U.S. Embassy In Panama Stoned By Violent Mobs

PANAMA (AP)—Panama was off limits for Americans living in the Canal Zone today following violent anti-U.S. demonstrations during the 56th anniversary of Panama's independence.

Anti-American demonstrations also took place in Colon, Panama's second largest city at the Caribbean end of the canal.

The demonstrations in Panama City began with a peaceful show of the flag led by two nationalist leaders, Ernesto Castellero Pimental and former Foreign Minister Aquilino Boyd.

Later a group of youths carrying a large Panamanian flag tried to enter the Canal Zone across Fourth of July avenue — the unmarked boundary line between the zone and the capital.

Elections In Brief

KENTUCKY — Democrat Bert T. Combs won governorship by a landslide over Republican John Robison Jr.

PHILADELPHIA — Incumbent Mayor Richardson Dilworth defeated Republican Harold E. Stassen overwhelmingly.

INDIANA — Democrats retained mayor's office in every major city, and added Fort Wayne and Lafayette.

NEW JERSEY — Republicans staved off Democratic bid for control of Senate, narrowed Democratic margin in Assembly.

CONNECTICUT — Democrats scored three upsets in city elections, kept control of largest cities.

SALT LAKE CITY — Former Republican Gov. J. Bracken Lee, now Independent, made comeback with upset mayoralty win over Democrat Bruce S. Jenkins.

Stassen Crushed In Mayor's Race

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harold E. Stassen was dealt the most crushing defeat in Philadelphia Republican party history in Tuesday's mayoralty election.

Minutes after he conceded his overwhelming loss to incumbent Democrat Richardson Dilworth, Stassen was telling newsmen and a television audience, "I may run for political office in the future."

The 52-year-old Minnesota wonder boy—served three terms as governor in the 1930s—said: "I'm convinced the time will come when the Republican party will win in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania and I might be a part of it."

That day appeared far off if Tuesday's returns were any criteria. Dilworth polled 432,238 votes to 227,862 for the GOP standard-bearer, a plurality of 204,436.

December Tour Includes Stops In Nine Countries

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced today he will visit nine countries in Europe, Asia and Africa, starting Dec. 4.

Eisenhower told a news conference the 19-day goodwill tour will take him to:

Rome, Italy; Ankara, Turkey; Karachi, Pakistan; Kabul, Afghanistan; New Delhi, India; Teheran, Iran; Athens, Greece; Paris, France; and Rabat, Morocco.

The tour to three continents will start in Rome with two days of talks, beginning Dec. 4, with high Italian government officials.

Eisenhower also said he hopes to call on Pope John XXIII. Eisenhower plans to return to the United States Dec. 22, three days before Christmas.

The President will be in Paris for three or four days starting Dec. 19 for the Western summit conference.

He said today he will visit Rabat, Morocco on his way home, after leaving Paris.

The only other detail Eisenhower provided was that he will be in New Delhi Dec. 11 for the opening of the American exhibit at the International Agricultural Fair there.

The visit to India is expected to provide an opportunity for the President to make a major speech.

The tour to three continents will be the most extensive overseas trip Eisenhower ever has undertaken.

Eisenhower noted that no American president ever has visited Asia.

Since he is going to India, Eisenhower said, he feels he would be missing a chance if he did not also go to such other countries in the general area as Pakistan, Afghanistan and Iran.

Replying to another question, Eisenhower said he expects to do most of his traveling in his big, new jet airliner.

Eisenhower went on to say that at some point during the 19-day tour he will have to take some sort of break. Those details, he added, will be worked out later.

Eisenhower also said he hopes to get away sometime this month for a brief vacation in this country.

As for Mrs. Eisenhower, the White House said Tuesday there are no plans for the first lady to accompany the President to Paris for the Western summit conference. Eisenhower said today he believes Mrs. Eisenhower will not accompany him on the remainder of the tour abroad.

Steel Strike's Back-To-Work Order Now Hinges On High Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today pondered which way to rule on a back-to-work order in the steel strike as federal mediators strove anew for a settlement of the tieup.

The court gave no indication of when it would hand down its decision. Three hours of discussions behind closed doors Tuesday brought no announcement of results.

But it was expected generally the court would not long delay its ruling, with the strike already in its 113th costly day.

The ruling will affect both the strike itself and emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor relations law, under which the back-to-work injunction was issued two weeks ago by U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert Sorg in Pittsburgh.

The injunction, which would send 500,000 striking steelworkers back to their jobs for at least 80 days, has been held in abeyance pending the outcome of appeal.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, called before him negotiating teams representing the steel industry and the striking United Steelworkers Union.

He met separately with both groups Monday, and indicated he may try to get them into a joint meeting for some real bargaining today.

But there was no advance sign that either side was prepared to budge from long-deadlocked stands before the court has ruled. The Supreme Court's nine black-robed justices sat for more than four hours to hear legal arguments on the bitterly disputed Taft-Hartley injunction.

Repeating for the government, Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin defended the statute's emergency strike-ending machinery. He said Congress had passed it to protect the nation's interests, not merely those of labor or management. He insisted it is constitutional.

The arguments largely repeated what both sides had argued before, in the Pittsburgh court, and in the Court of Appeals in Philadelphia which last week sustained the lower court.

Challenging the arguments that a national emergency requires the 80-day "cooling off" injunction, Goldberg said steel production this year would nearly equal the 1958 output "even if the strike should go on for the rest of the year, and we hope and pray it won't."

Goldberg challenged also government contentions that the strike endangers national safety. He argued that the defense effort uses less than 1 per cent of the total steel production. He said that counting the Kaiser Steel Corp., which made separate strike-ending peace with the union last week, more than 17 per cent of the industry is operating with an annual capacity of about 25 million tons.

Other true bills were: Myrtle Miller Browder, assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill; Thelbert Warren, (four bills) larceny of automobile, careless and reckless driving, and two counts of breaking, entering and larceny; Herbert Brown, speeding, passing on a curve, and following too closely; and Walter Kirkman, robbery.

Pitt Grand Jury Approves Work At County Home

The Pitt County Grand Jury, reporting to the current week-long term of Pitt Superior Court, returned nine true bills and told the court that improvements have been made at the county home.

The written report said of the county home: "The kitchen now enjoys a Grade 'A' rating and has been painted, new light fixtures installed, and a new floor. Grounds and lawns are well-kept and in good condition."

After receiving nine bills of indictment, the group marked all nine as "True Bills." Included was an indictment against Eddie Mack Diggins, Farmville Negro, and Norman Bellany for the alleged Oct. 11 (1959) rape of Viola Lane.

The Grand Jury commended the court and Pitt's County Commissioners for the improved conditions at the county facility. The report said, "The general condition has been greatly improved since the August inspection."

Dancers Became Spectators As Satchmo Delights Local Fans With His Music

By HENRY HOWARD, Reflector Staff Writer. With about 1,000 Greenvilleites and East Carolina College students on hand, world-renowned trumpeter-singer Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong and his concert group put one of the world's most famous entertainment shows on display during a one-night stand last night at the Raynor-Forbes warehouse here. To the roaring approval of the patrons (who, for the most part, became spectators rather than dancers) the gravel-voiced showman, a veteran of over 40 years in the business, performed dozens of tunes that have captured a large share of the American phonograph record market at one time or another during several decades. As well-pleased fans crowded around the bandstand, "Satchmo" filled the building with the same famous voice that has thrilled millions around the world, including Britain's Princess Margaret.

Such hit recordings as "Tiger Rag," "When the Saints Go Marching In," "Mack, The Knife," and "Blue Berry Hill," were re-hashed by Armstrong. With an ensemble of only six pieces—a bass, a clarinet, a piano, drums, a trombone, and the trumpet of "Ole Satch" himself—and a vocalist, the touring group captured the fancy of older fans and delighted the younger set with a variety of both old and more recent hits.

A sly mention of the locally famous "Big Yellow" brought howls of laughter from the patrons. Armstrong's troupe arrived here last night from Washington, D. C. and continued on to Fort Bragg, near Fayetteville, after the performance. The current tour will take the group to Atlanta, Pensacola (Fla.), and other cities after appearances in northern cities. In a jovial mood before last night's show, "Satchmo" signed autographs, chatted with his fellow musicians, and laughed and talked with gathering fans. "Where'd you pick up the name, 'Satchmo'?" someone asked. "They gave me that back in the '30's in London," the 59-year-old showman remembered. "Originally, it was 'Satchel Mouth,'" he laughed, "but over here we finally came up with 'Satchmo.'"

Asked about his recent illness, Satchmo was quick to reply. "The newspapers made a big thing out of it... actually, it was nothing but a bad chest cold... you know nothing but rich people get sick."

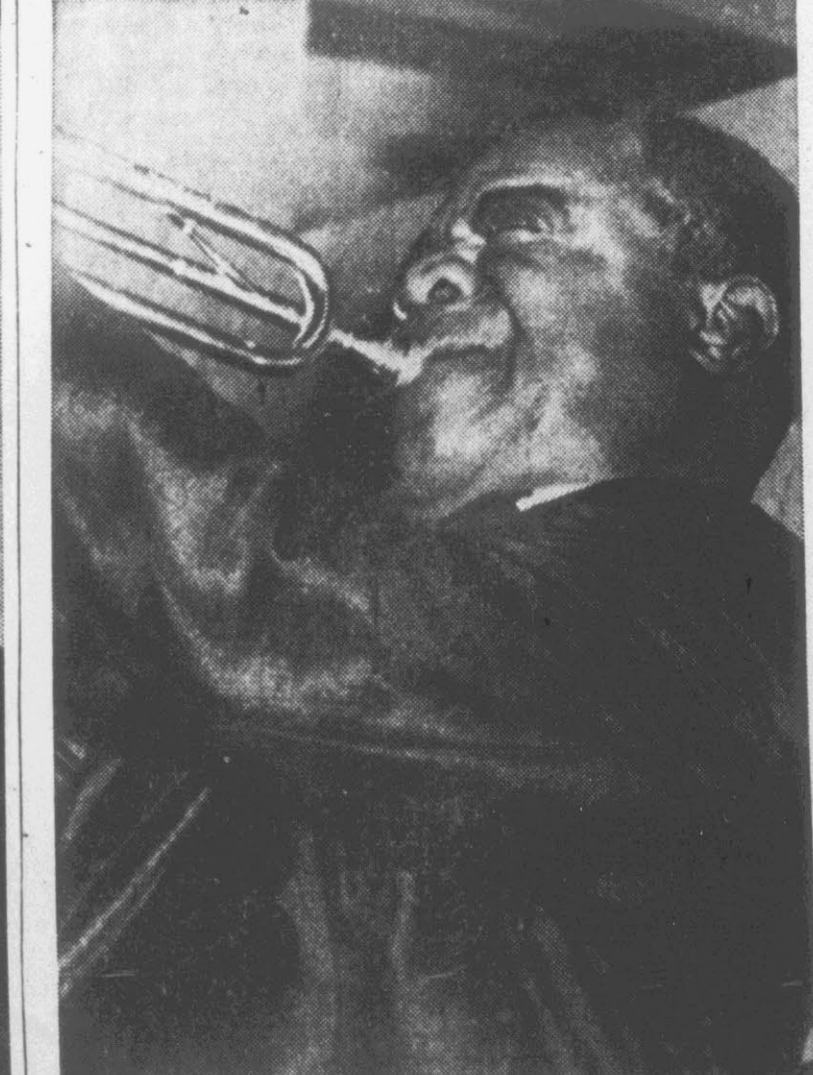

"TIGER RAG" . . . starts show as Satchmo's characteristic bulging eyes accompany his world-famous trumpet.

