Castro Says U.S. Sub 'Fired On' Off Coast

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro said today a Cuban coastguard boat fired on a U.S. submarine in Cuban waters eight days ago. He accused American warships of operating without lights near the coast in violation of international law.

The American craft, the report said, was operating "in blackout in violation of international agreements." The prime minister identified some of the American warships cited in the report. They included the Norfolk, the submarine Barracuda, a frigate and the destroyer The Sullivan S. He added that the Sullivan S had been seen off Cuba's coasts many times.

"These ships navigate our waters with lights out as in times of war," Castro asserted. The Norfolk was sighted at about 1 a. m. May 11, he said, within 2 1/2 miles of Cayo Blanco, a small key off the Varadero Beach resort about 75 miles north-east of Havana.

President Is Leaving Tonight

Atmosphere Of Some Hope, Small Expectations Of Summit Success

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower leaves for the summit meeting Saturday night in an atmosphere of some hope but small expectation that the East-West chiefs of state will accomplish much.

The air was blue with diplomatic protests touched off by the case of the American spy plane downed deep inside Russia.

Khrushchev Re-Raises Spy Complaint In Paris

PARIS (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived today for critical summit talks and promptly accused "influential circles" in some countries of trying to prolong the cold war.

Chiefly and Eisenhower listened intently as Khrushchev read his statement. "Although it cannot be doubted that the people of the whole world desire a reinforcement of peace and a relaxation of international tensions," he said, "nobody can deny that in certain countries, especially in recent times, influential circles, trying to go back to the cold war and prevent improvement of the international atmosphere, have noticeably increased their activities."

When his brief talk was finished Khrushchev stepped into a waiting limousine for the ride to the Soviet Embassy, 10 miles away. He had left Moscow, through gray skies, in a grim and extraordinarily silent mood. He had nothing to say on departure there. But at Orly Airfield his big turbo-prop airliner set down through sunny skies.

When three small girls approached him with big bouquets of red roses, Khrushchev smiled broadly. He handed the flowers to Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, his armed forces chief. His airport statement followed the standard Soviet presumption in delineating the problems that in his view ought to be successfully tackled here. He did not put heavy emphasis on his row with Eisenhower over the May Day spy-plane storm. In essence he said that the United States will be to blame for any failure at the summit because "certain military circles" want to carry on East-West conflict.

Presidential Veto Of Area Aid Felt Likely To Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says the depressed areas bill he vetoed Friday is "even more objectionable" than one he vetoed two years ago. It is unlikely Congress can override his rejection of the 251-million-dollar measure providing aid to high unemployment areas.

The President said there is still time to pass a bill he could accept, such as the administration's 53-million-dollar measure. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, implied that he'll be in a position next year to see that a similar bill becomes law, if the veto is sustained.

Hoover Dubious Over Paris Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover says he doesn't believe much will come out of next week's summit conference, but "every time there is a meeting it clarifies the issue a little more."

Hoover appeared Friday night on the CBS television program, "Person to Person." The program was taped a month ago at his Key Largo, Fla., winter home. Hoover's comment on a variety of subjects: "There can be no doubt that there is a strong tide of moral degeneration going on in the United States."

Pitt Democrats Elect Delegates At Meet Today

Democratic delegates from Pitt County's 25 precincts were scheduled to meet in the Pitt Courthouse at noon today to elect 88 county delegates to the State Democratic Convention in Raleigh next Thursday and a new county chairman.

Precinct delegations, headed by their respective chairmen, will be informed at today's convention of the number of state delegates allotted to each. The number will be determined according to the vote cast in each precinct during the last gubernatorial election in 1956.

The precinct chairmen form the county Executive Committee that will elect Pitt's chairman for 1960 following today's assembly of delegates. The convention today provided each precinct an opportunity for its delegates as spokesmen to introduce any matter of business or problem needing the attention of the county-wide Democratic gathering.

'Biggest Riot Since V-J' When Un-American Hearing Held Friday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The biggest riot in San Francisco since V-J DAY raged at City Hall Friday when 200 shouting persons tried to squeeze into an already jammed hearing of the House subcommittee on un-American activities.

It took more than 400 policemen—using clubs and fire hoses—to handle what developed into a wild melee inside City Hall. Twelve persons—including eight policemen—were injured, none seriously.

Many in Friday's raucous mob were believed to have come as a result of Brown's question. It was virtually impossible to pin down what actually ignited the riot. The reasons appeared many and varied.

Other rioters set down through sunny skies. Khrushchev emerged in a gray suit and soft hat. To some onlookers he seemed glad to be back in Paris, which he visited two months ago.

It was difficult to determine whether the riot was instigated or by whom. Organizations which had filed protests in advance of the hearing disclaimed responsibility for the riot. The hearing had been called to investigate Communist activity in northern California.

Several reputable organizations had protested the committee's hearings here, claiming they were designed to harass teachers in the area. A hearing scheduled several months ago had been postponed.

Most of those in Friday's crowd were students. They came from colleges and universities throughout the area. College officials were quick to point out that the students were not representative of their school's attitude. Six of the injured were high school students.

Firehoses were unrolled as the crowd, chanting "we want in," and "first come, first served," began surging against a rope barrier. Office Ralph Schaumleffel, 33, was standing behind the rope. Suddenly, he said, "I saw this guy reach down and grab my club and start swinging at me."

Canada Warned By Soviet Russia

LONDON (AP)—The Russians today cautioned Canada against permitting U. S. spy planes to fly from Canadian bases. A Moscow Radio broadcast to North America said Canada had put its territory at the disposal of the U. S. Air Force and "the gentlemen of the U. S. Defense Department and the intelligence agencies" were now making themselves at home.

Last Chance

Registration books for prospective voters in the May 28 Democratic Primary election close at sundown today. According to registrars throughout the county, registration turnouts to date have been good.

Canada Warned By Soviet Russia

The fate of world peace depends in no small measure on the lessons which the Canadian government and the governments of the other countries, with the U. S. bases are located draw the incident of the spy plane, the English-language broadcast said.

Kennedy Stresses Popular Support

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP)—Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) said today he would rather go to the Democratic National convention with "the endorsement of the people than of any political figure."

Harvey Point Navy Base Reportedly 'Doomed'

ELIZABETH CITY—"The Harvey Point naval base is apparently doomed," according to a story in yesterday's edition of the Daily Advance, local newspaper. The story referred to the naval seaplane base proposed for construction near here and came from Robert E. Hennessee, Daily Advance Washington correspondent. Hennessee quoted a Navy spokesman as declaring surplus. The requirement as it exists today is no longer valid.

The correspondent said the "studies" have been going on for "months and months." He said they began "even before the Navy's $450,000,000 SeaMaster blunder had been terminated, that see if there was not some use that base was being outfitted to handle a squadron of SeaMasters, but the program was abandoned last year.

Hennessee's story again quoted the Navy spokesman as saying the May 4 visit had no "hidden meaning," that neither Bantz nor anyone else in the Navy had even a suggestion as to what use might be made of the base.

Hennessee again quoted the spokesman: "It should be remembered that consolidation is the order of the day rather than expansion. It'll be continuously under review, but it's already undergone so many reviews that, well . . . Hennessee said the spokesman meant: "You know how it is."

Pulling Together For Education

The hand-in-hand development of public school education and higher education in North Carolina was emphasized by many of the speakers who participated this week in the inaugural events at East Carolina College.

It is significant that practically all of those who participated in the exercises touched upon this point either in major addresses or in brief remarks. It points up again the fact that leaders in education in North Carolina are keenly aware that the progress of higher education in the state cannot be separated from the progress of our public schools and vice versa.

The apparent unity of feeling between officials on both the public school level and the college level should impress the people of North Carolina with the fact that the combined forces for education are pulling together for the betterment of education at all levels. The leadership they are affording should likewise draw the citizens of the state into a more united support for education in public schools and in our colleges.

The time apparently has passed when the colleges of the state blamed the public schools for not giving them students with adequate academic backgrounds. The time has passed when public school systems are finding fault with colleges for not providing them with adequately trained teachers.

There is the realization that education at each level is dependent upon the other. Anything which improves our public school system will be reflected in benefits for our colleges. And that which is done to improve our colleges will likewise be reflected in better public schools.

