South Korea's Riots Quelled; Rhee Pledges Redress

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today pledged a redress of grievances as his soldiers smashed the last of the riotous resistance which brought this capital to the edge of revolution. New demonstrations were reported in other cities.

be assured of punishment. Those with major grievances can be certain of redress." Lt. Gen. Song Yo-Chan, in charge of the emergency martial law clamped upon five cities Tuesday, said the last major groups of demonstrators had been broken up and their leaders arrested. The rioting over the past two days in Seoul, climaxed by a Sunday march on Rhee's mansion, left a confirmed total of 92 dead and more than 500 wounded or injured, 50 of them critically.

The death toll was expected to climb. This capital looked as if it had been through a wartime battle. Weeping crowds gathered outside hospitals. Bodies were returned to bereaved families. A government consolation payment of 500,000 won—$750—was proclaimed for the bereaved. Rhee's statement, his first in nine days of antigovernment demonstrations which burgeoned into Tuesday's wild violence, made no mention of U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's assertion that the uprisings reflected "popular dissatisfaction over the conduct of the recent election." An uneasy calm settled over the capital while Rhee's Cabinet met on this most grave crisis since Korea became a republic 12 years ago. While troops stood guard at major government buildings, police kept up operations against scattered bands of demonstrators roaming the outskirts of Seoul. Scattered gunfire continued through the night, and shortly after dawn police shot and killed three members of an armed group defying the curfew. New demonstrations were reported in Taegu, Kwangju, Conju, Suwon, Iri and Incheon, but no casualties were reported. Both Taegu and Kwangju are under martial law. The demonstrators are demanding nullification of the March 15 presidential election, in which Rhee won a fourth term and his running mate, Li Kiang-poo, defeated vice president John M. Chang, both by overwhelming votes. The demonstrators charge that Rhee's Liberal party rigged the elections and also accuse the police of brutality against election day demonstrators. The demonstrators drew surprise support Tuesday from U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who charged that Rhee's repressive measures unsuited to a free democracy." He called on the government to protect democratic rights. Many Koreans interpreted the statement as a call for new elections. Rhee's statement appeared a move toward meeting the complaints, but its full meaning remained to be determined. The statement was read to newsmen by a spokesman, and the president himself did not appear. The statement called on the South Korean people to "display their patriotism and follow the instruction of responsible authorities." "The first task is full restoration of law and order — so that necessity for martial law no longer exists," Rhee declared. While promising redress of mafor grievances, the President gave no indication of what the government would do to meet its critics. Rhee's Cabinet met throughout the day, discussing the situation and Herter's censure. Tanks and armed combat troops guarded the Cabinet building and other major public buildings. Buildings still smoked from fires set by Tuesday's rampaging mob. Leaders of Rhee's Liberal party, the opposition Democrats and independents tentatively decided to reconvene the National Assembly Friday to discuss the crisis.

At Midnight, Brasilia Will Become Capital Of Brazil

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—Amid religious ceremony and the throb of samba drums, this glittering, still-unfinished city deep in Brazil's heartland becomes the nation's new capital at the stroke of midnight tonight. Rio de Janeiro—the beautiful waterfront metropolis 600 miles away which has served as the capital since 1763—will become the nation's 21st state, Guanabara. Brasilia, bustling with excitement, Construction workers who have been putting the ultra-modernistic, 300-million-dollar city together for three years dropped their rivet guns and cement buckets and swept up for the historic occasion. For the three and a half days of festivities, Brasilia's 100,000 population is expected to double. Representatives from all over the world are pouring in for the inauguration. Manuel Cardinal Concaves Cerejeira of Portugal will represent Pope John XXIII. U. S. Ambassador John Cabot will represent President Eisenhower, who spent a night in the city of the future during his Latin American tour in February. Everybody who is anybody in Brazil had an invitation for the capital's opening. To cope with the influx the Brazilian air force is running a food airlift, including 200,000 hot dogs. Festivities start at 5 p. m. when Brasilia's first mayor, Ismael Pinheiro, hands over the keys of the city to President Juscelino Kubitschek, who fathered the project in the face of stiff opposition. At 11:30 p. m., Cardinal Cerejeira will celebrate Mass. The city will be plunged into darkness with a beam of light shining on the altar. At midnight, a marine band will strike up the national anthem and every light in the city will flash on. Searchlights will swirl in the sky and the celebration will go into full swing. In the old capital of Rio, church bells will peal and samba bands will play in the streets. But not everyone will celebrate. Many legislators, officials and government employees are bitter at having to leave the comforts of Rio for the wilderness. Other critics objected to the tremendous cost at a time when the nation is struggling in an economic morass. The government will be installed in Brasilia Thursday and Congress will meet in joint session. Parades, religious services, sport events and general merrymaking will continue until late Saturday night. The new city is a long way from completion. It will be building for years to come, at an estimated eventual cost of at least a half billion dollars. Kubitschek plans to make it his headquarters, but only a handful of government officials will remain with him.

Harrell, Peel Address Newly Formed Group

"This meeting is not for any one candidate but for the Democratic party alone . . . but as an individual, you can support any candidate you want to," said Henry Harrell, who spoke to members of the newly formed Pitt County Young Democratic Club which met at the Silo Restaurant last night. Bill McLawhorn of Ayden was elected president of the group while Mrs. E. N. Warren of Belvoir was named vice-president. Mrs. Fenner Allen of Winterville was elected treasurer and Charles Forbes of Greenville was named secretary. Harrell, former chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections from Greenville, told the gathering that the club should stand for and support the Democratic party and not endorse any one candidate, but urged that the members, individually, support any candidate of their choice, by working for him and voting in the election. Harrell also told the group how an election is carried out, explaining how to register and vote. Gilbert Peel of Greenville, also a former chairman of the Pitt election board, urged each member of the club to "stand up and be counted" in each election. He pointed out that "if Pitt County's vote had been reversed in the last presidential election, North Carolina would have gone Republican." "We must keep the government at home where it belongs," Peel noted, by exercising this right to vote. According to President McLawhorn, anyone between the ages of 18 and 40 is eligible to become a member of the organization.

Approve Merger

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Banking Commission today approved merger of the Guaranty Bank & Trust Co. of Greenville with the huge Wachovia Bank & Trust Co.

Merger of the two banks already has been approved by stockholders and directors of both institutions.

The commission also approved merger of the American Bank and Trust Co. of Monroe with the Waxhaw Banking and Trust Co. of Waxhaw.

New Production Credit Ass'n Manager On Job

A new general manager and secretary-treasurer of the Greenville Production Credit Association, J. R. Boswell, took over his new duties here Monday. Boswell was promoted to the positions here from the Graham Production Credit Assn. He succeeds Frank L. Little Jr.

The Guilford County native has been associated with the farm loan organization since 1948. He began his career with Production Credit at a branch office in Reidsville before being promoted to the Graham office.

The Greenville office serves Pitt and Greene Counties and has approximately 1,750 stockholders. Now in its 26th year of operations, the association makes all types of farm loans. During 1959, the local office loaned over $5 million.

Its board of directors include Alton Gardner, Arch J. Flanagan, W. F. Welfare, E. W. Fleming, and Claude K. Grantham.

The new manager is a member of the First Methodist Church of Graham, where he is a member of the Board of Stewards and a past president of the Men's Bible Class. He is president of the North Carolina Cooperative Council.

Boswell is a past member of the Graham Kiwanis Club. He is married to the former Geneva Pleasant of Johnston County and they have a nine-year-old daughter, Nelda. He is now residing at 1911 E. Fourth St. here but his family will remain in Graham until the close of the current school term.

Arrest Boys For Stealing Food

Three Negro brothers, two of whom were arrested only last week, were charged with entering the South Greenville School three times yesterday and robbing the lunch room of food. The boys, one eight, one 11 and the third 12, entered the building early yesterday morning, a second time at noon, and were caught as they entered the school about 5 p. m.

The two older youths were charged with breaking, entering and larceny of Standard Supply Company, Collins Grocery Company, Cold Storage, Inc., and the Colonial Ice Company last week, when the two boys were caught just after entering the Standard Supply Company. They had entered the Colonial Ice Company three times, officers noted.

The loot taken by the youths in the string of robberies included food, small change, pens, pencils and staple gun, detectives said.

They gained entrance to the school by breaking out a window in the building, much the same way as they entered the other business houses.

Investigators quoted the boys as getting something to eat because they were hungry.

The three have been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Hines Files For Commissioner In Grifton Race

GRIFTON—W. A. Hines has become the first to file for one of three positions as city commissioner of Grifton in the May 2 elections, with final filing day not far away. Hines, who filed several days ago, does not hold a political office at this time. He is a resident of Grifton. Three positions as commissioner are open in the coming elections, when the mayor and judge will also be elected.

So far, Wiley Gaskins, incumbent, has been the only candidate for the mayor's office. J. A. Rogers has filed to succeed himself as judge of Grifton Recorder's Court, a position he has held since last December, following the death of Judge George Sauls, who died in October. He, also, has no opposition so far.

This Saturday, April 23, is the final day for filing for the May elections. Saturday, April 30, is challenge day, according to Mrs. Joyce McCoy, town clerk.