NEWER HIT . . . "Mack, The Knife," brings familiar grimace and popular teeth into view.

PENSIVE . . . and listening thoughtfully, world traveler-entertainer takes a moment's rest as companions take over.

SATCHMO . . . hits higher, longer "C" than any living swing trumpeter as "The Saints Go Marching In."

Saturday Is Buddy Poppy Day

On Saturday, November 7, the annual Buddy Poppy Sale will be held in Greenville by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary.

Mrs. C. B. West Jr., chairman of the sale, stated that the sale is one of the organization's most important programs of the year as the proceeds of the sale enables the group to carry on its work to aid the needy and disabled veterans and their families in this community; to provide gifts, services and entertainment at the Veterans Hospitals; to support the V. F. W. National Home for widows and orphans of deceased or disabled veterans; and income for the disabled veterans for assembling poppies.

J. A. Joyner Jr., commander of the local post, and Mrs. Ralph Bailey, president of the auxiliary, join Mrs. West in expressing the hope that every citizen of the community will purchase a Buddy Poppy. The number of calls upon the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary for assistance is increasing, which means more funds are needed to give disabled and needy veterans and their dependents assistance.

During the past year, food, fuel, clothing and medical attention have been provided for several needy veterans and their families in this community.

In the organization's hospital program, birthday parties are sponsored at the Veterans Hospitals throughout the state with each veteran being remembered with a gift.

"It was heartwarming to see the smile on these veterans' faces when they were assured that they had not been forgotten," Mrs. West commented.

Many of the men have been in the hospitals for a long time, having lost limbs, eyesight, and many are helpless paraplegics.

Television sets, radios, aquariums and furnishings for sun rooms have been given by veterans organizations to patients. "Many of us forget that these men are living examples of the sacrifices made for our protection," she remarked.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars maintain a home for the orphans and widows of deceased and disabled veterans at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

The North Carolina Cottage at this National Home was completed in 1954. The children live in these family type cottages with a house-mother.

Referring to these children, Mrs. West said, "They have the advantages of most American children lacking. They do not have a father, as their fathers have made the supreme sacrifice in defense of this nation." Part of the money collected in this Buddy Poppy sale goes toward the support of this National Home.

Mrs. C. G. Garrenton presented the program "Medicine and the Bible" to the group following the meal.

Bethel Church Host To Clubs

BETHEL — Johnson Memorial Presbyterian Church was the scene of the Edgecombe Home Demonstration Club's Annual Award Day Friday.

Thirty women representing 16 Edgecombe Home Demonstration Clubs were awarded electrical appliances as winner of the 1959 County Home Beautification contest.

The purpose of the contest program was to rid the county of man-made eyesores that dot the rural areas.

The awards presented by Leslie Rucker, manager of the sponsoring electric power company, congratulated the club members.

Church Women Hear Stokes

FOUNTAIN — Women of Fountain Presbyterian Church held their monthly meeting in the Church Tuesday night with 18 members present and one visitor, D. Calvin Stokes, who was guest speaker.

Mrs. R. A. Gardner Jr., program chairman, opened the meeting with the group singing the hymn "When I Survey The Wondrous Cross." Mrs. Gardner used Mark 10:17-31 for her scripture, followed with a prayer by Mrs. Mark W. Owens.

Stokes gave the October Emphasis — "Stewardship," and the program, "God's Dare To You."

The program was closed by the group singing the hymn "Take My Life and Let It Be."

Mrs. Paule Burnette, president, presided over the business session. The secretary, Mrs. Clarence Everett, read the minutes of last month's meeting and they were approved. She also read "thank you" notes. Mrs. J. L. Doxier, treasurer presented her report.

Achievement Plans Discussed

ROBERSONVILLE — Plans for Achievement Day to be held in Williamston on Wednesday, November 4, were discussed at the recent meeting of the Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. Ervin Roberson.

During the program, a dress review was presented. Each member modeled a dress designed and made by herself.

After the review, the main program was given. The topic, "How To Live and Use Your Spare Time At Home," was used.

Something For Them To Build On

That new library in Grifton represents two good assets for any community.

First, there is the library itself. It is something that can mean a wealth of pleasure as well as a fountain of knowledge.

Secondly, the accomplished goal represents fruition of labors by a group of people . . . people who are willing to work for a community ideal and see it through. That kind of citizen is fully as good to have around as a library.

It's a pleasure to offer congratulations for adding an important asset to a Pitt community. It's a pleasure to again offer those congratulations to Grifton.

There's something about a library that distinguishes it from most other enterprises. Once it's established, the work is really only begun. You can keep adding to it, year after year, and the work is never done. Best of all, through the years there is no real depreciation of the expended effort.

A library is something to be enjoyed and treasured by both the present and the future. It knows no age brackets for enjoyment, it knows no limitations in the tastes of people to be served.

Supporters of any library face no limit to its growth and fields of service. Their institution may stress one field or a multitude of fields. Put another way, they are free to undertake a "horizontal" growth as well as "perpendicular".

Political Front Notably Quiet

By LYNN NISBET

STILL QUIET — With the time for filing notice of candidacy just four and a half months away, and although several men have been "running for Governor" for more than a year, there is still a surprising dearth of real news on the political front.

Almost every newspaper story written about the situation in North Carolina since the General Assembly adjourned in mid-June (except one) can be repeated now with equal assurance. The exception was the positive statement by Lieut. Gov. Luther Barnhardt that he would not be a candidate for Governor in 1960. The rest of the picture is just about the same in early November as it was in late June.

Soon after the withdrawal of Barnhardt, the names of Sen. Arthur Kirkman of Guilford and Judge Hubert Olive of Davidson were given attention as prospects, without material change in the basic pattern.

Terry Sanford, John Larkins and Addison Hewlett continue as actively campaigning but not formally announced candidates. Edwin Gill and Beverly Laska maintained the same "Barkie is willing" attitude of early summer. Attorney General Malcolm Seawell, who was in conversations earlier and then almost dropped, has moved back with his activity in connection with gasoline price fixing.

Rumors persist that Governor Hodges is not satisfied with the current list of potentialities—sentiment shared by a lot of other voters. It was whispered around Charlotte during the C&D board meeting that the Governor had advised some of his friends there not to be hasty in commitments. That, like all rumors about what big interests are supporting which candidates, could not be pinned down. Nobody could be found to admit where he heard it.

ALIGNMENTS—Developments of the past few weeks have confirmed opinions previously expressed, that traditional factional alignments will not hold through the upcoming campaign. The lines were never very clearly drawn between "conservative" and "liberal" elements (both terms being misnomers), but it was an easy division for casual appraisal. From the turn of the century until the late 1940's there was another surface division between "machine" and "anti-machine" affiliation in the Democratic party. That no longer exists, for the simple reason that there is now no semblance of a "machine" or a coherent and effective organization paying allegiance to any accepted leader like Fumford Simmons or Max Gardner.

The late Kerr Scott had a powerful personal following, but no political organization worth the name. It was proven in several abortive attempts that he could not control or transfer his influence. The voters in two primaries turned down his proteges—Frank Graham for the Senate in 1950 and Hubert Olive for Governor in 1952. Two of his appointees to the Supreme Court also were turned down—Murray James by the executive committee in 1950 and Timous Valentine by the voters in 1952.

HODGES — Governor Luther Hodges, who boasts that he is not a politician, and whose following has been (like Scott's) more personal than organizational, has had better luck with his appointees. He had no difficulty obtaining approval of the executive committee of his appointment of William Rodman as Supreme Court Justice, Malcolm Seawell as Attorney General, Everett Jordan as United States Senator. All of these officials have been elected by the people.

Governor Hodges' latest appointment to high elective office was that of Justice Clifton Moore to the Supreme Court. Judge Moore will face primary nomination next spring, with present indications he will have no opposition for a full eight-year elected term.

FACTIONS — That gets back to the question of factional alignment, and the larger question of whether Luther Hodges may have a more coherent and effective "organization" than some people have thought.

Terry Sanford, by close association with Kerr Scott from inception of his race for the Senate in 1954, but not in his race for Governor in 1948, claims support of the old-time "liberals" in his campaign for Governor. John Larkins, by reason of long time official connection with the Democratic party organization, feels justified in claiming support of the Democratic party workhorse element. Addison Hewlett, newest comer into statewide activity, made an excellent record as Speaker of the 1959 House of Representatives—a position he obtained, in opinion of many observers, without help from the Governor's office, if indeed not over the Governor's protest. Such proven prowess, his supporters claim, entitles him to major consideration as a person of importance.

With respect to these three most prominent potential candidates for Governor next year the factional lines are vague. There is so much overlapping of support it cannot be said that anyone of the three has clear sailing with any group. That leaves the off-side prospective challengers—Gill and Lake and Seawell and Olive and Kirkman et al.—opportunity to move in and pick the niche they want to occupy.

KEY—Many North Carolinians will not be happy to recognize, but they may have to come to it, that the man who sits in the big chair in the big office on the southwest corner of the Capitol, holds the key to the situation.

Yes, the Grifton library is small; but it is now a reality . . . something that was not so a week ago. The townspeople now have something to build on; something to cherish and use, and as they use it they will build.

The work of the library's instigators has gotten off to a fine start, but unless their enthusiasm lags, they will soon find in actuality it has really only begun.

'Outs' Organizing To Hasten Their Return

Purported disclosure that Cuban exiles are planning a "comeback" against Fidel Castro should not, on the face of it, be surprising.

The "outs" usually do want to get in, and the "ins" are just as determined otherwise. If the exiles had no dream of return, then it would be extraordinary.

What is noteworthy lies in reports of a rudimentary organization being set up to make the dream come true; for, despite convictions that many hold concerning the ultimate downfall of Premier Castro, something more than a passive outlook will be needed to hasten the day.

A good rabblouser is hard to unseat; and there's no question but that Castro does well in that field. Add to that the distinctly military aura of his regime, and you've got to admit the "outs" have a problem on their hands if they're in a hurry to get back "in".

Most obvious in the make-up of the current Cuban government is that its leadership was geared to revolution, not to governing. Instead of moving to resolve problems, the Castro policy appears more prone to creating greater problems and hazards to the welfare of Cuba.

When a political leader is reduced to seeking a whipping boy for his troubles; and for that role selects proven friends . . . well, you know for sure he has run out of answers.

It didn't take Castro very long, either.

The First Hundred Years Are The Hardest

The world may not know Charley Burton, of Olney, Texas.

It's probably alright with Charley; we've heard no complaint from him. (So it's a draw.)

But according to the Associated Press, Charley Burton has reached the century mark in terms of years, and for the last two years Charley has been in the hospital with pneumonia, influenza and a broken hip.

Things like that can be pretty discouraging for anybody.

But Charley isn't just anybody. He is a hundred years old, which would make him a marked man anywhere.

Now about those hundred years: it hasn't been easy, according to Charley Burton.

But we can understand.

Very few people ever make it.

Reasons Were Non-Intellectual

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles Van Doren, who got fame and fortune by taking credit for knowing more than he knew, finally decided on honesty as the best policy—for non-intellectual reasons.

In the end this may be the source of the bitterest remorse for his 33-year old ex-teacher who had preached the glories of the intellectual life. Columbia University accepted his resignation Monday.

Van Doren stressed the mental tortures he endured before deciding to admit he got help in winning $129,000 on the rigged TV quiz show, "Twenty-One."

Actually, he lied as long as he could expect to get away with it. He arrived at his moment of truth only after he knew he faced possible prosecution for perjury if he kept on lying.

He didn't say this. He explained Monday to a congressional committee investigating crooked TV quiz shows that "in the end it was a small thing that tipped the scales" in inducing him to own up to his deceit.

