Kennedy Struck Political 'Gold' In California But Facing Dilemma

Drew Big, Warm Crowds: Still, Gov. Brown May Have Votes Sewed Up

Editor's Note: Relman Morin, Pulitzer Prize-winning Associated Press reporter, has been in California several days interviewing political leaders and studying the grass-roots activities of Sen. John F. Kennedy. Here he describes the California dilemma facing the Massachusetts Democrat.

By RELMAN MORIN LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy struck political gold in four days of prospecting in California.

Top Democratic leaders, including Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, generally agree about that today. But his very success sharpens the dilemma that now confronts the Massachusetts senator. Should he enter the winner-take-all California primary next June and go for its glittering 81 votes in the Democratic presidential nominating convention?

The question pivots on another: Is he strong enough to beat Brown?

Some California Democrats say he is. Others are dubious. Kennedy himself said he would be "reluctant" to enter the primary. This, in spite of the compliments echoing here as Kennedy headed into Oregon today.

"He had a big success," said Brown. "I admire him very much."

But the governor said in an interview it has not caused him to reassess his own position. He says almost all the party leaders in the state want him to go to the convention as its "favorite son."

"A highly successful trip," said State Chairman William Munnell. "He made many, many friends in California."

"The most effective campaigning he's ever done in the state," said Paul Ziffren, national committee man.

Kennedy drew big crowds at almost every stop. They grew visibly warmer as he spoke. The receptions at the University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Southern California were little short of spectacular.

At UCLA, 1,500 people filled every seat of the auditorium. Hundreds milled around outside. When he emerged, a student called out, "Come back again and speak to the 1,000 who couldn't get in."

Others almost mobbed him, asking questions, shaking his hand, offering to do organization work for him.

Without advance publicity from the campus newspaper, and speaking in the afternoon well after a classroom session, Kennedy filled almost as big an auditorium at USC. "I'm still a Republican," a pretty co-ed told him, "but I think you're marvelous."

At the fund-raising Jefferson-Jackson day dinner, extra tables had to be put up. The tariff was $100 a plate. Kennedy didn't start delivering the main speech until after 11 p.m.—but got an ovation.

Sitting in the audiences, and listening to the word-of-mouth afterward, a correspondent discovered two things:

1. Women get starry-eyed over the boyish-looking Bostonian. They either sat looking mesmerized as he spoke or murmured, "Terrific. Cute. Wonderful."

2. His youthful appearance may be his greatest handicap. "He looks awfully young. Is he really 42?" people commented.

After this experience, why would Kennedy be "reluctant" to enter the California primary?

Brown listed two reasons. "If he comes in," the governor said, "Hubert Humphrey almost certainly would have to come in."

He said the Minnesota senator has "considerable strength" in the Democratic clubs in California.

"Also, even if he won, it might be a Pyrrhic victory." (Pyrrhus was a Greek king who won a battle but lost so many troops it almost finished him.) "It would be a tough fight and the wounds wouldn't be healed by the time of the election," Brown said.

There is still a third consideration. Californians say Brown is popular. The primary comes June 7, almost on the eve of the national convention. If Kennedy lost in California, the psychological impact could very well kill his chances.

Police To Check Publicity Angle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Was 9-year-old Evelyn Rudie's cross-country jet flight a runaway or a publicity stunt?

Los Angeles police will try to learn the answer when she returns from Washington. Police Chief William H. Parker said Thursday. He said the young actress will be questioned by a juvenile officer.

A city ordinance makes it a misdemeanor to give police a false report.

CBS-TV Prexy For Self-Policing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, said today that the broadcasting industry must itself shoulder the job of correcting the ills revealed by TV scandals.

As the windup witness before a House subcommittee investigating television quiz shows and other practices, Stanton declared: "We believe that legislation is no cure-all for these ills and that the primary responsibility lies with the broadcasting industry itself. CBS is moving forward in that conviction."

Stanton did not go all the way with the position taken earlier by Robert E. Kintner, president of the National Broadcasting Co., who advocated enactment of legislation making it a federal crime to rig TV quiz programs.

He told the subcommittee that while such a step might be desirable, legislation of itself is not a sure preventative "as is proven by the continuation of crime, despite stringent criminal laws."

Stanton's testimony also reinforced the CBS policy placed in effect last month banning all big-money quiz and giveaway shows from the network.

"We were forced to the conclusion that we could never be sure anything concealed on her person."

"We were considering trying to place her in Boys Town, Neb.," sighed Undersecretary Lew Hawley. The brown-eyed girl is 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighs 129 pounds. In her guise as a boy, she wore her hair in a duck-tail style.

The hoax came to light when Deputy Sheriff Sam Teague, with whose family Barbara was staying after her release from jail, found an incomplete letter to the girl's parents. He determined from the letter's contents that his house guest was a girl.

"I just can't understand it," said Sheriff Art Wermuth. "I've checked into it thoroughly and she went through the normal shakedown procedure to discover anything concealed on her person."

Wermuth said Barbara was arrested July 21 at Anderson, Ind., and told of burglarizing a Jefferson County house.

A local deputy took the girl in custody at Anderson and returned her here. When officers were unable to link her with any crimes—she said she had no parents, the Teague family gave her lodgings.

Sheriff Wermuth said she told of running away from home earlier this year. She posed as a boy "because it was more convenient," said Wermuth.

He said Barbara's parents refused her custody. Wermuth termed the girl a "talented artist, very intelligent."

"We think, possibly with some psychiatric help, that she will turn out all right."

Barbara is continuing to live with the Teague family.

Accused Slayer Is Found Insane

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Harold Eidinoff, 50, accused by the state of feigning insanity to escape trial for murder, heard a jury pronounce him of unsound mind Thursday.

District Court jurors held the graying former El Paso physician is insane now and was last Jan. 28, when he shot and killed Theodor Andrea, a lawyer, also 50, said Eidinoff nursed a grudge after Andrea introduced nude pictures of Eidinoff and his first wife in a 1954 court suit.

The verdict, under Texas law, prevents Eidinoff's trial on a murder charge. Instead, Dist. Judge Robert H. Bean will commit him to a mental hospital.

Public Enemy Free On Parole

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Ted Walters of Dallas, a top public enemy in the 1930s, is free on parole from the state prison at Huntsville.

Walters, now 47, and Floyd Hamilton were named as the No. 1 and 2 men on the nation's most-wanted criminal list in 1938.

In 1957 Walters completed a federal bank robbery sentence in Alcatraz and was transferred to the Texas prison under life sentence as a habitual criminal. Gov. Price Daniel approved the parole Monday.

Cite Big Growth Of Delinquency

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina welfare workers were told Thursday night juvenile delinquency is increasing at a rate five times that of the child population.

Dr. Ephraim Gomborg, executive director of the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth, said "less than one-third of the juvenile courts in the United States have sufficient staffs."

Gomborg spoke at the 40th annual session of the Public Welfare Institute. More than 400 public welfare workers and officials are attending the two-day institute.

Secret Assault Charged To Duo

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — Charges of secret assault face two non-striking meat plant workers, arrested in connection with shots fired into the home of a striker.

Eddie Sutton and Harmon Parham are scheduled for a preliminary hearing Nov. 12 on the charges. They were released under $700 bond each after their arrest Thursday.

Police Chief A. A. Privette said they are accused of shooting at the home of James Whitley on Wednesday night. Whitley said a bullet smashed through a door and lodged in a chair. It was the first incident of violence in several weeks on the strike scene.

Sutton also was arrested by Wilson County officers after a high-speed chase which followed the firing of shots at the home of Grady Godwin, who lives about eight miles from Wilson. Godwin, a striker at the Swift & Co. plant where Sutton and Parham are employed, gave chase.

Deputy Sheriff W. R. Pridden said Sutton and Parham, along with Sutton's wife, were in the car chased down by Godwin. Highway Patrolman C. R. Simons charged both Godwin and Sutton with speeding, careless and reckless driving, and carrying a concealed weapon. They were released under $500 bond each.

The strike at the Swift plant now is three months old. Strikers have been replaced, and the plant has resumed full operation. Plant and union officials recently announced contract negotiations had broken down.

Paving Projects Approved At City Council Meeting

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor

Approval of several paving projects and consideration of sidewalks in the Elm St. School area highlighted the City Council meeting last night.

The councilmen also set a public hearing on the re-zoning of certain property between Second and Third from Reade St. to within one lot of Summit St.

They called for more information concerning the cost of a consultant service to prepare various studies for the city.

The city fathers approved the paving of Bancroft Ave. from W. Fifth St. to Farmville Blvd. provided the final two property owners who signed the paving petition pay their share of the cost.

City Manager Leonard Bloxam told the council that 25 property owners along the street originally signed the paving petition. Twenty-five of this number have now paid their share of the cost.

Bloxam pointed out that if this section is paved, a continuous paved street from W. Fifth to Dickinson Ave. would be available.

