United Church Women Complete UNICEF Plans

Plans for the Halloween Trick or Treat Party sponsored by the United Church Women of Greenville for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund are now complete.

The following Greenville Churches are members of the Council of Churches and will take part in the observance: Memorial Baptist Church, Immanuel Baptist Church, Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church, Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church, West Greenville Presbyterian Church, Missionary Union, Eighth Street Christian Church, Saint Paul's Episcopal Church, Salvation Army, United Lutheran Mission and Eighth St. Christian Church.

Other churches participating in this event are the First Pentecostal Holiness Church, Arlington Street Baptist Church, and Hooker Memorial Christian Church. Mrs. Keith Holmes, president of the local organization and Mrs. William Hadden, general chairman for UNICEF this year, have announced that each participating church named above is planning a "Trick or Treat" celebration for the children in its own congregation.

Children are asked to gather at their respective churches at 5:00 p.m. Saturday, October 31 where refreshments will be served. Under the direction of their leaders, the children in costume with their UNICEF coin cans and wearing their UNICEF tags will canvass the areas assigned to their respective churches.

The money collected at this time will be used by the Children's Emergency Fund to extend help and welfare services to homeless and needy children and their mothers throughout the world.

Stretching Dollars

RALEIGH — Apples and Florida citrus highlight the fruit picture this week, says Mrs. Ruby P. Uzzle, consumer marketing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service.

Big supplies of apples keep prices reasonable. Small sizes are more plentiful than larger fancy apples, making them the best value price-wise. Budget-minded consumers will find extra savings in quantity buying.

Florida grapefruit prices remain steady with smaller sizes predominant at the market. Oranges are increasing in supplies at early season prices.

Bananas, pears, and grapes remain unchanged in price this week. Fresh cranberries a reavailable at attractive prices.

Squash, salad greens, sweet potatoes, turnips, rutabagas and cauliflower are available in abundance. Potatoes, onions and greens are budget priced. Other root vegetables, including carrots and onions, are priced low. Greenhouse tomatoes are in good supply and quality, but at higher prices than other tomatoes.

Big and little pumpkins are available for Halloween offers and decorations.

The pork family offers lower prices than a year ago. Both fresh and cured pork offer savings in protein plans. Consider hams, sausage and bacon as choice pork cuts for your money. Beef remains about the same in price with the exception of specials. Roasts and frozen fish are budget buys.

Fryers and hens moved up slightly in price this week, but remained economical buys. Eggs advanced two to four cents per dozen in most stores.

Party Honors Bride-Elect

GRIFTON—Miss Hilda Buck, November bride-elect, was honored Tuesday night at a party by Mesdames John Glenn, Archie Rogers and Howard Holcomb Jr. in the recreation rooms at the Methodist Church.

Miss Buck was presented a white corsage upon arrival which complemented her marine blue dress.

Guests were greeted by the hostesses and the guest of honor and invited into rooms decorated with a nuptial green and white motif. Chrysanthemums dominated the floral arrangements throughout the rooms.

The refreshment table, covered with a white damask cloth, held a low silver bowl with white chrysanthemums flanked by green candles in silver holders. Mrs. M. R. Buck, mother of the bride-to-be, poured fruit punch and guests served themselves salted nuts, mints and individual decorated bridal squares.

Party games were played. Mrs. Marvin Baldree Jr. of Ayden and Mrs. Don Casey were remembered with gifts.

Miss Buck was presented a shower of china, crystal and linens from the assembled guests.

The state of Maine was York County, Mass., until 1820.

Who Needs Manners

RALEIGH—Who needs to use good manners? There are some people who think they can ignore good manners which are among the most useful habits which an individual can possess.

According to Mrs. Corinne Grimsley, family relations specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, there are two kinds of social behavior—superficial and fundamental. The way you set a table is important but not nearly so important as making your guests who sit at the table happy and comfortable.

Ways of doing things such as setting the table may change with time, place, and circumstances and might be called "superficial."

"Fundamental" rules for getting along, following the Golden Rule of consideration for another person, will never change.

Mrs. Grimsley says the way to be liked is to learn thoughtfulness of others, not an easy lesson or one learned in a day. A graciousness and true courtesy is acquired by thinking of others, putting yourself in the other person's place, and trying to understand why he feels and acts as he does. In this way you create a warm, friendly atmosphere wherever you go.

"Anyone can live alone! But it takes unselfishness, tolerance, helpfulness, kindness, and a sense of humor to live happily with others," says Mrs. Grimsley.

WSCS Sub-District Meets

GRIFTON—"To Kindle . . . A Growing Light" was the theme of the WSCS Kinston Sub-district meeting held Tuesday at the Grifton Methodist Church with the Grifton WSCS as acting host.

Highlight of the program was a

Graham Cracker Torte
Beverage

GRAHAM CRACKER TORTE
Ingredients: 1 cup very fine graham - cracker crumbs, 1 cup sugar, 3/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts, 3 large eggs (separated), 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.
Method: Stir together the graham - cracker crumbs, 1/2 cup of the sugar and the walnuts. Beat egg whites until foamy; add salt and gradually beat in remaining 1/2 cup sugar until very stiff and glossy. At once, without washing beater, beat egg yolks and vanilla until thick and lemon colored; fold into beaten whites. Fold in crumbs and walnuts. Turn into a buttered and floured 9-inch pie plate. Bake in a slow (325 degree) over 40 minutes. Set pan on wire rack to cool. Cut into wedges and remove with spatula. Nice with whipped cream or ice cream. Makes 8 servings.

Note: We used 14 graham crackers from a small (7 1/2 ounces) box to make the 1 cup crumbs called for, crushing them in an electric blender. If a rolling pin is used for crushing, make sure crumbs are very fine.

Willing To Spend Where Necessary

Though voters were few and far between throughout North Carolina on Tuesday, approval of the state's bond issues for mental institutions and educational institutions by wide margins reiterated citizens' interest in these areas of state operations.

Approval of the bond issues for these two categories will mean almost $19 millions will be available in the near future for expanding the physical plants of the state's institutions of higher education. Another $12 million will be available to provide essential facilities for the state's mental institutions.

Though North Carolinians at times have been criticized from within the state and without for their lack of attention to these mental and educational institutions, citizens have indicated at every opportunity in recent years their willingness to spend huge sums of money for educational and mental health programs. More sure the state could have used to advantage more money than has been available for these facilities. Nevertheless, the fact that the citizenry as a whole has indicated its support for these institutions has enabled North Carolina to make great strides in higher education and in caring for its mentally ill.

With the permanent improvement programs made possible by the bond issues approved this week, North Carolina's institutions of higher education will be able to move forward toward providing facilities for the constantly increasing number of students on our college campuses. The state's mental hospitals will be able to care for more patients thereby reducing the backlog of applications for admission that come from every county of the state.

The bond issues approved Tuesday will provide no cure-all for the needs of educational and mental institutions of the state, but they at least put the state a step closer to achieving its long range goals in these fields.

Anti-U. S. Talk Shows Castro An Uneasy Man

The United States can ill afford to ignore the increasing anti-American feeling being whipped up by the Castro government in Cuba and the strain this is putting on the U. S.-Cuban relations.

In recent weeks, as Castro's government has faced one of its most severe crises since coming to power, there appears to have been a concerted effort to make the United States a whipping boy for Castro's troubles. Obviously it is an attempt on the part of Castro to rally Cubans to the support of his cause by suggesting intervention by the United States.

The fact that U. S. denial of the charges have been brushed aside by Castro's government indicates that the Cuban revolutionary leader is anxious to build anti-American feeling in his own country in an effort to strengthen his position. It should not be surprising, therefore, if in the coming weeks similar charges are made by Castro against other governments in Latin America.

Similar tactics were used by Castro immediately after his forces defeated those of Batista. They included attacks against the United States as well as attacks against other Latin American nations. And they served a purpose for Castro's organization.

Such tactics would suggest again that Castro does not now have the support in Cuba the revolutionary leader would like, and that he is concerned for the future of his control of the country.

Saving Outer Banks Is So Far Mostly Talk

Residents of coastal North Carolina and a few high officials of the state including Gov. Hodges, have repeatedly called attention to the need for repairing storm damage to the state's Outer Banks.

In spite of these warnings, there is little to indicate that any concrete steps are being taken to repair the damage, close the inlets and channels and strengthen the banks.

Hurricanes of the past five years have cut many new channels through the banks along the coast. Erosion of the sand strips that separate our sounds from the ocean has continued at an alarming rate. And yet little more than talk has been the result.

North Carolina, if it is to preserve its Outer Banks, must take positive action to keep them from being eroded. The storm-made inlets must be closed and the banks stabilized. Otherwise the sea and the storms will continue to take their toll and the dividing barrier between the sea and the sounds will become increasingly vulnerable.

Final Round Of Union's Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Steelworkers' Union has lost the first two rounds in its effort to keep on striking. Now comes the third and final round when it asks the Supreme Court for a for-all answer.

That answer, if it comes, should be historic. The union so far has raised two main points and lost on both. Is the strike a danger to the country? Is the strike a danger to the government? Is the government's effort to stop the strike constitutional?

The union lost round one when, over its protests, a U. S. District Court judge, heading the government's request, issued an injunction to stop the strike for 80 days. The strike began July 15.

The union lost round two when it asked a U. S. Court of Appeals to throw out the district judge's injunction. Tuesday the appellate court upheld the judge's injunction and the union's case.

The union now has until next Monday, but may be forced to move sooner, to ask the Supreme Court to say the lower courts were wrong. Meanwhile, the strike continues.

The lower courts gave the union full benefit of the legal machinery by refraining from pulling the injunction into effect until the Steelworkers had made all the appeals allowed them under law.

Here is the background in brief: The strike threw 500,000 steelworkers out of jobs, shut down 85 per cent of the country's steel production. Its effects began to spread to other industries dependent on steel.

There is an addition 270,000 workers in those dependent industries are jobless. The effects are spreading. The longer the strike, the wider the spread and the worse the damage.

Under the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947, when a strike becomes a peril to the national "health and safety," the President, through the Justice Department, can ask for a court injunction to stop it for 60 days.

In that period the government is supposed to try to get both sides in a strike to reach a settlement. If there is still no settlement at the end of 60 days, the

One More Time Around

As you have probably noticed, the topic of dogs is quite common around here—especially in this particular column. It is likely ridiculous, but canines to me are an extremely fascinating lot.

Its expression was so pitiful, it drew a dozen or so comments from the human beings seated around the table. Not that these comments helped the little dog in his quest for what he had picked up via his sensitive and quivering nostrils. Oh no, they didn't console him one bit.

words, he merely became more sympathetic with himself and began an audible barrage of his feelings. Well, you know how dogs act at times like that. They go on and on until you neglect to give them the benefit of attention.

Other Editors Saying ... Dr. Messick's Resignation

(Washington Daily News) The resignation of Dr. John Messick as president of East Carolina college has cast a gloom over Beaufort county. After all, Dr. Messick is a native son of our county, a son in whom we have found great reasons to be proud.

Carolina as an outstanding educator, a Christian gentleman, and a man dedicated to his job of educational builder. The college could hardly do better than to elevate him to the presidency.

As president of ECC, Dr. Messick in the progress and service of this in the progress and service of this fine institution. More buildings, more students, and an expanded curriculum, along with a finer faculty have all been a part of the Messick program.

Lawyers Must Play Key Roles (The Raleigh Times) The role lawyers can play in improving the administration of justice in North Carolina was stressed at meetings of the State Bar here last week.

What he has done will not soon be forgotten. He has waged a good fight for the institution at every turn. He has been willing to stand up and be counted on the side of education at any time when leadership was needed.

Solicitor John J. Burney Jr., of Wilmington, stressed the need for reforms in the justice of the peace and constable system. Many of the reforms he outlined will require legislation, and that legislation should be forthcoming.

Today East Carolina college owes him a debt of gratitude. But perhaps the biggest debt of gratitude is owed to him by the people of Eastern North Carolina for what he has done in educating our children.

Judge Rudolph Mintz of Wilmington, newest Superior Court judge, told the group that the legal profession had better take the lead in expediting justice or court reform would come from outside pressures and could only damage the legal profession. Judge Mintz suggested some speeding-up activities which lawyers should take to start court reform from the inside.

It is difficult to believe that he will be leaving. A man who has been so closely identified with an institution for 12 years finds it difficult to divorce himself completely from the picture. Dr. Messick will find the difficulty ever more glaring as he sets out in new fields and on new opportunities.

The judge and the solicitor might have been embarrassingly frank in their suggestions. But, what they said has been needed saying for a long time, and it is good that it has been said by people high in the legal profession.

So when we say "well done," they are not empty words. The record speaks for itself. And it is a brilliant record—one of accomplishment.

As he leaves and the trustees seek another president, we would call attention to the fact that right at the college today is a man ably equipped to take Dr. Messick's place. Dr. Leo Jenkins is recognized throughout North

Didn't Like To Get Up

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—"Some people don't like to get up in the morning," said Eddie Jackson. "So they go into show business."

"That's how it was with me. I couldn't get up early enough to look for any other kind of work," he said.

Dixieland music is back, bigger than ever, and "Struttin' Eddie," who has been singing it for 45 years, is cashing in on the boom.

"I don't know any other kind of music. I like the beat of rock 'n' roll, but I can't catch the lyrics," he said.

"If you put a gun to my head and asked me to name three words in any rock 'n' roll tune, I couldn't do it—not even to save my life."

The banjo-eyed veteran, slowed up a bit by a double hernia operation a few years ago, is still one of the most active survivors of the heyday of vaudeville. Eddie, now 63, started as a singing waiter in Brooklyn. He teamed in his salad past with Jimmy Durante and the late Lou Clayton, and played at the old Palace here, the mecca of vaudeville, no less than 29 times.

Jackson loves to recall the Prohibition Era of the flaming 1920s.

"There was a lot of money around then, and it was being spent," he said. "Anything they couldn't get is what people wanted—so they all seemed to want to drink."

"But I don't miss the night clubs. Those were closed-door days. They had some rough college boys around then who aren't around now—if you get what I mean."

"People don't go for the night clubs so much now. They all stay home and keep their television sets warm. I do myself."

As he talked of the old days, Eddie cocked his head sideways as if he were listening to the faint echo of a distant song.

"The greatest entertainer that ever lived was Al Jolson," he said. "No man ever thrilled me like that man."

Eddie came from a poor family—his father was a pushcart peddler—and knew lean years of struggle himself.

"I believe in doing the other fellow good; I never hurt anybody in my life," he said. "I don't mind how big the other fellow's yacht is, or how green his yard is—just so there's a little green in my own yard."

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
SPEAKING OF FRIENDS
How precious is a true friendship! Those of us who can look back over quite a few decades appreciate friendship as youth never can. For friendship in our experience has been tried.

It may in a few instances have been disappointing. In the case of one person out of many, friendship is betrayed. But usually friendship is something which leaves behind it many fragrant memories. Of childhood friendships we remember the scrapes we got into and the excuses we tried to make in explanation. In youth we suddenly became very seriously intent on solving the world's problems and pledged ourselves to other friends that we would solve these problems, cost what it might. The problems, for the most part, remain unsolved. Then the friendships of college and after that the friendships of young married life.

One seldom contracts a friendship of enduring nature after middle life. But what does happen often is the revival of a former acquaintanceship and the development of an acquaintanceship into a warm friendship. Here was a person we knew vaguely in our hometown who becomes our neighbor in another community. Here was the girl or boy whom we greeted on the campus years ago and about whom we knew almost nothing, but today we are fast friends.

Neighborhood, business associations, hobbies, intellectual interests draw us together in later years into friendships—not emotional bonds, but respectful and valued companionships.

Good Arguments On Either Side

You owe more money than is owed you.

You are planning to buy a house or a car on time.

You own bonds, or if you are in an income tax bracket in which tax-free interest on bonds is highly profitable.

holdings tend to increase. However, there is no real gain. If $500,000 worth of stocks or real estate rises to $1,000,000 solely because of inflation, the holder will have no gain because the $1,000,000 he can get for his holdings will have no more buying power than $500,000 used to have.

You are a member of a union that is in position to demand higher wages as inflation pushes prices up.

You are planning to buy a business by payments over a long period.

You are the beneficiary of annuities, pensions or other fixed incomes. (Because forcing down interest rates would breed more inflation.)

So those are the generalities of both sides of the question. Choose your side. You might as well pick it on a basis of self-interest, because that's how everybody else will.

You are planning to buy a business by payments over a long period.

If you fit into any of those categories, you can advance your interests by writing to editors and Congressmen, joining protests against high interest rates, and telling everybody who will listen that high rates are strangling the economy.

You are not a member of a strong union and would have difficulty getting your pay increased to match higher prices.

If you fit into any of these categories, beat your breast, shout loudly for a sound currency, and bombard Congressmen and editors with letters protesting any return to managed money and government interference with economic laws.

What's the best for you? Ah! That's an easier question to answer. The factors aren't abstract but as tangible as your wallet.

On the other hand, you stand to benefit from high interest rates if:

You normally buy for cash.

Some persons, with heavy investments in real estate and common stocks, often favor low interest rates and inflation because the face value of their

Home Tour Planned In Jones County

Everything is in readiness for the Jones County Home Tour to be held in the county Wednesday, Nov. 4. The tour of five rural homes is sponsored by the Jones County Home Demonstration Clubs.

According to Mrs. Faytie Gray, home economics agent, much planning has been done with families this year to meet the family needs in housing. Throughout the year, Mrs. Gray has emphasized that in order for family to gain the greatest satisfaction from their homes it should be planned for interest and activities of all family members.

