

Western Big Three Confer; Khrushchev Standing Pat

PARIS (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev suddenly announced today he was "ready to participate" in a Big Four discussion on holding a summit conference, but he repeated his demands for an American apology for spy flights over Russia.

Eisenhower was stern and unsmiling as he left the Elysee Palace. Macmillan looked grave.

Later Sergei Koudravyev, minister counselor of the Soviet Embassy, called at Elysee Palace. The reason was not given but a Soviet delegation spokesman said Khrushchev might see De Gaulle later in the day.

Eisenhower arranged to see De Gaulle tonight.

In a statement at the Soviet Embassy, the Soviet leader said: "If the United States were really come to the decision to condemn the treacherous incursion of American military aircraft into the air space of the Soviet Union, publicly express regrets over these incursions, punish those who are guilty and give assurance that such incursions will not be repeated in the future, we would be ready on the receipt of such assurance to participate in the summit conference."

Khrushchev preceded this statement of his conditions with the following paragraph: "I am ready to participate in a meeting with President de Gaulle of France, Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain and U.S. President Eisenhower to exchange views on whether conditions have materialized to start the summit conference."

His statement seemed to mean that his offer to attend a preliminary conference with the Western Big Three was unconditional but that the conditions for reviving the summit conference itself were unchanged.

Khrushchev made known his reaction in an interview over a European radio station at Sezanne, a town about 2 miles from Paris. He had gone there on a motor trip.

"Gen. De Gaulle knows my position," Khrushchev said. "He knows very well that we won't attend a conference as long as the Americans will not have given us satisfaction."

Khrushchev had stated exactly the same intention earlier in a sidewalk news conference near the Soviet Embassy.

Laughing as he talked with newsmen, the Soviet Premier said that unless Eisenhower apologized for U.S. spy flights over Soviet territory "and admits that America made an aggression against the Soviet people and the conference will not start and I will return home."

Khrushchev's stand apparently killed off the last Western hope of reviving the conference, which collapsed at its opening session Monday in a Khrushchev-Eisenhower explosion over aerial espionage.

The decision to make a final try to restore the shattered pattern of East-West diplomacy was made by De Gaulle, Eisenhower and Macmillan in a meeting at the Elysee Palace. De Gaulle's residence, this morning, Macmillan suggested the plan of calling a conference to see whether Khrushchev would attend.

De Gaulle then sent invitations for a Big Four session in mid-afternoon at the palace. Eisenhower and Macmillan promptly announced acceptance.

De Gaulle sped the invitation to Khrushchev by motorcycle messenger. The Soviet Premier had driven to Sezanne with his defense minister, Marshal Rodion Malinovsky for a tour of a World War I battlefield where Malinovsky fought as a member of the Russian Expeditionary Force in France.

While Khrushchev rejected a Big Four gathering, he said he was willing to call on De Gaulle. Khrushchev then drove back to Paris.

The Western effort to get the summit negotiations started appeared doomed to failure, however, by another demand from Khrushchev that President Eisenhower apologize for the U.S. spy flight over Russia and "admit America made aggression against the Soviet people."

Otherwise, said Khrushchev, he will return home.

Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan immediately accepted De Gaulle's invitation to assembly at the Elysee Palace this afternoon.

Khrushchev's acceptance or rejection of De Gaulle's invitation was delayed, however, by the Soviet Premier's temporary absence from Paris.

Schools In New Orleans Ordered To Desegregate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The ordering of desegregated classes in New Orleans' schools highlighted today's sixth anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in the nation's public schools.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright directed public schools in the Louisiana city to desegregate next September.

The judge had advised the Orleans Parish School Board to submit a desegregation plan "or I'll have one for you."

Gerald Rault, school board attorney, told the court Monday the board had not prepared a plan because it believed "that it does not have the right to do so" under state law.

The judge then issued his order. In Atlanta, Negro student leaders were uncertain whether to go ahead with plans for an integration sympathy march on the Georgia Capitol in the face of a stern warning by Gov. Ernest Vandiver. The governor said he would not tolerate "demonstrations which might incite violence and riots."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, issued a statement in New York in connection with the anniversary of the Supreme Court ruling.

He said that six years after that decision only 6 of every 100 Negro children in South and border states attend integrated classes.

Another Negro integration leader, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., protested his being placed on trial in a segregated courtroom in Montgomery, Ala., would violate his constitutional rights.

That action and other pre-trial motions led to postponement until Wednesday of the minister's arraignment on charges of filing false state income tax returns.

Twenty-four Negro students—four of them girls—were arrested during a sitdown at a lunch counter for white persons at the S.H. Kress & Co. store in Chattanooga, Tenn.

In Detroit, the S. S. Kresge Co. said its policy is not to file complaints against sit-in demonstrators at its variety store lunch counters in the South. The company said it is obeying laws and customs in Southern cities where integration is prohibited.

To Hold Back?

PARIS (AP) — The West German government was reported today to believe that the Soviet Union will hold back on any early attempt to force the Western powers out of West Berlin regardless of what happens at the summit.

This assessment of the position of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government came shortly after the arrival here of Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano.

The Germans were said to believe that in proposing a six- to eight-month recess in the summit conference, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was extending the Berlin crisis for at least that long.

West German informants took the position Khrushchev was determined to keep on threatening West Berlin.

Notes Glass In Kremlin's Iron Curtain

COLUMBIA (AP) — Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said the spy plane incident has served notice on Soviet Russia that "the iron curtain has a lot of glass in it."

Byrnes said Soviet Premier Khrushchev has learned that we have been sending planes over Russian territory for four years and are probably aware of the location of rocket bases.

"What we learned may deter Khrushchev from starting a war because now he cannot stage a Pearl Harbor," Byrnes declared Monday in an interview.

Byrnes, the so-called "assistant president" to President Roosevelt and secretary of state during the Truman administration, said the United States lost nothing either from the Russian withdrawal from the Paris summit conference or by the withdrawal of the invitation for President Eisenhower to visit Russia.

"When Khrushchev learned that Britain, France and the United States were going to stand solidly behind Berlin, he wanted a way out of the summit conference," said Byrnes.

"Also, Khrushchev was afraid that if President Eisenhower came to Russia, he would convince the Russian people of the United States' peaceful intentions, and prove that the terrible things he says about us are untrue."

Byrnes said, "President Eisenhower handled himself well in Paris and demonstrated a willingness to pursue the peaceful purposes of the summit meeting."

Of the spy plane incident itself, Byrnes said:

"With Khrushchev's record of espionage, it was ridiculous for him to become offended by an unarmed plane that was trying to get information about Russia that he can get about Western nations merely by reading the newspapers."

Kennedy Shrugs Off All Attacks By Sen. Morse

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An accusation that Sen. John F. Kennedy is "trying to buy the White House" with unconscionable spending flung a harsh, one-sided note of acrimony today into Oregon's Democratic presidential primary campaign.

It was injected by Sen. Wayne Morse, who is battling hard to keep his home state Oregon delegation out of Kennedy's hands at the Democratic National Convention.

The political trails of the two senators crossed today at Eugene, Morse's home town. After that, it was back to Portland for evening rallies for each, with Kennedy stopping off en route at Salem, the state capital.

Republicans were stirring the Oregon political pot, too. Vice President Richard M. Nixon, unopposed in the Friday election in the Republican preferential primary, was on display Monday night in a filmed television show.

"Today," he said, "the vice president is a man who participates in the making of policy in this country. He represents the nation abroad. He has an opportunity to be the president's right arm."

This year, Nixon predicted, more attention will be paid vice presidential candidates than ever before in history.

Perhaps the Oregon committee for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey listened and looked. It decided to stage a belated campaign for a write-in primary vote for vice president for the man Kennedy knocked out of contention for the presidency in West Virginia.

Morse and Kennedy are the only active candidates in the Oregon Democratic presidential primary, although Humphrey's name still is on the ballot. So are those of Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri, but neither has ventured into the campaign.

Over and over, Morse is bearing down on the theme of heavy spending by a rival who is the son of a millionaire. He said Monday night that in Oregon Kennedy is spending hundreds of thousands to his $7,500. Just as often he is complaining that Kennedy is wrecking the Democratic party in Oregon.

But Morse said that if the Democrats make the mistake of nominating Kennedy, "I'll even hold my nose and campaign for him." Kennedy, he said, still would be 10 times better than Nixon—any Democrat would.