F.D. Sledge, a resident on the street, told the council that the remaining two property owners had said they would pay when they saw work being done on the street.

"The contractor will be authorized to go right down that street when the money is in," Mayor S. Eugene West told him. "But he will not begin work until the money is in."

Councilmen approved three other paving and curb and gutter projects last night subject to the petition signers paying their share of the cost.

Madison Circle in Colonial Heights was approved. Bloxam said there are ten residences along the dead end street and eight have already posted their money.

The city fathers approved paving all the unpaved areas in the Willow Road, River Dr.—Eastern St. Library St. area subject to all the property owners paying their share.

The action was taken after the council considered a petition for Eastern St. and Library St. from Willow Rd. to River Dr.

Approval of paving of Ward St. from Tyson to the present paved portion along with Tyson and White Sts. from W. Fourth to W. Fifth was given by the council subject to petitioners paying their share.

Finally the paving of Hudson St. between W. Fourth and W. Fifth was approved.

The city's share of the paving work will come from Power Bill funds. All of the projects include paving and curb and gutter in line with the city's paving policies.

Sidewalks in School Areas Mayor West asked City Manager Bloxam and City Engineer C.A. Hollida to look into the question of sidewalks in school areas.

The action was taken after a delegation from the Elm St. School appeared before the council to request a sidewalk from 14th St. to Greenville Blvd. along Elm. They also requested a sidewalk from Elm along Overlook to the school and then on Berkley Rd. to 14th St.

John Grier appeared as the PTA group representative.

Mayor West pointed out to the group that the city has made an effort to have Elm St. placed on the State Highway system.

"They have finally indicated they are going to do this," he stated. "They haven't said just when."

The mayor told the group that Elm from 14th to Greenville Blvd. would have to be ripped up and lowered in some places three or four feet.

This would make placing of a sidewalk grade difficult until plans for the street are available, he indicated.

However, he agreed with the group that great emphasis has been placed on streets during recent years with little sidewalk construction.

"We got to go back and try to catch up the slack."

School Supt. J. H. Rose who appeared with the group, asked that the council include Fleming St. in its overall consideration of the school sidewalk studies.

"I'd like to give it equal importance with this," he said.

Councilman Charles King moved that a temporary sidewalk be installed along Elm. However, Mayor West explained that such a sidewalk would cost half as much as a completely paved walk and the motion died for lack of a second.

Councilman W.S. Stafford offered a motion that a committee be appointed to make a preliminary survey of the sidewalk situation.

Public Hearing Councilmen set a public hearing for Jan. 7 on the re-zoning of certain property between Second and Third St. from residential to commercial.

Councilmen will have the option of re-zoning "all or part" of the property from Reade St. to within one lot of Summit St.

The action was taken on a Planning-Zoning Commission recommendation that the property be re-zoned. The commission's action was taken after John Causey, operator of John's Flower Shop on Third St. requested re-zoning of his lot to allow him to construct a building on the front of the property.

Mayor West presented a petition signed by property owners in the area objecting to the proposed re-zoning.

The motion as approved would allow the council to re-zone the entire area or the one lot occupied by Causey following the public hearing.

Councilmen authorized the city manager to obtain figures on a consulting service to make land use studies, community facility studies and necessary Capital Improvement reports for the city.

They also asked for a detailed report on what the studies will cover.

Such studies were recommended by the Planning-Zoning Commission.

Big Snowstorm Is Followed By Cold

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The coldest weather of the season spread across the interior of the nation today on the heels of the big Midwestern snow storm.

The freezing zone extended from Utah and Idaho on the west to Michigan and Indiana on the east and reached as far south as Texas and Arkansas.

The mercury column sank to -17 in Fraser, Colo., -10 in Lemmon, S.D., and -7 in Bismarck, N.D.

The snow ended in most of the Midwest, but still fell in Michigan. Marquette in Michigan's Upper Peninsula had 16 inches. Escanaba, Mich., had 4 1/2 inches during the night.

Blowing snow and icy roads made travel hazardous in some areas.

The wave of cold moved eastward toward the Atlantic Coast and a gradual warming trend began in the West.

The storm was blamed for at least seven deaths, most of them in traffic accidents.

Says Industry Is Weaker Power

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union is much the stronger power in the record 115-day steel strike, the head negotiator for the steel companies contended today.

"This is not a struggle between two giant forces of equal power," said R. Conrad Cooper of U. S. Steel. "It is a dispute between two parties having vastly unequal powers."

He added, in an address prepared for the Virginia Manufacturers' Assn.: "On the company side there lies only the power to say no to demands which it cannot accept—and to suffer the beating it may take in consequence."

"No man in the management of any steel company," he said, "can shut down the American steel industry and deprive the American people of the products of its mills. Nor can any single individual in government do so—not even the President of the United States."

"There is only one man who can choke off our nation's steel supply at will, and that man is the president of the Steelworker's Union," David J. McDonald, he said.

"Whether any one man should possess the power to inflict such losses upon the nation and whether possessing this power, he should use it so unparagonably is another deep-seated matter of principle that has risen out of this record-breaking steel strike," he said.

No Proof

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. fact-finding committee on Laos reported today it had found no proof that Communist forces from North Viet Nam had taken part in the current conflict in the little Indochinese kingdom.

In a report to the 11-nation Security Council, the committee declared, however, that the Laotian rebels had received equipment, arms, supplies and the help of political advisers from neighboring North Viet Nam.

The report was the result of a first-hand inquiry by the four-member committee created by the Security Council last Sept. 7. Members of the group were Japan, Argentina, Italy and Tunisia.

The Wednesday meeting was the last for the resigning member, who is also a dentist. State Law requires that a dentist be included among the professional members of county health boards.

Dr. Pearce will assume his position at the next meeting of the Board.

The Board members, in other action, rescinded the requirement of a physical examination for a health card for commercial food-handlers. Consequently, the requirements now for the health card are a chest x-ray or a fluoroscopic examination and blood test. Furthermore, if an applicant has a history of ever having had typhoid fever, a special test is required.

It is suggested that a food-handler desiring a card go to his private physician and then bring the examination results to the Health Department to obtain the card of approval signed by the health director.

If the person does not have a family physician in his area, or is indigent, he may attend the Pitt County Health Department Clinic any Wednesday from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon and from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m.

The clinic will be closed Nov. 11.

The Pitt County Board of Health, at its business meeting Wednesday, appointed Dr. O. R. Pearce, Jr., Greenville dentist, to fill the vacancy left on the Board by the resignation of Dr. M. W. Aldridge.

The announcement came this morning from Pitt Health Director, Dr. Georgia V. Mills.

Dr. Aldridge was required by law to resign his position on the Board due to his election to the

DR. O. R. PEARCE, JR.

Greenville City Council. The law states that, if a person holds an elective office, he may not occupy an appointive government position.

The Wednesday meeting was the last for the resigning member, who is also a dentist. State Law requires that a dentist be included among the professional members of county health boards.

Dr. Pearce will assume his position at the next meeting of the Board.

Navy Scrapping New Seaplanes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is scrapping 14 Seamariner jet seaplanes built by the Martin Co. under a 441 million dollar contract ended last August.

A Navy spokesman said usable parts and instruments will be removed before the hulks are scrapped.

Martin built 16 of the 600-mile-an-hour Seamariners, envisioned as mine-layers and photo reconnaissance planes. Two were destroyed in crashes.

The program was scrapped in August in an effort to save 72 million dollars in proposed expenditures for the planes and support equipment.

Closets Need Good Storage Facilities

RALEIGH — Every boy and girl wants his or her own bedroom compact, comfortable and convenient. Proper storage facilities help in making this possible. If this space is available, there will be "a place for everything and everything in its place."

Mrs. Lillie Little, house furnishing specialist for the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service, says closets built with divisions are two important factors to consider when making this division plan.

The desirable compact closets of today have sturdy adjustable rods, shelves of varying heights for hat boxes and other boxes for storage, shoe racks or bags, laundry bins and shelves for clothing not placed on hangers. A small closet well equipped and fitted is better than a large spacious one that is poorly planned.

"Sturdy rods, hooks and shelves that are well placed make it possible to keep clothing in good order," says Mrs. Little, "but the rods should be staggered at different heights so clothing of varying lengths can be hung with ease."

Behind the scene, good storage has much to do with one's appearance and poise. Mrs. Little says, "A girl and boy who keeps their clothes in order will have a neat looking appearance and their clothes will not only look better but will last longer."

Gardening Today

BULBS
By John G. Duncan
The writer of Ecclesiastes stated "To every thing there is a season". This is the season to break the bulbs that give the gardener so much pleasure in the spring.

Bulbs have many uses in the garden. Informal plantings find their colorful flowers displayed to advantage. They may also be used in tubs, pots or other fixed or movable containers.

