Western Big Three Call Nikita To First Of Meetings In April

President Is Greeted By Franco

MADRID (AP) — President Eisenhower arrived in Madrid today, carrying his mission of peace and friendship to the 10th nation on his 11-nation tour of three continents.

He was greeted by Generalissimo Francisco Franco, who considers this presidential visit a tribute to his steadfast support of the Western allies against communism.

Eisenhower flew in from Paris, where the Western Big Four wound up a top-level meeting with an invitation to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to a series of summit meetings on cold war issues.

In Madrid, a city always ready for gaiety, the fiesta began Sunday night. Young people sang and flourished noise-makers. Streets were full despite a cold rain.

For days the President's auto route into Madrid from the U.S. air base at Torrejon has been undergoing lavish decoration with flags, portraits and triumphal arches.

Among the thousands of banners there were two of Spain's red and yellow flags for every Stars and Stripes.

In portraits, honors were about equally divided between Franco and his guest. But the President probably took an edge with a picture four stories high in the Plaza de Espana, one of the city's main squares.

For Franco, the visit is among the climaxes in an eventful career. Once Europe's youngest general, he became a leading political figure at 43 when plane accidents removed his two superiors in the 1936 uprising against the Spanish republic.

To Franco, the uprising and the Civil War that followed have always been a part of a crusade against communism.

Partisans of Franco have taken the Eisenhower visit as an American endorsement of his government and his stand against communism over the past quarter of a century.

Peter Townsend Wed In Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Princess Margaret's onetime suitor, Peter Townsend, was married in Brussels today to Marie-Luce Jamagne, 20, daughter of an Antwerp tobacco tycoon, a friend of Townsend's.

The friend said the ceremony was performed at noon.

The engagement of Townsend, 44, and Marie-Luce, his secretary, was announced by her mother Oct. 9.

Townsend's romance with Princess Margaret broke up four years ago. He had been divorced. The Church of England forbids marriage of a divorced person so long as the other party to the divorce is living. The former Mrs. Townsend is living and Princess Margaret bowed to the rule.

N.C. Counts 18 Violent Deaths During Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some 18 violent deaths during the weekend cast an ominous shadow over Christmas Week in many parts of the state.

At least three double highway fatalities already had been recorded. Deaths from other types of violence kept pace.

The State Highway Patrol, noting that both Christmas and New Year's Day fall on Friday, making for long weekends, plans to have its entire force on the highways in an effort to stem the death toll.

Counting from 6 p.m. Friday, here's the death toll:

Oscar Mashbau Canady, 63, was killed when the Asheville city truck he was driving crashed into a power line brace pole. Two women passengers were hurt.

Olle Linn Rice, 23, of Rt. 1, Sanford, was killed and three others injured in a two-car crash near Mocksville. In the same area, at Mount Airy, Heston McCraw, 73, was killed when his car was struck by a train.

Mrs. Shirley Holler, 23, apparently was electrocuted at Winston-Salem, and Masten Woodrow Barker, 29, was shot to death in a house trailer in the same city. Mrs. Margaret Hart, 29, was held in connection with the Barker shooting.

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower sent a letter to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today inviting him to the first of a series of summit meetings, to "consider international questions of mutual concern."

Similar letters are going from the British and French chiefs of government, as a followup to their Western summit conference over the weekend.

Eisenhower said this meeting agreed it is desirable that the East-West summit session "convene from time to time in each other's countries to discuss the main problems affecting the attainment of peace and stability in the world."

The first meeting will convene in Paris April 27 if Khrushchev accepts the arrangements.

The Big Four, in their invitations to the Soviet leader, ruled out the participation of divided Germany, Red China and India.

Eisenhower said goodbye to Paris after a brief meeting today with British Minister Harold Macmillan. French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He flew to Madrid.

The ceremonies of his departure from Paris were unusually brief. Mounting the steps of his orange-nosed jetliner, after the playing of the Star Spangled Banner and the Marseillaise, he turned and said "goodbye."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the "President thinks the accomplishments were fine" at the four-power Western summit. In his private talks with De Gaulle, however, the President apparently failed to win De Gaulle over to the American view that French air forces should be integrated into the NATO command.

The communiqué from the Big Four reaffirmed the West's determination to yield no basic rights in divided Berlin. It "reaffirmed the principles set forth in a four-power communiqué of the 14th of December, 1958 and the declaration of the North Atlantic Council of the 16th of December, 1958."

These documents, pledging to defend Berlin against Soviet aggression, represent a return to early Western positions in the Geneva foreign ministers conference this year.

That conference ended in deadlock after the West proposed concessions to get an interim settlement in Berlin. These concessions now apparently are out. They included a trimming of forces and some curbing of propaganda in Berlin, and treating with East Germans as agents of the Soviet Union on the subject of communications lines.

Hagerty said Eisenhower, however, felt there is ample room for discussing any and all problems involving Berlin.

Hagerty also said the idea for the series of summit meetings does not commit the next American president. The April meeting likely would be the only such meeting in 1960, since the U.S. presidential campaign will get under full steam next summer.

The Western view limiting the conference to the Big Four powers was made in instructions which the ambassadors in Moscow make orally to the Soviet Union.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson was told to make it clear to the Soviets that any "observers" at the summit — a role played by East and West Germany in the Geneva foreign ministers conference this year — would be "inappropriate."

This conformed to the wishes of Adenauer.

The Eisenhower note to Khrushchev made plain the President wants a wide-open summit meeting where discussions can range

Bus-Truck Crash Kills Nine Persons In Arizona; 32 Others Are Injured

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Greyhound bus and a cattle truck traveling on the wrong side of the road collided about eight miles east of here Sunday killing nine persons.

The bus driver and six passengers were killed along with the truck driver and his relief man. Thirty-two others aboard the double-decked bus were injured, five critically.

Also killed were thirty head of cattle, mostly calves. Some other animals were maimed and had to be shot.

Highway Patrolman Jimmy Williams said truck driver James R. Stewart of Del Rio, Tex., apparently missed a "keep right" sign where the road divided for repairs. The truck, he said, was on the wrong side when it struck the Los Angeles-to-New Orleans bus.

The double-decked truck was hauling 67 steers from Jackson, Miss., to Arlington, Ariz.

Killed besides Stewart were: Ronald Philip Spence, Las Vegas, Nev., and Hawthorne, Calif., relief truck driver.

Barney Boyd, 44, El Paso, Tex., driver of the bus.

Florence Minium, 65, Kingsville, Tex.

Johnny Lee Rodden, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rodden, Redondo Beach, Calif.

Benito Casanova, 55, Guantanamo Oriente, Cuba.

Carmen, 53, his wife. Carol Hall Reed, 38, 304 Chestnut St., Pensacola, Fla.

Pearl Grogan, 64, Los Angeles. "God bless that man who told us to sit still and shut up," said Delois Gaines, 39, a restaurant worker from Los Angeles. "If it weren't for him, we probably would have hurt each other trying to get out."

Osbella (Osbie) Butler, 24, of Moses Lake, Wash., and Richard, 15, of California, were taking her 5-year-old daughter Stella to San Antonio.

Just across the aisle Johnny Lee Rodden ran ahead of Stella to the washroom for a drink. The boy was killed.

"All of a sudden I started flying through the air," said Mrs. Butler. "Then about four people fell on me. I looked up. There was a cow's bleeding head looking at me through the window."

"I could hear Stella crying. A woman was screaming. Then a man started pulling people off me."

Stella, pushed under a broken seat, was almost unscathed.

Margaret Rodden, Johnny's mother, said she and her two sons were going to Lubbock, Tex., to be with her mother, Beulah Easter.

"Johnny told me he wanted a drink of water," she sobbed. "He insisted he could get it himself and you know how 7-year-olds are."

"Then the driver slammed on the brakes. The bus swerved. I tried to get out of my seat to go to him, but the next thing I knew I went through a window and was caught by two men outside."

She suffered concussion and the surviving son, Charles, had a head injury.

Near Springfield, Ohio, a teenage girl was killed and 36 others injured when another Greyhound bus skidded on an icy highway, overturned and rolled into a ditch.

Five Prisoners Flee Road Gang In Nash County

NASHVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A young convict jumped in the cab of a prison truck today and sped away, carrying with him four prisoners who apparently didn't anticipate the escape.

State Prisons Director W. F. Bailey said a guard, highway foreman and three prisoners were left behind.

The stolen truck was found abandoned some three miles away. A search was immediately begun.

Bailey said officers believed they have the five men surrounded.

He identified the fugitives as Lacy Webster, 28, of Charlotte, who drove the truck; Fred Bowman, 48, of Boone; Albert S. Miller, 33, of Winder, Ga.; James E. Wood, 19, of Kings Mountain; and Cecil Hollars, 30, of Boone.

Bailey said the truck from the Nash County camp stopped on Highway 64, about five miles east of Nashville, and the prisoners began getting out. Bailey added that the truck driver, Woodrow Dorsey, a Highway Department foreman, got out and left his keys in the switch.

Three prisoners jumped out of the back of the truck and Webster followed them. He ran by the foreman and jumped in the cab. The truck took off with a lurch, throwing four prisoners to the floor in the back of the vehicle.

Bailey said Dorsey flagged a motorist and went after the group, leaving a guard with the three prisoners. Dorsey found the abandoned truck and a search was launched.

Webster was serving three to five years in the Mecklenburg County for forgery. Wood was serving several sentences and has three escapes on his record. He entered prison in July, 1956, from Cleveland County to serve a total of two to three years for breaking and entering and larceny.

He was later given a six months sentence for escape. In August, 1957, he was convicted in Johnston County and given 16 to 22 years for housebreaking and larceny, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill and robbery with firearms. His record also shows three years for escape.

Bowman was sentenced in Randolph to 7 to 15 years for armed robbery. Hollars was serving two to four years from Watauga for breaking and entering and larceny. Miller was sentenced in Wake County to five to seven years for auto theft.

FBI Chief Says Communist Party Has Confidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says the American Communist party is filled with optimism and confidence.