Reds Claim Riots Due U. S. Role

LONDON (AP)—The Communist world's newspapers today described the riots in South Korea as an uprising against the regime of President Syngman Rhee and the influence of the United States. The Soviet government organ Izvestia said the demonstrations "foreshadow the inevitable fall of the regime which rests on a double barrier of bayonets — their own, South Korean, and imported, American."

Communist China's New China News Agency said "the fight against Syngman Rhee's Fascist rule is now spreading out in South Korea like a prairie fire." It said the riots in South Korea's principal cities "are an inevitable result of the U. S. occupation and Syngman Rhee's dictatorship."

The Soviet news agency Tass reported 200,000 persons demonstrated in Pyongyang, capital of North Korea, in support of the South Korea dissidents.

Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi expressed grave concern over the bloody riots.

"The fuse that led to the explosion was probably the presidential elections, but we believe it was also the accumulation of dissatisfaction among the people with the policies of the government," Kishi told the House of Representatives.

He dismissed suggestions that Communists were behind the revolt.

European newspapers commented on the United States' role in Korea and on the possible damage to the Western position in Asia.

Britain's liberal News Chronicle said the Rhee government is a "serious embarrassment" to the West. It urged that the United States exert its influence in Korea "to check the cruelties of the government and give democracy a chance."

The Manchester Guardian noted that the Rhee government claimed the riots were Communist-inspired. "If this be true, it has only itself to blame," the paper said. "Rhee prides himself on anti-Communism, but he made that virtue so unattractive that Koreans may be excused for demanding something more."

Herter Cautions Against Suppression Of Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter cautioned Latin American governments today against rushing ahead with economic reforms at the cost of suppressing human rights and freedoms.

Herter's remarks, a thinly veiled thrust at Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban government, came in a speech prepared for the 21-nation Organization of American States.

Commemorating Pan American Day, Herter also said that "perpetuation in power, and the exercise of power without a fixed term" are clearly contrary to democratic order in the Americas.

This also seemed to be a jab at Castro, who has not yet called for free elections in Cuba, as well as Dominican strongman Rafael Trujillo, who has ruled his nation in various ways for 30 years.

Herter, without mentioning Castro or Cuba, said "drastic revisions in existing social, economic and political institutions" may be needed within the hemisphere.

Castro has pledged sweeping reforms in Cuba will be his goal. But Herter has charged him with muzzling the opposition and clamping down against press critics.

A lifting of living standards should be a proper goal of Latin American countries, Herter said, in order to eventually eliminate poverty as well as ignorance.

But, he added, speaking of these goals: "They should be achieved in liberty, and with a dedication to international peace and harmonious cooperation as reflected in the guiding principals of the Organization of American States."

"A partial success in improving the living standards of the individual citizen is not enough. The achievement of material progress, for example, falls short of the need unless it is accompanied by the equally important attainment of liberty based upon respect for human rights and representative democracy."

Herter said in his view it is wrong for Latin American governments to pledge to abide by lofty principles in international relations while refusing to put into effect similar rights in their homeland.

Herter told the delegates that President Eisenhower's trip to South America made clear that a "new sense of urgency" is evident in the drive to develop the hemisphere.

Herter contended that the solid achievements of inter-American cooperation have been less noticed than they should be because controversy and conflict always provide greater news.

Citizens of all the Americas, he said, should keep in mind the great ideological struggle between communism and democracy around the world.

Roads Commission Changes Lie Ahead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Democratic candidates for governor seem to agree that changes are in store for the State Highway Commission, although they differ on changes to be made.

John D. Larkins advocated Tuesday that the present seven-member commission be expanded to 12 members. I. Beverly Lake called for 14 members.

Terry Sanford and Malcolm B. Seawell, the remaining two candidates in the Democratic primary race, also have supported reorganizing the commission.

Larkins, Trenton lawyer and longtime Democratic party official, had a fresh chance to explain his ideas this afternoon at a news conference in his Raleigh headquarters.

Campaigning in the Wilmington area, kept Lake busy for the second day. He speaks to the Wilmington Kiwanis Club and goes to Shallotte this evening for another address.

Sanford will be shaking hands in Catawba and Cleveland counties. The Fayetteville lawyer will make a short talk at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. fibreglass plant.

Seawell, former attorney general, will wind up a two-day swing in the Gastonia area. A breakfast talk to the Optimist Club, and a 6:15 p. m. talk to the Junior Chamber of Commerce were on his schedule.

In the race for U. S. Senate, Addison Hewlett and his campaign manager, Gene Simmons of Tarboro, continued stumping the mountains.

Hewlett, Wilmington lawyer and 1959 House speaker, said in Asheville Tuesday night he is making his appeal directly to the voters rather than through any political organization. "No mere handful of men . . . have the right to pre-determine who shall be governor, senator and congressman in this great state of ours," he declared. Sen. B. Everett Jordan, Jewlett's opponent, was named to the Senate by Gov. Luther Hodges. Jordan is in Washington on Senate business this week.

HD Club Women Hear Dr. Naomi Albanese Today

Dr. Naomi Albanese, dean of Home Economics at Woman's College, told Home Demonstration Club women today that in spite of a changing society, there are some things "we can hold onto."

Dr. Albanese, speaking on "Values in a Changing Society," addressed a meeting of the 22nd District in Austin Auditorium on the East Carolina College campus. She said there are three values that we can hold onto: "I hope I can hold onto" through-out the years. The first of these was freedom of expression. She said the happy home is a result of freedom of expression, and that it is important that the individual sense the true meaning of freedom of expression.

"We are living in an age of conformity. We need more than ever to hold onto individual freedom," she said.

The second value Dr. Albanese mentioned was freedom of decision making. She asked if we are helping . . . youth . . . make decisions which will be of lasting help.

The third value Dr. Albanese included was the worth of the individual—human dignity and human personality. She said nothing could excel the wonderfulness of affection and praise, contrasting it with "how devastating can be sarcasm, cutting back and disinterest."

LECTURE DOESN'T SOAK IN CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Two members of the Casper PTA received traffic tickets on the way home from a panel discussion for junior high school students. Subject of the discussion: safe-driving.

Miss Lorna Langley, Northeastern District home economics agent, came to North Carolina two years ago as Dean of the Home Economics Department at Woman's College. Prior to that time, she has served in the capacity of an assistant professor at Ohio State, where she obtained her Ph. D. Degree.

She has taught in several high schools and colleges, which include Colorado State and West Virginia University. She is the author of numerous publications.

Participating in the program were Dr. Leo Jenkins, president of E.C.C., who gave the welcome and Woodrow Wooten of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, who brought greetings. Home Demonstration Club women participating included Mrs. Wilbur Worthington, who gave the devotional; Mrs. Albert Bell, who welcomed guests; Mrs. Jack Speight of Wilson County, who gave the response; and Mrs. Gilbert English, president of N. C. Home Demonstration Clubs, who also brought greetings.

Dr. Rachel Davis of Kinston, representing in the H. D. Assembly, attended the program.

POLITICAL POWWOW — America's labor chiefs plan a big political powwow to decide their course in the presidential campaign. AFL-CIO Union heads meet in Chicago Aug. 17, the month after the Democratic and Republican nominating conventions. Most union leaders regard it as certain that their 13½-million-member organization will endorse the Democratic choice.

Round Table Has Golden Lunch

The climax of the 50th anniversary celebration of the Round Table was the luncheon given by the first elected member of the club, Mrs. J. E. Winslow, Mrs. D. R. Taylor and Mrs. H. T. Patterson, yesterday at St. Paul's Parish House.

The hostesses received in the foyer, where members and special guests registered in the "Golden Book," a gift of the hostesses.

The honored guest, Mrs. J. W. Higgs, only active charter member, was presented a corsage in the club's colors, gold and white.

Receiving in the parlors was Mrs. E. E. Rawl Sr., who poured fruit punch from a table centered with an arrangement of white and gold daisies, the club's flower.

In the dining room, gold-edged place cards directed guests to their appointed places. The luncheon table displayed in gold figures 1960, the golden year. An arrangement of yellow gladiola and carnations further accentuated the significance of the occasion.

Mrs. D. H. Conley, program chairman, gave the invocation.

Mrs. R. A. Fountain Jr., presiding officer, expressed appreciation to the Sans Souci, the Atheneum, and the Chatham Book Clubs for their commemorative book gifts.

Mrs. D. S. Spain, secretary, read a poetic message from the absent club president, Mrs. D. L. Moore. Congratulatory messages were read from Sans Souci, Atheneum, Chatham, Inter Se, Clio, Thalian, Semi-Centi, and Pickwick Book Clubs, and from Mrs. Jesse Roundtree Moye, an inactive charter member.

Mrs. Fountain, reminiscing the past, played three piano selections, "hit tunes" of 1910: "After the Ball Is Over," "A Bicycle Built For Two," and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

A highlight of the program was the presentation of the club's golden-age gift to Sheppard Memorial Library. While making the presentation, Mrs. J. W. Higgs said, "In keeping with the Round Table's heritage—a companionship with books and a sharing of noble thoughts in the life of our community—it is fitting that we link the past with the hopes of the future, honoring those who have gone before us, in presenting the three-branched candelabra to the library."

Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian, accepted the gift. "On behalf of the trustees, directors, and all others who will enjoy the beauty of the gift," she said, "I express appreciation to you friends who have played such an important part in the life of Sheppard Memorial Library."

