12 - Month School Plan Discussed At Pitt Meet

Rep. S. Glenn Hawfield of Monroe, chairman of the N. C. Commission for the Study of a Twelve Months' Use of Public School Buildings and Facilities for Public School Purposes, presented a detailed account of the commission's study for discussion this morning in the Pitt County Courtroom.

The meeting, one of six scheduled throughout the state for May 3-10, attracted some 50 school and government officials and laymen. By 11:30 this morning at least a half-dozen local representatives had entered into the discussion.

The commission has designed a dozen suggested questions for discussion aimed at some means of extending the period of use of the state's school facilities. The suggestions deal with topics ranging from summer school programs to 10-month school terms to four-quarter school terms that would consume the entire 12 months each year on a staggered term basis.

Accompanying Hawfield here was Rep. Dan L. Drummond of Winston-Salem, also a member of the state study commission.

Hawfield, before opening the session for informal discussion, explained the commission's attitude "is not one of criticism of our public schools. We have done a good job."

"But I shall loathe the day," he continued, "when we fold our hands and say we have reached our ultimate goal in education." He cited a history of the evolution of the length of North Carolina's school term since 1776, pointing out the last adjustment was made 17 years ago when the General Assembly extended the term from eight to nine months.

Hawfield emphasized the purpose of the commission and the meetings is to gather public sentiment for use toward arriving at a "solution to the problem facing education in this state."

The commission, he said, has mailed questionnaires to each school superintendent in the state to determine the general feeling in various areas covered by the questionnaires. Of the 140,174 questionnaires mailed, 147 were returned, Hawfield said.

Local school superintendents, J. H. Rose of the Greenville system and D. H. Conley of the Pitt County Schools, attended today's meeting along with superintendents, supervisors, principals, and teachers from Pitt and other counties. The Pitt County Commissioners were represented by

Safety Check Lanes To Be Set Up In County

Safety check lanes will be operated in Pitt County May 24, 25 and 26, Chairman Luther Moore announced today.

Moore was appointed chairman by Judge Charles H. Whedbee, president of the Pitt County Safety Council.

State Highway Patrol Cpl. John Jenkins is working with Moore on plans for the safety lanes.

Moore said three lanes will be operated in Greenville May 24 and 25. One lane each will be in operation in Ayden, Bethel and Farmville on May 26. The lanes will be open from 8:30 to 12 noon and from 1:30 until 6 p.m.

In Greenville a lane will be set up in front of the college gym on Tenth St., in front of Shack's Electric Co. on Dickinson Ave. and in front of Farmers Warehouse on N. Greene St.

Moore said civic organizations have been asked to contribute money for the lanes in order that they may be operated with paid personnel rather than volunteer workers. "The response from the civic organizations has been splendid," he declared.

The Pitt County Insurance Exchange is purchasing the necessary supplies to be used on the lanes and the mechanics necessary for the inspections are furnished by the Pitt County Automobile Dealers Association.

The Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. is again furnishing refreshments, Moore said.

"We have contacted all civic organizations asking for their complete support," the chairman declared. "I want to appeal to every automobile owner to have his car safety inspected."

Moore said there has been a definite decrease in highway fatalities for Pitt County during 1958 and 1959.

"The Safety Council attributes this in a large degree to this inspection program and the splendid cooperation of the highway patrol."

Aussies 'Bomb' Sub; Kidnap Two Sailors

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—University students bombarded the U.S. atomic submarine Halibut with firecrackers Tuesday night and held two American sailors in a dog house for ransom.

The Halibut is here with the U.S. cruiser Canberra for the annual anniversary observance of the Battle of the Coral Sea. Two years ago students boarded the U.S. carrier Bennington, here on the same mission, and brought the crew to action stations by setting off the general alarm.

Tuesday night the youths rigged a catapult of bicycle tubes overlooking the Halibut's berth and started to bombard at long range with five-cent firecrackers.

All the shots fell short, nobody was hurt, and the students fled with local police in pursuit. Then a telegram arrived at the Canberra demanding one shilling (11 cents) from each of the 85 officers and 1,350 enlisted men aboard to ransom two kidnaped American sailors, Dick Jamieson of Michigan and Rex Leard from Texas.

(University students are collecting money today to help finance the Australian Olympic team's trip to Rome.)

Two good-looking girls had "accidentally" met Jamieson and Leard in the city and invited them to look over the university. On the campus male students pounced on the sailors, locked them in an outside dog kennel in the veterinary school and called in newspaper photographers.

After sending the telegram to the cruiser, the kidnapers took their captives off to a party.

Leard and Jamieson were back on the Canberra before their leave passes expired at 11 p.m. The cruiser's duty officer refused to say if the ransom had been paid. He would not give the home towns of the two sailors.

Precious Gifts For Margaret

LONDON (AP)—More than a million dollars worth of fabulous wedding presents for Princess Margaret piled up today at St. James's Palace.

By the time she marries Antony Armstrong-Jones Friday, the value of gifts may be close to two million dollars, a court source said.

"Some of the gifts are so rare and unusual," he explained, "that it's impossible to put a price on them."

He referred to such presents as a 17th century pearl necklace from India that has been sent by Portugal's Count of Nova Goa.

It once belonged to the family of Dom Joao de Castro, a viceroy of India in 1560.

By early afternoon, more than 900 presents had arrived at the ancient palace which stands next door to Clarence House, Princess Margaret's London home.

The gifts are being kept at the palace because Clarence House wouldn't hold them all. Also—they're safer at the palace.

Scotland Yard took no chances, for smash-and-grab bandits—as they call them here—have made several downtown raids in London lately.

In addition to a special guard inside the palace, extra men were on duty in the neighborhood.

Uniformed guardsmen traditionally patrol the sidewalks around the palace, which is smack in downtown London.

Meantime, the betrothed couple went through a final rehearsal today of the wedding at Westminster Abbey. They went through their first rehearsal last Thursday. Monday they had stand-ins at a full-scale rehearsal.

The morning rehearsal lasted two hours. Time and again Margaret and Tony went through certain parts of the ceremony.

NATO Cautions Russia Against Making Threats

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—The North Atlantic Alliance today warned the Soviet Union to stop its attacks on West Germany and other individual members of the alliance.

Otherwise, said the 15 NATO powers, there can be no peaceful coexistence between them and the Communist world.

A final communique from the meeting of the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers said the Soviet Union's propaganda efforts to discredit West Germany and other NATO allies threaten the alliance as a whole and are inconsistent with a real improvement of international relations.

Speaking only 12 days before the East-West summit meeting in Paris, the 15-nation alliance said it "cannot be satisfied with 'peaceful coexistence' under cover of which attacks continue to be made on individual members."

The council, which had been meeting in Istanbul since Monday, said it welcomes the Big Four summit parley and hopes the negotiations will lead to an improvement of international relations.

But maintenance of the unity and strength of the alliance is a condition of progress toward this end, the communique added.

Turning to specific issues to be discussed at the summit, the council:

Reaffirmed that a final German settlement can only be found in reunification (of West and East Germany) on the basis of self-determination, and Recalled the NATO declaration of December 1958 spelling out the Allied determination to protect the freedom of the people of West Berlin. That declaration was issued a month after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's first demand that Allied troops quit West Berlin within six months.

President Signs Grain-Sale Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a huge "food for peace" agreement to supply India with 17 million tons of surplus grain—the largest deal of its kind in history.

The agreement calls for the United States to sell India 587 million bushels of wheat and 22 million bags of rice during the next four years starting July 1.

India will pay the equivalent of $1,300,000,000 in rupees for the grain. Most of the money will be loaned back to India for its economic program.

"We are fortunate in having this means of sharing our abundance," Eisenhower said.

"The food that we make available under our special programs today will be reflected in India's accelerated progress tomorrow," he said.

"This is what we mean by 'food for peace.'"

Grifton Officials Look For Progress

GRIFTON—Mayor Wiley Gaskins, who was re-elected for another year's term on Monday, said the town officials anticipate more progress with the coming year.

In making the statement, Gaskins said great progress has been made in Grifton this past year. Gaskins has already served one term as mayor, and previously served three terms on the Town Board during the 1940s. He is engaged in the farming and trucking business.

The newly elected judge, J. A. Rogers, said he would "continue to try to be honest, unbiased and

Offer Medical Care Plan For Lower - Income Aged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration today proposed a $1,200,000,000 annual federal-state medical care program for the lower-income aged.

