Payola Investigators Hear Disc Jockey Behind Doors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators began their hearings on payola today by calling former Boston disc jockey Norman Prescott for questioning behind closed doors.

At a brief open session, Harris said rumors that the subcommittee investigation will center on a few individuals, stations or localities are "wholly unfounded."

Harris said the subcommittee has not prejudged any of these matters.

Fight To Reduce Senate Spending On Investigating

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) and Allen J. Ellender (D-La) have launched separate fights to reduce the $3,696,000 that Senate committees want to spend on investigations.

The subcommittee later will hear witnesses about cases "in Pennsylvania and many other parts of the country," Harris said.

Harris said the quality of broadcast programs declines when materials are chosen not for their public interest but because of side payments.

Young, a former KYW record librarian; and James Shipley, vice president of a Cleveland record distributing firm.

A subcommittee aide said Finan, Hopkins and Young were fired in the wake of the furore touched off late last year when the subcommittee shifted its sights from the TV quiz scandals to payola.

The subcommittee in a report it issued Saturday night caustically assailed payola and other deceptive practices in the broadcasting industry. The report dealt primarily with quiz show hearings the subcommittee held last year.

The Soviet deputy premier made the second public address of his Cuban visit to a meeting of the National Federation of Textile Workers. Sunday night he attended a concert of the Havana Symphony conducted by Soviet Composer Aram Khachaturian.

Mikoyan's speech to the textile workers included the usual Soviet boast of missile strength coupled with assurance of the Soviet Union's desire for peace.

"Those who talk of war," the Soviet leader said, "know that if we can send a rocket to the moon with such precision, we can send a rocket with the same precision to any point on earth."

Mikoyan got another big hand as he outlined the rise of the Soviet Union under communism and declared, "the Cuban revolution can accomplish miracles, too."

Mikoyan was followed by Ernesto Guevara, leftist president of the National Bank of Cuba, who told the crowd the Cuban revolution will go forward.

At the concert Mikoyan beamed from a mezzanine box, acknowledging the applause of the large crowd. The audience included a number of revolutionaries, among them Guevara and Prime Minister Fidel Castro's younger brother, Raul, minister of the Cuban armed forces, and their wives.

Mikoyan's activities had been cloaked in secrecy since he was driven out of Havana Saturday morning under heavy escort. An army officer in Matanzas, 50 miles east of Havana, reported seeing the Soviet leader riding with Raul Castro.

The Soviet news agency, Tass, reported that Mikoyan and Raul visited the Cienega de Zapata swamps near Matanzas, which are to be drained and planted in rice, and a boarding school for 40 homeless children at a country estate seized from ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista.

World War II

Although he won engagements with the enemy in war and has scored tactical victories in Pentagon skirmishes since, Burke is doing no better than holding his own in another campaign — diet. He likes chow.

He was born at Boulder, Colo.

He was born at Boulder, Colo., on Oct. 19, 1901. Graduated at Annapolis in the class of '23. Burke started out in battleship service. One of his first tours was aboard the Arizona, destined to become a symbol years later at Pearl Harbor.

Burke's selection by President Eisenhower to be Chief of Naval Operations surprised all hands.

Eisenhower reached down past platoons of senior admirals, vice admirals and rear admirals to pick junior rear admiral Burke for CNO and four stars.

What also was startling was that Burke, as a captain, had worked lustily in the Navy's campaign against attempts to scuttle a big carrier program in favor of big Air Force bombers. The Navy saved its program, Burke survived the battle, the feud was forgotten and the captain became an admiral.

Admiral Burke Becoming A Full-Time Witness

By ELTON C. FAY WASHINGTON (AP) Adm. Arleigh A. Burke is becoming practically a professional witness on Capitol Hill.

He has appeared more than 50 times before Congressional committees since he became Chief of Naval Operations more than four years ago.

Today Burke makes a double-billed appearance. He goes before a House committee in the morning and Senate committees in the afternoon to answer questions about space, space programs, missiles and kindred subjects which occur to the inquisitive minds of committee members.

The pipe-smoking admiral with gray sprinkling his sandy hair seems to sail serenely through seas of controversy. He uses his answers to questions to get across his opinion without appearing to push them.

Miss Lou Winstead Has Home Wedding

Miss Lou White Winstead and Earl Lester Lindanger were married at noon on Saturday in the home of the bride's parents, who also were married in the same setting.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Lindsay Winstead of Greenville and the granddaughter of Mrs. James Lawson Fleming and the late Senator Fleming.

The bridegroom is the son of Eric Lindanger of Cresco, Iowa and the late Mrs. Lindanger.

An improvised altar in the bay window of the living room with a background of greens, wrought iron candelabras with tapers and bouquets of white chrysanthemums, formed the setting for the wedding. A double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Percy C. Upchurch, pastor of the bride, Mrs. Claude S. Kidd, pianist, and Miss Mary Louise Toler, soloist of High Point, presented a program of nuptial music. Miss Toler sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg and "The Wedding Benediction" by Lovelace.

The bride descended the stairs, which were festooned with southern smilax, and was met by her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown of hand cut lace over bridal taffeta was fashioned with a scalloped portrait neckline and a full skirt extending into a chapel train.

The fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of hand-cut lace embroidered with pearls and sequins. She carried a prayer book showered with Phalaenopsis orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

The bride had as her only attendant, her cousin, Mrs. William S. Michael of Ann Arbor, Mich. She wore a Rose Peau De Soir, lace trimmed dress with matching accessories. She carried a cascade bouquet of spring flowers.

Robert Grout of Winston-Salem was the bridegroom's best man. Joseph Thomas and James Fleming Winstead, brothers of the bride, served as ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a blue lace sheath dress with matching accessories and a white orchid.

For traveling the bride chose a bridal blue facade wool suit with a cerulean mink collar.

The bride was presented to North Carolina society at the 1955 "Tepischorean Debutante Ball in Raleigh. She is a graduate of Meredith College and is now teaching in High Point.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the State University of Iowa. He served as First Lieutenant in the U. S. Army and is with Western Electric in Winston-Salem.

The couple will make their home in Winston-Salem.

Wedding Breakfast
Immediately following the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Winstead entertained at a wedding breakfast honoring the bride and groom and their wedding guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles White and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMillan invited the guests into the dining room.

Breakfast was served buffet style from the dining table which was covered with a white satin and lace cloth and centered with a silver candelabra arrangement of white carnations.

Mrs. Sam White and Miss Louise Fleming served from the dining room table and were assisted by Mrs. Helen White Hawes and Mrs. Frank Bendall.

Guests returned to the dining room for dessert where the bride and the bridegroom cut the wedding cake, after which Mrs. George Matthis of Durham and Mrs. Sam T. White II served the cake with ice cream in wedding shapes.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Fleming Jr. presided over the register. Goodbyes were said by Mrs. James L. Fleming, grandmother of the bride.

Out-of-Town Guests
Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Dillon, Statesville; Mr. and Mrs. William S. Michael, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Dr. and Mrs. John L. Winstead Jr., Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. George Matthis, Durham; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, Ann and William, Miss

Carol Winstead of Elm City; Mrs. Mary Lou Basnight, Charlotte; Miss Louise Toler, Miss Sarah Brawley, High Point; Robert Grout, Mrs. E. B. Ferguson, Winston-Salem;

Miss Louise Fleming, Miss Anne Fuller, Raleigh; Mrs. Cledith Oakley, Swansboro; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Calhoun, Arlington, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Ward Peacock, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hines, Miss Betty Gayle Raynor, Chapel Hill; Miss Nancy Moser, Hickory; Miss Peggy Yaney, Clarksville, Va.; Miss Patricia Barnes, Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Everette Bradley, Sanford; Mr. and Mrs. George Matthis, Clinton; Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Overcash, Matthews; Mrs. Robert Cardell, Nashville, Tenn.

Dinner Party
A dinner party honoring the Lindanger-Winstead bridal party and out-of-town guests was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Moye Jr. on Friday evening.

The hosts and hostesses for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Moye, Mr. and Mrs. Charles White, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Fleming Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Perkins, Dr. and Mrs. Sam T. White II, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bendall, and Miss Louise Fleming.

The bride and the bridegroom received with the hosts and hostesses as guests arrived.

Dinner was served buffet style from the dining room where a color scheme of yellow and green was carried out. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a nosegay arrangement of yellow roses and mums.

Mrs. J. L. Winstead and Mrs. George Matthis of Durham served at the table. Guests were seated at auxiliary tables throughout the house. Assisting the hostesses with the serving were Misses Margaret and Lillian Moye.

Double-Ring Vows Unite Taft-Finch

Thomasville — A double ring evening ceremony united Miss Mary Hannah Finch and William Holston Taft, Jr. in marriage Saturday in the Memorial Methodist Church.

