GREENVILLE FIRE DEPARTMENT—Lt. Claude Christopher is shown discussing information on the forthcoming North Carolina State Fire College and Drill School with Sherman Pickard and Edwood Insko, both Fire Service Training Officers for the North Carolina Insurance Department. Christopher was selected last week as an instructor for the annual fire school and, after serving a one year probationary period, will receive a permanent appointment to the school. The school, held for one week in May at the Charlotte Fire Department Training Center, has over a dozen instructors and is sponsored by the North Carolina State Firemen's Association. About 1,500 firemen from all over the state attend the school each year. Christopher has served with the Greenville Fire Department for seven years and has been a training officer for the local department for the past two years.

Plan For Vast Organization To Control Disarmament Outlined

GENEVA (AP) — The Western powers today introduced a detailed plan for a vast organization to control every step of a world disarmament treaty. Italian delegate Francesco Cavaletti introduced the plan at the 10-nation disarmament conference on behalf of the five Western powers. Cavaletti said the proposed International Disarmament Organization must have far wider functions than a mere check on agreed arms cuts. His plan called for permanent surveillance of national military budgets and military maneuvers, as well as control of all satellite and missile launchings. Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin made no comment. Instead, he again demanded that the conference begin by agreeing on "general and complete disarmament" and deal with control provisions later. Western officials said today's session of the conference thus produced no progress, but the relaxed atmosphere of the first two weeks of the conference was maintained, Cavaletti defined the functions of the IDO in 10 basic points. He said IDO should: 1. Receive advance notice on launching of any satellite and detailed reports on the satellite's course. 2. Obtain detailed information on existing level of armed forces and conventional armaments. 3. Verify any agreed limitations or reductions. 4. Collect and verify information on national budgets of all countries, including total amounts devoted to military purposes and percentage of military expenditure in total government outlay. 5. Install a worldwide system for control of artificial satellites capable of carrying weapons of mass destruction. 6. Receive prior notice on launching of any long-range missile. 7. Organize a system to control an agreed cutoff of production of nuclear weapons. 8. Organize a system to supervise conversion of all military fissionable materials to peaceful uses. 9. Establish a procedure for inspection and surveillance of military operations, including maneuvers, conducted by all the major powers. 10. Establish a system to give all powers security from surprise attack. From the very start, Cavaletti said, IDO should be a "vast and important organization exercising much more than a mere control" of arms cuts. He said the organization should be headed by a veto-free 14-nation Executive Committee selected on a "strategic, technical and geographical basis," and including permanent and elected members without a veto.

Speakers Prescribe Treating Adult 'Sickness' As A Remedy For Youth

By G. K. HODENFIELD AP Education Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — If there is anything wrong with the young generation, the adults of this country have only themselves to blame. That sentiment, expressed by speaker after speaker, set the tone today as 7,000 delegates to the White House Conference on Children and Youth swung into their first full day's work. The meetings continue through Friday. The cure for what ails youth, they said, must be found by treating the moral sickness of their elders. "The basic problem of the young is not complicated, it is the apathy and perfidy and poor examples of the adult generations," said Miriam D. Hanks of Salt Lake City, an elder of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Elder Hanks' theme, in a speech prepared for one of the five assemblies during the day's activities, was echoed by Prof. Abraham Heschel of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in New York. "We, the grownups have delegated our moral responsibility to the schools, the social agencies, or community funds," he said in his prepared remarks. "We have time for hobbies, for watching baseball; we have no time to help the needy, to sustain the sick, to offer companionship to the lonely, no time to offer guidance to our children. What we need are not more school buildings and more playgrounds, but also the restoration of the home, the resurrection of the parent as a person worthy of being revered as an example of devotion to responsibility." President Eisenhower, formally opening the conference Sunday night, told the delegates to be

Clear Weather Permits City Resume Projects

Clear weather has allowed city and utilities crews to resume work on several outside projects which had been stalled by bad weather. City Manager Leonard Bloxam said curb and gutter is about 90 percent complete on Bancroft Ave. and "with good luck" crews can finish by Wednesday. It is hoped the street will be paved by the middle of next week, he said. Workmen are trying to prepare Madison Circle for paving this week, Bloxam said. The Cherry Hill storm sewer project should be completed today. In the Utilities, a major power transmission line to Ayden is now complete and the new substation north of Ayden is in operation. Some circuits are still to be changed over on the line. However, no interruption of service to Ayden is expected. A transformer which will increase Greenville Utilities capacity to take power from VEPCO lines has arrived here and installation is expected to begin soon. The increased capacity will not be needed before summer, Bloxam said. A gas line to Pitt Memorial Hospital is about 50 percent complete and it is expected the line will be finished this week. It is anticipated that the last section of the city's gas distribution system will be converted to natural gas this week, Bloxam stated. The only section left to be converted is from Ninth St. south to the Norfolk and Southern Railroad and from Charles St. west to the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

Tobacco Plants Coming Through

Pitt County farmers' tobacco plants "are coming through," according to county Farm Agent S. Winchester this morning. "Everybody is much happier since we're finally getting some real Spring weather," the agent said. After several reports from different sections of the county, Winchester said, indications point to the need of water applications to most of the plant beds. Winchester pointed out many beds have not yet shown a good stand of plants, but should begin to indicate final results within the next few days. "Most growers are indicating they are needing water on the plant beds," the agent said. "Those we have talked to, have indicated they will apply water as needed." Winchester continued, "It's a little early to say whether we are going to have enough plants, but we're optimistic." He said Pitt farmers will have a later-than-usual weed crop since late wintry weather slowed down plant-bed growth. Winchester urged growers to "provide sufficient moisture to the beds at all times" during the next few days to give the plants every possible chance to make a good stand.