Such arrangements are useful on the terrace or indoors. Splashes of them planted in the shrub beds around the house break the continuous monotony of foliage display. They are useful in beds along edges of walks. Beds of them followed by annuals give color to the garden from frost to frost.

To get the best results, proper planting and good bulbs are essential. Bulb bargains often turn out to be money ill spent. Get your bulbs from a reliable concern.

In most cases bulbs purchased locally is the safest way to obtain them. Not only do you see what you are getting, but the local dealer stands behind his product. This should insure you good bulbs, true to name and priced reasonably.

Bulbs, that is, most of them like a situation where the soil doesn't remain wet too long or dry out too quickly.

If your soil tends to be clayey and heavy, dig in 2 inches of fine gravel. See that this is spaced in at least 10 inches and mixed well in the soil. For areas that dry out fast, cut in compost or peatmoss. Cut this in 8 inches to 10 inches. Just to get either of these mixtures in the upper 2 or 3 inches of soil does no good. Get it in deep. Good drainage is a requirement for satisfactory bulb performance.

While shade presents no problem as far as the bulbs flowering period is concerned — it should be remembered that they need sun or light to help them to be strong and healthy for seasons to follow. Planted under trees whose branches are cut high offers no obstacle; but those under low growing shrubs will not have the second seasons beauty you expect. Do not cut out foliage while it is green—allow it to mature or turn yellow.

Following is a chart of several flowers with the planting time, height, how to plant and where to plant:
Crocus, Sept. 1-Dec. 15, five inches, three inches, three inches apart; Grape Hyacinths, Sept. — Dec. 15, five inches, three inches deep and three inches apart; Tulip, Sept. 15 -Dec. 15, five inches, six inches deep, rock garden, six inches apart, borders beds.

Plans For Pageant Get Underway Here

Plans for Pitt County's Health Pageant, to be held during State 4-H Club Week at State College in Raleigh next summer, got underway at a meeting of the steering committee in the auditorium of the Agricultural Building here Wednesday night.

Carolyn Stokes and Miss Carolyn Sumrell.

Sam Winchester, farm agent, and Mrs. May, home economics agent, said it will take the cooperation of all citizens to produce the pageant.

Soap-Water: New Hospital Drug

The dreaded staphylococcal germ, which is unaffected by penicillin and other antibiotics, can be combated best by "plenty of soap and water combined with an equal amount of elbow grease," according to Dr. Martyn E. Richardson, in an address to the 63rd annual meeting of the American Osteopathic Association.

This highly contagious "bug" was once held in check by other microbes, which now have been killed by the antibiotics—thus destroying nature's balance of power. The suds-and-water treatment, diligently applied, appears to be the most effective means of controlling this menace which so often strikes maternity wards, jeopardizing the lives of the newborn infants.

Social Notes

Miss Pat Swindell is recovering at home after a tonsillectomy yesterday.

Mrs. Anna Jones Manning, a patient at Pitt Memorial Hospital, will return to her home in Bethel today.

The guest list includes members of the faculty and administrative staff of the college, their wives and husbands, and student government officers. Members of Gamma Sigma Colony of Kappa Delta will be assisted in receiving by local alumnae of the sorority.

W. C. T. U. Meets

BETHEL—The November roll call of the Bethel Woman's Temperance Union will be held at the home of Mrs. J. T. Gurganus Sr. Monday at 3 p.m. All members and friends are invited to hear the guest speaker, the Rev. E. W. Charlton of Enfield.

Bath-house Etiquette

Ingredients: 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 cup finely diced onion, 1 1/2 pounds ground chuck beef, 1 cup mashed potatoes, 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 1/2 cup cold water.

Method: Heat 1 tablespoon of the butter in 10-inch iron skillet; add onion and cook lightly. Mix onion, beef, mashed potatoes, bread crumbs, salt and pepper; mix in egg, then water. Shape mixture in 36 small round cakes. Heat remaining 2 tablespoons butter in skillet and brown meat cakes in it in two lots so as not to crowd. (Add more butter for browning if necessary or desired.) By the time cakes are browned they will probably be cooked through. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Note: We used instant mashed potato in this recipe, making up an entire envelope according to package directions but adding 1 tablespoon butter. The potatoes remaining after the 1 cup is measured may be refrigerated and used another way.

Try A Pork Roast

RALEIGH — There's no doubt about it—a juicy, rich-flavored pork roast is good eating. And when it's glazed with an aromatic sauce brisk with sage—you have a delicacy that would tempt any gourmet.

According to Mrs. Rachel Ferguson, food and nutrition specialist for the n.c. agricultural Extension Service, fresh pork is in good supply at reasonable prices. You can purchase a pork loin or pork shoulder roast. But at least a three pound roast.

If there are leftovers, sliced pork makes delicious sandwiches. Diced roast pork is good in salads or in barbecue sauce.

trick. Just place roast fat side up on rack in a shallow, open pan. Loin roasts do not need a rack as rib bones form a natural rack to keep meat up out of juice.

Insert a toast meat thermometer into center of roast, making sure it does not touch any bone. Roast in a slow oven of 325 degrees until the thermometer indicates 145 degrees. Fresh pork should be cooked well done with no tinge of pink color.

About 45 minutes before the roast is done, spread with gourmet-sage glaze. Use a sauce made of canned consommé thickened to a medium thickness with cornstarch and seasoned with black pepper and dash of sage.

Effort's First Taste Of Success

Greenville's industrial development efforts, rejuvenated in recent months, have brought to the city the first taste of success with announcement by the Committee of 100 that a 100-employee boat manufacturing firm will locate its plant here.

The announcement is proof positive that Greenville, like other communities in this and other states, can share in the industrial development boom which is in progress, if its citizens desire such development.

Had it not been for the efforts of the Greenville Committee of 100 and the cooperation of the Pitt County Development Commission as well as the efforts of individual local citizens, there is no doubt that the new boat manufacturing plant would have been located elsewhere. Several other communities in this part of North Carolina were under consideration by the company before the final decision was made to locate the plant in Greenville.

Location of the new firm here adds diversification to the industry Greenville already has. The 100 or more new jobs the new plant brings to Greenville will add to the income of local citizens, and help to raise the economic level of the community.

Of no less importance is the fact that the location of the new plant here shows clearly that Greenville has much to offer industry, and that it can enjoy industrial development if local citizens and organizations will put forth the necessary effort to attract and obtain new industries. Pitt County's Development Commission began operations less than a year ago as did the Greenville Committee of 100. The location of this new manufacturing firm in Greenville is the direct result of their efforts.

Now that the ice has been broken in this new campaign to bring more manufacturing firms to Greenville, there is every reason to believe that other new plants will follow if sufficient effort is put forth by local citizens in supporting their development organizations.

So far as G and W, Incorporated, the new boat manufacturing firm, is concerned we are confident they will find in Greenville a climate favorable to their progress and development. They will find the citizens of Greenville cooperative and vitally interested in the well being of their operations here.

W. W. Speight, president of the Greenville Committee of 100, Leonard Weston, engineer with the Pitt County Development Commission, and other citizens who were instrumental in bringing the new firm to Greenville are indeed to be congratulated on the success of their efforts.

This initial success with the new effort in behalf of the economic development of Greenville—as well as all of Pitt County should prompt local citizens to intensify their support of the development organizations that are now in operation.

Trip By The President Shows U. S. Interest

President Eisenhower's December tour to nine countries on three continents will provide the President another important opportunity to solidify free world organization against the continuing encroachment of communism.

Coming on the heels of his recent visit to Europe during which conferred with leaders of NATO countries, the forthcoming trip should place President Eisenhower in an excellent position for his to Russia and further conferences with Premier Khrushchev probably next Spring.

It is significant that the President has seen fit to include not only Africa, but more particularly Asia in his itinerary. No other President of the United States has ever visited Asia while he was in office. At this particular moment, the President's visit to Asia could have an important bearing on the outcome of the struggle between Freedom and Communism which is going on throughout the Far East.

The trip should impress upon national leaders in Africa and Asia that the United States is not interested in what happens in Europe alone. It is interested in the rest of the free world as well and is anxious that Asiatic and African nations as well as major European powers join in the solid front of the free world against the Reds.

Over all, the trip should enhance the position of the United States in international affairs and place the Western leaders in a better position to deal with Premier Khrushchev if and when the long-talked-of Summit conference takes place.

Busiest Period For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, pushing 70 and with only 14 months to go in the White House, is heading into what may be the busiest period of his presidency. He is setting himself a fast and strenuous pace.

His announcement Wednesday — that he will visit nine nations in Europe, Asia and Africa in December — is just the beginning. He'll wind up that trip with a three-day Western summit conference in Paris.

It may or may not be of significance that Eisenhower — who has had a heart attack, an intestinal operation, and a minor stroke — made this announcement only after getting a reassuring okay on a weekend medical check-up.