Participants would pay $24 a year for coverage. Married couples with an annual income above $3,800 would not be eligible for the program, or single persons with more than $2,500 income.

Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming outlined the administration plan to the House Ways and Means Committee which is considering a variety of proposals for health programs for the aged.

"We have developed a program that is designed to achieve just one objective—namely, to provide approximately 12 million persons 65 and over who have limited resources with the opportunity of taking steps which, if taken, will enable them to cope with the heavy economic burden of long-term or other expensive illnesses," he told the committee.

The plan contemplates that the states would work out detailed programs. A state could, for instance, provide for the health care through a private insurance company, or could run its own program.

The over-all costs would be split 50-50 between the federal government and the states.

Flemming expressed belief it would take perhaps two years to get the proposed program into full operation.

He said the cost during the fiscal year beginning July 1 to make ready for the program would be about five million dollars. That would include funds for grants to states to help them develop the plans they would administer.

The secretary estimated the 1961-62 cost would run in the neighborhood of 400 million dollars, half each federal and state, but said there are many factors which could influence the actual cost in that year.

The estimate of ultimate annual cost of $1,200,000,000 with the federal share being 600 million, is based on the assumption that all states participate and that 80 per cent of those who are eligible enroll for the program.

Two options would be open to the states: 1. They could set up programs under which they would either be self-insurers, or provide coverage through contracts with Blue Cross and Blue Shield or with private insurers.

The benefits would include 180 days of hospitalization, 365 days of nursing home service or nursing service elsewhere, certain surgical, dental and other services, and up to $350 worth of prescribed drugs.

Each participant with ability to pay would have to put up an annual fee of about $24 a year. States would provide the funds for persons unable to pay.

An all-federal interim program would be provided in states which did not set up their own programs within a year after enactment of the broader plan.

In that interim system the federal government would contract for not more than two years with a state, or with a private carrier, to cover those desiring to participate. Benefits under that program would be about one-third of those under the federal-state program.

Currie reported that for the first 10 months of this fiscal year "all significant general fund schedules were substantially ahead of the same period last year."

Sales tax receipts were up 8.08 per cent, beverage tax collections up 13.48 per cent and income tax collections were up 28.38 per cent.

Currie noted that income tax collections for the 10 month period totaled nearly 120 million, including nearly 45 million from corporations and better than 73 1/2 million from individuals.

April Tax Receipts Of N.C. Soar

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's general fund collections in April totaled more than 63 1-3 million dollars for a 27 1/2 per cent increase over April of last year, Revenue Commissioner James S. Currie reported to Gov. Hodges today.

A big increase in income tax collections plus the first important revenues from the new withholding plan for collecting income taxes was responsible for the big jump.

However, Currie's report contained bad news as well as good. He pointed to a drop of nearly half a million dollars in sales tax collections and said March's severe weather was responsible.

Also on the gloomy side was an 8.3 per cent drop in gasoline tax revenues which caused highway fund collections to fall off 6.11 per cent from April of last year.

Income tax collections for April totaled nearly 5 1/2 million dollars, compared with 38 million last year. Currie pointed out that this included 42 1/2 million on citizens' 1959 incomes and $6,811,539 was from the pay-as-you-go system of collecting income taxes. It included $3,113,893 withheld from employee paychecks and $3,697,646 paid by self-employed persons.

Weeping Lucille Ball Gets Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Lucille Ball, in tears, divorced Desi Arnaz today with testimony that he was a Jekyll and Hyde who had made their marriage "a nightmare for the last three years."

The orange-haired comedy star appeared in the Santa Monica Superior Court.

From the moment she took the stand her usual jaunty air vanished and she began trying to hold back the tears. The couple had been married 20 years.

"My husband would frequently have fits of temper in front of everyone including the children," Miss Ball testified.

"It got to be so bad that I thought it would be better for us not to be together. These tantrums would happen everywhere. They happened at home, they happened at work; it could be anything that set him off."

"It was a Jekyll and Hyde thing. . . . He would do it in front of friends and relatives. We could have no social life for the last three to four years."

Arnaz did not contest the divorce and was not present.

Miss Ball is 48, Arnaz 43. They have two children, Lucy Desiree, 9, and Desi IV, 7.

They met when Desi was a bongo-beating Latin singer and Lucille a starlet. Their marriage was marked by periodic tiffs.

She won a divorce in 1944, saying arguments made her a "nervous wreck." But they made up and she never obtained her final decree.

Their wealth grew. Desi became a production boss. Ultimately they bought RKO studio and made it a TV production center, with Desi boss.

But arguments resumed and in recent months they were estranged. She filed her suit last March.

A bulky property settlement was presented as evidence to Judge Orlando H. Rhodes. The only specifics mentioned in testimony were $450 monthly payments for support of their children.

Club Plays Big Role In Homemaker's Life

By MRS. WILBUR WORTHINGTON, Cannons HD President. This is National Home Demonstration Club Week, and the one and one-third million homemakers in the United States and Puerto Rico are making a special effort to inform the public of the work accomplished through this great adult educational program.

The North Carolina Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs organized at State College in Raleigh in 1920, and changed to the North Carolina Organization of Home Demonstration Clubs at the State Council Meeting in 1958, is sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service of State College.

The primary purposes of the organization are: (1) to maintain a state organization which shall serve as the officially authorized spokesman of the organized Home Demonstration Club women of the state, and thus serve as a line of communication between the homes of the state, State College and the United States Department of Agriculture; (2) to strengthen, promote and help put into practice the Extension program of Agriculture and Home Economics designed to carry scientific information to the farm family; and (3) to encourage its members to work for happy relationships within the home, realizing that the atmosphere of the home is the most important influence in the life of the family. The program covers all phases of home economics: food and nutrition, clothing, food conservation, marketing, housing, home management, house furnishings, family relations and home beautification. The program is flexible, constantly changing to meet the needs of the homemaker and her family in this changing world in which we live.

Also, as a part of home demonstration work are the programs on Music, recreation, good reading, citizenship and safety. The program emphasizes the development of each individual member. There are 32,404 adult leaders in North Carolina.

The influence of 61,639 club women in North Carolina working together for a common purpose—to improve family living—is bound to be felt in every section of our state. We believe that "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World." Therefore, we strive to make our homes places where love, security and faith are realities, places where children can develop into happy, useful citizens, and husbands can find the contentment necessary to help them meet and solve the problems of daily living. One club member, when asked what the Home Demonstration Club program had meant to her, said, "My family is better fed, more adequately clothed, and happier as the result of the things I have learned. My home is more attractive, more conveniently arranged and our lawn more beautiful. I have learned some things about business which have helped me to be a better partner with my husband in our farming business. Then too, I have developed a sense of self confidence through our leader training programs that makes it possible for me to participate in other civic organizations." The information so valuable to each club member is available to anyone who will contact the local Home Economics Agent's office.

Making A 'Temporary' Tax Larger

Remember the "temporary" increase in federal gasoline taxes which was enacted not long ago to keep the federal super highway program going during the recent recession?

As an emergency measure the "temporary" tax was to be for a short period, to enable the government to boost employment during the business slump. It was stated by the President and by others that the tax would be removed when the "emergency" period ended.

The recession is behind us now, business has risen out of the doldrums it was in. Employment is up, production schedules have recouped their losses, and predictions are general that the Sixties will see an economic growth surpassing that of the Fifties.

Even so, President Eisenhower has now asked Congress to add another one-half cent a gallon to the federal gasoline tax. It would boost the federal tax to four and one-half cents on each gallon of gasoline, and what's more, nothing has been said about removing the "temporary" increase that was affixed to the tax not long ago.

The administration's pitch this time is that more funds are needed to "keep this very important highway program on schedule". The federal highway program apparently has run into many snags. When the temporary gasoline tax increase was added mention was made at the time that the construction program had fallen behind schedule. The emphasis, however, was not put on the schedule as much as it was put on the need for the government to do a little pump-priming in the sagging national economy.

How high will the gasoline tax go to keep the super highway program moving "on schedule"?

Can the citizens consider the last gasoline hike as still a temporary measure that will be removed, or in a short span of time has it become a permanent part of the hidden tax schedule all Americans are expected to pay?