Jones Rally

A Pitt County Rally for Walter Jones will be held in the Pitt Court House in Greenville Thursday night. A spokesman for the congressional candidate said a band concert will start the rally off at 7:30. The program will begin at 8 p.m. and Jones will make a major address. The candidate will come to Greenville from Farmville by means of a motor caravan. Several couples will act as hosts to welcome those attending as they arrive at the court house. Jones supporters are expected to attend from all sections of the county, a spokesman said. Although the rally is primarily for Pitt County, some supporters from other parts of the district have expressed interest and plan to attend.

Three Bomb Blasts Are Prelude To Five Deaths

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Three bomb blasts in separate sections of Oklahoma City Saturday night were the grim prelude to an air disaster which took five lives Sunday. There were no injuries in the blasts which damaged homes and autos owned by three production employees of the Oklahoma Publishing Co. The explosions occurred within 90 minutes of each other. Officers called for demolition experts from Ft. Sill, Okla., to determine the nature of the explosions. A giant Army transport helicopter which carried the demolition experts here, crashed during a landing approach after the return to Ft. Sill. All five crewmen aboard were killed. They were: C.W.O. Dewey L. Seigler, 32, Waihalla, S.C., pilot; C.W.O. Carl V. Ayers, 32, Carrizo Springs, Tex., copilot; Sgt. Raymond D. Pestana, 32, Honolulu, Hawaii, crew chief; Sp.5c. John C. Dollahite, Jr., Blanco, Tex., and Sp.4c. Weldon D. Amason, 20, Pineland, Tex. An Army spokesman said the twin-engine H37 helicopter apparently plunged nose first through a fog into the ground. The demolition experts later returned to Ft. Sill by auto with samples of materials from the explosions here. The blasts damaged the homes of Mrs. Walter Sherry, Jr., Bill Martin, and Alvin Winn. Autos owned by Sherry and Martin also were damaged. Police said they were investigating the possibility of a connection between the blasts and two residential fires March 20. The fires damaged a home owned by Marvin Hawkins, and another house formerly occupied by Dave Wilson. Wilson and Hawkins are also production employees of the Oklahoma Publishing Co. which publishes the Daily Oklahoman and Times.

Three Break-Ins During Weekend

About $50 in money was reported stolen and heavy damage done over the weekend as vandals entered three local business concerns. Greenville detectives said about $49.50 was taken from the cash register of Cold Storage Inc. at 309 West 9th St. after a thief entered the building through a rear window sometime Sunday. A thief also entered the Colonial Ice Company across the street from Cold Storage Inc. but nothing was reported missing, officers said. A vandal entered the Stafford Oldsmobile Company garage on Cotanche St. through a window Sunday and broke 12 eggs over a 1957 model car in the shop. Investigators said the eggs had been left in the building by an employee. The vandal also entered a building being operated by the auto firm across the street and damaged a new 1960 model car parked in the building. Police said the building was entered through a window and the vehicle was driven around in the building damaging the side of the car. Nothing was reported stolen from the buildings. Detectives, who said no arrests have been made yet, noted the cases are still under investigation.

The report described as Hoffa's "inclination to corrupt" his purported offer to pay disputed legal fees to Godfrey P. Schmidt, then a court-appointed monitor, if Schmidt would resign and let someone more friendly to Hoffa take over the job. The report said the case of Abe Gordon in New York shows "the appalling consequences of racketeer infiltration of a union." It said Gordon, a pal of mobster (Johnny Dio) Dioguardia, runs a truck line that "hasn't had a contract with the Teamsters since 1946 and his drivers are paid below prevailing union scale."

Hoffa offer has pledged to clean up the Teamsters. But the committee said it found conditions just as bad now, as in 1957 and 1958 when it found "shocking and disgraceful" corruption and abuse of union members. UF Directors To Meet Thursday

The annual meeting of the Pitt County United Fund Board of Directors is scheduled for Thursday night at 7:30 in the Community Room of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co. Building. The election of officers and the transaction of other business is on the agenda.