Kennedy refused to be drawn into any political slugging match with Morse. The nearest he comes to slashing back at Morse is to keep telling Oregon Democrats not to waste their votes Friday on anyone who isn't a serious candidate and who has no real chance for the nomination.

School Suit Is Filed In Greene

SNOW HILL, N.C. (AP) — A civil summons and complaint of a suit brought by parents of five Negro students denied admission to an all-white Greene County high school were served Monday.

The legal papers went to Greene County Superintendent of Schools Gerald D. James and H. Maynard Hicks, county education chairman.

The suit was filed in the Washington Division of U.S. Eastern District Court May 6. It was brought by the parents of five Negro students denied admission to the all-white high school at Walstonburg. The suit claims the children were denied admission because of their race.

Lawyers for the Negroes are C. O. Pearson of Durham and Thurgood Marshall, chief legal counsel for the NAACP. The legal papers were turned over to the school board attorneys who must file an answer within 20 days.

The case may be called during the term of court opening in Washington Oct. 31.

Light Vote Expected In Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP) — Election officials predicted a light turnout today for the Democratic presidential primary in which Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts was a heavy favorite to pick up Maryland's 24 nominating votes.

Even Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, his only major opponent, admitted he did not expect to stop Kennedy here.

With the same two candidates also entered in Friday's primary in Oregon, both aides watched the Maryland results for ammunition to use in the West Coast race.

"By running up a big vote here, we would get a psychological lift in Oregon," said Joseph Curnane, executive secretary of Kennedy headquarters in Baltimore.

How big a vote? Joseph D. Tydings, Kennedy's Maryland political agent, wouldn't go beyond predicting 35 per cent of the vote for his man.

"You've got to remember there are five choices on the ballot," he said. "There's the usual small percentage of the vote which even an unknown gets, and there are those who will vote for someone besides Kennedy because they'd rather see (Sens. Lyndon B.) Johnson or (Stuart) Symington nominated instead of Kennedy."

Besides Kennedy and Morse, the Maryland choices include furniture man Lar Daly of Chicago, Baltimore draftsman Andrew J. Easter and a spot marked "uninstructed delegation" for those preferring an uncommitted delegation to the national convention.

Morse said he'd be happy to get 35 per cent of the vote, but his campaign coordinator, Mrs. Lane Berk, suggested 25 per cent would be more realistic.

"Anything over that would be a moral victory for Morse and should help him avoid an upset defeat in Oregon," she said.

Nearly every major Democratic leader in Maryland endorsed Kennedy. He came here after picking off victories in New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Indiana, Nebraska and — the big surprise last week — West Virginia.

Strawberry Conserves Make A Good Treat

RALEIGH — Fresh strawberry shortcake, sundae, and heaping bowls of fresh strawberries and cream are now being enjoyed by families all over the state.

With bright, red strawberries now on the market, homemakers should begin making plans for conserving the berries for good winter eating.

Miss Iola Pritchard, food conservation specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, suggests you try strawberry conserves for a delicious treat. Conserves are a mixture of several fruits often combined with raisins and nut meats.

Strawberry Conserves

3 pints strawberries
 2 cups fresh pineapple, chopped
 Juice of one lemon
 1 orange
 Sugar (see below)
 1/2 pound seedless raisins

Wash and cap berries and slightly crush. Put pineapple through food chopper and measure. Add lemon juice. Grind raisins and orange, combine all fruits. This should make about 8 cups crushed fruits. Add sugar equal to weight or measure of all fruit. Cook until thick, stirring frequently.

After cooking, pour hot conserves in hot sterilized jars. Cover jars of conserves with hot water and process 10 minutes at simmering temperature (about 180 degrees). It is better to cook small quantities at a time to prevent burning.

Bridge Parties

GRIFTON — Mrs. Walter Patrick was hostess on Thursday night at bridge at her home on the Kinston Highway with players for three tables.

In the living room white iris, pink roses were combined to make decorations. During refreshment time the hostess served a congealed salad with sandwiches, cookies and iced tea.

Mrs. G. L. Tucker received the high score prize and the second high went to Mrs. Woodrow Smith. Mrs. Tucker McGlohon received the guest prize.

Others playing were Mesdames John Glenn, Bryan Davis, Edward Hart, W. E. Rasberry, Roy Jackson, Ben G. Tucker, Mark Phillips, Clay Burney and Roger Johnson.

Supper Bridge
 Mrs. Bert Johnson entertained her bridge club at supper and bridge on Friday night at her home on Church Street.

As guests arrived they were invited into the dining room for a buffet supper. The table was covered with a white linen cloth and red roses formed the centerpiece. Elsewhere in the home pansies, petunias and mock orange formed the decorations.

After the baked ham supper bridge was played at four tables. High scorers were Mrs. Dewey Wall, Mrs. Alton Chapman and Miss Ruth Chapman.

Other guests were Mesdames Thurman Williams, Richard Nelson, J. S. Chapman, H. P. Quinerly, L. L. Mewborn, Eleanor Gower, Robert Mewborn, W. I. Bissett, L. Tucker, J. W. Short, Misses Louise Mewborn, Marie Chapman and Hazel Patrick.

Contract Club
 Mrs. Johnie Smith had as guests for bridge last Friday night members of her contract club. Arrangements of yellow roses, iris and other spring flowers decorated the home for the occasion.

Players for the evening were Mesdames Walter Patrick, Conrad Hart, David Parker, Clifton Jackson, Paul Bradley, Frank David, Bryan Davis and Miss Ruth E. Smith.

Prizes went to Mesdames Parker, Davis and Patrick. Mrs. Smith served strawberry shortcake and coffee during dessert hour.

Mrs. Weeks Fetes Brookgreen Garden Club At Last Meeting

The Brookgreen Garden Club held its last meeting of the year Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Sam Weeks on Longmeadow Rd. The hostess served coffee and dainty accompaniments upon arrival.

In lieu of a regular program a display of Tupperware was seen and orders were taken for future deliveries.

Mrs. J. Howard Moyer, club president, presided over the meeting. She expressed her appreciation and that of the club's for the work Mrs. A. C. Ruffin and her committee had done on the Elm Street entrance to Brookgreen.

Mrs. Isabel Rivers reported the planting of some new dogwood trees in the Brookgreen circles. A discussion ensued on efforts for keeping trees and shrubs watered in the circles. It was suggested that the club ask the town for aid in this matter.

Mrs. Moyer announced the N. C. Art Society Tour of homes in the city would take place Tuesday, May 17.

Mrs. Henry L. Rivers was a guest for the meeting.

 Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEETH at any drug counter.

Rose Marie Gornito of Wilmington has been elected as president of the Alpha Phi Chapter of Delta Phi Delta, national honorary art fraternity, which was installed at East Carolina College during the weekend.

At exercises held Saturday afternoon in the Rawl building 13 East Carolina students and a member of the college department of art became members of the new organization.

Students invited to join the fraternity were selected because of their high scholastic records and their service to the department of art.

Initiates, faculty members already belonging to the fraternity and guests of the organization were entertained at a banquet in a Greenville restaurant Saturday night. Dr. Ralph Brimley, director of public relations at the college, addressed the group.

Chosen to serve with Miss Gornito as officers of the Alpha Phi Chapter of the fraternity were Alvin Smith Dunkle, St. Petersburg, Fla., vice president; Karen Sue Best, Mount Olive, alumni secretary; Cheryl Gay Stowe, Raleigh, recording secretary; Joanne Hurt Lackey, Roanoke Rapids, corresponding secretary Nancy Lee Graves, Snow Camp, treasurer; and Edward E. Lancaster, Vanceboro, historian.

Others who were initiated into the fraternity include Wesley V. Crawley, faculty member of the art department, and the following students: Norma W. Gray Greenville; Alice Frost Smith, Garland; Margaret Ann Rankin, Mocksville; Barbara A. Lounsbury, Wilmington; and James B. Roper, Belhaven.

Dr. Wellington B. Gray, director of the department of art at the college, is faculty counsellor of the new chapter. Other faculty members of the department who are members of the fraternity are Paul Minnis and Francis Lee Neel.

Girls Learning To Cook 'Never Had It So Good'

RALEIGH — Girls who are learning to cook nowadays "never had it so good." With packaged, frozen, canned, pre-cooked and dehydrated foods aided and abetted by modern kitchen appliances, making a meal is considerably less of an ordeal than it was in grandmother's youth.

