

Winter Storm Battering Northeast; Highways Are Clogged By Snow Drifts

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Highway crews and state police in New York and Pennsylvania plucked stranded motorists from towering drifts today and worked to open highways clogged by a winter storm that battered the Northeast.

Northeast this week, felled power and telephone lines, collapsed roofs, crippled small vessels off the New England coast and snarled public transportation.

Residents of the village of 3,500 took in 60 persons, including 23 teen-agers whose school bus bogged down.

Meeting Of Blood Goals Stressed

Dr. Howard H. Gradis, Blood Program Chairman for Pitt County, yesterday urged organizations to make every effort to provide their respective numbers of donors for the two-day visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Outside, the first cars began to inch along, bumper to bumper, at a 10 m.p.h. pace.

On the Pennsylvania Turnpike 60 m.p.h. winds piled drifts to 13 feet behind weary crews attempting to open clogged areas on the toll road's western end.

Dr. Hollis Edens Plans Retire As Duke President

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Dr. Hollis Edens, president of Duke University, is retiring after heading the Methodist liberal arts school for 11 years.

Satellite Fails

VANDEMBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Despite another failure, the Air Force will resume its Discoverer satellite series—aimed at teaching man how to enter and return from space.

A 78-foot Discoverer X missile veered off course Friday after launching and headed for nearby seacoast cities.

A terrific blast rocked this missile base, then a big orange fireball swelled in the sky.

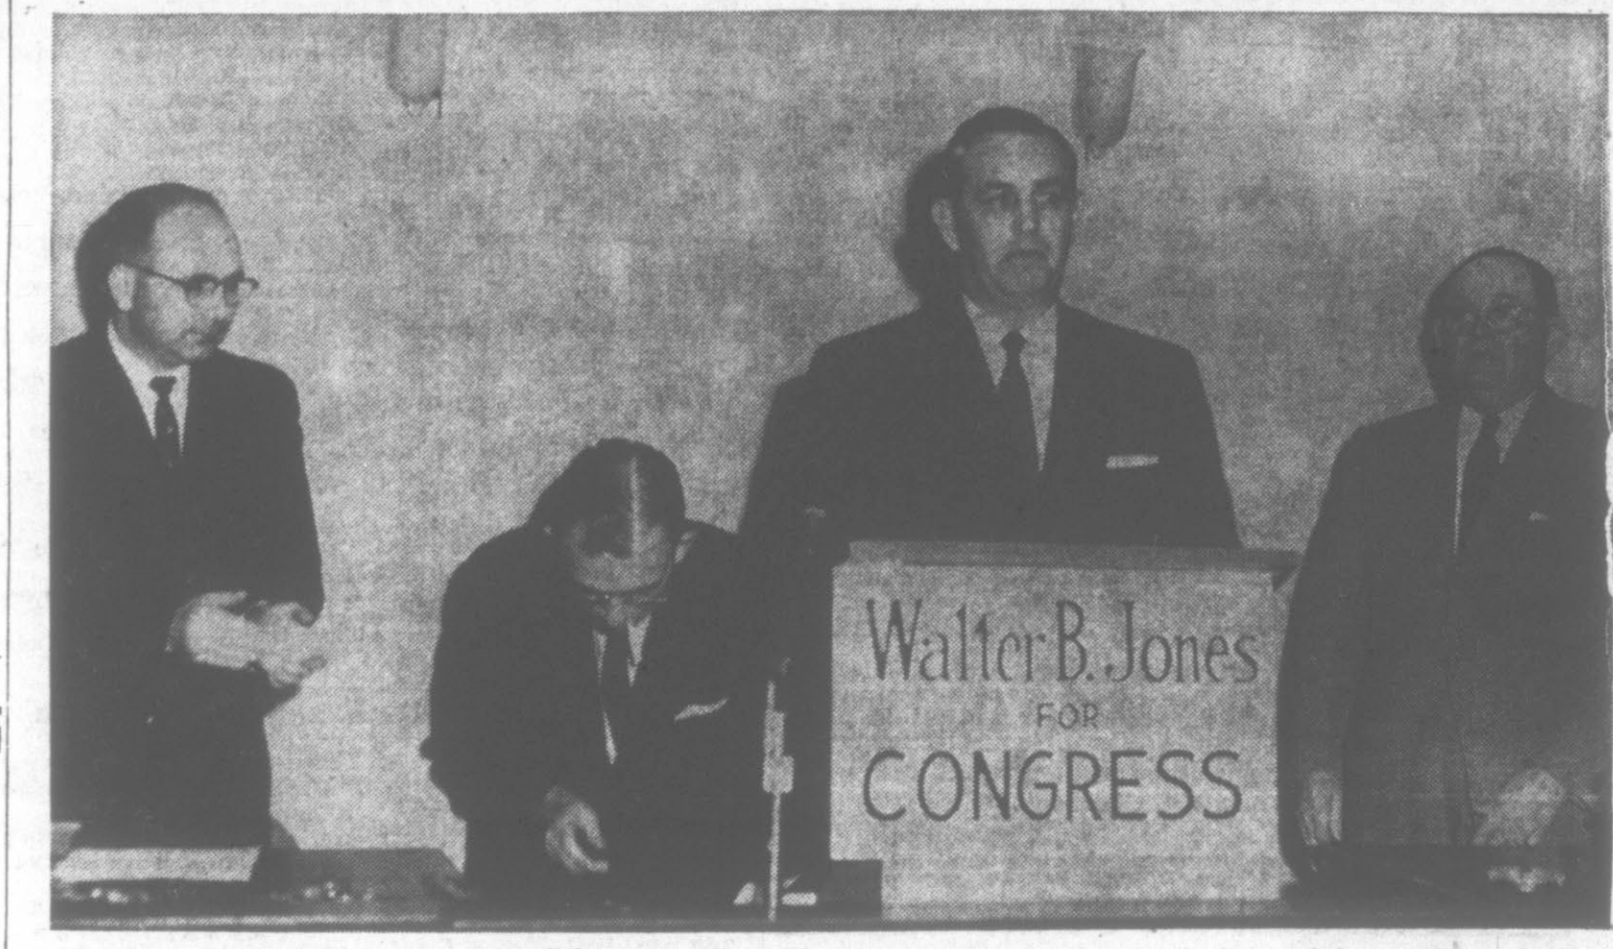

The missile was another failure in the Air Force's attempt to put a satellite into orbit, then recover its space capsule.

Dr. Edens said he will remain at his post until the school can name a successor. He said a screening committee already has been appointed.

Dr. Edens, who will submit his resignation officially March 23 at the next meeting of the trustees, said he has no plans for the future.

It is increasing clear, he wrote the trustees, "that the next 10 years in the life of this university are going to demand vigorous promotion and management on the part of an administrative leader who can be expected to remain at the helm over the entire period of development.

Farmville's Walter Jones Candidate For Congress

AFTER ANNOUNCEMENT . . . new candidate receives friends' congratulations.

FARMVILLE—Pitt County Representative Walter B. Jones announced last night to some 130 local citizens he will enter the race for the First Congressional District's seat against Herbert O. Bonner of Washington, seeking reelection for his eleventh consecutive term.

In a brief prepared announcement, Jones expressed gratitude for local backing and told capacity audience in the Town Hall's court room, "I shall be a candidate for the United States Congress in the May 28th primary."

Jones laid the groundwork for the four-year Nursing School scheduled to begin operation at East Carolina College next fall in the '57 session and secured an appropriation to support the ECO addition last General Assembly.

Just Asking For Trouble If You Leave Keys In The Car

Motorists who leave their cars unlocked and the keys in the vehicle are just asking for the vehicles to be stolen.

According to official Police Department Records, 41 cars were stolen in Greenville last year, with 37 of the cars being recovered.

Fresh Insight Into Mission Problems

By D. L. ROYLE

KADUNA, Nigeria (AP) — Billy Graham has gained a fresh insight into the problems of Christian missionaries in Nigeria's predominantly Moslem northern region.

The globe-trotting evangelist recently held a brief audience with the Saradama of Sokoto, prime minister of the sprawling province with its 18 million Africans.

"I am dedicated to Allah," began the Saradama with a trace of coyness. "I must do what I believe to be right. I will not budge one inch from my beliefs."

"I feel I must be frank, Mr. Graham. Some missionaries engage too much in politics and poke their noses in places which do not concern them."

The meeting ended five minutes later with the Saradama bidding Graham and his party a polite goodbye — and refusing to be photographed with them.

About 90 per cent of the people of the Northern Region profess Islam. But religion in Nigeria is more complex than mere profession.

Often it is impossible to distinguish between pagan and Moslem. Many who profess Islam could be called animists, believing that all objects have souls and practicing taboos, witchcraft and ritual killing.

Many missionaries believe that the tolerances of Islam, like the possession of multiple wives, are responsible for the overwhelming trend toward the Moslem faith.

"The acceptance of Christ and the rigid self-discipline that goes with this acceptance is the major stumbling block," says one missionary. Unshakable faith is the missionaries' only defense.

Virtually every village and compound has its ju ju — idols, omens and spirits.

These pagan customs of centuries are not easily discarded. Missionaries have discovered a smattering of Christian practices among the pagans. Their origins are uncertain, probably left by some wandering missionary of bygone days.

Once a year in the village of Kulama a goat is slaughtered amid ritual ceremonies and its blood plastered over a small round mud hut, a sacred place in the compound.

Missionary Bob Cobb of Oklahoma City, who has preached the gospel in Nigeria for 10 years, says:

"I asked the headman why they performed this ritual. He explained somewhere I hear you make a gift to your god. You gave him lamb, gold and other things. You cook animals and feast. We give our god goat blood, which he likes."

"This kind of answer makes missionary work extremely difficult."

Duke Professor Chosen By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Duke University professor has been nominated by President Eisenhower to membership on the Civil Rights Commission.

He is Robert S. Rankin, chairman of the Political Science Department at Duke. Rankin, 60, would replace former Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia who resigned.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Does the goal you're seeking seem as remote—as unattainable—as this snow-frosted mountain top? Does it seem, sometimes, as if you'll never get there? Are you on the verge of giving up?

Don't! Though your objective may seem light-years beyond your reach, if it's the right thing for you, God will help you to attain it, if you'll let Him. The teachings of His Church will help you find the patience and endurance you need to accept setbacks... and still keep trying.

April Wedding Planned

MISS PATRICIA BRADSHAW . . . is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Luther Bradshaw Sr. of Kinston, who announce her engagement to Walter Reid Perkins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Perkins of 400 Summit St., Greenville. The wedding will take place April 14.

Science Fair Slated March 25

By CRAIG WORTHINGTON The Rose High Science Club met Wednesday morning to lay final plans for this year's local Science Fair. George Mayo, president, presided. Mike Martin gave the program, a discussion entitled "Animal Life," concerning the four types of evolution.

James D. Nicholson, club adviser, announced that the Science Fair has been postponed until Thursday, March 24. The Fair will last through Friday, March 25, in the high school gymnasium. All entries are due March 23.

Three judges from outside the school will choose the first, second, and third winners in each division. The winners will be entered in the District Science Fair at East Carolina College later this spring.

All science students are required to submit a project in one of four divisions: physical science, biology, chemistry, or physics. Nicholson advised each student to enter a project in their present study area.

Clark Speaks To Pupils Mrs. Myrtle Clark, a teacher at Wahl-Coates Laboratory School, spoke to Mrs. Ruth T. Bing's second period business class Tuesday concerning plans that she has made for her forthcoming tour of Europe.

Mrs. Bing's class had already prepared a sample itinerary and had discussed the plans that they would have to make for such a trip, including all business arrangements.

Mrs. Clark, who will lead a group this summer, discussed her itinerary with the group and told of the various arrangements necessary for a trip such as hers. She also mentioned many of the highlights of her planned tour. She then answered questions submitted by the group.

Cheerleaders Sponsor Trip

Rose High's varsity cheerleaders sponsored a bus trip to Roanoke Rapids last night for the last basketball game of this season. The bus left early in order to arrive in time for the junior varsity game.

Jane Reynolds, head cheerleader, stated that approximately 43 students signed up for the trip. The Kinston chapter of the National Forensic League will sponsor a practice session next Tuesday at Granger High School at 7:15. All Rose High NFL members are invited to attend this session. Club To Sponsor Contest The local Optimist Club will sponsor an Oratorical Contest at Rose High School March 7 for boys under 16. Entrants will speak between four and five minutes on "optimism." Three large trophies will be awarded.

Tournament To Start Wednesday The Northeastern Athletic Conference basketball tournament will start next Wednesday night at the East Carolina College gymnasium. The tournament will last through Saturday night.

New Homes Delight Mrs.

CHICAGO (AP)—Home builders are giving the lady what she wants.

More builtins, decorator effects and conveniences are the keynote in homes today.

The recent 16th annual convention of the National Assn. of Home Builders was chuck full of new ideas.

Built-in appliances are designed to lend color enchantment. One firm's built-in electric ranges and oven-broilers features visible parts in stiff turquoise, bermuda pink, aztec copper and buttercup yellow.

There is an increase in the volume of electric heating installations in American homes with both heat pumps and electric resistance units.

George Robinson, of an air-conditioning firm, says that more than 650,000 homes in the United States have electric heating of both types. He said over 30,000 heat pumps were installed last year.

Utility industry officials predict that from 4.7 to 6 million homes will be heated by electricity by 1970.

The new look in interior decor is being enhanced by the new plastic surfaces furnished in dramatic colors and finishes as well as natural wood parquet floors. The wood squares are installed directly on sub concrete flooring.

Plastic tile, a widely used substitute for ceramic tile, now may have a competitor. A sheet type plastic surfacing is furnished in squares for random covering of walls.

