Claims Deterrent Power Despite Missile-Gap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will the Soviet Union have more ready-to-go missiles than the United States in any period through 1963? "They might. I think it is doubtful, but they might. But in no way will we have an over-all deterrent gap," said Secretary of the Air Force Dudley C. Sharp.

Johnson's criticism said in part: "The missile gap cannot be eliminated by the mere stroke of a pen. We certainly cannot afford to stake the lives and the future of 175 million Americans on the ability of some officials to read Nikita Khrushchev's mind."

You Can Make Togs For Dogs

BEST-DRESSED CANINES . . . Their coats are home-made.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Now that dogs have become as fashion-conscious as people, fond dog-owners are taking up Fido sewing.

Togs for dogs are the latest fad for home seamstresses, who have found that making dog clothes is as much fun for adults as making doll clothes is for little girls.

Local sewing center experts suggest felt, wool flannel or corduroy as suitable fabrics for dog coats. You also can make a doggy raincoat of plastic fabric—this latter idea has its practical side, because it keeps Fido from shaking rain-water all over the rug when he comes in from his constitutional.

The coats may be lined if the dog lives in a cold climate.

You can make the dog coats from a standard pattern, available at most pattern departments in stores throughout the country. One has a contrasting felt collar, pockets and bow trim. The other achieves a sporty look with gaily checked bias binding.

The measurement for a dog coat is taken along the dog's spine, from the collar bone at the back of his neck to the base of his tail. Included with the printed pattern is a complete chart of fabric yardages required for dogs of all sizes. The coat requires four buttons or hammer-on snaps. If a hood is added to the coat, two smaller buttons are needed.

Your dog will be king of the neighborhood in a new custom-made coat, which may be personalized with his name.

Scholarships Available To Junior Ages

An Area Festival in music will be held here March 12, at 9 a.m. at East Carolina College. Dr. Dan E. Vornholt is chairman of the festival here, which may enable a music student of junior age to win a scholarship.

Over one thousand dollars in the form of six scholarships are available to junior age (10-18 as of March 1) musicians who are members of the N. C. Federation of Music Clubs by February 1, according to a joint announcement by Mrs. C. B. Jefferson, Chapel Hill, president; Mrs. J. W. Clark, Charlotte, State Junior counselor; and Dr. George Stegner, Queen's College, Charlotte, State Festivals chairman.

Approximately $200 more are available in monetary and loving cap awards for individual superior ratings in all classifications and in club activities and achievements. Membership must be attained by February 1.

Scholarships are decided through area and state festivals, according to Dr. Stegner. He stressed that applicants for scholarships must write the name of the scholarship on the application blank mailed to the area chairman.

Several new categories have been added this year, especially in string instruments. All events are listed in the National Festivals Bulletin, already in the hands of teachers and counselors.

Historical Society
Pitt County Historical Society will hold its regular monthly supper meeting Thursday night at 7 o'clock at St. Paul's Episcopal Church Parish House, 401 E. Fourth St. Members are requested to make reservations not later than noon Wednesday.

With The Farm Women

By MAIDRED MORRIS
4-H'ERS STUDY WILDLIFE—Mrs. Mary McLaurin of Bath recently invited three 4-H'ers to her home to make a study of birds. She talked to Chester Smith, Gloria Winfield, and Lou Ann Payne about feeders and bird baths.

According to Mrs. Rita Preston, home economics agent, in Beaufort County the 4-H'ers were loaned binoculars so they could make a careful study of the birds.

HOMEMAKER'S CRAFT ADDS INCOME—After attending the home demonstration district craft camp this summer, Mrs. A. F. Teague of the Long Leaf Park Club started working on tin can articles. Mrs. Teague sold $22 worth of tin can decorations and gave away 21 pieces for gifts. She valued these gifts at $60.

Miss Verna Belle Lowery, home economics agent in New Hanover County, reports Mrs. Teague has held four workshops teaching 179 other people to do the craft.

WORKSHOPS HELD—Leaders in Haywood County reported that 35 workshops were held during December. They were held on candle making, pine cone wreaths, decorated wooden plates, draperies, and one on slip covers.

Miss Mary Cornwell, home economics agent, reports that as a result of the workshops, the home demonstration members exchanged homemade items at Christmas in place of having to buy gifts.

CAKE DECORATING—Mrs. J. B. Womble of Nashville recently conducted a cake decorating workshop in Wilson County. Mrs. Womble is a Home Demonstration Club leader in Nash County. Fourteen pounds of cake icing was prepared prior to the meeting so each person could actually practice decorating.

According to Mrs. Oona Humphrey, home economics agent, Mrs. Womble concluded the workshop with a demonstration on cutting cakes properly. She showed how to cut tiered, round and square cakes.

HOME REMODELED—The Frank Mitchell family in Cabarrus County will soon have a more comfortable and convenient home. They have just recently remodeled the dining room by lowering the ceiling, adding new floors and windows, and installing gypsum board.

Mrs. Sara Stewart, assistant home economics agent, says the Mitchells made all their plans before starting on the project.

SHARES COOKING ABILITY—Mrs. S. M. Bason, home demonstration member in Caswell County, shares her thoughts and food with others. She has made and given 100 loaves of nut bread to individuals and families this year. Mrs. Bason says, "This year I decided I would share my food."

"Mrs. Bason gave bread, candies, pies, and cookies as gifts," says Miss Louise Homewood, home economics agent. "By making her gifts, she shared her time and thoughts with others."

Baptist Circles Meet

BETHEL—Circle No. 1 met in the home of Mrs. Ruth Thomas recently with 10 members present.

The meeting was called to order by the leader, Mrs. H. L. Eriley, and Mrs. T. N. Cooper led the group in prayer.

After the business session, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Frances Davis, program chairman. Mrs. Davis gave the devotions, taken from Judges 7:19-21. She then gave the program taken from the Royal Service, entitled "Render Unto Caesar," by Mrs. Ernest H. Pierce.

Taylor Sr. served lemon pie and hot coffee.

Circle III
Monday afternoon Mrs. Earl Manning was hostess to Circle No. 3 in her home with nine members and one visitor, Mrs. C. E. Brown, present.

After the business session Mrs. Julian Smith gave the devotions and led in the program taken from the Royal Service, using the title "Render Unto Caesar." Mrs. W. R. Bullock closed the program with prayer.

During this quarter, Christian Citizenship is being studied in the Circles. This month Law Observance is considered. President Eisenhower has proclaimed May 1 as Law Day. Mrs. Davis said, "The purpose of Law Day is to focus the attention of adults as well as the attention of juveniles on the rising tide of lawlessness, and develop a greater respect for law and order by all Americans."

Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. R. I.

Following the reading of Psalms 145:1-9 by Mrs. Bullock, a devotional message was given. The topic was "When Day Begins God Is Our Hope." The main points of the subject were that each day God gives us hope for ourselves, hope for our children, hope for family life, our community, and hope for the future of the whole world.

At the request of Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Barbee gave a talk on music. She began her talk with a quotation from Martin Luther, who said, "Music is a discipline, a master of order and good manners. She makes the people milder and gentle, more moral and more reasonable." This sentiment applied to the type music Mrs. Barbee discussed, classical, romantic and modern periods, including jazz, calypso, rock 'n roll, and country style.

After a brief business session, attendance prizes were announced. Mrs. Edwards' first grade won for the lower grades and Mrs. Little's sixth grade won for the upper grades.

Mrs. Barbee gave a short sketch of the life and work of Johann Sebastian Bach, who has been called the Father of Music.

From the group of Romantic composers, Mrs. Barbee chose Chopin as the most loved. She said, "No piano recital today is complete without some composition of Chopin's in the program." Her last sketch was of Claude Debussy, who was the flag bearer of music impressionism. She said, "Debussy's style had a strong influence on his contemporaries—namely Delius, Cyril Scott, De Falla and others."

Mrs. Barbee, wife of the Methodist minister in Bethel, is a graduate in piano from Woman's College. She studied with Edwin Hughes of New York City and with Mrs. Crosby Adams of Montreat, N. C.

After the hostess served a sweet course with hot coffee, the meeting was adjourned.

Operation Roadblock Netted $438

Manning five March of Dimes "roadblocks" located on approaches to Greenville, chilled volunteers learned yesterday evening their efforts had netted $438.54 (and a washer) for the local campaign.

Sunday's collection stations, operating between 1:00-5:00 p.m., were located on the Pactus Highway, on the 264 bypass, on Highway 43 (near Pitt Memorial Hospital), one at West End Circle, and on the New Bern Highway.

Despite the bright sun, veterans of the 1959 campaign agreed Sunday's temperatures were well below those encountered last year.

City chairman Mrs. Louise Carigan and co-chairman Mrs. Earline Coghill estimated about $1,700 had actually been collected to date.

Final figures on a number of projects have yet to be determined, and several other activities are calendared for the future.

On another front, television station WITN announced March of Dimes pledges from Pitt County, secured during their "teletthon" which ran from Saturday night to Sunday afternoon, amounted to over $840.

Volunteer workers participating in the "roadblock" project yesterday were: J. A. Joyner, J. A. Harris, Lyman Nethercutt, Elmer Moore, A. A. Carigan, William Smith, Eugene Hart, Earl Jackson, Brooke Stewart, and Henry Fluke.