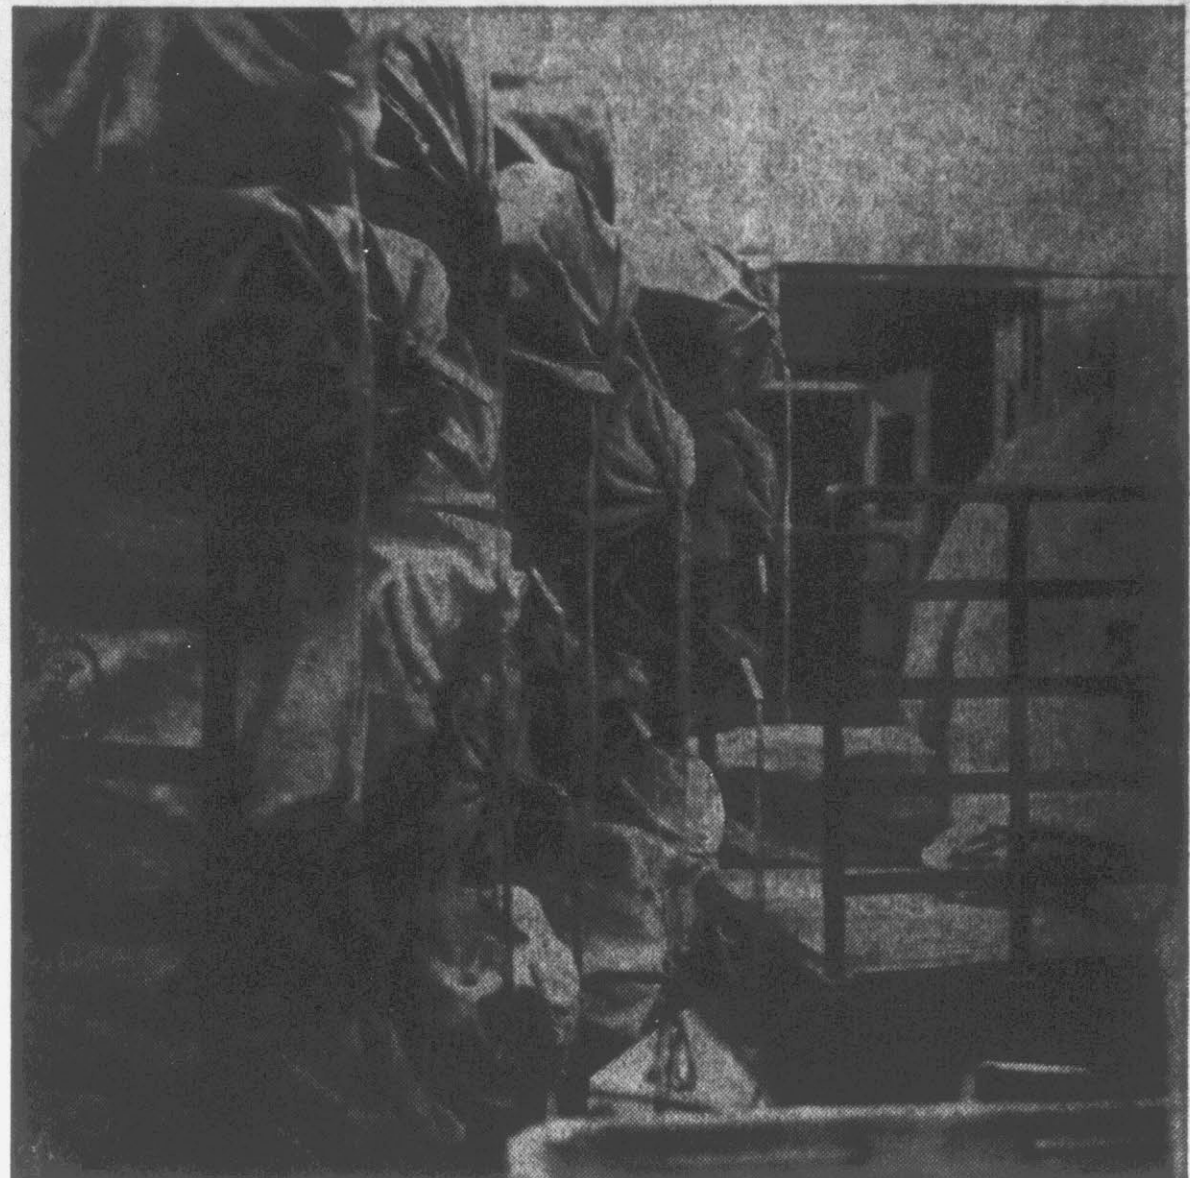

The reason: "Blindness and lethargy toward the threat posed by subversive organizations have reached dangerous proportions in many areas."

In his year-end report Sunday to Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, Hoover said that pro-Soviet elements have further strengthened their hold on the Communist party in the United States.

This was done, he said, at the recent national convention of the party in New York.

In another section of the report, Hoover said bank robbers had a banner year in 1959. A record would be set in 1959 of 10 per cent more than the mark of 704 bank robberies in 1958, he said.

Mountains Of Mail Are Subsiding

A SMALL PART . . . of the in-coming parcel post, that arrived by truck about 4:30 a.m.

SORTING MAIL . . . at 6 a.m. for local delivery

Mail Rush Slowing After Peak

The Post Office business has shown a slight decline since the Christmas mails reached their peak last week.

The peak days saw an estimated 300,000 pieces of mail handled per day by the local office. A normal week will see 150,000 mail items pass through the department here, spokesmen said.

One of the biggest aids to the mail-men is having the bundles of mail separated into "All for out of town" and "All for local delivery" bundles. Another great aid to department employees, and almost a must, is having letters and packages addressed properly with the full address, including name, street, and house number.

The post office here, with its 44 regular employees hired about 10 extra helpers to assist with the Christmas rush.

The Post Office, like most other businesses and offices, will be closed Christmas Day. However, special delivery mail and perishable items will be delivered. The office will be open and follow the regular hours Saturday.

Total Non-Farm Jobs Sees Drop

RALEIGH (AP) — Off-the-farm employment in North Carolina skidded 6,900 last month, pushed down from the October total by normal seasonal declines in tobacco, food, construction and service industries.

Even with the drop, Labor Commissioner Frank Crane reported today the November total stood at 1,322,900. He noted that his was a gain of 33,800 over the level of November, 1958.

With the exception of the normal seasonal changes, Crane said employment was up slightly in most industries for November, and was substantially above the level a year ago.

Tobacco stemmeries laid off 8,600 temporary workers. Total employment in services dropped 1,000. In food processing plants there were 500 fewer jobs; in construction, 800; in wholesale trade, 400; and 100 each in transportation and stone, clay and glass products.

On the other hand, retail trade employment moved by 2,300 as merchants prepared for Christmas shopping. Job levels were up slightly in the "Big Three" group of textiles, furniture, and tobacco (except for stemmeries).

Manufacturing industries employed 492,100 Tar Heels last month. Although down seasonally by 7,600 from October, the total was 16,300 above November, 1958.

Both hourly and weekly average earnings of factory workers showed advances. Hourly earnings were up two cents to $1.52. Weekly earnings averaged $62.53, up 83 cents. The average factory workweek was unchanged at 41.4 hours.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Temperatures will average near normal for next five days. A little warmer Tuesday and little change thereafter. Rain Friday or Saturday will total one-quarter to one-half inch.

Union, Steel Negotiators Meet Today; Rap Offers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union and steel company negotiators meet today for the first time in 10 days. As they gathered, the companies were saying new and higher union demands prove the union is responsible for the deadlock.

Union President David J. McDonald retorted it is the companies that are out of step.

The United Steelworkers reached new three-year contract agreements with major aluminum companies in Chicago over the weekend, clearing the way for their top officers to resume the steel talks. Federal mediators had recessed the talks for aluminum industry negotiations.

As the aluminum settlement took form, McDonald issued last week a new 10-point steel demand.

In a weekend development, Dr. George W. Taylor, chairman of President Eisenhower's fact-finding board, sent letters to the 93 steel firms involved, asking them to submit their last offers to the union by next Monday.

If no settlement results—and the chances were rated small—the board will submit the last offers to a secret ballot of the workers between Jan. 6 and 21, as provided by the Taft-Hartley Act.

The 500,000 unionists will be free to resume their strike on Jan. 26 if the vote is negative. On that date the 80-day federal injunction will expire.

The eleven big steel replied in a letter to McDonald made public Sunday night.

"The union's prior offers were unacceptable to the companies," the letter said, "because of their inflationary proportions. Yet you now seek to impose even more onerous terms of settlement."

"This, we submit, is the very antithesis of union responsibility. It proves beyond question that it is the union's policies and bargaining practices that have been solely responsible for the continuing deadlock."

The companies also said they had "serious misgivings" about bargaining separately with the union, as McDonald has demanded. But they said they were willing to talk it over at today's mediation session.

McDonald said Sunday night he had not received the companies' letter.

The steel companies, continuing to practice industrial unionism, seem totally oblivious of the union's recent settlements in the copper, can and aluminum industries," he commented. "All of these settlements were regarded by the public, the industries and the union to be moderate, fair and reasonable."

"The union's present proposal to the steel companies is based squarely on these recent settlements and that with the Kaiser Steel Co."

The aluminum pact, according to the union's figures, provides a 30-cent increase in wages and fringe benefits over the three-year period. Some of the aluminum companies figured the cost as slightly less.

McDonald said his new steel settlement offer would bring the cost to slightly more than the 20-month, 22½ cent hourly increase negotiated earlier with the Kaiser Steel Co. The other big steel companies rejected the terms of the Kaiser settlement as too costly and inflationary.

Most of the added cost of McDonald's latest demand is a full cost of living increase under terms of the old contract. This would give steelworkers 3 to 4 cents more an hour starting in January. The Kaiser contract called for a 2-cent increase of this type with no further adjustment until July.

McDonald contended the higher cost of living figure was justified on the ground that the companies should make up benefits employees have lost by working under the old contract since the Kaiser settlement.

The 500,000 steelworkers struck for 116 days until they were forced back to work Nov. 7 by a government Taft-Hartley injunction. After the injunction expires Jan. 26, they are free to strike again. Wages under the old contracts, which are in force during the injunction, averaged $3.11 an hour last June. The average varies slightly from month to month.

Walks On After First 215 Miles

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Barbara Moore, the world's walking woman, still plodded on her way from Edinburgh to London early today after a five-hour rest.

The 36-year-old marathon walker reached Rossington Bridge, Yorkshire, about 185 miles from London, at 5:30 a.m. Police reported she was then "walking pretty fair."

She had covered 215 miles of the 373-mile distance since she left the Scottish city last Thursday. She trudged past the halfway mark Sunday on blistered feet and said: "I shall be in London by Tuesday to celebrate my 57th birthday."

The marriage of Miss Della Ann Stokes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phelps Stokes, and Mr. Bobby Joe Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dixon, both of Greenville, was solemnized Sunday afternoon in the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church.

The Rev. F. B. Cherry officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The vows were spoken before a background of bridal greenery, arrangements of white glads and white mums illuminated by burning cathedral candles.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Wilma Smith, pianist, and Mr. William G. Moore, soloist. Mr. Moore sang "Oh Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional processional and recessional by Wagner and Mendelssohn were used.

There's A Cookbook For Every Cook!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

When Santa stuffs a cook's stocking this Christmas he might well put a thick paperback in it: "The James Beard Cookbook" (Dell).

Jim Beard has eaten and cooked his way around the world; he knows just which international recipes will most please Americans and which of Uncle Sam's old favorites should go into present-day kitchen repertoires. Cooks will find these dishes practical and delicious.

A series of letters to young housewives precede the recipes in "Cook, My Darling Daughter" by Mildred O. Knopf (Knopf) because this book was inspired by the author's married daughter.

Any cook who was delighted by Mrs. Knopf's previous "The Perfect Hostess" will be even happier with this latest compilation of recipes for all the courses of a meal. These rules are ones that were enjoyed by a family of discriminating taste and are written with clarity so that other families may benefit.

Travelers who want to duplicate certain dishes tasted in American restaurants should be happy with "The Diners' Club Cookbook" by Myra Waldo Farrar, Straus and Cudahy).

After gathering the recipes from wide sources, the author put them in good form so they could be duplicated successfully. Her book should be of particular help in planning meals for guests to be entertained at home.

"Blueberry Hill Cookbook" by Elsi Masterton (Crowell) is an in-vitin homespun collection of recipes. The author is the same Elsie who some years ago went with her husband John to Vermont to open a ski area, then found snow could not be relied upon to appear. So Elsie learned to cook and opened a summer inn and dinner place.

Those who came to eat asked for recipes; now Elsie gives them. Hers is a friendly book, with the sort of comments one interested cook likes to hear from another and with hints on serving.

Teen-age cooks might like to have "A Baker's Holiday" by Robert E. Koran (Vantage). It's a small book of recipes for cakes, pies and desserts, cookies and sweetbreads—all of them created and tested by the 18-year-old author who several years ago was a junior prize-winner in a country-wide cooking contest.

He received his Master's degree from Yale University and is a candidate for the Doctorate at Duke University. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Capwell, a reception was given at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Alton R. Johnston.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Gaskins. Mrs. Walter Taylor introduced them to the receiving line, composed of Mr. Johnston, Mrs. Walter Capwell, the bride and the bridegroom, Mrs. Eugene Gray, Misses Jeanne and Mary Margaret Gray.

The home was decorated with white poinsettias, Christmas greenery and burning tapers. Dr. and Mrs. Jack A. Moore invited guests into the dining room.

The reception table was covered with a white cutwork cloth, edged with lace. The centerpiece was a silver tree, decorated with frosted white carnations tied with tiny satin bows. White tapers in silver three-branch candelabra burned on the table and sideboard. Mrs. Wesley Johnston, Mrs. Plato Evans, and Miss Elizabeth Wilson poured punch from a silver punch bowl. Bridal cakes, chicken salad pastries, nuts, cheese dates, and ice cream fruit molds were served.

An auxiliary table covered with a floor length lace cloth held the tiered wedding cake, which was decorated with frosted white carnations and greenery. The traditional wedding toast was drunk from a marriage cup decorated with white ribbon and valley lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Van C. Fleming invited guests into the gift room, where the guests were invited to sign the bride's book by Miss Elaine Fleming. Goodbyes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Williford.

Guests were greeted by the hosts and hostesses. Mr. and Mrs. Gray invited guests to the dining room. The dining table was covered with a white cutwork cloth, centered with an all-white arrangement of chrysanthemums with white burning tapers and greens. A three-course dinner was served.

Mrs. John B. Spilman, Miss Jeanne Gray and Miss Mary Margaret Gray assisted in the dining room.