The counter-top surfacing now is furnished in decorator colors of white sequin, light aqua sequin and camellia sequin. One pattern just out may give natural wood competition. A royal walnut looks like the real thing.

Beatrice West, color stylist and designer at the convention, says soft color blends in roofing and siding give an overall pastel effect. These will continue to be widely used.

"However, 1960 will definitely see the emergence of a trend of neutral beige, browns and grays in roofing and siding. They will be set off with new uses of turquoise, yellow, coral, rust and copper as accent and trim paint colors," she said.

"Ten years hence," she added, builders and homeowners will think of color as design rather than as decoration."

Western pine is falling into the same color scheme pattern. You can have the variety of bright or pastel shades with the grain showing through to give added decorator effect.

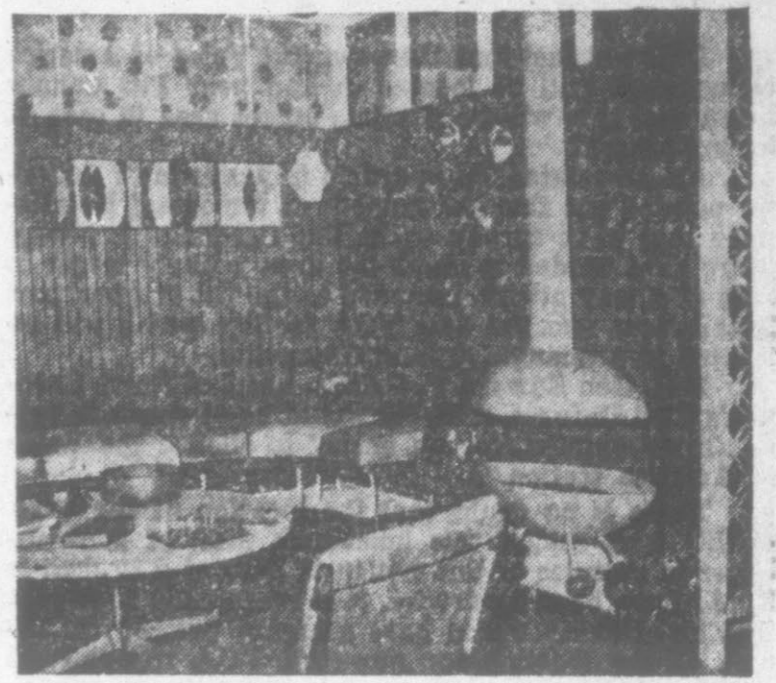

The knotty-pine type of paneling can be used in any room. Some of the colors are apache gold, sawtooth sun, silver bow, shadow Shoshone rogue elk and Yellowstone.

Built-in molded plastic drawers of various sizes and shapes are designed for use in walls, room dividers, closets, bathrooms or anywhere a drawer is needed. Matching panels of wall material can be used to face the units.

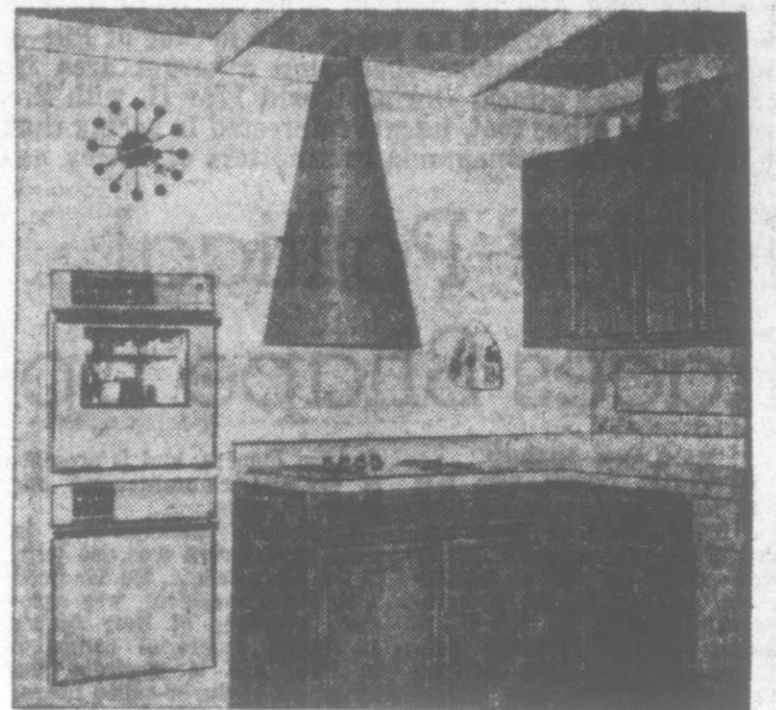

An electronics firm says it has a new stereo-intercom hi-fi unit that is installed in a wall and channels music and conversation to any room in the house. Its wall companion units house the record turntable and storage for records.

Thermopane-glassed double-hung windows now are produced on a mass quantity basis for the first time. Until now the weight of double-pane insulating glass prevented balancing for easy lifting and lowering. One company has developed a new lightweight thermopane.

Another company has devised a wood casement window featuring an automatic locking device that is concealed and operates from a single roto gear crank. The manufacturer says the self lock device prevents damage that occurs in conventional type casements when the home owner for- mounted door that eliminates gets to release the manual lock wood jams or finish trim. The before trying to open the sash. door closes over the opening.

BUILT-IN CONVENIENCE . . . This modern kitchen has counter-top cooking unit, wall over and broiler. The stack over built-in electric range serves as vent for cooking odors. Units available in turquoise, copper, Bermuda pink and yellow.

Wives May Keep House In Space

Wives of modern scientists, engineers and big businessmen may go along. That's the way we've always lived, I made up my mind long ago that I was not going to be a golf widow, a submarine widow, a jet widow or a space widow. A woman who wants to be with her husband these days must be prepared for anything—up to and including a weekend on Mars."

All this is considerably in the future, of course, Mrs. Ets-Hokin admits with a twinkle in her blue eyes.

"But it may not be as far off as you think," she says. "The pace at which big business goes today is something to make your hair stand on end. You'd think when you get to be a grandmother you could look forward to a settled and placid life, wouldn't you?"

"I gave up most of my public work with the Red Cross and other charitable or philanthropic organizations a few years ago, thinking I had earned some rocking-chair time. But now life is more hectic than ever. I'm always out of breath, just trying to keep up with my husband's newest project."

She smiles, sighs and remarks: "I wonder how a rocking chair "And if he goes, I'll certainly would work in space."

Chicod, Rose Homemakers Named

Melva Evonne Keeter of Chicod High School and Mildred Anne Briley of J. H. Rose High School have been named the 1960 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow in their schools.

Each received the highest score in a 50-minute written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating senior girls in her school. Their examination papers will be entered in competition with other high school winners to name the state Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. Each girl will receive an award pin, manufactured by Joensen and representing the slogan, "Home is where the heart is."

The test is prepared and judged by Science Research Associates of Chicago.

Total enrollment in the six-year history of the $110,000 General Mills-sponsored scholarship program has neared the two million mark (1,800,152 girls). This year a record number of 379,018 girls enrolled in 12,597 high schools throughout the 50 states and the District of Columbia. This is an increase of 29,888 girls and 337 schools over last year. Alaska and Hawaii are participating for the first time.

Each state Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an educational trip April 23-29 with her school advisor. The tour will include New York City and Colonial Williamsburg, culminating with the American Table Banquet in Washington, D. C., on April 28, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel where the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be announced. The runner-up in each state will receive a $500 scholarship. The school of each state Homemaker of Tomorrow will be given a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The scholarship of the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000. The second, third and fourth ranking Homemakers of Tomorrow in the nation will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively.

Working College Girls Make America Tick, Says Editor

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP)—Anybody who's worried about the future fate of the nation should take a few days off to get acquainted with America's college girls.

I don't mean just the prom-trotting belles of the Ivy League circuit. I mean the just as glamorous but less bored youngsters of the Midwest and the South, who often have to work their way through college. Not only are there more of them, but they also represent what makes America tick.

The most fun I've had since my own college days was this week on the beautiful old campus of America's oldest state-supported women's college, the Mississippi State College for Women. Here 1,400 girls are learning the arts and sciences they will need to face the complicated future. Many hold down full-time jobs on the side and all are ready to face whatever the next decade may bring.

I had the privilege this week of refereeing a bout between these fast-thinking, completely realistic students and a group of the nation's most famous educators, fathered to settle the fate of women's education for the next century.

Students were invited to submit questions after each of the erudite lectures.

Here are some of the questions: "Should a married couple still go to college practice birth control?"

(The answer was: "Heavens, yes." Yet despite the advice of the assembled college presidents and doctors of philosophy, there seem to be more and more students who are invited to submit questions after each of the erudite lectures.

String Info Wanted

Dr. Earl E. Beach of Greenville, chairman for Strings in the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs, is mailing out questionnaires aimed at determining the exact amount of string activities existing in North Carolina.

The number of string teachers, public and private; of players, and what instruments; ages and school level of players; number of ensembles and orchestras in North Carolina, with number of string players in each are sought. Attempt will be made, too, to find out how many hired players North Carolina has and in what instruments, as well as the number of hired soloists.

March 1 is the date for return of the questionnaires to Dr. Beach at East Carolina College, when count will begin on exact data on elementary, junior high, senior high, private, college orchestra and string ensembles in the state. The North Carolina Federation plans to use the data thus obtained in planning future emphases in its cooperation with the National Federation's Crusade for Strings.

Dr. Beach's evaluation and recommendation will be a matter of business at the State Convention in Greensboro May 4-7.

The 1960 State Auditions will be in Wright Auditorium, ECC, at 9 a.m. February 27. George Perry, state student counselor, is in charge.

Decisions on winners of the Williams Organ-Piano Scholarship and the Perry Piano Scholarship will be made; and a candidate for the Regional Marie Morrissey Keith Scholarship will be chosen.

The North Carolina candidate will send a recording which, along with the other recordings from the 14-state Southeastern Region, will be used by judges in choosing the winner of the $250 Scholarship. State candidates for several college scholarships offered through the National Federation also will be chosen through these auditions.

Mrs. C. B. Jefferson, president of the N. C. Federation of Music Clubs, plans to visit the Greenville chapter February 27.

Today's Menu

SATURDAY NIGHT PARTY Great for two small punch bowls! If you have only one, borrow the other.

Gala Strawberry Punch Pate Baked Ham Salads Sautéed Nuts Relishes Tiny Finger Rolls Fancy Cookies

GALA STRAWBERRY PUNCH Ingredients: 2 bottles (each 4-5 quart) sauter; 1 bottle (1 quart) champagne; 2 packages (each 10 strawberries); 2 ice rings (frozen in 1-pint metal ring molds with 6 maraschino cherries in each). Method: Have sauterne and champagne chilled. About an hour before serving turn frozen strawberries into 2 small punch bowls with sauterne. At serving time, add ice rings; pour half the champagne into each bowl; stir gently. Serve at once. Makes 12 to 16 servings—about 1 cup each, with seconds.

When you are pan-broiling meat be certain that you pour off fat as it accumulates.

Moose Events

Today and tomorrow the North Carolina Moose Association is holding their Mid-Year Meeting at the local lodge.

Beginning at 6:30 this evening a banquet will be held for all the members of Greenville Lodge No. 885 and their escorts. Past Supreme Governor Henry F. Walenwein will speak.

Dance time at the Moose Temple is scheduled for 9 o'clock. Music will be by Jim Crisp and his Orchestra.

Menu for the Sunday buffet includes roast beef with gravy, baked ham, fried fish, creamed potatoes, green beans, slaw, pickled onions and other dinner accompaniments.

Movies to be shown are "Dig That Dog," "Rapunzel," "A Pioneer Home" and "The Rooming Romeo." Time is 5:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

On Tuesday, February 23 at 7 o'clock the Lodge will be host to all members to a free chicken stew dinner. Tickets for this affair may be had by calling the office and picking them up.

Our Priority Still Remains Low

Does the fact that the powerful Voice of America transmitters will be located in and near Pitt County mean that this will be a prime target area in case of enemy attack?

An Associated Press article in yesterday's Reflector pointed out that the number of important installations that have sprung up in the Carolinas in recent years have tended to make the area a likely target in case of enemy attack. Included in the list of important installations was the new VOA facility which will be located in a triangle around Greenville.

Maj. Gen Edward F. Griffin, head of North Carolina's Civil Defense, said, "It would be of strategic value, in my opinion, for an enemy to silence the Voice of America station."

There is no doubt that the location of the VOA facility here makes this immediate area of more interest to enemies of this nation in case of war than it would have been otherwise. It is reasonable to expect that Pitt County would have a higher priority for attack as the location for powerful VOA transmitters than it would as a tobacco producing center.

The danger of this area's becoming a target, however, may be more remote than one might expect.

Not long ago we had an opportunity to discuss with a man we regard an expert, the matter of Pitt— with VOA installations—becoming a target area in case of enemy attack. During World War II, with the shoe on the other foot, he was interested in seeing that powerful radio propaganda transmitters of enemy nations were knocked out by Allied attacks. To his disappointment, however, it was only rarely if ever that targets more important than powerful radio installations did not take higher priority for bombing missions, both in Allied and Axis planning.

The gentleman explained it this way. In spite of the fact that propaganda has an important part in modern warfare, when the chips are down military installations, industrial and munitions plants, transportation facilities and other facilities are more important in winning a shooting war than propaganda. At any given moment during a conflict there will probably be more of such installations that need to be attacked than the attacking nation has personnel and equipment to strike. Thus in the rating of priorities for attack, it was shown in World War II that propaganda radio installations, although in easy reach of striking forces, continued to remain far down the list.