Other fund-raising activities slated for this week include the Mothers' March on Thursday night; the start of radio station WOOW's pledge campaign by announcer Jimmy Newman who will attempt a non-stop stint on the air from Friday night to Sunday night; "Candy Day" on Saturday, undertaken by the Junior Future Homemakers of America at J. H. Rose High School.

The Greenville March of Dimes, proceeds of which are going to the National Foundation's efforts to combat birth defects, polio and arthritis, is being sponsored this year by the local chapter of the Women of the Moose.

ICC Hearing On Rates Is Opened

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission opens a hearing here today into an application by Southern Railway to reduce freight rates into Morehead City, equalized with rates to Wilmington.

The cities are sites of North Carolina's two rival ports. Most of the testimony to be taken here by ICC Examiner Robert R. Boyd will come from Wilmington, which formally has complained against Southern's application for a freight reduction.

Wilmington's complaint names 116 carriers as defendants, but the complaint is aimed at the Southern Railway, which has tracks to Morehead City but not into Wilmington.

Wilmington contends that if a rate reduction is granted to Southern, other carriers will reduce their rates as a competitive move.

With equal rates for both port cities, Wilmington contends, more export-import traffic will go to Morehead City with a loss in revenue to Wilmington.

The Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line railroads have sided with Wilmington. Both lines have tracks into Wilmington but not into Morehead City.

The South Carolina State Ports Authority has asked to intervene in support of Wilmington. The Virginia State Ports Authority has been granted permission to intervene, but it has not announced on which side.

D. Leon Williams, executive director of the North Carolina SPA, said his agency will remain impartial.

Pennsylvania Democrats Picking Delegates Today

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania's Democratic party picks the nation's first large block of presidential convention delegates today. They most likely will be uncommitted.

The 42 delegates-at-large elected by the Democratic State Committee will have half a vote each at the July convention in Los Angeles.

The public will choose 120 district delegates—each with half a vote—at the April 26 primary election, thus completing the state's 81-vote delegation, third largest in the nation.

Only Alaska has chosen its convention delegates.

Gov. David L. Lawrence, one of the country's most powerful Democrats, was certain to get the chairmanship of the delegation.

The 70-year-old governor was expected to tell the delegates not to commit themselves. His aides have said he wants the delegation free to maneuver at the convention.

Only one man in line for a delegate-at-large post has come out publicly for a presidential hopeful, House Speaker H. G. Andrews is for Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass.).

The governor, also a Democratic national committeeman, reportedly favors either Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo.) or Adlai Stevenson.

Lawrence will meet Saturday night with Symington and former President Harry S. Truman in Springfield, Mo. He will address a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner there.

He has met with supporters of Kennedy and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (Minn.). By report, he refused to back either man.

The Republican State Committee will choose its delegates-at-large in March.

There will be two special elections at the April primary to fill the unexpired terms of Republican congressmen who have died.

The Democrats were expected to endorse Robert M. Meyers, a Lewistown Borough councilman, today as party candidate for the seat of Rep. Richard M. Simpson, Simpson, who died Jan. 7 after a brain operation, had been chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee. The state's Republicans meet tonight to endorse their candidate for Simpson's midstate 18th District seat, long a Republican stronghold.

Four leading GOP contenders are Stanley G. Stroup, a state assemblyman; Mae Simpson, the congressman's widow and William S. Livengood Jr., former state secretary of internal affairs, and Douglas H. Elliott, a state senator.

Each party already has endorsed a candidate for the seat of the late Alvin R. Bush, of the midstate 17th District. The organization nominees are Herman T. Schneebeli, Republican, and Dean H. Fisher, Democrat, both of Williamsport.

Nine Policemen Beaten To Death By African Mob

URBAN, South Africa (AP)—

Nine policemen were herded into a native hunt and beaten to death by an enraged African mob Sunday night.

Police reinforcements, rushed to the clash scene in suburban Cato Manor, managed to restore an uneasy peace. Armed patrols roamed the area.

First word of trouble came when a radio operator at Cato Manor police station received a message saying: "Oh God, they are stoning us. Come and help us."

A strong police detachment was rushed to the area as thousands of residents in the town barricaded themselves in their homes. At the scene they found nine police battered to death and one severely injured.

An unofficial account said police had gone into the suburb to investigate the murder of an African.

Farm Policies Up For Geneva Talk

GENEVA (AP)—American agricultural policies came up for a close scrutiny here today before a body of Gatt-General Agreement on Tariff and Trade—an international watchdog in world trade.

The United States and seven other countries were to lay the full facts on their agricultural policies before a special 21-nation committee empowered by the agreement to hold hearings. The hearings are expected to continue about three weeks behind closed doors.

Each country can be expected to undergo about two days of extensive grilling. Other countries invited to make reports include Japan, Finland, France, New Zealand, Austria, Norway and Italy.

Marines To Hunt For Crash Clues

KURE BEACH, N.C. (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board spokesman says Marines from Camp Lejeune will patrol this coastal town's beach looking for clues to the reasons behind the Jan. 6 crash of a National Airlines DC6B at Bolivia.

"It is hoped that some fragments might be washed ashore," the spokesman said in Washington Sunday. "With the change in the prevailing winds."

The CAB said approximately 95 per cent of the outer skin of the plane, which took 34 persons to their death in its crash, have been put together. However, some key parts of the plane are still missing.

It also was pointed out by the CAB that parts of the plane previously had been found in the Kure Beach area, some 15-20 miles from where the craft crashed. In addition, the body of Julian A. Frank, one of the victims, was found on a marshy island near Kure Beach. Frank reportedly carried nearly a million dollars in life insurance.

Searching Marines, the CAB said, will be implemented by helicopters from Camp Lejeune.

The head of the CAB's safety division, Oscar Bakke, reported from Washington that "no readily discernible explosion damage" has been found by experts studying each minute detail of the re-assembled portion of the plane at Wilmington. There has been speculation an explosion caused the crash.

However, tests are continuing to analyze fabric, paint and other specimens from the wreckage.

Also, investigators want to put together portions of the plane's fuselage backward from a point about the leading edge of the right wing. This would be aft of the washroom where probes first felt an explosion might have occurred.

Spent 100 Hours Under Water

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—A New York housewife who spent a record 100 hours and three minutes underwater suffered nothing worse than dishpan hands.

Jane Baldasare climbed out of her windowed, nine-foot deep tank and said, "I feel like I weigh a ton."

She was in the big circular tank from 10:30 a.m. Wednesday until 2:33 p.m. Sunday, eclipsing the 84½-hour record set by Robert Ingolia, Fort Jefferson, N.Y.

The weather outside was 45 degrees but the water was kept at 85 degrees.

The 24-year-old blonde took liquid nourishment through a tube and slept about 18 hours in the tank.

Hundreds of passers-by looked in on her during the stunt to publicize Pensacola's March of Dimes campaign.

Novel Alibi For Speeding Charge

CENTRAL FALLS, R.I. (AP)—Bertrand R. Duhamel, 22, Woonsocket, had a novel alibi in District Court Sunday where he appeared for driving 100 miles an hour.

He told the court he was driving with the girl he loves when a rival for her affections pulled up in front of them and drove at 10 miles an hour.

Duhamel said he became infuriated and put on a burst of speed, just when state troopers appeared. He was fined $10 after Judge Guillaume Myette cautioned him he is likely to become a corpse before he becomes a bridegroom.

Her Love Letter Is 12 Years Late

SALE LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Mrs. Frank Siciliano Jr. got a love letter from Los Angeles the other day. She was thrilled. Her husband? Oh, he was, too.

The letter was from him. He wrote it to her 12 years ago, two years before they got married, when he was working in Los Angeles.

Nobody could figure out exactly where that missive had been since it was sent, postmarked Sept. 5, 1947.

Most Popular Author In Films Today: Jules Verne

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Want to know the most popular author in the movies today? It's not Tennessee Williams or Grace Metalious, but a long-dead Frenchman, Jules Verne.

And no wonder. According to Variety's latest figures, Verne's "Around the World in 80 Days" has grossed 22 million dollars in the United States and Canada alone. His "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" has accounted for 8 million domestically. Currently, "Journey to the Center of the Earth" is a big money-maker for the 20th Century Fox, ending a box-office drought for that company.

The Verne popularity is shown by the fact that four different producers have announced plans to film one of his books published variously as "The Castaways," "In Search of the Castaways," and "Capt. Grant's Children." Walt Disney claims victory.

"We have registered all three titles with the Johnston office," he declared. "We also own the rights to worldwide release, having bought them from the Verne estate after four years of negotiation. The book is in public domain in this country, but it's protected abroad."

Disney's admiration for Verne goes back to his youthful days as a reader. As a producer he had long sought the rights to "20,000 Leagues."

"MGM claimed some right to it from having made a picture at one time," he recalled. "They wouldn't let go of it. Later, I found out that Sid Rogell had bought the rights. I got them from him. I never even opened the box of scripts we bought; I wanted to start fresh."

Barden's Move Raises Questions

The sudden announcement of Rep. Graham Barden of New Bern that he will not seek re-election to Congress caught by surprise the Democratic leadership in Congress as well as the Democratic leadership in North Carolina and in the Third district Barden has represented since 1934.

In the nine-county district composed of Craven, Carteret, Duplin, Jones, Onslow, Pamlico, Pender, Sampson and Wayne attention immediately centered on potential candidates jockeying for positions in the race to determine Rep. Barden's successor.