Wedding Breakfast

On Saturday morning, a wedding breakfast honoring Miss Margaret Johnston and Mr. Richard Capwell, their wedding party and out-of-town guests was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Van C. Fleming Jr., with assistant hosts and hostesses, Mr. and Mrs. Plato G. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Gaskins and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Williford.

Guests were greeted at the door by Misses Elaine Fleming and Sara Ann Evans, who invited them into the living room where punch was served. The wedding guests then proceeded into the dining room where they were served two courses. The dining room table was covered with a white cutwork cloth. An arrangement of a silver candelabra and white wedding bells were used in decorating.

The Fleming home was decorated throughout in the traditional holiday fashion.

Clothes dampened with warm water instead of cold can be ironed sooner.

Don't Expect Too Much At Paris

Barring some radical and unexpected change in Soviet policy, the long awaited full-dress summit conference between the Western Big Four and Soviet Premier Khrushchev will take place in Paris next April.

Probably of equal importance so far as the world is concerned is the fact that this first summit conference is, for a moment in Western planning at least, only the first in a series of several such conferences aimed at reducing international tensions and adding stability to world peace.

It is a foregone conclusion that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will accept the invitation of the Western Big Four to confer with them on world problems in Paris. After making overtures for such a conference for many months, he is hardly in a position to decline the invitation even though some of the arrangements are not entirely to his liking.

The fact that the West proposes the summit meeting in Paris be the first of several such meetings in the relatively near future is a move that should enhance the Western position. In the first place it does not impose upon the first summit meeting in Paris the full responsibility of solving all the world's problems at one session. If little genuine progress results from the first summit session it will not carry the suggestion that East-West tensions will again begin to mount after the summit meeting. Such might have been the case had one summit session been held without at least tentative plans for similar subsequent sessions.

Another fact to be considered is the military strength of the West and the bearing a summit conference might have upon individual nations and citizens of those nations toward military strength to meet a Soviet armed threat. Had the policy of the West been confined to a one-session summit meeting, apparent successes at such a meeting could have been the signal for completely unjustified large-scale disarmament by Western nations. A subsequent sudden switch from the current "friendship" policy by the Soviets to another period of hostile demands upon the West could have caught the West in a most vulnerable position.

The fact that the Western Big Four have issued the invitation for a summit meeting with others to follow is important indeed to the West as well as to the world as a whole. By providing a series of such meetings, however, the Western leaders have made it clear that they see no panacea for world problems in one summit conference. Complicated solutions to extremely difficult international problems and conflicting ideologies will take time, and a great deal of it.

In the meantime the West can ill afford to drop its guard and leave itself vulnerable to a quick and radical change of outward attitude by the Soviet government. The summit conference set for April may help in further easing international tension; but history should have taught us not to expect too much nor to be too disappointed if from the conference comes far less than even the minimum we hope for.

Gill Almost Has Tipped His Hand

By LYNN NISBET

GILL—The nearest thing yet to a positive announcement of candidacy for Governor came Thursday from Edwin Gill. The State treasurer called a formal news conference to tell reporters that he is thinking seriously about the matter and will have the decisive word early in January. Terry Sanford, John Larkin and Addison Hewlett have each come almost as close to positive announcements, but these statements were given casually and upon inquiry of newsmen. Each of the three has also promised formal announcements after the first of the year. Political observers are looking for a whole flock of candidates to emerge around Jefferson-Jackson Dinner time, which is February 6. Reports from High Point are to the effect that Arthur Kirkman may announce earlier his candidacy for Governor.

SECOND—C. V. Henkel was in Raleigh a day or two ago and said he has definitely made up his mind to get in the running for Lieutenant Governor, but wants to talk personally with a few others before announcing. Dave McConnell of Charlotte, Dave Coltraine of Raleigh, Tom White of Winston and Robert F. Morgan of Shelby are other likely No. 2 candidates. At this time Henkel and McConnell appear most likely to get in, with Cloyd Philpott a possibility.

CONGRESS—Roy Taylor of Black Mountain, former legislator and for 12 years county attorney for Buncombe, has prepared an announcement for Congress in the 12th district, and is expected to release it around the first of the year. Walter Jones of Farmville shows evidence of being ready to file for Congress in the first district against Herbert Bonner.

William Murdock of Durham and Horace Kornegay of Greensboro, solicitors in their respective districts, have positively announced for the sixth congressional district seat being vacated by Carl Durham after 22 years.

Rep. Ralph J. Scott of the fifth district, in Raleigh this week, said he has heard of no serious challenge in the primary. Earlier threats of opposition to Hugh Alexander in the ninth seem to have lessened, although he isn't in the clear yet. Dave Clark in the 10th may face a real primary fight for the right to again oppose Rep. Charles Raper Jonas in November.

Other incumbent congressmen—Fountain in the second, Barden in the third, Cooley in the fourth, Lennon in the seventh, Kitchen in the eighth, and Whitener in the 11th—so far are not threatened with opposition.

RANKIN—Ed Rankin put in his last day's work as private secretary to the Governor last Friday, lacking two weeks of seven years at that desk. He began with inauguration of Governor William Ureman in 1953. While he has been away on vacation and on official trips, Monday was the first work day in that seven years that he did not belong to and have responsibility for the mechanics of running the office. He was replaced by Harold Makepeace, who moved over from chief of the secondary roads section in the Highway Department.

On January 4 Rankin will open an office for John Harden Associates, public relations firm, on the third floor of the Superior Building in downtown Raleigh. That connection revives a team that began a quarter century ago on the Salisbury Post, continuing through varying business and political associations, including several years in the public relations section of Burlington Industries.

BUILDING—Those fellows who have been going around the top State offices with yardsticks, steel measuring tapes, and little notebooks, weren't just being curious. They were operating under instructions of the State Legislative Building Commission to ascertain what space the offices might require, in event they were moved to the new building.

A number of agencies are eager to get in the building, not only because it will be new and modern, but because of proximity to the Legislature. Such proximity is not important to some departments, but several agencies should be housed there if the building is to serve the purpose for which it is being built.

These include the Secretary of State department, because of its intimate relationship with the Legislature—assigning seats to members, enrolling bills, certifying copies of ratified bills before they are published, custodian of original acts with signatures of the presiding officers, and of House and Senate journals. It would seem essential also to have offices of the General Statutes Commission and the bill-drafting section of the Attorney General's Department. The Budget Bureau should have at least a contact office close to the assembly chambers.

Unless these agencies which have such direct contact with the Legislature, and decent facilities for news media, are provided for in the building, it will fall of its purpose and will be just another group of public offices. The building commission and the architects are working on these details, along with the big questions of where the building will be located and style of architecture.

No Light Burden In Law Enforcing Role

It is only when a law enforcement officer meets violent death in the routine of his duties that the public is reminded of the fact that these officers almost daily risk their lives to protect the lives and property of citizens.

The death of young highway patrolman Harry T. Long, native of Tabor City route 2, offers another reminder that the life of a law enforcement officer isn't made up entirely of sipping free coffee at a corner cafe, cruising leisurely in a patrol car, and making idle conversation with the people they meet.

For the law enforcement officer, an emergency situation can develop at any moment of the day or night. In the case of Pvt. Long of the highway patrol, he was making a routine check of an automobile when the hit-and-run driver struck and snuffed out his life. Undoubtedly he and other of his co-workers had gone through the same routine thousands of times without incident. But suddenly the routine changed to violence and death for the patrolman.

Fortunately, such incidents are not daily occurrences. Yet every man who raises his hand to take the oath of a law enforcement officer knows full well that at any subsequent moment he may be called upon to risk and perhaps sacrifice his life for the safety and welfare of the society he is sworn to uphold and protect.

It is no light burden which rests upon the shoulders of these men, young and old, who make up the ranks of our law enforcement officers, and daily carry out the task of providing safety and protection for law-abiding citizens.

Extent Of Our Nat'l Recovery

By RALPH ROBEY

This is the time when everyone connected with business makes his prediction for the coming twelve months. The number of such forecasts is becoming genuinely prodigious, but presumably they serve a useful purpose.

As usual we shall divide the task into three parts. This week we give a brief summary of where we stand today as regards recovery.

Next week we shall discuss some of the major problems facing the nation. Finally, in the third week we shall balance the two and give conclusions for 1960.

Effects of Steel Strike
In approaching this analysis it is imperative to bear in mind that the vast number of businesses and at least a million individuals were affected by the steel strike. This led to distortions in all of our generally accepted statistics and allowance must be made for this in an appraisal of the present position. Such allowance is a matter of judgment, but it is not too difficult.

Gross National Product, which is the monetary value of all goods and services produced in the nation, hit its low point in the first quarter of 1958. From that it rose consistently until the second quarter of this year. In the third quarter there was a decline of $8 billion. This item is calculated only on a quarterly basis, and the figure for the final three months unquestionably will be up. It is quite clear, however, that it will be some time in 1960 before we cross the half-trillion dollar mark.

For over-all industrial production everyone uses the index of the Federal Reserve Board. This index is based on physical units and uses the average of 1947-49 as equal to 100. The all-time high was reached last June and was 155, which means production was 55 per cent above the 1947-49 level. Since then the index has eased off a little, but with steel back in production there will be a sharp recovery.

A Remarkable Record
Inventories have shown a remarkable record. At the height of the recession they were being liquidated at a rate of $9 billion a year. In the second quarter of this year they were being accumulated at a rate of $10 billion a year. This was partly in anticipation of the steel strike. In the third quarter, and continuing to the present, we have gone back to inventory liquidation, but this is a temporary development and soon we shall be back building inventories.

Business investment in plant and equipment in 1959 is going to be a little less than has been anticipated. These figures are developed by the Department of Commerce from questionnaires sent to business firms. The last survey was made in late October and November. It shows the present plans are for an investment on an annual basis, of $34 billion in the fourth quarter. The high was in 1957 and was $37 billion.

Private housing starts have been declining for several months. The latest figure is for October (Continued on Page 6)

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THE DEVIL'S WEAPON

Hate! This vile thing is of the devil. It occurs when the life of an individual loses its orientation. We are endowed with certain capacities which make it possible for us to live satisfactory lives and to help those with whom we come in contact. Some people seem to have within them an evil, poisonous secretion which gets into their glands and into their bloodstream and makes them hate everyone who opposes them and every project they cannot manage. Sometimes this hate takes the form of revenge for past injuries or acts which were presumed to be such. At other times it turns one against members of his own family, blames them for his failures, attributes to them every variety of evil motive. Hitler hated certain races and sought to exterminate them. There have been other times in history when people—sometimes believing they were doing God's service by their cruelty—attempted to wipe out certain groups and very often succeeded in doing so.

Sometimes hate is a disease which lays hold on the soul. At other times it appears to be a poison which man with bitterness in his own nature will drink down as a horrible libation. Sometimes it is the result of rough and unjust treatment people's lives shrivel up into a hate complex bent on injuring as many of the human race as possible. Hate is the devil's weapon. It is the badge of satanic evil.

Learned In Reading Mail

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Santa Claus won't fall asleep in his sled on Christmas Eve, and if you're smart you won't nap at the wheel of your car if you have to make a long holiday trip. Drowsing drivers cause 70,000 accidents yearly, motor vehicles have caused 1,265,000 deaths in this country in this century? That is double the 605,000 killed in all America's wars from the Revolution through the battles in Korea.

If cleanliness is really next to godliness, we're surely getting closer to heaven. A survey showed Americans now take 500 million baths a week.

Do TV fans expect too much? Carol Lawrence, co-star of the Broadway musical, "Saratoga," has this to say: "The American public is so satiated with talent and with spectacle on television that unless you unscrew your head and throw it at them at the end of your performance they're not happy."

Man bowed to evolution, but the turtle is one animal that pretty much refused to. It hasn't changed greatly in some 200 million years.

This sign was observed in a Greenwich Village Beatnik bar: "Reservations taken here for last weekends."

Fewer than five per cent of the people in civilized lands are left-handed. So, where do all the left-handed compliments come from?

Our quotable notables: "There is no dignity so impressive and independence so important as living within your means," said Calvin Coolidge.

Our favorite gag of the week: "Christmas is the time of year when families trim trees and fathers."

Nature study note: "A grown lady codfish produces as many as nine million eggs in a single season."

Greeks in this country are noted as restaurant operators. But did you know that about one half of the world's cargo vessels are controlled by Greek owners?

A hit song today is worth $20,000 up, but the odds against your being able to turn one out are at least 10,000 to 1. Yet Sammy Cahn wrote the lyrics to "Bei Mir Bist du Schoen," one of the big all-time hit tunes, in exactly 10 minutes.