At the present time more than a million 4-H Club members across the nation enrolled in a food preparation program are learning all about modern foods and cookery.

Miss Jo Earp, food and nutrition specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says, "The purpose of the 4-H foods and nutrition project is to develop an appreciation of the part foods play in our living, and an understanding of the principles of nutrition as they relate to good health."

As a matter of fact, eating habits of the American family are quite different than they were 50 years ago. People today are eating more meat and poultry, eggs, and milk products, and less grains and potatoes. Calories per day per person are down to 3200 from 3600 provided by foods in 1909.

Under the guidance of local volunteer club leaders and the county Extension agents, 4-Hers plan balanced menus, figure food costs, cook and serve appetizing meals and learn about the importance of nutrition in the daily diet. They also learn to care for and use kitchen equipment Club members who live in rural areas are encouraged to grow the fruits, vegetables, and other food products needed year round for the entire family.

Food preparation, like many other 4-H projects, offers annual awards for superior achievement. Betty Crocker of General Mills, Minneapolis Minn., is the awards donor. In 1959, Jane Sink, a Davidson County 4-H'er won the coveted trip to National 4-H Congress as state winner in food preparation.

Planned For Maximum Propaganda

The summit conference to which the world had looked so long in the hope that it would ease international tension has now gone up in smoke amid a developing crisis between East and West.

Although those who took a realistic view of the proposed conference felt that little of real value would immediately be achieved, the fact that the conference exploded before it began comes as a genuine disappointment.

The rapidly developing series of events is bound to move quickly into another major crisis between East and West. The international tensions the conference was supposed to ease will not become more strained. In the place of the atmosphere in which some common ground might be found, there now appears to be a widening gap that will be difficult to bridge in the near future.

Though the Soviet moves which caused collapse of the conference have the appearance of last-minute decisions, it might well be that they were carefully planned for maximum propaganda effect. This view is supported by the fact that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had time to make his charges and demands before going to Paris. He likewise has had several opportunities in the past week to withdraw the invitation for President Eisenhower to visit Russia.

The fact that he waited until all parties had gathered in Paris before making these moves suggests they may have been part of a plan to gain maximum emphasis on the position the Soviet Union had decided to take.

The United States can ill afford to make further conciliations than President Eisenhower so far has indicated he is willing to make for the sake of continuing with the summit conference. The United States cannot afford to overlook the fact that Premier Khrushchev's demands and proposals so far have taken the form of a personal attack upon President Eisenhower as well as upon the United States.

In each statement he has pointed at the President. Khrushchev's suggestion for a summit conference some six to eight months from now would, of course, mean that the United States would be represented by a new president. His withdrawal of the invitation for President Eisenhower to visit Russia must be viewed as a slap at the President as well as a slap at the country whose government he heads.

For the moment at least it appears the world again has entered one of those "brink of war" periods to which former Secretary of State Dulles referred several times. Though we would like to think otherwise, it would be foolish indeed to shrug off the present crisis as just another unfortunate situation that will blow over.

Indeed we hope it does blow over, that the international situation will quickly ease, even without the summit conference. Even so, we must not be coerced by harsh Soviet words and threats to meeting every demand that Premier Khrushchev will make.

East Delivers Primary Votes

By LYNN NISBET

VOTES—Sometime ago it was noted in this column that the voting importance of the big Piedmont cities might be overrated in Democratic primaries. Several instances were cited of eastern counties with less population casting more ballots in the primary. A few days later Julius Scheer wrote a piece for the Charlotte News tending to show that the eastern part of the state as a whole gives the big votes in Democratic primaries. He also cited insurance and quoted figures.

Now comes Henry Belk of the Goldsboro News-Argus with a challenge to this corner to produce additional figures. If any can be had, further supporting the claim of eastern prestige in primary voting.

First point to be determined is the boundary line between the east and west, as contemplated in the survey. There is no clear natural division. What appears to be the most logical, and is adopted for purposes of this analysis, is that fixed by statute for the judicial divisions. There are four divisions in which superior court judges rotate for holding courts. The line between the second and third divisions runs from the Virginia border to South Carolina along the western boundaries of Caswell, Alamance, Chatham, Lee, Hoke and Scotland counties.

East of this line are 52 counties, divided into 16 judicial districts, each with a resident elected judge. West of the line are 48 counties, divided into 14 judicial districts, which have a total of 16 resident elected judges. Land area is approximately the same. The western area had more population in 1950 and is expected to run further ahead in 1960.

COMPARATIVE — The primaries of 1948 and 1952 are chosen for comparison of voting strength, because they are the two most recent. There was no real contest in 1956.

The 1948 primary is remembered as the Scott-Johnson scrap. There were four other names on the ballot — Mayne Ray Boyd and W. F. Stanley. Allright, Oscar Barker, Olla Ray Boyd and W. F. Stanley. That was the year, too, of a heated race for the U. S. Senate between J. M. Broughton and William Umstead. With all of this drawing appeal, only 423,125 people bothered to vote. Of that number 233,187 or 55 percent, were in the 52 eastern counties. The 1952 contest between William Umstead and Hubert Olive, with Manly Dunaway barely scratching the scoreboard, brought out a total of 564,505 primary voters. The 52 eastern counties cast 274,245, less than 49 percent of that total.

In other words, the eastern part of the state delivered more than half the votes in 1948, less than half in 1952. Why did 140,000 more people vote in 1952 than in 1948, when there was no senate contest the second time and the race for Governor, on the surface at least, less hotly contested? The answer probably will be found in local races. Beaufort, Edgecombe and Nash counties turned in nearly 50 percent more votes in 1952, while a number of small counties voted less people. It is surprising to note that Alamance voted 7,585 when Kerr Scott was a candidate, and jumped to 10,214 for the Umstead-Olive race. Umstead's home county of Durham turned out to the tune of 19,568 that year, compared with 11,708 the previous election. Wake county increased its vote from 19,719 in 1948 to 27,591 in 1952, running ahead of the bigger midstate counties of Forsyth and Guilford.

GENERAL ELECTION — Contrary to the accusation sometimes made that eastern Democrats quit when the primary is over most counties vote heavier in the general election than in the primary. And we are still talking only about Democratic votes. But they do not turn out like their western neighbors. Wake, for example, voted 27,000 in the primary, but gave Umstead for Governor 32,000 in November. Compare that with Mecklenburg which gave 29,000 in the primary, over 50,000 for the Democratic candidate in November. Wayne county cast 7,618 in the primary, 9,260 in the general election. The ratio in Rockingham county was 7,551 to 14,256.

From these examples, which can be multiplied many times, it seems obvious that while the eastern counties are responsible for half or more of the primary vote, the western part of the state casts more Democratic general election votes — plus a whole lot more Republican.

The voting record for President of the United States is another story. Among the 52 eastern counties only Brunswick gave a majority for Eisenhower in 1952—and that by a margin of only seven, 2,958 to 2,951. More than half of the 48 western counties went for the Republican candidate, some by substantial majorities.

SMALL HELP — Analysis of the 1948 and 1952 voting affords little help in forecasting 1960 results. Many eastern counties have lost population, while most of area between Raleigh and the Blue Ridge has gained. Large part of the eastern loss came from migration of Negroes, but to offset that strenuous efforts have resulted in much heavier Negro registration which may hold up the total voting strength.

Fitting Tribute To A Good Friend Of ECC

Dedication of the new men's dormitory on the East Carolina College campus in honor of Dr. Paul E. Jones of Farmville is a fitting tribute to a Pitt Countian who has been a dedicated friend and supporter of the college.

Dr. Jones, as Pitt County's state senator in the General Assembly for several years, was instrumental in getting increased appropriations for East Carolina during its period of rapid growth. His support for legislative measures of importance to education both on the college level and on the public school level showed clearly his regard for better education in North Carolina.

Prior to serving in the state senate, and since that time, Dr. Jones has been a constant and true friend of East Carolina College, contributing considerable time and energy in behalf of the college.

The board of trustees of East Carolina College is to be commended for naming a building in honor of a man who has served the college as faithfully and as well over many years as has Dr. Jones.

