbur Fowler Allison's head or on his breath?

Allison, charged with drunk driving, said the odor of alcohol came from hair tonic.

His barber testified that Allison received a haircut and tonic treatment at his shop on the day of the arrest. He said the hair tonic was 70 per cent alcohol.

But a policeman said in his opinion Allison staggered when he arrested him.

The case ended in a mistrial Wednesday when the jury gave up after three hours of debating the question.

Wants No Part Of Reward For Honesty

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "I tried to report in yesterday," said Jacob Spreitzer as he walked into a police station with $500 in a glove.

"But the windows were all crowded and I didn't want to bother the policemen when they were so busy," he said Wednesday.

Spreitzer could have kept the money. He could have used it. Except for odd farm jobs, the 77-year-old man makes only $3 a month from Social Security.

Nobody knew about the money. Spreitzer found it in the glove dangling from a string on the back of a dresser in his cheap hotel room.

In the glove was a wallet, containing five $20 bills and 40 $10 bills.

"I don't care if it's a million dollars," he said. "I don't need that kind of money. I make my own living, still."

The bachelor who came to the United States 52 years ago from his native Austria was interested only in finding Fred William Taylor, identified by a card in the wallet as the owner.

Police records showed that Taylor had been on welfare.

This meant the money will revert to the state and Spreitzer could not be rewarded.

But even before the question came up, Spreitzer insisted, "I want no reward."

"I'm not hungry," he said. "I got enough to eat."

Bond Issue Election Stirs Little Or No Controversy Across The State

RALEIGH (AP)—Tar Heel voters will decide next Tuesday whether to approve $34,400,000 in bond issues for new facilities at state institutions. Officials say the money is needed to relieve overcrowded conditions and provide for future growth.

The election, which has aroused little, if any controversy, is expected to produce a relatively small turnout of voters. The issues are expected to be approved with relatively little dissent.

More than half the total bond money would be earmarked for higher education institutions, already in the midst of a tidal wave of increased enrollment.

A special committee appointed by Gov. Hodges to boom passage of the issues said the new educational facilities the money will provide will make it possible for 2,123 more high school graduates to attend college each year.

Dr. J. Harris Purks, higher education director, said the facilities provided in the bond issue are a must if future enrollment demands are to be met.

"It is expected that by 1966, enrollment in colleges will be at least 50 per cent higher, if the facilities are available," he said. "If they are not available, many North Carolina boys will have to be turned away."

"Dormitory space is already inadequate to meet enrollment demands. Within a very few years, instructional facilities will also be inadequate, which would have the effect of limiting enrollment."

Purks said the buildings provided by the bond issue would not be ready before autumn, 1962, or spring, 1963. "It is, therefore, very important that the funds for these buildings be provided now," he added.

A breakdown on the bond issue's educational provisions shows $18,891,000 earmarked for state colleges and universities, and 1 1/2 million for aid to community collocation director, said the facilities provided in the bond issue are a and other institutions plead for the expanded facilities at a long series of hearings.

Tobacco Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

The stored tobacco moth causes serious damage to stored tobacco on the farm. Most damage caused by this insect occurs between the time the tobacco is cured and the time it is sold. The attack of this insect is confined to flue-cured and Turkish tobaccos, preferably of the better grades—those high in sugar and low in nicotine.

The life history of the tobacco moth is similar to most other insects. The moth lays the eggs in or near piles of stored tobacco. The larvae are tiny when first hatched, but grow to about one-half inch in length. They are pinkish white in color with a reddish brown head. When the larvae is full grown, it spins a weblike cocoon in which it transforms into a pupae, and then emerges as an adult moth. In summer conditions the life cycle from egg to egg averages approximately 50 days. Usually the tobacco moth passes the winter as an adult larvae. In the fall most of the mature larvae leave the tobacco and migrate to cracks and crevices about the building, where they spin loose cocoons of silk in which to hibernate.

Most farmers have either finished, or are nearly finished, marketing their tobacco crop. Therefore, it is a good time to start control measures that will help keep the loss caused by the tobacco moth to a minimum. As soon as the crop is graded and sold, the packhouse and grading room should be thoroughly cleaned. When cleaning, all slats should be removed from the walls, then the walls should be brushed down. All scrap tobacco should be removed from the packhouse and destroyed. No seed, feed, or fertilizer should be stored in the packhouse. If grain or feed is stored in the packhouse, the moths will breed in this material until tobacco is harvested. After thoroughly cleaning, the packhouse and grading room should be sprayed with a 5 per cent DDT solution, which can be made by mixing two quarts of 59 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate with 5 gallons of water. The walls, ceiling, and floor of the packhouse and grading room should be sprayed again in the spring with a 5 per cent DDT spray solution. This should be done at least one month prior to the beginning of the tobacco harvest, preferably in April.