Other Editors Saying Health Costs Are High

(Hertford County Herald)

Sen. Estes Kefauver has held a Senatorial hearing on the subject of drug prices in this country. The senator says he has proved that drug prices are too high compared to what the drug firms must spend to produce them.

But the question goes beyond that. And it should be approached from a different angle. The really crucial question is "how can average Americans afford medical care?" The answer is that it is impossible unless there is some form of compulsory insurance, and some type of regulation of the various independent facets concerned with health. It would not help if drug prices were administered by the government if the government is also at the same time going to let other sectors of the health field operate completely independent.

The high cost of drugs may be completely legitimate. So, too, may the cost of medical service and of hospital care. But saying they are legitimate does not solve the dilemma of the average sick person, who is apt to be financially ruined if his sickness requires more than passing attention from the medical field.

The answer, on a governmental level, lies in some sort of program to "level out" the cost of medical services so that the prices can be truly averaged to fit the pocketbook of the American. Today, under the so-called "free enterprise" system of medicine, the rich pay heavily, the poor pay nothing, and the middle group—the vast majority of us—pay just enough to ruin the health of a pocketbook at about the same rate that it may save the health of a body.

This so-called "free" system is especially hard on the folks in the middle because there are so many of us and so few of those in the really rich class. Thus, the middle group finds itself, through taxes on the local level, forced to support more and more those who simply cannot support themselves in sickness. The rich man's contribution to this is large individually, but not enough in the whole picture to make much of a dent.

The search for an answer to the medical cost dilemma needs to be much broader than the has asked drug manufacturers. There is doubt that drug companies are becoming too much like the soap flake companies their product are similar, so they must spend enormous selling costs in order to prove the small differences, or at least to try to convince doctors and druggists that there is a difference. Maybe the regulation that might be laid on the drug industry would be something like restricting their salesmanship practices.

But other fields of the medical world also need attention. There is danger that the Kefauver hearings, by focusing on but one of these facets, may bring the entire problems of medical costs to be postponed until the day when Americans, hard-pressed by ever-mounting and oppressive health costs, may rise up and demand immediate and drastic action. Then the politicians will act quickly and perhaps harshly.

It is time that the politicians, the medical people, and the public sit down to a real job of working out sane, sensible, and workable plans to make medical costs acceptable and just to all concerned. It is going to take action by all three to make this come true.

"Advertising is the power that will make little concerns grow into larger success. It is a science that requires study and be it said, character. It cannot succeed if it is based upon untruth. It must build upon faith and integrity."—Richland (La.) Beacon-News.

Small Firms Urged

BY ROGER BABSON

Babson Park, Mass.—Young people often ask me whether they should start a business of their own. Of course, not everyone is suited to running a business. But success can be attained by those who will first learn the know-how of the type of business they would like to start, or else have as partners those who do.

NATION DEPENDS ON INDEPENDENTLY OWNED BUSINESS

In today's rapidly changing world, many young people are scared away from starting or buying a business by the risks involved. Inflation, high taxes, and necessarily small initial returns lead them to choose the so-called "security" offered by a supposed permanent position with some large company. Unfortunately, we have made a fetish of such "security" in this country. Many of our young people think it is smarter to achieve "job security" than to forego this for the opportunity to own their own business.

So great has become our preoccupation with big business that we have lost sight of the self-controlled business's contribution to the growth of the prosperity of our nation. Before World War I, we were a land of small property and business owners believing in property rights as well as human rights. Small business, though not popular in recent years, is still one of the bulwarks of our nation which we should strive to strengthen and encourage.

NEED FOR TRAINING

Don't go directly from school or college to start or buy a new business. Few of those who act so rashly achieve success.

Some fail, losing not only their money and effort, but also, often their confidence in themselves. Young people—either men or women—who feel they would like to start a small business of their own should first work for at least two years in a line similar to the one which they wish to enter or else buy control of an established business.

One should be well prepared to take the risks involved in business ownership. Study the market for your product or service by subscribing to a trade magazine in the line which you wish to enter. Competition during the next few years may be sharper than it is now for every business. I even predict that there will be a large number of new small business failures during the 60's. But remember that usually only the inefficient and the inept are crowded out. Better buy control of some existing successful business.

SPUR TO INCENTIVE

I believe in small businesses, not because I think the future for them will be an easy one, but because I realize we need small business if our nation is to grow and prosper in the American tradition. Business ownership spurs incentive and develops character. It will also help make our people more conscious of our heritage of liberty. Therefore, when buying control of a business it may be well always to have a number of small minority stockholders.

The encouragement of small business enterprise is one of the best ways to check the growing trend toward more government control. As the number of self-owned businesses increases and as they assume more responsibility in civic and government affairs, the spread of the federal bureaucracy will be slowed.

GOVERNMENT AID TO SMALL BUSINESS

The Federal Department of Commerce and many State and local government agencies offer help to the small businessman. Not long ago three major bills favoring small business passed Congress and were signed by the President. These provided long-needed tax relief for small business. Another suggestion is to join the National Small Business Men's Association, 163 North Union Street, Akron, Ohio.

Under the Small Business Investment Act, the federal government also sponsors investment companies whose primary purpose is to provide venture capital for small and expanding

Shah Takes A Bride, Iran Has A Queen

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Pretty young Farah Diba became the new Queen of Iran today amid hopes that she will provide a son and heir for the throne.

With radiant smiles the 21-year-old brunette with brown eyes and light olive complexion married Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi in a Moslem ritual in the marble palace.

She thus became Queen Farah Pahlavi.

It was the first marriage for the young Iranian commoner, who until recently was a student in architecture in Paris. It was the third marriage for the Shah, who at 40 still hopes for a son to succeed him.

The couple sat and stood through a Moslem ceremony and the signing of the marriage contract in the glittering Hall of Mirrors. Members of the family, members of the government and their wives and the diplomatic corps of Teheran look on.

The bride wore a flowing bluish, pearl gray wedding gown. Farah forsook the traditional white in favor of a shade specially designed for her by Yves Saint Laurent, head of the Paris house of Dior. The shade is just a bit off white in pearl gray with a slight tinge of blue.

The Shah wore a full ceremonial dress of dark imperial blue trousers and a navy blue coat covered with medals.

The capital was in a gay, festive spirit. Flags flapped in the breeze. Many buildings were decorated with bunting and the national colors.

The Shah divorced his first two wives because they failed to bear him an heir to the throne. The first wife, an Egyptian princess, bore him a daughter, Princess Shamsa.

He divorced Queen Soraya 20 months ago after a childless but obviously happy marriage. The red-haired Iranian beauty now lives in Europe.

Speaking to newsmen Sunday, the Shah explained that aside from human reasons, he is marrying Farah for reasons "of a monarchical order." Iran's constitution requires that the successor to the throne be a male, and the Shah has no son.

The throne itself is ancient and rich in history—but the Shah's family is not. His father, Reza Khan, was a rough army officer who seized power in 1921 and had himself crowned Shah-in-Shah (King of Kings) four years later.

A Shah without an heir is obviously not as secure as a monarch whose line of succession is clearly fixed. The Shah himself has openly acknowledged the possibility of assassination. The absence of an heir in such a situation would be an invitation to political chaos.

The marriage rites were surrounded by the ornate splendor of ancient Persia.

The scene of the ceremony was the Shah's office, known as the Mosaic Room.

Part of the ceremony included financial conditions—payment the bride may expect if ever divorced, as well as the groom's dowry to the bride.

Both are symbolic. The dowry is an elaborately bound copy of the koran and one gold coin. The separation settlement would be half a million rials. (The rial is worth little more than one American penny.)

The wedding schedule included, after the ceremony, a state banquet for 150 guests and two hours later a wedding ball for some 2,000 in the palace's glittering Hall of Mirrors, where the Shah entertained President Eisenhower last week.

The couple will start their honeymoon in a few days on the Caspian Sea. They plan a trip early next year to Pakistan and later to Europe.

Western Big Four Chiefs Hopeful Of Paris Success

By TOM OCHILTREE
PARIS (AP) — The windup of the Western summit conference today finds each of the four nation's leaders happily convinced that he has scored a personal success.

In their frank exchanges of views President Eisenhower, French President Charles de Gaulle, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer blunted the sharp edges of disagreement within the Western alliance even if they were not able to resolve all their problems.

One result achieved without much trouble was the invitation to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to meet with Eisenhower, De Gaulle and Macmillan in Paris in April. If Khrushchev really desires serious negotiations with the West, it would seem he, too, has reason to be pleased by the week-end talks in Paris, which he must have watched with so much interest.

Ideally, diplomatic negotiations conducted among Allies should make each man feel like a winner. In that sense the Western summit talks were a success even if many tough details were passed on to working groups of experts.

Eisenhower was described as highly satisfied with the outcome. He succeeded, for example, in convincing De Gaulle that the United States supports the French President's plan for settling the Algerian problem on the basis of self-determination after peace is restored.

Eisenhower and De Gaulle were unable to resolve their differences over integration of the North Atlantic alliance's defensive system which France opposes. There was hope in the American camp, however, that this matter ultimately can be adjusted, at least to provide for unifying Western Europe's air defenses.

De Gaulle clearly secured greater consideration for various French views among Western

Declare 'War' On False Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today opened a drive to recruit millions of consumers in a war on false advertising and fraudulent selling.

The Federal Trade Commission invited representatives of 47 civic consumer and welfare groups into its first "conference on public deception"—a two-day course in how to spot phony merchandising and what to do about it.

Chairman Earl W. Kintner told the delegates that FTC's records on thousands of cases against gyp operators contain information which "the public needs and hasn't been getting."

If this conference proves useful, Kintner said in his prepared opening statement, it will become the first in a series of meetings to which additional groups will be invited.

The consumer education campaign was conceived before the quiz show and payola scandals, but has gained impetus from these and from recent criticism of questionable TV commercials and other misleading advertising.

CHAPTER 11

It was about three o'clock in the morning when Rutledge woke up. "I feel sick enough to die!" he moaned. I went to the bathroom to get the aspirin and when I passed Tilghman's door I thought I heard a sound. Tilghman gave a little moan just as I switched on her light. "That is it?" I said in quick alarm.

Tilghman just groaned again, so I dashed to the girls' room. "Call Dr. Warrick!" I told them. "Tilghman is sick!"

So Brantley went to call Dr. Warrick, and Maggie went to Tilghman, while I took the aspirin to Rutledge.

Dr. Warrick was there almost at once, and assured us that Tilghman was all right. And he gave her a sedative. I made him see in the Rutledge too. He said Rutledge was all right too—just an old-fashioned grippiness cold. And he left some pills.

Rutledge was so worked up at my asking a baby doctor to look at him that he swallowed the pills before he knew what he was doing. "That was a pink pill!" he said accusingly. Ever since Tilghman's arrival Rutledge had been suspicious of anything pink.

"It was not one of Tilghman's," I said hastily. But Rutledge merely looked at me suspiciously—the way Tilghman had seventeen years before when we told her that Dr. Scarborough had brought Brantley in his small black satchel.

"Rub my head," Rutledge said.

I have often wondered what it would be like to have a husband who suffers silently when he is sick. When Rutledge is ill he snaps out orders faster than General Lee at the second battle of Bull Run.

Sunday crawled along with a wounded Rebel at King's Mountain. After church Mother Colhoun and Maria came with a baked hen and dressing, candied sweet potatoes, salad, and apple pie.

I wouldn't let Mother Colhoun and Maria in to see Rutledge, but they looked in on Tilghman, who kept insisting she was perfectly all right, and why did Dr. Warrick say she had to stay in bed all day?

Mother Colhoun and Maria stayed and ate with us, and Maggie took trays up to Rutledge and Tilghman. Brantley moped about glumly after dinner, and when Maria asked where was Poo, Brantley said, oh, she was showing him, that he took her too much for granted.

Maria said this was a good time to show him—just before the Junior-Senior Dance?

Brantley said, "Ha," but her heart was not in it.

Maria said had Maggie decided to go to the Junior-Senior?

Brantley said unkindly, "You mean has anybody asked her to go?"

I said, not so loud, that Maggie might hear.

Brantley said, "Well, really, you ought to do something about Maggie!"

Mother Colhoun said that Maggie was just a baby yet and there was still plenty of time for her to get boy-crazy.