This spirit of unity between state-supported educational systems on the public school and college levels is often overlooked by many people. The mistaken idea that each is pulling against—not with—the other is unfortunately widespread in North Carolina.

It is important to education and to the state that citizens realize that all the forces for education in North Carolina are pulling together for better programs on both the public school and college level. To a great degree the progress of one will depend entirely upon the progress of the other.

Leaders in education recognize this. Somehow many citizens have overlooked the point.

Poor Atmosphere For Resolving The Strains

What long-range effects on easing world tension can we now expect from the summit conference in Paris next week?

Even if we expect very little, we may be disappointed.

The agenda for the summit meeting gives high priority to the Berlin situation and Germany which have been sources of varying degrees of tension and crisis in recent years. It gives high priority to discussion of disarmament plans and control of nuclear weapons that has been discussed with little genuine progress between East and West over a period of years.

But now these and other important items on the agenda for the meeting are completely overshadowed by the spy plane incident which came about last week. Though not on the official agenda for the long awaited summit conference, this one item probably will take precedence over all others. It will be the primary source of concern as the leaders of the East and West meet in an effort to ease world tension.

We must face up to the fact that relationships between East and West in the past few days have dropped to their lowest ebb in more than a year. The so-called spirit of Camp David has gradually disappeared since the visit of Soviet Premier Khrushchev to this country. The smiles and at least luke-warm words of friendship between the top representative of the Communist world and the leaders of the Free World were replaced by coolness. Now the coolness has changed to words of anger, bitter charges of hostility and aggression.

It is in such an atmosphere that the long awaited summit conference will take place. It is not an atmosphere conducive to finding a reasonable means for bridging the differences between East and West. It is not a situation in which leaders of the divided world will be inclined to quiet, careful and reasonable discussion of the sources of international tension.

More likely it is an atmosphere which will further irritate the crisis that already exists. Words, more heated than those of recent days may be expected. Threats, similar to those that have been spoken, may also be expected.

Thus, the summit conference offers at this moment little hope for an easing of international tension, for paving the way to a more lasting, peaceful relationship between East and West.

Medical Care Plans For Aged

WASHINGTON (P)—A batch of proposals to provide some kind of medical care for the 16 million people over 65—or, at least, for some of them—has been dumped on Congress.

If any old-age health bill ever gets through Congress this year it probably will not be exactly the same as any of those now talked about. But there have been four major proposals:

One by the Eisenhower administration, and the others by Rep. Aime J. Forand (D-RI), Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.), and Sen. Jacob Javits (D-NY). The Eisenhower and Javits bills have such much in common: They'd be paid in part by the individuals who chose to buy into the program, in part by the federal government, in part by the states. This would take time to set up, with each state deciding when and if. Some states might not participate.

The Forand and McNamara bills would be compulsory to the extent that they'd be paid for out of Social Security funds, with a slight boost—one-quarter of one per cent on the first $4,800 of income—in the tax now being paid equally by employees and employers.

The Eisenhower proposal: It would, theoretically, be open to 12½ million people. Those with incomes of $2,500 a year, if single, or $3,800 if married would be excluded. But—and it's a big but: The cost: $24 a year from each person taking part, whether or not he got sick, plus the first $250 of his year's medical bill (or the first $400 for a couple), plus 20 per cent of all costs over $250 or $400. The federal government and the states, sharing about equally, would pay the rest.

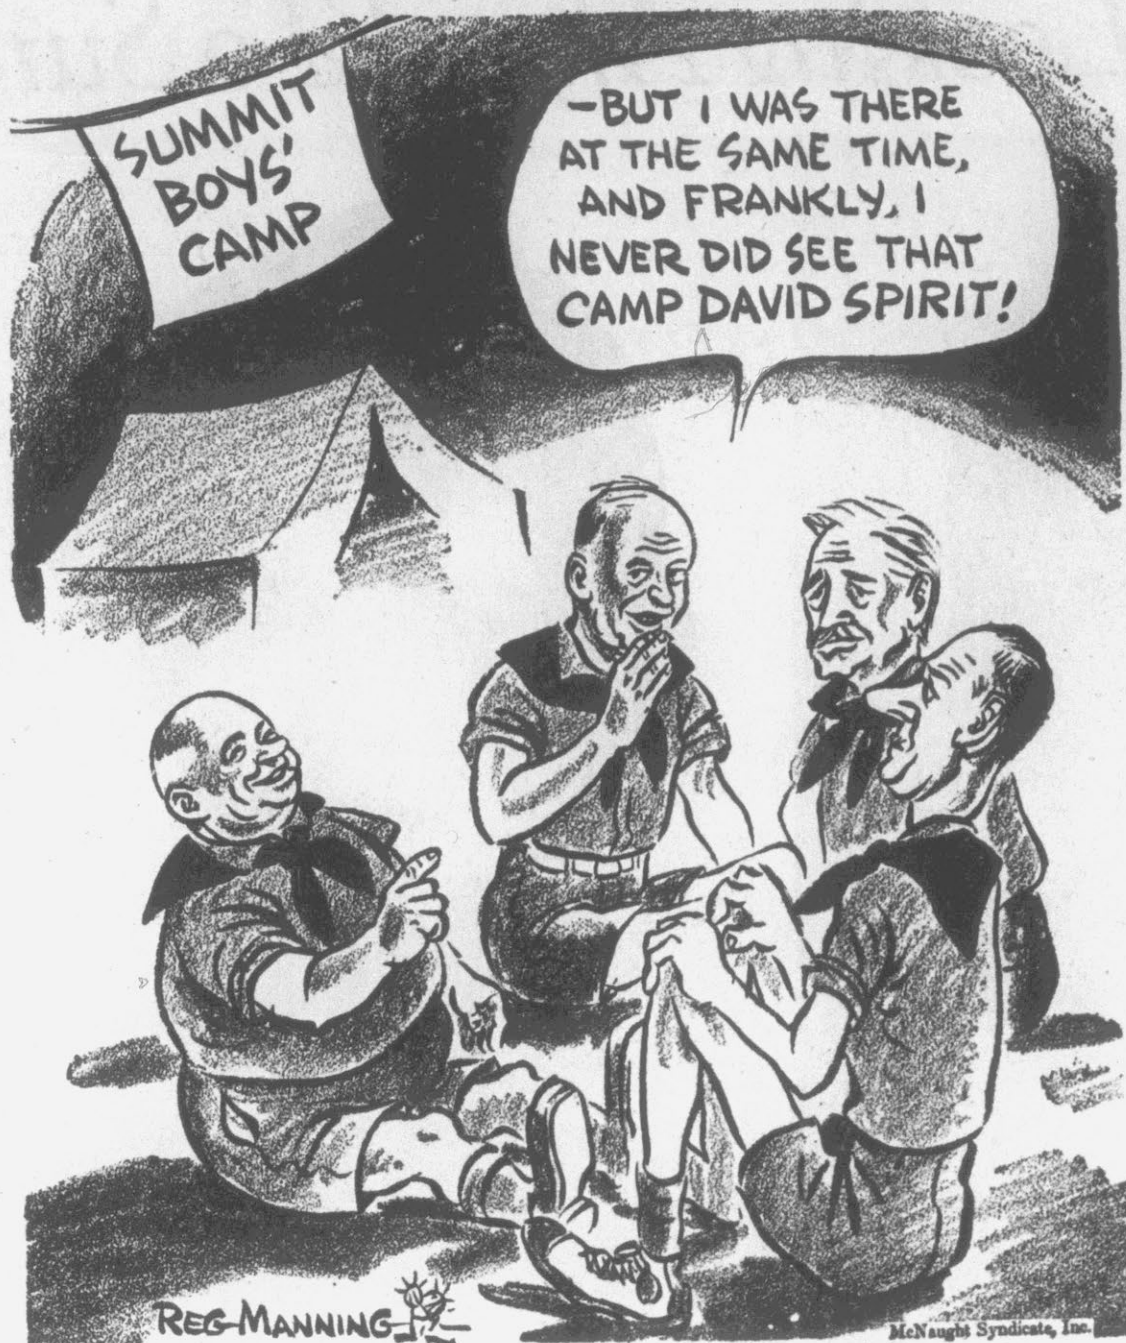

The benefits: Hospitalization for 180 days; or 365 days in a nursing home; or 365 days of home health services; payment to doctors; dental services; and up to $350 for drugs.