Miss Finch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis Finch of 225 West Colonial Dr. and Mr. Taft is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Taft of 1707 E. Fifth St., Greenville.

Officiating ministers were Dr. Frank B. Jordan and Dr. Wilson O. Weldon of Charlotte. The vows were said before a setting composed of white calla lilies, white gladiola and stock, spiral candelabras holding tall cathedral candles with a background of woodwardia ferns. On either side of the altar were arrangements of calla lilies, gladiola and stock in silver urns.

Mrs. Charles E. Jordan, of Lexington said "How Do I Love Thee" and "Because" as the nuptial music. Frank Jordan, Jr. of Durham accompanied her on the organ. His selections included "Meditation on Thais," "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice" and "Trauerlied" by Schumann.

The bridal attendants entered the church to "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell. "Wagner's Wedding March" was played during the entrance of the bride. During the ceremony "To A Wild Rose" was played, and Mendelssohn "Recessional" was used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Peau de Soie designed with a scalloped neckline and tucked midriff. The bodice and fingertip sleeves were of re-embroidered Alencon lace embellished with sprays of seed pearls. The sides of the bouffant skirt which ended in a court train, were applied with lace and pearl designs.

Her veil of illusion was caught to a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of Bride's roses, white Phalaenopsis orchids showered with lilies of the valley.

The bride was attended by her youngest sister, Miss Lucy Tunstall Finch, as maid of honor, and her matron of honor was her other sister, Mrs. Charles Franklin Lambeth Jr.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jane Adele Finch of Thomasville, cousin of the bride; Miss Susan Kohler of Conshohocken, Pa., cousin of the bridegroom; Miss Sandra Edgerton of Goldsboro; Mrs. John Douglas Knotts of Durham; and Mrs. Wallace Andrew Kennedy, Jr. of Greensboro.

They wore floor length dresses of crayon green taffeta styled with scooped necklines and crushed cummerbunds ending in double back puffs of Nile green satin.

They wore matching satin coronets with circular veils. Their bouquets were heart shaped of orange delight roses and yellow acacia tied with matching ribbons.

Acting as honorary bridesmaids were Miss Kay Lambeth, Thomasville; Miss Peggy Highsmith, Fayetteville; Miss Nancy Weldon, Charlotte; Miss Sharon Finch, Thomasville; and Miss Martha Rose Lambeth, Thomasville.

They carried nosegays which complemented their dresses in pastel shades.

Mr. Taft acted as best man for his son. Groomsmen were Marvin Blount, Jr., Greenville, cousin of the bridegroom; Jon William Couch, Durham; Brown F. Finch, Thomasville, brother of the bride; Charles V. Taft, Greenville, brother of the bridegroom; Joseph M. Taft, Jr., Greenville, cousin of the bridegroom; Richard Taft, Greenville, brother of the bridegroom.

Ushers include James Peden, Raleigh; Kirk Smith, Thomasville; Hoover Taft, III, Greenville, cousin of the bridegroom; John M. Thomason, Thomasville; James Gordon Vanstony, Weaver, cousin of the bride; and Jack Whitchard, Greenville.

The bride's mother wore a gown of pure silk satin in Pervance blue. It featured a soft capelet sleeve and a princess line that swept softly into a short train. She wore at her shoulder a corsage of white Phalaenopsis orchids.

Attired in a dusty pink Peau de Soie dress featuring beads and sequins, the bridegroom's mother chose also a corsage of white Phalaenopsis orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given by the bride's parents at Thomasville Woman's Club, Elliott Drive.

After a wedding trip to Florida and Nassau, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride traveled in a beige wool jersey dress with matching jacket trimmed with fox fur. Her corsage was of orchids.

Miss Finch graduated from Salem Academy in Winston-Salem in 1956 and Saint Mary's Jr. College in Raleigh in 1958. She attended the University of North Carolina where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. She majored in elementary education and did her practice training at Park Road School in Charlotte.

Mr. Taft received an A. B. degree in Business Administration from Duke University in 1958. He is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, business fraternity, and Phi Delta Theta, social fraternity. He is affiliated with a furniture company in Greenville.

With Farm Women

By MAIDRED MORRIS
(Items this week from Forsyth, Hoke, Mitchell, Bertie, Henderson, and Carteret counties.)

N.J.V.G.A. Convention
Carlene McGill of Forsyth County recently attended the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association Convention held in Washington, D. C. As state winner in the fruit and vegetable use demonstration, Carlene received the expense paid trip.

Mrs. Betty Fiddle, assistant home economics agent, reports that Carlene was second place winner in the nation and received a NJVGA pin, ribbon and watch.

Business Analysis Project
Several families in Hoke County will be working on a farm and home business analysis project this year. The latest aids and techniques in planning, simplified programming, and record keeping will be available to the families.

According to Mrs. Mary Lou Roman, assistant home economics agent, the objectives of the project are to gain an indication of progress made by farm families, to assist the participating farm family in keeping accurate and useful farm records, and provide the most modern planning aids and techniques to the farm families participating.

Remodeling
"Remodeling an old house is never easy," says Frank Young of the Clarrissa community in Mitchell County. Mr. and Mrs. Young have been engaged in a complete remodeling project during the past few years.

Starting from plans drawn up several years ago, the Youngs have installed a bathroom, installed an oil furnace, and just finished giving the exterior a face-lifting. Quick Thinking Saves Money

Quick thinking has saved Mrs. John B. Cowan of the Connaritsa community the cost of a reupholstery job on a chair. She had a chair with decorative upholstery tacks down the arms that were causing the upholstery fabric to rust.

Miss Susie Parsons, assistant home economics agent, reports that Mrs. Cowan replaced the tacks with gimp and glue which saved her the cost of buying new material.

Family Room Storage
Mrs. O. C. Feagan of the Tracy Grove Home Demonstration Club in Henderson County did not waste any time in putting into practice ideas which she gained at a recent club meeting. She arranged for her husband to see the family room slides showing storage built into a family room for sewing machine, sewing supplies, typewriter, and other necessary supplies.

Mrs. Kathleen Hodges, home economics agent, reports that Mr. Feagan completed a convenient desk and sewing area for his family within a few weeks after seeing the slides.

Pine Needle Baskets
Do you know how to make baskets out of pine needles? Mrs. Alex Taylor of Harlowe community in Carteret County, has had much experience in the art of making baskets.

"Mrs. Taylor recently conducted a workshop for other women in the county," says Mrs. Floy Garner, home economics agent. "She does beautiful work and stresses the necessity of producing quality craft articles."

Tillery-Andrew Wed In Raleigh

RALEIGH — Hayes Barton Methodist Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Margaret Celia Andrews and Clarence Anderson Tillery, Jr. on Saturday afternoon. Dr. W. L. Clegg officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cleveland Andrews of Ayden, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Tillery of Raleigh and the late Mr. Tillery.

Music was presented by Miss Jacqueline Harrison, vocalist, and James Clyburn, organist, both of Raleigh.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, John Cleveland Andrews, Jr. of Raleigh. She wore a ballerina length dress of white satin, fashioned along princess lines, with portrait neckline and bracelet length sleeves. Folds of satin were caught with satin roses on the full skirt and extended to the back waistline which also featured the satin roses.

Her half-hat of white flowers with scalloped pearl trim was framed by a tiny circular veil. She carried a prayer book topped with a white purple-throated orchid. Mrs. John Andrews, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a taffeta dress of iridescent copen blue, fashioned princess style, with scoop neckline and short sleeves. The full skirt featured a bow in the back.

She wore a veil of a matching shade trimmed with velvet bows and carried a Colonial bouquet of large yellow chrysanthemums, showered with pom poms.

Mrs. Leon Lewis Kittrell, Sr. of Ayden served as the bride's mother. She wore a Blue Peau De Sole coat with blue-green hat and a corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a Midnight Blue sheath dress of crepe with powder blue hat trimmed with seed pearls and a corsage of pink carnations.

Robert Warlick of Raleigh was the best man. Ushers were Stephen Franklin Eure of Greensboro, cousin of the bride, and George Roland Parrott of Sanford.

Following the ceremony, the couple received in the church vestibule. Mrs. John Andrews Edwards, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Mrs. Tillery attended East Carolina College and was graduated from Katherine Gibbs School in New York City. She is employed by The National Foundation in Raleigh as State Office Secretary for Central North Carolina office. Mr. Tillery will graduate in June from North Carolina State College with a B.S. degree in a Mechanical Engineering option. He is employed by Carolina Sales and Service Company of Raleigh.