Mrs. Howard J. McGinnis, featured speaker, gave the history of the club. In recalling happy events of the past, she paid tribute to the "Ladies of the Round Table" of early years, who gave the club a literary character and artistic impetus, traditional characteristics of the Round Table as it enters the golden-age era.

"Upon this cultural foundation," said the speaker, "we can with the 'young, live in the future.'"

Special guests for the occasion were Mrs. Ed Vann of Rocky Mount; Mrs. Joe Taft, Mrs. Hugh Winslow, Miss Jeanette Taylor, Mrs. J. B. Smith, Mrs. W. M. Howard, Miss Elizabeth Copeland; and Mesdames J. E. Nobles and Luther Herring, former members of the club.

ADMIRING GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY GIFT . . . The Round Table presented brass candelabra to Sheppard Memorial Library in honor of their golden anniversary. Miss Elizabeth Copeland, left, librarian, accepted the gift from Mrs. J. W. Higgs, center. Mrs. R. A. Fountain Jr., vice-president, was presiding officer.

Miss Margaret Moye was guest of honor at a luncheon Monday when Mrs. N. S. Beard, Mrs. R. W. Stark, Mrs. Toland H. Boykin and Miss Sallie Beard were hostesses.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Jesse R. Moye Jr., with the hostesses, received guests upon arrival.

The dining room table was covered with an imported cloth and centered with two white fluted umbrellas tied with white tulle, wedding bells and lily-of-the-valley with gifts from the guests tucked underneath.

In the living room were auxiliary tables covered with dainty white cloths and place cards of miniature white umbrellas.

Throughout the home were arrangements of tulips, iris, lilacs and pink verbena.

A three course luncheon was served the 20 guests including bridesmaids and close friends of the bride.

Miss Moye was presented a corsage of white iris to complement her navy and white costume.

Home-Made Fashions To Be Seen At Show

GRIFTON — A preview of "Spring Fashion, 1960" will be presented at the Grifton High School Gymnasium Friday night at 8:00, produced and co-ordinated by the Grifton Service League.

What makes this particular fashion show both unique and gratifying is that every outfit shown will be hand-fashioned and hand-made by creating seamstresses from Grifton and nearby towns.

This year marks the third anniversary of this event.

The fashion show, one of the largest in this area, had its beginning when a local fabric shop asked the Grifton Service League to stage such an event in the spring of 1958. With no previous experience in this type of project, the League, which is a civic organization dealing in local charities, created enough interest in its first show to encourage over 100 persons to make and model garments.

For the Service League, the show has become one of its major sources of income, which is spent largely for emergency charities and free lunch programs at the local schools.

The fabric shop's only part in the show is to give prizes which are awarded at the show.

For this year's show there will be five different divisions. The first will be for pre-school children; the second, for children from six to 12; the third, for teenagers; and the fourth, for adults; and the final one, for group entries which will be for matching or co-ordinated clothing, such as mother-daughter or brother-sister outfits. First, second, and third prizes are awarded in each group.

The only judging is done the night of the fashion show, with style and appearance being the only factors considered.

Though the models are largely from Grifton, there are entries from Kinston, Ayden, Snow Hill, and other nearby towns. Last year one of the models flew from Winston-Salem to appear in the show.

The commentators for the show this year will be Mrs. Ann Cavannah, children's division; Miss Sharon Stone, teenage division; Mrs. Bill Rasberry, group division; and Mrs. Drew Harper, adult division.

Mrs. Edwin Reeves, president of the Service League, will be fashion show chairman.

Spending Talked; Taxes Ignored

As North Carolina's gubernatorial campaign develops, one of the candidates should inject into the debate the question of how North Carolina is going to meet its financial obligations in the next four years.

To date a number of issues have been raised in the campaign, but so far they have dealt principally with the needs of the state in terms of highways, schools, economic development, and similar items. Little real attention has been given by the major gubernatorial candidates to the all-important matter of where the money is coming from to put into effect these improvements North Carolina needs and they have proposed.

For the most part taxes do not make good topics for campaign discussions, unless the candidate happens to be demanding reduction in taxes which already exist. It is only natural, therefore, for candidates for governor to dwell more on things that are needed, without going into the more complicated and less palatable matter of how these things will be paid for.

To the voters of North Carolina this year, however, the question of the state's future financial condition is a matter of concern. Admittedly, the legislature will determine how much money will be spent, and what revenues will be required to defray these state expenses in the next four years. No governor can guarantee that any recommendations he might concerning fiscal policies will be followed by the legislature.

Even so, the man who occupies the governor's office is expected to recommend to the legislature concerning fiscal policies. The legislature will look to the governor for guidance, and the people of the state will expect the governor to provide leadership in this important phase of policy-making.

With some $28 millions in non-recurring revenue being spent for operating expenses in the current biennium, there is a serious question of whether increased revenues under the current schedules will off-set this amount in the next biennium. In addition, it is generally recognized that more funds will be required in the coming biennium to keep state services on the level at which they are today. These two things probably will mean North Carolina will have to have considerably more millions in the next biennium, over and about any funds which are required for improvements that are made in services of the state.

Although no candidate relishes the idea of including "higher taxes" as one of his promises to the people, there is no getting around the fact that money will be one of the more important problems faced by North Carolina in the four years which lie ahead.

If the gubernatorial candidates are to discuss the issues vital to the people of the state, they can hardly overlook the question of where the needed money is coming from under the next administration, regardless of who needs it.

The people of North Carolina, we believe, would genuinely appreciate a forthright discussion of this state problem by the major gubernatorial candidates.

Outwardly, India Not Buying Chou's Smiles

If outward appearances give any sign of inner feeling, India's Prime Minister Nehru and Red China's Chou En-lai are far from patching up the differences between the two nations brought about by Red China's claim to Indian territory.

The apparent warmth which accompanied Chou's reception in India on other occasions is missing from the current visit. Prime Minister Nehru, who has gained a reputation of being a peace-maker and slow to take offense, so far has shown no sign of capitulating to Red China's claim to the border territory. Nehru does not seem to be inclined to follow the pattern of compromise that characterized his participation in many international conferences in the past.

If any conclusion can be drawn from the first events of Chou's current visit to India, it is that India—its officials as well as its people—have cooled considerably toward Red China. In the border dispute the Indians have found that the Chinese Communists are not as honorable in international matters as India might once have thought.

Unless a distinct change takes place during the conference, the controversy which Chou went to India to settle probably will continue after his official visit with Prime Minister Nehru is ended.

Peiping Teaches War As A Means

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Red Chinese leaders talked to one another in private conversation the way they talk to one another in print, there'd be nothing to worry about. They'd bore themselves to death.

Actually, they're talking out of both sides of their mouths. Communist China's Premier Chou En-lai is on a goodwill tour of Southern Asia at a time when Red Flag, the theoretical journal of his party's Central Committee, is preaching civil war in non-Communist countries.

Chou's journey is a fence-mending expedition. Red China's southern neighbors were disillusioned, revolted and frightened by her brutal crushing and occupation of Tibet.

The opening sentence of a piece in a recent issue of Red Flag set the tone for one of the finest collections of second-rate Communist jargon outside a library: "Lenin taught us that in the era of imperialism, the system of imperialism is the source of war."

From that premise Red Flag went on to argue that since imperialism means war, the United States is bent on war, big and small, because the United States is imperialistic.

It is a lengthy and almost incredible array of Marxist clichés, the kind the Soviets worked to death when the Russian revolution was still fairly new. Premier Nikita Khrushchev reversed this, offering molasses instead of vinegar.

After all, Khrushchev had been a revolutionary more than 40 years. For him the revolution was settling down. By contrast the Red Chinese sound as primitive as the early Bolsheviks.

But Red Flag's growling—when repeated by the leadership in newspapers and over the radio but in simpler language—conditions the Chinese masses for war when the leadership pulls the trigger.

It keeps alive the idea of war

Quote ...

"The swelling population will be needing new buildings, new roads, new products, new services—more of everything. And it will take more workers to supply these needs. But it will also take more money, much more money, to pay for them. The best way to provide growth money without inflation is through a combination of individual savings and prudent government spending." — Clarissa (Minn.) Independent.

Got The Word On A Bird

I got the word on a bird Monday evening.

A budgie muttered out of the side of his mouth—"There's a column for you in Chick's parakeet."

Conspiracy is not for me, so the response was on the loud side: "What's unusual about a parakeet?"

"Shhhh," scowled the informer; and from behind his hand he added weight to his tip. "This bird will say 'Let's play ball, Chick,' and push his ball toward you."

It did sound intriguing.

On the otherhand, my record on column tips is not good. Other well-intentioned friends have proffered material I never used because it involved getting out and around for necessary interviews or inspection. My work is pretty confining.

But a parakeet ready to play ball—and right at the start of the baseball season—it had possibilities.

Not having the bird in the hand, I approached "Chick" (John R.) Newell and asked him about it.

Yes, he had a talkative parakeet; or rather, it was his wife's bird. It had been a present for her, something over five years ago.

The bird could say more than "Let's play ball," too. And by-standers agreed it was a bright little mite. . . not much bigger than a canary, and with a coloration predominately yellow.

Somebody recalled the late long-shanked Dr. Walter Humbert had once been seen sitting on the Newell floor, playing with the parakeet. And there were chuckles, too, as the story was told of a doubter who visited the house, and the feathered mite perched on his shoulder to ask "What have you been doing today?"