You'd have to have a major or prolonged illness to come out ahead on this one.

The Javits bill: Open to all 16 million people over 65 and, if some had husbands or wives under 65, it would be open to them, too.

The cost: No charge to those with under $500 income; 50 cents a month or $6 a year for those between $500 and $1,000; a sliding charge upwards for those with incomes up to $3,000; and $13 a month, or $155

Johnny Needs A Go-Go

Yesterday afternoon, one of the Reflector Philosophers was commenting on the current collegiate vehicular situation.

Back when he was at Duke, he said, a student with an automobile was indeed quite a rarity.

In fact, he declared, there were very few cars owned by anybody around the campus. "Things have changed, though," he said thoughtfully and philosophized the general attitude of people in general has generally taken several general turns one way or another.

"Education used to be real serious business," he said. "Back then, Junior was pretty much occupied with more serious thoughts than he is nowadays." He said there just wasn't any time to play 'til each man had made his own way.

"Just take a look at any college campus now," directed the philosopher. "You can seeum. Lined up bumper-to-bumper all over the place."

He continued his good-natured lambast at today's mechanized youth. "By the time he's out of the cradle, Johnny's gotta have a Go-Go."

What's happened? Maybe the nation's youth needs more time to play these days. Maybe folks in general generally have more money to buy Go-Go's. Or maybe they just make more cars nowadays. At any rate, most folks say: "Drive on, Johnny, drive on."

This same philosopher also found himself a little baffled at one point during the afternoon.

He entered the newsroom suddenly and found a pair of the staffers standing in chairs running their fingers along the inside edges of the steel girders overhead.

Naturally, the whole thing looked ridiculous. As a matter of fact, it was probably an incident without precedent around here.

After a moment's study of the scene, with an extra moment for the antics of the lofty duo, he questioned, "Is there a mouse in the house?"

There probably was no mouse in the house at all. Anyway, if there was, nobody saw it.

What happened was, one of us (namely, me) had tossed a quarter into the air (like folks will do occasionally when they're just being lazy) and it had lodged on one of the girders.

The cooperation of the second party in searching the girder's upper surface, concealed from view, was greatly appreciated when the quarter was safely retrieved.

Over in Wilson this week a straw vote by the students at Atlantic Christian College produced a majority victory for gubernatorial candidate Terry Sanford.

The same balloting established Sen. John Kennedy as the students' presidential choice. Sanford polled 154 votes. His closest challenger was Dr. I. Beverly Lake with 59. John Larkins had 30, Malcolm Seawell 28, and Republican Robert Gavin 10.

Kennedy won by 65-63 over Adlai Stevenson. Richard Nixon placed third with 48. Lyndon Johnson had 43, the withdrawn Sen. Hubert Humphrey 35, Stu Syfington 15, and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller 12.

Interesting.

Public Interest Stakes

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Every air channel is the property of the people of the United States and is under the control of Congress through the Federal Communications Commission which was created for that purpose. The networks are supply enterprises which sell programs to local radio and TV companies, although it is true that they do own some stations. The owner of a station owns the real estate and the physical property of the station.

The owner has no vested right in the channel, the right to use which is issues by the FCC in the form of a license. By precedent and as a practical matter, licenses are generally renewed, the assumption being if the conduct of a station were satisfactory, the license would be renewed and it generally is. It is this renewal without examination which has led to the belief that a vested interest exists in the license.

Along comes the Philco Broadcasting Company of Philadelphia to apply for Channel Three, a TV station, WRCV-TV, now operated by the Ingham Broadcasting Company. Philco makes this application on the grounds that under N.B.C. management, less than seven per cent of broadcast time on this station is allotted to local live programs of any description. Philco offers to provide 20 per cent of its time to local live programs.

This raises a very interesting question as to whether TV exists for service to the Community or as a commercial venture to earn profits for its owners in disregard of the fact that the channels are publicly owned and should be available for public service.

Should Philco best N.B.C. in this action, it could have a revolutionary effect upon the radio and television industry. If Philco loses it could establish the precedent that there is a vested interest in the license. A great fuss has been made over payola in this medium, the assumption being that some of the so-called disk jockeys make large or small sums pushing certain records or by mentioning items which were not advertised by contract with the owners of the station. While the commission of these acts is not criminal and no one has thus far gone to prison for them, several disk jockeys have lost their jobs and undoubtedly are ruined.

On the other hand, little or nothing has been said about radio or TV stations employing a public facility improperly.

Some radio stations have little facility improperly. Some TV stations are mere push button affairs, running through network material, murder after murder, with occasional news. The question of payola is by no means as serious as the question of using stations without ample provision for public services. This is a direct violation of every license issued.

What does payola amount to? It is that a disk jockey either plays records in which he has an interest or a company pays him to push certain records. The music usually played by these disk jockeys, whether affected by payola or not, is a criminal brain-washing or better still, brain-destroying.

But when the stations provide no public services, they use more than their fair share of the public airwaves to make available a reasonable amount of broadcast time for these purposes. I fail to see how an operation can be in the interest of the public when such requests for time are consistently ignored or turned down because of disruption to the commercial schedule.

This is the gist of the issue that Philco has raised against the N.B.C. and it will be of public interest to see what the FCC does with

Other Editors Saying Federal School Aid

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

The American Assembly, holding its 17th annual meeting since its creation by Dwight Eisenhower in 1950, who at that time was president of Columbia University, has come to some definite conclusions about educational needs and the role to be played in meeting those needs by the federal government.

Some 60 educators, legislators, businessmen and labor leaders from all parts of the country have offered some recommendations based on the assembly's report.

The group noticed a trend which indicated that, faced with a doubling in college enrollments and tripling of costs in the next decade, the U. S. is cautiously moving toward more federal aid to education while erecting safeguards to keep it supplemental to other support.

One of the assembly's recommendations was expansion of federal aid in construction of institutional facilities on a matching basis through a program of federal grants or loans.

Another suggestion was continuation of higher educational aid already being extended through the National Defense Education Act, land-grant institutions, the National Science Foundation and the national institutes of health, research contracts and other channels.

Establishment at the White House of a council of advisors on education and a joint congressional committee of Congress on education, as well as a suggestion for setting up a nongovernmental citizens' committee for higher education to interpret their higher education system to Americans, plus a stepping up of the American Council on Education or another group to speak for American higher education in Washington.

Expunging of the "disclaimer affidavit" from the present student loan program of the National Defense Education Act as unwarranted government interference in institutional policy was also urged.

A major controversy arose at the assembly meeting as to whether the group should go on record as opposed to the oath of loyalty as well as the disclaimer affidavit now required of students getting aid under the NDEA.

The assembly refused to give direct support to the oath but said it "distinguished between the positive oath of loyalty and the negative disclaimer affidavit."

The affidavit was condemned as a "direct inquiry into principles, hence contrary to the belief, on which this nation was founded." Actually, it is difficult to see how the assembly could help but oppose the loyalty oath, which we have insisted all along is a direct insult to an American citizen's loyalty and intelligence.

Indicative of the kind of federal interference American educators fear was a protest of recent direct federal allocations of graduate fellowships to specific institutions which violated university agreements made at the state level. The assembly warned that federal support should be only supplemental. To have it otherwise would endanger the idea of distributive responsibility which is the bedrock of effective democratic practice.

Oddities In The Business News

By ELMER ROESSNER

There are more things in business, Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy. For example:

The Limerick Horse - Meat Packers, Ltd., of Anaco, Limerick, Ireland, is trying to arrange weekly shipments of horse-meat to Britain, where prices have recently risen.

Shipments earlier 1 year to Belgium and Swede, have not been profitable. Hybridizing may soon do as much for trees as it has for corn; a hybrid pine already grows twice as fast as its parent stock.

Peppermint chewing gum is now made with vitamin A, said to cure nightblindness.

Argentina is now flying high-quality beef to Switzerland.