Early next year the President, who was 69 Oct. 14 and will be over 70 when he leaves office Jan. 20, 1961, may have to return overseas for a summit meeting with Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Still on tap after that is the President's promised trip to the Soviet Union.

Also lying ahead of him is the presidential campaign of 1960. Although the Constitution makes this second term his last one, he will probably campaign to get a Republican elected his successor.

But these activities are all extras. In between times he has a half of work in his regular job in the presidency: keeping the country running. This is the grinding part of his task.

Between now and the time he leaves Dec. 4 on his three-continent trip he must put in the final work on the budget, or encyclopedia of expenses, which his administration will offer Congress when it returns in January 1960.

This is no simple task, since it involves wrangles among his own various department and agency heads over how big a piece of work pie each is entitled to. Work on this budget has been going on since last summer. It involves more than just expenses. His 1960 programs, the final act of his presidency, must be based on it. Their size, cost and reach. He has already revealed that his 1960 theme song, as in 1959, will be economy.

Further, sandwiched in between any trips he takes next year will be other chores: 1. Working on and approving in detail the programs and messages he will send Congress during the early months of the year.

2. Fighting for them, even to the extent, perhaps, of making TV appeals for public support of his ideas.

On top of all this he most probably will have to be the director and moving force of whatever this country's foreign policy turns out to be.

This was a task he didn't have to worry much about so long as Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, a dominant kind of man, called the shots. Eisenhower from the beginning of his presidency relied tremendously on Dulles.

Eisenhower began to assert himself more in foreign policy night, Greenville sports fans will get a chance to get a look at a successful single wing attack on the gridiron.

Education is preparation for life. Everything we learn at school and college cannot be turned into dollars or job promotions. Most of what we learn is intended to furnish us background so that we can enjoy life better and live it more fully. Education can be made so practical that it becomes little more than a meal ticket. Our minds and souls need to be fed as well as our bodies.

It is always well to keep hammering at the educators to keep education practical. But education wholly practical is not education at all; it is mere training. Education is preparation for happy living.

By HENRY HOWARD

They're Learning Right

Last night it was a pleasure to watch a bunch of youngsters, under competent supervision, reaping genuine enjoyment and valuable training at the Reserve Armory out at the local airport.

These boys, participating in a program instituted here back about the first of the summer by the local Optimist Club, were firing round after round at silver dollar-sized targets some 50 feet away.

Sponsored by the local civic organization, the program embraces youths between the ages of 12 and 18. It is a thoroughly enjoyable opportunity for the boys and they learn, along with techniques of good marksmanship, the vital importance of safety, the value of discipline, warmth of friendship.

In the near future, the local rifle squad will become associated with the National Rifle Association and, thereby, begin competition with squads from other cities.

The boys really get a kick out of firing at the small targets at the other end of the armory's largest inside area. After firing from all four positions (prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing), scores are checked and recorded.

Last night, we were sitting there talking lightly about this and that as the boys were firing away. We found out that a perfect score for this particular event was 200 points.

Pretty soon, a little tyke strolled by and told the instructor, "I'll see you next week . . . I didn't do so hot tonight."

The instructor queried, "So what did you shoot?"

In a voice that trailed off into the night as he trudged out the large door, he muttered, "Only 151."

Boy, that ain't bad shootin'! What's more, ALL the little guys can handle that hardware — safely, too!

Office Types On Job

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Many a captain of industry often brags, "I like to feel I have my office so well organized it runs just as efficiently when I'm away as when I'm in it."

Actually, of course, he secretly prefers to feel just the opposite—that without the magic of his presence and touch of personal authority the whole place tends to dissolve into chaos.

What just does happen when illness or a necessary business trip temporarily removes the head of the firm from his usual scene of command? How do the office mice play when the boss is away?

Here are a few typical characters you can probably observe in your own office:

1. The chief of staff — He spends half an hour going around the office bawling everyone out. Then he retires to his own office and spends the first of the day sipping paper airplanes around the room and dreaming about how nice life would be if he were always the boss.

2. The boss's secretary — She groans inwardly. She knows all the ambitious little subordinates will show up with a fistful of letters for her to type—so the boss, on his return, will know how hard they worked while he was away.

3. The gossip — He goes around spreading the rumor that the boss isn't away on a business trip at all, but is probably larking in Las Vegas with the wife of one of his neighbors.

4. The bookie — He tours the office making bets on whether the boss will have bags under his eyes his first day back on the job.

5. The two—Martini, two-hour lunch man—He has four Martinis and a four-hour lunch, on the theory that a fellow should work twice as hard when the boss is away.

6. The homebody — At 9:15 he phones his wife. At 5:15 in the afternoon he is still helping her worry about how to fix the vacuum cleaner, how to deal with the children, and making last-minute additions to the grocery list of things to bring home for dinner. He has done nothing all day but run up the company's phone bill $8.40 on his personal home calls.

7. The practical joker — All his life he has yearned to put gin in the office water cooler, and now is his chance. He sneaks down and buys a bottle of juniper juice, but when he comes back upstairs his courage fails him—and he hides the bottle in his desk.

8. The open rebel — He walks boldly into the boss' empty office, lies down on his couch and takes an hour's nap—just to prove to everybody he's a brave nonconformist. He spends the rest of the day wondering where he'll be working next week.

9. The tale-bearer — This cloak and dagger character goes about seeing what office misdeeds he can note and tell the boss about later. What he doesn't realize is that the boss is smart enough to figure that a guy who has time for all that spying couldn't have been very busy himself.

10. The rest of the herd — With no one to impress by acting, they buckle down hard, get all their day's work done by 4:30 p.m., and sneak home early.

machines and jobs this would show early. A growing economy with an ever higher standard of living must have the production increase that can come only through ever greater industrialization. Workers might as well burn the factories and farmers sow salt in their fields, as to block production growth. When progress is denied deterioration sets in.

Another side of the story is that union leaders, through socialistic policies, are destroying more jobs than automation ever could. Union efforts to hamper and hamstring business likewise kills thousands of new jobs every year before they can be born. It makes no sense for people to inflict injury on themselves and their posterity. But no people ever worked harder at so fruitless a task than today's Americans.

Why The Sugar Quota System?

By ELMER ROESSNER
The United States could bust Fidel Castro without firing a shot.

Congress could sharply cut Cuba's sugar quota. The island would be thrown into bankruptcy—its recession—deepening, would inflame communist revolution; Castro would go the way of his predecessors.

It would be about the most foolish thing the U.S. could do. The U.S. has that power because of the Sugar Act, a strange jigsaw of legislation. Under the law, the Secretary of Agriculture estimates the total American consumption of sugar for each year.

Then domestic and foreign sugar producers are given a quota according to a formula laid down by Congress. By another formula, the import price is also held above the market price, giving windfalls to foreign sugar producers.

This year's demand is estimated at 9,000,000 tons, about half of which is the domestic quota. Cuba was given a quota of 3,215,457 tons. The remainder was divided among the Philippines, Mexico and other sugar-producing countries.

A LARGESE IN CASH
At present, the world price of sugar is around 3 cents a pound; the import price is 6 cents—a pound and this enables domestic producers to sell around 6 cents.

This curious system has several purposes. It provides a market above the world price for domestic producers, including cane growers of Louisiana, Florida, Puerto Rico and Hawaii, and beet-sugar producers of the West.

It enables the U.S. to bolster the economies of the sugar republics by providing them with a sure economic income.

It supplies these countries with dollars with which they can purchase American goods.

And it gives the U.S. leverage in dealing with these nations. A small cut in a nation's quota can force a lot of the President's relatives off the payroll. A big cut can trip the nation into a depression.

Why, then, not ask Congress to abolish the Cuban quota?

For one reason, Russia might step in and offer to pick it up. It could pay for it in rubles, which would be good for buying Russian machinery and other products. It would be an un-economic deal for Russia, because it would have to pay twice the world price for sugar, and pay costly shipping charges. However, it would be worth it to get a foothold in Latin America.

Why not then simply cut the quota, not enough to give the Russians much advantage, but enough to depress the Cuban economy to the point where the people would rebel against Castro?

It would be madness.

WOULD AID REDS
Such drastic action would alienate American friends throughout Latin America and beyond. It would be pleading guilty to Communist charges that we interfere in internal affairs of other nations.

It would cut off Cuba's ability to buy American products, costing American farmers and manufacturers almost half a billion dollars a year in sales.

And it would provoke Cuba to seize American-owned sugar facilities on the island, if not more U.S.-owned property.

The Sugar Act expires with 1960. Next year Congress will extend it with amendments, or write a new law. If it changes the Cuban quota, it will make sure the change is not vindictive. It may write clauses for automatic reduction of quotas where nations seize American-owned property. It may give the President power to change quotas. But it will probably resist efforts to make the act a big stick to be used on the Castros of Latin America.