West Berlin At Heart Of Issue

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an ABC on one of the sorest issues at the summit meeting in Paris: the Soviet Union's demand that the Allies get their troops out of West Berlin. The Allies have refused. The 2,200,000 West Berliners consider themselves part of the pro-Western West German Republic even though their city is 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Just because it is, supplies for the city from the West have to move by road, rail, water and air over Communist territory. Up until now, with one major exception, the Soviets have let the supplies through, under a wartime agreement.

The exception was the year-long blockade started by Stalin in 1948. The Allies airlifted supplies into Berlin until he gave up.

Now Premier Nikita Khrushchev has indicated the supplies may be shut off again unless Allied troops are withdrawn from the city.

If the Allies try to smash their way through a new blockade, the result may be war. But if the Allies withdraw, they will suffer a gigantic moral and political defeat.

The U.S.-British-French troops — only 10,000 of them — are not actually a fighting force, deep as they are in Communist territory. They are a symbol but an important one.

They represent Western determination not to abandon the West Berliners to the Soviets. If the troops were withdrawn, the surrounded West Berliners would be absorbed fast by Communist East Germany.

How did the troops get there? What right do they have to be there?

The roots go away back to World War II when the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and, later, France agreed to control Germany after its surrender until time for a peace treaty with a new Germany.

They did by dividing Germany into four zones, with each of the wartime partners occupying one zone. The same arrangement was made for Berlin, the capital city.

The Soviet zone of Germany naturally had to be in the east, which was closest to the Soviet Union. Berlin, being in the eastern part, was in the Soviet zone.

The wartime partnership did not last. The cold war began. Hope of agreement with Stalin on a single new German government disappeared. The Allies set up a West German Republic in their three zones of Germany and in time voluntarily ended their occupation.

But they kept their troops in Berlin. This, they said, they had a right to do under the wartime agreement.

In turn the Soviets, while gripping their East Berlin zone tight, set up in their zone of Germany a new Communist East German government. The West, including West Germany, considers this Communist regime a Soviet puppet, has never recognized it.

The West and the Soviet Union still talk of creating a new, single government for all Germany. They are miles apart on how.

Reins Of Appression

By ALVIN TAYLOR

Utterly Fearless Man

Is Friday, 13th a bad luck day?

Not for one local resident. I refer to Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, newly inaugurated president of East Carolina College.

I wondered at that Friday, 13th date which he chose for the ceremonies, even before they came off.

But William Friday, principal speaker for the day, made me realize even more so just how much Dr. Jenkins laughs at superstition.

"I have known Leo Jenkins for some years, and I value his friendship," Dr. Friday said in his speech. "His high sense of dedication to the improvement of education at every level in North Carolina is refreshing and encouraging."

"I know of his courage, but it was only after the formulation of the plans for these exercises that I learned of his utter fearlessness."

"It is one thing to be inaugurated on the 13th day of the month. It pushes his luck a little more to pick a 13th of the month that falls on a Friday."

"I submit, however, that he has discharged all forms of restraint entirely when on this Friday, the 13th, he invites a friend named Friday who was born on the 13th to deliver this talk!" There's logic there.

Why, I'll bet Dr. Jenkins would walk under a whole row of ladders and maybe even kick a black cat right off the sidewalk. Oh well, just wait until Halloween.

A salesman friend of mine told of calling on an Eastern North Carolina minister once upon a time.

This salesman had the preacher sold on the item he was peddling and he was ready to close the deal.

Then the minister asked: "How much could I save by having the board of education buy this for me?"

The salesman told him there would be no reduction in price. He would only save the federal tax from which schools were exempt.

"Well, I believe I'll ask them to do that," the minister said. My salesman friend has rather strong ideas about righteousness and this struck him the wrong way.

"You mean to tell me you'd ask the chairman to sign a statement that could make him liable for five years in jail or $5,000 fine?" he asked. "Why, you preach against that sort of thing on Sundays."

"Get out," cried the minister. "Get out of my office!"

The salesman left. He lost the sale but he felt a lot better.

Other Editors Saying Education--A United Goal

(The Wilson Times)

The inauguration of a college president is a thrilling event, as those who attended the installation of Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, as president of East Carolina college, will attest.

There were many interesting facts brought out in the addresses given. All centered around the growth of East Carolina College and its contribution to the state, since it was founded in 1909 until today.

The growth has been phenomenal. And when we speak of growth we are not thinking only in numbers as impressive as these are. For there were 124 in 1909 and last fall there were 4,045 students taking courses on the campus and an additional 1,200 enrolled in extension courses in various centers of the state.

The underlying tone of all the addresses centered around the great progress this state has made and is making in offering education, on all levels, to all its citizens.

There are only three states in the union with the public education programs offered to all citizens and this state is one of the three. For as Dr. Jenkins pointed out, each student attends state supported institution on a "state scholarship."

East Carolina college is the third largest of the state supported colleges. And what Dr. Jenkins was saying was that the citizens of the state through tax funds, are paying more than half of the tuition of each student. He used this example to impress on those enrolled that "any effort other than your best effort is, in effect a dishonest effort."

The point we want to emphasize is that the people of this state are concerned and sincerely interested in providing the best education obtainable for all those who so desire and are willing to work for it.

Of course we are not doing all we would like. We have goals yet to obtain. But this state is doing much for its citizens of public school and college age. It provides public school education for all and of equal standard. And state funds or tax money is paying the major part of financing the state supported college, thus making it possible for students to receive a college degree who otherwise would not be able to do so.

At this time when you are hearing of what we do not have and what has been left undone, and of how far behind this state is in providing educational opportunities, stop and consider what the state has and is doing.

East Carolina college is another example of a vision coming to pass in Eastern Carolina. The progress has been achieved because of the leadership of men who have directed our program of higher learning.

Dr. Jenkins is another in the long academic procession. This procession will continue to grow. He as the sixth president, will carry the college forward and add to the ever lengthening shadow of academic achievement and excellence.

And this is what the people of North Carolina want and work for and toward, for all the children of this great state.

Money Can Be Hazard

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The Kennedy campaign rolls on. It is dirty pool to suggest that Kennedy wealth is playing an extraordinary role in this campaign. Just as it would be unfair to say that Rockefeller money bought Nelson Rockefeller a career. The fact is that in politics money can be a handicap because the public generally distrusts sons of rich fathers, assuming that they are playboys in disguise, and also many who would support the rich man fear the accusation of bribery. Whereas the log cabin has disappeared from American life, the rich man still has trouble going through the eye of a needle. On the other hand, every candidate requires money and gets it where he can.

John Kennedy won West Virginia by a masterly battle not as a popularity contest but to assert the postulate that he, a Roman Catholic, could carry a state which is 95 percent Protestant. The reason that West Virginia was so important was that the argument had been employed, with considerable substance, that a Catholic could not be elected President of the United States. Had Kennedy failed in West Virginia, he would undoubtedly have left the race.

Some believe that Hubert Humphrey will throw his delegates to Adlai Stevenson. Those who say have no understanding of the mechanism of a political convention. A candidate cannot sling his votes to another. That has never happened. He releases the votes pledged to him and always deals had previously been made as to what is to be done with those votes. There are declarations pledged to candidates on the first, the third and the fourth and fifth ballots. If John Kennedy does not take the nomination on the first ballot, he may lose votes, unless he has pledges for succeeding ballots. The popular appeal now is not the telling factor; that has been established.

What matters now is the decision of the party leaders, men of sharp practicality as to whether John Kennedy can defeat Richard Nixon. There are numerous Park Avenue Liberals all over the country who are trying hard to restore the candidacy of Governor Nelson Rockefeller. Few of them quite understand the formation of delegations. Few of them are Republicans in the sense that they belong to any type of party organization. Some of the leaders in the Rockefeller movement have also spoken Vice President Nixon as their candidate. In a word, they are ambidextrous which in politics is like being a double agent. The Rockefeller proposition that he be chosen has never had professional support.

The Democrats discount this slight recrudescence of Rockefeller. He had his day. Instead of putting up a manly fight as John Kennedy did, Rockefeller caressed the leaders in the Rockefeller movement have also spoken Vice President Nixon as their candidate. In a word, they are ambidextrous which in politics is like being a double agent. The Rockefeller proposition that he be chosen has never had professional support.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
LIFE GROWS UNDER SACRIFICE

The Gnostic heretics centuries ago tried to save the memory of Jesus from the shame of the cross by maintaining that, as the sin of the world to his account—if we may use a modern banking expression—and then, assuming the infinite liability of that great debt, he asked God to punish it to him, that the power of sin might be forever broken.