Juveniles are rarely delinquent in paying charge accounts, members of a retail society Store Merchants' reports that variety and general merchandise chains used 289,701,721 lines of advertising in 418 major newspapers last year. A Kansas store pays 10 cents over face of all factory payroll checks it cashes because workers then usually linger to spend some.

$35,000,000 FOR EDUCATION Thirteen manufacturers of synthetic fibers spent $35,000,000 last year to teach the public new words: the names of their products.

Ottawa, Canada, is spending $30,000,000 to buy a two-and-one-half-mile-wide green belt completely surrounding the city. Tape recorders are replacing court reporters in Alaska.

Japanese smokers prefer "Peace" to "Hope" cigarettes, 14 to 1.

The Federal government saves $30,000 a year by using aluminum instead of steel for plates for its 200,000 autos, which shows what could be done in this state. Most savings are in handling costs. Life of aluminum plates is twice that of steel.

By investing current

Fifty-nine miscellaneous manufacturing corporations made 11 per cent more; 31 textile and apparel companies were up 27 per cent, and 27 drug, soap and cosmetic corporations were up 10 per cent.

The total 812 companies made 5 per cent more than the first quarter and 8 per cent more than the fourth 1959 quarter.

Two Youngsters Shaping Up As Challenge To Spahn

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The season's barely a month old, but it looks like a couple of kids, Mike McCormick of Cincinnati and Jim O'Toole of San Francisco, may be ready to challenge Warren Spahn as the National League's top left-handed pitcher of the year.

McCormick, 21, took over the earned run lead among starting pitchers at 1.50 with his third shut-out and fifth victory without defeat Friday night, beating Los Angeles 3-0 with a six-hitter. It was the third consecutive shutout job by the first-place Giants, who now have won seven in a row and haven't allowed a run in 29 innings.

O'Toole, 23, won his third in a row with his second straight shut-out, seven-hit, 1-0 performance against Philadelphia that ran the Reds winning string to nine straight.

Pittsburgh's second place Pirates, the only other club to win nine in a row in the majors this season, stayed within two games of San Francisco with an eight-run seventh-inning for an 8-2 victory at Milwaukee.

The Chicago Cubs, winning their first under manager Lou Boudreau, beat St. Louis 4-1. It was the seventh loss in a row for the Cardinals, who are 0-11 on the road.

McCormick, now 31-26 for his brief career, and O'Toole (8-11) are one-two in ERA among starting southpaws in the NL. O'Toole, who has lost twice, has a 2.02 mark. Only Pittsburgh's Bob Friend (1.58) and San Francisco's Sam Jones (1.21), both righthanders, separate the two youngsters in the rankings of starting pitchers. Spahn, 39, the NL's winningest left-hander of all-time, has a 3.18 ERA and a 2-0 record this season with the Braves.

McCormick struck out seven and didn't walk a man while putting away his second shutout over the Dodgers and Don Drysdale. (3-4). The Giants, riding their longest streak since winning eight in the 1954 pennant season, handed Drysdale his third straight defeat with a fourth-inning run. It scored on Willie Mays' double and Orlando Cepeda's single—his first hit in 15 at bats.

The other two runs were off reliever Larry Sherry with two out in the eighth on bases-loaded infield singles by pinch-hitter Willie McCovey (still nursing a sore toe) and Ed Bressoud.

O'Toole walked three and struck out four against the Phillies, who tied the major league record with their third straight 1-0 defeat and now have failed to score in 29 innings. The Reds scored on Billy Martin's single and a two-out triple by Vada Pinson in the fifth against Rugen Gomez (0-2). The Phils, plunking into the cellar, threatened only in the fifth, when Cal Neeman singled and Joe Koppen doubled with none out. O'Toole then retired Gomez and fanned Tony Taylor and Al Dark.

Neeman and Taylor joined the Phils just before the game following a trade that sent pitcher Don Cardwell and first baseman Ed Bouchee to the Cubs.

After leaving 10 men on base for six innings and trailing 2-0, Pittsburgh got rolling in the seventh on a double by Dick Groat, who was 6-for-6. Loser Carl Willey (2-2) and relievers, Bob Rush and Joey Jay were tagged for seven hits in the explosion powered by Dick Stuart's first home run and Bill Mazerowski's sixth. Friend (4-1) won it with a five-hitter, retiring the last 17 men in order after a fourth-inning home run by Hank Aaron. It was the Bucs' fourth in a row over Milwaukee.

Frank Thomas and Ernie Banks hammered their sixth home run each for the Cubs while Glen Hobbie (3-3) dropped the Cards with a five-hitter. Ron Kline (1-2) was the loser.

Chisox Keep Indian Sign On Cleveland; Sweep Two

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox still have the Indian sign on the Cleveland Indians.

They made it two-out-of-two over the Tribe this season with a 4-2 decision Friday night in the opener of a three-game series at Cleveland—where they ambushed the pursuing Indians with a four-game sweep last August, and then officially clinched the American League pennant on a one-game visit a month later.

The White Sox, who had lost two in a row at Boston, gained a one-game lead over the rain-idled Red Sox and New York. The Yankees vaulted Cleveland for a virtual second place tie with a 7-3 victory at Washington. Detroit defeated Kansas City 4-3 in 14 innings.

Southpaw Billy Pierce (3-1) out Cleveland's winning spurt at three games with an eight-hitter, giving up solo home runs by Jimmy Piersall and Woodie Held. The White Sox, blanked on the hit for four innings, beat rookie Wynn Hawkins (3-2) with a three-run fifth capped by Minnie Minoso's two-run single.

Bill Skowron drove in two runs with an eighth-inning double that broke a 3-3 tie for the Yankees against left-handed rookie Jim Kaat (1-2).

Righthander Bob Turley won his first, blanking the Senators without a hit in three innings of relief after Whitney Ford had given up a tying, two-run homer by Jim Lemon in the sixth. It was Lemon's seventh, giving him a tie with Held for the AL lead. Mickey Mantle hit his second for the Yankees in a three-run first inning.

Mantle, a switch-hitter batting right-handed against Kaat, put his right hand in the 31-foot high barrier in right field at Griffith Stadium—a sector seldom violated by right-hander hitters.

An unearned run did it for the Tigers under lefty Hank Acquire (1-1) had held the A's hitless for 5 2-3 innings of relief. The Tigers beat reliever Don Larsen (0-3) when catcher Harry Chappell dropped a throw to the plate after Eddie Yost had hit a bases-loaded, one-out grounder to shortstop Ken Hamlin. It was the third straight victory for the Tigers, all by one run and second in extra innings, since losing 10 in a row.

McCormick struck out seven and didn't walk a man while putting away his second shutout over the Dodgers and Don Drysdale. (3-4). The Giants, riding their longest streak since winning eight in the 1954 pennant season, handed Drysdale his third straight defeat with a fourth-inning run. It scored on Willie Mays' double and Orlando Cepeda's single—his first hit in 15 at bats.

Big Aussie Has Ft. Worth Lead

FORT WORTH, Tex. (P)—Kel Nagle, a big, talkative Australian who can give the boys lessons in chipping and putting, was in position today to become the first foreigner to win an American golf tournament in two years.

Nagle, 39-year-old veteran professional, took the lead by two strokes in the $30,000 Colonial National Invitation Friday. His 2-under-par 68 gave him 137 for 36 holes.

Nagle also is in position to win twice as much money as he has taken down in 12 American tournaments he has played in since 1951. Altogether, Nagle has earned only $2,297, counting placing in two of four tournaments this year.

The Australian, commenting that he was playing his 13th American tournament on Friday the 13th, had the answer to the high winds that swept the 7,041-yard course Friday and dashed a lot of hopes. He said he was accustomed to playing in wind like that and so was able to meet the situation.

Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., and Doug Sanders of Miami, Fla., each shot a par 70 for 139 and a tie for second place. But the leaders of the first round—Billy Maxwell of Oceanside, Calif., with a 67, and Jerry Barber of Los Angeles with a 68—faltered. Maxwell quite badly. Billy had a poor 76 for 143 and fell down to a tie for ninth place. Barber did better—he fashioned a 72, but it dropped him to fourth place at 140.

Only three players could better par Thursday, in sharp contrast to opening day when nine did it. Nagle's score was the low round.