I asked Brantley to carry some ice water up to Rutledge. Brantley said all right, but she was perfectly aware it was only a ruse to get rid of her so we could talk about Maggie.

Everybody laughed and Mother Colhoun pressed her smooth face that smelled faintly of violets, close to mine and said, "Don't worry, and when Elizabeth Brown calls you about being chairman of the Spring Garden Tours, don't let on that you already knew."

It was Monday morning when Elizabeth Brown called me. Rutledge, after a good night, had already gone into town, insisting that he was all right. Tilghman seemed all right too when I looked in on her.

Elizabeth Brown gave me a terrific build-up, about how I had been state president, and my own Seven Pines had won first place in the Tours, and how my camellia seedlings were the envy of the entire Garden Club Council.

"Well," I said modestly. Elizabeth Brown went on fast before I had time to recover. She said I just had to be chairman of the Tours, as I was the logical one. And my lovely old house was the show place of the county with all those columns and lovely grounds.

All I could think was how much paint those twenty-two freestanding white columns took.

"And while I have you on the line," Elizabeth Brown continued in a rush, "we want you for a talk on roses Wednesday afternoon at the Magnolia Garden Club at the museum."

She paused briefly, and all I could think to say was I just had four tea roses and they were dying. But she only laughed and said I was so witty and thank you so much and hung up.

When the telephone rang again I took down the receiver and said hello. There was somebody there because I could hear breathing, but nobody answered me, and then there was a click and the instrument went dead. I didn't even give it a second thought, as things like this happen to everybody.

But when the phone kept doing like that all morning I decided it was out of order and was going to get it fixed.

I reported it when it rang and it was Mother Colhoun. I asked her if she had been trying to get me all morning, but she said no, she hadn't. I said was she sure?

I explained about the telephone and Mother Colhoun said everybody's telephone did like that sometimes, and what did I know about that young Dr. Warrick?

My heart skipped a beat and I said why?

Mother Colhoun said, well, he and Maria were seeing each other quite a lot.

I said, well, he was very highly recommended by Dr. Scarborough, and I hoped she hadn't heard anything against him professionally.

Mother Colhoun said, oh, she didn't mean professionally, and she was sure he was fine.

I said, relieved, that we all liked him very much—especially Tilghman. That he really was very nice—the kind who knew his way into the kitchen for a cup of coffee and didn't mind having to push the dog off his chair to sit down.

Mother Colhoun was silent for a moment. Then she said, "He's a Yankee."

I said I knew—from Connecticut.

Mother Colhoun said, well, like she said, Maria and Dr. Warrick were seeing each other quite often, and frankly she was worried.

I said why, as they would be perfect for each other?

Mother Colhoun made a strangled sort of sound. "Yankee car-penter!" she said. And I knew suddenly that the bitterness in her voice was as deep-seated and root-bound as the little pink coral bells azalea in the marble urn by our lily pool.

It was as much a part of her heritage as the sun-washed snow unrolling like drifts of acres ahead of the mechanical cotton picker in the fall. And I felt very low, all at one, because

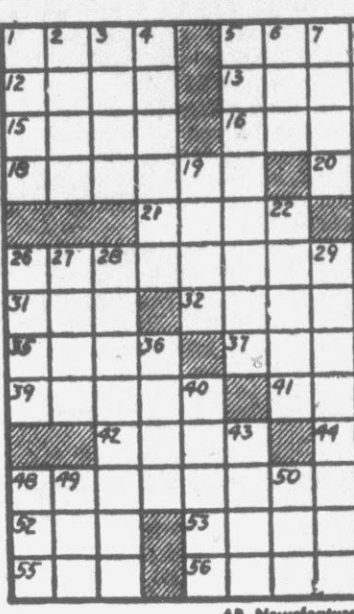

I saw that getting Maria and Dr. Warrick together was going to be harder than I'd imagined.

May Resort To Legal Action

RALEIGH (AP) — The State Stream Sanitation Committee has served notice on Wilkesboro, Hamlet and Ellerbe that it may use legal action to force the municipalities to carry out anti-pollution programs.

The committee Friday voted to seek advice from the attorney general's office on legal steps to prod the communities along.

Since its creation eight years ago, the stream sanitation group has yet to use legal steps to enforce its stream clean-up rulings.

Wilkesboro, Hamlet and Ellerbe appeared before the committee previously to explain their plans for cleaning up wastes dumped into the Yadkin River. However, the committee said no action has followed the hearing.

The Stream Sanitation Committee set a two-day meeting to begin Feb. 25. It requested Wade Manufacturing Co. of Wadesboro to be present, to explain its delay in treatment of wastes dumped into a tributary of the Yadkin. The towns of Murfreesboro and Newland and an industry, Cone Mills of Greensboro, also were asked to have representatives at the February meeting.

Rockefeller Charm Had Its Effects On Tours

EDITOR'S NOTE: Pulitzer Prize winner Relman Morin, who accompanied New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller on his recent 5,636-mile tour of seven states, here gives his impressions of some of the factors involved in the big question: Will Rockefeller challenge Vice President Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination?

By RELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (AP) — D-Day is approaching for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his day of decision on whether to challenge Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960.
Rockefeller is expected to announce his decision soon after the New Year weekend.
If it is "yes," he may at the same time authorize a group of supporters, waiting in New Hampshire, to enter him in the state primary election March 8.
New Hampshire holds the nation's first primary—and it was on this battleground in 1952 where a political unknown, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower first routed the forces of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. Now, New Hampshire may bring the first test of strength between Nixon and Rockefeller.
Many observers, eyeing Rockefeller's recent travels and tactics, believe he already has decided to try for the nomination.
He says he hasn't.
"I'm simply registering impressions," he says. "When I have all the possible facts, I will make up my mind. But not before."

What he has decided, he usually adds, is that in no circumstances will he be the GOP candidate for vice president. In a Miami television interview, the governor said that if he decided to seek the presidency he'd be delighted to have Nixon run for vice president again.
Without question, Rockefeller would like to be president. He has definite views on foreign and domestic problems confronting the United States. He would like to be in the White House, not merely for the honor, but to try to translate these ideas into national policy.
The governor has just returned from 5,636 miles of travel through Indiana, Missouri, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Texas and Florida. A month ago, he went to California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho.
He talked with thousands of people in public receptions and closed conferences — GOP brass, party workers at all levels, and plain voters, including some who said they are Democrats. In major speeches, he outlined his views on labor-management strife, foreign policy, national defense, Latin-American relations, and how to solve the farm problem.
Politically, he found much the same pattern everywhere—a majority of GOP officers openly favorable to Nixon for the nomination. They received him with varying degrees of friendliness, from coolness to hearty admiration. Many studied him with a calculating eye.
Rockefeller himself estimated "perhaps 70 per cent" of the GOP captains and lieutenants are for Nixon.
However, ending the last tour in Miami, Fla., he said he was "very pleased" with what he encountered on the two trips. Earlier, he said that in virtually every state he visited, he found Republicans who told him they would support him if he goes for the nomination.
Another pattern repeated itself, in some degree, in each state, too.

Christmas Spirit Saturates TV Dial

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio-Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — After a weekend of off and on television watching, I am suffering from a severe case of snow blindness and an overdose of Santa Claus plots.
Even a little boy on "Wanted—Dead or Alive" asked Santa to give him a gun for Christmas.
Everywhere the dial could turn on the TV set there were twinkling Christmas trees and ground frosted with snow. Between the commercials everybody except Perry Mason was a-blowin' on their chilly hands, a stampin' the cold feet and delivering gift-wrapped bundles.
That's not quite true. CBS' "Conquest" ignored the Yule and devoted a fascinating 30 minutes to the work of a French team of researchers which has literally learned how to talk to locusts. The scientists made recordings of locust songs and learned to reproduce them.
They found they could attract lady locusts almost as efficiently

Jazz Trumpeter Is Back Teaching

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jazz trumpeter F. Allen Smith is back teaching fifth grade pupils after a brief but successful career with big name bands.
Smith, 34, said in an interview Sunday that jazz and his desire to teach had been in conflict for years. He left a public school teaching job in 1958 to go on tour with Benny Goodman. In addition he filled New York nightspot engagements and made recordings. But, he added: "New York is a rat race. Some people like it."
He conceded that he had made good money, but worked day and night with very little sleep.
Smith got his teaching credentials after graduating from San Francisco State College after World War II. He teaches at Burnett elementary school.

WEATHER PREDICTOR

POWELL, Wyo. (AP) — A sure-fire method of weather prediction is reported by police radio operators here.
They say whenever police calls from Minneapolis break in on the Powell police shortwave radio—look out, a storm is coming.

A Rockefeller backer in Oklahoma quoted the state chairman there as saying, after meeting the governor, "I'm still for Nixon, but I'd better stop listening to this guy."
Whether Rockefeller actually won any Republicans away from Nixon is almost impossible to know. But obviously he impressed a great many—and set them talking about a Nixon-Rockefeller alignment as the "dream ticket."
Apparently, they do not believe him when he says, firmly, he will not accept second place on the ticket.
But what many people said to Rockefeller indicated something more than curiosity. "I'm all for you," "Hope you run," "You're our next president," "Get on that ticket somewhere, governor, and we're sure winners."

So the question arises, "Is Nixon's support within the party as solid as it looks at this early stage?" The question has to be considered in the light of several considerations:
1. Many Republicans undoubtedly favor Nixon now. But they also want to win in 1960. What will they do if, say, Rockefeller should beat the vice president in a primary election or two?
2. As vice president, Nixon conceivably could be in the White House before President Eisenhower's term ends. Both for personal and party reasons, it might be embarrassing, then, for a GOP leader to have come out for Rockefeller as the better candidate.
3. To win the election, the GOP nominee must pull a large chunk of independent votes plus some from the Democrats. Would Rockefeller attract more of these than Nixon? The governor won't discuss the question. "I deplore any tactics based on 'Nixon-can't-win' talk," he says. He says Nixon has done a "superb" job as vice president.
Rockefeller was smiling and he looked confident when he ended his latest exploration trip. But he was inscrutable as ever about his intentions. Does that mean he will challenge Nixon?
"Well," said a Republican leader, "after all this travelling and hard work, it will be mighty strange if he doesn't."

Belvoir - Falkland Has Veterans; Lacks Height

By JOHNNY HUDSON
Reflector Sports Editor

Young Coach Dan Wooten has already had a score of sleepless nights and welcomes the holiday period as a pressure-releasing spell and some extra days to work toward what could become a nightmare for a first year tutor.

Belvoir-Falkland isn't off to a red hot start in the 1959-60 Pitt County race and Wooten, serving his first year as a coach, hasn't received a warm hospitality from his rivals.

The Eagles find themselves hovering around the bottom of the stack as Pitt County cagers pack their gear away for a short lull.

Situated in a community that craves the hardwood sport like a baby craves candy, Belvoir-Falkland isn't possessed with anyone of Will the Slit proportions. As a matter of fact, height is the big factor that may spell out another second division finish for Belvoir-Falkland.

Wooten doesn't frown too much when speaking of experience. Jerry Little, Willie Wallace, and Roy Smith are veterans with many battle scars of past seasons.

Little is "potentially" one of the best shooters in the county. A short tenacious senior, he has been All-Conference for the past two seasons but has still failed to live up to expectations that accompanied a sensational sophomore year. The absence of a big man to help carry the scoring blunt could effect the situation.

Smith has come through better than expected this season and Wooten has praise for his forward court man who is also a rebounder. Wallace, a junior, has a keen shooting eye and should improve with time.

The Eagles don't have the height to compete with the gluths of other clubs but they do have speed and Wooten is hopeful this will bring a fruitful second half showing. There are no hulking, slow-footed beings on the squad.

The B-F mentor is learning the ropes the hard way but his impressions will be deep and could prove to be disastrous for his foes in the future.

The outlook for the damsels here is a somewhat different one. Coach Ed Warren, who doubles as principal, has put in a couple of strategic moves here and there in the past and installed a winning spirit. Warren, who studies his foes with the eye of a fox, may not be quite as strong this season as in past years but his club will not be taken lightly.

A careful planner, Warren has already rallied his charges for one upset win and more may bite the dust before the final curtain.

The Eagles have a couple of lasses who rank as possible All-Conference choices. Phyllis Nichols, only a junior is their big scorer and Marie Harrell is a big asset at either guard or forward.