Newell says the bird is often allowed out of his cage. Can he whistle.

He can.

Other Editors Saying Fanning The Flames

(Henderson Dispatch)

Of the crackpot schemes that find their way onto the legislative agenda of Congress there is no end. They come and they go, and often find enough gullible lawmakers to provide support for their passage, to the harassment of citizens and an increase in the over-all cost of government.

Just now there is a measure in the Senate, the brainchild of Senator Douglas of Illinois, which is known as the credit notification bill. Both the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Bank gave their approval, but both ran the other way when enforcement was aimed in their direction.

The measure has to do with terms of credit on installment selling. It is at one and the same time another restraint on private enterprise and a further meddling in the private affairs of the individual.

There would be resentment from both groups if the proposal were enacted into law, and if they knew what was being done to them.

What's more, enforcement would require a whole new army of bureaucrats, dashing over the country on the government payroll, poking their noses into millions of sales of consumer goods every year. What it amounts to is that the American people are being asked to hire an expensive stable of sleuths to do something they should and have a right to do for themselves, and which, if they do not, will be their own fault. It is none of the government's business.

When the individual buys on credit he should know the cash price. He ought to know the down payment, and how much is paid and for how long. And the cash price can be subtracted from the price with credit to determine if the credit is "costing more than one is willing to pay. Any merchant will disclose the amount of credit charges.

What, then, is there for the government to do? No change is made in credit practice nor in interest rates. It only requires some labeling and increases the cost of enforcement.

Any fraud that might be involved is already illegal.

Why should government hire an army of inspectors to protect any one who is too lazy or too indifferent to learn what credit costs him, or who actually doesn't care? Yet this is what this Douglas bill would impose upon the country. Just how silly and how bureaucratic can we become?

THE RETIRING SORT
(The New Orleans Times-Picayune)

Most of the men approaching the age when they are expected to retire don't want to. That's the finding of a survey made among 2,200 employees, in 47 of the nation's largest corporations, who are nearing 65.

Finances and the desire to continue useful lives were the reasons most frequently given for wanting to hold on to their jobs rather than take their ease and get away from it all.

Firms that require their employees to retire at 65 usually have some reason such as giving the elders their just rewards and making way for the young bloods coming along.

There is a sneaking suspicion that a similar survey among the young bloods might turn up the answer to the whole problem. Most of them, we venture, with years on the job stretching ahead in unending succession, are anxious for retirement NOW. Maybe retirement at 30 with apprenticeships beginning at 65 would satisfy both groups.

One thinks of Benedict Arnold and the horror of his defection from the American cause in 1780. The first time Arnold put in his appearance at a theatrical performance, the British officers and soldiers hissed him out of the building. During the whole of his life, he was treated with contempt by the British whom he tried to live after his defection.

There is a little of the traitor perhaps in all of us. We are fortified at Sulla and Arnold. Yet how many of us live up to the ideals we know to be right? How true are we to ourselves? How devoted are we to the creedal state which we recite in all sincerity? We mean to do right, and yet, that weakness and unfaithfulness by which we are all beset, comes in to mar the picture to some degree. Treason to country is infamous. But so is our daily unfaithfulness to God and to the things which we believe and know to be right.

Maybe we should not call such things treason. Nevertheless, they are evil and decimating, and may lead to disaster.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS NEVER WITHOUT FAULT

In 1715 Sulla, the Greek traitor, opened the gates of Nauplia to the invading Turks. He had sold out for a price. Henceforth for many years his people were to be under the bondage of a cruel foe. Nauplia was at that time the capital of Greece. A man of no conscience had delivered his brethren over to the ravagings of a cruel enemy.

One thinks of Benedict Arnold and the horror of his defection from the American cause in 1780. The first time Arnold put in his appearance at a theatrical performance, the British officers and soldiers hissed him out of the building. During the whole of his life, he was treated with contempt by the British whom he tried to live after his defection.

Advice By The Banks

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The savings banks are at long last meeting the problem of inflation by advertising against it. It has been slow-going because the worst phase of inflation is excessive debt, which has become a standard American habit. The Federal Government is in debt; state and municipal governments are in debt; individuals are in debt. In fact, so much is debt encouraged that interest paid on private debt can be deducted as a business expense for income tax purposes.

The Bowers Savings Bank, one of the largest in the world, has been publishing full page advertisements against inflation. What this savings bank is advocating is that folks save their money and then buy what they want to buy for cash on hand. These advertisements particularly emphasize that financing costs are high. The Bowers Savings Bank summarizes its philosophy as follows:

"1. As the cash price, right at the start, of the article you are thinking about. Also add up the total of all the payments you will be required to make, including the down payment, if you purchased on time. The difference is the extra cost to you for buying on credit.

"2. With the facts straight, it's up to you to decide. Should you go ahead regardless, shop for the best financial plan you can find. Financing costs vary, as we have shown.

"3. Deal with responsible merchants and lending institutions. Even so, it's only fair to say that handling charge accounts or small loans is an expensive operation. Someone must pay for credit investigations, paper work, collection and other costs, inevitable losses.

And it establishes a well-known rule of economics: "The true annual interest on loan, large or small, that you pay off in equal periodical installments is roughly double that quoted as the yearly finance charge, deducted in advance. This is true, no matter how much or little the quoted rate may be."

What is important in this discussion is not that we stop buying on credit, but that the borrower should know exactly what he is doing. In a word, excessive debt can lead to disaster, both individually and nationally.

There is another side to this picture. When a nation's currency is depreciating in value, it is sounder to buy things than to hold on to cash. Thus, life insurance policies, government bonds and savings are imperiled by inflation because it reduces the value of currency.

When currency loses value, foreign countries are impoverished. Those who own money under such conditions, whether in this or any other country, invest their money in commodities of intrinsic value such as diamonds, paintings, antique furniture, or they ship their money to foreign countries for investment or savings. At present, for instance, it is less difficult to borrow money in many foreign countries than in the United States and medium-type businesses are taking full advantage of such an opportunity.

Sometimes what they borrow is money the United States deposited in foreign lands for economic aid that has, in time, worked itself into a form of banking that indirectly becomes aid for American businessmen.

The advertisement, full page, of the Bowers Savings Bank means much more than appears on the surface. Obviously, if folks spend more than they earn, they will always be in debt. If they are paying usurious interest rates, and 18 per cent a year is usury in any language, the inflation is already beyond control.

The Bowers Savings Bank advertisement says this:

"In another widely used financing plan the charge might be 1 1/2 per cent a month, computed on the unpaid balance; That's true interest, but it's monthly interest, and 1 1/2 per cent a month is 18 per cent a year. . . 2 per cent monthly is 24 per cent yearly, and 2 1/2 per cent monthly is 30 per cent yearly.

Major Concern Of Carolinians

By LYNN NISBET

SCHOOLS — That public schools are the major concern of most North Carolinians is clearly evidenced by the interest in positions on the county boards of education. Members of county boards are named by the General Assembly, but they run for nomination in the Democratic primary. Reports from all over the state indicate that in numerous counties places on the boards of education are more eagerly sought after—or at least are rated as the most important offices—on the primary ballot. That degree of interest in an election that is at best only advisory and not binding proves real concern over the welfare of the schools.

CONTESTS — There were the usual number of surprise late filings for legislative seats, but a number of the oldtimers got by without opposition. Secretary of State Thad Eure is again, as he has done for many years, compiling a list of all candidates for the House and Senate. This list will be available in about ten days. From stray bits of information picked up here and there over the state it appears likely there will be a larger number of Negroes than usual filing for office. Women still generally show little interest in seeking public office. The three who served in the 1959 House are all candidates for re-election, and there are perhaps a dozen others in the rest of the counties.

There has never been a session of the General Assembly with more than three women members in the total of 120.

PUBLIC SERVICE — The Aluminum Company of America put out a special edition of its house organ The Alcoa News urging Alcoa employees to take part in the political campaigns and elections this year.

The feature article is a plea by Frank L. Magee, president of the big corporation, for all citizens to join in keeping our republic by exercising the privilege and duty of intelligent voting. By way of furthering the intelligence idea, the paper presents statements by Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman, and Thurston Morton, Republican chairman, both of which emphasized responsibility to vote rather than attempting to convert citizens to either party.

Other information includes the distribution of delegates to the national conventions, and a brief summary of procedure in adopting platforms and nominating candidates at the conventions. North Carolina will have 37 votes in the Democratic meeting, 29 in the Republican. That is the largest vote of any Southern state, except Texas—which has almost seceded from the South and joined the West in political philosophy. Georgia, Tennessee and Virginia each has 33 Democratic votes, South Carolina 21.

A large table gives the residence requirements for voting in each of the 50 states, the dates of the primaries and the states which will elect Governors and United States Senators this year. Of the 32 Senate seats to be filled, 21 are presently held by Democrats and of the 26 states which will elect Governors 15 have Democratic incumbents.

PRIMARY — The development of the primary from an inconsequential local expression of preference to a binding force has been relatively fast. Sources of information believed to be authentic indicate the first primary on record was held in 1866 in Crawford county, Pennsylvania. Other counties in Pennsylvania adopted the same plan, and two years later New York and California enacted statewide laws giving counties the right to use the primary system if they desired.