He said a woman, a stranger, wrote and told him that the only way he could ever live with himself was to tell the truth. It does not speak well for his intellectual processes to say this aphorism tipped the scales for him.

Van Doren grew up in a cultured, intellectual world, a member of one of America's best-known literary families. He had been exposed for years to philosophical discussions of truth.

The idea of telling the truth because you have to live with yourself is at least as old as Socrates.

When he appeared on "Twenty-One" he put on a great act of struggling to come up with answers to the questions asked him. He admits now he received 80 per cent of the answers before he appeared on the air.

He told the committee one of the reasons he accepted the answers—from Albert Freedman, producer of the show—was that Freedman told him: "That by appearing on a nationally televised program I would be doing a great service to the intellectual life, to teachers and to education in general by increasing public respect for the world of the mind through my performance."

What he connived in was actually a betrayal of the intellect, a fact he admits now, for he told the committee "I think I have done a dis-service" to the world of the mind and public respect for it.

Van Doren said he and Freedman both agreed, when a New York grand jury began investigating "Twenty-One," that they would deny any wrong-doing. Both did. Later Freedman was indicted for lying.

Still later, Van Doren said, he learned Freedman had gone back, changed his story to the grand jury, and implicated him. It was after this and after the congressional committee called him in that Van Doren caved in.

He went to the New York district attorney and admitted he had not told the grand jury the truth. He faced a possible perjury indictment if he didn't. He still faces that possibility.

But if he came down and lied to the congressional committee, and the government could prove it, he faced a charge and trial for perjury here, too.

His testimony ended a three-year period of deceit. Why did it happen? True, Van Doren succumbed to the lure of fame and money. But why did this happen to a man with his family, educational and ethical background?

Perhaps Van Doren himself still doesn't understand. His own statement to the committee was moralistic and remorseful. But it wasn't analytical.

No Picture? Take That!

Pity the poor newspaper photographer!

Reflector Photographer Stuart Savage went to Wahl-Coates School Friday night to take some Halloween party pictures.

He had flashed his camera several times when this cute little lady walked up to him.

"Mister, will you take my picture?" the little boy asked. Stuart checked his film supply. "Sorry," he said, "I only have three sheets of film left and I have some other pictures to take."

"Are you sure you can't take my picture?" the kid asked.

"Yep," Stuart replied firmly.

With that the youngster, as Stuart says, "lifted his foot up and stomped my toe as hard as he could."

Incidentally, the kid could run faster than Stuart, too.

The sonic booms which rattle windows and cause nervous folks to jump frequently in this area, have come to the attention of the County Commissioners.

The board voted to send requests to both Cherry Point and Seymour Johnson Air Bases to seek a remedy to the problem.

Commissioners reported there have been numerous complaints from Pitt citizens ranging from explosions rattling windows to their "shaking the court house."

This brought a call from Henry Oglesby of Grifton, secretary to Congressman Herbert C. Bonner.

Oglesby said Bonner's office had also received complaints from all over the district about the booms.

His office and the military are investigating. Oglesby said persons with complaints may contact him or they may contact H. V. Collins, of the Investigating Section, Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point.

East Carolina College's superb marching band staged another fine half time show on the soggy College Stadium field Saturday night.

Using orange pin lights the band formed a grinning Jack 'o lantern on the Halloween night.

Later they made a skelton on the field.

Majorities and the drum major offered some deft handling of the fire batons while the lights were out. We didn't see a baton dropped during the entire show.

Other Editors Saying ... Federal Aid Is Fantasy

(The Augusta Chronicle)

One of the interesting by-products of the continuing drive against the Constitution of the United States and the free enterprise system in the United States is the increasing trend in private advertising towards emphasis on fundamental American principles.

It is refreshing to run across advertisements of this kind in the national magazine and to realize that, to some firms at least, preservation of sound principles in economic and government seems more important than dollars and cents.

At least it is logical to assume this when a firm takes a whole page in a national magazine to declare that "Federal aid" is as childish as Santa Claus of Easter rabbits" and then expounds that idea without ever mentioning products or prices. But that is what Warner and Swazey of Cleveland, Ohio, makers of precision machinery is continually doing.

"Only little children," said the noteworthy advertisement, "believe they get something for nothing"—or for just "being good." Yet school boards plump for "Federal Aid" to build local schools. States and counties demand "their share" of Washington billions for roads. Areas that call themselves "depressed" (who isn't) want Federal dollars to make them prosperous. Thousands expect jobs to be brought to them by national subsidies rather than move to where jobs are.

Builders want Federal aid so they can build more housing at a profit.

"Federal Aid"? There is no such thing. The money can only come from the taxpayers, from you. For every $1 in Federal 'aid' the average state 'gets back' from Washington, you pay to Washington $7 in Federal taxes.

"Why should you pay for 'benefits' to someone a thousand miles away—and why should he pay for yours? The only one who 'benefits' in this sleight of hand is the tax collector. You'd be better off to keep your money and pay your own bills—and save the difference, and your self-respect."

KEEP WALKING

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Contrary to popular belief, the noun "pedestrian" was not coined in the early years of this century by an angry motorist in a 1910 Overland who, narrowly missing a foot traveler, sputtering hurled this opprobrious epithet at him: "Why, you pedestrian you!"

Pedestrians have been around for centuries, even longer than equestrians. Several centuries before the invention of the gasoline engine, the adjective, pedestrian, was defined by the dictionary as, "of, or pertaining to, walking, hence slow, dull or commonplace." Rather insulting, then as now.

And there is this contemptuous definition of "pedestrianism": "One who is addicted to walking as a form of exercise"—as though walking were a sort of narcotic monkey to be shaken from a hiker's back before he can be made whole again.

But the point is that pedestrians have been a problem down through the ages, and they'll probably be around for a long time despite all efforts to get them off their feet.

Opinions In Brief

"Few Americans will find fault with action on the part of the Administration to counter the adverse effects of a continued steel strike. The strike, which had only recently begun to close down plants in various sections of the country, reached a stage in the past few days where the national economy was seriously involved." —Harvey (Ill.) Tribune.

"Packers use everything in the pig except the squeal — they leave that for the budget-minded housewife." —Miami Herald.

"Marriage brings about punctuality, thrift and several other virtues which a man would not need if he stayed single." —Carlsbad Current-Argus.

"You cannot have a bushel of fun these days unless you have a barrel of money." —Anderson Independent.

"As we take note of one strike after another and their deleterious results, we regret there has been so little evidence of concern for the public good." —Columbus (Ohio) State Journal.

And Old Sight Going

By HARRY S. BRADSHERR
KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—
The Rickshaw is declining and slowly disappearing.

In some places this form of one human pulling another is losing the economic competition to mechanical means of transport. In other places it is being banned by governments.

Rickshaws come in two basic forms. The original, which supposedly was invented by a Christian missionary in Japan during the last century, consists of a seat for two over light wheels pulled by a man trotting between long poles. Variations in Himalayan mountain resorts use four or five men to push, pull, or hold back going downhill.

The 20th-century form hitched a bicycle to the front of the seat but still employs human leg power. In some parts of India bicycle rickshaws are brightly painted in elaborate patterns.

The typical rickshaw man is weather-beaten and undernourished. His clothes are rags. Heavy veins stand out on his legs like thick ropes. His feet are callused and cracked. He pants heavily at work.

In most cities there is no fixed schedule by which the rickshaw man is paid. Normally, he gets about 5 cents a mile.

Rickshaws have always been used by the Asians themselves. But they remain in the eyes of national leaders a symbol of Western exploitation of the Easterner. In the wave of freedom movements after World War II there was a demand to abolish this importation of colonialism.

In countries like Indonesia the movement got as far as substituting bicycle rickshaws for some of the runner type. But most rickshaw pullers could not find other jobs.

Some cities, like New Delhi, India, adopted the gradual system of abolition of refusing to license new rickshaw pullers. Only the tired old men still ply the trade.

Karachi moved the other direction in 1948. Horse-drawn carts, called gharris or victorias, were the basic form of cheap transportation when Karachi was a small provincial capital. There were no rickshaws because this is on the Western fringe of the rickshaw zone. When Karachi became the boom-town capital of Pakistan, more cheap transportation was needed. Bicycle rickshaws were introduced. Now there are about 15,000.

They will be banned April 1. Pakistan said its decision was "guided by expert opinion of health and social welfare authorities that rickshaw pulling is inhuman and injurious to the health of the pullers."

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

Here is a fine personal witness on the reality of God's leading when one really prays with faith:

"In 1937 I was out of work," writes Jack Bannick in a recent issue of "Clear Horizons." "A job was opened with a certain company, and I prayed for help in obtaining it. That was my will, what I thought would be best for me. I did not get that job, but without contact from me a man I scarcely knew telephoned and offered me a job with his company. The job I prayed for exists no more. The company is bankrupt. The job God saw fit to place before me was very good and brought me increased earnings and executive responsibilities. . . I know from experience that if I leave things to God, trust Him, and pray without selfish intent, God's will turns out to be best for me in the end."

Few people know the real meaning of the prayer, "Not my will, but thine be done." To pray thus and to mean it requires a lot of faith; it involves a rigid spiritual discipline. But what rewards when the spiritual achievement is really made! As Jesus prayed that prayer, his very blood mixed with his sweat and ran down over his face. But when finally he yielded completely he had peace.

All of which is a pattern for us, and the charter of our spiritual emancipation.

Democratic Landslide In Kentucky Despite Breach Caused By Chandler

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — For Democrat Bert T. Combs, the long road to the Kentucky governor's chair has ended in a landslide victory.

The governor-elect sat back today and watched his majority over Republican John M. Robison Jr. climb closer to a record high.

The soft-spoken mountain attorney, swept to an unbeatable lead at the halfway point in vote counting after Tuesday's election.

Caught up in the victorious tide of votes were eight other Democratic statewide office seekers whose pluralities mounted as tabulations resumed.

Robison declined to concede defeat. Returns from 2,298 of the state's 3,764 precincts gave: Combs, 364,808; Robison, 228,750.

Combs' campaign leaders predicted his winning margin would top the 128,976-vote record set in 1955 by Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Wilson W. Wyatt, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, was rolling up an even greater edge over Republican Pleaz Mobley.

With 2,235 precincts tabulated, the count was: Wyatt, 343,760; Mobley, 204,360.

Democrats, already assured of control of the state Legislature because of holdovers and unopposed candidates, added to their majorities.

In the 38-member Senate, Democrats hold 25 seats and Republicans seven. Six races were undecided. In the House, Democrats were certain of 67 of the 100 seats, the GOP 10.

Interest in tabulation of the remaining votes was switching to the statewide referendum proposing a $300 to $500 bonus for veterans of four wars. It would be financed by a sales tax, a tax Kentucky does not now have.

Early returns showed the amendment trailing by some 40,000 votes in half the state.

Another constitutional amendment, permitting sheriffs to succeed themselves in office, was leading by a slim margin.

Combs told a midnight news conference at Democratic headquarters he owed victory to principles and issues rather than personalities. Combs admitted his party was split a little, but he said the Republicans were divided, too.

It was the Democratic breach, set off by Chandler, that had buoyed Republican hopes for victory.

Combs said he had no bitterness toward Chandler, who had said publicly he would welcome a Democratic defeat.

"I don't ever argue with my governor," said Combs. "I don't think he was any real hurt to the Democratic party."

Chandler could not be reached for comment on the election result. His favorite expression, however, when the votes are counted is: "When the people speak, I listen."

Elaborate Security Measures On Quiz Shows Easily Balked

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the elaborate security measures that surrounded TV quiz show questions?