At the first home visitors will view the new addition to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mallard, Pollockville. Featured in the Mallard home is the new Scherick kitchen. The cabinets are birch and features convenient storage and working areas for a modern housewife. The kitchen is U-shaped with a built-in oven. The birch paneling continues to the dining area.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill DuVal, Pollockville, is made of cinder blocks. This home features various types of blocks throughout the home. The livingroom fireplace features split rock made from concrete. DuVal did a lot of the work on his house himself.

After touring two homes, the group will meet at the Agricultural Building for a picnic lunch.

Following lunch, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tobe Heath, Trenton, Rt. 1, will be opened to guests. The kitchen has been completely remodeled and now has new windows, is U-shaped, and has a hooded stove. Mrs. Heath has more storage space than ever before. A utility room has been added to the freezer and it has a sink, storage space for conserved food, and a gun closet. Two bathrooms were added also.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Phillips, Trenton, Rt. 1, have a new home with kitchen and family room together. The business center is featured. A planned area in which to keep all of the books and plans that contribute toward an efficiently managed farm is a necessary part of the center. Built in features help in the organization of space and provide an opportunity for gracious and unhampered living. This home is an example of good home planning.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Brown, Dover, Rt. 2, will show how a tenant house was converted into a convenient, livable home. Brown did most of the planning himself. The kitchen features a corner sink, bar, and sufficient storage space.

The tour will begin at 9:30 a.m. and all interested persons are urged to attend.

Gardening Today

AUTUMN
By JOHN G. DUNCAN

Since Spring the leaves have been hard at work. Each one a tiny factory manufacturing food for the tree.

Through the summer's heat, through storm, they have labored to maintain and perpetuate the species. Now the sun is in the sign of Scorpio. Shorter days, and cooler, longer nights signal the end of growing days.

The great parent grows restless. The wind speaks in a different tone. A change is taking place in the city of foliage. There is a tightening at the base of each leaf stalk.

Slowly it is being denied the chlorophyll that gives it its green coloring. As the green fades, colors always present in the leaf assert themselves.

It isn't the frost that colors them—it is the completion of a cycle. No longer does the tree need them. Their usefulness is at an end. Stored in bud, limb and trunk are the leaves, flowers and fruit of a new spring. At last the process is over.

Now the leaf will heed the slightest call of the wind. Color runs like fire through the branches. Its flame echoes from river bank to town and across all the fields that lie between.

The tugging wind with its many hands fills the air with colorful confusion. They float downward to join their many predecessors on the forest floor.

Earth receives again that which it had given. The Creator never wastes a twig or a leaf. He feeds back to the tree—the handwork of summer and the glory of Fall. Don't burn the leaves that are falling in your yard or on your grounds. Make use of them for future use as compost. Mulch them on your lawn area by using leaf mulcher attachment on your lawn mower.

They are rich sources of humus and plant nutrients. To burn them or haul them away is like throwing away money.

The gardener should learn from nature is frugal—nothing entirely wasted. Enrich your soil by turning back into it fall's annual handout from the trees.

Quebec is the largest Canadian province, more than a half million square miles in area.

Miss Chauncey Club Speaker

Mrs. Connor Merritt presided over the regular meeting of the Pickwick Book Club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. S. Corbett Jr.

Mrs. Corbett introduced Miss Beatrice Chauncey, a member of the East Carolina faculty, who gave a review of two Broadway plays, "The World of Susie Wong" and "Raisin in the Sun."

In her descriptions of the sets and retelling of the plots, Miss Chauncey shared her recent experiences of seeing the plays with each one present.

Following the program, members and special guests, Mrs. Milton C. Williamson, Mrs. P. J. Dayson and Miss Chauncey, were invited into the dining room where a dessert course was served.

Mrs. Connor Merritt poured Coffee Royale from one end of the table and Mrs. W. H. Watson served lemon chiffon cake from the other. A centerpiece suggesting the oriental theme consisted of small bronze mums arranged around a spread open fan in a low silver bowl.

Mrs. J. H. Ward Jr., librarian, redistributed the books and the meeting was adjourned.

Babies Are Rough

By VIVIAN BROWN

MODERN BABIES are pretty tough customers, bigger and stronger than ever, and the puniest member of the diaper set can put a crimp in the best laid plans of nursery equipment manufacturers.

"But we aren't licked yet," proclaims Eliot Mover of Everett, Mass., who has met the challenge head-on.

"Time was when baby would lie in a crib kicking his heels happily and cooling the day away. But nowadays he's likely to be up gadding about the nursery after his first session with vitamins," says Mover, who doesn't manufacture anything nowadays until it's been thoroughly tested by the small Samsons. He explains:

"We chose a dozen little test pilots ranging in age from about one month to 2½ years, moved the small fry and their mothers into an area about 50 feet in length that is loaded with test equipment—house swings, car beds, walkers, bumpers, mattresses, play pen pads—and let the tots let off steam."

From this noble experiment, duly recorded by Mover and members of his firm, have come some useful innovations, and some drastic changes.

"The house swing had to be reengineered—the modern baby can propel himself with enough force to knock one over. The car bed was redesigned, and stronger tubular steel has replaced flat steel, and the capacious posteriors of today's baby, plus his piled-up snow suit, requires a larger car seat for comfort. Mattresses have been toughened to foil the most virile teenager.

"We use printed plastic bonded right to fabric creating a virtually indestructible mattress—this year. But who knows at the rate

TEST PILOTS . . . Eliot Mover, of Everett, Mass., uses husky babies to test strength of these new nursery swings.

We are going what next year will bring?"

Walkers and strollers are made on sturdier lines, play pads and chair cushions have all been toughened to stand the strain of today's exuberant cut-ups.

Mover's father founded the firm, and instituted the idea of testing equipment on children of employees 42 years ago, from which evolved Eliot's baby clinic. The 36-year-old Eliot was his father's first guinea pig.

"I was the reason Dad invented the auto seat and auto bed," Eliot explains. "Mom got tired of having her dresses wrinkled."

Eliot's own children, Heidi, 9, and Dick, 4, also have been test cases, but they've outgrown the role.

The youthful president prides himself on his safety devices—more important than appearances of the product," he says, although he tries to combine both. His most recent step in that direction was to switch from the potentially dangerous plastic bags to another type of packaging.

MI AMIGO

By W. R. BURNETT. From the novel published by A. S. Knopf, Inc. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED
This is a story of the Southwest in the days after the War between the States when the Indian wars had just finished and the time of the outlaw — of cruel, trigger-fingered Billy the Kid, John Wesley Hardin, and their ilk — was just beginning.

As the story opens, Army Sergeant John Desportes is having a reunion in the border town of Agua Prieta with his Civil War comrade, Natty Bugworth. Unlike Desportes, the serious and dedicated soldier, Natty is an irresponsible wanderer. Lately he has been prospecting for silver and has money he wants to spend, no matter what.

CHAPTER 2
Funny about the Soldier, Natty was thinking. He'd fought side by side with him in the War between the States in a cavalry regiment. The Soldier had made sergeant almost right away. And then pretty soon it was all over and none of them could wait to get out of uniform and be free men again. Even the Soldier got out. They had come West together, worked as freighters, cowhands, buffalo hunters, and even loggers. Then Natty had got the money bug, wanted to get rich. Found a grubstake, set out with a horse and a burro for hills that he'd heard were full of silver.

When he got back to Mesa Encantada, the first man he saw was the Soldier — and in a yellow-stripped cavalry uniform. He'd been enlisted. That was eleven years ago. Now he was top kick years at the Camp.

The Soldier seemed to be doing exactly what he wanted to do, yet at the time he struck Natty as a very lonely man, without people, without a wife, with hardly even a friend.

... oh, it was real funny! Natty was explaining. "Nothing but a claim I staked out in silver country. Looked like nothing had been hit thereabouts. So finally I got tired of solitude and rolled into San Geronimo. And one of them dudes, hardly off the transcendental train yet, give me a thousand dollars cash money for that old hunk of rock out there in the flats."

"They hit silver at Tarbush," said the Sergeant, wanting to laugh. "Didn't you know?"
Natty sat with his fork poised and his mouth hanging open. "At Tarbush? Why, that's only a hop, skip, and jump... Are you dead certain?"
"Yes," said the Sergeant. "It's all over Agua Prieta."
"Why, that smooth — talking — ever see him again. You reckon I ought to hit back for Tarbush?"
"I don't know. There's a rush on now."
Natty swore quietly to himself for a long time, then he began to laugh. "Okay. All right," he said, at last. "Got a thousand dollars in cash and I'm going to have a million dollars worth of fun before I start out again. I got a hunch there's silver Lava Rock way. That's next."
"Badlands," said the Sergeant. "Renegades move in that country. Apache, Anglo, and Mex."
"Oh, shucks," said Natty. "I never have no trouble with nobody. Speaking of badlands — you starting across Big Sheep Range tonight?"
"Yes."
"You heard about the drought up there?"
"It was pretty dry when I came across three weeks ago."
"It's worse now. Not a drop of rain. I was talking to a fellow in a saloon who'd just crossed. The deer have all gone, vamoosed. Place is full of hungry cougars, so watch your horse. Wouldn't a daytime start be better?"
"No. You got to spend a night someplace," said the Sergeant. "And it's easier going on this side. I'd hate to try the other side at night. Too rugged."
"Makes me tired just to think about it," said Natty, with a mild laugh. "You sound like an old woman."
Natty leered at the passing girl, then said? "Soldier, that's one thing I ain't."

Natty and the Sergeant said good-bye at Salzedo's corral gate, with Luis and two hostlers looking on from a distance. It was full night now and very clear, with a million stars glittering above, as if there was something huge and brilliantly alight beyond the dark, perforated covering of the sky. To the northeast the strung-out lights of Agua Prieta winked slowly in the clear, dry, desert night.
The Sergeant mounted, then leaned down to shake hands. "When you've thrown all your money away, drop by and see me, Natty."
"I might, I might," said Natty, with forced cheerfulness, feeling depressed at the Sergeant's departure and wanting to hide it. "Especially if I grubstake for Lava Rock. It'd be right on the way."
The Sergeant gestured and rode out. Luis Salzedo came over to join Natty.
"Good, fine man," said Luis. "Crazy fool," cried Natty. "If he'd come with me I could make him rich when I hit silver. Never did care nothing about money though. Just cares about soldiering. He's an idiot, Luis."
"I like," said Luis smiling apologetically.
They went back toward the lights of the long bar, laughing. But Natty was putting on a show. He still felt depressed. It was not a good thing when friends grew apart.
The moonlight was very bright and the tall pines cast sharp elongated shadows across his path as the Sergeant rode at a walk up the narrow, rocky trail that led, winding and steep, toward the high place at the top of the divide. It was getting on for two a.m. and the Sergeant was making good time without pushing his mount in the least.
He was certain now that by three o'clock he'd make the summit where he intended to camp till dawn, as the rest of the journey, largely downhill, was along a dangerous trail that skirted one thousand-foot precipices and was nothing to trifle with in the darkness.
It was late spring, dry as powder, and so still in the mountains that the Sergeant could hear the pine needles sifting down from the big trees, making a faint, desiccated, scraping sound.
Twice the Sergeant had heard cougars screaming. It was an unearthly, hair-raising sound. The Sergeant had never been able to get used to it.
He came now to an easy place in the trail where it wound from the pine grove into the full blaze of spring moonlight and crossed a little flat veg that might have been an alfalfa field.
The Sergeant took out a black Mexican cigarette, thinking of Dolores with a rather sad smile as he lit it, and let old Mickey nod along across the veg toward a low ridge, beyond which, up a steep trail, was the summit and a resting place.
The Sergeant felt vaguely dissatisfied and half wished that he'd stayed on Salzedo's with Natty. But this was only a fleeting emotion, soon dismissed.
He himself had grown up over the years; Natty had not. They had hardly anything at all in common any more. Natty — at forty-eight, was it? — was still the big roaring roistering bruiser he'd been twenty years ago, almost completely irresponsible.
One day he'd die with a bullet in his back in some lonely place and be left for the buzzards to pick, or in the sunbaked streets of some Southwestern town, drunk and with a gun in his hand, and the community would have to bury him.
Natty was his friend, his only close friend, but what could anybody do for him? He'd have to run out his string as he saw fit.
As for Dolores...! The Sergeant laughed wryly to himself. She was the prettiest Mexican girl he'd ever seen, slender and ladylike in appearance, but while she sat across the table from him, nodding and smiling demurely to all his talk about the Southwest and Mesa Encantada and about the drought and about how some of the Apaches at the Reservation were turning into efficient alfalfa farmers and other topics of some interest to the Sergeant, who hardly ever had a chance to talk to an outsider, she was not listening at all.

Vine From Asia Restoring Green To Eroded Land

COPPERHILL, Tenn. (AP) — A rampant vine from Asia is helping restore verdure to the long-eroded Copper Basin of Georgia, Tennessee and North Carolina.
It is kudzu, a legume brought over from China and Japan many years ago and now widely grown in the South for grazing and forage as well as soil building and enrichment.
It proved itself here after a hundred different plants were tried to halt century-old erosion and return vegetation to the barren and scarred hills.
Copper Basin covers 100 square miles in corners of the three states. It was green with tall pines and other mountain growth when copper was discovered in 1843.
When mining began in the 1850s the big trees were felled for fuel to process the ore. Sulphur fumes that resulted killed other vegetation.
Heavy rains carried away unprotected topsoil, even the subsoil. By 1900 the ugly ruin was complete.
Years passed and the Tennessee Copper Co. sought Tennessee Valley Authority and government help to heal erosion's wounds. Many plants were tested including African love grass and Japanese knot weed but only stout kudzu would stick and grow on the rocky slopes.
The copper company now has a yearly plan of putting out 200,000 to 300,000 lobolly pines and 50,000 kudzu plants. Steadily the tenacious kudzu shoots inch out over the once-barren acres and make a foothold for other growth.
The company started it, homeowners in Copperhill, Ducktown and Isabella, Tenn., and McCaysville, Ga., have joined in — with a promise of renewed greenness over the whole wide stretch.

Draws 3 Years For Bomb Role

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A Pulaski Circuit Court jury gave a three-year prison term to Jesse Raymond Perry, 24, for his part in Little Rock's Labor Day bombings.
Perry, convicted Wednesday, was the second of five accused bombers to receive a prison term. Trials of the other three are scheduled later.
J. D. Sims, 35, who drew a five-year sentence on a guilty plea to bombing Little Rock School Board offices, was the state's key witness in Perry's trial for the same offense.
Sims, dressed in prison khakis and speaking in a low, tense voice, testified that he and Perry volunteered for a "confidential squad" organized to harass Little Rock for accepting public high school integration.
Sims said he and Perry were assigned separate bombing targets, but that Perry backed out on the night the blasts were scheduled and Sims set off crude dynamite bombs at both targets.
The state made no effort to prove Perry actually set off a bomb. But Sims testified Perry knew he was going to bomb the School Board building and that Perry held the dynamite to be used there while Sims carried out Perry's assignment — blowing up Fire Chief Gann Nalley's tation wagon.
Perry was convicted under a state law dealing with bombings. The jury set the sentence.
Judge William J. Kirby delayed formal sentencing to give Perry's attorneys time to file a motion for a new trial. Perry remains free on $15,000 bond.

Soft Drinks Put Out Brush Fire

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — A brush fire was burning along Joppa Road when Michael Selsi and James Rice stopped their soft drink truck.
"They couldn't put it out by stomping so Selsi and Rice soaked up half a case of carbonated water. Opening the bottles one by one, and regulating the squirting liquid with their thumbs, they successfully put out the fire."

Prison Warden Spoke Too Soon

HONOLULU (AP) — Warden Joe Harper of Oahu Prison stood up at a luncheon for a parolee rehabilitation group. He said it was nice to see reporters at the prison for something other than an escape.
The luncheon guests were still occupied with their food when two shots rang out. Two convicts had scaled the prison fence. They were recaptured within minutes.
She was busy with her steel-trap mind calculating just how many Yankee dollars she could get out of this soldier.

A Beauty Salon For The Men Is Now Available If You Go To Charlotte

By JULIAN SCHEER
Charlotte News Staff Writer
Written for The Associated Press
CHARLOTTE (AP) — You just don't know what it's like, she says, sitting under that dryer. If you think...
But I do, I do, he says.
You Do?
Why yes, just last night I sat under that very same drier for a solid hour.
This imaginary conversation goes with a certain tranquil air expected to fall over the Charlotte home soon; when the husband no longer knocks the wife for her long hours in the beauty salon.
Peace will reign because husband will go off to the very same beauty salon for the very same treatment.
John Thompson, who also operates a salon for women, has opened one here for men.
It is simply a public service, for men want beauty treatments too, he says.

Thompson offers haircuts by a barber who specializes in a scissor cut — no more clippers.
He offers facial massages, eyebrow and lash dyeing.
He offers hair tinting and hair dyeing.
He offers a manicure.
The big thing these days, says Thompson, is the hair dyeing. Some men want to take the grey out of their hair, some men want a grey streak added. Some men even want to change the color altogether.
"Men just haven't had a place to go for dyeing, a special cut or scalp treatment," Thompson adds. "That's where the dryer comes in."