It now appears that this "temporary" hike in gasoline tax has now become just as permanent as other "temporary" tax increases enacted 10 or 20 years ago to take care of specific emergencies. The emergencies have long since disappeared, but the "temporary" taxes are still with us.

In the case of the gasoline tax proposal, some clarification of the last temporary increase should be made before a further increase is considered. If it is the administration's intent to make the recent temporary increase a permanent part of the tax structure, it should first go to Congress with that proposal and then seek the additional increase which they say is needed.

There is little to be gained by continuing to try to fool the people by adding the meaningless word "temporary" to taxes if the tax increases are to be permanent.

Keep Up Our Guard For Instant Action

Far too many people in North Carolina and other states look upon the National Guard and perhaps military reserve units as organizations which do not need training, the best equipment and other facilities which go to make up a top flight unit.

Too many look upon such units as stand-by organizations that will be needed rarely, if ever. Therefore it is reasonable that they should have hand-me-down equipment, only sparse training and may be left to sort of fend for themselves.

Looking at the National Guard objectively, however, just the opposite is true. It is an organization which is, to be sure, an important part of the military strength of the nation. Moreover, the National Guard is an organization which is called on from time to time to handle emergency situations—not always military—and it must respond at a moment's notice.

When Gov. Hodges said in Asheville the other day that the National Guard must be kept modern, he was merely advocating something that good common sense demands. No one would keep on a boat a life jacket that was old, torn and probably would not float. No one would think of keeping in an emergency kit a flashlight with old batteries that might or might not work. When the time comes that they are needed—though not frequent—they are needed quickly and they must perform efficiently.

So it is with the National Guard in this and other states. When they are called on to handle an emergency situation, they cannot be expected to do so if they are ill equipped, or if they lack the equipment or training they need to handle the job. As a mobile force they must have adequate transportation. As an emergency force, the Guard must be able to move into operation quickly.

If the National Guard is assigned a secondary role, given secondary equipment, facilities and training, how can it be expected to handle the difficult tasks assigned to it?

If the National Guard is worth having at all—and it has proved its worth many times over—it is certainly worth keeping well equipped and ready for instant action expected of it when called upon.

Foreign Aid Is Almost A Habit

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP) — It's routine now.

Every year about this time Congress goes through a kind of self-torture examining the mutual security program, which used to be called foreign aid. Should it be continued? How much to give? How often to cut it?

Then, regularly as a clock, it votes to continue the aid. Each year, too, just as regularly, Congress votes less money than President Eisenhower asked.

Congress is going through such a period now.

There is never any real danger that Congress might suddenly decide to abandon altogether the mutual security program which includes arms for allied nations, plus other kinds of aid for them and backward peoples.

This foreign aid program is now an accepted fact of American life. It was started 14 years ago when President Truman sent help to Greece and Turkey which felt themselves threatened by communism.

There is no end to it in sight. The problem for Eisenhower and the most earnest supporters of the program among Democrats and Republicans in Congress is to keep it critics there from chopping it to pieces by giving Eisenhower far less money than he asked.

And there still is in this country, in and out of Congress, some strenuous but ineffective opposition to the size of the program which Eisenhower says is necessary.

Still, as the record shows, the majority opinion is for continuing the aid.

The amount Eisenhower requested this year—$4,175,000,000—is far from a record request. Nevertheless, Congress will whittle it down a bit.

This is the picture for the past four years: 1956—Congress voted $3,766,570,000, or one billion dollars less than the President asked; 1957—he asked $4,400,000,000 but got $3,435,810,000; 1958—he asked $3,950,000,000, got $3,298,092,000; and in 1959 Congress gave him $3,225,815,000 of the $3,929,997,000 he requested.

One of the main complaints of the critics this year is that the program is being badly handled. Eisenhower tried to answer them—while attempting to stiffen the congressional backbone enough to give him close to what he asked—in a talk Monday night. He made a similar pitch last year.

The President, emphasizing that this help is important in stiff-arming communism around the world, said the amount he asked is the minimum necessary.

He pointed to some results of this "involvement with our neighbors": a 30-billion-dollar foreign trade for this country yearly; the importing of materials we don't have, like manganese, tin, natural rubber, and one-third of our iron ore.

To this trade, Eisenhower said, 4½ million Americans owe their jobs. The point he tried to make was that this country no longer can stand alone, cannot withdraw into isolation again.

It's a point pretty well accepted by Congress for years.

"From a visiting speaker comes the prediction that Oklahoma's average family 40 years from now will have an income of $20,000 annually. Now if he will just specify what $20,000 will buy 40 years from now his prediction will carry more weight." — The Daily Oklahoman.

"Almost $12 of every $100 you will pay in taxes in the next eighteen months will be used for interest on the national debt. This is an all-time high; and should push our spirits to an all-time low." — Boone (Iowa) News-Republican.

Things Seen And Heard

HAPPENINGS in and around Greenville:

Over on Evans St. the other day a minor scrape involved a pick-up truck and lady-driven auto.

It was in midafternoon when the sun was warm and most of the people that formed a small crowd around the minor accident because there was nothing else to do.

As the officers investigated via the usual cut-and-dried interrogation routine, spectators speculated about who was to blame. Actually, not one of them saw the accident closely enough to know what happened, but one of the female bystanders declared, "They'll all say it was that poor woman's fault."

Women lead a rough life — occasionally.

As most are probably aware, Greenville has added Putt-Putt golf to its commercial family. It's a fascinating game that, according to reports, has attracted a large number of the local folks.

A feature of the 18-hole, par 36 course is the handing out of free passes when players poke in hole-in-ones at the right moment.

The course uses red, yellow, blue, and green balls and employs the same colors of lights to indicate which color merits a pass, should the player of that ball come up with an ace.

The whole deal's set up on the honor system. And that's good for most folks.

But, says the manager, this one little guy is either mighty sharp, or fast on his feet, or something; 'cause seconds after a particular color light goes on, he comes galloping up with that color ball between his thumb and finger announcing, with genuine-looking surprise, his hole-in-one.

An official of an area television station was saying last night, nobody will be watching that station for the last two or so weeks before the coming Democratic Primary.

He said they'll have practically nothing to offer but paid political announcements — thousands of them, he said.

A special guest at the annual meeting of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association presented a real problem to local officials last night.

He is a native of Iran and the pronunciation of his name was not one of those things that can be picked up easily by the average person.

The lady who had undertaken the responsibility of introducing him to other members and guests resorted to the use of his first name only. But later, he had to be introduced before the annual membership assembly.

Then one of the officers, a real thinking-man, suggested a solution to eliminate the problem. He came up with an English translation of the good doctor's name.

Who was it that said, "Man's imagination is nature's greatest resource."

Other Editors Saying... Making Good Impression

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

It is becoming more apparent every day that Americans are growing conscious of what people of other countries think of us. Or at least many government officials seem sensitive to such opinions. As for the majority of U. S. citizens themselves, it would be difficult to make a blanket observation concerning them and their attitude about what others think.

The Caryl Chessman case is a good example. Just before his scheduled execution last time the federal government received numerous protests and requests from persons overseas — many in high office. In fact, a demonstration against President Eisenhower in Latin America was threatened if Chessman didn't get a reprieve or delay of execution. To show that Washington is indeed sensitive to such thinking, the State Department requested the Governor of California to grant a stay. He did.

But there are other areas which prove revealing in American relations with folks from other countries. For instance, there seems to be a certain of misunderstanding and indifference between American teenagers—the sons and daughters of American military men and diplomats—live in a tightly-knit community in Berlin, but only a few of them have German friends.

Why is this? One of the girls, from Oklahoma, said: "The American teen-agers tend to stick together and have very little to do with German kids. I think it is mostly a matter of ignorance." This girl believed es most American youngsters arrive in Germany with the idea that a war is still going on. Other students confirmed her impressions.

American youths tend to think Germans are different and they criticize them for it. Germans also think Americans are snobs. They are surprised when they find that Americans are ordinary people. One youth, son of an American intelligence officer, says he hesitates to go out among the Germans because the natives stare at Americans, especially those dressed in light-colored, flashy clothing the Americans frequently wear.

Thus it would seem that the Germans also think Americans are different. One American principal of a school there observes: "I suspect that parents have something to do with this isolation. But the Americans aren't completely to blame. Germans sometimes do have a tendency to be rude."