Ex-Diplomat Says Allied Plans On Germany Wrong

DEBBIE PENN SAYS:

"THE BEST BEVERAGE MAKER USES QUAKER"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former ambassador George F. Kennan today described Allied proposals toward Germany as "stilted, cramped and inflexible." He said there is no sign a summit conference will ease dangerous East-West quarrels.

The former envoy to Moscow in the Truman administration couched this criticism with a scathing attack on present defense strategy of basing American power on atomic-hydrogen weapons.

"This unthinking readiness to wreak destruction on millions of innocent and helpless people for no other purpose than to assure that the adversary suffers no less than we do," Kennan said, "reflects the hideous self-centeredness on the part of ourselves as a generation."

Kennan, former State Department policy planning chief, spoke out in an address prepared for a Woman's National Democratic Club luncheon. He quit the department some six years ago to join the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J.

Kennan, a frequent critic of administration foreign policy, offered no new proposal for settling the Berlin problem and the dispute with the Soviet Union over Germany's future.

But he flayed proposals put forward by the West to safeguard Berlin as nothing more than "a defensive, delaying action" after the Soviet Union demanded that the Allies leave the divided former German capital.

The allies in negotiating with the Soviet, he said, have made it clear they want German unification only on their own terms and that they are unwilling to pay any serious price to the Soviets to achieve this goal.

Kennan denounced the idea of any summit conference with the Soviet Union at this stage, saying such a top level meeting should be only for the purpose of "formalizing agreements already largely negotiated at lower levels."

Old Packet Is Now A Showplace

BEACH HAVEN, N. J. (AP)—"Lucy Evelyn," say people around here, "is beached as high and as dry as a marshmallow in a drained cocoa cup."

She is a 140-foot packet and sailed the seas for many years. Now, the ship serves as a tourist attraction and houses a gift shop.

Built in 1917 for $64,000, authorities claim it would cost at least $200,000 to duplicate her.

See No Shift In Peiping Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Red China shows no signs of renouncing the use of force to seize Formosa from the Chinese Nationalists, the State Department says.

"On the contrary," the department press officer, Lincoln White, said Wednesday, "it continues to declare its intention to seize Taiwan (Formosa). This position has recently been reiterated by the leaders of the Peiping regime."

The department issued its statement after it was learned that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had sent President Eisenhower a letter dealing with China.

Khrushchev's letter, delivered to the State Department Oct. 13, said the Soviet Union supports Communist China's view that its claim to Formosa is a domestic, not an international issue.

Department spokesmen said there was no foundation for a report that Khrushchev had forwarded word that the Red Chinese

NCEA Chapter Hears Reports

PACTOLUS—Reports from the Oct. 1 Arithmetic Workshop held in Greenville and a question-and-answer period for new math methods were featured at last week's meeting of the Pactolus Chapter of the North Carolina Education Association.

Representatives from the Pactolus School to the workshop, which was presented in efforts to help explain a newly-adopted mathematics textbook series, were Mrs. Jesse B. Little, chairman of the local NCEA unit, and Mrs. Adelaide Monds.

Members had the opportunity, during the question-and-answer session, to point questions at the local representatives about new methods of teaching basic arithmetic principles.

Pactolus Principal Eugene Morris made a number of announcements concerning the Halloween Carnival, scheduled for Oct. 29 at the school.

Members were willing to abandon force as an international instrument.

Russians To Hear Young Pianist

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 14-year-old American pianist will be soloist Saturday night when visiting Soviet composer Dmitri Kabalevsky conducts his third concerto in Constitution Hall here.

The National Symphony Orchestra Wednesday night announced the selection of Abbott Lee Ruskin of New York as soloist. The boy is one of the few pianists who has the Russian Concerto in his repertoire.

Kabalevsky, Dmitri Shostakovich and four other Soviet composers are touring the United States. The concert was scheduled in their honor.

There are still more than 5,800 blacksmith shops in the United States.

Objector Ends Hunger Strike

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The 18-year-old son of an Air Force colonel ended his hunger strike against compulsory military training five days ahead of schedule.

Faint and weakened by hunger—he lost eight pounds in his 50-hour fast—Frederick L. Moore Jr. of Arlington, Va., said he thought he had accomplished his purpose.