After the scalp treatment or shampoo, the man will just plop down under a drier and enjoy himself.
Thompson got the idea when wives started talking about their husbands' difficulties. Some wanted special treatments but either didn't know where to go or were embarrassed to go elsewhere.
Thompson and his partner, Margaret Flowe, point out that men are more hair-color conscious these days than ever before.
"We do a lot of theatrical work and when an actor finds that the color he must use in a play is appealing," Thompson says, "he may ask us to keep it that way."
Miss Flowe says, "Some younger men want to look pre-turely gray, and some men with gray hair want to look younger. Some men just want a tint to make what they have look better." Thompson says he will offer men anything he has in his salon for women, with one exception.

"We won't have a pedicure. I think it will take men a while before they ask for that. We know they'll want it and we'll add it later."

Minister Says Blackmail Tried

YANCEYVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A 59-year-old Baptist minister has charged a fellow minister with blackmail.

The Rev. G.A. Hamby told authorities that Mrs. J.T. Swinson revealed herself to him in the nude while he was visiting in the Swinson home and that her husband took pictures of them.

The minister said Mrs. Swinson pulled him from the kitchen into a bedroom. Then, the minister said, the Rev. Mr. Swinson, also a Baptist minister, appeared and photographed them and beat him with a stick.

The Rev. Mr. Hamby said 60 stitches were needed to close the wounds.

Hamby said the incident occurred Oct. 15. He said he had been invited by the Swinsons to go deer hunting.

The Swinsons were named in five warrants charging blackmail, conspiracy and assault.

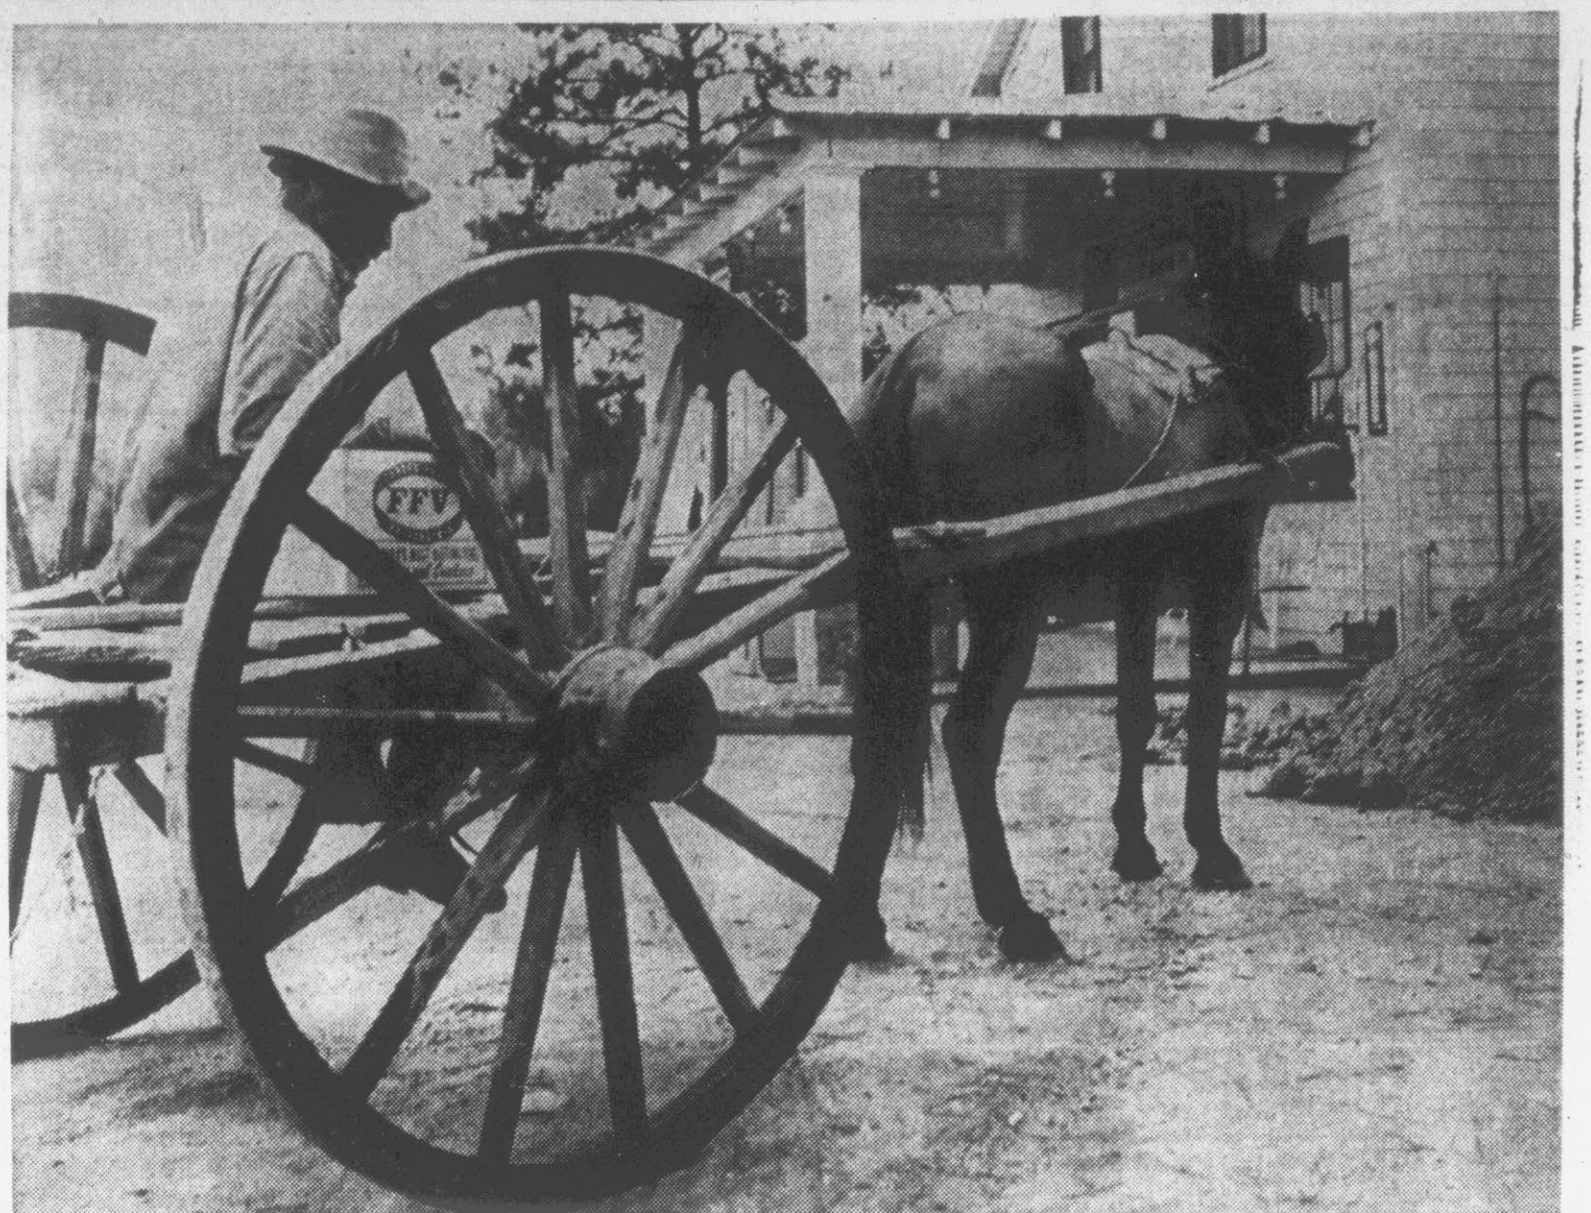

Hamby said that after the incident, he was forced to drive Swinson to Burlington and write a $650 check as a down payment on a new car for the Swinsons.

He said Swinson also kept his wrist watch and $20 of the $60 in his wallet.

Hamby's church is at Tuxedo, a few miles from the South Carolina line. Swinson, about 40, is pastor of Faith Baptist Church near Burlington. His wife is in her 30s. They have two children.

Hamby said he stopped payment on the $650 check.

He said he had known the Swinsons about 10 years.

THE OLD GRAY MARE . . . (or brown mule) ain't what she used to be. It is practically a rare occasion to see a mule and cart "parked" in front of a country general store nowadays as modern farm equipment and cars are filling their shoes. Photographer Stuart Savage took this photo about eight miles from Greenville on U.S. 13-N.C. 11.

Bethlehem Steel Reveals Strike Impact Late Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Corp. today will just about wind up the parade of big steel firms reporting on how badly they have been hit by the steel strike.

The nation's second largest steel company will issue its third quarter earnings statement shortly after close of the New York Stock Exchange at 3:30 p.m.

For all but two of the weeks covered by the report, the gates were closed on Bethlehem's plants and pickets stood guard outside those gates.

As with other major companies completely shut down by the strike, Bethlehem is expected to report a loss for the third quarter. Overhead costs continue even when the open hearths are down. Among such costs are taxes, salaries of employees not on strike, interest on bonds and other debt, deductions for pensions and insurance and depreciation of plant and machinery.

Until the strike, Bethlehem was doing very well. For the first half of this year it earned $73,591,528. That set an all-time record for any six months. Partly this reflected prestrike inventory buildup by customers.

Thus it is quite possible that, despite a poor third quarter, earnings for the first nine months this year will exceed those of the recession-plagued first nine months of 1958.

The following are net third-quarter losses reported by other companies so far, compared with 1958 net income for the corresponding quarter: U.S. Steel, $31,135,136 compared with $74,922,924; Republic Steel, $24,861,406 compared with $15,184,641; Youngstown Sheet, $7,149,660 compared with $3,641,906.

National Steel, whose Weirton Division is not on strike, reported net income in the quarter at $2,821,600 compared with $10,892,433 for 1958.

Soloist Missed Winged Visitor

FRIENDSHIP Md. (AP)—"His eye is on the sparrow," sang the tenor at Sunday morning worship at the Methodist church.

With that, a swallow flitted in through an open window, flew among the rafters a short time and flew out.

Soloist Loren Bloom, whose eye was on the music, didn't see the winged messenger. But the congregation smiled knowingly.

In North America only one-third of the land receives adequate rainfall.

Group To Begin Centennial Plans

RALEIGH (AP)—A nine-member executive committee was named Wednesday to get plans started for North Carolina's Civil War Centennial celebrations in 1961-65.

The committee was appointed by Col. Hugh Dortch of Goldsboro at an organizational meeting here of the state's 28-member Confederate Centennial Commission. Dortch is chairman of the commission.

Dortch asked committee members for planning suggestions and received plenty. One proposed more dissemination of Civil War material to Tar Heel school children. Another called for more marking of Confederate soldiers' graves.

Killed As Car Struck By Train

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—A 62-year-old High Point businessman was killed Wednesday when his car was struck by a Southern Railway passenger train at a crossing here.

The victim was Harvey F. Rice, president and secretary-treasurer of Quality Chair Co. Rice's body was found about 150 feet from the car.

READY TO MOVE—"Moving-in Maids" prepare to meet a moving van and arrange furnishings in the new home of a family which will arrive later. Here they load their station wagon after cleaning the house.

'Moving Maids' Make An Old Job A Breeze

By PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—About a year ago, Joan Andrews, wife of an industrial engineer, read that one in every five Americans moves in any given year.

She recalled the times her family had moved, and the job it is to settle in a new home. And she had an idea.

Why not organize a team of women to meet the moving van and put the house in order?

With several housewife-friends she began a study of home planning, kitchen efficiency and general household management. They call themselves the Moving-in Maids, and today there are eight regulars, plus an interior decorator, seamstress to alter drapes, carpenter, electrician and plumber when needed.

"I look at it mostly from the standpoint of a family where the man is being transferred to Columbus by the company he works for—probably from a state hundreds of miles away," Mrs. Andrews says.

"He comes here ahead of his family and starts to work, meanwhile looking for a house. His wife stays behind, possibly to sell their former home, and the children are still in school.

"If we can make the move easier at this end by eliminating anxiety and saving hours of time, it is bound to benefit the man and his employer."

Time lost from work as a result of moving details amounts to "something like $480 worth on the average," she contends.

Before the moving van arrives at the new Columbus address, the Moving-in Maids clean the place. They line cabinet shelves, wax floors, wash windows; in short, do the things the housewife would have to do before even starting to unpack.

They meet the moving men and direct where heavy articles are to be put, check for breakage, and unpack and put the family's belongings away.

Besides being bonded and insured, Mrs. Andrews points out, "the girls have a knowledge of the things they're working with. We wash all the dishes, glassware and pots and pans before putting them away."

Sometimes there are specific instructions from the family, she says, but in most cases the wife has never even seen the new place and the Moving-in Maids decide where things will go, "being as systematic as possible."

The Maids paste labels inside cabinets to assist the housewife until she gets used to the arrangement. An interior decorator assists in placing pictures, mirrors and other decorations, and a carpenter makes sure nails, hooks and other fasteners are placed properly in the walls.

The job takes 8 to 10 hours, usually.

Mrs. Andrews says she is considering adding a moving-out service for people who move away from Columbus.

Pitcher Drysdale Cool Actor In His TV Role

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Big Don Drysdale, ace pitcher of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, is turning TV cowpoke for the winter season.

Drysdale, 6-6 with hips made for those tight bluejeans, starts work Monday in Warner Bros. "The Lawman" television series.

It's Drysdale's acting debut except for those shaving commercials.

Surprisingly, he will have the top featured role in the segment called, "The Hard Case." Most athletes, hired usually just for publicity, rate only bit parts.

But Drysdale, 23, is considered a natural Western type by Warner executives.

That means he is tall enough to know that John Wayne's hair is thin on top and, more important, he can ride a horse.

"You never ask a potential Western star if he can act," one Warner topped confided. "Only if he can ride a horse. Dramatic ability actually can be a liability for a Western hero."

Producer Jules Schermer, a rabid baseball fan, is Drysdale's theatrical discoverer.

"I had him read for me the other day," Schermer said. "He's very natural. He's big, young, and has a Western face. He's the movie conception of a Western hero."

Drysdale also read for executive producer William T. Orr and Warner TV executive Hugh Benson. They concurred with Schermer's appraisal and ordered the right-hander to start off with a big part.

His role calls for him to ride fiercely, fight a knockdown, drag-out barroom brawl, almost but not quite make love to a pretty girl—and even get jailed as a rape suspect. As Westerns go, it's what might be considered a plum role.

Schermer said that Drysdale will not be the heavy—"only a likable but misunderstood hero."

The producer added: "I'd be strung up in this town if I ever made any Dodger a villain."

Drysdale, a hunter, can handle a gun but knows no fancy draw tricks.

Quick-drawing with the series' regular heroes, John Russell and Peter Brown, Don's six-shooter flew out of his hand and landed across the lawn.

"Ball one," said one bystander. Drysdale, as temperamental as any actor, said he is not the least bit nervous about his acting debut.

"Now, last September in that final three-game series with the Giants when I walked the first three batters that faced me, I would call that a nervous position to be in." (He struck out the next three batters.)

"After that, who could get nervous about acting?"

Dave Beck Now Is In Business On A Parking Lot

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Dave Beck, who once directed the affairs of the big Teamsters' Union, is now taking quarters in a downtown Seattle parking lot.

It is not out of any need, though. Beck owns the block-square lot. Besides, he still receives an annual pension of $50,000 from the Teamsters.

Beck said he decided to take over active operation of the lot because business was "not building up the way it should" with hired help.

"It's building up very well, now," he said. "We're doing very well."

Beck, 65, puts in a full day at the lot. It is located across the street from the Teamsters Union Building, where he once made his headquarters and from where he now gets a lot of parking business.

He has an appeal pending on his Feb. 19 conviction of evading $225,000 in income taxes for the years 1950-53.

Steel Strike's Cost Beginning To Show In Data

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The cost of the big steel strike is beginning to show up in the figures. Whether they're earnings or payroll totals they aren't pleasant.

Stockholders are being told the net loss in income in the first months of the strike. But these figures have to be read against the background of the year as a whole if they're not to be misleading.

The metalworking companies also are reporting their third quarter and nine months earnings. In most instances these figures cover periods when neither the steel strike nor the copper work stoppage pinched. These statements also have to be read with the final three months in mind if they are to be given their true perspective.

But, first, here are the figures. Fifteen steel companies have reported on their third quarter operations. Five of them report net losses. Two others, with some of their activities unaffected by the strike, reported in the black but much lower net income than the previous year. Most of those showing increased earnings are small companies not involved in the strike.

Combined, the 15 show a loss for the July-August-September quarter of nearly 49 million dollars. This compares with a net income of 124 million for the same companies in the 1958 third quarter. Bethlehem, isn't included in the list.

But this year's loss must be considered in relation to what went before.

Count Of Known Dead In Mexican Flood Nears 100

MEXICAN CITY (AP)—The count of known dead neared 100 today in Mexico's flood-stricken states of Colima and Jalisco. Many more persons still were missing in one of the country's worst modern disasters.

Large sections of the two small western states bordering the Pacific still were isolated by floods in the wake of weekend torrential rains and a hurricane Monday.

Air rescue operations continued around the clock in an effort to reach hundreds of families driven from their homes by rain-swollen rivers that jumped their banks and poured through dozens of small villages.

The rivers knocked out communications and flooded roads in the stricken area, hindering the movement of military convoys carrying food, medicine and clothing.

Says K's Visit Great Mistake

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A churchman says Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States was the "greatest mistake our honored president has made."

Dr. Carl McIntire, Collingswood, N.J., president of the International Council of Christian Churches, said Wednesday President Eisenhower should scuttle the Soviet-United States exchange program. He said only the Soviets benefited.