The last foreigner to win an American tournament was Stan Leonard, the Canadian, who took the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas in mid-1953. Nagle hasn't even come close until now. His best finish has been 11th at Greensboro this year.

Leonard, playing in the tournament here—he was 147 for 36 holes—said Nagle was as good as Dow Finsterwald at chipping and putting. And Finsterwald has long been regarded as the top man in these departments.

Nagle is so good at chipping and putting and playing in high winds (they are expected to continue here today) he's a good bet to win this one and put a foreign player back in the lifeline once more.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—The two top seeded entries meet today in a personal rubber match which will decide the Atlantic Coast Conference tennis singles championship.

Wake Forest's defending title holder Bill Cullen, seeded No. 1, and North Carolina's Bruce Sylvia, second seeded, have split two previous meetings over the past two seasons.

In doubles competition during the morning, Clemson's Bob Burns and William Cooper were to meet the Wake Forest entry of Cullen and Jim Duffey to determine the fourth semi-final team.

Then the second seeded team, Duke's Joe Gaston and Dick Katz, was to meet the winner to determine the upper bracket finalist.

The other semi-final contest pitted the top seeded North Carolina entry of Sylvia and Ben Keys against North Carolina State's Jim Hart and Mustang Saigal.

The doubles championship was scheduled after the singles title match early this afternoon.

North Carolina wound up the second day of action Friday with 23 points and virtually clinched the John Kenfield team trophy. Each individual match victory brings one point. Second was Duke with 18 and third Wake Forest with 10.

Cullen had a tough time in the quarter and semi-final rounds Friday, being extended the distance by North Carolina's Ben Keys and Clemson's Bob Burns.

North Staters' Track Meet Set At High Point

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—The annual North State Conference track meet was scheduled here today, and the battle for team honors was expected to include Lenoir Rhyne, Catawba and host High Point.

Of the nine member colleges, only Western Carolina was not likely to compete. Other schools were in particular events, though they were not expected to add up to a team title.

Lenoir Rhyne won the District 26 NAAI meet last week. Joe Rhyne won both the 100 and 220-yard sprints. Al Flowers the 440, and Charles Sanders took both the shot put and discus throw championships. Catawba, the defending champion, has a good distance runner in Richard DeVitor. He and Louis Farlow of High Point were likely to renew their rivalry of the mile and two-mile runs in the NAAI meet.

Favorites in the other events included John Eskew and Bill Houston, High Point, and Fred Johnson and Ken Hurst, hurdles; Hal James, Guilford, high jump; Robey Deese, Catawba, and Mickey Dean, High Point, 880-yard run.

VMI And The Citadel Tangle For Track Title

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—The Citadel's defending champion Bulldog and Virginia Military Institute square off today for the Southern Conference track championship, with two records already in the books.

The Citadel sent 18 men into today's finals in the 11 events Friday in which qualifying trials were held. VMI qualified 14, William and Mary 10, Furman 1959 runners up 8, West Virginia 7, Virginia Tech 4, Richmond 3 and Davidson 2.

Ken Garrett of Furman put the shot 53 feet, 3 1/4 inches—more than a foot better than the previous record of 52-2 1/4 he set in 1959.

In the discus, Joe Davis of The Citadel got off a heave of 157 feet, 5 inches, shattering the record of 156-6 set in 1949 by Bob Seligman of North Carolina.

In many communities in Israel today public transportation stops from Friday sunset until the first star appears in the Saturday evening sky.

No Top Billing For Sugar Ray On Boxing Card

BALTIMORE (AP)—Don Jordan and Sugar Ray Robinson, both tuning up for title bouts, will fight on the same card tonight—and Jordan will get top billing.

Robinson's appearance in the semi-final bout marks the first time in 12 years that he has not been in the main event.

Welterweight Don Jordan meets Candy McFarland of Philadelphia and Robinson takes on Pedro Gonzalez of Rankin, Pa. Both are scheduled 10-rounders.

Jordan is slated to give Benny (Kid) Paret a crack at his title May 27 in Las Vegas. Robinson faces Paul Pender in Boston June 10 in a try at regaining the New York-Massachusetts version of the middleweight crown Pender took from him last Jan. 22.

Gonzalez, 30, has lost 19 of his 36 fights. Robinson lost only seven of 159. Jordan, 25, has won 48 times while losing 12. McFarland, 22, has a 16-5-1.

Sophs On Mound For Tar Heels And Blue Devils

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two sophomore pitchers go to the mound today in a game between the only remaining contenders for the Atlantic Coast Conference baseball championship.

For North Carolina, which leads the conference at 10-3, it will be Nicky Warren, a 19-year-old left-hander who has a 2-1 record.

Duke, second at 9-3, will pitch Don Altman, leading hurler in the ACC with an 8-1 mark and an earned run average of .97.

If North Carolina wins, that's it. If Duke wins, the Blue Devils will complete their season by making up a rained-out game with Maryland next week. That will give UNC a life, for should Maryland win, the championship would be decided by a playoff between Duke and the Tar Heels.

North Carolina State is at Wake Forest in the other ACC game. Clemson, which lost its fourth straight Friday, 6-4 to Furman of the Southern Conference, is at Furman today.

Sweetman Wins Southpaw Event

The Guilford College senior's two-day total was 152. Tied for second at 156 were John Tiddy and Larry Wilson of Charlotte and Jim Winkenwerder of Asheville. Tiddy won runnerup in a two-hole playoff.

John Berry of Morganton and Lee Allen of Spartanburg, S.C., who were second, two strokes back, with 75s after Thursday's first round, dropped out early Friday. Berry finished with a two-day total of 164.

Assaulting Speedway Lap Times

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—In official near-record practice laps by veterans Eddie Sachs and Tony Bettenhausen promised solid assaults on Indianapolis Motor Speedway marks today in opening qualifications for the 44th 500-mile race May 30.

Sachs, Allentown, Pa., got his new Dean Special up to 146.1 miles an hour Friday, matching an earlier lap by Bettenhausen, two-time national big car champ from Tinley Park, Ill.

Records under assault today were 146.532 for one lap around the old 2 1/2-mile track, set last year by Johnny Thomson of Boyertown, Pa., and 145.974 for the full 10-mile run, set two years ago by Dick Rathmann, Roselle, Ill.

Rodger Ward of Indianapolis, last year's winner, and Jim Rathmann of Miami, who finished second for the third time, were clocked at 146.6 Friday. Troy Tutman, La Mirada, Calif., 1952 winner, was a shade faster than that.

Runs well over 144 were turned in by Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz., 1958 winner; Thomson; Len Sutton, Portland, Ore.; and Chuck Stevenson, Garden Grove, Calif., former national champion coming out of a six-year retirement.

Today's fastest car will start in the pole position Memorial Day, regardless of speeds in later trials Sunday and next weekend.

Sees Milwaukee As Team To Beat

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Pittsburgh's Bob Friend, a veteran righthander bouncing back from an off season, picks Milwaukee as the team to beat in the National League pennant race. And he's doing his best to kayo the Braves early.

Friend baffled the Braves on five hits, retiring the last 17 men in order, Friday night as the Pirates erupted for all their runs in the seventh inning en route to an 8-2 victory.

"This is the team we have to beat," the 29-year-old hurler said. "San Francisco may be in first place now, but I figure the Braves are a better team. In fact, I think most of us on our club feel the same."

A 22-game winner in 1958, Friend slumped to an 8-19 mark last season, but has regained his form for the second-place Pirates. He also is receiving some pretty good offensive support from his teammates.

The Pirates broke out with a 17-hit barrage in the Milwaukee series opener. The output included a three-run homer by Bill Mazerowski, a two-run belt by Dick Stuart and six doubles, three by Dick Groat who enjoyed one of his finest games with a 6-for-6 performance at the plate.

Friend has a 4-1 record which includes two triumphs over Milwaukee.

Hartack Settles For Pimlico Half-Victory

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jockey Bill Hartack, who plays it hard to win 'em all, had to settle for half a victory Friday night in his joust with Pimlico officials.

He was fined $200 for meddling in business that should have been handled by his agent, Howard Pestano. But at the same time he was restored to good standing by stewards of the Maryland Racing Commission and will be aboard Our Jody in the $25,000 Betsy Ross Stakes at Garden State today.