Wisconsin in 1903 was the first State to make primary nomination mandatory for local and State offices and a few years later Wisconsin added delegates to the national party conventions to the mandatory primary list. Every state except Connecticut now has a primary for nominating State and congressional candidates, and 16 have presidential primaries—or varying degrees of authority.

Sen. Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri, born at Hillsboro, N.C., was one of the first champions of the popular primary.

The primary was legalized in North Carolina in 1915, used for Governor and other officers for the first time in 1916. Prior to that, however, there had been a number of preferential primaries with more or less binding force on the nominating convention or the legislature. One of the most spectacular was the contest for the U.S. Senate between Kitchin and Simmons in 1912. The interest shown in this unofficial primary led to pressure on legislators elected the next time to give the primary legal effect.

More than 500 architects and builders submitted entries in a "homes for better living" contest required "two full days of deliberation by the judges," says a press release from the American Institute of Architects. On an eight-hour day, that's almost two minutes per entry. Write your own comment here:

More oddities in the business news: Cuba, with cheap labor, is underselling Florida tomato growers in the Florida market. . . A New York company is offering 25,000 pounds of sloe juice for sale. Sloes are members of the plum family. . . Brown & Williamson report that eight out of ten redemptions of its tobacco coupons are by women, many of whom ask for power drills and other male items.

Cuba is selling 91,000 shorts of sugar to Red China at under 3 cents a pound. Try to

Mark Twain Still Known As Sage Of The Gilded Age

By CHARLES STAFFORD

AP Newsfeatures Writer at 6:22 in the evening death came quietly to Mark Twain. He had collapsed the day before, but he awoke this morning sober. He asked for Carlyle's "French Revolution," which he had kept close by for the last year, reading it, rereading it, brooding over it.

He read a little, then laid the book aside with a weary sigh and closed his eyes. His ailing heart kept time down the afternoon, but at last it stopped and Twain the mortal welcomed the silence he had awaited impatiently for six years.

It was April 21, 1910. Today, a half-century later, the immortal Twain is as lively as ever.

And his immortality, long suspected, is now verified: the Russians claim him as their own. His works, they say, "depict his unadorned criticism of the capitalist society and his common interest with the masses."

What an indictment for a man who wanted so mightily to be a millionaire.

Was Self Taught
Mark Twain: rare is the schoolboy who doesn't know his real name was Samuel Langhorne Clemens. Or that he grew up in Hannibal, Mo., on the banks of the Mississippi. Or that he quit school at 13, but was tutored by his own curiosity in an itinerant career that included typesetting, riverboat piloting, prospecting and newspapering. Or that he wrote "The Adventure of Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn."

Mark Twain: a riverboat term meaning two fathoms—12 feet. But there was nothing so exact about Mark Twain, the man. He lived a life of contradictions—despising greed but seeking wealth, laughing at life through pessimism, preaching but unbelieving.

Mark Twain: How can you measure his immortality?
He was a great humorist, some say. Others call him a perceptive critic of human weakness. A clergyman who eulogized him labeled Twain a seer who "saw into the very depths of things, beneath the forms of things, deep into the soul."
"Clemens was sole, incomparable, the Lincoln of our literature," said William Dean Howells. Twain's beloved Susy, in her biography of her father, said: "He is as such a philosopher as anything, I think."

Humor Was Enduring
And they were all right. And so was Charles Major who said: "All that he wrote was half fun and whole earnest."
And enduring. For Twain's humor was based on human nature, a remarkably unchanging foil.

More than 80 years after it was written, Twain's humor still sells. In recent months film makers have again produced "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and are working on "Huckleberry Finn." A young actor, Hal Holbrook, has made a notable success with his portrayal of Mark Twain on the lecture platform.

Humor, which Twain defined as "the good-natured side of any truth," was the ball of snow in which he encased his rock-like opinions.
"If you pick up a starving dog and make him prosperous, he will not bite you," said Twain. "This is the principal difference between a dog and a man." So much for his opinion of man.
Of politicians: "I think I can say, and say with pride," said Twain, "that we have some legislators that bring higher prices than any in the world."
Of reform: "To tell the truth, I don't believe this reforming sticks very well anyway. I've always clung to the theory that you can straighten a worm out, but the crook is still in him, and only passers-by are shocked and the irreverent laugh. Six months later—nobody laughs. Why, if Eve women's dress appears, and the should come again, in her ripe re-known, and reintroduce her quaint styles—well, we know what would happen. And we should be embarrassed, along at first."

MARK TWAIN, who died 50 years ago April 21.

Though Twain came from a slave-owning family, he grew up to be a paragon of tolerance. "I am quite sure that I have no race prejudices, and I think I have no color prejudices nor caste prejudices nor creed prejudices," he wrote. "Indeed I know it. I can stand any society. All that I care to know is that a man is a human being—that is good enough for me; he can't be any worse."

With all his sermonizing, Twain was agnostic. He could not understand a God, whom he said made people "prize their bitter life, yet stingily cut it short." Who mouths justice and invented hell—mouths mercy and invented hell—Who created man without invitation, then tries to shuffle the responsibility for man's act upon Himself; and finally, with altogether divine obtuseness, invites this poor, abused slave to worship Him!

Twain's pessimism, noticeable in his youth, was strengthened by the buffeting he took from life in later years. The business ventures which he hoped would make him rich—a publishing house and a typesetting machine—were failures. Only one of his four children survived him.

"Tired and Old"
The joy went out of Twain's life in August 1896—his 60th year—when Susy died, and the will to live eight years later with the death of his wife, Olivia.

He wrote Howells, "I am tired and old; I wish I were with Livy."
Twain often vented his pessimism. "Everything human is pathetic," he once wrote. "The secret source of humor itself is not joy but sorrow. There is no humor in heaven."

And again, "Whoever has lived long enough to find out what life is, knows how deep a debt of gratitude we owe to Adam, the first great benefactor of our race. He brought death into the world."

How can you measure Twain's immortality? Huck Finn probably did it best. Early in his narrative Huck refers to "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and explains that it was written by "Mister Mark Twain."

"There was things which he stretched," says Huck, "but mainly he told the truth."

Temptation?

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials expressed concern today lest strife in South Korea tempt Communists north of the 38th Parallel to once again invade that country.

American strategists estimate the Communist army poised in the north is even larger and better equipped than the 50,000-man American and 500,000-man South Korean force below the 38th Parallel which divides North and South Korea.

Dispatches from Korea Tuesday night reported the 15th Korean Division had been released from United Nations control at the government's request and was moving into Seoul to help keep order.

Military men believe, however, that South Korea's internal troubles are causing no direct danger to U.N. forces spread along the armistice line.

Two U.S. Army divisions in Korea include a substantial percentage of South Korean soldiers. In some smaller units, South Koreans outnumber Americans.

Troops of both countries in the border area are controlled by the United Nations commander, Gen. Carter Magruder.

Pitt's Jaypee Business Apparently Not Booming

Do you ever wonder how much income justices-of-the-peace derive from their positions?

Apparently, the jaypee business in Pitt County is not booming so loudly as in some other sections of the state.

According to Pitt County Board of Elections Chairman D. Sprull Spain, the 11 jaypees who filed for Democratic nominations to the magistrate offices in Pitt, paid filing fees indicating income from their posts during the past year was less than $1,000.

The filing fee for jaypee offices is $10 plus one per cent of total income from the office's activities above $1,000.

All eleven candidates paid the flat $10 fee.
By comparison in Wake County filing fees indicated some jaypee incomes ran close to $10,000 annually. The top filing fee there was reported in the Raleigh Times as $96.34. Other Wake fees listed ranged downward from $59.75.

Of course, the eleven candidates filing represent only half the county's magistrates. Spain's office has no method of determining incomes of the other half, since it is composed of appointed, not elected, jaypees. The district Superior Court judge has the appointive authority.

Appointed magistrates must apply for the two-year commissions to the district judge, but no filing fee is necessary.

The Pitt County Clerk of Court office currently has 18 jaypees listed as still serving unexpired terms. Nine of these filed for reelection. Two additional incumbents paid $10 filing fees.

Total fees collected by the Board of Elections by noon last Friday (the filing deadline) amounted to $507.75, Spain said.

Such rates are unconscionable and ought not to be allowed, no matter whether they keep goods moving or not. Our first problem is to save the value of our currency. A money-lender who would charge such rates would be called a Shylock. But is a finance company more privileged? Why?

Inflation is a frightful curse. It robs each individual who purchases goods. It also robs even if goods are not purchased. It can only help the very rich who can cover their losses by various devices; the rest must suffer from it. The savings banks advertisements are the first realistic attack on inflation.

Overlooked in all the conversation was the important matter of learning the parakeet's name.
Don't tell him, Chiek. Birds have pride.

Peace Restored, Pupils And Teachers In School

HAHIRA, Ga. (AP)—Teachers and pupils went back to classes at Hahira High School today, a paddling controversy settled, and calm restored in this south Georgia farming center.

The return of the 600 pupils, the principal and 32 teachers was in striking contrast to Tuesday's furor over the paddling last week of Earl Cornelius, 14.

The entire faculty resigned more than 150 pupils staged a demonstration in front of the building chanting, "We want our teachers back" and parents talked about organizing a motorcade to the Lowndes County seat, Valdosta.