How, in some cases, they were hidden in a sealed envelope that was kept in a bank vault until brought dramatically on stage under the protection of armed guards?

Yet some contestants—Charles Van Doren and Xavier Cugat—have testified they got Q and A coaching all the way. How could it happen?

The answer, in retrospect, appears simple. Those sealed envelopes were securely guarded. But that accomplished nothing toward secrecy if someone in a key position on a show knew the questions before they ever went to the bank.

Mert Koplitz, a former producer, told congressional probers Tuesday he knew the questions and answers and supplied them to contestants on three quiz programs—"The $64,000 Question," "The $64,000 Challenge" and "The Big Surprise."

The bank that guarded the envelopes for "The $64,000 Question"—the Manufacturers Trust Co.—said "We accepted the assurance given us by the program producers, and so stated on the telecast, that no one, except the editors, had seen the questions before they were placed in our vault."

A bank spokesman said "The role of the bank in connection with the program was solely to provide a normal banking service in holding sealed envelopes containing the questions in our safe deposit vaults after they were turned over to us by the producers of 'The $64,000 Question'.

"Customary safe deposit procedures were observed. Other safeguards were taken to insure, through special sealing of the containers and the envelopes, that no one could examine the questions while they were in our custody without it becoming immediately apparent."

A spokesman for the Encyclopedia Britannica, which authenticated the questions on "Twenty-One" and other shows, said it had placed faith in supervision of shows by the networks.

"We always assumed that the networks carefully supervised any shows that they put on the air," he said. "We were never asked to exercise any such form of supervision."

Circus Winter Quarters Sold

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The 157-acre winter quarters of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus has been sold for $340,000 to a real estate development firm.

A spokesman said the circus is seeking a smaller tract on which to locate its winter quarters.

Much of the equipment and many of the animals were sold last year following the change from the big tent to the present more compact format.

UNDER THE SHADOW OF DEATH—Under sentence to die in the Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair, Mrs. Edythe Klumpp sits in Women's Reformatory at Marysville, Ohio, and spends her time making dinner napkins for other inmates. The 41-year-old divorced mother of four is scheduled to die Dec. 15 for the fatal shooting and body-burning of Mrs. Louise Bergan, her lover's estranged wife. Mrs. Klumpp hopes the court will stay the execution. (AP Wirephoto)

North Carolina Lions Give Cottage To Boys' Home

Lions of North Carolina have announced the gift of a Lions cottage to Boys Home of North Carolina at Lake Waccamaw.

Oct. 24 and 25, Stacy Budd, who is Lions state Boys Home chairman and a member of Boys Home executive committee and board of directors, conferred with the Council.

was greeted with enthusiasm by R. N. ("Rube") McCray, director of Boys Home, who reported that the home has a large number of boys on the waiting list.

among Boys Home's most consistent backers. For many months they have promoted the Buck-A-Month Club among their membership, whereby each member pledged one dollar a month towards the support of Boys Home, a non-tax supported child caring institution licensed by the North Carolina Welfare Department to care for boys and to solicit for necessary funds.

Had An Interest In First Arrest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rookie patrolman John W. Ensign has made his first arrest and recovered his first stolen car. It was his own.

He spotted Mike Gehres, 18, driving the car Tuesday. After a brief chase, Gehres leaped from the car and Ensign tackled him. The youth was booked on a grand theft charge. Ensign said the car was stolen from the police station parking lot.

The council voted to turn over all monies which have been collected and all those that will be collected in the future, for this purpose, to Budd who will then turn over these funds to the board of directors of Boys Home and a building committee from Lions, and the construction of the cottage will start immediately.

The addition of the Lions cottage at Boys Home will increase cottage facilities from 16 to 32 boys and their house parents. The ultimate goal of Boys Home is six cottages to care for 100 boys, admittance ages 10 to 16 years.

"We are elated over this generosity on the part of Lions Club members," said McCray. "This gift will make it possible for us to double our service to the neglected and underprivileged boys of this state, and to rehabilitate them into good citizens."

would retain Van Doren as an associate editor despite the TV Scandal.

In announcing the network firing Tuesday, NBC said Van Doren had insisted all along to network officials—as well as the Manhattan district attorney, grand jurors, and the general public—that he knew of no coaching on the program "Twenty-One."

Van Doren, now 33, won $129,000 on the show. He told a House subcommittee in Washington Monday that he was given questions and answers before going on camera.

confidence of the viewing public as a performer as well as a "Twenty-one" contestant," the network statement said.

NBC had suspended Van Doren with pay Oct. 8 pending the outcome of his appearance before the congressional subcommittee.

The network said his salary stopped Monday. His contract was to have run until next August.

Ben Wattenberg, editor-publisher of Leisure, said Van Doren had agreed to edit and write an eight-page section entitled, "The intellect at Leisure." He said Van Doren's dismissal by NBC and Columbia would have no effect on his magazine position.

Grifton Cops Double Bill In Openers

WHEAT-SWAMP — Grifton kicked off the basketball season in Pitt County last night with success, sweeping a non-conference doublebill from Wheat Swamp. The Grifton girls won going away, 54-20, and the boys had scrap for a 54-41 decision.

Coach Ed Bright's lanky and sharp-shooting girls moved out in front in the opening quarter and never relinquished the lead. The Wheat Swamp lassies showed little scoring power — not hitting over seven points in any quarter — and were out of the game by half-time, trailing 27-9.

Jane Newborn and Sandy Price, a couple of outstanding returnees from the 1958 club, led the winners scoring attack with 21 and 16 points, respectively. Three other forwards joined in the scoring parade as Coach Bright emptied the bench in his season opener.

Brenda Falkner paced the weak Wheat Swamp club with seven points.

The boys game proved to be more interesting with the two teams playing on even terms until the exception of a second quarter rally by Grifton.

Wheat Swamp jumped into a quick lead and were out front 11-8 at the end of the first period. Tommy Rice, Jimmy Rogers, and reserve Tommy Ward found the range in the second period, leading a 21 point spurt and elevating Grifton into the lead.

Coach Austin Burt's club were able to hold their nine point margin and padded it in the second half for their opening season win. Rogers was high for the winners with 13 points. Alan Jackson and Ward contributed eight points each. Johnny Johnson was high for the losers with 12.

Grifton will be away from home again next Tuesday, meeting Maury. They open their home season and also conference campaign on November 13th against Grimesland.

Big Game Set Between Citadel And Blue Hose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Citadel may or may not win the Southern Conference football championship this year, but whatever happens it's going to be one of the most memorable seasons in history for the Bulldogs.

With a 4-0 conference record, the Bulldogs already have won as many league games as they did in their best previous year, 1957, when they finished 4-2 in conference competition. They've been members since 1936.

In addition, the Bulldogs' 6-1 overall record leaves them a fine opportunity to post the best win-loss mark in the military college's 55 years of intercollegiate football.

Only in 1926, when the record was 7-3, and in 1937, when it was 7-4, have teams from The Citadel won as many as seven games.

All three of the games left on the schedule for this year's Bulldogs promise to be tough. Bouts with VMI Nov. 14 and with West Virginia Nov. 21 will make or break The Citadel's push toward its first Southern Conference crown.

But Coach Eddie Teague isn't thinking any farther ahead than this Saturday's scrap with undefeated Presbyterian, a small college power which already has been chosen to play in the Tangerine Bowl.

"They're big and strong and their backs can move the ball against any team," Teague warned his players. "It will be another tough game for us."

The Bulldogs, who've been doing pretty well themselves at moving the ball, worked on one of their potent weapons — passing — Tuesday. Jerry Nettles and Bill Whaley did the pitching, mostly to end Paul Maguire and halfback Billy Hughes.

West Virginia, getting as ready as it can for unbeaten Southern California, held a short scrimmage against Trojan defensive formations.

Injuries made news at William and Mary and George Washington. W&M lost its No. 2 fullback, Dave Way, with a shoulder separation while still celebrating the return of No. 1 fullback Lauren Kardatzke. GW lost tackle Ellis Wisler, who bruised a knee.

Pass defense and offense were stressed at Virginia Tech. Furman had a rugged 2½-hour session in which it reviewed its offense and studied new defenses against Wofford. VMI was warned by Coach John McKenna it will have to improve its defense to hold high scoring Leigh this week and the Keydets worked hard on that department.

Virginia Is Given Little Chance In Gamecock Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Virginia's football coach, Dick Voris, is without a victory in seven games this season, but he feels that his Cavaliers "are getting a little better every week."

In meeting one of the Atlantic Coast Conference powerhouses this coming weekend, South Carolina, the Cavaliers will have to show more than a little improvement, however, if they hope to brighten their record. Virginia hasn't defeated the Gamecocks since a one-point, 28-27 triumph in 1951 when their series was renewed after a lapse since 1929. Last year the Cavaliers were on the short end of a 28-14 score.

Nevertheless, South Carolina Coach Warren Giese refuses to take the Cavaliers lightly. He agrees with Voris that Virginia "is an improving football team—I just hope we aren't their first victim."

And he adds, "Last year they were in about the same boat, then knocked off a fine Duke team in the second game of the season."

Despite the team's poor record, Virginia boasts two of the ACC's leading passers, quarterbacks Arnold Dempsey and Stanford Fischer. Dempsey has completed 37 of 73 passes for 391 yards while Fischer has completed 26 of 54 for 238 yards.

Against them, South Carolina will match two of the league's leading rushers, halfback Ken Norton and fullback Phil Lavoie. Norton has averaged 5.3 yards for a total of 256 yards in 48 attempts. Lavoie has gained 237 yards in 62 tries, an average of 3.8.

The Gamecocks got the heartening word Tuesday that All-ACC fullback John Saunders, injured in the opening game, may be ready to resume full time duty. Saunders put in some hard contact work as South Carolina prepared for the Virginia game, which will be played at Charlottesville, Va. Clemson and Duke, who will play the only other conference game this weekend, had contrasting practice sessions. Coach Bill Murray sent the Duke Blue Devils through an unusually light practice for a Tuesday. The backs polished running assignments, while the linemen worked on patterns. There was no hard contact work. Clemson, however, had a rugged scrimmage session as Coach Frank Howard concentrated on defense.

North Carolina State, scheduled to meet Mississippi Southern at Mobile, Ala., Saturday night, welcomed sophomore quarterback Roman Gabriel, back. Gabriel, who has been injured, went through his first rough practice session in three weeks as the Wolfpack worked on blocking, tackling and pass defense.

Wake Forest's drill was in light equipment as the Demon Deacons took it easy because of an open date this weekend.

The Maryland varsity worked on defense against Navy plays run by the "B" team in preparation for Terps' clash with the Midshipment at Baltimore Saturday. Coach Tom Nugent called Navy's passing sensational and warned his squad that the Midshipmen are the second or third best team on Maryland's schedule.

North Carolina, the first ACC team scheduled for action this weekend, continued preparing for the Tar Heels' encounter with Miami in Florida Friday night. North Carolina Coach Jim Hickey says, "Our morale is good but we're hurting defensively."

Beaufort Wins Coastal League

By TOM JACKSON
A strong Beaufort High School emerged this week as undisputed champions of the Coastal Conference, taking the lead over their nearest contender, La Grange, due to the Farmville-La Grange tie game this week.

In conference play Friday night Robersonville defeated Havelock 21-0. Beaufort topped Ayden 48-0, and Farmville battled to a 7-7 deadlock with La Grange. Contentnea beat Vanceboro 21-14 Wednesday night. Vanceboro had previously called off the rest of their games but decided to play a final one with Contentnea.