Vicarious sacrifice is the reality upon which the whole life of the spirit is built, and as it was true for the Lord of all good life, so is it true for every disciple of that same Lord. Sacrifice is not something which cramps and represses life; it is the only thing which expands and glorifies it.

was a hideous and frightful death, because he who had no sin himself chose to go down into death voluntarily assuming as his own the sin of the world. He asked God to transfer the sin of the world to his account—if we may use a modern banking expression—and then, assuming the infinite liability of that great debt, he asked God to punish it to him, that the power of sin might be forever broken.

The High Cost Of Staying Alive

By ELMER ROESSNER

The high cost of staying alive is worse than the high cost of living.

The government's Consumer Price Index is not precisely a cost-of-living index, but it will do until something better is invented. The CPI measures the average change in prices of goods and services purchased by city wage-earner and clerical-worker families.

The index shows that for all goods and services those people—which may include you—were paying 25.7 per cent more in March than they paid in 1947-49, and more than twice as much as in 1935-39.

While most of us realize all prices have gone since 1947-49, few realize that the cost of medical care has risen twice as fast as all other items. Prices for medical care have risen 55 per cent since the base period.

ONLY TRANSPORTATION HIGHER

The only other segment of the Consumer Price Index to rise more has been transportation costs. That has been caused by the fact that wages have risen faster than productivity, because people insist on quadruplicate facilities (private autos, buses, trains and planes) between most points, and because, coupled with the public's demand for more elaborate cars. This last factor may be checked by the popularity of compact cars.

The reasons for the rise in medical costs are even more complex.

As Dr. Haig Babian pointed out in "Economic Affairs" in 1957, 53 per cent of family expenditures for medical care went directly to pay doctors. In 1950, the latest year for which he had reliable figures, doctors got only 34 per cent. Hospital and nursing care had similarly declined.

The main reason has been the phenomenal growth of prepaid medical care programs. Only an average of 0.5 per cent in 1950.

The percentage is probably much higher today. Further, the percentage applies to much higher total, since the total has been shown to be rising.

MORE IN FUTURE

Meanwhile, there are strong indications that the total will continue to rise through the rest of the century.

During the next few years, a steep increase is certain. At long last, hospital workers are being organized. If their pay is lifted from present substandard rates ($30 a week plus bed and food is not uncommon) hospitals will be forced to increase charges.

Hospital plans have been boosting their rates steadily during the last few years. These boosts must continue to meet higher hospital costs and, in many cases, higher fees for doctors.

Costs of medicine have been rising, although probably less than suggested at Congressional hearings.

Two other upward forces are the increase in population and the lengthening life span. The greater population alone requires more hospitals. Costs of construction — higher now than ever before — must be amortized in rates charged patients, and this will mean still higher medical plan costs and higher figures on the Consumer Price Index.

The lengthening life span not only adds to the population, but also adds to an age group who need more medical care than the middle-aged or young. This will redouble demand for more hospital space, and for more rest homes, which will also increase the total average family must lay out for medical care, either directly or through insurance plans.

There's still another factor? The increasing tendency to hospitalize the mentally disturbed and the alcoholics.

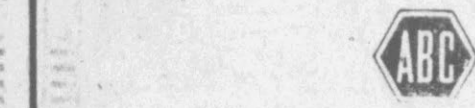

As the cost of medical care rises, it takes a larger share of consumer income. In the years to come it will take even larger shares.

Home Nursing Course Nears Close

The Red Cross Home Nursing Instruction Program will end here tomorrow after training 16 class members in care of the sick and injured.

The 30-hour program, which began May 12, prepares a selected group of volunteer instructors to teach a course in Care of the Sick and Injured to community groups and within the county and city high schools.

Nursing and Civil Defense and Emergency Nursing and Survival have been added to the program to enable the nurses to better care for mass casualties in the event of an emergency such as a national disaster and how to work under supervision of doctors or registered nurses.

The classes were conducted in a classroom at Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Mrs. Verna Wilkinson, Red Cross nursing representative on the National Red Cross staff, with State headquarters in Raleigh, conducted the course.

The Home Nursing program is one of two programs recently reactivated by the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The program helps the individual learn what to do when illness occurs, how to recognize symptoms of illness and how to report them to a doctor, how to keep a patient clean, how to give simple medicine and treatments ordered by a doctor, and how to control the spread of communicable disease.

In addition, students taking the course learn how to use community health and medical services to advantage, how to use improvised equipment from articles found in the home, how to be of assistance to neighbors and the community in time of disaster.

The Pitt County Chapter of the Red Cross will announce a schedule of classes available to the public in late summer or early fall.

Referendum On Wheat Supports Slated July 21

Pitt County farmers with wheat allotments of more than 15 acres will have the opportunity to vote in a price support referendum July 21, it was announced today by Wayne L. Wang of the Pitt County Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization office.

According to Wang, voters throughout the nation will decide whether to set the support rate at 75 per cent of parity on the 1961 crop or 50 per cent. A favorable vote will set the level at 75 per cent while an unfavorable return will drop the level to 50 per cent of parity.

In discussing the issues at stake in the coming referendum, Wang said that, in addition to the level of support, growers will be making a choice for or against marketing quotas and over-planting penalties.

However, he stressed the fact that acreage allotments will remain in effect regardless of the referendum's outcome. Planting within these allotments will continue to be a requirement for eligibility under the price support and Soil Bank programs.

Multi-Millionaire Reynolds Wins Divorce From 3rd Wife

DARIEN, Ga. (AP)—Multimillionaire R.J. Reynolds won a divorce from his third wife by a jury verdict that gave her alimony of $12,500 a year. She had asked $200,000 annually.

Reynolds, heir to a tobacco fortune, also was granted a permanent injunction preventing the former Muriel Marston of Toronto from trespassing on his 12-mile-long Sapelo Island estate or from disturbing him there. Her attorneys filed a motion for a new trial.

The verdict in the two-week trial was returned Monday night. It provided monthly payments of $1,042 for a period of 24 years starting June 1.

Reynolds, 54, former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee and former mayor of Winston-Salem, N.C., is described as desperately ill from a lung ailment.

Mrs. Reynolds appeared surprised at the verdict. "Oh, how terrible," she said. "He has no grounds whatever. His attack on me is the most scandalous thing of my experience."

Aaron Kravitch, chief of the tobacco heir's legal staff, said the verdict meant that Mrs. Reynolds left the court $300,000 poorer than when she came in.

and Kennedy speaking from the same platform on practically the same subject. Having witnessed that spectacle, I concluded that in a campaign, when a candidate must be fast in thought and speech, Kennedy could beat Rockefeller with ease. On this particular occasion, many of the politicians who vote in conventions were present and the consensus was unfavorable to Rockefeller. The Democratic politicians will take this and similar data into consideration when they choose the Democratic candidate. Their assumption is that he will have to run against Richard Nixon who has certain advantages.

John Kennedy needs 761 votes to be nominated. It looks at this moment that he has between 550 and 600. That is not enough. Unless there is a runaway blitz for him, such as Thomas E. Dewey engineered for General Eisenhower in 1952, Kennedy does not have enough votes for the first ballot. On the other hand, he has plenty of time to fill in gaps.

The contender against Kennedy who, at this moment, figures importantly is Senator Lyndon Johnson, leader of the Democrats in the Senate, who is likely to have 500 votes. Neither John Kennedy nor Lyndon Johnson has precisely enough votes to be nominated. If neither of them re-

Defense Alert In Middle Of Night

WASHINGTON (AP) — Monday's worldwide alertness test of U.S. armed forces was ordered specially from Paris by Thomas S. Gates, secretary of defense.

Word of Gates' order came from the Pentagon and strengthened belief that the test was linked to the tense atmosphere of the summit talks. Gates is in Paris as President Eisenhower's chief military adviser.

However, Gates' order came several hours before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev collapsed the Big Four meeting by denouncing the American U2 plane incident and demanding an apology from Eisenhower.

The middle-of-the-night order started a quick check on the availability of key personnel. Many pilots were rushed back to their bases.

The Pentagon said Gates' order was general, leaving it up to the Joint Chiefs of Staff to decide which of several possible maneuvers to follow. It was officially described as a worldwide communications readiness exercise.