SCARE 'EM ENOUGH AND THEY'LL PAY UP!

"We can only offer debtors relief from anxiety, therefore the collector has to make sure that a certain amount of anxiety is present."

Supreme Allegiance to God

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 5:17-42.

The high priest and his followers were angry because they found the apostles teaching and healing, and they laid their hands on them and put them in the common prison.—Acts 5:17-18.

The angel of the Lord opened the prison doors, and brought them forth, saying, "Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life."—Acts 5:19-20.

The high priest called his council together and sent men to the prison to bring the apostles before him. The men returned, saying, the men were not in the prison.—Acts 5:22-23.

Brought before the council and reprimanded for preaching Christ when they had been ordered to stop, Peter said, "We ought to obey God rather than men."—Acts 5:29.

MEMORY VERSE—Acts 5:29.

Allegiance to God

THE APOSTLES ARE ARRESTED, THROWN INTO PRISON AND MIRACULOUSLY RELEASED

Scripture—Acts 5:17-42.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. IN A PREVIOUS lesson we were told of the apostles' healing of many sick persons in Jerusalem and also from cities nearby, whose relatives and friends brought them from their homes to be made whole.—Acts 5:12-16.

Peter and John were arrested and examined by the Sanhedrin, and warned to give up speaking and teaching in the name of Jesus.

They refused and the apostles continued their God-given activities, which "created more excitement among the common people, and the Sadducean leaders of the Sanhedrin, the partisans of the chief-priestly families, swooped down on the whole band of apostles and locked them up overnight in a common prison. Next day they intended to take more drastic steps than they had taken on the previous occasion."—F. F. Bruce in Peloubet's Select Notes.

"But the angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doors, and brought them forth, and said, Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life."—Acts 5:19-20.

MEMORY VERSE

"We ought to obey God rather than men."—Acts 5:29.

They obeyed, entering into the temple "early in the morning, and taught. But the high priest came, and they that were with him, and called the council together, and all the senate of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison to have them brought."

"But when the officers came, and found them not in the prison, they returned, and told, saying, The prison truly found we shut with all safety, and the keepers standing without before the doors; but when we had opened, we found no man within."—Acts 5:21-23.

"Then came one and told them, saying, Behold, the men whom ye put in prison are standing in the temple, and teaching the people. Then went the captain with the officers, and brought them without violence; for they feared the people, lest they should have been stoned."—Acts 5:25-26.

"And when they had brought them, they set them before the council: and the high priest asked them, saying, Did not we straitly command you that ye should not teach in this name? and, behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood upon us."

the taxing, and drew away much people after him: he also perished; and all, even as many as obeyed him, were dispersed. "And now I say unto you, Refrain from these men, and let them alone; for if this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to nought; but if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it; lest haply ye be found even to fight against God."

They agreed to this, "and when they had called the apostles, and beaten them, they commanded that they should not speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go."—Acts 5:34-40.

"And they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for His name. And daily in the temple, and in every house, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ."—Acts 5:40-42.

How many of us who study this lesson would suffer shame for the name of Jesus if we lived in the days of persecution? If all children could be trained from infancy in their homes and in their schools to obey God rather than to be tempted to wrongdoing, "juvenile delinquency" could vanish from towns and cities.

Ambitious Plans In Local CAP Unit

Under the direction of Capt. Richard Balzer, the Greenville Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol has been reorganized again and is currently staging membership and equipment acquisition drives.

After reorganizing a couple of months ago, the local squadron has a cadet enrollment of 15, and eight senior members.

The cadet program, which undertakes the instruction of both boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 21 in pre-flight, navigation, communications, and ground maintenance aspects of the CAP program, is designed to prepare men and women for adult duty in the organization and also for possible enlistment in the U. S. Air Force.

The CAP is a branch of the Air Force and receives a monthly appropriation, though small, from that service branch.

Greenville's unit has already begun to participate in the activities of its group—Group III of the North Carolina "Wing" which embraces squadrons in New Bern, Kinston, Whiteville, the Cape Fear Valley, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Goldsboro, and Henderson, as well as Greenville.

The most recent was a Sunday trip (Oct. 25) to an Elizabeth City rendezvous with other Group III squadrons. Participating units performed simulated rescue and other operations for conditioning.

According to Capt. Balzer, the local Squadron, though comparatively small, "did well for itself" during the all-day training meeting.

Such excursions are regularly scheduled for Group III squadrons. The all-day affairs are held semi-annually.

The local squadron received its charter Oct. 22 as Group III Commander Daniel Lilley of the Kings. The larger of the two planes, Squadron attended the week-end in a prone position and also for the installation of a respirator.

The local squadron's command is optimistic about acquiring Capt. Balzer emphasizes that some type of aircraft here in the CAP, like many other public near future. Through the cooperation of volunteer contributions, the Air Force, CAP units can obtain planes in good conditions. The monthly Air Force allotment is only $150.

Capt. Balzer explains that the initial purchase cost is much lower, but that recovering work and sometimes, work on the engine of a plane will consume most of the cost.

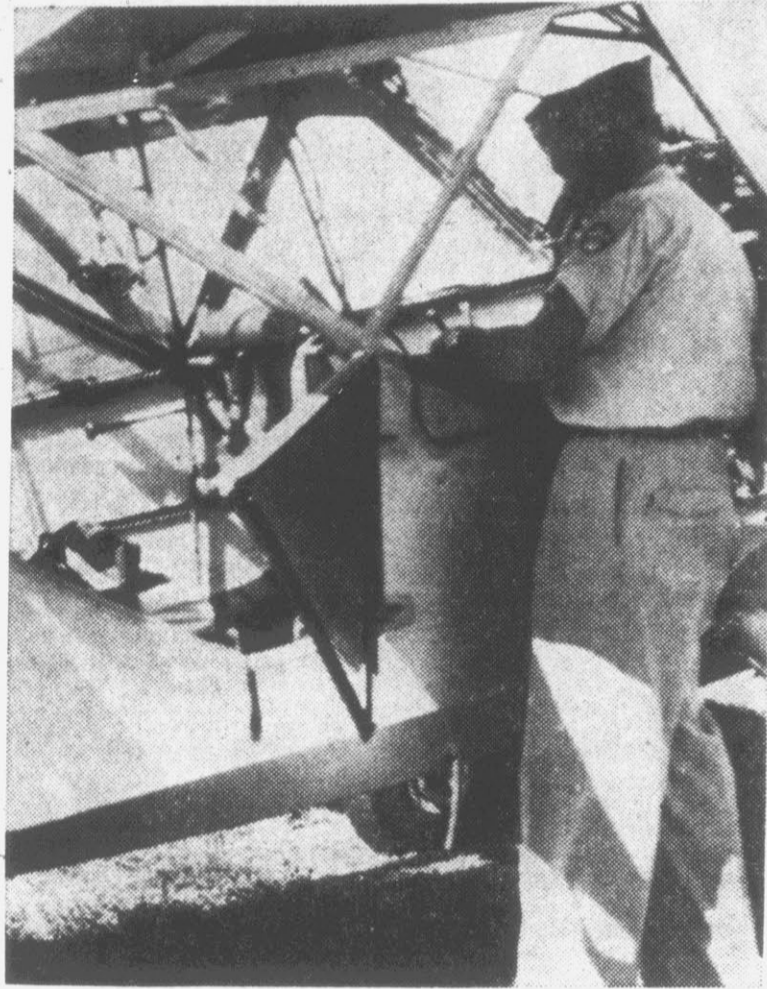

The ultimate aim of the local squadron, says the captain, is to have two aircraft in readiness at all times. One, a type of recon-naissance or observation plane; the other, a two-seated aircraft to be used for immediate transportation of accident or disaster victims to central medical centers for emergency treatment.

For fund-raising campaigns, the squadron is in a position to sponsor dances, dinners, or similar events.

Meetings for the local squadron are held each Friday night at CAP headquarters on the grounds all times. One, a type of recon-naissance or observation plane; port. Persons interested in either the other, a two-seated aircraft becoming cadets or senior members are invited to attend.

College Choir Is In Rehearsal

The East Carolina College Choir of 58 men and women students is now rehearsing for a series of programs to be given during the 1959-1960 term. An outstanding campus organization sponsored by the music department, the group sings under the direction of Dr. Carl T. Hjortsvang of the faculty.

Included among members of the ensemble are seven students from Pitt County: Patricia Lane Roberts of 404 N. Walnut Street, Farmville, 1st soprano; Barbara Wilson of Greenville, 1st soprano; Barbara Phillips of Rt. 2, Grifton, 2nd soprano; Laura Lee Gurganus of 808 Evans Street, Greenville, 1st alto; Anne Fodrie of 108 Boyd Ave., Greenville, 2nd alto; Theodore King Fountain Jr., of 404 Elizabeth Street, Greenville, 2nd tenor; and Jasper Jones of Greenville, 2nd tenor.