The school was closed and the ve-man county board of education hurried over from Valdosta, 2 miles away, to hold an emergency meeting.

The board and the teachers solved the problem with the help of school bus driver Elmer Cornelius and his wife, parents of the youth who was paddled.

County School Supt. Clyde W. Meacham and Principal A. B. Martin said in a joint statement that the situation had been resolved satisfactorily.

The board assured Martin and the teachers of support in maintaining school discipline. The principal and teachers withdrew their resignations.

"We regret the situation going as far as it did," Meacham said. "The settlement was reached after Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius agreed to withdraw warrants alleging the principal and Mrs. Dwight Maples, a teacher, paddled Earl too severely a week ago."

In addition, the board granted Mrs. Maples, who is seven months pregnant, a maternity leave of absence. But the board made it clear she could withdraw her request for the leave if she wished.

Meacham explained the board had not been able to rally to the support of the school staff while the warrants were outstanding.

Failure of the board to take a stand earlier on Earl's thrashing led to the mass resignations.

"It was one of the most tragic days in Hahira history," said Mrs. Gordon Morrow, a teacher at the school for 20 years before she retired.

"We are a quiet respectable town," she said. "We've never had anything like this happen in our school before."

Earl's parents alleged Mrs. Maples walloped the lanky, 101-pound youth "30 times with a board" last Wednesday after the principal already had given him a milder licking.

But principal and teacher contended they gave Earl only customary treatment with the school paddle, first, for leaving the school without authorization and, later, for fibbing to get out of Mrs. Maples' room.

"Paddlings aren't prevalent at Hahira," the principal said, "but they are sometimes necessary, and when they are, we give them."

Fullmer Defends His Title For Second Time Tonight

By FRANK FITMAN Associated Press Sports Writer BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — Joey Giardello, getting his first title shot in 12 years' campaigning, guns for the National Boxing Assn. world middleweight championship tonight against rugged Gene Fullmer, defending his crown for the second time.

The expected box-office gate of more than $100,000 guaranteed monetary success for Montana's first championship bout since Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons battled in a 1923 financial flop. Fullmer collects all the $100,000 TV payoff and Giardello veteran of 106 fights since 1948, pockets $25,000 plus $5,000 expenses.

Fullmer, renowned for his superb physical condition, said "I figure Giardello will be coming out fast in the opening rounds, but I always go into the ring expecting trouble." The 28-year-old champion from West Jordan, Utah, is among those who think the fight could go the distance.

Snead Involved In Greensboro Feud

GREENSBORO (AP)—A feud has developed between golfer Sam Snead and the president of the Starmount Forest Country Club, scene of Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament that ended Sunday. Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who has won the event seven times in 22 years, chided the country club's president, Edward B. Benjamin, about the condition of the course.

Lewis Hurls One-Hitter For B-F Win

BELVOIR—Ernest Lewis missed his second no-hitter of the season by only inches yesterday afternoon as Belvoir-Falkland blanked Bethel 6-0. Lewis struck out six batters and failed to yield a base on balls. A single by John Smith in the fifth ruined his bid for a second masterpiece.

Tigers Whip Tribe In 15th Yanks, White Sox, Orioles Win AL Openers

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer The first showdown in the Rocky Colavito-Harvey Kuenn swap was a flop, but another off-season trade pulled by Cleveland's Frank Lane paid a quick return for the Chicago White Sox. Minnie Miñoso, the outfielder who has spent his major league career shifting between Cleveland and Chicago, drove in six runs, walloped a grand-slam and broke a ninth-inning tie with a second homer as the White Sox opened defense of the American League flag by beating Kansas City 10-9 Tuesday.

Cards End Drought

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer Tommy Davis against Billy O'Dell (0-2), a loser in his first ML start. The Dodgers added three more in the ninth against Billy Loos and Stu Miller on John Roseboro's two-run triple and two of the Giants' five errors. Podres, gaining his first decision of the season with his fourth straight victory over the Giants since 1958, had a three-hitter for eight innings. Singles by Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda and a walk loaded the bases with one out in the ninth before Rosebuck came on and ended it as Ed Brossoud hit into a pitcher-to-home-to-first doubleplay.

Semi-Pro Loops Start To Boom

WICHITA, Kan.—Baseball continues to flourish in the non-professional ranks. Not only are the many youth programs booming, but the National Baseball Congress makes known through its 1960 Official Baseball Annual, that a record number of leagues are being organized throughout the 50 states, affiliated with this 25-year successful organization.

Owens, slapped with a $600 fine for playing too hard off the field during spring training, was all business in his first appearance for the Phils. An error, Dick Groat's single and Bob Skinner's home run gave the Bucs their three in the third. The only other hit Owens allowed was Bob Clemente's single in the sixth. The young right-hander walked but two, struck out nine for his first major league three-hitter.

Briley Stars In Blue Jay Win

STOKES—It was too much Jamie Briley for Winterville here yesterday afternoon as Stokes-Paculous pulled off a 5-3 victory over the Wolves. Briley, a senior, hurled the victory—the third in conference play for S-P—and had a perfect day at the plate in three official trips, banging out three singles and batting in two runs.

Briley Stars In Blue Jay Win

Alert base-running was the key to victory according to Blue Jay coach Zeke Coggins. The Jays stole eleven bases and their first two runs resulted from stolen bases.

Ike Tosses Ball To Open AL Baseball Season

President Eisenhower throws out a ball—his second pitch—to open the American League baseball season in game between Washington and the Boston Red Sox at Washington. Vice President Richard Nixon is seated at left. Bob Allison of the Washington Senators, who caught the President's first pitch, stands at right. Second row from left: Alfred Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross; Secretary of State Christian Herter; Joe Cronin, American League president; Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, and manager Bill Jurgens of the Boston Red Sox. ### Podres Continues To Hex Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—John Podres and the Los Angeles Dodgers continue to hex the San Francisco Giants despite the Giants' new ball park and a couple of new pitchers.

Dodgers continue to hex the San Francisco Giants despite the Giants' new ball park and a couple of new pitchers.

Podres faced the Giants three times and beat them three times in Little Seals Stadium last season.

Tuesday, he whipped them—with ninth inning help from Ed Roebuck—4-0 in spacious Candlestick Park.

Podres had a three-hit shutout going into the ninth and wound up allowing the Giants the same number of hits as they had errors—five.

"I wasn't tired," Podres said. "I just dried out." He explained he cooled off in the dugout during the top of the ninth when his teammates scored three runs on two hits and two Giants miscues. John Roseboro's 400-foot two-run triple off Stu Miller, the third San Francisco pitcher, was the big blow.

Champ Feels Better Than Ever For Defense Of Title

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson had better set his sights high if he figures on regaining the world heavyweight crown from Sweden's Ingemar Johansson at the Polo Grounds, June 20. Ingo says he's better than ever.

"I'm much better now than when I came here the last time," said the handsome, dimple-chinned Swede today. "My right hand comes faster and faster. But it's not only my right hand. My left hand comes faster, too."

"Oh, no" said the very obviously perturbed Ingo Tuesday. "We sign on Wednesday. I've got to be back in Switzerland on Wednesday night."

But, after several huddles with advisor Edwin Ahlquist and Roy Cohn, counsel for the promoting Feature Sports, Inc., Ingo reluctantly agreed to holding the ceremony on Thursday.

The last major obstacle to the return fight was cleared when State Attorney General Louis Fekowitz cleared up some unfinished business of the first fight with Feature Sports and Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager.

Johansson, although disappointed in having to stay here an extra day, was happy about one thing.

"The new contracts are in Swedish, too," he said. "This time all of us will know what's in them."

First Defeat

Greenville lost its first tennis match of the spring yesterday afternoon to Kinston, 6-3.

Tom Webb and Ronald McArthur captured wins in singles for Greenville and Mike Martin and Tom Harbin captured a victory in doubles.

Terps Fall From Top Of AC Loop; WF Nips Marines

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A week ago Maryland's baseball team was still unbeaten in Atlantic Coast Conference competition and tied for first place.

Today the Terps have a 4-3 record—including three defeats in four games—and are mired in fifth place. After losing two games on a North Carolina swing last weekend, Maryland nipped South Carolina 5-4 in the first game of Tuesday's twinbill. But the Gamecocks came back in the second game for an 11-4 win.

Meanwhile, Clemson moved into a tie for third place—pushing Virginia back into last place—with a 6-2 conquest of the Cavaliers.

In non-conference action the ACC's first-place club, Duke, fell 8-4 to The Citadel of the Southern Conference; Wake Forest tripped Camp Lejeune 11-8 and North Carolina beat the Marines 11-1.

Today's only action sends Wake Forest to East Carolina in a non-league affair. It will be Wake's third road game in as many days. In the nightcap, which went seven innings, an eight run outburst in the fifth frame was the difference. Bobby Robinson's three singles led the 10-hit South Carolina attack.

Ben Hammett hurled UNC's win over Camp Lejeune with a five-hitter. Meanwhile, Jay Franklin had three hits including a homer in the second game for Wake Forest.

The two ACC clubs lost to the Marines on Monday, North Carolina falling 3-2 and Wake 5-4.

Dick Almes' seven-hitter limited Duke to four runs and spelled defeat for the Blue Devils, now 6-4 overall but 2-0 in the conference. None of Duke's four runs was earned.