Scheduled to be played in the conference this Friday night will be Farmville at Havelock and Robersonville at La Grange. Morehead City will journey to Beaufort for a non-conference match.

The outcome of the Robersonville-La Grange game will determine whether La Grange has second place or if they are tied with Farmville for the second slot. If Havelock defeats Farmville, La Grange will automatically take second place.

Tie games in the conference are considered one-half win and one-half loss.

The conference coaches will meet at Gauley Motor Court on the Vanceboro-New Bern highway at 6:00 p.m. Monday, November the ninth to select the All-Conference teams.

Vols Picked To Upset Louisiana

Hole-In-One

J. D. Cochrane Jr., a retired engineer of Formosa, shot a hole-in-one on the Greenville Golf Course last Sunday afternoon.

Taking up golf as a hobby only recently, Cochrane used a three iron in firing the once-in-a-lifetime shot on the 145 yard number three hole at the local course.

Cochrane was playing alone but Clarence and Mary Anne Tugwell happened to be on the sixth hole and witnessed the shot.

Riddick Named Hardwood Capt.

Ike Riddick, a Greenville native, has been chosen as captain of the 1959-60 East Carolina basketball team. Coach Earl Smith, head basketball coach, made the announcement this week.

Riddick, the only senior on the club, has been a starter for the past two seasons and will be the Bucs top choice for All-Conference during the coming campaign. He is a flashy guard and directs the Pirates' fast-break attack.

Riddick played his prep ball at Rose High in Greenville and won an All-Conference selection along with playing in the East-West game. He averaged 14 points per game as an East Carolina starter last season.

NEW YORK (AP)—Results of Tuesday's general elections included these winners (last week the record was 40 winners among 55 candidates for a 727 average):

Tennessee over Louisiana State: The Tigers reached their emotional peak of the season last Saturday in their 7-3 victory over Mississippi. Now they must go against the gridiron's toughest single-wing team. The Vols will be too much for them.

Northwestern over Wisconsin: Much attention has been paid to Northwestern's wealth of backs but take a gander at those Wildcat linemen. They are tough too.

Texas over Baylor: The Longhorns have yielded only five touchdowns in seven games—if you can't score, how can you beat them?

Syracuse over Penn State: The Davids boys take the measure of states' Richie Lucas.

Mississippi over Chattanooga: The Rebels take out their anger over their loss to LSU on the Chattanoogaans.

Southern California over West Virginia: The McKeever twins get some real Mountaineers to work on.

Elsewhere: Auburn over Mississippi State, Clemson over Duke, Georgia over Florida, Washington over Oregon State, Purdue over Michigan State, Arkansas over Rice, Oregon over California, Air Force over Missouri, Georgia Tech over Notre Dame.

Friday Night
Miami over North Carolina.

Saturday
East: Army over Villanova, Boston College over Pittsburgh, Colgate over Bucknell, Dartmouth over Columbia, Cornell over Brown, Princeton over Harvard, Holy Cross over Boston University, Rutgers over Lafayette, Lehigh over Virginia Military, Delaware over Temple, Navy over Maryland, Pennsylvania over Yale.

South: Alabama over Tulane, The Citadel over Presbyterian, William & Mary over Davidson, Mississippi Southern over North Carolina State, Richmond over George Washington, Vanderbilt over Kentucky, South Carolina over Virginia, Furman over Wofford.

Midwest: Kansas over Colorado, Detroit over Dayton, Illinois over Michigan, Iowa State over Nebraska, Iowa over Minnesota, Oklahoma over Kansas State, Ohio State over Indiana, Oklahoma State over Denver, Tulsa over Cincinnati, Wichita over Houston.

Fight Tonight Rated Toss-up

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I've just got to get even with him and beat him big," Joey Giardello says of his 10-round middleweight scrap here tonight with Dick Tiger, British Empire middle champ from Nigeria.

Although Tiger won an unanimous decision from Giardello in Chicago Sept. 30, the bettors regard tonight's return bout as a tossup. The fight will be televised nationally (ABC).

"So many people seem to think I've gone back a distance," said Giardello, former Philadelphia, now of Rosedale, N.Y. "But my whole trouble's been I didn't have the ambish I used to be loaded with."

Tiger at 30 is a year older than Giardello but he demonstrated a superior stamina in their Chicago meeting.

The Nigerian, who lives in Liverpool, England, has a record of 35 victories in 45 fights, 10 by knockouts. Giardello started his second hundred in bouts this year and has won 78, 27 by kayo.

In the past two decades there has been a sharp decline in the average patient's hospital stay. Twenty years ago, the Health Information Foundation says, the average stay was 12.5 days. Now it's only 8.6 days.

Boston In Line For A Franchise

NEW YORK (AP)—Boston appeared today to be the leading candidate to receive the eighth and last franchise in the new American Football League.

Harry Wismer, member of the pro league's expansion committee, conferred with a Boston group headed by Leo Dowd of Nashua, N.H., Tuesday. He said no decision was reached but indicated Boston was the leader so far over interests from Philadelphia, Kansas City, St. Louis, Cincinnati and New Orleans.

The franchise vacancies were officially trimmed to one Tuesday when Buffalo officially became the seventh member. Wismer said Ralph C. Wilson Jr. of Detroit had decided to locate in Buffalo the franchise the AFL awarded him a week ago.

Bowl Sponsors To Talk Outlook

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Mid-Winter Sports Assn., sponsor of the Sugar Bowl, meets tonight to consider prospects for the Jan. 1 game.

Clause Simons, president of the association, said no teams had been discussed previously, but from what he hears everyone would like to see Louisiana State and Mississippi play again.

LSU, still No. 1 in the nation, topped then third-ranked Mississippi 7-3 in a thriller Saturday night. Mississippi now is No. 5.

Ranges of volcanic mountains in the Sahara Desert reach 11,000 feet in height.

Hillsdale Dominates Michigan Football

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP)—They don't call Michigan the champion of the West any longer and Michigan State's multiple offense isn't fooling them the way it used to—little Hillsdale College keeps rolling along in high style.

Its 34-game winning streak was broken a couple of years ago in the Holiday Bowl but the Dales are streaking again and aiming for another bowl bid.

Hillsdale is the state's only undefeated-untied football team, with a 7-0 mark and a whopping 244 to 43 scoring bulge on its seven victims. The Dales should breeze through their last two opponents.

A victory Saturday over Kalamazoo College will mean a sixth straight championship in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn., a seven-team football conference. The Dales already have earned at least a share of the crown.

This quiet town, which seldom gets excited except on football Saturdays, now claims it has the nation's most successful coach over the long haul.

He is Frank (Muddy) Waters, a born optimist who will have more lettermen this fall than his college has teachers.

A former Michigan State fullback who still holds the Spartans record with 31 carries in one game, Waters has his 65-man squad doing just about everything. The Dales, who numbered 85 before injuries and dropouts, utilize the single wing, double wing, wide-T, winged-T, straight-T, power-T, well, just about everything except the lonesome end.

Since he came to Hillsdale in 1954, Waters' teams have compiled a regular-season mark of 48-1. That figures out to a winning percentage of 94.

The other schools in the MIAA have beaten the Dales only once

Canadians Have No Dull Games

COLUMBIA (AP)—Ted Smits, general sports editor for The Associated Press, believes college football could be made more interesting by adopting some of the rules that govern Canadian football.

"Up there," Smits told the Columbia Touchdown Club Tuesday, "they have some rules that I'm amazed we haven't looked into. For one thing, they have only three downs."

This means, he said, that "you can't be trying that old line buck over and over. You've got to go for that big one with spectacular plays."

"Another thing the Canadians have that helps their game," Smits said, "is the end zone business where a player has to run the ball out or his opponents get a point. There are no dull moments in this type of play."

With the exception of the South, the AP sports editor said, interest in college football is on the decline in this country.

Dull football, he added, is largely responsible for this state of affairs.

Pee Wee Reese Going Into TV

Virginia Golfer Wins Tourney

GREENSBORO (AP)—Al Smith won the second annual "Peddler's Open" 18-hole golf tournament here Tuesday. The Danville, Va., pro fired a 6-under-par 65 in the tournament which is a part of Pro Appreciation Day activities.

Second to Smith in the pro division of the tournament was Charlie Farlow of Greensboro with a 67, followed by Jim Ferree of Winston-Salem with a 68.

Ben Goodes of Reidsville won the amateur division with a 68 and Larry Cherk of the Greensboro Record won the press-radio-TV division with an 89.

The Carolinas Golf Representatives Assn., sponsors of the appreciation day, honored two prominent Carolinas golfers at a banquet Tuesday night. They were host pro George Corcoran, the "Golf Pro of the Year," and P. J. Wright of Pinehurst, executive secretary of the Carolinas Golf Assn. for four years and now an executive of the U.S. Golf Assn.

American Ass'n Still Shy Team

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Assn. closed a one-day meeting Tuesday still seeking an eighth member for the 1960 season.

Officials said one possibility was the retention of the Omaha franchise. The 10-team league dropped to seven at the end of the 1959 season when Omaha, Fort Worth and Charleston, W. Va., pulled out.

Jim Burris, assistant to President Ed Doherty, said:

"We have talked to Mayor John Rosenblatt and other Omaha city officials about the possibility of Omaha remaining. Nothing has crystallized yet. Several other cities have been discussed but they belong to other leagues and we are not at liberty to identify them."

The Exciting New Novel By W. R. BURNETT The Little Caesar

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

This is a story of the South-west in the days when the Indian wars were coming to an end and the times of the outlaw—of cruel, trigger-fingered Billy the Kid, John Wesley Hardin, and their ilk—were just beginning.

Sergeant John Desportes might as well have got a rattlesnake out of a trap as to have committed the good Samaritan act he did while returning from a furlough to his Army post at Mesa Encantada. He rescued a youth trapped in a ravine with an injured leg and took the youth to the post hospital. Then deceived by "Bud Smith's" boyish appearance and adopted demeanor, Desportes befriends the youth and expects to get him into the Army.

The post commander, Major Etheredre, has become more and more dependent on the Sergeant and, trusting Desportes implicitly, is an unsuspecting as the Sergeant that "Bud Smith" is a killer who is going to upset the whole post...

CHAPTER 7

Major Etheredre and the Sergeant sat for a long time in silence, eating Maria's excellent sandwiches and sipping their black coffee. The fire sputtered faintly, and all about was peace and quiet.

The Sergeant's mind wandered a little as the Major began to brief him and bring him up to date on Mesa Encantada matters, but finally he pulled himself up short and listened.

"Everything on the Reservation is running smoothly. There is only one thing, Blackpony. I want you to have a talk with him. We've had many complaints from ranchers and settlers up around the Lava Rock area that Blackpony was stealing horses and selling them to Mexicans who drive them across the border at night.

"Of course," the Major continued, "horse-stealing is always blamed on the Indians and no one has yet given me any proof. But just explain something to Blackpony. If the ranchers ever catch him with stolen horses, they'll hang him out on the range."

"He's a hard case, Major," said the Sergeant. "A few years back he'd have had all the young braves on the warpath. But they don't listen to such foolishness now. They're smart enough to see they haven't got a chance. If the ranchers catch him stealing horses and hang him, might not be such a bad thing after all."

The Major nodded. "We know that, Sergeant—and you're quite right. But they don't know it in Washington. It would cause quite an uproar if ranchers took the law into their own hands and strung up an Indian from this reservation. If they strung up a white man, nobody in Washington or any place else would care a damn. It's an odd situation and we've got to govern ourselves accordingly."

"I'll talk to him,"

"He laughs at the Apache police. Calls them fat swine. And he's got a point. You pin a badge on an Apache and he gets very self-important and starts eating himself out of shape. The fatness shows how successful he is. At all events, the Apache police simply have no control over Blackpony whatsoever."