Midwestern Demos Ready To Fight Nixon And Dixie

DETROIT (AP) — Midwestern Democratic leaders with battle banners flying scattered today from a weekend conference that left the nation's heartland wide open territory in the battle for the party presidential nomination. They were ready to take on Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the upcoming campaign against the GOP and their own Southern colleagues on the blazing civil rights issue. But for the most part they were unwilling as yet to commit themselves on a Democratic presidential candidate. Sens. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts came to the 14-state conference courting support for the nomination. All are top-flight contenders, all got negative results and all went away with no important gains—or losses. But the three-day rally did touch off sparks that could ignite another one of those roaring North-South feuds at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles next July. There were friendly words for Southern Democrats and disavowals of any intent to drive them into bolting the party. Still, the conference launched without a dissenting voice a drive for a platform plank on civil rights that convention delegates from Dixie couldn't possibly accept. The Midwestern leaders approved and recommended to the convention a pledge to those and full power of the White House and Congress behind guarantees to all Americans of equality in voting, schooling, housing and eating at lunch counters. National Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler, who often rubs Southerners — and others — the wrong way, gave the whole performance unstinting support. Butler also informally invited loyal Southern Democrats to pick their own delegates to the Los Angeles convention to challenge any rebels who refuse to back the party nominees. This could lead to a whole series of scraps, winding up in a showdown on the convention floor, or even a party split and a Southern walkout. The Butler bid was directed toward loyalists in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. These states have put through laws under which they can put unpledged presidential electors on the ballot next November if the state party organization rejects the national ticket. The trio of presidential aspirants had no part in putting across a civil rights proposal packed with political TNT. They had only oratorical roles at the conference, and again at a rally sponsored by the United Auto Workers Union. Rarely do three candidates appear side by side and speak in turn. But here they did it twice in one day. Measured by the volume of applause, nobody was a startling standout. Humphrey was the featured speaker at a luncheon which closed out the conference and got more time and more of a hand than his rivals. Humphrey got off a two-listed attack against bigotry. He called for a reform in immigration laws and said a Democratic president will show real leadership in that direction.

Senate Rackets Committee Invites Attacks On Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rackets committee today invited the courts and executive agencies to swing any Sunday punch that might be aimed at removing James R. Hoffa as Teamsters Union president. The committee, in a report to the Senate, called Hoffa an ally of gangsters, betrayer of fellow unionists, and a corrupter of men. Ending three years of investigation, during which it repeatedly called him a disgrace to the labor movement, the committee voiced this unanimous declaration: "From this point on the fate and future of James R. Hoffa rest with the executive and judicial branches of the government, the monitors (a court appointed group created to try to police the Teamsters) and inevitably with his own members." "The decent elements of organized labor have hung a parish's label" on Hoffa, the committee said, renewing its 1953 finding that he should be ousted. "If Hoffa is successful in combatting the combined weight of the U.S. government and public opinion, the cause of decent unionism is lost and labor-management relations in this country will return to the jungle era," it said. "Plundering of union treasuries and health and welfare funds, ruthless denial of democratic procedures, and outright betrayal of rank and file members were clearly established," the committee charged. It said Hoffa had bargained away wages and other benefits Midwest Teamsters might have received, then undermined Teamsters wage levels in New York so his Midwest contracts wouldn't look too bad. Hoffa said he always got for the Teamsters the best contracts in the whole collective bargaining field. The committee said this claim has been exploded. The committee said Hoffa's own testimony "taken as a whole is unworthy of belief." It called it "a practically unfathomable mixture of ambiguity, verbosity, audacity and mendacity." The committee alleged that Hoffa forced union members to let him bargain away many of their fringe benefits in a contract with Riss & Co. of Kansas City, Mo., a big trucking firm, and Trans-American Freight Lines, Inc., of Detroit. The report described as Hoffa's "inclination to corrupt" his purported offer to pay disputed legal fees to Godfrey P. Schmidt, then a court-appointed monitor, if Schmidt would resign and let someone more friendly to Hoffa take over the job. The report said the case of Abe Gordon in New York shows "the appalling consequences of racketeer infiltration of a union." Cotton Growers Urged To Release Unused Acreage

Pitt County ASC office Manager Wayne L. Wang this morning urged the county's farmers who are not planning to plant their cotton acreage allotments this year to release them by the extended April 8 deadline. Wang pointed out the county's total allotment must be planted this year in order to maintain the same acreage figure next year. By the original March 20 deadline, 141 county farms had released 520 acres of cotton. The county ASC committee extended the deadline because of weather conditions that indicate the planting seasons will be slightly later than normal this year in this area. Wang said today he anticipates Pitt County will be allowed some 300 acres of cotton allotted to Piedmont, N.C., counties that have been released to the state ASC office. Coupled with the 520 acres released locally, the extra cotton will nearly fill the request of 416 farms that have asked for nearly 910 additional acres. Total cotton planted in Pitt last year was 8,304.8 on 1,662 farms. If farmers in the county either plant or release all cotton allotments, all imported acreage will be in addition to last year's total figure. Acreage releases in the county apply only to this season. Next year, allotments will be returned to original farms.

Girl Scouts Help In Art Center Work

BUSY GIRL SCOUTS . . . Linda Compton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Compton, and Lou Horne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horne Jr., paint chairs to help ready the Greenville Art Center for its formal opening.

Work continued during the weekend on renovations at the new Greenville Art Center, located on Evans Street. Saturday morning several Girl Scout troops and their leaders painted folding chairs and decorated Easter eggs for displays on the tentative Easter Sunday opening of the Art Center. Later in the afternoon, Boy Scouts from Explorer Post 340, accompanied by their leader, William Stancil, worked in the building. Girl Scout troops included 28, 30 and 46. Mrs. Robert E. Cramer, Girl Scout leader, Mrs. Robert K. Stuart, Mrs. D. R. Petterson and Mrs. Harold Hoke were also present to work on renovations. Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, director of the Greenville Art Center, said several firms have given paint to be used in the redecorating. These included Ramsaur Tile, Western Auto, Williams and 10, Ken's Furniture Store, Cozart's Auto Service, Haynes Petroleum Corp. and Pitt Hardware.