Hints On Mattress Buying

RALEIGH—Let's talk about bedrooms! Eight hours a day for life is a long time to spend in one place. Yet, most of us can expect to spend at least one-third of our lives in our bedrooms.

The main purpose of the bedroom is to provide a place to sleep. Restful sleep is nature's way of restoring energy to tired minds and bodies.

A comfortable, clean bed is important if you are to feel fresh and rested each morning. The selection that you have made in a mattress will probably determine how well you rest. Here are some hints on mattress selection.

1. Buy the best mattress you can afford. It's good economy in the long run.
2. Mattress and springs should be bought at the same time. If you place a new mattress on worn-out springs, you shorten the life of the mattress.
3. Check the ticking for closeness of weave.
4. If it is a tufted mattress, buttons or tuft tufts are preferred.
5. Make sure the borders are reinforced so they will not sag or break down.
6. On inner spring mattresses, make sure the handles are sturdily attached. Cord, steel, or plastic handles are preferred. Be sure the inner spring mattresses have the ventilators which will air the inside of the mattress.

MANDARIN APPLESAUCE
Ingredients: 2 cups chilled applesauce, 2 tablespoons (2 knobs about the size of walnuts) syrup-preserved ginger, 2 medium-sized seedless oranges.

Method: Mix applesauce and ginger; spoon into 4 sherbert glasses or dessert dishes. With sharp knife pare oranges so no white membrane remains. Cut oranges into sections; place knife on outside of orange, in center of pulp between 2 membranes, and slice to core; repeat until whole orange is sectioned. Arrange oranges over applesauce. Makes 4 servings. If desserts are chilled a few hours or longer, ginger will permeate applesauce more than if served as soon as prepared.

Afternoon Tea Honors ECC Sororities

Approximately 500 persons attended the afternoon tea at Garrett Hall Lounge, ECC, yesterday honoring the eight sororities which held their national installation ceremonies during the weekend.

The tea given by the City Panhellenic Council concluded the weekend of initiation-installation ceremonies, banquets and gatherings.

Sororities taking part included Alpha Pi, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Kappa Delta, and Sigma Sigma Sigma.

Miss Lou Cheatham, Mrs. Boley Farley, overall tea chairman, and Mrs. Harry Billica, officers of the local Panhellenic Council, were among those entertaining during the afternoon. The receiving line was composed of Miss Ruth White, Dean of Women, national officers of each sorority, and collegiate presidents.

Guests were invited to the refreshment table which was covered with a white orandy cloth over green satin, using a centerpiece of pink carnations and snapdragons flanked by pink candles.

Lime punch, cake squares, nuts and mints were served.

Decorating the lounge were arrangements composed of flowers of each sorority.

Among the guests were honor initiates of each sorority and their patronesses. They are: Sigma Sigma Sigma, Mrs. George Lautares and Mrs. Ledyard Ross, honor initiates; Mrs. Robert Messner, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell Jr., Mrs. Lyman Ormond, Mrs. K. B. Pace, Mrs. W. Reid Perkins, Mrs. Edward Tipton, Mrs. Cameron Dudley, Mrs. Wesley Johnston, Mrs. Patrick Dawson, Mrs. Craven Hughes, Mrs. Ben Harrison, and Mrs. Ray Masten, patronesses.

Alpha Delta Pi, Dr. Lois Staton, Mrs. John Farley, Mrs. Hoover Taft, Mrs. William Taft, Mrs. Sidney Dunn, Mrs. J. H. Waldrop and Mrs. Joseph Moyer, honor initiates; Mrs. Louise Picklen, Mrs. S. T. White, Mrs. Lee Hannah, Mrs. Robert Windle, and Mrs. C. W. Howard, patronesses.

Kappa Delta, Mrs. A. Tyson Bilbro, Miss Sophie Fischel, Miss Mamie Ruth Tunstall, Mrs. Odell Welborn, Miss Ruth White, and Mrs. R. L. Wolff, honor initiates.

Mrs. David A. Evans, honor pledge, will be initiated in April.

Chi Omega, Mrs. Cleveland J. Bradner Jr., Mrs. Clinton R. Prewitt, Mrs. James T. Cheatham Jr., Mrs. John T. Clark Jr., Mrs. Wiley D. Forbes, Mrs. John Howard, Mrs. Leo W. Jenkins, Mrs. Conner Merritt Jr. and Mrs. A. C. Ruffin, Delta Zeta, Mrs. L. T. Shotwell, Mrs. Charles Gaskins, Mrs. M. E. Sutton, Mrs. W. L. Whedbee, Mrs. V. E. Wells, Mrs. R. H. Evans, Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. Bryan Brown, Mrs. Helen Synder, honor initiates.

Alpha Pi, Mrs. Claude Goodman, leen Stokes, Mrs. Hugh Winslow, Mrs. E. E. Rawl, Mrs. A. H. Van Dyke, honor initiates.

Alpha Xi, Mrs. Robert L. Boone, Mrs. Edward J. Carter, Mrs. Keith Holmes, Mrs. John A. Messick, Miss Eunice McGee, Mrs. Harley Milstead, Miss Rosalind Roulston, Mrs. Wendall Smiley, Mrs. Charles White Jr., Mrs. James W. Lee, and Miss Alice Ann Horne, honor initiates.

Alpha Omicron Pi, Dr. Kath-

Miss Gay Hogan, Mrs. Jack Horne, Mrs. Ralph Brimley, Mrs. James Tucker, and Mrs. William MacDonald, honor initiates.

Banquet Honors 100th Chapter + Births +

The national sorority of Alpha Delta Pi, founded in Macon, Ga. in 1851, held a banquet at the Elks Club in honor of their 100th chapter. The banquet was the aftermath of an installation of 35 charter members, all enrolled at East Carolina College.

The invocation was given by the Rev. William J. Hadden, pastor of the Eighth Street Christian Church. Following the invocation, Mrs. Lee Folger, a member of the Greenville Alumnae Group, welcomed the new members and visitors.

Mrs. James E. Spargo of Wheeling, W. Va. introduced the guests, Miss Maxine Blake, Seattle, Wash., Grand President; Mrs. Russell Allen, Knoxville, Tenn., Grand Second Vice President; Miss Carole Dornon, Atlanta, Ga., Executive Officer; Mrs. Howard Halberstadt, Charlotte, Retired Providence President; and Mrs. William Ducker, Charlotte, N. C. Providence President, Visiting Alpha Delta Pi's from Queens College, University of N. C., University of S. C., Randolph Macon Woman's College and Duke University were also recognized.

The address was given by Dr. Douglas Jones, Education Department at East Carolina College, who pointed out that sororities have a definite place in the growth and leadership of the college that should be recognized and respected.

Misses Dorothy Walker and Betty McCauley presented the musical selection "The Best Sorority of All," after which the National Charter was formally presented to Ann Drennan, president of the chapter, by Miss Blake.

The theme of the banquet was "The Golden 100th Chapter of Alpha Delta Pi." Sisters throughout the U. S. and Canada wore gold ribbons under their badges signifying this occasion. The decorations consisted of candles encased in gold, on the tables with a huge golden centerpiece. Gold diamond-shaped mobiles extended from the ceiling.

The new members wore white evening dresses, the pledges were dressed in pastel colors and Mrs. Spargo and Miss Blake wore gold honoring the new chapter.

There's A Catch In Federal 'Aid'

Is this election year of 1960 the year in which federal aid for education will be successfully maneuvered through Congress and the public schools of the country begin their journey toward total control by federal authority?

The Senate already has passed a school aid bill which would provide $1,834,000,000 in federal aid for education during the coming fiscal year. The aid, according to initial federal strings attached to the grants, would be used for classroom construction and teacher salaries, with the states initially allowed to decide how much would go into construction and how much into salary increases.

The bill likewise provides that the first year grants would be given the states outright, but after the first year there would be a formula for matching state funds to be provided in order for a state to receive the federal funds.

There are no states in the Union which could not profitably spend more money for their public schools if it were available. There is a pressing need for more classrooms, better teacher salaries and a host of other things which would raise the calibre of public school education. In spite of these needs, however, the individual states should weigh carefully the merits of accepting such aid against the basic American philosophy that public schools should remain in control of the state and local government.

As surely as federal dollars go into the public school systems of the individual states, federal controls on these same public schools will follow. The controls may be small at first; they may hardly be discernable. In time, however, federal control of public schools will become more apparent, more demanding upon the individual state and local governments, and eventually effective control of the public schools will pass from state and local governments to rest in the lap of the federal bureaucracy.

Without exception, years of experience have shown that federal controls always go hand-in-hand with federal dollars that are doled out to lower levels of government.