The order was so secret that the Pentagon's top public information officers knew nothing about it until they were alerted.

The alert message was sent to command posts throughout the world. It left to local commanders how far they wanted to go in calling men to their stations.

Pressures In Russia May Have Caused Nikita's Stand

Cold War Atmosphere For Presidential Campaigners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects heightened today that Democratic and Republican presidential nominees will be campaigning this fall during a cold war grown even more frigid.

The expected collapse of the summit conference seemed likely to force some extensive revisions in political plans by both parties. Although they had expected few concrete results at Paris, politicians generally had looked forward to campaigning in an era of relaxed tensions. The emphasis as they saw it would be on each nominee's qualifications to lead the world toward a brightening peace.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's wrecking tactics seem to have eliminated that prospect. If he pursues this course, the opposing candidates instead may find themselves debating which is more capable of modernizing and strengthening the nation's defenses and which can stand up to Khrushchev best.

Politicians naturally disagree on how the hard line currently adopted by Moscow would affect the outcome of the presidential contest.

Democrats think that the withdrawal of the invitation for President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union will damage the efforts of the Republicans to present themselves to the voters as the party of peace.

While Eisenhower can't run again, the Democrats privately have feared that he might generate such enthusiasm at home by a triumphal tour of the Soviet Union that the effects would carry over into the general election campaign.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the probable nominee, quite obviously had hoped that some summit conference agreements would be reached that would merit calling the Paris meeting a success. He had hoped Eisenhower would enhance the administration's position further by his now canceled Moscow visit.

Now he may be forced on the defensive by attacks on the general public may well view as the fiasco of Paris.

Some Democrats already are suggesting that the administration was not properly prepared for Khrushchev's onslaught. Others have questioned the timing of the spy plane flight.

Some have wanted to know why Eisenhower waited until Khrushchev's explosion to let it be known publicly that there would be no more such flights—particularly after both he and Nixon had defended them as necessary.

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the Democratic nominee, said Monday Khrushchev "could hardly ignore these threats to continue to violate Soviet airspace and preserve his leadership at home."

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said in a statement that the spy plane incident "was extremely unfortunate." But he contended that Khrushchev exhibited "almost contemptuous indifference" to Eisenhower because the Soviet leader believes his country is more powerful militarily than the United States.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PARIS (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev's performance at the summit meeting that failed to get off the ground indicates he is engaged in a struggle to maintain his claim to lead world communism.

Because of that, a new cold war freeze may be in prospect, comparable even to the dangerous 1948 Stalin days of the Berlin blockade.

Unless he got an apology from the President of the United States, Khrushchev insisted, he could not negotiate with the U.S. President. This, he added in an aside, was a matter involving the internal politics of the Soviet Union.

The implication is that Khrushchev is engaged in a three-sided struggle with (1) the Stalinists, (2) the military and (3) the Chinese Communists, who have been nagging him for what appear to them to be reckless adventures in peace making.

Fifth Marriage Comes To Light

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When actor Herbert Marshall got married for the fifth time, he kept it a secret.

But Monday it leaked out: On April 25, a Los Angeles judge married Marshall, 69, and Dee Anne Kahmann, 36, a department store buyer who had been wed twice before.

Marshall's fourth wife, ex-show-girl Boots Mallory, died in December 1958. His previous marriages to model Lee Russell, actress Edna Best and model Molly Mailand ended in divorce.

Bob Purkey And Reds Knock Off San Francisco, 9-2

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer If a road jinx wasn't enough to make things tough for San Francisco, the National League leading Giants now find that Bob Purkey has his whammy working again.

He beat them for the second time in two tries this season as the Cincinnati Reds maulled Sam Jones and four relievers for a 9-2 romp Monday night that trimmed the Giants lead to one game over the Pittsburgh.

It was the fourth defeat in nine road games for the Giants, who managed a 3-0 record against Purkey last season after losing seven of eight to the big right-hander over a four-year span going back to 1955.

Third-place Milwaukee's game with Los Angeles was postponed because of rain, after 1 1/2 scoreless innings, and St. Louis came from behind three times for a 5-3 decision at Philadelphia in the only other action scheduled in the NL.

In the American League, Baltimore has first place all to itself for the first time in the Orioles' modern history after beating Kansas City 2-1 in the only game scheduled. It was the fifth straight success for the Orioles and gave them a half-game edge over Chicago after breaking a deadlock with the White Sox.

The fourth-place Reds put away their 11th victory in their last 13 games with single runs in each of their first three frames. That chased Jones (4-3), who has suffered all his losses on the road. Purkey (3-1) gave up a dozen hits, but didn't walk a man and blanked the Giants over the last six innings for his third consecutive victory. The Reds, who had 16 hits, made it 7-2 in a four-run fifth with the help of Gus Bell's two-run triple and two of the Giants' four errors.

The Cards, out-hit 11-9, shook off Sunday's no-hit defeat by Don Cardwell at Chicago with three runs in the ninth for their second victory in 15 road games. Daryl Spencer twice brought them from behind, squaring it 2-2 with his solo sixth home run in the seventh inning and then making it 3-3 with a double in the ninth. A sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Carl Sawatski scored the clincher. Joe Cunningham's third single got the final run home.

Ernie Broglio (1-1) won it in relief after Wilmer Mizell had given up 10 hits, one Al Dark's bases-empty homer.

Raleigh Halts Bulls Streak; Wilson Loses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Raleigh put the brakes on the revving Durham Bulls, 9-3, Monday night in Carolina League action.

Greensboro beat Wilson, 7-5, and Burlington went 10 innings to edge Winston-Salem, 2-2, in other games.

By turning back Durham, the Caps kept alive their record of not having lost two games in succession this season. The Bulls had won over Raleigh, 6-5, the night before.

Big Max Sherrill, relieving starter Walt Judd in the second inning, turned in effective mound work for the Caps' win. Joe Pedrazzini helped with a bases-full double in the eighth that brought home three runs. Dick Beck got a solo homer for the losing Bulls. Jim Johnston smacked a two-run homer in the seventh to break a 5-5 tie and give Greensboro its margin over Wilson. Phil Linz homered in the fourth for Greensboro, and Jackie Ferrell had a seventh-inning home run for Wilson.

Burlington, cellar team in the loop, got its win over Winston-Salem on a walk with the bases loaded in the 10th inning. Relief pitcher Jim Turk issued the walk to Wayne Newberry which brought home Jerry Webb with the decision.

The games tonight: Greensboro at Raleigh, Winston-Salem at Durham, Burlington at Wilson (2).

Stager Coaches U.S. Swimmers

By DAVE DILES Associated Press Sports Writer ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Gus Stager is due for quite a baptism in international swimming competition.

The youthful University of Michigan coach is the coach of the U.S. swimming team that will compete in the summer Olympics in Rome. "It's my first introduction to international competition," said Stager, "so I'll really get my feet wet in a big way."

Stager will not know until Aug. 5 whom he will have on the team. The swimming and diving trials will be staged Aug. 2-5 in Detroit. "The Australians have selected their team and are working out," said Stager, "but I don't believe from what I know that the Aussies are going to be as outstanding as they have been."

Stager believes the United States has no chance of catching Australia's Jon Konrads in the 400-meter and 1,500-meter freestyle, but that the Japanese might. "We have some fine boys like Allan Somers of Indiana, George Breen—also training at Indiana—and George Harrison of Stanford," Stager said, "but none are of the Konrads-Murray Rose standard."

The United States has a fine chance for a medal in the backstroke, Stager believes. "Charles Bittick of Southern Cal won the National Collegiate and the AAU titles and set two American records—and we have the world's record-holder in Frank McKinney of Indianapolis, so we could be very strong," he added. Mike Troy of Indiana is the chief hope in the 200-meter butterfly, an event in which this country has always been superior. U.S. hopes for a gold medal in the 100-meter freestyle rest mainly on Lt. Jeff Farrell, a 23-year-old former University of Oklahoma swimmer who established two American records in the 100-yard and 200-yard freestyle events.

The United States will take a 25-man swimming and diving team to the Olympic Games.