More than 1,000 students at the University of California signed his petition to make Reserve Officers Training Corps instruction voluntary.

The boy's father disagreed with his son's position on the ROTC but said: "I have tried to raise my children to make their own decisions."

Yes, it's National Brands Week at your friendly Colonial Store and in co-operation with "SEVENTEEN" magazine we're saluting the nation's TEEN-COOKS who will be the homemakers of tomorrow. Nancy Carter, Colonial's popular home economist has prepared especially for this occasion, her latest pamphlet "Creative Cooking from Nancy Carter's Cook Book" which features brand new ideas for making cooking more fun and eating more delightful. This week, Women's Clubs, church groups, home economics classes, Girl scouts, and other community organizations are cordially invited to a behind-the-scenes personally conducted tour through a Colonial Store.

Our managers explain all about meats, produce, grocery products and many new items. For recipes, homemaking or cooking information, write Nancy Carter, Director of Home Economics, Colonial Stores, Inc., P. O. Box 4358, Atlanta, Ga.

Deer Hunt Set At Camp Butner

RALEIGH — Major General Capus Wayne, Adjutant General of North Carolina, announced today that the Deer Hunt held annually at the National Guard reservation at Butner will be open to the public again this year.

The shotgun will be the only weapon permitted.

The Hunt will be conducted under the supervision of the North Carolina National Guard and will be held on the 16th, 17th and 18th of November. Approximately 450 stands will be available for hunters during the three-day period.

Participants will be selected on a first come-first served basis. Therefore, persons desiring to participate in the Hunt should make their request by postcard to: Deer Hunt, P.O. Box 1509, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Each hunter selected will be charged a fee of $5.00 to cover stand, noon meal, and rental for dogs.

SPEBSQSA . . . is the name given to the above singers. Odds Rise On Further Drop In Stock Prices

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Good and bad news come in about equal doses today in Wall Street.

Betting odds on a further drop in stock prices have risen—judged by the sharp hike in short sales.

Early reporting industrial firms in the main show gains in earnings for the summer quarter—but the steel company and railroad company reports are coming in now, too, and they show operations at a net loss.

Dividend payments this year are running nicely ahead of a year ago—but there's a belated realization in the business world that the effects of the steel strike are going to drag through much of the fourth quarter and perhaps slow up general business gains until next year.

What this could do to fourth-quarter earnings and dividends is getting more attention from the traders in stocks.

But the steel strike gets only indirect blame for the sharpest one-month rise in the short interest in stocks since May 1958. The largest volume gains in stocks sold short are in shares that have been bid up briskly and therefore appear to some traders as overpriced.

A short sale is made by someone who has borrowed that stock. He is betting that the market price will drop so that he can buy the stock at bargain prices and return it to the owner, pocket-ing the profit on the deal. Short interest on the New York Stock Exchange has jumped by 335,940 shares in the last month to a total of 3,421,641, the highest since April.

It represents the belief of the traders that prices in 955 stocks among the 1,506 listed will drop. The dividend news is much brighter than the expectations of these bears. The Commerce Department reports that cash dividends to bring the total for the year to Sept. 30 to nine billion dollars, a gain of 324 million over the like period in 1958.

Increased dividend payments and resumption of payments this year have far outrun decreases or omissions, a marked change from last year. This has been one of the sustaining factors in the stock market.

Recent fears that the trend may have run its course have sparked some selling.

Ready Celebrate A Big Centennial

ETTRICK, Va. (AP)—Edward F. Hawks is looking forward to the Civil War Centennial. He has a very special interest in it. As a boy of 5 he stood on a hill above the Appomattox River and saw the battle of the Crater at Petersburg. He recalls candy given to him by Yankee soldiers. He witnessed Lee's retreat and Grant's advance. Hawks recently observed his 100th birthday.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY UNDER DEED OF TRUST

Under and by virtue of power and authority contained in that certain deed of trust executed and delivered by W. A. Daniel and his wife Johnnie E. Daniel to V. N. Whitehurst, Trustee, same bearing date of January 4, 1958, and appearing of record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County in Book No. C-30 at page 167, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness therein secured, the undersigned trustee will on the 8th day of November, 1959, at 12 o'clock noon (EST) before the Courthouse door in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real property, to wit:

That certain lot or parcel of land lying and being situate in the Town of Grifton, Pitt County, North Carolina, and being more particularly described as follows: "Being in the Town of Grifton and being the identical tract of land conveyed to William A. Daniel and wife, Johnnie E. Daniel, by C. W. Beaman, Trustee, dated Jan. 4, 1958, and beginning on Main St. at J. A. Willis' Northeast corner and runs the edge of Main Street about 100 feet to a stake. (Mary Helen's) corner, thence in a Southerly direction with her line about 100 feet; thence West a straight line with Johnnie Stewart's back line to J. A. Willis' lot; thence his line North to Main Street, the point of beginning, and being the identical property conveyed by John A. Willis and wife Nora Willis to Henry Willis, to which record reference is hereby made for a more complete description."