Federal-aid state highways are constructed to federal specifications. Hospitals into which federal funds go are subject to controls by the federal government. Welfare programs, superficially administered by state and county governments, are bound by federal rules and regulations because the state and local governments have accepted federal aid in these programs.

In spite of the fact that such federal controls are distasteful to most officials and individual citizens, they are tolerated because state and local governments have become addicted to using the federal funds as a crutch they don't see how they can get along without them.

Once a lower level of government reaches such a condition, almost any controls federal agencies want to impose are automatically acceptable.

Proponents of federal aid to education have repeatedly asserted there would never be any federal control of public schools. But what is there to prevent the federal aid program for schools from becoming just as full of federal controls as other federal aid programs?

Once the states begin using federal funds to supplement their school systems, they will find themselves unable to get along without it. If the federal government chooses to gradually gain control of public schools throughout the nation and dictate policies, the states and local governments will acquiesce as they have done in other programs that were wholly controlled at the state and local levels before federal dollars flowed into them.

While more dollars for public education is much to be desired, federal aid for education which ultimately would lead to federal control of public schools, would in the long run be detrimental to public education and to the basic American democracy.

No 'Hatch Act' In Our Politics

By LYNN NISBET

HATCH ACT—North Carolina does not have a law comparable to the Federal Hatch Act which prohibits political activity on part of many government employees. The fact is, many employees plead the Hatch Act as an excuse for not contributing to campaign funds, rather than as an impediment to their desired personal activities. In practice, the Hatch Act does not hamper Federal employees much more than the non-statutory avowal of "no politics" in many State departments.

Governor Hodges has been more vocative in protesting "no politics" than any recent chief executive. He has put special emphasis on the elimination of politics from the ABC board and the Highway Commission.

When announcement was made that Clinton Newton of Shelby would direct the gubernatorial campaign of Terry Sanford in five counties, the statement was careful to include the information that he is a member of the State ABC board (appointed by Governor Hodges in the political clean-up process).

Just last week Ralph Howland, vice - chairman of the Highway Commission, formally withdrew from the race for Lieutenant Governor—which he tentatively entered more than a year ago. For almost a year there has been a lot of publicity about the probability of Mel Broughton, chairman of the Highway Commission, getting in the race for Governor or United States Senator. He hasn't made positive statement putting himself in or out of either, but reiterated last week he is still considering the question. Whatever his decision may be, the fact remains he has been "in politics" in a big way for months—fully as much as Beverly Lake and Arthur Kirkman, almost as much as Terry Sanford, John Larkins and Addison Hewlett.

PATRONAGE — Why should not government officials and employees take an active part in politics? No elective official got in office without engaging in politics, and 99.44 per cent of all appointive officers were named because of political activity. When a lot of people on the outside are trying to displace office holders, why should they not have equal right to try to keep their jobs?

Governor Hodges has said he will take no part at all in any campaign to select his successor "unless his administration is attacked". Why should he, or any other incumbent official, be expected to assume that defensive attitude? Is there any ethical or moral difference in defending policies when attacked, and in taking the lead in promoting them before they are challenged?

Ample arguments can be offered for prohibiting an incumbent official or employee from using the authority of his position to impress or oppress the people into forced compliance with their will. That is entirely different from saying to any person who has attained recognition because of political activity, that he must cease all such activity immediately and solely because he has been "recognized".

FEDERAL AID—Further evidence that there can be no such thing as Federal aid for public schools without a large degree of Federal control over program and procedure was brought to attention of the State Board of Education at its recent monthly meeting. Last year the State folks were very happy about availability of Federal funds under the Defense Education Program for counseling and guidance of pupils. It was believed there were no strings tied to the money—and none appeared in the congressional act making it available.

Now the Federal Bureau has come along with rulings that unless grades 7 and 8 are in junior high schools separate from elementary grades, none of the Federal funds can be used to the program in these grades.

This ruling followed by a few weeks another from the same cabinet rank department (Health, Education and Welfare), to the effect that no Federal funds can be used to aid dependent children if the State or county seeks to exercise any supervision over their expenditure.

There are many people who think the Federal government should assume a much larger portion of the education and welfare load than it is now carrying, and do not object to Federal control under such conditions. Others would refuse all Federal aid because acceptance would inevitably bring Federal control. These positions are understandable. It is difficult to follow the reasoning of those glib folk who want Federal funds and would rely on promises that there will be no Federal intervention in management.

A look at highways, vocational education, welfare and now public schools will suffice to make this point.

Crime Prevention Not A One-Shot Endeavour

Crime, as a nationwide problem, is brought to the public's attention constantly as newspapers and other media report day-by-day happenings in the community, the state and the nation.

A day doesn't pass that crimes are not committed, some major crimes, some petty. Neither does a day pass that some youngster, or maybe some matured adult, doesn't take the first step toward what may be a life of crime, or one criminal act for which he repents the remainder of his life.

With crime, as with most other diseases which beset our society, an ounce of prevention at the right moment means more than pounds of cures that can be provided by our penal institutions and rehabilitation centers. And crime prevention is not just the job of law enforcement officers. It is the responsibility of every citizen, every organization that is interested in building a better society.

This week the Exchange Club of Greenville and those throughout the nation are calling attention to National Crime Prevention Week. In doing so, they are stressing the idea that crime prevention is not a task to be shouldered only one week out of the year. It is a job that requires daily attention in the home and throughout the community.

It is not a matter of joining committees or organizations, going to meetings or launching a crusade. It is more a matter of strengthening the moral and spiritual fibre of our society, in the home and in the community, to the end that youngsters and adults alike will more fully dedicate themselves to the ideals and principles of law and order within the society.

Economy Report Also Political

By RALPH ROBEY

Under the Employment Act of 1946 the President is required to make an economic report to the Congress shortly after the first of each year. The report, prepared largely by the Council of Economic Advisors, always reviews the developments of the previous year and indicates what is ahead and what the government plans to do about it. The council is composed of three members and under it is a small group of research experts. Chairman of the present council is Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier.

Just as the State of the Union and the Budget messages, the Economic Report is, by its nature, a political document, and this must be kept in mind in reading and appraising it. However, the report is more nearly a political showcase than a political platform.

In the 1960 report the term "shared responsibility" is used time after time to describe our economic system. It clearly reflects the conviction of the Administration that government can not, and must not be expected to, carry the full responsibility for our progress and prosperity.

This, obviously, is a sound philosophy and it is regrettable that it did not become controlling long ago. At present government is spending an incredible amount of the nation's income. The federal budget itself is just short of $80 billion. That does not include the trust funds. When these are added the total is $96 billion. Those are expenditures. Total receipts are over $102 billion.

State and local expenditures are about $40 billion. For the nation as a whole, therefore, government at all levels is controlling about $140 billion of spending. Our national income is a shade over $400 billion. This means that federal, state and local government is directing the spending of approximately one-third of our national income. It is said that nothing can be done about this volume of spending, and there is a large, articulate group which maintains that government is not spending enough. There is no justification for increasing total spending, and the only significant argument for insisting that the total can not be reduced is that the public is demanding all the services and present activities of government.

We all know that the public is demanding nothing of the kind. Many of the services and activities of government are the result of pressure groups and they can be cut back anytime the public decides that we have gone too far in turning responsibility and functions over to government.

This is one of the reasons why it is so encouraging to have the Economic Report place such emphasis upon "shared responsibility." The drawback is that the budget and proposed program do not follow through on "shared responsibility." Almost every major item in the federal budget shows 1961 spending higher than 1960, and the aggregate increase is $1.4 billion. And President Eisenhower in his letter of transmittal says: "We are confident that our changing and increasing needs in the future can be met."

There is no doubt that we can meet any needs that are necessary, but we can not go ahead increasing the total of government spending in this nation without its having an effect upon other parts of the economy. This effect is likely to be unfavorable.

Modern Pyramid

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Who Are Intelligentsia?

Copyright, 1960 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It is a free country and everybody can make his own definitions. In fact, many make their own rules and manage to avoid either jail or censure. How long it is possible to remain both free and confused is the question of the times. The CIA apparently believes that we have until 1964 when we shall be overtaken by the Russians. The San Francisco Beatniks, however, think that the end has already come, for some of their number have been deprived of the freedom of pushing narcotics. Otto Preminger, the movie man, sees no end to freedom, for he is able to hire Fifth Amendment Communists to do pictures for him without reprisals.

Thus it is all in the point of view. Larry Farsace of Rochester, New York, has a private definition for an intellectual which is: "... anybody who thinks, reflects and weighs his facts carefully would be a candidate for the term intellectual."

Sam Rosoff, the subway builder, who never went to school, would have made a remarkable intellectual, according to this definition. Frank Costello certainly thought, weighed his facts carefully and most of his life managed to keep out of jail thereby; until finally his errors caught up with him. However, neither Sam nor Frank would have regarded himself as an intellectual. I wonder if either of them knew who Aristotle or Michelangelo was.