Dr. McIntire made the remarks in a speech to the 18th annual convention of the American Council of Christian Churches here.

The Pacific port of Manzanillo, which took the full force of the hurricane, reported 80 known fatalities. At least 100 residents were reported missing and 500 injured.

Full reports of casualties and damage could not be obtained because of the breakdown in communications. The President's office announced reports received by radio.

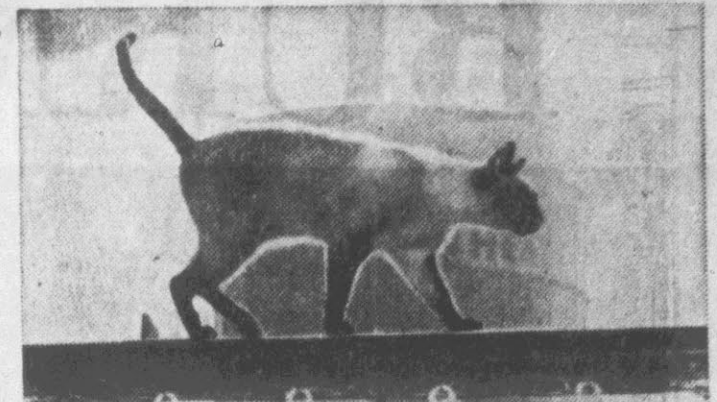

At least seven persons were dead and 15 missing in Chihauhan, 30 miles northwest of Manzanillo. Floods destroyed 40 per cent of the homes in the town of 5,000.

Three were dead and several missing in Coahuayana, near Manzanillo.

Four small Mexican freighters were reported sunk at Manzanillo. There also was a report indicating the 800-ton freighter Sinaloa, which left Manzanillo Monday for Acapulco, had gone down at sea. The report said 12 crewmen were rescued but 17 still were missing.

The government used all available planes and helicopters to drop food, blankets and medicines to isolated persons in outlying villages. Many homeless families had taken to rooftops and trees.

BURMA SURGEON

ADVICE. Dr. Seagrave gives instructions to students in the Namkham Hospital Nursing School. School graduates 25 nurses a year from 4 1/2 year course.

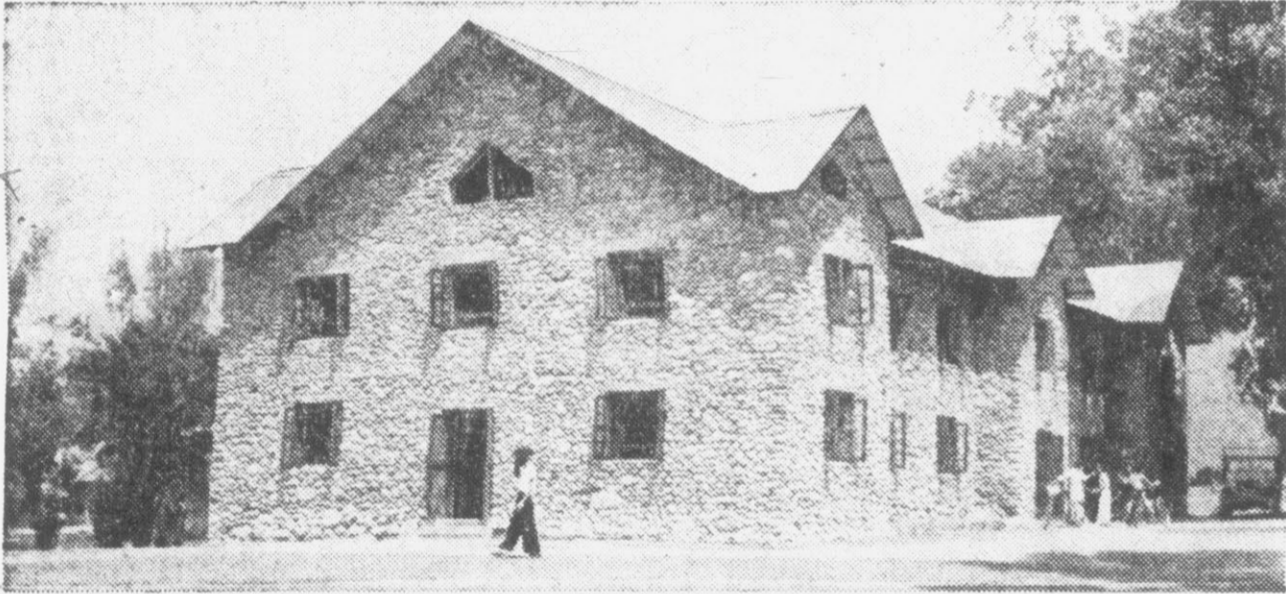

Remember the Burma surgeon?
 Dr. Gordon Seagrave wrote of his experiences operating a tiny hospital on the remote China-Burma border in the book titled "The Burma Surgeon" which became a best-seller during World War II. After the war he quietly returned to Burma's mountain fastness to rebuild his shattered hospital and minister to the sick.

He's still there. He's now 62. His life-long labor came into the news again with the announcement that his son, John, 25, has applied to enter a medical school to follow in the footsteps of his father and many other members of his family.

The Namkham Hospital was founded by a Seagrave some 150 years ago as a Baptist missionary outpost. Twenty-nine members of the Seagrave family have toiled at the institution, which now is non-sectarian. Dr. Seagrave was born at the hospital. His three sons also were born there.

The hospital has six stone buildings. Water for bathing is run in through a leaky pipe. Drinking water is hauled in cans from a stream by a battered truck. But the staff of three doctors, 15 nurses and more than 100 nursing trainees get along with remarkably few medical conveniences. The 250 beds handle 5,000 patients a year. Another 10,000 persons are treated as outpatients.

The hospital charges no fees except what the patient feels he can pay. The annual budget of $75,000 is made up mostly from voluntary contributions and the proceeds from "The Burma Surgeon" and a later book, "My Hospital in the Hills." A private American group titled the American Medical Center for Burma has provided some financial help since 1947.

Namkham Hospital's main building. Dr. Seagrave and wife Marion, built it before war. It was destroyed during World War II, but doctor rebuilt it with U.S. Army help after its recapture in 1944.

Dr. Seagrave greets patients in front of hospital. Boy is member of Shan tribe, one of 12 different ethnic and racial groups living in North Burma.

Nurse gives vitamin injections to Shan child who is suffering from malnutrition. These drugs have been donated by American pharmaceutical firms.

Nurse cares for patient in main hospital ward. Hospital has 250 beds. No screen on windows because need for cash so great that all money must be spent on medical necessities.

She Left October 10, Young Girl Disappears

BROOMHALL, Pa. (AP) — "Dear Mom: "I am doing this because I love you and Daddy. I know how much all these things are going to cost and I know we don't have that much money that would pay for Daddy."

"So I'm going to get a job and give you every penny until Daddy is completely well."

"Please don't be mad. I prayed to God and thought it over real good and it seems the right thing to do. I'm not with any boys. I only used them as an excuse to get out and get a job somewhere."

"Please don't worry about me. I'll be all right. Judy is coming with me. I went to confession this afternoon and I'm going to communion tomorrow for Daddy. He'll be all right and well. I'll see to that."

"Love, Ann."

Ann Shields, 15, a pretty brown-haired high school freshman scrawled out the note and left it on a living room couch the night of Oct. 10. She hasn't been heard from since.

Her mother, Mary, between visits to the Bryn Mawr Hospital to visit the ailing father, James, keeps a vigil at the telephone, hoping and praying Ann will call.

Mrs. Shields said that the Judy referred to in the note was Judy Tracey, also 15, a neighbor who vanished with Ann.

"Judy called her mother yesterday," Mrs. Shields added, "and said that she and Ann were living with friends and that Ann was working in New York."

Actress Appeals Hefty Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ann Sothern, television star, says she only owes $7,120.94 in back taxes, not $722,322.44 as the government claims.

She filed an appeal from the big tax bill Wednesday in U.S. Tax Court.

The dispute involves proceeds from Miss Sothern's sale of her part ownership of a TV series.

Mrs. Shields explained that her husband, a school custodian, was operated on Oct. 7. She said that part of a lung was removed.

"He had been asking for Ann," Mrs. Shields related. "He'd wished that there was some way we could get a message to Ann to tell her to come home. That we'd forgiven her."

See Photos Of 'Secret' Aircraft

TORONTO (AP) — Canadians had a look today at a picture of what appears to be the new wingless, vertical lift aircraft being developed by the A. V. Roe Co., aviation manufacturers, for the U. S. Army.

Pictures were taken by a photographer flying over the Roe plant here. The device appears to be 30 or 40 feet in diameter and resembles some conceptions of a flying saucer.

Roe officials declined to comment on the authenticity of the pictures.

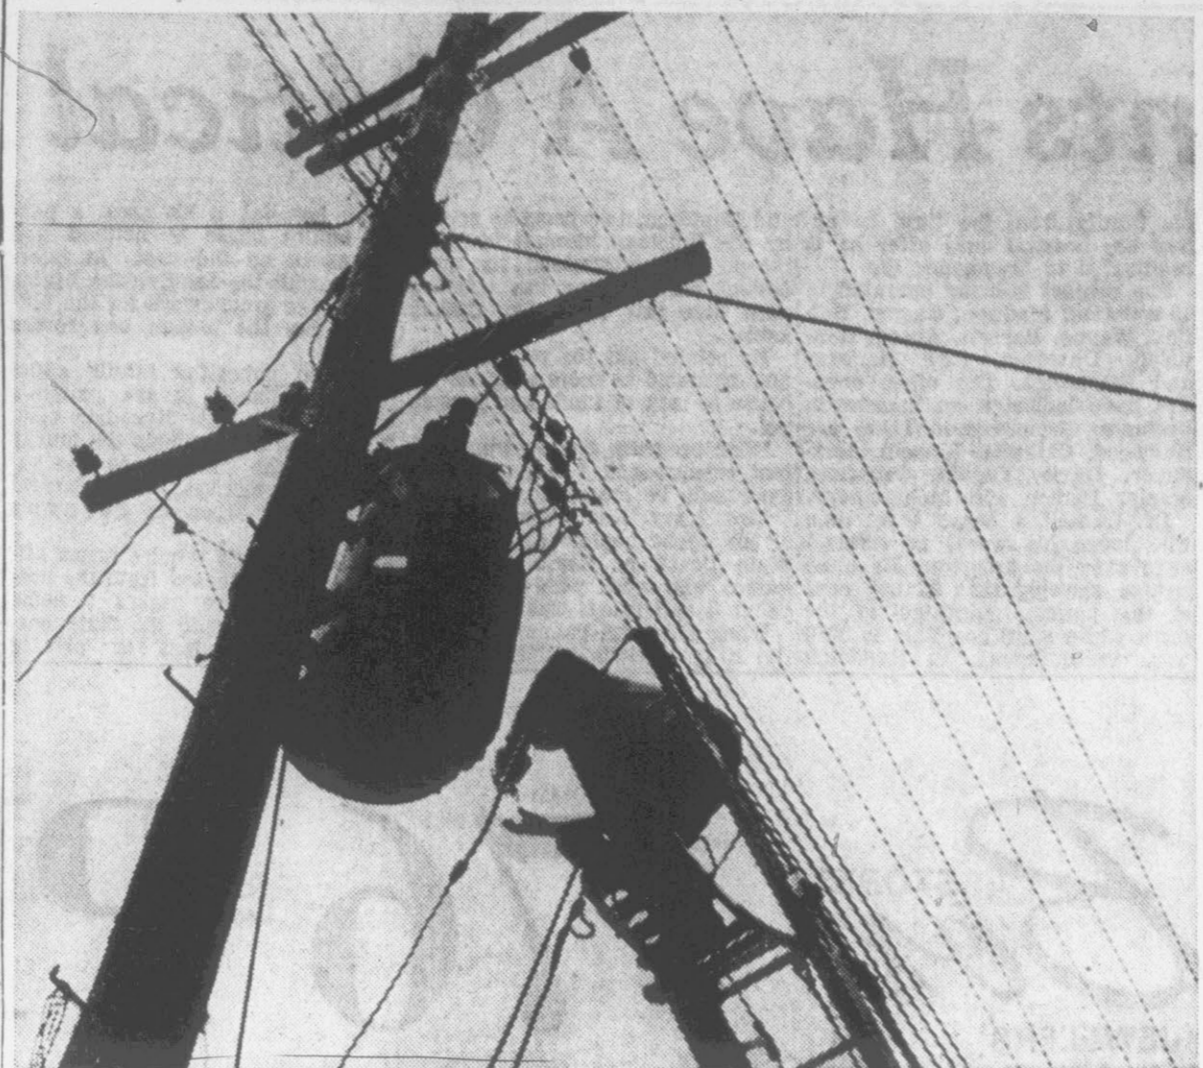

Development of the aircraft was taken over by the U. S. Army in 1954, the Canadian Press says, after the Canadian government withdrew support.

In Washington, neither the Defense Department nor the Army would comment on the picture.

The Pentagon said last May the Army and Air Force were sponsoring AVRO's development on a vertical takeoff research vehicle designed to operate on the air cushion principle.

Several types of vertical takeoff and hovering air vehicles have been developed in recent years.

Symington Not Able To Attend If Segregated

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), mentioned as a possible Democratic candidate for president in 1960, pulled out of a speech at a state Democratic dinner here because the event will be segregated.

Symington was scheduled to appear with Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) at the $10-a-plate Arkansas Democratic harmony dinner Friday night. A crowd of 4,000 is expected.

The senator said Wednesday at Easton, Pa., that he had told Arkansas party officials he would not be able to attend when he learned that Negro delegates would be seated at segregated tables.

Mental Patients Have A Critical Four Months

By REESE HART
 RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The first four months is the most crucial period for a mental patient in his readjustment after he is released from a hospital and sent home. This is a period in which troubling questions flash through his mind. For one thing, he must battle against anxiety over his condition. When he leaves the hospital he is faced with the question of how his family, friends and the community in general will accept him. If he can weather this four-month period successfully his chances of recovery are good. Dr. James L. Cathell, superintendent of Umstead State Hospital at Butner, said "This is a period when the average patient needs help, encouragement and direction. Most of all, he needs support from professional trained persons." A program begun in May, 1958, in a few North Carolina counties has done much to help patients in their readjustment. The program, a follow-up on discharged mental patients, is aimed at reducing the number who have to return to the hospitals. It is operated by the four state hospitals in cooperation with the North Carolina Board of Health. Under the program, public health nurses maintain close contacts with a mental patient and his family from the time he enters the hospital until after he is readjusted to his former life. The project is being operated in 10 counties: Madison, Gaston, Halifax, Wayne, Harnett, Anson, Randolph, Davidson, New Hanover and Brunswick. Ten other counties have indicated an interest in beginning the program. These are Haywood, Catawba, Lincoln, Alexander, Davie, Yadkin, Cabarrus, Stanly, Person and Montgomery. Dr. Cathell, a heavy-set man who loves his work, is enthusiastic over the program. He cited figures showing that 55 per cent of the patients admitted to the three white state hospitals in 1958 were readmissions. In Randolph and Davidson, two counties served by the Umstead hospital in which the program is working, the number of readmissions has taken a nose dive this year, Dr. Cathell said. He pointed out the program has not expanded to more counties because of lack of funds and personnel. "The program has shown excellent results, and I believe it will eventually be statewide," he said. Mrs. Mary King Kneeder, chief of the public health section of the State Board of Health, said the nurses who work with the project "find it satisfying. They love it." When a mental patient in one of the 10 counties is admitted to the State hospital in his area, a public health nurse is notified and moves in on the case. In interviews with the family, she begins laying the groundwork for the ultimate day the patient can return home. "If an unhealthy family situation contributed to the patient's breakdown," Mrs. Kneeder said, "the nurse tries to help the family alleviate the situation so the patient can readjust in a peaceful environment when he returns home." Some patients require drugs after they are released from the hospital. The nurse makes periodic progress reports to the State hospital superintendent or private physician on individual patients. If a patient's progress isn't going well, they confer to see what can be done to help him. Mrs. Kneeder pointed out the nurses try to allay any fears the family may have about the treatment and care of the patient. They explain the use of drugs, shock treatment and other therapy so the family can better understand what the patient will go through during his hospital stay. "Many patients," Dr. Cathell said, "improve to the point of good hospital adjustment only to fail, sometimes repeatedly, when they attempt to return to community living. As they return to the community, the pressures . . . or stress that they formerly operated with all return." He added the patient "not only must face this following his hospital stay, feeling somewhat differently about himself, but his family, friends, employer and the people in general are likely to regard him in a different light." Dr. Cathell emphasized that "the public is going to have to be tolerant in accepting patients back in the community." The International Council of Nurses, founded in 1899, is the oldest international organization of professional women in the world.

Tobacco Tips

By S. J. WEEKS.
 Pitt County Tobacco Agent
 Most farmers in this area grow disease resistant varieties of tobacco because their soil is infested with one or more tobacco disease organisms. Since this is the situation, there is a strong demand for good disease resistant varieties. Much progress has been made in the development of disease resistant varieties. For example, at the present time, several varieties are available with resistance to black shank, Granville wilt, Fusarium wilt, or combinations of these diseases. In addition to varieties with resistance as described above, there is a need for varieties that will also control such diseases as root knot, blue mold, mosaic, brown spot, and other diseases that take a toll from the tobacco farmer each year.

Plant breeders and other experiment station scientists, are working diligently toward the development of varieties that will fill this demand. Workers are testing some 600 different breeding lines each year. All of these lines are checked for resistance to the several diseases under study and about half of them for performance in terms of yield and quality. There are three major parts of the program for the development of disease resistant varieties.