The striking forces were used to hit industrial areas turning out equipment essential to the war effort, transportation centers, support ground troops, strike military installations and the like. They never sufficiently knocked out enough such facilities to find time to attack the propaganda transmission centers.

Should another shooting war come—even though it is a nuclear war—it is not unlikely that a similar situation would exist. If another nation decides to attack the United States, it will be most interested in seeing that American facilities for carrying on a shooting war are knocked out. Facilities for broadcasting American propaganda overseas may prove annoying, but probably not as important in the final outcome of the conflict as facilities for making missiles, ships, munitions or for transporting such items.

VOA installations, such as the one to be constructed here, probably would remain far down the list when it came to picking prime targets. There would be too many other more important things the enemy would be interested in destroying.

Maj. Gen. Griffin's opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, in case of actual conflict, Pitt County probably would be in little more real danger of attack with the VOA facilities here than it would without them.

Major Political Races Shape Up

By LYNN NISBET

SETTLING DOWN—With less than four weeks remaining time for filing notice of candidacy, the major races seem pretty well settled—so far as participants, not results, are concerned. The contest for the U. S. Senate will be between Sen. Everett Jordan and Addison Hewlett. At least two others have announced, but they are virtually unknown and their entry is not likely to effect the primary outcome.

Dave Coltrane declining to get in the race for Lieutenant Governor assures a three-way contest there among C. V. Henkel, Cloyd Philpott and David McConnell, with a second primary indicated.

GOVERNOR—The campaign for Governor is the center of interest, as is proper and usual. The situation, however, is very unusual. As this is being written there are only two avowed candidates, Terry Sanford and John Larkins. There is virtual certainty that by time it can be read, or within a few hours, Attorney General Malcolm B. Seawell will be in. And there is a 50-50 chance that Beverly Lake will get back in. Me. Broughton, highway chairman, definitely took himself out this week. Edwin Gill, State Treasurer, did that a few days ago and Arthur Kirkman, High Point railroad and B & L executive, is ready to remove his name from speculation.

Beverly Lake stepped aside, but not quite out, last week and a group of friends are trying to raise enough money to justify him stepping back in line. At least a three-way race, possibly a four-sided contest, is shaping up with final result to be determined in a run-off primary.

A second race is possible for the U. S. Senate, but highly improbable.

UNPRECEDENTED—The situation which has developed is without parallel in North Carolina political history. Terry Sanford has been actively campaigning for the nomination for at least three years, John Larkins is known to have cherished the ambition to be Governor for much longer than that. In broad general terms they represent the traditional factions in the Democratic party.

Larkins has been in the inner circle of the party organization, dominated by the group that for lack of clearer designation has been called the conservative element. A veteran of many terms in the Senate, he has headed most of the major committees and served as chairman of the Advisory Budget Commission. He has been secretary and chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, has managed four or five Jefferson-

Jackson dinners, and is presently national committeeman for North Carolina.

Sanford's participation in State government was one term in the State Senate. He has been YDC State president, was associate manager of Kerr Scott's successful senatorial campaign in 1954, and is regarded the champion of the so-called liberal element in the party.

Traditional lines have gotten tangled. The conservative and liberal tags mean less than they once did. Sanford gathered some definite conservative support, and Larkins had appeal for some liberals. It became evident more than a year ago that a great many people were not satisfied with the limited choice between these two candidates. They began to scout the field for recruits.

Addison Hewlett, who had been catapulted to prominence as Speaker of the 1959 House, looked for a time like a gift from the gods and the answer to at least some prayers.

BUILD UP—Earlier there had been a flurry of trial balloons for Beverly Lake, champion of segregation, and Malcolm Seawell, the voice of moderation, with respect to public school integration. Always in the background as a sort of safety reserve was the scholarly Edwin Gill.

Developments here and in other states took most of the wind out of the Lake and Seawell balloons, and they were temporarily sidetracked from popular speculation. Recent events have brought them back into the picture.

Meantime, the Hewlett boom flowered like an atomic blast, while Sanford and Larkins went about the business of consolidating their support. For a period it looked like a three-way race for Governor. Then in a dramatic and somewhat pathetic interview, Hewlett took himself out of the running, citing lack of money as the reason.

Soon thereafter Hewlett announced his candidacy for the U. S. Senate, which many of his friends had believed was his first love all along. There was natural affinity among supporters of Sanford for Governor and Hewlett for the Senate, because the Sanford group had resented appointment of Everett Jordan to the Senate upon death of Kerr Scott.

Obvious alignment of Sanford and Hewlett was not pleasing to all the supporters of either. Nor did the inevitable resulting line up of Larkins and Jorkins and Jordan occasion happiness all through their campaign. The search for another candidate for Governor was accelerated. That brought Malcolm Seawell back to front line.

We're Supposed To Be Fed From Same Spoon

Justice, under the American judicial system, is supposed to be meted out to each individual solely on the merits of his case in accordance with the law.

For justice to be determined by political expediency, be it local, national or international, threatens the very foundations of our judicial system.

State Department intervention in the case of Caryl Chessman, condemned to death 12 years ago in California, is a matter that deserves the serious attention of the administration, Congress, and the government of California. Indeed, it deserves the attention of the entire nation.

We place upon our judicial system the heavy responsibility of determining the guilt or innocence of an individual accused of a crime, and also the responsibility of pronouncing the punishment the individual should receive if he is found guilty.

Are we now to take from the courts this latter responsibility and place it in the hands of pressure groups in our own nation or abroad? Are we going to leave it to the State Department to determine in the light of international relations what punishment should be given persons found guilty of the more widely publicized crimes?

Under our judicial system, every person, rich or poor, famous or unknown, is supposed to be fed from the same unbiased spoon of the court. That philosophy hardly seems to go hand-in-hand with the latest development in the Chessman case where the State Department requested Chessman be given another reprieve because of possible adverse reaction abroad if his long-delayed execution is carried out.

Nervous Over Non-Inflation?

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's just possible, government officials believe, that Wall Street's nervous tremors are caused by the fear of non-inflation.

The economists say they can see nothing else in the business outlook for 1960 to explain the sinking spells of the stock market.

Production income and profits are at record highs and expected to keep going up at moderate speed. Gradually improving employment is foreseen.

These are substantially the same forecasts as were made on New Year's Day. Only one significant change has been made: There may be less inflation than we've gotten used to.

Practically nobody expected the economy to race. Remember the headlines over the New Year forecasts? They said: "Record '60 prosperity seen but no boom."

That's exactly what we're getting. And even if a recession should come along later, government economists say the first reliable signs won't be visible for at least a month or so.

They contend that President Eisenhower's forecast that the economy will keep expanding "through 1960 and beyond" is still as good as anybody's guess.

So why did sentiment in the money markets shift in January? Why the recent recurrent stock-selling waves followed by good rallies that don't quite make up the losses?

For the answer, a good many people here point to the White House. The psychological change, they say, dates from Eisenhower's State of the Union Message.

Earlier that week the steel dispute ended—with a hardly inflationary settlement. The stock market zipped to a record high. Then Eisenhower announced the government would run a surplus of more than four billion dollars next year. The market has looked less robust ever since.

The big surplus—to the extent it comes true—means the great weight of federal fiscal operations will be deflationary. The government will be taking in more money—and soaking up more buying power—than it spends.

The treasury will be engaged in paying off debt instead of deficit financing. It will not be competing heavily with private business for investment funds. Already credit has eased a trifle and interest rates have fallen a little.

Some of the economists who had foreseen a 1960 price rise of 1 1/2 to 2 per cent now expect only about 1 per cent. Wholesale prices have been edging down. Farm prices are expected to continue to decline.

This is not an outlook that spurs people to buy stocks as a hedge against depreciation of their dollars. Nor is it a business climate in which you can count on making a fast speculative buck.

And many of the shares that were bought in expectation of ever-advancing inflation are likely to be overpriced. Today's market seems to be squeezing the inflation out.

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is ill.

Dog-For-A Dog Routine?

By HENRY HOWARD

Tonight, basketball teams from East Carolina and Atlantic Christian Colleges will renew one of the stiffest inter-collegiate rivalries in these parts.

It'll be interesting to see how the respective student bodies react, though the outcome of the hardwound scramble is of prime significance.

When the two teams met in Wilson recently, the visiting Pirates had a tremendous following. EC students filled nearly half of Wilson's community center to watch it.

An old tradition—"Bohunk"—touched off something of a mild riot as the game ended. Bohunk is bedraggled well bucket surrendered to the winning team at each athletic event staged between the two schools.

Pirate followers somehow felt the old bucket would not be handed over properly and took it on themselves to retrieve same.

Apparently, the result was mass confusion. Somebody got the bucket and rumors have it somebody else stole the bulldog—ACC's mascot.

Tonight, Bohunk will again be a stake. ACC students will make the short trip from Wilson to reclaim the old bucket—if the Bulldogs should beat the local cagers.

Maybe it's wild speculation, but it could be the Wilson crowd may be looking for a different type of revenge. If EC folks snatched up the stocky canine mascot in Wilson the other night, there may be foul play afoot again.

The old adage, "eye for an eye, etc." may take on the appearance of something like, "dog for a dog."

A little advice for the Wilson crowd, though: If there'll be an attempt to capture Buc, ECC's giant Great Dane mascot, there'll

Other Editors Saying ... Belongs To The Ages

(Henderson Dispatch)

Any one who has ever driven up to the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, walked up the long steps to the shrine on the banks of the Potomac river, and facing the towering Washington Monument and the Capitol in the distance, and then paused in front of the giant statue of Abraham Lincoln seated in a great arm chair more than twelve feet high, cannot escape the welling up of tremendous emotions within him.

One's whole frame surges to the point of overflowing in a high degree of patriotism. There is admiration for the man who did his utmost to preserve the Union and who gave his life to that end. It has been said that he was the best friend the South ever had, and in all likelihood the status of the States of the defeated Confederacy would have been infinitely more dignified and would have been established with far greater justice to them and to the nation as a whole had he lived to preside over the Reconstruction era.

Lincoln was a man of the utmost compassion, understanding and tolerance. There was nothing vindictive about him. His prosecution of the war was not so much the subjection of the seceding States as it was to make the Union secure and strong and great. Even despite his tragic and untimely death, his influence was felt and to day is more appreciated than ever before.

Lincoln is better understood in the South nearly a century after his death than ever he was in life. His immortal Gettysburg address is inscribed in marble on the south wall of the interior, and his second inaugural address on the north wall. The Gettysburg address is a classic of the American republic and will live as long as free men survive in this nation. It is cherished by patriots in all the States, and all or parts of it can be recited by millions of school children and adults in this broad land of liberty.

Today the nation pauses to commemorate the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, born February 12, 1809, in a log cabin in Kentucky. The legacy he left to his country is that of liberty and justice to all Americans, as much today as ever in the past, need desperately the inspiration of the principles of government he enunciated, and conformity thereto. His integrity and patriotism, if shared by citizens generally, would be the basis for solving many of our pressing problems, and would enable the country to surmount and overcome many of the evils rampant amongst us as a people. He was one of the greatest Americans, and as such as any man of the centuries was a citizen of the world in his outlook and generosity. As has so appropriately been said, he belongs to the ages.

Lack Of Knowledge Is Expensive

By ELMER ROESSNER

Lack of knowledge about foreign countries is costing American exporters tens of millions of dollars to change personnel abroad and straighten out embarrassing errors. Stefan Jean Rundt, business consultant, writes in the current Management Review, published by the American Management Association.

Some past boo-boos: Sending Christmas cards to Moslem customers. Using symbols showing men or animals in Islamic countries where such pictures violate the Koran. Using trade marks showing twins or two of a kind on the West Coast of Africa where "twins" are taboo. Sending window envelopes, except for routine enclosures, in many foreign countries.

WATCH YOUR LANGUAGE! Using Spanish in letters to Brazil, the largest Portuguese country in the world. Using Castilian Spanish in letters throughout the West Indies. "Traders in Willemstad were not exactly happy." Mr. Rundt wrote "The fact that Bermuda was included in this mailing elicited a tart response from a British gentleman, 'we should appreciate it if in the future you were to be good enough to correspond in French, in the event that English is not within the realm of the possible.'"

Sending literature printed in scarlet on yellow to Spanish speaking countries. Falangists resented the Franco colors for commercial purposes; others regarded the colors as Franco propaganda.

There are other common errors Mr. Rundt did not have space to list: scores of American advertisements, translated word-by-word into Spanish have made American Companies look ridiculous, idiotic or vulgar.

10 RULES FOR OVERSEAS PERSONNEL

Mr. Rundt listed ten points for American dealings abroad. They are:

1. Tolerance for the concept of mores and morals abroad, remembering we are the "foreigners" there.
2. Flexibility, in adjusting to mannerisms and attitudes abroad, and in marketing approaches and merchandise. In the foreign climates, cigarette packs are wrapped in cellophane to keep the moisture in; in certain countries it should be advertised as keeping the moisture out.
3. Humility, and avoiding patronization, condescension or playing the superman.
4. Justice and fairness, in recognizing that seeming primitive people may have far more ancient cultures than our own.
5. Adjustability to varying tempos, to avoid looking strange in the foreign climates.
6. Curiosity and interest, in foreign lands. Don't turn native, but remember that a bar in a foreign hotel is not the best place to learn about the country.
7. Knowledge of the country, from learning the language and something about the history, geography, government, sensitivities and etiquettes, economic factors and customs.
8. Liking for others. If you haven't got it, go home.
9. Ability to command respect. Being liked is not enough; better than trying to endear one's self emotionally, win the intellectual acknowledgement and then the faith of those with whom we deal.
10. Ability to integrate. Only those who work with the stream of forces prevalent in any given country will prevail.