Alison Moss To Give Recital

Alison Hearne Moss, soprano, graduate student of voice at East Carolina College, will appear in a song recital Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. in McGinnis auditorium.

The program, sponsored by the college department of music, will be the first recital to be given by a graduate student as partial fulfillment of the requirements for the master of arts in music education. In May she will be a featured soloist with the East Carolina Orchestra and at present she is soloist in the First Presbyterian Church Choir in Greenville.

Songs chosen for the evening include groups in English, German, and French. As a special feature she will perform the "Der Hirt auf dem Felsen," by Schubert written for voice, piano, and clarinet. Appearing with Mrs. Moss and Mr. Perry on this number will be Luther Gillon, junior from Kannapolis.

If you place frankfurters on a rack in a shallow pan you can heat them in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 15 or 20 minutes. Nice idea when there are a lot of franks to heat for a crowd.

RALEIGH — April and Easter-time will see southern food stores well stocked with cranberry products and other traditional favorites such as eggs and smoked hams, says Mrs. Ruby P. Uzzle, consumer marketing specialist for the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, which features cranberry products at the top of its April plentiful foods list, reports stocks of cranberry products — jellied cranberry sauce, whole cranberry sauce, and cranberry juice.

Other foods to be plentiful in April in addition to pork and eggs are broilers, milk and dairy products, shrimp, rice, carrots, canned freestone peaches, fresh dates, almonds and filberts, peanuts and peanut butter, raisins, and lard.

Abundant pork supplies from the third largest fall pig crop last year on record will be available in April, and plentiful smoked hams are assured for Eastern menus. April broiler marketings are expected to be slightly above a year ago, when they were record-high for the month.

A seasonally heavy output of eggs by farm flocks is expected to reach its peak in April, and with an abundance of eggs, retail prices will favor consumers. Milk and dairy products also will be seasonally plentiful.

Heavy holdings of frozen shrimp are reported, and meal-planners will find plenty of rice to go with shrimp. Excellent supplies of fresh dates from a heavy production in California are available along with generous supplies of almonds and filberts. Raisins also are plentiful. In addition, plenty of peanuts and peanut butter are assured as a result of heavy southern crops last year.

Miss Janet Pinney, who collects and cares for the toy exhibits at the museum, has both these qualities in abundance so she enjoys her work as much as young visitors to the museum enjoy the results of her efforts. Miss Pinney even launders doll clothes carefully by hand on her days off, and she's surgeon to the dolls that need "operations."

Delightful appetizer: cooked shrimp marinated in a tangy French dressing and served on small-size skewers with chunks of fresh pineapple. Small pieces of soap are annoying. Run hot water over both the new cake and old small piece. Press together, let dry, and you'll have one solid cake.

With The Farm Women

By MAIDRED MORRIS

(Items this week from Lenoir, Tyrrell, New Hanover, Alexander, Forsyth, and Transylvania Counties)

Early Planting

Do you have a plan for landscaping your yard? Mr. and Mrs. Tully Hill, Kingston, Rt. 4, have a plan which will greatly add to the beauty of their yard when the landscaping is completed.

Mrs. Marie Penul, home economics agent in Lenoir County, reports the Hills have recently graded their yard and planted centipede grass over the entire area. Only screen plantings and some pines will be planted this spring but foundation plants will probably be added in the fall.

Tailoring Techniques

Approximately $380 was saved by seven Home Demonstration Club women in Tyrrell County by learning to tailor suits, reports Mrs. Ann Davenport, home economics agent.

Mrs. D. A. Simmons, Mrs. Worth

Pearch, Mrs. Iredell Hassell, Mrs. Floyd Hollis, Mrs. Clyde Sawyer, Mrs. Abner Harrell, and Mrs. J. S. Howett learned the latest tailoring techniques. These women will go back to their local communities to conduct workshops.

Old Lampshades

With a little "know-how," old lamp shades can look like new. Prior to a workshop in New Hanover County, Miss Verna Belle Lowery, home economics agent, advised the Home Demonstration women to remove the old lamp shade covering. They rubbed the frame with steel wool and painted the frame with white enamel paint.

At the workshop, the women covered the frames and trimmed the shades. They found it cost six to eight times less to make a shade than buy one. By covering the original frame, they were sure of the size and shape for the lamp.

Leaders Function

While the leaders in Alexander County were giving the monthly demonstrations on "New Fabrics," the home economics agent, Mrs. Agnes W. Watts, was conducting workshops in tailoring. The leaders encouraged the women to read labels and buy wisely.

Following a demonstration on tailoring tips, pressing equipment, and how to press, each woman made a bound buttoning technique. Mrs. Wade Campbell, Taylorsville, made a coat following the workshop.

Japanese Beetle

The Japanese beetle has become a major pest in Forsyth County. After publicizing its damage and how to control it, there is now an organized drive underway to get rid of it.

Everyone treating their lawn for the beetle will get a bright colored flag to display showing they have cooperated. The campaign will run from March 21 to April 4.