It seems that Americans are not the individual goodwill ambassadors they once were. During World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict, the American GI became famous the world over for his friendly attitude, his generosity in sharing his food with war victims, his ready smile. Now it seems most Americans are not only suspicious of "foreigners" but also tend to become obnoxious when on duty or touring overseas. For some reason they seem to consider themselves privileged characters. When they learn this isn't true, things might improve in our relations with others.

Loss Unrecognized by Tax Law

By ELMER ROESSNER

If you, dear reader, are a Congressman who wants to be re-elected this coming November, run (do not walk) to the legislative hopper and do something about that part of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 that places Uncle Sam's hand in the pocket of the unemployed.

The act, the Internal Revenue Service has decided, after six years, does not permit the unemployed person to deduct for tax purposes the fees paid to an employment agency.

A corporation can spend—and deduct—a million dollars spent to get a signature on a contract. But little Minnie Mowcherson cannot deduct the money she pays to get herself off the unemployment rolls.

This means that if Minnie signs for a job provided by an employment agency, agreeing to pay her first week's wages for that job, she actually works for less than nothing that week. The employment agency takes her pay for that week (usually spread over several weeks) but your kindly old Uncle Sam doesn't recognize that loss, and Minnie must pay Federal income taxes on pay she saw only in passing. THE FACTS

If you think your reporter is making this all up, ask your nearest IRS office for a copy of Rev. Rul. 60-158. You will see that while fees paid to secure employment were deductible back in 1920, the 1954 Code provides that "no deduction shall be allowed for personal, living or family expenses."

It continues: "No provision of the Code or Income Tax Regulations provides for the deduction of expense incurred in seeking employment. On the contrary, section 1.212-1 of the regulations states that expenses such as those paid or incurred in seeking employment or in placing oneself in a position to begin rendering personal services for compensation are not deductible as expenses for production of income.

The IRS cites a decision of the Tax Court (T.C. Memo 1954-147) in which it was held that "expenses of advertising and travel incurred by an unemployed individual are not deductible either as ordinary and necessary expenses of carrying on a trade or a business or as expenses incurred for the production or collection of income. Accordingly, it is held that expenditures incurred by an individual in seeking employment, including fees paid to an employment agency, are not allowance deductions for Federal income tax purposes."

Most attorneys will agree that the IRS interpretation of the law and decisions is correct; that the inequity is based in the law itself which only Congress can change. They might also agree that the law puts the government in the curious position of being an exploiter of the unemployed.

And if you aren't a Congressman, write to one and tell him to do something about it. SHORT AND SIGNIFICANT NEWS ABOUT BUSINESS

Dissent On Big Scale

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY COPYRIGHT, 1960, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

The Associated Television, Ltd., of Great Britain some time ago put on two television programs about the United States. One dealt with what is wrong with the United States; the other was a defense of this country. The defense was no better than the attack. What William Clark, the moderator of the program, seems to have wanted to have discussed was whether this has become a nation of dull, joyless, fat, and self-satisfied robots. He collected a most amazing group of Americans to discuss the subject. Professor Wright Mills of Columbia University answered Clark amply when he said:

"When you ask the question what do you mean by conformity and dissent, you assume that all men tend to be political and that they either conform or that they dissent. Now neither of those situations is really the case for some people at least in the United States today. The situation is a third. Namely, that they don't care either way, that they neither accept nor reject. So that the problem of conformity versus dissent I should rephrase and say that it has been displaced a most amazing group of Americans to discuss the subject. Professor Wright Mills of Columbia University answered Clark amply when he said:

South Korean Frigate Fights Off Red Raid By Sea

By GENE KRAMER
 SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A South Korean navy frigate today repelled a North Korean torpedo boat attack which the navy claimed was designed to cover an attempt to land Red agents.

The navy said the encounter was over in less than five minutes and the three attack craft fled into dense fog when the 1,300-ton frigate returned fire. The frigate suffered no crew casualties or material damage, a spokesman said. It was not known whether the attackers were hit.

The Reds attacked 15 miles off the east coast, about two miles south of the truce demarcation line separating North and South Korea, the navy said.

The navy communicate expressed belief the Communists were trying to land spies or saboteurs in South Korea to "take advantage of the April 26 political upheaval."

Such naval clashes have taken place in the past, but it was the first Red attack since the uprising following the March 15 presidential elections forced the resignation of President Syngman Rhee.

The navy gave this account: "Taking advantage of dense fog, three Communist North Korean torpedo boats surrounded and closed in on our PT66 (frigate) and fired five torpedoes and a round of 40 millimeter machine-gun bullets in two attacks.

Our vessel immediately countered with fierce shelling while zigzagging to dodge the torpedoes and repulsed the three Communist boats."

The navy said it had increased its patrols off both the east and west coasts to block Red attempts to land agents behind the land frontier patrolled by South Korean and U.N. forces.

The navy also moved the northern boundary for east coast fishing three miles to the south to keep South Korean fishermen away from Communist attackers.

Florida Primary Brings Run-Off

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A strong advocate of state's rights, Farris Bryant, and a moderate on the racial question, Doyle E. Carlton Jr., today faced a runoff for the Democratic nomination of governor.

The two leaders, dubbed the "Gold Dust Twins" by their rivals because of their heavy campaign spending, staged a see-saw battle throughout the night for the lead in their Democratic primary battle.

Returns from 1,717 of 1,971 precincts in Tuesday's Democratic primary election gave Bryant 167,233; Carlton 166,893; Jacksonville Mayor Hayden Burns 149,266; John McCarty 127,549; Fred O. Dickinson 99,701; Red David 75,924; Harvie Belser 15,134; Bill Hendrix 8,371; George Downs 6,325, and Jim McCorvey 4,529.

Bryant and Carlton built up their leads on the basis of overall statewide strength. They ran in the top three in virtually all the counties. The other major candidates were strong in their home counties and other spots but couldn't match the leaders statewide.

Carlton, 37, a state senator from Wauchula, is from a small county but he supported the big county causes in the Legislature. Like retiring Gov. LeRoy Collins he is a moderate on the racial question. He is a well-to-do rancher and cattleman and the son of a former governor.

Bryant, 45, is a Harvard-educated Ocala attorney. A former House speaker, he broke with Collins at the windup of the 1955 Legislature on legislative reapportionment and other issues.

The winner of the Bryant-Carlton battle May 24 will take on Republican George Petersen of Fort Lauderdale in the November general election. Petersen, a Broward County commissioner, was an easy winner over Emerson Rupert, St. Petersburg businessman, in the GOP primary.

Returns from 1,234 of 1,971 precincts gave Petersen 79,188 and Rupert 33,392.

Wow Each Other At Soviet Party

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet and American entertainers wowed each other today at a post-midnight party given by Soviet artists for the cast of the musical "My Fair Lady."

Lola Fisher, who plays Eliza Doolittle, sang "I Could Have Danced All Night" in Russian she learned in two weeks. Edward Mulhare, who plays Professor Higgins, recited a romantic soliloquy from Shakespeare's "Othello" and Klara and Klaudiva Kobletz did acrobatic dances that had the Soviets gasping.

The entire American cast brought cheers with a choral number from the musical "Oklahoma."

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson drew laughs with the remark that he had been studying Russian for years and never had come close to achieving Miss Fisher's accent.

Red army dancers, a 15-member violin ensemble, a Balalaika virtuoso and singer and a puppet show were offered by the Soviets at the party in Moscow's Artistic Workers' Club. It followed the regular performance of the American musical.

M. N. Danilov, assistant Soviet minister for culture, toasted the Americans. He expressed hope more American theatrical groups would visit Moscow.

Then the Soviets and Americans jiggerbugged under a bust of Lenin to music of a hotel orchestra whose wildest piece was a number called "Optimistic Boogie."

Reports 'Typical City' Is A Mess

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The typical American city is "a mess," a prominent Maryland mortgage banker said here Tuesday.

James W. Rouse, head of James W. Rouse Co. and president of Baltimore's Community Research and Development Co. condemned downtown sections as:

"Dirty, crowded, outmoded, inefficient and ugly."

He addressed a convention of the International Council of Shopping Centers at the Mark Hopkins Hotel here.

Rouse also told the 400 delegates that today's shopping centers are "too impersonal and lacking in warmth and spirit."

Marriage Of 20 Years Is Ended

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Cameron Mitchell's marriage of nearly 20 years has ended in divorce.

Mrs. Johanna Mitchell, 43, was granted a divorce Tuesday after testifying.