The controversy flared up when Bert Williams, trainer of Airmans Guide, insisted he had a definite agreement that the 27-year-old star would ride his filly in the $20,000 Blackeyed Susan Stakes at Pimlico.

Hartack rode Venetian Way to victory in the Kentucky Derby and is scheduled to be aboard his in the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico next Saturday.

Flaunting his riding obligations could have cost him the opportunity of trying for the second test in the triple crown of racing.

When stewards at Pimlico announced the suspension Friday, it looked like Hartack wouldn't get a hearing until Tuesday.

But the contentious jockey asked for one immediately and a night session was arranged. He flew here with his agent and lawyer.

When the closed meeting was over, Steward Joseph F. Flanagan announced, "It seems that all parties were in error. Since there were so many errors on both sides, Hartack is restored to good standing but is fined $200 for conducting business which should have been conducted by his agent."

Flanagan explained there was confusion among Hartack, Williams and Pestano over whether the jockey was to ride Airmans Guide or Our Jody.

With the riding controversy out of the way, attention centered at Pimlico on two races.

Leo Fruchtmann's Bally Ache, second to Venetian Way in the Derby, will try the Pimlico track today in the $5,000 Preakness Prep. Six other 3-year-olds are scheduled to go the mile and sixteenth, but Venetian Way is passing up this one. Bally Ache and T.V. Lark will carry top weight of 122 pounds.

The Blackeyed Susan also is a mile and sixteenth race, but for 3-year-old fillies. The five entries all drew 121 pounds.

The Citadel And Richmond Face Deadlock

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richmond's Spiders and The Citadel's Bulldogs carry the 11 Southern Conference baseball championship hopes right down to the wire today, with the prospects the two might wind up in a deadlock for the title.

The Spiders got a shot in the arm Friday when Davidson's Wildcats upended The Citadel 8-7 and threw the race into a tie. Each team is 7-2 in league play.

Richmond winds up its conference schedule today at home against last-place William and Mary (2-13), while The Citadel has another date at Davidson (3-4).

Still in the running, but only if Richmond and The Citadel both lose today, is West Virginia (5-3).

Davidson handed the Bulldogs ace pitcher, Dick Almes, his first defeat after 17 consecutive victories going back to early in the 1959 season.

Maryland Heavy Track Favorite

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland was the prohibitive favorite to capture its fifth straight Atlantic Coast Conference track championship today after qualifying 25 men for the finals of the two-day meet.

Maryland won 13 of 20 events Friday and advanced only 10 less competitors than the other seven conference schools combined.

North Carolina, the only school to beat the Terps in six previous championships, qualified 10. Next in line were Virginia with 7, South Carolina and Clemson 6 apiece, Duke 5, Wake Forest 1, and N.C. State none.

Duke was given the best chance of finishing runnerup to Maryland, although qualifying only five. The Blue Devils are strong in the distance events, where no trials were held, and in the mile relay which was on today's schedule.

Area Included In Family Study

Greenville and points in Pitt County are to be included in a study of future growth of American families to be made by the University of Michigan Survey Research Center in 3,800 interviews across the United States during May, June and July.

It is the second in a series of studies sponsored by the Scripps Foundation for Research in Population Problems and is supported by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Interviews in this area will be Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell and Mrs. Dornning Jenkins.

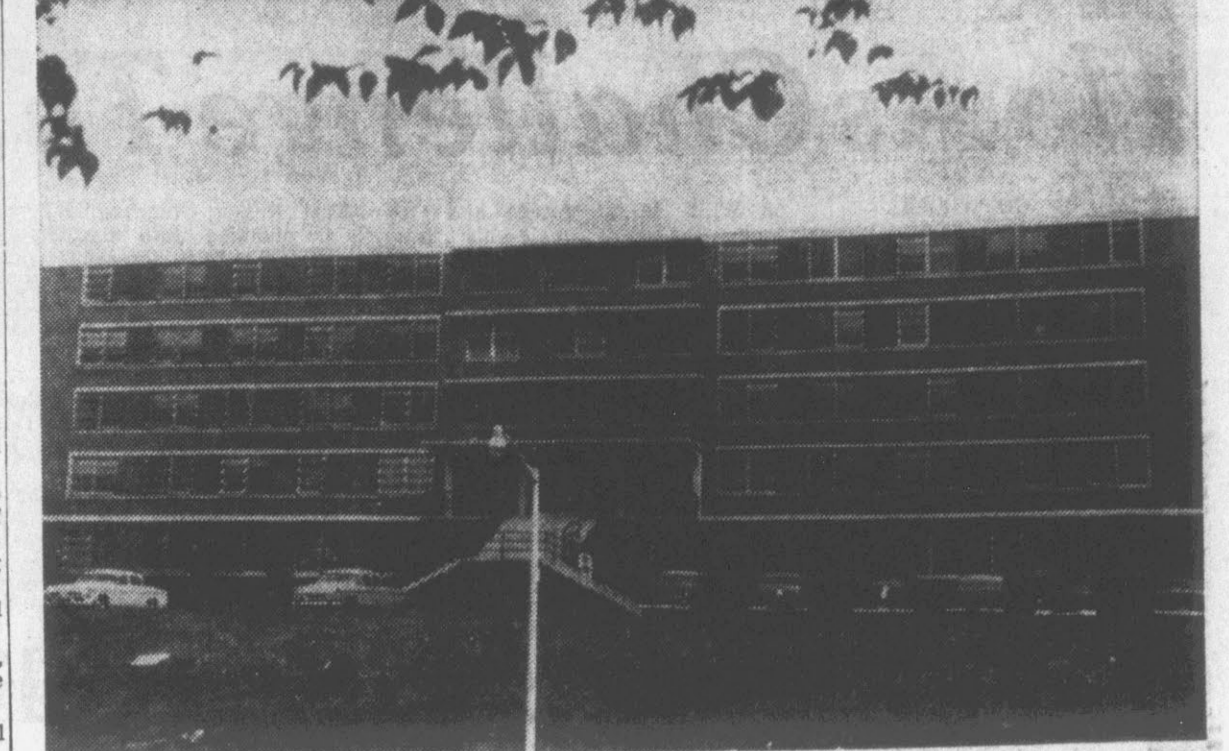

The interviews are expected to provide better understanding of certain problems concerning maternal health, family planning and child bearing. Information gained from the interviews will help make accurate forecasts of population trends in this country, according to a release from the University of Michigan.

The forecasts will aid school authorities, businessmen and governmental officials to plan more efficiently for future public needs.

Those selected for interviews represent a carefully chosen sample of married women in their child-bearing years. Each will receive an introductory letter from the Survey Research Center prior to the interviews. All interviews will be held in strictest confidence and no information concerning a particular family will be disclosed.

Other towns included in the interviews in North Carolina are Boone and Winston-Salem.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A federal judge, saying he is weary of "an epidemic of women committing crimes," has sent a former woman bank teller to jail for 90 days.

U. S. Dist. Judge Marlyn Rogers sentenced Mrs. Waldyn R. Stein, 25, Albuquerque, to 2 1/2 years, but suspended all but 90 days. She pleaded guilty to changing a depositor's record to show a balance $50 less than it should have been.

Fate Of Page 8 Is Still Unknown

What happened to page 8 of Dr. Leo W. Jenkins' Inaugural Address hasn't been cleared up yet.

East Carolina College's new President who officially assumed office Friday morning, told luncheon guests on the campus yesterday that the short pause he made midway in his address was due to his surprise when he turned page 7 and discovered a gap in his manuscript.

"I think one of my six children must have rotten hold of page 8 and misplaced it," he said. The college president's confession drew a big laugh from his audience.

Luckily, Dr. Jenkins, an experienced speaker, was able to proceed smoothly to page 9 without benefit of the written word. Nobody in the audience knew anything was wrong.

Of course, the FCC can delay consideration of this application bureaucratically until some arrangement is made between Philco and the N.B.C. But that is not in the public interest.

What is in the public interest is that the FCC should determine how much time should be devoted to live community programs and what percentage of that time should be at hours when people listen.