In Washington, meanwhile, attention is being focused on the powerful House Education and Labor Committee of which Rep. Barden has served as chairman and has effectively controlled as a Southern conservative. Under the seniority system of the House, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, one of nine Negroes in the House and an ardent advocate of civil rights legislation, is in line to succeed Rep. Barden as chairman of the committee. The fact that Powell is under indictment for evasion of federal income taxes, plus the fact that he bolted the party to support Eisenhower in 1956 are matters of concern to the Democratic leadership in Congress.

Under the chairmanship of Rep. Powell, the powerful committee might be expected to take a position on federal labor and education matters almost exactly opposite of that which it has had under the chairmanship and effective leadership of Rep. Barden.

The matter of splitting the committee into two committees, one to handle legislation concerning labor and another to handle legislation concerning education, as suggested by Rep. Barden, is a problem that will weigh upon the Democratic leadership in Congress.

Rep. Barden has been a powerful figure in important legislative matters in his position as chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor. He has effectively withstood assaults by more liberal members of Congress on his conservative Southern viewpoint, and he has gained the reputation of a "matter of confusion" in effectively carrying his point in his committee and in Congress.

The leadership he has afforded in this important field of legislation will be sorely missed when he steps down from his post next January. The matter of choosing his successor as representative of the Third District in North Carolina will be one of the political highlights in North Carolina during this election year. The matter of choosing his successor in the Democratic line-up of committee chairmanships in Congress will be one of the more difficult and perhaps more controversial problems to face the Democratic leadership there in the coming months.

Rep. Barden's surprising decision to retire from Congress has raised an interesting array of political questions in Eastern North Carolina, and in Washington as well.

Cuban Question Fast Running Out Of Time

What will the United States do about the "seriously deteriorating" relations between it and the Cuban government of Fidel Castro?

It is imperative that something be done to bring about a better relationship between the two governments in the interest of harmony in the Western Hemisphere. Experience of recent months leaves little hope that better relationships will come about of their own accord unless some overt effort in that direction is made by one of the governments. And there is every indication that Fidel Castro's government will not be the one to take the first step toward effecting a reconciliation.

Since shortly after coming to power, Castro has used what he termed U. S. "imperialism" as a whipping boy apparently in an effort to increase his own strength in Cuba. The abuses in recent weeks have caused increasing concern in the United States as indicated by the recall of the American ambassador for "consultations".

There is a delicate balance between what the U. S. can do in this situation without giving rise to further charges of "imperialism" and what it can do without giving the impression that it is being intimidated by a tiny nation on its very doorstep.

In any event, the time has come for the United States to take positive action. The period of "wait and see" apparently has continued long enough with a deteriorating rather than an improving result.

What is decided in Washington this week in respect to U. S.-Cuban relationships will be important to this nation and to all the Western Hemisphere.

Probation Plan Relatively New

By LYNN NISBET
PROBATION — Despite the more extensive use of probation for youthful and first offenders, in lieu of prison sentences, a great many people still have very sketchy ideas about its purpose and effectiveness as one type of "sentence" in criminal cases.

Contrary to popular belief there is very little kinship between probation and parole. The difference can be succinctly stated this way: Probation is a judicial function, entirely in the discretion of the courts, and is applicable before and in lieu of imprisonment. Parole is a penal disciplinary function, exercised in discretion of the Paroles Commission as an adjunct of the prison system, and is applicable on basis of the behavior record and attitude of a prisoner after commitment.

The two systems do have some things in common. The purpose of both is to reduce the time a person convicted of crime spends in prison to the shortest period consistent with demands of justice and the individual's demonstrated capacity to resume the duties of free citizenship. Probationers are under supervision of officers of the Probation Commission as arms of the court. Parolees generally are required to report periodically to welfare departments as agents of the prison system. There are somewhat similar provisions for revocation or termination of probation and parole by judicial process. Both the probation and parole commissions are financed by allocations from the highway fund. (Whether in either or both instances this constitutes "diversion" is an oft debated question.)

NEW CONCEPT — Parole, which means conditional release of a prisoner before expiration of sentence, is almost as old as civilization. Probation, conditional supervision before imprisonment, is relatively new. Parole was recognized by the North Carolina constitution from beginning of the State. Probation came in by statute in 1937—just 23 years ago.

As result of a casual street conversation with a very intelligent citizen, who displayed almost complete ignorance of the operations of the probation system in North Carolina, your reporter spent more than an hour with Gordon Maddrey, director of probation, and his top assistant, W.S. Burleson, seeking information to pass along to our readers. Herewith are some of the facts, observations and recommendations developed from that conference.

JUDICIAL — Probation is a judicial function, which can be exercised only by trial courts of record. That includes 100 county superior courts and perhaps almost twice that many inferior county, district and municipal or "recorder" courts. Like any other sentence, a probation judgment must be entered in open court after conviction or a plea of guilty or nolo contendere. The term of probation can be a maximum of five years, and that term can be applied even though the prison sentence permitted under the law might be more or less.

There is no record of appeal having been taken from a probation judgment, and the question has never been raised. Presumably a defendant has the same right of appeal from that judgment as from any other sentence imposed. The fact that no appeal has been taken is tribute to the efficacy of probation.

UTILIZATION — Probation is growing in acceptance and popularity with the judges. As evidenced by the fact that 2,233 persons were placed on probation during the last fiscal year ending June 30, 1959. Its use still depends to considerable degree on the personal attitude of the judges. Arresting officers and solicitors also are showing increasing cooperation.

Contrary to popular belief that peace officers and prosecuting attorneys want to see their "victims" put behind bars, Maddrey and Burleson say that instances are rare when these men do not go out of their way to help the culprit. They have been forced to deal with in court. In most cases the lack of cooperation is due mainly to the belligerent attitude of the defendant, or to inadequate information available to the judge and the other officers of the court.

The probation executives were asked if they were generally requested by the courts to do some preliminary investigation, to develop facts of background in the life of defendants which might aid in equitable probation judgments. Many times, yes. Perhaps too many times, no.

Maddrey thinks facilities of his agency perhaps could be used to much greater advantage in this area. Not for recommendations or suggestions, but wholly for developing and presenting factual information. When asked if his agency used undercover agents, or "private eye" detective type investigators, Maddrey threw up his hands in horror. That would completely destroy the purpose of our service, he said. Of course, he added, we do not publish our findings which are reported only to the judge, but we operate in the open with full identification of our agents and purposes.

Public Debt Is Getting Costlier

By RALPH ROBEY
Last summer President Eisenhower made three specific requests of the Congress. These were, first, raise the government debt limit; second, authorize the payment of a higher rate of interest on E and H savings bonds; and third, eliminate the 4-1-4 percent ceiling on U.S. obligations of five or more years' maturity.

The requests were backed by top Administration spokesmen before the House Ways and Means Committee and it was assumed that there would be no particular trouble in the House and that the Senate ultimately also would agree.

What actually happened was that the debt limit was raised, and after much debate and delay the Treasury was authorized to increase interest payments on E and H savings bonds from 3 1/2 to a maximum of 4 1/2 percent. The rate has been raised to 3 1/2 percent. But nothing was done on the interest rate ceiling of 4 1/2 percent, and as expected the President has again requested action on this.

This current request was made in the form of a special message from the President to the Congress — his first special message in this session. This gives this problem top priority in the opinion of the Administration, and quite properly so. We are now, and have been for many months, in a position where the U. S. Treasury can not sell an obligation of five or more years' maturity. The reason for this is that most of the bonds of the government now outstanding of this maturity are selling in the market at prices which give a yield of more than 4 1/2 percent. All the Treasury financing therefore has to be done in the short-term market. The volume of such financing is enormous and the short-term rates have been driven to over 5 percent. Since the passage of time makes more and more of the public debt short-term, this means the carrying charge is getting higher and higher.

It is not possible as yet to forecast what the reaction of the Congress will be this year. House Speaker Rayburn has indicated that he does not know whether he "can swallow whole" what Mr. Eisenhower proposes" but adds that if he can get the kind of a bill that he wants he will support it. That probably pretty well typifies the attitude of Wilbur Mills, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and various of his Democratic committee members.

In the Senate the issue is even more confused. The Senate Finance Committee, under the chairmanship of Senator Byrd, may decide to have hearings on the proposal before the House takes action. If it does, and granting the committee agrees on a proposal, the suggestion could be attached to any other tax measure coming out of the Ways and Means Committee. But even this does not assure favorable Senate action. Senate Majority Leader Johnson wants to make interest rates a major political issue this fall, and in view of this he must be expected to oppose the President's request.

This would appear to indicate that there will have to be some type of compromise. The one receiving most attention is to permit the Treasury to pay more than 4 1/2 percent only in the case of swapping new bonds of longer than five years' maturity for other issues already outstanding. This would be better than nothing, but it is not even an approximate solution of the problem.

Knowledge Comes In Mail

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Some 500 million Valentine cards will be sold next month, and women will buy more than men. This doesn't mean the girls are more romantic during leap year. It merely means a girl sends a greeting card to her boy friend—but expects him to buy her a more substantial token of affection.