"After I was granted a separate maintenance decree Feb. 13, 1959, Mr. Mitchell and a lady began living right across the street in plain view of the neighbors and our children."

Mitchell, 41, and his German-born wife, an actress, were married in 1940. They have four children: Robert, 18, Frederick, 13, Charles, 9, and Camille, 6.

commission called by the Reds at Panmunjom. The U.N. command as usual rejected the demand.

South Korean students paraded for the fourth straight day through the port city of Pusan demanding election of a new National Assembly. Two thousand high school pupils marched three miles, chanting slogans, until they were dispersed by troops at the City Hall Plaza. Tanks and armored cars were called up, but no violence was reported.

Agitation for demonstrations against the Assembly appeared subsiding in Seoul, and the caretaker government shoved the curfew in the capital back to midnight.

Leaders of the students' revolt in a vote agreed by a slim margin that the present Assembly dominated by Rhee's Liberal party should complete the work of cutting down the presidential powers held by Rhee and giving the Cabinet more power.

Foreign office sources in Tokyo welcomed the South Korean government's announcement Tuesday

Billy Pierce Hurls White Sox Into First; NY Trips Tigers 10-3

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the rest of their starting pitchers have stumbled, contributing just one victory and one complete game, Pierce has the defending champs all by themselves in the American League lead after beating Baltimore 5-3 Monday night for his second complete game victory.

Washington tripped Cleveland out of a tie for first with a 7-6 decision that ended the Indians' winning streak at five and dropped the Tribe to third place. The New York Yankees took over in second, a half-game behind Chicago, by walloping Detroit 10-3. It was the Tigers' seventh consecutive loss. Boston defeated Kansas City 4-3 in 10 innings.

In the National League, Cincinnati made it two straight over Los Angeles 5-3 and Philadelphia defeated the Chicago Cubs 10-9. The only other game scheduled, Milwaukee at San Francisco, was rained out.

Pierce (2-1), bidding for a comeback as a 20-game winner after 17-11 and 14-15 records the past two seasons, allowed 10 hits, but struck out six and didn't walk a man while beating the Orioles for the 20th time in 26 career decisions. The stubby southpaw had a 4-0 lead before two singles and Brooks Robinson's sacrifice fly junked his shutout in the fourth. He shut the door after Ron Hansen hammered his first major league home run in the fifth inning. The White Sox made it six out of seven with two unearned runs in the second inning and a deciding pair in the third on doubles by Nellie Fox and Minnie Minsos and a single by Roy Sievers. Rookie Steve Barber (1-1) was the loser.

A pop fly by Lenny Green fell in the ninth for the Senators. It followed a single by Earl Battey and a bunt by Don Mincher. The Indians, down 4-0 in the first inning, had battled back behind Tito Francona, who drove in three runs and scored another—Tying it 6-6 in the ninth with his second double. Jack Kralick (2-0) won it and Bobby Tiefenauer (0-1) lost it, both in relief.

The Tigers, who won their first five games and haven't won since, blew a 2-0 lead. Bill Skowron's fifth home run tied it in the fourth, and three fifth-inning runs driven in by singles from winning reliever Art Ditmar (1-0), Gil McDougald and Roger Maris then hung the defeat on Don Mossi (0-2). Maris and pinch-hitter Kent Hadley also homered for the Yanks.

The Red Sox, held to a tie when the A's scored an unearned run in the eighth, handed Kansas City a fifth straight loss on an error by Norm Siebern in the 10th. The tie-breaker came in on a wild throw on Pete Runnels' bunt after a leadoff double by Don Buddin. Bill Monbouquette (2-2), won it with three innings of two-hit, shut-out relief. Bud Daley (1-2) was the loser.

was thrown out at home but an attempted throw to get Griffith out at third went into left field with Griffith and Bass scoring.

The Red Devils scored three more runs in the sixth, Deluise opened with a double, and scored on a double steal after King had walked. Dail singled to score King and two errors on Mattocks' infield grounder enabled Dail to score the final run.

Coach Bo Farley used everybody in the non-conference game. "We should do better next week at Kinston when we play them in the day time and in Greenville," Farley stated.

The Red Devils and Greenville will meet on Wednesday afternoon at next week at Guy Smith Stadium. Both clubs have dropped one conference decision and trail pace-setter, Roanoke Rapids.

Collins Cops Houston Tourney From Palmer

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Big Bill Collins has a deep affection for the 237-yard par 3 No. 7 hole at the 18-hole park golf course—he figures it won him the $35,000 Houston Classic tournament.

He had to beat the man setting the season's money-winning pace—Masters champion Arnold Palmer—in a playoff to do it.

They were going through their 18-hole playoff for the $5,300 first money Tuesday and Collins was two strokes behind. It was the first time during the tournament that the big blond from Crystal River, Fla., by way of Baltimore, had been in arrears. He had been tied several times, then tied for first place with Palmer at the end of 72 holes, each with a 290 total.

At No. 7 Palmer's tee shot was in a sand trap but Collins, using his 2-iron, drove within four feet of the hole and took a bogey while Collins ran down his putt for a birdie. It tied the match and Collins went on to a 3-under-par 69 that beat Palmer, who shot a 71, by two strokes.

"That was the turning point as far as I am concerned," said Collins.

It was the first tournament victory he has gathered in $14,276.89 and risen from seventeenth in money-winings to fourth place.

Palmer still is the top-money earner by a long shot. Counting second money of $3,400 here, he has taken down $47,637.57 and that's the largest amount a golfer ever won in a comparable period. Second-place Dow Finsterwald has won only $22,730.

The Houston tournament drew its largest crowds in history and the 30,000 that turned out Sunday at the 7,122-yard Memorial Park course was the all-time record for golf in Texas. The playoff pulled in 2,000 fans and Collins and Palmer split half the gate receipts.

Track Meet Young Colt May Alter Ky. Derby

Second in the conference meet last year, Rose High track coach Odell Welborn will be shooting for the works tomorrow afternoon when the 1960 conference meet is held at Guy-Smith Stadium.

Last night, Welborn stated, "We are going to be weak in some parts of the field events but I think we should gain some points in every event."

Although not counting his club out of contention, Welborn pointed the finger at New Bern, Jacksonville, and Roanoke Rapids as the favorites.

Bill Wade has been moved from the mile to 880 and Welborn contends that "we should be stronger than we have been."

All eight conference teams will be entered in the Northeastern 3-A Track Meet.

After a rocky first inning in which Duke scored his only run on four walks and an infield hit, Clemson pitcher Bailey Hendley kept the Blue Devils from advancing beyond first base. Hendley went the distance for his fourth win against no losses.

Clemson unleashed its famed big bat with a three-run uprising in the third on singles by Toby Bradshaw and Dave Lynn, two walks and a passed ball. Bradshaw also overcame a shaky start against the Gamecocks, who took a 2-0 lead in the first inning. The Deacons came back with a five-run fifth inning fashioned on two walks, an error, and a two-run single by Bill Covington. South Carolina outbit the Deacons 8-5.

Both North Carolina and Virginia produced big rallies in a slugfest at Charlottesville, with the Tar Heels breaking a 7-7 tie in the seventh frame with four runs. Virginia, which had a five-run sixth, outbit the Tar Heels 15-11 but left 14 runners stranded.

The North Carolina State Wolfpack, led by O'Neal Eason with three runs batted in, overcame a 4-2 deficit with a three-run rally in the seventh inning. Joel Gibson, allowing five hits while his mates got 10, collected his sixth win against three losses.

Blue Devils AC Lead In Danger As Clemson Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Clemson's Tigers try to topple Duke from the pinnacle of the hectic Atlantic Coast Conference baseball race today in the finale of a crucial two game series.

The Tigers defeated a three-game Blue Devil winning streak Tuesday, 6-1, holding Duke to three hits while regaining their stride as ACC defending champions with a telling eight-hit barrage.

Duke, with a season record of six wins and two losses against loop competition, is only a game ahead of Clemson, North Carolina, Wake Forest and North Carolina State—all bunched with 6-3 marks.

In other games Tuesday, Wake Forest dumped South Carolina 5-2, State trounced Maryland 10-4, and UNC beat Virginia 11-8.

Duke at Clemson is the only conference game today. Meanwhile, South Carolina plays The Citadel of the Southern Conference.