Farsace says, "... Basically anybody who thinks is an intellectual, not any set class or division."

Who does not think? Thinking is more an involuntary than a voluntary process. The housewife who looks about her kitchen to make up her shopping list has to do some very high grade thinking. She has to organize her time, note her financial resources, balance her books, plan meals, take inventory of her requirements, and take advantage of any opportunity to save money. She is a dietitian, small banker, hotel manager all wrapped in one.

Nobody would regard that as an especial intellectual activity, although it involves considerable thinking. In fact, probably the most difficult thought process of an entire lifetime is in the first grade of the primary school when a child has to learn to sit, what seems to be forever, on a hard seat and learn his letters. It is the beginning of real tough discipline. What the child learns then must stay with him forever. And the child has to learn how to think hard, right there, at that early point of his life.

The term, intellectual, is for an adult. It is more European than American, although it is coming into vogue here. In Europe, it was used in the 19th century to distinguish those who were educated from the peasantry. It is a term that originated in the medieval world when few could read or write and the clergy were a class apart because they could read. That was the test for a special class. The written word, throughout the European and Asiatic world, was regarded as sacred and a man who could both read and write stood out as an important. In all countries, calligraphy was a great art and those who possessed the art were noted.

The French Revolution overthrew the special quality of the intellectual; the Russian Revolution restored it. Out of the French Revolution emerged the concept that one man is as good as another; out of the Russian Revolution has come the concept that the specialist is more valuable to the State.

This is no small matter, for what the Russians have thus far proved is that the mind can be made to work on intricate scientific matters without too much concern about the blood line. In fact, the Russians have created an aristocracy of intellect and have kept the peasants in their place. They reject equality altogether as unscientific, which it is. Our civilization tries, with increasing difficulty, to continue the doctrine of equality, which we call democracy. This is not proving to be a workable doctrine in the year 1960. Obviously, a member of Congress who cannot read a page of physics cannot intelligently vote on a military budget. He may sit with his mouth open in wonderment but he cannot think about the subject.

It is getting to be a tough world because there is too much to know and understand and the Farsaces of this country understand so little.

Other Editors Saying Progress In The East

(Goldboro News-Argus)

Eastern North Carolina's self examination following Governor Hodges' hot words about sectional sluggishness and conservatism has been wonderful. We as a people have seen ourselves as others see us more distinctly than ever before.

Most of us agree that there was basis for the Governor's charge. Let us not, however, overlook the strides forward made in recent years.

Goldboro has in its fourth year a Committee of 100 charged with expanding and bringing in industry.

Selma and Smithfield through cooperative development corporations have attracted a half dozen industries ranging from clothing to electronics. Clinton through its own efforts has brought in a mental precision industry from Detroit. Little Garland, little Warsaw, small Turkey, tiny Middlesex, Spring Hope, Zebulon, Grifton and a score of others have erected air-conditioned buildings which house thriving garment plants.

Wilmington has started the comeback trail with its own industry expansion program. New Bern, once harnessed to a snail's pace, is coming alive with new plants and tourism, the latter based on interest in "Tryon's Palace." The big paper mill for Craven, long projected, will come to pass yet.

Kinston's rayon plant is adding workers almost daily and running at high capacity on three shifts. Workers drive in from 50 miles around.

Tarboro, organizing a celebration of its 200th birthday as a town, is more interested in two new industrial plants coming into town. Tarboro capital arranged for financing the million dollars required for a plastics plant and a synthetic textile plant. Tarboro citizens and the town underwrite an industrial development program.

Rocky Mount can point with pride to progress. Wilson's huge Swift meat packing plant makes markets and aids livestock expansion throughout the area. Grain storage facilities at Goldboro, Washington, Greenville, Kinston, Princeton, Selma and elsewhere are building a foundation for a new day in grain and livestock production. Morehead City will have a grain storage operation for its port. Wilmington and Morehead are getting a big slice of tobacco handling and exports which once went entirely to Norfolk.

The capital city of Raleigh is building an industrial community of importance.

All this is true. But we in Eastern North Carolina have near 200,000 people who have no regular jobs. They are people easily trained, people whose record of production per man when given a chance top the national average. We must work more cooperatively and determinedly that the progress seen on every hand shall continue.

Tips, Guesses On The Future

ELMER ROESSNER

Here are more peeks into the future, with the glass ground by analysis of developing trends and advance tips:

Modified credit promotions. Some of the hoopla will melt from easy-credit advertising. Credit granters will not want to build a case for the Credit Labeling Bill, S-2755, which would compel credit granters to be explicit about charges for credit, which are higher than many customers know.

Brake on woolen imports. Wool fabrics are pouring in from Britain and other countries in such volume that American weavers are about to ask for tariff restrictions. The United States and British Governments are talking about a new import system, but American importers, probably to beat any limitations, are bringing in wool as fast as possible. MORE DOWNTOWN

Slower branch expansion is likely among department stores. Branches will burgeon through 1960, of course, but a larger share of department store capital will be used to expand downtown facilities, and less will be spent for new branches. This prediction is based on data gathered by the National Retail Merchants Association.

Boom in fuel meters. Exposures in New York showing that fuel oil dealers have been pumping air along with oil into homeowners' tanks is preparing the way for promotions of tank meters. There are many on the market and by next fall manufacturers will be advertising them as musts for fuel-heated homeowners.

Cheaper fuel oil. Don't confuse this with any embarrassment by fuel oil dealers over the expense of cheating; this, instead, will come from the fact that stocks are high, winter has been mild, and warmer days are ahead. NO NICKEL SCARE

Stable nickel prices. Despite the rise in remand and the possible structure on supplies from Cuba, nickel will be in adequate supply this year, according to trade sources. Prices will remain fairly constant.

Inventory buildups will continue. Despite the fact that steel production is leveling off with demand and most other materials are relatively easy, most manufacturers are steadily increasing stocks and will continue to do so into midsummer. The reason is the steel-bound certainty of general wage increases and that almost anything obtainable at current prices will be a bargain in September.

Costlier meat. But it won't happen until the last half of this year. Beef and pork is abundant at present—so much so that grovers have cut back production. This will begin to be

Cutting Private Wealth

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — I thought that a previous column of mine had covered all the facts gathered on my trip to Moscow, but here are a few more things worthy of thought.

AMERICA'S GOD

My recent release on "Khrushchev and Christianity" has caused readers to ask me just what Mr. K thinks is America's "God." I must reply: "The Automobile." Although the first automobile was built only during my lifetime, yet America today has more money invested in autos than in all the churches, hospitals, schoolhouses, and homes of mercy built since Columbus discovered America in 1492.

It has been said that 90 per cent of the women of America spend more on lipstick than they contribute to their church. Furthermore, I am told by cosmetics experts that lipsticks are but one of the offshoots of the automobile. Ever John D. Rockefeller, Sr. told me personally that automobile built the magnificent Rockefeller fortune; that when he was in his prime, he considered selling only kerosene.

AMERICA'S MISSIONARIES

When I was a boy, my mother was much interested in foreign missions. I even helped pack barrels of old clothes for the missionaries, who were then our real ambassadors. Now the ladies of most churches get together once a month to talk foreign missions—and collect perhaps $300 for the cause; yet the value of their automobiles and furs represent $500,000! The whole setup seems cockeyed to Mr. K.

Our real missionaries today are the heads of the U.S. Embassies all over the world (let me say that all were very helpful to me during my recent trip to Berlin, Warsaw, and Moscow.) But most of them were selected for their very top positions because they contributed large sums of money to the political party which won the last national election—whether or not they can speak the language of the country to which they are assigned. Mr. K feels this is most inefficient.

HOW KHRUSHCHEV SELECTS TEACHERS

When Mr. K wants teachers, he pays what is necessary to get the very best. I have been told that top professors get about $40,000 per year in terms of dollars—and prestige. They are the leading men in every large Russian city. They live in the best suburbs, have the best tables at restaurants and private boxes at the opera. Their children are looked up to as are those of our richest families. Yet some of our universities pay more for a football coach than for the head of the Physics Department.

While in Moscow getting facts on education, I was asked what is meant by our term "egg-heads." When I tried to explain that this is what our scientists and other men of learning are called, I was not believed. I was then asked if it is true that any American manufacturer will get a better reception at Congressional hearings than University Presidents; and if we allow an average of 30 students to a classroom while Mr. K insists that 17 must be the maximum.