"Don't worry about it," said the Sergeant. "I'll look into it."

The Major nodded and sighed. It was a great comfort to have Sergeant Desportes back. When the Sergeant said he would look into something, he meant it. They drank the last of the coffee and the Major quickly dispatched a second big sandwich.

"One more thing, Sergeant, then you go to bed. A very bad situation is developing up around La Paz. The authorities have already asked for our co-operation in case it flares into a civil war. Rustlers had got so bad up there that the peace officers simply couldn't manage it an in effect washed their hands of it. So the big ranchers all hired gunmen and now every week or so there is promiscuous shooting on the range. It's anarchy. I want you to send two of our best scouts up there and have them look things over. I want a full report, in case we have to move in later."

"All right, Major. I'll start on it tomorrow."

"Now go hit the blankets. I shouldn't be keeping you up like this. It's damned selfish of me, but I've been so anxious to have you back. A month is a long time in this country."

The Sergeant rose obediently and glanced about the room, taking it all in. The Major, of course, could have no inkling that the Sergeant would have sat there contentedly until dawn.

"Glad to be back," said the Sergeant.

He had his own little room at the far end of the parade ground. And now, rolled in his blanket on the narrow bunk bed with the window wide open to the chilly desert night, he was just about to fall asleep when he heard a scraping sound in front of his room. Then a match flared. He got up and looked out the open window. A dark figure was squatting against his door, smoking a cigarette.

"What do you want?" asked the Sergeant, harshly.

The figure rose and came to the window. It was Blackpony. Twenty years old. Grandson of a deposed and dead chief. Peck's Bad Boy of the Reservation.

"I no want wake you," said Blackpony. "I sit down. Wait for morning."

"You're a liar," said the Sergeant. "You knew that match would wake me."

Blackpony chuckled briefly. "I know what Major say. But I no steal horses from white man up north. I steal from Indians—ponies—so, like war. Only liar say I stole white man horse. You think I like hand?"

"I think you don't give a damn one way or another. What's this about you calling the police fat swine?"

"Apache police," said Blackpony disdainfully. "They no count. Fat swine they are. Steal beef from tribe."

"You'll have to take that up with the Indian Agent."

"Ho, ho," jeered Blackpony. "He steal beef, too. All steal. So why not I steal Indian ponies, like war?"

"You're pretty smart, aren't you?"

"No. You pretty smart, Sergeant. You smart to know I don't steal white men's horse. You think Blackpony crazy?"

"Why did you come here and tell me this?"

"You fair man. Best fair man on Reservation. I tell truth to you. So white man cannot come to Reservation say I stole horse. Indian pony, yes."

"All right, Blackpony. You believe?"

"I'll prove different."

"Good. I tell you something. This boy you bring in from mountain. I know."

"You know Bud? How?"

"From lava rock country. I saw man try shoot Bud in Sunday. Bud kill him."

"Are you sure it's the same boy?"

"I look in window at sickhouse. He see me. He laugh. He know."

"All right. Why are you telling me this?"

"I think you like me tell. Very fast with gun. Bud. Not so boy you might think."

"Fair fight?"

"No. Man have rifle."

The Sergeant smiled to himself in the darkness. "I see."

Now he took a cigarette from the night table and struck a match. He lit the cigarette and puffed reflectively. "That all?"

"Yes," said Blackpony.

"No more to tell?"

"No more."

"This fellow with the rifle — who was he?"

"From La Paz country. All afraid."

"You mean everybody was afraid of him, but Bud was not?"

"Yes."

"Did they have a fight? Argument? What?"

"Now sure. But man say: 'I kill you for that.' Then go get rifle. Try to take long shot. Very bad. Bud make long shot with 'volver. Kill him. Now all afraid."

"Of Bud?"

"Yes. I go now."

Blackpony seemed uneasy, so the Sergeant let him go; then he lay back on his bed and smoked thoughtfully. There was no doubt about it — this was quite a boy.

U.S. Reds Say They've Gained

NEW YORK (AP)—The leadership of the American Communist party says it is reaping benefits from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit here, and from recent Soviet space achievements.

This appraisal is contained in an open letter to party members from the group's National Executive Committee, published in last weekend's Worker, the Communist newspaper.

THE MIGHTY TITAN

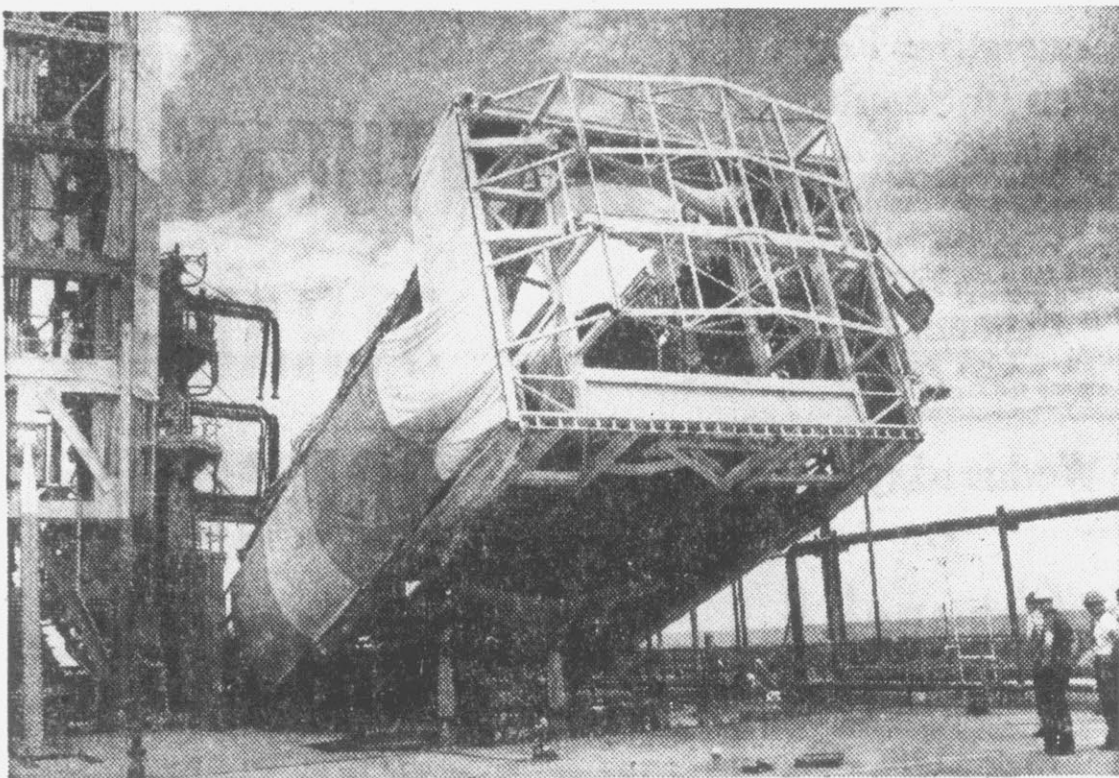

1. Full cargo. The Globemaster unloads 54-foot-long first stage of the Titan at Cape Canaveral. Second stage, 37 feet long, is forward in plane.

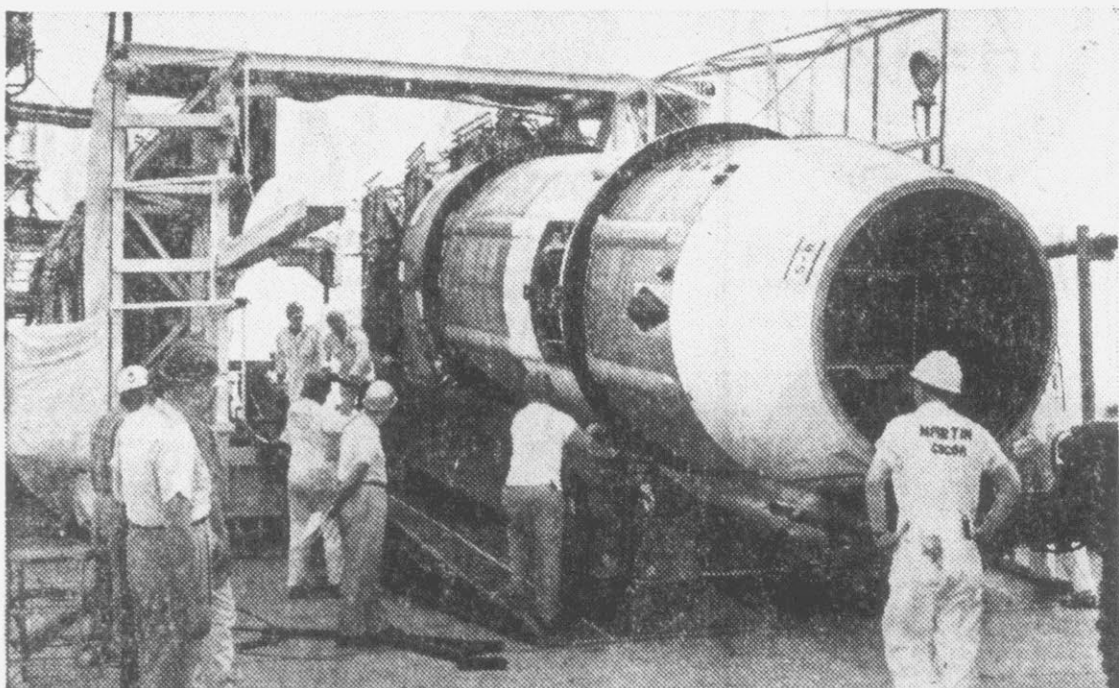

2. Titan's first stage, its protective canvas covering removed, is rolled into its Canaveral hangar for systems inspections and tests.