Track Meet Woman Medalist Forced To Leave

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP)—The Carolinas Women's Golf Assn. Tournament continued medal play today—but the medalist has gone home.

Mrs. H. S. Covington of Orangeburg, S.C., captured the medal Tuesday with an opening round 37-38-75, three over par, but then withdrew to return home on pressing business.

Thus Mrs. Aggie Cocke of Wilmington, who shot 40-37-77, leads the 16-member championship bracket in the 54-hole tournament, this year a medal instead of match play event. The championship finals come Thursday.

Behind Mrs. Cocke at 78 are Mrs. Louis Faquin of Salisbury, Miss Annette Roddey of Sumter, S.C., and Mrs. Richard Rendleman of Salisbury.

Also in the championship bracket are Charlotte's Clara Mosack and Mrs. Robert Siske, Wilmington's Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, all at 80; Charlotte's Mrs. Leslie Cohen, 82; Raleigh's Mrs. Graham Trott, 83; Greensboro's Mrs. Donald Duncan, Winston-Salem's Mrs. Ruth Beck, and High Point's Mrs. Ella Troy Lee, 84; and, at 87, Mrs. Laura Meagher, Southern Pines, Mrs. J.D. LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Twenty-one top golf professionals, each the winner of a major tournament in the last 12 months, gathered today for the eighth annual Tournament of Champions.

Brightest of the star-studded array were the 1959 T of C winner, Mike Souchak; U. S. Open champion Billy Casper Jr., National PGA champion Bob Rosburg, and the hottest player in golf today, Masters champion Arnold Palmer.

Today the group paired off with a flock of entertainment personalities in a pro-celebrity round of 18 holes for a $10,000 purse.

Blue Devils AC Lead In Danger As Clemson Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Clemson's Tigers try to topple Duke from the pinnacle of the hectic Atlantic Coast Conference baseball race today in the finale of a crucial two game series.

The Tigers defeated a three-game Blue Devil winning streak Tuesday, 6-1, holding Duke to three hits while regaining their stride as ACC defending champions with a telling eight-hit barrage.

Duke, with a season record of six wins and two losses against loop competition, is only a game ahead of Clemson, North Carolina, Wake Forest and North Carolina State—all bunched with 6-3 marks.

In other games Tuesday, Wake Forest dumped South Carolina 5-2, State trounced Maryland 10-4, and UNC beat Virginia 11-8.

Duke at Clemson is the only conference game today. Meanwhile, South Carolina plays The Citadel of the Southern Conference.

Track Meet Woman Medalist Forced To Leave

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP)—The Carolinas Women's Golf Assn. Tournament continued medal play today—but the medalist has gone home.

Mrs. H. S. Covington of Orangeburg, S.C., captured the medal Tuesday with an opening round 37-38-75, three over par, but then withdrew to return home on pressing business.

Thus Mrs. Aggie Cocke of Wilmington, who shot 40-37-77, leads the 16-member championship bracket in the 54-hole tournament, this year a medal instead of match play event. The championship finals come Thursday.

Behind Mrs. Cocke at 78 are Mrs. Louis Faquin of Salisbury, Miss Annette Roddey of Sumter, S.C., and Mrs. Richard Rendleman of Salisbury.

Also in the championship bracket are Charlotte's Clara Mosack and Mrs. Robert Siske, Wilmington's Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, all at 80; Charlotte's Mrs. Leslie Cohen, 82; Raleigh's Mrs. Graham Trott, 83; Greensboro's Mrs. Donald Duncan, Winston-Salem's Mrs. Ruth Beck, and High Point's Mrs. Ella Troy Lee, 84; and, at 87, Mrs. Laura Meagher, Southern Pines, Mrs. J.D. Pittman, Lancaster, S.C., Mrs. Eleanor Gibbs, Raleigh, and Mrs. Rosland Whaley, Asheboro.

Reds, Phils Win In NL Activity

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
The way things were going at Los Angeles, it looks like Vada Pinson blew town just in time.

It was Pinson, Cincinnati's fleet, 170-pound center fielder, who sent Roger Craig tumbling in a home plate collision Monday night. Craig, the 190-pound right-hander who meant a National League pennant for the Dodgers last season, left the game with what then was thought to be only a bruised right shoulder.

But after an examination Tuesday uncovered a broken collarbone that will sideline Craig for two months, it didn't take Pinson long to get the idea he was a marked man. Dodger pitchers kept him dancing and dodging and reliever Stan Williams finally plunked him, as the Reds took a 5-3 decision Tuesday night and then left for San Francisco.

The Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Chicago Cubs 10-9 in the other game played in the NL. The only other game scheduled, Milwaukee at San Francisco, was rained out.

In the American League, Washington ended Cleveland's winning streak at five with a 7-6 decision that dropped the Indians out of a first-place tie with Chicago. The White Sox defeated Baltimore 5-3 for a half-game edge over the New York Yankees, who handed Detroit a seventh straight defeat, 10-3. Boston beat Kansas City 4-3 in 10 innings.

The Dodgers finally nicked Pinson (on the right hand) in the seventh inning. He then stole second, went to third on a fly ball and scored the Reds' final run when Williams sent a wild pitch over Frank Robinson's head.

Plate umpire Tony Venzon called a halt at that point and shook a finger at Williams, a right hander with something less than pin-point control. Players from both clubs crowded around the plate, but Venzon later said his rebuke was not an official warning, which would carry an automatic $50 fine.

The Reds, winning two in a row for the first time, swept the series at Los Angeles with three runs in the sixth. Two scored on Robinson's fifth homer and the clincher came in on a double by Duke Dotterer, who had homered for the first time in the third inning. Don Demeter hit a pair of solo home runs for the Dodgers.

Right-hander Jay Hook (2-2) gave up 10 hits and walked three, but struck out nine and came off a winner with Bill Henry's relief in the ninth.

Ed Roebuck (1-1) lost it in relief of Danny McDevitt, who retired in the fourth and joined the Dodgers' injured list with a sore arm.

The Phils came from behind with six runs in the fifth and then scored the winner in the ninth on Ken Walters' home run, his first. Frank Thomas hit two home runs for the Cubs, who built a 5-0 lead in two innings against Gene Conley, the basketball-playing right-hander making his first 1960 appearance for the Phils. Jack Meyer (1-1) was the winner in relief. Glen Hobbie (2-2) lost it.

Eppes High School Glee Club's Spring Musicale

The C. M. Eppes High School Glee Club will present its Spring Musicale on Thursday night at eight o'clock in the high school auditorium under the direction of Mrs. S. L. Davenport. The program is varied and consists of numbers from the mixed group, the Eppestones, duets, solos, girls' glee club and boys' glee club. The opening number, "It's A Grand Night for Singing," arranged by Hammerstein II and Rogers, by the mixed chorus, is a zesty number which sets the pace for the entertaining program. Ella Tyson, Sylvia Goins and Kathryn Dags will render a trio "Why?" (a spring novelty) by Glad R. Youse. A small mixed ensemble will do "Hospodi Pomoloi" (arranged by George Blake) by S. V. Lvovsky, "Limericks" by Walter Goodell and "Comin' Thru the Rye" by Harry Simeone. The entire ensemble will render two spiritual numbers, "Soon I Will Be Done" by Dawson and "I Just Come From the Fountain" by Moore. Soloists for the occasion are Joyce Chance, Ella Tyson, Kathryn Dags and Dennison Garrett.

GOP Leaders 'Surprised' At Way Ike Is Taking Over

By JACK BELL
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders said today President Eisenhower is showing an increasing tendency to take action on his own as his term nears its end. They said they were amazed at the extent to which he is personally taking charge of political matters. In the past, some Republicans have felt that Eisenhower too often took a nonpartisan position avoiding political battles. The latest example they cite involves his surprising appointments of Thomas J. Donegan, a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board, and Paul A. Sweeney, a Justice Department attorney, to the Federal Power Commission.

Democratic spending programs. If this means that no legislation results, the President was reported to have said the people can decide in November who was right. House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) already has predicted Congress will pass school aid, housing, federal employe pay raise, minimum wage and distressed area bills. Some of these may invite presidential vetoes. Rayburn accused Eisenhower of trying to write the Republican platform in a special message Tuesday calling for action on various proposals the President has made. The Eisenhower batting average on these seems likely to slump to a low level. Democrats have little interest, for instance, in creating additional federal judgeships which Eisenhower could fill with life-time appointees. His request for removal of the 4 1/2 interest ceiling on long-term government bonds seems likely to be ignored. There is no current disposition in Congress to increase the federal gasoline tax from 4 to 4 1/2 cents a gallon to raise new money for the interstate highway trust fund. Beyond possible action to let in additional refugees, there seems little likelihood Congress will liberalize the immigration laws.