There are many more things, but those 10 points cover a lot of ground.

LITTLE VARIETY IN DRINKING TASTES

A survey by Business Week shows that last year Americans bought more of the most popular brand of liquors than of the next three brands. The two top brands were blends; the third both a blend and a straight, and the fourth and fifth Canadian. The best-selling Scotch was 19th on the best-seller list.

Illness In The World

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
COPYRIGHT, 1960, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, Inc.

In the relations among nations, the conversations still deal with war, the preparation for war, the aftermath of war, allies, antagonists, alliances. Even such a measure as "Atoms for Peace" can be twisted into a warlike device.

This is international pathology. It is a universal sickness. It eats into the entrails of every nation; it slows up human development; it diverts the wealth of the world from useful purposes to stockpiling for war.

In this connection, it is interesting to quote a paragraph from a speech by Walter Moreira Salles, Brazilian Ambassador to the United States: "I am sure that future financial operations with Brazil will be considered in the light of our record bearing in mind that the strengthening of our basic economic activities will make Brazil the powerful ally that the United States needs... I am also sure that a great step forward will have been taken when the United States secures in its wealth and power, grasping the present Brazilian economic, social and political conditions will make available more public funds to other essential programs in which the governmental oil industry of my country should find its place."

There was a time when the American continents were a developing area which could no longer be open to European colonization. It may have been unbraguable for the Latin American countries to have been protected by the Monroe Doctrine, a unilateral declaration by the United States, but they were given a breathing period which neither Asia nor Africa had. That the United States failed to take advantage of this opportunity was not our fault; perhaps it was in the essential difference between the Anglo-Saxon and the Latin nature.

Whatever the cause, the union of purpose of Brazil and the United States ought not to be based solely upon economic grounds. If that is all between the two countries, then an alliance is meaningless. We cannot drink all the coffee that Brazil and Colombia can produce; we cannot underwrite the enormous development that must take place in Brazil's economy. Our union must be based upon spiritual criteria which transcend economics. Ambassador Salles says:

"...The coffee producing countries are low-income countries. They cannot afford indefinitely to buy up surplus production and store it. They cannot afford to pay their producers to hold down production. Their only hope is to secure more orderly marketing of the coffee they produce, while hoping that consumption will somehow expand. The United States is by far the largest importer of coffee in the world. Unfortunately, in some high income countries in Europe imports of coffee are still held down, either by restriction or by high taxes. This is a heavy burden on the coffee producing countries, a burden we are eager to see lifted."

The solution for the coffee-producing countries is to diversify production. Brazil is one of the richest countries on Earth in terms of natural resources. Its people cling to a comparatively narrow maritime area. President Kubitschek has, with a courage rarely witnessed in these days of degenerate politics, risked everything to build the city of Brasilia sufficiently inland to force his nation to recognize its immensity and its economic possibilities.

In this country, most that is known about Brasilia is the bankers' view that it has caused Brazilian money to depreciate. Actually, building this city may be responsible for changing the character of Brazil, of making it the foremost equality of Latin America and in perhaps as little as a century bringing Brazil forward as the economic equal of the United States.

On the other hand, if the dead hand of political stupidity falls upon it, Brasilia could become a second Angkor—a lost city in a vast jungle, with vines growing over its structures and

For Today Strength

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
POWER OF CHRIST

Jesus Christ is universally recognized as the greatest of all emancipators. Even those who do not accept Him religiously and people of nations and races which adhere to other religions look upon Jesus of Nazareth as having done more to free the human race from bondage than anyone anyone else who ever lived.

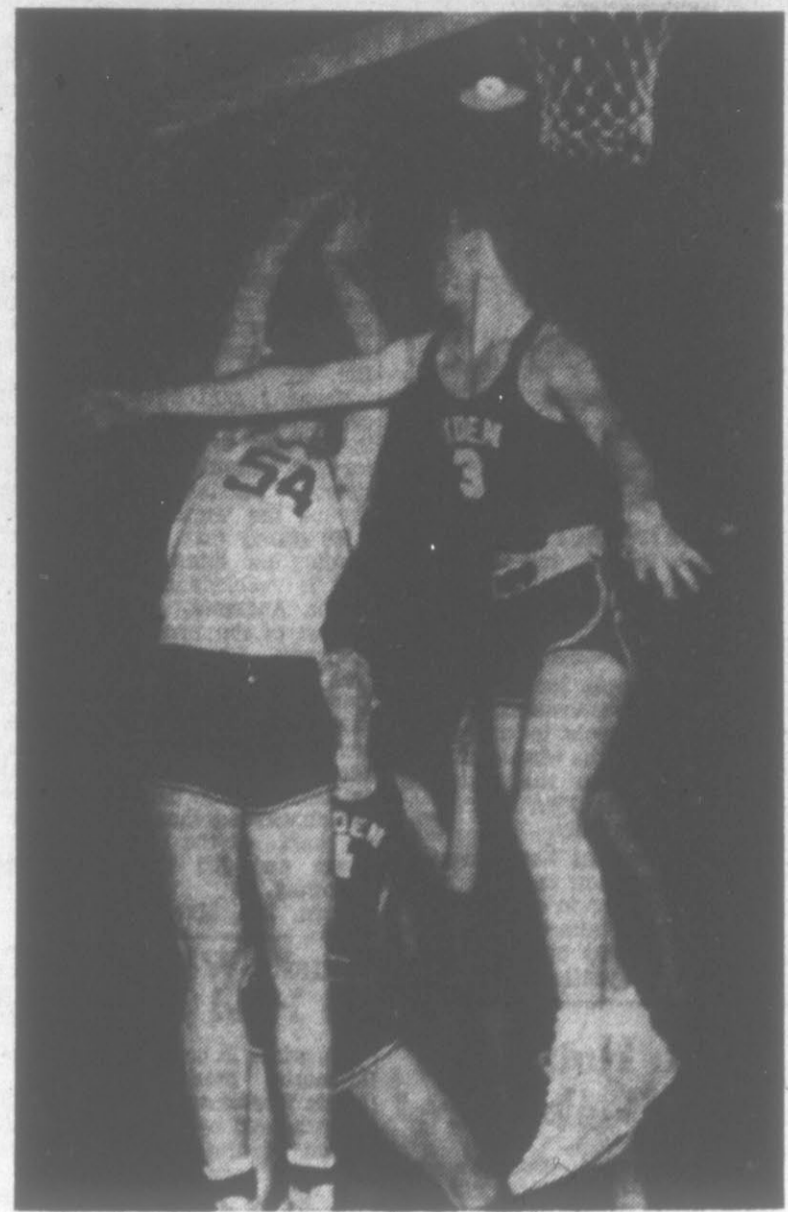

How did He accomplish this and how does He continue to accomplish this?

The freedom which Christ confers is entirely an inner matter. He did not lay down any free form of government. He did not even advance a philosophy of freedom. What He did was to bring God in touch with the human heart that men could let go their sins, disavow their selfish purposes, and commit their lives to the will of God.

What does this mean to us today? We of this enlightened generation are just as much in bondage as men and women have been in any age. Anxiety, hate, fear, lust, jealousy, avarice, and every hateful demon that has ever possessed human souls possess the souls of men today.

The message of the Christian gospel is that we can be free. We become free when we accept that offer of new power which God has made in and through Jesus Christ. He is a person we are persons. Our personalities and His can merge; and when this merger and our mingling of His life and ours takes place, we are free.

Grifton, Chicod, Stokes-Pactolus Cagers In Finals

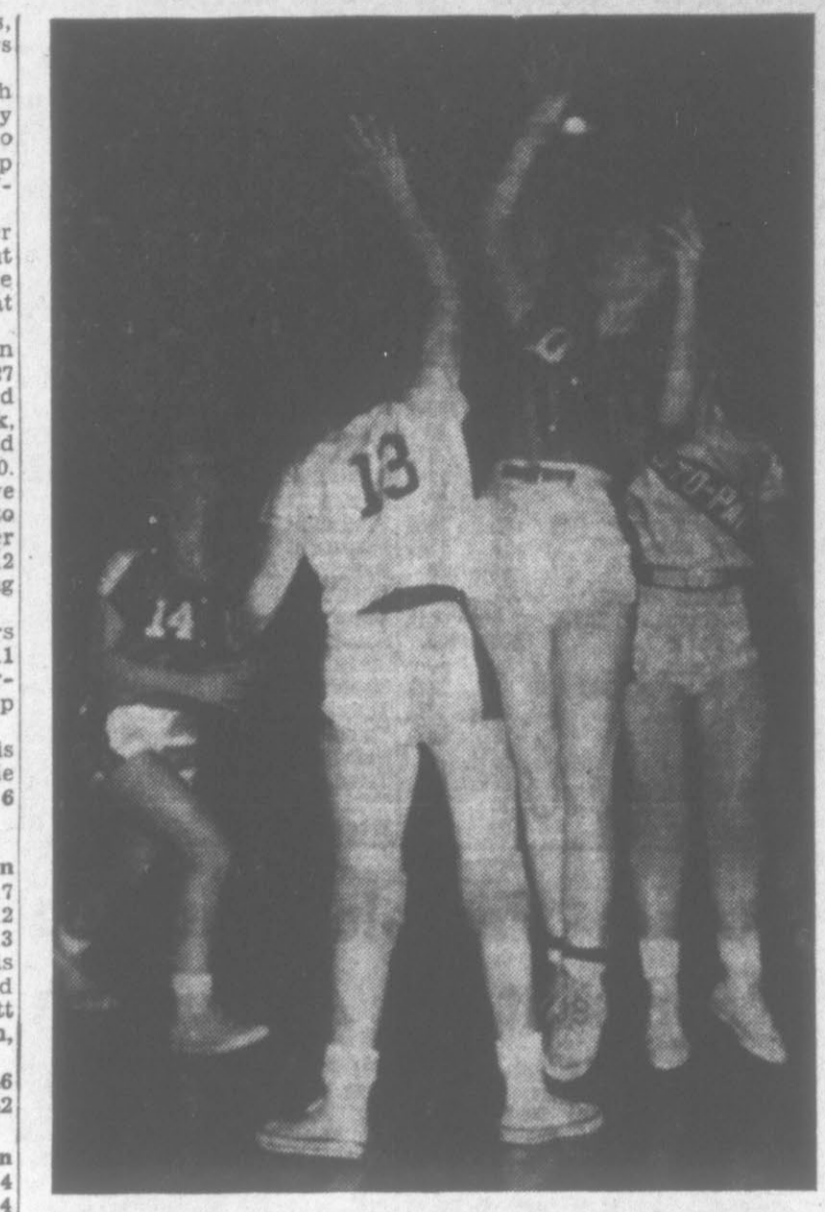

UP-UP . . . Billy Mahler of Grifton (54) goes up for a try at the hoop, as Ayden's J. D. Wiloughby (3) attempts to block his shot in last night's Pitt County Tourney action.

By ROY MARTIN
Reflector Sports Writer
Tension was hanging heavy in the atmosphere of ECC's Memorial Gym last night, as four teams battled for berths in Monday night's championship action of the Pitt County Conference Basketball Tournament.
In the first game of the tourney's fifth night of activity, Stokes-Pactolus defeated Ayden's girls 46-42, to remain undefeated, and also move into the championship match in the girls' division opposite Grifton.
Grifton's boys, regular-season champs, defeated Ayden in a heated contest, 37-32. The win affords the Bulldogs a championship shot against Chicod's Hornets Monday night.

Stokes-Pactolus Triumphs
In the first game of last night's PCC tourney played in Memorial Gym, Stokes-Pactolus' undefeated girls continued their winning ways in edging Ayden, 46-42, after barely escaping from a fourth quarter Ayden rally, which almost cost them the game.
During the first quarter of play, Ayden stayed right on the heels of the Stokes-Pactolus sex-et, matching the defending PCC champs almost point for point. The scoreboard showed deadlock several times, but at the end of the first half, S-P had managed to accumulate a 23-21 lead, after breaking a 21-21 tie.

The second half moved off to a rapid pace, with S-P moving out in front by a slim margin. By the end of the third period, S-P led the field, 34-29.
Ayden began to rally back in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter, and continued their rally until the waning moments of the contest, but were unable to bucket enough points to overcome the Stokes-Pactolus lead.
High scorers for Stokes-Pactolus were Rita Bullock and Carrie Whitehurst, with 22 points each.
For Ayden, all three starting forwards hit in double figures with Carol Lou Braxton leading the way with 17 points, Andrea Harris bucketed 15 points for runner-up honors, while Dawn Rouse rounded out the scoring totals with 12 points.
Bullocks Defeat Ayden
Playing in one of the most heated games of the entire tournament to date, which was characterized by the near riot touch-off at the end of the game by spectators, Grifton slipped by Ayden's boys by a score of 37-32.

The score was deadlocked much of the game, following a rally which brought Ayden back into the ball game after catching up to an early lead posted by Grifton.
At the end of the first quarter Grifton led by a score of 8-4 but as Ayden came slowly back the halftime score was registered at 18-12.
The second half saw Ayden soar back to take the lead 30-27 with 4:25 remaining in the third period. But Grifton rallied back, with Billy Riley dropping the field goal to deadlock the score at 30-30.
Grifton then began to move steadily ahead, holding Ayden to only 6 points in the final quarter of play, while they dumped in 12 points to insure their winning margin.
High scorers for the winners were Jimmy Rogers with 11 points, while Allan Jackson poured in 10 points for runner-up honors.
For Ayden, Center Ted Norris was high man with 9 points, while William Edwards bucketed 6 points for number two honors.