Both the experiment station scientists and the breeders in private industry are currently using a cigar wrapper 301 as their source of black shank resistance. Also TI 448 is being used as a source of resistance to Granville wilt and Fusarium wilt. Much progress has been made since the early 1940's when this work was begun. However, many problems have been encountered on levels of resistance, field type, and handling characteristics. An attempt is now being made to develop varieties with even higher levels of resistance to these diseases. The purpose of the multiple disease resistance program is to develop varieties with resistance to as many as six major tobacco diseases. First attempts to develop varieties resistance to nematodes began some twenty years ago. The first attempt failed because of poor quality, small plant type and other undesirable characteristics. During 1957 several of the lines resistant to root knot nematode produced acceptable yields that showed promise of producing quality tobacco. These lines are resistant to black shank, Granville wilt, root knot and mosaic. Experiment station personnel are continuing to make progress in developing these multiple resistant lines.

Several wild species of tobacco, or botanically related plants, have a very high level of resistance to black shank. Through breeding techniques, Dr. J. L. Apple, at N. C. State College, has been successful in transferring the black shank resistance factor in a wild species of tobacco to 402, a flue-cured variety. This accomplishment of stabilizing a new source of black shank resistance, should make it easier for scientists to develop varieties now being used. However, it will probably be some three or four years before a variety with this type of resistance will be available for the farmers to grow.

Complains Lives Of Her Children Were Endangered

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Sterling Hayden's former wife charges that he endangered the lives of his four children for the sake of money when he took them on a South Seas voyage in his yacht. Mrs. Betty Ann Hayden, 36, is trying to get custody of the children. Wednesday she charged in Superior Court the 42-year-old actor flouted court orders when he sailed away on his schooner Wanderer nine months ago with their children, Christian, 10, Thor, 9, Gretchen, 8, and Matthew, 6. She said a court ordered Hayden not to remove the children from California without her consent when it gave him custody in 1955. She charged further that Hayden put the children in peril for monetary gain to be realized from films made on the voyage. A hearing on her petition was set for next Monday. Hayden and the children have not returned from Tahiti.

East Carolina Faces Tough Test Sat.

By JOHNNY HUDSON
Reflector Sports Editor
Just how do you prepare for a team that runs several different formations...

Not that this wasn't a big enough problem, but the Pirate coaches also had to get their charges back in a winning frame...

rough work for their Saturday warfare and climaxed the best week of practice this season...

shape this week than in the past two contests. Clayton Piland and Bob Gregson haven't seen any rough work...

ensive line, East Carolina backs are expected to give it a stern test Saturday night. The starting lineup in the backfield will feature plenty of speed and fancy-stepping.

Out most of the season with injuries, Matthews has looked good in practice this week and may take over if Bass isn't available for the starting call.

Ball Control Out Of Style In Southern Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ball-control tactics are going out like the drop kick and the flying wedge in Southern Conference football...

All four of the league's ranking teams—The Citadel, West Virginia, Virginia Tech and VMI—have found that in 1959 it isn't how long you hold the ball that counts...

Three of the top teams have heavily outscored their opposition while running considerable fewer plays. The fourth, West Virginia, proves the point in reverse.

Perhaps the most striking case in point is The Citadel, owner of the conference's finest record, 5-1. The Bulldogs have outscored their opponents, 133 points to 83...

VMI, with a 4-1-1 ledger and 139 points, trails its opposition in plays run, 343-397. Virginia Tech is 3-3 over-all and has stacked up 121 points but has had 367 plays to its opponents' 372.

What does it all mean? Obviously that the most successful teams in the conference this year are abandoning the ball-control tactics of previous seasons...

All the leaders, of course, have the special talent they need for this sort of football—breakaway runners or pinpoint passers, or both. At The Citadel there are pitcher Jerry Nettles and catcher Paul Maguire...

West Virginia, host to seventh-ranked Penn State this week, got the word that second string center Charley Lanasa will miss the game because of a shoulder injury.

Furman, idle Saturday, devoted time to blocking and tackling. Fullback Tom Campbell seemed on the road to recovery from an ankle injury.

Farmville Gets Shot At Conference Leaders

By TOM JACKSON
The Farmville Red Devils will meet LaGrange in an evenly balanced conference match on the LaGrange field Friday night.

Farmville Coach Elbert Moye said this week, "I haven't seen LaGrange play, but I have heard that they were fast and had some good passers. Also, those Kennedy Home boys play for LaGrange and I know for a fact that they will always give you a scrap, so we know we'll have our hands full."

"We aren't sure yet just how last week's lay off will affect us. When a game is called off, as the Vanceboro game was last week, it sometimes can lower the team's spirit. I don't think it will hurt us much, if any, though, because we had an inter-squad game Friday afternoon to let off a little steam."

The only Farmville injury this week is Clarence Moore, who hurt his knee in the inter-squad game last Friday. Coach Moye commented that he didn't know yet if Moore will be able to play Friday night or not.

Coch Moye added, "I hope we can handle LaGrange but I know that we will have a good fight on our hands. We have never beaten them on their own field. I'm pretty sure it will be a close game and if we fumble and stumble like we did during the first half of our game with Beaufort we will lose. However, if we play as well as we have in times this season, I think we will win. One thing for sure, we will have to stop their passing and outside attack."

"The boys are in good spirits, even after the loss to Beaufort, and if we play as well as we are capable of playing, I am confident that we will win."

Age Limit May Be Placed On NCAA Athletes

BOSTON (AP) — The NCAA, governing body for collegiate athletics, will be presented with a recommended amendment aimed at regulating play of alien athletes when the group meets in its annual convention in New York Jan. 6-8.

The amendment was approved Wednesday by the NCAA Council, the group's policy-directing body, in a move that Executive Director Walter Byers said was "designed to regulate the older boys coming over here to compete against younger boys."

The amendment would limit the number of semesters alien athletes could compete, place age limits on such players, and impose residency requirements before such athletes would be eligible to participate in national championship competition.

Alien students would be limited to 10 semesters or 15 quarters of eligibility for all competition, and would be limited to three years after reaching the age of 20, two years after 21 and one year after 22.

His Record Can Go Still Higher
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Garney Henley, a 175-pound halfback for undefeated Huron (S.D.) College, has set a career scoring record for National Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. schools and he still has three games to play.

Henley scored 33 points — half of his team's total — last Saturday to run his career total to 363 points. That's two better than the NAIA record set in 1946-49 by Tank Younger with Grambling (La.) College.

Henley leads NAIA scorers for the season with 110 points but he is 25th among rushers with 647 yards on 71 carries.

Forests cover 40 per cent of South America, about the same per cent as in the Soviet Russia.

ECC SOUTHPAW—George Turner, a Portsmouth native, has been the tick kicker on the ECC club this season. Turner plays at both fullback and quarterback.

Junior High Win Fifth Straight

Greenville's Junior High football team remained unbeaten and unscored on yesterday afternoon, downing a stubborn Jacksonville eleven, 10-0, for their fifth consecutive victory.

Halfback Tommy Smith scored twice for the winners on end sweeps and Chester Walden picked up the final score on a pass from Dale Gidley.

Defense once again told the story for the winners although their unscored mark was seriously threatened in the dying minutes of the initial half. The Jacksonville club moved to the Greenville five put time ran out. The locals led at intermission 12-0.

"It was a team effort," stated Coach John Jones, "and one of our best games this season. They (Jacksonville) are the best team we've played against. They were real stubborn and were able to move the ball better than any other club we've played."

Greenville Junior High will close out their season next Wednesday when it plays host to Goldsboro on the Rose High practice field.

ALL-STATE... candidate Ed Emory will be in East Carolina's starting forward wall Saturday when it attempts to stop a rugged Appalachian outfit. A South Carolina native, Emory is a senior and co-captains the Pirate club. He was an All-Conference guard selection last season.

Pirates, Apps Rank High In Conference Statistics

A tremendous performance last week sent Lenoir Rhyne's Lee Farmer soaring right into the thick of the battling for individual total offense honors in the North State Conference.

Bobby Cooper, Western Carolina's quarterback, still is the leader with 711 yards, but Farmer is pushing him.

The junior tailback from Candler ran and passed for a total of 172 yards last Saturday night as his team defeated the Cata-mounts in one of the loop's big games of the season. On the basis of the tremendous night, Farmer pulled within 61 yards of Cooper, who has participated in one more game. Farmer has a total of 650 yards. He moved from fourth to second on the performance.

It was a bad night for Cooper, who was able to amass only 56 yards. The usually-brilliant passer was able to complete only two aerials, and thereby lost one of his other individual leaderships.

Charlie Maidon of Elon, even though his team was going down to defeat at the hands of Catawba, completed 10 of 18 passing attempts to take away Cooper's leadership in that department.

Maidon has completed 50 of 117 attempts for 615 yards, while Cooper is second with 43 completions in 78 attempts.

Glenn Bass of East Carolina continues to be the No. 1 rusher with 545 yards to his credit. The Pirate ace has an average of 8.2 yards per carry on 66 tries. Trailing him is teammate Jim Speight with 471 yards, and third is Guilford's John Meroney with 396 yards.

Meroney and his Guilford team were idle last week but nobody was able to dislodge him from the No. 3 position.

In other individual departments, Tom Broadwater, Western Carolina halfback, claims two of the three leaderships. Broadwater is the conference's pscorer with 60 points and he also is the No. 1 pass receiver with 18 receptions for 284 yards and three touchdowns. Steve Gantt of Appalachian has kicked six times for a 43.2 average but the actual leader is Cooper who has a 39.6 average on 25 boots. Gantt has not bootied the required minimum of two kicks per game to be considered for the leadership.

The team leadership saw several turnovers, although Western Carolina retained its position as top total offense and total defense team.

The Catsamounts, however, lost their No. 1 positions in rushing offense and passing offense to Appalachian and Lenoir Rhyne, respectively.

In total offense, the Cats have an average of 326.3 yards per game, with the Bears close behind at 325.2. Appalachian has an average of 213.3 yards rushing and Lenoir Rhyne 131.1 yards passing.

On defense, the Cats have limited the foe to 186.4 yards per tilt in all categories. Appalachian has given up but 75 yards per game on the ground and Catawba but 65.3 yards through the air.

Japanese Hurler Wins 4th In Row

TOKYO (AP) — "Iron Man" Tadashi Sugiura shut out the Tokyo Giants 3-0 on five hits today for his fourth straight victory and sweep the Nankai Hawks to their first Japan "World Series" baseball championship.

Altogether, Sugiura, a right-hander who pitches with a "submarine" style, twirled 31 innings in winning four games over a six-day stretch. He was the MVP award in Japan's Pacific League this year with a fantastic 38-4 record.

Wyoming Slated To Appeal Ruling

By BOB GREEN
BOSTON (AP) The University of Wyoming is expected to appeal a decision by the NCAA which placed the school on probation for a year and ruled the cowboy football team ineligible for post-season bowl games.

"We don't think we violated the NCAA code and we've been trying to play it real straight," Wyoming head football coach Bob Devaney said in Laramie, Wyo., Wednesday after the policy-directing body of the powerful NCAA handed down its decision.

Devaney said he plans to appeal the ruling, which would knock his team out of a trip to the Sun Bowl game.

And in I reman, Mont., the Council of Deans at Montana State College unanimously agreed to appeal for a review of another NCAA ruling placing that school on a two-year probation. The restriction makes Montana State ineligible for NCAA national championships, participation in invitational events held in cooperation with the NCAA and NCAA-controlled television programs.

The college is host to the NCAA-sponsored ski meet in March. The action means that it cannot participate, the deans said they would appeal particularly the severity of the penalty.

Both schools were penalized for violations of the NCAA rules on recruiting and financial aid to athletes.

and was considered a prime candidate for a spot in the Sun Bowl game at Paso, Tex., if it won the title. The NCAA action spoiled that.

The cot 1, which concluded its regular fall meeting Wednesday, earlier had handed out probation sentences to Arizona State University at Tempe and the University of Mississippi. They also were punished for recruiting and financial aid violations.

Challenger For Wilt The Stilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If anyone is going to challenge Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain for the rookie-of-the-year laurels in the National Basketball Assn., it looks like Bailey Howell.

Howell, former All-America at Mississippi State, has popped in 33 points in three games for a 17.7 average. Wednesday night, he scored 22 to lead the Detroit Pistons to a 117-102 victory over the Syracuse Nationals.

The Pistons trailed by four at halftime, but rallied for seven straight points early in the third quarter to put it away. Hal Greer was high for Syracuse with 22 points. The triumph was Detroit's second in three games. Syracuse is winless in two.

MAKES BIG JUMP—Billy Strickland has made the big jump from freshmen to varsity ball. A fullback, Strickland was promoted to the varsity this week and may see some action against Appalachian.

State Hopes For Win Against Cowboys

Anderson Wants Some Of Air Force Club

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Army halfback Bob Anderson, who drew raves during his first two seasons but hardly a whisper this year, may turn out to be the big difference Saturday against the Air Force—and the Air Force may have itself to blame.

The reason? A cartoon earlier this year in an Air Force publication depicted the Army foot soldier as a bedraggled figure in comparison with the sleek space cadet in the Air Force of the future.

Lane Threat In Three Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kenny Lane's gory and rumpus-raising decision over former welterweight No. 5 among the nation's powers.

Anderson, whose brother is an Air Force jet pilot in Germany, saw the cartoon and fired a salvo at the Air Force football team. "We're going to clean their clocks," he said. "They made us mad and we want to beat them almost more than we want to beat Navy."

With blood streaming over both fighters at the finish, Lane won a split decision in a nationally televised 10-rounder at Capitol Arena Wednesday in his welterweight debut.

Anderson is the lad that could do it. As a soph in 1957, he was a sensation. Last year, playing alongside All America Pete Dawkins, he helped the Cadets to an 8-0-1 record and the Lambert Trophy. Everyone figured this was his year.

For a moment Lane appeared doomed to a third round technical knockout after Akins' jabbed open a cut over Kenny's right eye.

But in the second game, against Illinois, he severely injured a knee cartilage early in the game, which Army lost 20-14. He missed the Penn State game, also lost by Army 17-11, and saw limited service in the Cadets' 21-6 victory over Duke. He saw more action last week in Army's 25-6 win over Colorado State.

Asked to name the key line-men, Schwartzwalder listed Roger Davis (6-3, 228 pounds), his short-side guard, and his tackles, Maury Youmans (6-6, 226 pounds) and Bob Yates (6-1, 250).

Coach Dale Hall sees Anderson in a two-pronged role against the Air Force. Since his running is hampered by his inability to cut and slant sharply, he has proved his worth as a passer on the pass-run option play.

Everybody asks me to compare halfback Ernie Davis with Jimmy Brown. Everybody else does but I don't. Davis is coming along fine, improving every game (he averages 7.6 yards a carry).

Last week he completed four, and has five of eight for the season for 64 yards. This is a perfect complement to quarterback Joe Caldwell, who has gained 789 yards passing, completing 64 of 102 attempts.

Schwartzwalder came to town in 1949 when football was at low ebb at Syracuse. He concerted drive toward "big time" status has paid off. Ben couldn't be more pleased about this turn of events.

Anderson's running will not be forgotten, either, now that Roger Zalkas, the No. 1 right halfback, is out with a broken nose. Andy, a Cocoa, Fla., native, has run 30 times for 149 yards and a 4.97 average. He has yet to be thrown for a loss.

Schwartzwalder said the key line-men, Schwartzwalder listed Roger Davis (6-3, 228 pounds), his short-side guard, and his tackles, Maury Youmans (6-6, 226 pounds) and Bob Yates (6-1, 250).

Played Almost All Of The Game

Everybody asks me to compare halfback Ernie Davis with Jimmy Brown. Everybody else does but I don't. Davis is coming along fine, improving every game (he averages 7.6 yards a carry).

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There probably aren't any 60-minute men left in football. But UCLA may have come about as close as anybody. It has a 50 1-8-minute man.

Schwartzwalder came to town in 1949 when football was at low ebb at Syracuse. He concerted drive toward "big time" status has paid off. Ben couldn't be more pleased about this turn of events.

He's Harry Baldwin, a 198-pound junior center who has played 200% of a possible 240 minutes in the Bruins' first four games.

Schwartzwalder said the key line-men, Schwartzwalder listed Roger Davis (6-3, 228 pounds), his short-side guard, and his tackles, Maury Youmans (6-6, 226 pounds) and Bob Yates (6-1, 250).

Last Saturday Good For Grid Favorites

NEW YORK (AP)—"We're firing a rocket to get a glimpse of the crystal ball's other side. The near side isn't too much help any more in picking the college football winners, although last week's tabulation showed 47 correct picks in 57 decisions for .826.

Louisiana State over Mississippi: The nation's longest winning streak, the Southeast Conference championship and the Sugar Bowl invitation all are tied up in this Saturday night affair. Both are undefeated and the pick is that LSU will stay that way by the thinnest of margins.

Texas over Southern Methodist: But Don Meredith will give the Long Horns the fright of their lives.

Army over Air Force: This is a must game for each club. Army's cripples are healed. Northwestern over Indiana: Each weekend Northwestern comes up with another outstanding quarterback, but after the game he played against Notre Dame it is quite probable that John Talley will be at the helm again.

Syracuse over Pittsburgh: As long as the two Davis boys are in the line-up the Orange is a mighty potent football team.

Southern California over California: The scare Stanford gave Southern California last week has taught the Trojans a lesson.