Private Talks On Racial Issues

LONDON (AP) — Private talks on South Africa's racial policies began today between leaders of the British Commonwealth and Foreign Minister Eric Louw of South Africa. Although the violence stirred up by white supremacy rule in South Africa is not a formal item on the agenda of the Commonwealth prime ministers conference, it dominates all other topics. The 11 Commonwealth leaders hope through private conversations to convince Louw of a need to modify the South African government's relationship of its Negro population.

Attended Annual Press Session

Jimmy Jenkins, a student at Rose High School, was among those who attended the 31st Annual Convention of the Southern Interscholastic Press Association held in Lexington, Va., last weekend. Faculty advisor, Mrs. Lucy M. Worsley, accompanied the student group, who, attended workshops and addresses during their stay.

Nixon Out-Pulls Kennedy In Indiana Preference Vote

INDIANAPOLIS Ind. (AP)— Vice President Richard M. Nixon smashed out a popular vote victory over Sen. John F. Kennedy Tuesday in the Indiana presidential preference primary. Republican leaders, including National Chairman Thurston B. Morton, hailed Nixon's wide margin as a triumph of attention to duty over personal campaigning. Nixon's impressive 3-2 margin in a typical Midwestern state could go a long way toward discouraging any ideas of drafting another republican candidate. Nixon's margin also was of a size to hearten other Democratic presidential candidates, although Kennedy's supporters claimed he lost in a way that proved he could win if he were the presidential nominee. With returns counted from 3,665 of Indiana's 4,261 precincts, Nixon had 359,503 votes to 286,998 for Kennedy. It was a foregone conclusion that Nixon and Kennedy would win the state's 32 Republican and 34 Democratic votes on the first ballot at their respective nominating conventions in July. This went according to the script, except that the two Democrats billed as only token foes for Kennedy cost him a big chunk of votes, whereas Nixon had no trouble with his nominal opponent. Lar Daly of Chicago, a sometime Republican who campaigns in an Uncle Sam suit on an "America First" platform, drew 33,130 votes. John H. Latham of Rockville, Ind., a retired pipefitter who wants to do away with political conventions, got 35,540. Nixon's opponent, Negro lawyer Frank R. Beckwith of Indianapolis, polled 16,854 votes. All 11 of Indiana's congressmen were renominated. They include Democrat Randall Harmon of Muncie, who achieved national notice by renting his front porch to the government for use as his own home office. Both Kennedy and Indiana Secretary of State John Walsh pre- dicted in the closing days of the campaign that the Massachusetts senator could outpoll Nixon. Other Democratic leaders cautiously contended their man had little chance. Republicans sang the same tune about Nixon. The Republicans pointed out that Kennedy had campaigned hard, covering most of the state in person. The Democrats pointed out that Indiana is traditionally a Republican state and that Nixon backers fought for him with a newspaper-radio-TV mail advertising campaign in the last days. But as Nixon steadily pulled ahead, after trailing in the early count, both sides issued victory statements. Senator Morton said: "Without neglecting his official assignments, Vice President Nixon has scored a tremendous upset victory in Indiana. He won this primary by a vote that apparently will exceed that amassed by President Eisenhower in 1956." Eisenhower polled 351,913 votes against 242,842 for Sen. Estes Kefauver in the 1956 primary. But Marshall Kizer and Albert O. Duluse, co-chairmen of the Indiana Kennedy-for-President Committee, said their man polled "a greater percentage of the state's presidential primary vote than any Democratic candidate in history."

Business Sentiment Is Calm Despite Season

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP)—Strong cross currents are keeping the stream of business churned up this spring. But business sentiment remains calm if cautious, and offers hope of a good year as a whole. The official view in Washington continues to hold that the year as a whole will be a good one. The view in some industries now on the downgrade is that an upturn can come in the fall. Other industries still on the upgrade look for a year topping all others. Rarely has the bystander had a wider choice of trends on which to base an opinion. The stock market has chosen the gloomier one. Prices have fallen from a peak at the start of the year to a sharply lower level today. The drop in stock prices has had an effect on the thinking of many businessmen on short-term prospects. There has been little noticeable effect so far on the total of consumer spending. The industrial downturn has been largely in those industries that were putting on the most upward speed at the start of the year. Steel output has slipped from near capacity to around 80 percent and is expected to go still lower. Iron Age, trade publication, says the rate of new steel orders continues to be disappointing. It looks for the output rate to average around 70 percent during the summer months, but to be well below that at its lowest point.

Auto production in 1960 is well ahead of last year but it has been falling — April seeing the fewest cars turned out in any month this year. But spring sales of new cars have perked up and offer hope of a good year as a whole. Home building, too, has been disappointing. This has led to a little relaxing by federal agencies of financing rules. Private builders also look with hope toward the apparent easing of the money market in general. Prospects are for more money available for mortgages, although interest rates on them haven't softened yet. There are plenty of strong points in the economy. The Department of Commerce reports that demand in the chemical, paper and food industries has been high and output is being maintained or is expanding. The Agriculture Department thinks farm income should perk up a little this year. Experts have put on a convincing spurt in the early months of the year, helped by large overseas sales of cotton and other farm products held by the government. Retail sales have had their ups and downs with the weather. But for the year as a whole they're ahead of 1959. The total of personal income is still rising, if slowly, offering merchants a market to tap—if the price is right and the demand can be stimulated.

PARIS (AP)—A billfold over his heart saved Robert Abdesselam, an Algerian member of the National Assembly, from death today at the hands of rebel gunmen from his homeland. The gunmen shot the deputy as he left his apartment. One bullet broke his jaw, but his billfold over his heart stopped another slug. He was operated on at the American Hospital, and officials said his condition was not serious.

PAUL GALLICO'S Bestseller TOO MANY GHOSTS

Breakfast and luncheon as well usually took place in the small dining room of the Country Club, the Paradines and their guests dining privately in the west wing. But that morning Alexander Hero had requested that they all meet together in the great hall for breakfast, and he now looked about him at a group of nervous, frightened, and thoroughly exhausted people.

Major. "You don't believe that the egg has really vanished—dematerialized, that is, do you?" "Certainly not!" the Major snapped. "I told you what I thought—mountebank's tricks."

Hero smiled cheerfully. "Good man! Got it in one." Mrs. Wilson laughed, and Major Wilson threw first her and then Mr. Hero a poisonous look.

With the possible exception of Mr. Ellison, they were all suffering from the strain of the night before, when there had been very little sleep for any of them. For the first time even Isobel was showing signs of nervousness and irritability, and there were dark circles under her eyes.

Hero turned to the others. "None of you believe what you saw, and quite rightly. You have watched the same things done on the stage for entertainment, but you do not endow the magician with supernatural powers."

There was a silence after this, and Mrs. Hero was suddenly aware that Dean Ellison was watching him closely with a most curious expression upon his broad features.

Tired, Hungry, Homesick Man In Singing Debut

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — A tired, hungry, homesick man is making his singing debut on network television tonight. His name is Steve McQueen, and he has never before vocalized outside his shower.

McQueen plays Josh Randall, the bounty hunter on CBS' "Wanted—Dead or Alive," one of the popular western series. Unlike some TV stars, whose work ceased when the film writers' strike brought on a shortage of scripts, McQueen found a chance to take on a motion picture role.

Chateaux GRAPE FLAVORED VODKA

$2.05 per bottle. $3.15 per 4.4 quart.

Why does a successful young TV star take on such a back-breaking schedule? "Well," drawled McQueen, "I just want people to know I can do something besides play Josh Randall. I'm an actor, you know, and I am interested in doing all sorts of things to increase my skills."

But what he's most interested in at the moment is getting home to Hollywood and his infant daughter.

Plots are getting pretty sophisticated even in TV's kiddieland: NBC's Saturday Howdy Doody show concerns an unexploded missile that lands in Doodville.

The sponsor of NBC's report of Princess Margaret's marriage Friday has sent out engraved invitations inviting the public to take a look—no acceptances required, however.