Furniture Refinishing

Mrs. L. C. Case of the Lake Toxaway community in Transylvania County has been refinishing old furniture. After struggling along on a chest of drawers for a long time, her husband became interested and decided to help. Mrs. Ruby P. Corpening, assistant home economics agent, reports that now Case is planning to help his wife refinish an old round table and chair that belonged to his parents.

Flavor creamed chicken with a little sherry and pour over cooked broccoli; sprinkle with grated Romano or Parmesan cheese and broil.

Several Hundred Attend Benefit Dance

THE PITT CO. SOCIETY FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN AND ADULTS . . . sponsored a dance Saturday night at the local Moose Lodge for the benefit of Pitt Co. crippled children. The Moose organization provided the hall and band for the dance. Proceeds will be utilized for braces, artificial limbs, shoes, hearing aids, x-ray equipment and hospital transportation. Shown above are, left to right, Larry Averette, treasurer of the society; Mrs. D. J. Whichard, II, president of the society; and Ell Bloom, Moose entertainment chairman.

Medical Auxiliary Announces Officers

New officers of the Pitt County Medical Auxiliary were elected at their March meeting at the home of Mrs. M. P. Hoot.

They are Mrs. S. R. Bartlett, president; Mrs. D. L. Moore, president-elect; Mrs. F. P. Brooks, secretary; and Mrs. D. B. Armistead, treasurer.

Mrs. Philip Nelson was welcomed into the auxiliary as a new member by the outgoing president, Mrs. Earl Trevathan. New committees and committee chairmen were appointed by Mrs. Bartlett, the new president.

Reports and plans were announced by the Library Committee, Para-Medical Committee, Legislative Committee and the Doctor's Day Committee.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was Dr. Karla Nelson, a child psychiatrist.

Dr. Nelson, originally from Mannheim, Germany, is presently residing in Greenville.

She received her education from Heidelberg University in Germany and Duke University in Durham, N. C. where she also taught prior to coming to Greenville.

Dr. Nelson's subject was "Child Psychiatry," relatively who qualifies as a child psychiatrist, what the child psychiatrist does and problems dealt with, who these psychiatrists are, what they see (pertaining to small children and the adolescents), and how they work with the child.

Following her talk, an informal question-and-answer forum was held.

Prior to the adjournment, coffee, nuts, sandwiches and sweets were served by Mrs. Hoot and the co-hostesses. Co-hostesses were Mrs. F. B. Haar, Mrs. Herbert Hadley, Mrs. Harold Hoke, and Mrs. C. M. Jones.

Select A Good Book For Child's Birthday

RALEIGH — A book, suited to the child's age and interest, is one of the best choices for a birthday gift or for some other special occasion, suggests Mrs. Corinne Grimsley, family relations specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service.

Mrs. Grimsley reminds parents, friends and relatives that children need good books just as they need toys and games during each period of growing up. She adds that the influence of a good book often lasts long after the toys are discarded and forgotten.

In shopping for children's books, Mrs. Grimsley urges considering the interests, abilities, age, and grade of the boy or girl who is to receive it. The first book often is nursery rhymes. Clear color illustrations and large clear print are especially worth considering. After that the child may be ready for collections of famous stories—fairy tales, legends, nature or animal stories. The librarian at the nearest school or public library may be consulted for lists of recommended books for children at different ages.

After the basic books, a child's home library should be custom-built—chosen according to the growing interests of youth as well as the special interests of each child as an individual. Living with books allows the child to have a close, personal feeling about his reading. Even the smallest home library, if well chosen, can build lifelong friendships with books.

Irons Design For Left-Handed Users

RALEIGH — A feature left-handed people may look for when purchasing irons is the location of the attachment for the cord.

Several manufacturers have designed irons for left-handed users. Some have a cord that can be moved from one side of the iron to the other. Others have a left-handed version of their iron available. Ask about the availability of this left-handed version when buying an iron.

Check instruction manuals as you compare different irons for directions on how to change the cord from one side to the other. If these instructions are given, this may become a do-it-yourself project or one that the dealers or Anyone selecting an iron will want to try holding the iron to determine if the location of the cord is suitable. It appears that the cord to either the left or the right side of the iron is preferred by users.

Hopes For 2 More, Says Mother Of 18 Children

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (AP)—The birth of a girl to Mrs. Leonard Collins brought the number of children to 18 but the 43-year-old housewife says she doesn't want to stop there. She would like two more.

Mrs. Collins, still slim and youthful despite the demands of her large household, says she is happiest when surrounded by the children.

She, her husband and 13 of the children now at home live in an unfinished 8-room house on the outskirts of this city. The home has a combination dining-room-kitchen, a living room and four bedrooms.

"Dormitories might be a better word than bedrooms," Mrs. Collins says. "There one for the girl, one for the boys, a nursery and a room for my husband and me."

Of the 18 children—10 girls, and eight boys—Lenore, 20, is married, her twin brother, Leonard, lives in British Columbia, and Roy, 19, is studying for the Roman Catholic priesthood.

The food bill for the Collins family amounts to $50 a week because as we have to be thrifty," Mrs. Collins says. They eat 40 loaves of bread a week.