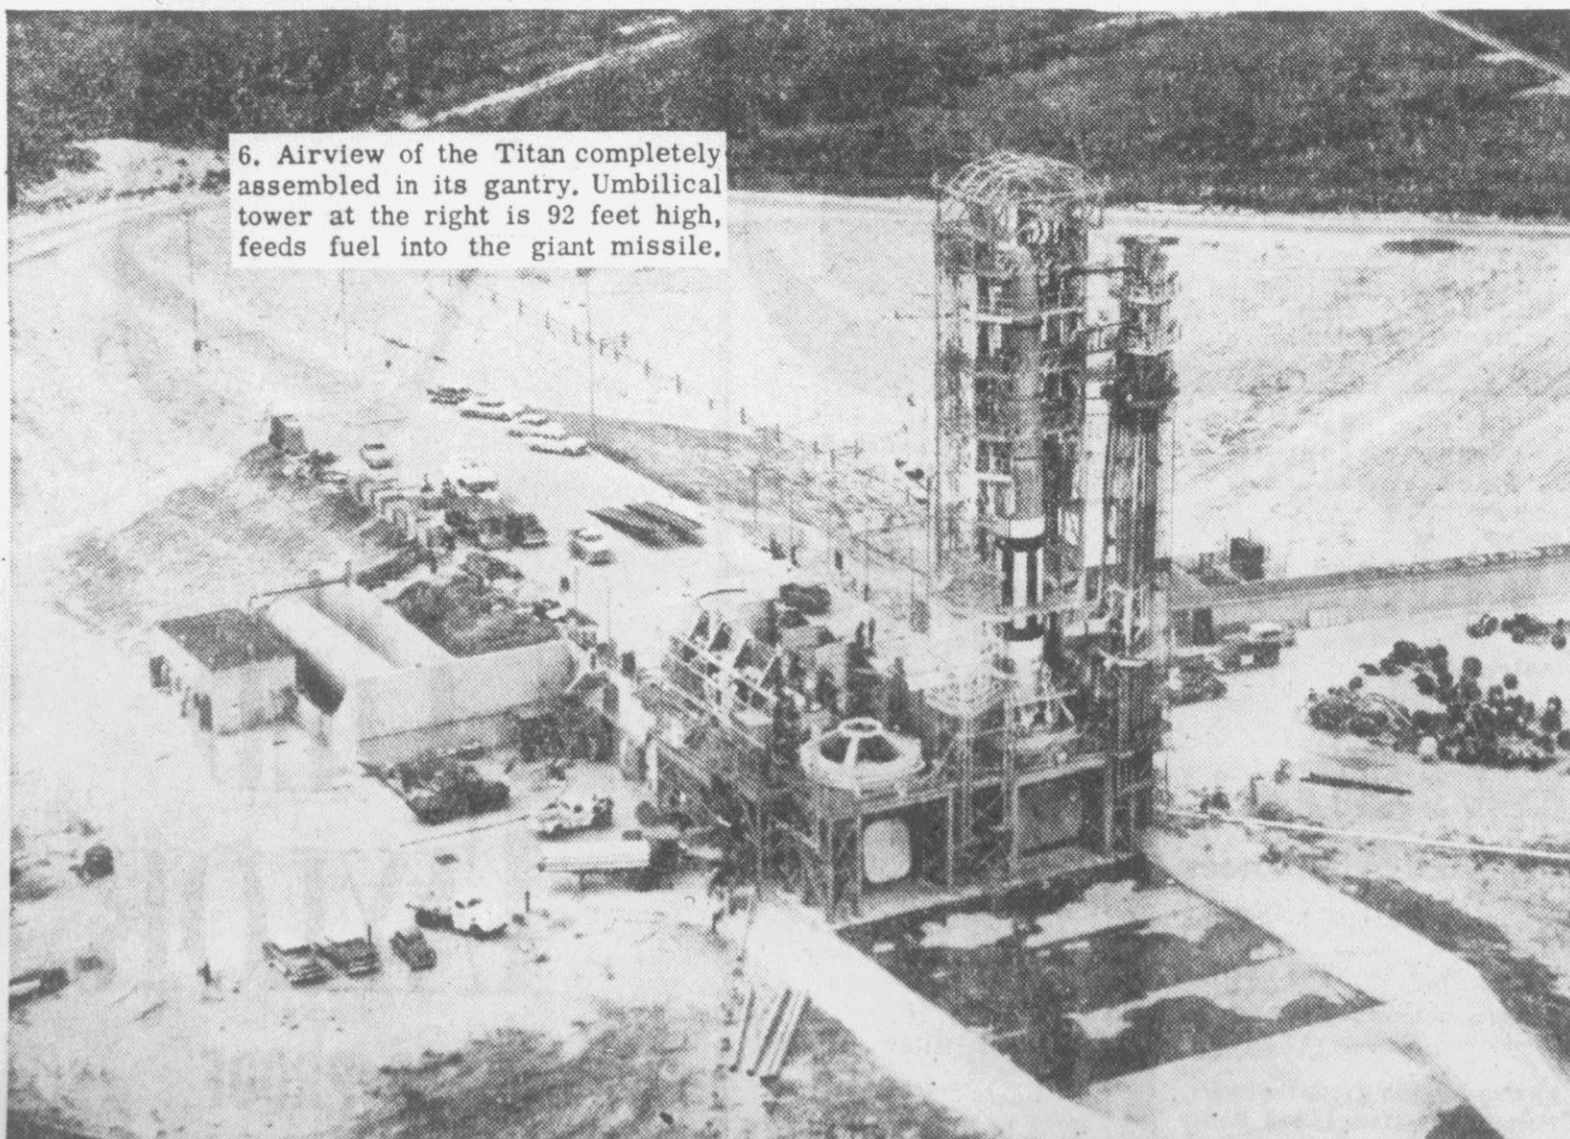

3. The first stage, showing the twin thrust chambers of its powerful engines, rests in the erector which will lift it into place on the launching pad.

4. Erector lifts the first stage toward its vertical position on the pad.

5. Second stage is rolled into position, then lifted to fit over first stage.

6. Airview of the Titan completely assembled in its gantry. Umbilical tower at the right is 92 feet high, feeds fuel into the giant missile.

The task of preparing a Titan intercontinental range ballistic missile for firing is almost as complex as the giant missile itself.

The two stages of this 91-foot weapon — newest and biggest punch in this nation's defense arsenal — are built at the Martin plant near Denver, then transported by plane to Cape Canaveral, Fla., for test firing.

The Air Force uses its massive C-133 Globemasters for the transportation job. The two stages of the rocket are wrapped individually in protective canvas for the long haul. When the Globemaster lands at the Cape "skid strip," the missile sections are removed gingerly and taken to nearby hangars for a series of extensive system inspections and tests.

After the checks are completed, the Titan is moved to its launching pad. There each stage is placed horizontally in an erector which lifts them into place.