Penn State over West Virginia: The Mountaineers have no defense for Richie Lucas' passes.

Elsewhere: Auburn over Florida, Georgia Tech over Duke, Wisconsin over Michigan, Purdue over Illinois, Clemson over Rice, Yale over Dartmouth, Tennessee over North Carolina, Oklahoma over Nebraska.

Friday night Boston College over Detroit, Virginia Military over George Washington, College of Pacific over Hawaii, Miami over Kentucky, Texas Tech over Tulane.

Saturday East: Holy Cross over Colgate, Boston U. over Massachusetts, Penn over Harvard, Princeton over Brown, Cornell over Columbia, Rutgers over Delaware, Dayton over Villanova.

Cepeda Seeks To Improve Fielding

SAN JUAN, P.A. (AP)—Orlando Cepeda, National League Rookie of the Year in 1958 and its Sophomore of the Year in 1959, has already set one goal for 1960.

"I want to become a first class outfielder," he said today. "If I am going to play that position, I am going to try to make good. I do not want to become a player carried by a ball club just for his hitting."

The San Francisco Giants' slugger Wednesday was named the leading sophomore in the annual Associated Press poll. He drew 86 of the 172 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America. Vada Pinson of Cincinnati was next with 66 votes.

Cepeda was shifted from first base to the outfield last August when Willie McCovey was brought up from the Pacific Coast League.

"Making the change bothered me at first," he said. "But we needed McCovey's hitting. Anyway I soon got used to the outfield. It was no cinch, but playing at first base is harder because you have to be on top of every play all the time."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina State Coach Earle Edwards is hoping to ambush a tough band of Wyoming Cowboys Saturday.

Edwards has told his club Wyoming will be rough—"possibly our toughest opponent"—but the Wolfpack has the incentive.

For one thing, it's the homecoming game, and the last home game of the season. For another, State has lost four straight since beating Virginia Tech in the season's opener.

Edwards has been drilling his club this week on new plays to spring against the defending Skyline Conference champions, who boast a 5-1 record. Wyoming has lost only to the Air Force.

State probably will be without first string quarterback Roman Gabriel again this week. Ron Wojcik, a junior from Pittsburgh, Pa., will direct the attack.

State is only one of four Atlantic Coast Conference teams facing non-conference opposition Saturday.

In the others, nationally 13th-ranked Clemson meets Rice Saturday night at Houston, Tex.; Duke goes against ninth-ranked Georgia Tech; and North Carolina collides with 20th-ranked Tennessee.

In the conference contests, Maryland is at South Carolina and Wake Forest entertains Virginia. North Carolina fullback Don Klochak was the standout in the Tar Heels' workout Wednesday, and halfbacks Skip Clement and Wade Smith also were impressive.

its last heavy drill before Saturday's game. The Blue Devils are in good physical condition.

At the Clemson camp, fullback Doug Cline was back at practice as the Tigers went through a rough workout. Cline suffered a broken hand early in the season and then pulled a leg muscle in last Thursday's victory over South Carolina.

South Carolina polished its offense Wednesday, and tried to eliminate mistakes. Coach Warren Giese pointed to forgotten assignments and nine lost fumbles in the past two games. Maryland, meanwhile, scrimmaged against the freshmen and reserves. The Terps also drilled on punts and punt returns.

Wake Forest's Deacons worked on all phases of their offense. Coach Paul Amen said tackle Bob McCreary won't play Saturday because of a broken bone in his left hand. Guard Nick Patella, who has a knee injury, is a doubtful starter.

Virginia ran through a brief scrimmage, with tackles Ron Gassert and Dick Fogg on the sidelines. However, they are expected to play against Wake Forest.

Sees Frustration In Their Choice

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP)—Are nurses frustrated because of the illusion that they are Florence Nightingales, ministering angels and mother substitutes?

Montreal management consultant Clark Middleton - Hope says they are.

He told a hospital administrators meeting the image nurses have of themselves eventually frustrates them and often ends when they quit or switch their type of work.

"Nurses are confused as to their role and function," he said. "This has serious implications. A wide discrepancy exists between what the nurse conceives her role to be and the demands made on her as a full-time nurse."

"With the shortage of nurses the problem has severe implications for many hospitals. The large number of patients under the care of each nurse increases the demands on her time and make it physically impossible for her to give the kind of intimate bedside care traditionally thought to be part of the professional nurse's role."

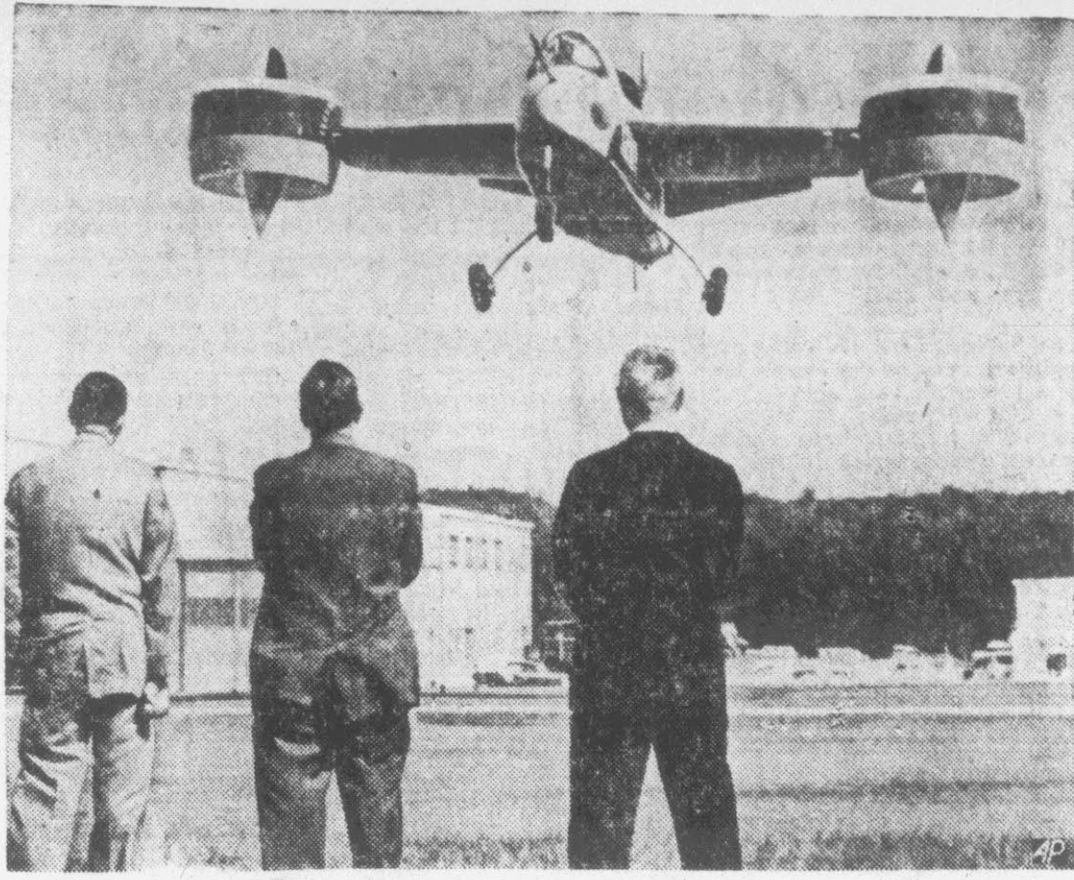

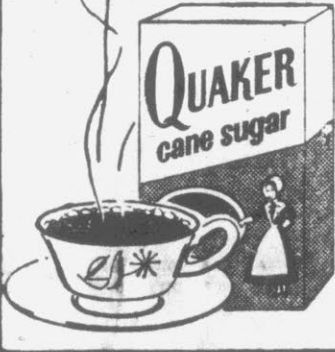

Middleton - Hope said that nurses can't get real satisfaction from their work because "frustration develops as the nurses simultaneously try to meet demands of the hospital and the demands imposed by her conception of her role."

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP)—An estimated 6,600 ships will pass through the U. S. locks of the St. Lawrence Seaway before the waterway closes for the winter Nov. 30, officials estimate. To now, 5,650 ships have cleared the locks.

Universalists Concerned For Planetary Beings

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Universalists were concerned today not only about creatures on this earth—but in the spheres beyond.

Shaping up for the space age, the Church officially urged that any other worldly beings be treated decently—wherever and whenever they are encountered.

Laughter greeted the presentation of this resolution Wednesday night to approximately 600 church representatives. But they moved soberly ahead to make it Universalist policy and endorsed the "principle of international authority over the exploration of outer space."

The church also advocated United Nations membership for "all nations that will give assent to its charter provisions," including—as inferred in debate—Red China.

Only one other denomination, the United Presbyterian, has urged study looking toward seating Red China.

The resolution said that radioactive fallout imperilled present and future generations and that such tests were "part of an arms race, threatening extinction of human life upon earth."

The actions came on the eve of a Joint Universalist-Unitarian assembly today to hammer out terms of a proposed merger.

The merger plans had firm backing from the executives of both creeds—the Rev. Dr. Dana McLean Greeley, president of the American Unitarian Assn.; and the Rev. Dr. Philip R. Giles, general superintendent of the Universalist Church.

Adopt Report On Segregation

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Missouri Baptist Convention approved a report Wednesday stating that "racial segregation cannot be maintained in a truly Christian society."

The report said public places "designed to serve all the people cannot be regarded as private institutions from which a group may be excluded because of color. That is a denial of basic human rights in a democracy; it is a rejection of Christian ethics."

"White people in America must learn to separate their private lives from their public institutions to reach a solution of the problem."

Adopted without a dissent by about 1,000 persons, the report said: "Let us insist on respect for our colored neighbors in Missouri and actively support their rights as fellow Americans and, in many cases, as fellow Christians."

Ratify Military Courts' Return

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's Cabinet early today ratified the revival of military tribunals which sent 555 of his enemies to execution before firing squads.

Fears of a new blood-bath grew with an estimated 200 persons already in jail awaiting investigation or trial as counterrevolutionaries, and unconfirmed reports circulating of more and more arrests daily.

Prime Minister Castro abolished the controversial military tribunals in July in favor of civilian courts. Though the latter had power to impose death for activities against the revolutionary regime, the heaviest sentences meted out were 30 years.

A power failure plunged most of the capital into darkness and fresh anxiety after the six-hour Cabinet session ended just before 2 a.m. The blackout was traced to an equipment failure, the American-owned Cuban Electric Co. said, adding there was no immediate indication of sabotage. The power went on again over most of the city after about two hours.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa told newsmen that the government would deliver its reply later today to the stiff U.S. protest against the rising anti-American campaign in Cuba and Castro's charges that the U.S. government had connived at flights over Cuba by anti-Castro exiles in the United States.

Hodges' Safari-To-Europe Preparing Leave Saturday

RALEIGH (AP)—An industry-hunting safari, headed by Gov. Hodges, leaves by plane Saturday for New York City on the first leg of a trip to Western Europe to tell "The North Carolina Story."

Hodges will make major addresses at six luncheon meetings with European business and industrial leaders during the trip, his office announced today.

First of the luncheon addresses will be made in London Monday, with the others as follows: Amsterdam, Holland, Wednesday, Nov. 4; Stuttgart, Germany, Nov. 5; Munich, Germany, Nov. 9; Zurich, Switzerland, Nov. 11, and Paris, Nov. 12.

Hodges will be accompanied by 65 persons, who will help tell what North Carolina has to offer industry and shipping interests.

The group will assemble at the Raleigh-Durham Airport early Saturday afternoon for a briefing prior to departure for Idlewild Airport, New York City. They will leave Idlewild at 8 p.m. by jet for London, a trip that will require about 5½ hours.

The party will return to North Carolina on Nov. 14. Hodges, members of the State Ports Authority, and others in the group will meet with 50 representatives

Extend Contract With ALCOA

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—The Aluminum Co. of America and the United Steelworkers have agreed to extend their contract indefinitely, it was learned by The Associated Press.

It was also learned Wednesday night that the USW is considering plans to extend contracts with the Kaiser Aluminum and Reynolds Metals companies similar to the agreement with Alcoa.

The USW reportedly has decided to extend the contract with Alcoa indefinitely with a provision that any contract signed will be retroactive to Aug. 1. Neither Alcoa nor USW officials would comment on the disclosure.

Alcoa's contract with the steelworkers expired last July 31. At that time both sides agreed to extend the contract to Nov. 1 or 30 days after the end of the basic steel strike, whichever came first.

governor and his party will be guests of the American Farm Bureau at a dinner meeting in Rotterdam, Holland.

On Nov. 7, the governor will be in Frankfurt, Germany, to make an address over Radio Free Europe and to meet with business and industrial leaders in that area.

Hodges and his group will take with them five different brochures of North Carolina for distribution in Western European countries.

MRS. M. V. FILBERT

MRS. FILBERT'S MARGARINE AND FAMILY HEALTH

Today some claim that saturated animal fats build up cholesterol in the blood, while unsaturated vegetable oils may help reduce cholesterol. Since evidence is still inconclusive, your doctor is the one to advise you on this.

But you should know that Mrs. Filbert's Margarine is made from only the finest vegetable oils, which contain no cholesterol and are 80% unsaturated. Mrs. Filbert's is enriched with vitamins A and D, is highly digestible, low in salt.

Result: a nutritious, healthful source of quick food energy... a product you can enjoy with confidence. Compare Mrs. Filbert's to any spread, at any price.

Losses Reported By Pennsy RR

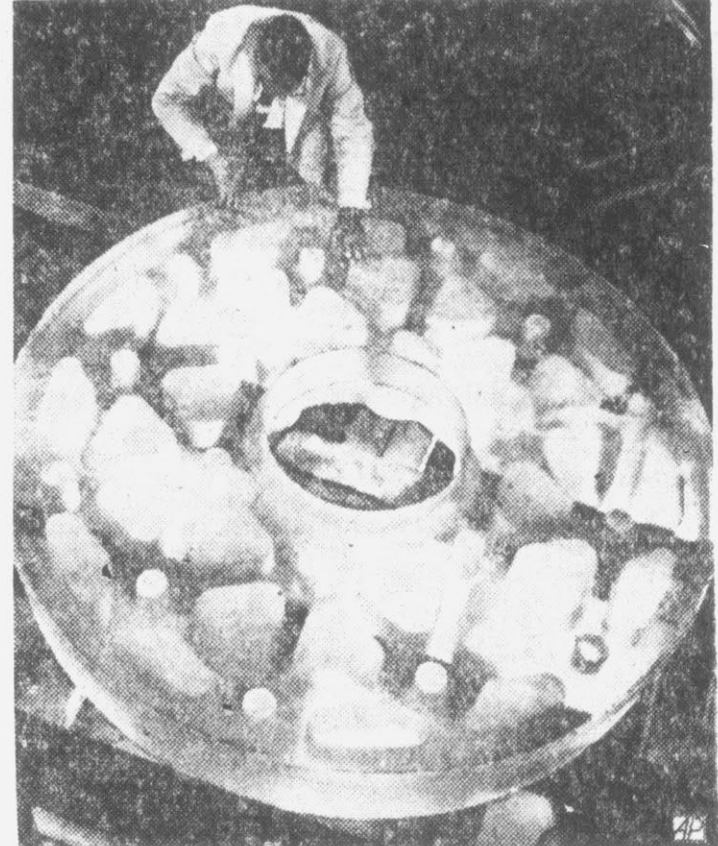

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad promoted two of its top executives Wednesday and reported a September loss that put the nation's largest road into the red for the first nine months of 1959.

James M. Symes, 62, the PRR's president, was appointed chairman of the board and chief executive officer. Both posts have been vacant.

Allen J. Greenough, 54, vice president in charge of transportation and maintenance, succeeded Symes as president and also was made chief administrative officer.

Before the appointments were disclosed, the railroad announced that it lost $2,231,792 in September—wiping out the nearly two million dollars earned in the first nine months of 1959 and creating a deficit of $449,346 for the year through September.

The steel strike was blamed for the September loss. It was compared with a profit of $1,643,395 in September 1958. The 1958 deficit, however, was compared with a loss of $6,899,035 for the similar 1958 period.

Huge Space Balloon Scared Many Citizens

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has a spectacular new entry in the space derby — a balloon as big as a 10-story building that inflates 250 miles above the earth.

The first space balloon launching Wednesday at Wallops Island, Va., was a smashing success. Not only did the balloon perform as planned, it startled the dickens out of hundreds of citizens all over the Eastern Seaboard.

The balloon, 100 feet in diameter, was the biggest object anyone has ever sent up into the fringes of space. But it weighed only 130 pounds.

It was not meant to go into orbit, and soon fell back into the sea. It was visible for 10 minutes.

Later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration hopes to put some of these giant space travelers into orbit around the earth.

The balloon, fired at 5:40 p.m., caught the rays of the sun at the top of its flight. As it unfolded up there, its aluminized surface caught the light at different angles and sent forth myriad flashes of reflected sunlight.

Many who saw it thought it was a flare, surrounded by sparks. The project was not announced in advance and nobody knew what it was.

Prof. Robert Brown, director of the Moonwatch station at New Haven, Conn., said it looked like "the craziest thing in the world."

Civil Defense officials checked in with their headquarters within minutes. Newspaper, police and radio station telephone switchboards were glutted with calls.