"What about the nun?" cried Mr. Jellicot. "What about the harp?" asked Dr. Paulson. "What about the other poltergeist?" queried Spendley-Carter. "Ah," replied Mr. Heron, "yes indeed. We should be seeing the end of the other poltergeist shortly. As for the nun, the harp and, I might add, the rabbit and the upset room—one ghost at a time, if you don't mind, gentlemen."

News Service To Have Team Of 33 At Wedding

LONDON (AP) — Inside Westminster Abbey and along the procession route, The Associated Press will have a team of 20 newsmen and 13 photographers covering the story of the Princess Margaret wedding Friday.

Two Pulitzer Prize winners head the lineup. Eddy Gilmore will report from inside Westminster Abbey for afternoon papers. Reman E. Morin will write the story for morning newspapers.

Another key newsmen taking part in the wedding coverage is Hal R. Cooper, who has been in on every major story reporting the drama-packed changes in Britain in the postwar era.

Alvin J. Steinkopf, an AP newsmen who has reported events from the start of World War II through Vatican consistories and royal coronations to the sinking of the Flying Enterprise, also will be on the team.

The wedding schedule will include these highlights—a British Summer Time, which is six hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time. 10:55 a.m. — The bridesmaids leave Buckingham Palace by car for Westminster Abbey.

11:25 a.m. — Princess Margaret and Prince Philip arrive at the Abbey. 11:30 a.m. — Twelve silver trumpets sound a fanfare and the marriage service starts.

12 noon, approximately — The Archbishop of Canterbury will pronounce Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones man and wife. 12:30 p.m., approximately — The service ends. The royal family

Princess Ignores A Superstition

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret is defying superstition and sticking with her wedding dress—despite the fact some of its details have been made public.

In Britain, bad luck is supposed to dog the bride who wears anything but a secret wedding gown. Margaret's dress is hardly a secret. A U.S. trade journal, Women's Wear Daily, printed details of the bridal frock last week.

The report said the dress was white silk organdy, monastical in its simplicity. Sources close to the royal family said today the description was fairly accurate.

Margaret and her fiancé, Antony Armstrong-Jones, were acquainted with the American report at Windsor Castle over the weekend.

As the first bright sun of the wedding week beamed on London this morning, the processional route—from Buckingham Palace and Clarence House to Westminster Abbey—began to assume an almost medieval look.

Tall masts, tipped by white and gold coronets, rose in stately procession along the beautiful mall leading to the palace.

The mall is a broad, leafy thoroughfare, stretching majestically between the Admiralty Arch at Trafalgar Square to Buckingham Palace.

Clarence House, Margaret's London home, stands just north of the mall. Down the decorated thoroughfare Friday, Margaret will ride in a glass coach to Westminster gabbey—and back to Buckingham Palace for a wedding breakfast.

Search For Gang Who Killed Man

CHICAGO (AP) — Police officers searched a Northwest Side district today for a gang of Negro youths who reportedly fatally beat a white truck driver from Memphis, Tenn., after stoning his truck.

John Jewell, 37, a driver for the Memphis Sales Co., died in Cook County Hospital Tuesday night several hours after his brother said, the youths had attacked him. Jewell's brother, James, 30, of Chicago, who also was beaten by the youths, did not require hospitalization.

Chessman's Ashes Also Object Of Controversy

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—One of Chessman's attorneys, L. A. Wirin, said in Los Angeles he would recommend to Rosalie Asher, executrix of the convict's estate and also his lawyer, that a court order be requested requiring Forest Lawn to accept the remains.

Miss Asher went into seclusion after failure of her last frantic efforts to obtain a stay of execution. She was not present at the cremation at Tamalpais Cemetery. There was no religious service.

A San Rafael newswoman, Bernice Freeman placed two roses from her garden on the otherwise unadorned coffin.

Mrs. Freeman, who knew Chessman well, said he offered one of his eyes when one of her daughters, Pat Aldridge, was going blind. When another daughter, Betty Johnson, also began losing her eyesight, Chessman made a like offer, Mrs. Freeman said.

Mortician Harry Williams said disposition of the ashes would await instructions from Miss Asher.

George T. Davis, another of the convict's attorneys, said the execution of the death row author, who was convicted as the Los

Caudle And Connelly Surrender To Law

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Truman administration officials, Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle, surrendered today to begin serving two-year prison terms on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government.

They were sentenced for attempting to block an income tax evasion prosecution of Irving Sacks, a St. Louis shoe manufacturer. They had waged a four-court battle to avoid imprisonment.

Connelly, 51, surrendered to a U.S. marshal here. Caudle, 56, did likewise at Charlotte, N.C.

Caudle eluded newsmen but Connelly told reporters: "I have just one thing to say. You know of Dreyfus—beyond that I have no comment."

His reference was to the celebrated French case of Capt. Alfred Dreyfus in 1894. Dreyfus was convicted of betraying French army secrets but later was cleared.

A petition for a pardon by President Eisenhower has been drawn up by home town friends in behalf of Caudle, a resident of Wadesboro, N.C., who headed the Justice Department's tax division.

Connelly, a New York City resident who was White House appointments secretary under President Truman, has declined comment on what further action—if any—he planned to take.

Caudle probably will go to the Federal Correctional Institution at Tallahassee, Fla., and Connelly to a similar institution at Danbury, Conn., the Justice Department said.

Basic Tuberculosis Research Process Described At Meet

Research scientist Dr. Mac Vandivere of Gravelly Sanatorium at Chapel Hill described the basic tuberculosis research process last night as he spoke to the annual meeting of the Pitt County TB Association at Sheppard Memorial Library.

Major emphasis was placed by Dr. Vandivere on research now underway on vaccines to combat the respiratory disease. He also stressed the "vital importance" of a series of basic precautions being studied to control the spread of the tuberculosis germ from one individual to another.

He pointed out the ultimate goal of stamping out tuberculosis will be reached by a combination of efforts of many research scientists engaged in probing various facets of the problem.

It was announced at the meeting last year's slate of officers for the local association will be re-elected. They are: Pres. Dr. Earl Trevelyan Jr., Honorary Pres. Herbert Waldrop, Vice-Pres. Mrs. J. P. Davenport Sr., Sec. Mrs. J. Bryan Brown, Treas. J. T. Snowden Jr., Exec. Dir. Mrs. Milton V. Clarke, and Seal Sale Chairman Dr. M. W. Aldridge, Miss Lella Higgs, and E. L. Kilpatrick.

Mrs. Clarke, executive director, submitted the association's annual report showing total expenditures for 1959-60 of $7,468.36. Approximately $2,700 of the total was spent for administration and seal sale expenses. The remaining $4,768.36 went for health education, case finding, statistics fact finding, emergency aid to patients, and research.

The report showed 66 new cases of tuberculosis in Pitt County during 1959 and 14 more through March of this year.

Total receipts of the 1959 Seal Sale were listed as $9,276. Of the total, 21 per cent went to the North Carolina and National TB associations, leaving $7,330.

In addition to the local membership and officers, the following guests attended the meeting: Hal Wilson of Washington, president-elect of the N. C. TB Assn.; Dr. Javad Vakilzadeh of Iran and Chapel Hill, research scientist at Gravelly Sanatorium; and Miss Lillian Wilson of Raleigh and the state association office.

Scott's Sister Favors Hewlett

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A spat between Sen. B. Everett Jordan and his predecessor, the late W. Kerr Scott, was revived again Tuesday in the camp of Jordan's opponent for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Mrs. Josephine Scott Hudson of Raleigh, a sister of the late governor and senator gave her endorsement to Hewlett with a blast at Jordan for what she called his double-cross of her brother.

Mrs. Hudson asserted that Scott, as governor, placed Jordan "in a position of responsibility in which he betrayed Kerr Scott."

Mrs. Hudson became the second member of the Scott family to support Hewlett. Mrs. Elizabeth Scott Carrington of Burlington made the move last week.

However, Mrs. W. Kerr Scott, widow of the former governor, has announced she is for Jordan, who is her cousin.

Hewlett, House speaker in the 1959 Legislature, celebrated his 48th birthday today on the campaign trail in the Charlotte area.

Jordan, on a leave from Senate business in Washington, is stumping in Salisbury and Rowan County.

Activity continued brisk among the candidates for governor, too. Terry Sanford of Fayetteville covered Davidson County on a handshaking tour. He speaks this evening at a barbecue in Lexington.