CAN DEMOCRACY COMPETE

I believe democracy is the ultimate form of government. History shows that no dictatorship has very long existed. But I am far from certain whether our present form of democracy can survive. There will inevitably be more rapid changes due to the constant leveling down of those who now have property and the building up of those who have not. The masses are on the move and will continue to be. However, the desires of our people must change from glorification of wealth and so-called "success" to love for unselfish service and trained efficiency.

Mr. K's apparent objective is to eliminate private property, but he is not alone. Six means to this end are now being employed in six different countries: (1) By confiscation in Russia; (2) by nationalization in England; (3) by taxation in East Germany; (4) by public executions in China; (5) by unwarranted price and wage legislation in Cuba; and (6) by labor-union demands and inflation as in the U.S.

Meanwhile, let us expend more time and more money developing our children's character, health, education, and other fundamentals which cannot be wiped out by another World War.

felt in the latter part of the year and prices will stiffen considerably. Tell your wife to fill your freezer on price dips. OLD PROMOTER CHIDES LIPSTICK REGULATIONS

"I'm impartial," the Old Promoters said, "I never use lipstick."

We didn't get it, but we said, "Uh-huh," just as if we did. "The government has issued an order prohibiting the use of fourteen coloring materials in lipsticks," the old, leather-lipped one said. "It has postponed the effective date of this order for the fourth time, the last one until after hearings February 17."

"I think the government ought to pull itself together," immediately. But if the government doesn't think they will kill anybody between now and February 17, it ought to forget about it."

Oh, well governments work like that. So do Old Promoters.

Second Half Rally Carries ECC To Big 74-31 Victory

Bucs Solve Slow Down Tactics For Easy Win

Victory number 13 came easy for East Carolina Saturday night as the Bucs shattered Pfeiffer's slow-down tactics in the second half for a one-sided 74-31 victory over the visitors in a non-conference game.

The Riddick increased his mounting scoring average as he logged 31 points against the hapless Panthers. His scoring feat equaled the total output of Pfeiffer.

Don Smith and Cotton Clayton also broke into double figures. Smith netted 11 points and Clayton had 10.

Although playing erratic ball, Pfeiffer had Coach Earl Smith and his cagers walking the tight-rope in the first half. At intermission, East Carolina held a 22-15 lead but center Benny Bowes was charged with three fouls and three other ECC starters had two.

East Carolina's defense proved to be skin-tight in the second half as the Bucs made several pass interceptions to set up easy two-pointers and break the game wide open.

Five field goals by Riddick and three by Don Smith pushed the Bucs out front 37-15. Nine minutes had elapsed in the final half before Pfeiffer scored its first bucket.

East Carolina had registered 65 points before the Panthers were able to hit in the twenties. Four field goals and three free tosses against Pirate reserves helped Pfeiffer record a respectable score in the final minutes of action.

The victory was the fifth straight for East Carolina and its eighth in the last nine games. With an 8-1 conference record, ECC is now 13-6 for the season.

The first half saw East Carolina out front all the way after Riddick had erased a 1-0 Pfeiffer lead with a jump shot. The Pirates did have their trouble finding the key to Pfeiffer's slow-down tactics and four ECC starters were in danger of fouling out by intermission. Bowes had three fouls and Riddick, Clayton and Smith were credited with two each.

Coleman Will Stick With His Steeplechase

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer BOSTON (AP) — Phil Coleman won't stray from his Olympic steeplechase ambition no matter how fast he runs a mile.
"The personable 28-year-old English instructor wowed a full house Saturday night with a Boston AA games and Boston Garden record-tying 4:03.8 mile.
Coleman's own fastest mile was the more remarkable because the previous night at the University of Michigan in a dual meet he ran the mile in 4:18 and the half mile in 1:54.2.
"I said I was too slow for the mile when I did 4:07.0 here three weeks ago and I'll say it again," Coleman explained. "On any given day there are three milers in this country who sprint so well they'd leave me far behind. I don't mean a specific three. There are 10 around who can leave me in the dust."
"I am working for the Olympic steeplechase and will continue to run the mile until I feel it will harm my program," continued Coleman. The father of two is teaching freshman composition at the University of Illinois while studying for his doctor's degree.
Among the other Olympic hopefuls is 18-year-old John Thomas of Boston University tied his world indoor high jump mark of 7 feet, 1 1/2 inches and Bob Backus bettered the recognized 35-pound weight record with a toss of 67 feet, 1 inch.
On his third try at 7 feet, 2 1/2 inches, Thomas cleared the bar with his body but the lumber shuddered and fell amid the groans of 13,465 fans.
"I'm disappointed but not discouraged," Thomas said. "I didn't hit the bar with my trailing leg on the last jump or I would have felt it."
Other winners: Bob Brown of Penn State, 50-yard dash (5.3—second meet record); Lee Calhoun of Durham, N.C., 45-yard hurdles (5.0); George Kerr of Illinois, 600 yd (1:11.8); Tom Murphy, New York AC, 1,000 (2:09.8); Lt. Max rux, U.S. Air Force, 3-mile (13:56); Don Bragg, pole vault (15-1).

Wilt The Stilt Can Eclipse Scoring Record

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, the gangling freshman producing points at a record clip for the Philadelphia Warriors, can eclipse the National Basketball Assn. single-season scoring record Tuesday night.
The fabulous 7-foot-11 Stilt, who graduated to the pro ranks after earning All-America honors at Kansas University and then toured with the Harlem Globetrotters, needs only 13 points—25 under his average—to surpass Bob Pettit's record of 2,105.
Chamberlain has 2,093 points in 55 games going into Tuesday's encounter with the Detroit Pistons. Pettit, the frontline ace of the Western Division's leading St. Louis Hawks, established the standard last season over the full 72-game schedule while averaging a record 29.2 points a game.
The Stilt, who will finish the season with about 2,700 points if he continues at his record pace, was unable to lead the Warriors to a victory Sunday despite scoring 38 points.
Paced by Pettit, who matched Chamberlain's output, the Hawks scored 21 points in the first 4 1/2 minutes and wound up with a 130-108 thumping of Philadelphia.
In other games, New York upended Eastern Division leader Boston 142-135 behind the sharp-shooting of Kenny Sears and Richie Guerin; Syracuse made it 13 losses in succession for Cincinnati by defeating the Royals 135-122 and Minneapolis snapped a six-game losing streak by nipping Detroit 104-102.

ATHLETIC COMMUNITY

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (AP)—This northern Minnesota town of 6,500 often ranked among the winter "iceboxes" of the country, also is an incubator for top ranking athletes.
The community boasts 20 former high school hockey players now in the college, amateur or semi-pro ranks.
To big time football it has given an entire team — nine players on college squads last season and two with the professionals.

WON ON FOULS
MOTLEY, Minn. (AP)—Motley high scored only 16 field goals, but still beat Menasha 76-69 in a basketball game. Motley made 44 out of 59 free throws. Six Menasha players fouled out.

Tar Heels Face Clemson Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina puts its 5-0 Atlantic Coast Conference record on the line tonight in a game with upset-minded Clemson. It's the first of three ACC clashes this week for the Tar Heels.
North Carolina, with a 10-3 record for all games and ranked 17th in the nation, is favored, of course.

Rostek, Gardner Lead Race Field

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—John E. Rostek of Fort Collins, Colo., and Arnold Gardner of Batavia, Ill., did better than 143 miles an hour in qualifying for berths in Friday's 100-mile stock car races on the Daytona International Speedway.
The races will determine starting positions for the 500-mile NASCAR sweepstakes Sunday.
Rostek drove a 1960 Ford at a two-lap average speed of 143.666 miles an hour. Gardner's speed, also in a 1960 Ford, was 143.004.
These speeds were several miles under the American stock car record of 151.556 m.p.h. set Saturday by Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach in a 1960 Pontiac.
Others qualifying Sunday were: Elmo Langley, Wheaton, Md., 1959 Buick, 142.450; Herbie Tillman, Miami, Fla., 1960 Chevrolet, 140.701; Darrell Cole, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 1960 Chevrolet, 140.339; Junior Johnson, Ronda, N.C., 1959 Chevrolet, 140.307; Homer (Burrhead) Nantz, Mooresville, N.C., 1959 Oldsmobile, 134.740; Joe Kaspolich, Guilford, Miss., 1959 Thunderbird, 134.458; Shep Langston, Benson, N.C., 1960 Ford, 134.198.