David O. Tyson, of Mendham, N.J., an Associated Press reporter, gave this description: "I looked up and it appeared to me at first to be a blimp high in the sky. There was one bright central light in the middle and around this were dimly flickering smaller lights. They looked almost like sparks. The smaller lights seemed vaguely to form the outline of a blimp with its running lights blink-

"The object began to float downward slowly, drifting off to the southeast. But as it drifted downward it looked more like a flare."

The balloon was sent up in a two-stage rocket with a thrust of 130,000 pounds.

The space agency said the whole huge balloon was folded into a container 26½ inches in diameter. The sphere was made of plastic and coated with silvery aluminum outside.

After the balloon was released 250 miles up, air trapped inside it began to expand it. Then four pounds of water in two plastic bags was released inside the balloon. At that altitude the water expanded into vapor and completed the blowing up of the balloon.

Because of their great size and light weight, such satellites would only stay up one or two months.

Outdoor Tables Pose Art Lure

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — One way to attract the lay individual to an art museum might be by having outdoor tables nearby. At least it works in Philadelphia.

Henri Marceau, director of the Philadelphia Art Museum, notes that a number of visitors have been drawn to the museum's collection by first being attracted by the outdoor tables of a restaurant nearby.

Even people living in the area, Marceau says, are taking advantage of the unusual lunch setting and then completing their noon hours with visits to one or more galleries.

BACK TO SCHOOL . . . means back to the washer for many farm mothers. Mothers, back from their summer vacation of washing only short pants, are now facing a deluge of school clothes that make clotheslines hang low with their weight. Bomb Hoax Stops Callas Concert For Forty Minutes

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A bomb hoax interrupted a Maria Callas concert for 40 minutes Wednesday night but the tempestuous soprano brushed it off as "ridiculous."

Former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman were among the 3,573 persons in Midland Theater when Missouri's Gov. James T. Blair stepped on stage after Miss Callas' first number and announced: "Ladies and gentlemen, the management has received a call which indicates danger for this audience, so we are asking you to leave this building for a half hour." The audience calmly walked out, taking 10 minutes to clear the building, while police swarmed through the downtown theater. Miss Callas remained in her dressing room during the search and joked about the scare. The concert was finished without incident after the audience returned. At a reception afterward, a reporter asked Miss Callas what she thought about the incident.

"Please," she said, smiling radiantly and crossing her hands under her chin. "Let's not discuss it." "It's ridiculous that things like that can happen, but they do. Please, let's not talk about it." The orchestra was playing an overture when a man called the theater box office and police headquarters. He told the police dispatcher: "There's a bomb planted in the orchestra pit at the Midland Theater that's set to go off at 9:30."

Larry Kelly of Dallas, concert producer, hurried backstage and told Miss Callas a few minutes before 9 o'clock.

"What time is it supposed to go off?" she asked. Told that it was 9:30, she replied: "Then I will go out and sing and let the people know I am here. If I don't they will say, 'Well, that Maria Callas, I'll take the risk.'"

She sang one aria, then Gov. Blair made his announcement at 9:13. Miss Callas, who had ignored a reception in her honor Tuesday night and a Wednesday afternoon rehearsal, went to the River Club Theater for a party after the concert.

Hit Ambulance

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Three persons—including a Gaston County tax collector and a former Gaston County commissioner—were arrested Wednesday night after a collision of a car and an ambulance taking an injured person from a wreck.

Highway Patrolmen D. P. King and K. R. Elliott said the first wreck occurred west of the city when a car driven by Marvin Jack Ellington of Charlotte and one driven by Shford Ivey Davis of near Charlotte collided.

Mrs. Davis was injured slightly, and an ambulance was called.

The officers said a car driven by William Barnette Garrison of Gastonia apparently swerved into the side of the ambulance two blocks from the first wreck.

Garrison was charged with reckless driving, and Plato Durham of Gastonia, riding with Garrison, was charged with public drunkenness.

Ellington, involved in the first accident, was also charged with reckless driving. Garrison is a former Gaston County commissioner, and Durham is a Gaston County tax collector.

FREE FOOD IN HARD HIT CITY—In an effort to boost morale at Gary, Ind., where the economy has been hard hit by the 100-day steel strike, merchants gave out free barbecue sandwiches. A goodly crowd lined up for the handouts. About 15,000 pounds of beef were barbecued and soda pop was given out as bands played. Sponsored by the Downtown Gary Council, the outing was called a "feast-festival." (AP Wirephoto)

Dr. Paul Jones To Be Honored

Dr. Paul E. Jones of Farmville, Pitt county senator for the North Carolina General Assembly for many years, has been invited as an honor guest at a Dad's Day dinner in Jones Hall cafeteria at East Carolina College Saturday, October 31. The new dormitory, named for Dr. Jones, was opened as a residence for men students this fall and has 520 students living there.

Preceding the dinner, residents of Jones Hall will entertain their parents at a reception from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. in Umstead Hall. The Dad's Day program will include a reception from 4 to 5 p.m.

The East Carolina-Appalachian football game in the College Stadium will honor parents, especially the fathers, of East Carolina students Saturday night.

Dean of Men James B. Molloy and Housing Director Melvin Buck are directing the Dad's Day program, first to be held by men students at the college, with the assistance of other members of the residence hall councils and of the college administrative staff.

Aged 92, Pactolus Citizen Recalls A Series Of Marvels

JAMES J. SATTERTHWAITE

(Another in a series of interviews with Pitt Countians who have passed the age of 90) — By Patsy Moore, Reflector Staff Writer

PACTOLUS — James Jerome Satterthwaite, known by his friends as "Dick," has been here 92 years, and has seen what he calls "miracle changes" from days torn by a Civil War to nights filled with television.

Dick Satterthwaite says there were hard times when he was born in April of 1867, just two years after the end of the great War. People walked to public places or rode in a buggy drawn by horses.

Then there was the first automobile. "So wonderful I can hardly explain it." The Fords had not been out very long before Satterthwaite, who has lived in Pactolus all his life, went to Greenville and bought one. He said his children needed a way to get to the town's school every day.

Yes, he thought the automobile was a wonderful thing.

"But the day I saw the first plane, I promised myself that money couldn't get me on one," Satterthwaite says he has never been in a plane or close enough to even examine one.

There were the trains, too. They had his approval, and he likes to ride trains.

Before his retirement only four years ago, Satterthwaite was engaged in the farming and mercantile business. He went into farming naturally, since he was brought up on a farm. In 1890 he tried a new venture in addition to farming and went into partnership with a merchant. When the partnership was dissolved after four years, Satterthwaite continued the business alone.

His spare time has been filled with his hobbies of hunting and mixing with people.

He has a deerskin rug in one room of his home, where he lives with a son, Cecil, and a daughter-in-law the former Winnie Wiggins. He has two other children, Pernando Satterthwaite and Mrs. Julia Mitchell.

Satterthwaite remembers deer hunting in 67 counties in North Carolina. He also hunted quail and fox. He did quite a bit of fishing, too, but really didn't enjoy it as he did the hunting.

Now Dick Satterthwaite spends his days in his warm den, watching television and receiving visitors, his "very old and very cherished friends." He still goes out frequently to feed the hogs behind the big frame white house, and he never misses an opportunity to vote.

Television, he says, is now one of his favorite pastimes, as long as he can watch a good "live" program. The reproduced shows or films he dislikes. He has his own terminology for them, calls them the "wore-out shows."

One reason Satterthwaite enjoys "live" television, is that the programs usually have humor. He says he has always tried to look on the "humorous" side of things. And he has always been interested in other people. That is perhaps a second hobby with him, he says, after the hunting. "I think you should make friends and love people," he said.

Dick Satterthwaite says his philosophy on long life involves habits. "I've been careful to try to do the right thing keep on the right side and try to avoid mistakes. But if I made them I tried to correct them," he said.

He has tried to live by the Golden Rule. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

"I have tried to set an example that would be good for my children, grandchildren and my people," he said.

Housewives May Win Their Fight

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A group of angry housewives who didn't want their street paved appear to be winning their fight.

The women staged a sitdown strike Tuesday closing a three-block area that was about to be paved. Frustrated road builders took their machinery elsewhere.

Wednesday the contractor said he has no intention of returning as long as the women maintain a picket line.

A. G. Meyers, the real estate developer, said he would just as soon not pave the street. He said he thought he was pleasing the homeowners in the first place by paving it.

The homeowners would have had to share the costs with Meyers.

GOP Blacksheep Got Most Votes

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah Gov. George D. Clyde, a Republican, and former GOP Congressman William A. Dawson addressed a small group of Young Republicans.

After the speeches, the Young Republicans were polled on their choice of a governor.

Clyde and Dawson each received nine votes.

The other 13 went to former Gov. J. Bracken Lee, who left the party in 1956 after he lost the nomination to Clyde in a party convention.

She Developed Model Rural Teaching Code

By DEE CHAMBLISS
Associated Press Staff Writer

On the lonely South Dakota rangeland—55 miles from the nearest town—is a one-room school with only five students.

One is a near genius, another of borderline mentality, a third asthmatic, a fourth a polio victim and only the fifth is "normal."

How can this tiny school—or the hundreds like it in this sparsely settled state—make sure the talented are challenged and the handicapped helped?

That was the task handed Mrs. Ione Dykstra two years ago. She has built, with a sympathy born of personal heartbreak, a program that could be a model for other states with similarly scattered schools.

Childless Herself
Mrs. Dykstra is a middle-aged Iowan. Childless herself, her heart goes out to all children but especially the mentally affected.

Her nephew, a cerebral palsy victim, first sparked this interest 12 years ago.

As teaching consultant for the South Dakota Division of Special Education, Mrs. Dykstra's program includes:

—Getting through to the parent who fears the truth about his child or who fears the child will be institutionalized.

—Winning support of teachers in an area where "outsiders," including those from the state capital, are often resented.

—Traveling 18,000 miles alone across the prairie to train teachers, parents or tutors in skills needed for the unusual child. (She has had to leave her car in the mud and hitch a jeep ride, to sit out blizzards at wayside ranch homes.)

Mrs. Dykstra distributes materials she assembled or wrote herself that help the rural teacher teach the extra-smart or extra-dull child without students in the regular class realizing differences.

A big problem is finding the children who need help. Parents, fearing a retarded child may be taken from them, often try to shield him from official notice.

Mrs. Dykstra explains that her goal is to help the child go through school with his own age group as normally as possible. By reassuring parents, she wins their confidence.

Sometimes, about one case in 10, she finds that the apparently retarded child actually is normal. Undetected eye, hearing or emotional problems can raise false alarms.

When there is true mental impairment, special materials and teaching techniques are brought into play.

Most of these have been developed for city schools with specialist staffs. Mrs. Dykstra's job has been to help the rural teacher, usually lacking special training in psychology, double where needed as speech therapist, psychologist, exceptional-child specialist.

Works No Miracles
For example, in her ranch school with its full IQ range, she might assign each student to prepare a report on a foreign country. But the extra-bright would be given as source material a book equivalent to an encyclopedia. The slow student uses a similar, unmarked book that uses language keyed to a simpler level.

Though grateful parents may feel otherwise, the program works no miracles. The slow learner at best merely keeps halting pace and few can continue into high school. But with practical skills learned in school, most such pupils become laborers, and live adjusted lives as productive members of adult society.

Ralph Distad, South Dakota's special education director, says of Mrs. Dykstra's work:

"We could never pay her for the things she's done; they'd have to invent a new coin."

Steps Saved By Waves To Girl

DENVER (AP)—If you wave to a girl on the balcony at Denver's Union Station, she may toss you a note. But it's strictly business.

The girl is following a 40-year-old system designed to save a long walk.

Miss Jessie Frank of the Western Union office on the station's main floor explains it: Whenever a secretary in an office on the second or third floor has a telegram to send, she presses a button which buzzes in Miss Frank's office.

Then Miss Frank walks out into the waiting room to catch the folded message. But if she is busy she may say to a customer or a man waiting for his train: "Do you see a girl up on balcony? Please wave to her." He does and the telegram floats down.

DEDICATED TEACHER—Mrs. Ione Dykstra, here talking with one of her students, has developed a model teaching code for rural schools.

He's The Ears Of His Parish

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—"When I decided to go into the ministry, I felt that I wanted to do something besides the humdrum type," says the Rev. Harmon Smith.

This desire led Mr. Smith to become a minister to the deaf.

"I first thought that I would like to minister to the blind," he says, "but I found they are not as handicapped as the deaf."

He says the blind can hear church services, but the deaf cannot participate unless sign language is used.

Mr. Smith formerly was an engineer, but entered the ministry because, "I was spending more time doing church work and devoting less time to my profession. In a way, I felt that I was cheating my employer."

He started ministering in sign language to his small deaf congregation last January at St. Michael the Archangel Episcopal Church here.

Last summer he taught a class in sign language at the Episcopal seminary here. "We hope to educate every potential priest in this undeveloped field of the ministry," he says. "My aim is to prove that a normal parish can take care of the deaf within its area."

'Pro-Western' Candidates Lead Iceland Voting

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—Iceland's pro-American Conservatives—the Independence party—lost ground in Sunday's general elections but a pro-Western coalition government appears likely.

The Conservatives' probable choice of a partner for the next four years are the Social Democrats (moderate Socialists), whose party chairman, Emil Jonsson, has headed a caretaker government for the past 10 months.

The Conservatives, with 20 seats in the old Parliament, had hoped to win most of the eight additional seats in the expanded 60-member body. They got only 4, giving them a total of 24.

The Communists picked up 3 seats, boosting their total to 10, while the Social Democrats also gained 3 for a total of 9.

The isolationist Progressive Farmers lost 2 seats, leaving them with 17.

The election campaign virtually ignored the presence of the 6,000-man American radar base at Keflavik—a controversial issue in the past.

Promotion Since Wartime Days

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Major David Soolpovar was talking with a member of his World War II outfit and when the two recalled other members of the army outfit, the name of Lt. John Patterson came up.

Soolpovar asked his friend what Patterson was doing these days. Later, he dropped the lieutenant a line.

The reply was an invitation to visit Patterson's Montgomery, Ala., home.

The onetime lieutenant is now Gov. John Patterson of Alabama.

Caught Before Her Fatal Leap

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—With a child under each arm, Mattie Lee Stevenson, 29, kicked off her shoes Wednesday night and climbed the railing of the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge. Two motorists stopped and grabbed her before she could jump into San Francisco Bay.

Mrs. Stevenson was carrying her daughter, Doll, 14 months, and son, Sylvester, 2. She and her husband Jessie, a civilian employe at the Alameda Naval Air Station, have two other children.

She told police she had been having trouble with her husband's family. She was taken to Highland Hospital here for observation.

OLD AND THE NEW — The picturesque Pont d'Avignon, left, too old to handle modern traffic, has a modern counterpart rising by its side. Structures bridge the Rhone from Villeneuve to Avignon, the residence of popes in the fourteenth century.

No Ambitions

RALEIGH (AP) — There's a standard question asked at each of Gov. Hodges' weekly news conference. It deals with him and his attitude toward the Democratic party's vice presidential candidacy.

It was asked again Wednesday. "If lightning struck and I was able to get off the ground," joked Hodges, "I'd probably be in a receptive mood."

However, he reiterated another standard: He has no plans and no ambitions for the period after he completes his term as governor.

Tenor Will Give Concert Nov. 9

Guiseppe Campora, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will appear November 9 at East Carolina College in the first of eight attractions included in the 1959-1960 Entertainment Series at the college, according to an announcement by Earl E. Beach, chairman of the Entertainment Committee.

Campora, who has won the praise of audiences and critics as a concert artist and as a leading tenor in such operas as "Lucia," "La Traviata," "Tosca," and "Faust," will open the series here at 8:15 p.m. in the Wright auditorium.

Other attractions in the series are Vittorio Giannini, composer-conductor, who will conduct his symphony and the East Carolina College Orchestra in concert, December 6; Festival of Norway, Singers, Dancers, Orchestra, January 20; New York City Ballet Company, February 8; Fred Warling and the Pennsylvanians, March 2; U. S. Navy Band, March 16; Duke Ellington and His Orchestra in Concert, March 19; and Carlos Montoya, guitarist, April 8.

Season tickets for the series, priced at $7, will go on sale November 2 and may be obtained from Dr. James W. Butler, Box 292, East Carolina College, Greenville, N. C. Holders of season tickets will be admitted free of charge to major productions of the East Carolina Playhouse this school year. Tickets to single attractions of the Entertainment Series are $2.

Experiment Is Removed Outside

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Here's how to make fire by friction, teachers George Jackson and Bob Pfout told their pupils Wednesday as they twirled a stick in a can containing cedar bark.

Other students at Mount Fort Junior High smelled the pungent smoke and turned in a fire alarm. The science experiment moved outside.

Rockefeller Needs 'Further Evidence'

WASHINGTON (AP)—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller apparently wants more evidence of popular support before venturing into the 1960 Republican presidential nomination race.

Rockefeller said some political topics were discussed when he got President Eisenhower's approval at a 70-minute White House meeting Wednesday for a proposal by the nation's governors for a conference of executive, congressional and military leaders on civil defense.

But Rockefeller turned off with "no comment" efforts by reporters to pin him down as to whether he will contest Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the nomination. Nor would he say whether he and the President had discussed this matter.

The best he could offer, the governor said, was what he had told supporters trying to get him to enter the New Hampshire presidential primary next March—that he couldn't decide on that question until he had completed work on the New York state budget and legislative program.

The legislature meets in January and Rockefeller said it will remain in session for three months. But since he must decide in January whether he is going to file in New Hampshire, it was evident he was talking about the completion of only his own budget and legislative recommendations.