The remainder of the Belvoir-Falkland 1959-60 schedule includes: Jan. 5—Grifton, home; Jan. 8—Winterville, home; Jan. 12—Ayden, away; Jan. 15, Chocowinity, away; Jan. 19—Walstonburg, away; Jan. 22—Grimesland, away; Jan. 26—Stokes, home; Jan. 29—Chocowinity, home; Feb. 2—Farmville, away; Feb. 5—Winterville, away; Feb. 9—Ayden, home; Feb. 12—Chicod, away.

EAGLE STALWARTS—Jerry Lewis, Belvoir-Falkland's All-Conference forward, and Roy Smith, another forward (below), are two of the most potent performers in the B-F lineup this year. These boys are expected to carry much of the scoring load for the Eagles this season.

Duke Blue Devils Enter Bid For National Ranking; Win Their Fourth In Row

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Duke Blue Devils—currently the hottest basketball team in the Atlantic Coast Conference—have entered their bid for national ranking.

Duke won its fourth straight Saturday night, beating Navy 76-71 to win the Birmingham Classic. The Middles were unbeaten in six games before running up against Duke.

Coach Vic Bubas' Blue Devils lost their first game of the season to Georgia Tech, 49-59. Then they embarked on their winning streak in which they have averaged 73 points a game.

Duke has a 2-0 record in the ACC, second only to league-leading Wake Forest's 3-0 mark.

Duke's John Pryce, a 5-11 junior from Huntington, W. Va., scored 23 points in a sensational display of shooting against Navy. He hit on 10 of 13 field goal tries, including a string of eight straight during the first half.

The night before, when the Blue Devils trimmed Alabama 78-69, it was 6-6 Carroll Youngkin, a junior from Winston-Salem, N.C., who led Duke with 20 points.

Duke Capt. Howard Hurt, however, is leading the scoring parade. The 6-3 junior from Beckley, W. Va., is averaging 17 points a game for Duke's five games.

Youngkin had a 16-point average for the season last year, while Hurt's average was 15.7.

This is Bubas' first season as Duke coach. He succeeded Harold Bradley, who went to Texas Tech, where he coached almost wholly of juniors and sophomores. There's only one senior on the squad.

Meanwhile, North Carolina's dreams were dashed in the Kentucky Invitation Tournament. The Tar Heels went into the tournament with a 3-0 record and came out with a 3-2 mark.

They dropped their first game to Kentucky, 76-70, and then lost to St. Louis in Saturday's consolation game, 68-52.

In other games Saturday, N.C. State lost 60-53 to Georgia Tech. Duke's John Pryce, a 5-11 junior from Huntington, W. Va., scored 23 points in a sensational display of shooting against Navy. He hit on 10 of 13 field goal tries, including a string of eight straight during the first half.

Olmedo Loses In His Pro Opener

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Alex Olmedo has had his baptism under fire on the professional tennis circuit and, he reported today, things are bound to get better.

Lew Hoad of Australia whipped him, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 Sunday, and Olmedo, ex-U.S. Davis Cup ace by way of Peru, showed signs of rustiness.

"I enjoyed it, though," said Olmedo. "Lew was real good and I think he's improved a lot since his amateur days."

"I would have played better, too, but it was the first big match I've played in three months. I needed the competition and should do better."

Promoter Jack Kramer, who signed Olmedo three weeks ago for a $35,000 first year guarantee, was happy with the performance. "Alex hasn't played a tough match for a long time," he said. "I thought he really did well considering that it was his first match."

A crowd of 5,000 turned out in the White City Stadium. Kramer billed it as an international test between the U.S. and Australia.

After dropping the singles to Hoad, Olmedo teamed with Pancho Gonzales in the doubles. They turned back Hoad and Ken Rosewall 6-4, 6-4. Gonzales won the other singles match, cutting down Rosewall, 6-2, 6-4.

Lenoir Rhyne Is Trounced In Bowl

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — An aggressive line and two sparkling backs in Jarel Hayes and Butch Pressley proved too much for Lenoir Rhyne and gave Texas A&I a 29-7 Holiday Bowl triumph and the championship of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics.

So completely did the Texans' line dominate play Saturday that Lee Farmer, star Lenoir Rhyne tailback, gained a net 23 yards in 11 tries in the first half.

Hayes' passes paid off in three easy scores. Two of them were to Pressley, chosen the bowl's outstanding player. The Texans scored on a 32-yard pass play the second time they got the ball with Hayes throwing to the 175-pound freshman who raced over.

Hayes also hit Pressley with another touchdown pass midway through the third quarter. The play covered 57 yards.

Hayes teamed with end Dick Watson in the second quarter to electrify the crowd with a 77-yard touchdown play.

Lenoir Rhyne scored in the final period when second team halfback Tony McClamrock passed 25 yards to Dick Lage at the goal line.

Clarence Stasavich, coach of Lenoir Rhyne, was named football coach of the year by the NAIA. He has had only three losing seasons since returning to the school at Hickory, N.C., in 1946. His Bears were unbeaten in their regular nine-game season and defeated Southern Connecticut 27-7.

cut for the Eastern NAIA title before meeting Texas A&I.

The Bears moved the ball 254 yards against A&I, but most of Lenoir Rhyne's gains were in their own territory. They got past mid field only twice until the final three minutes of the third period.

The victory was A&I's 12th of the season against one loss. Lenoir Rhyne, ranked first in the NAIA final poll, were undefeated in 18 contests before Saturday.

Shingler Comes Out Of Shadows

HOUSTON (AP) — Lowndes Shingler emerged from the shadow of teammate Harvey White in Saturday's Clemson Bluebonnet Bowl football victory over TCU to win acclaim of sportswriters as the game's outstanding back.

Shingler, No. 2 Tiger quarterback from Greenwood, S.C., led the runners with 65 yards in three carries. He completed two of four passes for 34 yards and a touchdown.

He received 27 votes to 3 for White, also a Greenwood product. Jack Spikes, TCU fullback, got one vote.

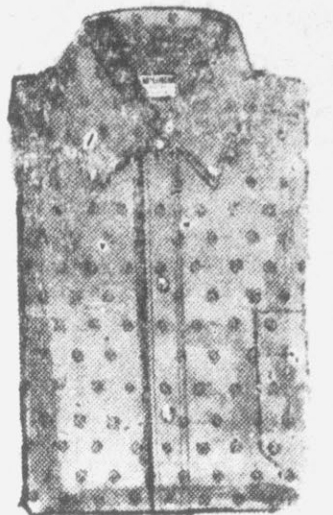

Bob Lilly, TCU tackle, received 26 votes as the top lineman. Dave Lynn, Clemson guard followed with 7.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
High Point rolled to comparatively easy victories over two North State Conference foes last week, and now is atop the conference standings with a 4-0 mark.

Association Taps FCC Coach For Convention Post

James B. Mallory, dean of men and head baseball coach at East Carolina College, has been announced as a member of a panel on the annual convention program of the National Association of College Baseball Coaches to be held in New York City Jan. 4-6. Mallory continues as head coach of baseball at East Carolina College in addition to his duties as dean of men. He is known widely in collegiate coaching circles.

During the northern trip Coach Mallory will be completing arrangements for the 1960 baseball schedule including games slated with some northern colleges.

High Point whipped Guilford 106-88 and Elon 85-69. Pacing the Panthers is 6-5 Danny Sewell, a junior who is ripping the nets for an average of 27.2 points a game. Teammate Dave Combs a 6-1 sophomore, has a 21.8 average.

Lenoir Rhyne didn't play last week. Appalachian stands third in the league with a 1-0 record, and is 5-0 in all games.

In games Saturday, sixty-place Catawba (1-2), lost to Newberry by an 83-64 score, and Atlantic Christian, 1-1 in the conference and 6-4 in all games, lost to Belmont Abbey, 73-49, in the Quantico, Va. Tournament. Catawba has a 6-6 over all mark.

East Carolina is in fourth place with a 2-2 league mark, and the same for all games.

Elon (1-2 and 3-4), Western Carolina (0-1 and 4-2), and Guilford (0-6 and 0-6) stand at the bottom.

All teams are idle this week. Atlantic Christian, East Carolina, Elon and Western Carolina return to action in the Camp Lejeune tournament Dec. 28-30.

Lenoir Rhyne, Appalachian and Western Carolina will take part in the Spindale Tournament Jan. 1-2.

Bucs To Play In Lejeune Tourney

The East Carolina College basketball team will participate in the Christmas Holiday Tournament at Camp Lejeune, N.C., during Dec. 28, 29, and 30. Coach Earl Smith announced today.

Members of the basketball squad joined East Carolina College students in the Christmas holiday exodus which began Friday, but will return to the campus Dec. 26 to begin drills for the Lejeune basketball classic which has become a popular sports event and is an invitational affair sponsored by the Athletic Office of the U. S. Marine Corps at Camp Lejeune.

Following the Christmas holidays, the basketball Bucs hit the road for games with the University of Richmond there on Jan. 2, Appalachian State Teachers College in Boone on Jan. 4, and Elon College there on Jan. 9. First home game in January will bring Guilford College for a return date on Jan. 14. The Bucs took the opener with Guilford by a 109-102 score.

Syndicate Seen Gaining Ground

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-man syndicate headed by Roy M. Cohn appeared today to be gaining ground in its efforts to promote a return heavyweight title fight between champion Ingemar Johansson and challenger Floyd Patterson in New York next June.

Cohn, a former assistant U.S. attorney general who once served as counsel to a Senate investigating subcommittee headed by the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, confirmed that his group has purchased two thirds stock interest in the now defunct Rosenzohn Enterprises, Inc., from Vincent J. Velella.

He said he hoped to obtain the one third interest held by William P. Rosenzohn and thus insure a title fight at Yankee Stadium next summer.

Cohn said the purchase price was "substantial" but declined to name the figure. Velella reportedly had sought $150,000 for his stock. Velella is a New York lawyer who has been barred from promoting fights in this state by the New York State Athletic Commission.

He is under indictment for perjury as an aftermath of the first Johansson - Patterson fight last summer in which the Swedish fighter won the world championship by knocking out Patterson in three rounds.

Clemson Again Scores Big Upset Over Horned Frogs

HOUSTON (AP) — The infant Bluebonnet Bowl's first effort is on the books and sponsors hope it is only the first of many.

They point to the crowd of 55,000 which jammed all but the corner sections of the 70,000-seat Rice Stadium for the Texas Christian-Clemson clash — two teams which held little immediate appeal to southeast Texans.

The attendance figure broke the bowl inaugural record of 28,000 set by the Sugar Bowl in 1935 — as did the Liberty Bowl's Penn State - Alabama match several hours earlier.

Houston enjoyed perfect football weather with the mercury in the high 50s, clear skies and a light breeze. And Clemson enjoyed taking TCU into camp, 23-7.

Elvin Smith, pipeline executive and president of the Greater Houston Bowl Assn., earlier estimated the two schools would get about $80,000 each for the day's work.

The Tigers, who were to head home today, came from behind in the fourth period Saturday to deluge the Horned Frogs with three TD's.

White's decision to come to Boston was influenced to a degree by the fact the city is a world renowned medical center.

White is a 200-pounder who was a Clemson co-captain and divided the signal calling chores with Lowndes Shingler.

"We played mighty sour until the big fourth quarter," Coach Frank Howard commented, adding: "It all turned out to be a mighty fine game."

The winning scores came on a pass from Harvey White to sophomore Gary Barnes; then Lowndes Shingler passed 23 yards to season.

Tommy King in the end zone; and finally Ron Scrudato rammed over from the 1 after a 63-yard drive.

Clemson, which is used to playing the underdog role in bowl games, made the upset its fourth victory in seven post-season contests.

The Atlantic Coast Conference champions had been ranked eleventh in the nation, while TCU of the Southwest Conference was seventh. Both entered the game with 8-2 records.

The Tigers held TCU to 89 yards rushing, well below the Horned Frogs' rushing average of 200 yards a game during the regular season.

White, a strong runner and fine passer, had been the first quarterback drafted by Boston at the AFL meetings. However, until his talks with Holovak, White had told NFL and Canadian officials he was not interested in playing pro ball in view of his plans to study medicine.

Few Dictators Can Claim Luck Of Franciso Franco

By LOUIS NEVIN

MADRID (AP) — Few have had the good luck of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, President Eisenhower's host today. His good fortune is proverbial in Spain. Even his choice of an Army career, which took him to the command of rebel forces in the civil war and to his present position as chief of state, chief of government, and head of the only authorized political party, had an element of luck.