The highest bidder at said sale will be required to deposit 10% of his bid with the trustee to show good faith. Sale will be subject to such other announcements as may be made by trustee at time of sale. This the 8th day of October, 1959. V. N. WHITEHURST Trustee Oct. 8-15-22-29

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)— The stock market shrank away from a moderate advance and turned mixed early this afternoon following news that an indefinite stay of a Taft-Hartley injunction had been granted to the striking steel workers.

Pivotal stocks showed narrow gains or losses, most of them kept within a 1-point range.

Electronics and other "science" stocks continued a bull market of their own and had renewed strength as the major industrials and rails wilted under news of the stay of injunction.

Traders seemed to regard bullishness of the Army Missile unit to the civilian space agency. Gains among the "glamorous" stocks ran from 1 to about 10 points.

Steels lost a narrow edge to the upside and edged off. Rails moved a bit lower. Rubbers, tobaccos and oils were mostly off.

Chemicals, nonferrous metals and aircrafts were mixed. Drugs advanced slightly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 20 cents to $221.00 with the industrials down 40 cents, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities up 20 cents.

Corporate bonds advanced in moderate trading.

U. S. government bonds also gained in a thin over the counter market.

Pacted Car Hit In Mishap Here

A car operated by Beulah Nelson Chance, Negro, of 404 West First St. allegedly struck a parked car owned by Leisay R. Cox of 1201 Glen Arthur Ave. in the 1200 block of Evans St. yesterday.

Officers, who listed damage to the Cox car at $50, said the Chance vehicle was being parked at the time.

No damage was done to the Chance car and no charges were placed by officers.

Jaycees To Talk Stock-Selling

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight to consider a recommendation that the club sell stock in Greenville Industries, Inc.

The full club meeting will be held at Respass Bros. beginning at 6:30.

Jaycee President Brooks Beddingfield said the organization's board of directors has recommended that the club accept the stock sale as a project.

This would be in line with the national Junior Chamber of Commerce's number one project for the year, "Community Development."

Greenville Industries, Inc. plans to purchase a 260-acre farm approximately one mile north of Greenville. The land would be sold to industrial prospects as it is needed.

There is a 30-acre tobacco allotment plus other crop allotments on the farm land which will produce revenue until the industrial sites are sold.

It was recently reported that $38,500 has been raised for the purchase of the farm through stock sales. The goal of the group is $125,000. The Jaycees will be asked to sell $50,000 in stock.

Gill Speaking Here Tonight

State Treasurer Edwin Gill will speak tonight at 6:45 in Austin Auditorium.

Gill will be speaking to members of the Social Studies department of the college on "Citizenship." His talk will be open to the public.

Goldsboro Man Drowns On Coast

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP)—A fishing trip for three Goldsboro men ended in tragedy here Wednesday. One man drowned when their boat capsized.

The victim was David Roscoe Southern, 43. Saved were Charles L. Webster, who owned the 16-foot outboard, and Gerald Grant, Southern's brother-in-law.

D. R. House, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, outlined plans for the PTA to raise funds to assist in the payment of the music teacher here.

Mrs. Mond's first grade won the lower-grades attendance prize for the meeting; Mrs. Cherry's fifth grade took honors in the upper grades division.

Report Presence Nuclear Cannon

Seoul, Korea (AP)— South Korea reported today that the North Korean Communists have moved atomic guns into forward areas facing American and South Korean troops along the Armistice Zone.

Defense Minister Kim Chung-yl said they presumably are capable of launching an atomic attack.

Call For Campaign To Deter Smoking

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The American Public Health Assn. today called for campaigns to prevent cigarette smoking, especially by young people.

It said smoking is a major factor in lung cancer, now increasing at a rapid rate.

If present trends continue, lung cancer "will claim the lives of more than one million present school children in this country before they reach the age of 70 years," the APHA declared in a resolution by its governing council.

The resolution calls upon health authorities to undertake a broad educational effort, particularly in the young people's group, to prevent cigarette smoking and to collaborate with voluntary health organizations and educational authorities.