Other Editors Saying .. Larkins Makes His Bid

(Henderson Dispatch)
John Larkins announced Thursday that he is a candidate for Governor in the May Democratic primary, and thus became the first to make a formal proclamation of his intentions. For whatever advantage there may be in becoming the first to break the ice, he has gained the distinction. His friends and supporters now know for a certainty that he is in earnest, and there is no longer any doubt as to his campaign.

In recent months there has been speculation that the Trenton attorney would not make the race. All that is brushed aside now. The next move will be to announce a campaign manager and establish headquarters.

Larkins said he had recently been in every county in the State. He also cited his public services in the past quarter century in various capacities with the State. Included were his nine terms in the State Legislature, chairmanship of some of the top committees, membership of the Advisory Budget Commission, State party chairman and his present connection as Democratic national committeeman. All these activities provide an enviable background of familiarity with problems of State government.

Those who have assumed that Larkins would be an ultra conservative candidate need only to analyze his announcement to become disillusioned. Indeed there are those who could wish that he were even more of a rightist in public affairs than his statement indicated. But he has had sufficient contact with enough people to convince him that any man who aspires to high office and expects to achieve it must be responsive to what appears to be demands of the people, whether sound or otherwise as to government obligations to them.

The weeks ahead will demonstrate the extent to which Larkins will attract substantial popular support in his candidacy. Terry Sanford, the Fayetteville attorney who is already running as hard as he can without the formality of a positive commitment, is recognized as a liberal and is building an organization. Larkins has not been idle in that respect, either, as will become more and more evident from now on.

With Larkins and Sanford as known aspirants for Governor, others who may have like ambitions, will lose ground the longer they delay, if they have serious intentions about the contest. Only time will reveal how many or who will compete for the office. There may be others. But it would not be at all surprising if the race shall be left to these two candidates.

Less than two months remain until the deadline for formally filing in order to get the name on the ballot. Those who delay will allow a lot of grass to grow under their feet and could be at a serious disadvantage should they procrastinate.

Larkins is now an avowed aspirant for high office. He has burned the bridges behind him, and from here on may be expected to be in there fighting with all the political prowl of which he is capable.

The Public Forum

To the Editor:
The people of Caldwell County are delighted that C. Frank Kennerly of the North Carolina Highway Patrol has been promoted from sergeant to lieutenant but we regret that he has been transferred to another county and to another section of the State.

We can say without hesitation that Caldwell's loss is Pitt's gain as he assumes his new duties in your section of North Carolina.

Lt. Kennerly has established a remarkable record in this section of the State during his 25 years of service as a member of the State Highway Patrol. Through his fairness as a law enforcement officer, he has won the respect of this entire community and area. He is eminently qualified to serve in his new and larger field of service. He will serve you well, as he has the people here.

Your city and county law enforcement officers, along with the FBI and SBI, may expect the fullest cooperation from him. As sheriff of this county, I could not ask for better cooperation and assistance than that given me, and to members of my department by Mr. Kennerly.

A Big 'May' On Voting Tax Cut

By ELMER ROESSNER
Congress may vote a tax cut this year in spite of itself.

That's a big "may." Odds are that it won't happen. But many Congressmen, bidding for re-election, are saying that they will vote for a lowering of the Federal tax rates. Others are taking a "look with interest" on tax reductions.

There are plenty of tax-cut bills in the Congressional hopper. If a few candidates for reelection in order to get the name on the ballot. Those who delay will allow a lot of grass to grow under their feet and could be at a serious disadvantage should they procrastinate.

Higher credit totals. Despite the expense — it costs about twice as much to carry charge or instalment accounts now as it did a decade ago — total credit outstanding will rise this year. And one authority, Alan S. Jeffrey, executive vice president of the American Finance Conference, predicts credit outstanding will double in this decade. Cheaper meat. A total of 7-

198,000 head of cattle and calves were being fattened as of January 1, the Department of Agriculture reports. Pig holdings are also high; efforts to curb the production of broilers have failed and the poultry supply is rising with the year. These factors mean more, and hence cheaper, meat through most of 1960.

Trailer Ignites A Trend

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass.—The so-called "trailers" are enjoying great growth in every state of our country. This especially applies to Florida and the South, including Texas; and to California and all the Pacific Coast. These average about thirty-five feet in length and sell, fully equipped, at about $100 per foot. There are larger ones, 40-50 feet long and 8-10 feet wide, usually with two complete bedrooms, a studio couch in the living room, and ample bathroom and kitchen. They are heated and air-conditioned, and have food refrigeration and every other convenience.

They are usually located in a pleasant parking lot, at a charge of about $20 per month. Some have adjoining cabanas with porch furniture. They also may have private phones, if desired. There is no grass to cut, garbage is taken care of, and milk is delivered.

MANY OTHER ADVANTAGES
Those who visit the same trailer park each winter, or who leave their trailer there the whole year—perhaps unoccupied three months of the year—become very friendly and helpful to one another. They watch out for one another in case of illness and often invite their trailer friends to their permanent northern homes.

Trailer "fans" also are able to see much of the country—having an advantage over those who buy small permanent homes or stay at motels. By the way, I should mention that the largest trailers must be hauled by tractors; but anything under 35 feet can be hauled by private auto.

RULES WHEN BUYING PROPERTY IN ANOTHER STATE

(1) Be sure you see the property before buying. Do not buy from a blueprint. "Sight unseen." (2) Try not to be the earliest buyers on a new subdivision, but wait and see what kind of people your neighbors would be. (3) Buy your land on "cash"—then go to a local bank to get help in building a house. (4) Otherwise buy or rent a trailer and rent a lot for your trailer with an option to buy later on if you wish.

MOBILE FACTORIES ARE COMING

Many young people — after they have learned a trade—are anxious to go into business for themselves, but fear the competition which the big corporations could give them. I forecast that the mobile small factory will be a great help to such young people.

This means that a couple could buy a bakery, a candy shop, or a stocking factory, all equipped with the latest machinery and ready to operate. They could bring this factory to a central location in the city in which they live or some adjoining city.

ONE OPERATE THE OTHER SELL THE PRODUCT
One of the owners would operate the "factory" with two or three local assistants; while the other would sell the product. There would be no labor unions to struggle with. The "factory" would not be big enough to cause concern to any large corporations.

Recent Congressional action authorized formation of "small business investment companies" which could help finance just such new small concerns in many fields. For the address of the office nearest to you, see your local Chamber of Commerce or contact your regional Small Business Administration office.