Students who sing with the College Choir were selected through auditions because of their musicianship and their talent as vocalists. At public appearances they wear maroon robes with gold stoles and present an attractive appearance on the concert stage.

Activities scheduled for this school year include a spring concert at the college; participation in the annual presentation of Handel's "The Messiah" by the East Carolina department of music; concerts in Greenville, Kinston, Kenansville, and Wallace; and a spring tour, which will include appearances in New York City and Washington, D. C.

Father And Son Sue For Shares

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When Amy Bachman died last January she left a will distributing her $911,486 estate as follows:

Two thirds to a San Mateo County animal shelter.

One third to a foundation to provide "free beds for the needy."

One dollar to her husband, Arthur, of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Nothing to her son, Arthur Jr., of Atherton, Calif.

Thursday the father and son filed suit in Superior Court here, each seeking approximately half the estate.

The father charged she was physically and mentally incompetent when she drew up the will.

The son said his mother "liked animals better than people."

RUGGED DAY

Twain Dreamed Of His Boyhood

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Like many another man, Mark Twain once entertained dreams of being a boy again—but only on his own terms.

In 1881 he wrote five letters to Dallas boy, David Watt Bowser, 12, who had written to ask if the humorist wouldn't like to relive his boyhood. Not until this week did the letters come to light in a forgotten lockbox.

Signing his real name — S. L. Clemens — the author said his answer was "no" unless he could impose some stipulations.

"The main conditions would be that I should emerge from boyhood as a cub pilot on a Mississippi boat, and that by and by become a pilot and remain one," he wrote.

Twain further insisted that the season must always be summer with the magnolias in bloom, and that he drew no midnight watches on a river boat.

"It makes one feel so dreary and low-spirited and forlorn," he explained, "to raise out of a pleasant sleep at dead midnight and go perch away up there in the pilot house in the midst of wide darkness with apparently nobody alive in the desperate world but him."

Twain was 46 at the time. He died in 1910, when he was 75.

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Charles Greene now can cut hair after 5:30 p. m. But first he had to get himself arrested for violating a city ordinance requiring barber shops to close at 5:30 p. m. City Judge Irving Goldman declared the 26-year-old man unconditional. Greene told the judge "I lose about $34 a week on account of the closing law." If convicted, he could have been fined $35.

Greenville has a good idea of what to expect tonight in their non-conference scrap with Wilson but putting on stop to the Fike High single-wing is another thing.

The Phants are enjoying one of their most successful gridiron campaigns and would like nothing better than a victory over their larger foes.

There won't be any answer this week, but the Mountaineers—who have won their last 30 conference starts—will find out in the next two weeks when they have successive home dates against their two most dangerous challengers, Virginia Tech (Nov. 14) and The Citadel (Nov. 21).

Two conference games are on tap Saturday, both involving the lower echelon, with William and Mary (1-4) at Davidson (0-3) and George Washington (0-4) at Richmond (1-3-1).

U.S. Made Slim Choice To Take Ryder Cup Win

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—The United States is only a slim favorite to regain possession of the famed Ryder Cup from Great Britain as play opens today in the international golf classic.

The setting is the new Eldorado Country Club's 6,820-yard course with its delectable water hazards and par 33-35-70.

On tap in the first of the two days of play were four Scotch foursomes of match play — two players of each team playing one ball and alternating shots.

The top foursome featured Capt. Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff against Britain's Harry Weetman and Dave Thomas.

Leading off were Britain's Bernard Hunt and Eric Brown against Bob Rosburg and Mike Souckach of the United States. Other matchers pit Capt. Dai Rees and Ken Bousfield of Britain against Julius Boros and Dow Finsterwald and Peter Allis and Christy O'Connor against the Yanks' Doug Ford and Art Wall Jr.

Idle today, but possible contestants in Saturday's eight singles matches, are Jack Burke Jr. and Jay Hebert of the United States and the invaders' Norman Drew and Peter Mills.

The matches are played every two years, alternating countries, for a trophy established in 1927 by the late Samuel A. Ryder. The British upset the Americans at Sheffield, England, in 1957 for their first victory since 1933.

The winner of each match earns one point.

Burke, whose four previous appearances in Ryder play are second in number for the United States to Snead's six previous, viewed this renewal with apprehension.

"The Americans will have to be the luckiest guys in the world to win. These British players are good—they play as tough a tournament schedule as we do and they play tougher courses."

Middlecoff Denies Switch

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Cary Middlecoff denies he will be the golf pro at the nearby La Quinta golf course.

Middlecoff said Thursday he will continue as pro at the Diplomat Country Club in Florida. A published report said Middlecoff will take the pro job at La Quinta, expected to open in a few weeks.

'Dad's Day' May Arouse Tigers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There may be an intangible psychological factor going for Clemson when the 10th ranked Tigers play host to Duke Saturday in what could be the most important Atlantic Coast Conference game of the year.

In question and answer form, here's what Clemson Coach Frank Howard had to say about it:

Q—What is the psychological factor?

A—"It's Dad's Day for the football players.

Q—That ought to spur your boys on.

A—That's why I arranged it. Every little bit helps.

Q—You must have pointed for this game for some time.

A—"Well, we know all along that Duke would be the best team to play in the conference this season. We wanted to make it a good game.

Q—Any other special preparations for Duke?

A—"I'm not going to say. We prepare for all our games. I don't want them to know what I'm doing.

Q—They've got some good backs.

A—"They've got a good line, too. In fact, the best I've seen this year. The way they're playing now. That Mike McGee, he's fine.

Q—"Is he as good as they say?"

A—"McGee was Associated Press lineman of the week this week for his play in Duke's 10-7 upset of Georgia Tech.

Q—"Every bit of it."

Q—"You're got a good tackle in Lou Cordile."

A—"Yes, and Harold Olsen, our right tackle, is playing a lot of ball.

Q—"A battle of lines...?"

A—"Well, we've got a good passing attack and some good runners.

Q—"It'll be close?"

A—"I'd settle for a one-point victory right now. It's going to be a real fine football game.

Q—"Your next three games, all in the conference, are at home. Is there a home field advantage in football?"

A—"Yes, some. You don't get tired from traveling when you play at home. We expect about 45,000. We're going to take care of everybody that wants to get in. We'll sit 'em on the bank, anywhere. Most of 'em will be pulling for Clemson—that helps.

Q—"About the other...?"

A—"It's Dad's Day, too. Every little bit counts.

Clemson will be out to protect its 4-0 ACC record and its 5-1 overall record that boosted it to 10th in the nation in the latest AP poll. Duke, rapidly improving, is 1-1 in the conference and 3-4 overall.

The ACC schedule starts tonight with North Carolina (3-2, and 3-4 against Miami in the Orange Bowl. Fourth place South Carolina (2-2 and 4-2) is at Virginia (0-2 and 0-7) in Saturday's other ACC game while North Carolina State (0-4 and 1-5) plays Missis-

Jordan Provokes Many Questions In Fight Game

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

Northwestern, which hasn't played in the Rose Bowl in 11 years, and Wisconsin, which has the Big Ten's only loss in the current Big Ten-Pacific Coast setup, fight it out Saturday for the probable trip to Pasadena.

However this game must share the weekend's top-billing with the battle for the mythical Eastern championship, between unbeaten Syracuse and Penn State, at University Park, Pa.

Thus four members of the current Associated Press top ten have at it while top-ranked Louisiana State will have its hands full with Tennessee and third-ranked Texas tries to improve its position in the Southwest Conference title race and subsequent Cotton Bowl berth against Baylor.

The weekend play begins tonight in Miami's Orange Bowl when North Carolina (3-4) faces Miami (Fla.), which has split six games and whose coach, Andy Gustafson was hanged in effigy earlier this week.

Wisconsin, ranked ninth, has its backs to the Big Ten wall since it lost in conference play to Purdue. But a much-improved pass defense, the overall play and quarterback Dale Hackbart and an iron-clad line are the Badgers' credentials.

The Penn State-Syracuse affair is being built up as a 7 to 1 battle — Penn State's quarterback

Richie Lucas with his 919 yards in overall offense against the Orange's "Sizeable Seven," a group of linemen who have helped Syracuse to the top nationally in offense and defense.

Syracuse (No. 4) has won all six games while seventh-ranked Penn State has a 7-0 record. Both are being closely eyed by the Orange, Cotton, Gator and newly-formed Liberty Bowl committees. Even the loser of this one should get a bid to one of the above.

LSU, heading for another national title and Sugar Bowl appearance, won't have an easy time with Tennessee (4-1). The Vols are a quick, aggressive team that could catch the Tigers (7-0) down a bit after their thrilling 7-3 victory last week over previously unbeaten Mississippi.

If Texas (7-0) gets by Baylor (3-3) then it has Texas Christian to look forward to next week. Coach Darrell Royal's Longhorns have backs Rene Ramirez, Jack Collins and Bobby Lackey in fine shape.