The American Cancer Society has already begun such programs in some schools.

The tobacco industry research committee had no immediate comment on the resolution. The committee, set up by the industry on health, has said repeatedly that there is no scientific proof of a link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

Rule Tax Agent Must Pay More

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Tax Court has ruled that a Los Angeles Internal Revenue agent must pay $220 in additional personal income taxes.

The agent, Eugene J. Rogers, had claimed deductions for the expense of driving his own car on field trips.

Rogers' own Internal Revenue Service ruled that he could have gotten reimbursement for these expenses, rather than claim them as deductions later.

Rogers appealed the ruling to the Tax Court. It turned him down.

Three Students Killed In Wreck

UNION, S. C. (AP) — Three young Clemson College students, apparently bound to the Big Thursday football game at Columbia, were killed near here today when their automobile skidded at a curve on rain-slick U.S. 176 and bursted broadside into the path of a big truck.

The Highway Patrol identified the dead as Lawrence E. Francis, Worth B. Crocker Jr. and Crawford F. Allen, all 20, of the Spartanburg area.

The truck driver, Jerome McFadden of the Gardner Truck Line in Charleston, was hospitalized but apparently not seriously hurt.

The patrol said the 1950 model car, apparently driven by Crocker, hit the corner of the bridge over the South Tyger River, cracking off part of the cement buttress. Then it swerved sideways in front of the flatbed tractor-trailer, carrying a load of roofing.

The car was demolished by the impact, and two of the students' bodies hurled clear. The truck continued out of control along the highway for almost 200 feet before it overturned, badly damaged.

Mrs. Faye Holcombe of Whitmire, said she was driving behind the wreck. Her brother, August Holcombe of Union, was called to take the bodies to his funeral home.

Hundreds of cars were streaming along the highway toward Columbia for the football game between Clemson and the South Carolina. Troopers rerouted the Columbia-bound traffic through Carlisle and Salem Crossroads because of the accident.

Explains Reason For Adopting New Textbook

Greenville elementary schools Supervisor of Instruction Mrs. Ellen Carroll told members of the Wahl-Coates Parent-Teacher Association at a meeting in McGinnis Auditorium last week that the purpose of the adoption of the new mathematics textbook series is to point out to each pupil exactly what he is doing in arithmetic.

Mrs. Carroll urged parents to have patience both with children and themselves, in attempting to learn new math methods.

Following Mrs. Carroll's talk, Mrs. Edith Worthington, third grade teacher at the school, gave a demonstration lesson in arithmetic, emphasizing the many different ways a quantity may be divided.

During the meeting's business session, with PTA President Dr. O. R. Pearce presiding, Mrs. Rosa Herring urged all parents to subscribe to the Parent-Teacher magazine. Dr. Pearce announced the Halloween Carnival will be held Friday, Oct. 30. He also invited everyone present to attend the District 10 PTA meeting in Greenville today.

The meeting's attendance award was won by Mrs. Worthington's third grade.

Parents were Jody Chapman, Paul Gatlin, the Rev. J. H. Parker, and Mrs. Sudie Gardner.

The group was chaperoned by Mrs. H. G. Thompson and Mrs. O. G. Taft.

Blood Is Needed, Parents Say No, Child In Danger

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A six-year-old girl lay on a hospital bed today in critical condition after undergoing a serious brain operation without the blood transfusion doctors said she needed.

Linda Jean Yourinko didn't get the transfusion because her parents refused to grant permission for religious reasons.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yourinko of nearby Absecon Highlands are Jehovah's Witnesses and they believe in the biblical tenet: "Ye shall not eat the blood."

Linda Jean was struck by a car Tuesday and was taken to Atlantic City Hospital. Doctors said she suffered a compound depressed fracture of the skull.

Dr. Harry Subin, the hospital's chief of surgery, said Wednesday night's operation was essential and that the girl would probably die without it.

Linda Jean's distraught mother told the newsmen she was too upset to talk and added: "We must do what we must do."

Little Damage In Fire At House

Firemen responded to Box 155 at the intersection of Fifth St. and Roosevelt Ave. at 3:55 p.m. yesterday when a house at 508 Roosevelt Ave. caught fire.

Fire officers said the blaze originated in the bedroom of the dwelling and did little damage to the house. The fire was caused by a short circuit in an extension cord, firemen said.

About 7:58 a.m. yesterday firemen responded to a telephone call to 211 Wade St. when soot in the chimney caught fire.

Spokesmen for the department said the blaze was cut when the fire trucks arrived and no damage resulted.