Dr. Odom Talks To Pitt Society

FARMVILLE — Dr. Guy Odom, professor of neurosurgery at the Duke University School of Medicine, was guest speaker at the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society's monthly meeting here this week.

Dr. Odom discussed disorders of the cervical spine and their treatment during the scientific part of the program.

During the business session, the society heard a report from Dr. S. E. Bartlett, chairman of the Committee on Chronic Diseases.

The committee recommended the following, which was endorsed by the society: a convalescent-nursing home intended for care of indigent, semi-indigent and welfare patients, but not necessarily restricted to them, located adjacent to Pitt Memorial Hospital; that the medical society endorse, encourage and promote a nursing-convalescent home for private patients, operated under private auspices and built by private interests.

The society endorsed the health and hygiene program conducted in the Pitt County Negro schools by Dr. A. A. Best and offered its cooperation to Dr. Best.

Dr. K. B. Pace, Dr. S. R. Bartlett and Dr. F. P. Brooks presented reports on business conducted by the House of Delegates of the Medical Society of North Carolina at its recent annual convention in Raleigh.

President of the society, Dr. G. E. Trevathan, conducted the business meeting.

Secretary of State Thad Eure, a Democrat, was to speak on the mechanics of introducing legislation.

State GOP chairman William Cobb of Morganton said 80 candidates for the House and Senate from 52 counties were expected. He said the state party expects to campaign hard on such issues as education, welfare funds, court reforms and discretionary election laws.

Varieties Need Certification

Plans for identifying the discount varieties of flue-cured tobacco have been made, according to J. Lyman Edwards, chairman of the Pitt Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, including the certification which farm operators are required to make.

The U. S. Secretary of Agriculture has announced that certain varieties of flue-cured tobacco Coker 139 and 140, and Dixie Bright 244-again this year would be supported at one-half the support rates for comparable grades of other varieties. Farmers who harvest any of the discounted varieties will be issued a "limited support" marketing card to indicate that the tobacco is not eligible for full support.

At the time tobacco is measured, the farm operator will be requested to make a certification as to whether any of the discounted varieties are being produced on the farm. Edwards cautioned farm operators to be careful in making this certification because a false statement produces liability for criminal and civil penalties.

He urged farm operators not to certify that discounted varieties are not being produced unless he is sure that the certification is making is correct.

If the farm operator makes a certification he is making is correct. If the farm operator makes a certification that he "has not planted on his farm any of the undesirable varieties and later wishes to change this certification, Edwards stated that he may do so by making a request to the County ASC Committee or its representative. A new certification will then be completed replacing the original certification made by him. In any event, the burden of proof that discounted varieties are not being produced will be upon the farm operator.

Edwards stated also that field determinations will be made by Variety Identification Specialists employed by the State ASC Committee. The certification by the farm operator, however, will be obtained in each case at the time the tobacco acreage is measured.

More Money In Winning Prizes

NEW YORK (AP) — William Sumner can tell you in 25 words or less why he's quitting teaching.

But since there's no prize involved he explains it a little longer this way:

"Last year I made $8,600 as a teacher at Thomas A. Edison Vocational High School, but I've made $10,000 from contests. So I've decided to quit as a teacher."

For years the 56-year-old teacher has been entering radio contests, winning tons of prizes ranging from diamond rings to automobiles, TV sets, washing machines, clothes and canned goods.

He can dash off jingles, epigrams, anagrams and snappy testimonials for products he doesn't care a hoot about.

So adept has he become that he has been barred from many contests because he wins too often or too much. So he frequently ghostwrites for agent's fees and has written such books as "How to Write Prize-winning Contest Jingles."

After 31 years' teaching graphic arts, English and math he's more than happy to go strictly commercial. As he explained Friday in 25 words or more:

"I could continue my teaching career for another fourteen years. But why? I'm making more now than most college presidents. And I think if I concentrate on contests and on my books on contests, I'll more than make up the $8,600 salary I'll lose. Will I miss the classroom? Never."

Maiden name of Madame Marie Curie, the discoverer of radium, was Marie Sklodowska. She was born in Warsaw, Poland, in 1867.

Town Will Honor Heroic Airman

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — An Air Force pilot who crashed in his disabled jet last week rather than bail out over a populated area will have a road named after him in nearby Chesterfield Township.

The flier, Maj. Lewis W. Lagro, 35, was honored Thursday night with a surprise testimonial dinner, at which he received a resolution of commendation from the township board.

"He faced the decision whether to leave the plane to crash unattended, or stay with it at great risk to his life," it said. "Due to his great courage and skill, no lives were lost."

Board members said that a township road would be named after the aviator in further recognition of his deed. Lagro of White Pigeon, Mich., is stationed at Selfridge Air Force Base.

Firemen, Too, Can Be Forgetful

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Housewives aren't the only ones who forget.

Firemen at Station 4 rushed to a fire Thursday. One of the men remembered they forgot to turn off the fire under a pot of grease they were heating to cook French fried potatoes.

One of the men called neighbors who rushed to the firehouse where they found smoke billowing up from the stove while firemen continued to fight a blaze at an ice-house.

Books & Stuff

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG

Now that local and national campaigns for political office have really settled down to business, you'll be interested in finding out more about the people in the main tent, the candidates for the Presidency. There are plenty of books around to get the information out of five on Nixon, who still remains a dilemma, three pieces on Kennedy and Rockefeller, neither of whom is out of the running, in our opinion, one on Stuart Symington, and one on Hubert Humphrey—who has just claimed that he's out of the running. . . . There are still no recent books on the two candidates who in many ways are most interesting — Adlai Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson. . . . For a brief but good over-all view of what we as U.S. citizens seem to be wanting as our next President, you should read "Log Cabin to Country Club," an article in last week's Saturday Review by Margaret L. Coit, a former Pulitzer Prize winner and author of a fine biography of Bernard Baruch. Miss Coit theorizes that Americans have always visualized certain "ideal citizens" as the men they wanted as their leaders — usually with a solid but poor Anglo-Saxon background, a fighter, a lad who's got his education the hard way, but definitely not an intellectual — "Intellectualism, as such, was to be abhorred."

Writes Miss Coit, "From Jackson's time on, political leaders have continually exploited the national prejudice against the thinker and abstract thought." We're sorry to admit that this last quality non-intellectualism — is so important in a political leader. But maybe, in a community like Greenville, with our college and all, we can vote with our brains and elect candidates of superior intelligence and ability — these things do help, in spite of what Miss Coit says. . . .

On War

The country's inept handling of the explosive international situation — dramatized so spectacularly during the past week — is the subject of two new books one out and one coming. . . . NUCLEAR POLICY FOR WAR AND PEACE, just published by World, is by Thomas Murray, former Atomic Energy Commissioner, who ought to know what he's talking about. "America is drifting in a military and moral vacuum," he says, in an "Era of Terror." We ought to go forward with a rational nuclear disarmament program before it's too late — "There is something despicable about the sight of a great nation falling back on sheer survival as its all-consuming purpose in history." We'll agree — survival, as somebody else said recently, is not enough. . . . And coming out next month is CAN WE END THE COLD WAR? by Leo Peria, which will be an appeal for rationally acceptable, universally recognized "moral principles" as the only basis for action and negotiation in international affairs. Morality is what both of these knowledgeable writers plead for — and maybe, as something new and untired, a moral conscience wouldn't be such a bad thing for the diplomats to try to develop.

Local Scene

As Inauguration Week ends we'll remind you again that there are two art exhibits still on display — the Old Masters will remain at the Community Art Center for only a few more days and the ECC Art Department exhibit won't be dismantled until the end of next week. The ECC show we'll recommend highly — quality and good taste abound in the dignified setting of the new art gallery in the Rawl Building, where you can go and see it any weekday afternoon.

This Saturday is your last day to register — don't cheat yourself out of your right to vote by forgetting to get on the voting list. . . .

Today's Review

TOP DOG. By Mary Cobb. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1960.

If you would like to meet a perfect hound, try dipping into this novel about the doggy set. In the world of dog shows and ribbons won or lost, "anything is moral and right as long as the dog comes first." The interestingly unpleasant people who inhabit this world have long agreed "never to say the nice thing when the nasty remark will do just as well — or better." And often the nasty remark can say so much. "The look of a woman who long ago learned to put a puppy to sleep if she didn't think it was good enough."