Take Me Out To The Brawl Game

Philadelphia's Wally Post restrains Billy Martin with a neck hold while Cincinnati's Vada Pinson holds arm of the Redleg second baseman after a brawl involving both squads in first game of doubleheader at Cincinnati. The free-for-all started after relief pitcher Raul Sanchez, a rookie, hit three Philly batters with pitches. Martin had to leave the game due to injury over left eye and was taken to the hospital for X-rays which showed no fracture. At left is Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall (33) and Philadelphia's Harry Anderson (9). The teams split the doubleheader. (AP Wirephoto)

Baltimore Takes First Place 2-1 In AL

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer The Baltimore Orioles, a bunch of castoffs and kids, finally made it. They are all alone in first place for the first time since returning to the American League six years ago.

They did it by completing a three-week drive from the cellar with a 2-1 victory at Kansas City Monday night, winning their fifth in a row on home runs by Jackie Brandt and rookie Ron Hansen that backed a six-hit pitching job by Arnie Portocarrero and Jack Fisher.

It was the only game scheduled in the AL and broke a deadlock with Chicago. The Birds now lead the defending champion White Sox by a half game.

In the National League, Cincinnati rapped San Francisco 9-2 and trimmed the Giants' first-place edge over idle Pittsburgh to one game. St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 5-3 with three ninth-inning runs. Rain postponed the only other game scheduled, Los Angeles at Milwaukee, after 1 1/2 scoreless innings.

The Orioles have won 14 of 19 after losing five of their first six, and this was their sixth straight road victory. Hansen supplied the clincher with his second major league home run in the fifth inning. Brandt's homer, his second in the AL after a winter deal with San Francisco, came in the first. He had two of the five hits off loser Ned Garver (0-3).

Portocarrero (3-0), a right-hander with only one winning season in his six-year career, had a no-hitter for four innings and a three-hit shutout for six frames. He gave way to Fisher, 21, after a leadoff single by Whitey Herzog in the seventh, when the A's added a walk and Dick Williams' single for their run.

NCAA Playoffs Next Month

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—Two of the four teams that will compete in the NCAA District 3 baseball tournament here next month have been selected.

Chosen for the three-day, double elimination tournament beginning June 2 are North Carolina, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion, and The Citadel, co-champion of the Southern Conference with Richmond, whose teams decided not to compete.

The Southeastern Conference will furnish a third team. Mississippi and Florida are playing a best-of-three series for that conference's championship and berth in Monday's first game of the playoff. However, Mississippi may decline to play because of its views on segregation at sports events.

The fourth team, an at-large entry, also will be named. The NCAA's baseball rules committee for the district, Jim Whaley of Georgia, said Miami of Florida and Florida Southern are in the running for the final spot.

Phillips Named To Coach Pitt Legion Outfit

BUD PHILLIPS

Bud Phillips, head football coach at Rose High in Greenville, has been hired to coach the Pitt County American Legion baseball squad this summer. It was announced today by the club's business manager Elvy K. Forrest.

A Wake Forest graduate, Phillips played football under Coach Feashead Walker. His coaching experience includes Haw River, where he won three county championships in football, basketball and baseball in four years, E. M. Holt High and Burlington High.

He came to Greenville in 1957 as head football coach. His 1959 was his best, compiling a 6-4 record despite a mid-season interrupted by a flu epidemic.

Last summer Phillips coached baseball in the Greenville Teen-er League.

Practice for the Legion baseball team will start with two practices on Saturday, May 21. All eligible players are to report to Guy Smith Stadium at 10:00 a.m. The second practice will be at 2:00 in the afternoon.

Annual Supper

In order to raise money to support their program for the season, the Greenville Little Leagues will once again sponsor a supper, with plates selling for $1.00. The supper will be held tomorrow afternoon at Elm Street Park.

The supper, which has become an annual affair for the benefit of Little League program in the city, is necessary, according to the Greenville Recreation Commission, because the program itself is supported by the parents and any other interested persons. The Little League program is supported and financed from several other sources, but the annual supper is the main source of income.

The plates, guaranteed to be good, can be taken home, or eaten on the grounds at the park.

Major League Baseball Holds Top Drawer Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—Major league baseball holds its own top drawer conference of 16 owners today, two days before the Senate opens hearings on a bill that would limit their control of players.

Although the meeting was announced by John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, it had been suggested by Commissioner Ford Frick. However, Frick insisted it was not an emergency session but originally had been planned for March in Florida. Only the top man of each club will attend.

The fact that the Senate's Antitrust subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) has invited Frick and other baseball officials, including Branch Rickey, president of the Continental League, to testify pointed up the connection between the meeting and the bill. Rickey will not, of course, be present at the major league session. His league favors the Kefauver bill. Phil Wrigley, president of the Chicago Cubs, is the only major league owner in favor of it.

Frick blasted the bill as "vicious, discriminatory and disastrous" and added that it was "absolutely unacceptable because it goes beyond antitrust exemptions and attempts to spell out operating rules for baseball."

However, the Kefauver bill is only one of many matters expected to be discussed at the top-level baseball meeting. Frick and American League President Joe Cronin will attend.

The bonus situation is sure to come up for airing. Many owners are becoming increasingly alarmed at the size of bonus payments to untried high school graduates and college students.

It was at a similar meeting of baseball's top brass last May 21 in Columbus, Ohio, that the majors drew up their 10-point plan by which a new league could qualify as a third major.

The Continental is stalled on the point involving territorial rights for cities currently in the minors. Both Frick and Galbreath said before today's meeting that there was no formal agenda. That leaves the door wide open for anything.

PAUL GALLICO'S Bestseller TOO MANY GHOSTS

CHAPTER 34

Cousin Freddie suddenly raised his head and large nose and sniffed. "I say," he said, "what's got into this house now? That frightful stink — its worse!"

Now that Beth Paradine's crisis had passed and it was clear that she would recover, they were all again made aware of the horrid stench through the house.

Susan Marshall's nerves gave way. She sat down upon a chair suddenly, white-faced, and asked, "Are we then really haunted, Alex?" and at her words horror seemed to return to the room.

"No," Hero replied, so sharply that it was almost like a slap designed to bring them all out of approaching hysteria, "don't be a fool! Haven't we had enough of this confounded fakery? That's the easiest trick of all. Why should a ghost smell?"

The odor had intruded itself upon Dr. Winters, now that his patient was out of danger, and he asked, "In heaven's name, what are you burning in your furnace here?"

"Dr. Winters," Hero asked, "have you prescribed tincture of valerian for anyone here recently?"

Dr. Winters looked at Hero frowning for a moment, and then replied, "Why, of course—several days ago I took a bottle of it up to Mrs. Spendley-Carter. I still use it as a sedative."

His face suddenly lit up as he cried, "By Jove, that's what it is! I thought it was something familiar. What the devil does it mean spread all over the house?"

Lord Paradine said, "What? Mrs. Spendley-Carter? Do you mean to say she's at the bottom of this?"

At that moment, and for the last time, the handless harp of Paradine Hall once more tinkled forth the tune of "My Bonnie Dear."

"Dear God — let me be in time," Hero prayed, and ran from the room.

He went pelting along the corridor and down the narrow inside staircase that led to the floor below two at a time.

He did not even pause as he ran past the door of the music room from behind which the ghostly strains of the harp were sounding.

He knew that the door would be locked, that there would be no one in the room, and that the harp strings would be vibrating as though plucked by human fingers.

His mind was trying to place how much of the song had already been played, and at the same time trying to count the bars that yet remained to the closing lines: And now thou'rt cold and laid upon thy bier — Good-by, my bonnie, good-by, my bonnie dear.

When that song would be ended for the last time, so too would Paradine Hall, and the Lord only knew how many of his inmates along with it.

Ought he to have remained first to ward those above of what was about to happen, and set them to a place of safety? It was too late now. He had gambled on one last desperate attempt to stem the disaster.

He crashed through the pantry door and made for the steps that led to the cellar, grateful that this time the lights had not been jampered with, and trying as he flung himself down the stairs to visualize the layout and the labyrinth of corridors, passages, and dead ends that spread out in all directions underground at the Hall.

Hero wished he had studied the Hall in more detail. It was too late to concern himself with this now.

He would find his way to the cellar beneath the music room as fast as he could in the only way he knew how: the stairs.

Whether it was his fear for the safety of those he had left above or the breathlessness engendered by the rapidity of his descent, at the moment of crisis Hero found himself momentarily confused.

Then from down one of the darkened passages came drifting those final strains: And now thou'rt cold and laid upon thy bier — Good-by, my bonnie good-by, my bonnie dear.