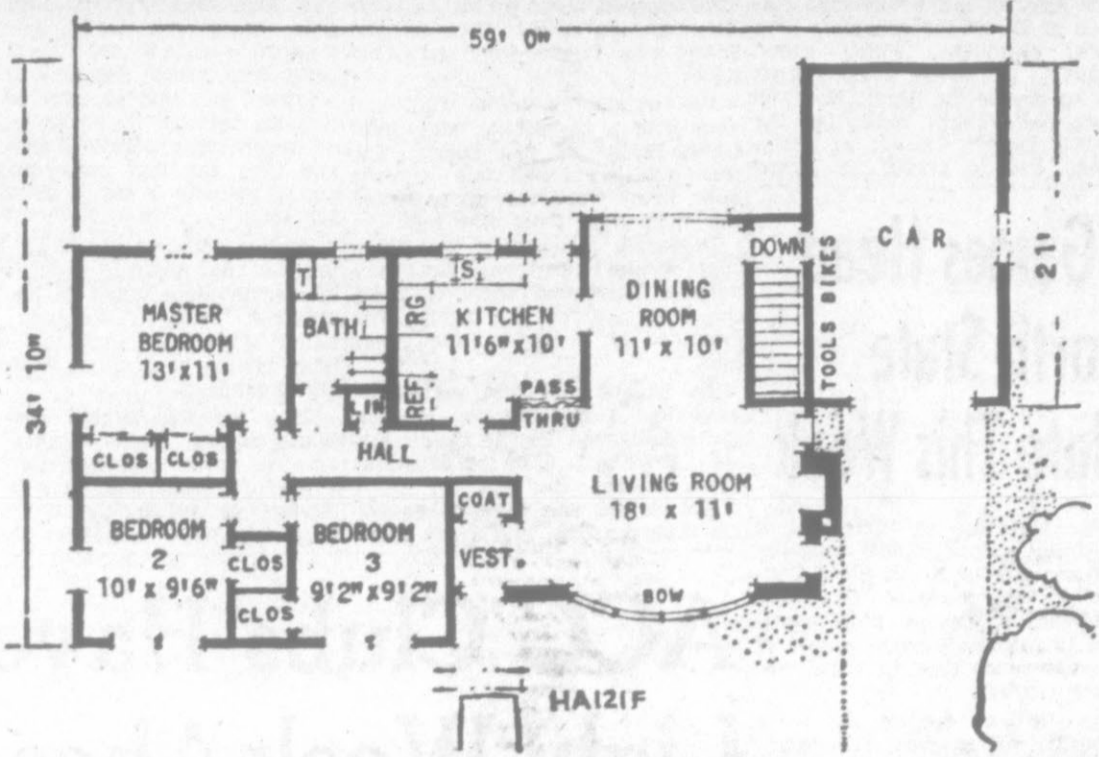

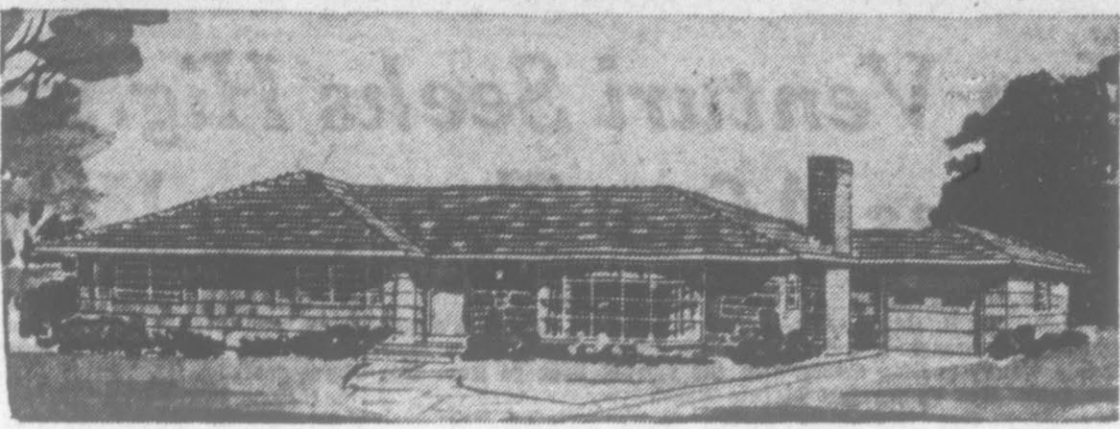

NATIONAL CO-OPERATION POSSIBLE

The companies making these mobile factories might agree to sell only one of a kind to each city (depending upon the size of the city). Then all the mobile bakeries could form an association to buy their supplies cheaper than it would cost the independent units. A similar plan could be followed by the mobile candy factories, etc.

Not only could such a plan be set up to give qualified young people a chance to go into business profitably for themselves; but any mobile factory could

Two Allied Diplomatic Groups Begin Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two groups of allied diplomats begin meetings here today to forge proposals for disarmament and Berlin negotiations with the Soviet Union later this year. Discussions on the Berlin problem are expected to produce a new debate among the major Western powers over their differences about how to counter Soviet pressure for an end to Allied protection of West Berlin. The British government reportedly is interested, for instance, in negotiating some new status for West Berlin, in an effort to strike a bargain with the Soviets. On the other hand, West Germany wants to avoid any concessions to the Soviets on this issue, including those offered during the foreign ministers meeting at Geneva last summer. Discussion of the Berlin and German questions will be conducted in the meeting beginning today by representatives of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany. The purpose is to get an agreed position of the four powers in advance of the summit conference at Paris in May. The disarmament policy group is composed of representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy. Those five Allied countries will open a new round of talks on arms reduction and control at Geneva in mid-March. Disarmament also will be a leading issue of the May summit meeting but preparations for the March conference are more urgent. The aim of the Allied negotiators on this issue is to produce a disarmament program which can be put before the Soviet Union as a united Western proposal. Britain is expected to take the lead in seeking agreement on a proposal for global disarmament which would be carried out by stages with increasingly strict international policing at each successive step. The ultimate aim of the British plan is to eliminate nuclear weapons and other means of mass destruction and reduce conventional military forces to the minimum necessary for each country's internal security.

'Nice Girl' Shocks The Film Colony With Word

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Eva Marie Saint, the screen's favorite nice girl, Sunday night shocked the movie colony with her use of a four-letter word before a house full of the biggest names in the industry. The occasion was the annual Screen Producers Guild dinner, one of the year's fanciest turn-outs. The men who make the movies were there to honor Jack L. Warner, boss of Warner Bros., who was to receive the annual Milestone Award of the Guild. Jack Benny was the master of ceremonies and Miss Saint was the first person he introduced. She was to present the Jesse L. Lasky inter-collegiate film award. Benny explained: "This girl is so ethereal, so nice, that I could not do justice to presenting her. So I asked my friend, George Jessel, to write me an introduction for Miss Saint." Benny then proceeded with a flowery introduction, occasionally interrupting to say it was Jessel talking, not him. When Miss Saint came to the podium to acknowledge the flowery introduction, she could only mutter: "Aw - - -!" It brought a gasp from the star-studded audience. As Benny com-

Test 2 Models Of Rocket Plane

EDWARD AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Two models of the sleek X15 rocket ship have now made powered flights, zooming to speeds in excess of 1,400 miles per hour. Saturday's test run was the first since one of the X15s had an explosion and fire in the engine compartment during a trial flight Nov. 5. Test pilot Scott Crossfield of North American Aviation was at the controls. The X15 was taken aloft under the wing of an eight-jet B52 bomber. It was dropped at 45,000 feet and flew under its own power for nine minutes after reaching an altitude of more than 60,000 feet. The Air Force hopes eventually to fly the X15 to altitudes of more than 100 miles at speeds in excess of 3,500 m.p.h.

Family Is Saved By Telephone Call

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—A telephone call was credited with saving a family of six from serious illness and possible death Sunday. William E. Johnson, 29, awoke feeling ill. He discovered his wife and their four children also had been stricken. Mrs. Johnson, 29, was unconscious. Johnson staggered to a telephone to call his wife's mother, Mrs. O. E. Godwin. She and her brother-in-law J. B. Godwin, hurried to the Johnson home and managed to get them outside and call firemen and ambulances. District Fire Chief Ben Dancy said the family became ill on gas fumes due to improper combustion of the fuel in a floor furnace.

Firemen Respond To Two Alarms

Greenville firemen were called out twice yesterday, once at 3 a.m. and again at 2:10 p.m., to minor blazes. At 3 a.m. an alarm from Box 25 at the intersection of Evans and Eighth Sts. called firemen to 126 East Seventh St. where firefighters found a chair and floor in the living room of the dwelling on fire. Damage from the blaze, which burned a hole in the floor, was said to be light. Fire trucks were called to the second fire when Box 75 was turned in at the intersection of Atlantic Ave. and South Alley. Upon arrival, firemen found grass on fire behind 629 Albemarle Ave. No damage resulted.

North Staters Live Hard

North State Conference cagers are continuing to play a game of "Blindman's Bluff" in connection with picking the eventual winner of the coveted top spot for the upcoming tournament.

Catawba, semi-finalists last year after a mediocre season, have intentions of showing their savvy earlier this go-round. The Indians, boasting the only win over pace-setting High Point, picked up more ground this week, thumping WCC and then unseating the power-laden Appalachian crew.

Assistant grid coach, George Tucker, often refers to the expression of "better than eating tater pie" in explaining a rapturous experience. This should hold true to form for Friday night when East Carolina and Western Carolina lock horns in a North State headliner.

Prep Swim Meet Is Success

Coach Ray Martinez calls the recent high school swim meet which was held at East Carolina a big triumph. It was the fifth of its sort held on the campus and lauded as the best.

A coaching clinic was added to the agenda this year and also went over with a bang. The ECC swim tutor reports that the visiting coaches had praise for the clinic and extended hopes of expanding it next year.

Martinez is hopeful of landing some of the prep stars that participated in the meet. A large portion of the already depth-shallow squad will be lost this season and the ECC general is banking on a good freshman crop. Recruiting without scholarship is a tough chore but he contends that this is one of the best high school groups to come up in several years so that eases the problem in a sense.

New Era For Boxing ?

The boxing standards may be in for a change. The crowning of Paul Pender as the new title-holder tore down a couple of barriers. In the past, the challenger usually had to batter the tar out of the champ to win a split-decision. In case of any doubt, the champion usually won. But not this time.

Two thoughts go along with the surprise crowning of Pender. (1) He was a home town favorite and (2) a rematch will be held within 90 days which adds to the purse of both fighters. Whether the fight world will see a change remains to be seen but the game could certainly use something new and better.

The rematch (if ever held) between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson should draw a packed house. It needs little more publicity than it has already received.

The Swede is already a big figure but has only one big fight on his record. He is really untested and his laxity of training rules does not have a sound theory. Yours truly expects Patterson to wallop him in their next fight.

Riddick Listed In NAIA Stats

Latest NAIA statistics release has Ike Riddick, East Carolina guard, listed number 19th in the scoring race. Ike's 38 points Saturday night should move him up a notch or two. Danny Sewell is the only other North Stater listed. He is number 12.

Don King of Appalachian ranks ninth in free throw shooting, hitting 45 out of 51 attempts. Sewell is also listed as the 16th rebounder among the nation's small college powers.

West Virginia Tech, an earlier opponent of ECC, is the top scoring club in the NAIA, averaging 101.6 points per game. High Point is 16th and East Carolina's 82.9 mark is good enough for 24th.

Riddick Leads ECC To 85-67 Victory

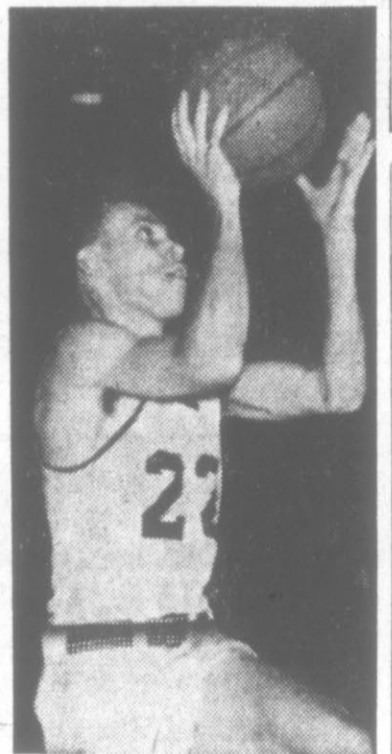

MEISENHEIMER— Hot-handed Ike Riddick was like a house afire Saturday night, triggering an East Carolina attack which dumped witless Pfeiffer, 85-67.