Golf Victory

Rose High golfers remained undefeated yesterday afternoon by spilling Kinston, 21-6, on the Kinston course.

Chappy Bradner was medalist for Greenville with a score of 73, edging teammate Bobby Thomas who shot a 74.

Other Greenville scores were: Buddy Murray 76, Dallas Clark 79, Rick Saue 82 and Sonny Parkerson 78.

Finland Runner Cops Marathon

BOSTON (AP)—Finland remains superior in the art of distance running and the United States has an entirely new cast of Olympic marathon candidates. These observations today followed the 64th Boston Marathon.

Paavo Kotila, a 32-year-old bachelor farmer from northern Finland, won the Patriot's Day race Tuesday by 500 yards over Gordon McKenzie of New York, in the near-record time of 2:20:54.

Kotila's countryman Veikko Koivumake came in fifth. It was the fourth time in seven years a Fin captured the B.A.A. laurels. No less than 14 men from Finland have been fifth or better, top, Conn., schoolteacher, was I. McKenzie, 2:22:18, was pleased with his showing. The 30-year-old former New York University two-miler and 1956 Olympic 10,000-meter performer—gave an assist to his wife, Christina.

"She was a big help to me, helping to pace me," McKenzie said. The former British women's track star traveled by vehicle from one check point to another where she ran alongside her husband shouting encouragement and times.

Money Winners Miss New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The tournament may lack some luster with golfers two stop money winners absent, but there will not be any shortage of talent when the $27,000 Greater New Orleans Open starts Thursday.

Masters champion Arnold Palmer begged off because of television commitments, due to his triumph in the Augusta, Ga., tournament two weeks ago.

CHAPTER II
In his room the next morning Mr. Hero briefly reviewed the legend of the ghostly nun of Paradise Hall as recounted in Burton's 'North Carolina Ghosts and Legends'...

teenth century, when an incumbent Partridge supposedly had seduced a peasant girl betrothed to a local bumpkin. When the distressed maiden entered a convent (St. Relinda's at Wytrim Priority) neighboring the Hall, and now in ruins, the wicked Lord Partridge had been unable to forget her.

come here with my husband for a rest, and I don't mind confessing that I have been considerably upset by some of the things that have been happening. Howard—that's my husband, Major Wilson—only scoffs at everything, but of course he sleeps through anything at night—he never wakes up."

Next President Of A&T College

GREENSBORO (AP) — Dr. Samuel Dewitt Proctor, 40-year-old president of Virginia Union, will become the head of North Carolina A & T College here Sept. 1.

A special committee selecting a successor to retiring Dr. Warmoth T. Gibbs unanimously selected Dr. Proctor, whose appointment was announced here Tuesday.

Dr. Gibbs, 68, is three years past the retirement age. North Carolina A & T, a 68-year-old institution, is the largest state-supported Negro college in North Carolina. Dr. Proctor will be its fifth president.

Dr. Proctor in 1955 at the age of 34 became president of his alma mater in Richmond, Va. The Norfolk native had become dean of the school of religion at Virginia Union in 1950. The new North Carolina A & T head did graduate study at Yale and served five years as a minister in Providence, R.I. He was one of three Negroes selected to the 90-person National Committee for the 1960 President's White House Conference on Children and Youth.

Horses Trained For Automation

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (AP) — Gerald Wheelock and his nephew, Dean, have devised a form of automation to snake logs from the forest at their logging site near here. But they have to say "giddy-up" to get it started.

They've trained a pair of horses to skid logs out of the woods along the 1,000-foot trail without benefit of reins or a driver. Gerald hooks the logs up to horse No. 1, gives him a gentle pat and off the animal goes to the loading ramp.

When No. 1 arrives, Dean starts No. 2 back on the trail for another load. They say the two trained horses save the big expense of tractors and loaders to get the pulpwood logs out of the woods.

The Keokuk Dam, which was built in 1913 on the Mississippi River in Iowa, is 33 feet high.

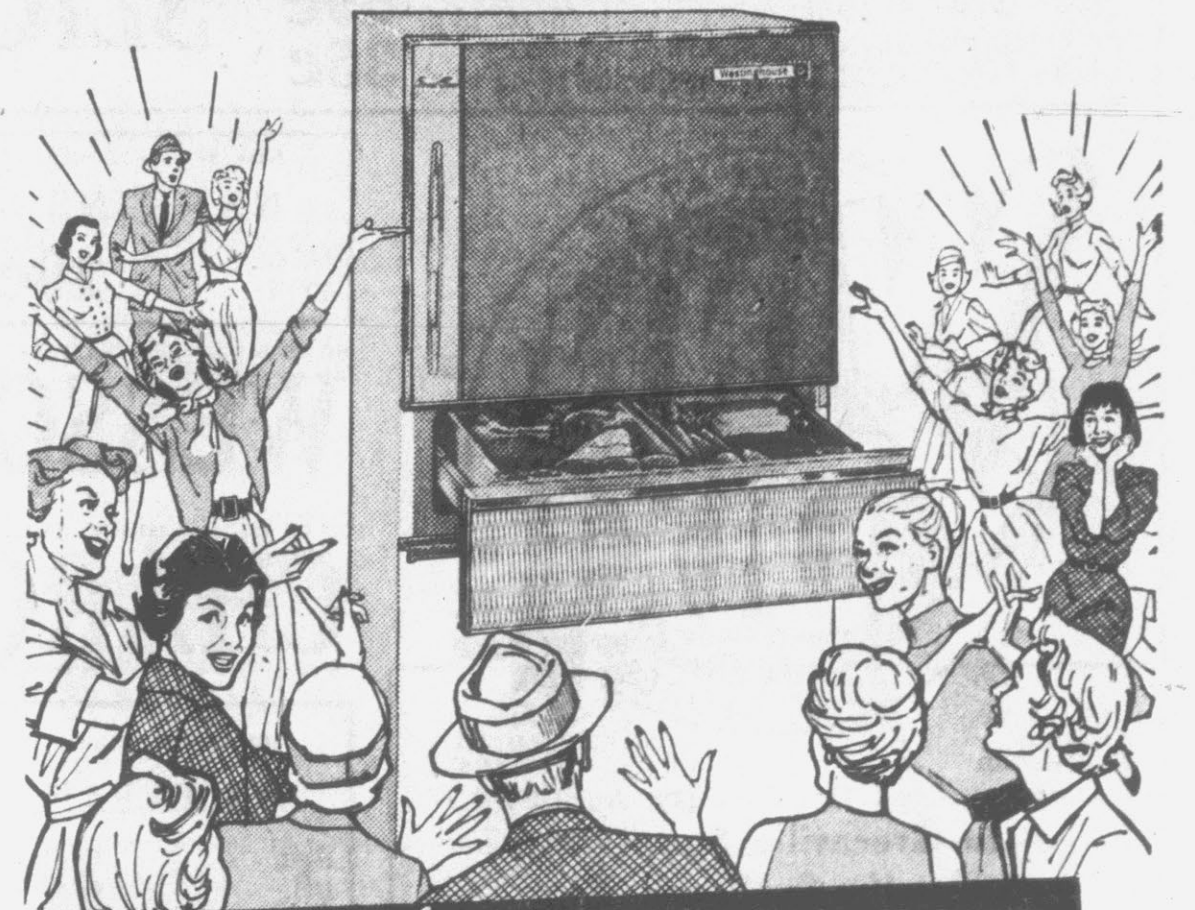

He said, "If I said so it would be," and once more she felt his unemotional singleness and one-track inflexibility. He was on the trail of something more important than herself. "I suppose so," she said, suddenly listless. "Good girl!" he applauded, but almost perfunctorily, and she saw that his mind had raced off a million miles away from her. (To Be Continued Tomorrow)

Fraternity Has Annual Party

Delta Sigma Pi held their annual spring party for prospective pledges Monday in the Chapter room. Prior to the party, brothers of Delta Sigma Pi had welcomed prospective pledges at a short get-acquainted session. Loyd Lee, first vice president, presided and presented a summary of the fraternity's functions. Each officer explained his respective duties, after which a question and answer period was held. Chi Omega social sorority served refreshments at the party. The group participated in group singing and dancing. Dance music was provided by John Burleson, Stuart Hollowell and others. Dr. E.R. Brownings, director of the business department, was a guest. Mr. and Mrs. William H.

Rent-Free Home For Newlyweds

LONDON (AP) — Princes Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones are going to live rent free at London's Kensington Palace, birthplace of Queen Victoria. Buckingham Palace today announced Queen Elizabeth II is furnishing the couple "grace and favor" quarters at the three-story, 18th century mansion hard by what is known as millionaires' row. "Grace and favor" residences are owned by the Crown and supplied rent free to relatives and selected faithful subjects. Nobody is being dispossessed to

Set Pre-School Clinic Friday

STOKES—The annual pre-school clinic has been scheduled for Friday at Stokes-Pactolus High School, according to Principal W.J. Edwards. Parents of children expected to enter school next fall are urged to attend the registration session beginning at 9:30 a.m. Children entering the first grade must be six years old on or before Oct. 15, 1960. Arthur S. Alford, Pitt County supervisor of education, and a county health nurse will be present Friday to aid in readying next fall's beginners. Edwards said the clinic will give parents and children an opportunity to become familiar with the school operations and policies.

cured and the said deed of trust subject to the terms thereof subject to the indebtedness thereby secured having demanded a foreclosure thereof for the purpose of satisfying said indebtedness, the undersigned Substituted Trustee will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the Courthouse door in Greenville, North Carolina, at 12 o'clock noon on the 14th day of May, 1960, the lot or parcel of land conveyed in said deed of trust, the same lying and being in Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, and more particularly described as follows: Lying and being situated in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, and known and designated as all of Lot No. 16, Block "D," Colonial Heights Sub-division as the same appears on map of record in Map Book 5, page 189, Pitt County Registry. # Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Blue chips sagged as the stock market resumed a slow retreat early this afternoon. Trading was moderate. Key stocks declined from fractions to about 2 points. Scattered gains among selected issues cushioned the decline which was not very sharp on average.