And thereafter silence.

"Lord," he cried aloud, "I'm too late!"

Nevertheless he hurled himself down the dark corridor, knowing he had not even had the wit to seize a fire extinguisher or so much as a bucket of sand on the way.

He did not try the handle of the door that led from the passage into the storeroom, for he knew it would be locked; he could only hope it would be flimsy.

He crashed against it with his shoulder with all the power of his body behind it cursing helplessly as it held, but on the second attempt it gave way inward, and he burst into the large, dimly lit enclosure where the almost overwhelmingly powerful fumes of petrol that had been poured over a huge piled-up mass of paper, old rags, and wood kindling assailed him.

A paraffin lantern was burning on the floor nearby. It was a miracle that the fumes had not yet ignited from its heat.

In a corner, a spot that Hero knew was directly beneath the golden concert harp in the music room on the floor above, sat the phantom of Paradine Hall.

She held between her legs a cello with a curious contraption—a thin rod of fir wood—attached to the sounding board; the rod ascended to the ceiling and vanished there. The bow of the instrument lay on the floor at her feet.

She sat motionless as a statue with the fingers of her left hand still upon the frets of the instrument, her right forefinger crooked upon a string close to the bridge.

As Hero hurled himself through the door she made an attempt to reach for and upset the hot, glowing lantern. But in that instant when time stood still Hero saw that her eyes were glazing and that her movements were slowed as if she had been drugged.

If she succeeded, there was enough petrol soaked upon the pile on the floor to create one vast explosion that would send the flames roaring aloft and through the centuries-old building.

Barely conscious, her long fingers were still trying to reach the lantern when Hero seized it, ran from the room, and extinguished it.

When he returned and switched on the single electric light bulb overhead the woman, overcome by the fumes, had slid to the ground and was lying face to the floor, her head close to the pile of inflammables.

Her hair seemed almost like a flame creeping close in one last desperate attempt to lick at the pyre and set off what was to have been the immolation of them all.

Hero kicked the pile of inflammable refuse to a far corner of the room, while the nun or Par-adine Hall stared as if transfixed. Mr. Hero walked to her, bent over and gently picked her up. As he walked to the doorway with the woman in his arms she began to sob.

Hero said, "There, now, everything is going to be all right." She continued to moan inconsolably.

Hero was not surprised at her identity.

"This monster you let escape!" is an accusation that rings out as "Too Many Ghosts" continues tomorrow.

Art Prize Given Janitors' Effort

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — A fantastically snipped piece of sheet metal labeled pterid cat—$350—won a ribbon of merit at the annual sidewalk exhibit of the Tulare County Art League.

Nothing out of the ordinary about that: Well, there wasn't, until it was spied by Murrell Twibell, court house superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Twibell thought he'd seen that hunk of sheet iron somewhere before.

He had. It was a piece of an old locker door from which his janitors frequently had snipped pieces to make sundry repairs. It looked something like the silhouette of a cat, so the janitors painted it black, labelled it and put it into the show.

The judges said the janitors were better artists than spellers. "Pterid" was supposed to mean petrified.

Apologetic Over Robbing Store

MOORE, Okla. (AP) — An apologetic burglar robbed a grocery store near here and left behind this note:

"I am sorry to do this, but I can't find a job and I have to feed my kids."

The burglar took 12 gallons of ice cream, 16 pounds of frozen okra, 42 pints of frozen fruit, bacon, coffee, cornflakes and a can of dogfood, police reported.

There was no explanation for the 48 cans of motor oil, 52 fan belts, four hubcaps and 13 boxes of razor blades he also carted away.

Famed Fat Lady Took Own Life

GIBSONTON, Fla. (AP)—Circus fat lady Doty Blackhall, famed for her sideshow appearances with Ringling Brothers Barnum & Bailey Circus, is dead.

Deputy sheriff Luther Walent said Mrs. Blackhall, who reportedly weighed more than 500 pounds, apparently took her own life.

A suicide note believed written by the 52-year-old performer cited ill health during recent years.

The Human Equation

State Bank Headquarters - - - 5 Points, Greenville, N. C.

Modern corporate finance has created many strange creatures. Among them are the electronic computer, a automatic vending machine air-flight life insurance policies and the frozen TV Dinner.

This de-humanizing process has made some progress in banking, but banking, like medical diagnosis, is essentially a business involving human beings.

Borrowing, lending, trusting . . . these are all personal matters which are not presently adaptable to slot-machine banking. So you need to know your banker as well as your bank.

Bank with people you know at Greenville's only independent bank.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices headed downward early in the prospects of the summit conference in Paris. Trading activity picked up on the decline after an opening surge quickly faded. The market was mixed a while before weakness set in.

Losses ran from fractions to 2 points.

Aircraft and missile stocks slipped well below early price levels. Electronic issues turned lower for the most part.

Ford was off more than 2 points and Chrysler better than a point in a weak motors group. Steels, rubbers, chemicals, nonferrous metals, oils and utilities joined the general decline. Rails, too, were mostly lower.

Some favorable business news, such as the continuing pickup in auto sales and the halt in the decline of industrial production during April, was ignored.

Boeing clung to a gain of about a point and a half, as did North American Aviation.

Thiokol was still ahead more than 2, but this was around a point less than its early spurt.

International Telephone dropped better than a point and American Telephone around a point in the utility group. American Cyanamid fell around 1 1/2 points and Union Carbide was down around 1 among chemicals.

Wider losers among electronics included Universal Match, better than 4, and Polaroid, better than 5. Texas Instruments, on the other hand, rose more than 4 and Liltion Industries was ahead about a point.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 1.75 at 4:15.4.

The Associated Press average of 40 stocks at noon was off 0.30 to 212.70 with industrials down 0.50, rails off 0.10 and utilities off 0.20.

U.S. government bonds edged up fractions and corporates were higher.

Vocational Education Session Held Here

MEET AREA OFFICIALS . . . Left to right are Bullard, Dr. Smith, Miss Dennis, and Bates as they discussed vocational education with area superintendents and officials yesterday.

State and local school officials met here yesterday in the first of five discussion sessions on vocational education scheduled for cities across North Carolina.

Area superintendents and other officials met with Dr. J. Warren Smith, state director for the North Carolina plan for vocational education, and three state supervisors in the new library at Elmhurst Elementary School.

Discussion covered the mechanics of operation, material evaluation, personnel, and desired qualitative results of the state-wide program.

The state plan is divided into four primary categories—agriculture, home economics, trades and industries, and distributive education.

Merchant Board Hears Reports Of Committees

The Board of Directors of the Greenville Merchants Association met last night and heard reports of several committees of the organization.

A vote of thanks was given the Public Relations Committee following a report given by D. J. Whichard III, Chairman for the Inauguration Ceremonies at East Carolina Friday.

The Directors praised the committee for the work it did on the project.

Legislative Committee Chairman E. S. Webb brought to the attention of the Directors the ten percent luxury tax on telephone service.

This tax was imposed, Webb pointed out, as a "temporary" wartime measure. Congress noted last year to drop the tax on local telephones June 30, 1960 . . . but now Congress has been asked to rescind the repeal action of last year. Webb stated, as he urged members of the Association to express their wishes to law makers.

Three new members of the Merchants Association, Keel Plumbing Company, Atlantic Discount Corporation, and Pitt Finance Company, were announced by Membership Committee Chairman Tyson Bilbro.

It was announced that State Director J. H. Blount is representing the local Association at the North Carolina Merchants Association Convention in Raleigh this week.

Gruenther Sees A Long Conflict

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Americans must strengthen their spirits for a continuing conflict between the free world and Communist countries, says Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther.

Speaking at the American Red Cross convention Monday night, Gruenther said the present crisis at the Summit Conference "will pass, one way or another."

"What will not pass is the fundamental conflict that started it," he said.

Fruenther, former Allied supreme commander in Europe and now president of the Red Cross, said that if the crisis continues, "I haven't the slightest doubt that the American people will say, 'our President, right or wrong.'"

The movie pointed out the current abundance of the nation's water supply, emphasizing the supply must be conserved by proper use to insure its inexhaustibility.

Methods of practical conservation were outlined.

During a brief business session prior to the program, Optimists discussed preliminary plans for a June installation dinner for the club's officers elected last week.