Southern California (no. 6) plays Southern Conference member West Virginia (3-4) in an inter-sectional game in Los Angeles. The Trojans (6-0) and particularly guard Mike McKeever, will be watched closely after last week's alleged slugging incident at California. Southern Cal also will have to watch itself closely after its two squeakers over Stanford (30-28) and Cal (14-7) the last two weeks.

The rest of the top ten action is in the South where Mississippi (No. 5) plays Chattanooga, Auburn (No. 8) tries to keep its SEC title hopes alive against Mississippi State and tenth-ranked Clemson hopes to stay atop the Atlantic Coast Conference against Duke.

The other important intra-con-

Phillips Expects Most Anything

In preparing for Wilson this week, Coach Bud Phillips has warned his boys to expect most anything from the Cyclones. "Last year, they ran from the "T" most of the season but used a single-wing almost all night against us," remarked Phillips.

The Greenville coach feels that his club had one of their better weeks of practice. "Contact was real good this week and I hope that we might be right tonight."

Hardwood Giants Collide Saturday

BOSTON (AP)—Comes now the most widely heralded personal duel in professional basketball history — the clash of Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain.

Those two, who rank as giants both in size and professional stature, collided Saturday night when the NBA champion Boston Celtics take on the rejuvenated Philadelphia Warriors in the first of their 13 scheduled meetings this season.

Each team is unbeaten this season. Boston in five games and Philadelphia in three, and the Eastern division lead rides on the match. That, however, is almost incidental to the Russell-Chamberlain affair.

North Carolina's starting fullback will be Bob Elliott, who transferred from Miami after playing with the freshman team here two years ago. Game time is 8:15 p.m. (EST).

Ring Magazine Honors Perez

NEW YORK (AP)—Flyweight champion Pascual Perez of Argentina today was named Ring Magazine's "fighter of the month" for his 13th round knockout of Japan's Sadao Yaoita in a title fight.

Yaoita was dropped from No. 1 contender to No. 2 behind Thailand's Pone Kingpetch in the monthly ratings released today. Kingpetch is going to get a title shot with Perez.

There were many changes in the welter weight and lightweight classes.

By whipping former welterweight champion Viril Akins of St. Louis, Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., was moved up from the lightweight ranks to sixth place among the 147-pounders.

Charley Scott of Philadelphia, who stopped leading contender Sugar Hart, also of Philadelphia, took over the top among the welter contenders. Hart dropped to third behind Cuba's Luis Rodriguez.

The removal of Lane from the lightweights moved Paolo Rosi, Italian-born New Yorker, to second.

Heavyweights Fight Tonight

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Unranked Mike Dejohn is favored to whip former pro footballer Charlie Powell in a 10 - round heavyweight bout tonight in the War Memorial Auditorium, but Powell had other ideas.

"I can punch with both hands as well as anybody," said Powell, who broke one of them last June in losing to Roy Harris.

Powell, ranked eighth by the National Boxing Assn., has not fought since then.

Dejohn was a 6-5 favorite over Owell, a former defensive end and linebacker for the San Francisco 49ers.

Last Game

The Farmville Red Devils will journey to Havelock tonight for their last gridiron match of the season. The conference tilt is slated to start at 8:00.

Farmville Coach Elbert Moe commented earlier this week that the eight seniors on the Red Devils were anxious to make their last game a good one.

Hurricane Has Many Injuries

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Miami football team weak in scoring punch hopes to find the right combination tonight when it meets North Carolina in the Orange Bowl.

Coach Andy Gustafson spent the past week working on offense, hoping to overcome the deficiencies of last week's game with Kentucky, when Miami had six scoring opportunities but never crossed the goal line.

Better running is needed, Gustafson said, to mix in with the passing attack. The Hurricanes threw 40 times against Kentucky.

"You can't win football games on passing alone," Gustafson said. "We've been working on our running plays in an effort to get a better balance."

The Hurricanes will be badly handicapped by injuries. Guard Larry Babb and Bill Diamond both are out, tackle John O'Day is in doubtful condition with a leg injury, and quarterback Theron Mitchell will not be able to play because of muscular conditions.

Gustafson said he expects North Carolina to be a tougher team than Kentucky.

North Carolina's starting fullback will be Bob Elliott, who transferred from Miami after playing with the freshman team here two years ago. Game time is 8:15 p.m. (EST).

Co-Captains

A couple of seniors, Louis Dail and Bert Aycock, have been named to co-captain the Rose High gridders for the remainder of the 1959 season.

Both play in the Greenville line and are regulars for Coach Bud Phillips. Dail, a 185 pounder, plays a tackle post and Aycock, 155 pounds, works at a flank position. The duo are seniors.

Previously, the club had elected different co-captains for each game.

at Iowa; Purdue at Michigan State; Georgia Tech at Notre Dame; Indiana at Ohio State. Southwest: Arkansas at Rice; SMU at Texas A&M; Virginia Tech at West Texas.

Far West: Texas Tech at Arizona; Utah State at Colorado State; Utah vs. Idaho at Boise; California vs. Oregon at Portland; UCLA at Stanford; Oregon State at Washington.

Oklahoma and Kansas co-lead in the Big Eight with 3-1 marks, meet Kansas State and Colorado, respectively. The Sooners are trying to start another 74 game unbeaten string.

Television viewers in the Eastern region can watch Pitt play Boston College beginning at 1:30 p.m. EST (NBC-TV). The other regional pits Air Force at Missouri, starting at 2:30 p.m. EST, also over NBC. The latter game is hooked in the East when BC-Pitt finish.

Other Saturday games: East: Villanova at Army; Bucknell at Colgate; Dartmouth at Columbia; Brown at Cornell; Boston U. at Holy Cross; Rutgers at Lafayette; VMI at Lehigh; Maryland at Navy.

Books & Stuff

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG

Probably in order to give you plenty of time before Xmas to make your selections, the N. Y. Times annual Children's Book Section is out this week. Full of reviews, articles and advertisements to confuse, intrigue and interest you, it will demonstrate at least one thing to you—there are plenty of books for children of all ages available just for the asking. Your job is to choose the right ones for the right kids—not an easy thing. We have one suggestion:

HIRSHBERG When in doubt, choose a book that is too hard for the child you are choosing it for, rather than too easy. Many people will disagree with us on this, but in our own experience we have found that children as well as college students can do a lot more with their minds than we think they can. More often than not they'll accomplish things that we privately feel are beyond them—but if we ask them to do the impossible they'll sometimes come up with the improbable. And that, dear reader, is a lot better than nothing at all—which many times is the sum total of what we demand, but which certainly isn't enough.

Children and TV

In the latest—October 29—issue of THE REPORTER there's a very provocative article by Marva Mannes called "The Conquest of Tiger Mom"—a bit of a pun on the "Tiger Mom" effort of grim and bloody TV programs on the minds, morals and actions of our small fry. Miss Mannes' remarks and researches prove pretty conclusively that the current rash of murders, stabbings and shootings now being indulged in by American youngsters is directly traceable to the performances of these same occupations that they see daily over TV. Quoting one researcher: "It is suggested that crime and violence programs increase tension and anger, increase maladjustment and delinquent behavior, teach children techniques of crime, blunt their sensitivity to suffering and suggest to them that conflict is best solved by aggression." We personally have no problem along these lines—there's no TV set in our house. But for those of you who might have problems—better turn down those guns.

Some New Ones to Watch

From John F. Blair, publisher, comes news that another native Tar-heel has just written a new book. By Charles E. Eaton, who was born in Winston-Salem, its title is WRITE ME FROM RIO, and it's a collection of Mr. Eaton's short stories written against the romantic backdrop of Rio de Janeiro. The book came out this week with THE DAY NOTHING HAPPENED, a take-off on numerous recent books about "The Day" something really big did happen. It purports to be "an authoritative account of what were probably the least eventful 24 hours in American history—last Thursday."

Local Scene

This weekend sees MY TWO ANGELS opening the season for the East Carolina Playhouse. Curtain is at 8 at McGinnis. . . . And at the local cinema, for a one-night stand on Thursday, the 12th, the movie version of Mozart's opera, DON GIOVANNI. . . .

Today's Review

A very young teen-ager reviews a recent book for teenagers about horses.

BRUMBY, The Wild White Stallion, By Mary Elwyn Patchett, Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Co., 1959.

This book contains two different kinds of stories, one of a lonely boy, one of a wild horse. . . .