Riddick and the ECC crew played along with Pfeiffer and their slow-down tactics for one half but solved the problem in the second half to run the host club out of their own gym to the tune of an 18-point spread.

Winning its eighth game of the season, East Carolina held only a five point lead at halftime, 28-23. The action was slow for several minutes in the second half but Riddick and Lacy West put a damper on the Panthers' control antics by stealing the round ball and breaking the game wide open with easy lay-ups.

Riddick, who scored only 10 in the first half, scored 28 points in the second half showdown — his high for the season. The senior guard was effective on jump shots from the outside as well as his specialty—driving lay-ups.

Forward Lacy West bucketed 18 points to follow Riddick in the scoring parade and Don Smith added 16. Cotton Clayton hit seven points but attempted only four shots from the floor.

Pfeiffer scored the first bucket of the game but it was the only time that the host club was out front. Admitting defeat by their type of play, Pfeiffer stayed on even terms for one half but couldn't cope with East Carolina's phenomenal shooting percentage.

Coach Earl Smith's crew hit on 31 of 51 shots from the floor, a lofty 62%. They hit for 74% from the free throw line, making 23 of 31 attempts.

A non-conference game, the win was East Carolina's fourth in their last five games. Their only loss came to WCC by one point in overtime.

The East Carolina five is idle until Friday night when it battles Western Carolina in a return match in Greenville.

Kentucky And Ga. Tech Seek SEC Title Tonight

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the night college basketball learns if Adolph Rupp and his Kentucky Wildcats still have the knack for winning the big ones.

The big one this time puts Kentucky at Georgia Tech in a game that probably will decide the Southeastern Conference championship and the SEC club to challenge for the national collegiate tournament title in March.

Challenging for the NCAA and winning it is an old Kentucky habit. What with Baron Rupp and his Wildcats holding NCAA records for number of games won in tournament play, number of appearances and number of national collegiate titles (four).

This time, however, Georgia Tech stands in the way—and has the edge so far on the Blue Grass perennialists after whipping Kentucky at their Lexington Jan. 2.

They get together tonight at Tech with the Engineers holding first place in the SEC with a 5-0 record to Kentucky's 4-1.

Besides being the road club, Kentucky is further hampered by the temporary loss of Junior star Billy Lickert, who has a leg injury, and the ineffectuality of his planned replacement, Roger Newman.

One of the top ten rankings so far, Kentucky has a 10-4 record but has come on strong after dropping three of its first seven games. Tech was ranked sixth nationally in last week's Associated Press poll and has a 14-2 over-all mark after splitting a pair last week.

Tech beat Tennessee 74-69 Saturday after losing a game that didn't count in the conference standings to SEC foe Auburn 66-59 last Tuesday.

The Kentucky-Georgia Tech game tops the Monday program as basketball begins to perk up some with many of the schools having finished mid-term examinations.

All of the top ten teams have games this week except 19th-ranked Texas A&M and the likes of Bradley, California, West Virginia and company probably an hardly wait to get going again after the way top-ranked Cincinnati and its All-America, Oscar Robertson, have been floundering.

Cincinnati, coming off its Jan. 16 loss to Bradley, managed to win its 14th in 15 tries, 61-58 over Duquesne Saturday night but the Bearcats had one of their toughest struggles with Robertson limited to 13 points by the defensive play of George Brown.

Oscar, needing 46 points to break the all-time three-year scoring record of 2,538 points established by Furman's Frank Selvy in 1954, hit only 4 of 14 shots from the field. He is still 33 points away from breaking Selvy's mark and needs 82 to top the major school all-time career record of 2,587 set in four seasons ending in 1955 by Wake Forest's Dickie Hemric.

Robertson gets one crack this week—against The Citadel at Cincinnati on Friday.

Meanwhile, second-ranked Bradley plays next at Marquette on Saturday in its second stop on a four-game road trip that began with an 86-65 victory over strong Notre Dame at Chicago Stadium Friday night, California (14-1) and

Ford Dies In Rockingham ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP)—An old-time baseball pitcher, who discovered that roughing up a ball with emery would make it do enough tricks to mystify any batter, is dead at age 76.

Russell W. Ford, who pitched for the New York American League club from 1909 to 1913 died here Sunday following a heart attack.

His record with the New York team, known then as the Highlanders, was 26-6 in 1910, and 22-11 in 1911. The emery ball was outlawed along with the spit ball in 1920.

Ford was born in Brandon, Manitoba, Canada, but spent most of his life here. He owned an interest in a Rockingham hotel and lived there the last nine years.

The funeral will be Tuesday afternoon from the Church of the Messiah Episcopal at Rockingham.

West Virginia (15-1), both idle last week, have a pair of games—third-ranked Cal against Oregon Friday and Oregon State Saturday and fourth-ranked West Virginia at Pitt Wednesday and William & Mary at Norfolk Saturday.

Fifth-ranked Ohio State, the class of the Big Ten Conference after an 85-71 victory at Purdue Saturday, is home against Michigan State Saturday.

Other games involving the nation's elite show seventh-ranked Utah (14-2) against Los Angeles Loyola Wednesday, eight-ranked Villanova (12-1) at Army on Wednesday and at Canisius Saturday, and ninth-ranked Utah State (14-2) against Brigham Young Friday.

The nation's longest major school win streak is a bare nine in a row (Idaho State) after Houston snapped the 11-game string of Miami (Fla.) 88-79 Saturday night.

'Sudden Death'

BELVOIR — It took three overtimes and a "sudden death" playoff but Falkland's eighth grade finally came out on top of a 45-43 decision with Belvoir last week.

High scorer for the winners was Roosevelt James with 18. Eugene Tripp followed with 14. For Belvoir, Douglas Nichols scored 21 points and Tommy Bell had 10.

Belvoir won the girls encounter 39-26. Carolyn Hathaway, with 16, and Donna Staniel, with 14, paced the Belvoir win. Faye Pollard and Judy Zurfave were defensive standouts. Shirley Braxton led the losers with 18 points.

Grimesland Cops Twinbill

GRIMESLAND — Belvoir-Falkland bowed in a doubleheader to Grimesland here last Friday night. The local girls came out on top, 55-50, and the boys won an easy decision, 58-36.

Mable Singleton scored 38 points as Grimesland weathered a second half rally and won the girls game. Mary Pollard tossed in 19 for the losers and Phyllis Nichols had 18.

Trailing in the first quarter, Grimesland soared out front in the early minutes of the second half and outtraced the visiting Eagles, 58-36. Lindsey Hardee scored 21 points and Bruce Cayton added 18 in the winning game. Russell Harris and Jerry Little led B-F scorers wi 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Ken Venturi Seeks Higher Stakes After Tourney Win

By P. D. ELDRED PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—

After slogging through a wet but profitable victory in Bing Crosby's golfing show, Ken Venturi set his sights today on even higher stakes.

The slender San Franciscan collected $5,350 in the crooner's 19th annual clambake, which ended Sunday in one of the worst storms ever to plague the event. Now the 28-year-old Venturi aims for the $100,000 Desert Classic at Palm Springs with its $12,000 top award two weeks hence. He is skipping this week's $20,000 San Diego Open, where many of the touring pros go from Pebble Beach.

The Crosby windup was probably enjoyed more by the national TV audience (ABC) than by the 8,000 who braved the elements here.

Venturi started in the wind and rain with a two-stroke edge over Gene Littler of San Diego. The test quickly turned into a wide open finale when Ken three-putted the third hole from five feet.

It wasn't until almost the finish that Venturi emerged victorious with a four-round score of 286—the highest since the Crosby was extended to 72 holes three years ago.

Six bogeys and just one birdie save him a five-over-par 77 over the wind-lashed Pebble Beach layout, stretching 6,700 yards along the Monterey Bay cliffs.

But his 286 was three strokes better than the 288s with which former U.S. Open champion Julius Doros and boyish Tommy Jacobs of Arcadia, Calif., tied for second. Doros scored a fine 73 and Jacobs 75. No one equaled par 72.

Ed (Porky) Oliver of Denver and Don January of Littleton, Colo., were four strokes back of Venturi in a tie at 290. Oliver finished with 76 and January 78.

Littler, who met disaster by hitting his tee shot over the seacliff on seven for a double bogey five and then ran into more trouble, ended up with a sorry 80 and a 291 total.

Venturi collected $4,000 for leading the pros and added $1,350 for his second-place finish in the pro-amateur feature. Venturi was paired with former national amateur champion Harvie Ward of San Francisco.

Their 285 was behind pro Bud Ward of San Mateo, Calif., and amateur Bob Silvestri of San Francisco, event winners with 282. Silvestri helped Bud by 37 strokes to enable Ward to collect $2,000.

2 Games Head North State Slate This Week Give Catawba an inch and it will take a mile. That was the word around the North State Conference this morning as Coach Earl Ruth's scrappy club continued to make a jig-saw puzzle of the conference race in their role of giant-killer.