Steels, motors, rails, utilities, drugs and electrical equipments took losses. Airlines, mail orders, aircrafts and tobaccos showed very little change.

The market was irregularly lower at the start. An attempt to rally fizzled. Then prices edged off still lower.

The mixed nature of first quarter earnings reports continued to cause uncertainty. Technicians noted that the market had failed to pierce a "resistance area" in the vicinity of 636 in the Dow Jones industrial average and may be in the process of "testing" the lows of March.

American Telephone which is owned by more shareholder than any other stock, dropped more than a point as the annual meeting convened.

DuPont dropped more than 3, apparently in continued reaction to disappointing earnings. General Electric, affected by similar disappointment, fell about 3/4. Radio Corp. was off around 2. Texas Instruments lost more than a point. Motorola dived about 4 points. Ampex and Beckman Instruments held gains of about a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.38 to 622.02. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down .70 to 214.40 with the industrials down 1.10, the rails down .60 and the utilities down .30.

Corporate bonds were lower. U. S. governments made small gains.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—Hog prices steady to 25 lower. ## Farmville Rotarians Hear Dr. Jenkins

FARMVILLE — East Carolina College Pres. Leo W. Jenkins told Farmville Rotarians last night next fall will see another record-breaking freshman enrollment.

Speaking to the regular meeting of the local Rotary Club, Dr. Jenkins pointed out new applications from next fall's freshmen and transfer students on April 18, 1960 outnumbered the same applications received by the same date last year by 561. To date, ECC has received a total 1,744 new applications compared with 1,183 through the same day last year.

Jenkins pointed out each student at East Carolina "has a responsibility to the state's taxpayers." He said the cost per student per annum is $560. Of this figure, the state pays $325 per student. "Every student at East Carolina is really on a state scholarship," the president said.

He reported to the group the on-campus enrollment at ECC is currently 4,583. In addition, he said, there are approximately 2,000 students involved in the college's extension program that is operative in several outlying towns and cities.

Jenkins told the group over 700 of the college's student population come from Pitt County, pointing out many of these native students would find it "far more difficult" to attend a more distant college.

He reported citizens of the Greenville-Pitt County area are in the process of raising $25,000 for the purpose of exercising an option on additional land for the campus.

Further local interest has been reflected, Jenkins said, by the fact that the college's Athletic Advisory Council, composed of Greenville citizens, have underwritten next fall's scheduled football game in Greenville between ECC and the University of Richmond. The underwriters have guaranteed the Virginia school $4,000 for playing in Greenville.

Plan Rally At Elizabeth City

ELIZABETH CITY—The biggest political rally to date for the coming Democratic Primary will be staged tonight at the Camden Yacht Club here for supporters of Walter B. Jones of Farmville for the congressional seat from the N. C. First District.

A free fish fry will be served from 6 until 7:30 p.m., and the committee in charge said yesterday they are expecting several hundreds persons to attend.

Sam D. Bundy, Farmville schools superintendent, will preside over the program of entertainment starting at 7:30. Jones, who is opposing Herbert C. Bonner of Washington, will speak briefly at 8.

Jones arrived in Elizabeth City Monday and plans to spend the entire week visiting the various counties of this section. He is accompanied by Mrs. Jones, a native of Chowan County.

An automobile caravan was scheduled to leave the Pitt County area around 1:30 this afternoon en route to the fish fry and rally here.

Jones campaign spokesmen in Greenville and Farmville said today the caravan is expected to number nearly 20 cars. The entourage will make brief stops along its Greenville-Elizabeth City route.

GREENVILLE WOMAN'S BROTHER SUCCEUMS

Captain Cleveland Hemby, 74, of Jacksonville, Florida, died at St. Luke's Hospital at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday.

Funeral services will be held at Hardage & Sons Funeral Home in Jacksonville.

Capt. Hemby, son of the late Henry Clay and Marietta Baker Hemby, was born in Pitt County and spent his early boyhood in Washington, N. C.

He went to sea while very young and became a well-known figure in world shipping. He captained some of the United States' largest ships and served in both World Wars.

For the last several years Capt. Hemby made his home in Jacksonville, Fla. where he served in an executive capacity as an active pilot in the St. John's Pilot Association of the Jacksonville Port of shipping.

He is survived by his wife, Estelle Vandigriff Hemby, two sisters, Mrs. W. S. Moye, Sr. of Greenville, and Mrs. Zilphia Rotroff of Wilson.

CAMPOREE-GOERS REQUIRE EXAMS

Scouts in the Pitt Division who plan to attend the camporee must have medical examinations, according to Rudolph Alexander, local Scout Executive.

The examinations will be given Friday at 5:30 p.m. at Eppes High School. There will be no make-up examinations at any other time and no excuses will be accepted if boys fail to have an examination, Alexander noted.

Boys should be ready to take the examination on time and should bring the medical examination form with them, he added.

Forms may be secured by Scoutmasters from the East Carolina Council office in Wilson.

BAND CONCERT IS SET FOR AYDEN

On Friday, April 22, the Ayden-Winterville High School Band will give its annual spring concert in the Ayden High School Auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

Numbers to be performed will include: "Black Knight," by Grundman, "Air for Band," by Erickson, "Air and March," by Purcell, "Time Out for a Jam Session," by Handon, "Hall of Fame," by Olivadotti, "United Nations," by King, "Snow White Fantasy," by Morey and Churchill, "Russian Chorale and Overture," by Isaac, and "Sentimental Journey."

CANDIDATE ON TV

Gubernatorial candidate Dr. I. Beverly Lake is scheduled to speak on Greenville television station WNCT, channel nine, tonight at 6:20 and again tomorrow at 9:15 p.m.

FALSE ALARM

Fire Chief George Gardner reported a false alarm was turned in this morning at 8:10 from Box 55 at the intersection of Fifth and Library Sts.

Farm Tractor Operator Injured

About $400 damage resulted to a farm tractor yesterday when it was involved in a collision with a car about 4:35 p.m. four miles east of Greenville on U.S. 264.

Samuel Edwards, 71, of Route 3, Greenville, operator of the tractor, was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital for observation and treatment of lacerations suffered in the wreck, according to investigating Patrolman H. R. Winslow of Greenville.

According to the officer, the tractor, headed east on U.S. 264, allegedly made a left turn into the path of an oncoming car driven by Andrew Jackson Jones, 40, 904 West Fourth St., who was headed east. Damage to the car was set at $100.

Edwards, charged with failure to yield the right of way, was taken to the hospital by Deputy Sheriff Gerald Davis who was in the area when the mishap occurred.

ESTIMATE WRECK DAMAGE OF $700

An estimated $700 damage resulted about 8:40 a.m. today when cars driven by George Aaron Case, 45-year-old Negro of Route 2, Greenville and Mrs. Sybil Adams McLawhorn of 2402 Slay Drive, collided at the intersection of Wyatt and Railroad Sts.

Investigating officers, who charged Case with failure to yield the right of way, set damage to his car at $400. He was headed west on Wyatt St. when the collision occurred.

Damage to the McLawhorn vehicle, headed south on Railroad St., was placed at $300.

No injuries were reported.

Guitarist Montoya In Concert Tonight

Carlos Montoya, master of the Spanish flamenco guitar and one of the most popular concert artists of the present day, will appear at East Carolina College tonight (Wednesday) at 8:15 in the Wright auditorium. The program is an attraction of the College Entertainment Series for the present school year.

The noted artist began his career at an early age in his native Madrid and soon was in demand as a performer in cafes and night clubs and as accompanist to the greatest flamenco dancers and singers of the day. He toured with the noted Spanish dancer La Argentina, and has accompanied such famous artists as Vincente Escudero and Argentina.

In 1945 he decided to appear in a full evening of music and thus became the only flamenco guitarist in the world performing as a solo artist on the concert stage. He is also the most widely recorded solo artist of all time in this type of music.

His tours of the United States and Canada have been received with high acclaim from the press. The Toronto Globe-Mall paid tribute to his "fabulous technique" and described him as a "superb guitarist and a communicative interpreter."

"Carlos Montoya," said the Chicago Daily Tribune, "literally stopped the show with virtuoso playing that seemed to evoke the very soul of Spain." At Montoya's Town Hall recital in New York, the "capacitly audience was hushed with almost ritual reverence," according to Musical America.

In addition to his artistry as a performer, Montoya has composed or arranged many works for the flamenco guitar. His concert programs are made up of his own works. But each time he performs a selection, something new is added.