As the son and grandson of naval officers, he had every intention of going into the navy. Americans sank the Spanish fleet in 1898 and the Naval Academy closed. He went to the Toledo Military Academy instead.

Francisco Paulino Hermenegildo Teodilo Franco Bahamonde was a brilliant student on graduation in 1910. Sixteen years later he was appointed brigadier general at 34, the youngest general in Spanish history.

His luck against the Moors in the Rif campaigns of Morocco was legendary. He was shot from under him; snipers put holes in his coat or cap. Only once was he wounded.

The republican government exiled him to the Canary Islands in 1939, putting him in position to fly to Morocco to head the uprising there against the republic.

Franco was third in line to head the rebel movement, but the two officers above him were killed in plane crashes. He became chief of state Oct. 1, 1936.

With the end of the civil war in 1939 and the start of World War II, Franco found both Allies and Axis bidding for Spanish favor—the Germans to bring Spain into the conflict, the Allies to keep her out.

At the end of the war, when Franco's position at home was shakiest, the Western democracies had the United Nations declare his regime a menace to peace. That rallied the Spanish people to support him.

A few years later the conflict between the Communist and democratic countries brought Franco into Western councils. This gave him desperately needed foreign credits and, for all practical purposes, an alliance with the United States.

The visit of President Eisenhower provides him further support. One Spanish news commentator wrote, "No Western chief of state will think of refusing to receive Franco after the Eisenhower visit."

Franco's cold, patient self-control has brought his country the full sweep—from Nazi Germany to international pariah to association with the Western Alliance.

Franco proudly proclaims that neither he nor his regime has changed. It is the West which now accepts "our truths."

Franco lacks the excitable Latin temperament. He has the traditional character of the son of Galicia, a province of northwestern Spain. "Coolness, reflection, tenacity and intuition." But his understanding of the Spanish people and how to manage them is profound.

Short and stocky, he is at 67 a quiet family man who neither smokes nor drinks. He has a good grasp of English. His sports used to include tennis but are now limited to hunting and fishing. He enjoys watching Spanish and foreign movies in his private cinema at Pardo Palace, 10 miles northwest of Madrid, where he lives.

In 1923 he married Carmen Polo, daughter of a wealthy Asturian businessman. Their daughter married Cristobal Martinez y Bordiu, Marquis de Villaverde, a chest surgeon. Five children are their grandfather's delight.

Bonds Prove Big Lure For Many Observers

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Should you buy bonds now? Should you sell the ones you bought a few years back?

Bond dealers say they have some customers in each of these categories.

Those who are buying are attracted by the high yields that U.S. Treasury and corporate bonds bring today. The return is greater than can be had through the dividend payments of most corporate common stocks at present prices.

Most of the longer term U.S. Treasury securities are selling now at or near their record lows. Although the fixed interest rates on the ones issued some years ago are low, the bargain prices mean that your dollars buy more bonds than if they were selling at par. Therefore the yield on the dollars you spend is high.

The same is true of many of the older corporate bonds.

The U.S. bonds are the marketable variety sold in large denominations. U.S. Savings Bonds can be sold only redeemed at fixed prices—and so aren't involved in this discussion.

There has been some switching from common stocks into bonds by those looking for higher yields, and some buying by institutional investment companies for the same reason.

But there is a rub that defers some from buying bonds. That is, when the bonds mature the Treasury or the corporations will redeem them at par. The difference between present low prices and the par redemption will constitute a capital gain and therefore is taxable as income.

Dealers say that those who are selling their bonds come under several categories. Some are selling to set up for tax purposes the loss between what they paid awhile back and what they get today. Some are reported switching from U.S. bonds to corporate bonds where yields may be higher.

Some see their present bond holdings likely to go still lower in price if the Treasury comes into the market next year with bonds bearing high interest rates.

The Treasury already is paying 4½ per cent for its shortest term securities, its weekly offering of 91-day bills.

The question of whether you should hold onto your old bonds depends, therefore, on your own circumstances and plans; weighing their low interest against the loss at today's low prices, with an eye on greater returns from other investments to offset the loss.

Whether you should put any idle money you have into bonds depends likewise on weighing their attractive yields and certain capital gains against what you think particular common stocks might do for you, or what other more risky but higher yield investments might bring in.

Charlie Ventura Claims Frame-Up

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jazz saxophonist Charlie Ventura, charged with possession of marijuana, says: "I don't use the stuff; I've been framed."

Ventura, a musician long associated with the fashionable resort hotels along the Las Vegas strip, was arrested early Saturday by sheriff's officers who said he was driving in an erratic manner.

Deputies said they found marijuana in the car and then went to Ventura's home and found some there as well.

Ventura, 42, was released later in the day on $1,500 bail. He told a newsman, "I wouldn't jeopardize my position by being subject to such a thing as this."

Skips Headaches For Yule Music

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Norris Poulson played Christmas carols instead of discussing civic problems on his weekly radio program Sunday night.

"During the Christmas season the people won't be too interested in my headaches," he said.

The 15-minute program (over station KFI) was interrupted by only one "commercial"—the mayor's plea for safe driving over the holidays.

Blames 'Triangle' For Killing His Old Friend

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jealousy, says a former Burlington, N.C., man was at the bottom of a love triangle here that caused him to kill his lifelong friend.

Felix Wade Horner, 34, was jailed without bond Saturday after the body of Donald Newman, 36, was found buried in a shallow grave in the basement of his home. Also held was Mrs. Evelyn Newman, 24, charged with being an accessory before and after the fact of homicide and conspiracy.

Horner and Newman grew up together in Burlington, were in the roofing business together, and Horner boarded with the Newmans, who had three children.

Police said Newman was shot several times last Monday night. They said Horner admitted that he fired the fatal slugs and that he buried the body in the basement of the Newman home. Mrs. Newman was aware of the slaying and was shown the grave the next day.

Checking Story Of Abuse On Bus

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) is investigating a Negro woman's report that she was beaten by a white man when she sat down beside him in a seat near the front of a Charlotte city bus Saturday.

Lucille Hix told officers that Robert G. Helms struck her in the face when she sat down beside him, breaking her glasses. Her nose was cut and she required hospital treatment.

Helms was charged with assault on a female.

Many other incidents have occurred, according to Alvin H. Case, City Coach Lines superintendent.

He said there have been several clashes between bus passengers—mostly juveniles—in the past.

He said there have been several cases this year and last "of Negro children riding the buses to and from school and spitting on white children." He could not recall another case where blows were struck.

Sgt. Tom Ginn of the Youth Bureau said police "constantly" get reports about bus incidents, adding:

"It's both Negroes against whites and whites against Negroes."

Kelly Alexander said his state NAACP group is "going to investigate the responsibility of the carrier in this incident. I am sure bus drivers have certain police powers and could arrest anyone starting trouble."

Case said the bus company policy is that its drivers shall not intervene in any fracas but shall call city police.

IT REASONS

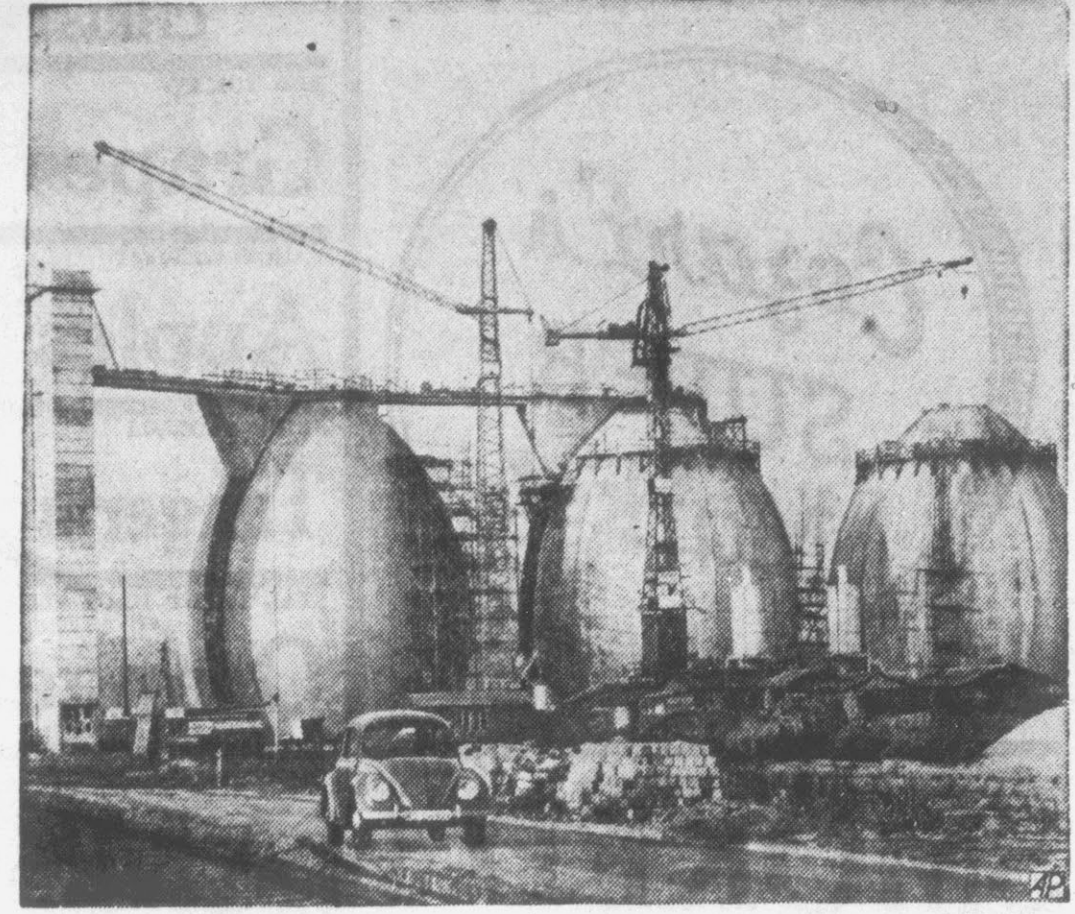

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Judge Ronald Abernethy convicted a motorist of drunken driving and ordered his driver's license revoked. The man said he couldn't comply — he'd been driving in California for 12 years, and in all that time he hadn't been able to pass the license examination.

Desi Purchases A Stock Farm

CORONA, Calif. (AP) — Television actor-producer Desi Arnaz is the new owner of the Circle Jr., a 40-acre thoroughbred stock farm just northwest of Corona.

The previous owner, Jack Robinson, did not disclose the purchase price in announcing the sale Sunday.

There are seven buildings on the property, including a long, low spanish-style ranch house. The farm also has the appropriate corals, tracks and exercise areas for training race horses.

EGG-SHAPED PURIFIERS — These three giant "eggs" housing filter systems were built in Hamburg, West Germany, to purify industrial waste waters going into the Elbe river. Bathing had been forbidden in Elbe because of water pollution.

Police Touched By Her Plight

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Hope mingled with tears of appreciation today in the eyes of Marie Mackey because a policeman was touched by her plight.

Policeman R. I. Haddix went to the Korean war bride's apartment Sunday after alarmed neighbors reported the incessant crying of children.

"It was terrible," said Haddix. He found the tiny mother cuddling two whimpering little girls, Beverly, 2½, and Judy, 1½. The babies wore only underwear. Marie's husband had been gone four days.

"They hadn't eaten for two days," said Haddix. "She was just resigned to die with her girls."

So Haddix went to a grocer. He had $3.82. The grocer matched it. A customer pitched in. And Haddix left with $10 worth of food.

Police radios buzzed. A captain told his men to give money for his usual present to Marie Mackey and her girls. A cop brought a Christmas tree. Patrolmen took up money in local barrooms. Radio stations took up the cry.

And Marie Mackey watched the parade of gifts come into the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Somers who gave her refuge. Then Sunday night carolers from the First Congregational Church sang of Christmas.

A tear rolled down the cheek of Marie Mackey who had found warm friends far from her native land.

Warn Teachers Against 'Payola'

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Teachers here have been warned against students who try to curry favor with "Christmas payola."

Supt. of Schools Cecil I. Rice sent teachers a memorandum indicating they may accept gifts which represent love and respect. But, he added, "If a kid gives you a $50 gift you're going to think a long time before you flunk that kid."

He left it to the teachers to decide which gifts are sincere and which are "payola."