The Indians opened the week by pulling off an upset over Western Carolina on the Cats home court. They followed this up Saturday night by spilling Appalachian 76-58. Adding spice to the pie was an 86-76 win over Davidson.

The week, curtailed by mid-term exams, saw High Point remain idle and come out on top of the league standings with a 6-1 mark. Lenoir Rhyne surged into second place with a 59-34 win over Atlantic Christian.

East Carolina was idle from conference activity but added another win to its record with an 85-67 decision over Pfeiffer.

Two games will draw headlines this week as action gets back into full swing. East Carolina and Western Carolina, tied for the fourth spot, meet here on Friday night and High Point and Lenoir Rhyne, the league leaders, meet at High Point on Saturday night.

Ed (Porky) Oliver of Denver and Don January of Littleton, Colo., were four strokes back of Venturi in a tie at 290. Oliver finished with 76 and January 78.

Littler, who met disaster by hitting his tee shot over the seacliff on seven for a double bogey five and then ran into more trouble, ended up with a sorry 80 and a 291 total.

Venturi collected $4,000 for leading the pros and added $1,350 for his second-place finish in the pro-amateur feature. Venturi was paired with former national amateur champion Harvie Ward of San Francisco.

Their 285 was behind pro Bud Ward of San Mateo, Calif., and amateur Bob Silvestri of San Francisco, event winners with 282. Silvestri helped Bud by 37 strokes to enable Ward to collect $2,000.

Only five games, two conference tests, are on the slate which opens Wednesday with South Carolina host to Furman of the Southern Conference.

On Friday Wake Forest opens an Ohio trip with a game at Toledo. Saturday the Deacons move on to Dayton. League games Saturday pair Clemson and N.C. State at Raleigh in an afternoon regional TV contest and South Carolina and Duke at Durham at night.

North Carolina, Maryland and Virginia are idle all week. Duke and Maryland share second place with 4-1 records, a half game behind North Carolina. Wake Forest completes the first division with a 6-2 record.

Looking over the final month of the season it appears that Maryland faces the most difficult stretch schedule of the top four. Bud Millikan's Terrapins have nine conference games to play, six away from home, including the last three. Four of their games are against other first division clubs, including a pair with North Carolina, Feb. 3 at Maryland and Feb. 23 at North Carolina.

North Carolina has 10 league games to play, split between first and second division clubs. Four are at home, four on enemy courts and two on the neutral court of the Charlotte Coliseum where the Tar Heels have been highly successful in recent years.

Duke plays first division rivals in five of its nine remaining ACC tests and is, at home only four times.

Wake Forest's six games send the Deacons against top bracket foes four times and on the road twice.

The Wolfpack made only 12 baskets but connected on 34 of 43 foul attempts to hand the Kentuckians their third loss in 13 games.

It was the only game involving an ACC team. This week's schedule is another skimpy affair as to surprise somebody along the way, you can bet on that," predicted the top Tar Heel.

State lost its next three games after McGuire made his prediction, then knocked Wake

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

As she stepped down from the stagecoach in a flurry of skirt and petticoats, Walt Hollenger thought Judy Rayburn the prettiest woman he'd ever seen. As his eyes followed her across the dusty street in Las Barrancas, he realized she'd been around. She returned men's glances without lowering her eyes; she was used to admiration and was sure of herself.

Another shot rang out.

The horse squealed once, then fell heavily. Judy Rayburn hadn't just been making bold talk when she said she wasn't afraid to ride the twisty trail alone. She had taken her first horseback ride on her second birthday and there hadn't been many days since when she hadn't spent some time in the saddle.

From the barely discernible shadow of a round tree-clump

Just above the trail, something moved. The next instant a big, black, evil-smelling cloud sailed through the air toward her. Instinctively the girl screamed. Her horse reared frantically away and a coarse furry something alighted across the side of her face and hand, then slid off over her horse's rump. The chestnut reared again. For a frantic moment she thought she was falling. She clutched desperately for the saddle-horn, found it and held on fast.

Smooth Filmland 'Villain' Is Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—John Miljan, 67, portrayer of the smooth scoundrel in countless movies, died of cancer Sunday night in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. Miljan's appearance — tall and handsome with a trim mustache — served him equally well as an early day matinee idol and later as a screen villain. A native of Lead, S.D., Miljan came to Hollywood as a young man in 1922. In the 1930s he played romantic leads opposite Norma Shearer and Joan Crawford. In later years, he was consistently cast as a villain. His last screen appearance was in "The Ten Commandments." Survivors include his widow, Victoire, and three grown sons. Then a voice called to her: "Don't be afraid, Miss Rayburn! Sit tight. I'll have him stopped in a minute." The girl gasped with relief, and as if that quiet voice had somehow reached through and calmed his panic too, she felt her horse's stride slacken. In another moment Walt Hollenger was up alongside. He leaned out of the saddle reached for the chestnut's bridle, and slowly began crowding him against the hill. In a moment he had him stopped. Judy slid out of her saddle, and sat down on the hillside, the sudden violence of her relief making her feel weak. Walt tied the horses, came and sat down beside her. "Thanks," she said, her voice shaky, "for being so decent—for coming after me—after the way I talked to you." Walt looked at her in the dim light. "I probably wouldn't have thought it was necessary if I had known what a good rider you are. In Las Barrancas you talked and acted like a cocky little greenhorn." She laughed a little. "I guess it must have sounded that way," she admitted. "But I've ridden a lot." Walt looked at her again. "Do you mind waiting here while I go back and take a look at what ever it was he threw at you?" She stood up quickly. "I'll go with you. It felt like a fresh cowhide, but it smelled awful." Walt brought her horse back and helped her on, then stepped into his own saddle again. Even though it was dark, they had no trouble locating the spot where the trouble had started. This time Judy stayed in the saddle, while Walt bent over the big black object in the trail. He struck a match, ran his hand over it, then shoved it over the edge of the trail. "Fresh bear-hide," he reported grimly. "Guaranteed to make even a sensible horse see ghosts." Judy caught her breath. Walt put his hand on the saddle-horn and looked up at her. "Did you say you'd written the folks at the Big Hat that you were coming?" he asked. She shook her head quickly. "I know what you're thinking and it isn't so. It can't be. That man must have been waiting for someone else, and I just happened along. He couldn't have seen who I was in the dark." "Sure," Walt said quickly. But he said it as if he were trying more to reassure her, than as if he believed it himself. "There is no one in the world who would have a reason for wanting to hurt me," the girl insisted. "I wrote Uncle Pete when my mother and father were killed, and he asked me to come and visit him. That's all. I have no claim on the Sombbrero whatever. My grandfather left the ranch to uncle Pete because he was the older. My father was restless. He didn't want to stay on the ranch, he wanted to see something of the world, so he took his share in cash. That was all right between them—and it's all right with me." "I see," Walt said slowly. "I expect you're right then." "I heard a shot. Did you—" Walt nodded. "It was just a snap shot to let him know you weren't alone. I've got one other guess as to who might have tried to scare your horse off the trail. Several of the small ranches have lately reported seeing what they take to be Comanches around. We've all been missing cattle. This stunt tonight don't sound like Indians to me—but it might be." (Continued Tomorrow)

Space Use For Tiny Tom Thumb Rocket Motor

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
 NEW YORK (AP)—A new Tom Thumb rocket motor looks good for vital tasks in exploring space, a physicist said today.

This midjet motor is no bigger than a man's thumb.

It works by shooting out electrified atoms and electrons at speeds of 22,000 miles an hour. This produces thrust, just as does the exhaust of chemical fuels to thrust up rockets.

The tiny engine is not strong enough to propel a rocket or satellite as its main energy.

But it could produce sideways, forward or backward thrust to control the position and direction of a satellite in space, said Dr. W. H. Bostick of Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N.J.

Such controls can be important in keeping a weather-watcher or communications satellite in a precise orbit around the earth, or making it drop down lower, or fly up higher, to intercept a space ship, or refueling, or rescue missions. Or to keep a photographic eye pointing at the moon or distant stars for pictures.

Bostick and associates developed a laboratory model of the midjet motor just last month. He described it today at opening sessions of the annual meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

The midjet is a plasma rocket motor, he explained.

Electrical energy vaporizes the tip of a wire in the motor. Off come positively charged atoms (ions) and electrons, which fly out of the engine, producing thrust.

This engine can develop 41 per cent efficiency for the electrical energy consumed, Bostick said. The energy is created in pulses. More wire can be thrust up as the tip is consumed.

In some respects, the plasma motor is simpler and lighter in weight than ion rocket engines, which produce thrust only from positively charged ions, the physicist said.

Beginning To Wonder If Bull Market 'Dead'

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market has been turning a deaf ear of late to good business news. And as usual, when the price averages stumble, Wall Street is wondering out loud if the bull market is finally at or near its end. And if so, what was it that did the bull in?

The talk was rife after stock prices had hit their peak last Aug. 3 and then taken a long slide. But a year-end rally brought them back, and all seemed well again.

Then much of the zip went out of the market.

The Dow Jones industrial average started January at a record high of 686. After 15 trading days this month it closed Friday at 646, down 40 points in the three weeks.

The Associated Press price index of 60 stocks fell in 10 of the 15 trading days. A modest rally at the end of last week gave courage to the optimists who think the fall is leveling off, or may even be reversing itself. But the drop in the index for the month was eight points.