Miss Cobb writes with wit and charm. She is a master of the rapier-like remark. Too often this kind of writing bogs down after a few chapters and becomes labored and contrived. Miss Cobb keeps her weapons sharp for at least two thirds of the novel. Then she seems to decide that after all this is a story and something should happen, so she gathers up some frail little pieces of plot and ties them neatly. This is done without conviction and the reader is left with a definite feeling of anticlimax.

If you would like to escape the weather, the boss, or just the everlasting TV, "Top Dog" may be your answer for about two hours. By Elizabeth Williams

PAUL GALICO'S Bestseller TOO MANY GHOSTS

CHAPTER 32

It was close to midnight. The house was dark and had quieted down, but there was a light shining from beneath Mr. Ellison's door.

When Hero knocked it was opened by the engineer, in dressing gown and slippers.

There was a bottle and two glasses on his table, and a black, jammed box. "Come in, come in," he said. "I've been rather expecting you. As a matter of fact I've been wondering for some time how long it would take you to get around to me."

The stocky man closed the door, pointed to the bottle on the table, and said, "Pour." While Hero did so, he opened the tin box and disclosed a box of Havana cigars. "Smoke?" he suggested.

"Thank you," Hero said. He poured himself a drink and accepted a cigar. Both men then performed the ritual of snipping off the ends, the slow, luxurious lighting, and the savoring of the first and best of all the puffs.

Hero said, "What do you know about this hocus-pocus going on at the Hall?"

Ellison laughed. "I used to belong to the Magicians' Circle. Does that surprise you?"

Hero said, "Frankly, yes — in spite of the fact that I've had several hints that you were not always an engineer."

Ellison smiled and savored his drink. He said, "You've heard, of course, of the oriental magician Rajah Rham Singh?"

"Joe Bernard?" Hero cried in utter amazement. Rajah Rham Singh, the last of the great magicians, who in skill and showmanship had been on a par with magicians of the caliber of Maskelyne, Houdini, Goldin, Chung Ling Soo, and Will Goldstein, had been born a Cockney boy at Eastchapel.

His real name had been Joe Bernard, and his oriental make-up and fake accent had helped to disguise his antecedents.

Dean Ellison, a former magician, Hero's mind, working at top speed to fit this into all facts and theories, suddenly found to a halt. "But that's impossible," he said. "Joe Bernard died ten years ago, at the age of eighty-three. I read about his funeral."

"I was his mech," Ellison said quietly.

Hero's mind absorbed this startling revelation and leaped ahead. "Good Lord," he repeated, "you were his mechanic!" And then he remembered conditions that he had laid down for someone who could make a harp play without hands — acoustical engineer, magician's helper.

Ellison was speaking again. He said, "When I was a young lad, some forty-odd years ago, just starting out, I found myself with a degree, no money, and no job. I answered an advertisement for someone with a knowledge of engineering and a mechanical turn of mind. The advertiser was Joe Bernard. We got along fine. For the next five years I invented and adapted most of his routines."

Hero drew on the Havana filler and emitted a long streamer of gray smoke. Were things going to fall into place at last at Paradise Hall, and from this wholly unexpected quarter?

Hero said, "Joe Bernard was before my time. I regret that I never saw him perform. But I wonder if, having been so frank, you might care to go on and tell me why you have been haunting Paradise Hall and producing some of the late Rajah Rham Singh's illusions gratis?"

"I?" said Mr. Ellison in astonishment. "Are you serious, Mr. Hero? I assure you, the only thing I have been haunting is that confounded bunker in the fairway on the sixth at Eastward Ho."

It was Hero's turn to be astonished. "Do you mean to say you deny having had a hand in the manifestations that have been taking place here?"

"Of course I do," Ellison said. "Man, use your head—whatever would I be playing such silly tricks for?"

"But you knew about them, didn't you?"

"Certainly."

"Then would you mind telling me why, since you recognized the basis of what was going on here, you didn't speak up and say something."

Dean Ellison regarded Mr. Hero over that insuperable gulf that separates an older man who has lived his life from a younger one. Then, extracting a card from his case, he handed it to Hero. There was a string of letters after his name, including M.C., O.B.E., several other decorations, and membership in the Royal Society of Engineers.

"I like to mind my own business," Ellison said. "Besides, it just wouldn't do, you know, to have it noised about that this pillar of the hydroelectric industry of Great Britain once toured the country with a Cockney mountebank inventing tricks for him to mystify the boobies. In any case, it seemed to me that you were quite a capable young man and were doing very well by yourself. I was sure you were on to all that hocus-pocus and nonsense going on around here. The kid, of course, was working some of it. What is it that is puzzling you?"

Hero said gloomily, "That confounded harp." He was feeling like a fool now to have suspected Ellison. He was wondering whether his mental abilities and judgment were succumbing to the atmosphere of the house. "I know how it could be done, except for one thing which is missing."

Ellison regarded him silently, pulling leisurely on his cigar. "Look here," Hero said, when you were with Bernard you had been already graduated as an engineer—would it be possible for someone untrained to work out an illusion independently and arrive at the same conclusion as a professional?"

The engineer snorted. "Certainly," he said, "you ought to know that yourself. All of the greatest illusions are based upon the simplest of principles. If they weren't written up or the secret handed down, they would be reinvented at least once every two or three generations. Anyone with a mechanical turn of mind could hit upon them. There's a gimmick in everything—what makes them illusions is the showmanship."

The thought startled Hero even as he realized that Ellison was right — he should have known it. His mind turned to the ugly child who had hit upon a way of moving a chair in a darkened room as though by unseen hands; by herself she had reinvented one of the oldest tricks used by fake mediums in their disgusting sciences.

Ellison asked, "Have you checked whether there is anyone here more than usually handy with tools?"

Hero regarded the older man morosely: was it possible that he had arrived in one at what Hero was just beginning to consider after a long, tedious, and painful investigation? He said, "But it won't work, sir, that's the frustrating thing. I've hunted this damn place high and low—there's no second harp. It is almost impossible to hide a concert harp, or even chuck it into the river, without someone noticing — it takes two men to lift it."

Ellison asked, "What other harp?"

"The other one that would have to be used to make the first one play."

Ellison grinned. "Robert — Houdini performed the trick a hundred years ago with two harps; when the great Rajah Rham Singh did the illusion we had neither a harp nor a second harp," he said. "It cost too much to lug a pair of them around. But one of our assistants who traveled with the show wasn't too bad with the violin — it works just as well, you know."

Hero was on his feet with an exclamation. "Oh, Lord!"

"Think of something?" Ellison asked.

Hero had. He remembered now what it was that had been missing from the music room; it was the cello that had stood in the corner the first time he had visited it.

Hero spied upon the work of an impostor as "Too Many Ghosts" reaches a climax Monday.

Staging Tours Of ASC Office

Pitt County's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office is conducting a program to acquaint the general public, and especially other agencies within the Department of Agriculture, with its activities in connection with administering its farm programs.

A tour of the county office was conducted last week under the direction of Wayne L. Wang, County office manager. All agencies and office personnel in the Old Hospital Building, in which ASC is located, were invited to attend. Between 35 and 40 persons attended in two groups of approximately 20 each.

More tours are planned for the immediate future.

Certificates Are Filed Late

Dr. Georgia V. Mills, director of the Pitt County Health Department, has announced a total of 25 late birth and death certificates for the month of April.

During the month, she said, late certificates filed for births and deaths numbered 23 and two, respectively.

Dr. Mills pointed out the legal time limitations that apply to each category. Death certificates should be filed with the department's vital statistics division within 72 hours following the death. Birth certificates should be filed within five days.

"There is an increasing need for official birth and death records in almost every phase of American life today," she said. "The only source from which this need can be supplied is through the prompt and accurate filing of birth and death certificates as required by law."

Dr. Mills expressed hope "that the public will become more conscious of the importance and value of complete and accurate registration and look upon this as an opportunity to further good public relations between the people of Pitt County and persons responsible for carrying out this vital program."

The first steels containing three alloying elements, nickel, chromium and molybdenum, were introduced during World War I.