AYDEN HITS . . . Ayden's Carol Lou Braxton (10) takes a shot at the basket as Stokes-Pactolus's Angela James (13) attempts to block her attempt. Ayden's Dawn Rouse (14), and Stokes-Pactolus's Rosalie Tripp (12) move in to witness the action. (Photos by Roy Martin)

Yellow Jackets Defeat Phantoms

ROANOKE RAPIDS — Roanoke Rapids' Yellow Jackets turned on the steam in the fourth quarter of play here last night, to pull away from a fighting Greenville quint, and post a Northeastern Conference win over the Phantom basketekers, 103-70.
Roanoke Rapids, one of the most highly-touted crew of cagers in the state, has suffered several defeats in recent conference encounters, and it was only in the last period that with the help of All-Conference Tommy King, who scored 41 points for the night, that they were able to accumulate their sizeable lead which gave them the victory over the visiting Phants.
At the end of the first quarter, the Jackets led the Phants by 26-20, but the Phants slowly began to close the gap.
By the time the second half got underway the Phants were threatening once again, however, this time, the Jackets began to pour in the baskets with amazing accuracy, and thereby stifled the Phant comeback.
The scoring leaders for Roanoke Rapids were Tommy King with 41 points, and Taylor with 17 points.
For Greenville, playing one of their best games of the season, according to observers, and Coach

Bo Farley, Kriehle Andresen was the top man, with 17 points. Layne Jorgensen was runner-up to Andresen with 15 points, while Billy Neal James and Erskine Duff, added 14 and 10 points respectively.
The encounter with Roanoke Rapids was Greenville's last regularly-scheduled game before the NE tourney opens in East Carolina's Memorial Gym, this coming week. Roanoke Rapids is rated as a heavy favorite to take the top slot in the tourney finals.
The loss drops the Greenville to six wins, while suffering seven defeats.

Deacs Need This Win Over Duke

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wake Forest, with second place in the regular season Atlantic Coast Conference standings assured, invades Duke today needing a victory to stay on the heels of first place North Carolina.
The weekly regional televised game (2 p.m. EST) is the final ACC tilt for Wake Forest which entered with an 11-2 ACC record and 16-6 overall.
North Carolina, which padded its first place record to 9-1 and 14-4 with an 85-80 victory over Clemson last night in the first game of an ACC double header at Charlotte, has four league games remaining. South Carolina upset North Carolina State 68-66 in the nightcap.
The Tar Heels, ranked 19th nationally meet South Carolina in Charlotte tonight, then face Maryland, Virginia and Duke next week. This Wake Forest must beat Duke today, then lay back and hope North Carolina bites the dust.

The regular season standings, however, are used only to make pairings for the ACC tournament in Raleigh March 3-5. The winner is the ACC champion and represents the conference in the NCAA playoffs.
The teams at Charlotte swap opponents tonight. North Carolina plays South Carolina and North Carolina State meets Clemson.
Other games involving ACC teams send Virginia to Navy and George Washington to Maryland.
The Tar Heels had to beat off a last ditch comeback by Clemson in the first game of the Charlotte twin bill. Clemson managed to make it 74-70 with four minutes remaining, but the talented Tar Heels kept the Tigers at bay.
North Carolina was led by Doug Moe with 26 points and 19 rebounds. But the Tar Heels got good play from starters Harvey Salz, 18 points, York Larese, 17, Lee Shaffer, 11, and Ray Stanley, 8.
Tom Mahaffey, a 6-7 sophomore, paced Clemson with 25 points and 18 rebounds.
A time out with 13 seconds remaining, enabled South Carolina to edge North Carolina State, 68-66 N.C. State's Dan Wherry intercepted a South Carolina pass and scored with what apparently was the tying basket. But the referee ruled that South Carolina had called time out before the interception.
The loss left N.C. State in sixth place at 5-8, just a few percentage points above South Carolina, now 4-7 in the ACC. Clemson dropped to seventh at 3-8.
South Carolina's Art Whisman and N.C. State's Bob Distefano were high with 17 points each.

Heavies Closer To Return Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—A June 22 rematch at New York's Polo Grounds between world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and ex-champ Floyd Patterson is a bit closer today, now that Roy Cohn's new boxing group finally has a New York license.
Shortly after the New York State Athletic Commission voted unanimously Friday to license Cohn's group, Feature Sports, Inc., the new promoters began to talk of a 1½-million-dollar gate with a $100 price for the best tickets.
Feature Sports is an eight-man group that bought the stock of Bill Rosenzohn Enterprises, Inc. for over $250,000 to get the rematch contract.
The fight is not definitely set for New York although the stockholders all are New York businessmen and prefer to operate in their hometown.
Tom Bolah, a lawyer member of the group, said:
"Johansson is due in this weekend for TV appearances. We will sit down and work out the details with Edwin Ahlquist, his advisor, come over from Sweden March 1. We should have a contract to show the commission by March 15. We have until March 20 to set the date and site if we want Johansson to fight in June."

4 MINUTES FLAT
MELBOURNE (AP)—Herb Elliott, world's record mile runner (3:54.5) ran a 4-minute flat mile today in registering a hollow victory by 50 yards. The tall Australian did the last quarter in 55 seconds. He did not appear to be fully extended.

skating championship. The compulsory figures will be finished Sunday. The free skating, in which Carol dazzles, winds up the event on Monday.
Jernberg, 31, a ski salesman, led at all points in annexing the first championship of the eighth games in one hour, 51 minutes, 3.9 seconds. Mack Miller of Crested Butte, Colo., paced the U.S. finishers with 27th place in 2:03:05.2. Leo Massa, Mattawan, N.J., was 23rd in 2:22:16.2.
In the pairs, the Canadian world champions received a perfect placement score of seven ordinals from the judges.
Maribel Owen and Dudley Richards of Boston, finished 10th and 11a and Ray Hadley, of Seattle, 12th.
In the hockey openers, the United States came from behind to beat Czechoslovakia, 7-5; Canada downed Sweden 5-2 and the Soviet Union's defending champions routed Germany, 8-0.

Uncle Sam Counting On Girls To Start Bagging Gold Medals

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Uncle Sam counts on his talented nieces to get him started today in the bagging of winter Olympics gold medals.
It was up to a trio of blonde beauts, downhill skiers Penny Pitou and Betsy Smitte and figure skater queen Carol Heiss to get the United States rolling.
The first two championships went to Sixten Jernberg, Sweden's "king of the skis," in the 30-kilometer (18.6 miles) ski race, and the spectacular Canadian apirs figure skating duo of Bob Paul and Barbara Wagner. The Yanks had to settle for a third-place bronze medal in the pairs, earned by the husband-wife team of Ronald and Nancy Ludington of Roxbury, Mass.
At the end of the first day, Sweden, with a one-two finish in the cross-country race, led in the unofficial team scoring with 17 points. Canada was second with 13, Soviet Union third with 8, followed by Germany 7, the U.S.A.

Record-Smashing Seen At Track-Field Event

NEW YORK (AP)—A record-smashing assault that could eclipse anything in history was in prospect tonight in the 72nd edition of the National AAU track and field championships in Madison Square Garden.
At least half a dozen records—and maybe more—are in jeopardy. This includes the oldest one on the books, Jesse Owens' world indoor broadjump mark of 25 feet, 9 inches set in this same meet exactly 25 years ago.
A field of eight 25-footers, headed by Bo Roberson, ex-Cornell football player, has set its sights on the record. Roberson won the Pan-American broad jump title—outdoors—with a 25-2 leap, so he is the most logical candidate to break Owens' record.
Other marks that could go by the boards include:
The 1,000-yard run—2:02.8 set by Don Gehrmann and Arnie Sewell, Ed Moran of the New York A.C., a top miler, has dropped down to the 1,000 and on his own say-so can go under 2:08. Art Evans of Manhattan and Cary Weisiger of Duke will be on hand to push him along.

The three-mile run—13:37 set by Bill Dellinger last year. Dellinger is passing up the Nationals, but little Al Lawrence of the University of Houston by way of Australia, is capable of getting under that figure. He won the Millrose three-mile a couple of weeks back in 13:38.
The mile walk—6:19.2 set by Henry Laskau. Ferenc Sipos, a Hungarian expatriate competing for the Santa Clara Youth Village, said he is here for only one reason—to break the record.
The high jump—7 feet, 1½ inches, set three weeks ago by John Thomas of Boston University. John has been coming close—a whisker, in fact—ever since he set the standard. However, his coach, Ed Flanagan, said he is tired and hasn't been practicing much this week.
The shotput—Parry Obrien—who else?—will take aim on his own record of 62 feet 1¼ inches, which he set last year. He already has broken his own mark four times in previous Nationals.
Don Bragg, who has been flirting with a 16-foot pole vault mark, will take another crack at the magic height.
Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan and Olympic champion Lee Calhoun will meet in the 60-yard high hurdles. Jones tied his own—and Milt Campbell's—record of 7 seconds flat weeks ago.

North Staters In Season Finales

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The North State Conference closes out its regular season basketball play tonight with Appalachian and Lenoir Rhyne tied for first.
Chattahoochee is at Appalachian and High Point is at Lenoir Rhyne in the two feature games.
Appalachian and Lenoir Rhyne are tied for first with 11-4 records.
The other final games have Atlantic Christian at East Carolina and Guilford at Elon.
Other games involving North Carolina's small colleges have Pembroke at the Richmond Professional Institute and Belmont Abbey at Georgia State.
Richmond Professionals dropped Pembroke 66-61 Friday night in the first of their two games and Belmont Abbey defeated Presbyterian College 62-52.

Louise Suggs Is Leading In Fla.

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (AP)—Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., held a two-stroke lead today at the midpoint of the 72-hole $7,500 Lake Worth Women's Invitational Golf Tournament.
Miss Suggs, a veteran of the women's circuit, fired a 1-under-par 69 Friday for a 36-hole total of 141 over the 5,654-yard par 70 Lake Worth course.
In second place with a 143 was Betsy Rawls of Sparlanburg, S.C., the defending champion, who edged Miss Suggs for the title last year.

Rickey Due In Charlotte Today

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—President Branch Rickey of the newly formed Continental League was to meet here today with directors of the Class D Western Carolinas League to discuss working agreements.
John Moss of Shelby, president of the Western Carolinas League which is planning to start its first season, and his directors were to meet with Rickey and other Continental League officers.
Moss met with Rickey in New York earlier this month, seeking working agreements in an effort to get his league started.
The Western Carolinas has eight teams pledged: Hickory, Lexington, Statesville, Newton, Rutherford County, Shelby, all in North Carolina, and Rock Hill, S.C.

Split Decision For Matthews

NEW YORK (AP)—Len Matthews made youth, punching power and one knockdown pay off for a split decision over Lahouari Godhi, a game, experienced Algerian.
That was the story of Friday night's Madison Square Garden fight. The two lightweighties (Matthews 135½, Godhi 136½) drew it so close that the officials had to go to the point system to get a verdict.
Referee Harry Kessler voted for Matthews, 20, a Philadelphia slugger. Judge Tony Castellano scored it 5-4 in the 30-year-old Godhi. Judge Leo Birnbaum had it 5-5 in rounds but gave three points to Matthews for a seventh-round knockdown and thus scored it in Len's favor 7-5 in points. The AP also was 5-5 but 6-5 for Matthews on points. Ten of 12 writers thought Matthews won.
New York officials score by rounds. However, when the rounds come out even as they did on Birnbaum's card they fall back on a point system in which the winner of a round gets from one to four points and the loser none. Birnbaum gave Matthews three points for the knockdown round and the other officials gave him two.
Promoter Herman Taylor of Philadelphia immediately rematched the two men for a March 14 date off TV in Philadelphia, moving back a scheduled Gaspar Ortega-Charlie Scott match to April 4.
Godhi, busy all the way, piled up an early lead and closed with a rush to grab the 10th round after taking a battering in the seventh, eighth and ninth. His finish won the cheers of the small crowd which boomed the decision against the Algerian-born Parisian, a 2-1 underdog.

Another 'Wilt' In Pennsylvania

READING, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania may be producing another basketball player of the calibre of Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain. He is Ron Krick, 17, who broke the Philadelphia Warrior star's three-year high school state scoring record Friday night.
Krick, 17, made 39 points in West Reading High's 96-31 victory over Schuylkill Valley, bringing his total to 2,253. That's one point better than the record set by Chamberlain at Philadelphia's Overbrook High, where he only played three years.
Krick, 6 feet 8, still has at least two more games this season and another year of play.

Meet In Junior College Finals

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Wilmington and Frederick, Va., meet here tonight in the finals of the Virginia-Carolina Junior College Conference basketball tournament.
In Friday night's semifinal games, Wilmington defeated Loudsburg 91-76 and Frederick defeated Presbyterian Junior College 82-72.
PJC and Loudsburg will meet in the consolation finals at 7 followed by the championship game at 9.

Tied For 12th

The Rose High wrestlers, competing in the state high school wrestling meet at Page High School in Greensboro tied for twelfth place in team scoring for the meet with 22 points.
Individuals were Garris Evans, 105-pound class scored 4 points, Dalton Owens, 112-pound class, 6 pounds, Don Joyner, 2 points, and Jeff Fountain, 165-pound class, 10 points.
Kustan placed third in his respective class, while Owens copied fourth place in the state-wide meet, wrestling in the 112-pound class.