Unbeaten Welterweights Meet Wednesday Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two unbeaten young welterweights meet Wednesday at Miami Beach, Fla., when Luis Rodriguez, the No. 1 contender from Cuba, takes on Carl Hubbard of Philadelphia.
Rodriguez, 22, has been moving steadily toward a championship match with Don Jordan, passing every test. Before he came to this country he beat Benny (Kid) Faret twice. On the TV circuit he has whipped Virgil Akins, Rudell Stitch, Isaac Logart and Sugar Hart.
The match with the red hot Cuban figures to be a high hurdle for Hubbard, 23, who just moved up to the TV league in January when he stopped Stefan Redl. However Hubbard has a 19-0-2 record for 21 scraps and is supposed to have a big bang in his left hand when he really won.
The fight will be carried on ABC television.
Off the TV beam at the Boston Garden, Ton DeMarco was making a comeback against Denny Moyer of Portland, Ore. DeMarco, former world welter champion, has been out of action since last April. Before that he took two brutal beatings from Virgil Akins. DeMarco is supposed to be getting a $10,000 guarantee.

Kennedy Seeking California Terms

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Spokesmen for Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) approached California party officials at the Western Democratic Conference and proposed terms under which Kennedy would stay out of the California presidential primary.

The Massachusetts senator's campaign aide, it was learned, expressed doubt he would enter the winner-take-all contest for the state's 81 convention votes against Gov. Edmund G. Brown's favorite-son candidacy.

But the Californians were informed, the Kennedy people would like definite assurances from Brown that he would release his delegates after the first ballot in Los Angeles. Brown has disavowed serious presidential ambitions.

Roger Kent, California Democratic state vice chairman, and Elizabeth Smith, national committeewoman, were asked to take the message back to Brown. They did not commit themselves.

One Kennedy staff member voiced concern Brown might hold the delegation until it was too late to help the senator's bid for the presidential nomination.

Kennedy said after his speech here Sunday that he would make a decision on whether he will enter the June 7 California primary within the next month. He noted the filing deadline for the California primary is May 8, two days after the Wisconsin primary in which he is opposed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

"I should know more then," Kennedy said.

The California situation takes on increased importance in view of the evident support for Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas in the Southwest and some Western states.

Texas partisans here credited Johnson with more than 200 of the 271 Western votes at the national convention on top of the 400 they count in the South.

Kennedy forces termed the Western claim excessive.

The conference provided a showcase for Kennedy, Humphrey, both declared candidates, and Johnson, who said he is not seeking the nomination.

It also served to widen the breach between the National Chairman Paul Butler and the Johnson faction. In a statement taken by some as directed against the Senate majority leader, Butler in a speech Saturday night called for election of a liberal Democratic candidate.

Light In Sky Is Believed Meteor

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Most experts believe a light that flashed across western skies early Sunday was a meteor. Hundreds saw it, most of them up in Utah, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming.

A amateur astronomer Floyd Rickores, Hollywood, Calif., said he tracked a red ball in the sky for nearly five minutes, after a "bright flash lighted the room."

He said the ball was brighter than anything else in the sky and he guessed it was several thousand miles up.

"It seemed to stay stationary between two stars for three or four minutes," he said, "then took off with fantastic speed and disappeared."

Richard Below, piloting a Western Airlines plane 11,000 feet over southeast Montana, said the light was "fantastically bright. It lit up everything in the cockpit and the cabin and the entire sky outside."

Still Worth Her Weight In Gold

SYLVANIA, Ark. (AP)—Blind and bed-ridden since 1946, Mrs. A. T. Hayley is "still worth her weight in gold" to her husband after 72 years of marriage.

Hayley, 92, will spend their anniversary today caring for her as he has since she was stricken 14 years ago. She is 88.

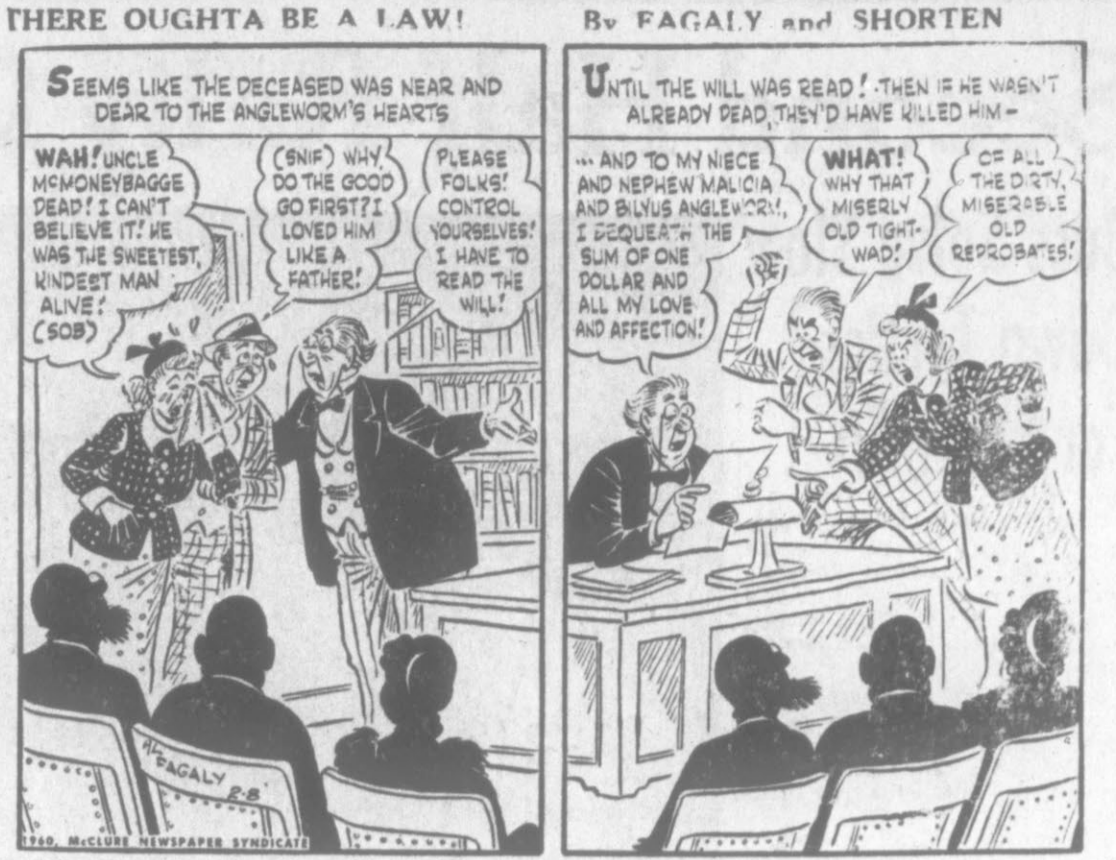

They wed in 1888 when she was 16 and he 20. They lived in a log cabin until 1910 when they moved to this tiny central Arkansas community.

Ten of their 13 children are living. There are 22 grand-children and 31 great-grandchildren. One son and his wife help the aged couple with their household chores.

OUT OF RED INK

BALTIMORE (AP)—You'd never believe it of the Post Office Department.

Postal officials here, when they wanted to put schedules on some new air mail collection boxes, found they had no red ink and had to buy some.

Wants Largest Fallout Shelter

BALTIMORE (AP)—A local Civil Defense official want to build the nation's largest nuclear fallout shelter in the basement of Baltimore's new Civic Center.

The Baltimore Civil Defense organization plans to seek federal funds to help build a shelter which would hold 3,000 persons. The proposal could call for as much as $250,000 in federal aid.

The plan has received enthusiastic support from the Civic Center Commission and will be submitted to the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization next week. Construction of the Civic Center is expected to start next summer.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

8,300 amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guaranteed.

CHAPTER 15

As if he had guessed Walt Holinger's thoughts, Rusty McGowan said, "You been noticing anything wrong with Johnny Hume lately?"

Walt nodded. "Mom says it's girl trouble making him so jumpy, but it's funny the way he sticks home every time there's a dance or a party."

"He was out tonight," Rusty said quietly. "Shot leg and all. He just got home a few minutes ahead of me."

Three Students Die In Texas Snowstorm

SILVERTON, Tex. (AP) — The bodies of three Texas Tech students, missing four days, were found in rugged country near here Sunday by a search party. The trio last Wednesday told friends at the Lubbock, Tex., college, 80 miles southwest of here, that they planned a field trip into the canyons along the Cap Rock escarpment of northwest Texas. They said they would collect wildlife specimens and return that night. But a snowstorm swept the area Wednesday night and continued into Thursday. The snow quickly melted. All three of the youths died of exposure, but County Judge J. W. Lyons, acting as coroner, said John P. Arden, 21, of Waxahachie, Tex., suffered a fractured skull in a fall from a cliff before dying. The other students were Kelton R. Conner Jr., 21, of Dallas, and Robert A. Keplinger, 21, of Waxahachie. Conner was a student of Texas wildlife who made frequent expeditions into the Cap Rock country to collect zoology and biology exhibits. Keplinger and Arden were engineering students. A rancher found their locked car Saturday, 18 miles north of here on the edge of the Cap Rock, a long bluff, 100 to 1,000 feet high which divides the plains country of the Texas Panhandle. A search party that went into the area Saturday found the youths had spent a night in a cave-like shelter about a mile and a half from the car. The searchers used horses, jeeps and a helicopter Sunday and picked up the students' trail leading into the canyon. Five miles from the campsite, they found the bodies. Keplinger's body was found in a crouching position in a hole several feet deep. A handkerchief was clutched in a hand. A mile and a half away, searchers found Conner's body, face down, the arms outstretched, clutching his glasses and a glove. Arden's body was 125 yards from Conner's. He apparently had tumbled down a 25-foot cliff into a ravine.