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS
Having qualified as Administrator of the Estate of Lasel Edwards, horses and cattle. One day, while exploring the countryside, Joey looked down into the valley and saw a large herd of beautiful Brumbies. A Brumby is a horse of Australia. There is rarely seen a good-looking Brumby, but the ones Joey saw were truly beautiful horses. Joey came to love this herd of horses and even had names for them. There was one colt particularly that caught his attention. It was a lovely smoky white horse and he called it "Brumby" as sort of a title. Brumby's life was always in danger. When he was only a young colt, his mother was killed by lightning. Brumby was lonely but found a friend in a wild Dingo whose parents had suffered the same fate. He was captured by a cruel man and had an exciting but unhappy experience. When he finally escaped he went to round up a herd of mares. He had a beautiful herd of about thirty or forty. He led them back to where he had been born in the beautiful valley on the Meeham property. The Meehams put up a fence around the valley and the horses didn't mind. Joey bred his beautiful mare Moonlight with Brumby and this started their dream which would soon come true.

First - Night Cheers For Comedy Piece

By MARY H. GREENE

One of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences to attend a first-night performance by the East Carolina Playhouse in several years turned out last night when the college dramatic club opened its major production of "My Three Angels," comedy adapted from Albert Husson's French play by Samuel and Bella Spewak.

When word gets around that the comedy is good entertainment and is well done, this reviewer predicts that tonight's and Saturday's performances will draw full houses. Curtain time is 8 p.m., and the place the McGinnis auditorium.

"My Three Angels" is a play full of laughs, clever and amusing, but with serious overtones. The setting is, appropriately and significantly, the Christmas season in Cayenne, French Guiana. Characters and plot develop the idea of the duality of human nature, the good and the bad in mankind. That good is found in the most unlikely people and that meanness crops up among the outwardly upright—are ideas which persist after the theatergoer has laughed and laughed through three acts.

The Playhouse production is well cast. Three convicts — two murderers and a swindler — who turn out to be the good angels of the harassed Ducotel family, are played by James Roper of Belhaven, Ed Barcliff of Charlotte, and James Brewer, newcomer of the college faculty this year and assistant director of the Playhouse, who is modestly identified on the program by the type name of George Spelvin.

ECC Safety Measures Are Reviewed

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Safety at East Carolina College was the subject of the program at the monthly meeting of the Pitt County Safety Council held yesterday.

The college's Dean of Women, Ruth White, opened the program with facts on safety rules and regulations in the dormitories and restrictions placed on students.

Miss White pointed out that each building on the campus is inspected monthly for fire hazards and things which might lead to an accident such as faulty steps, cluttered halls and the like. These inspection reports are filed in the State Offices in Raleigh.

Electrical appliances such as hot plates are not allowed in dormitory rooms. Extension cords are outlawed also. Benzine, gasoline, cleaning fluids, fireworks and firearms are also "restricted material." Health exams, which are required of each student before entering school, also contribute to the safety of the students, Dean White added.

College Police Chief Johnnie Harrell told the council of safety on the campus and streets of the college. The streets are checked by the officers. Signs stating speed limits and indicating the direction of flow of traffic are posted.

Street lighting for night-safety is also checked by the college police and, while making their regular rounds, building steps are checked for hazards. The officers also try to see that the campus is kept clean and free of debris which might cause an accident.

With over 2,500 student cars on campus and 4,500 students and staff members, college police check for congested intersections and direct traffic whenever the need arises.

The problem of grade-school children riding bicycles in a careless and reckless manner on the streets of the college is also a problem, Harrell stated. Everything possible is done to insure the safety of these riders.

Another regulation which is rigidly enforced requires all firearms to be checked with the college police department. The guns are kept at the police station until the owner wishes to use them, Harrell concluded.

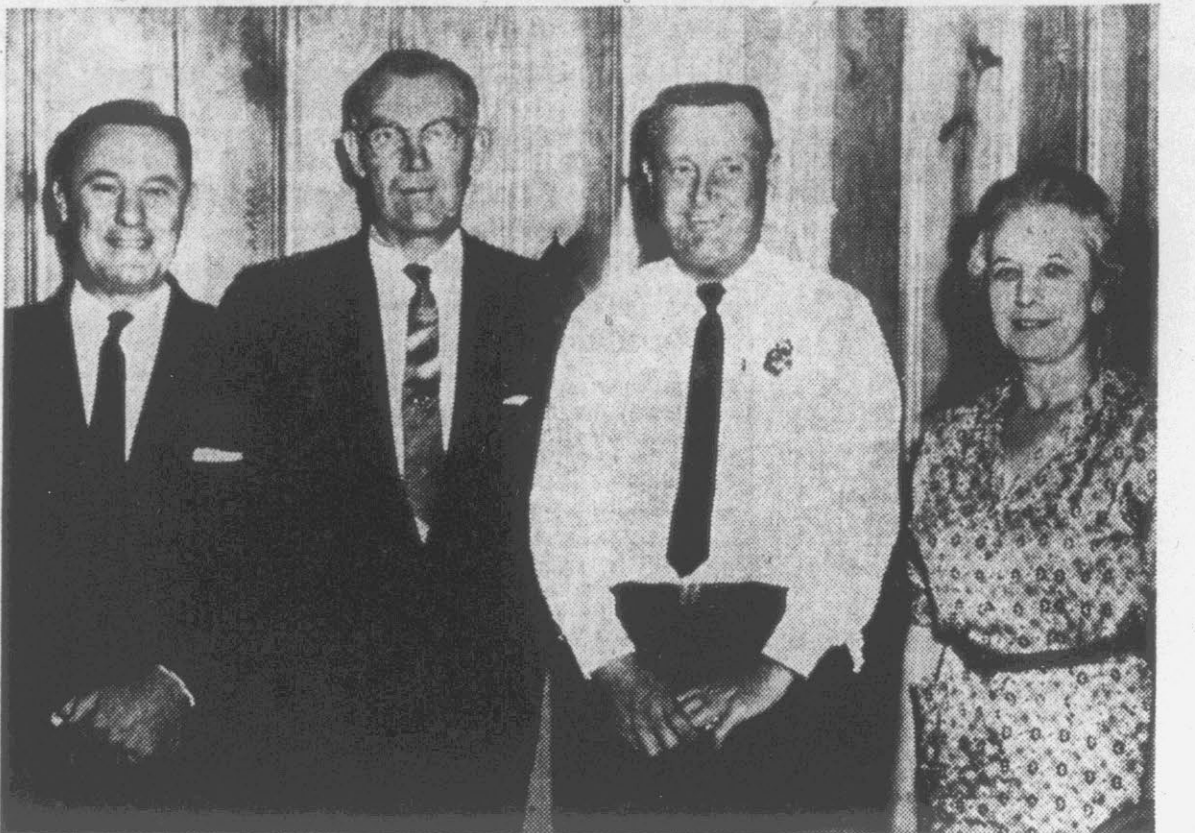

Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, Director of Athletics for the college, told the group of classes offered at East Carolina which teach safety.

Jorgensen said approximately 400-500 students each year take the Red Cross Standard and Advanced First Aid Courses at the school while a like number are enrolled in swimming classes.

Senior Life Saving and Water Safety Instructors courses are also offered by the college. It was pointed out that every student is required to take one quarter of swimming instruction or pass a swimming proficiency test before graduating. Some safety is taught in all physical education courses. Jorgensen continued, with at least one graduate course dealing exclusively with safety.

In addition to the courses dealing with safety offered in the Physical Education Department, courses in driver education are offered by the college. Safety instruction in specialized fields such as chemistry and industrial arts is also given the students, he concluded.

The next meeting of the Pitt County Safety Council will be held December 3. All persons interested in safety are urged to attend the meeting.

SAFETY COUNCIL MEET . . . Council Chairman Charles H. Whedbee; Dr. Jorgensen, Chief Harrell and Dean White of ECC.

Setting and costuming were attractive assets to the comedy. Mr. Yanchin's frock coat and beaver; Miss Berryman's ostrich-feathered hat; Miss Dobson's pretty, bright-colored dresses; Mr. Bowen's well tailored cutaway; Mr. Harris' immaculate uniform; and the contrasting drab garb of the convicts were well designed and well depicted.

The living room and glimpses of the garden of the Ducotel home, with their suggestions of tropical conditions, were expertly planned and provided a suitable background for the action.

The play moved fast, always a gratifying accomplishment in amateur theatricals. There were no long waits between acts, no lag as the plot went forward.

A technical staff of approximately twenty-five members of the playhouse worked backstage on lighting, make-up, scenery, properties, and other aspects of production to make "My Three Angels" a success. Among members were Dr. Joseph A. Withey, technical director; Robert Gooden of Clarkton, stage manager; and Nancy Collins of Franklinton, assistant stage manager.

An attractive program for the production was designed by Ed Lancaster of Vanceboro.

Appearing in about two weeks in the fall issue of the East Carolina student magazine "The Rebel" will be an article on "My Three Angels" written by Dr. Roy Prince of the foreign languages department. Dr. Prince compares and contrasts the French and the English versions of the play and analyzes the symbolism of the drama. Those who attended performances of the comedy will no doubt wish to learn more about its significance from Dr. Prince's study.