Chuck McKinley Labeled 'Best' Doubles Player

NEW YORK (AP)—"That kid," said ex-Davis Cup captain Bill Talbert today, "is not only the best doubles player in the United States, but the hungriest player as well."
Talbert was referring to 19-year-old Chuck McKinley, a freshman at Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex.
He sprung the shocker of the National Indoor Championships Friday night when he downed Ulf Schmidt of Sweden, the second-seeded foreigner, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2.
He was down for a stern test today in the quarter-final round against Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, another U.S. hopeful in international competition.
Other quarter-final matches pitted top-seeded American Dick Savitt of New York against Spain's Andres Gimeno; Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, against Roy Emerson of Australia; and Neale Fraser, top-seeded foreigner and Aussie Davis Cup ace, against Earl Buchholz of St. Louis.
McKinley, a chunky 5-8 and 160 pounds, was modest in victory. "I would say I won by just hitting a few past him," he said.

Atlantic Christian Invades East Carolina Here Tonight

By JOHNNY HUDSON
Reflector Sports Editor
Two arch-rivals, East Carolina and Atlantic Christian, will close out their regular season play in a basketball game slated for Memorial Gymnasium before a sell-out crowd tonight.
East Carolina, hampered this week this week with injuries, will try to salvage the final game of the campaign, climaxing a dramatic comeback that saw the Bucs close out the season with seven straight victories and ten wins in eleven games prior to this week.
A case of the flu hit Ike Riddick, the conference's top scorer, which sidelined the Pirate star-ward for the Bucs' last two encounters. Riddick, however, has been working out this week, and may be in the lineup against Atlantic Christian.
Injuries befell two other starters, Don Smith and Benny Bowes. With a new starting combination, East Carolina sputtered in the second half against High Point Wednesday night, losing to the Panthers, and breaking their recent win spurt.
The Pirates knocked off ACC enroute to their victory skein, but odds make the game a much closer battle now. Dick Knox and crew gave EC some uneasy moments in the first meeting of the two clubs.
Coach Earl Smith is expected to work in Dave Starrett, Charlie Lewis and Jim Hall with his freshman duo of Lacy West and Cotton Clayton. Smith is also hopeful that Riddick will be ready to go by game time.
Lewis, a Kingston sophomore, sidelined much of the season due to injuries, has stepped into the guard spot left vacant by Riddick and scored 32 points in two games. Hall and Starrett are short on experience, but give the Bucs ample height in their lineup.
Bowes, sophomore center, is slated to see some duty, but is slowed down due to a cast on his left wrist. Smith is counted out for the season.
Atlantic Christian is expected to start with Knox and Bobby-Aikinson at the guards, Ernie Oden at center and Dale Pillingame and Bobby Dunn at the forwards. The Bulldogs have a 5-10 conference mark and are 18-14 overall. East Carolina, tied for third place with a 10-5 mark, has a season record of 15-7.
Game time for the second meeting of these two hot rivals is 8 p.m.

Texas Baseball People May Ask Legislature Meet

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Baseball interests here may ask the Texas Legislature to meet in special session in indirect action to pave the way for the Continental League to operate here.
Talk of the special session came as league President Branch Rickey dropped a veiled hint Friday that the loop might move out of Houston unless action on a proposed new stadium firms up.
Rickey said he met with newsmen after a two-day meeting of league directors.
He said county officials had told directors that legislation may be needed to speed plans for building a 35,000-seat stadium prior to the 1962 season. Voters authorized issuance of 20 million dollars in revenue bonds in 1958 to finance the stadium and sports center.
"They (the county) believe the Legislature will have to be asked to amend the County Stadium Act, so as to permit revenue bond holders to obtain mortgages on the stadium property," said Bill Shea, New York. The Continental plans to open play in 1961.
The Legislature will not meet in regular session again until next January.

Stokes - Pactolus Girl To Represent Pitt At Raleigh

STOKES — A Stokes-Pactolus High School Senior has been selected to represent Pitt County at the First Annual Youth Fitness Conference scheduled for April 9, 1960.

ROSALIE TRIPP in Raleigh.

Miss Rosalie Tripp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tripp of Route 5, Greenville, will attend the conference consisting of representatives from other North Carolina counties and members of the Youth Fitness Commission, appointed by Gov. Luther H. Hodges. The Raleigh conference will provide an opportunity for outstanding youth representatives to discuss problems of physical, mental, and sociological fitness confronting North Carolina's youth today.

Miss Tripp is an outstanding member of the senior class here. She is chief marshal; co-editor of the "Sto-Pac," the school's yearbook; secretary of the Beta Club; and reporter for the Future Homemakers of America. She has also been serving as the Stokes-Pactolus school correspondent for the Daily Reflector.

She has been a member of the local girls basketball team for four years. The Stokes-Pactolus Girls were Pitt County Conference champions last year and are expected to repeat that performance in Monday's finals of the current PCC tournament in Greenville.

Explains Rules On Pest Control

Harry Moore, 1951 East Carolina College graduate and current Chief Inspector for the North Carolina State Pest Control Division, was guest speaker at the Greenville Exchange Club's weekly dinner meeting held here last night at the Woman's Club.

Speaking on the Structural Pest Control Laws enacted in 1955, Moore cited the need for such statutes in order to protect the public from "malpractices of certain so-called experts in the treatment of property against termites and other pests."

The state inspector explained the rules and regulations governing requirements for all pest control operators were designed and listed by a special five-man committee appointed by the Governor. The enactment of the code is under the direct supervision of the state's commissioner of agriculture, he said.

Club President Ray D. Minges told Exchangeites he is expecting a large group to attend the Educational Conference to be held in Rocky Mount this weekend.

Ivey Coward was program chairman for last night. Burney Warren celebrated a birthday and club guests were Charles Brown, Duke Andrews, and David Cobb.

Boy Is Arrested For Extortion

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Police arrested a 16-year-old eighth-grade student here Friday on charges of extortion. They said he admitted forcing 10 students to pay him protection money.

Detective chief Charles Young said the youth, Tommy Lee Warren, told him he collected 10 cents every Friday as payment for not beating up other eighth graders. He is older than most of them.

Young quoted the student as saying he learned the extortion racket while he was at a juvenile detention institution. He had been sent there on a burglary charge, they said.

The youth was suspended from school and turned over to Juvenile Court.

POET'S WIFE DIES

ABINGDON, England (AP)—Constance Masefield, wife of Britain's poet laureate, John Masefield, died Thursday at their home in Oxfordshire. She was in her late 70's. The cause of death was not announced.

SCHOLASTIC ART AWARDS CONTEST—Dr. Wellington Gray, Dr. Bruce Carter, Edward Brown, Mrs. Shirley Gearhart and Mrs. Norma W. Gray, judges at the regional exhibit, look over one of the entries. Winners in the regional contest, which includes 36 Eastern North Carolina counties, will compete in the national contest, sponsored by Scholastic Magazine. Art work of students in grades seven through 12 was eligible for the competition, sponsored in this region by WNCT-TV. Judging in the competition was held yesterday afternoon on the East Carolina College campus.

Grifton Girl Is Finalist In Scholarship Program

GRIFTON—Miss Sharon Stone, Grifton High School senior, has been named a finalist in the 1959-60 competition of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation Program and has been awarded a certificate of merit. It was announced yesterday by Grifton Principal E. B. Bright.

SHARON STONE

Miss Stone distinguished herself by her high scores of two college aptitude tests used in the NMS competition. Approximately six-tenths of one per cent of high school seniors in each state received the awards. A national total of 10,000 students were honored.

The Grifton senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stone of Grifton, is president of her class this year. She is a past president of the school's Future Teachers of America chapter, president of the local Beta Club, and vice-president of Tri-Hi-Y, local girls' religious activity group. She is a starting guard on the girls' basketball team.

Miss Stone was one of 550,000 high school students tested last April in NMS competition. The test results have pared the competitors down to 10,000 finalists from which nearly 1,000 Merit Scholars will be selected and announced this spring.

Selection of finalists who will be awarded the scholarships this year is performed by the Merit Scholarship Selection Committee, a panel of experts in academic selection, and by special judging teams convened by various donors of Merit Scholarships. High school grades, leadership, citizenship, and extra-curricular activities are considered as well as test scores.

Bonner Reveals Duck-Trapping

Seven men of the Eastern Shore area of Virginia have been arrested by United States Fish and Wildlife Service officers and charged with trapping ducks illegally, it was announced this morning from the Nation's Capital by Congressman Herbert C. Bonner.

It was revealed, Bonner said, federal agents were also involved in the illegal trapping, having purchased some 300 ducks from the seven men arrested. He said four arrests on those grounds will probably be made soon.

The men arrested were listed as Walter P. Clark Sr., 39, Walter P. Clark Jr., 19, Clarence Clark, 23, John Daisey, 55, Mark Daisey, 45, Leonard Shrieves, 34, and Dalton Trader, 45, all from near Chincoteague, Va. All are under bond awaiting trial in federal court in Norfolk May 2.

Trapping ducks illegally is a misdemeanor at present, but the Virginia Assembly has passed a law making the trapping of ducks a felony. Bonner said this morning, "I am giving serious consideration to introducing a bill in Congress similar to the Virginia legislation, making it a federal offense of a serious nature to trap ducks."

The First North Carolina District congressman several weeks ago, severely criticized Federal Fish and Wildlife officers when it was revealed that persons in the Eastern Shore area were engaging in duck trapping.

Mass Production For Weddings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Municipal Court Judge Albert A. Axelrod had already married 15 couples at City Hall Friday.

Then at 3:30 p.m., five more showed up. "Choose your partners and line up, folks," he said. He went down the line administering the vows. "I now pronounce you men and wives," he said. "Kiss the brides." They did. Officials said the heavy marrying schedule was due to the long Washington's birthday weekend ahead.

Nurses Meet

District No. 8 of the Licensed Practical Nurse Association met Wednesday at the Pitt Memorial Hospital Nurses' Home.

Dr. Earl Trevathan, a Greenville pediatrician, spoke on "Birth Defects" and presented slides concerning some of those most commonly seen.

The towns of Elizabeth City, Wilson, Goldsboro, Jacksonville, Raleigh and Greenville were represented.

Chapter Installs 4 New Members

The Zeta Psi Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national honorary music fraternity, has installed four new members at East Carolina College as new members of the organization. Qualifications for membership include a high scholastic average in the department of music.

President Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina has accepted an invitation to become an honorary member of the campus chapter.

New student members of the Zeta Psi chapter here are Hubert R. Shearon of Varina, sophomore; Samuel S. Branson of Thomasville, junior; Andrew C. Preston of Daytona Beach, Fla., graduate student; and Frank G. Dew of Plymouth, freshman.

wild animals housing in its beautiful temples. The misfortune of one - crop countries and one-product countries is that they forget that substitute products can drive their single product out of markets. Where is Japan's silk today? Where are the textiles of the Near East, the incense of Yeman? On the other hand, Japan is today selling nylon and plastic products and the most important product of the Near East is oil. The world can survive without coffee, but it could use in normal commerce the richness of Brazil.

Edward Z. Mabry Funeral Set Sunday

Mr. Edward Z. Mabry, 71, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Saturday morning at 5:40. He had been in failing health for several years and critically ill for the past five days. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Sunday afternoon at 3:30 by his pastor, the Rev. Percy Upchurch. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Church in Greenville and was the Recorder of the Greenville Chapter 1308, Women of the Moose.

Surviving are her husband; a son, Frank John Mabry, 41, died in 1954; her mother; and three brothers, Joseph Frank Obermeier of Laurel Springs, New Jersey, Robert Obermeier of Hatboro, Pa., and Frank John Obermeier of Matawan, New Jersey.

ACQUIRE A PAYROLL

LONDON (AP)—Burglars cut through two steel doors with acetylene torches early today and made off with a payroll of 33,000 pounds ($92,400) from the shipbuilding firm of Harland and Wolff Ltd.

Farmville Guard Unit On The Job In 30 Minutes

FARMVILLE — After receiving the alarm at 7 p.m., Company "E" of the Second Battle Group, 119th Infantry, had mobilized and occupied each of 19 pre-designated strategic positions "within 30 minutes" Thursday night as the state-wide National Guard alert, Operation Hornets' Nest, went into effect, according to local Administrative Supply Technician James L. Allen.

As the Farmville unit sent in its first report at 7:25 p.m., 32 men had been dispatched to "secure" local radio stations, the water and lights plant, the telephone office, electrical substations, and other strategic installations, Allen said.

"By 9 o'clock, we had 43 men and five officers on duty," Allen stated, pointing out the remaining 20 men are out-of-town residents and were previously instructed to report to the nearest armory rather than the local unit when the alarm was sounded.

The local unit, a rifle company, quickly issued small arms and other equipment and had its own communications system in operation before 30 minutes had elapsed.

When the alert ended, about 9:30, the Guardsmen reported back to local headquarters, cleaned weapons and other equipment, and heard reports on the results of Hornets' Nest.

ASC Office To Observe Holiday

The Pitt County A.S.C. office will be closed Monday in observance of Washington's Birthday, as will local banks and the U. S. Post Office.

According to J. Knott Proctor, Greenville Postmaster, "There will be no rural or city delivery service and all windows will be closed. Parcel Post will be delivered through the city and there will be a collection from all mail boxes in town beginning at 5:30 p.m."

Chorus To Sing On TV Program

The local chapter of the National Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America will appear on television tomorrow afternoon.

The chorus, composed of around 35 persons, will perform on the "Let's Go To College" program over television station WNCT at 1 o'clock.

This will be the second public appearance for the recently-organized group.

Speech Winner

Douglas Gurkin, a senior at Chocod High School, won first place in the Public Speaking Contest sponsored by the Future Farmers of America, held in Grifton Thursday.

Gurkin's topic for the contest was "Soil Conservation." He will compete in the district contest May 7, the winner of which will compete in the state-wide judging at the PFA Convention in Raleigh in July.