Unknown Poison Is Fatal For Husband

BRYSON CITY, N.C. (AP) — A young mother was reported out of danger here today from effects of an unknown poison which apparently led to the death of her husband. Mrs. Patricia Cummings, 27, ran two miles for help after her husband, Edward Chandler Cummings, 28, collapsed and died in their mountain cottage near here Friday night. Mrs. Cummings became violently ill after reaching help and with critical list until last night. She had not been told her husband was dead. Jackson County Coroner Dr. P. E. Dewees said some unknown poison apparently became mixed with the family food. He ruled death was caused by "asphyxiation from aspirated vomitus during convulsions." He said he will call an inquest after he has interviewed Mrs. Cummings and has had further studies done on specimens. The Cummings' two daughters, Julie, 2, and Suzanna, 8 months, apparently were not affected. Cummings, a Phi Beta Kappa at Harvard where he was graduated magna cum laude, moved into the cottage near Whittier in Jackson County last September. He was working on a novel and then planned to study for his doctorate. He had been a teacher in the French Department at Converse College, Spartanburg, S.C., and had studied in Paris under Fulbright and Rotary International fellowships. His wife, a graduate of Radcliffe College, also was a Phi Beta Kappa. Cummings' body was sent to Davidson, N.C., Sunday where his father is an English professor.

Cancelled Checks Include A Plank

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — When the bank mails Allen H. Christensen this month's cancelled checks, the outsize parcel may be enough to give the postman a pain in the lumbar region. One of the checks is a pine plank 5 by 12 inches, complete with knothole. Christensen made it out to his brother, Robert, for $4.57 when he couldn't find his checkbook. Zion's First National Bank accepted the wooden check without demur. Not a guffaw splintered the silence when it was presented. No wag said it went against the grain to cash it. "The check is perfectly legal and was drawn from a regular checking account," said Ames K. Bagley, the bank's vice president. About 6,000 miles of navigable waterways (canals and rivers) are in France

Greenville Moose Lodge 885 enrolled thirty-five new members Sunday morning in a special ceremonial held to honor visiting Louis K. Thaler, Supreme Governor of the Loyal Order of Moose. Additionally, other area lodges brought candidates for formal enrollment into the order. The Ithaca, N. Y., attorney who heads all of Moosedom, concluded his tour of North Carolina with yesterday's visit. A number of North Carolina Moose officials were present, as well as representatives from twenty-one lodges other than Greenville. Eleven North Carolina Moose lodges brought candidates to be included in the enrollment ceremonial. Breakfast was served to 265 persons in attendance. The Wilson lodge drill team assisted in the program. Thayer addressed newly-enrolled members of the fraternal order on work of the Moose to "make this a better place to live". He emphasized the work of the order in creating and maintaining the child city of Mooseheart and the home for the aged at Moosehaven. Beyond this, he said "we feel our greatest work is in communities where our lodges exist". Thayer pointed to the Moose as a true example of the family fraternity and urged his listeners to more fully share in its work and activities. Greenville enrollees included: Thomas N. Adams, Charles E. Bailey, Thompson D. Litchfield, G. D. Hathaway, Willie S. Edwards, Richard E. Laughinghouse, William S. Goodson, J. B. Davis, T. M. Tucker. Gordon L. Temple, Thomas McMillan, Royal A. Lynch, C. M. Jones, Lyman S. Smith, Harry J. Jarvis, McDonald Edwards, Larry G. Purser, Bobby R. Blinson, Melvin Hudson, Henry Howard, Roy M. James, James S. Wells, R. H. Lloyd, E. G. Carraway, Jerry B. Nichols. Banks Cozart, Eugene Hudson, C. E. Hart, L. C. Payne, Walter C. Whitley, John Zuk, Jack D. Gray, Joel W. Wingate, James E. Marsden, John P. Hudson and Donald Petterson. Among the North Carolina Moose officials who attended, were the Deputy Supreme Governor of N. C. Cecil Webster, District Presidents Frank Sawyer, Marvin Fordham, Earl Holt, A. A. Carrigan and John Groff, Jr.; and Charles Smith, of Hickory, President of the N. C. Moose Association. Lodges who brought candidates for enrollment at the Greenville ceremonial, were: Dunn, Raleigh, Wilson, Tarboro, Rocky Mount, Roanoke Rapids, Washington, Goldsboro, Kinston, Jacksonville and Morehead City. Other lodges who were represented here, were: those of Hickory, Burlington, Rockingham, Smithfield, Williamston, Plymouth, Wallace, New Bern, Havelock and Wilmington.

Sec. Flemming Stresses Preserving Of Freedoms

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, says Americans will "make the maximum contribution to the preservation of freedom only if we are truly thankful for it." Dr. Flemming, who spoke here Saturday at the inauguration of Dr. Wendell M. Patton as president of High Point College, said "such thankfulness constitutes a willingness to make sacrifices." "We turn the spotlight — and rightfully so — on the public official who proves to be faithless to a public trust. We should also turn a merciless spotlight on the well-qualified person who refused to serve in the office in question and thus provided the faithless public servant with an opportunity to serve his own selfish interests." Dr. Flemming declared. He added, "The standards that prevail within our political parties will determine to a very considerable degree the standards that prevail within government." Dr. Patton, 37, the fourth president of High Point since the school was founded in 1924, said, "In the midst of its conformity, fragmentation of learning, proliferation of courses and maintenance of ludicrously ineffectual timetables, we blithely accept of beautiful opportunities, curriculum enrichment and social adjustments, as if all other problems were solved. "We have as yet been unable to face up to the fact that all of us are not born intellectually equal. This has forced us continually to lower our standards over the years so that all can acquire a college education."

Crosby Clan Is At The Wedding

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Most of the Crosby clan turned out to watch young Lindsay marry Las Vegas showgirl Barbara Fredericks. Attending the Catholic Church ceremony Saturday in Westwood were father Bing, his wife, actress Kathryn Grant; his mother, and Lindsay's three older brothers. Brother Philip was best man. The other two brothers, Dennis and Gary, were ushers. Television actress Mina Vaughan was maid of honor. Lindsay was the third of Bing's four grown sons to take a bride. Only the eldest, Gary, remains single. The newlyweds, both 22, were to honeymoon briefly in Palm Desert, Calif.

LOOK AT THE LOWER PRICES

List prices as much as $76.05 lower on popular models with popular equipment

The '60 Chevrolet models most people buy, equipped the way most people want them, are actually priced lower than last year's models. This two-tone Bel Air V8 sedan, for example—with TurboIdle, push-button radio and de luxe heater—lists for a whole $76.05 less! Prices are lower for all comparable V8 models throughout the line. Also for all comparable 6-cylinder models with Powerglide. Yet Chevy's loaded with more of the things that put pleasure into owning a car. (Just look at the list!) It's the greatest year yet to get into a Chevy!

Big brakes for quicker, surer stops. Rivetless bonded linings mean they last longer, too.

More room to relax in. Chevy sedans offer roomier seating than any car in their class. Lower, narrower transmission tunnel means more foot room.

Only full wraparound windshield among the leading low-priced cars.

Electric windshield wipers keep sweeping even when you speed up to pass.

Vent windows crank open and closed. So much simpler than fighting those tricky little catches.

Keyless locking of all doors. Quick and easy. The same key opens door, glovebox, trunk and starts the car.

Economy Turbo-Fire V8. Or how to get up to 10% more miles per gallon of regular and still have lots of "get".

Thriftest 6 in any full-size car. It's the '60 version of the fine Chevrolet 22.38 miles per gallon in the 1959 Mobilgas Economy Run.

Widest choice of power transmission. 28 engine-transmission teams—all with output up to 335 h.p.

A trunk that's made for long trips with up to 22.5% more actual luggage space. Sill's lower for easier loading.

Fisher Body craftsmanship. Look at the finish, the detail work. You'll see the difference.

Drive it—It's fun-tastic! See your local authorized Chevrolet dealer for fast delivery, favorable deals.