Past Decade Saw Great Changes In Movie Scene

Editor's Note—The ways of life and work and business in Hollywood changed more during the decade just closing than during any similar period in movieland's history. Here, in the first of a series of four articles, Bob Thomas, a critical, yet sympathetic, look at Hollywood during its fateful Fifties—recounting the good and the bad and, in particular, pinpointing the seven cardinal sins that have seriously changed the picture.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What a decade! Turner watched her daughter slay a ranting boy friend. Elizabeth Taylor had four husbands. Big Crosby lost Dixie to cancer, later married Kathryn Grant. Grace Kelly won an Oscar and a real-life prince. The Giants disappeared—Louis B. Mayer, Cecil B. De Mille, Harry Cohn. Ingrid Bergman mothered an illegitimate baby but returned to Hollywood's esteem. Death came fast to Tyrone Power. James Dean, Errol Flynn, Mario Lanza, with cruel slowness to Humphrey Bogart, Susan Ball, Frank Sinatra battled in and out of a marriage to Ava Gardner and back to the top of the movie heap. Rita Hayworth tired of Aly Khan, took husbands 4 and 5. Marilyn Monroe went from a baseball great to an egghead playwright.

It was a decade colored by Kim Novak's lavender, Jayne Mansfield's pink, and Liberace's gold lame. It was the decade of Elvis Presley, Davy Crockett, Brigitte Bardot, wide screens, 3D and "I Was a Teen-age Werewolf."

It was also the decade of greatest change since Hollywood rose out of the grapefruit groves. There was even greater change than during transition from silents to talkies in the 30s.

Ten years ago, there were 150 stars making important pictures. Today, only a dozen are considered box office naturals.

Ten years ago, the studios still ruled supreme and controlled long lists of stars. Today, hardly any stars are under contract and the bigger ones can dictate their terms to the studios.

The major studio operation is as dead as the nickelodeon. Two studios have gone out of the picture business—Republic and RKO; others are selling their property and leasing back. All of the lots are now largely clusters of independent producers.

Even the social aspects of Hollywood have changed. No longer do the Cohns, Warners, Mayers, Schencks, and Zanucks rule movieland society. The big guns are the top stars—the Sinatras, Coopers, Stewarts, Douglasses, Grants.

TV was the major factor that shattered Hollywood's prosperity of the Frantic Forties. Theater attendance plummeted from the 1947 high of 90 million weekly to 45 million in 1957.

Six thousand movie houses out of 18,500 closed their doors in the past 10 years. Few new theaters have been built, although drivelines have increased from 1,200 to 5,000.

While the population rose from 150 million in 1950 to 175 million in 1959, nearly every other industry expanded. But the film business shrank. The major companies turned out 408 features in 1957 and 320 in 1951. This year the total will be under 20.

There were other factors besides TV that brought about the films' decline. The move to the suburbs helped kill off many downtown theaters. The new leisure changed people's entertainment habits. Americans had time and money to lavish on home projects, motoring, boating, etc. And Hollywood itself failed to come up with attractions to maintain movie going, once a national habit.

Tot Is Killed By Scared Coyote

MARKLEEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—A frightened coyote chained in a backyard killed Kerry Barr, 3½, Sunday, biting the youngster's throat after he became entangled in the chain.

Kerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl K. Barr of Fairfield, Calif., who were visiting relatives in this remote, mountain community, died before arrival at the home of a physician 17 miles away.

"Nobody saw it happen," said Glen Barr, Earl's brother. "The boy had lost a lot of blood before we discovered him."

He said he shot the coyote.

Christmas Gifts Stolen, But City Replaces Them

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—It will be a Merry Christmas after all for 9-year-old David Olive and his sister, Joan, 6.

A thief broke into their home Friday night and stole $75 worth of toys, all that Delores Olive had bought for her children. She is separated from her husband, an Army sergeant stationed in Germany, and she is unemployed.

When St. Louisans learned of their plight, the picture changed. First the store where she bought the toys offered to replace them. The government Employees Mart wired an offer of $25 worth of toys. A man brought a record player and a family sent a box of games and books. Employees of a service station sent $11 and a ticket redeemable for a Christmas turkey.

Joan had seen the box in the closet and when it was stolen, Mrs. Olive said, "she thought she must have been bad and Santa Claus came and took it back."

Ten Years Of Peril, Progress For Chiang's Nationalist China

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — It's been just 10 years—years of peril and progress—since the government of Nationalist China fled from the mainland to Formosa.

The red shadow of Communism, constant and menacing, still looms across the 110 miles from the China coast to the island. It hangs even more heavily over the Quemoy and Matsu islands, crouched close to the shore 150 miles apart.

At the moment, things are quiet, and have been comparatively so through the year. There is little evidence of reinforcement among the Red forces across the Formosa Strait. For as long as a week at a time, the Communists skip their schedule of shelling the offshore islands on odd-numbered days.

Communist leader Mao Tse Tung could spark another incident in an attempt to torpedo further peace talks between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Whether real trouble comes or not, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his 11 million people on Formosa are in far better shape to meet it than they were a decade ago.

From a near impotent, near bankrupt state in December, 1949, Nationalist China has developed into a major military power in the Far East with 600,000 under arms. At the same time, it has managed to stage a social and economic spurt.

United States military and economic aid has been a vital factor in the change.

For an investment of something like a billion dollars in the economic field and a billion and a half in the military over the past 10 years, America has obtained a greatly strengthened ally alongside the bamboo curtain.

Vice Adm. Frederick N. Kivette, whose U.S. Seventh Fleet keeps watch over this part of the world, sized up the military situation recently for newsmen aboard the carrier Hancock.

During the last year, the admiral said, there has been no significant expansion of Communist military forces opposite Formosa, either on the ground or in the air. Rather, he said, there has been a leveling off in the Red build-up which poured thousands of jet planes and hundreds of thousands of troops into the coastal zone.

But Kivette said the lull may be only temporary. He regards Communist China as a continuous military threat to all of Free Asia.

There is no indication the Reds have abandoned their idea of conquering the offshore islands and then Formosa itself, he said.

Quemoy and the Matsus, focal point of crisis in 1958, showed the ability to stand up under Communist threats and massive bombardments. They have been strengthened since.

"I think," Kivette said, "Quemoy would be an awfully tough nut to crack."

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

His House By Side Of A Road Is Being Sold

CANDIA, N.H. (AP)—The statutes are written in more severe meter than that employed by the late poet Samuel Walter Foss, who penned:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road
"And be a friend of man."
That house, Foss' birthplace and inspiration of the often quoted lines, faces sale—to satisfy claims of the State Welfare Department. The last occupant-owner, a widow of 90, died a year ago.

Foss died about 50 years ago. The Welfare Department had met taxes and repairs, but the property—a two-story farmhouse and extensive farm buildings on some 20 acres—has deteriorated extensively. The department seeks $2,000.

No heir has put in a claim for the property which has a far higher estimated value than the amount of the lien.

Will Never Open Christmas Gifts

OSPREY, Fla. (AP)—A Christmas tree glitters today in an isolated home, but two youngsters will never open the four gaily-wrapped packages beneath the boughs.

An unknown assailant murdered Clifford Walker, his wife, and their two small children Saturday at their rural home.

The bodies of the parents and a 3-year-old son lay on the floor not far from the Christmas tree until discovered Sunday.

Officers theorize the killer was a friend of the family who tried unsuccessfully to rape the mother. They believe the murders occurred when the father and children arrived home from a friend's house.

The victims were Clifford and Christine Walker, both 23, their son, Jimmy, and a 2-year-old daughter, Debbie.

The parents and son had been shot in the head. No murder weapon was found, but three .22-caliber cartridges lay near the bodies.

The girl's body was found face down in a half-filled bathtub, and Sheriff Ross Boyer said the killer apparently held the child under the water until she drowned. The girl also had been shot, officials reported.

Although three persons were taken to Sarasota, 10 miles north of Osprey, for questioning, Boyer said he had no real suspects.

Nehru Refuses To Meet Chou

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today rejected Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's offer to meet this week on the India-China border dispute.

The Indian leader told Parliament that he had replied to Peiping that preliminary discussions would be necessary to make a top-level conference worthwhile.

Chou had suggested in a letter a week ago that Nehru meet him next Saturday either in China or Rangoon, Burma, to discuss in detail the conflicting border claims.

The Chinese Premier had proposed both countries withdraw their forces 12 miles from their present positions — a move that would leave the Communists still in control of thousands of miles of territory claimed by India.

Nehru described Chou's proposal as "merely a reiteration of claims to extensive areas in our territory." He called on Peiping for a fuller explanation of Chinese claims before meeting with Chou.

The Indian Prime Minister said "I do not see how any agreement can be reached" so long as the basic positions are not clarified.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru of India sees some signs of an easing in the border dispute between his country and Communist China.

In a taped interview for CBS-TV "Face the Nation" Sunday, Nehru noted evidence that the Chinese may want to end the dispute peacefully.

"I must accept Mr. (foreign minister) Chou En-lai's word," Nehru said. "He says he wants to do so (end the dispute) and he has offered to meet me."

In another interview, copyrighted by the magazine U.S. News and World Report, Nehru said he believed that the Soviet Union was trying to restrain Red China from going too far in the dispute.

Urge Democrats Show Leadership In '60 Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Committee for an Effective Congress says the Democrats in Congress should provide more leadership.

The committee, which calls itself a bipartisan citizens' group, said Democratic chances in the 1960 elections may depend on the record of next year's Congress. Those chances could be bleak, it added.

With Republicans laying claim to peace and prosperity, the group said that whether any Democrat can be elected to the presidency depends on whether the Democratic-controlled Congress seriously challenges the administration with a program of its own.

The committee, which emphasizes liberal views and "world-mindedness" suggested that a special Senate committee be created to "raise the level" of congressional consideration of U.S. strategy.

SENTENCED AS SPIES
COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Seven Danes, including admitted Communist party members, were convicted today of serving as intelligence agents for East Germany and sentenced to prison terms ranging from 18 months to 5 years.

Dr. Lovvorn Is 'Man Of Year' In Farm Service

RALEIGH (AP) — The Progressive Farm Magazine has picked Dr. Roy L. Lovvorn as "man of the year in service to North Carolina agriculture."

As director of the agricultural experiment station at North Carolina State College, Dr. Lovvorn has under his supervision about 400 research projects seeking improvements in all areas of farming.

The magazine said its selection of the Alabama native was based especially on his pioneering work in development of better pastures and forage crops.

Six Men Die In Hotel Blaze

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Six elderly or middle-aged men were killed in a fire that swept through the upper floor of the two-story Holleran Hotel here Sunday night.

The victims were identified by police as: Barney McCloskey, about 50; John Phalen, about 67; Patrick Moran, about 68; Fred McCoy, about 60; Basil Kieruck, 52, and Thomas O'Day, 89. The hotel catered to railroaders and old-age pensioners.

The building, on Lima's South Side, is probably 60 or 70 years old, police said. While the upstairs interior where the fire broke out was virtually destroyed, firemen contained the blaze and the frame of the building remained standing. Neighboring establishments were unaffected and the fire did not spread to a dining room, bar and carryout store in the first floor of the hotel building.

Cause of the blaze was undetermined.

A total of 96 deserving children representing 29 families were treated to toys, Christmas food, and plentiful servings of ice cream and cookies yesterday afternoon in the Moose Lodge auditorium at the local lodge's eighth annual Christmas party.

Santa Claus himself was on hand to distribute gaily wrapped packages to 96 youngsters beside a 10-foot Christmas tree in a corner of the auditorium.

The ever-popular Christmas story of the "Littlest Angel" was told before the gathering by the Rev. Mr. William Haddon of the Eighth St. Christian Church here. The Junior Carol Choir of Memorial Baptist Church sang selections from popular Christmas hymns under the direction of Mrs. Esther Kidd.

Mrs. Kidd later led the entire group in singing more than a dozen Yuletide melodies.

Gifts to the children ranged from basketball goals for the boys to bracelets for the girls. Every child present received a gift and four who could not attend had gifts delivered to them by members of the local Moose.

Large packages of food accompanied the gifts from Santa and were delivered by the Moose to the respective homes of families represented at the annual event. Included in the food collections were hams, crates of canned food, flour, potatoes, and other items to fill empty Christmas tables.

Families were selected by members of the local lodge and a special committee engineered the buying of food and toys. Santa's gifts were bought after the Moose made a survey of the children to discover each one's Christmas wish.

The Women of the Moose served soft drinks, ice cream, and cookies after the program of singing and Rev. Haddon's story.