Mrs. Collins has no special system for raising her children. "We haven't had time for theories. The younger ones take after the older—what they see they do. I guess the best way to keep children out of mischief is to keep them busy and there's plenty for mine to do."

CHAPTER 21

Fred Duncan's widowed daughter-in-law Ruth lived in the East Seventies, where an occasional luxury apartment. I climbed three flights of a narrow stairway and found her bell.

The door was opened by a small boy, under four years old. "Good morning," I said. "Who are you?" he asked with a child's directness.

"Scott Jordan."

"My name is Peter."

"How do you do, Peter?"

"Are you another policeman?"

"Not exactly. Where is your mama?"

"Down in the basement. She'll be up."

He stopped because the door opened and a woman entered carrying a basket piled high with laundry. A little girl with enormous eyes trailed along hanging onto her skirt.

There was a pull of worry and resignation at her mouth as she put the basket down. "Oh, heavens, more question."

"I'm not a detective, Mrs. Duncan."

She looked at me, frowning, a slender woman with a careworn face and tired eyes. Her mouth was soft, yet proud at the same time.

"I'm a lawyer," I said. "My name is Jordan—Scott Jordan."

She turned at once to the boy. "Peter, dear, take Linda into the kitchen and play with your coloring set."

No insurance. He was one of those rare children who obey unquestioningly. He gave me a smile, reached for his sister's hand, and tugged her through the door.

"You're the lawyer for the other side, aren't you?" Ruth Duncan asked me openly.

"It's not quite that simple," I said.

"What do you mean?"

"In an odd kind of way, Mrs. Duncan, I'm really on both sides. I'm trying to find the man who stole your father—in-law's money. And if I do find him, I intend to see that it is paid to Fred's legitimate heirs. Your children, most likely."

She stood, dubious and uncertain.

"Some people don't trust lawyers," I said. "They have the impression we're a devious breed. If you have any doubts about my intentions or my integrity, I suggest you call Fred's lawyer, Irving Birnbaum. Or check with Lieutenant John Nola at Homicide West. He's in charge of the investigation on what happened last night. As a matter of face, he's the man who gave me your address."

She shook her head slowly. "I don't believe it's necessary to call anyone, Mr. Jordan. Fred mentioned your name several times. I think he trusted you."

"You know that he signed an affidavit at my request?"

"Yes, he told me."

"Did he also tell you anything about Ernie Strobe?"

Her lips tightened and she averted her eyes.

"Please, Mrs. Duncan. This is no time for silence."

She thought a moment and reached a reluctant decision, speaking with an effort. "He said that Sergeant Strobe had threatened him."

"Where?"

"At the bank. Yesterday. Strobe went there and told Fred he'd better admit the book was a hoax or he'd never live to enjoy the money." She paused to get her lips under control. "Well, he didn't live long enough to get the money."

"I think Adam Coleman is innocent, Mrs. Duncan. And Strobe had an entirely different version of his encounter with Fred. He said Fred agrees to recant, to admit the book was fiction, based on lies."

She bristled with indignation. "That's not true. Fred never made such a statement. He put everything down exactly as it happened."

"Will you swear to that, if necessary?"

"Of course."

"And he told you all about his book?"

"He didn't have to. He wrote it in longhand and I did the typing."

"He never discussed the main event, the night Keller was killed?"

"Not until he started writing the book. And then I realized how much it bothered him. He knew he should have spoken up at the time and he was disgusted with himself for being a coward."

"But he was trapped by the system and he was trying to avoid trouble. He was afraid of losing his job. But then he lost it anyway."

"He loved his grandchildren, Peter and Linda. And he was determined to make a life for them. I'm not sure he would ever have written the book if not for them. He didn't want the money for himself. His salary and pension more than covered his personal needs. But he felt the kids ought to have an education and a decent start. He was going to invest the fifty thousand dollars in a trust for them."

"That stung her eyes and she shook her head violently."

"No one knew Fred Duncan better than I. We were both lonely and he spent a lot of time here, talking. If he made up that story about Keller, I'd know it. Every word he wrote was true. Why do you think he never got any of that bribery money? Because they knew he wouldn't take it."

"You never met Ernie Strobe?"

"No." She swallowed and bit her lip, holding back.

"What is it, Mrs. Duncan. I think you'd better tell me."

She hungered for a sympathetic ear and the words came swiftly. "It—it may have been Strobe who called yesterday."

"About what?"

"About the kids. He said if I loved them if I didn't want anything to happen to them, and if I had any influence with Fred, I'd make him back down on all that stuff he wrote in his book."

"You didn't recognize the voice?"

"No. I'd never heard it before."

"What time?"

"Around three in the afternoon."

"Did you tell Fred?"

"Yes. He was here for dinner last night. He said it was a bluff, but I could see he was worried. And he didn't want to take any chances. He had some money saved up and he wanted to send me and the kids away until this whole thing blew over. We were going to leave tomorrow."

"What time did Fred leave here last night?"

"About nine."

"Did he say where he was going?"

"No. But he seemed a little excited."

I stood up. "You've been very helpful, Mrs. Duncan. I don't want to make any promises about that money, but—well, let's wait and see."

She managed a small smile. "Say good-bye to Peter for me."