The purpose of the contests is to teach boys how to speak before groups and how to express themselves. Another aim of the competition is to help build self-confidence in the youths.

Bethel Rotarians Hear Visitor

BETHEL — A Mississippi man told members of the Bethel Rotary Club Tuesday night that the people of the world do not hate America.

Joe Kennedy of Brookhava, Miss. pointed out that conversions are taking place from the power of the gospel and the picture of Jesus on the cross.

The speaker stated that the most beautiful picture he had seen throughout his travels was one with the love of God in his life.

Kennedy said he had been impressed by the masses of people, the misery of poverty, the mystery of paganism and the magnificent possibilities as seen around the world.

He stated that the people were needing one thing in common and that is understanding and love. Tom Andrews, Jr. who was in charge of the program, presented Kennedy. The speaker's subject was "Encounter with Revolution."

Prior to the talk, Harold Stanton urged immediate attention to the United Fund which, he said, is considerably behind in Bethel. He announced that Carl Barbee is in charge of the next Rotary program and Ed Giggs the week following.

Pres. Bot Martin presided.

Music Workshop To Be Held By Church

Tuesday, February 23, at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church a Music Workshop will be held. This is sponsored by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church with the cooperation and help of the Music Department of East Carolina College.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the local church. The morning and the afternoon will be taken up with group discussions on:

Music and Children in the Church, led by Miss Vera Zimmerman; Procedure in Choir Organization, led by Dr. Carl Hjortsvang; Procedure in the Established Choir, led by Mr. Robert Bedie; Service Playing, led by Mrs. William D. Miller and Mrs. Paul A. Toll; The Minister and the Ministry of Music, led by Dr. Bliss Wiant and Rev. Bruce Pate.

A picnic lunch will be held at 12:30 and dinner will be served by the host church to the guests at 6 p.m.

At 7:30 a Hymn Festival will be led by Dr. Bliss Wiant of the Department of Music of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. The choir of Jarvis Memorial Church will sing the anthem, "Great and Glorious is the Name of the Lord" by Dickinson. The public is invited to this hymn sing and to any of the classes of the workshop which they desire to attend.

The Garden of Eden has traditionally been placed in Mesopotamia, the latter name being from the Greek meaning "Land Between the Rivers."

The Oldest And Newest Of Our Churches

By ROSALIE MOORE
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville is truly a "city of churches".

There are 25 churches serving the white population of the city, and 27 churches serving our Negro citizens.

The gap in time between the three oldest Greenville churches now in service and the three newest averages out to be about 53 years.

Churches claiming "seniority" in the city are: Memorial Baptist, built in 1890; Jarvis Memorial Methodist, 1905; and Greenville Free Will Baptist, 1915.

The Baptist State Convention held their first meeting and were organized in Greenville in 1830. The Memorial Baptist Church was named as a memorial to the organization of the convention.

Work on the building was begun in June, 1883, and the basement was completed so that services could be held there. During the progress of that portion of the work, the congregation worshipped in the Court House. From June, 1884, to the completion of the building in 1890, all the services of the church were held in the basement.

New additions have been made to the church in recent years and the number of members on the church roll are 729.

The first Methodist Church to be built was called St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church. The year of the construction was 1833. It was located in the area now known as Cherry Hill Cemetery.

Forty-five years later a lot was purchased after a revival was held and a church parsonage and church was built. In 1880 the first service was held in the new St. Paul's Methodist Church.

The Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church was named for ex-Governor Thomas J. Jarvis. Construction was started on the present church in 1905 and completed in 1907. There are now about 1,360 members on the roll.

An old school building was used as a place of worship for the present Greenville Free Will Baptist Church built in 1915. From 1934 - 1954 additions made to the building include Sunday School rooms, a parsonage and a heating plant.

The newest churches in Greenville are: Maranatha Free Will Baptist, 1958; Meadowbrook Pentecostal Holiness, 1958; and Calvary Baptist, 1959.

Maranatha is a compound word, an Aramaic expression of Chaldean origin, translated, "Our Lord Come!" or "The Lord Cometh!"

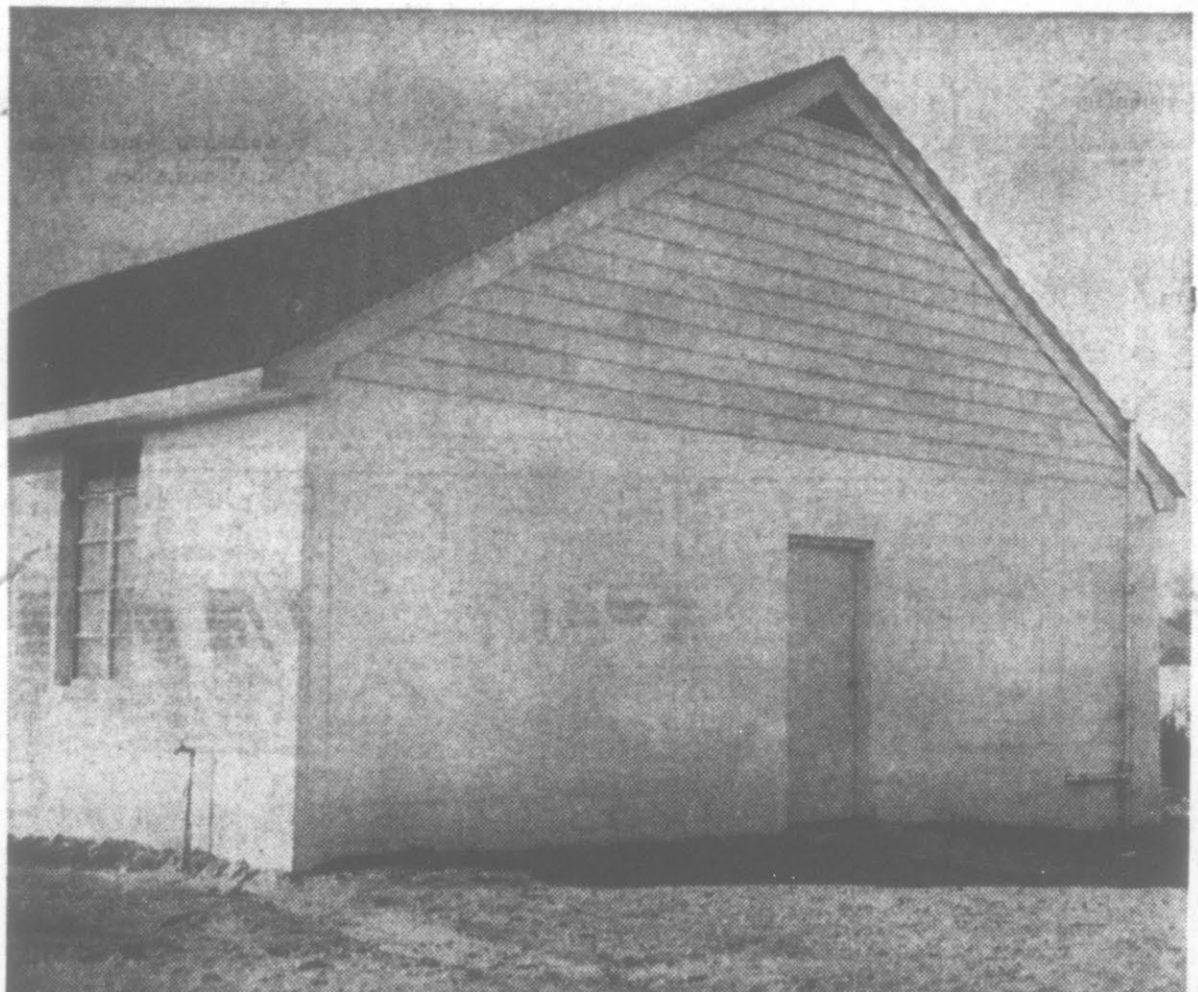

The date of organization of Maranatha was January, 1957. At the time the services were held in a house in Colonial Heights and then moved to Coghill in February, 1958.

There has been a 75 per cent increase in the church membership since April, 1958 and a 55 per cent increase in the Sunday School.

The Meadowbrook Pentecostal Holiness Church was built in December, 1958. Under the leadership of the Rev. C. C. Cribb and the First Pentecostal Church, the Meadowbrook Church joined the conference in 1957.

Calvary Baptist Church was organized in September, 1957, and the church was built in August, 1959. A rented store on Greene Street was used until the present church was built.

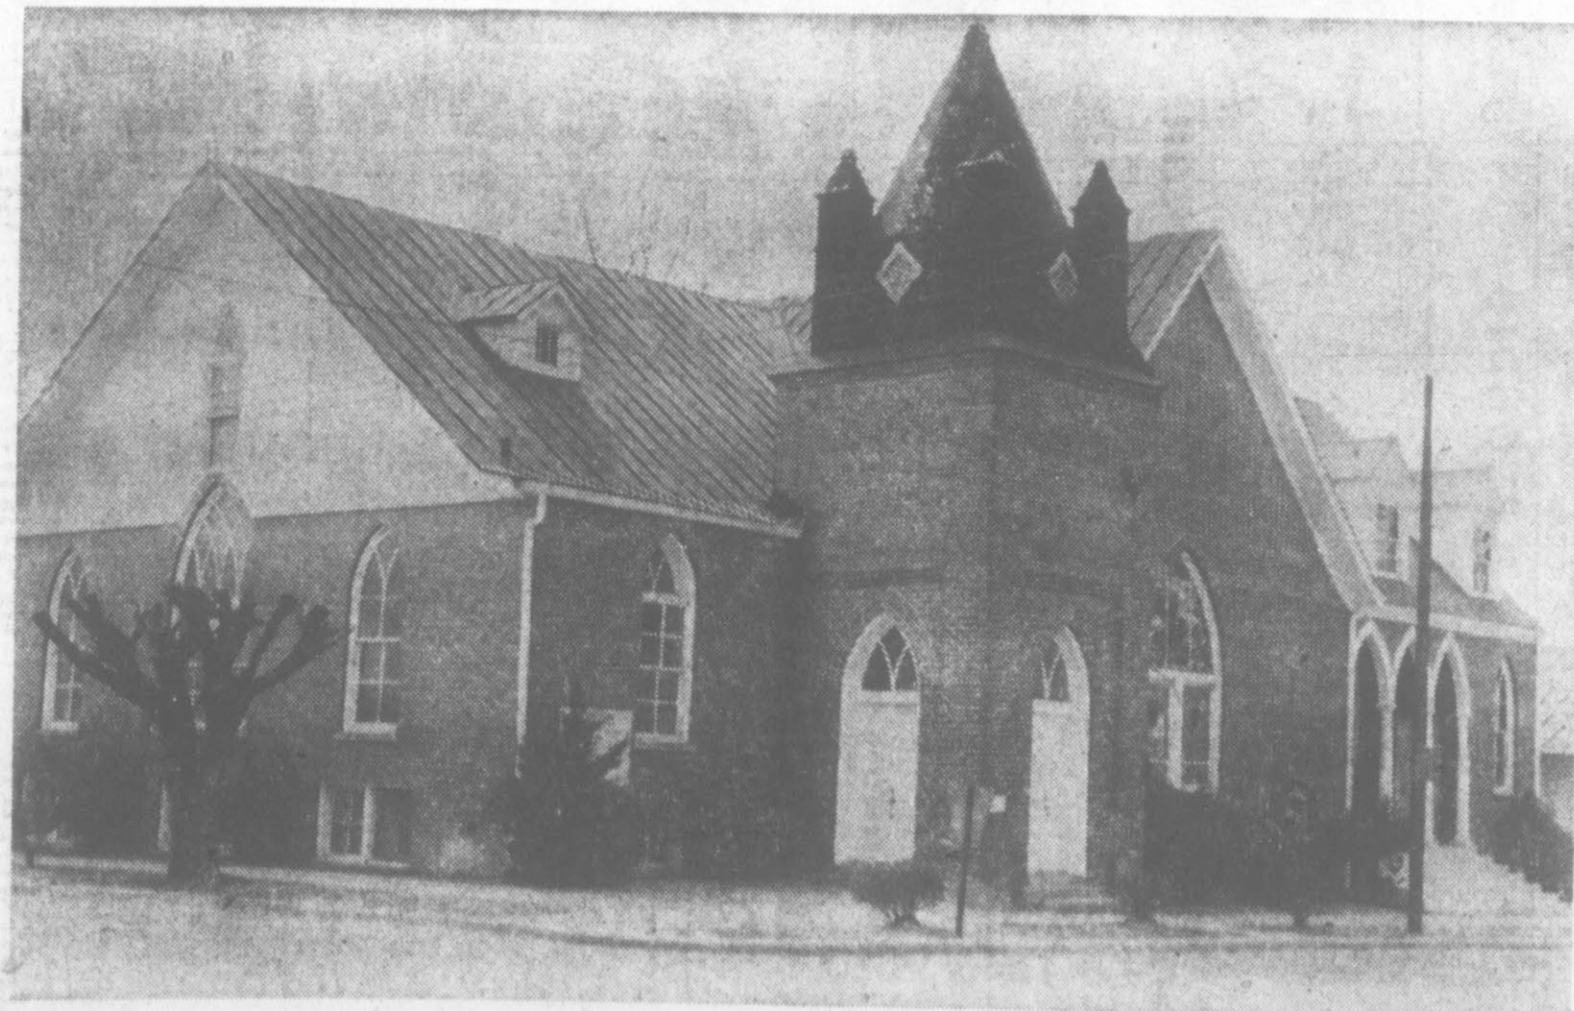

Plans for the future include the addition of a sanctuary to the front of the church.