Although he deftly avoided questions on his availability, Rockefeller left the impression he would be happy to become a candidate for the nomination if he felt the signs were right.

In the few public appearances he has made outside of New York state the governor has run into evidence that Nixon was widespread backing for the nomination. He will test out that situation further on a trip early next month to the West Coast where he has speeches scheduled at Los Angeles, San Francisco and Salem, Ore. He describes the speeches as nonpolitical.

About 7 per cent of the world's agricultural output — including coffee, tea, cacao, cotton, rubber and wool—is exported from the country in which it is grown.

Soviet Pig Iron Cargo For U.S.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A shipment of 370 tons of Soviet-made pig iron has been in the Black River yards of the Canadian National Railway here since Sunday, a railroad spokesman says.

The eight carloads of material was shipped here by rail from Montreal, the spokesman said Wednesday. According to customs records, the consignee is Primary Industries Corp., New York City.

The first of the shipment will be delivered to the Bond plant of American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corp., the railroad official said.

foreign pig iron. "but I certainly didn't know where it was coming from."

He said raw material purchases were handled by the New York City office.

In Washington, Sen Vance Harke (D-Ind) said he was shocked to learn that 2,400 ton of pig iron made in the Soviet Union had been shipped to the United States during the steel strike. He said the Commerce Department reported some of it was delivered for $49.25 a ton in Buffalo, compared with $66 a ton for domestic pig iron.

Desi Arnaz Now At Point Where He Can Slow Up

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Desi Arnaz now is famous enough, popular enough and rich enough to do what he wants to do: act, and act seriously.

Viewers can catch Desi, late of I Love Lucy, playing his first dramatic role in 17 years Friday night on CBS' Desilu Theater.

And that's just the beginning for the Cuba-born multimillionaire head of a big busy television show producing company. After an overnight stay here, Desi is off for England, Rome and North Africa to star in some more television shows — and without wife Lucille Ball.

That doesn't mean there's anything wrong in the Arnaz ménage, he says, dismissing rumors of a split with the red-haired actress. She's now in New York, looking for a play.

"In the first place," says Desi, "I went into television producing so that I could do what I liked to do. And I like the creative side. Now I can take time off to find good material, and to act in stories I like."

Desi will be gone three or four weeks, making a thriller along the lines of "Casablanca," to be directed by Sheldon Reynolds, the old Foreign Intrigue producer, who is a stickler for authentic backgrounds.

Arnaz, now 42 and his hair powdered by gray, expects to have a sort of acting vacation — away from the executive cares of an organization which last season produced some 750 hours to TV entertainment and this year expects to do even better.

"I can go away and feel comfortable," he says. "I've got a good staff. But this is a funny television season — there's no pattern of viewing developing; a lot of shows are working against each other and it isn't doing anybody any good."

Arnaz, however, is not worried about being a producer of bread and butter shows in a season full of dessert offerings, the specials.

Friday night, for instance, his "So Tender, So Profane" on CBS overlaps with the final 30 minutes of NBC's highly touted "Moon and Sixpence" with Laurence Olivier.

"I love to do these hour shows, and I love to act in them," he continues. "I'm in the business of entertaining Americans. I'm not in the business of preaching to them. I don't want to insult them, and I don't want to tell them about their problems. And I'm not trying to get the crowd from '21' and Romanoffs. And I'm not worried about how we'll come out of this fight for audiences."

Sudan Airways, operating in northeast Africa and the Middle East, is planning to extend its operations to London, Rome and Athens.

Lawyer's Story Too Realistic

GREENSBURG, Ind. (AP) — An attorney was just winding up a detailed description of accident injuries suffered by his client when juror Arthur McClintic collapsed in Decatur circuit Court.

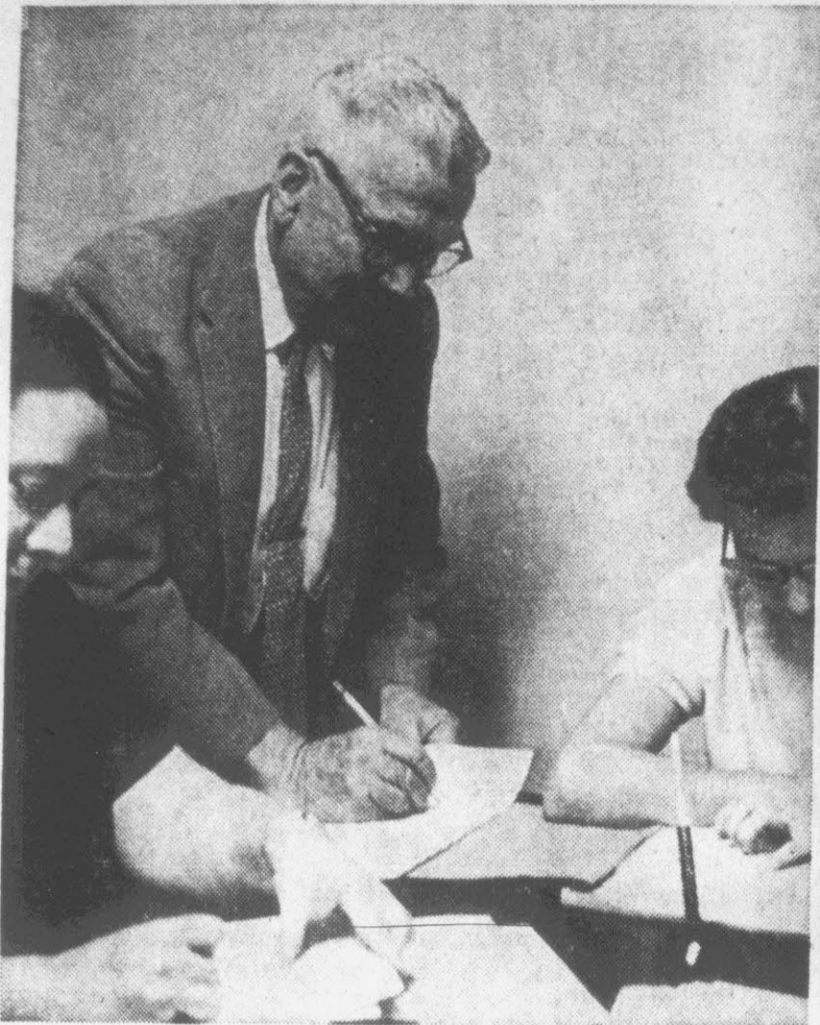

McClintic was revived and allowed to go home after he explained that he simply couldn't stand to hear of someone being hurt.

Unplanned Changeover In Robt. Murphy's Resigning

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The resignation of Robert D. Murphy as undersecretary of state has almost completed an unplanned shakeup in the State Department high command. It has been under way since Christian A. Herter took control last spring.
Two further developments are in prospect: a successor must be found to fill Murphy's key job. And Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, veteran expert on the Soviet Union next week will assume a new post as Herter's special adviser on Soviet affairs.
The changes involving five policy-making positions could have important impact on the development of U.S. foreign policy toward various parts of the world, but Herter's associates say they were not made with any policy purpose in view.
Murphy's resignation was announced by the White House Wednesday night. Murphy, 65, wrote President Eisenhower that he was resigning effective Dec. 3 for personal reasons. The President accepted the resignation "with deep regret, but with complete understanding."

He said that Murphy had well earned his unofficial title as this country's No. 1 diplomatic trouble shooter.
Later Murphy told reporters, "It was an awfully tough decision to make." He said he wanted greater financial security and more time with his family than his State Department duties had permitted. He will take a job in private industry.
State Department press officer Lincoln White said reports that policy differences had anything to do with Murphy's resignation were completely unfounded.
Murphy had turned down the job of ambassador to West Germany. The post will become vacant soon with the retirement of Ambassador David Bruce.

Nat'l Park Service Steps Up Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Park Service has stepped up progress on its system of national parkways.
Based on current appropriations of about 16 million dollars a year, it will still take more than 10 years, however, to complete the nine parkways now authorized by Congress.
Except for two heavily traveled approach roads to the nation's capital, the national parkways essentially are elongated parks designed for leisurely recreational travel.
Wide rights-of-way accommodate roadside camp grounds, picnic areas and observation points. Trucks and busses are banned. Roadside gas stations, lodges and other commercial establishments are prohibited except by park concessionaires.
Selected primarily for their scenic values, the routes are tailored to reach points of historic, scientific and archeological interest.
The nine authorized parkways, ranging in length from 3 to 477 miles, are estimated to cost a total of about 335 million dollars. The government already has spent about half that amount.
The granddaddy of all the parkway projects is the 477-mile Blue Ridge, started in 1933 under the National Industrial Recovery Act and now more than three-fourths completed. It stretches from the Shenandoah National Park in Virginia to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina.
Work started this year on the Foothills Parkway in Tennessee, authorized in 1944 to extend 72 miles along the northern boundary of the Great Smoky Park.

Not Always Dug Six Feet Deep

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Contrary to popular belief, most graves are now only five feet deep, says James Worley, Columbus executive secretary of the American Cemetery Assn.
Ohio law, for example, says only that graves must be reasonably deep. Worley explains. In some cemeteries graves are only four feet deep because of the subsoil condition.

Pennsylvania State University graduated 19 students at its first commencement in 1861. More than 2,500 claimed degrees in 1959.

Judge Attacked In His Chambers

NEWLAND, N.C. (AP)—Superior Court Judge J. Frank Huskins was attacked Wednesday by a man who said he lost a lawsuit several years ago and blamed the judge for it.
The attack occurred in the judge's chambers while he was talking with Sheriff Fred Banner and Chief Deputy J. M. Pressnell.
The officers said the attack started before they could intervene. The first blow sent the jurist to his knees, and he was struck several more times.
Pressnell identified the assailant as Elbert Watson, 47, a Newland farmer. Watson was taken to a mental hospital.
The sheriff said Watson apparently was suffering from a nervous condition. Banner said he had taken the man to a mental hospital at Morganton several times in the past.

Banner said Watson is on probation from the hospital. He was confined for observation and treatment last April after he cursed Judge J. C. Farthing during a court session.
No record was found of the case for which Watson said he attacked Huskins.
The judge filed no charge against Watson, but he told the hospital to keep Watson until he is cured.

Youngsters Tommie and Eddie Williams, sons of J. T. Williams of 1801 Fairview Way, are shown above preparing to take a ride in the miniature Corvette convertible as their mother looks on.

YES SIR!! It's Family Week at White Chevrolet Wednesday through Saturday. We invite the whole family to visit our used car lot. BE SURE to bring the kids so they can ride the KIDDIE CORVETTE CONVERTIBLE... completely safe and lots of fun for the youngsters. While the kids are riding, you can enjoy a free Pepsi-Cola and make the car deal of a lifetime.

Prices are drastically reduced on such used cars as these:

1959 Chevrolet Two-door Impala Sports Coupe, black with red trim, overdrive.

1957 Chevrolet Station wagon, 8-cylinder, radio, heater.

1957 Oldsmobile Automatic transmission, radio, heater.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined moderately in active trading early this afternoon. American Motors and Studebaker-Packard backed away from recent wide gains. Losses of most key stocks went from fractions to about a point. American Motors was down about a point and Studebaker-Packard common dropped about 2. The two stocks were traded hectically Wednesday as they reached a kind of climax in their daily drive to new highs. Steels dropped slightly as further steps on a Taft-Hartley injunction awaited adjudication by the U.S. Supreme Court next week at the earliest. Rails also were off on balance. Rubbers, most aircrafts and some of the electronics posted gains. Coppers and oils were down. Chemicals, airlines and tobaccos were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 40 cents to $223.70 with the industrials off 80 cents, the rails off 80 cents and the utilities up 10 cents. Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds drifted to the downside.

Coroner's Jury Disbelieve's Story, But Clears Man

SOLICITOR ROBERT ROUSE . . . of Farmville talks to Charlie Swindell prior to the Coroner's Inquest last night. Coroner E. W. Harvey and stenographer Mrs. Annie T. Briley, both of Greenville, are shown in the background.

Reflector Staff Writer

AYDEN—A six-man coroner's jury last night released a 29-year-old Route 1, Winterville, Negro after determining he was in the driver's seat of his car at the time a second Route 1, Winterville Negro was killed Saturday in a truck-car collision on Third St. here.

The jury, in its decision, placed Charlie Swindell in the driver's seat at the time his car rammied the rear of a truck load of timber, instantly killing the only passenger of the auto, 20-year-old James Louis Ellison. The jury added they thought Swindell had been blinded by the lights of an oncoming car and was unable to see the truck parked on the side of the street.

Previously in statements to investigating officers and in testimony given last night, Swindell said the dead man was driving the car at the time of the accident and that he, Swindell, jumped into the rear seat when he saw the collision was imminent. Ellison's body was pinned in the wreckage on the right hand side of the vehicle.

The only explanation Swindell was able to give for the collision was the fact they were meeting a car and thought that the lights might have blinded the alleged driver, Ellison.

Grover Cannon, an Ayden Negro who saw the collision, testified the Swindell car was traveling about 30 to 35 miles per hour just before the collision and also stated the Swindell car was meeting a second, unidentified car. Cannon added he was unable to see who was driving the vehicle.

Cannon, who was operating his own car, told the jury the Swindell car had been driving behind him, had stopped at a cafe in South Ayden, and then caught up with him again at the railroad on Third St. just a few blocks west of the scene of the fatal mishap. Cannon stated just prior to the wreck the Swindell car passed him as he started to turn onto a side street.

Prior to Cannon's testimony, two other Ayden Negroes told the jury they had been put out of the Swindell car at the cafe and stated Swindell had been driving at that time.

Swindell said after he had put the two men out at the cafe, he had gone back to the edge of town to a drive-in and ordered a soft drink. He continued by saying Ellison had changed places with him there so he, Swindell, could drink his drink while Ellison was driving.

Swindell was released on a $500 bond by Coroner E. W. Harvey Sunday following investigation of the collision.

Ellison was the sixth person to die in a traffic accident in Pitt County this year. Three of the deaths have involved pedestrians while the other two have resulted from one-car accidents.

Unofficial Vote To Repeal Laws

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Charlotte's City Council has voted unofficially to repeal the city's blue laws.

The council split 4-3 for repeal in a straw vote Wednesday night, and though the members are not officially bound by the vote, the same lineup is expected at next Monday's meeting.

The blue laws controversy popped up after several grocers were arrested for doing business before 1 p.m. on Sundays.

Those favoring repeal argued, among other things, that the blue laws allow many drug stores to sell groceries without restrictions.

Dentist Touring County Schools

Administration of dental health services moved this week into the county schools after completion of a five-week program of lectures, inspection, and treatment in Greenville's city schools.

The first stop in the county schools for Dr. Oscar Brown, of the Oral Hygiene Division of the North Carolina State Board of Health, is in the Griffon school. This week begins a 15-week tour of the county elementary schools for the dentist sponsored cooperatively by the Pitt County and the state health departments.

From Sept. 20 through Oct. 23, Dr. Brown conducted a total of 33 lectures with a total attendance of 1,023.

He inspected 1,023 elementary age pupils and administered treatment to 152. Treatment was completed for 101 of these.

Dr. Brown referred 518 youngsters to private dentists for treatment.

Negro schools are being omitted from this year's dental service program since a Negro dentist performed services under the same type of program last year and White schools were not visited.

Resolution Has Support Of All

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In an unprecedented action, all 82 U.N. members have agreed to join in sponsoring an East-West disarmament resolution.

Never before have Israel and the Arab states cosponsored a U.N. proposal. Nor is there any precedent for the appearance of the Soviet Union and Nationalist China on the same list of sponsors.

The resolution calls for turning over all disarmament proposals made before the General Assembly to the 10-nation East-West committee that will meet in Geneva next February. The resolution endorses no specific arms proposal but refers indirectly to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's plan for total disarmament within four years and British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd's call for step by step disarmament.

First Lady Is Guest Of Club

WASHINGTON (AP)—For Mamie Eisenhower, who will be 63 Nov. 14, and the Women's National Press Club, 40 this month, it's "happy birthday" to each other today.

The club has the First Lady as its honor guest at an anniversary luncheon here, with Marine Band music, toasts and a cake shaped like a tabloid newspaper headlining birthday greetings.

East Germany Bars Churchman

BERLIN (AP) — Bishop Otto Dibelius, head of the Evangelical (Lutheran) Church in Germany, has been barred from further activity in East Berlin, a Communist newspaper reported today.

The 79-year-old church leader has been under fire from the Communists for saving Christians are not bound to obey Communist laws.

Nickle Tips Go Back To School

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Waynesburg College president's nickle tip to his newsboy each week was returned with dividends Wednesday.

The newsboy, Rickey Stafford, 13, gave a $5 donation to President Paul R. Stewart for the school's new science building.

Said the newsboy: "Five dollars isn't much toward the $800,000 needed but at least it will buy a few bricks and someday I hope to be studying science there myself."

Want Ballpark For Housing Site

NEW YORK (AP) — The Polo Grounds, former home of the New York Giants baseball team, is sought for a low-rent public housing site.

The City Housing Authority is going to ask the Board of Estimate for approval to erect 1,700 apartments there. Federal funds would be used for the project.

The city would acquire the Polo Grounds by condemnation.

Hospital Closing Nursing School

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Good Samaritan Hospital, a Negro institution, is closing its school of nursing, effective Saturday.

The action stems from a strike by some of the student nurses. The strike was touched off by the expulsion of one of the students, Rubina Little of Thomasville.

T. H. Weyne, attorney for 22 students who were suspended after their strike, said, "It looks as if I'll have to bring suit now. They've forced it."