"The lady wants trouble, we'll give it to her," Scott Jordan threatens, his blood pressure skyrocketing. Continue the story tomorrow.

No one has ever identified the wise man who said: "Some people tell us there ain't no hell. But they never farmed, so how can they tell?"

Helps His Wife Obtain Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Robert Storr helped his wife obtain a divorce on grounds of cruelty Wednesday.

Mrs. Storr, an actress known as Sandra Lane, was short on corroborating witnesses, so her husband took the stand to back up her testimony that he sometimes walked out on her at parties.

Mrs. Storr's lawyer then took the stand to corroborate the corroborating testimony, saying that he saw Storr walk out on her once, leaving her crying. He was sworn in as a witness to show there was no collusion between the couple in the divorce.

Storr is 23, his wife 20. She did not ask for alimony.

New Bread-Making Process Explained

Representatives from ten Eastern North Carolina newspapers toured the Franklin Baking Company in Goldsboro yesterday and viewed the operation of the new "batter whipped" bread making process, the baking industry's most recent production achievement.

E. T. Franklin, president of the baking company, is shown above explaining the operation of a new control panel for the "continuous mix" bread making process.

This new process adopted recently by the Made Rite Sunbeam Bakery will result in the production of "the perfect loaf of bread which will give customers two more edible slices than found in ordinary bread, the end slices equivalent to center slices," Franklin said.

The "Batter Whipped" process employs a high speed mixer to blend the dough producing a bread that is free of "air holes" and unevenness and has a "very edible crust," the bakery president continued.

Explaining that one of the major

Sokolsky Col..

Secondly, the point is made that de Toledano, "working for Newsweek," discovers new saints in Hoover, Nixon and Chambers, meaning, of course, Whitaker. This is cheap stuff. A reporter knows many persons of all kinds. I have, for instance, known Earl Browder, Thomas Lamont, Elsa Maxwell, and Frank Costello. I also knew intimately Sun Yat-sen and at one time saw quite a bit of Leon Trotsky and J. Stalin and Bernard Macfadden. What does all this prove?

It only proves that whoever wrote the paragraph in the Virginia Kirkus review never met Herbert Hoover, Richard Nixon or Whitaker Chambers and cannot boast about their acquaintance.

What this book-letter actually attempts to do is to murder a book prior to its publication. In the last sentence, it practically advises bookstores not to stock a book which was obviously beyond the understanding of the mind of the person who undertook the job of killing it.

This should not be read as a review of the de Toledano book which I shall some day criticize more seriously. It should be read as a protest against book-burning.

Bible Training Seminar Slated

A mass public Bible training seminar has been announced by the Greenville Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held in New Bern April 22-24 at the Masonic Sudan Temple.

In making the announcement, W. R. Nichols, presiding minister of the local congregation, said this was to be the first of two such conventions to be held in 1960 in eastern North Carolina.

Nichols, when discussing the announcement with the Greenville group, encouraged all to begin making plans to be in attendance all three days and to invite their friends and neighbors to attend also. He explained that the Bible counsel to be presented could be brought home and applied to their daily lives and those with whom they come in contact.

Highlighting the importance of family knowledge, Nichols said, "These Bible conventions call attention to parental responsibility toward their children and when properly applied practically eliminates juvenile delinquency from among our young people." Nichols then called attention to the concerns of the bread baker in the lack of uniformly in successive flour shipments, which necessitates constant adjustment of dough process and formula, he said, "the new process has completely eliminated this problem for us."

Franklin described the "Batter Whipped" process as having the following basic steps.

1. The forming of a broth composed of yeast fermented in a solution of nutrients, adding sugar, salt and milk. By a flow process, this broth is transmitted in sanitary piping to the next production step.

2. The broth is blended with metered quantities of vegetable shortening and flour into a pre-mixer for about one and one half to two minutes. The dough is then automatically dispatched into the next and final stage.

3. It is then processed through a special "developer" for about three minutes and extruded into bread pans which are automatically conveyed through the final stages of proofing and baking.

"Batter Whipped Bread is a completely new concept in baking," Franklin points out. Whereas old methods found dough mixed in large batches with un-uniform results, the new process mixes doughs in small quantities at high speed and provides a loaf of better texture with no holes or flour streaks . . . a bread that stays fresher longer with baked in flavor appeal.

Run-Off Slated For Presidency Of College SGA

With Barney West of Durham and James H. Speight of Kinston as candidates for the presidency of the Student Government Association at East Carolina College, a run-off election will be conducted on the campus Tuesday, March 29. A campus-wide election Thursday with West, Speight, and W. L. Hamilton Jr. of Raleigh in the running for the top student office eliminated Hamilton as a candidate but failed to elect either of the two other candidates.

With 1825 students casting their ballots, Speight received a vote of 730 and West of 737.

Announced as successful candidates in last Thursday's elections were the following students who will serve in major SGA offices during 1960-1961: William T. Nichols, Greenville, vice president; Barbara Jones, Raleigh, secretary; Charles R. Munn, Rockingham, treasurer; Robert A. Ward, Greensboro, assistant treasurer; and Gloria Hoffer, Hobbsville, historian.