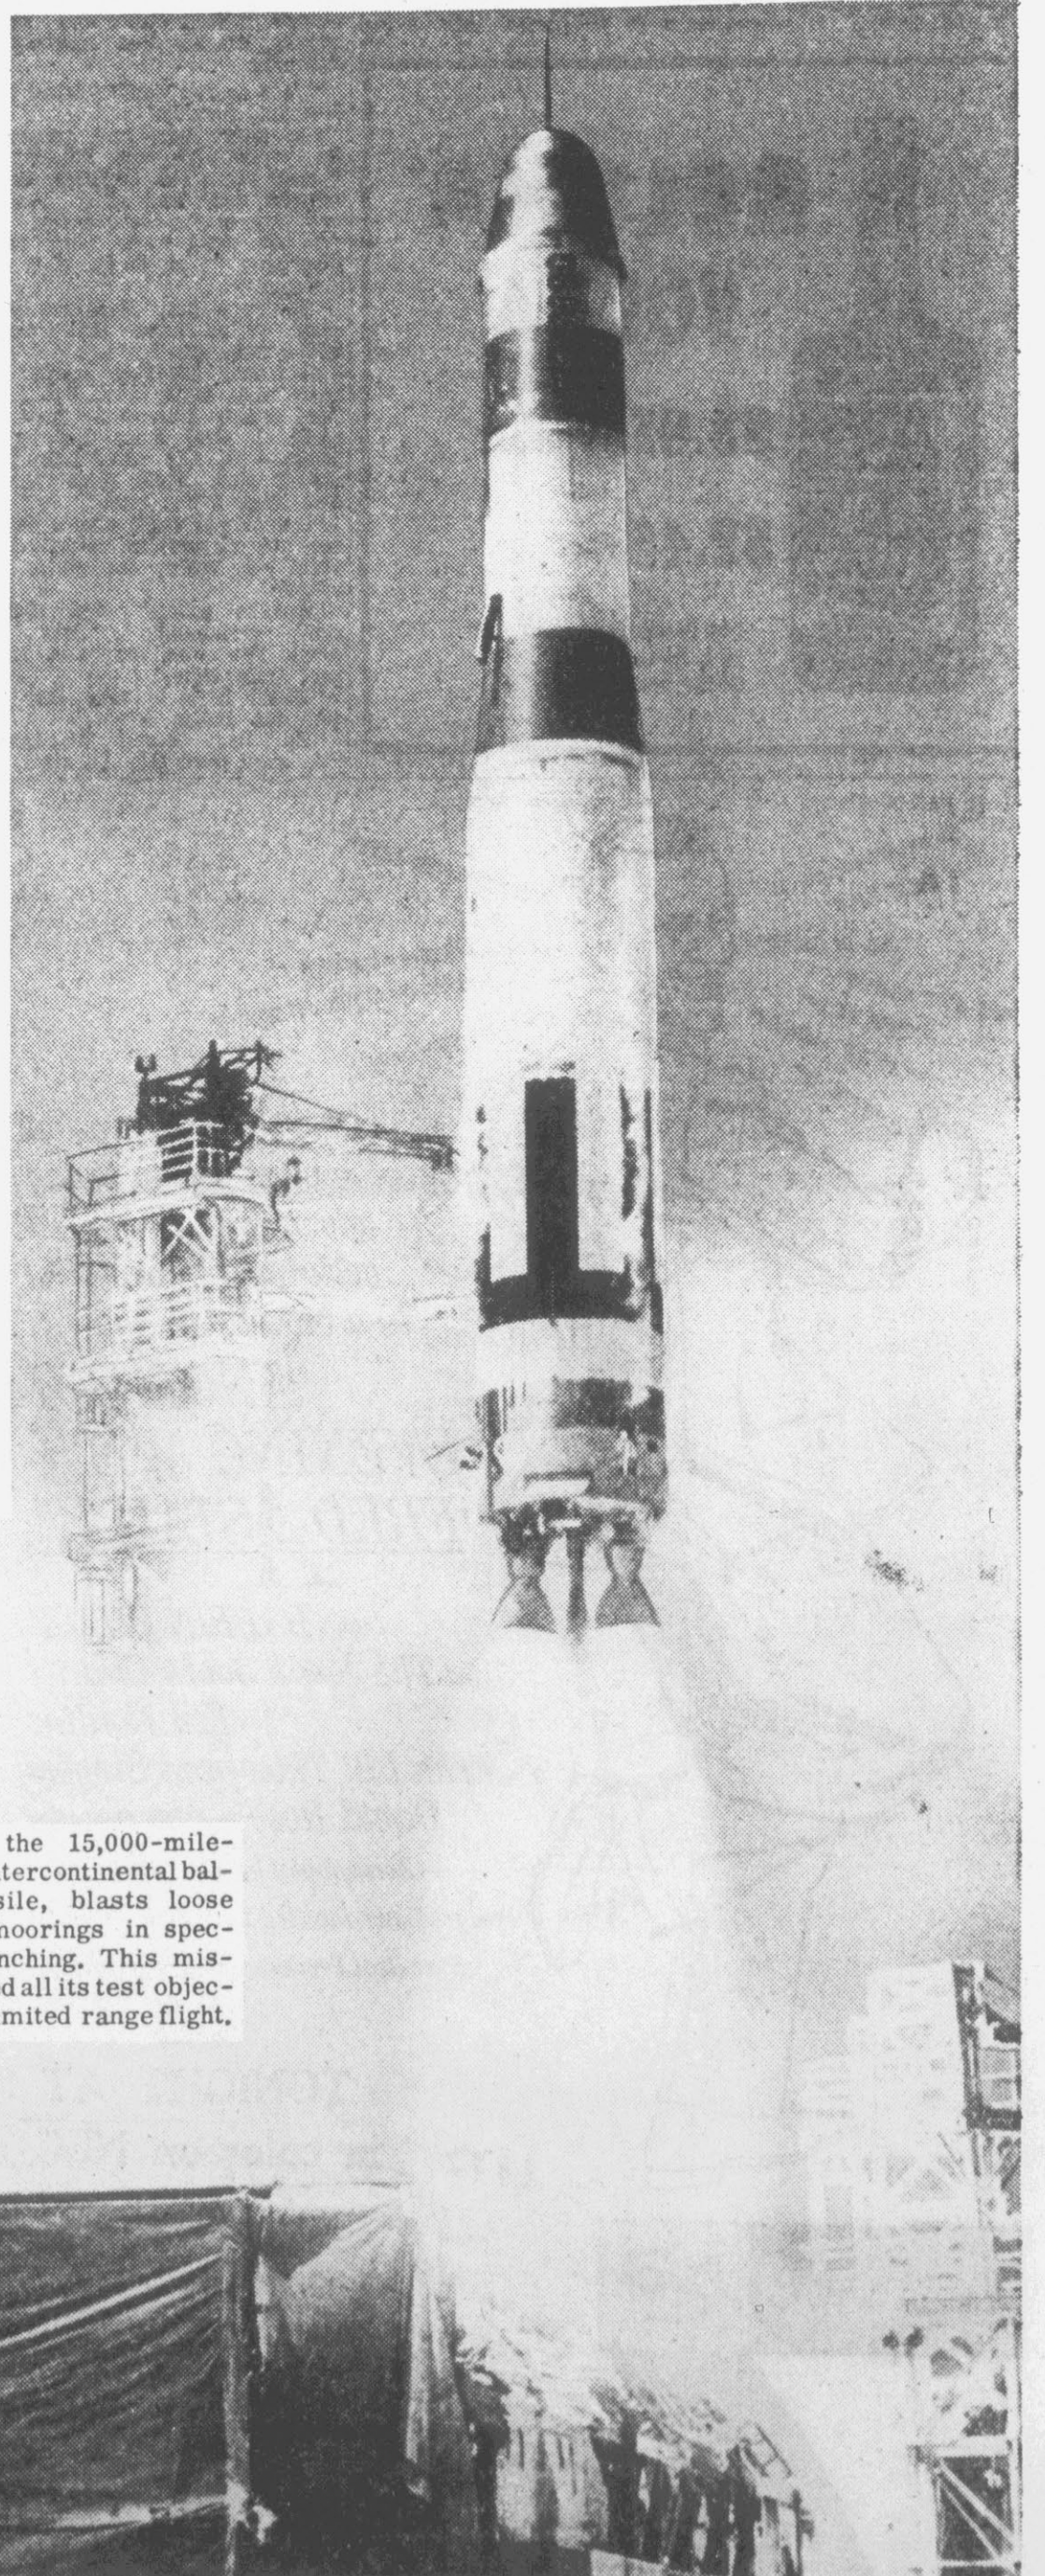

The 54-foot first stage goes up first. The 37-foot second stage then is hoisted into position and technicians put the two together.

Once in position, the Titan again undergoes a series of check-out tests — which may last several weeks — before the final countdown begins and the missile is launched.

The Titan, which weighs 110 tons at liftoff, is designed to hurl a thermonuclear warhead to a target 6,000 miles away, at a speed close to 15,000 miles an hour.

The Titan has been undergoing tests at Cape Canaveral since last February. The Air Force plans to have it operational by May, 1960.

When ready the missile will be planted in launching sites bored 10 stories into the ground. This will increase its immunity to enemy attack. Sites already are under construction near Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., and at the Pacific Missile Range, Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

7. Titan, the 15,000-mile-per-hour intercontinental ballistic missile, blasts loose from its moorings in spectacular launching. This missile achieved all its test objectives in a limited range flight.

Three Veteran Policemen Promoted

CHANGES . . . Police Chief Gibbs reviews changes in the department with Lt. McGowan; Capt. Robertson; Ptl. Russell, Stubbs, and Kerr; and Capt. Piver.

Three veteran Greenville Police officers have been promoted and three other officers assigned to other duties in conjunction with the re-organization of the local department.

R. T. Rogerson, J. W. Piver and H. H. McGowan were promoted in ceremonies at the Greenville Recorders Court Monday while Patrolmen C. H. Stubbs and L. J. Russell were transferred to the detective division of the department. Patrolman J. L. Kerr was transferred to the identification bureau.

Rogerson, a veteran of 25 years service with the department, was promoted to the rank of captain and placed in charge of the plain clothes division of the department.

Piver, a member of the department for the past seven years, was raised to the rank of captain and placed in charge of the uniform patrol.

Police Chief S. G. Gibbs pointed out that both Rogerson and Piver were responsible to him for the operation of their respective departments but neither man was assuming the status of Assistant Chief.

H. H. McGowan, promoted to Lieutenant and placed in charge of a shift, has been a member of the department for nine years.

According to Gibbs, the promotions and re-assignments were necessary to meet the needs of Greenville as it grows.

City Manager Leonard Bloxam praised the officers for their devotion to duty and promotions. He added the citizens of Greenville should feel fortunate in having such qualified men in the department.

Several months ago, as part of the expansion program, the Chief's office and the detective division were moved to the second floor of the municipal building. This move enabled the identification bureau to expand. It has two rooms on the ground floor. It also provided an office for the clerk of Recorders Court.

Belvoir-Falkland PTA Supper Set

Plans were completed in an Oct. 26 meeting of the Belvoir-Falkland Parent-Teacher Association for a PTA supper to be held in the school's lunchroom on Friday, Nov. 13—the weekend of the 1959 Homecoming Festival.

After completion of other matters during its regular business session, PTA members viewed a movie, "Sibling Rivalry." Following the film, parents were invited into the classrooms where discussions of student progress were conducted by the teachers.

Attendance prizes went to the 11th and third grades, respectively. Alan Wooten won the door prize.

The devotional for the meeting, held in the high school auditorium, was directed by the Rev. Mr. Homer Styons, pastor of Mt. Pleasant Christian Church.

Pres. Earl Lewis called the meeting to order and presided over the business session.

Pupils Donated To Flower Plan

Pennies, nickels and dimes given by Greenville school children went toward the purchase of a blanket of roses which covered the casket of J. B. James this morning.

Funeral services for Mr. James were held today. He was chairman of the Greenville School Board from 1941 to 1959.

School Superintendent J. H. Rose said the school children were informed yesterday of the plan and told they could do whatever they would like about it.

Students in both white and Negro schools gave any amount of money they desired. Teachers in the city school system also gave to the fund.

Votes For 34 By 39 At The Polls

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Thirty-nine citizens of the Wyandot County village of Marselles went to the polls Tuesday—and 34 of them got at least one vote for some office.

There were no candidates for any of the offices.

Earl Simpson came out on top of the heap. He received 10 votes and will be the new mayor.

VOTE FOR ELEPHANT

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—One voter in Salt Lake City's municipal election Tuesday didn't like either of the two candidates for mayor. Kai, the elephant at the Hogle Zoo received one write-in vote.

Hiring Team Of 9 Papa-Hunters

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Alameda County is hiring a team of nine papa-hunters.

Their job, beginning Jan. 1, will be to track down wandering fathers of children on relief.

Dist. Atty. Frank J. Cookley said the nine investigators would cost $70,000 but should reduce the number of aid-to-needy children cases.

First Wants To Be Last Mayor

CINCINNATI (AP)—Harry Graham was elected the first mayor of the village of Sycamore Tuesday. He wants to be its last mayor, too.

Graham's platform was a pledge to seek to have the new village in Hamilton County unincorporated again.

JUST ABOUT GONE

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—This city, which claims to be the site of the first street electric railway, has only 8.6 miles of track—age left—and no street cars. The last of the track is scheduled for removal.

Laws Decried By Castro Clique

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's laws emanating from weekly cabinet meetings attended by Prime Minister Fidel Castro, President Osvaldo Dorticos and the 16 ministers. It generally is agreed that Castro calls most of the shots.

Opponents lack a governmental voice. They have little organization, no official status. They run the risk of being labeled counter-revolutionary for any criticism.

Castro determinedly hews to the doctrine that the Cuban citizen is either with the revolution or against it.

He has said: "In Cuba today there is no room for any other division except that which exists between those who are for the revolution and those who are against it."

This stand has been underlined by the arrest of Maj. Hubert Matos, a veteran of Castro's revolution and his military commander for Camaguey province.

Matos was considered to be for the revolution when he fought in the hills of the Sierra Maestra. He was considered to be for the revolution when he was named governor of the important cattle province.

But Matos disagreed with Castro on some aspects of agrarian reform. He didn't approve of the appointment of Raul, Fidel's younger brother, to cabinet rank. He finally turned in a letter of resignation, which also expressed his concern over what he called growing Communist influence in the government.

Within 24 hours, Matos was charged with being against the revolution. He was arrested as a traitor and vilified by his former comrades.

Castro has not tolerated opposition nor criticism within his revolutionary ranks. The hate still remaining for Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship bars the possibility that either the leaders or popular support for an official opposition can soon raise out of the past.

That leaves the bearded prime minister and his clique to continue running the show.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Wide gains and losses by scattered issues featured an irregular stock market today. Trading was active early this afternoon.

The more volatile stocks made moves of as much as half a dozen points while pivotal issues showed a pattern of losses and gains seldom exceeding a point.

The market was mixed from the start after the election day holiday. The ticker tape was late for a 12-minute spell as some big blocks were traded.

American Motors and the Studebaker-Packard issues were delayed about half an hour in opening due to a pile up by orders. Both gained in out-of-town exchanges Tuesday.

Stock split proposals for Good-year and Eagle-Picher brought these issues wide gains. Electronics were irregularly lower in profit taking.

Such recent gainers as Motorola and Zenith dropped 3 points or so in profit taking.

The Associated Press average of 6 stocks at noon was off 10 cents to $223.70 with the industrials up 40 cents, the rails down 50 cents and the utilities down 40 cents.

Corporate bonds rose slightly. U. S. government bonds were steady.

Miss Doris Mae Hardy Is Given In Marriage

GREENSBORO — Miss Doris Mae Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman E. Hardy of Grimesland, became the bride of Second Lieutenant Evander Lee Humphrey, son of Mrs. Addie Humphrey of Jacksonville, Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie J. Hardy, 1601 Lincoln St.

The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. J. T. Hairston, pastor of Shilo Baptist Church.
Given in marriage by her uncle, the bride wore a white sheath dress of Chantilly lace over white satin featuring a sweetheart neckline. She carried a white orchid on her personal prayer book decorated with streamers of baby's breath.

Board Accepts Resignation Of Town Policeman

GRIFTON — The resignation of night policeman H. H. Adams was accepted by the Grifton Town Board at a special meeting last night held to discuss an accident Sunday involving the town's police car.

According to town spokesmen, Adams wrecked the patrol car about 5 a. m.; nine miles from Grifton. He is alleged to have been chasing a speeder at the time and lost control of the vehicle.

After some discussion, Police Commissioner Paul Whitley presented Adams' resignation to the board for action. It was accepted, effective 8 p. m. last night.

The board also passed a resolution, recommending to all future boards that Adams not be considered for employment by the Grifton Police Department again.
Estimated damage to the patrol car was set at $450.

the Optimist Club, said his organization agreed to the proposed plans "to the extent of soliciting our own membership and that of the wives, too. We plan to participate."

The Optimists selected Jack Turnage to represent them at the meeting.
Jay-C-Ette President Mrs. Richard Briley said the Jay-C-Ettes plan to participate. She said so far, members of the board who have been contacted approve the suggested plan. The plan, therefore, has approval of the Jay-C-Ettes, subject to the approval of the whole club, she said.

Lions Club head, Richard K. Worsley, said the Lions have appointed Frank Brown to represent them. He said the Lions have left their action open for Brown to hear more details and work out plans with whatever committee that was appointed.

Worsley said some club members had brought out the fact that the bloodmobile was available only a few hours each day, in the afternoons, and that many people could not contribute blood then. He said some citizens don't have a choice of when to go to the bloodmobile, and if it were open longer, there might be more participation.

Woman's Club President Mrs. Harvey Tripp said she had appointed as their chairman, Mrs. C. L. Lupton. She said the club itself had taken no action pending its meeting Wednesday afternoon.

However, Mrs. Tripp said the bloodmobile program "is certainly something that needs our help."
Many organizations have taken no action so far pending their regular meetings, when the suggestion can be brought before members, according to their presidents.