The news has been mostly good: corporate earnings up and 1960 profit prospects even better, dividend payments increasing, industrial production rising, retail trade on the upswing.

Why, then, have investors been keeping their money in the bank, or taking it out of the market by selling their stocks?

Some caution that both the rise and the fall of the market in recent months has been largely selective—individual companies or industries getting the trader's at-ention rather than the stock list as a whole.

But others point out some specific factors that might be affecting investors' judgments.

Bond yields have risen so high they are more attractive as income than stock dividends. This particularly appeals to the big investors, like the pension funds, or educational and financial institutions. It also appeals to those who live on fixed incomes.

President Eisenhower's plans for a balanced budget and his stressing of the need to stave off further inflation may have led some investors to lose interest in stocks as a hedge against a further inflation that may never come.

Charlotte Father Is Slain By Son

CHARLOTTE (AP)—"Why did you do it, son? Why didn't you run?" asked Mrs. Clark Crutchfield, hugging her 14-year-old son, Billy.

"I was tired of running," the boy said. That was his explanation for shooting his father Saturday night.

Mrs. Crutchfield told police she often had to ride her family around when her husband locked them out of the house. She was not at home at the time of the shooting.

Young Crutchfield said his father had been drinking. The boy told police he was in bed and his father was sitting at the kitchen table eating something.

The boy said he got out of bed to get a drink of water and that his father told him to get back in bed.

"I told him I wanted a drink," the boy told officers. "He got up and started after me."

He continued, "I ran back in the bedroom and got my rifle. I shot him the first time when he picked up a butcher knife and started after me." Billy said. He said he fired again as his father lay on the floor. Crutchfield was hit in the stomach and head.

Young Crutchfield is being held by juvenile authorities.

Frank's Widow Is Recuperating

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Mrs. Julian A. Frank, lovely widow of a lawyer killed in a puzzling airplane crash, is recuperating here after surgery for a miscarriage.

"She is doing marvelously well," Williams S. Hope, attorney for Baker Memorial Hospital here, reported last night.

Mrs. Frank, 32, former model, was brought here early Friday after suffering the miscarriage aboard a southbound New York to Florida train. She underwent surgery Saturday, which doctors said was normal procedure following a miscarriage.

Federal authorities have advanced a theory that her husband, insured for nearly a million dollars, may have taken a suicide bomb aboard a National Air Lines DCB which crashed near Bolivia, N.C. Jan. 6. All 34 persons aboard were killed.

Hope said Mrs. Frank, whose two small children are with relatives in Florida, apparently underwent great strain in her Westport, Conn., home after the death of her 32-year-old lawyer-husband.

"When she arrived here she was very distraught," Hope said. "For the first time in many days she is getting some rest. She has a completely different outlook than she had when she came to the hospital."

Soviet Reveals General's Death

MOSCOW (AP)—An official obituary signed by high ranking army leaders Sunday announced the death of Gen. Mikhail Malinin, 60, who commanded Soviet troops that put down the Hungarian revolt.

The obituary made no mention of his part in the 1956 Hungarian uprising. After the revolt he returned to his post in Moscow as chief of the Soviet army's operations division.

Legal Action To See His Daughter

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. James Douglas Sharpe says he will take legal action if necessary to see his daughter, Gamble Benedict, 19, the heiress who has been returned here after running away with a married chauffeur.

Sharpe, a Brattleboro, Vt., psychiatrist, was turned away twice Sunday from the East Side mansion of Miss Benedict's grandmother, Katherine Gedes Benedict.

"This is typical," Sharpe commented. Miss Benedict's brother, Douglas, 21, and Mrs. Benedict's attorney, Robert Hoffman, returned the debutante to her grandmother's home Saturday night. They flew her home from Paris on a court order from French authorities.

The Romanian-born chauffeur, Andre Porumbeau, 35, with whom Miss Benedict sailed on a freighter for an escapade in Paris, remained there in mournful seclusion. He and the girl had said they wanted to marry after he could get a divorce.

The New York Daily News said in a copyrighted story that he talked Sunday by phone with Miss Benedict.

Scout Lessons Saved Two Boys

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Two Tulsa youngsters are pretty happy that Howard White, 12, knew his Boy Scout lessons.

Douglas Poplin, 7, and David Staley, 9, slipped through ice on a city park pond Sunday and were struggling in the water.

White saw their plight, found a long pole and slid onto the ice on his stomach. The youngsters held the pole until passers-by rescued them with a rope.

White's father, Robert Lloyd White, is a scoutmaster.

Fled Flames, He Dashed Back In

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kybruz and their children got out of their home fast Sunday when a fire started.

But Kybruz suddenly dashed back. He didn't reappear. Three passersby went into the Chester Springs home and found the 29-year-old father overcome by smoke and badly burned.

Kybruz, in critical condition at Phoenixville Hospital, had gone back for the property deed to his home. He didn't know his wife had grabbed it when the family fled.

The Fort Wallace Memorial Museum in Kansas contains relics of Wild Bill Hickok, Gen. George Custer and other historical figures of the Old West.

'60 CHEVY! ONLY WAY YOU CAN BUY A CAR FOR LESS IS TO BUY A LOT LESS CAR!

THRIFTIEST 6 IN ANY FULL-SIZE CAR—Chevy's Hi-Thrift 6 is the '60 version of the engine that got 22.38 miles per gallon in the latest Mobilgas Economy Run—more than any other full-size car.	NEW ECONOMY TURBO-FIRE V8—Here's a V8 with the "git" Chevy's famous for—plus a new economy-contoured camshaft and other refinements that get up to 10% more miles on a gallon of regular.	EASIER-TO-LOAD LUGGAGE COMPARTMENT—The trunk sill is lower and the lid opening is more than a foot and a half wider than Chevy's nearest competitor's. There's over 20% more usable space!	MORE ROOM WHERE YOU WANT MORE ROOM—Chevy's trimmed-down transmission tunnel (25% smaller) gives you more foot room. You also get more head and hip room than in any other 2- or 4-door sedans in the field.	WIDEST CHOICE OF POWER TEAMS—A choice of 24 engine-transmission teams in all—to satisfy the most finicky driving foot. There are seven engines with output all the way up to 335 h.p. and five silk-smooth transmissions.
EXTRA CONVENIENCES OF BODY BY FISHER—No other car in Chevy's field gives you crank-operated ventpanes, Safety Plate Glass all around and dozens of other Fisher Body refinements.	CHEVY SETS THE PACE WITH LOWER PRICES—All Bel Air and Impala V8's are lower priced, as are many options. Example: a Bel Air V8 sedan with Turboglide, de luxe heater and push-button radio lists at $65.30 less for '60.	QUICKER STOPPING BRAKES—Long-lived bonded-lining brakes with larger front-wheel cylinders for '60 give you quicker, surer stops with less pedal pressure.	SOFTER, MORE SILENT RIDE—Chevy's the only leading low-priced car that gentles the bumps with coil springs at all four wheels. Noise and vibration are filtered to the vanishing point by new body mounts.	NOT CHANGE FOR CHANGE'S SAKE, BUT FOR YOURS—There's only one person we consider when we make a change—and that's you. That's why we don't think you'll find anything more to your liking at anything like the price.

The more you look around the more you'll find to convince you that no other low-priced car has so much to show for your money as this new Chevrolet. Here's the kind of styling sophistication and subtle detail that only Fisher Body craftsmanship can create. Here's the kind of Full Coil comfort that neither of the other two leading low-priced cars—and only some of the smoothest riding higher priced ones—build into their suspension systems. Here's more room inside (where you want it) without an inch more outside (where you don't want it). And with all these advances Chevy has managed to hold the price line! Your dealer will be delighted to fill you in on all the facts.

Humphrey Cites Poverty, Despair As A 'Scandal'

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today there are "too many pockets of depression and despair" in the United States for any American "to feel complacent about our national strength."

Humphrey, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, expressed this point of view in a speech to the West Virginia House of Delegates.

"The fact that the West Virginia Legislature is grappling with questions of supplying food for the hungry and other welfare measures points up the bitter fact that the prosperity we hear so much about is certainly not a general prosperity," he said.

"Poverty is always a tragedy, any time and any place," he added. "But poverty in a land that is enjoying a national product close to 500 billion dollars is more than a tragedy — it is a national scandal."

Humphrey said it is clear that the greatest hope for eliminating poverty is regular employment at decent wages.

Synod Is Opened In Vatican City

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII today invoked the spiritual guidance of St. Peter and St. Paul as Rome's First Diocesan Synod began deliberations to meet the challenges of modern times.

White and yellow papal banners fluttered from Vatican buildings for the event—the first since the great apostles made Rome the center of Christian faith.

The Pope formally opened the synod—an ecclesiastical gathering—Sunday at the Basilica of St. John Lateran, his episcopal see as Bishop of Rome.

The week-long deliberations, which will consider 770 proposed articles covering many aspects of conduct both for Roman Catholic clergy and laymen, began today in the Vatican's Hall of Benedictions. A year's preparation preceded the formal opening of the synod.

Synod sessions are secret. Vatican sources said, however, the articles deal with many aspects of modern life, including a television, radio, smoking, the use of automobiles by priests and other clergymen, and the appearance of priests and other members of religious orders in public places.

Some of these articles may not be published officially for a year, some Vatican sources said.

The opening deliberative session was preceded by a Mass celebrated by the Pope in the Sistine Chapel.