MEADOWBROOK PENTECOSTAL HOLINESS CHURCH . . . was organized in June 1957, as a Holiness church.

MARANATHA FREE WILL BAPTIST CHURCH . . . congregation met in a rented house in Colonial Heights until the church was built.

GREENVILLE FREE WILL BAPTIST CHURCH . . . located on East 11th Street, was organized in 1902 and the church was built in 1915.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH . . . plans have been made to add a sanctuary to the front of the building in the future.

President To See Chile Fighting Inflation

By BEN BASSETT
 AP Foreign News Editor
 SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Here in Santiago, a plane passes overhead broadcasting by loudspeaker: "Senora: Denounce the speculators. Do not pay more than the value of goods. Shop around for bargains."

The broadcaster goes on to give some "official" prices for comparison. This is technically an unofficial message, but President Jorge Alessandri's government is behind it. Alessandri is trying to reposition of price controls in a country where the cost of living rose 33 per cent last year.

This and much more make Chile one of the most interesting stops on President Eisenhower's route in South America this month.

He will find this capital city of 1,500,000 lacks Buenos Aires' dash and Sao Paulo's drive. But fact sheets prepared for him will show Chile in the last year has found a new stability. Its money, after a long downward spiral, has steadied on world exchanges.

Building construction, long neglected in Santiago, is resuming. A good measure of these conditions can be traced to Alessandri's hardheaded attitude. When he took office 15 months ago, he showed aside a negative policy of restrictions. He saw the solution to Chile's problems in greater production.

Much of that average 33 per cent increase in 1959 living costs was due to an across-the-board wage increase ordered by the government. So far this year, Alessandri has withstood pressure for a new general increase. He fears it would start new spiral of inflation.

Today a dent at least is being made in an old Chilean business philosophy—small volume, big profits. Profit markups of 100 to 200 per cent are not unusual.

Some of the most ordinary things cost extraordinary prices in Chile. Take the common drinking glass of a kind that might sell for 15 cents in the United States. Here the glass, Chilean made, retails at the equivalent of 50 cents. That represents about an hour's work for many a Chilean white collar worker.

Basically, Chile has a mining and agricultural economy with little manufacturing. Automobiles and trucks are not made here. Heavy machinery comes from the United States and Germany, dairy separators from Denmark, radios from Japan. To pay for things it needs, Chile exports around 300 million dollars of copper annually. It also sells iron ore and nitrates.

Eisenhower comes to Chile in the dry midsummer season. Some trees are losing leaves where householders neglect to water their lawns daily. Asters and marigolds are blooming. Fruit orchards are selling nectarines and peaches that would earn any California housewife's respect. The climate, in fact, is similar to southern California's.

This is a country with many ties with the rest of the world. Indian characteristics are frequently seen, but 9 of 10 Chileans are descendants of Europeans or North Americans. You see a lot of European names in the telephone book.

Architecture shows elements of German, French, English and Italian influence. Santiago's tallest building is 17-story hotel surrounded by a swimming pool. Over-all, the city's architecture lacks brilliance. But the downtown Moneda district where government buildings rise—set off now by blooming roses—is impressive to any visitor. Some other parts of the city might give a visitor the idea that growth stopped about 50 years ago.

Chile stretches serpentine down South America's west coast for 2,500 miles. It is hardly 100 miles wide at most points. To the east lie the Andes, snow-capped even in midsummer. This is a land favored by nature, where cattle grow fat and offshore the fish and shrimp are succulent. The visitor cannot help wondering why thousands live in slums.

Chile is a country where the elements of freebooter enterprise have operated from time to time and on the other hand a nation with a social security system that lets a worker retire on full pay after 30 years of labor. Into the social security funds the employer must pay a tax of 40 per cent on a clerk's salary while the clerk himself pays an additional 10 per cent. This means the social security system collects $50 for every $100 in salary.

Communists are few but active, especially in unions. They are making their influence felt but not to the extent of seriously alienating Chilean friendship with the United States. The Chileans will give Eisenhower a hearty welcome.

Steve McQueen Thinks He Can Be Top Movie Draw

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Can a TV star become a top movie draw? Steve McQueen thinks so, and he may be right.

So far it has never happened. Yet here comes McQueen, the bounty hunter of "Wanted Dead or Alive." He recently stole acting honors from Frank Sinatra in "Never So Few." Now he's going to Mexico to co-star with Yul Brynner in "The Magnificent Seven." Then Sinatra himself intends to direct Steven in "The Execution of Private Slovik."

"I think it's ridiculous to say that somebody from TV can't make it in pictures," said the outspoken McQueen. "The movies have been at a standstill for the past two years. They've got to start moving or else.

"The only way they can do it is to inject some new talent into the business. The logical place to find new talent is in TV—not just actors, but directors and writers, too. There is better stuff being done in TV than movies these days, anyway."

The best way of getting to know McQueen is to let him talk. He talks with a refreshing candor.

"Yes, I'm having a ball. I'm doing the things I like to do and I'm not mad at anybody. I guess I'm averaging around $150,000 a year. That's a comfort. Especially after the life I've had.

"I was poor in New York when I started out as an actor. I mean really poor. Starving. I used to latch onto some beautiful girl and offer to give her a guided tour of Greenwich Village. She'd usually buy me lunch, and I'd really load on."

"I came off the farm—Slater, Mo. Not a poor farm, sort of middle-class. I hated the farm life and didn't get along with small-town people. I guess they were just as glad to see me go as I was to get out of there. I was always getting into scrapes."

"I like doing the TV series, though I don't have enough time to get enough quality. Still, I try to keep my character believable; I think it's ridiculous for a Western hero to go in a bar and knock out three guys at once. One of the nicest fan letters I've gotten came from 30 firemen in Butte, Mont. They said they liked the character because it proved there was a little chicken in all of us."

School Testing Program Cited

Principal O. E. Dowd of Junius H. Rose High School discussed the testing program used at the local high school at a meeting of the Greenville Classroom Teachers Association Tuesday in the Rose High cafeteria with some 40 members present.

Dowd cited the purposes of the program and pointed out what it means to both teachers and students. The program includes a follow-up of each high school graduate for two years after graduation.

Mrs. Kara Lynn Fennell reported on CTA meetings she attended in Rocky Mount and Washington, D.C., recently.

During a brief business session, the nominating committee appointed the following officers for 1960-61: Mrs. Grace Carraway, president; Mrs. Selma Allen, vice-president; and Mrs. Dorothy Brown, secretary.

The association voted to send seven delegates to the State CTA Convention scheduled for Asheville in March.

Red Withdrawal Offer Reported

ROME (AP)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was reported today to have offered to withdraw Soviet troops from Hungary if the United States would give up its bases in Italy.

The independent Rome newspaper Messaggero said Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pella told the Italian Cabinet Thursday Khrushchev made the offer on President Giovanni Gronchi's recent trip to the Soviet Union.

The newspaper quoted Pella as saying the Italian delegation replied that the American bases were in Italy in accord with this country's alliance with the West to which Italy is absolutely faithful.

Church Will Have Two Ministers

BETHEL—At the 11:00 o'clock service of the Bethel Baptist Church, one of the Southern Baptist Missionaries from Jordan will deliver the sermon. Rev. William O. Hearn, a native of Cabool, Missouri, will be the Minister in the morning service.

Rev. Justus McKeel, a former member and a student at the Seminary in Wake Forest will be guest minister for the 7:30 p.m. service. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper McKeel of Bethel.

Rev. McKeel is a first-year student in the seminary and also student-pastor at Cerro Gordo, N.C.

The public is invited.

The American scientist Steinmetz discovered the laws of alternating current in 1892.

HELPERS TO MURDER BUEN BARKER

CHAPTER 26 Don Luis Morales watched the wagon until it rumbled slowly out of sight, then he turned away from the window with a sigh.

He ran a small clean rag through the already shining barrel of the handsome sixgun Pete Rayburn had given him a few years before.

It happened more naturally and easily than he had thought it would. Joe Gamel was preoccupied with his own troubles and he had always looked on Don Luis as an absent-minded, doddering old fool.

He looked at him suddenly when Don Luis took the gag out of his mouth and started getting out the cut places on his lips.

"I don't hear no more voices. You all alone now?"

Gamel's pale eyes got a crafty look in them. "You loan Walt a horse?"

"Why, no," said Don Luis vaguely. "He took your wagon and Judy went with him. He asked me to keep you here for a few days."

Gamel flinched and swore as Don Luis dabbed iodine on a cut. "Why, the damned thief!" he exploded, as hotly as if he were an honest man himself.

"Oh, I don't think he intends to keep it," Don Luis protested, still in the same vague tone. "He

Fraternity To Initiate Jenkins

WELCOMED—Pres. Leo W. Jenkins, by Mahlon Coles (right)

Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity is making plans to honor the initiation of Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina College, when he becomes a member of the fraternity on March 19.

The banquet will be a formal affair and only brothers and pledges of the fraternity will attend. Invitations are being extended to alumni of the local chapter, representatives of the other five chapters in the state of North Carolina, and to outstanding Lambda Chi alumni in the field of education.

School Menu

Tuesday—spaghetti with meat balls, tossed salad, buttered green peas, cheese biscuit and butter, fruit salad, milk.

Wednesday—ham biscuit, macaroni and cheese, string beans, apple splendor salad, coconut cake, milk.

Thursday—vegetable beef soup with crackers, bologna and deviled egg sandwich, pineapple and cheese salad, Jello delight, milk.

Friday—fish stick, creamed potatoes, cole slaw, corn muffin and butter, cake square with lemon sauce, milk.

Rocket Bases On Red China Coast

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China's defense ministry reported today that the Chinese Communists have constructed a string of rocket bases along the China mainland coast.

Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, the ministry's spokesman, made the report to a news conference. He gave no details.

Liu also said Red China's air force still has a total of about 3,000 operational planes, 80 per cent of them jets.

He estimated the Chinese Communists have 20 to 30 submarines but discounted a suggestion that one of Peiping's subs might be the mystery submarine which the Argentine navy claims it is chasing in a gulf on the south Argentine coast.

Liu said as far as he knows, the Chinese Communists have no long-range submarines.

More Candidates Chessman Took News Of Newest Reprieve Quietly

LENOIR, N.C. (AP)—The chairman of the North Carolina Republican Party said here today that "I believe that this year we are going to have the largest number of candidates on the county level we have had since the early 1930s."

Chairman William E. Cobb of Morganton added that "We are going to have a full slate of state candidates and we will make a serious race for the state ticket."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the ninth Congressional District convention Cobb said that "with Robert L. Gavin of Sanford heading our state ticket as candidate for governor our chances are better than they have been in years."

He told the convention, meeting in Caldwell County courthouse, that he was confident also North Carolina would give a majority to the Republican presidential nominee.

Chairman For Anniversary Fund

Mrs. George A. Douglas of 1731 Beaumont Dr. has accepted appointment as area chairman for the 75th Anniversary Fund of Goucher College.

Goal for the 75th anniversary fund is $5 million, of which $2 million is expected to be contributed by Goucher alumnae.

The college is a private, independent women's school, founded in Baltimore, Md., in 1885.

Funds will be used to increase endowment for faculty salaries and student scholarships, and for three new buildings needed to complete the new campus in Towson, Md.

A year-long study on "Human Values in the Emerging American City" is a part of the 75th Anniversary observance. Among the topics to be discussed in five seminar sessions are: "The Suburbs: Paradise Regained?" and "The Emerging American City: What Are the Economic, Social and Political Choices?"

A major conference to be held at Goucher April 8-9 will attempt to bring this program to the attention of other liberal arts colleges.

Giacomo Puccini, Italian composer of "La Boheme," "La Tosca" and other popular operas, died in 1924.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Warden Fred Dickson of San Quentin Prison was the first person to inform Caryl Chessman of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's stay of execution. The following is his story as told to Associated Press staffer Harold V. Streeter.

By WARDEN FRED DICKSON San Quentin Prison

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—I happened to be down in the holding cell or death cell, as you might call it, visiting with the condemned man when the governor called.

That was right around midnight, and I had been there since a quarter to nine.

The phone rang. It's just outside the gas chamber. I was advised that the governor's secretary, Cecil Poole, was on the line. He was at the governor's mansion in Sacramento. He said the governor wanted to talk to me. Then the governor got on the line, and first he asked if he had awakened me. I told him no, that I was down at the cell of the condemned man.

He stated, "You can send him back upstairs. I am going to grant him a 60-day reprieve."

That was about the extent of what he said. Then I walked over and told Chessman the governor had granted him a 60-day reprieve.

He looked at me and said, "Warden, you wouldn't kid me, would you?"

"No, I wouldn't kid you about anything like that," I said. Chessman said, "I know it. Then he said 'Just a second, let me get myself together because actually I had resigned myself that this is it.'"

He said, "When you have the opportunity, tell the governor I am very grateful."

Then I called the lieutenant and he had Chessman taken back upstairs.

That's about the end of it. He wasn't particularly emotionally upset, but of course he was shaky as any man would be under those conditions.

Stokes School Finishes Series

STOKES — Stokes Elementary School has completed its In-Training Program as planned earlier in the year, according to an announcement from Principal M. T. Lewis.

The series of one-hour meetings is an annual activity at the local school and Principal Lewis says the program "has been an interesting and informative area of our school program for the past years."

This year's program consisted of 13 installments spread from Sept. 7 to Jan. 13. Each meeting was held at the school here.

PUBLISHING NOVEL MOSCOW (AP)—Ernest Hemingway's novel of the Spanish Civil War, "For Whom the Bell Tolls" will be published as a serial for the first time in the Soviet Union. The Soviet news agency Tass said the serial will appear in the Leningrad literary journal, with Hemingway's authorization.