NEW, IMPROVED BATTER WHIPPED SUNBEAM

Why we took the secret from your own kitchens

You know that mixing at high speed, rather than by hand, turns out far better whipped cream. So we perfected the same high-speed method for making Sunbeam Bread. No more beating mountains of dough the slow, old-fashioned way! New Sunbeam is whipped like cream. The result is truly new and better bread.

Mixing in small batches — the key to smoothness

The batter is whipped a little at a time—as you would in your own kitchen. That's the best way to get the extra smoothness so essential to eating enjoyment. Regular bread mixed a ton at a time can't compare with new Sunbeam for uniform texture, flavor and lasting freshness.

Miracle mixer blends perfectly to bring out flavor

Our exclusive mixer mellows the batter more thoroughly and quickly than under regular mixing conditions. The fine ingredients are blended into a completely uniform mixture. You know how much thorough mixing adds to food flavor and goodness. See the difference yourself! Taste that delicious Sunbeam flavor!

COMPARE

Look...Feel...Taste...Toast

It's better because it's BATTER WHIPPED

Just one look . . . and you'll see the difference—the fine, smooth texture . . . the perfect slices from one end of the loaf to the other.

Just one bite . . . and you'll discover Sunbeam's tempting flavor. Yes, Sunbeam tastes as good as it looks. You'll discover, too, that it toasts to a rich, golden-brown . . .

that it stays fresher longer. You'll be pleasantly surprised that Sunbeam is such an improvement over regular bread. Our miracle mixer makes Batter Whipped bread possible . . . and only Sunbeam has it.

If you're not using new Sunbeam, make your comparison today. Convince yourself that Sunbeam is really better bread!

Some Think Nixon May Tap Rogers For VP

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The impression is growing among Republicans that Vice President

Richard M. Nixon may tap Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers for second place on the GOP ticket. Rogers, who has worked closely with Nixon as one of his intimate advisers, is 46 years old, personable and vigorous. He hails from New York.

When Rogers' record as a civil rights advocate is added to these attributes of age, ability and geography, some of Nixon's friends think they total up to just what the Republicans are looking for in the way of a vice presidential candidate.

This presupposes that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—who could have it if he wanted it—means it when he says he won't take second place on the ticket. The Nixon camp thinks he does mean it.

Whatever his own thoughts about a running mate, Nixon isn't expressing them at this point. One means it when he says he won't take second place on the ticket. The Nixon camp thinks he does mean it.

Whatever his own thoughts about a running mate, Nixon isn't expressing them at this point. One good reason is that he seems to have no intention of picking any of several available men until he gets a look at the Democratic ticket.

If the Democrats should nominate Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), Rogers' chances for second place on the GOP ticket would be likely to boom because of his relative youth and eastern roots. They would not be hurt, either, if Kennedy were to become the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

But if Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, is left off the opposition ticket, Nixon may want a member of that faith running with him. The supposition is that he then would turn to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

But Nixon does not seem disposed to favor a Catholic if the Democrats nominate one for either first or second place. He is reported to feel that this would be regarded as a clumsy political maneuver.

Nobody talks about it in the Nixon camp, but some Republican politicians obviously believe that the GOP Catholic votes Kennedy might collect would be more than offset by those he would lose because of his religious affiliation.

Besides Rogers and Mitchell, Nixon has a long list of other possible second-place candidates to choose from.

They include such men as Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton, a Midwesterner who would be calculated to help the ticket in that critical area; Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) who might help carry the biggest state; Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, a transformed Democrat with appeal for the budget balancers, and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House minority leader and a conservative.

The feeling is general that Nixon wants a running mate who is regarded as at least moderately liberal. The belief is just as general that when the Republican convention gets around to nominating a vice presidential candidate it will have no doubt about whom Nixon wants.

Plan No Probe Of Threat To Ike

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—German police say they plan no investigation of a letter claiming knowledge of a plot to bomb President Eisenhower during the Paris summit conference next month.
A police spokesman said the letter, mailed from nearby Rastatt, obviously was a hoax and the work of a prankster.
The sender claimed to be an active member of the rebel Algerian Liberation Front—the FLN—and said a secret FLN committee had decided to "liquidate" Eisenhower unless he commuted the death sentence of Caryl Chessman, awaiting execution in California.

Grant Provides Year Of Study

Dr. Morton D. Winsberg, faculty member of the department of geography at East Carolina College, has been notified by the Social Science Research Council, New York City, that he has been awarded a fellowship and grant-in-aid for a year of study in Latin America.

Dr. Winsberg will do research and field work in Argentina from August 1960 to August 1961, when he will return to East Carolina.

Dr. Winsberg's work will be a study of the Jewish farmer in Argentina, where there are seventeen Jewish agricultural colonies which have been in existence since the last years of the Nineteenth Century.
These colonies are the outcome of a colonization program begun in 1891, when anti-Semitic feeling was rampant in Eastern Europe, by the Jewish financier and philanthropist Baron Maurice de Hirsch. Between 1891 and 1900 he purchased over 1,500,000 acres of land in Argentina and made it possible for Jewish colonists from Eastern Europe to acquire property and settle in Latin America. By 1941, more than 30,000 Jews were living in seventeen colonies in Argentina.

Dr. Winsberg plans to make a field investigation of all of these colonies during his year in Argentina.
